Girl Scouts meet national president

National Girl Scout President LaRae Orullian will visit throughout the Zia Council this weekend. She'll be the keynote speaker for Zia Council's adult recognition evening at 7 p.m. Friday, April 30, at Cree Meadows. Read more on page 2B.

Councilors cut off state striping plans

The Ruidoso Village Council called a halt Tuesday to plans by the State Highway Department to restripe Sudderth Drive adding a turn lane near the historic Old Mill. Highway department engineers claim the change is necessary for safety, but village councilors and residents weren't convinced. Read more on page 10A about how the council acted to save parking in front of the Old Mill.

Bet on run for roses at the Sports Theater

Ruidoso Downs Race Track opens May 14 for the 1993 race card, but fans don't have to wait that long to bet on a top race. The Sports Theater in Ruidoso Downs presents the Kentucky Derby this Saturday, and everyone is invited to enjoy the run for the roses in the comfortable theater seating or stop in the dining room or bar to watch the simulcast. The full 11-race card from Churchill Downs will be simulcast at the Sports Theater, as will the Sunland Park races.

Police investigate shooting incidents

Police in Ruidoso and Ruidoso Downs have separate shooting incidents under investigation. In the Downs, police are looking into reports of someone shooting twice into a home. See story, Page 8A. In Ruidoso, police were called yesterday to the scene of a fatal shooting. See story, Page 10A.

A moving sculpture of clutter, traveling from Simi Valley, California, to Houston, passed through Ruidoso Monday. The outrageous creation of its owner Charles E. Hunt, the 1964 Mercury Comet was nearly invisible under a pile of animal skulls and horns, copper bells, nautical rope, fishing tackle, a mannequin's leg and hundreds of signs and designs affixed to its surface. Hunt is headed to the Houston Roadside Attraction Art Car Parade with the clutter-mobile that took him six years to put together after 20 years of collecting. He doesn't use the word "finish," because he said the sculpture never will be finished, Hunt said. During his stop in Ruidoso, Chuck Reynolds of Rio Trading Company, handed over a wooded

by CHARLES STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Grindstone Lake will be officially tested for its recreational value this season from Memorial Day to Labor Day. The Ruidoso Village Council passed Ordinance 93-5 listing rules and regulations for the lake. The plan was approved unanimously Tuesday with an automatic review of the pilot program the first council meeting after Labor Day. Fishing, windsurfing and boating will be allowed from sunrise to sunset. Swimming or wading is not. Mayor Victor Alonso said he was concerned that fishing from boats was not clearly defined. "I don't want an ordinance that has to be settled in court," he said. Councilor Jerry Shaw said she was under the impression Bonita Lake and Alto Lake did not allow fishing from a boat. A motion passed to allow fishing from boats on a trial basis, with councilors Ron Andrews, J.D. James and Barbara Duff voting, yes, and councilors Shaw and Frank Cummins voting, no. Councilor Bill Karn was absent from the meeting. A yearly pass for Grindstone Lake is $25, but the council also approved a one-day and three-day pass for $5 and $10 respectively, to accommodate tourists. Councilor James mentioned a state statute that could bring immunity from certain lawsuits for Grindstone Lake. The statute was brought to the attention of the community by lawyer Don Dutton. The council asked village attorney Patricia Ortiz to review the statute. Councilor Andrews reported a conversation he had with village insurance agent Frank Sayner. He said he was informed the village could be engaging in "overkill" with all of its insurance requirements. A line item in the ordinance that would require a boater to provide the village with proof of general liability insurance in the amount of $100,000 was voted out. The council asked that Sayner appear before the council to discuss insurance in general. Mayor Alonso told the council that there may be several flaws in the ordinance, but they could be corrected when they surfaced. Joe Zagone, representing the windsurfers group that originally approached the council, told Councilor James he would give him a free lesson on windsurfing at Grindstone. James accepted. In the second public hearing, the council unanimously upheld an appeal and overturned a denial of a planning and zoning commission decision not to rezone and change the master plan for a 4-acre tract of land just off U.S. Highway 70, and in front of Miner's Mountain Music. The action paves the way for builder Jeffery E. Smith of Missouri to begin construction on an apartment building in that area. State Representative John Underwood, as he has in the past, declared his appearance only as the lawyer of his client, Smith. He pleaded to the council to consider the apartments as an aesthetically more pleasing entrance to Ruidoso from Alamogordo than something like a go cart track. He also said Smith has built the Camelot Apartments in the same area and that they have been a benefit to the community. According to the planning commission, Smith could have applied for a conditional use without the zoning change, but the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) required the R-3 status in order to finance the $1.5 million dollar project. Underwood said R-3 allowed 14 units per acre and the apartment plans are for 10 units per acre. Chief opposition to the project at the meeting was Don Miner, owner of Miner's Mountain Castle who said he was trying to develop a business in the area. Mayor Alonso pointed out that Miner was also a member of the planning and zoning commission. Miner admitted that he voted against the project without declaring a conflict of interest. Alonso said that Miner should have let his board determine voting rights. "I know you personally, and I think you are an honorable man," Alonso told Miner. "I'm going to say that it was an oversight because I'm aware this is the first volunteer work that you've done for the community and I'm grateful for that."

County commission cuts out employee raises

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

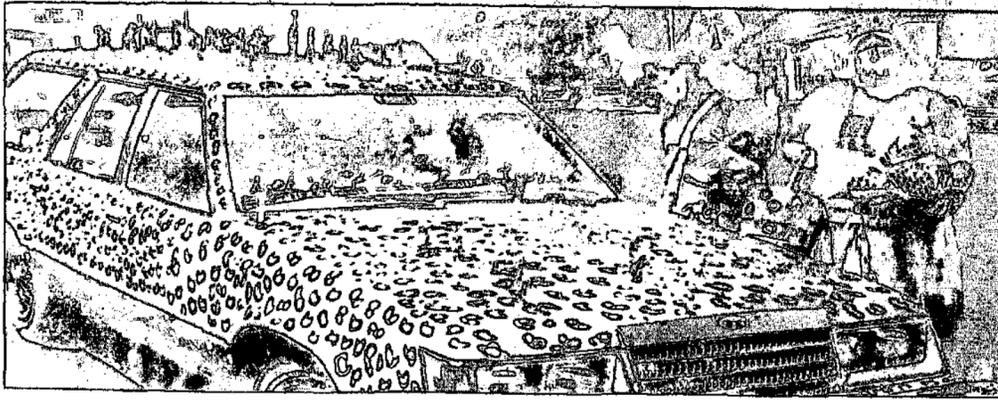

Employee raises and the county road department were the big losers Monday in the Lincoln County Commission's attempt to fit a bigger budget into a smaller revenue package. County employees will receive no cost of living pay boost under the proposed $6.7-million, 1993-94 budget. However, most will see some increase on their pay checks, because they were reclassified into higher steps on the wage matrix. County manager Andy Wynham said to give an across the board pay increase would cost the commission $26,000 for each percentage point.

"It's something the commission may decide to look at later if more revenues start rolling in than we anticipate," he said. Commissioner Wilton Howell told The Ruidoso News that in December during mid-year budget adjustment considerations probably would be an appropriate time to take another look at raises. The 1993-94 budget is based on a revenue projection at the same level as the current 1992-93 year. "The revenues still are going to be down and we expect no real upswing," Chairman Monroy Montes said at the beginning of the budget

A few items have been stolen from the car's clutter, but Hunt said he doesn't worry much about a thief taking the car itself.

"It'd be pretty easy to spot," he said. On the other hand, imagine the expression on the face of the officer when Hunt started to describe it.

The police don't hassle him despite his unusual car, Hunt said.

"They don't say anything about the stuff on the hood as long as it doesn't obstruct my vision. They don't care what it looks like as long as it's safe and I have my registra-

We do want to point out the shortfall. It wasn't intentional and it's part of the record now.

"In any case, it is being reheard today and that (vote) has no effect on this meeting," Alonso said.

Miner said he was trying to develop a business in the area.

He noted that he has not asked for lodgers tax or any assistance.

"It's not that I don't need it," he said. "I just think my ideas should be funded by me and the risks should be taken by me. But there's one thing I sure don't need, and that is to put 40 families right in the middle of my project."

Miner said he was opposed to building a residential building in a commercial area just because a person can get the land cheap.

Councilor Andrews also was concerned that money not be the only consideration for the change in the Master Plan.

Betty Bennett, who has 10 acres of family property next to Smith's lot, was concerned how the change would affect her property.

Planner Cleatus Richards said her property line setbacks would move from 10 feet to 20 feet. Councilor Andrews offered a motion to keep Bennett's setbacks at 10 feet and it was approved unanimously.

Village manager Ron Wicker was concerned about spot zoning, moving R-3 in the middle of C-2 zoning, but the council felt there was enough residential within the area to justify the change.

In other business, the council: —voted to accept Main Street president Tom Battin's recommendation to take no action at this time in the increase of professional fees requested by Bohannan-Huston, the firm that overruns its budget without approval by $74,000. An evaluation will be made after the project has been completed.

tion and paperwork," he said.

The stuff on the hood is only a small sample of the stuff on the roof and the stuff on the trunk: nautical gauges, spinal bones, plastic grape clusters, shells, plastic bug eyes, bolts and door knobs.

Even more interesting items (clocks, computer chips) are hidden inside half peeled-back portions of the sides and back of the car. It's like a treasure hunt tracking them down.

A sign hanging from a piece of tackle sums up Hunt's philosophy about critics of his clutter car, "If you don't like it, don't look at it."

Also headed to Houston to participate in the same event were Vic Lamb, whose 1976 Oldsmobile Regency/yacht is a familiar sight in Ruidoso, and Kathleen Pearson from Bisbee, Arizona, with her 1983 Ford LTD pink leopard trophy car.

Covered with spots and plastered with 74 trophy figures on the outside, magnets and 200 American icon images (plastic figurines) from Gumby to Olive Oyl on the inside dash, the car serves as a backdrop for Pearson's conceptual performance.

During the Houston parade, her traveling companion and fellow artist, Gretchen Baer, and Pearson will don outfits matching the car to compliment their singing presentation.

