RUIDOSO, NM 88345

NO. 28 IN OUR 48TH YEAR 50 CENTS

On the side

Capitan welcomes 40 new students

Nearly 40 more students showed up at Capitan high school on the first day of classes Wednesday than were enrolled at the end of 1992-93 school year.

"We had to order more books and chairs and we may have to try to borrow some from Ruidoso until ours are delivered," said Diana Sonnamaker, who took over as superintendent during the summer.

"Everything is on track. A couple of classes are overloaded, but it won't be a problem moving them around."

The first day figures showed 285 elementary students, down a few from the projection and 271 in high school, up 36 from last year.

"We're getting new children from all over, especially California," Sonnamaker said. In spite of the extra load, "everybody was in class on time and the buses are running on schedule."

Business after hours set for this afternoon

The Ruidoso Chamber of Commerce Business After Hours will be from 5:30 to 7 p.m. today at Crown Point Condominiums.

Crown Point managers Ann and Rick Evans invite people to come find out about Crown Point and also let others know about their businesses.

It's also a good time to relax from the hectic summer with some old business friends.

Skeen visits Rotary

Congressman Joe Skeen (R) is scheduled for a noon talk to the Ruidoso Rotary Club Tuesday, August 24, at the Bull Ring Restaurant on the Mechem Drive.

Skeen is expected to talk on the President's tax package and the proposed overhaul of the nation's health care system.

Skeen said he also is open to talk on other issues including campaign finance reform, Freedom of Choice Act, and a possible freeze in social security cost of living adjustments.

Signs lead to court for councilor & promoter

by CHARLES STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

An apparent blunder by an official of the state highway department led to a criminal complaint against a Ruidoso village councilor last Friday.

A larceny charge was lodged against Councilor Frank Potter by Ruth Sikes of Pampa, Texas, for removing her promotional signs from state rights of way.

The private signs, some of which were attached to existing highway speed signs, promoted an arts and crafts fair sponsored by her company, Showcase Productions, and staged at the Civic Events Center. Last weekend was Sikes' fourth show at the center.

The arts and crafts shows have come under severe criticism by local retailers who charged that it was unfair competition to allow the wholesalers into Ruidoso only on the good weekends, to undercut the local merchants and then leave.

The village council, in support of the merchants, recently voted to eliminate that type of merchandising.

Early Friday, Mayor Jerry Shaw said she had received complaints from merchants that the illegal signs were appearing on Sudderth Drive and Mechem Drive. The signs violate village ordinances.

Shaw said she asked village planning and zoning director Cleatus Richards several times to remove the signs.

Richards informed her that he talked with Tim Basler, state traffic engineer based in Roswell, and Basler told him he had given the woman permission to place signs on highway rights of way.

According to Richards, Sikes had no village permits because he said it was within the state highway rights of way, which the state controls.

"That is their area of jurisdiction," Richards said. "I have talked to Mr. Basler regarding not allowing permits in the future unless also approved by the village."

Richards said there was no understanding between the state highway department and the village for such communication. He said he was working on an agreement.

However, village attorney John Underwood told The Ruidoso

News Tuesday that village ordinances apply to all roads and streets within Ruidoso and all areas within Ruidoso, regardless of a state highway right of way.

Under Chapter 10 of the village contract that Sikes had to sign to lease the premises, "Any person who is carrying on or is causing to be carried on any activity with the purpose of direct or indirect financial benefit is engaging in business and must comply with state and local business registration and business license regulations."

Carroll Young, deputy secretary of highways for the state, told The Ruidoso News Monday that such signs on the highway rights of way would be inappropriate and wrong. He said signs could obscure traffic control signs and that he would be surprised if permission was granted.

He said he would ask Tom Dick, District II Engineer located in Roswell, to look into the matter. Dick told The News that Basler informed him that he had not allowed the highway right of way signs, but that's not what Basler told The News later in the day.

Apparently, in a conversation with Richards last Friday, it was agreed to allow the signs to stand. "I told Cleatus that because we didn't have that tape (Sikes said she taped her conversation with Basler) we didn't know one way or the other," Basler said. She already had the signs up and the event's going to be over this weekend. I understood that there was only 10 to 12 signs (about $250 in village permit fees) in the size range of a real estate sign and it was a function that was being put on at the civic center. That if there was some problem with these, we'd go ahead with this, this time, and in the future it wouldn't happen (again)."

The News told Basler that his conversation with Richards sounded as if he gave permission.

"OK, I did," Basler said. "My problem is, why are you blowing this out of proportion?"

Basler said he didn't think it was a big deal, but in the future he didn't think it would happen again. He said he was sorry Frank Potter got into trouble.

According to Ruidoso police department reports, Sikes said there was a dispute earlier in the day between her and Richards regarding placement of the signs. She wrote in the report that she thought the dispute was resolved about 5 p.m. after she told Richards she had sign placement permission from Basler.

Apparently, sometime Friday, Potter decided to remove the signs when Richards wouldn't.

Sikes said about 11 p.m., she was leaving the civic center and observed Potter removing her signs from the road and putting them in his vehicle. Potter told Sikes that her signs were illegal, according to the report. The signs were then put in Sikes' car and she left.

In a late evening discussion with Ruidoso Patrolman Robert Layher, the officer advised Sikes to replace her signs and in the morning contact the director of the civic center and the mayor or the village manager and advise them she had permission from the highway department to place the signs.

Layher advised Sikes she could file a civil action against those involved, but suggested she discuss it further first.

At about 2:30 a.m., Sikes walked into the police department and said after thinking it over, she felt that Potter was indeed committing a crime and she would like to file.

Contacted by The News Monday, Potter said he removed the signs because they were in violation of the village ordinances, and some, attached to existing highway signs, represented a traffic risk to the community.

