NO. 57 IN OUR 48TH YEAR 50 CENTS

On the side

Call 258-3252 for a flu shot appointment

Flu shot vaccine still is available at the Lincoln County public health office at the substation on Kansas Street in Ruidoso.

Public nurse Theresa Luna asked persons interested in getting a shot to call 258-3252 and set up an appointment.

Class of '74 plans its 20-year reunion

The 1974 graduating class of Ruidoso High school is planning its 20th reunion and the planning committee needs in locating some of the graduates.

Anyone how is a '74 graduate, or a parent/relative of a graduate from that year, is asked to contact Dale at 378-4443, Susan at 258-3431 or Dori at 378-4234 any day after 5 p.m.

Any information or addresses about any member of the Class of '74 would be greatly appreciated, according to a news release.

The next organizational meeting will be at 7 p.m. Tuesday, December 7, at Ruidoso Middle School.

Earlybird skiers get a good deal

Ski Apache daily lift ticket prices are currently $29, until more lifts and trails are open.

Apparently, there has been confusion about ticket prices, but correct information is always available on Ski Apache's daily snow report at (805) 257-9001.

The ski report can be reached 24 hours a day.

Santa Claws, Paws take to the airwaves

Don't forget the third annual Santa Claws and Paws adoption promotion December 18 at the Lincoln County Humane Society shelter.

Announcer D. Maury Brown will be broadcasting from the shelter on Gavilan Canyon Road and area merchants will donate extra goodies for the new owners and pets.

It's a good time to bring the family, pick out a Christmas present and a lifelong companion.

Cross country banquet scheduled

In the continuing series of team banquets that have replaced the traditional inclusive fall sports banquet, the cross country team will meet for an awards dinner at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday, November 30, at Cree Meadows Country Club.

Cross country head coach Ronny Maskew and his runners will celebrate the 1993 season.

Letters and awards will be presented during the banquet.

Whooooosh! ski season opens here

by YVONNE LANELLI
Special to The News

Ski Apache opened Thanksgiving to a large number of happy skiers who look forward to a full, snowy season.

"All in all, it was a nice opening weekend," said Roy Parker, Ski Apache's general manager.

"We saw larger numbers than last year with the same amount of lifts and trails open."

At press time, lifts open included Chair 2 to midway, chairs 3, 4 and 5, accessing Capitan, Lower Deep Freeze, Smokey Bear, Snow Park and the novice areas.

"We're snowmaking nightly on Chair 7 (a novice area) and Chair 8, and hope to be opening Bull Run and Elk Ridge as soon as possible," added Parker.

He noted that snowmaking would enable those trails to open without relying on additional natural snowfall.

"But, we don't have to worry because I know we'll get lots more natural snow," he added.

Comments from visiting and local skiers echoed Parker's enthusiasm.

Austin skier Ida Stewart, who has come here every Thanksgiving for the last 12 years is sold on opening day skiing.

"This is a fantastic time to get your ski legs under you."

"It's a good time to come out and beat the Christmas rush," adds Pam Topper of Nogal. Rick Vincent, Ski Apache Ski School director agrees.

"From now until Christmas is a good time to ski and take lessons," said Vincent.

"Classes are small and the mountain is not crowded — a perfect opportunity to learn how to make the perfect turn."

Ski School encourages early season lessons by offering weekend lessons at weekday prices until December 17.

Other skiers taking advantage of early season fun included Pam Franklin of Midland, Texas, who was glad to be skiing.

"Now that I live in West Texas, and I need my skiing fix," said Franklin, the current women's champion of the Texas Cup.

Ski Apache welcomed skiers from Mexico this weekend, too.

Carlos Aldrete of Cd. Juarez pronounced his holiday, "suave y muy bien."

The smile on his face needed no translation.

Ski Apache welcomes skiers seven days a week, including Christmas Day.

For current snow and road conditions, call the recorded ski report 24 hours a day at (505) 257-9001.

One man dies in bar shootout

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

One man was killed and another wounded in a shoot-out outside The Rodeo Bar near Capitan late Sunday.

Lincoln County Sheriff James McSwane said William J. Arnett, 30, turned himself in to State Police in Roswell about 9:30 a.m. Monday and will be brought back to Lincoln County.

Arnett is charged with an open count of murder and with aggravated battery with a deadly weapon, McSwane told The Ruidoso News.

The sheriff said the Capitan Police Department and his deputies responded to a call about shots fired outside the bar east of Capitan at 9:16 p.m. Sunday.

They found two gunshot victims. Roland Zamora, 48, of Capitan had been shot in the chest and was dead on arrival at Lincoln County Medical Center.

Carl Glass, 39, also of Capitan, was shot under the arm. He was treated at the hospital and released.

"We haven't talked to him (Arnett) yet, so we still don't know his side of the story," McSwane said. "All we have come from witnesses at the bar."

"I don't know the conversation that took place outside, but they had been in the bar together at one point. I don't think they arrived together and I don't think they were friends. They were just drinking. They didn't know enough about each other to know their addresses."

I can't say for sure at this time what occurred in the bar before they went outside.

The two victims were shot with a .45 revolver, which was not found at the scene, McSwane said. Witnesses reported hearing from two to six shots. No other gun was involved.

About 10 people were in the bar at the time of the incident.

Salomon Trujillo, the owner of The Rodeo Bar on U.S. 380, was not there at the time of the shooting, according to a family member.

Glass told The News that he didn't want to make a statement and referred all questions to the sheriff's department.

McSwane said the search for Arnett extended to Roswell, as well as local towns, because Arnett reportedly was from that area, although he was living and working on a ranch north of Capitan.

"We had no knowledge of exactly where the subject was traveling," McSwane said. "We sent out a general (alert) to Roswell, Carrizozo and Ruidoso and surrounding communities. We concentrated on information we received at the hospital."

According to Ruidoso Police Chief Richard Swenor, Thanksgiving weekend was relatively free of crime and serious accidents in the Ruidoso area.

Swenor said even the weather cooperated to keep the streets safe. He said a road block set up over the weekend to check drivers netted only one DWI arrest.

Head Start veteran shares experiences with local educators

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

With nearly 30 years of experience in Head Start, Winona Sample delivers a reservoir of information and guidance for the programs she visits.

Although in her eighties and walking with a cane, her mind is sharp and quickly detects problems and assets of the programs she examines as a early education and American Indian programs consultant.

"I helped plan the first Head Start in Santa Clara County, California in 1964," Sample told The Ruidoso News during a brief interview on her tour of Head Start at Nob Hill.

"There were two years of an eight week summer session of Head Start that went into the schools," she said.

"Talk about panic, the superintendents and principals didn't know what to do with all these little kids in their schools."

"The low point of my life was trying to juggle 1,000 Head Start kids over 10 weeks one summer and 1,000 migrant children for eight weeks. At the same time, I had 10 nurses for each group."

"I used to order by saying about that much" she said, indicating a pile of material shoulder high from the floor.

When Head Start became a full year program, Sample became superintendent and ran all the programs for pre-schoolers in her area. "It's always been such a successful program and the volunteers have accounted for a great part of that success," she said.