Lamb said he hopes to persuade more art car owners to stop in Ruidoso on their way to or from the Houston event. Someday, he's like to see a local parade or judging.

To promote interest, Lamb said he'll present a trophy in Houston in the name of Ruidoso.

This is the sixth year for the parade, Lamb said.

"It has grown from 40 cars to 212 this year. It's a growing art form. They're coming from all over the country and this year, from Mexico."

Lamb said he added a yacht top to his car after friends kept referring to the large vehicle as a boat. He started building the addition in 1990 and took it to Houston for the first time in 1991.

Ward Construction, both of Ruidoso.

Rue was awarded $24,032.81 to raise the manhole covers, counter-sunk from time and covered over by road repair on Gavilan Canyon Road.

Rue and Ward Construction split costs on infiltration repair. Rue was awarded $17,923.99 and Rue, $8,545.

—scheduled a May 25 public hearing for a zone map amendment from C-1 to C-2, Tract 1 & 2 of John Brown Tracts off Gavilan Canyon Road.

—postponed a park dedication of 1.8 acre tract in the Airport West Subdivision for two weeks until it can be reviewed in the budget hearings starting May 10.

—reappointed all board terms that expired on March 23. Councilor James will take Councilor Cummins' seat on the Economic Development Corporation of Lincoln County board, because of Cummins' conflict in scheduling with the solid waste authority.

—awarded a single year contract for audit services to Ronnie L. Hemphill, P.C.

Consent agenda items, approved collectively, were:

—extension of a land lease to the Lincoln County Humane Society.

—a chamber of commerce request for approval of an advertising plan.

—authorization to sell the Hall-Brown, Wingfield Park property, about five acres. It was purchased by the village about four years ago for $240,000. Its new appraised value is $110,000.

In reports from municipal officials, Mayor Alonso said a law firm representing fully qualified wrecker services has asked the village to adopt an ordinance following state statutes that would put maverick wrecker services under the same stringent guidelines. Village staff will review the statutes.

Alonso said Ted Gambana of the Department of Finance and Administration was of little help in reviewing contracts regarding the golf course or leasing the airport hangar. The council voted by resolution to send the information to the attorney general for a recommendation.

Councilor Barbara Duff urged citizens to remember the cleaning campaign this weekend is only between the hours of 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. and not to dump anything on the ground.

Councilor Shaw urged the council to start thinking about next year's legislature now.

She also asked for an inventory list from the village manager showing disbursements of items previously acquired at auction.

In reports from the village manager, Cleatus Richards gave an update on the Nuisance Ordinance.

Richards said he was experiencing a major problem processing citations through municipal court. He said fines have always been suspended, which takes the bite out of enforcement.

The council, by resolution, voted to contact Municipal Judge Chuck Hawthorne and asked his cooperation in enforcing the nuisance ordinance.

Village manager Wicker said the village, in repairing Innsbrook Village water line repairs and paving, ran into several severe water leak problems.

Wicker said that Tom Sullivan from Camp Sierra Blanca has helped the village with temporary employees.

Wicker said the village tried hiring local temporary help and out of 11 applicants, could hire only one. That one lasted for two weeks, he said.

Wicker praised the Camp Sierra Blanca crew at what he called outstanding work cleaning up the cemetery. He said the 325 hours from Sierra Blanca crews cost the village $4,200. Normal temporary costs would have been $8,100 according to Wicker.

workshop and following a closed session on personnel and litigation.

The road department took the biggest hit in spite of warnings by manager Bill Cupit that projects will have to be dropped and snow clearing service will be impaired.

The Zia Senior Citizens program narrowly escaped being pared down, two new ambulances survived the knife and Sheriff James McSwane finally wrangled half of the secretarial position he's been after for a year.

Commissioners need to stay more involved with the budget year-around, so that they are not surprised at budget time, Montes said.

"I'd like to be more informed from the outset, not just 30 days into the process," he told Wynham. "Keep in mind this is not a one time responsibility. We need to stay more aware of what's going on in the county budget."

"We've authorized over $200,000 in expenditures in special projects and we need to be sure taxpayers are getting their money's worth."

Financial potholes

Turning their attention to the road department, commissioners were assured by Wynham that every line item was scrutinized. Several were not only reduced from what Cupit requested, but were lower than last year, he said.

Building maintenance was cut in half and road maintenance was dropped from the $150,000 requested by Cupit to $60,000, which was $50,000 lower than the figure proposed last week by commissioners.

The money allotted for culverts was cut by a third to $20,000 and $5,000 was sliced from cattleguards.

Total cuts suggested by Wynham and approved by commissioners amounted to $365,812 (plus $180,000 of cuts in capital outlay) bringing the road department budget to $830,000, a drop from $1.1 million.

All new positions were cut, two vacant positions were deleted and requested capital outlay was eliminated.

That still puts the road department budget $150,000 higher than the tax levy specifically dedicated for that use, Wynham said. But some of that excess will be offset by state money brought in through cooperative projects.

Commissioners rejected suggestions by Cupit that some changes be made in the projects involving the state to allow him to continue a schedule of cattleguard installations and to put in a "top notch" road in Sun Valley subdivision.

"You've done an excellent job," Commissioner Stirling Spencer told Cupit. "But our revenues are flat and you may not be able to do what you were able to do in the past (to allow the department to) take care of the basic needs of the county."

Cupit warned that the severe cuts would disrupt a five-year plan he put together several months ago covering road improvements and maintenance throughout the county.

"Obviously, you have to make some adjustments on projects in that five-year plan," Montes said.

Cupit said his biggest concern is to keep roads safe for motorists.

Commissioner Wilton Howell proposed canceling the leases on at least two pieces of heavy equipment since Cupit's staff is being reduced. Any money saved could be deposited in a fund to pay for chip-seal and paving or roads in the future. "If you cut any piece of equipment, (it will directly affect) snow removal, which is a five-month period we have to worry about. I need a consensus from commissioners, are we going to hit a service?"

Cupit said when he took over the road department two years ago, a stack of 500 complaints was waiting. His department now receives more praise than complaints, "but that may be what we go back to." During a heavy snow last winter, everyone was plowed out within one and a half days, he said. Thirteen pieces of equipment were used.

"We cannot do more than we have money for," Montes said. "Next winter, it may take you two days. We have to be realistic. We only can do what we have money for. We realize the people are used to excellent service. We won't let your department just sit there and not be able to work."

With the budget he has been handed, Cupit said he will be able to do one-third to one-half of the school bus routes scheduled. Base course work in subdivisions will have to be put on ice, he said.

Commissioner Bill Schwettmann was the lone vote against accepting the reductions as outlined by Wynham. He said he was concerned about disrupting the five-year plan and stressed the need for repairing paved roads and to do more chip-seal work.

"It's important to stress to the audience that the commissioners are not going to let the roads deteriorate," Wynham said. "Cupit is not the brunt of all the cuts. We asked Bill to produce a five year plan and he did. It just will have to be scaled back."

"I assure you the cuts are not over," Howell said.

Law enforcement

Under capital outlay, McSwane fared well, although not as well as commissioners Howell and Schwettmann would have liked. In a 3-2 vote, the board approved two four-wheel drive vehicles and a van for the sheriff. He will have to buy one patrol car out of another source called Chapter 96 Law Enforcement Protection Fund, which is state money based on the number of certified deputies in a department.

Howell and Schwettmann had pushed for the full request of five cars. McSwane noted that several of his cars had accumulated more than 100,000 miles and others were approaching that mark.

"Pretty soon we'll need these vehicles because we won't have any paved roads (due to cuts in the road department budget)," Schwettmann said.

Emergency Services

Four-wheel drive vehicles for the assessor and manager were deleted from capital outlay, but commissioners agreed unanimously to buy two new ambulances for $130,000.

County emergency medical services runs eight ambulances. Montes said the commission should have started replacing the units two years ago and should act now starting with the unit at Port Stanton.

"We are required to provide this service," he said.

Howell proposed cutting the item for medical equipment from $27,000 to $17,000. It passed with Spencer casting the only negative vote.

"If we had gone with one ambulance, we could do more here," Howell said.

Lincoln County Commissioner Wilton Howell, who owns an auto repair business, does what comes naturally and checks under the hood of one of the ambulances slated to be replaced. Commissioner Bill Schwettmann watches.

Wynham said the $27,000 was lean and all the equipment was needed, but the emergency groups would take whatever was provided and do the best they can.

"I feel this equipment is first line, life and death, and I would like to see it funded at $27,000. It could be what keeps Stirling Spencer alive out there some time," Spencer said.

Leaving to the opening, Schwettmann told Wynham, "Put a zero there, please."

Howell asked whether one of the old ambulances being replaced could be sold and the money used to pay for more medical equipment.

"That would be a dangerous precedent," Montes said. "Then the sheriff might expect money back if we sold one of his cars."

Schwettmann said it could be stated as a one-time exception.

Maggie Bohks, coordinator of emergency services in the county, reminded commissioners that the volunteer groups provide first rate service to tourists who visit the area to ski, camp and go to the races.

Tourists

Under the budget for lodgers tax, Howell said he would like to use some of that balance to try a new approach of attracting visitors to Lincoln County.

"I'd like to see some kind of a cooperative arrangement with the chamber in a billboard campaign highlighting the entire county, Valley of Fires, skiing, racing," Howell said. "I'm thinking about the highway out of Las Cruces and catching those people coming from White Sands. We'd try to hit the people out of El Paso who normally turn toward Clouderoft. We may get them to come to Lincoln County."

"Billboards would be better than television or radio, where you hear it and it's gone. People can see them day after day."

Commissioners reviewed each department for reclassification of employees, generally lowering the number of levels initially proposed to be jumped. That approach extended to the detention department where Wynham argued for increase from grade nine to 16 for detention officers and from grade six to eight for the matron/cook. He based his recommendations on a six-county study of job description and wages.

But Howell pointed out that the officers don't face the same danger of deputies out on the street. He proposed an increase to level 12, a three step jump.

Spencer pointed out that detention officers handle medical trauma and perform many duties for which they are not compensated. He suggested grade 15, but no one offered a second to the motion. Howell's proposal passed 4-1 with Spencer voting against it.

