On the side

Talking turkey

The Ruidoso News will be closed this Thursday, November 25, for Thanksgiving.

Thursday's edition will be distributed on Wednesday.

The News office will reopen at 8 a.m. Friday.

Because of this holiday, some early deadlines apply.

Get those ads and news items in early to be included in next week's editions.

Schools will be out on Thursday and Friday, and banks and government offices will be closed on Thursday.

Christmas tree will light up in the park

Ruidoso will light up on Thursday, December 2, when the Parks & Rec Department pulls the switch on the municipal Christmas tree in School House Park.

Join Santa and his friend for the Christmas Tree Lighting in the Park at 6 p.m. December 2, between the municipal swimming pool and tennis courts.

The tree will light up right at 6:15 p.m. Entertainment, pictures with Santa, door prizes and refreshments are on the program for the community party.

Santa's workshop will be "officially" open from 6:30 to 8:45 p.m., but the littlest celebrators can have an early bird visit with St. Nick between 4 and 5 p.m. before the sun goes down and the temperature drops.

EDC board meets

The Economic Development Corporation of Lincoln County, after canceling and rearranging its schedule to achieve a quorum, met Thursday.

According to president Scot Shafer and director Karen Kopp, the board had a good meeting.

Kopp reported on her research into what incentives other towns offer new businesses. She has asked each village in Lincoln County to provide her with a list of what incentives they will give.

EDC apparently has canceled its December meeting, and will meet next on January 20.

Upper Canyon home is destroyed by fire

A large Upper Canyon home was destroyed by fire early Monday morning, according to Ruidoso fire chief Virgil Reynolds.

The chief said the call came into the station about 5 a.m. this morning. The house, about 2,000 square feet in size, belonged to Craig Harding, who was not at home at the time.

Reynolds said the fire crew was able to contain the damage to the single structure. He said, as a matter of routine, the fire will be investigated by insurance investigators either Monday or Tuesday.

Weather

Season opens Thursday at Ski Apache

Buckle on those ski boots and head for the slopes at Ski Apache on Thanksgiving Day.

The ski resort, which has been making snow for weeks now, is ready to go with plenty of the chilly white stuff.

Leave the turkeys at home and make a day of it on the first ski day of this season.

The lower slopes will open at 9 a.m. and will close at 4 p.m. Weather conditions will dictate access to the rest. From then on, all slopes will be open daily until the ski resort closes in April.

Skiers will get their first look at the latest in ski lodge architecture, convenience and style, when they visit the new Elk Day Lodge at Ski Apache.

The 12,000-square foot lodge built with trees hewn from trails cleared for skiing features a two story fire place of river rock. Outside, 5,000 feet of decking creates a relaxing atmosphere for lunch or lounging.

The lodge, which serves intermediate and advanced skiers, houses a cafeteria, locker storage area, new restrooms and tickets sales. Parking is convenient to chairlift eight.

Before the world finds it, be among the first to discover the spectacular lodge, destined to become the place at Ski Apache to see and be seen.

Read all about the winter recreation adventures in the Winter Guide on the stands today. The guide is free, and will be inserted in Thursday's edition of The Ruidoso News.

If you love to ski, and think you'd enjoy teaching someone else, plan to attend the Ski Apache Ski School, an annual instructor hiring clinic December 4 and 5, at Ski Apache, conditions permitting.

Anyone who has not taught previously at Ski Apache must attend this clinic, said Rick Vincent, Ski School Director.

Potential instructors must be at least 16 years old, be at least an advanced intermediate skier and possess good "people" skills, said Vincent, who will offer both full- and part-time employment from this clinic.

Participants must bring their equipment to the on-slope clinic which will cover the instruction progression... taught by Ski Apache.

There is no charge for the two-day clinic but persons interested must make reservations with Vincent by calling 336-4356 Monday through Friday no later 8:15 a.m. December 4, at the ski school desk.

Advance ski tips will be offered free at 9:15 a.m. each Saturday and Sunday on top of Capitan run starting January 1-2 and every week thereafter.

Stop by the ski school desk for information about the Kiddie Korral program for 4- and 5-year-olds.

Village goes on the roads again

by CHARLES STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

How to stretch tax dollars for the best stretch of road challenged the Ruidoso councilors during a recent workshop meeting.

Deputy manager Alan Briley conducted the work session that focused on:

- striping and sweeping the streets for safety.
- reaching for quality control.
- patches with square cuts and proper compaction.
- best use of state co-op dollars applied to road work.
- a plan, whereby every street should be repaired within seven years.

Mayor Jerry Shaw complimented Briley for pushing the program that painted stripes on Paradise Canyon Road and other streets.

Shaw also thanked street department director Charlie Armstrong for the shoulder work on various arteries and the increased street cleaning program.

"I've had many calls in appreciation for the striping along Paradise Canyon Road," Shaw said. "Residents were pleased that they can drive the road safely at night."

Briley said the three-line striping of major avenues cost the village about $6,000 as an outside contractual service.

Councilor Frank Potter said he was surprised and pleased that the inexpensive chip and seal type surface proved to be so effective.

Potter spoke of transitional construction of roads, with some roads being paved, some chip and sealed and others base coursed.

Armstrong said the village could only afford a couple of miles of paving a year. He said new construction is about $10 per foot. He said he chipped and sealed about eight miles of road for the same amount of money.

The council agreed that the roads require special attention, and that the 18 months spent on the Civic Events Center parking lot hurt normal road maintenance, which was ignored during that period.

Briley exhibited a chart that showed how to extend the pavement life of a road. The chart showed the life curve of a road bending from good, to fair, to poor, to unacceptable.

Briley said when a street reaches that point between good and fair, it needs revitalization to prevent costly repairs that would occur if allowed to further deteriorate.

Armstrong said poor is the condition of many Ruidoso streets, and he has been busy patching problem areas.

The council decided to revamp guidelines on the utilities departments when they cut into roads to lay utility lines.