Sikes said Wednesday that her attorney had told her not to discuss the subject, however, she maintained she had permission from Basler and that Basler had told her where to place the signs.

She said she had attached her sign to a highway speed sign for stability.

She said she had lost six signs over the weekend and intended to pursue a suit against Potter.

Full ride!

Michelle Morris and Monica Martinez, 1993 graduates of Ruidoso High School, will continue their volleyball careers at Trinidad State University in Colorado after signing a letter of intent Wednesday and receiving full ride scholarships. Their first game will be August 28.

Former Fort Stanton administrator jailed

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

A former administrator of Fort Stanton Hospital and Training School has been slapped with a harsh six month sentence for contempt of court.

The contempt sentence is linked to Mark DelGado's failure to account for money belonging to a Fort Stanton patient, according to Judge Richard A. Parsons of the Twelfth Judicial District.

DelGado was arrested at 10:36 a.m. Friday on a warrant issued by Parsons.

He listed his current employment as administrator at the Veterans Hospital in Truth or Consequences. He's confined in the Lincoln County jail and did not respond to a request for an interview from The Ruidoso News.

However, Parsons provided some background, noting that specifics about the Fort Stanton client and medical information are confidential and part of a sequestered case.

"We have a woman who is incapacitated and was at Fort Stanton while (DelGado) was administrator," Parsons said. "He became her conservator, filing notice on September 10, 1985, although her file started in 1977."

Her petition to remove him (from that position alleges) problems in excess of $4,700.

I set hearings twice and neither time did he show. I issued a warrant and at a February 16 hearing, told him he could rid the contempt if he paid the woman's attorney for the two trips she made to Carrizozo and made an accounting of the woman's money while under his control.

Six months later, I set another hearing because the attorney was yelling. She had not been reimbursed and there was no accounting. I held him in contempt in jail for six months."

According to State Health Department officials, DelGado served as administrator at Fort Stanton from November 1976 to September 1985.

Area garbage gurus stand by equal rates

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Summer cabin owners in the Eagle Creek area of the Lincoln National Forest won't be given a break on their annual garbage collection charges.

Members of the Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority voted unanimously Monday to stick with their commitment to allow no exemptions to the monthly residential charge for cases that don't meet the specific variance guidelines.

James Borders, president of the Eagle Creek Summer Home Association, had requested a six-month a year billing, since the units cannot be occupied for more than that amount of time.

In his recommendation to grant the six-month request, authority general manager Joe Lewandowski wrote that the U.S. Forest Service restricts the use of the units to six months or less a year, because they may not be used as primary residences.

He said renewal of the lease is not automatic when it expires in December 2009 and the forest service could terminate the agreement at any time with 180 days notices, if the action was in the public interest.

"In this lease, the forest service authorized officer determines the future of this property, not the renter," Lewandowski wrote. "They can't rebuild if the cabins are destroyed."

"Would you pull out the containers after six months?" asked authority member Bill

Please see Garbage, page 2A

A private arts and crafts sign, centered on the highway median strip, was one of several signs removed by Councilor Frank Potter who considered the signs illegal and a community health risk, diverting attention away from the traffic. The owner of the signs claims she had highway permission and filed charges against Potter.

Bears win!

This Texas camper surveys the leftovers after hungry bears ate out at his expense. The bear (or bears) carried off top prize in this case, dining on a cooler full of T-bone steaks. Although the guests apparently ate their fill, leaving behind a big mess, they didn't leave a tip. Bears have been sighted all over the area this year, with police even chasing one cub around the campus at Ruidoso Middle School last week.

Garbage

Schwettmann, a Lincoln County commissioner.

That would be difficult and impractical, because each unit could be occupied at different times of the year, said authority attorney J. Robert Beauvais.

"Aren't we getting into trouble with the Nazarene Campground (at Angus) if we approve this?" Schwettmann said, referring to a previous decision not to allow unit owners there a break on billing. They also do not own the land, only the cabins.

"I think you are going to have people wanting you to backtrack," Beauvais said.

Schwettmann then offered a motion to allow no deviation.

In another matter, although no contract was signed and no bonds were issued, a bond counsel who aided the authority in 1991-92 will receive some payment for his effort.

Members voted 7-2 to allow Lewandowski to negotiate the exact amount of payment to Kevin Powers of The Principal Financial Group, but not the full $5,361.68 requested.

Voting against the motion were Schwettmann and Wilton Howell, also a county commissioner.

"It's our contention that we provided valuable services to the authority," Powers told board members. "We put forth the asset purchase idea."

When a non-related lawsuit in another county put all county-involved bond sales on hold in 1992, the firm helped the authority work around that problem by setting up an equipment purchase agreement with members that spread the payments over several years, guaranteed by environmental gross receipts tax.

But it says in this February 9 letter that no fee is due if bonds are not issued and then there was no contract. Schwettmann said, "I wasn't on the board then, but that's all I can read now."

Powers contended the no bonds statement related only to whether or not the company performed properly.

This was a lawsuit against another county prohibiting bond sales and we went out looking for another method," he said. "We did spread sheets. We were doing the best we could at the time to allow the authority to do what it wanted."

Chairman Frank Warth, mayor of Capitan, agreed with Powers, a reversal of previous statements and votes in which he opposed payment.

It looked for a while like the whole thing might explode in our faces," he said. "They came up with another way that kept us together."

"I'm new on the board, but I have yet to see a detailed invoice," Howell said.

Powers said he started working with the authority in May 1991 and in late 1992, helped with the asset purchase.

"They did give value," Beauvais said. "It's a question whether they deserve the compensation with or without a contract. Without their assistance, this thing probably would have gone into the ground."

