Endurance rally starts on Sunday

Land of Enchantment Endurance Rally, using European rally rules, will be hosted by the Clovis Sportcycle Association Sunday through Thursday, September 26-30.

The course will combine an exciting mix of time, speed and distance sections through the central-eastern plans of New Mexico.

The endurance rally is closed to all but legal dual sport motorcycles and will take riders through the Capitan, Sacramento and Guadalupe mountain ranges.

Several lodging and dining packages are available, or riders may take the rider and make their own arrangements for meals and lodging. Camp sites are available at each overnight stop.

Rental bikes will be available for the event through Champion Outdoor Sports in Roswell, 624-0160.

The rally is limited to 40 riders. For more information, contact LEER in Clovis, 985-2374.

Spectacular show is selling out fast!

Tickets for the annual Chuckwagons of the West Jamboree are going fast.

The event, scheduled for May 17 and 18, 1994, at the Flying J Ranch, will feature seven western music groups from the different chuckwagon supper operations scattered throughout the West, along with a meal.

The two night's shows will be different, and so to see all the groups, guests would have to attend both nights.

The Flying J Wranglers will be on stage both nights, and fast draw artist and historian Jim Dunham will perform.

To order tickets, send $18 per person per night to the Flying J Ranch, PO Box 2505 Ruidoso NM 88345.

Don't wait, because the performances already are 75 percent sold out!

ENMU enrolls 575

Eastern New Mexico University officials are celebrating the news that the fall enrollment for 1993 in Ruidoso hit 575 students compared to 389 last year.

The interest should put to rest any lingering doubts that Lincoln County residents want a local college.

Graffiti adorns three Mechem Drive locations

Bounty hunters can collect some booty, $50, for the names and apprehension of the spray painting vandals that have desecrated merchants walls along Mechem Drive.

Dr. Sandra Davis, a chiropractor whose office is on Mechem, wrote The Ruidoso News that she wants to prevent an East L.A. look.

Davis has submitted a check to The News for $50, to be rewarded at the time the culprits are apprehended.

Davis feels strongly that the parents are financially responsible for the professional repair and painting of the buildings.

Ruidoso Police Chief Richard Swenor said the graffiti came from a youth gang known in Las Cruces.

According to state statutes, if the value of repair is more than $1,000, it is listed as a fourth degree felony and the person may be required to perform a mandatory 120 hours of community service within a continuous six months period, immediately following his or her conviction.

Swenor said the damage far exceeded $1,000. He said information on the crime has been sent to the school CrimeStoppers program.

Detective Lanny Maddox said that graffiti is identified in the state statutes as spray paint, paint, crayons, charcoal and other materials used with a malicious intent to deface personal property without permission from the owner.

Davis said when graffiti vandals are apprehended, they should be

Rally attracts another 'cycle display

by CHARLES STALLINGS

Two hot issues guarantee an active, controversy packed Ruidoso Village Council meeting Tuesday.

Champion Outdoor Sports, a Harley Davidson and Honda dealership out of Roswell, is requesting to rent the hotel pad site at The Links Golf Course.

Representing Champion Sports at the meeting will be attorney David Stevens of Dutton, Griffin, Stevens Hakanson Ltd.

Stevens will ask that Champion Outdoor Sports be allowed to erect a tent and to display and sell merchandise to the general public in conjunction with the Golden Aspen Motorcycle Rally to be held during this week.

Reportedly, Champion Outdoor Sports is in a legal dispute with Golden Aspen promoter Ron Andrews, who uses a Harley Davidson and Honda dealership out of Safford, Arizona, for his promotions.

The council will have to determine whether or not to lease the hotel property temporarily.

Another issue is the approval of a Hun Motorcycle Festival special events permit for Cochera, a bar-restaurant located just off State Highway 37.

The for-profit event, lasting 12 to 14 hours, is to be staged outdoors with live music and asks the council permission to sell alcoholic beverages.

The council recently allowed a special events permit for Win, Place and Show, a downtown bar, but that event was part of a community tradition, a thank you to the community. The owners serve free food to the public.

Three public hearings are slated for the evening's agenda, beginning at 6:30 p.m. Two other hearings have been postponed.

Ordinance 93-17 concerns the elimination of the Ruidoso Arts and Film Commission and the Transportation Board.

Ordinance 93-18, concerning the Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority bond issue, was scheduled for Tuesday, but has been changed to October 12.

Ordinance 93-19, regarding Personnel Rules and Regulations, has been re-scheduled to September 28. The Ruidoso News published the intent to adopt on September 2, which did not meet state statute requirements for two weeks publication notice.

Ordinance 93-20, relating to Grindstone Lake, reinforces the rules set earlier in the year. The proposed ordinance has not been amended or changed.

Ordinance 93-21, concerns collective bargaining and moving the collective bargaining ordinance from Chapter three to Chapter 12 in the Municipal Code Book.

Commission objects to grazing fee hike

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

A personal plea to the federal government to reconsider a grazing fee increase and to involve ranchers in determining changes in land management met with enthusiastic applause from Lincoln County commissioners Wednesday.

The presentation by Walter "Dub" Williams, owner of the Lazy H Ranch in Glencoe and a former long-time teacher and coach in Ruidoso, seemed like a perfect primer before the commission's vote on a resolution requesting further federal study.

The resolution, approved unanimously, calls on Secretary of State Bruce Babbitt to perform a socioeconomic, environmental impact study for Lincoln County concerning any federal grazing fee increase. The study, as required by federal law, should adhere to a lengthy list of special mandates, commissioners contended.

The study is justified because the commission has determined that a grazing fee increase "will hurt the custom, culture and economic stability of Lincoln County," members stated in the resolution.

Prefacing his letter, Williams told commissioners that the federal government has lost sight of the needs of people on a local level. The proposed steep jump in fees for grazing livestock on federal land is just one symptom of that malady, he said.

Sixteen states in the West will be directly affected by what happens," he said. "I'm not quarreling about the fees. I want them (federal officials) out of our lives. Private individual rights in America are being infringed on every day of our lives."

"We shouldn't throw up our hands saying we've gotten too big

Walter "Dub" Williams reads to Lincoln County Commissioners his letter protesting plans of the federal government for changes in the use of grazing land and the apparent exclusion of local input.

and they can't hear us."

Commissioner Wilton Howell, who operates an automobile service center, said he had been inclined to vote against the resolution proposed by Commissioner Stirling Spencer, a rancher. But after speaking to Williams and others in the community, Howell said he decided to support the resolution, providing a unanimous approval.

"I'm for a good (grazing) price, but understand that it will impact more than the West if the grazing fees are increased," he said.

In a letter to the Department of Interior, Bureau of Land Management and U.S. Forest Service, Williams wrote that much of the public land under scrutiny has little value other than for grazing.

"It is important to land users whatever their use or capacity to use the resources of this great nation to have input and their voices heard as regards that use," he wrote. "Historically and traditionally, the producers of the food and fiber of our country have been too busy paying their bills and trying to make a living to become involved in the political system to the degree of most businesses."

Utilization of public land has become a way of life for many generations, he wrote.

"Many families have tied their future to this land. These people pay taxes, support local institutions (schools, churches, local governments, state governments and federal government) through their payment of taxes, buying of goods and services, charitable gifts of resources and time.

"Much of the water provided to wildlife is the result of water development by the users of the land. Who will do this chore when the users are gone?"

