Trash boss is picked

A new general manager, with more than 13 years experience in solid waste management, has been hired by the Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority.

Members said Friday they expect to see improvement within two weeks and solid progress within two months now that Joe Lewandowsky is on board. They fired former manager Gene Green last month.

"I think we're going to see a marked improvement," said authority member Wilton Howell, who also is a county commissioner.

He's told us it will be running smoothly in 60 days, and that we have sufficient equipment and manpower. He knows the equipment. He started in equipment maintenance.

No help in sight from killer road

by CHARLES STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

U.S. Highway 70 has been called a death trap that cries to be widened by nearly every resident from Hondo to Ruidoso.

Head on collisions by trucks versus cars have claimed many lives over the past few years and recently a rash of accidents have prompted citizens to question the state's efforts to correct the situation.

But highway department chiefs indicate U.S. 70's four lane future is so far down the road it should be classified as science fiction.

Clyde Eanes of Ruidoso Downs, who lives near the highway and is a witness to racing trucks, called Tom Dick, District Two engineer of the New Mexico State Highway and Transportation Department.

Eanes wanted to know what's being done about semi speedsters and a rising death toll for that stretch of highway.

Cremation is considered to cut costs on indigent burials here

by CHARLES STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Poor village residents looking forward to a simple pine box for a final resting place in Forest Lawn Cemetery will have to settle for a jar, if left up to village management.

At a village cemetery board meeting last week, new rules were submitted and discussed that included indigent interment and prohibition of pet burials in the cemetery. A dog was buried in a family plot recently.

A pet burial ban generated general approval, but the cemetery board and village staff were at odds on how to handle indigent burials.

Village manager Ron Wicker and village attorney Patricia Ortiz inserted a stipulation that only cremated remains of indigents may be buried at Forest Lawn.

Wicker and Ortiz also wrote that there could be no burial of an indigent until the surviving next of kin, or other persons, provide the village with the indigent's latest federal income tax return.

Cemetery board chairman Danny Sisson questioned if a drifter was going to have a federal income tax on his person. And he said if it was a drifter, chances are no one would know the next of kin.

Sisson said dictating that the impoverished had to be cremated was inflicting personal beliefs on someone, who may not believe that way.

Ortiz said it was a matter of economics.

Sisson asked Ortiz if she also subscribed to multiple burials in a single lot. Ortiz said "Yes, we are saving space."

Cemetery board member Alan Morel asked Ortiz if Bernalillo County recently got into trouble for multiple burials.

Contacted by The Ruidoso News, Bernalillo officials said the incident that occurred was with record keeping from a cemetery that didn't know exactly where remains were located. The cemetery also charged for burying two persons in one lot without first telling the county. The county was paying for two lots. Officials at Bernalillo said they stopped doing business with that cemetery.

Ortiz was asked what would happen if the deceased was declared indigent and his family for religious or some other reason, didn't want cremation.

They would have to come somewhere else, Ortiz said.

Sisson said there were other problems with cremating indigents and was attempting to explain to Morel reasons against mandatory cremation when Ortiz interrupted him.

Sir, can we just deal with the legal part till we go? Ortiz asked.

No, Sisson said, I'm going to

That's fine, Ortiz interrupted Sisson again, and then walked out of the meeting.

Sisson then told the members no cremation of an indigent would be applied for through LaGrone Funeral Home, where he is director.

If you have an indigent person cremated and then five years later somebody in the family finds out they were cremated, that puts liability on the funeral home for being sued," he said.

Bernalillo county officials contacted by The News agreed with Sisson.

They said the county would prefer not to cremate indigents, even making it difficult to do so in order to avoid the loss of positive identification. They said legal suits could be avoided in case at some later date the next of kin came to claim the body.

Burying pets in the cemetery was another subject addressed in the new rules and regulations to be adopted at the next village council meeting.

Section "F" reads, in part: "Applications will be approved only for the interment of the remains or the cremated remains of human beings." If passed by the council, that would not allow any future pet burials.

According to the cemetery board, Forest Lawn Cemetery must always be kept a place of beauty.

The rules and regulations are necessary for the protection of grave space owners to give them assurance that nothing of an unsightly or objectionable nature can ever be placed on grave spaces adjacent to their own and that the cemetery shall not become a place of disorder or reproach.

Village management was tightly criticized earlier in the year for letting the cemetery grounds deteriorate into a state of disrepair with weeds, broken shelter doors, dampsters that weren't picked up, unsightly opening and closing of graves, dirt mounded too high on graves, excess dirt poured over older graves, sunken graves not filled, broken glass, heavy equipment tire marks running over grave sites, fallen markers, potholes on cemetery streets, damaged streets by heavy equipment and lack of a routine maintenance plan.

Prisoners were called from Camp Sierra Blanca to clean up the mess.

The village council during budget sessions, recommended little change in the maintenance program. Former village councilor Al Jange accused the council of management by crises. He insisted the council provide a written plan.

The cemetery board will recommend a more comprehensive maintenance plan on paper to the council that will include:

- temporary markers to be removed when permanent markers are placed.
- flowers to be removed three days after interment.
- excess dirt to be removed within three months.
- sunken graves to be filled immediately.
- pine needles to be removed in December and February.

The last dog to be buried in Forest Lawn Cemetery is backed to a monument of a World War II veteran under the shade of twin pines. In time, the dog with no name will lie in state between its two Tularosa masters.

Last dog burial at Forest Lawn Cemetery raises some hackles

by CHARLES STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Recently and with little fanfare, a dog was buried in Ruidoso's Forest Lawn Cemetery among the human remains.

Then someone let the cat out of the bag.

Ruidoso residents called The Ruidoso News shocked and outraged that an animal was buried in the village cemetery.

Others defended the action by saying dead remains are dead remains — that what is important is what people feel for those dead remains — and it's nobody else's business.

The village council will rule on the issue at its next meeting when councilors examine a proposed policy submitted by the cemetery board. If passed, the policy would ban further animal burials in the village cemetery.

"I assured him that in 60 days if things aren't running smoothly, I would move for private enterprise to take over."

Howell said four of the five finalists were interviewed. Eleven applications were received. Lewandowsky was the only person with practical experience in garbage collection, having worked for more than two years with Southwest Disposal, which still collects in portions of the county.

Prior to that, he operated his own collection companies for about 10 years and served Lincoln County under the name of Alamo Waste.

He knows the territory. "My first efforts will be focused on routing and actual service," Lewandowsky told The Ruidoso News. "That's the real key. Once that's in shape, the rest falls in place. In my own business, I made sure a complaint was taken care of within 24 hours and that will be my goal here, too."

"I feel we've got the equipment and the people we need. Eventually, there should be enough for back-up and dumpster replacement. The number of employees is not the problem."

