Martinez tops the jockey standings for summer of '93

Joe Martinez capped off an excellent summer by winning the overall jockey title, as well as the quarterhorse crown.

Martinez was equally dangerous on both the quarter horse and thoroughbred racing surfaces as he recorded 38 and 30 wins with each breed respectively.

Fred Danley was by far the leading trainer with 45 combined wins. Dwayne "Sleepy" Gilbreath and Martinez replaced the dominant Jack Brooks-Jacky Martin combo atop the quarter horse jockey-trainer standings in 1993.

Martinez ran away with the jockey standings with 38 wins, while Gilbreath narrowly defeated Brooks with 26 wins. Brooks notched 24.

Veteran pickers win weeks three & four in football contest

Winners of the last two week's pigskin poll are Doyle Howell of Ruidoso (week 4) and Laura Escalanti of Mescalero (week 3).

Howell missed just two, but he lucked into the Texas-Syracuse tie.

Escalanti missed just four during week three, which was the toughest week in the contest so far.

The winners can drop by The News to pick up their checks.

Be sure and enter this week's edition by 5 p.m. Friday.

Woman dies when pickup turns over

A Fort Bliss military woman was killed Saturday night near San Patricio when the truck she was driving left the road near a curve and turned over twice.

According to state police reports, about 7:30 p.m. Sharlene Hinckley, 30, was driving westbound on Highway 70 in a 1992 Ford pickup with her son, Wesley, as a passenger. Hinckley was attempting to negotiate a shallow curve.

Apparently, Hinckley overcorrected and failed to complete the curve. The truck left the roadway and encountered a steep bar ditch, causing the truck to turn over twice and came to rest back in the center of the road. Hinckley was ejected on impact and was killed.

Her son was taken to Lincoln County Medical Center where he was treated and released.

According to Ruidoso Police Chief Dick Swenor, a number of weekend arrests were due to open container violations.

"It went extremely well, very few problems considering the number of people in town. I was happy," said Dick Swenor.

The chief credited the number of law enforcement officers used to control the 10,000 bikers in town for the relatively few violations.

"This is the kind of control you expect when you have enough officers to do the job," he said.

The Sheriff's Department again held road blocks coming into the community. Vehicles and bikes that entered the road block were stamped for future identification.

One minor accident reported at the Civic Events Center involved a car that backed up and knocked over a motorcycle, but no damage was reported.

According to civic events center director Kathleen Michelena, one biker at the Golden Aspen Motorcycle Rally had a nose bleed and was taken to the Lincoln County Medical Center. Michelena said the man has a history of nosebleeds.

Another accident involved a vendor that slipped at her location and broke her wrist. Michelena said to her knowledge, no accidents

MainStreet board moves to purchase land and develop Ruidoso River Walk

by CHARLES STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

River Walk - Boon or boondoggle?

For several years, the Rio Ruidoso, a meandering little river that cuts through the middle of town, has been considered an asset that could be converted into a tourist attraction.

The scope of the project started as a simple jogging trail. As of last Thursday, it escalated into something that a few are willing to sink in taxpayer's teeth, long term and bigtime, starting with $250,000.

Although property sales around the Midtown area are moving briskly, development dollars for river walk by the private sector have had little attention.

Never a top priority, river walk action has been pushed on the council by part-time Councilor Bill Karn. Karn's father owns property in the area.

Village planning and zoning director Cleatus Richards told the council the village doesn't have the personnel to work on river walk, so the council voted to allow MainStreet to develop the project.

Officials with MainStreet, a downtown revitalization program in its fifth year, are using the project as a way to supplement its budget.

Any time executive director Don Miller spends on the river walk will be credited and reimbursed with money to MainStreet's budget.

Miller, hired on a part-time basis, recently received a $1,000 per month raise when his job status was elevated to full-time.

Miller was asked by The Ruidoso News if his current marketing contract with Roswell Mall constitutes a conflict of interest. After all, the concept of MainStreet is to revitalize areas drained by malls.

MainStreet president Tom Battin, a local banker, answered for Miller.

"When we interviewed Don, we knew he had a part-time consulting activity," Battin said. "I know he has done much of that on time that doesn't interfere with MainStreet."

Board member Auden Franklin said Miller needs a supplement to his $30,000 MainStreet job.

The village council's recent priorities have been infrastructure, not river walk. Through workshops, the council is setting plans to emphasize village services, streets, water and sewage. The street cleaner is now on a regular scheduled run. Residents say shoulders along Paradise Canyon Road have never looked better.

According to several councilors, including the mayor, the river walk was not meant to be a big ticket item for the taxpayers, but it appears to be headed that way.

MainStreet, like the chamber of commerce, is funded by the village. Unlike the chamber, MainStreet does not submit quarterly reports at village council meetings.

Last Friday, Mayor Shaw was concerned enough to appoint deputy manager Alan Briley as a village staff liaison with the MainStreet board. Apparently, council members want a better idea of MainStreet's direction and accountability.

Last Thursday, the MainStreet

School growth is below projections

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

While Ruidoso's school enrollment has grown since last year, the percentage of increase is lower than district officials projected.

That could mean some budget trimming will be necessary to offset the lower than expected state reimbursement money for each student unit.

But district superintendent Mike Gladden and finance director Caron Snow aren't panicking. The figures keep changing every day, they say.

Gladden reviewed current totals with district school board members last Tuesday. At that point, enrollment had increased 2.3 percent over last year compared to the projected 6.23 percent used in preparing the annual budget.

"We're growing, but just not at the rate we projected," Snow told The Ruidoso News.

The number of students attending classes was about 2,239 at the time of the report compared to the 2,120 funded by the state last year, she said. District officials had based the 1993-94 budget on 2,310 students.

The state sends the district $1,927.27 for each student unit, based on a set formula, which is suppose to equalize the differences between fast growing urban districts such as Albuquerque and more rural areas.

But the state won't collect its official count until the fortieth day of school, which falls on October 14 this year.

Special education students, who generate a higher per student unit reimbursement, won't be counted until December 1.

Meanwhile Snow said Gladden and his staff are looking at several factors that may have influenced the number of students who have

Respect Ruidoso promotes a clean village

by DIANNE STALLINGS

Ruidoso News Staff Writer

First, she noticed litter on the ground around garbage containers.

Then she started picking up promotional sheets that had been slipped under windshield wipers or nailed to telephone poles, but ended up mashed on the roadway.

The breaking point came when she caught someone leaving flyers on her front door.

Stephanie Chastain took two of the distributors to municipal court.

"I went to (Ruidoso's) planning and zoning board to ask for help and they told me the village has an ordinance prohibiting this type of litter," Chastain said.

What bothered her the most was the nagging impression that the litter problem was symptomatic of something much deeper, a lack of respect for the town and its residents.

"I felt like we needed a really big statement and 'Respect Ruidoso' says absolutely everything," Chastain said.

She transferred the statement into a simple poster featuring pine trees and a trash can, and has been asking area merchants to display the reminder in their windows or inside their shops.

"When people ask me what it means, I explain that each person should show self-respect and respect for the town," she said.

They can do that by not throwing things on the ground, not adding more paper to the already existing piles and by taking the time to pick up debris around dumpsters when they see it.

By involving each merchant and service company in the town, visitors should pick up on the message and realize everyone supports the idea, she said.

She's received help from many different directions. Chamber of commerce director Joan Bailey supplied some of the posters to her members, Chastain said.

Students involved in a group dedicated to ecological conservation and headed by Ariane Batton are trying to come up with ideas to go along with the program.

"They're talking about a 'clean up around dumpsters day,'" Chastain said. "But they will need cleaning supplies and gloves."

Chastain created a design for long-sleeve pull-over shirts for the students to wear during their work days.

"MainStreet (a local organization that is part of the national effort to revitalize downtown areas) has its own program and similar design that should work well with this effort," she said. "Its director Don Miller has been extremely helpful."

"Kerry Krumsiek (recycling director for the Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority) helped a lot in getting dumpsters downtown for cardboard recycling only."

That should reduce much of the load that otherwise fills up the containers around the shops downtown, crowding out other types of regular trash, she said. Plans also are in the works for colored trash receptacles for recycling soft drink and beer cans.