But Howell found himself on the losing end of a motion by Commissioner L. Ray Nunley to raise the matron from six to eight. It passed 4-1.

Howell also tried to persuade the board to reinstate a secretarial position for McSwane, but could only muster support for a temporary position of six months. The motion passed 4-1 with Spencer against it.

"I don't see a change or increase in duties requiring more personnel," Spencer said.

"I think he needs someone there to man the front desk," Montes said.

In other budget action, the commission:

—after a lengthy discussion, which at times fastened on the edge of cuts in the Zia Senior Citizens programs, passed the proposed budget as presented by Wynham.

But the action came only after Wynham assured the board the figures already were barebones, and after an irritated Schwettmann roasted other commissioners for what he contended were unfair proposed cuts in the Capitan program.

"I think we ought to give them the budget requested," he said. "When are you going to start being reasonable?"

Although Howell initially was talking not covering the full $27,000 needed for the program to break even, Schwettmann later found support from his fellow commissioner.

"We're talking almost a quarter of a million dollars brought into this economy that would not be here otherwise," Howell said.

Attorney General calls for grand jury to investigate Rep. John Underwood

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

A grand jury will be convened in Lincoln County to decide whether there is sufficient evidence to return an indictment against State Representative H. John Underwood (D-District 56) and Ruidoso Downs police chief Will Hoggard.

Underwood's attorney is calling the move political.

A request for a grand jury was included in a letter from a prosecutor in the office of Attorney General Tom Udall to Twelfth Judicial District Judge Richard A. Parsons.

A district court clerk said Wednesday that Parsons has agreed to call the grand jury, but that no date has been set.

In early April, Underwood revealed that he and Hoggard were being investigated by Udall for public corruption stemming from a client's drunken driving case. At the time, he called for separate investigations by the State Legislature's ethics committee and by the Disciplinary Board of the New Mexico Supreme Court, which oversees the conduct of lawyers.

Both Governor Bruce King and House Speaker Raymond Sanchez have questioned whether Underwood's action warrants Udall's attention.

"I'm happy something finally is happening, that there is movement at last," the Ruidoso Democrat, sponsor of the new ethics-in-government law, told The Ruidoso News Wednesday. "I was hoping that the Attorney General would dismiss (the investigation)."

"If the case moved forward, my preference was to have a public (preliminary hearing in front of a judge) of the evidence, but I'll be there to testify and I'm ready to have all of the facts disclosed. Unfortunately, a grand jury deliberation is secret and (the defendant's side) isn't allowed to cross examine witnesses."

If the grand jury does not return an indictment, the public may not have an opportunity to look at the evidence presented by Udall's staff, he pointed out.

"However, I look forward to clearing my name within the confines of the grand jury setting," Underwood said.

Hoggard and Underwood have contended that nothing improper occurred in their discussion of a case involving an Underwood client facing possible revocation of his driver's license.

But Underwood said earlier this month that investigators in March told him he would be charged, possibly with bribery.

The officer who filed the case against his client failed to show up at an administrative hearing on the license after Underwood contacted Hoggard. As a result, that portion of the case against his client was dismissed.

Udall's office spokesman said that by going to a grand jury in Lincoln County, Underwood's constituents will decide whether criminal charges are warranted.

In a separate statement that appeared in the Albuquerque Journal, Udall defended the decision, calling the grand jury approach "an entirely proper process." He said if Underwood is indicted, the Ruidoso lawyer will get his public hearing in a criminal trial.

But Underwood's attorney Gary Mitchell said Udall isn't playing fair. Udall wants a grand jury, because he can control the show, Mitchell said.

"We want them to have a public hearing," he said. "They're trying to come across as fair and impartial, but if they were, we'd be allowed to present information as well."

"In a grand jury situation, everything is secret, attorneys can't present information. I was hoping they would be more open about this thing."

Mitchell said in a grand jury proceeding, the prosecutor calls the shots and can lay out any scenario without rebuttal.

"I feel if we could present our side, there would be no indictment," Mitchell said. "I still think this whole thing is political. I hope someday Americans will realize we need some kind of control over the prosecutors. They encourage John to have ethics, but these prosecutors need to be more ethical. I don't like them playing politics with my money, the public's money."

Annual spring cleaning time

The villages of Ruidoso and Ruidoso Downs, in conjunction with Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority, invite the community to join in the annual clean-up campaign from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday, May 1 and 2.

"Let's take a natural pride in the beauty that surrounds us," reads a news release provided by the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce.

Lincoln County Solid Waste will have trucks on the "Free Parking" lot on Sudderth in Ruidoso, owned by the Ruidoso State Bank, for trash items to be deposited.

Nuisance complaint forms for problems with neighboring projects, old automobiles, eyesores, and such, can be picked up at the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce or Ruidoso Public Library.

EDCLC plans to meet tonight

Whether directors of the Economic Development Corporation of Lincoln County will follow through on their pledge to get into action will be tested today when the group is scheduled to meet.

The group will have its regular April meeting at 7 p.m. today, Thursday, at the office in the Stroud Building. At a special meeting earlier this month newly-elected president Scott Shafer and directors agreed they need to take care of business by having good attendance at meetings after an inconsistent year of attendance.

Besides the routine secretary's report and treasurer's report, executive director Karen Kopp will report on several projects in progress, including a fundraising campaign, a hotel search, a direct mail campaign and a report on funding requests.

She will also update the group on the move of the office to a smaller office in the Stroud Building. The rent on the office was to increase but the new office will be the same the organization has been paying. The group will be able to use a conference room on that floor for its monthly meetings.

Smile, you may be on candid camera courtesy R.D. police

Through the donations of Ruidoso Downs citizens, the village police department now has a video camera to help it in its efforts to enforce the law.

Downs police chief Will Hoggard said Downs citizens donated funds to purchase a GE CG818 camcorder for the department to use when someone is stopped for possible driving while under the influence, to document interviews or to record a crime scene. The camera, which was purchased at Wal-Mart, is a regular camera but is adaptable to police work.

They just received the camera and have not yet been able to use it in action, but Hoggard said they should be able to use it in a lot of other areas they haven't considered yet. Since they only have one the recorder will be kept mainly in the traffic safety officer's vehicle.

The department is pleased to have the donation of the one camera and would like to purchase another one when it is possible.

The citizens also helped purchase five shotguns for the department.

Chain letter resurfaces

by CHARLES STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

A chain letter requesting business cards to honor a sick child's wish to enter the Guinness Book of World Records has surfaced in the Ruidoso area.

According to the U.S. Post Office, chain letters are illegal and many are used for gaining mailing lists.

The letter said Craig Shergold, seven, has little time to live and turned in a request to the Children's Make A Wish Foundation to have the largest collection of business cards received by an individual.

According to the Better Business Bureau in Atlanta, Georgia, cards should not be sent.

Officials there quoted from a release that read: "Children's Wish Foundation came to our attention in 1985, it's purpose was to fill the wish of terminally ill children.

"In April of 1990, Children's Wish Foundation concluded its campaign to collect greeting cards for a British child named Craig Shergold. The goal has since been passed, and a request was made that no more cards be sent.

"Recently solicitations are being received nationwide which request individuals to send business cards on Shergold's behalf.

"This is not a request of Shergold or of Children's Wish Foundation.

"Do not send greeting cards or business cards to this organization. Additionally, some of these unauthorized mail requests list the name of Make A Wish Foundation. This is not a name used by Children's Wish Foundation."

Warriors shoot for qualifying marks

John Echols gathers steam as he speeds down the runway to the pole vault pit during the Warriors home track meet on April 17. The Warriors are at full speed to close up the season with one more meet before the district and state competitions in May.

The track team will continue to roll this weekend in its trek to the state tournament on May 14-15 in Albuquerque.

The group will be in Lovington on Saturday for one more state qualifying meet before the district competition on May 8 in Las Cruces. Four Warrior tracksters have already made the marks necessary to compete at state, but with two meets left plenty more are likely to make the cut.

On Friday in Artesia the boys team finished the day third out of five teams with Lovington running away with the top spot by more than 60 points. The girls team placed second at the meet with 70 points, while Lovington also took the title on the girls side with 128 points.

Jackie Lynn turned a first place performance in the 800-meter run with a time of 2:01.2 to qualify for state. Teammate Gilbert Kayitah took fifth in that event at 2:10.56.

Two Warriors will be going to state in the long jump as well. Freshman Kyle Humphreys leaped 21 feet, 2 inches for first place in the meet, but Jason Dix was close behind him in third place with a distance of 20-11.

Dix and Humphreys also placed in the 110-meter high hurdles. Dix was third with a time of 16.36 seconds, while Humphreys finished sixth at 16.92 seconds. Dix then took second place in the 300-meter hurdles in 42.57 seconds.

Kayitah captured second place in the 3200-meter run with a time of 10:36.52, while teammate Faustino Miranda took fourth at 10:47.41. Miranda was also fourth in the 1600-meter run with a time of 4:58.28.

Anthony Torres crossed the finish line of the 200-meter dash in sixth place with a time of 25.12. Rex Comanche picked up a fifth place in the 400-meter dash with a time of 55.34.

In field events Jeff Cox hit third place in the shot put with a throw of 44 feet, one-half inch. Earl Holstein took fifth in the pole vault by clearing 10-2.

The 400-meter relay team barely missed the qualifying mark when it finished third in the event with a time of 45.10. The 800-meter relay group was also third with a time of 1:36.21, while the 1600-meter relay team was third with a time of 3:38.20. The 1600-meter medley relay team finished third as well with a time of 4:11.88.

Sarah Dix captured first place in two events in the girls second place finish. She earned a first in the long jump with a distance of 18-8 and first in the 100-meter hurdles in a time of 17 seconds.

Stephanie Haas also collected a first place medal with her efforts in the 1600-meter and 3200-meter runs. She finished the first course in 6:09.09, the second in 13:31.0.

Jody Randle will be headed for state in May with her qualifying mark of 5-1 in the high jump which earned her second place. Monica Martinez earned second place in the shot put with a throw of 32-10. She also took third in the discus with a throw of 98-8, while teammate Monique Ramos was sixth at 84-3.

