EDCLC can't meet

The Economic Development Corporation of Lincoln County (EDCLC) cancelled its regular Thursday meeting for lack of a quorum.

The EDCLC has had a history of not meeting for lack of a quorum and recently obtained money from the village because they told the councilors things would be different.

The EDCLC also asked the village for an inventory list of what they could show clients, indicating they have been operating for a number of years without such information.

County jail inmates stage strike

The size of food portions at the Lincoln County jail in Carrizozo prompted a protest from a group of inmates Thursday.

According to county manager Andy Wyniam, who supervises the jail operation, the incident only lasted a few hours.

When the loudest complainer was separated from the main group, the other inmates soon returned to their regular meals, he said.

Inmates did not return a call from The Ruidoso News requesting more information about the basis of the protest.

Capitan hires new village police chief

Capitan's new police chief will be on the job September 9.

Mayor Frank Warth has hired Tony Cano, now chief of the campus police at Western New Mexico University, for an annual salary of $21,000.

Cano's 27 years of experience includes serving with the Deming Police Department as a patrolman from January 1978 until July 1984, according to the department's personnel spokesman.

Cano left Deming to join the university police force.

Twin tri carryover nears $15,000 mark

The correct Twin Trifecta combination was not selected for the third consecutive race day and the jackpot now stands at $14,635 going into Thursday's program.

Airline may fly in here

by CHARLES STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

An Albuquerque based air firm pitched the Ruidoso Village Council last Friday for service to the Ruidoso area. The council was cautious, but agreed to discuss it further.

Mayor Jerry Shaw called the special council meeting after being contacted by Peacock Air Flying Service. The council also approved a contract for audit of additional lodging vendors.

Peacock Air is proposing scheduled airline service into Sierra Blanca Regional to serve the city of Ruidoso and the surrounding communities.

Bill Brown, director of marketing for Peacock, said Ruidoso Downs Race Track and Ski Apache were two major attractions already contacted.

"Because of their willingness to work with us, we are certain we can provide air transportation service to your area," Brown said.

According to Brown, scheduled airline service will generate additional revenues for the city utilizing shipments of freight.

"Our airline anticipates hiring local personnel to handle our interest at the airport, i.e. ramp personnel, ticket counter agents and station manager," he said.

Brown said the people in the surrounding communities will be able to get non-stop service to Albuquerque from their local airport and will not have to travel to Roswell for airline service.

"Our intent is to provide one-stop service to Dallas-Fort Worth by the first quarter of 1994," he said.

The council was concerned that El Paso should also be a main consideration. Brown said he saw no problem and offered several alternatives in route service that included El Paso. He also suggested several types of planes that could be used.

Our company chose the Fairchild Metroline III for the start up of operations in Ruidoso," Brown said. This aircraft will accommodate 18 passengers in a single seat arrangement.

He said the aircraft has a large cargo area and can easily accommodate pallet sized loads, ski equipment and excess baggage.

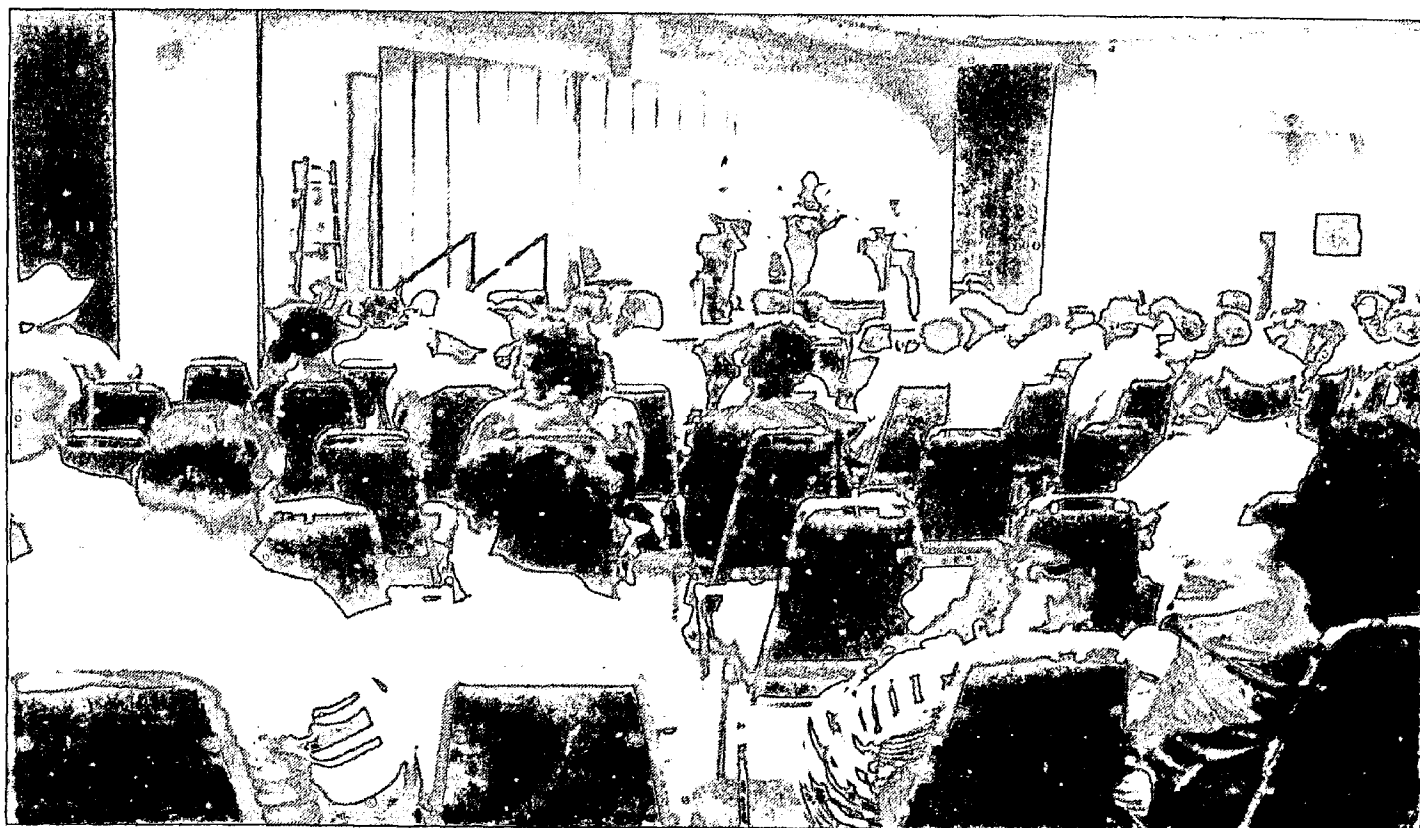

Brown said Peacock Air is in the process of arranging for charter flights in jet aircraft from Albuquerque to Laughlin, Las Vegas and Reno, Nevada; Branson, Missouri; and Ploxi, Mississippi.

"I am sure we can arrange some additional charter trips to bring in vacationers for the winter season," he said.

Brown said he was working with Artesia on a similar proposal. When he mentioned the possibility of subsidy to guarantee a number of passengers to Ruidoso, (he gave 10 as an example), Councilor Frank Potter said a study would have to be made first that would entail talking to the business community and surveying all the options to prevent subsidy if necessary.

The council was in agreement with Potter's assessment and Brown said he would come back at their request with firmer details.

A large Ruidoso crowd kept foot tapping time to the All American Fiddler's Championship staged at the Ruidoso Civic Events Center Saturday. Between competition, Lou Anne Ellison, left, belts out a song with her Miner's Mountain Music gang. The All American Burger Cookoff was staged during the noon break, when the Flying J Wranglers also entertained. Next door in the civic center exhibition hall, the Lion's Club Antique show drew a big crowd.

Potter goes to court

by CHARLES STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Ruidoso Councilor Frank Potter entered a plea of "Not Guilty" Monday to a larceny charge, with the trial to be set at a later date in the court of Municipal Judge Charles Hawthorne.

Potter was charged with removing and stealing Showcase Promotion signs from the state right-of-way.

Ruth Sikes of Pampa, Texas said she had permission to place state property the signs, which advertised a private event at the Civic Events Center.

Potter said the signs were illegal and represented a threat to the health and welfare of the community.

Mayor Jerry Shaw had asked planning and zoning director Cleatus Richards to remove the signs early on Friday the 13th, but Richards said the signs were not within his jurisdiction.

When Richards would not remove the signs, Councilor Frank Potter decided later that afternoon that he would take care of them later.

Potter said if an accident occurred because of the signs, the village and state might be held liable.

Warriors get close in opener

by KENT BEATTIE

The News Sports Correspondent

In an outstanding opener against the defending state champions, the Ruidoso Warriors were outscored 34-19 by Artesia Friday night, in the Bulldog Bowl.

That score, however, was not a true indicator of how the game went.

The Bulldogs took the opening kickoff and with the aid of their always dangerous starburst return, senior David Patterson went 75 yards to paydirt—almost.

A clipping penalty brought the ball back to Artesia territory where their run-and-shoot offense got one first down before giving the ball to the Warriors on a punt that was downed in the end zone.