"Our operation is about 100 mother cows. Our children will be the fourth generation. It does not support us as a family, it does help us supplement our income. It is the focal point of our family life and many of our friends who enjoy helping us when we need them. There are many fifth-sixth generation ranch families that depend on federal lands to make their operation feasible and supportive of their needs."

"The people of our country need to understand that the users of the land are the stewards of the land. Who knows better the problems and satisfaction of being a keeper of the land than the people who are on that land?"

He urged that the people who use the land take part in decisions involving the land.

"Who better can affect that change than the people who will be most affected?" Williams wrote.

Official says "no" to more signs in state right of way

by CHARLES STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Event promoters beware! State highway officials have put their foot down on any future signs being placed on the state right of way in Ruidoso or Lincoln County.

"We're not going to approve any signs whatsoever on the highway right of way and if we receive complaints about signs we will investigate," said Tom Dick, regional traffic engineer from Roswell.

Dick said if called on the weekend, he would send personnel, if necessary, to remove the signs.

Mayor Shaw said Dick called her last Thursday and they discussed the recent rash of illegal signs placed on the highway right of way in Ruidoso and along the county highways.

The signs first began appearing after a private function for the Civic Events Center was granted permission by a state traffic engineer to place signs on the right of way.

Dick said there had been a misunderstanding in the state's role in giving permission for those signs.

Dick said that his employee, Tim Basler, was under the impression that the signs were for the general economic benefit of the village.

He assured Shaw that if Basler had been told the signs would be posted on existing highway traffic information posts, no permission would have been granted.

"The mayor (Jerry Shaw) and I have an understanding as to what is acceptable and what is not," Dick said.

As of Friday, no court date has been set for Village Councilor Frank Potter's appearance before the Municipal Judge Charles Hawthorne.

Potter was charged with a misdemeanor larceny for removing commercial signs he thought were illegally placed on the state right of way.

County road crews can't work on private property driveways

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Lincoln County officials were reminded last week that the state frowns on government doing favors for private land or road owners.

By the time county attorney Alan Morel was finished Wednesday defining the legal limitations, commissioners were shaking their heads.

"I don't think anyone wants to go to jail for you to maintain a private road," Commission Chairman Montroy Montes told road manager Bill Cupit.

County residents often assume the county road department should repair their private driveways after a flood or snowstorm has damaged them, county manager Andy Wynham told commissioners.

"I explain that I can only touch private roads with the OK of the county manager or if it's a request for emergency service," Cupit said. "Some deputies and emergency services people also request that I get them out, too (after a snowstorm). Everyone requests. I don't know where to draw the line."

Morel said the county either must gain something from doing the work or the situation must constitute an emergency.

"Unless you can document it as an emergency situation, if we touch private roads with county equipment, employees or materials, you're looking at possible criminal charges because of the anti-donation law," he said.

If a resident needs frequent emergency care, documentation from a physician is necessary to maintain access to the person's house, Morel said.

Commissioner Wilton Howell asked whether helping people who are stranded in their homes after roads have been damaged from floods would be a violation.

"Going in to fix their driveways may be (a violation) unless it was declared an emergency," Morel said. "Then you could come in and do enough to get them out. You have to look at each situation."

"We should stay away from anything but a dire emergency,"

Montes said.

What about people who face tall mounds of snow after a county blade clears a road and piles up the excess snow on each side, asked Commissioner L. Ray Nunley.

"Aren't we obligated to open up the drives for people to get out?" he said.

"There's so much people expect county government to do for them that we're not allowed to do," Wynham responded. "The law doesn't differentiate between the elderly and any other taxpayer."

A request to maintain a road to a fire house at the private Nazarene Campground in Angus presents a different scenario, Morel said.

"Lincoln County derives a benefit by being able to house an emergency vehicle in exchange for maintaining the road," he said.

Cupit said the campground operators take good care of the roads in the compound.

"They just need some drainage work by the fire station because of a ditch there," he said.

Free women's clinic opens here

For the first time, a free local cancer screening clinic will be available to low income women in Lincoln County.

The program, called the Well Woman Health Check, will start next Thursday, September 16, and particularly targets "at risk" women.

"They need to call and make an appointment for the first session," said county health office secretary Lisa Silva.

"We will be able to do about 15-20 persons a session at the Lincoln County suboffice on Kansas Street."

It's very important for women over 40 to have an annual PAP (cervical cancer screening) test and, if a physician recommends, a mammogram. The level of radiation is quite low.

The clinic was financed under a federal grant and the services may be offered free to women of any age who come from families in which other female members have experienced breast or cervical cancer, said county health nurse Teresa Luna.

"Anyone with a history of cancer in their family is qualified to go through the program," Silva said. "Free mammograms will be offered if a woman is over 40 and has never had one, or if a doctor advises."

The van in which the mammograms are performed will come down from a private radiological service in Northern New Mexico, Luna said.

"We're going to try to set a date for each month, but we need women and teenagers to call and set up appointments," she said.

If an abnormal result comes back on the PAP smear, the patient will be referred to a local physician, who will perform a biopsy to check the tissue. The program also would cover that additional cost.

Women on Medicaid automatically qualify for the service and they are the ones who don't get PAP smears each year because of the cost," Luna said. "But if a woman makes slightly more than acceptable Medicaid income levels, the minimum charge should be quite affordable. She can discuss it when she calls for an appointment."

Without this special program, the two tests can cost more than $200.

Cervical cancer can be easily cured, but only if detected early.

To set up an appointment in Ruidoso, call 258-2352. In Carriazo, call 648-2412.

whose 10-year crusade to amend water rates and operations that he considers unfair, will be given a forum to air his perception of water rate inequities.

Other council items include:

—a request for village participation to install a corrugated metal pipe across Gavilan Canyon Road for commercial mini warehouse development. The request is being submitted by John and Dixie Brown.

—a request for a banner at the traditional not for profit Chili Cook-off. The cookoff benefits the Rotary Scholarship Fund. The banner would be placed on the site at Tall Pines R.V. Park.

—a request for an amendment to the Chamber of Commerce agreement.

—a resolution 93-17, amending the Civic Events Center policy rules and regulations.

According to the resolution, the changes restrict and control events in the best interest of the "economic health and welfare" of the village.

The resolution initiates a priority list for renting the center that rates conventions, first; trade shows and exhibitions, second; conferences and special events, third; local non-profit organizations, fourth; and others, fifth.

Mayor Jerry Shaw will give a response to correspondence concerning the proposed Monitored Retrieval Storage facility.

Under consent agenda items, the council will award Ben Jenkins, an auctioneer from Carlsbad, the right to auction off village surplus items.

The village had planned a spring auction of surplus items stored at the street department and the purchasing warehouse, but that auction was never organized.

Clarification

Lincoln County Commissioner Bill Schwettmann cast the only negative vote last Wednesday on a motion to postpone appointments to the county fair board.

A story Thursday identified the vote as coming from Commissioner Stirling Spencer.

Ruidoso Police say shooting death was apparent suicide

A 38-year-old man died Saturday of an apparent self-inflicted gunshot wound.

Ruidoso Police responded about 5:30 p.m. to 247 Junction Road, where they found the body of Randy Richard Dutchover in the living room of the residence. A Ruger single-action .357 magnum revolver was next to the victim's body, which had a gunshot wound in the left upper chest.