Briley said Ordinance 71-11, written in 1971, needs updating regarding costs in cutting into village streets.

Briley thought the $2 per square foot charge to utility companies for excavating in asphalt or cement concrete pavement was not enough. He recommended the council raise the 20-year-old charge to $100 for the first foot cut in the road, $200 thereafter.

Briley said a greater emphasis would be put on patching the streets.

"From this day on, our patches have to look right," he said.

The council also wants to look at more modern street lights for the main thoroughfares.

"It's dark down Sudderth Drive and Mechem," said one councilor. "For the money we have paid over the years, our lights could be better and safer."

Potter said it would be wiser to work on streets in several areas of town, rather than concentrating on any one area.

He suggested paving, chip and seal and using base course strategically, starting with a paved entrance, blending into base course and then to dirt. In another year, the base course could be paved in one area, while a paved road could be refurbished through chip and seal in another.

Potter said the council should shoot for five miles of paving, eight miles of chip and seal, and five miles of base course in a year.

Potter cautioned against assessment districts to repair roads. He said cost far exceeds the benefits.

"Not putting in streets until the utilities are in place is a cop out," Potter said. "It sounds great on paper."

The council said ultimately, all the dirt roads would have to be base coursed. Armstrong said to base course a mile of street costs about $4,000 for a four to five tons of base course 22 feet wide and six inches loose and deep.

Armstrong said in routine maintenance, rough street cuts and deep potholes that can do potential damage to vehicles are given first priority, those reported by the police department or by residents.

After checking, Armstrong said a priority list is written for immediate repair. Streets that can be improved by sand seal or seal coat to extend useful life are given next

LCMC board reviews budget

by CHARLES STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Hospital administrator Valerie Miller briefed the hospital board of trustees on the upcoming budget and other actions taken at the Lincoln County Medical Center.

The congenial group, made up of people from different walks of life, listened attentively for about 30 minutes Thursday before entering an executive session.

The executive session, closed to the press, included a quality management report, risk management, safety, infection control report and physician problems/actions.

Hospitals, although using taxpayers' dollars, enjoy much more confidentiality than government offices. Although the confidentiality mainly concerns itself with patients, the law says they may or may not reveal other information.

Some states have cost containment boards to allow the consumer to compare hospital costs. New Mexico does not have such a board.

Miller said Monday no action was taken in the closed meeting.

During regular session, the members are handed their large white looseleaf folders that contain meeting notes.

Miller read financial reports, monthly and year-to-date, Carizozo health center statements, ambulance statements and the budget year, which she said has been changed from a fiscal year to a calendar year.

Miller told the board in general terms the budget assumes no rate increase. Adjustments were not discussed.

Miller said she has asked the staff to assume a three to four percent rate of inflation and absorb that into their expenses.

"Expenses were increased on a volume basis and not inflation," Miller said. "We spent a lot of time on contractual discounts and allowances this year, and studied carefully Medicare and Medicaid, and the charity of bad debt."

Miller asked the board to turn to a page that had predictions and assumptions for the coming year and asked if there were any questions. There were none.

"I would urge you to understand that I don't understand what reform will do," Miller said, apparently bracing the board for any changes from the Clinton health plan.

The board passed the budget as written.

"I think that's a good budget, and I think you have pretty good reason to be proud," Miller said.

Miller read reports on the Health Fiesta, which she said went well without major disasters.

Miller explained a Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals which she said went "probably pretty well," and that the hospital received a three-year accreditation.

She said the level of findings was minimal. She explained the

Alcohol damages unborn children

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

The line reaches out and grabs the reader.

"Five thousand babies had their first drink before they were born."

A message to pregnant women that they never drink alone. A reminder that anything harmful they do to their bodies, they do to their unborn children.

Kathy Echols, who coordinates community efforts in Lincoln County to prevent substance abuse under Region IX Cooperative Education, translated the words to a highway billboard earlier this month in Ruidoso Downs to bring the potential tragedy home to expectant mothers.

The message about Fetal Alcohol Syndrome (FAS) will be there for about 30 days.

According to physicians, no safe level of alcohol exists during pregnancy, Echols said.

Drinking alcoholic beverages while pregnant can cause FAS, in which infants are born with below-normal weight and size that is never compensated. FAS in an baby is characterized by facial abnormalities such as a small head, narrow eyes, flat nose and thin upper lip, according to literature provided by Echols.

Alcohol

Alcohol also can lead to defects of the heart, kidneys, muscles, joints and sex organs. It can cause mental retardation as well as learning disorders, hyperactivity, poor coordination and sleep disturbances.

Full blown FAS defects are seen most often in offspring of women who have more than five drinks per day.

However, as little as one or two drinks a week, considered social drinking, can cause miscarriages and stillbirths. One or two drinks a day can result in low birth weights and depressed intelligence. No safe level of consumption has been established by researchers.

Doctors are advising women and men to stop drinking three to six months before conception to avoid potential problems, Echols said.

About 5,000 babies a year are born in the United States with FAS, which was identified in 1973 as a birth defect. Another 10,000 to 20,000 have Fetal Alcohol Effect (FAE), a lesser form.

The national average is 2.2 FAS babies for every 1,000 births, even with what experts believe is widespread under-recognition of the newly diagnosed birth defect.

Some experts believe that between one-third and two-thirds of all special education children have been irreversibly affected by alcohol in some way, according to the National Organization on Fetal Alcohol Syndrome.

New Mexico's rate is higher than the national average, about 2.5 FAS babies per 1,000 births.

A diagnosis of FAS in this state is more likely than in other states, because local doctors know more about FAS as a result of research conducted in New Mexico. State public health officials estimate that at least 36 babies are born with FAS each year in New Mexico, with 72 more diagnosed as FAE.