In their first possession, the Warriors marched 80 yards to paydirt in a brilliant mix of running and passing. With head coach Mike Gaston and offensive coordinator Rodney Webb calling the plays, junior quarterback John Echols had the Warrior offensive group gulping yardage from Artesia's inexperienced defensive unit.

In a 16-play drive, the Warriors chewed up six minutes on the clock before sophomore fullback Rex Comanche scored from the two yard line. During that drive the Warriors lost yardage only once, and had gains of 13, 10 and eight yards. The key to the drive, however, was two pass completions from Echols to sophomore tight end Byron Soules. That passing combination got the Warriors 27 yards, with the last catch putting the Warriors on the two yard line. Comanche scored on the next play.

The try for point was blocked.

After the Warriors kicked off, it took coach Cooper Henderson's potent offense just eight plays to tie the score again at six after a one-yard quarterback sneak. The try for point was missed.

The Warriors got the ball back with 1:38 left in the opening quarter and they picked up where they left off. Most of the yardage came in one spectacular run from senior wingback Ricky Devara. The run netted 30 yards and a face mask penalty added an additional 15, putting the Warriors into Bulldog territory at the 37.

Three plays later, Devara went in on another great run from the 19 yard line.

The Warriors led again, as Jimmy Varnadore nailed the extra point, 13-6.

Artesia got the football back as the second quarter opened and went 80 yards in 12 plays to score from five yards out. The drive was sustained by two consecutive encroachment penalties on the Warrior defensive line. After the two-point conversion, the state champs led 14-13.

Echols and crew got the ball back with 7:48 left in the first half and marched down the field to the Bulldog five yard line. At that point the machine started sputtering a bit. On third-and-goal from the five, Echols was sacked for a five-yard loss. The next play, the offensive line was caught holding, which backed the Warriors up to the 20 yard line.

A third down pass from Echols to Jimmy Varnadore fell incomplete. The Warriors had failed to score from the five yard line, a series that would haunt the team for the rest of the game.

When play continued in the third quarter, the Bulldog defense was very impressive as the Warriors lost two yards in three plays and were forced to punt.

The Bulldogs got the ball on the 50 after a short return and scored in six plays, with David Patterson doing most of the work.

The PAT gave Artesia a 21-13 lead.

The kickoff gave the Warriors good field position at their own 39 and Echols turned to the fullback to carry the load. At 5:10 and 1:00, Rex Comanche reeled off runs of 3, 8, 5 and 13 yards before Echols quarterback sneaked across from the one.

Forced to go for the two-point conversion to tie, Echols attempted a pass to halfback Raul Davis, which fell inches short of his mark. The Warriors trailed by two extra points, 21-19.

The Bulldogs got the ball back at 2:35 left in the third quarter and lightning struck quickly. After a first down that put the ball on the Warrior 41, David Patterson was the recipient of 59-yard bomb and he raced into the end zone untouched.

The Warriors went "three and out" in their next possession.

The Bulldogs drove from their own 26 to the Warrior 36 before fumbling at the 17 after another long gain. With 7:50 to go in the game, the Warrior defense had given the offense a last chance to tie it up.

From deep in their own territory, the Warrior offensive unit would now be asked to go 83 yards to paydirt.

With some time left in the game, Comanche and guard Raul Davis Varnadore the Warriors 27 yards field before having to punt the ball up.

The punt gave the Bulldogs the football back with an eight yard lead, at the their own 42. Artesia got to the 50 before the Warrior defense forced a punt.

Unfortunately, the punt was the game breaker. Reaching the 50, a kick was called after a performance by Rod Stieger or Charles Hester would have been perfect. The Bulldogs got the ball back and scored five plays later, providing the final margin of 34-19, with 53 seconds left in the game.

The Warrior didn't win the game, but they won a lot of battles. The crafty Henderson had to use almost all of his tricks to win, but better yet to escape.

The Warriors didn't stop Artesia. But geez, how many high school football teams run the run-and-shoot? The Dallas Cowboys can't stop it either with players that make a million dollars a week.

You have to give Henderson credit, he has two very talented football players on offense (a quarterback and a receiver) and they touch the football almost every play. Our sophomores couldn't stop two All-State seniors. That's no crime as long as they learned something.

What did the Warriors accomplish except another loss? They showed themselves that they can play with anyone.

has held that "A municipality ... has full and complete charge of its streets (and they have such charge in New Mexico except over state highways) ..."

But state statutes also say that permission can't be granted for the type of private signs or the attaching of those signs on state traffic poles.

Sikes said that state traffic engineer Tim Basler gave her permission to place the signs.

State traffic engineer Tim Basler admitted he gave Sikes permission after she told him she had taped him giving her permission. He said he never heard the tape, but that a statute allowed him to grant permission to put signs on the right of way under certain circumstances.

The statute Basler read to The Ruidoso News indicated community agreement. Richards and Basler had no communication about the signs prior to Basler giving Sikes permission.

Carroll Young, deputy secretary for highways for the state, said that the signs were illegal and no permission could be granted.

Potter said Sikes had charged him with intentionally removing signs that were legally placed on the highway. He asked if the signs were legal, why didn't village planner Richards collect permit fees according to ordinances.

Potter said that he was convinced the complete story on how the signs were allowed has not yet been told.

Sikes, in signing a contract with the Civic Events Center, agreed to abide by both state and local laws.

When The News asked Richards why he had not collected a fee from Sikes, he chose to refer that question and any further questions on the matter to village attorney John Underwood.

In other action, the council approved an extension of a contract with Ronnie Hemphill for audit of lodging vendors to include seven more vendors.

Councilor Joe Gomez drew the seven lots from a container. The names are to remain confidential.

According to Tammie Maddox, village clerk, Hemphill found errors in one of the two vendors audited last fiscal year and as a result the village collected $842 in lodgers tax, penalty and interest from one vendor.

The lodgers tax budget has been approved for $5,000 for audit services for the 1993-94 fiscal year. Last year the council selected two vendors for auditing and paid Hemphill $1,014.72 including gross receipts tax.

Maddox requested the council to increase the vendors to be audited to seven. She said this could be accomplished under the $5,000 already allocated.

The council voted unanimously to extend the contract.

Walkers take to the hills in and around Lincoln County

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Vitality of body and spirit characterized the men and women clustered around the picnic table at Cedar Creek Thursday.

They shared another trait. They all were wearing comfortable walking shoes.

Members of the Ruidoso Mountainmarchers gather annually at sites in the Lincoln National Forest to share good food and stories about past walks, and to plan for future events.

The local chapter boasts as one of its members, Inez Killebrew, the oldest registered volkmarcher in New Mexico.

"I joined the group when it was first organized," Killebrew said before dishing up a plateful of food.

"I've lived here permanently since 1970, and until recently owned the Teepee Cabins and Mobile Home Park."

The only area of the state she hasn't walked is Albuquerque, Killebrew said.

But I've been told by members of the chapter there that no one walking is older," she said.

The dates of September 25-26 have been set aside for the next scheduled walk sponsored by the Mountainmarchers and sanctioned by the American Volkssport Association, a member of the International Federation of Popular Sports.

The local group is supported by the Eastern New Mexico University Instructional Center at Ruidoso and the Ruidoso Woman's Club.

The fall volkmarch will start near Bonito Lake and will cover about 12 kilometers in the Sacramento Mountain high country. The course is considered of moderate difficulty.

Only a qualified 10 KM course is being offered. Those who want additional IVV Distance Credit may walk it twice without an additional charge, but they should register each time to receive a start card.

The walk will begin at the City of Alamogordo campground above the lake.

The Bonito Volksmarch this year is a special event of St. Jude's Children's Research Hospital. Lap cards and sign up sheets will be available at the start/finish point for participants who wish to contribute to that work.

The march may be started any time between 8 a.m. and 1 p.m., but must be finished by 5 p.m. on either or both days.

Signs identifying the location of the starting point will be posted on State Highway 37, at the Bonito Lake turnoff and at the forest service road turn to the Alamogordo and Southfork campgrounds.

The preregistration fee for an A-Award is $5 and will be accepted through September 18. After that date, the fee will be $6. Only the first 100 to register will receive their award on the day of the event. The rest will receive it by mail within eight to 10 weeks.

The A-Award this year will be a cloisonne pin, the second in the Ruidoso club's wildflower series.

"B" awards are medals from prior volkmarches and will be for sale, if the course has been walked.

Those not walking for credit may register at any time for free and participants who want only IVV credit will be charged just $1.50. All participants must register and receive a start card. The cards will be available at the start point the days of the walk for those who have pre-registered.

Rain or shine, the march will go forward. No refunds will be given to registrants who do not show up. Members warn that walkers should bring water repellent gear to protect against the ample summer rains.

The event is open to everyone, but children ages 12 and under must be accompanied by an adult. Dogs should be kept on leashes. The course is not suited for strollers or wheelchairs.

To preregister, write the Ruidoso Mountainmarchers, 1400 Sudderth Drive, Ruidoso, NM 88345.

Genevieve Duncan shows off her medals that testify to her physical mettle in conquering volkmarches across the state of New Mexico.