From California, Sample moved to Washington D.C., where she was an education specialist for the 124 Indian tribes with Head Start programs and for migrants.

After that job, she headed back to California, first to become chief of Indian health services and later to join the Department of Education.

"I retired from there seven years ago and have been doing consulting and training," Sample said.

When Head Start began in the 1960s, it took several years to see any measurable results in the children who later attended regular school, Sample said.

"The people weren't trained, although it was one of the best planned programs the federal government has ever had," she said. The states of California and New York were the leaders.

"In 1971, Sample helped write the developmental standards mandated by the federal government."

"It's still the Bible of Head Start today," said Margaret Mascarenaz, who supervises the Head Start program at Nob Hill. "That's what a program is evaluated on by the accreditation team, the 222 standards, some little and some big ones."

"So it took about six years to see results," Sample said. "But then there was a real difference. Up to then, it was all trial and error and doing things their own way."

"Now it's settled down and people know what to expect."

The standards are written care-

Winona Sample shares some insights with Head Start teachers about the program at Nob Hill Elementary. One of the pioneers in the program, Samples now offers her expert advice as a consultant to programs across the nation.

School board restructures discipline policy

Revamping of the Ruidoso school board's disciplinary policy is under way, following a directive from members of the school board.

Superintendent Mike Gladden said he provided copies of high school and middle school policies and procedures, and information on sexual harassment policies to committee members in mid-November.

He met with secondary teacher discipline committee members November 17, with secondary student discipline committee members November 19 and with secondary parent discipline committee members November 22.

Next Tuesday, student, teacher and parent representatives will meet at 6:30 p.m. in the central office to summarize their thoughts and to draft tentative directions with secondary principals.

For the next week, the policies and procedures will be reviewed with principals, the coordinating council and school board members.

The final draft will be presented to the board by committee representatives at the 7 p.m. regular board meeting December 14 in the central office.

Drug Free program issues warning on Fetal Alcohol Syndrome

While the efforts of the local Drug Free School are aimed at preventing the devastating effects on babies of alcohol consumed by pregnant women, part of the thrust is to provide services for the babies born with defects.

The Drug Free Schools' coordinator, Kathy Echols developed a program to present to schools about Fetal Alcohol Syndrome (FAS).

Echols has made more than 75 presentations throughout the seven school districts in Region IX Cooperative Centers and staff in the southeastern New Mexico area, Echols told The Ruidoso News.

A statewide grant from the Centers for Disease Control in Atlanta supplied funds for prevention strategies and surveillance for FAS in New Mexico, Echols said.

The prevention committee meets once a month in Albuquerque and Echols serves on that board.

"We have been working on a prevention strategy for the state for more than one year and we now are working on implementing that plan," she said.

Children born with FAS may suffer from as many as 38 defects such as a smaller than normal head, constrained brain development, small eye opening, slow motor development and lower than normal intelligence.

As few as two drinks a week by a pregnant woman may produce some negative effects in her baby.

After a child is diagnosed, they are referred to service agencies.

Region IX serves children from birth to five years. The early childhood coordinator is Lukis Castañon and Donna Parker acts as early childhood service coordinator.

"Children diagnosed from birth to two years as FAS are offered early intervention services," Echols said. "Language/cognitive, adaptive behavior and motor skills are evaluated."

"Physical therapists, early interventionists, speech therapists, audiologists or other specialists then are contacted to work with the children and their families."

For children three to four years old, developmentally disabled preschool services are offered. Preschool teacher Cathy Overdorf may be reached at 257-2346.

The functioning level of the child determines which services are needed. Service providers include the staff of the pre-school and therapists.

Children's Medical Services serve children from birth to 21 years of age. For more information, contact Barbara Bellas in Alamogordo at 437-9899.

"This agency is contacted by hospitals and doctors about possible FAS children," Echols said. "An appointment set up with a genetic clinic in Albuquerque or the Indian Child Program. In turn, they alert the program closest to the affected families and provide medical reports to those service providers."

Echols said a billboard on U.S. Highway 70 that warns of the effects of alcohol on the unborn, was purchased from the Association for Retarded Citizens. The space fee was donated by Neuman Outdoor Advertising Agency of Roswell. The posting fee was paid from proceeds of the Rotary Red Ribbon Raffle Fund.

More information on FAS is available at the Region IX Cooperative Education Center lending library or contact Echols at 257-2368 for presentation materials.

Season Spectacular is back to begin Ruidoso's holiday season

This year's "The Season Spectacular" promises to be quite a show, with something for every member of the family, according to organizers.

The entire community of Ruidoso has come together to make the Season Spectacular a Christmas treat at 7:30 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, December 4 and 5, at the Ruidoso Convention and Civic Events Center.

Tickets, $7 for adults and $5 for students 16 and younger, are selling fast. They are on sale now at the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce, Schlotsky's Deli and the Ruidoso Convention and Civic Events Center.

The Noisy Water Stage Players have written an original drama, and are busy rehearsing. The story is of a family's Christmas, with its joys and sorrows.

To add to the effect of the powerful scenes, the Spectacular choir sings, and the jazz class from Dance Daze will dazzle audiences with choreographed numbers interspersed throughout the drama.

For the kids, the Spectacular Children's Choir will warn of the danger of a "Christmas Overload."

"If that sounds like a full evening of entertainment, just wait," says organizer Janet Goodwin. "That's only Act I. Act II is a beautiful interpretation of the age-old story of Christmas," she adds.

The play will feature two full choirs, named Faith and Joy; several soloists and three stages full of actors.

All of this will be set in a room lovingly decorated — "Well, we'll let that be a surprise," adds Goodwin.

"This is a presentation by, of and for Ruidoso; and it is a special event that can help make your season spectacular."

Carroll Rhodes plays the piano as some members of the Season Spectacular rehearse for musical numbers for this weekend's big production. A drama, plenty of dancing and many musical numbers will be presented among the angels and decorations at the Ruidoso Convention and Civic Events Center.

Wrinkles wrap up lots of love in homeless pets

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Wrinkles can be a plus. The folds of skin that ripple along Heber's body, tail and face are considered marks of beauty.

But her owners weren't interested in reclaiming Heber and her two pups when they were picked running loose in Brady Canyon.

The three were impounded, but when the owners called they said there had been another pup when they left town. No one knew what had happened to the third pup until two weeks later when someone brought in a look-alike from a site across town.

"Now all three are back with their mother," said shelter secretary Kathy Tetreault. The pups are being treated for cherry eye, an inflammatory infection that seems to be responding to the medication.

Heber is a deep reddish brown brindle. Her pups are black and they are ready for adoption.

"They're supposed to be purebred," Tetreault said. "The owners said they paid several hundred dollars for the mother."

Magnum

Quite a contrast to Heber, Mag-num's coat of white and buff is thick and medium length.

"When we first saw him, we figured he was chow, but he doesn't have a blue tongue and the color isn't right, so we think he may be a Samoyed mix," Tetreault said.

"He was brought in as a stray in early October from the Waco Drive area. At first he was restless and frightened, but now he seems docile and well behaved. A shelter is such an artificial environment, it's hard to see the real personality."