In hiring him, Lewandowsky said authority members were aware that as a private contractor previously, he was in the business of looking for more efficient approaches.

"They have been moving so fast on so many issues," he said. "The revenues are close, but I don't see a problem, although I need to sit down and take a closer look."

Lewandowsky said he may advocate contracting with a private company for service in those areas in the county that strain the authority, because they are isolated.

He hopes the drivers can identify with his leadership, because he has driven collection trucks and he knows the situation.

A past division between employees and management has been obvious, he said.

One of the first issues he will sit down and talk about to drivers is accepting gratuities in any form from customers.

"During the holidays, it's understandable, but during the regular course of business, that shouldn't be, especially in government, no matter how innocent the intent," he said.

Patriotic dumpsters?

Last Friday, Howell and Commission Chairman Monroy Montes witnesses a driver accept a watermelon from someone at Frank's Fruit Market, Howell told The Ruidoso News.

The two commissioners were at the market on U.S. 70 to discuss with owner Frank Cox dumpsters he has painted red, white and blue.

"They want to paint my dumpsters so they look like the rest," Cox told a reporter. "Those trash cans have been painted like that for four years. Two I paid for. They belong to me. They brought two more and I think I paid for them, too."

"I've been here 24 seasons and I've never mixed into politics. I've gone along with some silly old things, but this time, they went too far."

"I think they look good painted, a whole lot better than the others that look alike and sit there for years and get rusty."

"I paint them every year."

Cox took his dissatisfaction to the public by placing a series of radio advertisements urging people to call the county commissioners.

Howell said he received many calls, but most were supportive of the authority's position that the dumpsters should look alike and that people should not be allowed to paint them. That would create a nightmare for maintenance, he said.

He also was disturbed by Cox's approach to the situation, Howell said.

"He called me (Wednesday) and starts off real abusive, saying he pays a lot of taxes and that he owns the dumpsters," Howell said. "I told him that our policy is not to pick up trash out of privately-owned dumpsters. I asked him to wait until we hired the new manager (Thursday) and then we would see if we could work out something. He agreed and then jumped the gun with this ad where he talks about being a veteran and urges Texans to call the commissioners. I did get 15-20 calls and not one was negative."

"We've asked him for receipts to prove he owns them. If they are authority property, they will be painted the same. If they are private, they will not be picked up."

Howell said he's confused by Cox's statements.

"On one hand, he says he wants to be left alone and doesn't want any special treatment and on the other, he's handing out watermelons to our driver for better service," he said.

John Howden, who said he is a member of the American Legion, said he was offended by Cox's advertisement.

"A lot of us are patriotic and proud of the flag, but a dumpster is no place for the flag. The rules say they should be brown and he's breaking the rules," Howden said.

"I'm a business man and also pay taxes, but I don't break the law and I certainly don't go around telling people I spent three years in the paratroopers."

"He shouldn't bring veterans and patriotism into it or try to promote his business with it."

"After all, he comes in when the racetrack opens and leaves when it closes, taking the money with him. It's not like (supermarkets that are open) here year around."

cemetery.

The dog, name and species unavailable, was buried last week by village employees, arranged by LaGrone Funeral Home, on the lots of D.E. and Peg Noltensmeyer from Tularosa.

"The dog, a female of medium size, was buried in the middle of three lots, so when the Noltensmeyers lie in state, the dog will be between them," said Paula Giarrantano, village sexton for the cemetery.

Giarrantano said the dog was buried in a small casket, 52 inches long, 24 inches wide and 18 inches high.

"Mrs. Noltensmeyer appeared devastated when the dog became gravely ill about two weeks ago,"

Giarrantano said. "They called the village at that time with the request to bury the dog in one of their four Forest Lawn plots purchased around 1988."

"Danny (Sisson of LaGrone) called me last Saturday to tell me the dog died. Both Mr. and Mrs. Noltensmeyer were there when they laid the dog to rest."

Giarrantano said when she was first contacted about the plot, she was under the impression the dog had already died.

"It wasn't until the next day, that they called to tell me they didn't expect the dog to make it," she said. An Alamogordo veterinarian put the dog down. Giarrantano said no cause of illness had been identified to the village.

According to the sexton, there are other pets buried at Forest Lawn.

Humane Society vice president Earline Phillips buried her dog SuSu in the cemetery around 1980, and was the cause of some controversy with the village council at the time.

Phillips said SuSu was the first dog buried in Forest Lawn. She said her dog also had her own bank account and was a stockholder in the Ruidoso State Bank.

"I have the cutest shots of SuSu making her deposits," Phillips said.

She said she has saved all of SuSu's invitations to bank parties.

According to Phillips, her dog wrote her own check for the lot about two years before she died at 16 years of age.

"She (SuSu) donated her bank account to the humane society," said Phillips. "That's what got me started."

Giarrantano said unless the council adopts a rule prohibiting the burial of animals at the cemetery, she can't refuse such a request.

"There are other dogs buried up there, setting precedent," she said. "That's why I agreed to this. I don't think legally I could tell them no."

Giarrantano said the village street department, as in all grave sites, used a back hoe.

The Noltensmeyers paid $175 to the village to open and close the grave.

"Anytime we open a grave, except for infants, it's $175. It will be going to $200 (under the proposed policy)," Giarrantano said.

said his department is aware of the concerns Eanes and other citizens have expressed on U.S. 70. Dick said they are the same concerns he hears on other routes in New Mexico.

"You expressed your concern over the speeds which trucks are traveling through this area. As I told you, our department is not an enforcement agency," Dick wrote.

Dick wrote that some sections of U.S. 70 are included in plans to be four-laned, but those are in flat, less encumbered areas between Roswell and Portales.

Apparently, how dangerous the road may be has nothing to do with the projected plans.

"I am sure you can understand it is less expensive to construct roadways on the flatlands versus the mountains," wrote Dick.

Dick wrote Eanes that to date highway improvement in this area is merely a thought, not a plan.

"Based on discussions within the department," he wrote, "I believe projects west of Roswell will start to be planned."

In any event, Dick said four-laning all of U.S. 70 is a commitment that will not be achieved overnight.

In fact, he indicates the project may well be beyond another 20 years.

"The department has estimated a shortfall of $2.6 billion over the next 20 years. This shortfall is based on maintaining the system we now have and enhancing ... four-lane routes which are ... similar to U.S. 70." He didn't say including all of U.S. 70.

"... hopefully, I have been able to give you useful information on New Mexico's transportation system," wrote Dick. The letter also was sent to Governor Bruce King and highway department Secretary Louis Medrano.

Dusty roads take Ruidosoans home

by CHARLES STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Where is all the dust coming from?

The answer, my friend, is blowing in the wind — along Hull Road and Cree Meadows Drive where the village, financed in part by a state grant, is completing road maintenance.