Chastain moved to Ruidoso from Austin, Texas, two years ago. She's very happy with her new home, but she wants others to appreciate it as much as she does.

"I live on a busy corner and (on recent holiday weekend), I found discarded 12 packs on the yard and saw men relieving themselves in the gutter. There was no self respect," she said.

"Many people ask me why the town gets so dirty year after year. The fact is that we're letting it. We can't leave it up to the city to do everything. We must do something ourselves."

"I have run into a problem with some of the merchants taking down the 'Respect Ruidoso' signs, but we need to leave them up year-around," Chastain said. "I'm just trying to get everyone to help themselves. I'm a peaceful person. Instead of complaining and showing negative attitudes, we need to act and do something positive. If we continue to ask others to do everything for us, we'll get nowhere."

"This is a wonderful community and with some unity, we can affect change for ourselves."

For more information about the program, posters or shirts, contact Chastain at P.O. Box 1414, Ruidoso 88345.

blaming the center were reported.

According to a dispatch call, one hiker became angry when a party near Alto video taped him without permission. He allegedly grabbed the camera and police were called to investigate.

Jim Stover, head of the Emergency Medical Services, said he received a number of calls over the weekend of a routine nature, several were cardiac problems.

An automobile accident killed a Mescalero resident over the weekend and in a separate incident, a two-year-old baby boy was taken to the hospital after falling eight feet on its head. The baby was unconscious, but alive when it arrived at Lincoln County Medical Center. No names or official reports were given by tribe officials on either incident.

Enter Aspenfest parade by Sept. 30

The deadline to enter this year's Aspenfest parade is next Thursday, September 30.

The Aspenfest parade will roll at 10 a.m. Saturday, October 2, and entries are being accepted now for the annual fall caravan.

Businesses, clubs, political parties, politicians and individuals all are invited to join in the salute to Smokey Bear — "Smokey Celebrates the Nifty Fifties."

Next year the fire prevention bear turns 50, and Ruidoso's aspenfest is honoring the famous bear this year.

Cost to enter a float in the parade is just $10 for non-profit groups and $50 for commercial and political. For entries other than floats, like horseback riders and such, the cost is $35 for politicians and $10 for everybody else.

This year, prizes will be awarded right after the parade on a stage set up in the Gateway Church of Christ parking lot.

Included in the event will be a bike and pet parade planned especially for the kids.

Prizes will be offered within each category by age group, with children kindergarten through third grade in one category and fourth through sixth grade in the other.

The youngsters will meet in the Texas Connection parking lot at 9 a.m. for judging. They'll then ride their bikes or walk with their pets in the parade, but will cut off early at the old King's building where an area will be roped off for parents to watch the parade while waiting for their children.

Lincoln County property taxes are going up slightly next year

by DIANNE STALLINGS

Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Nearly everyone in Lincoln County will pay slightly higher taxes this year, according to County Assessor Patsy Serna.

Exact figures will not be released until the special meeting of the County Commission at 8 a.m. Thursday, September 23, at the county courthouse in Carrizozo. Serna will present the numbers for the commission to certify.

The other item on the agenda will be approval of the ordinance to authorize the sale of environmental gross receipts (sales tax) bonds to finance the construction and start-up costs of the new regional landfill shared with Otero County.

Taxable values in the county have increased by about $3.3-million over last year, hitting $273,496,436. Much of the activity is centered in the Alto subdivisions and in Ruidoso.

From 1990-1991, values went up by $1.6-million, but the big jump occurred from 1991-92, when values climbed by $30-million following a massive reappraisal and a building boom in Alto.

"This year we picked up a lot of value in new construction, but then lost a lot through the increase for 'head of household' exemption," Serna said.

The exemption went up from $1,400 off the net taxable value to $2,000. More than 1,800 taxpayers in the county claim the exemption and another 1,000 use the $2,000 exemption for veterans, she said.

Serna's office sent out about 25,400 tax value notices this year, but many went to out of state owners, she said.

The good news is that property was not re-evaluated this year and the next revaluation is not scheduled until 1995. The jump in value came from new construction and improvements.

"Ruidoso with the school district is up about two mills," Serna said.

One mill is equal to $1 for each $1,000 of net taxable value (after exemptions), which is about one-third of the appraised value set by the county.

Carrizozo is up about three mills, but subtracting the head of household exemption, most people are looking at an increase of under $10, Serna said. Capitan is up one mill, as is Corona. The only community where the rate dropped was Hondo. It went down by three mills.

Ruidoso officials had been told by representatives of the Mescalero Apache Tribe that a new housing development in Mescalero would generate about 40 new students.

We're checking to see the number capable to attend Ruidoso, Snow said. They also will check students who have not returned, but were registered last year in other than the senior class, to ensure that they are either enrolled elsewhere or scheduled to come back to Ruidoso.

After the fortieth day, we'll take a look at all the budget areas to see if we could do some trimming," Snow said.

The major shortfalls appeared to have occurred in kindergarten with 139 children compared to 160 budgeted and in third grade with 175 instead of 206. On the other side of the picture, a few classes came in higher than anticipated.

Second, fifth, seventh, eighth and ninth grades all produced more students than budgeted.

In other business, the school board adopted a new policy dealing with transfer students from other schools, those who have been schooled at home and those who have taken correspondence courses.

P&Z reviews planned unit development

The preliminary plan for a unit development across from Cree Meadows Golf Course will be discussed Monday, September 20, by the Ruidoso Planning and Zoning Board.

Country Club Village applicant Glenn Neans submitted PUD plans and a preliminary subdivision plat for commission actions.

According to planner Cleatus Richards, the documents submitted were not provided within the time set by code nor of sufficient number to provide adequate copies for review by village departments.

Review completed to date reflected deficiencies or omission in the following required submission items: plan showing surrounding land use and traffic patterns; plan showing circulation elements, pedestrian and vehicular, open space, recreational space, proposed grading and proposed landscaping; plans indicating proposed drainage pattern, and plans pertaining to hillside and forest protection.

Other planning business includes:

—a replat for Lots 21 and 22, Block 20, Forest Heights Subdivision by Neal J. and Geraldine Coyle. Applicant wants to allow construction of a garage.

—a replat of Lots 30 and 31, Block 14, in Paradise Canyon Subdivision for John Calverley. Applicant wants to convert two lots into one.

—a variance for side and rear yard of a commercial site development for Lots 7 and 8, Block 2, Wingfield Subdivision. Applicant Victor Alonso is requesting variance to allow construction of a garage for storage of recreational vehicles.

—an amended commercial site development of Lots 23 and Lot 27A, Block L, Ruidoso Springs Subdivision for Danny and Peggy Fenton.

—an approval extension of 9.1 acre tract of land known as the Old KOR Campground, by Ruidoso State Bank.

—a variance for the rear yard of David Schweitzer on Lot 4, Block 15, Town and Country North. Applicant is requesting a rear yard variance to allow a covered entry area and to enclose a portion for storage.

Applicant requests variance to allow reasonable use of property and asserts hardship is result of development under covenants and previous standards and limitations for development due to site topography.

According to planner Richards, such conditions are not the result of any act of applicant subsequent to the adoption of the current zoning code.

MainStreet

board meeting was marked with indecision and lack of a clear understanding by its members in both river walk and the long-term project called streetscape.

As an example, MainStreet wants to purchase the Wilson property along the Rio Ruidoso for parking and restrooms to serve the river walk. The property costs $250,000.

The board voted to put down $1,000 down in earnest money, holding the property until December when MainStreet either will purchase or have the option of leasing to hold the property for a year at $30,000.

MainStreet directors haven't determined how they're going to raise the $250,000 purchase price, but they're hoping federal money, requiring state and local matching dollars, will be available next October.

Members seemed to have no idea from where the $30,000 to hold the property might come, other than from the village.

When it came time to make the motion to enter into a real estate agreement, all eyes turned to board member J.D. James, a Ruidoso councilor, for official approval. He assured them they had council support, and made the motion. The action seemed to lock in his future vote.

If Mayor Shaw is worried about being out of touch with river walk plans, some MainStreet board members at the Thursday meeting also seemed unclear about details.