"But isn't that a gamble they take in that business?" Howell asked, referring to offering services conditional on the sale of bonds.

Beauvais agreed that often a business will do some initial work in the hope it will result in an inside track on a big job.

Member Bill Allen initially offered a motion to pay the Principal Group's bill and a $4,500 invoice from Sherman and Howard law firm, which had been contacted by the consulting firm.

But Beauvais noted there was very little direct input from Sherman and Howard.

Allen backed up and proposed allowing Lewandowski to negotiate with Powers. If Sherman and Howard officials want payment, that firm will have to submit a detailed accounting of their work, members agreed.

In other business, the authority: —held up approval of the joint power agreement that all 10 entities of the Lincoln and Otero solid waste authorities must approve to be involved as owners of the regional landfill south of Alamogordo.

It contains a provision for a differential to be negotiated on a price break for member entities traveling greater distances from a previously proposed site at Three Rivers to the finally accepted site. Beauvais said the difference is about 40 miles round trip.

Howell contended that before the agreement is approved, the differential should be established.

"I agree with Will that we need to do it now before we lose the ability to negotiate (with Otero/Alamogordo officials)," said Ron Wicker, Ruidoso village manager.

The differential will be subject to annual review and will be contained in a side letter to the agreement, Beauvais said.

He said the joint powers agreement also specifies that the two authorities are the joint equal owners of the landfill, instead of each of the 10 member entities.

"If not, it would mean there were four members on their side and six on our side and Otero didn't want that," he noted.

—heard a report that a state hearing on the proposed regional landfill site went well and without objections.

However, Schwettmann said the hearing officer was adamant about precautions being taken to protect employees and others from asbestos that would be buried in a special area.

—were told by Lewandowski that the rate to use the Roswell landfill (until January when the regional landfill is scheduled to open) was increased from $1.50 to $2.50 a yard, which amounts to about $75 more for each trip.

Roswell officials also have reminded the authority that they are limited to 10 loads a week.

"We took down 15 over the Fourth of July and 11 this week," Lewandowski said. "But it will go under 10 loads this winter and average out."

Wicker said to emphasize to Roswell officials that Lincoln considers the figure of 10 loads to be an annual average per week.

—were told that the recycling program continues to be a leader in the state. By using employees for other programs such as dumpster repair and by enlarging loads through greater compaction, Lewandowski said he has been able to further reduce the amount of money by which the authority will be required to subsidize the program, he said.

"Each deferred load at the transfer station (that would otherwise head to a landfill) is a $700 savings to us, so three to four loads covers $3,000 of the payroll," Lewandowski said.

"I'm also requiring (Director Kerry Krummsiek) to cover all the cost of shipping (material to be sold for recycling). Glass is not doing it, even plastic is better and cardboard definitely pays for itself."

The number of dumpsters repaired has increased each month at a savings to the authority, because the recycling employees doing the work already are on the payroll, he said.

The highest number of pounds previously handled in the recycling center was 40,000, but in July, 56,000 pounds were processed.

White goods, which had been piling up at the Capitan landfill, also were picked up by a company that paid 1-cent a pound.

"It's not much but they came and got it and it will save on the life of the landfill," Lewandowski said.

—heard that a part-time customer representative will be hired to work with commercial accounts.

—were told that 691 special pick up and clean up calls were received last month, costing the authority $9,970 to respond, but bringing in no revenue.

Lewandowski promised to have a policy in place that will answer that situation before next summer.

Judge rules to disarm all county courthouse visitors

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Unbuckle those gun belts and pack away that holster. To enter the Lincoln County Courthouse a man and his gun will have to part ways.

Judge Richard A. Parsons of the Twelfth Judicial District issued an order last week prohibiting firearms, knives or other weapons and authorizing body, purse and briefcase searches.

In his order, Parsons wrote that he took such action because "it became apparent that the court must address serious security concerns."

He noted that witnesses and litigants have been assaulted, battered and threatened while in the courthouse or on its grounds.

"On several occasions, firearms or other deadly weapons have been brought into the ... courthouse and ... magistrate courts," he wrote in his order.

Parsons told The Ruidoso News Tuesday, "I had been thinking about it for quite a while. We had a hearing in the small conference room and received a tip that one of the parties was packing."

He asked the assembled group taking part in the conference on the domestic case whether they were armed.

"Each attorney said no, but the lady sitting next to me plopped her purse on the desk and it made an ominous sound," Parsons said. "She reached in and pulled out a .38 revolver."

"People walk up and down in the courthouse packing a gun, and as long as they are visible, it's legal." Legal up until August 12, when Parsons issued his order.

Signs are to be posted on the premises giving notice that by entering the courthouse, a person is consenting to a search for weapons only.

Any person not consenting to a search will be removed from the courthouse. Full time, salaried law enforcement officers and detention officers, and court personnel are exempt from the order. However, Parsons reserved the right to void that exemption.

The only acceptable location for a weapon on courthouse grounds is in a locked vehicle in the parking areas.

Anyone caught with a weapon will be arrested, the weapon will be seized and the court will be notified.

County manager Andy Wynham told The News Monday that the way he reads the order, it applies to the entire complex.

"That includes my area," Wynham said of the commission room and administration wing. "Right now, it's just a matter of posting signs."

Parsons has designated certain full-time law enforcement officers, court personnel and detention officers to conduct the searches.

Giving background on his decision, Parsons said that in November 1989, the constitution was amended to prohibit municipalities or counties from passing any law that would impair bearing arms.

"Courts, however, have long felt they could independently exercise their authority to prohibit deadly weapons and this has been a fairly common practice in Albuquerque and Santa Fe for years where have to go through metal detectors," Parsons said.