Members of the Ruidoso Mountainmarchers gather for an annual picnic at Cedar Creek to reminisce about past walks and plan for future events. The club boasts among its members Inez Killebrew, the oldest registered marcher in the state.

Cree Meadows wins the '93 All American Burger title

The search for the All American Burger was so tough that The Ruidoso News and its five distinguished judges nearly declared all 10 entries to be winners.

Cree Meadows, with a pineapple topped burger, won the top honor, though, with nine terrific hamburger entries not far behind.

Watch for the All American Burger on Cree Meadows menu!

The Deck House and Texas Connections tied for second place, with the judges making special note of the Deck House's homemade buns.

Tying for third place were burgers entered by Art Taco and Pappy's Diner.

Judges Jerry Shaw, Wilton Howell, Ray Hayhurst, James Muldowney and Mark Doth viewed the 10 entries one at a time before Penny Clark and Crystal Dalton of The News cut the juicy sandwiches into small pieces for the purpose of tasting.

The five, especially chosen for their expertise in their various fields, then tasted and judged the burgers.

Texas House, Hamburger King, Rich Gas, Pappy's Two and Burger

Trolley served up great burgers, too; and all were declared delicious by the panel of judges.

Some of the burgers included green chilis and cheese, some were plain, but all relied on fresh and well-prepared ingredients.

Master of ceremonies Phillip Wright of K-BUY radio announced the winners to a full house gathered at the Ruidoso Civic Events Center for the All American Fiddlers Championship.

To add to the fun, while the judges pigged out, musicians from Miner's Mountain Castle and the Flying J Wranglers performed.

Lincoln County Commissioner Howell, who said eating burgers is even more fun than kissing babies, sat back and relaxed with a toothpick in his mouth while making the tough choice.

Ruidoso Mayor Jerry Shaw and Ruidoso Downs Trustee Ray Hayhurst, both experienced in the political arena, had something good to say about every entry. They suggested the League of Women Voters have a voters registrar on hand at next year's burger cookoff. Who knows where you'll find a vote?

Judge James Muldowney, executive chef at the Inn of the Mountain Gods, took a different approach — rating the burgers on their presentation, color, texture and other such culinary details.

Mark Doth, marketing director at Ruidoso Downs Racing, lined up the burgers in order of their post position before making his choice.

When it was all over, Cree Meadows took the title, and some members of the audience and The Ruidoso News staff took the leftover burgers.

Those final taste testers wolfed down the final samples and joined the judges in praising the quality of burgers available in Ruidoso area restaurants.

Cree Meadows, the winner of the All American Burger title, will receive a free half-page ad in The Ruidoso News, with quarter page ads going to second place winners Deck House and Texas Connections Cafe, and two by five ads to the third place entrants, Art Taco and Pappy's Diner.

Last year's winner was the Burger Trolley, with Texas Cafe winning second and Main Street Deli, third.

said his goal was to give the offense a chance to win the game in the fourth quarter. They didn't win but they had the chance, and the State Champs knew they were in a whale of a football game.

This week the Warriors will face another powerhouse football team in the Lovington Wildcats. The Wildcats had a nail-biter themselves Friday night as they came from behind to beat Eunice a power in AA football.

When the Wildcats step out on W.D. Horton Stadium Friday night, they better buckle up their chin straps, and pull up their jocks, because it looks like the Warriors are on their way back.

Overbreeding is death for dogs

by DIANNE STALLINGS

Ruidoso News Staff Writer

They should know better.

But hunters continue to breed more and more hounds and then dump their overflow into cages at the Lincoln County Humane Society animal shelter.

Eight were brought in from the Capitan area several weeks ago, three were Walker hounds and five were Plott hounds.

Knowing the chances of adopting out that many hounds are extremely slim when the shelter already is filled with other dogs, manager Esther Harper had to pick the best candidates and destroy the other healthy owner castoffs.

The remaining hounds are females and about six to seven months in age. They must be spayed when adopted in compliance with state law governing shelters, no matter where the adopting owner lives.

"Hounds need plenty of exercise and do better in less populated areas, because they like to howl," Harper said. "They're gregarious, friendly and warm with people, but fierce when chasing wild game. According to our hooks on dog breeds, they can be trained to be loyal guardians of children."

Plott hounds originated in Germany. The shelter residents are handsome-looking with rich brown coats and brindle markings.

"They're big eaters, but should only be given moderate servings so they don't put on weight," Esther said.

While shelter workers try hard to find new homes for the purebred hounds they have confined in cages, some irresponsible persons continue to breed them and let them run loose. Several hounds, adults and puppies, were picked up late last week in the Upper Canyon and a litter of 11 barely weaned hounds came in Friday.

Another strikingly good looking animal at the shelter is the Australian cattle dog, Kiwi, who would make a great companion pet.

With a sweet gray face and gentle eyes, she has a heavily flecked coat that appears to be gray from a distance. But up close, the patterns range from hyena spotting to Australian shepherd flecked.

She was picked up wandering in Upper Canyon.

"She's petite and gentle, with a really pleasing personality," said shelter secretary Kathy Tretreault. "She's a perfect family dog."

According to the shelter book on breeds, cattle dogs (the basis for the "heeler" type dog) are quick learners, active, alert. They are friendly with their human families, but may be wary and reserved toward strangers, human and canine.

truck drivers who enjoy taking their dogs along on a ride. Ruidoso ordinances call for the dogs to be restrained. The easiest and safest solution for a canine pal is to let them ride in the cab of the truck, instead of being perched precariously on the edge of the bed, where a sudden stop could send them flying through the air to injury or death.

For feline lovers, the cattery next to the main shelter is temporary home to many varieties of cats from kittens to adults. They are lovingly tended by several dedicated volunteers, who have created a comfortable atmosphere for viewing and interacting with the animals.

For more information about the hounds, Rommel and Kiwi, or any of the other dogs and cats, call 257-9841 or stop at the shelter on Gavilan Canyon Road.

Crafters open store to sell their work

What do you do when you have arts and crafts to sell, but no place to sell them?

You open up a store of your own.

At least that's what Connie Garrison and Wanda Thomason, owners of Mountain Country, did.

They both make crafts of their own, and they wanted a place where they and other artists could sell their goods.

"We just wanted a place we could sell our things, and people who wanted to sell their crafts could sell too and know that they were well cared for," said Thomason.

So they opened Mountain Country.

The store has broomstick skirts, leather clothing, and batiked ensembles made by Garrison, cows, pigs, bunnies and dolls of all kinds made by Thomason, and a large collection of other items made by artists from New Mexico, Texas and Alabama who sell their things on consignment.

Mountain Country features a collection of ceramics, wreaths, dream catchers, kachina dolls, bird houses, hand painted jackets, beaded belts and hat bands, jewelry and even old coins. And of course, there is a whole lot more that comes in everyday.

"A lot of our goods are one of kind," said Thomason.

Overall, Mountain Country features southwest and country items handmade by artists in the U.S.A.

Mountain Country is located at 2603 Sudderth and is open seven days a week from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Cable rates are adjusted

In response to enactment of the 1992 Cable Act, Lincoln Cablevision is announcing significant adjustments in its pricing policies, according to a news release.

These changes are effective September 1, 1993.

"Lincoln Cablevision has long prided itself in providing its customers quality service and programming at fair and reasonable rates," reads a release provided by the company.

"These rates have been adjusted, however, pursuant to the Federal Communications Commission's (FCC) benchmark calculations. The net effect of the changes on Lincoln Cablevision will be significant revenue reduction," it continues.

"As required by the new federal rules, charges for basic service and each piece of customer equipment will be separate. The result is a regressive pricing structure, giving the greatest savings to those customers who have purchased the most additional outlets and other optional equipment."

"Regrettably, this 'unbundling' also compels Lincoln Cablevision to begin charging for all converters, leading to increased prices for some subscribers."

"The effect of these changes on customer bills will vary according to the actual level of service and equipment taken by a subscriber. Most will see their rates go down."

Equine surgeon settles in here for the winter

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

People have warned Becky Washburn to leave New Mexico if she aims to be a successful veterinary equine surgeon.

But Washburn likes it here and wants to stay close to her roots on the family's Corona Ranch.

The 26-year-old jockey and recent graduate from Colorado State University in Fort Collins will be turning the Green Tree Animal Clinic into a year-around operation.

"I'm going to lease it this winter," Washburn told The Ruidoso News. "As soon as I had my license the first of July, I began sharing part of the clinic with Dr. John Harlackner. He's going to Sun-land (race track) this winter and I will keep the clinic open."

Washburn's name may sound familiar. She's been riding race horses since she was 16, and participated in the high school national rodeo finals in 1984, in barrels and poles. During her college years, she competed in barrels, goat tying and break away roping at the college national finals.

"I've been riding horses since I was nine months old on my family's ranch in Corona," Washburn said. She made the transition to jockey when "the guy training my dad's horses asked if I'd like to learn how to ride them and I said sure."

She rode primarily in New Mexico where she attended undergraduate school, and a little in Colorado, while she finished up her education there.