Miller and Battin answered questions as best they could, explaining that attorneys had checked the lease-purchase agreement and the Wilsons had signed off. All that was necessary was a board resolution, they said.

But even after their explanation, one of the first questions asked by a board member was: "Is the basic idea to purchase the property?"

"The plan is to lease the property until the public funds are available," Miller said. "And lease it, not as MainStreet or the village, but probably as a separate corporation, because acquisition does qualify for funding, reimbursement for acquisition does not qualify. So we have to have an arm's length sale to the village at that time, then ISTE, land or water conservation (different funding sources) could be used. It would probably be a 12-month lease."

Miller said the grant applications must be in Santa Fe by March 1994.

"Are we looking at a $30,000 land lease, next year?" a member asked.

"Yes," Miller said.

"We've got from now until December to try to structure some means of funding, either to exercise the option to lease or to exercise the option to purchase. We could choose either way," Battin said.

Fifty percent of the lease money the first two years could be applied to the purchase.

"We'll seek some kind of private funding, or participation in the option," Battin said. "We're really optioning more land than we will conceivably use in the river walk. There will be some opportunity to work out something with a private developer or some private funding

Miller noted, "There's two buildings on the site that can be rented during our lease time until we actually need the buildings. We could recover some of the funds required."

"One will be rented starting the first of October for $300 per month. He's on month to month by a person who has a shop downtown. We could probably return $800 per month, just from rental income."

James asked if the cabin and house on the property would be dismantled or remain in the River Walk project.

"That's what is to be studied in the design of it," Miller said. "The thinking is to retain both buildings. Maybe the upper building we don't need, possibly, and would sell off. The lower building possibly could be used as a gallery, a museum or something."

Miller indicated land owners in the area still haven't been contacted about the use of their property for the River Walk. He intends to show them an artist's rendering of what it may look like as a selling point, he said.

But one member asked Miller what would stop that owner from saying, "You bought Wilson's property, buy mine."

Battin answered for Miller.

"I think as a last resort we could go to condemnation for that right of way," the Ruidoso banker said.

The Wilson property is over two acres and Battin said it was more than needed.

"This is a pretty significant step in tying up this much land," Battin said. "When we discussed this before, we elected to tie up more land than we could conceivably need. We also felt there was a possibility that the initiation of the River Walk would enhance the value of the property around this that we do need, so that we could either sell it off, sublease it or something, and recover some of our investment."

Residents have heard the River-Walk romanticized at council meetings before, often compared to the famed San Antonio Riverwalk.

However, realistically, there is no comparison to San Antonio's river walk — not in length, or breadth, or depth, or demographically, or geodemographically, or psychodemographically.

Critics say that to compare San Antonio Riverwalk with the Rio Ruidoso project would be to mislead the public.

One unique feature of the Rio Ruidoso comes with flooding. If it changes its course as it has several times in the past, the walk also would change.

In addition to such intrinsic problems, future considerations would include the long-term cost of providing village services to the area, such as maintenance, stepped up police protection and utilities.

Although merchants in other areas applaud MainStreet board members for their focus on the downtown project, they don't want to wait years before the village council meets their needs.

A legitimate question may be, should the commitment to a project of this magnitude be left to a few members of an appointed board or an elected council, or should voters decide?

Sandy and Nickademus are looking for homes

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Within the last month, five purebred and collie mixes have arrived at the Lincoln County Humane Society animal shelter.

Two of the three released by owners were adopted last week. Another older collie has tags and shelter employees are trying to contact the owner.

But Sandy and Dusty need new homes.

Sandy, a year-old female collie mix, may also have shepherd blood, a combination of two of the smartest breeds.

"I didn't realize how pretty she was with her sable coloring until I had a chance to really take a look at her the other day," said shelter secretary Kathy Tetreault. "She's a neat dog and housebroken."

Sandy also responds to the commands of "sit, down, come, heel and fetch." On top of all those pluses, she gets along well with the other dogs and with people.

Sandy's hair is shorter than a full-blood collie and should demand less care. She will need to be spayed as required by state law.

Dusty also will require spaying, but her tags are current.

The black and white collie is four years old and has lived primarily outside.

"Her owner said she used to dig out of a chain link fence and she needs to be on a ranch away from a road or in a very secure area," Tetreault said.

Dusty was brought in last week and "seems really forlorn and scared," Tetreault said. "We'd like to get her into a new home as quickly as possible."

If Dusty is to become more of a house companion, Tetreault recommends the new owner use the crate training method, at least until the dog is housebroken. Literature is available at the shelter about this method that has worked wonders with other untrained dogs and saved many relationships.

A cheerful mid-size and low-maintenance companion who needs a new home is Nickademus, a sweet-natured male Labrador retriever mix with cinnamon coloring.

"He's a really friendly dog and is very neat in his cage," said shelter manager Esther Harper. He would require neutering.

Nickademus was found wandering without collar or tags in the Paradise Canyon area about one week ago. He's much smaller than the normal Labrador.

Society members are excited about an expansion to the shelter set to begin early next month. To be accomplished in phases, the project when complete will triple the number of cages available for dogs.

The expansion will bring the cats inside the main building, create a puppy pen for visitor interaction and include a more secure isolation room for ill canines to prevent contamination of the other animals.

Local contractors interested in looking at the plans and submitting a bid should contact Stanley J. French at 257-5633.

One long-time Ruidoso resident contacted The News to complain about the piles of solicitations she receives each year from national animal protection organizations. Many have poor records of public accountability and have been criticized for draining off as much as 80 percent of the money collected from such solicitations to pay administration and fund raising costs. Twenty percent or less ends up directly benefiting the animals.

One hundred percent of the donations dropped in the dog jars around town or sent by check to the Lincoln County Humane Society and goes to the direct support of the shelter through food, health care or the physical operation of the shelter.

All board members are volunteers and receive nothing but personal satisfaction for their work.

A lower percentage collected for an annual puppet show by a private fund-raising organization benefits the animals, because some of the money pays for the puppeteer, the cost of tickets and the commission for solicitors.

But society members think the lower percentage is worth bringing special entertainment to town for the children.

SANDY

The society's only mail solicitation is a by-product of the twice-a-year newsletter sent to members and supporters to update them on the society and animal protection issues. It includes a coupon that can be sent back with membership fees or donations.

To ensure support goes directly to the animals, some people elect to bring food to the shelter, or they contribute to the spay or neuter fund to improve adoption chances.

For more information about Sandy or Nickademus, or any of the other dogs and cats, call 257-9841 or stop at the shelter on Gavilan Canyon Road.

Century 21 agent graduates from "Sweathogs" program

Ovella Estes of CENTURY 21 Aspen Real Estate, Inc. graduated from the national "Sweathogs" program on August 25 in Albuquerque.

The course, developed by motivational expert and national real estate trainer Floyd Wickman, redefines words like "intense" and "challenging," Wickman explains.

Named after the Sweathogs of the popular TV show, "Welcome Back, Kotter," the program is considered the number one, fastest growing, results-achieving real estate training program in North America, according to Century 21 general manager James Paxton.

Estes was one of only two agents in the Albuquerque class who received special recognition for graduating "On Track." This designation is conferred for consistent and above average production: accomplished during the 11-week course, and places Estes in an elite group of professional Realtors.

She was also elected by class participants, the majority of whom were from the Albuquerque/Santa Fe area, to serve as a team leader.

With an atmosphere that resembles "boot camp," the course comprehensively covers the nuts and bolts of residential real estate—solid information, marketing strategies, selling techniques and methods designed to accelerate the production of each participant.

In addition, participants were required to meet or exceed weekly performance quotas.

"By enrolling in the Sweathogs Program, Estes has demonstrated a strong desire to enhance her professional selling skills and marketing strategies already possessed, enabling her to provide top quality service to clients and customers," noted Century 21 of The Southwest,

OVELLA ESTES

Inc. Regional Director Dennis Pysz. Estes can be reached at Century 21 Aspen Real Estate, Inc., 727 Mechem Drive; 257-9057.

Business workshop offered here free

Businesses wanting to learn how to get their share of the 220 billion dollar federal market should plan on attending the Procurement Workshop.

The State of New Mexico's Procurement Assistance Program (NMPAP) will be offering the Procurement Workshop from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m. Thursday, September 23, in Ruidoso.