"We researched extensively and all the cases indicate that courts have the authority to prohibit weapons on courthouse property. However, a number of questions were raised about the propriety of searching someone without advance notification that their entry onto the premises would subject them to search."

"All of the states concur that if signs are posted stating entry is consent to search, then any search would be lawful."

Signs will be posted at all entrances to the courthouse.

"The county attorneys are going to ask Ruidoso village officials if it's all right to put one where Magistrate Judge Butts sits," Parsons said.

"We think it's a good start and think the (Lincoln County) commission has been very understanding."

Man injured after running out of gas

An area man suffered extensive burns in an accident early Saturday morning after he ran out of gas in his car.

David A. Ross, 19, of Gavilan Trailer Park, along with two friends Charles Gutierrez of Ruidoso and William Lucero of San Patricio, ran out of gas in his 1973 Chevy Malibu on Rainbow Drive.

According to Ruidoso Police Department detective Larry Maddox, they put gas in a plastic milk container and attempted to use a McDonald's French fry box as a funnel.

Ross then lit a cigarette lighter to be able to see what they were doing, Maddox said. Officer Jim Biggs happened to be on patrol in the area and saw a fire in the ditch by the car. He grabbed his fire extinguisher and put out the fire on Ross.

Maddox said Ross' friends had tried to roll him on the ground to put the fire out but had not been able to put it out. Ross suffered extensive burns to neck, arms, hands and legs. He was stabilized at Lincoln County Medical Center and then flown to the University of New Mexico Hospital in Albuquerque.

Ross was in serious condition with second and third degree burns to 25 percent of his body at UNM Regional Burn Center Monday morning, according to Annie Olson, director of public relations at UNM hospital.

Ouch

Ruidoso police officers check the scene of an accident involving Angela Stephens, 22, and Louise Tidwell. The two were driving westbound on Sudderth when Tidwell stopped to make a left turn, Stephens couldn't stop in time and hit her in the rear. Stephens was taken to LOMC after complaining of an injury.

MainStreet board reviews finances

MainStreet Ruidoso directors will gather for their monthly board meeting at 4 p.m. today at Ruidoso State Bank.

Approval items on the agenda include an audit report for 1992-1993 done by Ronnie Hemphill and a reforecast of the 1993-1994 budget. Program director Don Miller said he revised the budget in different areas because funds were not spent on projects, funds shifted to different months based on rescheduling of events, accounts were deleted and funds were corrected based on new projections.

discuss and decide on who it will recommend to the village for the design services for phases two and three of the streetscape improvement project. Miller said they could continue with Bohannon-Huston from Albuquerque, who did phase one, or they could make a new request for proposals.

An option agreement to lease or purchase property along the Ruidoso River to use for the Riverwalk Project will also be on the agenda for action by the board.

Directors will discuss a contract proposal for the statistical analysis of market surveys received from businesses, tourists and local people this spring and summer. Miller plans to set a date for a public presentation on the information and will print copies of the results for anyone to use.

Committee chairpersons will report on membership, strategic planning and a village of Ruidoso council workshop for MainStreet. Miller said they would like to update the council on streetscape construction and designs, the Riverwalk, coop parking and maintenance programs and strategic planning.

Village helps employees by paying bigger share of health insurance costs

The Ruidoso Village Council voted Tuesday to give village employees an insurance break by absorbing a greater share of the premium cost.

According to personnel director Debbie Rogge, the village received two group health insurance proposals. One was a partially self-insured and the other was from Anthem (Acordia) which is the village's current insurance company.

Rogge said the village has added a couple of plan benefits. First, there will be a discount for those employees with only one dependent; secondly, the village will offer a dual deductible.

The employee will have to decide if he or she wants a $1,000 deductible or a $400 deductible.

The village currently pays 67 percent of the premium. Rogge requested the village raise the employer share of group health to 80 percent which would cost the village about $8,000 more than the current plan, but would substantially assist the employees who were hit with a whopping 48 percent increase by the insurance company.

During the special meeting, the village also passed Resolution 93-16 that precludes all other resolutions and policies regulating procurement by the village.

A key change to the purchasing order system appears to loosen prior requirements.

The purchasing review committee wrote the council that departments have complained that the system is very time consuming and recommended to raise purchase order requirement for purchase over $10 to $25.

It was noted in the committee's memo that Ron Jones, State Purchasing Department, advised that this would lead to trouble, where the village would lose audit trailing and control. Jones advised that all purchases should require a purchase order, regardless of the amount. Jones said the village did have the option to set policy and procedure for purchases under $5,000.

Village manager Ron Wicker and street department head Charlie Armstrong came under criticism last year for its loss control in the street department, failing to keep inventory lists from auctions, Armstrong and Wicker, along with deputy manager Alan Briley, finance supervisor LeeAnn Boswell, purchasing agent Terri Ward and water department head Richard Sanchez are all on the purchasing review committee charged with the changes in the current resolution.

The resolution outlines general provisions such as civil penalties, unauthorized purchases, consistency with state procurement codes.

Other categories dealt with in depth are standard purchasing procedures, non-standard, urgent and emergency purchasing procedures.

The council passed a Joint Powers Agreement request by Robert Beauvais, attorney for the Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority.

The agreement will make the village a partner with other municipalities in Otero and Lincoln County in use of the new Otero/Lincoln County Regional Landfill, located in Otero County.

The proposal, outlined recently in The Ruidoso News, adds no tax burden to residents.

Hospital board to meet today

Lincoln County Medical Center board of trustees will review financial statements and the administrator's report as part of the agenda at 8 p.m. today at the hospital conference room.

Administrator Valerie Miller will run down the financial reports for the hospital, the Carrizozo Health Center and the ambulance service. In her administrator's report she will update the group on a leadership retreat, the New Mexico Hospital Association Convention, a market survey and the strategic planning.