"I decided when I was in first grade that I wanted to be a veterinarian," Washburn said. "I've always loved animals and stuck with the decision."

Although Green Tree, which is situated on the edge of the racing complex, is equipped with a large X-ray and ultra sound machines, Washburn said she will be treating small and large animals.

Eventually, she would like to specialize in equine surgery.

"But I realize around here, not many people can afford to do surgery on their horses, whereas in Florida, California and Kentucky, they spend and invest a lot more on their animals," she said.

In her free time, Washburn enjoys a unique relationship with Poky, her pet porcupine.

"I found him one weekday when I was at home at the ranch," she said. "He was sitting behind the barn crying and crying all day. I don't know where the mother went. I caught him and now he's my pet. He's very gentle. I never dreamed that I'd keep him. I thought I'd raise him and then turn him loose."

"But he's so gentle and friendly, I'd be afraid someone would kill him. You can't even see the quills unless he's startled. People think porcupines shoot their quills, but they don't."

The clinic's business hours this winter will be 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., but Washburn will be on call 24 hours. The clinic's number is 378-4907 and Washburn's mobile phone number is 430-8614.

Cisco Bob wins Ruidoso's annual fun run

Cisco Bob, star runner when he was at Ruidoso High School, won the men's division of the Village of Ruidoso Fun Run Saturday.

Bob, an RHS grad, finished the 10K run in 33:19 to win the race and a pair of New Balance shoes donated by Mac McDougal of Ski West. He also won the 20-29 age division.

The women's title was shared by two runners, Janelle Johnson and Becky Foster who ran over the line in a 44:40 "photo finish." That time won the 20-29 title for Foster and the 30-39 title for Johnson.

A full field of runners turned out early Saturday morning to run and walk the mountain course which started and ended at Ruidoso Village Hall. The event included a one-mile fun run, a 5K walk, a 5K run and a 10K run, with eight age categories in each division.

10K runners

Benjamin Smith, 9, the only entrant in the youngest category for the 10K run, finished the course in 61:03. In the 11-13 age group, the one runner was Collin May, who was clocked in at 50:41.

No runners took to the course in the 14 to 19 category, and Bob, who is 25, won the 20 to 29 bracket. Greg Fouratt, 28, took second in that category with a time of 42:52, followed by Owen Little, 25, at 48:54.

In the women's division, 20-29, the champion and overall women's co-winner Becky Foster, 27, was the only runner.

In the 30 to 39 for men, Leo La Paz Jr., 35, ran the course in 46:36, with Chuck Kiser, 36, at 67:08.

Johnson, 32, won the 30 to 39 women's division, as well as sharing the overall women's title. Also in the 30-39 age group, Glenda Bob, 30, was timed at 50:33, followed by Donna Potter, 35, who came in at 58:30.

In the 40-49 age category for men, Frank Cannella, 44, was the winner with 49:47, followed by Frank Potter, 48, at 56:01, and Ruben Reyes, 40, with a 56:15.

Irma Wilson had the 40-49 category for women all to herself. Wilson, 45, ran the 10K in 65:25.

Bob Wilkins, 52, was tops in the 50-59 division, stopping the clock at 46:01; followed by Doug Armstrong, 55, with 61:21.

Doris Calloway, 56, the lone entry form women in her category, ran the course in 67:37.

Ruben Ramirez, 63, took the 60-69 title with a 61:00 followed by Jim Lilly, 64, with a time of 62:10.

5K runners

The 5K run drew 20 runners, including Rex Pinal Jr., 18, who ran the course in just 18:30. He was the only runner in the 14-19 category, and was the fastest finisher in the entire 5K field.

The youngest runner in the 5K was Rowen Chee, 8, who was made the run in 34:24.

In the 11 to 13, a trio of 13-year-olds run the course with the first and second place runners in this group finishing just 10 seconds apart.

Dennis Victorino, 13, came in at 27:42; Danny White, 13, at 27:52, and Jason Walker, 13, at 29:49.

In the 20-29 age division, Trenton Prins, 26, ran the course in 21:02; Collier Kaydahzinne, 24, in 21:35; and Brent King, 27, in 27:21.

Mary La Coe, 26, was the only runner in the women's division for that age group. She finished in 31:20.

In the 30-39 division, Robert Schoemp, 30, came in at 22:31; Robert C. Haworth, 32, 22:59; Tom Lilly, 35, 23:00; and Lynn Grayson, 38, 25:21.

Three women ran in that age category with Debby Donnerbert, 30, clocked at 23:09; Debbie Jo Al-mager, 32, 24:41; and Paula Allen, 33, 30:03.

In the 40-49 age group, Bobby Avary, 40, ran in at 27:49, with Norman Jonjola, 40, timed at 28:09.

For the women, Susan Raterman, 40, finished in 27:27.

Mac McDougal, 59, was the only runner in the 50-59 category, and he ran the 5K in 30:00.

5K walkers

Seven walkers took part in the 5K walk, with Mike Calloway, 34, walking the course in a time of 34:58. Ann Edwards, 35, also in the 30-39 category, was timed at 39:06 for the 5K walk.

In the 40-49 category, Jim Miller, 45, finished in 37:23, with Bob Edwards, 46, at 37:46; and for the women in that age group, Cheryl Cook, 46, walked the course in 41:54.

In the 50-59 age group, Charles Wendler, 50, made the fastest time at 32:42, to take the win for his age division and overall for the 5K walk.

Tom Curry, 68, walked the 5K in 42:21.

One-mile run

Four youngsters donned their running shoes to compete in the one-mile fun run.

Jenna Carrasco, 8, made the run in 9:10 and Heather McDougal, 5, in 17:08.

Justin Homersby, 13, came in in 9:12 and Johnny Castillo, 13, in 12:31.

And prizes

Ellen Bizzell, race organizer, said the Parks and Recreation-sponsored event was a big success thanks to the volunteers who always come out and help.

She also thanked Ruidoso State Bank for donating refreshments, Mac McDougal for donating New Balance shoes and gift certificates for the winners, and Tom Curry for awarding puppet show tickets to the younger runners.

Parks and Rec staffers Rafael Salas, Claudia Branum and Rodney Griego were on the job signing up runners, timing them over the line and even slicing watermelon and serving refreshments.

Ruidoso Police officers helped out by controlling traffic and patrolling the race course throughout the morning.

Set Record Breaks 43-year-old mark in Ruidoso Thoroughbred

The overpowering juvenile Set Records lived up to his name by shattering a 43-year-old stakes record with an authoritative nine-length triumph in the $85,980 Ruidoso Thoroughbred Futurity, Saturday.

The Kentucky-bred colt by Sauce Boat out of the Star de Naskra mare Super Set, ran the six furlongs in 1:10.4, the fastest clocking in the prestigious stake since its inception in 1950.

The win marked the second stakes victory of the summer for the regally-bred colt who previously captured the $77,000 Norcor Futurity in June.

Set Records broke sharply from the #2 post position as the 2-5 favorite in the 12-horse field and was just off the early lead in the early stages of the sprint.

Midway down the backstretch, the colt moved up confidently under jockey Glen Murphy to grab a one-length lead then, widened that margin to five at the top of the lane.

In the stretch, Set Records drew away from the rest of the pack and was hand-ridden to the wire.

"He was well in hand early on, then he relaxed really nice until it was time for me to let him run," said Murphy.

"When we turned for home I was going to let him go if they came up on him, but it wasn't a contest so I never uncocked my stick."

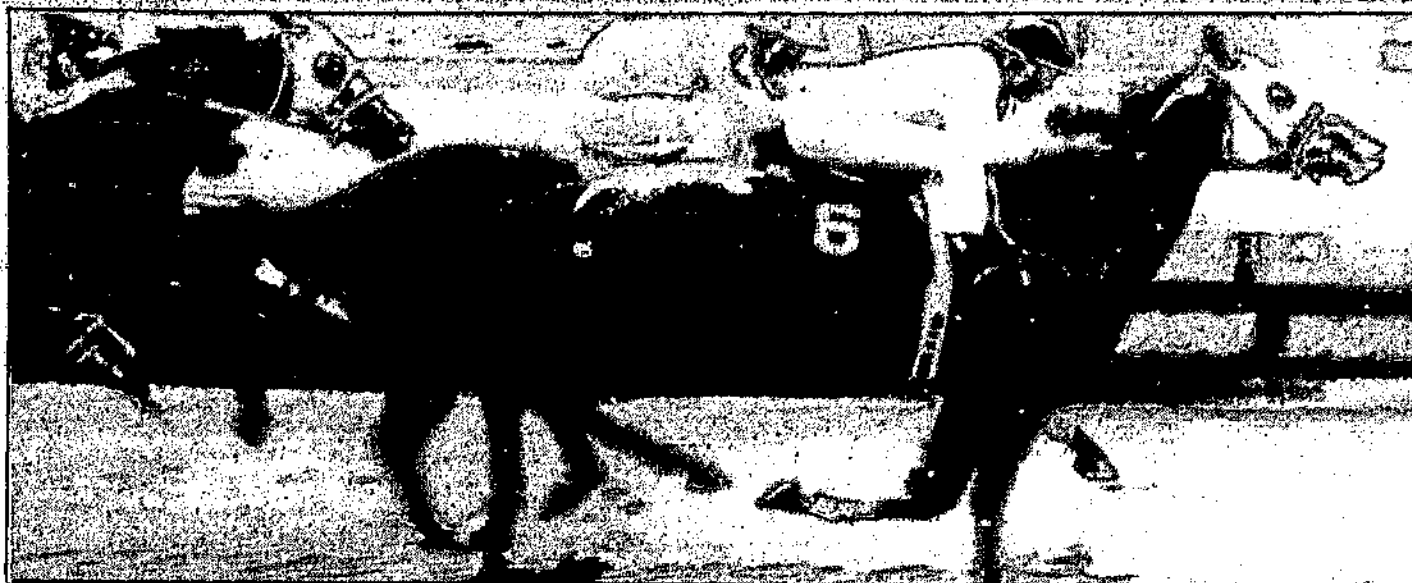

Trainer Doyal Roberts said that what separates Set Records from the rest of the 2-year-olds at Ruidoso this year is he doesn't make any mistakes.