Kristie Ryan took sixth place in the long jump with a distance of 14-10, and third in the 400-meter dash in a time of 67.80. In the 200-meter dash she took fifth at 28.88, while Dix earned third in 27.91.

Braves sweep up wins at home meet, Tulie

Small in numbers but big in effort, the Ruidoso Middle School Braves track teams have been competing with the best and coming out strong.

The boys team with less than 15 members has been placing in the top two consistently at its meets, while the girls team has also turned in some good individual performances.

At the Ruidoso meet on April 8, the boys team sailed into second place with 80 points, just two points behind the winner Hatch.

Leading the way for the Braves was Robert Cruz who picked up a first place in the 100-meter dash in a time of 11.68 seconds and second in the pole vault with a height of eight feet.

Cruz along with teammates Arthur Rojas, Clint Pierce and Billy Rogge, raced to the top spot in the 400-meter relay with a time of 49.18, and first in the 800-meter relay with a time of 1:40.77. The 1600-meter relay team took fifth in a time of 4:58.13.

Rojas crashed through the finish line just ahead of his opponent to win the 200-meter dash in a time of 25.12. Rogge also earned a first place in the 300-meter hurdles with a time of 46.93.

Pierce took second place in the long jump with a distance of 17 feet eight inches, just an inch and a half behind the winner. Rogge finished third at 16-11.

Kenny Ellard had a throw of 94-11 in the discus for third place and teammate Craig Baldrige was fourth at 91-5 1/2. Tommy Richardson earned second place in the shot put with a throw of 34-10, while Ellard was sixth at 31-4 1/2.

Kent Sparks picked up second place in the 1600-meter run with a time of 5:42.44. He also earned third in the 400-meter dash with a time of 62.34.

At the Tularosa meet on April 13, Cruz once again lead the Braves by winning the 100-meter dash in 12.1 seconds and the pole vault with a height of nine feet. The Braves finished second in the meet, right behind Hatch.

Rojas captured first place in the 200-meter dash as well with a time of 25.2 seconds. The Braves 400-meter relay team also picked up first place with a time of 48.5 seconds, while the 800-meter relay was second in a time of 1:45.8, barely behind the winner Hatch. Sparks took second in the 1600-meter run in a time of 5:36.1 and he also earned third in the 400-meter dash in a time of 63.9. In the pole vault he placed fifth with a height of 6-6. Guadalupe Garcia also cleared 6-6 but took fourth in a tie breaker.

Richardson earned third in the shot put and fifth in the discus with a throw of 88-10. Rogge was fourth in the 300-meter hurdles in a time of 48.3 seconds. Pierce turned in a good performance in the long jump again and took third place with a leap of 16-10. The 1600-meter medley relay team was fifth in a time of 4:48.9.

The Lady Braves team came in fourth at the Ruidoso meet with 48 points, while Hatch stole the show with 144.5 points.

Jenny Ritter earned first place in the long jump with a distance of 15-2 and also took second in the 200-meter dash with a time of 31.03 seconds. Amy Coble captured third place in the 100-meter hurdles with a time of 21.43 seconds.

Lisa Reyes came in fourth in the 200-meter dash in a time of 31.80. Shirryn Williams took fifth in the long jump with a leap of 11-7, while Cindy Scott earned fifth in the high jump with a height of 3-6. Summer Paxton was also fifth in the 800-meter run with a time of 3:12.81, with teammate Althea Palmer right behind her at 3:26.41.

Jessica Blaney had a throw of 47-8 in the discus for sixth place and Reyes was sixth in the 100-meter dash with a time of 15.49. Dian Drury finished the 400-meter dash in 1:30.22 for sixth place.

The relay team of Ritter, Scott, Coble and Paxton won first place in the 400-meter relay with a time of 58.59 and the 800-meter relay in 2:07.28.

The 400-meter relay team also took the top spot at Tularosa with a time of 58 seconds. Capitan edged out the team in the 800-meter relay with a time of 2:04.4, while the Lady Braves crossed the line in 2:04.5.

Coble picked up third place in the 100-meter hurdles with a time of 20.6, while Ritter was second in the long jump with a jump of 13-10. Reyes also placed fourth in the event at 12-11 1/2.

Ritter also captured second place in the 200-meter dash with a time of 30.2. Paxton was fourth in the 800-meter run with a time of 3:08.3.

Tennis team battles Portales Rams today

Both tennis teams collected a win in the second home match of the season on Thursday against Artesia.

The boys won in a tight match, 5-4, while the girls were breathing a little easier with a 6-3 win.

First seed Aaron Stallings won his match 6-1, 6-1 against Joey D'Amico, while Diego Garcia recorded a 7-5, 6-3 victory over Jason Ellis. Hemanth Pai defeated Todd McFadin 6-3, 6-2 and Richard Enriquez beat Steve Esquibel 6-4, 6-4.

Aaron Ramos lost 3-6, 5-7 to Fermin Aguilar, and freshman Billy Garcia lost 5-7, 2-6 to Will McLellan.

The first doubles team of Stallings and Diego Garcia won a cliff-hanger 7-5, 7-5, against D'Amico and McFadin.

"Aaron and Diego were up 5-0 in the first set, and then failed to stop a rally. They let a little over-confidence creep in," said Coach Steve Havill.

Pai and Ramos lost 4-6, 6-3, 5-5, to Ellis and Aguilar. Enriquez and Garcia were defeated by Esquibel and McLellan 4-6, 5-7.

In the girls competition senior Ciceles Makowski continued her first singles sweep with a 6-2, 6-1 win over Brandy McRae. Teaming up with Nancy Kunkel, the doubles team beat Dawn Foley and Jean Slater, 9-7.

Argentine exchange student Mariana Ferrari won a three-set marathon against Foley, 6-2, 4-6, 6-3. Heidi Johnson won her singles match against Slater 6-4, 6-3, then teamed with Ferrari to beat McRae and Amber Haney 8-2.

Also posting a win for the Warriors was Noelle Beechie, 6-4, 6-3 over Flori Muneacas.

Second seed Kunkel lost 6-7 with a 7-2 tie breaker and 4-6 to Haney and in a twilight match, Beechie and Corrie Garcia dropped a pro-set match 6-8 to Muneacas and Janell Taylor.

Golfers slip in Cruces

Coming off an impressive victory in last week's Leroy Gooch Invitational, the Ruidoso Warrior golf team finished sixth out of a 10 team field in the Dona Ana Classic, Monday and Tuesday in Las Cruces.

The tournament was hosted by Las Cruces and Mayfield High Schools and was played over two difficult golf courses, Fleacho Hills and New Mexico State.

The Warriors finished fifth after Monday's play at Fleacho with a 345 total. Carlsbad led the way with a 326 total followed by Alamogordo, 332; Mayfield, 340 and district rival Deming had 343. The Warriors finished in front of Las Cruces High (355), Ocate and Silver (358), and Gadsden (381).

Individually, the Warriors were led by Jeff Chapman with 84, Ryan Wall, 85; Jimmy Varnadore, 86; Matt Cantu, 90; and Byron Soules shot 95.

Tuesday's play at New Mexico State was similar with Carlsbad leading the way at 324 followed by Alamogordo, 326; Mayfield, 326; Las Cruces, 328; Deming, 335; Ruidoso 337; Ocate, 345; Silver, 355; Gadsden, 360.

Junior Matt Cantu shot an excellent 81 at NMSU, followed by Jeff Chapman's 82, Ryan Wall again shot 85 after encountering putting problems on the back nine, and Jimmy Varnadore had 89. Freshman Byron Soules recorded a 92.

"We're not really concerned too much with the AAAA schools (Mayfield, Las Cruces, Carlsbad, Gadsden and Alamogordo)," Warrior coach Ron Wall said.

"Our goal is to win district. Deming played well and beat us by two strokes both days, we'll have to play better next week."

The Warriors' next tournament is the district tournament at Deming. The locals easily beat Deming here, last week but the home course advantage will be difficult to overcome. Socorro, who did not play at Las Cruces, is probably the favorite for the district title, since they compete regularly in Deming's regular season tournament.

The Warriors, who have not played the course in tournament conditions, will have their hands full with the home team, and Socorro, who beat Ruidoso by two strokes in Albuquerque. The Warriors returned the favor and beat Socorro by two shots in the Leroy Gooch.

The junior varsity team will also compete in the District tournament along with the Lady Warriors.

Jackie Lynn dashes across the finish line in the 800-meter run after overcoming an opponent in the home stretch for the win on Saturday in a meet here. Lynn has placed first in the event consistently this year and is looking to improve on his time Friday in Artesia.

Celebrity helps People Care with golf scramble

by FRANCES JONES
Special to The News

Sometimes help comes from unexpected sources, when you least expect it.

The third annual People Care Benefit Golf Scramble had gone into a slump until Terry Michael Scott heard of our "cause" and cared.

We had searched for months for a nationally-known celebrity to bring some interest — and funds — into our efforts to improve housing for the mentally ill. We had been turned down, ignored and told that most celebrities would expect a guarantee of $20,000 minimum just to appear.

We appealed to our relatives and friends, scattered from East Coast to West Coast. Our daughter, Karen, in Los Angeles told us that even though she was in the midst of celebrities, they are very hard to contact. She asked us to send a packet of information about Ruidoso, and the Chamber of Commerce supplied us with the "latest" about our area. Karen's husband gave the packet to a friend in the recording business and mentioned our People Care Golf Scramble.

When Terry Michael Scott learned of our "grass roots" struggle to create some decent housing for mentally ill young adults, he felt the need to help. He will be flying from Los Angeles to El Paso at his own expense, renting a car and driving to Ruidoso to participate in the Golf Scramble on Saturday, May 8, at the Links at Sierra Blanca.

And you ask, "Who is Terry Michael Scott?" Until our daughter told me about him, I had not heard the song "Rain" that he co-wrote with Mark Antaky to win the Music City Song Festival Grand Prize in 1990 as well as it being the 1990

Billboard award-winning song. Nor did I know that he is one of the most recent artists to join Original Sound Records Studio in Hollywood.

Scott is a singer/songwriter who has worked in past years as a counselor for "All Nation Foundation" for mentally impaired adults and children. He has served as Program Director for the Southern California Prison Coalition and worked with the Indian Offenders Rehabilitation Program, an organization which was involved with the rights of Indian groups in prison.