The workshop not only covers selling to the federal government but also gives a detailed overview of how to sell to state and local governments, and prime contractors.

For more information, contact Jasper Abeyta of the Alamogordo Procurement Assistance Program at 437-5218 or 434-5272.

The workshop is free, but seating is limited, so please phone to reserve your seat.

Education conference focuses on economics

Dr. Marianne Talafuse of Ruidoso will be the keynote speaker at "The Profitable Classroom" conference for public school teachers and administrators Friday, September 24, at the La Posada Hotel in Albuquerque.

Her topic will be "Economic Decision Making."

The conference is sponsored by the New Mexico Council on Economic Education housed at the Center for Economic Development at the University of New Mexico, Anderson Schools of Management.

This is the first of a series of conferences, in-service workshops and classes which will be offered to New Mexico public school educators by the council.

Other speakers include Bob Strom, National Council on Economic Education; Ike Kalangis, president, Sunwest Bank; Ken Walters, dean, UNM/Anderson Schools of Management; K. Wayne Hast, Federal Reserve Bank, Dallas; and Barry Robinson, Federal Reserve Bank, Kansas City.

Activities for teaching economics in kindergarten through twelfth grade will be demonstrated, and the Bernalillo Middle School will present "Econopolis," a mini-society for the eighth grade.

For more information, call Loyola Chastain, Program Coordinator at 277-3020. Space is limited to 100 registrants.

Brownie uniforms updated; turn blue

No longer just the signature brown, next year's Brownie Girl Scouts (ages six to eight) will be sporting blue chambray-look shirts, floral-topped jumpers, and short, gathered skirts. They may also choose a western-style belt and fun T-shirts to complement the new colorful components.

According to a news release, traditionalists can find comfort that some elements remain.

Girls may still choose to wear the familiar Brownie Girl Scout beanie and will wear a sash or vest to display the official recognitions they've earned.

The new uniform design is part of a complete program update for younger girls and is the result of the Girl Scout organization's commitment to remain contemporary.

Other changes include additions to the Daisy Girl Scout (ages five and six) uniform, and revisions in the Daisy and Brownie Girl Scout handbooks.

But girls of each generation face different challenges, so we continually review and update our resources to meet contemporary needs.

Members of the Ruidoso Ski Team are on duty to catch lost ducks during the All American Duck Race to raise funds for their travel expenses.

Lucky ducks win cash

And they're off — more than 1,700 plastic ducks, that is, for the first All American Festival Duck Race September 4 at Two Rivers Park.

The Ruidoso Ski Team members literally combed the area during the summer months for potential "duck" buyers for the event.

The result was a potpourri of rousing fun and fundraising as Nob Hill principal Roger Sowder, alias Donald Duck, and chamber executive Joan Bailey, drew winning ducks from the frisky Ruidoso River.

The arbitrary or "Golden Duck" number, chosen out of the tickets sold prior to the race was #838. Had that duck crossed the finish line first the ticketholder would have won $25,000. Ruidosoan, Cindy Clayton's number, #1758, crossed the finish line first entitling her to the first place cash prize of $1,000.

"There are rewards in this event for being tardy, in the extreme that is," said the organizers in a news release.

The very last duck in, the "Pokey Paddler," was awarded a slick $250. That winner was Tate Glasscock, #1523, of Floydada, Texas. Twenty additional prizes were awarded during the race as ducks were drawn at random from the water and numbers were posted.

The Ruidoso Ski Team thanks the community for their generous support of this project.

Warriors win second straight game

The Ruidoso Warrior Football accomplished something Friday night that hasn't been seen in these parts since 1986 — a 2-2 record after four games.

In a great high school football game, the Warriors beat the Tularosa Wildcats 17-14, on a night in Tularosa that saw the lead teeter-totter between the two rivals several times.

At the beginning of the game, it appeared that it might be a long night for the Warriors. The Wildcats took the opening kickoff and marched — make that sprinted 60 yards in only six plays. The touchdown came from nine yards out. The extra point was missed.

After the kickoff, the Warrior offense patiently drove the ball down the field, into scoring territory, before stalling at the Tularosa eight yard line. At that point, sophomore Byron Soules drilled a 26-yard field goal to get the Warriors on the scoreboard, 7-3.

After the Warrior kickoff, the Wildcats again moved the football impressively — briefly. After a first down, the home town Wildcats coughed up the ball at their own 32 yard line.

It took the Warriors just six plays before senior wingback Ricky Devara went in from nine yards out. Byron Soules added the PAT to give the Warriors a 10-6 lead.

There was no scoring in the second quarter.

After the intermission, the Warrior's third quarter woes looked like they would continue as Tularosa drove inside the Warrior 20 yardline. Then suddenly, the Warrior defense found a spark and forced the Wildcats to attempt a long field goal, which was missed.

The Warriors got the football at the 20, but the offense could not move the ball and had to punt.

The Wildcats drive started at the Warrior 41-yard line and they moved the football with ease, with quarterback Mario Romero going in from nine yards out. The two-point conversion made the score 14-10, Tularosa.

The kickoff was the low-point for the Warriors as they fumbled the football on the return, giving the Wildcats the ball at the Warrior 39.

Things looked bleak again, as Tularosa moved the football inside the Warrior 20, but again, the Warrior defense did the job, forcing a missed field goal attempt.

The defense had done its job and now it was now up John Echols and the Warrior offense to do theirs.

With great play selection, Echols got the running game going dishing out the ball to Rex Comanche, Raul Davis and Ricky Devara. The Warriors were clicking along running the football when head coach Mike Gaston sent in a pass play.

When Echols got the signal for "28 bootleg pipe", the momentum in the football game was about to change.

Basically the play is supposed to go to the wide receiver, if that's not open, the tight end, then the fullback, then to the decoy — the wingback.

For most of the night, the Wildcats had blanketed the Warrior receivers. But the coaches upstairs in the press box noticed that Tularosa wasn't really covering the decoy on bootleg passes.

When they added the word "pipe" to the play, that told Echols to look at the Wingback, Ricky Devara. The result was a perfect pattern, a perfect throw and a perfect catch. That netted a 45-yard gain and the best pass play of the year for the Warriors.

That play got the Warriors deep into Wildcat territory enabling Raul Davis to score, untouched, from six yards out. Byron Soules extra point gave the Warrior their final 17-14 lead.

The last couple of minutes weren't without excitement of course, but David Eisenbrown's fumble recovery at midfield took all chances away from the Wildcats, who were previously unbeaten and unscored on.

While it was a win and an excellent game to watch, coach Gaston wasn't happy about his team's motivation prior to the game.

"We were just really flat before the game. I guess it was because we worked the kids so hard in practice last week, whatever it was, I was sure proud of the way they came back to win it," Gaston said.

"While the team didn't play that well, we had some great individual performances. Kids like David LaMay (19 solo tackles), Ricky (Devara) and Anthony (Torres) were just exceptional. When the younger kids see those older kids try so hard and give it everything, its so important," Gaston said.

While the defense probably won the game for the team and won glowing reviews from Gaston, he wasn't so kind about the lackluster performance the offensive group turned in.

"You're just not going to beat anybody with four turnovers. We were lucky that they turned over the ball, too. We got the plays when we needed them, but we weren't very intense for most of the game," Gaston said.

For the second-straight week, our football team won a game that they could have lost. They grabbed victory from the jaws of defeat — not the other way around.

Tularosa is a good football team, greatly improved over the past three or four year. But, so are the Warriors.

Our kids improve weekly, taking small steps — but they are getting much better. That improvement will be put to the test this week as they play their toughest opponent yet — Portales.

Game time is set for 7:30 a.m. at W.D. Horton field.

Warrior freshmen remain undefeated

The Ruidoso 9th grade football team followed up its big wins over Tularosa and Socorro with a hard fought 14 to 12 victory over a formidable Portales squad there on Thursday.

A deceiving pre-game notion was that the Rams had the freshman Warriors oversized and outnumbered. Not to be intimidated, the Ruidoso club took the field and showed which team had the most desire.