"However, because of his power, we'd recommend Magnum as a companion for an adult."

Both Heber and Magnum would need to be altered to prevent any future litters and in compliance with state law. The society is dedicated to reducing pet overpopulation through restriction of births instead of having to destroy unwanted offspring and abandoned adults.

Information please

Tetreault asks pet owners who no longer want or are unable to keep their animals, not to leave them outside the shelter after closing hours with no information.

"Don't be worried that we'll fine you or say something," Tetreault said. "There is no charge for bringing in an animal. We may ask for a donation, but that's entirely voluntary."

"It's so important that we know something about the animal to ensure they are matched well with the next owner and don't end up being returned. It also can be dangerous for the animal to be left tied to a post or for litters that are put into boxes. Some have made their way down to busy Gavilan Canyon Road and been killed."

You can help

The society is looking for volunteers to help in many different ways.

The news that Jerry Oswalt, long time manager of the thrift shop, will be leaving, saddened members. The thrift shop next to Arby's on Sudderth Drive has been one of the shelter's major sources of support for the abandoned animals and Oswalt has created a following of donors and shoppers with her attractive displays and congenial personality.

Although a new volunteer has stepped forward, Rita Webb, she will need help. Donating just a few hours a week to help at the thrift shop can mean a great deal for the shelter animals, especially if the volunteer has some retail background.

If you enjoy a more hands-on participation, the dogs enjoy walking even after a snow. And the cattery has toys and platforms where visitors can play with the felines.

Help always is appreciated for cleaning in the cattery or main shelter. Again, just a few hours a week makes a difference.

And foster homes still are needed for new litters that are brought to the shelter. Too many puppies and kittens are lost to diseases because of exposure to viruses. The society has ordered a new vaccine, which members hope will improve the survival chances of the young pups and kittens, but shots take about two weeks to become effective. During that period, they need a disease-free environment, but one that is warm for the winter. A playpen does well for pups.

MAGNUM

For more information about Magnum, Heber or her pups, call 257-9841 or stop at the shelter on Gavilan Canyon Road.

Local real estate agent earns CRS designation from national institute

Richard Loverin, the top producer at Coldwell Banker for three years running, has been awarded the Certified Residential Specialist (CRS) Designation by the Residential Sales Council of the National Marketing Institute, affiliated with the National Association of Realtors.

Loverin is a sales associate with Coldwell Banker.

He is a member of the Board of Realtors, New Mexico Association of Realtors, as well as the National Association of Realtors.

Loverin is also Ruidoso's top producer for 1992.

The nationally recognized CRS

Designation is a symbol of excellence in residential sales.

Those receiving the CRS must complete the required courses offered by the Residential Sales Council and must demonstrate expertise in applied residential marketing.

The more than 18,000 individuals now recognized as Certified Residential Specialists benefit by greater awareness of the latest sales methods. They are able to better serve clients and represent properties professionally.

Fewer than three percent of Realtor-associates have received the honor of being a CRS.

Coldwell Banker sales associate Richard Loverin is one of just a handful of Realtors to earn the CRS designation.

Crazy Cactus Cafe

Crazy Cactus Cafe, a family owned business, started as a gift shop in 1986. Since then the Sylling family has opened the cafe at 410 Sudderth with a limited menu. The food is cooked from scratch with lots of homemade pies, and Schwan's ice cream. Helen Sylling, pictured here with her husband and daughter, had another restaurant in Minnesota, where she was trained as a chef in her parents' business. The gift shop contains many handcrafted items from necklaces to paintings. The Syllings are proud to offer homemade food that is economically priced at Crazy Cactus Cafe. The Syllings family invite you to stop by Crazy Cactus Cafe.

Story Book Cabins is new chapter in couple's dream

New owners come in for happy landing

For Kaye Kernodle, Story Book Cabins was a case of love at first sight.

After a long career as a registered nurse, she was ready for a new challenge, and her husband, Bruce, who had worked as an electronics engineer for 25 years, was ready to help, to repay her for serving as deck hand and gallery slave for two years aboard his favorite toy, their sailboat Antigua.

The Kernodles are the new owners of Story Book Cabins in the Upper Canyon. They couldn't be happier to be living their dream in Ruidoso.

Three years ago, the Kernodles had set out to fulfill a lifelong dream. They moved out of their hillside San Diego, California, home and aboard their 38-foot sailboat in preparation for "sailing off over the horizon" on an extended cruise.

A year later, the dream came true as they set sail out of San Diego Bay, down the Pacific coast of Baja California, around Cabo San Lucas, and up into the Sea of Cortez.

"It took us a month to sail to Cabo San Lucas," said Bruce Kernodle. "We hadn't really expected to stay in Mexico very long. We were headed to Costa Rica."

"But Mexico turned out to be such a wonderful country with such warm and happy people that we never got any further."

"For two years, we never had to lock our boat, we had an endless supply of seafood from the warm water, we learned to be fair sailors, and worked on our Spanish."

"We visited remote fishing villages, centuries-old colonial towns, and the European flavor of Guadalajara with its cathedrals, museums, and the Ballet Folklórico."

"And everywhere were the wonderful people. One could spend 10 years touring Mexico and not see it all."

But the Kernodles had children and grandchildren living in New Mexico, and so they were making regular trips to visit them. A favorite was to "kidnap" the grandchildren and rent a cabin in Ruidoso for a quiet stay.

"Both summer and winter, Ruidoso was a nice change from our life in the sun aboard Antigua," said Kernodle.

"I think once you have visited Ruidoso, it's like a rubber band that draws you back. So last Christmas, we bought our own little cabin in the Upper Canyon."

And then Kaye Kernodle saw Story Book Cabins for sale, and that was it. Now these sailors are innkeepers.

"We don't actually know what we are doing, but we are fortunate to have an experienced staff, and we are ready to work hard," explained the couple.

"Story Book Cabins has had a successful history, and we want to build on that."

That history parallels the history of the Village of Ruidoso, for Story Book Cabins is among the oldest resorts in the Upper Canyon area of Ruidoso.

During the twenties and thirties, cabins began to appear along the Ruidoso River in the canyon. Families made a tradition of escaping the heat of West Texas and staying the summer in these rustic homes away from home.

In a less sophisticated time, the river and woods made summer a wonderful time for several generations of Ruidoso visitors.

Cabin resorts grew up along the river over the years, and attracted guests from the surrounding area — many of them returned year after year.

Story Book Cabins has been a part of this area, now known as the Upper Canyon, for many years.

Story Book Cabins began operations with six units known as Dunn's Cabins in the early 1950s. A change of ownership in the mid '50s produced a change in name to Story Book Cabins.

The cabins were in the family of Joan Bailey from 1975 until she sold to the Kernodles just this month.

During the past several years, the resort has seen major renovation, with the remodeling of the existing cabins and the construction of new units and an office/residence

When Story Book Cabins beckoned, Bruce and Kaye Kernodle turned their back on the sea and headed for the mountains.

Story Book Cabins, because of its long history in the canyon, enjoys a significant percentage of repeat business. The grown children of some of the earlier guests are now returning with their own children.