His first encounter with inmates shook up his previous attitude of convicts being the same as vicious animals.

"These guys were just like my friends at San Fernando High," said Scott. "It blew me away." Scott stayed with the Indian program for a year and a half, later introducing the concept of in-prison entertainment to prisons throughout Southern California.

He played banjo and sang in a bluegrass band, presenting a variety of music to the prisoners — from bluegrass to jazz and blues.

He learned how important a real home is for convicts on parole. (Perhaps his knowledge of this enables him to understand the need of people who are mentally ill and face the world after checking out of the State Mental Hospital.) People Care homes try to make this transition easier.

Terry Michael Scott is not only a singer/songwriter, but he is also an electrical contractor who builds recording studios; in fact, this is his particular specialty. He has built recording studios for Kenny Rogers, Leon Russell and members of Chicago. He has met many famous musicians and has worked as director of operations at Royal Sound Studios in Hollywood. He rebuilt

TERRY MICHAEL SCOTT

Original Sound Studios, owned by Art Laboe who is famous in his own right.

Art listened to the song, "Rain," loved the material and signed Terry Michael Scott to his label as an artist, releasing "Rain" as a single. In spite of all his accomplishments, Scott is still searching for new interests. As his lyrics in the prize-winning song, "Rain," tell us,

"Things can always change, They don't have to stay the same.

I know I can be, the one that always seemed, To beat inside my heart, to live inside my dreams."

We still haven't met Terry Michael Scott, but we already know he is a caring person, thinking beyond himself, trying to help others who are less successful. If you'd like to meet him, plan to participate in — or help with — our Benefit Golf Scramble at 2 p.m. on Saturday, May 8, at The Links.

It's our third year of fund raising, and many businesses and individuals in Ruidoso and Roswell are helping with the prizes. The Hole-in-One Prize is a 1993 Mercury Topaz from Ruidoso Ford. With "caring people" on our side and Terry Michael Scott on the links, we'll keep our homes in operation for another year.

If you need information or entry forms, call Bill or Frances Jones at 257-7601.

Kids compete in Arco Games

The Arco Games for kids interested in competing in track and field events are back again this year.

The sign-ups for the event will begin at 8 a.m. on Saturday at Ruidoso High School with the games to start immediately following that. There will be plenty of competitors for spectators to cheer on. Activities will include the ball throw, long jump, dashes and long distance runs for participants who are seven to 14 years of age.

Winners at these games have an opportunity to go on to regional and state competitions. The games are organized by the village parks and recreation department.

Get ready to hit tennis courts

Registration for all kids interested in tennis lessons, organized game play and the National Junior Tennis League (NJTL) is set for 10:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. on May 15 at the public tennis courts.

The event is being sponsored by the village parks and recreation department. Tennis Rats ladder competition by age and ability will also be part of the program.

For more information call Dave Anderson at 257-5030 or leave a message at that number.

Evans closes in on state mark

Former Ruidoso student athlete Eric Evans set a meet record and won the 110-meter high hurdles at the Mary Sepulveda Invitational Meet of Champions in Albuquerque on April 19.

The meet placed the eight best athletes in New Mexico in each event in direct competition regardless of the classification of their school. Evans' effort of 14.16 seconds was a personal best and is just .16 of a second off the fastest time ever run by a high school athlete in New Mexico in the event.

Evans will have two chances to break the state record in the 110 high hurdles at the upcoming state track meet in mid-May.

Plan for summer fun in camp

Wondering what you are going to do this summer to stay fit and have a little fun?

The Broken Drum T-Shirt Shop has prepared a great summer for young people interested in volleyball and basketball. Activities such as clinics and leagues on these sports are scheduled throughout the summer to help participants improve on skills. The first event will be a team volleyball camp featuring Norm Brandle, coach at the University of Texas El Paso, on June 7-10 at Ruidoso High School.

For more information on this clinic and other activities planned for the summer contact Jody Blanton at 258-4910.

For the younger generation looking for some fun get ready for the 1993 Sports Fitness Camp. Kids five to 12 years of age are invited to participate in the camp on June 21-25, June 28-July 2, July 5-9 or July 12-16.

Activities planned include tumbling, tennis, volleyball, basketball, softball, swimming, soccer and badminton. The camp will be at the Ruidoso Middle School Gymnasium. Campers will need to bring a sack lunch, a drink, towel, swim suit and sun block each day.

For more information on this camp contact Robyn Johnson at 378-8232.

Capitan handmaidens stock up for annual arts, crafts sale

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Bessie Jones was elbow deep in a bag of material scraps, one of 40 given to a group of women who are busy creating new items for the big community handicraft fair this summer.

"We're using the scraps for everything," said Nina Ross, one of the organizers of the Handmaidens group.

The shapes and patterns are carefully sorted, then the volunteers put together packets for senior citizens groups or anyone else who wants them.

The goal is to produce thousands of wonderful creations to be sold from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. for six days during the July Fourth celebration in Capitan.

The group will set up shop in old city hall and invites all other crafters, woodworkers or un-definables to show their wares.

"We will keep one-fourth of what they sell and use it to help the needy in the community," Ross said. "They can keep three-fourths."

"We feel the event helps the small crafters who can't afford to rent booth space during events like the art and craft show in Ruidoso."

Members of the Handmaidens, who refer to themselves simply as Christian women, create their items for fun. About a dozen of them get together a few times a week to share ideas and work on projects.

Last week, they tried their hands successfully at designing earring from crushed pieces of paper, accented with pearls and gems. They plan to sell the whimsical sets for $4. They also will be decorated shirts, baby mobiles, dolls, purses, tote bags and whatever else their imaginations spark.

"Our group and the July sale are open to any crafters in the area or anywhere who want to get involved," Ross said. "We have people coming in July from Roswell and Texas."

"Our last sale was very successful with only minimal advance public notice."

While the major goal of the group is to help the community's needy, Ross said the secondary focus is fellowship and just plain fun. Everyone is eager to learn new techniques and crafts. One woman shared ideas she picked up while in Florida.

"There are no charges, no membership, no requirements," Ross said. "Our extension club certainly has been a compliment to the effort. Many of the women are members of the club, too."

The group also is selling tickets for a bear quilt due to be given away on July 3 during the Smokey Bear Stampede evening rodeo.

The red and white quilt will fit a double bed. Tickets are six for $5 or $1 each.

Members of the Capitan Handmaidens group flank a table heaped with scraps of material before starting a series of new projects in preparation for a July handicraft

ENMU students stay active with aerobics

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

She married a coach, but Yolonda Cline never considered herself an athletic person.

"I came from a very non-traditional, non-athletic family," she said.

Then she was introduced to step-bench workouts and now, a slim, trim, physically fit Cline teaches classes in the technique for Eastern New Mexico University-Ruidoso.

"I consider myself a real success story," Cline said during a recent afternoon interview. "We moved here on a whim five years ago and I bought a membership in the athletic club as a way to meet people. I had been a teacher's aide in remedial reading and there were no job openings here. I had never exercised or been physically active. But I loved it so much, I got hooked. "I'm not the same person and it's not only the weight loss, which was minimal. It's the cardiovascular strength, the muscle development. I look different in clothes and have more endurance. It also relieves stress and improves a person's self concept and outlook."

Although Cline started with aerobic dance, it was step bench training that really attracted her and that's what she teaches. The concept is simple.

"It involves stepping up and down on a bench to music," she said. "It's a very low impact, but high intensity work out. It burns 60 percent more calories and 30 percent more body fat than regular aerobics."

"I'm really convinced if you can walk up a flight of stairs, you can do this. I work with the over 60 and the young, and those with health concerns such as diabetes and asthma. The workout can be modified to fit everybody's health needs."

Cline puts together routines to all types of music, including country to rock oldies.

"I never do the same class twice and use lots of free form patterns," said Cline, who at age 39 recently participated in a research program dealing with fitness trainers.

"I volunteered in January to be part of a step instructors research project in Albuquerque at the University of New Mexico's Human Performance Lab," she said. "I fared extremely well in my age group. I came out with the physical strength and endurance of a trained athlete."

Taking a step bench course should improve a person's overall health status, lowering the blood cholesterol and triglycerides, reducing the number of migraine headaches suffered, she said.

A typical class starts with stress-relieving moves and a warm-up, progresses into the step-bench aerobics for the heart, then a cool down and stretches.

"I try to establish a non-competitive environment, because I teach to a variety of levels and provide modifications for those that need them," Cline said. "I try to make it fun, so they don't feel like they have to do everything the instruction does."

"In my college classes, I teach them to be extremely aware of safe exercise technique and I also stress correct aerobic training procedures," Cline said. "The whole exercise program can be performed without a bench, so it's a program everyone can do. They may start there and work up to a bench. The benches now are in the four to six-inch height range."

"No one is stepping over eight inches and I don't allow that height."

"Most people don't know much about their own bodies. I teach them how to train their heart muscle. We look at strength training through the use of resistance equipment and light weights."

"The classes are a chance to work with people who are intimidated by the health club atmosphere. We become like a family and develop a close relationship."

Cline also handles a weight training class for the university, two physical education classes for college credit and community education exercise classes in Ruidoso and in Capitan.

To stay current with research and improvements in the field, Cline said she attends workshops and seminars at least four times a year.

She is a certified aerobics instructor with the National Exercise Dance Instructors Training Association and a step bench trainer through the Exer-Safety Association.

Although the university's summer schedule hasn't been established yet, Cline is set to teach classes this summer.

Cline and her husband, Norman, a coach at Capitan, have two daughters, 16-year-old twins Jessica and Amy, and a seven-year-old son, Matthew. The girls are very athletic and active at Capitan High School.

"We love it here. It's our home," Cline said. "We don't want to be anywhere else. I'm lucky to work with the university and that they're willing to take a chance offering non-traditional courses."

To take a peek at one of Cline's classes, check the Ruidoso Middle School cafeteria at 3:45 p.m. every Tuesday and Thursday.

Board narrows field

A special meeting of the Capitan School Board may be called next week to select a new district superintendent for the 1993-94 school year.

