Grand jury meets

A Lincoln County grand jury met Monday and Tuesday, apparently to hear evidence of alleged public corruption against State Representative H. John Underwood.

Members will not meet again until Monday, June 28.

"I hoped I would hear something after two days, but not a word," Underwood said Wednesday. "The jury was convened June 1. This has got to be the longest month of my life, but I have to live with it."

State Attorney General Tom Udall called for the grand jury after Underwood went public with the fact that he and Ruidoso Downs Police Chief Will Hoggard were being investigated. Underwood said the case involves one of his clients and actions he took to prevent revocation of the client's driving license. He contends he did nothing wrong.

The proceedings of a grand jury are secret, including the names of jury members. Underwood had asked for a public airing of the evidence at a hearing in open court.

Profs to speak on NAFTA at ENMU

The impact of the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA) on the Ruidoso area will be the topic of a lecture at 10:30 a.m. Saturday, June 19, at the Eastern New Mexico University-Ruidoso office, 1400 Sudderth Drive.

The presentation is co-sponsored by ENMU-Ruidoso and the Center for Latin American Studies at New Mexico State University. Dr. Charles H. Harris III and Dr. Louis R. Sadler will speak on "NAFTA, Mexico and Ruidoso: a Speculative Look at the Economic Impact of the North American Free Trade Agreement on the Ruidoso area during the Near Term."

Tribal members will continue some age-old customs with coming of age ceremonies this Fourth of July. Also on the Fourth, Mescalero will have a parade and an Indian rodeo.

Stallings named nuke negotiator

President Bill Clinton has accepted nuclear waste negotiator David Leroy's resignation and appointed former Idaho congressman Richard Stallings to the job.

Stallings, 52, served four terms in the House of Representatives and lost his 1992 bid for a seat in the U.S. Senate.

Stallings, a Democrat, hasn't discussed his new job with President Bill Clinton, according to a report in the Idaho Statesman.

He reportedly accepted the position after meeting with Energy Secretary Hazel O'Leary Friday morning. He still must be confirmed by the Senate.

With more than four million spent nuclear reactor fuel rods collecting dust at nearly 100 nuclear sites, the search for a burial site is becoming more urgent, said Carol Bradley in her story.

Four states and 16 Indian tribes have applied for $100,000 grants to explore building a storage site.

Nine of the tribes, including the Mescalero Apache Indian Tribe, have proceeded to round two and applied for the second phase $200,000 grants.

On June 4, the Idaho Statesman printed an article that indicated he supports that voluntary siting process. It said: "Stallings, a former college history professor who was deeply involved in nuclear issues during his tenure in office, said he sees significant possibilities and opportunities in the search for an interim storage site."

Stallings Idaho's former Lt. Governor David Leroy, who spent two and a half years and $3 million on his search, reported Bradley.

Leroy, who was paid $125,000 a year, reportedly worked part-time as a negotiator and maintained his private law practice in Boise.

Mescalero leaders have been working with the Nuclear Negotiator's Office in a voluntary siting process for a monitored retrieval storage (MRS) system to store high level spent fuel rods from nuclear power generators.

Leroy presented the President and Congress with a transition report in which he said that volunteer process is working.

"The carefully designed process to solicit willing hosts for spent fuel storage from among the nation's 50 states and 56 federally recognized Indian tribes is working," said Leroy.

"I would anticipate that preliminary negotiations with one or more Indian tribes could begin as early as this summer, if the current course is continued," said Leroy. He said negotiating with state governments would take more time than working with the Indian nations.

Leroy warned against inconsistency in national policy over the voluntary siting process that will lead to establishing a temporary nuclear waste storage facility.

In conclusion, Leroy said the voluntary siting of controversial

Council cancels hotel

by CHARLES STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Howls of disappointment filled the packed chamber halls Tuesday as business leaders walked away from a special meeting shocked, confused and dismayed.

At issue was a hotel lease extension request by R.D. Hubbard, the village's only serious lead in building a hotel in Ruidoso. By failing to obtain a majority, the council once again voted Hubbard's request down.

For two hours, business leaders eloquently expressed the village's need for a convention hotel, while being pampered and praised by mayor pro tem Barbara Duff for their positive thinking and open communication.

Duff told the business leaders that the lines of communication were now open.

However, it was Councilor J.D. James who pushed for open government to discuss the matter publicly. Duff, under counsel of village attorney Pat Ortiz, had opted for a closed meeting last week.

After heaping platitudes on the podium participants for their positive participation and openness, she then shocked those same leaders by voting against a motion that would have allowed Hubbard a hotel lease extension.

Some people walked out of the

An afternoon drive through Lower Eagle Creek netted law enforcement officers about 100 pounds of marijuana Monday.

Paul Wersich, an agent with the White Mountain Drug Task Force, said the bales of plant material apparently were thrown out of an airplane one or two days earlier.

That's not an unusual occurrence with miles of back roads and wilderness in Lincoln County, and being close to the border, Wersich said.

The bounty has an estimated street value of $100,000, he said. "So someone is really disappointed."

Deputy Frank Hooper has been working with members of the U.S. Forest Service on patrolling likely marijuana crop growing areas as part of the on-going edification program, said task force agent-in-charge Gonzalo Cordova.

When he parked his car to start a search of the canyon, it didn't take long to find the broken bales.

"When I exited the vehicle, I smelled it right away, it was so strong," Hooper said.

With the help of about a dozen officers, including Cordova, forest service representative Poncho Smith, Sheriff James McSwane, and Cleston Pritchett, who heads White Mountain Search and Rescue, it took about four hours to building shaking their heads, not quite sure of what had happened.

Although the meeting was called to discuss the extension, Duff brought an alternative plan given to her that listed more demands on Hubbard. She never revealed the details during the public session, but The Ruidoso News obtained a copy.

Those plans included that: —the village, in lieu of collecting the $100,000 default, will collect $25,000 on July 1, to satisfy granting the first extension and another $50,000 on January 1 for a second extension.

—If construction is started within 90 days of July 1, 1993, the balance of $25,000 for the third extension would be waived, providing all deadlines were met.

—AllHub, Hubbard's corporation with Ed Allred, will post another letter of credit in the amounts of $25,000 and $50,000 to cover any postponed payments.

—a monthly rental of $2,000 will be assessed in addition to a percentage rent.

—gambling percentage to be definite.

The last paragraph stated that Hubbard was to prepare the first draft of a sixth addendum no later than Friday, June 18, 1993, and deliver it to the village on that date.

Duff opened the 3-hour meeting by telling the audiences how advanced the council had become.

"We, as a council are on the cutting edge of a movement to be very responsive and accountable in management to our citizens who elected us in office," she said.

Apparently, she was referring to those petitioners who swept her in office on a platform that was against an airport land lease and who didn't like the leadership of former Mayor Lloyd Davis.

Duff said the Village of Ruidoso invested $2.5-million in airport land. She said the hard core argument that the big giveaway (Hubbard's lease for The Links golf course) was a debacle in the past and can't be changed. But apparently it has not been forgotten either.

She said every facet in new negotiations for a luxury hotel should be examined whether it was for Hubbard or anyone else.

Ruidoso statesman Al Junge asked for an explanation on the problem confronting Hubbard.

Andrews said the village had a letter of credit where Hubbard agrees he will pay $100,000 by July 1, 1993, unless a hotel on the site is completed by that date. The extension was made some time in December.

Junge said the council must have known when it made that agreement that it would have been impossible to build a hotel within five months.

Genevieve Sewell, a strong supporter of ex-mayor Victor Alonso, said the agreement to lease 160 acres of prime airport land for $2,000 per year for 50 years was unbelievable, and a giveaway price.

Sewell chastised Councilor J.D. James and The Ruidoso News for printing James's statement that Hubbard was the true target, not land use, in a referendum against leasing the airport property in 1989. "If those were your comments Mr. James," said Sewell.

"Those were my comments," James agreed. "And you were quoted correctly, shame on you for having such a short memory since you sat on the council at that time," she said.

Sewell, outgoing president of the Lincoln County League of Women Voters, then shocked many in the audience by accusing James and the newspaper of communistic tactics.

"As many people know, information used like this is a widely used tactic in the communistic countries," she said.

The comment stirred murmurs throughout the audience. James, a recipient of the Purple Heart, took exception and said he was not affiliated with any communists.

"I defended this country," James said. "You get up and make an insulting remark like that, I resent it to no end."

"I did not direct that at you personally," Sewell told James. "If you take it that way, that's your problem."

Mayor Pro-Tem Duff admonished James. "J.D. I asked there be no more emotional outbursts ... I did not believe that (statement) was a personal assessment against you."

Sewell said the money received to date from the golf course in gross receipts, about $26,000 last year and $32,000 this year, was a poor return that didn't pay the debt service on the bond issue. She noted that 2-million gallons of water a year used on the course comes out of the village's expensive water rights.

Sewell said the village needs to concentrate on the civic events center and expand that facility. She said she wasn't in favor of a hotel.

Councilor Frank Cummins asked Duff to return the meeting to its intended purpose, to discuss the extension lease of the hotel.

Ronnie Paulger, past president of the Economic Development Corporation of Lincoln County, said he remembers 25 to 100 letters were sent to major hotel chains to gauge their interest in building a hotel.

He said he has heard of no other responses for a hotel to be built in any time frame and he pushed the council's problems to the side.

Long-time developer Dan Swearingin called the 1990 referendum a rift a cancer. He said it used to be a lot of fun to be on the council with everyone working together.

"It seems like with the current per, pro or con, is making it so enjoyable for you people on the council. It shouldn't be that way," said McCarty. "The council is divided at the time of the referendum. The course should get better if the differences are cleared."

It's already there, it's a good facility (golf course). Dan Hubbard is the only man that I've ever known to spend $300 million dollars of his money in this town and I've been here quite awhile. He has asked no questions and he hasn't asked anybody else for money. But he put up his money and we should be proud of this golf course. I'm years from now when, the course runs out and the village wants to build a city out there, the village will have plenty room to do it," he said.

"I'm not trying to change your mind, but be sure to try to mend some of these fences, and don't let this get any further out of hand. Everybody should start working together again and let's not have any more outbursts. Act like civilized people. You got to work together, that's what's made this little town."

McCarty's speech started an evening that was generally characterized by positive statements about Hubbard and his pursuit of a hotel, each followed by a round of applause.

Village appraiser Dan Swearingin indicated he would be met. He said the 1989 lease was terrible, the worst lease he has ever read. He said he has heard of sentiment to get rid of Hubbard.

He said he never talked to Hubbard and the only thing he knows about Hubbard is what he reads in the newspapers, which he considers a poor source of information.