"He's just a good horse who does everything easy and doesn't have any problems."

Set Records is owned by Margaret Bloss and Margaret DuPont of El Paso. The colt is undefeated in five starts at Ruidoso with earnings of $84,680. His only career setback came in the Grade II Hollywood Juvenile Championship in Los Angeles when he ran seventh against the top 2-year-olds in the nation.

31-1 longshot Pets Will Win out-finished Supartica to secure the place position by a 3/4-length. Manuel Ortiz Jr. was aboard the Oklahoma-bred son of Will Win. The Danny Mirabal-trainee earned $18,911 for owner George Kleier of Fort Smith, Arkansas.

Sam Ewan's Supartica earned $10,315 for his efforts. The New Mexico-bred son of Superbity was ridden by Carlos Rivas and trained by Don Farris for Ewan of Irving, Texas.

Easily A Rogue secured a spot in the Grade I $51,518 All American Gold Cup final by becoming the second fastest qualifier in the trials at Ruidoso Downs Thursday. The four-year-old mare sprinted the 440-yards in 21.79 seconds and won by a neck over Andreas Shadeov. Roy Baldillez rode the California-bred by Calyx for trainer Russell Harris who is co-owner with David Clymer of El Dorado, Kansas. The All American Gold Cup, which features the top older quarter horses in the nation, will be run at Ruidoso Downs on September 4.

Those Were The Days is fastest in All American Gold Cup trials

The tough gelding Those Were The Days overcame a rough start to win a trial division for the Grade I All American Gold Cup and post the fastest qualifying time of :21.79 for the prestigious race, Thursday.

The ten fastest qualifiers from the three trials qualified to the $51,518 race which will be run Saturday, September 4.

The Gold Cup annually features the nation's finest older quarter horses running the classic distance of 440 yards.

Those Were The Days broke a step slowly from the gates as a 14-1 longshot in the second trial and was bumped from both sides by Celadon and Vital Class before regaining his stride.

Under constant urging by jockey Larry Layton, Those Were The Days rallied from fourth to first and just held off Vital Class by a neck at the wire. The 4-year-old Oklahoma-bred gelding, by Six Portunes won a division of the World's Championship Quarter Horse Classic in his last start, but failed to gain the respect of the local handicappers in this race.

The Robert Turner-trainee has much stakes experience after finishing third in both the Remington Park and Blue Ribbon Derbies last year. Vital Class, winner of the Grade I Rainbow Silver Cup, qualified to the final with a clocking of :21.81.

The Russell Harris-charge Easily A Rogue beat Andreas Shadow by a neck to win the third trial and post the second fastest qualifying time of :21.80. The 4-year-old California-bred mare by Calyx broke on top and never surrendered the lead at any point in the race to win handily under jockey Roy Baldillez.

The filly ran fourth behind Refrigerator in the Grade I World's Championship Quarter Horse Classic in her last outing and rarely gives a dull effort versus top competition.

Prior to coming to Ruidoso, Easily A Rogue won the Grade I Remington Park Championship in July. Andreas Shadow hooked Easily A Rogue in midstretch, but didn't have enough to win although she did qualify with a time of :21.83.

Sound Dash, the runner-up in last year's All American Derby, made a triumphant return to Ruidoso with a nose win over Dash Master Miss in the first trial. The 4-year-old Oklahoma-bred daughter of Dash For Cash broke fourth from the gate, but rallied strongly along the rail under jockey Raul Ramirez to narrowly defeat her adversary.

The time was :21.91, the seventh fastest. Dash Master Miss also qualified with a :21.92 clocking.

The complete list of qualifiers follows: Those Were The Days (:21.79), Easily A Rogue (:21.80), Vital Class (:21.81), Easily An Episode (:21.82), Andreas Shadow (:21.83), Super Clyde (:21.86), Sound Dash (:21.91), Dash Master Miss (:21.92), Sixty Lady (:21.93), Lazbuddie (:21.95).

Zia Soph Champs

Merry Ego, number six, edged Tru Force by a neck to win the $23,000 Zia Sophomore Championship for three-year-olds. New Mexico-breds Sunday at Ruidoso Downs. Jockey Tome Green was aboard the Bold Ego filly for the 400 yards and finished with a time of 19.91 seconds. Carroll Hopper is trainer and co-owner with Marylee Hooper of Aztec. Photos courtesy of Ruidoso Downs Race Track.

Friends say goodbye to Pappy Chavez

Aristeo "Pappy" C. Chavez

Services were held August 24, at Fountain of Living Water Church at San Patricio and the Hondo Cemetery, for Aristeo "Pappy" C. Chavez, who was called home by our Lord on August 21.

The Reverend Benjamin Chavez, son of Aristeo, opened the service with special prayers. Then Sister Lilly Sanchez sang "La Mananita Alegre" (The Happy Morning).

Sister Esther Castillo sang "I Need Him" and "The Last Mile."

The Reverend Mr. Chavez then read the obituary, in which he paid tribute to his father as a very loving husband and father, a hard worker and honest Christian gentleman. The Reverend Benjamin recalled the happy days working with his father in their apple orchard, and traveling together.

Luz Elva Chavez, wife of the Reverend Benjamin, sang "If You Knew."

The service was then turned over to the Reverend Sisto Sanchez, who read from the Gospel according to Saint John: "Let not your heart be troubled; ye believe in God; believe also in Me...in my Father's house are many mansions. I go to prepare a place for you, I will come again and receive you unto Myself, that where I am there ye may be also."

The service was then dismissed.

Graveside Services

At the graveside in the Hondo Cemetery, the reverend gave thanks to God for the blessing of the life of Aristeo, and thanked all those present for their remembrance and devotion.

The mountain world rejoices in the prime of summer

This is being sent to you on August 26, a little before high noon, with the golden sun beaming down on the mountain meadows, vales and hillsides all shining in emerald green.

A few white billowy clouds appear over the hills to the east and south, while a gentle east wind hums a melody of summer's perfect days.

This will reach you on August 30, the next to the last day of an August that has seen the mountain world respond gratefully to the magic of the sunshine and the rain. The ripening rays have done their work well. Already the viney mesquite grass has put on its little heads of round grain with the purple pollen.

The gramma grass, the flagship of the feed for grazing creatures, is waving its little purple banners on stems three feet tall, and on the lower edge of the small flageolets, already you may see the fringes of golden pollen, little messengers of the distant approach of fall. The gramma grass pollen is sacred in the traditions and ceremonies of the Mescalero Apache Indians.

And the gramma grass is the living spirit and emblem of abundance and prosperity for all the creatures of Mother Earth. In the winter you may see the mature heads of the gramma grass extending up above the snow while the snow birds and others of our feathered friends enjoy a winter feast.

And so a great sense of well-being and joy abides all throughout the mountain land.

Let us thank the Lord for these days in the prime of summer, and all our other many blessings.

He also read from the Gospel according to Saint John: "Jesus saith unto her: 'I am the Resurrection and the Life...'"

Pall bearers were Israel Chavez, Rayner Chavez, Arturo Chavez, Monroy Chavez, Benjamin Chavez, Modesto Chavez, Felix Chavez, and Ruben Chavez. Honorary pall bearers were: Abraham Chavez, Jo Gutierrez, Amarante Chavez, Ermando Chavez, Vicente Herrera and Mike Gonzalez.

A member of a pioneer Lincoln County family, Aristeo lived his entire life where he was born, in San Patricio.

He was everything a devoted husband and father could be. He and his wife, Cristina, raised 17 children, 15 of whom are with us today, a loving devoted family close bound together in the bonds of fond affection.

There are 79 grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

Aristeo will ever hold a fond spot in our hearts, and we all rejoice that our dear friend is safe and happy in heaven where he is being reunited with loved ones who have gone on before, to be with Our Lord.

All American Gun Show is back for second year

A little bit of everything, from guns to tin signs, will be on display at the second annual All American Gun Show on September 4 and 5 at the Ruidoso Civic Events Center.

Although the main displays will be of new and used guns, there will be more than 100 tables of items that hunters, fishermen or just outdoorsmen will love to stop by and see.