Village deputy manager Alan Briley said there is no further overlay of oil to cover the chips now coughing dust by passing motorists, but he said in a short time the dust will subside and the roads will be striped and return to normal.

Briley said the street department intends to sweep the roads this week in an effort to recapture much of the loose chips that didn't adhere to the oil spray.

He said the roads have been rolled and with further traffic, the chips would imbed more smoothly in the oil.

Briley said that the chip and spray was chosen because it is less expensive, didn't require sophisticated road equipment and demanded less time to complete.

Briley said the total 6.5 miles of road maintenance, estimated at about $90,000, should not take more than a week or two to complete. He said the state highway department is paying about 60 percent of the tab.

Briley said the other roads to be repaired are Paradise Canyon Road from Sudderth to Hull; a stretch of Country Club Road; Cree Meadows Drive from Mechem to Hull; and all of Hull, which has been completed.

Chips spit clouds of dust from a small pickup on Country Club Drive. The dust will go away within two weeks, according to village street department officials who are using the chip and seal technique for about six miles of main Ruidoso roads.

At the state convention in May in Albuquerque, the Knights of Columbus selected the winners in its annual raffle.

Even though there were no Ruidoso area winners, the local Knights want the people who supported the project to know who won. Winners are Ismael Ramon, Morton, Texas, $2,000; Tera Mondragon, Cimarron, $1,000; Emily Duran, Tierra Amarilla, $500; Monica Martinez, Cimarron, $300; and Bennie C. Payne, T or C, $200.

In a news release, the Knights thanked all who participated and assured that the profits go toward charitable works.

State Land Commissioner to speak to county Democrats

State Land Commissioner Ray Powell Jr. will speak to Lincoln County Democrats during the group's regular meeting at 6 p.m. Tuesday, June 22, in the North 40 room at Cree Meadows Country Club, 301 Country Club Drive.

Chairperson Cece Griffin invites all Democrats to bring their fellow Democrats and meet the new state official, appointed by Governor Bruce King when Jim Baca was called to Washington D.C. by President Bill Clinton.

Dinner can be ordered from the menu before the program. For more information, contact Griffin at 357-7558 or vice chairman Fred Hansen at 336-4490.

Council convenes Tuesday to reconsider the hotel lease

A special public meeting regarding plans for a future convention hotel has been called by the village council at the urging of Councilor J.D. James. The meeting is scheduled for 6 p.m. Tuesday, June 15, in council chambers at Ruidoso Municipal Administrative Center.

Councilor James said he was not satisfied that a discussion of such importance was held in closed session during the last council meeting. He said the impact of a convention hotel is of vital economic interest to the community and the county. He said that business persons and residents, pro and con to the issue, should have a chance for input.

On a motion to extend hotel hopeful R.D. Hubbard's lease on the hotel site, the councilors last week split their votes 3-3. The motion fails on a tie vote. Although Hubbard could still negotiate for a lease, the failed motion would cost him $100,000 if left unchanged.

James said the vote came as no surprise because the councilors voting against the extension were part of the same slate that petitioned against Hubbard's original package integrating hotel, golf course and civic events center. Former Mayor Victor Alonso, who resigned recently, also led a petition drive against Hubbard.

Voting for extending the lease were James and councilors Jerry Shaw and Frank Cummins. Against the motions were Mayor Protem Barbara Duff and councilors Ron Andrews and Bill Karm.

Downs reviews lodgers tax laws

by GARY CAMPBELL
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

The Ruidoso Downs Board of Trustees will have its bi-monthly meeting at 7 p.m. today (Monday), June 14, in the Volunteer Fire Station.

On the agenda is the approval of an amendment to the Ruidoso Downs Lodgers Tax Ordinance.

The amendment, required by the state according to village clerk Leann Weibrecht, will add four parts to the ordinance.

The first part of the amendment will require the Downs Board of Trustees to randomly select a lodger for an audit. The audit will be to verify whether the amount of Lodgers Tax that is owed and if that amount has been paid.

Another part of the amendment will make it possible for the village to audit any lodger to verify compliance to the Lodgers Tax.

The last two parts of the amendment require that the audits be submitted to the local government division of the state Department of Finance and Administration, and that the specifications for the audits be determined and approved by the village board of trustees.

Also on the agenda will be the approval of the Ruidoso Downs monthly reports from the police department, fire department, the court, the maintenance department, the animal control department and the code enforcement division.

Under general business, the board will discuss the adoption of its budget resolution, PERA tax resolution adoption and the purchase of the Agua Fria Water System. The board is also scheduled to adopt a wage and salary schedule for 1994.

Also on the agenda is an closed session to discuss personnel matters.

Orphan puppies turn up on shelter doorstep

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Just five weeks old, the trio of wiggling gray pups was left on the porch of the cattery at the Lincoln County Humane Society shelter.

"They had barely been weaned when we found them in the box," said shelter secretary Kathy Tetraault.

The three gray pups appear to be Weimaraners, but at this stage it's difficult to tell. They also may be a Shar-pei mix.

Caesar is the largest of the three, Callie is the only female and Capone is the most pugnacious. After a week of observation, they appear to be healthy and at six weeks old, ready to be adopted.

An attractive Boston terrier mix named Lady was released to the shelter by her owner, who no longer had a home where he could keep the dog.

"He almost had tears in his eyes and said she's good with children and is a sweet dog with lots of energy," Tetraault said.

Lady is about two years old and has been at the shelter for more than one month. She would have to be sterilized to ensure she does not produce any litters. The pups, when they are six months old, also would have to be altered.

The society welcomes the generosity of sponsors who donate money to cover the cost of sterilization. When a pet is sponsored, it greatly enhances the chance for adoption, since the required procedure is the major cost. No only does the adoption contract require that all pets from the shelter be neutered, Ruidoso has a mandatory spay/neuter law and a new state law will take effect July 3.

Three dogs and two cats at the shelter already are altered and their adoption fee would be less.

Adobe, a blonde Akita Inu mix with good-looking conformation, a curled tail and erect ears, was sponsored by the woman who found her wandering hungry and wary months ago. She has warmed up to shelter workers and would be a good and loyal companion.

Trekker and Tracker also were found wandering. They both were altered and they have great personalities. Shelter workers have begun to call Trekker, the female, by the nickname of Patience, because she appears to have become resigned to life in a kennel.

They desperately want to find a home for her. She's gentle and appreciates any show of affection, but she's not a showy dog that attracts the attention of strangers.

Her traveling companion, Tracker, has shorter hair and is more aggressive. They get along well together and would be a good team.

Several Labrador pups and adults, both black and golden, are available for adoption. Litters that are three months and younger include several very attractive and fluffy golden retrievers, three Australian shepherd mixes, a Husky, a shepherd, and spaniel mixes.