Swearingin said hotels are tough to finance at the present time, especially resort hotels, and if the village could work out a viable plan to complement the civic events center, the council should "get on with it."

Junge again approached the podium to speak in favor of extension.

"If you had someone from a corporation come before the council to buy the race track is failing, I'm going to buy it and put a couple of million dollars in it to fix it up. And then I'm also going to build a Museum of the Horse. Then I'm going to build a golf course to take in a million dollars gross this year. And I'm going to give away a quarter of a million dollars in an arts award."

He said he was going to build a sports center and a residence. Then I'm going to have the Lincoln County Symposium. I don't think anybody in their right mind would say, go to hell, and go to Ruidoso?"

That's exactly what this man has done. If there is anyway you can get this thing out, let him do it. I'm all for it.

Councilor Johnny Durham told the council that Hubbard is the only person who has put $400,000 into the village.

He said the only player we've got is Hubbard. If you're trying to run this town, you don't understand your own people."

Hubbard could take a lot of fun to be on the council. There's nobody out there who's got this place."

Hubbard is the only player we got. He's the only one who's got the money to build a hotel and local realtor and local business promoting the course should get better if the differences are cleared since last year we had real estate sales people who remembered details of the airport property as well as the cart. She said she didn't know where the golf course was and she was at the civic events center. She said she enjoyed the convention center and she would in turn support it in our transportation.

She urged the council to keep the hotel extension going.

Mayor Pro Tem Barbara Duff, shown with councilors Jerry Shaw and Ron Andrews, tells a packed house that exchanging ideas can be fun and positive.

Duff appeared moved by Lynch's statements.

"You all are displaying what I've been talking about for a long time, positive thinking," Duff said. "Thank you all."

Jim Stoddard, director of the Hubbard Foundation, appeared dismayed.

"My job is to give away money," Stoddard said. "We gave away $2.9-million dollars last year to help build the Museum of the Horse. I can't tell you how many requests I have daily for our foundation's money."

"When we go into communities with scholarship money, we are met favorably. It's absolutely unbelievable to me that you, the people of the council, can react negatively toward some organization or some individual who has done so much good for you."

Stoddard's strong state drew the largest applause of the evening.

Tom Battin, bank president, also spoke strongly of the economic impact a hotel would bring to the community.

"I've seen communities go to any length to get an industry into their community," said Battin. "They provide the land. They provide the buildings, medical care, training of employees, anything that they can do to attract new industries."

"We have a 30-million dollar industry that is looking to expand. It is inconceivable to me that we would not go to any length, within reason, to stimulate that expansion," Battin said.

"We're in the tourist business. The hotel is critical to continue development for the tourist business," he said.

Battin said management at the Inn of the Mountain Gods was very supportive of the hotel. He said Inn officials said it would increase the numbers of visitors to Ruidoso and also improve their business.

"I think the same thing applies to all the businesses in this area," he said. "I urge you to make every effort to renew this contract in a mutually beneficial way."

Herb Brunell, Midtown store owner, said Hubbard's enterprises have helped local business.

"Without question, my business has benefited from all the investments of Mr. Hubbard and his foundation," said Brunell. "Without question, we will benefit in the future. I think Mr. Hubbard should be allowed to proceed without further penalty."

James Paxton, local partner in Century 21, spoke of an investor from New Orleans who specialized in resort hotels. He said the man spent $50-million last year in the hotel industry and sent one of his people to evaluate Ruidoso for future building.

Paxton said the man reported that although Ruidoso was a great community, it was not an appropriate place to invest at this time.

"My point is," said Paxton, "that while you say you're not opposed to the hotel and that you would like to work something out, I think it's important to realize that even with all the perks that you are giving away, this person with those perks in mind, still wasn't interested."

"I really encourage you in your negotiations to recognize that, that even with the nice contract, Hubbard is the only person that is going to be able to do this," Paxton said.

Duff appreciated Paxton's statement.

"See what fun it is to get everybody's ideas," Duff said.

Ms. Grant Harrison, who said she has been investing in commercial property in Ruidoso since 1982, urged the council to be mindful that Hubbard's $100,000 is a drop in the bucket compared to what some people have lost in Ruidoso. She said if it wasn't for Hubbard, those people wouldn't have been able to recoup losses.

Leo Martinez, a California transplant from Santa Barbara, told the council that when contributions are needed, you go to people like Hubbard. He said Hubbard lives in the community and cares about the community. He cautioned the council against losing an investor through political battles.

"They have more staying power than we do, but they still get tired," Martinez said.

Don Dutton, representing Hubbard and AllHub, told the council that Hubbard and Ed Allred have spent over $850,000 out of their pockets to complete the common area of the hotel-convention center.

Dutton said there wasn't another business in town that paid as much gross receipts to the village as the Links of Sierra Blanca.

Duff asked Dutton if Hubbard would consider moving the hotel nearer the golf shop.

"We already need to expand the civic events center," Duff said.

Dutton said he would look forward to working with the council.

Councilor Jerry Shaw then moved to extend the lease with AllHub on the hotel until December 31, 1994, with the building permits to be obtained by July 1, 1994. She moved the terms and conditions to remain the same except for downsizing the hotel from the original 200 rooms to 125-150 rooms, to be added onto at a later date.

Councilor Frank Cummins seconded the motion.

Karn wanted a 2-percent of the gross added in case a gambling bill passed in New Mexico.

He also noted that there would be special benefits to Hubbard by downsizing the rooms. He said at $15,000 construction costs per room, Hubbard would be saving over a million dollars.

Shaw pointed out the benefits to the village by downsizing the hotel. She said with fewer rooms, the hotel would reach the 65 percent occupancy faster, therefore producing more revenue for the village.

Karn then made a motion that the village's share of gambling revenues, if any from the hotel, would be fixed at 2 percent.

Councilor James read from the original lease, which provided a gambling clause that would benefit the village.

It read, in part, that gambling could not be conducted on the premises without written approval of the village, and that such approval by the village could be made conditional on the percentage of the gross received from gambling activity, subject to negotiations.

"This is already in the lease," James said.

Andrews said he was part of the original committee to negotiate a better hotel deal for the village.

Andrews mentioned the two motions that failed during the last council meeting indicated a willingness by everyone to negotiate with Hubbard on the hotel extension.

One motion, led by Shaw, James and Cummins, was to renew the lease. The second motion, made by Andrews, was to renew the lease at a cost to Hubbard of $100,000 and 2-percent of gambling revenues. That also ended in a tie with Andrews, Duff and Karn voting aye.

Andrews then said the original lease had no provisions for an extension. He said with any change, a new agreement would have to be negotiated according to the state procurement code.

Shaw was skeptical of Andrews' timing.

"I think it's interesting that this has been going on for two years and then all of a sudden ... We talked earlier about communication and positiveness, but I believe Mr. Hubbard has made it clear that he is willing to extend the lease. If it was wrong, it's a done deal," she said.

"We have been told, and we have been shown, that there is no one out there in the wings to build a hotel. Mr. Hubbard said, 'I'll build it out of my pocket.' Do you know anybody next door that's going to do that? I'm willing to work with Mr. Hubbard to get the show on the road and this hotel built."

"There's been a lot of mention about our wonderful civic events center. It is wonderful. I've been hearing we need to add on to it. I disagree with that vehemently. It is costing this village a tremendous amount of money right now. Get a hotel next door, and it will cut that operating cost immensely. Then we're going to have conventions."

Shaw said the arts and crafts shows being booked in the civic center this summer are taking money away from the downtown businesses. She said the money is being taken out of the area.

The audience applauded.

Cummins said he agreed with Paulger that no one showed an interest in building a hotel. He said he agreed with Shaw on the motion to allow the extension.

Councilor James said he talked to Hubbard last week and Hubbard told him he would build the hotel out of his own pocket.

James also said the hotel would create many jobs in the community.

"One lady told me Hubbard has done nothing for her. I tell you he has not done anything for me, personally, but he has for this village. And for that I am very grateful," James said.

Shaw said she would accept Karn's amendment to add a mandatory 2-percent gambling clause, but she questioned Karn on what appeared to be his waffling on a commitment he made to Hubbard.

"I wonder why you're so adamant on it (the gambling percentage) now, when you spoke with Mr. Hubbard six weeks or so ago. I understand you told him there was no problem in obtaining the lease," Shaw said to Karn.

"I told him he had a vote of confidence," said Karn. "He said he needed a vote of confidence. The hotel has the vote of confidence. We're clearing up this one paragraph."

Karn's motion to add 2-percent failed four to one with Karn as the only aye vote.

Andrews clarified his no vote by saying he was uncomfortable with any decision that may go against the procurement code.

He said Shaw was of the opinion that he is wrong.

"I am not comfortable with this council vote until such time that we have had counsel tell us that I'm right. I make a motion to table this until next council meeting," Andrews said.

His motion draw a loud chorus of boos from the audience. Some called out that there was a motion on the floor.

Andrews said he wanted to table the main motion, but was told by legal counsel that this was not permitted.

A roll call was taken with Shaw, James and Cummins voting to extend the lease, Andrews, Duff and Karn voting against extending the lease.

AllHub attorney Don Dutton (left) prepares for his allotted two minutes at the podium by reviewing his notes from a gallery loaded with Ruidoso business leaders.

Guv appoints judge's son-in-law

It could be a family tradition. Governor Bruce King on Wednesday appointed Bill Butts of Capitan to serve out the term of Magistrate Judge J.R. "Jim" Wheeler who is retiring June 30.

Butts, a retired state police officer, is Judge Wheeler's son-in-law. But Butts, like Governor King, is a Democrat.

Wheeler, a Republican, announced recently that he'll retire so that he'll have time to help his parents, who are not in good health. Judge Wheeler was an Albuquerque police officer before becoming magistrate judge.

Butts was out of town when the governor's office called him Wednesday, but after hearing from his wife, Roxanne, he called the governor's office and talked to King's secretary.

"The governor called me and I thanked him and told him what it meant to me," said Butts Wednesday night. "I was just so overwhelmed by it."

Butts will take office July 1, but he said Wednesday he'll be in Judge Wheeler's office today to begin an intensive on-the-job training program.

Butts, who was a state police officer for almost 24 years, retired December 27, 1987. He currently works for a car dealer and is a relief mail carrier in Capitan.

He and his wife, Roxanne, moved to Lincoln County to run Angus store, which they did for two years. But Butts soon jumped back into public life when he ran for sheriff.

"My biggest thing that means the most to me is breeding, training and showing appaloosa horses," said Butts. "I love them just like my kids."