Organizers have lined up top of the line sellers of knives, fishing tackle, bow and arrows and ammunition to be at the show. They will be coming from Oklahoma, Colorado, Arizona, all over New Mexico and Texas along with a few locals.

The show will be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. both Saturday and Sunday, September 4 and 5.

The admission for the event will be $3 for adults and free for children 12 and younger who are accompanied by an adult.

Drinks and food will be available at a concession stand, so make a day of it at the All American Gun Show.

Reserve tickets now for this year's All American Charity Celebration

When the band strikes up the first song on Sunday, September 5, 1993 and officially opens the 1993 Charity Celebration, it will be signaling the beginning of the party of the summer.

This year, the Charity Celebration takes a trip back to its roots and honors the finalists in the 35th running of the Grade I All American Futurity — the world's richest Quarter Horse race!

The end of the summer bash will welcome as special guests all of the finalists in this tremendous race and hopes to recognize the people who worked so hard to come so far — the owners, trainers and riders of the All American qualifiers.

Each year, the finest two-year-old Quarter Horses in the nation compete in front of the crowds at Ruidoso Downs Race Track in hopes of joining the elite ranks of the All American Finalists.

Following a grueling series of time trials, only the fastest and finest horses will break from the gates in the All American Futurity on Monday, September 7.

In that short dash down the track, one lucky owner will come home a millionaire.

"It is fitting that this celebration of the finest in Quarter Horses is held at the Museum of the Horse", said Charity Celebration organizers.

"The All American Futurity enjoys a rich heritage, and one of the paramount goals of the Museum of the Horse is preserving the history of the horse."

Proceeds from the 1993 Charity Celebration will go to the Museum of the Horse to help them achieve their goals.

The Charity Celebration truly is a "celebration" this year.

Members of the Wichita Linemen will begin entertaining the crowds at 8 p.m. on Sunday evening, September 5.

Later in the evening, the nationally recognized crew from America's Horse and ESPN, Tom Dawson and Chris Lincoln, will present a special tribute to the All American finalists.

A delicious hors d'oeuvres buffet will satisfy every appetite, and a cash bar will be available.

Tickets are $50 per person and are now available at Ruidoso Downs Race Track or the Museum of the Horse.

If it's an evening of great entertainment, fine dining and fine dancing, the 1993 Charity Celebration at the Museum of the Horse is the place to be this Labor Day weekend!

For more information, call 378-4431 or 378-4142.

B SECTION

Editorial

Cleanliness is next to godliness

Spring cleaning may have come a little late to Ruidoso, but it's here. We're happy to see the street sweeper out once a week.

Our village, like an unoccupied house, had begun to look uncared for and unloved, but with the weekly sweepings, the streets are beginning to look better. That's a start.

Dumpsters still need some care, and we hope the solid waste authority puts the village dumpsters high on its list of priorities. We've been hearing that a refurbishing project is under way, and once dumpsters are repaired and cleaned up, we hope they'll fade into the background where they won't look like untidy street decorations.

The next step that is going to improve the looks of this village, will be uniform enforcement of the village sign ordinance. The council has taken the first important step, by committing to enforce that ordinance, and authorizing the village manager to deputize firefighters to back up the village enforcement officer. The sign ordinance fits the character of this village, and it will be good to return to a cleaner look without unsightly, drooping banners; and with signs that are in proportion to their individual buildings.

It's good to see this return to a commitment to a neat and clean village.

Thoughts for the day:

"Originality consists in thinking for yourself, not in thinking differently from other people."

LETTERS

Ms. Santa Cops says Christmas is coming

TO THE EDITOR:

It is with bittersweet memory, but absolute urgency that I send this letter to you.

During my almost 11 years as a law enforcement officer for the Village of Ruidoso, the most joy and gratification I have received is having functioned as Ruidoso-Lincoln County Coordinator for the now well-known and accepted Christmas assistance program called "Santa Cops."

Now, however, due to ex-cruciatingly chronic health problems, currently complicated by potential neurological difficulties as well, it will not be possible for me to coordinate or actively function in the 1993 "Santa Cops Program."

"Santa Cops" has become a total community and county-wide accepted program. In my heart of hearts, I cannot see it just dissolve into non-existence.

So, in lieu of this eventuality, some events have been initiated for the "Santa Cops" tradition to live on.

Lincoln County Sheriff James J. McSwane and his wife, Freda McSwane, have graciously agreed to coordinate "Santa Cops" for 1993. Both of those individuals would probably be embarrassed about me letting this "cat out of the bag," but year after year this involvement, assistance and plain old hard work has been instrumental and invaluable to me in making "Santa Cops" the success it has become.

More times than can be recalled, critical aspects of "Santa Cops" would not have run so smoothly without their undying diligence and dedication.

This year, I will be working with Sheriff McSwane and Freda McSwane to brief them on the multitude of details that make this worthwhile program work.

Some organizational and operational changes may become necessary, but these bridges will be crossed as they become more apparent.

My most sincere thanks go to Mayor Jerry Shaw, village councilors Barbara Duff, Frank Potter, J.D. James and Bill Karn, former village councilor Jess Stinson, Police Chief Swenor and former Chief Bill Newman for their support and nurturing of "Santa Cops."

Also, my most sincere thanks to every youngster, service club, individual and "secret santas" in the past who have joined hands and united to make whatever effort possible to make Christmas a more joyous occasion for the elderly, lonely and less fortunate people in Ruidoso and Lincoln County.

Those of you who never participated will just never know the heart-warming and far-reaching experience you have missed.

It is my most sincere prayer that the legend of "Santa Cops" lives on forever, in some fashion.

Please give Sheriff McSwane and his wife all of the love and support for the program that you have given me. Please watch The Ruidoso News as information about events for "Santa Cops" 1993 begins to unfold in the coming months.

Believe it or not... Christmas is right around the corner.

Some words of support for congressmen

TO THE EDITOR:

I do not agree at all with the article by Hal Rhodes which appeared in your paper. Our Congressmen, Pete Domenici, Joe Skeen and Steve Schiff are very honorable, honest representatives and are to be admired for standing up for what they believe in and for not following the road of least resistance.

Anyone should know that higher taxes do not create jobs, which is most important. It is not scary at all that in a supposedly free country our Congressmen stand up for their principles.

The Republicans delayed the relief bill because they wanted it to be paid for instead of being added to the national debt, which doesn't bother the Democrats.

They needed the money to rebuild after the flood water receded, so there was time.

If there is no other way to stop disastrous bills then the filibuster is what is needed. It is not gridlock at all. If they did not think the President's national service program was good, they should have opposed it. It only makes our debt rise and people less responsible.

I do not agree with Senator Bingham about anything, and if he is frustrated, I'm sure the Republican congressmen are also.

Richard A. Viguerie wrote in the Senior American "that to date top appointees look like Americans only in two areas: gender and race. That's important, but a person's values and a person's world view are more important. So far, all your appointees have the same rather narrow view."

I learned in the second grade, in a country school, that Congress appropriated the money, so am sick of those who blame presidents Reagan and Bush for our high national debt.

Many times there was one important thing in a bill, but so much pork barrel and ridiculous expenditures were attached, the President had to veto it, and then he was severely criticized for not signing the bill by the mass media, but they never mentioned the ridiculous expenditures attached.

Senator Pete Domenici and Congressman Joe Skeen and Steve Schiff are not abstractionists, but have intelligent sound ideas which should be considered.

LCMC provides quality care

TO THE EDITOR:

With the recent death of my husband, and my recent surgery, I have spent a great deal of time in hospitals in El Paso, Albuquerque and Ruidoso. These experiences have made me realize we have a "big city" hospital in our little village.

At 6:30 one July morning, I was immobilized between the floor and the bed; I called 911, and within 20 minutes I was in Lincoln County Medical Center.

Having had many opportunities to compare, I find this hospital, from the kitchen staff, nursing staff, emergency room personnel, and doctors (to be) outstanding!

The physical therapy has extremely good facilities and staff. I have had occasion to use them all, and felt no "big city" hospital could or would have provided better care than my husband and I received in Ruidoso.

It had never occurred to me what a fine facility LCMC really is until I had the need to make use of it so extensively over the past year. I hope others who may not have realized it are now more aware of the access we have to excellent staff and equipment in our little village community hospital, LCMC.

Area construction recovery falters in July

by FRANKIE JARRELL
Ruidoso News Editor

Village building topped the $1 million mark again in July, when the Village of Ruidoso issued 51 permits for construction valued at $1,392,442.

After a four-month mini-boom, construction levels faltered in what used to be the biggest building month in the year.

The July total brings the year-to-date to 329 permits totaling $9,497,355 for the first seven months of 1993.

Commercial building has been a bit slower to rebound from the construction industry slump this village has suffered, but in July one new commercial building permit was issued.

Don Elwell, doing business as Elwell Construction, was issued a permit to build a new commercial office building at 101 Fifth Street. The permitted value on that building is $223,661.70.

The Elwell building, which is slated to be leased for a state human services office, brings the total new commercial building permits for the year to seven with a valuation of $620,020.