"A single gunshot wound was consistent with the spent .38 caliber round found in the cylinder of the firearm," said police in a written report.

Police said Dutchover, whose date of birth was listed as August 16, 1955, was from Las Cruces; however, his obituary listed Ruidoso as his home. He had been staying with relatives in Ruidoso since Friday, according to police.

Preliminary investigation indicates that the incident occurred earlier in the day. The investigation is continuing.

First ever Texas Classic slated for November in Fort Worth

A chance at winning a million dollars usually doesn't happen twice for two-year old Quarter Horses, but three contenders in this year's All American Futurity at Ruidoso Downs are eligible and have a chance to run for the estimated $1 million purse in the first-ever Texas Classic, slated for November 28 at Trinity Meadows Raceway in Fort Worth.

The Texas Classic is sponsored by the Texas Quarter Horse Association (TQHA).

The Texas Classic features a Futurity and Derby. Six quarter horses in the All American Derby are also eligible for the Texas Classic Derby, scheduled for November 27 at Trinity Meadows.

To date, a field of 549 horses are eligible to compete for the Texas Classic.

"The Texas Classic is attracting the top racing quarter horses in the country to Trinity Meadows," said Jim Helzer, president of TQHA. "It has long been a goal of TQHA to be able to assemble such talent and offer the second largest purse, behind the All American. We're proud to bring them back to Texas."

The All American Futurity contenders eligible for the Texas Classic Futurity include: Sound Legacy, owned by Robert Gentry of Lubbock, Texas; Plexnet owned by Bobby Cox of Odessa, Texas, and Six Kix owned by James T. Armer of Norman, Oklahoma.

The All American Derby contenders eligible for the Texas Classic Derby include: Some Dasher owned by Bubba Cascio of Weatherford, Texas; Desert Orchid owned by George and Lisa D. Young of Brownwood, Texas; Specially Fast owned by Jim Helzer, Six G. Stables of Arlington, Texas, Runaway Cash owned by Dell, Irvin and Hill of Lawton, Oklahoma; Myspecialrunner from Preston Farms in Burk Burnett, Texas; and Legacy Legacy owned by Robert Gentry of Lubbock, Texas.

As the season closes for Ruidoso Downs, the quarter horse owners and trainers will be packing up and heading to Texas, specifically Trinity Meadows Raceway as it hosts its 1993 Fall Quarter Horse Meet, sponsored by TQHA.

The Fall Meet, which opened August 19, continues through December 31.

Headquartered in Austin, the TQHA is the largest state association of quarter horse enthusiasts in the nation and provides a variety of innovative programs to support quarter horse owners, breeders and racing enthusiasts throughout Texas and the Southwest.

How about a big old Bear to guard your home?

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Someone who lives alone and would like a good companion and watchdog could discover a jewel in Bear, a chow/blue heeler mix at the Lincoln County Humane Society shelter.

His coat is a magnificent rich mixture of gray, black and brown, which would benefit greatly by the free grooming after adoption offered by either Hondo Valley Kennels or Pampered Pets.

Bear was released by his owner, who said he primarily has been an outside/dog and barked too much. Most dog trainers would point out that excessive barking often is tied to lack of attention from an owner.

Dogs need to feel like they are a member of a family. It's all part of the pack instinct from their wolf heritage. Bear needs to be brought into the family circle for part of the day or during the night to establish that connection.

Linda Turck, a trainer of champion Labradors, has offered to give new owners of shelter adopted animals telephone advice on behavior problems. She can be contacted through the shelter.

Although Bear tends to be gentle with smaller, non-aggressive dogs, he exhibits aggressive behavior with other grown male dogs. He's good with children and adults, according to his former owner and shelter manager Esther Harper.

A terrific feline brought in as a stray can be found lounging in the cattery next to the main shelter. Big Boy, a gray and white neutered male with long hair, is mellow and friendly.

As his name (given by shelter volunteers) implies, he's large, is a mature adult and would be a great addition to a household.

Featured last week, little Panda still is waiting for an owner. The Australian shepherd mix has a dark face and brown eyebrows, a medium coat and long graceful legs.

Last week turned out to be one of the better weeks of the year for shelter employees and their four-legged charges. Not only were seven dogs adopted in one great day, but two were long-term residents who desperately needed to find homes.

Shelter secretary Kathy Tetreault said a woman who lives in Capitán and has a large fenced yard couldn't decide between Kiko, a shepherd mix who had been at the shelter since April, and Trekker, a Bernese Mountain Dog/shepherd mix there since February, so she took both of them.

"You should have seen them when they got into her car," Tetreault said. "They were so excited. I think they knew this time they were going to a real home."

"This is the kind of experience that can carry us through a lot of down times."

During the afternoon, employees will help anyone who is reluctant to walk through the shelter by bringing out dogs for them to see. Or persons looking for a particular type of cat or dog, may call and put their names on a list kept by Harper.

When an animal comes into the shelter, the list is checked and Tetreault will call. It's best to remind them every few months to ensure the list stays current.

A reminder that although the days are cooling, it still is not wise to leave a pet in the car while shopping. The New Mexico sun is intense and the interior can heat up quickly.

Persons interested in the humane treatment of animals are welcome to attend the society's meeting at noon Wednesday at the Texas Club. For more information about Bear, Big Boy or any of the other dogs and cats, call 257-9841 or stop at the shelter on Gavilan Canyon Road.

Famous cowgirl's portrait hangs here

World champion cowgirl Fern Sawyer was honored recently weekend at a reception and art show at the Hondo Gallery in Ruidoso.

Owner and director of the Hondo Gallery, Harry McKee, hosted the art show and sale of paintings by Linda Smith and paintings and sculptures by David Smith.

Central to the show was the unveiling of the large portrait of Fern Sawyer painted by Linda Smith.

Several hundred guests watched as the portrait was unveiled and presented to Margaret Formby, director of the National Cowgirl Hall of Fame in Hereford, Texas, by Jim Stoddard of the Hubbard Foundation.

The portrait was donated to the Hall of Fame by Fern Sawyer, Linda Smith, the Hubbard Foundation and an anonymous donor.

The 40" X 30" full portrait of Lincoln County's most famous cowgirl pictures her sitting on the fence of her corral in the familiar surroundings of her ranch in Nogal.

Linda Smith, well-known for her portraits, spent several months on the project including many rewarding hours with Sawyer.

"I always like to spend time with my portrait subjects, sketching them, visiting with them, getting to know them so that I can capture them in poses that convey a sense of their presence beyond a simple likeness. A portrait is a special tribute to an individual, I take my work very seriously, and I have a lot of fun."

Jim Stoddard of the Hubbard Museum stands next to Fern Sawyer and her portrait painted by artist Linda Smith. Margaret Formby (at right), director of the National Cowgirl Hall of Fame accepts the portrait for the museum.

In addition to Sawyer's portrait, there were more than 30 paintings by Linda and her husband, David. Subject matter ranges from portraits to landscapes to still life.

The portrait and paintings will hang in the Hondo Gallery, 1404 Sudderth Drive, Ruidoso, for several weeks.

The public is encouraged to stop in and see the work.

Coffee & cobbler

MainStreet Ruidoso kicked off its Midtown streetscape construction project with a coffee Friday morning at Cabbage Rose. Audean Franklin (at right), who owns and operated Cabbage Rose in Midtown, serves coffee and cobbler to her guests. MainStreet Ruidoso, using state and federal funds, is entering the construction phase of a project that will provide sidewalks and lighting in Midtown, and also will repave Sudderth Drive in the project area.