When Butts learned that Wheeler was retiring, he wrote the governor and sent him his resume. He knew Governor King from the governor's first term when he had a few chances to drive him.

"You wouldn't believe the people who have gone to bat for me and have written and called the governor for me," said Butts.

He said people from all over the state in all different occupation put in a good word for him, and the governor apparently listened because he did appoint Butts.

In a year and a half Butts plans to run in the Democratic primary for a chance to continue serving as magistrate judge.

"Even if I didn't have a chance as a Democrat, I'll be loyal to the governor," said Butts who admits to changing back and forth between the two major political parties over the years.

"I want to publicly thank the governor for having the confidence in appointing me," said Butts.

"I want to assure the citizens of Lincoln County and the State of New Mexico that I will surely give it my best effort and be a very honest and sincere judge. It's a people's court and people need to be comfortable when they need to talk to a judge."

Butts was born in Dexter and raised in Portales. He attended South Plains Junior college in Texas and Eastern New Mexico University.

facilities is the only way by which centralized authorities will place them in the next century.

While the Office of the Nuclear Negotiator has been preparing for this transfer, the Mescalero Apache Indian Tribe has been completing its second phase grant.

Leroy said more than 30 jurisdictions have indicated an interest in the preliminary studies that could lead to temporary management of high level waste from commercial nuclear reactors.

According to a letter from the Department of Energy to the Mescalero Tribal Council, it's possible that applications will be accepted for a Phase II State 2 grant to be redistributed to neighboring communities so they might conduct their own public participation programs.

Stallings was unavailable for comment at his Washington D.C. office early today. He reportedly will maintain offices in Boise and in Washington, for the the negotiator's 10-member staff.

Briefs

LCMC board meeting tonight

The Lincoln County Medical Center Board of Trustees will conduct its monthly meeting at 8 p.m. today (Thursday), June 17, in the conference room at the hospital.

The agenda for the meeting includes approval of financial statements, discussion of the administrator's report, a report from the hospital auxiliary, new business regarding the Carrizozo Health Center Advisory Board's new members and a report from the medical staff.

The board has also scheduled an executive session to discuss a quality management report and physicians problems and actions.

MainStreet will meet today

The Mainstreet Ruidoso Board of Directors will meet at 4 p.m. today (Thursday), June 17, at Ruidoso State Bank.

The meeting will be the board's annual monthly meeting. Among the agenda items will be the discussion of a re-bidding of phase I construction costs for the group's streetscape project.

The re-bidding of the project with the Bohannon-Huston Engineering firm will be Friday, June 18.

Other items on the agenda include approval of a format change for the Community Update Luncheon and an approval of the groups financial reports.

Race backers seek old image

Over the years the original intent of the Lincoln County Pony Express Race appears to have been changed from a day of family fun to a chance for rough and tumble brawling.

In an attempt to recapture that original intent, a new group of organizers is working on the race's 26th anniversary, including trying to build a new arena, said event chairman Lisa Crenshaw Vega. They also have scheduled a roping and youth rodeo after this year's race in an alcohol-free environment.

To help raise money for the race, a Pony Express barbecue is scheduled for Saturday, June 19. Contingents will leave White Oaks at 10 a.m., some by horseback over Barber Springs Trail and others will drive to Mills Ranch. The cost of the dinner is $10 per person or $15 for a family.

Live music will start at 9 p.m. at White Oaks. For more information about the barbecue to volunteer for other activities, contact Crenshaw by calling 648-2112 or write P.O. Box 632, Capitan, NM 88316.

gather all of the plant material and haul it back in garbage bags to the substation in Ruidoso.

"We searched the entire canyon and found 100 pounds scattered over about a quarter of a mile," Wersich said. "We haven't had a chance yet to check on reports of any aircraft in the area. The evidence at the scene will be thoroughly investigated in an attempt to identify the source of the illegal drug."

The drop spot was situated about two miles into the canyon.

"It hadn't been there long, within the last two or three days," Wersich said. "You could still see the impression of where they hit the ground. No pine needles had collected on top and the smell was still strong."

The whole Ruidoso Downs Board of Trustees came out Monday night for the regular bi-monthly meeting.

The board quickly cut through these agenda items approving them as they went.

Among the approved items was an amendment to the lodgers tax ordinance. The amendment added an annual audit of a randomly selected lodger to verify compliance with the lodgers tax ordinance. Also in the amendment was an allowance for an audit of any lodger at any time deemed necessary by the village clerk. The other two parts of the amendment said that the procedures for the audit would be approved by the board of trustees and that all audit material would be sent into the local government division of the Department of Finance and Administration.

Also approved were the monthly reports of the village's different departments.

Included in the reports was a report detailing the amount of hours put in by the village's six reserve police officers. The six men put in 289.5 hours including time over Memorial Day weekend. According to police chief Will Hoggard, this is almost equivalent to the amount of hours that two regular officers would put in. The board commended the group of officers for their work.

The board went into executive session to discuss personnel matters, pending litigation and real estate acquisition.

Take Dad to Tinnie's on Father's Day

Take dad down to Tinnie's for a Father's Day celebration this Sunday.

Tinnie Silver Dollar's free concerts and dances on the veranda have become a Lincoln County tradition.

General manager Maxine Francis announced plans for a repeat of the popular Father's Day celebration, free concert and dance starting at 2:30 p.m. Sunday, June 20.

As always, the festivities are to be outdoors on the peaceful covered porch and lawn of the historic restaurant and gift shop.

Spice of Life is scheduled to perform a wide variety of music for dancing and listening from 2:30 until 6:30 p.m.

During the concert, there will be free drawings for prizes that include a Father's Day gift basket, courtesy of Rio Bonito Basket Company, and a dinner for two at the Silver Dollar Restaurant.

Lunch will be served inside the restaurant from 11:30 a.m. until 4:30 p.m.

Francis said the Silver Dollar plans some special Father's Day menu items, including a T-bone steak special. Beverages and appetizers will be available on the veranda during the concert.

The annual Father's Day concerts are always well attended by Roswell and Ruidoso residents, as well as local area Honda Valley residents. The event also attracts Texans who stop by on the way home from a weekend in the cool pines, said Francis.

The Silver Dollar Restaurant has a playground for the youngsters and plenty of off-highway parking.

Francis assures patrons that in case of a summer rain shower, the event will be protected from the weather by the covered veranda.

To reach the Tinnie Silver Dollar Restaurant from Ruidoso, simply drive east on U.S. 70 approximately 25 miles to the town of Tinnie. If driving from Roswell, take U.S. 70 west approximately 45 miles. Upon arriving at Tinnie, look for the tall bell tower on the south side of the highway.

Admission to the concert and drawings are free.

The Silver Dollar also will host concerts on the Fourth of July, August 22 and September 26.

Anti-drug day at reservation

In an attempt to help keep kids and adults off drugs, the Department of Health Education and the National Guard is sponsoring a day of Mescaleros Against Drugs.

The activity day will be Friday, June 18, at the Mescalero Community Center and will run from 8-4.

On the schedule of events is a one-mile fun run for kids starting at 9 a.m., a 6K run starting at 9:30 a.m. with registration beginning at 8 a.m., displays by the DEA, Border Patrol and the National Guard including a helicopter flyover and repelling display from 10:30 a.m. to noon, and presentations from New Mexico State University and University of Hawaii athletes from 1-3 p.m.

There will also be an overhead picture of the participants in the form of MAD signifying the Mescaleros Against Drugs slogan at the end of the day.

The event will be open to the general public.

For more information, contact the Department of Health Education at 671-4494, extension 264.

Investigators make another visit to Fort Stanton

A representative from Protection and Advocacy System Inc. was at Fort Stanton Hospital and Training School late last week to monitor the work of independent consultants.

Jim Jackson, director of the advocacy organization, said the agency's counsel, Peter Cubra, was in Lincoln County while a consultant from New York and another from Connecticut toured the hospital as part of a monitoring process hammered out by the court.

"They toured both facilities (Fort Stanton and Los Lunas) and did an in-depth review including how incidents of alleged abuse are handled, staff training and other procedures.

"They met with the administration in an exit interview where preliminary findings were discussed, but that's confidential at the moment," Jackson said.

"It would be a little of a stretch to say Peter was there to investigate abuse reports, but as a part of the process, he did talk to the administrators regarding a few client specific incidents."

The advocacy group sued the state and the two hospitals in 1987 in an attempt to move developmentally disabled clients out of the institutional setting and into community living situations.

A U.S. District Court judge ruled in 1990 that Fort Stanton must develop and adhere to very specific individual programs for its developmentally disabled clients with the goal of moving them into the community.

Administrator Ervin Aldaz, working with members of the legislative delegation, local elected officials and businessmen convinced the state that Fort Stanton, a major economic force in the county, has a viable future.

With the blessing of the State Department of Health, the hospital is to be transformed into a long term care facility that will fill in medical voids in the state's system.

Public hearing will deal with clean air rules, regs

A public hearing on new clean air rules is scheduled by the New Mexico Environment Department for 9:30 a.m. Friday, June 18, at the Hyatt Regency Hotel in Albuquerque.

The rules are needed for new operating permits required by the 1990 federal Clean Air Act Amendments. New Mexico currently only has a pre-construction permit program for controlling air emissions. A second draft regulation sets up a schedule of operating permit emission fees.

The Air Quality Bureau will take comments on the proposed regulations until they are presented to the Environmental Improvement Board in September.

The clean air act amendments mandate that the state submit the operating permit and fee regulations to Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) for approval no later than November 15.

Copies of the proposed regulations are available from the air quality bureau. Questions about the operating permit regulations can be directed to Lany Weaver at 827-2859. Questions about the permit fee regulations can be directed to Bill Blankenship at 827-0047.

Solid waste goals

The environmental improvement board just finished conducting hearings on the Statewide Solid Waste Management Plan, which provides a framework for an environmentally sound, integrated solid waste management program for the state.

New Mexicans generate nearly 1.5-million tons of solid waste per year. Almost 94 percent of the solid waste generated in the state is sent to landfills and is not recycled.

The Solid Waste Act set recycling goals of 25 percent by 1995 and 60 percent by the year 2000.

She was born September 8, 1910, in Archer County, Texas, and had lived in Lubbock since 1929, moving there from Meadow, Texas.

She married J. Fulton Davis December 24, 1980, in Ruidoso.

Davis is survived by her husband J. Fulton Davis of Lubbock; four sisters, three brothers, and numerous nieces and nephews.

Silver Lining

Weather spirits keep valley folks guessing

In the Deep of the Drought the Hail Comes Over the Hill

In the middle of June, the hottest and driest month, we are in what you might call "The Deep of the Drought." Last Thursday the tenth, I was just finishing up "The Dreamer" and was ready to leave the house, when I heard the thunder and saw the lightning in a bank of clouds over Storm Mountain. That is just south of the house.