The society needs to the support of residents and visitors to provide a safe and caring environment for abandoned pets, and to give them chances for new homes.

To accommodate more animals from across the county, the society has plans to expand the shelter and would appreciate support for the project. Currently, some animals picked up outside of the village limits end up in an unheated and isolated facility where they are kept only three days before being destroyed.

For more information about Lady, Capone, Callie and Caesar, or any of the other dogs and cats, call 267-9841 or stop at the shelter.

Latest in technology shrinks TV satellites

Penasco Telecom Systems of Artesia has entered into an exclusive contract to provide Direct Broadcast Satellite (DBS) television programming/service to the rural households in Eddy, Chaves, Lincoln and Otero counties.

Penasco Telecom Systems is a subsidiary of Penasco Valley Telephone Cooperative, Inc.

According to a news release, this service will be provided through a joint venture of Penasco Telecom Systems, National Rural Telecommunications Cooperative (NRTC) and Hughes Communications, the largest operators of satellites in the world.

The new satellite television service is to be offered starting in early 1994.

The DBS service will unite new state-of-the-art technology incorporating the Unites States' first "high power" (120 Watt) direct-to-home satellite service.

The two Hughes Communications satellites will operate in the "KuBand" in a "stationary" orbit at 101 degrees west longitude.

This will allow consumer homes to use a small 18-inch satellite dish which is mounted in a permanent position on the consumer's residence, continues the release.

Information provided by the company indicates that once the dish is locked in place, consumers will never need to adjust it.

The DBS service will be capable of carrying approximately 150 channels of high quality cable programming, pay-per-view movies, sports and other information/entertainment/education channels. The high powered satellites will incorporate digital compression which significantly increases the channel capacity of the service. The digital signalling will allow Penasco Telecom Systems to provide high-definition television (HDTV) video quality and compact disk (CD) quality audio/sound.

The entire digital home receiving system consisting of an 18-inch satellite dish, addressable decoder box and universal remote control unit, will be available for about $700, according to the news release.

The simplicity of the components will allow many consumers to install the equipment themselves.

The home receiving system will be available through direct purchase, monthly lease or lease purchase. The home receiving system, being manufactured in association with RCA, will be available from Penasco Telecom Systems at various selected area outlets.

Penasco Telecom Systems will provide a complete installation and repair service to interested customers.

The basic programming package will offer "Best of Cable" channels including premium choices such as HBO, Cinemax, Showtime, TBS, etc. It is anticipated the basic package will include a full range of programming choices plus the major networks. In addition to the basic "cable type" programming, there will be a very wide range of pay-per-view movie selections, sports events, major attractions (concerts, etc.) and special interest channels such as educational, vocational and entertainment included in the programming line-up for viewer selection.

Penasco Telecom Systems will be the exclusive provider of this programming package in the rural areas of the four counties mentioned previously.

The first Hughes DBS will launch in December of this year and service will be available from Penasco Telecom Systems in April of 1994.

AYLA HIGHTOWER OF AYLA'S WORLD OF MANY COLORS BOUTIQUE

Hanging jackets are Ayla's trademark

by GARY CAMPBELL

Ruidoso News Staff Writer

The drive down Sudderth toward Highway 70 is full of many sights that catch the eye.

One such sight is those familiar silk-looking jackets hanging on the post at 925 Sudderth Drive between the Pizza Hut and carwash.

If those jackets tend to catch the eye, it is no accident.

It was the original design of store owner Ayla Hightower to showcase her store, Ayla's World of Many Colors Boutique.

Hightower's idea came last season when she was asked by a friend to help draw attention to her art store.

Hightower put her clothing up and immediately saw results. By the end of the summer Hightower's friend had moved and left her by herself in the store.

Hightower had not planned to come back for the summer, but it worked out that she was able to start her boutique back up.

Although she is at a different location than last year, Hightower has much of the same popular merchandise, including her silk look jackets.

"They look and feel silk but they are 100 percent polyester," said Hightower. "They can be worn with blue jeans or dresses or just about anything."

But, Hightower's merchandise does not stop with the jackets. She has a selection of hair and skin care products as well as several perfumes.

Those products, under an Ayla's label, come from Hightower's hair styling salon and boutique in Alamogordo.

Hightower's business in Ruidoso does not include a hairstyling salon, but Hightower said that she would be willing to give an honest consultation on what is the best for people's hair.

Ayla's in Ruidoso also has a selection of one-of-a-kind Indian jewelry, and ceramic candle holders and tissue holders.

Not all of the profits from the merchandise will go straight to Hightower, however.

Much of the money goes into a fund for scholarships to Alamogordo High School students. In the past three years Ayla's has given away a total of 19 scholarships.

Since Hightower has been doing business in Ruidoso, she hopes to start giving scholarships to Ruidoso High School students as well.

In order to celebrate the Ayla's World of Many Colors Boutique, June 17 through 19, Hightower plans to have specials throughout her store.

She is even going to have a drawing for one of her jackets.

Next month Hightower plans to give away a three- by four-inch mini-painting by nationally known artist Janet Syling.

Ayla's World of Many Colors Boutique is presently open noon to 6 p.m. Mondays and Thursday through Saturday.

Pioneer names new manager

A pioneering of new changes is happening at the Pioneer Savings and Trust.

At the head of the changes is a new branch manager, Darlene Hart.

Hart moved from a position as loan representative to the branch manager position as of June 4.

Hart has been a resident of Ruidoso for 15 years, 14 of which she was involved in the real estate industry.

She will take over for former vice president Mary Flores.

Hart is not yet a vice president with Pioneer but the possibility for further promotion exists.

The changes in the institution do not stop with Hart, however.

Also effective June 4 was the promotion of Joan Reimann to the position of loan representative.

With the changes in personnel position come a renewed pledge for customer service.

"Our goals are community oriented," said Hart. "We are a full service organization."

Hart also said that the Savings and Trust is and has been specializing in residential mortgage loans.

A special service that they provide is a prequalification service for the mortgage loans.

"We are more than happy to do a free prequalification for our mortgage loans," said Hart.

Outlaw Food & Gift Shop brings shopping close to home in Valley

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

The business definitely isn't tied to walking traffic. It's tucked into two rooms at the back of the U.S. Post Office building in San Patricio.

But owners Ruben and Diane Romero are confident that the Outlaw Food and Gift Shop can fill a need for local residents who otherwise, face a lengthy drive to Roswell or Ruidoso Downs.

"We have animals ourselves and know how hard it is to run to Roswell or Ruidoso," Mrs. Romero said.

"There are lots of ranchers in the area and we wanted to go into business for ourselves while serving the needs of the valley and our own ranching supply needs."

The shop opened May 14 in rooms remodeled by Romero, who also added steps decorated by his wife with potted plants.