Story Book Cabins presently consists of 10 cabins on one and a fourth acres of land, along with the residence building, which includes the business office.

Each unit includes a kitchen with dining area and one, two or three bedrooms.

The cabins are of knotty pine construction, both inside and out, giving a warm rustic appearance that complements the stone fireplaces. The outside of each unit is maintained in a natural-wood finish.

The grounds are wooded and landscaped, with blooming flowers during the spring and summer seasons.

The location of Story Book Cabins provides easy access to the varied activities that Ruidoso has to offer — shopping areas, art galleries, golf courses, racetrack and Ski Apache.

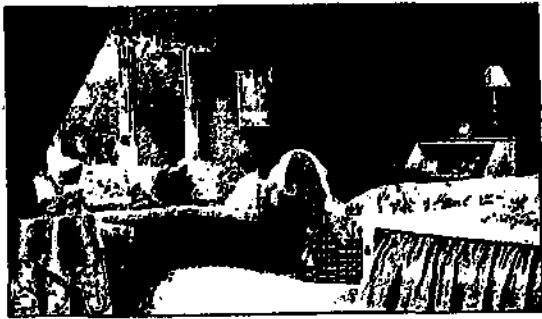

"But Story Book Cabins, is, above all else, a retreat," stressed Kernodle. It is located in the quiet Upper Canyon away from all of the activity of town.

The Kernodles are settling into their new home, welcoming guests and looking forward to being an active part of the Ruidoso community.

Bruce and Kaye Kernodle, pictured here celebrating Christmas 1991 on their sailboat Antigua, are looking forward to Christmas 1993 at their new home in Ruidoso where they are the new owners of Story Book Cabins.

Zia Council joins in educational project

The Zia Girl Scout Council is one of three national youth organizations that have worked together to develop and implement a new educational project designed to teach young children how to get along and how to get things done in a group.

"Talking with TJ" uses broadcast-quality videotapes, handouts, posters, and comic books for the children to take home. Through energetic discussion and fun activities, children learn teamwork skills in an increasingly diverse society.

"Talking with TJ" was specifically designed as a resource to complement existing girl scout materials. Girl scouting has always been committed to the social emotional development of girls.

The "Talking with TJ" materials are a great accompaniment to activities in Girl Scout Handbooks that teach girls of diverse backgrounds and abilities to problem solve as a group.

Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. worked in cooperation with the Boys and Girls Clubs of American and 4-H to develop "Talking with TJ."

In the Zia Girl Scout Council area, which includes Lincoln County, it is expected that 1,000 girls will be involved.

The Dreamer

Thankful month departs amid weather changes

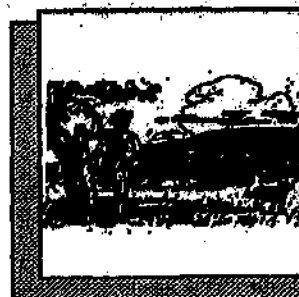

Thanksgiving surprise

The winds out of the southwest blowing in from the lower country on the 21st and 22nd, brought in some summertime weather to the Vale. The night of the 22nd, the temperature stayed at 60 degrees all night. Then, about noon, on the 24th the temperature went up to a balmy 70.

A lot of summer birds were feeding among the snowbirds at the feeding stations. It almost seemed that spring had returned even before winter could begin.

About 2 o'clock I drove up the valley and had a chance to see how the warm spell had left its mark. The giant willow trees and weeping willows at Conley's Trout Lake were beginning to leaf out.

I knew from long experience that this warm interlude was a "weather breeder" as the old-timers used to say. Returning home then on the eve of Thanksgiving it seemed that the cold weather was going to wait until after the holiday.

When I arrived at the Canyon Trading Post, I could see a long low cloud of mist all across the eastern sky. When I got out to open the gate, a great blast of cold air came charging in. It was like being hit by a wall of ice.

I have been in many weather changes but none as sudden and cold as this. By the time I got to the house the temperature had dropped from 65 to 30 degrees in 20 minutes.

That night the temperature turned to 18, and the world was a winter picture of trees full of frozen mist. So I stayed home most of the day thankful for the simple blessings of life, especially the warm fire in the fireplace.

This morning, the 26th, the temperature dropped to 10 above and now at 11 o'clock it is 40 degrees under a bright blue sky.

Later on in the deep of winter we need to be careful about these warm spells and be ready for a sudden cold snap.

This will reach you on the next to the last day of the thankful month, and we'll be looking over into December the sacred month.

God bless you and let us be thankful.

Warrior wrestlers look impressive in opener

The Ruidoso High Wrestling Team turned in a solid overall performance Friday as they won four of five individual matches in the Las Cruces Invitational.

Opponent Las Cruces High (includes both junior varsity and varsity) was a powerful team, with Deming and Gadsden.

At the 112-pound level, Ruidoso beat Las Cruces 4-1 in a 16-hour day that began at 4 a.m. Julian Flores, Billy Austin, Beau Bates and Matt Bates had wins on the day and netted first-place finishes in the 112-pound division.

Julian Flores wrestles at 112 pounds and had remarkable efforts in each of five matches, including a loss in a tight finish (13-11) to a wrestler from Gadsden that dominated him last season.

Flores' brother Johnny, the starting "Monster" on this year's football team, also lost a close one to an opponent from a AAAA school (Mayfield).

Beau Jarvis continued to impress in high school wrestling circles, eventually losing to an older wrestler from Deming who moved down a weight class.

Senior Billy Austin, demonstrated that he is one of the top all-sport athletes in his class by displaying the same quick, aggressiveness that football fans have come to expect from him.

Matt Bates, a junior, competes in the 160-pound division and went 4-1 with his typical, methodical style that's not particularly flashy, but more than gets the job done.

Other good performances included Jose Prieto's 3-2 mark, while Shaun Cobb and David Montero turned in good first-time-on-the-mat efforts.

Harlan Geronimo and Eustace Gallerito competed for the varsity at the 189 and heavyweight divisions, respectively, with both grapplers looking good.

JV wrestles Victor Cocchiola (2-2), Jerry Ramirez (1-2) also turned in nice performances, as did JV Brandy Fowler (2-2), the only Lady Warrior Wrestler, and the only female wrestler in this district.

The neighboring district, that includes Las Cruces, has two girls who compete on the Cruces team, one returning from last year.

Fowler, a sophomore, isn't the first RHS student to wrestle for the Warriors.

"She's one of the first that looks like she's going to make it through the season," said Ames, who said she's a hard worker, comes out for practice every day and has the desire to win.

Fowler made it through two tough matches this weekend, but she's in the tough 130-pound class where she's going up against some very muscular young men.

The Warrior freshmen also got high marks from Ames, with Matt Poncho leading the way with a 3-1 mark.

Head coach Gerald Ames was very happy with his team's first outing of the year.

"This was the best we've looked as a team in a long time ... we've had Schmidt (Jeff), Yeatman (Scott), Bubba Lane and Dusty Beavers that one year (1989) that we scored a lot of points but we had overall scoring from our whole team, which is what you have to have," said Ames.

Ames singled out the efforts of Billy Austin and Julian Flores as exceptional, especially in the role of a team leaders.