The first quarter ended scoreless as the Warriors were moving toward the game's initial touchdown. Though the second quarter began with a 4th and 11 inside the Ram's 15 yard line, Ruidoso quickly broke the 0 to 0 deadlock on a pass from scrambling quarterback Billy Rogge to tailback Arthur Rojas, followed by a successful 2 points to put the team up 8 to 0.

Portales responded with a long drive and a score, but cornerback Chris Jones batted down the pass attempt on the 2 point play. The teams went in at the half with the Warriors on top 8 to 6.

In the third quarter, the Rams tested Ruidoso in a big way by scoring on the first play from scrimmage. The Warrior defense denied them the PAT and the tally stood 8 to 12 Portales.

Undaunted, the Warriors roared back by means of a gutsy 78-yard kickoff return on the legs of Travis Armstrong which finalized the scoring.

Overall, the steady performance of fullback Brian Moore kept the freshman offense moving throughout the game.

Still, it took a heads-up play by Armstrong to strip the ball from a Ram runningback in the last minute to preserve the victory.

The JV-B group is now 3-0, the best start for a RHS freshman team in 4 years. This week the team has an open date, but Fabens, Texas, is the next opponent (game to be played on September 30 in Las Cruces or Alamogordo—site pending).

JV FOOTBALL

After an impressive five touchdown victory over Tularosa in their second outing, the Warriors JV-A gridiron squad dropped a 20 to 0 score to Artesia in an away game on Saturday.

The offense had difficulty running the ball, but found a spark on several drives by passing the pigskin.

On their longest drive, the JV Warriors moved to the Bulldog one-yard line only to be denied a TD pass through an official's ruling.

Regardless of the three touchdown difference, the defense played well enough to shut out Artesia's pass offense and relinquish only one big play to their running game. The team plays again this Saturday at Socorro.

Warrior soccer team loses 2nd match with Carlsbad

The Warrior soccer team was outkicked in Carlsbad last Tuesday, but with a two and two record for the season, the young players expect to come back.

The final score was 2-0, but the Warriors didn't stop fighting until the last whistle blew.

But the young team had a tough week, and went on to lose to Gadsden by 2-1 on Saturday.

"We're very proud of our kids," said head soccer coach Dean Hood, who was especially proud of his team's performance against the Cavemen kickers.

Carlsbad' soccer squad, the same team that gave the Warriors the first loss, is in its 10th year as a school program. The Ruidoso soccer team is in its first year of competition.

"We played them very well," said Coach Hood.

The Warriors played especially well on defense, said Hood. Stand-outs included Matt Norbury, Danny Schrader, Daniel Espinosa, Matthew Ensor, Dryller Hisel and Earl Holstein.

"Our team showed much improvement from the first time we played Carlsbad," said Hood.

Veteran soccer player Matt Harshay, who played on the club team that led to the development of soccer as a school sport, had an excellent game in goal with 16 saves.

Ruidoso soccer team gears up to play Alamo's JV squad

The Ruidoso Warriors soccer team will play Alamogordo's JV team at 6 p.m. Thursday.

The team goes into this match with a record of 3 and 2 after losing to Gadsden on Saturday.

The Gadsden game was not one of the Warriors' better performances, according to head coach Dean Hood.

"As a team we lacked intensity," said Hood, adding that he'll be working with his players on that this week.

A bright spot in the Gadsden game was the play of newcomers Osvaldo Aleman and Aldo Garcia.

"We have to bounce back now and get ready for the Alamogordo game," said Hood.

Braves "A" volleyball squad is still undefeated at 4-0

The Ruidoso Braves volleyball team remains undefeated with a 4-0 record after soundly defeating Tularosa last week in two games. The Braves A-team, coached by Robyn Johnson, tamed the Tulie Tigers by 15-3 and 15-5.

The Braves B team last in two games to Tularosa, bringing its season record to 3 and 1. The young Braves lost 12-15 and 12-15.

The Braves will play Roswell Mountain View at 3:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Ruidoso Middle School gymnasium.

Coach Johnson is pleased with the way her A-team players are playing as a team and winning games. She expects the B-team to come back Tuesday and get back on the winning track.

Varsity volleyball team falls to Artesia Bulldogs Saturday

The Ruidoso High School Warriors volleyball squad hosted the Artesia Bulldogs Saturday.

The Warriors whipped the 'Dogs in a hard-fought three-game match, but the varsity team lost in three.

Coach Jody Blanton will be working on the mistakes identified Saturday, and the girls will be back on their home court this Tuesday.

Cross country girls bring home a 5th in Roswell meet

Ruidoso Warriors cross country runners competed among a dozen teams at a meet this Saturday in Roswell, and came home with a respectable fifth place for the girls and eighth for the boys.

Alamogordo dominated the meet, winning first for the girls with 22 points and first for the boys with 47 points.

The Ruidoso girls scored 121 in the meet, and the boys scored 178 points.

"We made some improvement, but we still have a very long way to go," said cross country head coach Ronny Maskew. "Thankfully, we still have several weeks before the district meet. To make the necessary improvements, we will be working very hard the next few weeks to make that needed improvement."

For the boys, Extra Sandoval came in 34th with a time of 19:02; Tim Skinner, 35 with 19:30; Alley Hosetosavit, 41 at 20:19; Erran McManemy, 43; and David Hufstedler, 48.

For the girls, Stephanie Haas placed 10th with a time of 22:27; Bridget Tam, 22 with 24:32; Pam Higginbotham, 24, 25:23; Sarah Dix, 32, 28:01; and Christy Smith, 34, 28:49.

Stephanie Vigil-Baca placed 22 with a time of 28:35.

Go fishing free Saturday in New Mexico

Fishing is "free" on September 25. Anglers of all ages don't have to have a license on that day, but they do have to abide by all other restrictions, including bag limits and bait or lure requirements.

The free fishing day is in observance of National Hunting and Fishing Day, said Bill Montoya, director of the New Mexico Department of Game and Fish. Theme of this year's National Hunting and Fishing Day is "Put an Indoorsman in Your Shoes."

Ads for the big day also promote "Put an Indoorsman in Your Shoes."

The 1993 theme highlights a message that's as important today as it was in 1975, when the slogan was first used as the theme, said Bob Delfay, president of the National Shooting Sports Foundation, primary sponsor of NHF Day.

"Our success in reaching out to an increasingly urban America is more important now than ever."

The "Put an Indoorsman in Your Shoes" theme underscores the simple premise that if every sportsman in the country observed National Hunting and Fishing Day by introducing one nonsportsman to hunting, fishing, shooting and conservation, the public's understanding and appreciation of these American traditions would increase significantly, Delfay said.

Fishing proclamations outlining regulations for fishing in New Mexico are available from Department of Game and Fish offices in Santa Fe, Albuquerque, Raton, Roswell and Las Cruces and from about 225 vendors statewide. New bag limits are listed in the 1993-95 fishing proclamation.

A family of four will save more the $30 on the price of a one-day trout fishing license during the free fishing day. One-day licenses, with trout validation, are $8.50. Season fishing licenses in New Mexico cost,

$14 for residents (with trout validation) and $41 for nonresidents. The trout validation is included in the nonresident price, but sold separately to residents if they desire. Cost of an annual resident license without trout validation is $8.50. The trout stamp purchased separately is $5.75.

Anglers may use only one pole, rather than two poles in non-trout waters. In addition, children under 12, who are never required to have a fishing license, may keep a full limit of fish each day.

Approved limits are: trout species from most waters, six per day and in possession; lake trout, two per day and in possession; and cutthroat trout, two per day and in possession.

Limits on trout from Heron, Navajo, Eagle Nest, Abiquiu, Chabre, McAllister, Quemado, Bonito and Costilla lakes are now 10 per day and in possession. At Bluewater, there is a 10-inch minimum size limit; bag and possession limit is 10 fish.

Other revised bag limits are: black bass, from eight to five per day; striped bass, from four to two per day; walleye, from 12 to 10 per day; northern pike, from 20 to 10 per day; crappie, from 40 to 20 per day; and white bass, from 40 to 25 per day.

Species not listed have a bag limit of 20 per day. Possession limits are twice the daily bag limit on warm-water species.