This was about 3:30 p.m. All day you could feel the drought bearing down, with temperatures between 90 and 100 degrees and shimmering along the dirt road in front of the house. The cows and calves were gathered under the cedar trees, looking toward the approaching clouds.

By the time I got to the old corral, these clouds were already overhead, darkening the world below and dropping down a few white round pellets of hail which sent little dust clouds as they struck the ground.

By the time I opened the gate, drove through and got back in, I was sopping wet. I had not brought a coat; the pouring rain was ice cold and the hail beat a stinging tat-too over my head and shoulders.

All this, minutes after 95 degrees of heat. Shivering and shaking I drove up to the highway and stopped at the mail box waiting for the storm to let up before I fetched the mail. Down came the rain and hail as if to say, "You ain't seen nothin' yet."

You were in a world all by yourself in the pickup with the entire outside world blinded off by the cloud deluge, pouring like a massive

rain- and hail waterfall cascading down on all sides.

After maybe 10 minutes I started up the road, driving watchfully; for the rain and was still pouring down, cars and trucks were pulled over to the side of the road, with drivers looking bewildered and puzzled at this hail storm so sudden and without warning. When I got back home, there were great piles of leaves under the walnut trees and the apricot tree near the house, and hail drifted everywhere.

This hail was not completely melted until well into the next day — when I found that the hail was even heavier just below the vale.

Clouds Cool the Land

Now here we are in late afternoon of June 13. In midmorning you could feel the drought beginning to bear down, and by two o'clock the temperature was up to 101 degrees with hardly any breeze.

The cows and calves were under their old friends, the cedar trees, waiting for whatever breeze might come along and down by "The Best Shade of the River" under grape vines, walnut and box elder trees.

At 3:30 p.m. a breeze drifted in from the south and then changed to the east, and then clouds began to form from every direction as the weather spirits cooled off the mountain world here in the deep of the drought.

Our Old Friend the East Wind

This is being sent to you one half hour after this noon on June 14 and will reach you on the seventeenth. In other words, we are now in the middle of the June drought; and yet here in the vale, there is new grass out on the blue bird field, and the river is still running strong, winding through the green and shady tunnels of river trees. The fragrant wild grape blossoms have turned to bunches of tiny green grapes.

All morning the east wind has been singing over the mesas, foothills and plains away to the low country, carrying a cool flavor of distant moisture; and there is a faint touch of haze down that way.

The temperature is an even 90 degrees here in the hottest time of the day in the hottest month — really cooler than average, year in year out.

The hail and rain storm of a few days ago brought one and one-half inches of moisture here at the place, and the children of Mother Earth have responded. Flowers that have long waited for moisture have come into bloom — the Indian paint brush, black-eyed Susan, wild hollyhock and small morning glory.

Let us thank God for a wonderful month of June and all other many blessings.

Summertime, and the fish are jumping

by GARY CAMPBELL
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

The fish were jumping and especially active at Grindstone Lake on Tuesday.

But, that was not by their own choice however.

Through a contract with the Ruidoso Parks and Recreation Department, Johnnie Parker of Parker Farms in the Cloudcroft area stocked the lake with more than 500 pounds of live rainbow trout.

The fish were put into the lake around noon on Tuesday by Parker, his son Trent, and Rafael Salas and Rodney Griego of the Parks and Recreation department.

The fish ranged in size from about one to three pounds in weight and about 18 to 20 inches in length. "Some of these fish are at least three years old," said Parker.

The fish were moved from the Parker's transport truck by Griego in a net. The fish were then released into the depths of the lake.

All of the fish were rainbow trout. "Among those trout were about twelve golden colored trout. Parker said that those trout were just a different type of rainbow trout and were as edible as any other fish.

However, Parker said that the yellowish trout is fairly rare and should be considered a trophy fish.

"If people catch one, I'd recommend that they mount it," said Parker. "They may never catch a fish like that again."

Parker said the fish was not an albino, but the concept is the same.

Parker Farms has been in the trout farm business for 12 years providing farm grown fish primarily in the Sacramento Mountains. The farm also provides some fish for Ruidoso as well as some of west Texas and northern New Mexico.

Parker said that his place is the only privately owned hatchery in the state of New Mexico.

According to Salas, the Parks and Recreation Department would like to have the lake privately stocked at least once a month. Along with the private stocking, Salas said that the lake is stocked by the Department of Game and Fish about once or twice a month.

This constant stocking will keep the lake full even though fish are constantly being pulled out.

Currently the Parks and Recreation department is paying out about $1,250 to bring in 500 pounds of trout. There is also a $75 transportation fee.

The money is being paid by the Parks and Rec, but Salas said they are hoping to start getting private donations to help keep the lake stocked.

Trackster earns scholarship

Ruidoso High School 800 meter runner Jackie Lynn has been offered a scholarship to run track at Ranger Junior College in Ranger, Texas, according to coach Eddie Hatch.

Lynn was the District 3-AAA 800 meter champion in 1993. Lynn also ran a 1:58 in the 800 meter at the state track meet in Albuquerque where he finished second.

Lynn also has experience in the 1600 meter relay, 400 meter relay and the 200 meter dash and was a member of the cross country team at RHS.

Hatch said that he was fortunate to get a good runner from a fine track program like RHS.

Lynn, a four-year letterman, was coached at RHS by Ronnie Maske.

Pro Am tourney tees up

The Links at Sierra Blanca will be the host of its second Annual Pro-Am golf tournament beginning at 7 a.m. Monday, June 21.

The tournament is set up to bring in pro golfers from around the sun-country region. Those pros will each bring in three amateur golfers for the tournament.

About 200 golfers are expected for the tournament.

Rafael Salas (above) stands proudly with one of the fish being released into Grindstone Lake. A net full of rainbow trout (upper right corner) squirms around and awaits to be put into the lake. Rodney Griego gives the fish their wish and lets them go into Grindstone.

Fishing Report

Here is this weeks installment of the New Mexico Department of Game and Fish fishing report.

This information is by no means infallible, but it is some of the best available from officers and anglers.

The most current stocking records in the report are from the week of May 21 through May 28.

In this stocking 26,423 rainbow trout were stocked from state hatcheries. All of them were nine inches or larger.

Here are the conditions for the area this week:

Alto Lake—Crews stocked 697 10 1/4-inch rainbow trout.

Bonito Creek—Crews stocked at Fort Stanton with 201 rainbow trout, and below the dam with 511 10 1/4-inch rainbow trout.

Bonito Lake—No information is available from the lake this week.

Ruidoso River—No information is available for the Ruidoso River this week.

Tularosa Creek—Information for the creek is also not available.

Grindstone Reservoir—Crews stocked 2,289 10 1/4-inch rainbow trout. Crews were also at the lake this week dropping about 500 pounds of live 13-20 inch rainbow trout into the lake on Tuesday, June 15.

Elephant Butte Lake—Fishing is good for black bass lake-wide using crank baits. Fishing is good using shad-type lures and minnows for white bass. The best area is from the Narrows to Monticello. Fishing for catfish is best on trotlines. Some catfish are being taken on shrimp and prepared baits.

The hills are alive

toes and laughing out loud are entertainers (below, clockwise) Lynn Martin as the King, Eddie Hedin singing a ballad, Roy Black as "Fred" and the fiddle trio of Curt Burrell, Barbara Burrell and Ken Blakey. The stage show is great fun for anyone of any age who likes music and laughter.

"Positive" talk leads to "negative" action

The special Ruidoso Village Council meeting Tuesday was not just about extending a hotel lease for R.D. Hubbard. It was much more of a vote of confidence, a thank you for the huge economic impact Hubbard has meant to this community and Lincoln County.

What Hubbard received from the council instead, was a slap in the face.

That Hubbard was in jeopardy of losing his $100,000 down on the hotel site, was not the issue. He's spent millions in his fight to retain Hollywood Park Race Track in California. What we're talking about is a good faith issue.

One by one, Ruidoso business leaders pleaded with the council to mend their wounds among themselves for the good of the community — let bygones be bygones for the good of the community. They acknowledged that only Hubbard had the resources to build a hotel at this time, and that the council should be grateful that Ruidoso has such an investor and benefactor.

Business leaders pointed to Hubbard's ongoing commitment to the community through massive renovations at Ruidoso Downs, the million dollar Links of Sierra Blanca golf course, a major state tourist attraction in the Museum of the Horse and the prestigious Hubbard Art Award, richest in the United States. They noted his donations help finance the Cowboy Symposium and support many community charities. He built his home in Ruidoso, they said. Through his efforts, the community enjoys a much better job market.

Hubbard's accomplishments can be overwhelming. One man, a decision maker, getting things done can make others look bad.

This council, taking office on a platform of open government, ironically, has been beset with failed plans hammered out behind closed doors.

By comparison to Hubbard's record, this village council has struggled for nearly four years to repair a tennis court. Services have declined. Roads are in shambles. Management is nil. The Alonso-led council may well go down as the worst leadership ever elected in Ruidoso.

For the good of the community, let's move forward cried the business leaders. Time is important.

The village needs a convention hotel and Hubbard has said he will build that hotel. He asked for help from the council to extend the lease on the hotel site for a little more time. No other investor is in the wings.

It was time for the community to show some good faith with a vote of confidence. The business leadership responded effusively with appreciation to Hubbard for his positive approach and his willingness to invest in Ruidoso. Now it was the council's turn. Help us get that convention hotel, village leaders asked.

But it was not to be. The anti-Hubbard segment of the council, once led by former Mayor Victor Alonso, flexed its power once again. To deny Hubbard may well be their only major accomplishment. And they intend to play it until the end, probably March.

THE OTHER

MYSTERY ILLNESS:

Letters

Ruidoso could learn a lot from Bill Clinton

TO THE EDITOR:

We have just had an example in our federal government where the White House press corps members were being shut out, because George Stephanopoulos feared what he did not understand of the sophisticated internal relationships of media and government. In fact, our new administration has been learning that the press inside the White House is there because the "people" want to know the day-to-day decisions and workings of their government. Somehow they'd gotten the idea that only the media outside the White House represented the "common man" and that the White House press corps was simply adversarial.

Clinton makes his mistakes, or his well-intentioned advisers do, but he learns fast. That's why he appointed David Gergen as press liaison to fill George Stephanopoulos's position. Gergen is a man who is Washington-savvy and knows how to reinstate harmonious and media-conscious policy.