According to the Information Center for New Mexicans with Developmental Disabilities, although FAS occurs in all levels of society, a higher incidence is seen among lower socio-economic groups. In New Mexico, combined FAS rates from all Indian tribes are from two to five times higher than the national average. However, rates vary widely from tribe to tribe, with several groups falling well below the national average. The condition is widespread and is not solely a Native American problem in New Mexico.

A complete diagnosis of FAS in children involves the identification of as many as 38 characteristics. Besides those already mentioned, brain damage may result with a smaller and abnormally developed brain. The average FAS child's intelligence quotient (IQ) is in the low 70s and they may exhibit behavioral problems.

The baby also may have abnormal ears with "railroad track" ridges, a poorly developed nasal bridge, a small nose with nostrils often aimed forward, small eye openings, joint abnormalities and be a high risk for congenital heart disease, cleft lip, cleft palate and seizures.

As they grow, other difficulties may become apparent, including delayed toilet training, poor coordination, irritability, attention deficits, hyperactivity, poor judgment and difficulty understanding consequences of their actions, easily manipulated and some antisocial behavior.

Abuse of other substances also can have severe negative ramifications for a woman's offspring.

Cocaine use can lead to retarded fetal growth and head size, malformed kidneys and genitals, increased risk of sudden infant death syndrome, premature separation of the placenta with resulting hemorrhage and shock.

Babies exposed to cocaine in the womb do not nurse well or cuddle, can be irritable and unresponsive. Many babies born to cocaine-using mothers are born in withdrawal and suffer seizures.

Using marijuana during pregnancy can result in low birth weight and features similar to FAS, can cause tremors at birth, neurological problems, seizures, abnormal visual responses.

Tobacco smoke contains more than 2,000 different chemicals that cross the placenta and end up in the fetal bloodstream. The amount of oxygen available to the fetus is reduced, the risk of miscarriage increased. The chance of death within one year also increases.

Babies born to mothers who smoke suffer from higher levels of infant heart and lung disease, growth retardation and low birth weight.

Pregnant women who smoke two or more packs per day risk FAS-type problems in the fetus. Tobacco is the most damaging in the last six months of pregnancy.

Echols hopes to impress upon pregnant women or those who are considering having children that FAS is preventable, if they stop consuming alcohol before they conceive and throughout their pregnancies.

"A woman who uses alcohol or any other drugs should avoid pregnancy until she is certain she can abstain for the entire time, from conception to birth," Echols said.

"She is her baby's only protection and she should be able to provide a safe environment as it develops in her womb."

Cave vandals are convicted, ordered to repair damages

Six Roswell residents and two juveniles were required to pay $4,345 in fines and court costs for destruction of cave formations on their outing to Fort Stanton Cave last August.

U.S. Magistrate Wayne Jordon sentenced the eight on November 17, and also required them to perform community service work.

Rangers from the Bureau of Land Management, which supervises the cave, were called by Lincoln County Sheriff's Department officials. They had been alerted by members of the Cave Resources Foundation, who were at the cave performing research studies.

The rangers, with the help of deputies, confiscated illegal drugs and mineral formations from the intruders.

In four of the cases, the community service work will cover the restoration of mineral formations in Fort Stanton. This is the first time restoration has been ordered by any court in the United States for vandalism in a protected cave, according to BLM officials.

Those sentenced were: Lawrence R. Cain, Mark Cole and Duane K. Dahse for possession of illegal drugs and failure to obtain a recreation permit; Benjamin D. Lane for possession of illegal drugs, removing cave formations and failure to obtain a recreation permit; Joe Olivares for removing cave formations and failure to obtain a recreation permit; and Jeremy L. Perkins for failure to obtain a recreation permit.

Two juvenile males were ordered to perform community service for removing cave formations and failure to obtain a recreation permit.

With the passage of the Federal

Cave Resources Protection Act, significant caves are protected from improper use to preserve them for the enjoyment and benefit of all people, according to BLM officials.

One of the most important aspects of caves is hydrology, the relationship with groundwater for recharge. Caves also provide roosting areas for bats, contain historical or prehistoric artifacts, as well as fossils and mineral formations.

Penalties for persons who destroy, disturb, mar, alter, remove or harm a significant cave, or alter the free movement of animals or plants locate in caves on federal land will be subject to fines in excess of $100,000 or up to one year in prison under federal law.

Persons who possess, consume, sell, barter or exchange any cave resource from federal lands are subject to the same penalties.

procedure to the board so that the board could understand the smallness of the problem.

One elderly board member said people have told her this is one of the best equipped hospital and wanted that reported to the board. Many of the major capital equipment purchases have been possible because of money raised by a special property tax through the county.

Miller said Presbyterian Hospital Service in Albuquerque has decided to close its hospital in that city as an inpatient facility and make it an outpatient facility and office support.

She said changes in Albuquerque have resulted in the identification of about 325 person reduction in staff. She said the company is offering early retirement as an option, or they can quit. She said Albuquerque had more than 2,000 acute inpatient beds and by the year 2000, they will need about 600.

"That is dramatically being seen in Albuquerque ahead of many parts of the country," the effect of managed care and managed competition," Miller said.

In other business, Miller said LCMC is aggressively recruiting an orthopedic surgeon.

An auxiliary worker and member of the board said volunteer hours at the hospital from September 1992 through October 1993 is 30,946.

She said for November, 41 pints of blood were donated to the blood bank and nine pints of blood were rejected.

The new wheelchair arrived this week and will be around the front desk area soon, and will be locked in the Pink Shop every night.

SantaCops is in town, and can be found at United New Mexico Bank where the employees are all dressed up and ready to go to work at the jolly old police elf's workshop in the Pinetree Square on Sudderth Drive near the Mechem light.

SantaCops is looking for a few good elves

Santa Cops workshop is open for business in its holiday home in the Pinetree Square on Sudderth Drive near the Mechem light.

Workers are always needed to sort and wrap gifts, prepare baskets and help with all the other assorted holiday preparations.

Santa Cops' head elf Freda McSwane said donations are still needed, too, but Santa's bag is a little full this week thanks to a $500 check from the Noon Lions Club.