Under new business the board will consider an amendment to medical staff rules and regulations.

Trustees also have an extensive executive session planned including a quality management report, quality improvement-risk management plan, utilization review plan, observation beds policy, an annual summation and physician problems and actions.

Guests at the meeting will be Dr. and Mrs. Jurgen Rebstock, the hospital's new general surgeon, and Charline Jones, the new auxiliary president.

Downs auxiliary presents All American Arts & Crafts Fair

Paintings to pottery will be on display for visitors to see and purchase during the 9th annual Ruidoso Downs Auxiliary Arts and Crafts Fair on September 3, 4 and 5.

The fair has a new home this year at the Ruidoso Downs Older American Center near the village hall on Highway 70. Some of the more than 100 booths will be in a tent by the center. Plenty of parking is available in the area.

Visitors can browse through the fair from 1 to 6 p.m. on Friday, September 3, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday, September 4, and from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday, September 5.

Judging of the top three booths will be done on Friday. Organizer Shirley Gray said they do have a few booths left for anyone interested. They may call her at 257-5968.

As an added bonus on Saturday, people can see the annual pie judging contest. The Ruidoso Downs auxiliary will also be giving away $500. Concessions will be available on the grounds.

Bring out the whole family because admission is just $1 for adults and it's free for children 12 and under.

Charity Celebration benefits Museum of the Horse

When the band strikes up the first song on Sunday, September 5, and officially opens the 1993 Charity Celebration, it will be signaling the beginning of the party of the summer.

This year, the Charity Celebration takes a trip back to its roots and honors the finalists in the 35th running of the Grade 1 All American Futurity — the world's richest Quarter Horse race!

The end of the summer bash will welcome as special guests all of the finalists in this tremendous race and hopes to recognize the people who worked so hard to come so far — the owners, trainers and riders of the All American qualifiers.

Each year, the finest two-year-old Quarter Horses in the nation compete in front of the crowds at Ruidoso Downs Race Track, in hopes of joining the elite ranks of the All American Finalists.

Following a grueling series of time trials, only the fastest and finest horses will break from the gates in the All American Futurity on Monday, September 7.

In that short dash down the track, one lucky owner will come home a millionaire.

"It is fitting that this celebration of the finest in Quarter Horses is held at the Museum of the Horse," said Charity Celebration organizers. "The All American Futurity enjoys a rich heritage, and one of the paramount goals of the Museum of the Horse is preserving the history of the horse."

Proceeds from the 1993 Charity Celebration will go to the Museum of the Horse to help them achieve their goals.

The Charity Celebration truly is a "celebration" this year. Members of the Wichita Lineman will begin entertaining the crowds at 8 p.m. on Sunday evening, September 5.

Later in the evening, the nationally recognized crew from America's Horse and ESPN, Tom Dawson and Chris Lincoln, will present a special tribute to the All American finalists.

A delicious hors d'oeuvres buffet will satisfy every appetite, and a cash bar will be available.

Tickets are $50 per person and are now available at Ruidoso Downs Race Track or the Museum of the Horse.

If it's an evening of great entertainment, fine dining and fine dancing, the 1993 Charity Celebration at the Museum of the Horse is the place to be this Labor Day weekend!

RHS volleyball stars awarded full scholarships to Trinidad

The plans of two Ruidoso High School graduates have taken an unexpected turn this week.

Michelle Morris and Monica Martinez both planned to attend Eastern New Mexico University in Portales this fall to play volleyball but found out about three weeks ago they were to be red-shirted.

Their coach, though, was looking out for them. He wanted them to get some time on the court so he called the coach at Trinidad State University in Colorado to see if they could play there. Trinidad offered both full ride scholarships to play.

Morris and Martinez signed letters of intent Wednesday and started practice today to prepare for the season opener August 28. The 10-girl squad, with four coming from New Mexico, will play 48 games this season including matches in Colorado, Wyoming, Montana and Kansas.

Morris' mother, Karen, who took the girls up to Trinidad, said they were really excited about the opportunity to play and the college. They thought the town was wonderful and liked the fact that it is similar to Ruidoso, Karen said.

Morris is also going to play golf on a co-ed team. "It is going to be real exciting for the girls," Karen said.

Warriors battle Tucumcari

Football fever is in the air and the Ruidoso Warrior team will hit the field Friday night for a warm-up scrimmage against the Tucumcari Rattlers.

The practice match is set to begin at 6 p.m. at Horton Stadium.

The scrimmage will pair the first team offense and defense of each team in a series of plays and then second string teams will take the field. The teams will also get in a few practice shots on kick offs and goal line stands.

Coach Mike Gaston has been pleased with the performance of the team as a whole and of first string quarterback John Echols, a junior. He said he expects Echols to be one of the best quarterbacks in the district.

The Warriors will once again have a young team, especially since they will be playing two platoons, and will have to call on younger players to fill all the positions. Last year many of the Warriors played on both sides of the ball, which exhausted them by half time.

A good crop of freshmen from last year who had a little experience on varsity should help fill in the gaps. The Warriors struggled last year, especially against impressive district opponents, and won just one game against Tularosa last September.

Practices went well for the Warriors the first week and they hit the field with pads on in a squad scrimmage on Saturday.

Gaston said although no team can be completely sure that they are ready, his team will be as prepared as it can be in the short time before the first regular season game.

"We're asking them to learn a lot of things in a very short period of time," said Gaston. "They've responded well."

Artesia will be the Warriors' first regular season opponent on August 27, there. The first home game will be against Lovington on September 3.

The rest of the schedule will read much like past year's, except Fabens, Texas, will be the Warriors opponent on October 1 for homecoming.

The junior varsity squad will meet its first opponent on September 4 in Lovington. The freshman team hits the football field against Tularosa there.