"Billy just picked up where he left off at the state tournament last year. He had some success there and he didn't forget it. He came on in much the same manner and really wrestled well.

The other guy that really looked good and confident ... and knew what he was doing was Julian Flores. The match he had against that kid from Gadsden was totally different than the one he had last year (he lost badly last year). (Julian) beat him up ... we just had some really questionable calls ... it was really exciting," said Ames.

To sum up the tournament, like most of the other teams at the school, Ruidoso wrestlers went to an event with a very young team and did very well.

For the most part Coach Ames was ecstatic about his team's performance.

Considering that the kids are wrestling to the point of complete physical exhaustion — up to five times during the tournament on a day that begins at 4 a.m. and ends at 11 p.m., you can't blame him.

The wrestlers face a busy weekend. The varsity team will travel back to Las Cruces Friday and Las Cruces for a tournament that will feature 18 teams, including most of the same schools that they faced last week as well as schools from El Paso.

The junior varsity will head to Roswell to face JV squads from Roswell, Carlsbad and NMML.

JV Warriors beat Hondo

The Alamogordo JV Invitational basketball game saw the Warrior JV team win two games before defeating Hondo's varsity team Saturday.

The Warriors defeated '94-24 in a game founded by Alamogordo's aggressive junior varsity.

The Warriors saw the Warriors meet Alamogordo's varsity team, dropping a 35 decision.

"In the first game, our kids played as hard as they could, trying to get it done themselves, not working as hard as Brian Tarvin, the boys' coach and game brought the Hondo Eagles Varsity as the Warriors opponents, and netted the locals their first win of the year in a barnburner — 55-54.

The game was close throughout, with the Eagles missing a bonus opportunity at the end of the game that could have won the game for them.

The JV team has competed in two early-season tournaments thus far, and sport a 1-4 record.

The JV squad will see action again on Friday as they travel to Tularosa for a meeting with the Wildcats. Game time for the JV is 5:30 p.m. and the varsity squads are scheduled for a 7:15 p.m. tip-off.

Blue-Gold game Tuesday

Parents will have their second opportunity this season to see the Blue-Gold basketball team as the Blue-Gold intra-squad game is set for 6 p.m. Tuesday at the Warrior gym.

Traditionally, the game pits two evenly-divided teams against each other on both the varsity and junior varsity levels preceded by a meeting with the parents.

This year, however, first-year head coach Paul Kirkwood has scheduled a covered-dish dinner after the game in the high school cafeteria to give parents and coaches a chance to meet each other to iron out the details of the upcoming season.

Inside The Outdoors

Wild turkeys nearly disappeared in the U.S.

Most people celebrated Thanksgiving this year with a traditional turkey dinner, much like the Pilgrims did years ago.

Of course, turkeys prepared now are much different than those mentioned in history books.

Today, turkeys are farm raised and specially bred to produce more white meat and bigger birds. Turkeys eaten by the Pilgrims were wild turkeys and were a symbol of the bounty provided by nature in the "New World."

Oddly enough though, this symbol of plenty, the wild turkey, almost disappeared from the continent within a couple of centuries.

The wild turkey originally ranged throughout almost all regions of the North American continent. It was noted for its intelligence and hardness. As a matter of fact, the wild turkey was favored over the bald eagle by Benjamin Franklin to be our national symbol.

Even though the wild turkey is a hardy bird, they had a difficult time competing with advancing civilization. They were dependent upon hardwood forests and as pioneer settlers advanced across the country these forests were cleared by farmers to grow crops and cut down by loggers to guild cities. This, combined with hungry pioneers shooting them for food resulted in a rapid decline in wild turkeys.

By 1813, turkeys no longer existed in Connecticut. They were gone from Ohio by 1880, and from Iowa by 1907. In the 1930s their numbers were so low that the future of the wild turkey was in doubt in many areas of North America.

Something had to be done to save these magnificent birds.

Of course, wild turkeys were given protection by law, but that wasn't enough. Some serious restoration and management programs were required.

A big leap forward was made when biologists developed a method of capturing entire flocks of wild turkeys and moving them to new areas of suitable habitat.

Studies were conducted on turkeys to find out more about the birds and how to further help them.

Here in New Mexico research carried out by the Department of Game and Fish has led to recommended changes in land management practices that enhance areas for wild turkeys. Simple things such as leaving some slash piles around after a logging operation to provide better nesting areas and making small clearings when logging to provide feeding areas for young birds have helped in increasing turkey numbers.

The department also continues to trap and relocate wild turkeys to new locations.

Since its inception in 1937, this act has resulted in about $1.5 billion being distributed to the states for wildlife management programs, hunter education, research and land acquisition. The management programs paid for by P-R funds have not only helped wild turkeys but also many other wildlife species including elk, pronghorn antelope and mule deer.

As for the turkeys, in less than 50 years the restocking and management programs have restored them to healthy numbers in 45 states.

In fact, wild turkeys are now found in places where they were never found before in history.

Now, instead of just being a part of history, wild turkeys are abundant. Ours and future generations should give thanks that we can see this magnificent bird, once again, roaming in the wilds.

Council considers capital improvements

by CHARLES STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Capital improvements worthy of funding by the State Legislature will be considered by the Ruidoso Village Council Tuesday.

The Department of Finance and Administration for the state requires municipalities each year to set a Capital Improvement Program (CIP) for funding consideration.

The village councilors at a previous work shop on October 19, set the top four priorities for Ruidoso this year as:

—water treatment plant at Grindstone.

—Americans with Disabilities Act compliance for municipal buildings.

—911 street signage program.

—parks/recreation/senior citizens. For years, previous councils have set high budgets for parks and recreation, only to wind up spending very little by the year's end.

At the current council, acknowledging the lack of money spent in the past in this tourist area, has indicated a willingness to concentrate more on parks and other tourist-related activities.

Deputy manager Alan Briley told the council that the remaining priorities will stay in the same order as they appeared in last year's CIP.

They are:
—wastewater collection
—regional wastewater treatment plant —streets
—convention center
—planning
—airport
—police department
—main street
—city hall
—fire department
—library
—vehicle maintenance

The council officially will appoint Gary M. Jackson as village manager and approve his contract.

Jackson's starting salary will equal that of former village manager, who resigned for a similar position in Seabrook, Texas.

The council will vote on two resolutions regarding elections and the expenditures for the lodgers tax.

The Lodgers Tax Advisory Board (LTAB), monitored by village clerk Tammy Maddox, has asked for radical changes in spending lodgers tax money.

The board has asked to increase money requests from organizations or events from $1,500 to $5,000 per year.

They want a three-year limit on allocations to any one event or group to be eliminated to allow for unlimited applications for money.

These changes would appear to assist heavy hitters of the program like the not-for-profit Museum of the Horse and Cowboy Symposium and the for profit Golden Aspen Motorcycle Rally.

Maddox said she didn't believe the village could differentiate between profit and non-profit status.

She said there was nothing in the state statutes regarding profit versus non profit.

Maddox agreed that the council could prioritize non-profit from profit.