Take home an "Angel" for a family pet

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

With one of the sweetest, most endearing faces to cross the threshold of the Lincoln County Humane Society animals shelter, Angel has won the affection of volunteers and employees.

They unanimously and without hesitation selected her to be featured as this week's adoptable pet.

ANGEL

"She's about six months old and won't get very big," said shelter manager Esther Harper. "She's been here two months and was found wandering with her brother when they both were pups."

"They appear to be shepherds, possibly with some Rhodesian ridgeback blood, judging by the way the hair sits on her spine. She has brown eyebrows and a predominantly black coat."

Shelter secretary Kathy Tetreault named Angel because she is obedient and gets along well with everybody, although she has learned to be aggressive at feeding time.

"But when other dogs are being aggressive, she stays away," Tetreault said. "She'll just sit to the side. She and Panda (a long-haired, small shepherd mix, also with brown brows, who has been in the shelter since she was a pup and is sponsored) and great friends."

Angel's brother still is a shelter resident.

A big friendly black Labrador/retriever mix is housed in one of the outside kennels.

Fred is about one and a half years old and already is neutered. He was released by his owner, who said Fred needs a yard with a secure fence, because he likes to roam.

"He has lots of energy and is very playful," Harper said. "He's very lovable and would be a great dog with a little obedience training. He's good with kids, but because of his size would do better with older children. He's eager for a family."

The shelter also is temporary home for a female black lab and her two daughters.

Five former featured pets still waiting for someone to love and care for them are Moe, an Australian shepherd mix with a big smile; Brandy, a shepherd mix with a striking red coat and bronze eyes; Sandy, a lively and sweet collie mix; Sander, a buff-color terrier who's all heart; and Bravo, a good-looking and intelligent cattle dog mix with one blue and one brown eye.

More progress

Dr. Becky Washburn has joined the ranks of local veterinarians who generously donate their time and talents to the shelter, give a free first examination to recently adopted pets and honor society certificates for spaying at a reduced price.

Dr. Lynn Willard and his new associate Mary Jane Ferguson at Ruidoso Animal Clinic, Dr. Warren Franklin of Franklin Veterinary and Dr. Earl Leslie at Mountain View Animal Clinic have been long time supporters of the humane effort.

Washburn operates a mobile unit and treats large and small animals. She's new in town and wants people to know she can be reached at 378-4759 or on her mobile phone at 430-8614.

Santa Claws and Paws, a special on-air promotion by KBUY radio and disk jockey D. Maury Brown, is set for December 18, just in time for families to choose a new pet to share their holidays.

Donated coffee and pastries will be served, special gifts from area merchants will go along with each adoption that day.

Last year, 18 pets found new homes. This year, Brown said he's counting on 22 successful adoptions. Many of the pets in the shelter are sponsored by benefactors who have agreed to pay for the cost of their spaying or neutering, which will lower the adoption fee for new owners.

Parents should remember that animals are not devices to be used to teach children responsibility.

Returning a pet because a child fails to feed or walk it sends the wrong message. It tells the child that if something becomes inconvenient, you can drop it. Continue to care for the pet and try again with the child.

To ensure that the adoptions from the society go well, volunteer Linda Turck, who trains champion golden retrievers, is available at 258-3609 for telephone advice on particular behavior problems.

Although former shelter manager Randy Basch will not be available for a few months, Turck said she will continue conducting a free workshop at 2 p.m. the first Saturday of each month in School Park, if pet owners will call her to confirm attendance.

For more information about Angel, Fred or any of the other dogs and cats, call 257-9841 or stop at the shelter on Gavilan Canyon Road.

The Dreamer Father Catanach leads services for Reyes Serna

Reyes Serna

Services were held November 17 at St. Eleanor Catholic Church for Reyes Serna who was called home by Our Lord on November 15.

Father Richard Catanach read from the Book of Isaiah: "This is the Lord. We have waited for him, we will be glad and rejoice in his salvation;" and from the First Epistle of the Apostle Paul to the Thessalonians: "In everything give thanks for this is the will of God concerning you;" also from the Gospel According to Saint Matthew: "Blessed are they who hunger and thirst after righteousness for they shall be filled."

The bilingual choir, under the direction of organist Kay Olvera, sang the following songs: "Bendito Bendito" (Blessed, Blessed), the 23rd Psalm and "May the Angels Carry You to Paradise."

Pallbearers were Richard Cantu, Eddie Torres, Vincent Chavez, Jill Alvarez, Guillermo Vega and Evan Chavez.

Reyes, also known as Ray, was one of Ruidoso's favorite citizens. He always had a cheerful smile for everybody. He was an artist as well as a stone mason and greatly enjoyed his work. Ray will always hold a fond spot in our hearts and we rejoice that he is safe and happy in heaven.

Adopt a Pet for Thanksgiving

I was talking to C.R. Hicks the other day and he said it would be in the spirit of Thanksgiving to adopt a pet from the Humane Society so that a dog or cat may be happy in a new home.

The First Thanksgiving

Thanksgiving Day goes back to the late autumn of 1621 when our Pilgrim fathers of the Plymouth colony held a festival in gratitude to God for the bountiful harvest.

The native Americans who had helped them since they arrived in the new country joined in the feasting and prayers.

Let us on this day remember our first American friends, the Mescalero Apache Indians and help them have a good Thanksgiving.

Let us also be on the lookout for all who need help in having a blessed Thanksgiving and let us be especially grateful on this day of thankfulness.

Obituaries

Naima Fisher

Graveside services are planned at 1 p.m. today (Monday), November 22, at Monte Vista Cemetery in Alamogordo for Naima Fisher, 77, of Loma Grande Estates.

Ms. Fisher died Monday, November 15, at her home.

She was born October 25, 1916, in Salt Lake City, Utah, and moved to Alamogordo 50 years ago. She moved to Lincoln County eight years ago.