No government can circumvent the media, not even little Ruidoso; and the adversarial position to the media taken by our present administration has been to the detriment of our community. As Clinton discovered, the media cannot be suppressed or censored without far-reaching repercussions. It has the constitutional right that every American has, that I have in writing my opinion in this letter, to say what it thinks any way it pleases.

It has always been the watchdog of the people, the monitor of the government, the thorn in somebody's side; and whether we like its editorials or its method of reporting the facts, we only have to fear it if we have something to hide. A minority of people in this town demand that The News reflect their own opinions or whitewash the news so that Ruidoso looks like a tourist Utopia and a place without fault for retirees to settle.

It is neither. Until it is, The News will have to report what it is, what is actually happening, not what we wish was happening. This community will never come close to Utopia until we are fortunate enough to have an enlightened leadership with an open approach to governing. Too many personal interests are being served and power struggles engaged in between our Village Council, the mayor and our village manager, with too many throwing their authority around without listening to the people who elected them. They are our servants, not our bosses.

The News is the single voice of the individuals who demand: clean up the town, repair the roads, be accountable for the purchases you make and the use of our money; and make available to everyone (especially the media) that which is public information. Everything our administration does, on our behalf, should be information that we or our representatives can access without cost. The media is not the enemy — the enemy is within — and unless we have total honesty from our governing branch, the struggle of the media to obtain factual information is our struggle, since each one of us depends on the newspaper to illuminate injustice, incompetence and negligence. Whether they always succeed in that quest depends on the human factor.

I have seen The News attend meetings, take notes, record every word and report the facts. Those facts might not sound so noble or intelligent read back to the ones who fostered them, but they need to learn from that how to conduct themselves more appropriately as our village leaders. I cannot comprehend an attack on a newspaper that is simply doing its job the best way it can. To petition it to stop exercising its right to free speech seems to negate our democratic process. I might not always agree with its opinions, but I can respect its viewpoints. If any of the petitioners can do better, they should buy the newspaper and run it themselves. They would shortly be just as unpopular as the present management.

It's the price one pays for speaking out, for championing causes, for pointing out a government's deficiencies and its successes as well. Someone will condemn honest reporting as negative reporting if you are reporting on a negatively-oriented administration that refuses to let the right hand know what the left is doing. The News reflects the community it serves.

What you put out is what you get back. If a hand is extended, and two parties come to the negotiating table, willing to talk, peace is restored. For those of you who want to wage war with your own watchdog (and only and ornery watchdog is effective), you will be the loser. The media is power, and power is neutral — the way it is exercised depends on your willingness to work with it, to feed it, to allow it to do the job that it must, by its very nature, do — a job that is protected by the same Constitution that protects your rights.

To petition The News to change its highly professional staff so it will get along with our present administration, or to report news in a positive manner when the news isn't positive, is to ask the sun to shine on your picnic and the rain to ruin someone else's parade.

The News will be here long after this administration is gone and long after many of its detractors have moved out of town. If people "get the wrong idea about Ruidoso" and decide not to make it their home, remember that you and your elected officials are responsible for making it a better place to live — not the newspaper. Let's put the blame where it belongs, if blame there is, and try to remember that in the next election.

We are tired of this administration's childish bickering and exclusive policies and their senseless attempt to silence a newspaper to cover up their own inadequacies and mistakes. Everyone makes them, but some can admit it.

No, we don't need the old administration back. For years they created much of what the present administration is stuck with. We need new and progressive thinkers who care about the people they govern, who will do everything in their power to make Ruidoso attractive to tourists and residents and, especially, businesses.

That means we must reconcile differences and negotiate peace — not continue to stir up dissension and promote factions. I would like to believe that the majority of Ruidosians desire a new attitude of cooperation and fairmindedness in their community — and we look to our leaders to start showing the way.

Don't forget that government IS the people

TO THE EDITOR:

My wife and I subscribed to this newspaper for several months prior to our moving here from Austin, Texas, last September.

Then, as outsiders, we observed with great interest what appeared to be a feud between the local news and the village council. My observations have led me to the following conclusions: this city belongs to us the taxpayers; therefore, city employees and the village council should be subject to the will of the people. It is our interests they are to serve. It is our money they spend, not their own.

City government must have a priority list, i.e., well-maintained streets, clean water, police protection, trash collection, keeping the village clean and attractive so as to make our lives more pleasant and to attract visitors, etc. When these basic issues are not properly addressed (and they are not), it is ludicrous to even consider such things as a mass transit system.

Above all, public office should never be abused to further one's personal interests as opposed to the interests of the general public.

When village officials do stupid things, such as failing to maintain a proper inventory of city property, they should expect this news to be reported by responsible media.

I believe ex-mayor Alonso's resignation was a very good thing for this village and perhaps the only responsible thing he ever did in his official capacity. I suggest that those who remain public servants of this community either do their jobs correctly or follow Mr. Alonso's lead and get out.

Having the village government portrayed negatively in every issue of our local news is not good for this community. It's bad business.

Taxpayers, it is our city collectively; and we have the absolute right to demand good city government. When we are poorly represented, we have the absolute responsibility to throw the bums out.

Couple wed in formal ceremony

Rebecca Ann Benson of Ruidoso and Michael Christopher Bland of Fort Worth, Texas, and Ruidoso were united in marriage at 2 p.m. Sunday, May 22, at the Gateway Church of Christ.

The Reverend Jimmy Sportsman officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride's parents are Tony and Paula Giarratano of Ruidoso and the groom's mother is Jacque Culp of Las Cruces.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white brocade, off-the-shoulder dress with a bodice covered with pearls on lace. The veil featured white satin roses.

For something old and blue, the bride wore the blue garter her mother had worn at her wedding; and for something new, her bridal attire; for something borrowed, she wore her pearl necklace, earrings and bracelet belonging to her grandmother, Lela Thomas.

She carried white roses, lilies and baby's breath.

Maid of honor was the bride's friend, Bonki Payne, of Abilene, Texas. She wore an off-the-shoulder, street-length magenta dress of moire taffeta.

The bridesmaid was Heather Thomas, cousin of the bride. They both carried bouquets of magenta roses and baby's breath.

Charlie Ewiler, of El Paso, Texas, a friend of the groom, was best man. Shane Barnett, a friend, and Ryan Benson, brother of the bride, were ushers.

Jacy Culp, sister of the groom, was flower girl, and the brother of the bride, Michael Giarratano, was the ring bearer.

Candle lighters were Jamie Thomas and Ryan Benson.

The mother of the bride wore a street-length, lavender dress and magenta roses.

The groom's mother wore a black off-the-shoulder street-length dress, and her flowers were teal delphiniums.

The church was decorated with a magenta floral arrangement, green plants on either side of the seven-branch candelabra and white unity candle on a white stand in center.

The vocal music was provided by James and Cindy Hobbs and Carl and Renee Parsons.

Christa Livesay, sister of the groom, presided at the guest book.

The reception was at the church fellowship rooms following the ceremony.

The decorations were magenta roses, crystal silver and an all-white wedding cake.

The groom's table had a teal carnation centerpiece, silver coffee service and chocolate cake.

The couple went to Dallas and Six Flags on their wedding trip and make their home in Ruidoso.

The bride is a 1992 graduate of Ruidoso High School and is a student at New Mexico State University in Las Cruces. She is employed by the Village of Ruidoso.

The groom went to Vocational School in El Paso, Texas, and is employed by Allsup's in Ruidoso.

REBECCA AND MICHAEL BLAND

Couple to marry on July 10

Wilma and Kenny Arroyos of Las Cruces and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sandoval of Roswell announce the engagement and upcoming marriage of their daughter, April Lee Sandoval of Ruidoso to Joe Bronson Rue of Ruidoso.

The groom's parents are Lydia and Barney Rue of Ruidoso.

The wedding will take place at 3 p.m. Saturday, July 10, at First Christian Church in Ruidoso.

The reception will follow at Ruidoso Civic Events Center. Family and friends are invited.

Canyon Cowbelles name rancher Stirling Spencer man of the year

Canyon CowBelles proudly honored one of their own when they named rancher Stirling Spencer as their 1993 CowBelle Man of the Year.

Spencer, owner and operator of the historic Bar W Ranch, is well known in Lincoln County.

"His quick wit and kind nature make him a standout in any crowd," reads a news release provided by the Cowbelles.

"He is the kind of man that children and puppies just seem to gravitate toward, and haven't we always heard that dogs and kids are a good judge of character?" continues the release.

"Spencer's dedicated service as Lincoln County commissioner and his people-oriented values have won him the respect of those who aren't fortunate enough to know him personally."

Spencer's great-grandfather, William C. McDonald, served the Land of Enchantment as its first elected governor.

"William C. would be proud to know that four generations later his great-grandson is continuing the tradition of meritorious service in the public arena.

"One of his strengths is his tenacious stance for his beliefs, regardless of the popularity of the issue."

"Stirling is a public servant in the truest sense of the word. He dedicates a great deal of his time and resources for the public good," said fellow rancher Rex Wilson.

"Additionally, Stirling will fight the battle until it is over. He doesn't leave anything half done."

Others who have worked with Spencer agree with that assessment.

"Stirling is a man you can take at his word," noted Andy Wyman, county manager. "He follows through with what he says he will do."

"You can count on Stirling to express his opinion," agreed Martha Proctor, county clerk. "He never stays on the fence. He goes after what he believes in and shoots straight."

Proctor also appreciates Spencer's defense of personal rights and initiative.

"Stirling stands up for the citizens' right to control their own lives and property instead of imposing more control by government agencies," she noted.

"He is a strong defender of personal rights," concurred Wynham. "He believes in states' rights and separation of power, but first and foremost comes the right of the individual."

While serving as commissioner, Spencer earned the nickname, "Scrooge," because of his conservative attitude in spending Lincoln County taxpayer dollars.

"His values demonstrate his feeling that people should take care of themselves whenever possible," noted Proctor. "But he has compassion and helps those who sincerely need help. You just won't find a kinder, more generous man."

As clerk of the commission, Proctor has observed Spencer at work. She recalls that Stirling "always represents what he feels is best for the welfare of the citizens of Lincoln County, even if it isn't the best option for him personally."

In his two-and-a-half years as commissioner, Spencer hasn't missed a single meeting. He even checked out of the hospital where he was being treated for a broken leg to attend a meeting.

The Lincoln County Commission is just one of Spencer's obligations.

He has served on the Lincoln County Historic Commission, is active in the Coalition of Counties and People for the West and is New Mexico's representative to the Western Interstate Region of the National Association of Counties which works on issues common to western states.

He is on the board of directors of both the New Mexico Cattle Growers Association and the Production Credit Association.