Attitude adjustment

Respect Ruidoso, a program initiated and sponsored by Stephanie Chastain, is designed to remind everyone to respect their town. Chastain and the Chamber of Commerce will provide chamber members with free "Respect Ruidoso" signs to hang in business windows. Others may obtain the bright green, laminated signs (shown at left) for 56 cents each. Chastain is leading a cleanup campaign that goes to the very heart of the problem to change attitudes and promote respect.

Apache Trails talks money at noon meeting

Apache Trails Promotion Council, a regional group that includes representatives from Lincoln and Otero counties, will meet at noon Wednesday, September 15, at Si Senor restaurant in Alamogordo.

The group, which recently received $4,000 in matching fund from the State Tourism Department, will discuss the budget for the coming year. Also on the agenda is a discussion on the brochure.

For further information about Apache Trails, contact the president, Ellen Campbell, at the Space Center in Alamogordo, 1-800-545-4021 or 437-2840.

IRS invites tax scoffers to "get right with the government"

The Internal Revenue Service and New Mexico Taxation and Revenue announced a special assistance day to encourage people who haven't filed tax returns to come in and "get right with the government."

On Thursday, September 16, tax officials will be joined by volunteers from tax professional organizations to provide free tax preparation, free tax counseling and assistance to arrange to pay any taxes due.

In Roswell, taxpayers may get help and information in room 113 at the Federal Building, 5th and Richardson, from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. From 9:30 a.m. to 6 p.m., help is available at the Roswell Mall.

Locations with help also are available in Las Cruces, Clovis, Hobbs, Farmington, Albuquerque and Santa Fe.

IRS district director Barbara and Secretary of New Mexico Taxation and Revenue Dick Minzner assure non-filers that if they come in voluntarily, file their returns and arrange to pay taxes along with penalties and interest, they will not face criminal charges.

The IRS estimates about 10 million individuals and organizations fit into the category of non-filer resulting in more than $10 billion in lost revenues from federal returns.

The IRS emphasized that many non-filers are due refunds, but they must file tax returns to claim them. Those claims must be filed within three years of the time the return was originally due.

For information on the free service, contact the IRS between 7 a.m. and 4 p.m. by calling 1-800-829-1040.

ENMU adds CPR and first aid class

Seats still are available in American Red Cross classes offered this fall at Eastern New Mexico University.

Adult CPR and First Aid will be offered from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. September 25. Community CPR and First Aid is set for October 9.

The classes specifically are designed for construction industry personnel and others who need CPR and First Aid skills. Interested students may register at 1400 Sudderth Drive. For more information, call 257-2120.

Warriors outman Colts

The Ruidoso Warrior football team broke into the win column for the first time in 1993 with a 13-8 decision over the NMMI Colts last Friday in Roswell.

Statistically, the Warriors controlled the game over the winless Colts, but it took almost all 48 minutes to nail the victory down.

After receiving the opening kickoff, the Warrior offense, with junior quarterback John Echols at the controls, drove from its own 20 yardline to the NMMI 27 before Rex Comanche was caught for a 10-yard loss. That play ended the drive and gave the Colts the ball at their own 37.

The Colt offense moved the first down marker twice before giving the ball up on a fumble.

The Warriors next possession consisted of nine plays but the locals could get no closer than the Colt 40 yardline.

The Colt offense took over from their own 37 for the second consecutive time, but could not get closer than the Warrior 36.

Their punt left the Warriors deep in their own territory at the 3-yard line.

The Warriors were penalized on the first play of the series for a false start and were moved half the distance to the goal, to the two, 98 yards away from paydirt.

Echols kept the ball on the first play, picking up two yards, but more importantly, giving the Warriors a little breathing room.

A nine yard run by Rex Comanche and a five-yard penalty on NMMI gave the Warriors at first down at the 12. Then halfback Raul Davis swept around the end for seven yards and the Colts were whistled for a late hit to add 15 more yards to the play.

Suddenly, the Warriors were mounting a drive that started in the shadow of their own goal post. The key play was a misdirection play with wingback David LaMay picking up 19 yards, placing the ball in Colt territory.

The Warriors got 13 more yards from Comanche and Davis, plus five more from the officials (when the Colts were called for encroachment) and viola — position to score. On first down from the 25, Echols and senior wide receiver Jimmy Varnadore missed connections on a sideline pattern. But there were no missed connections on the next play. Raul Davis weaved through the Colt defense and scored on a 25-yard run that was a brilliant piece of running.

Byron Soules missed the PAT attempt, but nonetheless the Warriors had their first lead since the Artesia game, 6-0.

The Warriors kicked off and the Colts returned the ball to their own 45. Their first play, a quarterback keeper, netted 18 yards. But two plays later senior defensive end Billy Austin slammed the door shut on any immediate comeback hopes as he nailed quarterback Todd Colston for an 11-yard loss and the Colts again punted the ball away.

After another good kick, the Warriors found themselves in familiar territory, with their backsides against their own goal line. Again Echols went to the running game and again the Warrior offensive line responded.

Wingbacks David LaMay and Ricky Devara combined for 53 yards in two plays, getting the ball to the Colt 37.

But the offense would leave the field disappointed, however, as Echols suffered his first interception of the year.

That interception led to the Colts only score of the game as they drove 55 yards to score in only six plays.

The Warriors then ran out the clock to end the first half.

Both teams had two possessions in the third quarter — but neither scored.

The Warriors' second touchdown drive came early in the fourth quarter. Starting from their own 36 yardline, Echols directed a brilliant, time-consuming drive.

The key plays were a 21-yard pass reception from Echols to Varnadore, a 12-yard by Raul Davis and another 19-yard Echols-to-Varnadore strike.

Rex Comanche went in from the line yardline with 3:21 left in the game. Byron Soules missed the PAT to make the score 13-6.

The Warriors got the ball again on downs and drove to the Colt 15 before Soules missed a field goal attempt.

The Colts with the aid of 15-yard unsportsmanlike conduct penalty started a last-gasp attempt to tie or win the ballgame.

NMMI's offense got close. The Warrior secondary gave up 49 yards in two plays and the Colts got as close as the Warrior 15.

But the defense stiffened and sophomore Byron Soules' sack of Colt quarterback Colston on fourth down left the Warriors with the ball and 1:47 to burn.

The Warriors ran the ball three times, and got another encroachment penalty from the Colts. Then the Warrior coaching staff called for the offense to give the Colts defense a safety.

Run to perfection, sure-handed Ricky Devara lined up in punt formation got a perfect snap from Billy Austin and ran around a couple of seconds and stepped out of the endzone with eight seconds left in the game.

After the kickoff, the Colts completed one pass for 22 yards, but it was not enough. The Warriors had won the ballgame.

Ruidoso had won a game that despite moving the football and dominating the line of scrimmage, they could of lost because of inexperience.

Much of that inexperience was not just due to the mostly sophomore and junior team. Coach Mike Gaston explains: "We were really proud of our kids. We had two starters on defense that quit the team this week and another starter that we didn't bring along for missing class. Erik Kakuska, one of our starting linebackers, was hurt and didn't play...so we had four of our starters that didn't play," said Gaston.

The replacements for the missing players only got in one practice (Wednesday) so their efforts were even more impressive.