She was a retired bookkeeper for Firestone Automotive in Alamogordo.

Survivors include two brothers and sisters-in-law, Gerald and Margaret Rydman of Las Vegas, Nevada; and Sig and Pearl Rydman of Salt Lake City, Utah.

Ruth Ellis

Graveside services for Ruth Ellis, 80, of Ruidoso Downs will be at 2 p.m. Tuesday, November 23, at Forest Lawn Cemetery in Ruidoso. Officiating will be the Reverend Alan Miller of Ruidoso.

Mrs. Ellis died Wednesday, November 17, at Ruidoso Care Center.

She was born August 9, 1913, at Taylorville, Illinois.

She moved to Lincoln County 33 years ago from Carlsbad, and was a member of the Elk's Club.

Survivors include two grandsons, Nick Skogland of Capitan, and Rick Skogland of Dallas, Texas; seven great-grandchildren and seven great-great-grandchildren.

William J. Murray III

William Joseph Murray III died Monday, November 15, at his home in Lincoln, where he had been living for the past year. He was 60.

Services for Murray will be conducted at a later date.

He was born July 26, 1933, at Jersey City, New Jersey.

Murray moved to Lincoln from Alexandria, Virginia.

He graduated from high school at the Allen Academy in Bryant, Texas, in 1955, then served in the U.S. Army for three years as a supply sergeant.

He attended the University of Connecticut where he studied history, and went on to work as a manager for the Kinney Shoe Corporation for 22 years.

He joined Kay Jewelers as a senior diagnostic computer technician and traveled extensively throughout the United States, eventually writing several point-of-sale and department manuals.

He was preceded in death by his father, Colonel William J. Murray, II and his mother, Adele Seabach Murray.

He is survived by a sister, Beryl M. Chapman, and a brother-in-law, Dr. John A. Chapman, of Melbourne, Florida; four nephews, John A. Chapman Jr. of Phoenix, Arizona; Jeffery Murray Chapman of Kuapalu, Hawaii; Scot Chapman of Lincoln; and Christopher Neuell Chapman of Honolulu, Hawaii; and a niece, Stacey Chapman Keliher of Euless, Texas.

Survivors include six grandnieces and one grand-nephew.

The family suggests memorial contributions to the American Diabetes Association.

Humane helpers

Board members of the Lincoln County Humane Society review plans for the expansion of the animal shelter on Gavilan Canyon Road designed by architect Stanley J. French. The remodeling and enlargement will double the number of dog pens, provide individual outside runs, increase the administration area, add skylights and ventilation, create improved isolation and treatment areas, and include temperature-controlled sections for cats and puppies. Because many local contractors already were busy and cold weather might interfere with concrete work, the project will be bid in the spring to be ready for the heavy summer season. From left are promotions chairman Dawn Matthews, treasurer Eleanor Shockey, acting president Earline Phillips and building chairman Lee McKenna.

Christine Estes

Services for Christine Estes, 73, were conducted at 2 p.m., Friday, November 19, at Calvary Baptist Church in Portales with burial at Portales Cemetery. The Reverend Alan Isaacs officiated.

Mrs. Estes, the mother of Ruidoso resident Delton Estes, died Tuesday at Memorial Hospital of Texas County, in Guymon, Oklahoma.

She was born October 19, 1920, in Mabank, Texas, to Annie and Jesse Rogers, and was raised in Canton, Texas, where she graduated from high school. She married Dewey K. Estes in Rockwall, Texas, on August 4, 1944.

The family made their home in a number of different locations in West Texas, and in 1956, they moved to Gallup where they lived for 27 years.

Estes has been a resident of Portales since 1982, where she was a member of the Calvary Baptist Church, local extension club and AARP. She was a homemaker.

Mrs. Estes taught Sunday school for many years until her health prevented her from continuing.

Survivors include her husband, Dewey Estes; son and daughter-in-law, Delton and Ovella Estes of Ruidoso; two daughters and sons-in-law, Sue and Fred Tipton of Guymon, Oklahoma, and Florence and Don Johnson of Flagstaff, Arizona; and five grandchildren.

Survivors include two brothers, J.O. Rogers of Terrell, Texas, and Phil Rogers of Mabank, Texas; and a sister, Adele Lukes of Albuquerque.

Pall bearers were Delbert Brown, Clyde Vardeman, Leonard Bryant, Ray Cavett, H.L. Parks and Andy Wall.

State official issues permit for landfill

Environment Secretary Judith Espinosa has issued a Solid Waste Facility Permit for a regional landfill to serve Otero and Lincoln counties. The landfill will be located west of U.S. Highway 54, approximately 24 miles south of Alamogordo, and will occupy approximately 92 acres. A public hearing on the proposed landfill was conducted August 13, in Alamogordo. The facility design incorporates a state-of-the-art pollution control system including a composite liner and leachate collection system, as well as stormwater retention ponds to prevent runoff from the landfill areas. The expected life of the facility is 50 years. The permit was issued to the Otero/Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority for 20 years, with review of the facility and its operation by the Department at least every ten years.

Sports

RHS roundballers see action

by KENT BEATTY

The News Sports Correspondent

The Lady Warrior basketball team, as well as both the boys and girls Junior Varsity squads, saw their first action of the year over the weekend as they traveled to Artesia and Hondo to tip off the season.

The Lady Warriors varsity competed in a multi-team scrimmage in Artesia, while the JV teams played in the Hondo Valley Basketball Tournament.

Lady Warriors head coach Dennis Davis was cautiously optimistic about his team's first outing of the year.

"We had a pretty good scrimmage after we got over our first-game jitters. We scrimmaged eight teams with 20-minute periods, so we got in a lot of work."

"We got better as we went along. I thought we played as well as we could even against some bigger, faster schools."

"Later in the scrimmage, we played against Carlsbad, Goddard and Lovington and we did pretty well ... considering that we haven't scrimmaged anyone but ourselves for a while," said Davis.