With the completion of the Civic Events Center, it is expected that several relatively new organizations will be asking for money. About $30,000 was awarded last year for new events. The award money was split, $15,000 for summer and $15,000 for winter.

The board has a history of awarding the maximum to whomever requests funds. If three events are given $15,000 for the summer, that would eliminate any new event receiving lodgers money to help advertise their event.

The funds are called lodgers tax because owners of lodging businesses are designated as collectors of the tax by the state. The money is collected to assist the entire village in promoting tourism to the area.

In its early stages, the lodgers tax was used as seed money for new events that would bring people into the area. After an event with merit proved successful, the idea was that it eventually could operate without seed money. The seed money for that event would then be awarded to a new event.

That philosophy has changed in recent years, and the money has been spent in a variety of new areas, allowing the process to become highly political.

LTAB also approved motions to:

—limit funds of up to $5,000 per organization per fiscal year.
—change an item to read that applications for reoccurring events requesting over $1,500 in matching funds must be submitted no later than June 1 and recommended by June 30.

Other applications must be submitted no less than 60 days prior to the event.

—change an item to read that submission for payment will not be accepted until after the event.

Submission for payment must be accompanied by a profit and loss statement from the event and made within 60 days after the event and all invoices and billings must be submitted at one time.

Tear sheets, posters, or samples of the advertisement must be submitted with the payment application.

—allow posters to be a part of specialty advertising.

The second resolution will set March 1, 1994, as the regular municipal election.

The council also will hear a request by Franklin Aviation for a 30-day extension on the current Sierra Blanca Airport hangar lease, or a portion of the hangar for 30 days.

Jim Franklin said the request is to reassemble and complete the modifications to the Polish jet trainer so that this aircraft can be removed from the facility.

Airport manager Lloyd Wayne recommended the remaining hangar space be rented monthly for aircraft storage, starting at $150 to $250 depending on the size of aircraft and any other space be used for over night rentals.

Wayne noted that overnight rates for the hangar start at $40.

Under Franklin's current agreement, the village is to split over night aircraft rentals. But under Wayne as overseer of the hangar, the village has collected no money for rent since April of 1992.

Other council agenda items include:

—Economic Development Corporation of Lincoln County update.

—a Main Street update by deputy manager Briley.

—airport projects update by Briley.

Consent agenda items, which are approved collectively include:

—a grant agreement with the state for improvements at the Senior Citizens building.

—a bid award for a portable indoor/outdoor dance floor.

—cancellation of the December 28 regular meeting.

—scheduling of a public hearing for an ordinance amending the Uniform Traffic Ordinance.

The council has scheduled a closed session at the end of the regular meeting Tuesday.

Any action taken as a result of the closed session will be brought back into open session.

No eye strain

Dana Allison and Fletcher Herring, along with Holly Bailey, who was absent for the photo, outread their third grade classmates to win free sundae from Mr. Burger. In a six-week period, Allison read 1,597 pages, Bailey read 1,591 and Herring covered 1,374 pages. All together, the class read 9,010 pages.

Volunteers needed for program

Opening weekend at Ski Apache drew record crowds of skiers, who just couldn't wait to recover their "ski legs" from last season.

Lisa Maui, executive director of Ski Apache's Handicapped program, said several disabled students received lessons this opening weekend, also, and announced volunteer training will take place January 8 and 9, 1994. She invited anyone who would like to work with skiers and ski students who are developmentally disabled or blind to call her at 336-4416 or 354-3191.

Witnesses gather in Ruidoso

Many from out-of-town were among the 846 who attended the two-day circuit assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses at the civic center recently.

"Keep Seeking First the Kingdom" was the theme of the event.

Commenting on the program, Don Russell, local spokesperson for the group, said, "true Christians have always strived to keep God's kingdom first in their lives in obedience to Jesus' words at Matthew 6:33.

"Through talks, demonstrations, and discussions, encouragement was provided to help us follow Jesus' admonition.

"For instance, on Saturday the personal benefits of giving God's kingdom priority in all aspects of lives and not neglecting our home was considered. Helpful counsel was also given to show how to avoid needless anxiety."

Russell said the climax of the program Sunday was the public talk entitled "What God's Kingdom will Do for Mankind" given by E.C. Woodley, a traveling representative of the Watchtower Society.

"An important part of each of our assembly programs is the water baptism by complete immersion of newly qualified witnesses," added Russell.

"Four were baptized Saturday, thus making public declaration of their dedication to Jehovah God."

Russell also said the facilities at the civic center were very nice and the staff most helpful.

"And we wish to express our appreciation for the kindness and cooperation shown," he concluded.

New Mexicans more likely to die from injuries

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Although New Mexico is one of the states with the highest rates of injuries in the nation, Lincoln County generally falls in the lower end of the injury range.

Information about the state and its counties was contained in a report compiled from 1991 by the New Mexico Department of Health's Injury Prevention and Control Section.

Identified as the three leading causes of deaths in New Mexico were diseases of the heart, malignant neoplasms and unintentional injuries.

Injuries are the leading cause of death and disability for all New Mexicans under the age of 44.

The purpose of data to document the magnitude of New Mexico's injury problem, but it identified serious lapses and fragmentation of injury death and disability data.

The lack of data on non-fatal injuries prevented New Mexico from receiving a multi-million dollar federal grant, according to Carolyn Hutchinson, spokesman for the department.

"Injury fatalities are well documented in New Mexico," she said. "However, fatalities are just the tip of the iceberg."

"It is estimated that there are 16 injury-caused hospitalizations for every injury-related death, resulting in a cost to society of more than $100-billion annually. The number of non-fatal injuries and resulting permanent disabilities is not well-documented in the state. Until data on nonfatal injuries is available, the full extent of New Mexico's injury problem remains unknown."

According to charts contained in the report, New Mexico, Alaska and Georgia are the only three states in the nation that fall into the high category of 76 to 97 injury deaths per 100,000 population.

The states with the lowest incidence, 35 to 45.9 per 100,000, were clustered in the northeast, around the Great Lakes region and North Dakota.

In New Mexico, Lincoln County fared poorly in deaths from motor vehicle crashes, falling into the second highest category of 40-59 deaths per 100,000 population, along with the counties of San Juan, Rio Arriba, McKinley, Sandoval, Quay, Torrance, Socorro and Luna.

Those counties registered more deaths by vehicle accidents per 100,000 than the high traffic counties of Bernalillo and Santa Fe, which fell in the 20-39 per 100,000 range. The three worst counties, with 60-199 per 100,000, were Cibola, Catron and Sierra.

But two years ago, Lincoln County reported no homicides, as did the eight other counties of Union, Harding, Mora, Torrance, DeBaca, Eddy, Hidalgo and Catron.

Santa Fe and Bernalillo were included in the 1-19 homicides per 100,000. The counties with the highest rate of more than 29 were Rio Arriba and Sierra.

In suicides, Lincoln fell into the same category as Santa Fe, Bernalillo and 10 other counties with 1-19 deaths per 100,000. The two counties with the highest rate of more than 39 were Sierra and Catron.