NMMI is a difficult place to win, the cadets are vocal and many times the officiating is strange (one official called six holding penalties in the first half alone). The Warriors didn't beat a great team, but they beat a potentially good one.

More importantly, they didn't beat themselves.

Their next test will be a tough one. The locals hit the road for the second-straight week, traveling to Tularosa.

The Wildcats are 3-0 defeating Cloudcroft, Hatch and Santa Rosa, without being scored on. Game time is scheduled for 7:30.

RHS soccer team outscores first 2 opponents of season

When the Ruidoso Warriors took on the Socorro Warriors on the soccer field this weekend, the Ruidoso team outkicked the northern team for a 9 to 2 win.

The Ruidoso High School team was still in top form on Saturday when the Warriors beat Santa Teresa six to two.

"We've seen very improved play in the last two games in crossing the ball and ball control throughout the field of play to create scoring opportunities," said head Coach Dean Hood.

He said he's very pleased with that improvement.

"We will find out just how much we've improved this Tuesday when we travel to Carlsbad," said Hood.

In the Socorro game, the Ruidoso kickers took 34 shots on goal compared to Socorro's eight. The contest was dominated by the RHS team from start to finish.

At half-time the score was Ruidoso three and Socorro zero.

Danny Schrader scored four goals, Lief Anderson shot in two and Cory Hood, Matt Harshey and Isaac Sanchez kicked in one apiece. Cory Hood and Anderson are credited with two assists each, and Jimmy Stover is credited with one. Schrader led his team in goals against Santa Teresa, too, kicking in three.

Anderson, Hood and Jared DeBaca each scored one goal for the Warriors.

Making assists were Brent Buchhagen, Stover, Hood and Anderson.

Ruidoso had 27 shots on goal against Santa Teresa's seven.

The Warrior soccer squad will travel to Carlsbad Tuesday to take on the Cavemen.

RHS volleyball team seeks revenge

The Warriors will be looking for revenge when the varsity and JV volleyball teams host the Artesia Bulldogs here this Saturday.

The varsity volleyball squad opened its season September 3 against the Artesia in Bulldog country and lost the five-game set — 12-15, 15-12, 18-15, 15-9 and 12-15.

The JV squad found the Bulldogs too hot to handle, losing in two straight games of 14-11 and 11-15.

The C-team also fell to Artesia, losing in three games — 15-12, 14-16 and 15-9.

So when the Bulldogs head up the mountain to play in Warrior country, they'd better be ready.

In spite of the losses, head Coach Jody Blanton found some bright spots.

"We played extremely well in the varsity match," said Coach Blanton. "We played as a team and worked our offense very well."

Danielle Morris was the outstanding server against Artesia, with Kristie Ryan the outstanding hitter.

Leading the defense were Mandy Parker and Frankie Leigh Reynolds.

The volleyball teams then traveled to Portales last Thursday, where the varsity team lost three games and the match — 15-6, 15-5, 15-9.

"We struggled with our serving and serve/receive," said Blanton, keying in on some of the areas she and her team are improving before playing their first home game next Saturday.

The JV also lost to Portales, 11-15 and 2-15, but the C-team prevailed winning over Portales in two games, 17-15 and 15-9.

The Warriors, still looking for their first win, will play the Artesia A and B squads starting at 1 p.m. Saturday, September 18, in the Ruidoso High School gymnasium.

Brave volleyball teams undefeated

The Braves Volleyball teams — both A and B — are undefeated so far this season after adding two more matches to their list of wins.

On Thursday the Braves beat down the Cloudcroft Bears in Cloudcroft and then the young volleyball teams took on the Socorro Braves in the home gym, and won those matches.

Against Cloudcroft, the B-team won in two matches — 15-11 and 15-2; and the A-team followed suit with a pair of decisive wins at 15-4 and 15-3.

Leading the Braves A-team were Raquel Reiman with eight winning serves in the first game and Tawyna Reynolds who served nine of the 15 points in the second game.

"These were really good games," said Coach Robyn Johnson. "The girls played unselfishly — passing, setting and hitting just like the big girls."

Coach Johnson explained that such play is what her middle school volleyball program is all about. She said her goal is to have the young players learn to deliver consecutive overhand serves and to serve/receive, playing three-hit volleyball.

"This little club is doing that more than most," she said.

Tara Blake was the most consistent scorer for the B-team in the Cloudcroft and the Saturday Socorro games. She made seven consecutive serves on Thursday and six in each game Saturday.

The B-team won Saturday 15-9 and 15-9, and the A-team bested the Socorro Braves by 15-8 and 15-8, but it wasn't easy.

"The girls had to struggle on Saturday," said Coach Johnson.

In the last game in the A-team's match, the home team had Socorro down by 10-0 and then fell apart.

"Then we came back," said Johnson. "But we were not playing together. We're going to work on that this week."

The Braves host Tularosa at 5 p.m. this Wednesday in the Middle School gym. Games begin at 4 p.m.

Former NFL star, Preston Dennard, strives to motivate students to succeed

Preston Dennard, former NFL wide receiver, will visit Mescalero next week to speak to students and to conduct a parent workshop.

Dennard — a broadcaster, speaker, entertainer and professional athlete — will present a workshop for parents and others from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. Monday, September 20, at the Mescalero Community Center.

"Motivating Students to Succeed" is the theme for Dennard's presentations through a program called SCORE for Students Commitment On Reaching Excellence.

"As a professional athlete and motivator, I always strive to accomplish my goals and dreams," says Dennard in explaining why he's working with SCORE.

"An athlete's goal is to win and be successful. To do this you must first be focused and have a game plan," he adds.

SCORE's purpose is to encourage youth to seek success and avoid substance abuse and other problems which they encounter through the assistance of professional leaders in the community and professional athletes as positive role models.

AAL offers some help to avoid consumer ripoffs

Aid Association for Lutherans has announced a new program that helps create awareness of consumer ripoffs.

The program, "Too Good to be True: How to Avoid Ripoffs," will be offered free to the public at 6 p.m. September 12, at the Shepherd of the Hills Lutheran Church, 1210 Hull Road in Ruidoso.

AAL wants to help people learn to be wiser and more informed consumers in the American marketplace where "buyer beware" is often the norm.

After the 30-minute education program, AAL Branch 7870 of Ruidoso will present an ice cream social at the church.

The program helps alert people to the types of scams and ripoffs that exist — things the average consumer might not be aware of.

"Too Good to be True" is intended to empower people to spend their money wisely and to investigate offers that may come their way.

For more information on the program, contact Jeanette Toensing at 258-5699.

AAL provides more than 1.6 million Lutherans in 7,900 branches across the nation with fraternal benefits. AAL and affiliated companies offer members other financial services.

Bridge tournament is big success

The Fourth Annual All American Festival Bridge Tournament, on Monday, August 30, was a great success, according to a news release provided by the sponsors.

"Everyone enjoyed the tournament and all the goodies served," reads the release.

Al Mintzer won first place in the party bridge tournament with second place going to John Bowden and third place to Ed Kiel.

Deuce prize winner Joe Hall flew in from Austin, Texas, just for the tournament.

After contributing $208 to the Ruidoso Meal Care program, tournament players issued a challenge to the Golden Age Club and to all the local duplicate bridge clubs to meet or exceed that donation.