Four applicants for the position were interviewed last week by board members. The board considers some of them serious contenders, said Board President Tom Trout.

"Right now we are checking their references," he said Wednesday. "We want to take our time and be sure. If everything comes together, we may call a meeting for next week instead of waiting until our next regular meeting."

The applicants selected for interviews were:

—Diane Sonnemaker, assistant superintendent for personnel in the Hobbs school district.

—Tim McCoy, superintendent of the Maxwell school district.

—Bruce Hegwer, superintendent of the Melrose school district.

—Daniel Patterson, director of personnel from the Farmington school district.

The Capitan board voted earlier this year not to renew the contract of current superintendent David Lock, who is finishing his second year in the position.

CHS Tigers track team qualifies for state meet

Members of the Capitan boys track team have qualified to compete at state in 13 different track events, according to coach Ed Davis.

And last week, the boys attended two track meets in Eunice and Tularosa, where they swept both in relays against much larger schools.

"We qualified in all four relay events," Davis said. "We have one boy who will compete in the 100, two in the 200, one in the 300 and 110 hurdles. Two boys will go for the pole vault, one for the two mile run, one for javelin and for the long jump and high jump."

The team will go to the district meet this weekend in Hagerman.

Davis said the girls team also has qualified for state in all four relays and some individual events.

Church friends remember Tooie Littlefield

Mildred "Tooie" Littlefield

Memorial services were held Saturday, April 24, at Church of the Holy Mount in Ruidoso for Mildred Littlefield, affectionately known to her many friends as "Tooie." She was called home by Our Lord on April 10. Lay reader Dr. Ronald Annala read from the book of Isaiah:

"The spirit of the Lord God is upon me because the Lord hath appointed me to preach good tidings to the meek. He hath sent me to bind up the brokenhearted."

And he led in the recitation of the twenty-third Psalm:

"For I reckon that the sufferings of this present time are not worthy to be compared with the glory which shall be revealed in us."

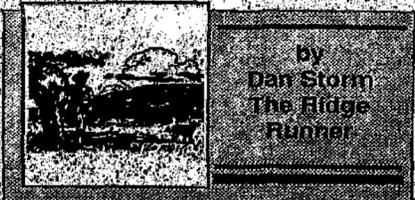

Father John W. Penn, in charge of services, read from the Gospel according to Saint John:

"Jesus said unto her, 'I am the resurrection and the life. He that believeth in me, though he were dead yet shall he live.'"

Father John offered a special prayer for Tooie.

"God of Grace and Glory we remember before you this day our sister Tooie. We thank you for giving her to us, her family and friends, to know and love as a companion on our earthly pilgrimage. In your boundless compassion, console us who mourn. Give us faith to see in death the gate to eternal life, so that in quiet confidence we may continue our course on earth, until by your call, we are reunited with those who have gone before, through Jesus Christ, Our Lord. Amen."

An All American Quilt

After the services, there was on display a quilt made under the sponsorship of Allene Luck by five ladies of the Senior Citizen Center. The quilt is composed of squares representing all the states in the continental United States. In each square is a small replica of the state, the state bird, flower and tree and the date it was admitted to the Union.

The squares were made by Senesta James and were sewn into the quilt by Ruth Struvie, Edna Falls, Jessie Locke and Verna Allen.

Allene Luck paid for the work and gave the quilt to Church of the Holy Mount to be sold at the "Christmas in July" Bazaar.

The quilt gives you a special feeling of the inseparable union and the interdependence envisioned by our Founding Fathers. It is a real treasure, a proud possession for any home.

Swallows Arrive

This is being sent to you just after high noon on April 26, a true spring day with the leaf parade well under way, and the favorite birds and flowers of spring in the mountain land are arriving.

Just today around noon a swallow scout flew slowly over the house seeming to be happy in arriving in his summer home. The swallow is welcomed world wide as a messenger of spring and also of good fortune.

Just after the swallow scout, a pair of New Mexico wild pigeons came and lighted on the chimney and stood there admiring the view; hummingbirds are all around the yard visiting the lilacs, and the first purple iris has come into bloom.

loved people and spent her life doing all the acts of kindness in her power, that nothing could stand in her way of this loving care for people — not age, not illness nor the death of her husband, Jim.

One of Tooie's long-time friends, Liz Bennett, said Tooie was a true friend in need, that she knew what you needed and brought this to you.

Father John fondly remembered the time Tooie came to see him in the hospital after his heart attack, that this visit had helped him recover.

Lay reader Susan Penn joined Walter Rawley, Dr. Annala and Father Penn in celebration of the Holy Communion.

Dr. James Fennimore played prelude music on the organ, accompanied by the singing of hymns:

"Crown Him With Many Crowns," "The Strife is O'er the Battle Done," "Jerusalem, my Happy Home" and "Ye Watcher and Ye Holy One."

Tooie will ever hold a fond spot in our hearts, and we all thank God for the blessing that she will always remain in our lives, and we rejoice that she is safe and happy with Our Lord in Heaven.

LCMC reports recent health screening project

Last week, April 17, a screening program for prostate cancer was conducted in the Ruidoso area for the first time.

In one day, more than 100 men were screened for the disease at Lincoln County Medical Center (LCMC), according to a news release.

The screening involved a free rectal exam and/or a low-cost combination rectal exam and P.S.A. blood test for prostate cancer.

With early diagnosis, prostate cancer often can be cured. Nearly 120,000 cases of prostate cancer are diagnosed each year in the United States.

Ruidoso physicians and a visiting urologist assisted the hospital in conducting the tests.

"We appreciate doctors Beechie, Jackson, Fennimore and Rosen's time on a Saturday to help with a very worthwhile service to the men older than 40 in our community," said Jan Davy, a registered nurse at LCMC.

"We are thrilled with the response," she added.

Valerie Miller, administrator of LCMC, also expressed her pleasure with the success of this screening.

"We feel that our role as a hospital includes informing our residents and offering preventive activities such as the prostate screening and our annual health fairs," she said.

Miller stated that health fairs in communities throughout Lincoln County are being planned for the fall.

Downs cracks down on dumps

by KRISTIE SAATMANN
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Asking for a little lenience and consideration, a group of Ruidoso Downs citizens argued their case for not complying with village ordinances in front of Downs trustees Monday night.

They had been cited for nuisances such as wrecked or discarded vehicles that do not comply with the current ordinance.

Mayor Joe Hayhurst said two weeks after he came into office a year ago, about 15 citizens came to him and were adamant that the village be cleaned up. The nuisance ordinance has been on the books for years, but past administrations have started it and dropped it, he said.

He said they started cracking down on those nuisances they received complaints on but he assured the group they plan to make a clean sweep of the town.

"We are going to make some people happy and others unhappy," Hayhurst said.

He said he or the code enforcement officer Tom Armstrong have been working with four of those who are not in compliance since June, almost a full year.

"How far can we go? How much time do you get? We have bent over backward to let you get it done," he said.

The mayor acknowledged that most of those at the meeting had complied or are trying to clean-up, and the board appreciates that.

According to one section of the ordinance no one shall allow any dismantled, wrecked, junked or discarded vehicle to remain on any property in the village for longer than 30 days. The exception is if the person has the vehicle in an enclosed building or on property which is enclosed with a fence so the vehicle is not visible from surrounding property or from the street or highway.

The penalty at the present time is a fine of not more than $300 or a jail term of not more than 90 days.

Joe Martin, who was cited but has since complied, said he doesn't know of many people who are rich enough to comply with the ordinance because the required type of fencing is expensive. People do as their neighbors do and some of those properties are "grandfathered" in, he said.

Hayhurst said no properties are exempt. They will enforce the law with everyone, he said. So far Armstrong has given written notice or cited 24 properties in the effort to clean up.

Dave Whipple, who has also been cited, said he hasn't had the money or the time to put up the fence yet.

"I either have to lose my cars or put up a fence and I'm going to put up a fence I just need time to put it up," he said.

Village attorney J. Robert Beauvais said the code enforcement and police officers have to enforce the codes uniformly and fairly and he sees no problem in trying to accommodate the people. If someone thinks that is not being done fairly a complaint can be filed, he said.

The people need to also become familiar with the nuisance ordinance and if they feel it is not appropriate, they can ask the board to amend it, Beauvais said. The ordinance is available at the village hall office.

Hayhurst again reminded the group that this is not the first time the village has tried to enforce this ordinance. He said one code enforcement officer quit because he was afraid he would get hurt if he continued to push the laws.

When the individuals questioned whether they were trying to make Ruidoso Downs into Ruidoso, board members were adamant that they were not. They said they are just following the ordinance that is in place.

"32 years of junk will take a hell of a long time to move," said Dave Mason, who has also been cited.

Rick Simpson and Art Reagan, who were also cited, also asked the group for a little lenience for cleaning up items. Although the items are Reagan's, they are on land owned by Simpson.

Simpson, a former county commissioner, said he has always believed in being a good neighbor. He said he has allowed the village to use his tools and shop to repair vehicles as a part of being neighborly. He said he is letting Reagan use his property to be a good neighbor too.

Simpson said Reagan has taken several loads of items and cars out so he is making progress.

"I know the problem you are up against, but I think we deserve a little consideration," he said.

Although the board said after a citation the municipal judge Harold Mansell would be willing to work with them, Simpson said the judge told them to come to the board.

Beauvais said he may have a point because Mansell has court just two nights a week, while Armstrong and the officers are full-time and they would have a better understanding of the situation. They may have a little more flexibility in deciding what should be done, he said.

Simpson said he came to ask the board for help and to hear its say on the issue.

Mayor Hayhurst said he feels it is out of the board's hands once a person is cited. Before that time the enforcement officer will work with the people, he said.

When Simpson mentioned again they deserve a little consideration, Hayhurst said the village had given them a year as a grace period when the ordinance actually allows for only 30 days.

Simpson said he personally didn't think that the board was being flexible enough.

Trustee Judy Miller said she was cited for having a vicious dog and she was not given a year to pay the fine and comply with the ordinance.