The Ruidoso Middle School Braves will scrimmage the Capitan squad at 4 p.m. on August 30 there.

Follow the Warriors and the Braves with The Ruidoso News and try your luck at picking the winners in the football contest, beginning August 30.

Coach Mike Gaston (left) explains a drill to a Warrior player during two-a-day practices last week. The Warriors will hit the field Friday night to work out the kinks in a scrimmage with Tucumcari. The first game is August 27 in Artesia.

Hunter safety class offered

The Ruidoso Hunter Safety instructors are planning the first of three classes for the year.

The first class will be from 5:30-9 p.m. Monday through Friday, August 23 through 27, at the Ruidoso Police Department. Various topics are covered including survival, basic first aid, hunting tips, safe gun handling and more.

The class is required for anyone wishing to go afield with a firearm, who is under the age of 18. This course is also approved in all other states that require an approved hunter safety course, such as Colorado, where adults are required to pass this course.

Class size is limited so pre-register with the receptionist at the Ruidoso Police Department. Your social security number is required and if you can't pre-register then show up for the first class on Monday.

A small fee of $5 is required for each student in the class. For more information contact corporal Pete Esquibel at the Ruidoso Police Department or Dave Wheeler at the Ruidoso Ambulance Service.

Chapman swings in tourney

Area high school stand-out golfer, Jeffrey Chapman, picked up another golfing honor recently.

Chapman, a senior at Ruidoso High School, was one of 60 players from across the United States to participate in the 25th annual Independent Insurance Agent Junior Classic in Little Rock, Arkansas. More than 10,000 golfers attempted to qualify in regional and state competitions but only 135 go to the national finals to work their way into the top 60.

In four rounds Chapman scored a 77, 78, 86 and 89 for a 329. The champion of the tournament was Ted Oh of Torrance, California. Oh compiled a one over par 289 after starting nine strokes off on the final day for one of the greatest comebacks in the history of the tournament.

Earlier in the summer Chapman and Warrior Ryan Wall represented the state champion Warriors on the West All-Star team, which played here in July. Both also participated in the Maxfli Sun Country PGA Championship in late July.

Inside The Outdoors

Make plans early for a successful season

It hardly seems possible, but summer is almost over and the fall hunting seasons are about to begin. The success or failure of your hunting may not depend on what happens opening day, but on the preparations you make before the hunt starts. There are many things hunters can do now, to improve their chances and the enjoyment of the hunt.

by Ben Hanson

First, take a look at yourself. Remember that hunting is a physically demanding sport, just like any other. Are you ready to hike rough country and, if successful, get that big buck out of the field? Pulled muscles, sprained ankles and wheezing lungs make hunting an unpleasant experience. If you are not in an exercise program already, start now by taking walks or jogging to loosen up those "desk muscles."

Before the last minute rush, start checking boots, clothing and camping equipment. Make a list and to be sure you have what you need and that it is in good operating condition. This way, when the sun goes down, the flashlight won't have dead batteries and you will have replacement mantles for the ones broken during the trip. Put together a survival kit to carry along while out in the field just in case you get "temporarily confused."

It's time also to get the favorite rifle, bow, muzzleloader or shotgun out of storage and give it a thorough cleaning. Check to make sure it is in good working order and if something is wrong, take it to a qualified gunsmith for repairs. Go to the range or a safe target area to sight-in your firearm or bow and practice. Take the shotgun out and pattern it. No one is a "natural shot," it takes practice to be a marksman and it is the responsibility of an ethical hunter to deliver a good shot for a quick, clean kill.

Another very important preparation is locating an area to hunt and conducting a pre-season scouting trip. Those looking for a new area should obtain maps from the Bureau of Land Management or U.S. Forest Service. Maps will outline areas of public and private land. Those hunting on private land must gain written permission prior to the season. Even those that have hunted on private lands in years past can not just assume that they have permission this year, contact the landowner, confirm your hunting area and get it in writing.

Visiting the area prior to the hunt will not only help to locate good hunting areas, but may also keep a hunter from getting lost. By the way, make sure you tell someone exactly where you are going before heading out. This way if something does happen and you don't return on time at least searchers will have a place to start.

Last, but certainly not least, sit down with hunting companions and review the rules of safe gun handling. It may save a pleasant hunt from turning into a disaster.

Remember, the seasons begin soon so start preparations now, don't wait for the last minute. It may make this year's hunt more enjoyable and successful.

Planners deal with landscaping & signs

Landscaping, signs and non conforming uses were the main topics for discussions Monday at the Ruidoso Planning and Zoning regular meeting.

Gateway Church of Christ officials submitted a landscaping plan that received approval by the Ruidoso Planning and Zoning Board.

Church official Cleston Pritchett presented several pictures of the church plans and said if the plan was approved, excavation work on the beds would begin immediately.

The board also approved two code text amendments to be brought before the village council and scheduled for a public hearing.

The first amendment recommended a change in non-conforming use.

Planning director Cleatus Richards said that it was a legal opinion that the current code could not honor a request to convert an antique store, presently a nonconforming use in an R-1 zone, to a combination residence-orthodontist office.

Richards said that he informed him that our zoning ordinance does not allow provisions allowing change in non-conforming use, although other municipalities in the state do have such provisions.

Richards submitted language that would modify the ordinance to allow changes. The board scheduled the item for the September 7 village council agenda.

Another zoning text amendment would revise the current sign ordinance.

The recommended amendments include:

—temporary signs not to have a combined area that would exceed 20 square feet. The change would allow merchants to place unlimited signage in window areas. Wal-Mart and Furr's currently exceed the limit.