In June, the village issued one permit for a commercial building worth $110,000, and that was for commercial storage units being constructed at 1107 Mechem by Eagle Creek Construction.

While new commercial building starts have been few and far between, village real estate agents continue to have good inventories of commercial property available to lease and sell.

The village issued eight new single family dwelling permits for a total of $919,727; bringing that category to 53 permits worth $6,795,767.

A trend toward remodeling and fixing up has continued with 36 residential addition/alteration permits, valued at $226,879, issued in July.

That brings the total fix-up category for homeowners to 225 permits for the year, with a value of $1,734,300.

Commercial addition/alteration permits totaled six worth $22,175 in July, bringing the year-to-date in that area to $320,279.

Century 21 honored for second quarter production

CENTURY 21 Aspen Real Estate, Inc. was among the offices in the El Paso/Southern New Mexico district of the Century 21 of The Southwest, Inc. Region honored for second quarter production at the recent sales rally, at the Vista Hills Country Club.

Specifically, the Ruidoso-based office was in the spotlight for being on target for the prized CENTURION award, the highest honor given within the Century 21 system.

Century 21 Aspen Real Estate, Inc. was also honored as the Top Producing Office and as one of the Top Listing Offices in the district during the three-month period.

The firm's Susan Miller took bows as the district's Top Producing Sales Associate and as one of the Top Listing Sales Associated during the quarter.

In addition, Miller was recognized for being on target for an individual CENTURION award and as a recipient of the Region's Picture of Success award, an annual honor given for meeting specific production requirements.

Also recognized were: Jackie Covington, on target for the Multi-Million Dollar Club award, and Peggy Jordan, on target for the Picture of Success award.

CENTURY 21 Aspen Real Estate, Inc. also was lauded for top production during the month of July and for year-to-date production, announced Dennis Pysz, Regional Director of Century 21 of the Southwest, Inc.

The Ruidoso-based franchise was recognized as a member of the President's Round Table and the President's Circle.

The President's Round Table is a production award based on year-to-date figures and requires that an office meet or exceed an average specified dollar amount in gross closed commissions per month.

Sierra roofing is now available throughout New Mexico

Sierra Roofing, the California-based manufacturer of stone coated steel roofing materials, announced that the product is now available to New Mexico consumers.

"In the past, California was the only state that benefited from our Sierra line," Kory Frost, vice president of marketing said.

The factory authorized contractor serving Albuquerque, Roswell, Alamogordo, Las Cruces and Santa Fe is Sun Valley Builders, Inc., located at 1096 Mechem in Ruidoso. Sun Valley Builders can be reached at 258-9060.

"Our overwhelming success in California has encouraged us to expand into markets such as New Mexico, where the Sierra line can protect and improve a home's ability to withstand the fierce and damaging effects of nature," said Frost in a news release.

According to that release, because of its combination of strength and durability, the Sierra line is the greatest defense a home has against the intense hail storms, freezing temperatures and tremendous snow storms typical during New Mexico winters.

Additionally, the arid summers which are common in New Mexico, can quickly deteriorate wood shake/shingle roofs, making them dry and brittle.

The materials used in Sierra roofs will never break down, even in the most extreme temperatures, according to the company.

Sierra roofs are also durable, strong, and hail resistant.

REAL ESTATE ROUNDUP

DEAN HAYNES of Bill Pippin Real Estate recently played host to her entire family for a mega-family reunion.

BILL HIRSCHFELD of Realty Services has been appointed to the Village of Ruidoso Lodgers Tax Advisory Board. His wife, Sunny Hirschfeld, who works for the Museum of the Horse, has been appointed to the State Pharmacy Board.

MARILYN WARD, bookkeeper at Century 21 Aspen Real Estate, was in the old Lincoln Pageant, "Last Escape of Billy the Kid" this month. The pageant and parade are a "family affair" for the Wards, with Marilyn, her husband and two sons taking part. Marilyn's son, Casey Ward, was the voice of Billy the Kid this year.

KARITA DEAN is the newest real estate professional at Century 21 Aspen Real Estate, 727 Mechem Drive, in Ruidoso.

Dean is a licensed real estate associate with a background in real estate financing and escrow. She is very familiar with the Ruidoso area, where she has lived for 31 years.

To reach Karita, call 257-9057.

DOUG SIDDENS coached the Ruidoso All-Stars Little League baseball team. The team that went to San Bernardino knocked out the Ruidoso team early in the competition. "We had a really good ball team," said Siddens of his 11- and 12-year-old team. "I was just real proud of them."

DOUG SIDDENS of Coldwell Banker SDC Realtors was honored among the top sales associates in the state and in the region for the second quarter. Siddens was honored for his place in the top ten for total units, gross commission income, buyer controlled sales and listings sold among the 308 Coldwell agents in New Mexico.

Siddens ranked 24 for listings sold, 20 for total units and 19 for buyer controlled sales among the 9,000 Coldwell agents in the western region.

THE RUIDOSO BOARD OF REALTORS Troupe will be the opening and closing acts for the talent show portion of the Ice Breaker Party during the 45th Annual REALTORS Association of New Mexico Convention. The Convention will be on October 14 and 15, with headquarters in the Albuquerque Hyatt and Convention Center. The talent show, starring Ruidoso's group, will be on Thursday, October 14. This is the first year to add a talent show and it's going to be "cool," according to inside sources.

(Does anybody remember when Ruidoso Realtors presented their own version of "Laugh-In?" And how about Doug Siddens and Glen Crane's short stuff golfers routine? RANM has picked the right group to ham it up in the talent show!)

SCOTT ROSER of Gary Lynch Realty holds the course record at the Links at Sierra Blanca golf course. Recently, Scott competed in the New Mexico and El Paso Section Tournament, as well as the Amateur Championship in Socorro. He didn't win, so he is still very active in real estate!

The RUIDOSO BOARD OF REALTORS extended an invitation to the REALTORS Association of New Mexico to host the 1995 State Convention in Ruidoso. The convention that year will be October 3-7, and will be at the Ruidoso Civic Events Center. Cindy K. Lynch of Gary Lynch Realty has been chosen chairperson for the event.

MARGE WOODUL's son, Chris Woodul, recently married. He and his wife, Micah Hall, now live in Las Cruces, where he is a pharmacist for Walgreen's. The couple married at the First Methodist Church in Albuquerque. Woodul is with Bill Pippin Real Estate.

Protect Property From Foraging Animals

Imagine... a landscape of lackluster plants ward off deer, squirrels, raccoons, even where flowers and shrubs are half-eaten and neighborhood strays, but with little or no shredded; fences clawed and defaced; garbage success. Animals are discouraged temporarily, cans tipped over and emptied. Not a pretty but eventually return to feed and browse. The attack, although it may seem an expensive picture is it? Unfortunately, for thousands of problem seems insurmountable. So what's an alternative now, is one of the most cost-effective homeowners, it's an all too real description of environmentally-aware homeowner to do? and permanent ways of keeping larger animals the serious damage wild animals and birds can do to property.

All in all, it's a problem homeowners would much rather do without; but solutions are not some common sense, a few, simple easy to come by. Victimized homeowners have tried everything from scarecrows to shotguns to

The answer may not be as difficult as you think. In fact, foraging creatures can easily be at bay in the long-run. To make doubly sure that taught that your property is off-limits, if you use plants, and even the fence, don't come under some precautionary measures and an effective animal attack; apply Ro-Pel Animal, Rodent and Bird repellent to foliage and other absorbent surfaces.

When these hungry deer get the munchies, they may end up in your flowerbeds.

Here's help to stop singing the garbage blues

Every day, thousands of environmentally-concerned homeowners are reluctantly forced to face the ultimate battle of man against beast: keeping the local wildlife out of the garbage.

This may not sound like too serious a problem, but it is. The nibbling, biting, eating, licking, gnawing and browsing that wild animals do to trash, both protected and unprotected, often results in a scattered, stinking mess at the end of the driveway. As unpleasant as this is for you and your neighbors to see, health-wise, it's an even worse situation.

Loose food scraps strewn around the yard create strong, unwanted odors, while rotting food attracts all sorts of flying and crawling insects. Family pets often eat the food and become ill as a result. This season, you can prevent your garbage from becoming a playpen for raccoons, squirrels, rats, mice and stray cats by putting to use a few simple, property-saving techniques recommended by the experts at Burlington Scientific Corporation, manufacturers of the Ro-Pel line of animal repellents.

Bag & Can Trash

Far too often, homeowners place their garbage in paper bags they receive at the supermarket and toss them directly into garbage cans outside. The aroma of these tasty leftovers serves as a magnet, attracting curious nighttime creatures searching for food or an evening of mischief. Then, homeowners are inevitably surprised when animals have managed to remove the can's lid and rip through the garbage. Step one in winning the war on garbage predators is to buy tough, durable bags that tie tightly and remain tied.

Another simple way to protect against unwanted visitors is to make sure you are putting bagged garbage in a sturdy can. Whether it be a plastic pail or a traditional metal can, the most important factor is that the lid fits firmly and securely on top of the container, and that it stays that way until you or a sanitation worker removes it. A strong, well-secured lid will also ensure that food smells are sealed in and animals physically kept out.