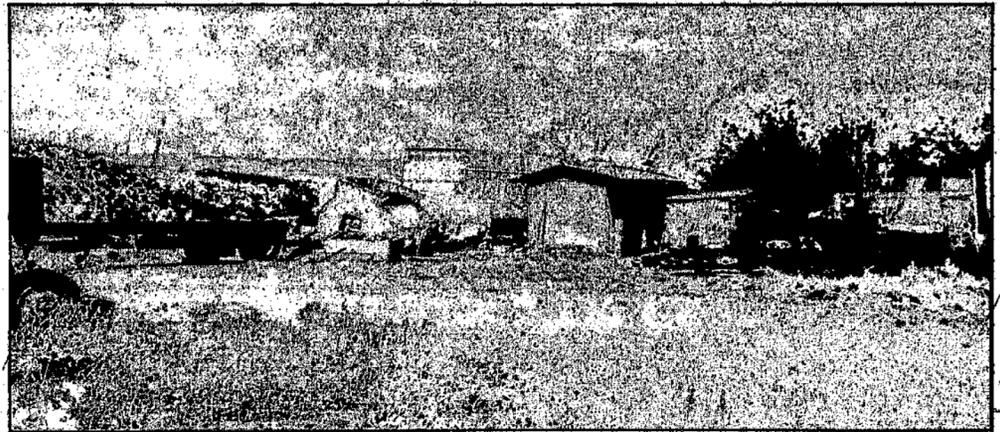

"I had to take care of it right away," she said.

Reagan said he has given a plan to Armstrong on how he will fence in his vehicles, but it will take time to do. Armstrong said it is what the village had asked for in the begin-

Non-operating vehicles and trash on several properties like these in Ruidoso Downs (above and below) prompted citizens to ask the village board to enforce its nuisance ordinance. Property owners, though, are requesting a little flexibility in the time allowed for cleaning up. Mayor Joe Hayhurst said they will work with people if they have a specific plan and time frame to complete it in.

Downs board selects an auditor, ups water rates

Ruidoso Downs trustees quickly took care of items under general business at their meeting Monday night.

The group selected Ronnie Hemphill to do the village's audit for the 1992-93 fiscal year after receiving three price quotes for the project. Hemphill had the lowest at $6,000. Terry Jones and Company came in at $6,500 and Woodward, Wingfield and Cowen would have charged $6,250.

Trustees also voted to publish an amendment to the water and sewer ordinances for an increase in the commodity charge. Village clerk Leann Weibrecht said they need to add a charge on the water as required by the state legislature.

The state requires a three cents per gallon increase, so the amendment will be to add 55 cents per step after the minimum charge for up to 4,000 gallons. The 55 cents will be added to the $1.70 charged per 1,000 gallons between 4,001 and 10,000 gallons. It will also be added to the $2 charge per thousand gallons between 10,001-25,000 gallons and the $2.30 charge for each 1,000 gallons above 25,001 gallons.

An extra 50-cent charge will be added to the minimum sewer rate to help the village pay for maintenance and repairs for the waste water treatment plant.

A public hearing will be scheduled before the amendments are finalized.

The trustees also approved the publication of an amendment to add the penalty clause to all village ordinances. Village attorney J. Robert Beauvais said the village is long overdue in updating its ordinances to follow a state law passed in 1989 to increase the fines from $300 to $500 and to also set a $50 fine for each day over the deadline to comply.

He said the idea is not to hit people with big fines but it offers leverage to see that something is done to comply. It puts teeth in the ordinances, Beauvais said.

A public hearing will also be set for discussion before the group makes its final decision on this amendment.

RD police investigate shootings

A shooting at a residence in Ruidoso Downs on Monday morning is under investigation by the Downs police department.

Downs officer Ray Montes and Corporal Dana Terlecky responded to a call at about 11:30 p.m. Sunday that someone had shot at Andy Miller at his residence near Cowboy's Riding Stables on Highway 70. Also responding to the call were Lincoln County deputy Bobby Angermiller and forest service patrol officer Poncho Smith.

Miller stated that someone had come up on his porch and taken a shot at him while he was sitting in his recliner. He said he ran to his bedroom and saw a man running from the residence.

Officers investigated the scene and found a bullet hole in the bottom glass of the screen door. Officers asked if there had been an accidental shooting in the house but Miller said it was an attempt on his life.

After the investigation all of the officers left the scene but were called back at about 12:30 a.m. Monday because another shot had been fired at him and his wife, who had come home after the first incident.

The officers did find another bullet hole in the bedroom window and both Miller and his wife left the residence.

Police chief Will Hoggard said they do have a suspect in the case but if anyone saw or heard anything that may help they are asked to contact the police department with the information.

Council stalls state plans to add a turn lane by historic Old Mill

by CHARLES STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Ruidoso's only historical monument deserves a little more respect than the New Mexico Highway Department planned, according to Mayor Victor Alonso and the Village Council.

The council, listening to state highway engineer Tim Basler make his recommendation solely for better access to the Cattle Baron Restaurant, rebuffed the engineer by telling him other businesses deserve consideration as well.

Alonso said he is concerned about those other businesses and especially the Old Mill.

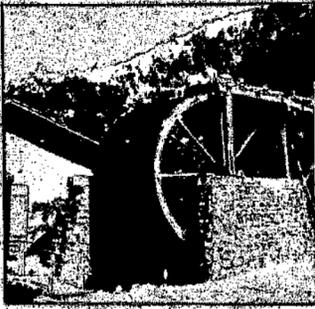

"Do you realize that's probably the only historical building in this town? Do you realize that? If you do any reading about the history of Ruidoso, that is one of the very first buildings in the whole town. The town kind of grew around the Old Mill."

"We're not like Santa Fe that we can call back to dwellings that preceded the Plymouth Rock Colony. We don't have all Spanish style architecture to make us unique like Mesilla or Santa Fe. But we do have an Old Mill."

"That is an historical structure and I haven't heard anybody touch on that. I think they're skirting around the subject," Alonso told Basler.

Alonso also said he was concerned about traffic safety and asked Basler if any of the turn lane could be reduced. The engineer said it couldn't.

Basler told the council of long range plans for a "left turn lane only" from the "Y" to the Carrizo Creek Road turnoff that would eliminate all side street parking along Sudderth Drive in that area.

When Basler said he didn't notice many parked vehicles when he drove into town, Alonso pointed out that April was one of the slowest months of the year.

Alonso asked him about accident accounts to justify the striping. Basler said he had none.

Police Chief Richard Swenor, in support of Basler, said that on the village's most traveled road, he has seen the most accidents.

Carmon Phillips, owner of the Mill told the council of other considerations for not allowing the state to eliminate side street parking.

He told of bicyclers, walkers and skateboarders that would not have the 8-foot buffer zone they now enjoy with street side parking. He was especially concerned about children walking along the area to the municipal swimming pool in the summer time.

He said to take away the lanes would push vehicular traffic to within two feet of pedestrian traffic.

Phillips said the village would become a small town with a speed track running through it.

"I'd like to see the speed reduced down there," he said.

Phillips spoke of the Old Mill as a historical building, internationally known, and visited by such personalities as Billy the Kid, General Black Jack Pershing and Pat Garrett.

He said his business is mainly mail order, and the money he makes from the Old Mill goes to keeping the huge wheel restored. Cutting off his parking, would force the Old Mill to close to the public, Phillips said.

The council chastised Basler for drafting a proposal that would benefit one business at the cost of others.

"We're not doing this to benefit one business or the other," Basler said, defending the proposal. "We're doing this to address a traffic problem from a business that is creating the largest traffic."

However, Basler did admit that the striping would not only hurt the Old Mill but it would create access problems to the businesses across the street from the Cattle Baron.

The council also criticized the highway department for working on the problem with Cattle Baron for nearly a year, but waiting until the last minute to notify other businesses impacted.

Councilor Ron Andrews made a motion to delay acting on any striping for one year until the highway department could come up with a plan that would benefit all the businesses impacted.

The motion was approved unanimously.

Midtown streetscape project delayed

by CHARLES STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

The long awaited MainStreet improvement project hit a snag, but councilors agree the delay will benefit downtown businesses and the community in the long run.

Deputy manager Alan Briley told the Village Council Tuesday that MainStreet had received only one bid, D & S Contracting from Santa Teresa, New Mexico, in the amount of $1,856,491.

Bohannon-Hustin, the consulting engineers, estimated the cost of the project at $988,177, about $350,000 less.

Briley told the council that the State Highway Department opened bids for more than 21 projects the previous Friday, thus eliminating many businesses that might have otherwise bid on the project.

"We recommend the council not accept the bid and to recommend readvertisement in about the June to July time frame," Briley said. "This would give the staff and the consultants time to evaluate the plans for deletions or clarifications, and will probably be a better time not to conflict with all the other highway department projects being bid."

The council previously had expressed concern about the slow start of the project, running little more than a month before shutting down during the season. The work was to be resumed after the season.

MainStreet president Tom Batin said the project is designed to be completed in small stages.

Briley said it would take 180 days to complete the project beginning after the season, and that cold weather would pose no problems or further delays.

The council agreed that the delay was in the best interest of the downtown businesses and would put them in a better posture for bid wars.

Science winner

Richard Overdorf, a student a Ruidoso Middle School, won second place in his project's category at the State Science Fair in Socorro. The young scientist is the son of Richard and Kathy Overdorf. He could be following in his father's footsteps since his dad is a science teacher at Ruidoso High School.

For energy efficiency that doesn't sacrifice your comfort, keep your thermostat setting on 78° this summer. For each degree below this setting, you'll add from 6 to 8 percent to your cooling costs. Since air conditioning is usually one of the largest energy users in your home, the savings can be significant.

Ruidoso 2nd graders prepare to blast off

Lift-off time at White Mountain Elementary launch control center is set for 10 a.m. May 14.

A portion of the second grade classroom area will be transformed into Starship Space Center, where students, astronauts, ground crew members, youthful scientists and "logistic experts" will join a simulated blast off.

A school bus will metamorphose into a space shuttle through the imagination, labor and paint of students and volunteers.

The crew manning the Starship Enchantment Space Shuttle will consist of Commander Farrah Whitaker and Pilot Benjamin Baugh as mission leaders, who will direct the shuttle flight route, be responsible for time, mileage and speed data records, said Susan Rhodes. The second grade teacher proposed the shuttle project, based on her successful experience organizing a similar event in another school district.