At Elephant Butte Lake, black bass under 14 inches cannot be kept. The size limit on black bass at 10 other lakes is 12 inches. A "slot size" means anglers must return Evans of 12 to 16 inches at Bill Evans Lake. Trout must be 10 inches long to be kept at Bluewater Lake.

Gilita Creek and a portion of the Ruidoso River are now special trout waters, with bag and possession limits of two per day taken only on artificial flies and lures with single barbless hooks.

The September free fishing day is one of two established in 1991 State Legislature. A number of other states also offer free fishing days as a means of encouraging participation in the sport.

Hunter safety class begins on Monday at Ruidoso PD

The Ruidoso hunter safety instructors announce another hunter certification class.

This class will be conducted from 5:30-9 p.m. Monday through Friday, September 27 through October 1, at the Ruidoso Police Department.

Various topics are covered; such as survival, basic first aid, hunting tips, safe gun handling and more.

The class is required for anyone wishing to go afield with a firearm, who is under the age of 18. This course is also approved in all other states that require an approved hunter safety course, such as Colorado, where adults are required to pass this course.

Class size is limited so pre-register with the receptionist at the Ruidoso Police Department. Your Social Security number is required and if you can't pre-register then show up for the first class Monday, September 27.

A small fee of $5 is required for each student in the class.

If you need more information, contact Cpl. Pete Esqueibel at the Ruidoso Police Department, 257-7365, or Dave Wheeler at the Ruidoso Emergency Medical Services, 257-7381.

Students under the age of 11 must be accompanied by a parent for the entire class.

Hunter education required for underage shooters

Deadline to register for fall hunter education classes is September 30 for youths age 17 and younger who plan to hunt for deer or other big game with firearms this year.

The deadline allows the Department of Game and Fish and hunter education volunteers to organize final classes before the fall hunting seasons, said Bill Montoya, department director.

Youths under 18 years of age must have hunter education certification before they can purchase a license to hunt with firearms.

Those who have not enrolled for a hunter education class by September 30 will not be able to take the course before November's deer seasons, and subsequently, cannot get a license this fall. Youths who register before September 30 will be scheduled for an upcoming class.

Adults who wish to hunt in other states where certification is required may also register for the New Mexico classes.

Anyone who has lost his or her hunter certification card can get a replacement by calling the Department of Game and Fish, 841-8881, ext. 30. Provide full name and address, date of birth, social security number, and date of course completion and instruction, if possible.

There is no age limit for youngsters enrolling in hunter education classes, but anyone under 11 years of age must be accompanied by a parent or guardian.

Most hunter education instructors are volunteers who work during the day and give the class on weeknights and sometimes on weekends. Classes are available when an instructor has enough students signed up at a time when he or she can teach. Most classes are kept to 25 to 30 students.

Those planning to enroll by the September 30 deadline should contact an instructor or game officer in his area or phone a Department of Game and Fish office in Santa Fe, Raton, Roswell or Las Cruces.

In Ruidoso, contact the Ruidoso Police Department, 257-7365.

The hunter training course familiarizes students with firearm safety through hands-on training and discussion of proper care and use of firearms. Students are provided workbooks, and classes are often centered around a variety of instructional films.

The course also includes the history, traditions and ethics of hunting, the hunter and conservation, ammunition, fundamentals of shooting, muzzle-loading, safe bow hunting, hunters' responsibilities, first aid and survival afield.

Fish and Game will conduct "Roadblocks for Wildlife"

Throughout hunting season, the New Mexico Department of Game and Fish will be setting roadblocks at a variety of times and locations in the southeastern part of the state.

The program, billed as "roadblocks for wildlife," provides a chance for conservation officers to check for game law violations and also to obtain information on hunter harvest.

In many instances, other law enforcement agencies such as the State Police and sheriff's departments will be involved looking for other criminal activities and to assist with traffic control.

"If you encounter such a roadblock, remember officers are looking for poachers that are stealing your wildlife," reads the news release provided by the department.

Board opens bids Wednesday

Bids for paving and new furniture will be opened at noon Wednesday by the Ruidoso School Board in the new board room of the renovated administration office.

The paving includes portions of the existing White Mountain school complex and the new elementary school area. The furniture is for the new central office.

Fairground future looks fuzzy

Discussion about the future of the Lincoln County fairground and the fair board probably will dominate the group's meeting at 7 p.m. Wednesday in the Capitan fair building.

County Commissioner Wilton Howell dropped a bomb two weeks ago when he announced that there appeared to be no clear title to the fairground and questioned whether public money could be spent on improvements there. He mentioned possibly moving the annual fair site to a new location.

Caravan to Lake Lucero

A ranger-guided trip to White Sands National Monument's Lake Lucero, the source of the white sands, is scheduled for Saturday, September 25, 1993. Reservations are required and can be obtained by calling monument headquarters at 479-6124.

The trip will begin at 10:00 a.m., returning at 1:00 p.m., at the Small Missile Range Gate intersection with US Highway 70/82, 25 miles west of White Sands National Monument headquarters, between mileposts 174 and 175.

Participants will drive their own vehicles 17 miles over paved roads across the White Sands Missile Range to the Lake Lucero trailhead, then hike 3/4 mile to the lake.

All vehicles should have a spare tire and sufficient gasoline for the 34-mile round trip to the Lake Lucero trailhead. Each person should have sufficient drinking water, a snack if desired, sunglasses, sunscreen, stout walking shoes, and suitable dress for the weather. Cameras may not be used while passing through the missile range, but are encouraged for use while at the monument lake area.

71,000 hunters apply for state's special hunt permits

More than 71,000 hunters applied for 1993-94 special hunts that include licenses for antelope, bighorn sheep, elk, ibex, javelina and oryx, and permits to special areas for deer hunting.

The largest number of applicants were for elk: 41,135 hunters applied for licenses, including 33,569 residents, 7,554 nonresidents and 12 military personnel.

The remainder of the applicants included: antelope—10,425 residents, 527 nonresidents and 26 military; oryx—3,783 residents, 48 nonresidents and four military, ibex—1,546 residents and 50 nonresidents. Rocky Mountain bighorn sheep—1,156 residents, 244 nonresidents and one military, javelina—667 residents and 10 nonresidents.

Entry permits to special areas to hunt deer were 10,759 residents, 774 nonresidents and 50 military.

Of the unsuccessful applicants for special hunts, 145 donated $8,492 in license refunds to Operation Game Thief, a reward-incentive program that pays for information leading to the arrest or citing of game law violators.

Game and Fish Department stocks lakes in time for free fishing

Department of Game and Fish crews used a helicopter September 9 to stock 61,000 Snake River cutthroat trout fry in high-country lakes in the Pecos Wilderness.

The one-inch long cutthroat were spilled from water-filled bags into 10 waters; Pecos Baldy Lake 18,000; Lake Katherina 18,000; Truchas Peak Lake 6,000; Stewart, Spirit and Johnson lakes 3,000 each, and the middle fork of the Rio la Casa, Snatiago and Encantado lakes 2250 each.

Colorado Division of Wildlife provided the Snake River cutthroat eggs to the Department of Game and Fish free of charge, as the agency has done in the past. The eggs were hatched and reared to fry stage—which takes about two months—at Seven Springs Hatchery in the Jemez Mountains.

The waters where the Snake River cutthroats are being stocked have historically been inhabited by Rio Grande cutthroat trout, a native fish in the state. The Department of Game and Fish stocks the waters every two to three years with Snake River cutthroat, said Bill Montoya, department director.

In the future, Rio Grande cutthroat trout may again thrive in the waters. Seven Spring Hatchery may be used in the future to rear the native trout for stocking in its historical waters. The hatchery is not the state's best for raising rainbow trout, and State Game Commission members and department administrators have recently considered closing the hatchery.

The Snake River is a hearty subspecies of cutthroat trout indigenous to the Northwest, where the Snake River cuts through Washington and runs along the Oregon-Idaho boundary. Introductions of the fine-spotted Snake River cutthroat in New Mexico started in 1976; ultimately, the subspecies was introduced into 29 waters.

Cutthroat trout prefer clear, cold streams and lakes. Spawning occurs in streams from March through July, depending on water temperature.

Cutthroat trout feed primarily on terrestrial insects during summer months and on aquatic insects in riffle areas.