Strangely enough, the Lady Warriors' performances against the bigger schools at the scrimmage seemed to please Davis more than their efforts against small schools like Melrose and Capitan.

"I thought we played very well against Carlsbad, Goddard and Lovington. It looked like they had the best talent of all the teams but we didn't do as well against the small schools."

"Melrose and Capitan looked very good against us ... both of those schools should have good seasons this year," said Davis.

At Hondo, both the boys and girls JV teams found the going a little rough after just two weeks of practice — dropping two games each against small school varsity squads.

The girls lost to Hondo 44-32 in the opening round and were topped 74-39 against Vaughn.

Megan Valliant led the scoring for the Warriors against Hondo with eight points followed by Land-say Willard's six.

Cindy Richardson scored five, while Nancy Palmer and Kara Castañon added three points each.

Against a very good Vaughn team, Megan Kumler led the Lady Warriors with a nine-point effort, while Willard chipped in eight and Richardson scored six points.

"It was a learning experience for the kids because we haven't had enough time together to work on a lot of things," said girls JV coach Sergio Castañon.

"The girls listen well and they hustle well, so those qualities will certainly help a little farther down the road," said Castañon, who led the Lady Warriors to a couple of district championships when he was the varsity coach in the late seventies and early eighties.

The boys junior varsity team also played two games in Hondo, losing to Vaughn 88-55 and House 54-47.

Individual scores were unavailable, but according to Castañon, sophomore Byron Soules was the dominant offensive and defensive figure for the Warriors in both games.

In the first game, the guard-short Warriors had trouble with the Vaughn press in the first half and the game was out of hand before the Warriors got untracked.

The second game saw House choose not to press and the Warriors were much more competitive.

Disciplinary action kept at least two regular starters from seeing action which also hurt.

It's expected that head coach Paul Kirkwood will move up at least one guard from the talented freshman team to help the JV team's ball-handing woes for their meeting with Tularosa on December 3.

The Lady Warriors will meet Tularosa for their regular-season opener tomorrow (Tuesday) at the Warrior gym. Game time is set for 5:30 p.m. for the JV game with the varsity set to tip off around 7 p.m.

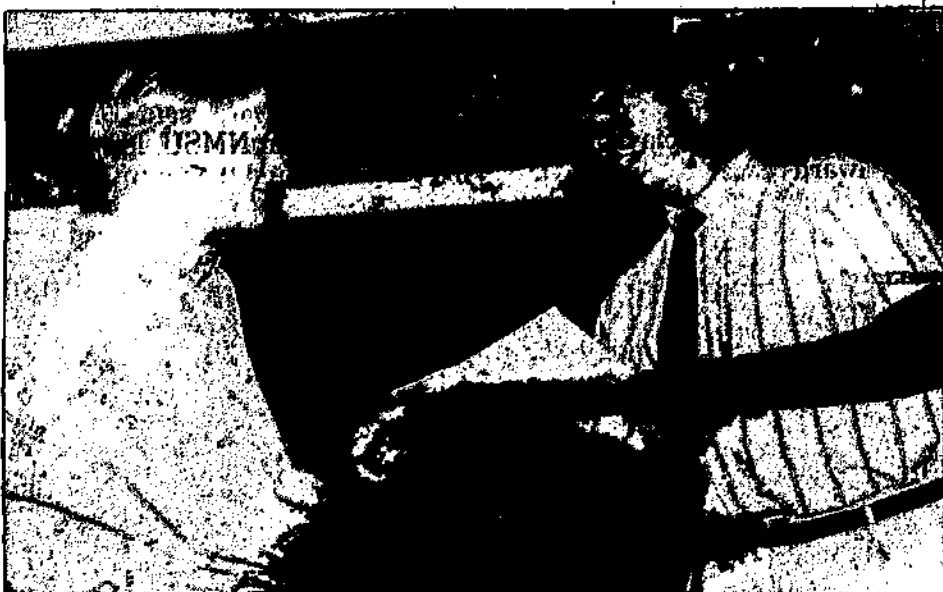

The girls varsity returns high-scoring post Sara Dix as well as three-year letterer Mandy Parker.

Kristie Ryan, Danielle Morris and Brandi Pfeiffer are also scheduled to see considerable action.

Back to the future

Future RHS varsity gridders, including freshman football players Tommy Richardson and Bradley Beaver (above) were on hand for the football banquet Thursday that honored the stars of this past gridiron season. Among the top award winners were John Echols (below) receiving the offensive magician award from Coach Donny Wylie, and Kyle Humphreys (pictured at bottom) accepting his recognition as most improved player of the season.

Warrior basketball team scrimmages NMMI

by KENT BEATTY

The News Sports Correspondent

With the football season over for the Warriors, all eyes turned to the recently refurbished basketball program Wednesday night as Ruidoso entertained NMMI in a preseason scrimmage at the Warrior gym.

It was the fans first look at first-year head coach Paul Kirkwood's new pressing, fast-breaking style of basketball, and the Warriors looked all the better for it.

NMMI boasts one of two of the state's best big men and he was certainly on his game on Wednesday.

The two varsity teams scrimmaged four 10-minute quarters with a running clock, with the Colts easily controlling the first quarter.

Kirkwood's much shorter Warrior teams were no match for the Institute's size and hot-shooting.

But the second quarter brought out the second teams and the Warriors second five was the better team of the two squads.

In fact, when the starters returned for the third quarter, Ruidoso again out-scored NMMI as the Warrior press started to take its toll on the Colts.

The fourth quarter was similar with Ruidoso out-scoring NMMI via improved shooting and an aggressive defense.

Kirkwood was positive about the team's performance.

"I thought we did OK. We've had so much to learn in just two weeks of practice, we really haven't had time to play any basketball. It's just been drills, and learning the press and the offenses. Once we got a feel for the game we did pretty well," said Kirkwood.

The official varsity season opens with Tularosa on December 3 on the road. The Wildcats bested the Warriors twice last year but fans should expect a far different outcome this time around.