Back at the ranch, this progressive-minded rancher can often be seen soaking up the New Mexico sunshine as he motorcycles around the ranch shirtless, in shorts and tennis shoes. Spencer is an avid flyer who enjoys piloting his green and white airplanes for business and pleasure and has found it to be a quick and efficient way to check watering spots on the ranch.

"Stirling exhibits a distinct pride in being a rancher," noted Proctor. "He understands the progressive and modern methods of ranching while appreciating and respecting the old-timers' ways."

Ranchers who know him attest that Spencer continually seeks to improve the production rate of the Bar W and the consumption quality of the beef produced there. He keeps himself updated on the latest research and statistics to ensure the all-around success of his ranch and cattle.

"He is certainly down-to-earth and believes in working for what you get," says Wynham. "There isn't anything false about Stirling. What you see is what you get."

Wynham continued, "Stirling sets the example in that he believes that people should serve in local, county and state government if they are able to after taking care of their own business and interests."

"Stirling is highly intelligent and well educated, yet has the ability to debate most any subject with people from all walks and levels of life," noted Wilson. "Stirling is an engineering genius with a lot of common sense."

As statesman, rancher, leader and impassioned defender of private rights and responsibilities, Spencer has taken the heat and held the line for the betterment of the entire county.

"Stirling has done so much for all of us that it seems fitting that we honor him now," summarized CowBelle Pat Hume.

CowBelles and their families will gather to honor Spencer on June 17 at the Flying J in Ruidoso.

In a world where heroes are getting harder and harder to find, the CowBelles salute Spencer and his unpretentious commitment to the old-fashioned values of hard work, honesty and personal rights and freedoms.

On Campus

The son of a Ruidoso couple received a medical degree during commencement exercises June 5 at the Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center.

BRENT RONALD PAULGER, son of Ronnie and Patricia Paulger of Ruidoso, was one of 86 students to receive medical degrees during the ceremonies in Lubbock, Texas.

He received the Health Sciences Center's Quest for Excellence Award and the Upjohn Achievement Award.

Dr. Paulger was also honored as a member of Alpha Omega Alpha, the national medical honor society with membership limited to the top 15 percent of each graduating medical class.

Paulger will now serve a preliminary internal medicine residency at Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center.

Five students at Eastern New Mexico-Ruidoso have been recognized for earning a grade point average of 3.25 or higher while completing 15 credit hours.

The students are Ruth Gardner, Clara Montoya, John Montoya, David Vermillion and Michael Widener.

The Norgor runs for 15th time

by MARILYN MOORE
Ruidoso Downs Race Track
Special to The News

The Norgor Futurity, named in honor of one of the greatest thoroughbreds ever to campaign at Ruidoso Downs, celebrates its 15th running on Sunday, June 20.

The impressive field features ten of the top 2-year-old thoroughbreds in the Southwest going the 5 1/2-furlong distance, all with hopes of living up to the race's legendary namesake.

Throughout horse racing history many champions have run over the Ruidoso Downs' racing strip, however, few have made more of an impact than the burly chestnut gelding Norgor.

The Louisiana-bred thoroughbred by Norther campaigned at Ruidoso throughout the 1970s and earned the honor of having not one, but two stakes races named after him. Norgor is still proclaimed by many as being the greatest 870-yard horse of all time.

The highlight of his storybook career came in 1976, when the 9-year-old set a world record for four furlongs when he stopped the timer in a blazing :44.3. The record has since been broken, but it only added to Norgor's mystique at Ruidoso Downs.

Official thoroughbred records marked Norgor as a virtual unknown, although the gelding did win a small futurity at Evangeline Downs in Louisiana.

Records show that from 1969 to 1978, he ran in 27 races with four wins, 10 places and three shows with earnings of $22,274. The reason being, the Jockey Club does not recognize races of less than four furlongs, which is equivalent to 880 yards.

However, all his 870-yard races were kept on record by the American Quarter Horse Association Racing Department. AQHA records show that Norgor had a very impressive record of 24 triumphs from 67 outings at the 870-yard distance.

Also worth noting is the fact he placed in 20 other starts. Of the wins, seven came against stakes company.

In 1971 and 1972 the gelding won the 870-yard Brigand Handicap and ran third in the 1976 edition. Other stakes to his credit were the 1971 White Sands Handicap, the Flying Charm Handicap in '72 and '77, and the 1975 Governor's Speed Handicap.

His total earnings reached $70,000.

Since the first running of the Norgor Futurity in 1979 and the Derby in 1980, only four horses have been able to capture the title in both prestigious races: Pride Of Loom, Adios Mundo, Talent Connection and Baby Let's Dance. Baby Let's Dance, who won the 1993 Derby on June 5, is the only filly to have ever won both races.

Among trainers, Bob Arnett has a combined total of six wins in both the Futurity and Derby. He won the Futurity three consecutive years from 1981 to 1983 and later went on to win again in 1985.

Arnett captured the Derby in 1980 and 1982. Cliff Lambert, another fixture on the New Mexico racing circuit has also had success in the Norgor. He won the Futurity twice in 1986 and 1987 and the Derby three times in 1983, 1984 and 1986.

Jockey Casey Lambert rode all five winners for his father.

Mike Lidberg won the Futurity twice in 1982 and 1983 and the Derby in 1988.

Norgor's vast accomplishments would still go without notice if there had never been the 870-yard race. The race was created at Ruidoso Downs in 1949 when the track was faced with a horse shortage.

The racing secretary thought the race would be an excellent way to keep both the fast thoroughbreds and distance loving quarter horses in the Sacramento Mountains. Race tracks everywhere now run the race that was first established at the mountaintop oval.

Since the first running of the futurity, Norgor's Legend has lived on through the champions who have earned the prestigious title as a victor in the race.

On Sunday, another outstanding thoroughbred will be added to the top-notch list of winners.

A bettor's dream

23-to-1 longshot Challenger Six upset the field in the $23,100 Zia Handicap with a half-length victory Sunday at Ruidoso Downs Race Track. Jockey Steve Fuller rode the New Mexico-bred gelding for owner-trainer Bobby Crenshaw. Challenger Six ran the 400 yards in 20.06 seconds.

New Mexico breeds dominate Norgor Futurity trials Friday

The New Mexico-bred geldings Amandas Nice Boy and Supartica ran impressively to win two of the three trial divisions for the rich Norgor Futurity, Friday at Ruidoso Downs.

The 2-year-olds became two of ten qualifiers for the $77,279 futurity which will be run Sunday, June 20. The race will be run at 5 1/2-furlongs.

Amandas Nice Boy, trained by Fred Danley, broke a step slowly from the gates in the 5 1/2-furlong sprint, but was rushed into contention by jockey Roger Gomez and had a two length advantage heading into the turn for home.

At the top of the stretch the gelding widened his lead to five lengths and cruised home under a hand ride to win by 5 1/4 lengths.

The time was 1:05. Amandas Nice Boy most recently ran a strong second behind Saint Patties Lucy in the $82,000 Rio Grande Kindergarten Futurity here May 31. The Brave Lad gelding is owned by W.T. Stradley and Tom Williams of Hobbs.

Sam Ewan's Supartica rallied late to edge El Paso Special by a 3/4 length to win the first trial division. The gelding by Superbity battled with El Paso Special for the lead out of the gates and trailed by only a head midway down the backstretch. The two pacesetters duelled head-and-head down the lane with Supartica just getting up at the wire.

The Don Farris-trainee ran the 5 1/2-furlongs in 1:05.3. Supartica, owned by Ewan of Irving, Texas, had run third in his only prior outing against maidens here May 22.

Carlos Rivas was the winning rider.

Margaret DuPont and Margaret Bloss' Set Records scored a wire-to-wire win in the final trial in a time of 1:04.2, the fastest of the three divisions. The Kentucky-bred son of Sauce Boat was sent off the even-money favorite in the ten-horse field and was never threatened en route to an easy 4 3/4-length score under jockey Flavio Martinez. The Doyal Roberts-trained gelding won his career debut by 4 1/2-lengths against maidens here May 30 and should be one of the favorites in the finals which awards the winner $38,639.

The complete list of qualifiers follows: Supartica, El Paso Special, J.D. Slew, Amandas Nice Boy, Sioux Native, Blue Trimble, Set Records, Land And Si and Velveteen Fox. A draw among the three fourth place finishers will determine the final qualifier.

The 15th Norgor Futurity will be run Sunday, June 10, at Ruidoso Downs. The race is named in honor of Norgor, who dominated 870-yard stakes and thoroughbred springs throughout his illustrious career at Ruidoso Downs. The highlight of his career was in 1976 when he set a four-furlong world record of :44.3 at Ruidoso.

Shadee Pepito and Prince Curra clash

Jerry Rogers' Shadee Pepito, a 1 3/4-length winner in his last start at Ruidoso Downs on May 29, tops a contentious field of $3,500 claimers entered in Friday's featured event.

The one mile route is open to 3- and 4-year-olds and offers a purse of $2,400.

Shadee Pepito, a 4-year-old California-bred gelding by Stratford, came from off the pace in the 7 1/2-furlong contest to outfinish fellow closer Amawinner in his last outing. The Joel Marr-trainee ran the distance in a respectable 1:34.4.

Prior to that race, Shadee Pepito ran third in his summer debut here on May 16 against similar $2,500 claimer company. The gelding has run consistently throughout the past few months finishing in the money in five of his last six starts.

Jockey Nicky Madrid will ride Friday for owner Rogers of Clint, Texas.

The Cliff Lambert-trained gelding Prince Curra who scored a 1 1/4-length victory against $4,000 claimers on June 4, also looms a major threat Friday. The 4-year-old New Mexico-bred son of Curra Boy took the lead at the start of the 7 1/2-furlong race and was never seriously threatened en route to a wire-to-wire triumph in a time of 1:33.4.

Todd Fincher, who rode Prince Curra in his last win, gets the return call.

The gelding is owned by C.M. Bogle of Dexter.

The exciting racing action from Hollywood Park begins at 8 p.m. Friday night in the Ruidoso Downs Turf Club. "Hollywood Nights" features the entire race card from Hollywood Park in Inglewood.

HAMBURGER KING

Dear Ruidoso,

I used to write these letters for the purpose of getting a few more people into my sandbox (Hamburger King), but I sold the sandbox. I no longer own Hamburger King. The new owners, Billy and Paul Martin, have asked me several times to write a letter for them, but I was reluctant to do so. Frankly, I didn't want to bang the drum for something I couldn't control the quality of. I no longer feel that way.

Billy and Paul have operated the place for a couple of months now, and I assure you the quality has not slipped. It has improved. These guys are serious operators and they have a lot more energy and brains than I do. So now I would like to say a few things, but it is from the position of a customer rather than the owner.