Tourney prizes were donated by K-Bob's, Cattle Baron, Baja Grill, Rio Hamburger King, Schlotsky's and S.D. Buns, Inc.

"We wish to thank them all for helping to make the 1993 All American Festival a grand success again this year," said the organizers in their news release.

Bridge players had fun and raised money for a local meals program during the All American Bridge Tournament (left). The party bridge tournament winners — (pic-

Indian summer fashion show raises thousands for Ruidoso Cares, Inc.

The Premiere Indian Summer Fashion Festival on August 31 at Cree Meadows Country Club proved to be a smashing success in both entertaining a full house and benefiting the Ruidoso Valley Meal Care Program, according to its organizers.

In a news release, they reported that more than 225 people enjoyed the great lunch and fantastic style show. The event culminated in a drawing for some prizes donated by show participants, Ruidoso businesses and local artists.

Most winners were Lincoln County residents, although one lucky woman from Muleshoe, Texas, also was a winner.

Winning the grand prize, a reversible mink and leather bomber jacket from Keys Trend of Dallas, Texas, was Juanita Gibson of Ruidoso.

Eric Romero of Tinnie won the velveteen cropped hairpipe jacket from The Attic, while RHS teacher Eddie Parker took home the 100 strand liquid silver necklace donated by the White Dove.

Other winners included Seliece Gray, a signed Henriette Wyeth print; Wanda Millar, a Denise Dorn batik; Cindy Howell, a fringed calfskin belt from Blue Bonnet Rose Originals, and Carole Wall, Sharon Saunders, Louise McGuire and Terese Beatty who won haircuts or manicures from Duran Duran.

"The biggest winners of the day, however, were the folks in Ruidoso and Ruidoso Downs who are served by the Meal Care Program," read the news release.

Proceeds from the drawing alone exceeded $2,600, which together with a generous percentage from fashion show sales resulted in more than $3,600 being added to the Meal Care coffers.

"In human terms, this event has provided more than 1,400 meals for the elderly, home-bound and handicapped," said Chris Denne, member of the Ruidoso Care Inc. board.

"We owe a big thanks to all of the contributors and especially to Bob Reimer, owner of Keys Trend, who originated this show and did the most to make it happen," added Denne.

The Ruidoso Cares Campaign to raise money for the Meal Care Program has done well this summer, earning a total of more than $23,000 in contributions and pledges toward a two-year goal of $40,000. One more fund raiser is planned for 1993; the Lincoln County Motorcycle Association is sponsoring a drawing during the Aspenfest Motorcycle Rally for a Porsche powered Maxi Taxi Kit Car, donated by Ron McWhorter.

Donations are $5, and all proceeds go to Meal Care. Tickets may be obtained from LCMA members and will also be available at the Civic Events Center during the rally and trade show.

Homegrown whooping cranes to be released

Four whooping crane chicks, produced in captivity, will be released with wild adult whoopers late this month.

In the second such experiment with the Rocky Mountain flock, officials with U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, hope the chicks will migrate south with the adults. They would like to see the chicks establish themselves in the flyway from Idaho and Wyoming to winter grounds in the middle Rio Grande Valley in central New Mexico.

The adult whoopers, also released into the wild as chicks, were raised by sandhill crane foster parents. Eight of that experimental population, started in 1975, remain.

Scientists hope that by not having the new chicks raised by sandhill crane parents, they will be more likely to reproduce.

The cranes in this flock usually pass through northeastern Utah and northern Colorado in September and remain for four to six weeks in the San Luis Valley near Monte Vista, Colorado.

In early November, these whooping cranes migrate on to the middle Rio Grande Valley where they spend winter between Belen and Elephant Butte Reservoir.

Dr. Jim Lewis, national whooping crane coordinator for the wildlife service in Albuquerque, noted that, "The whooping crane is fully protected under the Endangered Species Act. Hunters, photographers, farmers and others are cautioned not to shoot or unduly disturb these birds. A whooper could easily be frightened into wires and other obstacles, or be disturbed from an important food and roosting site, especially critical during migration."

"When there are only a few of a species left, each of us must make a sincere effort to ensure its survival."

The service expects about 145 endangered whooping cranes, including 13-15 young, to migrate south this September from their Canadian nesting grounds at Wood Buffalo National Park in Canada.

They will winter near the Aransas National Wildlife Refuge on the Texas Gulf Coast north of Corpus Christi. Last fall, 136 birds, including 15 young, arrived in Aransas with no losses during the winter.

Adult whooping cranes are white with black wingtips and a red forehead. In flight, the bird's long neck is held straight forward, and long black legs extend beyond the tail. The adult's wingspan may be more than seven feet, and when standing, the crane may be as tall as five feet.

Juveniles have white and rusty brown body feathers and black wingtips.

In April, the cranes migrated north to Canada, a 2,500-mile journey from the central Gulf Coast of Texas to their nesting grounds in the Northwest territories. In June, Canadian and U.S. biologists counted 43 nesting pairs with 34 young. However, due to poor habitat conditions because of low water during the summer, chick survival rate was poor.

Downs trustees get an update on new village hall project

When the Village of Ruidoso Downs board of trustees meets at 7 p.m. today (Monday), members will hear an update on the progress of the new municipal building.

The Downs, which currently is housed in a temporary, leased modular building, is in the midst of a project to replace its old village hall on the previous location on U.S. Highway 70.

That building was demolished after it was discovered that the ground beneath the structure may have been contaminated.

The state allocated funds to help the village replace its administrative center.

Also on the agenda is a request from Pat Turner for a replat of lots five and six in Ruidoso Downs Club House Estates. In a letter to the board, Turner described plans to combine two lots into one.

In other general business, the board will hear from Vassar Thompson who has some questions for the council, and will change the date of the October 11 meeting, since it falls on a holiday. Meetings of the Downs board are open to the public.

Board to review enrollment

A report on district enrollment is on the agenda for the meeting of the Ruidoso School Board at 7 p.m. Tuesday, September 14, in the newly remodeled administration office.

Other items include recommendations for employment of Robert Hemphill as a mathematics teacher at Ruidoso High School and of Margaret Dixon as speech pathologist at Nob Hill. Jodie Randall is to report on National Cheerleader recognition, Jim Dickinson will speak on image processing and the board will read a proposed policy on transfer credit.

55 Alive driving class offered

55 Alive/Mature Driving, a classroom driver improvement course for drivers 50 and older, will be presented in Ruidoso and in Capitan.

The two-day class will be presented from 9 to 11:30 a.m. and 1 to 3:30 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday, September 28 and 29, in the Woman's Club building in Ruidoso. The class will be repeated next month, October 25 and 26, at the Capitan Chamber of Commerce Bingo Hall, 103 Second Street in Capitan. Cost for the course is $8, and preregistration is encouraged because class size is limited.

Trained volunteers Wayne and Mollie Mason of Capitan will instruct both sessions of the course. Developed by AARP, 55 Alive can sharpen driving skills, prevent accidents and keep older drivers on the road longer and more safely. For many people, 55 Alive can also save them money on vehicle insurance.

For more information, or to register, call 354-2666.

The Dreamer

LCMC is a great place to recuperate

Today I can look outside and see that it is another beautiful late summer day in the mountain land. All the folks in the hospital are wonderful in every way. I am blessed with the kindness of many visitors and phone calls.