The Warriors will face NMMI again in the first round of the Bruce King Classic in Moriarity on December 9, and again here on January 15, in a regular season game.

Boys JV opens in Hondo

The boys Junior Varsity basketball team opens its season in Hondo Friday in the first round of the Hondo Valley Basketball Tournament against Vaughn's varsity squad.

The JV is mostly sophomores with the exception of junior Zack Turner. Other players expected to see considerable action are Randy Randolph, Byron Soules, John Montero, Matt Norbury and Eric Pena.

If the Warriors win, they will face the winner of the Hondo — House game on Saturday at 5 p.m. A losing effort see them play at 1 p.m. against the loser of the same game.

Caravan to Lake Lucero Saturday

Two ranger-guided trips to White Sands National Monument's Lake Lucero, the source of the white sands, are scheduled for Saturday, November 27.

Reservations are required and can be obtained by calling monument headquarters at 479-6124.

The trips will begin at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m., returning at 1 p.m. and 5 p.m., respectively, at the Small Missile Range Gate intersection with U.S. Highway 70/82, 25 miles west of White Sands National Monument headquarters, between mileposts 174 and 175.

Participants will drive their own vehicles 17 miles over paved roads across the White Sands Missile Range to the Lake Lucero trailhead, then hike 3/4 of a mile to the lake.

All vehicles should have a spare tire and sufficient gasoline for the 34-mile round trip.

Warrior football players honored at banquet

by FRANKIE JARRELL
The Ruidoso News Editor

One of a series of individual awards banquets that apparently have replaced the traditional inclusive athletic awards ceremony, the Warrior football team celebrated the end of the season Thursday with speeches and awards.

The 1993 football season is over, but won't soon be forgotten. Players and their families relived the high points by watching game videos during the potluck dinner.

The season was recalled further as the coaches made comments about each individual player.

Head coach Mike Gaston, after introducing the entire team, announced the winners of the program's special awards.

Anthony Torres was named "The Warrior," the award that Gaston said is the most important one given. Coach Gaston said "The Warrior" represents the person the team would like to have represent the entire program — someone with class, commitment, respect and a great player.

Torres also was honored as best player, back of the year on defense and for the defensive highlight of the year. Gaston said Torres won the back of the week title every week all season.

Most valuable player honors went to Byron Soules.

Jimmy Varnadore was given the leadership award and Kyle Humphreys was named most improved player.

Sergio Guerrero won the golden helmet award for putting forth the greatest effort during practice.

The names of those top award winners will be engraved on large trophies that are displayed in the school awards case.

Special awards on offense went to Kevin Pellman, lineman of the year; Rex Comanche, back of the year; John Echols, magician of the year; Raul Davis, highlight of the year; and Eustace Gallerito, chew of the year.

Gaston explained that the "chew" award was for performance on the scout team, where players get chewed out a lot by the coaches.

Defensive special awards went to David Eisenbrown, lineman of the year; Torres, back of the year and highlight of the year; Billy Austin, fire ant of the year; and Matthew Escalanti, chew of the year.

Several members of the Warriors gained recognition in the district, with Byron Soules making the first team in all-district; and Kevin Pellman and Rex Comanche making the second team.

John Echols, David Eisenbrown, Sergio Guerrero, Terry Brandon and Jimmy Varnadore gained honorable mention for the all-district team.

Torres was named to the New Mexico All Stars team.

Gaston, with the help of coaches Donny Wylie and Bryan Tarvin, presented certificates to the members of the varsity team and the team managers and filmers.

Dathan Hull, who films games for the Warriors, was presented a special award by Ruidoso Middle School coaches Borde Williams and Herman Fox, who praised him for his commitment and dedication in serving as a team manager since the eighth grade.

Kent Beatty, golf coach, was master of ceremonies for the evening which also honored the members of the freshman (JV-B) team and the eighth grade team.

In the beginning of the evening, Gaston had a list of people to thank. He turned the program over to guest speaker, Jim Bradley, head football coach at Roswell High School.

Bradley spoke to the football players, their friends and families about the winning attitude that has helped his teams win 200 games during his 10 years in Roswell.

"I'm a survivor," said Bradley, who was fired at NMSU, left coaching for a time and then went to Roswell in 1980. Since then he's racked up a record of 200 wins, 95 losses and nine ties.

"That's a lot of kickoffs," said Bradley, who stressed attitude and discipline throughout his 10-minute talk.

"Athletics is the last place you can still discipline players ... and they'll say they like it ... they want it," said Bradley.

He said he has a friend who coaches the Lubbock Estacado team, and their two teams scrimmage each year.

"Playing that team is a real pleasure ... he's developed good people," said Bradley, commenting that Estacado is a mostly-black school. He noted that "those people," apparently speaking of African-Americans, are great athletes and good runners, probably because of their hamstringing.

Bradley went on to talk about the many benefits of playing football, including learning how to be a team player.

On teamwork, Bradley said football is the greatest team game. Noting that the soccer team was having its award banquet elsewhere on Thursday, Bradley indicated that soccer just doesn't measure up to his sport.

Another sports banquet, honoring the volleyball team, reportedly took place sometime last week, but The News wasn't notified.

BRADLEY

Ruidoso Middle School Coach Borde Williams presents team manager/filmer Caleb Hull with a special award for his faithful service.

Nob Hill artists' works included in very special raspberry cookbook

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

The artwork of four first grade students from Nob Hill Elementary appears in "The Very Special Raspberry Cookbook," now on sale in area bookstores.

Their work was selected from among hundreds sent in by teachers whose classes were participating in the Very Special Arts New Mexico program.

The Nob Hill students captured half of the available eight slots for artwork in the cookbook. They shared honors with two students from Albuquerque, one from Roswell and one created by a class with no site identified.