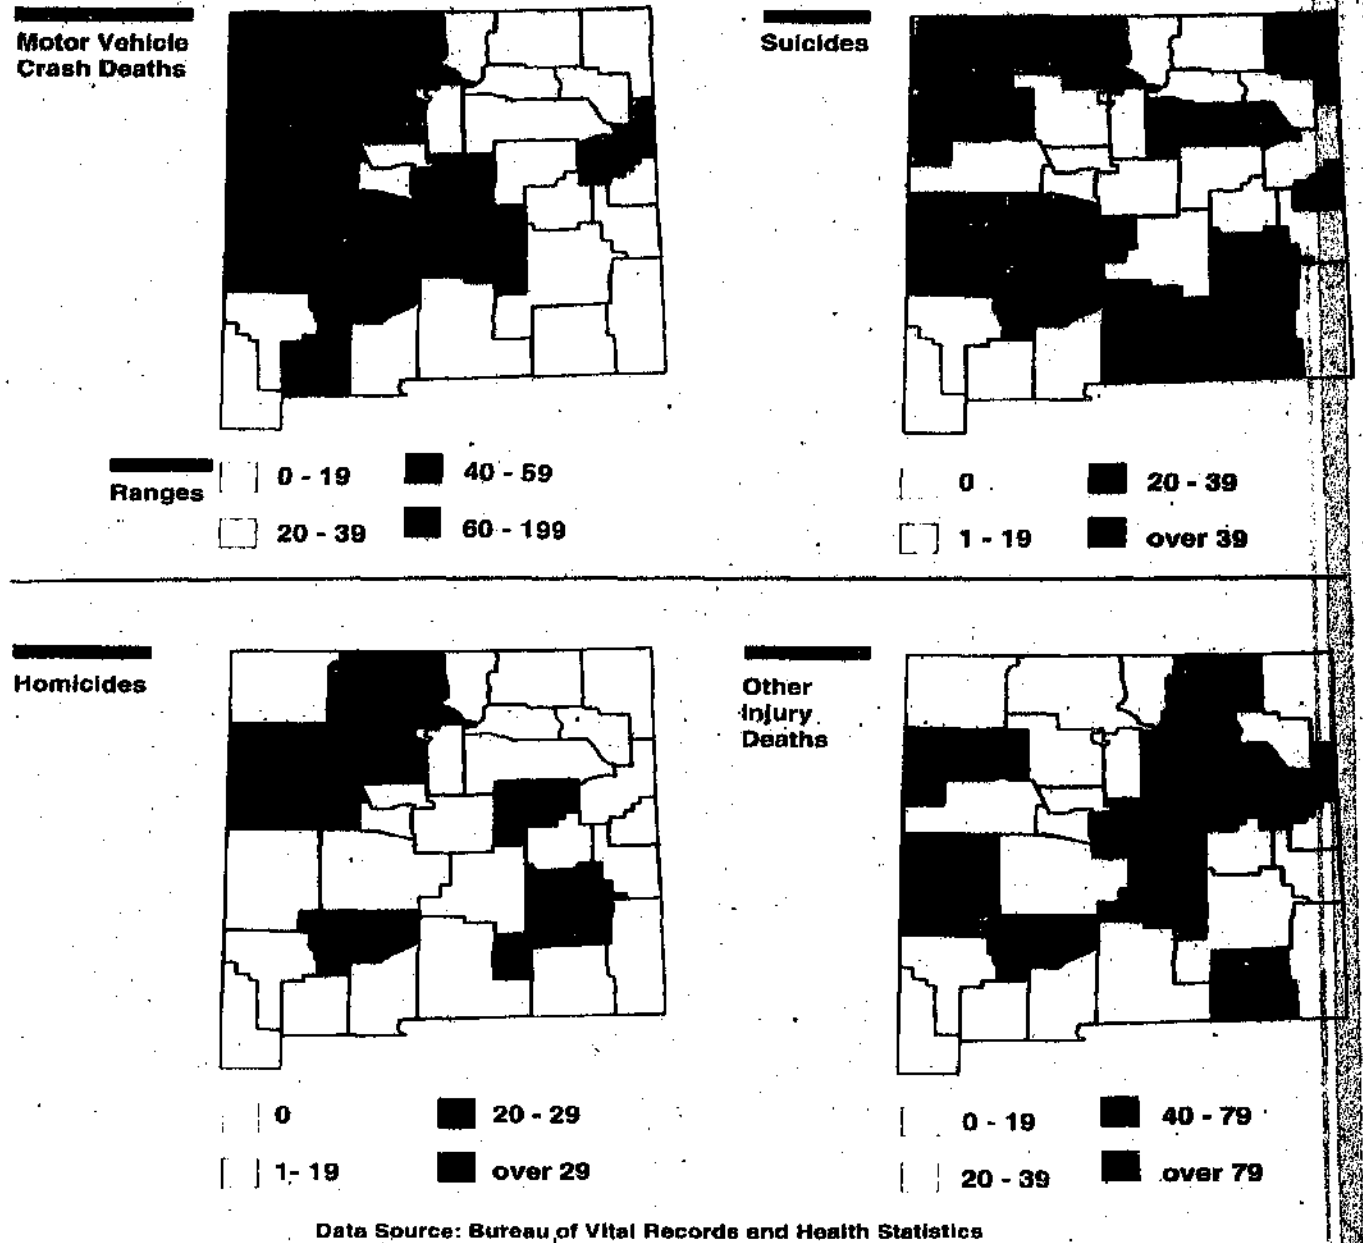

Lincoln shifted into the higher classification of 40-79 deaths per 100,000 under the "other injury" comparison. That was higher than Santa Fe and Bernalillo, which were in the 20-39 range, but in the same grouping as the counties of McKinley, Colfax, Mora, San Miguel, Torrance, Quay and Sierra.

The only data available in non-fatal injuries concerned motor vehicle accidents.

In that comparison, Lincoln County fell into the highest grouping with 1,231 to 2,222 injuries per 100,000 population, along with Hidalgo, Torrance, Guadalupe and Union.

The counties of Santa Fe and Bernalillo were significantly lower in the 531-870 per 100,000 range.

Nothing moves people to buy like newspaper. And nowhere is that more evident than in the retail world. Studies bear it out. Newspaper readers are three times more likely to buy. And four out of five actually do. Best of all, for every dollar they spend on an advertised item, they spend another dollar on something else.

Now that's what you call a retailer's dream come true. (Especially when you consider the price.) Fact is, if you want to move a product, newspaper's the way to go.

B SECTION

Editorial

Look for experienced candidates who care about the community

'Who will run for village offices next March?' is the question being banded about in coffee rooms all over the village these days. It's good that voters and prospective candidates are putting some thought into a serious question.

In Ruidoso, the mayor, municipal judge and four council slots will be on the ballot next March, but candidates will sign up in early January. The council positions that will be up for grabs are currently filled by Barbara Duff, Bill Karn, Joe Gomez and Frank Potter. Three of the terms will be for four years and one for two years.

Village, as well as county, residents have learned from experience that electing (or appointing) an inexperienced newcomer to a position of leadership is very dangerous. It's been shown that the most effective elected officials are the ones who already demonstrated their civic and community spirit by fulfilling appointed and/or volunteer positions.