On the 8th my friend Lowell Nosker came up from Glencoe, and Richard Lysak and his wife, Marilyn, and their daughter, April, came up for an evening visit. Also an old friend, Tom Hady, who used to work with me on the sawmill at Ruidoso Downs came by for a good visit.

On the 9th, Romero Klein came by early in the morning bringing me a can of mints, and we had a cheerful visit. The Reverend Ann Gaddy came by and said she would send me a notebook, which later came delivered by her husband, Rudy.

About midmorning, Congressman Joe Skeen called me from Washington wishing me a speedy recovery and telling me to let him know of any way he could help.

Soon after came a call from Mel O'Reilly in Albuquerque with a cheerful get well message

by
Dan Storm
The Ridge
Runner

and telling me to let him know in what way he could be of help.

Ada Koehler came by with get well cards from all three veteran organizations and a small red rose emblem of the women Marines.

Helen Herrera came up from San Patricio bringing best wishes from the folks down that way.

Jane Biddle came in for a cheery visit. Then came Doug Houseton, always a good hand at raising our moral.

Toward evening Mrs. Twilla Dorough, whose husband was in the hospital, came by and raised my spirits by her kind words.

After dark here came those good friends Charles Senning and Bob Whiteley, on their way to a men's church meeting. On their way back they left me a get well message from the following men: Charles Senning, Bob Whiteley, Father Bob Batton, Dr. Gray Peoples, Walter Rawley, Sam Edmonds, George Cronin and Frank Crawley.

Today on the 10th came get well cards sent to The Ruidoso News from Della Bonnell, Collins and Edna Walker, Mike and Wanda Dunn, Gloria Lore, Joyce and W.A. Walker, Bob and Martha Merritt and Mrs. M.C. Ledbetter.

Early in the morning my good friend Bill Davies came by, and Opal Armstrong came by on her way to Dimmitt, Texas, to attend a birthday party.

I thank all of you for the many blessings of your visits, your cards, and kind thoughts. God bless you all, and let us all be grateful to Our Lord for our many blessings.

RUIDOSO, NEW MEXICO

B SECTION

Editorial

Nothing is free

"We can get matching funds," could be the five most dangerous words in the English language. How much money has been wasted in the name of getting those highly coveted state and federal funds? How many studies leading nowhere have been undertaken and how many unneeded consultants have collected salaries for projects that don't benefit anybody, or benefit just a very few people?

The New Mexico Department of Tourism awards cooperative funds annually, and that money totals a half million dollars this year. Matching grants were recently allocated to 82 tourism organizations, and that money may or may not boost tourism, thus benefiting the state's economy. But, matching grants do not really come free, and that money should be used wisely.

The list of "matching fund" grants includes $4,000 to Apache Trails, $1,500 to Capitan Chamber of Commerce, $15,000 to the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce and various amounts to many regional and local tourism groups. Those kinds of $1,000 here and $2,000 there allocations may or may not be the best use of state funds. We've found that transferring tax money into the hands of private groups sometimes is like shooting it into the moon — all accountability disappears into a black hole.