In the case of meat bones or food scraps, the favorite snacks of roaming animals, consider sealing these items in a smaller plastic bag before placing them in the bigger bag, then in the garbage can. Also, whenever possible, avoid leaving refuse outdoors for a long time, particularly overnight.

One last, excellent way to keep animals at bay is to treat trash and trash cans with a non-hazardous, inexpensive repellent. Ro-Pel Garbage Protector, for instance, deters animals by leaving a bitter taste that is completely harmless yet extremely repulsive to animals. Wild animals vividly remember the aversive taste and, after a visit or two, will learn to associate the nasty taste with the product's citrus-like tag scent, then consciously avoid the treated area. It's important to remember that Garbage Protector is a training product, that it will not work immediately. However, by the second or third time an animal tries to invade the garbage, it will get the hint and move on.

A thorough application of Garbage Protector will fend off rats, mice, squirrels, dogs and cats for an entire season. Be sure to spray the garbage, garbage bag and entire trash container until wet. Let it dry, then apply another coat.

Though it can be a tough fight, the war against foraging animals can be won through wise garbage disposal practices and the use of simple and inexpensive products that are sure to keep trash safe and secure. Stronger trash bags, sturdier cans and a powerful repellent form the winning combination. A little thought and preparation will go a long way towards less unwanted mess and fewer animals disturbing the yard and your peace of mind.

Hungry neighborhood animals, like the bear captured on film by professional photographer Bruce McElyea, are quick to make a mess of unguarded garbage. Keeping the

Home security

Don't leave your home unprotected

The last two weeks in August are among the year's most popular vacation times, but for families without school children, fall is becoming the top vacation season.

As millions of families prepare to leave home for a final stretch of leisure, it's important to think about home security.

The FBI estimates that 360 burglaries occur per hour in the United States, with even more taking place during the prime travel season. And crime is no longer a concern only of city dwellers; rural and suburban residents need to exercise caution as well.

Resort areas are hit year-round, and part-time home owners have an added challenge to protect their property throughout an entire season.

Fortunately, there are a number of simple things that can bolster the security of your home without turning it into a fortress.

Several essential pointers are discussed in the current edition of Buying, Selling, & Owning Your Home:

1. Keep mail and newspapers from accumulating at your door. Have a trusted neighbor or relative pick them up daily. Stop subscriptions if you plan to be away for extended periods. Make arrangements for upkeep of your property, including the lawn. Have a friend park in your driveway every few days.

2. Burglars need darkness and privacy to do their work. Use electric timers to turn lamps on and off to make it look as if you are at home.

3. Make entry difficult. Install high quality dead-bolt locks and tamper-proof window locks. Consult a locksmith regarding the best method to secure sliding patio doors, which are particularly vulnerable.

4. Be particularly vigilant concerning garage doors and basement windows, which are often less well maintained and secure than the rest of the house.

5. Safeguard your valuables. Jewelry and cash can be kept at your bank's safe deposit box; if that is inconvenient, consider a safe. Most thieves will be deterred by a safe.

6. Install a security system. The prices and options here vary greatly, from door stop buzzers costing ten dollars to professionally installed systems costing several thousand dollars.

Get advice from your local police department or your home owner's insurance agent.

In Lincoln County, several professional security companies provide home checks and alarm systems.

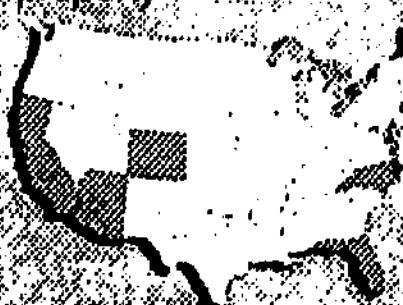

Housecleaning services also can help keep your summer home safe and secure, with regular checks.

Here's some help for repairing water damage

Q. I own a four-bedroom, ranch-style home. The ceilings on the lower floor are finished with stucco. Some time ago, a little flooding occurred from a broken washing machine which caused damage to the ceiling underneath it. Over a period of time, a small area of the stucco became loose and discolored from the water seepage. I also noticed some staining on the drywall which surfaced right through the paint. Can you give me some information on how I might restore the stucco finish and repair the drywall?

A. Before you can even begin any repairs, be sure that no remaining water or moisture still exists. The only way to prove this is to remove any loose stucco from the damaged area. Provided that all dampness is gone, you can now start your work.

Don't be frugal about removing more of the damaged stucco than you should. It is better to extract more and be assured that you did the correct job. Use a mason's brush or any other type and be sure the area is free of dirt, dust and other foreign materials.

Lightly dampen the area to be worked on just prior to applying your new coat of stucco. The use of any type of plaster from your local paint dealer will be adequate. Make sure the initial or base coat of stucco is packed tightly into the damaged area with a trowel. Afterward, your final application of stucco can be done with either a textured trowel or even a household sponge that has been dampened.

Regarding the water stains on your drywall, simply block sand the wall with a fine grade of sandpaper. Use a paint primer on the wall before applying any paint.

NOTE: Try to duplicate the texture of your existing stucco and blend in as evenly as possible. Your finish will eventually match as time goes on and the new part ages.

HOME TIPS

CONSERVING WATER-With all the talk about a water shortage, here's what I do to save. I keep a gallon ice-cream bucket in the sink and when I run either hot water to get it hotter or cold to get it colder, I catch it in the bucket. When the bucket is full, I water the flowers with it. I make sure no water goes to waste. Mary A., Hopewell Junction, N.Y.

RECIPE FILES-I clip lots of recipes, but I didn't know how to organize them. I came up with this idea: I bought a simple accordion file with 12 slots and labeled each of the slots: main dishes, desserts, salads, breads, etc. Now when I clip a recipe, I just slip it into the appropriate slot. When I want to try a new one, it's very easy to pull out my file and look through it. After trying a recipe, if I like it, I place it in my permanent folder and if not, I throw it out. Liz H., Lyons, Colo.

FLOWER MAGIC-To extend short stems on flowers, insert the stem (freshly cut at an angle) into a plastic straw. Next, cut the straw to the desired length. Make sure that the stem of the flower is below the water line in the vase. Robin N., St. Joseph, Mo.

RUST RINGS-I solved a friend's problem very inexpensively. She complained that her husband's shaving cream can marked up the bathroom vanity. I suggested using a coaster to put under the can. It can even be color-coordinated with the bathroom to add a pretty touch. Maria T., Los Altos, Calif.

CARD TRICK-Why put a card on top of a gift? The card covers part of the beautiful gift wrap.

At a birthday or wedding, it is obvious whom the gift is for, so you don't have to put on an envelope with a name on it. It should be placed on top of the tissue inside the box. This way, it won't be lost when opened. Cards that are taped can come off when lots of boxes are stacked and bounced around. Linda W., Aiken, S.C.

TOOTHBRUSH HOLDER-I have the habit of throwing loose pens and pencils in my purse, and the lining has become stained with ink marks. After buying a new purse, I decided to be a little more organized.

I bought a plastic toothbrush travel holder and put my pens in it. A couple of pens and pencils fit perfectly, and it's easy to get to when needed. Melinda L., Oklahoma City, Okla.

INNOVATIVE GIFT-For my birthday last month, my mother-in-law was at a loss as to what to get me for a gift. Her choice was perfect.

Along with a nice card, she enclosed a personalized note with a few pictures of my husband as a teenager. We had no photos of him for our album during this time of his life and were tickled to receive them. It was a great gift idea! Barbara M., Millport, Ala.

FLOOR MATS-Recently, my husband and I found ourselves at a parade without the benefit of our lawn chairs. Since the idea of sitting on the damp curb didn't appeal to me, I suggested using the rear floor mats from his car to sit on. They worked out great! The rubber backing kept us damp-proof, and they had enough padding to soften the curb. They were easy to carry and went back on the floor board in no time.

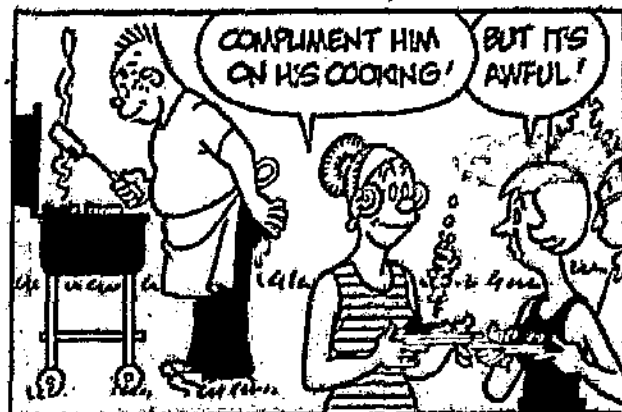

Randi P., Monroeville, Pa.

KEEPING DATES-I always get so frustrated when it comes to cleaning out the refrigerator, trying to decide if an open jar of salsa or some other not-so-often used condiment is still good or safe enough to use.

I've come up with the idea of placing a date label on the jar identifying when I opened it. With a dated label, it is easier deciding what to use and what should be thrown out. Marilyn T., Lakeland, Fla.