So, when looking for candidates for mayor, council and municipal judge, we'd suggest looking first to people who already have served: were they honest and reliable? did they do a good job?

Next, we'll be turning our attention to people who have served on P&Z, the Lodgers Tax Advisory Board, the school board, county commission and other groups that deliberate and make decisions: were they dependable and fair? did they understand the scope of their responsibilities?

The candidates we won't be supporting, and the ones we hope won't even toss their hats in the ring, are the "one-issue" or "vendetta" candidates who tear down rather than build up and seek public office to fulfill some personal agenda.

Let's find people to lead our town who put the interests of the community first.

Thought for the day:

"We must learn to welcome and not to fear the voices of dissent. We must dare to think about 'unthinkable things' because when things become unthinkable, thinking stops and action becomes mindless."

—James William Fulbright
1964

Upon Reflection

Don't count on relief from 6-cent gas tax

Along with the weather, the prospects of a rollback of that six-cent-a-gallon gasoline tax passed at the last Legislature have chilled in recent weeks. At least that would seem to be the case if the sentiments of key legislators responsible for developing state tax policy are any barometer.

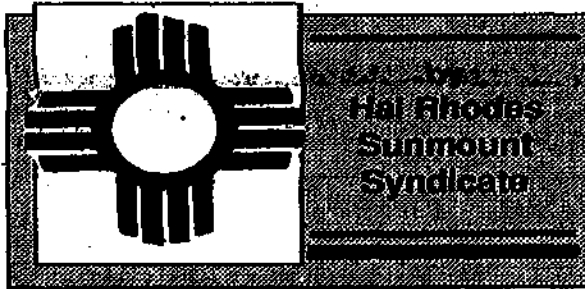

Just three months ago the drumbeat for repeal was loud enough to disturb the political peace in every corner of the state. Some top state Republicans, sensing an opportunity to capitalize anew on their familiar anti-tax dogma, even demanded that the governor call a special session of the Legislature for that purpose.

Governor Bruce King prudently rejected that idea. Nevertheless, always sensitive to the rolling winds of tax politics, King promised relief when the Legislature meets in January. After all, he pointed out, the gas levy was approved by lawmakers to cover a budget shortfall which never materialized and something should be done to rectify the situation.

More than likely something will be done. But, according to state Representative Jerry Sandel (D-San Juan) relief may not mean axing the gas tax.

Sandel is chairman of the Legislature's awkwardly-named Interim Joint Revenue Stabilization and Tax Policy Committee which is studying ways to reduce state taxes by as much as $60 million next year. That's roughly what the six-cent gas tax brings in, he notes.

The problem with "just cutting the (gas) tax," Sandel contends, "is there's no way to make certain it will ever get back to the taxpayers ... Even petroleum markets have told the committee that they won't guarantee that the price (of gas) at the pump will go down if we eliminate the tax."

That news, alone, ought to be unsettling to a lot of New Mexicans. Petroleum marketers were quick enough to pass the six-cent tax increase along to consumers when it went into effect last summer. Yet, when the question is put to them today, they apparently won't promise to let us return the favor by passing it back to them if the tax is cut.

Even Solomon would have difficulty detecting the elements of justice in that equation.

Thus, Sandel says his committee is currently trying to find other ways "to make it right with the taxpayers ... We're looking at all kinds of proposals ... reductions in personal income taxes, food and medical taxes, perhaps prescription drugs, or maybe a one-time across-the-board (tax) rebate."

Nor is it only Democrats like Jerry Sandel who are beginning to question the wisdom of abolishing the six-cent gas tax hike. In what could be welcome evidence of a bipartisan search for alternative approaches, the Tax Policy Committee's ranking Republican, state Representative Ryan of Silver City, also admits to reservations.

"I doubt very seriously that the (gas tax) cut would have the predicted outcome because I don't think the money will be returned to where we want it — the taxpaying consumers."

Ryan says he personally favors a one-time personal income tax rebate.

"To do much more at this time might not be wise in view of the uncertainty of the economy," he insists.

Given the responsibilities vested by the Legislature in its Revenue Stabilization and Tax Policy Committee, the sentiments of ranking committee members like Sandel and Ryan should carry more than a little weight when lawmakers meet in January.

Which is not to say there won't be efforts by individual legislators to cut the unpopular gas tax. There almost certainly will be. The opportunities for political grandstanding on an issue as tempting as this are simply too attractive to be ignored by your run-of-the-mill legislative politico.

Nevertheless, when a pair of lawmakers as savvy on the issue of tax policy as Democrat Jerry Sandel and Republican Murray Ryan say cutting the gas tax will almost certainly not add up to relief for the taxpayer, it behooves the rest of us to pay some heed.

State gas taxes should be designed to pay the costs of public services, not windfall profits for petroleum marketers.

How does do all this for you?

Programmed to raise or lower different sections of the bed, the Rest-A-Matic® is the product of extensive engineering design and testing. All toward the ultimate aim of providing you with a "free floating" kind of support you could never experience in chair lounges, sofas or conventional beds. Since the Rest-A-Matic® adapts to literally hundreds of restful positions, you can actually distribute body weight more evenly to help relieve muscle tension, back fatigue, tired legs. Comfort is yours to command whether you just want to relax or adjust to a position for increased circulatory action.

Inside the Rest A-Matic® frame and mattress is where the engineering magic has been concealed. Simply plug the cord into a regular outlet and the Rest A-Matic® with its silent electric motors and scientifically structured framework is ready to do your bidding at the touch of a button.

When made up, your Rest A-Matic® bed looks like any other elegant conventional bed. Can be used with your present headboards and comes in the usual sizes, Twin, Full Sized, Queen and King, and Dual King (two twin beds that accommodate king size bed spreads).

Refreshing relaxation and increased circulation offer many obvious benefits to health and well being.

Since the Rest A-Matic® Bed adjusts to many positions, you can now choose exactly the right amount of lift or support for healthful relaxation. For example, you can lower the head support and raise your legs... for a healthful surge of circulatory action. With legs elevated, back completely relaxed... and your head slightly lower than the rest of your body... you can almost feel the pressures and tensions of the day slip away!

Enjoy "cradle comfort" even in the sitting up position, since only about one fifth of your body weight rests on the hips. Just one of thousands of restful positions you can command.

Rest A-Matic® can automatically be controlled by the patient to change positions to relieve the monotony, aches, nervous tension and soreness from remaining in one position too long. In addition, by adjusting the bed to "activity" positions the patient can keep self entertained or engaged in other activities such as reading, writing, with virtually no assistance from others.

After a hard day, you might like to enjoy a pleasant, refreshing massage... right in your own bed! Just dial in the optional Digi-Matic massage that sends out waves of pulsating energy... simulating the gentle fingers of a skilled masseur!

Another optional feature is the Thermo-Matic Warmth Control, a heating unit for your Rest A-Matic® that is imperceptible to sight or touch. With its own control that lets you select the level of heat you prefer, "Thermo-Matic" is far more efficient than an electric blanket since the heat rises from the mattress and is retained by the lightest of blankets above.