"Those two rooms hadn't been used for 45 years," Mrs. Romero said. "We opened with the basics, but if people need something special, we'll get it for them. We've added six new items since we opened."

The shop sells hay, alfalfa, a variety of livestock feeds (including milk for calves) and pet food for cats, dogs and birds.

"Everyone has been supportive," Mrs. Romero said.

The gift shop features porcelain dolls, T-shirts, ceramics items, a tape recording by local singer Bethany Reyes, nightlights, fans and some toys, including a sparkling baton for twirling.

"When people in the valley get invited to something, they have to make a trip into town and I'm trying to help out," Mrs. Romero said. "They can get individual things here, not copies, things with a bit more personality."

The shop's regular hours are from 7:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, and from 8 a.m. to noon on Saturday. But Romero added, "They always are welcome to call us at home and we will go down and open for them."

Adam Romero, left, helps customer Steve Hernandez select a bag of feed for his ranch. The shop is a popular place to sit and visit, as well as to pick up supplies. Ruben Romero relaxes a few minutes on the steps he built leading to the Outlaw Feed and Gift Shop in remodeled rooms behind the U.S. Post Office in San Patricio.

NM agency staff visits in Ruidoso

The State of New Mexico's Workers' Compensation Administration community outreach program takes staff into communities to answer questions and provide assistance in workers' compensation.

Personnel will be in Ruidoso from 10 a.m. until 1 p.m. the third Friday of each month at the Ruidoso Civic Events Center.

For more information, contact the Workers' Compensation Administration at the Southeast Regional Office at 100 West Central, Suite A, Lovington, NM 88260, or call toll free at (1-800) 934-2450.

U.S.F.S. signs help for hikers

New road and trail signs have been installed in the Lincoln National Forest to assist hikers and visitors who prefer to drive through the cool pines, aspens, junipers and firs.

According to Danny Montoya with the U.S. Forest Service, the new signs should clearly alert visitors to prohibitions and special conditions.

Roads marked as closed, blocked by a gate, waterbar or other physical barrier are restricted from travel. Signs explain where off-road vehicular traffic is prohibited to protect soil, vegetation and wildlife.

Vehicles may be driven up to 300 feet off open roads for camping or parking, provided they will not damage the land.

A copy of the new Travel Policy will be attached to each forest map sold. The maps are waterproof and an excellent investment for current and future trips.

Mescalero Indians run against drugs

by GARY CAMPBELL

Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Mescaleros Against Drugs (MAD) will be the theme of an activity day June 18 on the Mescalero Apache Indian Reservation.

The day's activities, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Mescalero Community Center, will be kicked off by a pair of distance races.

The first race, a one-mile fun run for kids 12 and under, will begin at 9 a.m. The race is being sponsored by Burger King and McDonalds. Participants will receive prizes from the two fast food chains.

The second race will be the 5K run at 9:30 a.m. Registration will begin at 8. The first 50 to register will receive free T-shirts. There will be no registration fee.

Several New Mexico State University and one University of Hawaii athlete will speak between 1 and 3 p.m.

The athletes are expected to tell kids and adults how drugs and athletics can't mix.

Among the athletes expected to attend are former NMSU football player and 1993 Football News All-American Todd Cutler, and Hawaii football player Fred Branch from Alamogordo, former NMSU basketball players Chris Hickman and William Benjamin and NMSU golfers Lora White and Tina Drablie.

According to Barbie Johnson of the Health Education office, the athletes are also expected to have a small demonstration of their skills.

At 3 p.m. there will be a picture time. That picture, however, will be taken from the air.

Participants in the event will be taken to the football field to form a giant MAD signifying Mescaleros Against Drugs.

MAD is sponsored by the National Guard and the Department of Tribal Health Education.

Planners want to help keep kids and adults away from a life of substance abuse.

The program will be in conjunction with the National Guard's Drug Demand Reduction campaign.

The guard will help coordinate the day, as well as provide a number of displays and demonstrations.

First of all, the guard will set up a static display at the site. Guard equipment will be at the site as well to provide a better understanding of what guard members work with each day.

The guard has also scheduled a rappelling demonstration along with several helicopter fly-overs.

The Drug Enforcement Agency and the U.S. Border patrol will also have informational displays about substance abuse.

District Attorney's office staff members and McGruff the Crime Dog are scheduled to take part in MAD, focusing on intervention and drug use.

For more information, contact the health education department in Mescalero at 671-4994 extension 264.

Warrior grid squad takes on big schools

by GARY CAMPBELL

Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Fifteen members of the Ruidoso High School football team spent a day of football in Albuquerque.

The team went as a part of a seven man tournament which included all of Albuquerque's 4-A teams.

The RHS squad went 0-5 on the day but had several close games with the bigger schools.

In a game against Los Lunas High, the Warriors lost 7-6.

According to coach Mike Gaston, his team was down 7-6 after scoring a touchdown and opted for a two-point play. The attempt failed and the Warriors lost.

In the game, Jimmy Varnadore had one interception and a 40-yard touchdown reception from quarterback John Echols.

In another close game, the Warriors played Manzano High of Albuquerque.

The Warriors dropped the game 14-12.

Varnadore had a pair of interceptions and a touchdown reception from quarterback Echols.

Also playing a big role in the game was incoming freshman Billy Rogge.

Rogge made some big-time plays for us," said Gaston. "He had at least two pass break-ups that could have been touchdowns."

The Warriors played Rio Grande High of Albuquerque to a 12-12 tie with a minute left in the 40-minute game.

Rio Grande, however, came back and scored in the last minute.

In the game, the Warriors had three interceptions by Varnadore, Echols and Eric Kakuska.

Echols had two touchdown passes to Byron Souls in the game.

Gaston said he feels really good about the effort that his team gave, considering they only had one of seven defensive starters with them.

"I think through things like this you tend to come together more as a team," said Gaston.

On the fly

Golfers ready for an uprising

The annual Cree Uprising Women's Golf Tournament will be played at Cree Meadows Country Club June 16-18.

The three-day event will feature a practice round, a two-women scramble and a net best ball.

The first person to score a hole in one on the 13th hole at Cree Meadows will win a Club Car DS Electric Golf Car.

Sign-ups for the event closed on June 7.

White Sands hosts tourney

Bell Gymnasium on White Sands Missile Range will be the site of a United States Softball Association D Divisional Qualifier Softball Tournament June 26 and 27.

The tournament will have round-robin pool play with the top two teams advancing to a single elimination tournament. Each team will be guaranteed four games.

The top two teams will receive trophies and byes to the division tournament in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma. The third and fourth teams will receive bids to a USSSA state tournament.

Teams must be USSSA registered to play, but teams can be registered prior to the tournament by calling Bert Frederick at (505)-678-5949. The deadline to enter the tournament is June 22 or the first 10 teams. For more information on the tournament, call Bell Gymnasium at 678-5625.