Rhodes said Communicator Jessica Tully-Mitchell will team with an adult volunteer radio operator to maintain communication between shuttle and mission control.

A biology team will collect plant and insect specimens from landing sites and will analyze the specimens and come up with scientific hypotheses regarding the area, Rhodes said.

"Our team of geologists are responsible for collecting rock and soil specimens and these samples will be analyzed and compared with those from the space center," she said. "We will also have a team of meteorologists who will use standard and student-made instruments to record vital weather statistics at predetermined sites during the flight. The data will be recorded in a weather log."

Physics engineers will be responsible for the execution of physics experiments related to the effects of motion aboard the space shuttle. They will study the effects of flight on a paddleball, a gyroscope, ball and jacks and a yo-yo. Introduces our astronauts and make some presentations, then our launch will take place at ten hundred hours," she said.

The shuttle will land at the Space Center around thirteen hundred and thirty hours and the astronauts will be escorted to a debriefing room. A press conference will follow.

Astronauts who will lift off with Starship Enchantment Space Shuttle May 14 are (not in order) Farrah Whitaker as commander, Benjamin Baugh as pilot, Jessica Tully-Mitchell as communicator, C.W. Gomez, Angela Zagone, Jessica Painter as medical specialist, Madalena Cordona, Derek Coker as medical specialist, Rebecca Fuentes, Amber Turf, Olivia Baca, Lacy Dunn, Marisa Propsner, Dusty Boldin, Tyler Line, Gregory Kresge (absent) as medical specialist, Simona Ramos, Gonzalo Cordova (absent), Jeff Lucas and Gertrude Coonle.

Second grade teacher Susan Rhodes gets ready to measure shuttle commander Farrah Whitaker for her space suit while communicator Jessica Tully-Mitchell examines a space boot and pilot Benjamin Baugh assesses the safety features of his helmet.

The public is invited to witness the historic launch and welcome the astronauts home.

They also will conduct experiments on the effects of a moving environment on human dexterity, liquid behavior and mechanical manipulation, Rhodes said.

"We will also have environmentalists to test for acid rain, soil and air," she said. "Of course, no space flight could take place without a medical team to supervise and care for the astronauts and this flight will be no different."

Medical team members Jessica Painter, Derek Coker and Gregory Kresge will record the astronauts' vital signs and observe crew behavior during preflight, flight and post-flight activities. Each crew member will have a medical profile."

The flight route will run from the launch site in front of White Mountain Elementary School to two alien planets called Nob Hill Primary School and Ruidoso Middle School, where a flag from the space center will be presented to the aliens.

From that stop, the shuttle will proceed to the Sky Lab at Ruidoso High School, where astronauts will experience zero-gravity and other phenomenon and then on to the galaxy of Cedar Creek to conduct more experiments.

The shuttle will touch down at White Mountain at the conclusion of the mission.

"Naturally, everyone cannot be an astronaut," Rhodes said. "Ground crew and mission control are just as important. So our second graders who are not on the shuttle will each have an important job at the Space Center. Some will be security guards, some mission control, others scientists conducting the same experiments that will take place during the flight to compare the results upon the return of the shuttle."

White Mountain Search and Rescue will bring equipment to install in the shuttle and the mission control classroom.

Communicators will be stationed at each landing site and will work with the shuttle crew during and mission control during the day, Rhodes said.

"The morning of the flight we will have a pre-flight ceremony to

Police review fatal shooting

Ruidoso Police were called to a fatal shooting about 7 p.m. Wednesday at a residence on Mustang Drive.

According to investigator Lanny Maddox, David Ray Campos, 26, was found dead in his home as the result of an apparent self-inflicted gunshot wound.

Campos was a volunteer firefighter.

Maddox said the body has been sent to the state medical investigator in Albuquerque for an autopsy.

Maddox said an investigation is continuing.

Don't forget the area-wide cleanup this Saturday and Sunday. Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority will have trucks at the Free Parking area on Sudderth Drive.

This weekend is a good chance to dispose of those big items that you can't put in your dumpster and beautify the area before the busy summer season begins.

People Care is first of its kind in the state

We started out to provide a safe home for our youngest daughter. Now we have a "family" of nine mentally ill adults depending on us for help.

Our continuing cries for help for some neglected people in our State has become a full-time job for my husband, Bill, and me. We started out as "advocates" and now have become "providers" of safe, affordable, decent homes for people who suffer from serious mental illness.

Two People Care group homes are fully occupied now with one small home awaiting renovation. All the homes are located in Roswell, but several Ruidoso residents are enjoying a homelike atmosphere with supervision.

The two group homes are state licensed, although efforts to receive state, federal or county funding have been in vain.

So the families who bought and renovated the homes are continuing to use their savings to complete the project. We have worked three years now, following the rules and regulations of federal, state and city requirements with paperwork at every turn. What started out as a need for a place to live for our daughter and others like her has turned us into political activists and persistent fund-raisers.

Other families are helping us — many who do not have a mentally ill son or daughter — but they see the need for homes that allow people to live in their own communities, near their families.

Sometimes we wish we had started homes in Ruidoso since we live here. But lack of support services and a day treatment program as well as weekend activities for the clients made us think Roswell would better serve the needs of the residents. What we didn't realize was that all funding for mental health services was being allocated to Counseling Services in Roswell, and none of that was available for housing.

You may not know that mental health services in New Mexico are provided "by contract," and we have been unable to become a "contractor."

People Care, Inc., is providing a service to the state — a needed service — without help

by Frances Jones
of
People Care, Inc.

in funding, even though we are following all state guidelines for housing for disabled people.

Our "Greystone" home for women opened in September 1991. Nancy Domanic was keynote speaker for our ribbon cutting. It is a pleasant place to live for three women, one serving as house parent. The residents make their own breakfast and lunch and then join the people in the large home, "Three Gables," for dinner in their spacious dining room. The house parent in the larger home manages medication, helps plan meals and assists with money management and recreation.

Six men are presently living in the larger home along with one live-in house parent.

People Care also employs a part-time food manager and a relief house parent.

Work needs to be done. The outside of the "Three Gables" home needs repainting, a better heating and cooling system is urgent and the handicap-access bedroom/bath remains uncompleted.

This is the reason People Care is promoting its third annual Benefit Golf Scramble again in Ruidoso on May 8 at the Links — to raise needed funds to complete this project.

For each person who enters the Scramble, $35 goes to help People Care.

The firms and businesses and individuals who help make this fund-raiser a success each year give us new hope and inspiration to continue as well as the people in Lincoln County who give us money and furniture for the homes. Several people have contributed many hours of volunteer labor and continue to work without pay.

The board of directors and officers of People Care do not draw a salary, and all contributions go directly to benefit the residents who suffer from mental illness.

One word about mental illness: people do not ask to be mentally ill; it is not a choice. A chemical imbalance in the brain is sometimes triggered just as the person is seemingly well — often it happens during the college years. Some doctors think it may be caused by a virus or may be partly hereditary.

Whatever the cause, it affects about two percent of our population and causes great difficulty for the family as well as the person who is ill.

The people in our homes range in age from 20 to 43, and most can function fairly well when on the proper medication. Two of the residents are able to hold part-time jobs, and others would like to hold jobs. Several have elderly parents, and one has only a few members of his family left; all are disabled.

Mental illness can strike anyone at any time, and a supportive environment helps alleviate the consequences.

The jail is "home" to many mentally ill people in New Mexico, but they have no home when they leave there unless someone will help them. Also, Las Vegas Medical Center houses many people who need to return to their own communities — if only housing and care were available.

Next month I will be taking the job as state housing chairman for the Alliance for the Mentally Ill — New Mexico. It's an unpaid job, but one that is needed, I think.

If you are interested in helping a long-neglected segment of our community, call Frances Jones at 257-7601.

This is also the number for our Golf Scramble fund-raiser if you need entry forms or information.

Sometimes help comes from unlikely sources.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Frances Jones is a member of the Alliance for the Mentally Ill — New Mexico and parent of a daughter recovering from mental illness. She and her husband, Bill, live in Ruidoso.

Taxpayers don't always get their money's worth

TO THE EDITOR:

I have two very good friends that live at 114 Olympia Road. They really like where they live, except that the road grader never comes to grade in front of their house. Road maintenance ends within 50 to 60 yards from their house.

The following areas are always taken care of: Alpine Village at Olympia, Bonanza at Olympia and Sandia at Olympia.

They pay their share of taxes, but are not getting equal treatment when it comes to road maintenance. The last time there was any gravel put on their road was fall 1986.

I believe they should get a reduction in taxes or start getting their road taken care of.

Also at the corner of Alpine Village and Olympia, a church sits there. When they paved their parking lot, they made all the water shed drain in the road instead of draining about 20 feet over to a ditch. The road there is always needing work. The city always fixes the road with more gravel.

Jehovah's Witnesses from throughout the region meet at Civic Events Center

Ruidoso was the host of a Special Assembly Day of Jehovah's Witnesses Sunday, April 25.

According to a news release, 950 persons from Alamogordo, Tularosa, Ruidoso, T or C, Socorro and one of the four English Congregations in Las Cruces were in attendance for the event in the new Ruidoso Civic Events Center.

Local spokesperson for the group, Don Russell, said that the theme of the event was "Living With Soundness of Mind and Righteousness."

He continued, "Living in a world with constantly changing standards, we must take a stand for what is right and understand why we must continue to do so. In Titus 2:12, the Apostle Paul exhorted us to 'repudiate ungodliness and worldly desires and to live with soundness of mind and righteousness and godly devotion amid this present system of things.'"

"The assembly program emphasized how we can apply this counsel to our lives today."

A highlight of the day was the talk "Cherish Your Blessings Amid a Joyless World" delivered by V.C. Wisegarver who traveled here as a representative of the headquarters staff of Jehovah's Witnesses at Brooklyn, New York.

Another highlight was the baptism by complete water immersion of newly qualified Witnesses.

"We enjoyed using the new facilities at the Civic Events Center. It is certainly a fine addition to our community and will no doubt be used by many. We hope to have other events here in the future," concluded Russell.