After I sold Hamburger King, John Howden, Ray Vowel, and I bought an old house that we are remodeling. We work a few hours every day and many days we knock off for lunch. Now, we have spread our lunch business from one end of the town to the other, and let me say, that with a few exceptions, lunch can be a pretty bleak affair in this town unless you want to spend a bundle. Thank God, Hamburger King is one of the exceptions. The is big, clean and comfortable. The food is wholesome and tasty .. and there is a great variety. You don't have to eat the same thing everyday. Besides a full line of smoking hot burgers (in two sizes), there are sandwiches, chicken fried steak, catfish, homemade stew, chili, tacos, and ice cream. They have even added a veggie burger for people who don't eat meat. There are many things for everyone, and it is all moderately priced. If you eat lunch there today, you can still afford lunch tomorrow.

One of the nicest things about Hamburger King is its atmosphere. Blue collar, white collar, or no collar, everyone feel at home and is welcome. I promise you that Hamburger King does not treat the local folks like tourists.... They treat the tourists like local folks.

I urge you to go down and have a meal. Take your family with you... you won't be disappointed.

If you happen to see three old rascals in working clothes and slightly unshaven, that's just me, John and Ray. Some people call us "Old Fogies, Inc." (I cleaned that line up. I can't tell you what they really call us because this is a family newspaper.) See ya at Hamburger King.

Capitan

Familiar faces hired for school year

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Two former Capitan residents will be returning to the local school system next fall.

Todd Proctor, son of Lincoln County Clerk Martha Proctor, was hired last Thursday by the school board to replace Randy Fritchard, who previously resigned as vocational/agricultural instructor.

Becky Angel Borowski, who quit teaching seven years ago to stay at home with her children, will take over the library. The resignation of Mary Weaver was accepted by the board Thursday.

Proctor was picked from 23 applicants by a screening committee comprised of board member Jack King, former board member Preston Stone, high school principal Darrel Stierwalt, administrative secretary Renee Cupit, who also is involved with the Future Farmers of America, as are Darlene Bobb and Jody Roberts.

In another matter, the board approved the 1993-94 tentative budget of $4,831,492, which already has been reviewed by the state.

The operational portion of the budget is $2,168,789, including $291,542 for transportation. On the non-operational side, $1,288,511 is available in bond proceeds for building construction, $278,761 has been set aside for capital improvements and $506,220 for debt service.

The salary schedule for teachers reflects the requirement of the State Legislature that beginning teachers be paid a school year salary of $22,000.

The state also decreed that other teachers earning from $22,000 to $82,000 received an average increase of 6 percent and those over $82,000 were given an average increase of 4 percent.

L.C. Cozzens, a former district school superintendent who acts as a budget consultant to the board, said Capitan teachers will receive an average of a little more than 7 percent for their raises for the 1993-94 school year.

"We felt the teachers deserved it," he said. "They've been a little over three years without a salary adjustment."

He pointed out that non-certified employees received a minimum of 6 percent increase and some, more than 7 percent.

"I recommended that the head bookkeeper get an additional $2,000 above the salary schedule," Cozzens said. "She works 12 months a year and many extra hours."

"We're lucky to have Francis (Traylor)," said new district superintendent Diana Sonnamaker. "She's very good."

Cozzens also noted that the district will carry forward a cash balance of more than $100,000, which can be kept in reserve in case the district's student enrollment is lower than projected.

The main source of revenue for the budget comes from the state reimbursement for every full time equivalent student. For the upcoming school year, that source will bring in $1,994,756 compared to $1,961,729 for the 1992-93 school year. Total state money will hit more than $2-million and constitutes 97.92 percent of the budget revenue.

Sitting in on her first regular school board meeting in Capitan, Sonnamaker seemed comfortable and confident.

She asked board members to set a date when they can walk through existing school buildings to set a priority list of repairs. The time was scheduled for 9 a.m. Wednesday, June 16.

"We definitely need to repair some of the buildings and equipment and we have Senate Bill 9 money that should be spent," she told board members.

About $150,000 is left this year and $128,000 will be available in the fiscal year starting July 1, she said. Several leaks in the gymnasium roof cause problems each time it rains. The sky is visible in one place.

"We need to look at the guarantee on the roof with all those leaks, to see if it has a 15-year guarantee," she said.

"It seems with a tin roof, it shouldn't be leaking, especially with that slope," said Board President Tom Trost.

Board member Jack King checked the commemorative plaque on the school to determine when it was constructed. The date was 1980.

In other business, the school board —was told by Sonnamaker that the board may need to review its leave, workman's compensation and absentee policies.

—indicated an interest in adopting a procedure for future employees that would require their fingerprints to be run through a federal network to detect persons with child abuse histories.

"We do it at Fort Stanton (Hospital and Training School)," said Trost, who is employed there. "The fingerprints are sent to the FBI (Federal Bureau of Investigations)."

"The problem is that many cases are not reported," Sonnamaker said. "The employer just has them resign and they go to another school district. Calling directly (the previous employer) is the best, especially if you simply ask if they would rehire the person and they say, 'Ask me another question.'"

—heard a report from high school principal Darrel Stierwalt that it will be September before actual construction begins on the new middle school.

The plans need a final review, then the board must advertise for bids.

"We need lots of electrical outlets so we have to be sure we get the proper wiring and enough power to serve the school," Sonnamaker said.

"Yeh, we certainly don't want the same situation they had at the Civic Events Center in Ruidoso," said board member Russell Shearer.

—heard from Stierwalt that coaches and school nurses are required to use latex gloves and to follow certain safety procedures with bloody clothes any time they deal with a student injury.

—noted that the State Auditor had approved the board's choice of Rice & Association of Albuquerque to handle its annual audit.

New Capitan school superintendent Diane Sonnamaker catches up on the news in Lincoln County by reading the The Ruidoso News.

"Little guy" wins at village board meeting

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Protect the little guy, residents of Capitan urged members of the board of trustees Monday.

Village officials responded by assuring those at the meeting that permits and payment of a fee will not be necessary for garage sales.

Each seller participating in a local flea market won't need to buy a separate $5 business license, trustees said. They will be covered by the operator's license and will be responsible for their own sales tax.

But to allow those exclusion, a local ordinance passed recently after public hearings will have to be amended at the board's July meeting.

In another matter, Dr. Bernie Reimann, chairman of the Expanded 911 emergency telephone number system, told trustees that after years of frustration, the project is nearing completion.

"What looks wonderful on a piece of paper has been very difficult in reality," Reimann said. He had to coordinate between four different telephone companies and three separate dispatch centers.

Initially, Ruidoso will be the main receiving point for the E911 system until remodeling can be accomplished at the other dispatch areas. The first day of service is targeted for July 1, "but this is the third time a deadline has been established only to be delayed three months," he said. Initially, two of the main advantages also will not be available, the automatic identification of the source of the telephone call by the number and the physical location.

Reimann's description of the course of an emergency call amused village police officer Lance Zink.

An emergency call phoned in from Capitan will go to Albuquerque, then to Ruidoso, relay to Carriazo and then back to Capitan.

"But we are talking milliseconds" for all of the computers to connect, Reimann said.

In other action, the trustees: —approved unanimously a 1/16th of a cent sales tax to pay for infrastructure improvements and repairs in the village.

—unanimously approved a beer and wine license for the Hotel Chango restaurant owned by Jerrold Flores.

—heard from Capitan volunteer fire chief Pat Huey that preliminary drawings for new construction on the fire station should be ready by next Tuesday. The aim is to have the new section match the existing building.

—heard a report from Warth that the wetlands sewage filtration and treatment project is 24 percent complete and should be planted by the end of August.

If the plants survive, the village should be using the system of canals by the end of September.

—heard that bids will be opened July 8 on 38 new fire hydrants to be installed as part of a $219,000 project. Warth said he hopes the village may receive a better fire rating and see insurance premiums go down. However, he noted that the village already carries one of the best ratings possible for a community of its size.

—reappointed existing members of the planning and zoning board and to the cemetery board.

—noted that Trustee Gordon Ross was on vacation and absent from the meeting.

Jack King, a Capitan school board member, plays the good sport by sitting in a pint-size chair. Although no one would take blame or credit, a "Reserved for Jack King" sign was hanging on the chair when members arrived for a school board meeting last week. Member Beverly Payne seems to enjoy the picture. King tried to pin the "caper on high school principal Derrel Stierwalt, but he denied involvement.

Keep your dogs & cats confined

Capitan pet owners be warned.

If your cat or dog is running loose and is picked up by the village police officer, it will be destroyed within three days unless reclaimed and a fine is paid. About 15 dogs have been destroyed in the past four weeks.

It's the part of his job he hates, said officer Lance Zink. The village's two cages are uncovered and offer no protection for the animals from the elements for the animals.

A village ordinance prohibits animals running loose. The owner will be charged a $25 impounding fee for the first offense, plus $5 a day for the care of the animal and the cost of any appropriate license or rabies vaccination fee. The charge doubles on a second offense.

A new state law also takes effect July 3 that requires all animals reclaimed to be sterilized.

4-on-4 tournament postponed

A Four on Four co-educational volleyball tournament, originally set for this weekend in Capitan, has been postponed until Friday and Saturday, June 25-26.

Too many of the potential players already were involved in an out-of-town tournament and didn't want to miss out on the fun, said Pam Allen, volleyball coach at Capitan High School.

The fee is $40 a team. Pool play will begin at 6:30 p.m. Friday. Structuring of the competition will depend on the number of teams that enter, she said. Entries should be submitted by June 23.

For more information, call Allen at 354-3121 or write her at Box 127, Capitan, NM 88316.

How does Rest-A-Matic do all

Programmed to raise or lower different sections of the bed, the Rest-A-Matic is the product of extensive engineering design and testing. All toward the ultimate aim of providing you with a "free-floating" kind of support you could never experience in chair lounges, sofas or conventional beds. Since the Rest-A-Matic adapts to literally hundreds of restful positions, you can actually distribute body weight more evenly to help relieve muscle tension, back fatigue, tired legs. Comfort is yours to command whether you just want to relax or adjust to a position for increased circulatory action.