Area all stars hit the gridiron

Residents of Hondo and Carrizozo will represent the region in the North/South A/AA All-Star Football game on Saturday, June 19.

James Salas of Hondo, and Heath Rickman of Carrizozo will be in the game which is scheduled for 8 p.m. on June 19 at the Wool Bowl Stadium in Roswell.

Rickman and Salas, along with the other all-star team members, are considered to be some of the top players in A/AA and six-man football. The teams were selected by a committee of coaches representing each district in the state.

The A/AA All-Star game was originated in 1991 to give the best players in A/AA football a chance to showcase their skills in an all-star game context. Before 1991 only one A/AA player was chosen to participate in the AAA/AAAA All-Star game. Since 1991 over 200 young men have been chosen to participate in the A/AA All-Star game.

This All-Star game is the culmination of a great deal of effort by the A/AA coaches of New Mexico and by the schools and communities from which these players come.

A crowd of 5,000 is expected to be on hand for the game.

Big Things Really Do Come In Small Packages

In early 1994, the face of satellite television will change forever. That's when PENASCO TELECOM SYSTEMS will bring approximately 150 channels of quality entertainment, cable and specialty programming directly to consumer homes over an 18-inch dish antenna. The dish-receiving system, priced at about $700, will be easy to install and use. Once the dish is locked in place, you'll never need to adjust it.

You've waited until now for the best deal in television service. Doesn't it make sense to wait just a little longer for the biggest deal in the smallest, most affordable package? DIRECT BROADCAST SATELLITE (DBS) from Penasco Telecom Systems. It's worth waiting for. For information Call 1-800-501-4844.

The RCA-brand Digital Satellite System™ includes an 18-inch dish, integrated receiver / decoder and remote control unit.

Volunteers lead Museum of the Horse tours

In an effort to expand its service to the public, the Museum of the Horse announced today a new schedule of guided tours.

Under the guidance of the museum's volunteer program, trained docents will now lead guided tours through the Museum of the Horse every at 10:30 a.m. and 2 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

The tours are free to the public. "We feel it is very important to educate the public about the wonderful collection here at the Museum of the Horse", said volunteer coordinator Sam Edmonds.

"So many of the pieces have inside stories that are difficult to relate unless you have a trained guide with you."

Docents have been trained to explain the many artifacts found within the collections at the Museum of the Horse.

Volunteers are well-versed on the "Whirlwind of Change" exhibit that opened May 29. This multi-cultural exhibit features Anne Stradling's Indian collection as well as artifacts from the historic 101 Ranch and wild west show.

The Museum's volunteer program is continually expanding with many opportunities available.

If anyone is interested in becoming a volunteer or docent, they may contact Sam Edmonds or Caro Singletary at 378-4142.

Girl scouts flip for fun, badges

Local Girl Scouts flipped head over heels for safety this week. Thirty-five scouts, ages six to 16, learned about ambulances and first aid when Hector Lozano and Erik Thomas, Emergency Medical Technicians (EMTs) with Lincoln County Emergency Medical Services in Alto, visited their summer day camp in Alto.

The Alto EMTs reviewed basic first aid skills, gave the scouts an ambulance tour and demonstrated some equipment — backboards, splints, oxygen masks and the like — on eager volunteers.

The girls' favorite: the Vacu-splint, a mattress-like spinal immobilization device. It secures the patient so effectively that rescuers can turn the patient in any position, even upside down. Giggling volunteers enjoyed being flipped head over heels.

The EMTs' visit proved a fun way to fulfill a badge requirement.

"The scouts are working on their World of Well-being badge," explained Jamie Gieb, service unit manager for Lincoln County, Zia Council.

"This visit counts for any of three badges in that World."

Care Inc. raises funds for area meals program

Ruidoso Care, Inc. kicked off "Campaign Ruidoso Cares" on Monday at the Ruidoso Senior Citizens Center.

Ruidoso Care, Inc., a non-profit charitable organization, provides need-based home meals for qualified elderly, handicapped and shut-ins in the Ruidoso Valley area at least three days each week.

With 100 percent participation from the board itself, and a variety of generous individual and group contributions, the campaign begins with a total of about $4,500 in cash and pledges, according to Scott Roser.

"As a wonderful surprise, the Lincoln County Motorcycle Association provided a huge boost to the campaign by promising proceeds from the raffle of a Porsche-powered Maxi Taxi Kit Car," said Roser. He said the drawing will take place during the 1993 Golden Aspen Motorcycle Rally.

In addition, the Ruidoso Board of Realtors announced that half the proceeds from the group's golf scramble on June 22 will be donated to the meals program.

"This is the kind of concern and generosity which shows the spirit of the Ruidoso Valley and helps keep alive the idea of caring for our own," said the ad hoc campaign chairman Chris Denne.

Achieving the campaign goal of $40,000 will fund the meal program through July 1996, and ensure that 40 to 50 needy people receive the supplementary nutrition essential to their health, well being and quality of life, said Roser in a news release.

Unlike many supplementary feeding programs, this one has been funded exclusively through contributions of individuals and local organizations.

In order to continue the Ruidoso Care Program, these kind and generous contributions must continue, and in the short-term, increase, said Don Zick, president of the board of directors.

"At the beginning of May, the program had less than $250 in assets and only a few regular contributors," said Zick.

"But already, this campaign has begun to challenge the community to help meet future needs, and the community is responding," he added.

The volunteers who manage the program and distribute the food now have the means to continue this vital program, at least for the immediate future.

For the long haul, Campaign Ruidoso Cares will provide those necessary resources.

The campaign runs through July 31, with volunteers distributing additional information through the Ruidoso Valley.

For more information or to contribute, contact Zick at 378-4937, Denne at 336-7839, Roser at 257-6161, Barbara Dickinson at 257-5512 or Sandee Dutchover at the Ruidoso Senior Citizens Center, 257-4565.

History students visit old town as a finale to spring semester

As a finale to the spring semester, Lynda Sanchez' American History 102 class at ENMU-Ruidoso toured the historic Patron home in Lincoln where students were treated to music, style and history from the 1860s to the present.

As owner Cleis Jordan explained, much of the music popular at the time of the Lincoln County War was also popular all over the nation. Several pieces were performed on both piano and organ by this accomplished musician. This gave students an idea of the music that Billy the Kid might have heard during his visits to Lincoln.

According to a news release, the Patron home, now transformed into a bed and breakfast, is one of the original houses from the Lincoln County War era.

Juan Patron and family played a major role during Lincoln's early history. He was the youngest speaker of the house in the Territorial Legislature. Furnishings reflect the time.

Students were exposed not only to the popular (folk) music in America's early history, but the kind of church and classical music that prevailed at the time. The musical portion of the field trip concluded with a stirring composition by Beethoven.