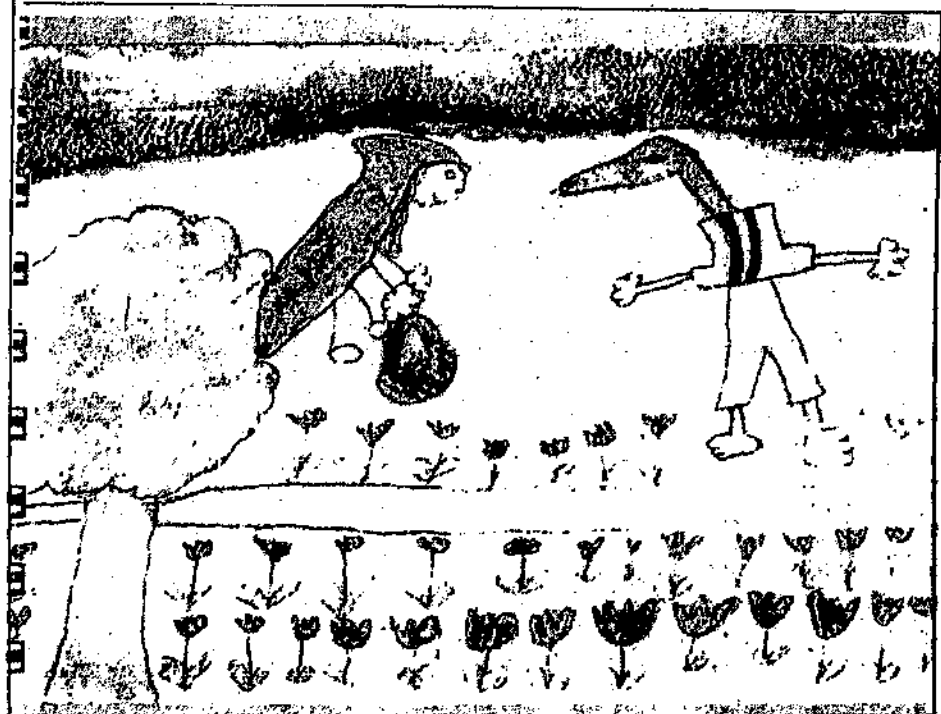

Proceeds from the printing of the cookbook, which sells for $15, benefit the Carrie Tingley Hospital Foundation and the Very Special Arts New Mexico program.

Kindergarten teacher Eva Clarke, whose students submitted their drawings last year, didn't know they had been selected until she received her copy of the cookbook. Her recipe for Raspberry Pandowdy appears in the cookbook that includes recipes for main dishes as well as desserts, soups, salads, breads, preserves and more. "I was thumbing through the book and there they were, four drawings by Nob Hill students," she said.

"Little Red Riding Hood" by Patricia Jeanette Zagone when she was six years old heads the petizers and beverage section; "Butterfly" by Michael Woodall at age five is the divider for breakfasts, breads and preserves; "Three Bears" by Ashley Rhoten at age 6

Lawmakers' motto: spend now, save later

Some state lawmakers are scrambling for an excuse to keep that six-cent gasoline tax that took effect July 1. Turns out the state didn't really NEED the new tax, which will bring about $50 million into the general fund and $8 million to road construction.

Why give back a tax increase that's already been enacted? After all, state government desperately needs money in some areas — like Social Services. That money could be used by Health and Human Services for a wide range of programs, such as child care, abuse prevention, nutrition, substance abuse treatment, domestic violence shelters and family counseling. Sounds good. An Albuquerque lawmaker said: "If we catch a lot of problems we have ... we'll save money in the future."

But, the way the state spends money, it's doubtful any of that money would ever reach the state's needy people who need those services. Human Services is often in a money crunch, and it's no wonder. It's the agency that just entered into a lease for a brand new building here in Ruidoso. With state funds, to help the poorest of the poor, Human Services budgeted to increase its annual rent from the current level of $13,000 to $37,800; then: requested proposals for a building, turned down the lower bid and opted for a 10-year lease that will cost taxpayers $700,000. Immediately, when Human Services moves from the Stroud Building into its brand new building, the rent will go from $13,000 to $61,000. It takes some pretty deep pockets to triple office rent, and then go over budget by almost half again. It's going to take a lot of gasoline tax to make up that increase in rent!

State officials in Ruidoso a few weeks ago were proud of their record of renegotiating hundreds of state leases. All the leases that were reviewed by a reporter showed big increases in costs to taxpayers — none reflected decreases. The huge hit taxpayers are taking here in Ruidoso may be only the tip of the iceberg.

So, when elected officials claim they're taking this new tax to HELP the needy of this state, it's beyond belief. It may be time for "New Mexico Proposition Six" as the voters way of persuading state lawmakers to give back that six-cent tax!

Letters To The Editor

Perplexed over billing on calls

TO THE EDITOR:

The letter to the editor by J.T. Alston, Ruidoso, of November 15, raised interesting questions.

One of them is the fact that we in Capitan and you in Ruidoso have to pay long distance rates to be able to talk to one another. One does not even need to go to Otero County to realize the injustice imposed by the phone company: you can communicate with Mescalero, crossing county lines without a toll call.

Mescalero is farther away from Ruidoso than Alto from Capitan. When State Corporation Commissioner Louis Gallegos visited Ruidoso last August, I brought the matter to his attention.

After this discussion, I believe that it will take a community effort in Lincoln County — the portions served by GTE — to get something done in this respect; perhaps the collection of signatures or a letter writing project.

The persons to address are: Commissioner Louis E. Gallegos, 1-800-244-6702 or 827-4531; or Telecommunications Director Joan Ellis, 827-4496.

Both are at the State Corporation Commission, PO Drawer 1269, Santa Fe NM 87504-1269.

The matter of the pricing of in-state long distance calls is in the same category and should be addressed to the same commission.

Both issues, however, may be expensive to handle since telephone company lawyers are usually well paid.

There may be other issues that have to be channeled into the same direction.

Bernhard E. F. Reimann