Jack's Creek Restoration

Department of Game and Fish biologists are working this week to restore the Rio Grande cutthroat trout to historical habitat in Jack's Creek, a tributary of the Pecos River in the Pecos Wilderness.

A very small number of exotic species have recently been found in the lower part of Jack's Creek, and biologists want to remove the fish before spawning time in the fall, said Bill Montoya, department director.

The crews started treating the stream Tuesday with a chemical to eliminate the remaining exotic species, Montoya said. With that complete, Rio Grande cutthroat trout from the Rito del Padre will be moved to the upper portion of Jack's Creek.

Fisheries biologists will monitor the creek into the fall to see if all exotics have been removed. Based on findings, they will take some Rio Grande cutthroat trout from Doctor Creek to stock in the lower portion of Jack's Creek.

Cutthroat trout are characterized by orange slashes below the gills on the lower jaws. The fish are yellowish green to grayish brown with black spots that are more numerous at the back. The spots on the Rio Grande cutthroat trout become larger toward the tail and on the tail compared to other species that have smaller spots.

The historic range of the Rio Grande cutthroat trout is not definitely known, but may have encompassed all waters presently capable of supporting trout

The Dreamer Visits from friends keep Dan's spirits up

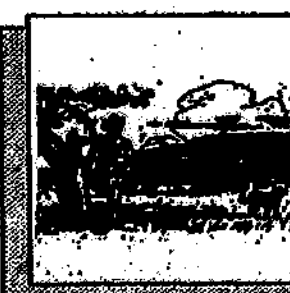

This is being written a little after high noon on September 16, four days before the first day of fall, and there is certainly a touch of autumn in the sunny air.

All the mountain world is rejoicing on a perfect summer day.

The cards and visitors have been coming in bringing their cheer and blessings.

Father John Penn came in and said prayers for me on the 15th. Then our dear friend Ruth Wardlaw dropped in for a cheerful visit, and Amalia Trujillo came by from San Patricio bringing fondest wishes from the folks down that way.

My longtime friend Alan Reynolds came in with sincere best wishes and encouragement, and Tom Taylor came in with his million dollar smile. Ruben Sandoval brought in a little plastic folder with the words of the famous ber 16, who was called home by our Lord on September 11. Full military graveside honors were conducted by local veterans under the direction of Romeo Klein.

Randy will always hold a fond spot in our hearts, and we are grateful that he is happy and safe with our Lord in Heaven.

More friends

I have a great friend, Eskey Benavides who was raised in the Ruidoso Valley and now living in California, just now at 11:20 his mother Connie Montes and his sister, Dolores Garza came in with beautiful get well cards and kind messages from Eskey.

THE SECRET OF LIFE

What if...

Cancer were a distant memory...

AIDS could be prevented by a simple vaccine...

and Alzheimer's could be cured by changing a single gene?

Each of these miracles is, in fact, nearing reality as scientists learn more and more about reading and manipulating the genetic blueprint of life: DNA.

The Secret of Life, an eight-hour series, reveals how scientists' ability to decipher and manipulate our genes will transform medicine — and perhaps the human race.

Host for the series is David Suzuki, professor of biology at the University of British Columbia. He is a noted geneticist and author.

The premiere program, "The Immortal Thread," introduces the extraordinary chemistry of the DNA molecule — the secret of life. All living things share DNA, and we can understand more about ourselves by looking at creatures as apparently unlike as yeast and worms.

"Accidents of Creation" explores the wonderful diversity of life rooted in the accumulation of tiny errors in DNA. From Africa to Hawaii, such mistakes lead to the critical genetic diversity that allows organisms to adapt to changing conditions. Without them, life would never have advanced beyond its primitive beginnings.

Next, "Birth, Sex and Death" asks the question: What makes us male or female? Why do we grow old and die? Genes influence these processes, and scientists are just beginning to understand how.

"Conquering Cancer" probes the scientific revolution in understanding cancer — from the oncogenes that cause it, to the molecular approaches that give hope of slowing its deadly progression.

"The Mouse that Laid the Golden Egg" covers the brave new world of genetically engineered sheep, pigs, plants, and other mutant life forms.

"Cell Wars" looks at the body's powerful defense in the face of invaders: the immune system. Scientists are looking for ways to come to the aid of our bodies, increasingly beleaguered by AIDS, multiple sclerosis, flu, and other diseases.

"Children by Design" ventures into the revolutionary world of gene therapy. It is now within our power to begin fine-tuning the human species.

Finally, "Who Are You?" shows how scientists are studying identical twins to illuminate the age-old debate over nature versus nurture.

The Secret of Life series will be broadcast on four consecutive evenings, Sunday through Wednesday, September 26th-29th at 8:00 p.m. Each episode is two hours long. The series will repeat Saturdays at 7:00 a.m. beginning October 2nd. The repeat consists of eight one-hour programs.

Ruidoso concert group sponsors musical series

Ruidoso Community Concert Association kicks off a membership drive for its fifth season next Monday.

The concert season will include four concerts, all to be presented at the First Christian Church on Hull Road. Since admission is by membership only, don't miss out on the membership drive next week.

Season membership is $56 for an entire family, $27 for adults and just $12 for students. They may be purchased from Community Concert board members and, this week, at The Aspen Tree in Midtown Ruidoso.

Besides admission to the Ruidoso series, membership in Community Concert Association opens the door to concerts throughout southern New Mexico.

Local members are welcomed at no charge to concerts in Alamogordo, Artesia, Carlsbad, Deming, Las Cruces and Silver City.

The Ruidoso season opens on Tuesday, October 12, with a ragtime concert by pianist Max Morath.

According to Morath's press release, he presents an exhilarating tour of turn-of-the-century American in "Living a Ragtime Life."

"You will be charmed and enlightened by Morath, with his versatile talents as pianist, singer and comedian," continues the release.

"Happily in tune with another era besides his own, Morath has chosen his material with a knowing eye on today's temper and ideas."

As with all community concert presentations, this one will be enjoyed by the entire family.

Share Christmas with Bill Schustik, the American Troubadour, during his concert on Monday, November 29.

Schustik's performance is reminiscent of times past when the troubadour wandered through town and village, castle and court, collecting and performing the songs and stories of the people.

In the Tale of a Troubadour, Schustik helps his audiences rediscover this nation's rich heritage.

The series continues on Monday, February 28, with The Eroica Trio, an all-female strings ensemble.

Winner of the 1991 Naumburg

Chamber Music Award, The Eroica Trio is one of the most vibrant young ensembles to emerge in recent years, reads a news release.

The Eroica Trio is comprised of violinist Adela Peña; cellist Sara Sant'Ambragio, and pianist Erika Nickrenz. All three members of the group had an interest in chamber music early in their lives. They formally founded the trio in 1986, at the Juilliard School; however, they have been inspired by one another's musicianship since 1972.

Ruidoso Community Concert Association will complete its fifth season with the Epic Brass Quintet on Thursday, April 14.

Billed as America's young virtuoso brass ensemble, Epic Brass is directed by Earl Raney.

"Combining brilliant virtuosity, dazzling showmanship, and a contagious sense of fun, the Epic Brass has become one of the most exciting chamber ensembles on the concert stage today," reads a news release.

Since winning the New England Alliance Auditions in 1986, the quintet has blazed a trail across 40 states, appeared on radio and television shows and traveled throughout the world.

Their program includes everything from Bach to boogie-woogie.

Max Morath presents "Living a Ragtime Life" as the first in this season's concert series at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, October 12.

Patrons offer added support

Ruidoso Community Concert Association offers music lovers the chance to support its season through a patron plan.

This plan is an essential part of the association's success, according to board members.

The patron plan provides an opportunity for individuals and businesses to participate, financially, in the support of the premier musical entertainment in the Ruidoso area.

Now beginning its fifth season, the Ruidoso Community Concert Association is supported entirely by local contributions and by season subscription memberships. The association receives no grants or other governmental support, and is not associated with any other group.

All of the board members and other workers are volunteers, receiving no payment except the satisfaction of bringing quality musical entertainment to their community.

All who feel a strong commitment to the cultural life of this area are invited to become patrons of the arts through the Ruidoso Community Concert Association.

All contributions are 100 percent tax deductible.