Afterwards, a visit to Dr. Woods museum, staffed by Lincoln County Historical Society members presented an excellent opportunity for the class to appreciate the life of a late 1800s doctor and family.

Instructor Sanchez also showed students the "backside" of Lincoln — that is, places most tourists never see. Some of these sites are more interesting than the usual.

Flying J Wranglers tune up for jamboree

The Flying J Ranch will be the host for the Chuckwagons of the West Jamboree, May 18 and 19, 1994.

Chuckwagons of the West is an organization of seven different Chuckwagon Supper operations scattered throughout the West.

A regular chuckwagon meal will be served each night followed by an extended stage show featuring the western bands from each chuckwagon operation. Serving time will be an hour earlier at 6:30 p.m.

Also featured will be stuntman and fast draw artist Jim Dunham from Phoenix, Arizona.

Just call the Flying J now at 336-4330 and find out how to get tickets.

Gardens are a welcome sight at the "Y"

The Welcoming Gardens Showing their Colors

The welcoming gardens there at the "Y" are bright with early summer flowers, shining under the tall evergreens, surrounded by the green lawns.

Especially colorful are the phlox, shining in crimson, scarlet, pink and maroon. There are tiger lilies, daisies and purple bells.

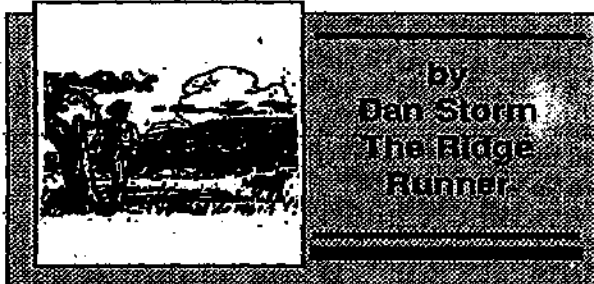

We are all grateful to members of the Ruidoso Garden Club (too many to list them) and Ruidoso Rotary (Jim and Smokey Stover) for this cheerful spot in our city in the pines.

Daisies have always been among our favorite flowers, and I was pleased to learn from Dorothy Freiley that the name of this flower comes from day's eye or eye of the day.

I appreciate the picture of the Shasta daisies on the photo taken by Charles Stallings. When I was boy in southern Oregon, I learned that the Shasta daisies grew wild on nearby Mount Shasta. From here they spread throughout the world, now growing under the ancient pine tree in front of the building of The Ruidoso News.

In much the same way the California poppy and the columbines, pride and joy of Colorado, have become world-wide favorites. California poppies were the first flowers I saw in my native Valdez, Alaska.

White flowers have a charm all their own. When you come home at night, the white flowers in the yard will welcome you, especially on moonlit nights when they catch a little of the golden light of the moon.

Flowers are little messengers from Heaven here on earth.

Mid-June Fragrance of the Wild Grape Blossom

In mid-June when the drought begins to bear down, and the sight of the dry ground almost hurts your eyes, and the river is running low, and the heat waves are shimmering over the hot meadows — then up from the river on the light warm breeze there drifts to you a fragrance you can almost taste.

Among the wild grape vines with their feet in the water, climbing high in the walnut, wild cherry and oak trees, you can see very tiny blossoms in form of a miniature bunch of grapes, barely seen among the leaves.

You wonder how such a little group of small blossoms can send up such a powerful fragrance, reminding you of the flavor of the wild grape itself — the last of the wild fruit blooms, all by themselves, sending a life-giving flavor into the dry air. You inhale this essence of what the Spanish call "Uva Del Rio" (Grape of the River), and you feel your heart beat with joy within you.

This is the essence of June itself, in the mountain land, telling you to enjoy the dry days of June which are a special episode in the plans of Good Mother Earth.

The Month of June Is not Always Dry

This morning our good old friend, the east wind, began bringing in a solid mass of clouds, reminding you June is not always dry.

June 17, 1965, when the river was almost dry here in the vale, a great tall column of clouds — pure white on top — appeared to the west.

Within a few minutes the biggest flood I ever saw here in the vale came roaring down. Eagle Creek came down in high flood for the first time in memory of the old timers here. All this in the month of June without any warning. Which shows you that you should always be careful of the river.

Just as I write this, one hour after high noon, I see purple clouds over Storm Mountain and hear the voice of the thunder, a welcome sound always in the mountain land, and especially this time of year.

Let us thank Our Good Lord for the beautiful month of June and all our other blessings.

B SECTION

Editorial

Lobbying is lucrative for retired officials

Former elected officials are turning more and more to lobbying in their retirement years. These people, who are used to wielding power through their high offices, now translate that clout into big bucks as they lobby for all kinds of industries, issues and even foreign governments. It's a national disgrace.

A good example of this power brokering is the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA). On May 20, The Wall Street Journal reported Mexico's annual spending to negotiate and sell NAFTA was $15,980,000. Two former New Mexico governors are among the beneficiaries of all that foreign lobbying money. Governors Toney Anaya and Jerry Apodaca reportedly were paid $260,000 and $170,000 (respectively) last year. Unsuccessful congressional candidate Dan Sosa is a part of former governor Apodaca's lobbying firm.

After representing U.S. taxpayers in various capacities, these political types seem to be changing their allegiance as they advocate for other countries. We elected them, paid them, trained them and basically gave them the power and credibility that made them desirable as lobbyists. And now they're cashing in on our investment.

This practice may not be illegal, but it has at the very least the appearance of impropriety — we believe it is unethical.

A call for community pride & responsibility

TO THE EDITOR:

I wonder how many of the residents of Ruidoso and the entire County of Lincoln have ever seen signs like these:

House rules:
1. If you wear it, hang it up. 2. If you drop it, pick it up. 3. If you spill it, wipe it up. 4. If you get it out, put it back. 5. If you open it, close it. 6. If you empty it, fill it up. 7. If you turn it on, turn it off. If it rings, answer it. 9. If you dirty it, wash it. 10. If you sleep in it, make it up. 11. If it howls, feed it. 12. If it cries, love it.

Most of these items could apply to each and every one who chooses to use the dumpsters that have been placed around the Village of Ruidoso and the entire County of Lincoln.

I wonder just how the homes of people would look if they treat their homes the way they do the disposal of their trash! Maybe some homes do look like that. I would certainly hate to live in one that does.

I sincerely believe the Commissioners of Lincoln County and all of those who initiated the Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority (LCSWA) are doing the very best they can with what they have to work with. How about the users of these dumpsters doing their part?

It certainly does not help the situation any when users put things into the dumpsters that they know they should not put there. It does not help any when contractors sneak around in the dead of the night and put their refuse into the dumpsters when they know that it is illegal to do so. When each of us received our first billing, we were given the rules and regulations of what was and what was not legal to put into the dumpsters.