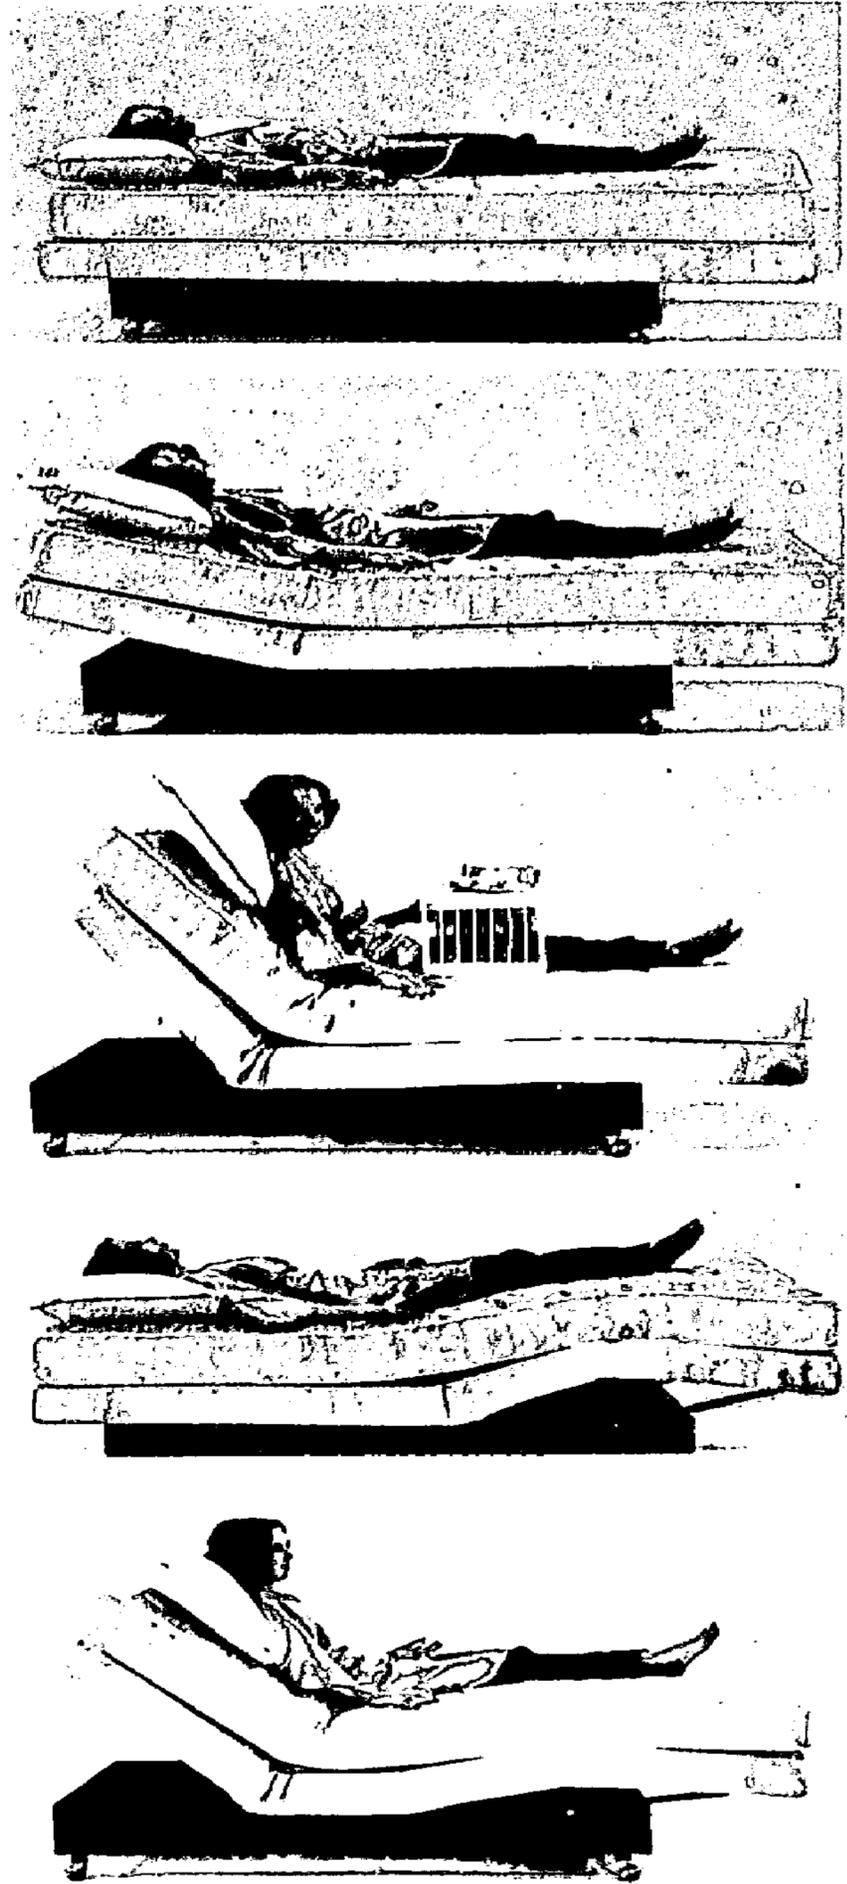

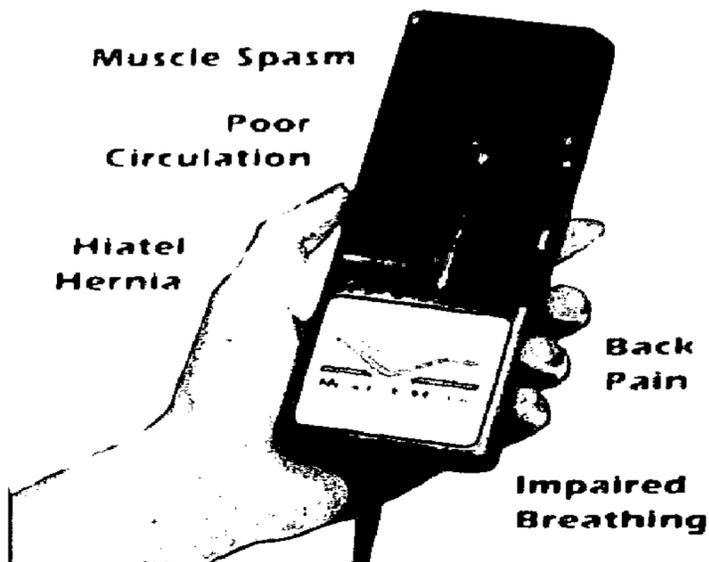

Inside the Rest-A-Matic frame and mattress is where the engineering magic has been concealed. Simply plug the cord into a regular outlet and the Rest-A-Matic with its silent electric motors and scientifically structured framework is ready to do your bidding at the touch of a button.

When made up, your Rest-A-Matic bed looks like any other elegant conventional bed. Can be used with your present headboards and comes in the usual sizes, Twin, Full Sized, Queen and King, and Dual King (two twin beds that accommodate king size bedspreads).

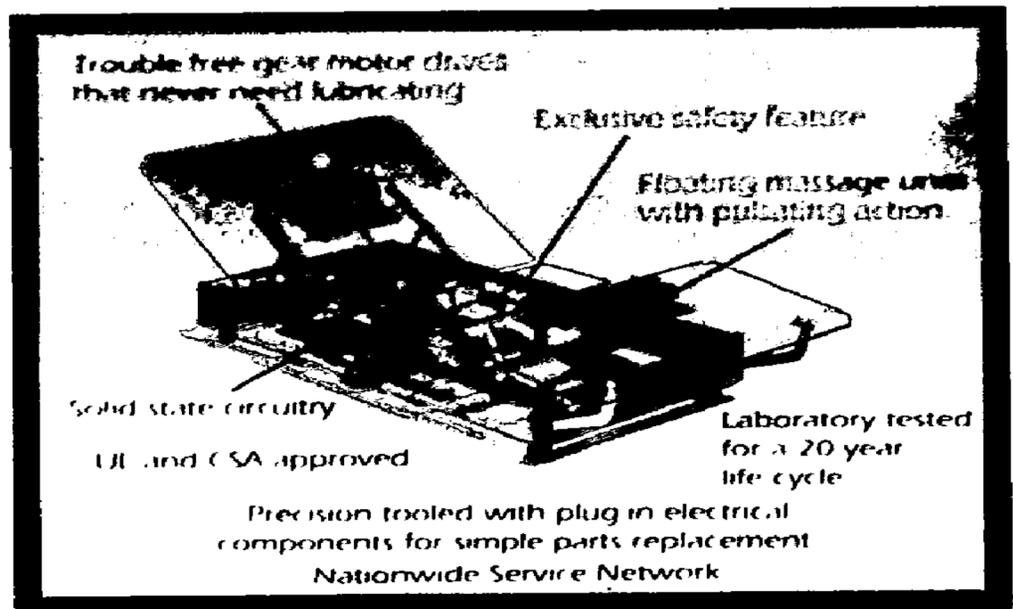

Refreshing relaxation and increased circulation offer many obvious benefits to health and well being.

"Comfort Control Center"

With the touch of a button control every action of your Rest-A-Matic®

The only adjustable bed in the world with all these features.

this for you?

The Rest-A-Matic® Bed adjusts in any positions, you can now get exactly the right amount of support for healthful relaxation. For example, you can raise the head support and raise your legs... for a healthful surge of activity. With legs elevated back completely relaxed... your head slightly lower than the rest of your body... you can feel the pressures and tensions of the day slip away!

Enjoy "cradle-comfort" even in the upright position, since only about 10% of your body weight rests on your hips. Just one of thousands of positions you can command.

Multiple answer to the bed-ridden problem. The Rest-A-Matic® can automatically be controlled by the patient to change positions to relieve the monotony, nervous tension and soreness remaining in one position too long. In addition, by adjusting the bed to "activity" positions the patient can keep self-entertained or engaged in other activities such as reading, writing, with virtually no assistance from others.

Thermo-Matic Massage
After a hard day, you might like to enjoy a pleasant, refreshing massage right in your own bed! Just add the optional Digi-Matic Massage that sends out waves of soothing energy... simulating the fingers of a skilled masseur!

Thermo-Matic Heat
Another optional feature is the Thermo-Matic Warmth Control, a heating unit for your Rest-A-Matic® is imperceptible to sight or sound. With its own control that lets you select the level of heat you desire. "Thermo-Matic" is far more effective than an electric blanket because the heat rises from the mattress and is retained by the lightest of fabrics above.

Household Hint

A ceiling fan can make your home more comfortable all year long; in summer, the normal counterclockwise rotation of the blades circulates cool breezes; operated in reverse in winter, the fan forces rising warm air down from the ceiling.

Did You Know?

Tree planting has been increasing steadily since World War II, and has been at record levels for the last decade. In the 1980's more than 26 million acres were planted including a record 2.3 billion seedlings in 1988. In 1990, more than 400 trees were planted for every child born in the U.S.