—Under prohibited signs: Banners and portable signs of any type including signs placed in or carried on vehicles except as provided under Section 10-5-14 (A) (4) of the code. A new section will read that banners and other types of signs of temporary construction shall not be used as a permanent exterior sign.

Pricing or advertisement of specific products or services shall be limited to 30 percent of the sign area or shall be placed on the inside of the business display windows.

—Certification of Compliance: A sign permit shall be issued for all signs regulated by this code and shall be maintained on the premises where sign is located except that all off premise sign permits shall be maintained on the premise of the permittee.

A new section recommends that signs placed in public right of way, in violation of village code, may be removed by the village staff. Such signs will be disposed of or destroyed if not claimed within 15 days of removal.

The sign amendment public hearing scheduling is to be brought before the village council on September 7.

Under new business the council approved:

—a replat of Lots 12 and 14, Block 6, Paradise Canyon Subdivision for Jennifer Fillingim to create one big lot.

—a replat of Lots 7 and 7A, Block 8, of the Forest Heights Subdivision by Sunvalley Homebuilders Inc. Tom Barber said he wanted to remove interior lot lines to allow one large lot for construction.

—a side yard variance for Lot 4B, Block 6, Silver Mountain Terrace Subdivision for Richard Wisner to allow a walkway and deck.

—a front yard variance for Lot 1A, Block O, Ruidoso Springs Subdivision for Willard Gentry. Gentry wants to construct a cover over the entry to his residence on Short Street.

—a side and rear yard variance for Lots 12A, Block 6, Paradise Canyon subdivision for Jennifer Fillingim who wants to construct an addition to her residence.

World turns green in thanks for sunshine

Sunshine and showers keep the world green

After three days of sunny weather, today on the 15th, the weather spirits began bringing clouds up the valley — billowy thunder clouds with white tips and purple gray near the land.

Through a pure blue sky they moved in against a west wind singing down the valley over the emerald green hills, vales, and meadows, which have turned into a wonderland of midsummer glory under the magic of the bright warm sun, beaming down.

Mother Earth, then today, sent a message that it would be good to have a little more rain, so just at three in the afternoon, the thunder spoke in mellow bass tones over the hill to the west, and the clouds moving up the valley beam bright with a great flash of lightning, followed by a boom of thunder.

Then, right over the vale, the two clouds met, and down came the large drops beating a raindrop serenade tattoo on the roof — a midafternoon lullaby, lulling you to drowsy contentment and thankfulness. For about a half hour the rain kept falling, splashing through the leaves of the apricot trees, running in the splattering on the dirt road, and bathing the green meadows in its cool benediction from the sky.

The clouds overhead began drifting away in different directions forming many a silver lining in the afternoon sky, and casting the green land below into a pageant of sunshine and shadow. The thirsty ground soaked up every drop of the rain; and so the sunshine and the showers keep turning the mountain greener and more flowery by the day.

"The Ripening Rays"

After the clouds floated away the sun shone

by Daniel Agnew Storm

down, seeming to be very warm, although the temperature was only 80 in the shade. This happens about this time every year, as the sun travels lower in its journey through the sky, sending its beams down to you slant-wise instead of from directly overhead in what have come to be called "The Ripening Rays."

These rays, together with the rains, put color into the fruit of the orchards and the mountains; and ripen the grain in the fields of the farms and the mountain meadows.

Speaking of orchards, the fruit picture from the beginning was not as bright as in years past, and yet my orchard-growing friends down around San Patricio and Hondo say there will be some apples this year, and that plums are beginning to ripen here and there.

I have not yet heard about the fruit over around High Rolls and Mountain Park, or over toward Bent, below Mescaleño. I will keep you posted as the fruit picture becomes more clear in the days ahead.

The sandhill crane

Every year about this time a sandhill crane comes to visit the vale, and yesterday, August 15th, he was by the walnut bend of the river in the morning. Then toward evening he went up on the knoll near the double tree. He is very tame and gentle, and very faithful with his one-a-year visits.

It is a sight to see him make a running start and take off in flight up the valley and later land gracefully back on the knoll. (The knoll is a favorite spot on the place just below Storm Mountain.)

A swimming pool for a little frog

A few days ago I went to refill one of the bird drinking rocks. It had been a dry day, and the rock was empty. (These bird watering places are the hollowed stones used by the Indians and early people of Mexico to grind their corn and other grain.) They are called the Spanish "Metates".

As I say, this metate was empty, and in it sat a tiny green frog, about an inch long, looking up with his large bright eyes. You could guess that he was using this hollow rock for a swimming pool and was waiting for the rain to fill it up. So I filled it for him, and he went swimming around in his own small circular swimming pool.

The rains return

This is being sent to you about a half hour before high noon. All morning clouds have been moving in from all directions, and now the rain is falling steadily and gently over a wide area — over the hills on all sides, up and down the valley — very little thunder and lightning -- just a slow, soaking rain of small drops.

It looks as though the full rainy season has begun. Miniature lakes are forming on the level meadows, and tiny streams are flowing over the small rocks and cliffs.

It is a day of rejoicing for Mother Earth, and our hearts are grateful to the Good Lord for the rains and all our blessings.

Trials begin Friday for All American Futurity

A record eight $50,000 supplementary nominations, including the undefeated gelding Treacherously, top a list of 188 2-year-olds entered in 19 trials for the $2.3 million estimated All American Futurity, Friday.

The ten fastest qualifiers from the 440-yard trials advance to the Grade I final on September 6 which guarantees the winning owner $1 million.

The list of supplements includes futurity winners Bullet Bullion, A Classic Dash, Develop A Plan and Penny Stacker. Heza Fast Man, Nigan Sir Bob and Sound Legacy complete the list.

Due to the large number of races, first post time has been moved up to 11 a.m. Gates will open at 9:30 a.m.