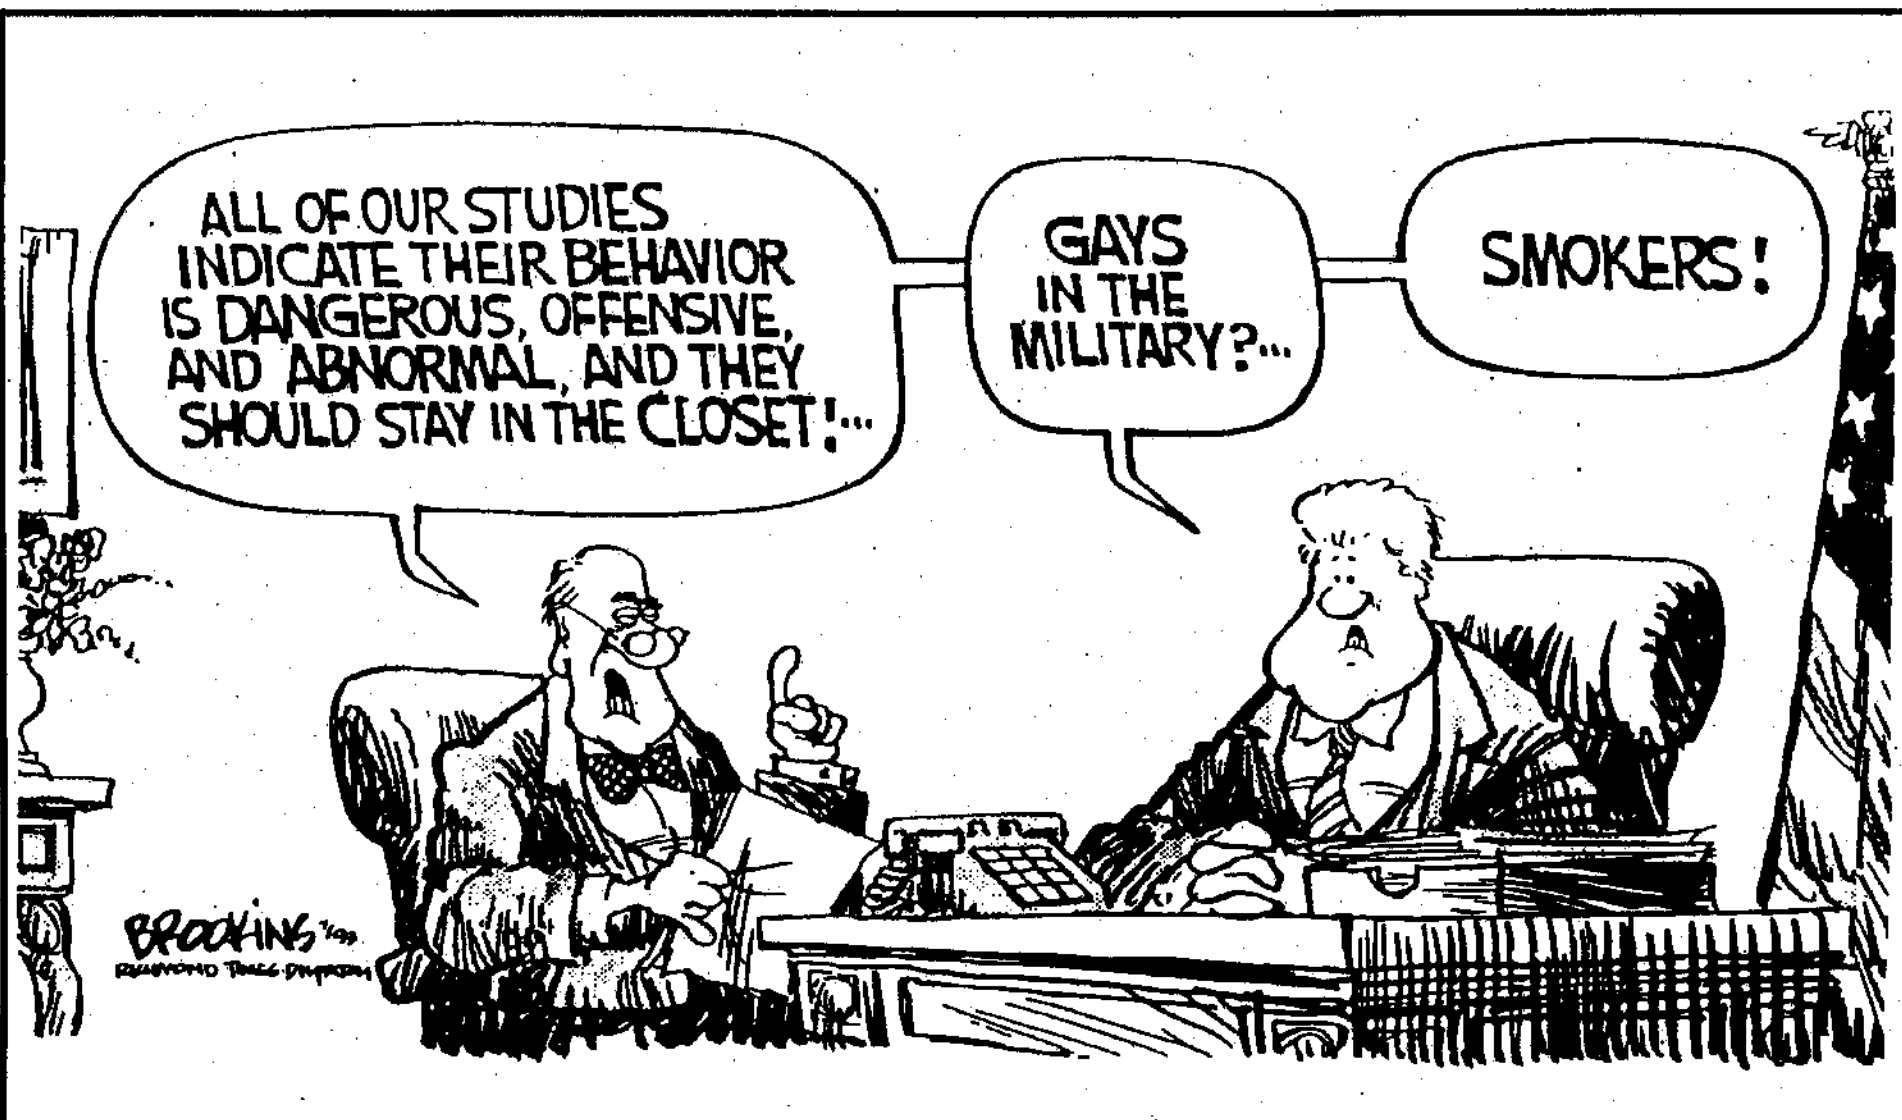

Tourism is New Mexico's major industry, and it's not likely that any major diversification will change that anytime soon. And that's not all bad. This state, and this county, have a lot to offer tourists, and with the right kind of marketing and promotion, tourism will continue to grow and enhance our economy. But, just throwing money into promotion isn't the answer.

Promotion money is hard to come by on all levels, and it should be used wisely with complete accountability. We hope that the state will keep close tabs on our $500,000, and make sure that it gets the "most bang for the bucks." And just because it's a matching grant doesn't mean it's free.

Thought for the day:

"If the people are to decide what should happen tomorrow, they must be armed with the truth about what happened yesterday."

Upon Reflection

Richardson caught in the middle on NAFTA

With President Clinton poised to submit the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA) to Congress for ratification, New Mexico Congressman Bill Richardson finds himself in a somewhat ticklish situation.

From the beginning, the 3rd District Democrat has strongly supported NAFTA. As one of four Chief Deputy Majority Whips, Richardson also occupies a key Democratic leadership position in the U.S. House, outranked only by Speaker Tom Foley, Majority Leader Richard Gephardt and Majority Whip David Bonior.

On the face of it that might seem an enviable position from which to help navigate the trade agreement to eventual ratification.

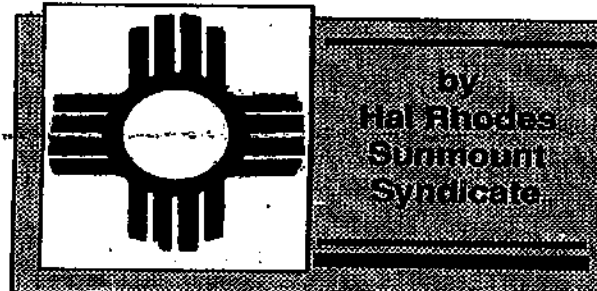

But there's a hitch. Both Gephardt and Bonior oppose NAFTA.

Bonior, who represents a Michigan district with a large organized labor constituency deeply hostile to NAFTA, is particularly vigorous in his opposition. So vigorous, in fact, that he has pledged to use the full resources of his leadership position to defeat it.

As politicians tend to do, Bonior has clearly promised more than he can deliver. One of the "resources" normally at his disposal in any legislative battle — Chief Deputy Whip Bill Richardson — will be working against Bonior this time out.

And therein lies the awkward situation in which Richardson finds himself.

In part at least, Richardson owes his fairly rapid rise to prominence in Congress to the good will and patronage of senior House Democrats like Gephardt and Bonior. In the case of NAFTA, however, he is locked in battle with those who have helped him up a ladder on which only a few in Congress reach the top.

Congressional staffers close to Richardson and Bonior maintain that both men see NAFTA as "only an interruption in their normal working relationship," as one recently put it, "exactly what the President has said it is, 'an honest difference of opinion'."

Maybe so, but it is a difference of opinion which runs wide and deep among congressional Democrats and which has fractured their leadership.

Like Richardson, House Speaker Foley supports the treaty. Nevertheless, Foley has said there will be no pressure from the formal leadership to toe a party line which does not exist.

Given the division among House Democrats over NAFTA, Foley's stance has the virtue of whatever wisdom comes from political realism. For trade agreement proponents like Richardson, however, it means laboring to create a coalition of pro-NAFTA Democrats and Republicans, an alliance of strange and temporary bedfellows which may or may not be enough to guarantee ratification by the House.

It probably helps, as he embarks upon this task, that by all evidence Richardson genuinely believes that the benefits of NAFTA significantly outweigh its advantages.

From almost the moment he took his seat in Congress more than a decade ago, Richardson has been a leading advocate of closer economic ties between the United States and Mexico.

Moreover, it was Richardson among other key Democratic NAFTA supporters who reportedly helped convince an initially dubious Bill Clinton to endorse the treaty during last year's presidential campaign. This, with the understanding that side-agreements designed to safeguard American jobs and the environment would be appended to the agreement as negotiated by the Bush administration.

Thus it is that today, having convinced the man who would become president that it is in the United States' long term interests to increase its economic ties to our neighbor to the south, Bill Richardson finds himself in the ticklish position of going to the mat with congressional patrons like Gephardt and Bonior in what promises to be a nasty fight.

The great American wordsmith R.I. Rodale tells us that irony results from "the outcome of events contrary to what was expected."

Chances are, these days Bill Richardson knows exactly what Rodale is talking about.

PRICE COMPARISONS: The advertised prices in this advertisement are only for a limited time. The other retail price shown under the X, example $179.50, would have been the price if McMahan's paid a supplier the same cost charged another retailer and we marked up the retail price using McMahan's usual and customary mark up for product in that category. Some price comparisons are made to prices other retailers refer to in advertising as their regular price or the manufacturer list price. McMahan's advertised prices are not meant to infer that McMahan's ever previously sold the product at a higher price. Only when McMahan's quote Sale Savings do we mean that the product has been previously sold by McMahan's or another retailer at the higher price. Some advertised prices are compared to prices in effect after the promotion period.