Contact Sally Avery at 257-2094 or Bob Rowe at 336-4015, or any other board member, for additional information.

"It is a rewarding experience to know that you have helped support a local organization that adds so much to the cultural life of our community," reads a news release provided by the board.

B SECTION

Editorial

MainStreet must regain its focus

We were among the first to jump on the MainStreet bandwagon back in 1988, and we've been boosters for the public/private partnership ever since. It's been "our baby," as we've boosted, praised and supported it through its infancy. MainStreet seemed to be heading in the right direction, building a community feeling in Midtown while acting as prudent stewards of money provided by governments and individuals.

But now, in 1993, our "baby" is in its adolescence and seems to be going off-course. Like a caring parent, we have an obligation to remind MainStreet of its roots and offer some advice to get it back on course.

MainStreet was strong in those early years because its board used the four-point MainStreet approach (organization, design, promotion and economic restructuring) to revitalize Midtown. The three-year program started off with some federal and state support, and early organizers envisioned a contained project that would bring the community together through events and activities — like the Halloween trick-or-treat and costume contest that drew the community to Midtown, like the seasonal banners that provided a central theme and improved the looks of Midtown, like the free architectural services that helped businesses improve their buildings and like the low-cost loans available for such improvements. The end-result for MainStreet would be a thriving business center with new sidewalks, lighting and improved parking.

Midtown came alive with business owners working together and looking forward to some more concrete results in the future. Consultants analyzed the MainStreet area and came back with a list of priorities that started with sidewalks, parking, paving and lighting. The Ruidoso Village Council heard the consultants' report of those priorities, and Councilor Bill Karn presented a motion authorizing MainStreet to go forward on a river walk. A river walk? We still don't have our sidewalks, paving, parking and lighting, and yet we're spending money for engineering, surveying and checking rights of way along the Rio Ruidoso.

And now, MainStreet is in its FIFTH year, and still working toward some concrete results in its primary mission of sidewalks, parking and lighting in Midtown, it's lost its community focus. The feeling just isn't there anymore — even the seasonal banners, which were a symbol of the oneness of that project area, are gone and most likely forgotten.

Like a new teenage driver with Corvette tastes and a junker budget, MainStreet is reaching out to spend government money on a river walk. The board, with no visible means of acquiring a quarter of a million dollars, has placed an option on land for a river walk. MainStreet has lost its focus, and it's time for those of us who helped "birth this baby" to call it back to its roots.

MainStreet needs to get on with the Midtown paving and sidewalk streetscape project, working closely with the State Highway Department. Forget the river walk, and leave that project to the private sector. The MainStreet director has enough on his plate completing the paving and sidewalks; he doesn't need to spend his time worrying about river walks and the like. MainStreet has no business obligating any money for land, and the Ruidoso Village Council should step in.

The Ruidoso Village Council adopted MainStreet Ruidoso when it began, and the council needs to declare a moratorium on spending any public money on land, land lease, options or right of way acquisition for a river walk until the streetscape and paving project, complete with enhancements, is completed.

MainStreet needs to be grounded until it grows up a little and gets back to its focus.

Upon Reflection

Cutting out the pork could hit close to home

by HAL RHODES

Sunmount Syndicate

Moments of truth can be painful. That's why the Clinton administration's proposal to reduce the federal workforce by 12 percent over the next five years has produced reactions ranging from cynicism to outright alarm throughout large segments of New Mexico's body politic.

For as long as anyone can remember, most Americans have steadfastly embraced the belief that our governments, at all levels are bloated, inefficient, unnecessarily expensive and overly-bureaucratic.

So deep-seated is this conviction that it has come to represent one of the few things upon which voters of every political persuasion seem to agree.

Thus, year after year, New Mexicans have nodded approvingly as candidates for everything from city hall to Congress to the White House have promised to eliminate waste if we just elect them to office.

Ronald Reagan made it a central credo in his campaigns, only to leave his successors a federal workforce still larger than the one he inherited upon taking office.

Bill Clinton made similar promises in his drive for the White House.

Clinton, apparently, meant it, however. Or so we must conclude from the massive federal restructuring proposals known as "reinventing government" unveiled by the President and Vice President last week.

Logically, we might expect to find the vast majority of New Mexicans (and all other Americans, for that matter) who have complained so long and loudly about government inefficiency on their roof tops shouting hurrah and hosanna for the administration's initiatives.

And there has been some of that. But there has also been an equal if not greater amount of grousing and quibbling and intimations of dire consequences if the plans go into effect.

That happens when moments of truth are faced, particularly moments of truth involving government workers and the payroll they represent in a state like New Mexico.

According to the latest Commerce Department figures, New Mexico's total workforce numbers in excess of 757,000. More than 180,000 of those workers are government employees, including nearly 60,000 full or part-time civilian and military personnel who work directly for the federal government.

While many of those federal jobs are located in the state's more populous areas, there is no part of New Mexico which does not derive immediate economic benefits from the presence of federal workers in its midst.

For example, the U.S. Department of Agriculture presently maintains Extension Service offices in each of the state's 33 counties.

Woodrow Wilson was president when the USDA's Extension Services began. America was still a predominantly agrarian nation; and Washington's goal was to stabilize the already-endangered family farm by taking USDA services—including the latest scientific knowledge and technology on farming—directly into the countryside.

Today, eight decades later, the family farm has all but disappeared from our rural landscape. Yet the USDA's Extension Service persists, largely unchanged, even in such New Mexico counties as Bernalillo which have long since become overwhelmingly urban.

What's more, past efforts to reform the program through workforce reductions and consolidations have invariably run into opposition from agricultural groups, members of congress beholden to those groups and small business people who sell goods and services to these agencies and their workers. In short, many of the same groups and individuals who have been most vocal in protesting waste and inefficiency have also been most resistant to efforts to do something about the problem.

Reform of USDA services is on the President's and Vice President's far-reaching "reinventing government" agenda, along with reform of virtually every other federal agency operating in New Mexico.

Taken in its entirety, it is a hard-nosed business-like agenda, wholly consistent with our repeated demands that bloat and duplication be purged from our federal bureaucracies.

The question is: What happens when the prospect of a more business-like government impinges on the business of business in the local economies upon which we depend on for our livelihoods?

That's where the pain of this of truth kicks in.

More accessible.

The New Way To Watch TV

More convenient.

We also redesigned the remote control to make your life simpler. It's more comfortable to the touch, and the color-coded buttons are laid out logically just the way you'll use them.

We added Auto Color, Auto Contrast and Dynamic Black Expansion to monitor and adjust the picture automatically. You may never have to adjust the color again.

Channel Labeling† and Commercial Skip complete the package. And make ColorTrak Plus™ the most convenient television system you've ever seen.

More reliable.

But this may be the best news of all. Using advanced Large Scale Integrated (LSI) technology, our engineers put the equivalent of 400 parts onto a single, small computer chip. And that one LSI chip makes ColorTrak Plus™ more efficient and more reliable than ever. Because with fewer parts, there are fewer things to go wrong.

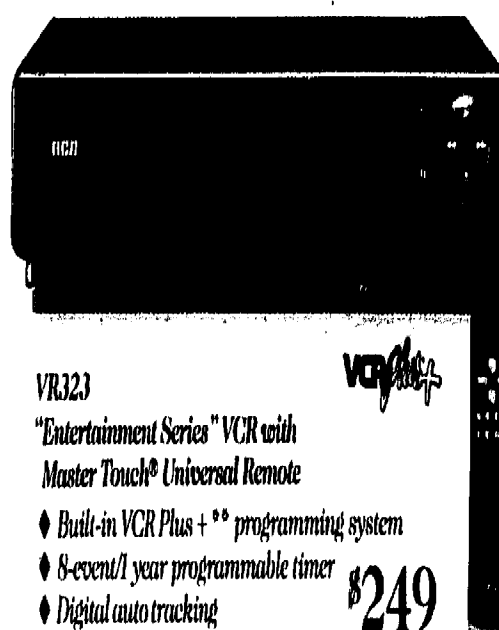

For all these reasons and more, ColorTrak Plus™ may be the finest viewing enjoyment you've ever experienced.

And it's an RCA, the television brand America has trusted for more than half a century.