Why do the users yowl and accuse the LCSWA of not doing their duty when the users aren't doing theirs?

I get so angry when I pass by a dumpster and see the lid standing wide open. When I see it in the area where I live, I stop the car, get out and close it. And if I see someone leaving it open, they can just expect me to stop and tell them how I feel about it and take their license number and report it.

I wish everyone else would do the same. It is just as much our duty to do so as to report a drunken driver.

We live in a beautiful mountain community. Why can't we all pitch in and do our very best to keep it clean instead of standing by and pointing a finger at others for not doing their duty?

Another very good example is our highways. I was one of the persons who recently helped to clean up the mile appointed to the National Association of Retired Federal Employees (NARFE) on Mechem Drive. All the cigarettes, beer cans, soda cans, styrofoam dishes and cups, even a couple of love letters (pretty juicy, too) and various other items including old tires, wires, etc., that had been thrown out by our non-caring citizens or visitors to our beautiful area, when they could have just as easily stopped at one of the dumpsters and disposed of the items.

Personally, I really appreciate the blue igloos that have been placed around the area for newspapers; clear, brown and green glass; plastic bottles (#1 and #2) and also for cans and aluminum cans. It certainly has helped dispose of our household trash. These, too, could be used by those who throw their cans and bottles out of their car windows.

In an article on the front page of the Thursday, June 3, Ruidoso News was this paragraph: "Numerous dumpsters, lacking lids and in need of repair, have come to his attention," Howell said.

Well, who leaves the lids open for the wind to tear off? Who tears up the dumpsters? Do the employees of LCSWA take the time off to go around doing all of this? It is pretty clear as to who does the damage.

I am sure that LCSWA does not need any more employees. But with all of the complaining going on about the small fee per month that we each pay for our trash pick up, I doubt if anyone would care to have the fee raised so there could be more employees to do the job.

Come on, everybody! Let's all pitch in and do our part to keep our community clean!

Remember, the LCSWA employees only work there. So who makes the mess?

Firefighters praised

TO THE EDITOR:

As property owner and full-time resident for the past four years, I was elated to learn firsthand about two community services that performed to perfection.

Matches caused a fire that quickly became a threat to two homes less than a block from us on June 1. Quick action by the synchronized fire fighting teams from Ruidoso, Smokey Bear Forest Service, Ruidoso Downs and Bonita saved our neighborhood. Each group knew exactly what to do; and within a half-hour, the blaze that had consumed an acre was extinguished. We want to publicly thank them and the volunteers who lent their support.

The shady side of L. L. Davis Street near White Mountain Road caused winter ice to stay and create large chunk holes. When we called the maintenance and street repair department of the village, we were gratified at their prompt attention to the problem. With groups like those mentioned above, we can tell future residents that the village cares about its residents as well as about its tourists.

Be polite to visitors

TO THE EDITOR:

This is an open letter to (a) woman... at the turf club. This person is an elderly woman who walks with a cane, is heavily made up and wears a lot of costume jewelry. This is also an individual who quite effectively ruined our holiday.

This was the first time we had gone to your races, and we had looked forward to a pleasant holiday; thanks to this woman, that was not to be.

Madam, you may be one of Ruidoso's "elite," but the reason your little town is successful and prosperous is because of the visitors such as we who come and spend our money there. It might behoove you to remember that, before you indulge in your next episode of "small-town snobbery."

As a native New Mexican, I try to visit New Mexico as often as possible, but you may rest assured that we will not be back to your town. There are many nice places to go where the residents appreciate your patronage and do not behave in such an asinine manner.

Petitioner wants to set guidelines for The News

TO THE EDITOR:

I responded to your invitation to come down to your office and remove my name from the petition. I indeed came down to your office June 2 to place my name on the petition.

As for Frankie Jarrell's comment that the petition effort was a smear campaign could not be further from the truth, but does exhibit the emotions arising when the "news" of any free press comes under criticism.

The petition authors must have struggled for some time to find the proper words so as to not come across as wanting to censor or restrict the reporting of The Ruidoso News. Let me add my own thoughts and feeling to the verbiage present and ongoing.

I want The News to more closely follow its own guidelines regarding public editorials and the reporting that originates from The News staff. Is this not your policy: it must not be libelous, slanderous or objectionable? Could we not include that it must be balanced with both sides of an issue being fairly included in the reporting by The News? My experience and observation have discovered that some improvement would not harm our freedom of rights.

I did find another petition, bravely and freely, I placed my name to that document.

Sissy Spacek and William Hurt in

"Verna: USO Girl"

Great Performances begins winding down its gala 20th Anniversary Season with a special encore presentation of one of its most popular productions: 1978's "Verna: USO Girl." Filmed on location in Hammelberg and Baumholder, Germany, the telecast stars Sissy Spacek and William Hurt and is based on Paul Gallico's celebrated World War II short story.

Spacek is unforgettable as Verna, a rather untalented young girl who dreams of being a star. She joins a second-rate USO troupe headed by Howard Da Silva and Sally Kellerman, a Catskill comic and smokey-voiced chantense, respectively. Verna clumsily sings and dances her way into the hearts of the Armed Forces behind enemy lines. Verna is everybody's favorite—particularly the favorite of a handsome young captain, played by William Hurt, who wants to marry her.

"Verna: USO Girl" was aided by the USO and the US Army. Hundreds of GIs stationed in Germany are featured in the telecast, as are a group of World War II standards, including "I'll Get By," "You'll Never Know," and "Since You Went Away," which are sung by the cast and integrated into the action.

Great Performances "Verna: USO Girl" will be broadcast Wednesday, June 16th at 8:00 p.m. on KENW-TV.

"La Carpa"

"Vengan a la carpa!" "Vengan Todos!"

"Come to the tent show!" "Come all!"

Shouted noisily through the streets, the above "convite" (invitation) is announced to the townspeople to come and see the "carpa" performed on a makeshift stage beneath a small tent. In the first half of this century, "carpa" troupes roamed the U.S. Southwest, stopping in small towns to perform vaudeville acts for Mexican and Chicano laborers and their families. The family-run "carpas" offered colorful entertainment along with traditional songs and poetry, weaving these together around the "pelado" character, a Chicano/Mexican everyman similar to Charlie Chaplin's tramp.

But even more important, the "carpas" provided a unique medium for exploring the political and social problems experienced by the local community. The "carpas" crafted a bicultural, bilingual sensibility that celebrated the ethnic diversity of the U.S. Southwest.

Set in 1938, the film explores racial tensions in the Southwest, while it reveals the mediating role of the "carpa."

"La Carpa" on American Playhouse will be broadcast Wednesday, June 16th at 9:30 p.m.