Wayne Dallas' Treacherously will try to join Special Effort as the only other horse in history to win the Quarter Horse Triple Crown if he qualifies to the futurity.

The gray son of Runaway Winner is the only dominant 2-year-old in the country this year with three futurity victories. The Sam Sandoval-trainee has captured the Sun Country, Ruidoso and Rainbow Futurities, all Grade I events in his young career.

Treacherously was not nominated to any of Ruidoso's futurities and therefore had to be supplemented to all three by owner Dallas of Farmington.

The gelding's earnings of $400,000 far outweigh the total of $90,000 his owner has had to pay to make him eligible.

Treacherously drew into the fourth trial division where he will face Heza Fast Man, the fastest qualifier for the Grade I Remington Park Futurity in June.

Jockey Nancy Summers, the only female in history to win three Grade I quarter horse races, will ride the gelding as he breaks from the advantageous #10 post.

Steve Van Bebber's Develop A Plan and Gregory Jarrell's Bullet Bullion are two of the eight futurity winners from across the nation that have assembled here for the trials.

Develop A Plan, a son of Coup de Kas, scored an eye-popping three-length win in the Grade II Firecracker Futurity at Delta Downs in Louisiana and must be respected.

The gelding, who is also trained by Van Bebber, is undefeated in three starts and will run in the seventh trial.

Rainbow Futurity runner-up Gold Medal Dash should provide Develop A Plan his stiffest competition in the trial.

The filly Bullet Bullion triumphed by 1 1/4-lengths in the Grade I Remington Park Futurity in Oklahoma and will make her Ruidoso debut in the twelfth division.

The daughter of Bully Bullion is ridden by Tami Purcell, quarter horse racing's all-time leading female jockey.

Abigail Kawanakoa's A Classic Dash, who most recently won the prestigious Grade I Dash For Cash Futurity at Los Alamitos, should be the one to beat in the third heat. The son of First Down Dash has won five of six career starts for her owner who is a member of the Hawaiian royal family.

Other horses to watch for in the trials include futurity winners Six Kix and MD Hammertime as well as the consistent performers I Hear A Symphony, Sticky N Picky, Good N Gorgeous, Master Rogue and Speedy Cuz I Greedy.

Treacherously is the horse to watch in this year's All American Futurity trials. The Texas-bred son of Runaway Winner has a chance to join Special Effort as the second year's All American Futurity Triple Crown.

Sprint Handicap tops card at Ruidoso Downs

The $10,000-added Ruidoso Sprint Handicap, featuring the speedy veterans Way Cool and Power Stretch, highlights a stakes tripleheader slated Saturday at Ruidoso Downs.

The 14-race program also includes two Grade I $1 million stakes, the Travers from Saratoga and the Pacific Classic from Del Mar.

The six furlong Ruidoso Sprint Handicap attracted a classy field of six which includes numerous stakes winners.

C.M. Bogle's Way Cool ran a strong second to the dominant gelding Last Don B. in the Mescalero Apache Handicap and is high-weighted at 122 pounds. The 5-year-old gelding by Cool, most recently defeated a tough allowance field here by 3 1/4-lengths and is in top shape for a repeat effort. Way Cool won the Pass The Tab Handicap in Albuquerque in May and also ran second against quarter horses in the Master Salls Handicap on July 17.

The consistent performer is trained by Cliff Lambert and will be ridden by his son Casey. The gelding has earned over $100,000 in his career for owner Bogle of Dexter.

Fletcher Hall Jr.'s Power Stretch comes into Saturday's feature off two straight stakes victories and should be a major threat. The 4-year-old New Mexico-bred son of Full Choke scored back-to-back wins in the Land of Enchantment Speed Handicap here July 24 then followed that win with a triumph in the Charles Taylor Handicap in Santa Fe last weekend.

Power Stretch, who resides in the Doyal Roberts barn, is owned by Hall of Capitan.

Stakes winner Gee Ryder also merits consideration in the compact field. The Simon Buechler-charge beat a solid group of allowance horses here by a half-length in his last start at Ruidoso on July 18.

The 5-year-old California-bred gelding by Red Ryder has won two of his last three starts going six furlongs.

The Pacific Classic is the premier handicap event offered at Del Mar and should attract a first-class field of older thoroughbreds.

Hollywood Gold Cup winner Best Pal, who won the inaugural Pacific Classic in 1991, is undefeated in four starts at Del Mar and should be the one to beat in the 1 1/4-mile contest.

The Travers Stakes perennially brings together most of the top 3-year-olds in the nation. Belmont Stakes victor Colonial Affair and Haskell Handicap winner Kissin Kris are the top contenders in the 1 1/4-mile route.

Power Stretch will be back in action Saturday in the Sprint Handicap at Ruidoso Downs Race Track.

Tobacco snuffed out in Capitan schools

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Despite advance notice, no one showed up last Thursday to protest a tobacco and smoke-free campus policy adopted by the Capitan School Board.

But board members still expect a few problems when the first home game rolls around.

"I think the bottom line is that we're all serving as role models," said Board President Tom Trost after the policy was approved unanimously. "When the lobby gets full of smoke, it goes into the gym and it's hard to breathe for non-smokers."

He emphasized that the policy covers all forms of tobacco, including cigarettes and chewing tobacco, called dip.

"I quit," said Trost, who said he had used dip for years.

District Superintendent Diana Sonnamaker said she and Trost put together the policy, which will cover all parts of the campus and school vehicles.

Before coming up with a final version, they requested policies from surrounding school districts and businesses, Sonnamaker said.

"The staff will have to go off campus to smoke," she said. "We may see a line (of employees) outside the fence."

"It's the same with patrons at football and basketball games. I'm sure we'll see some flack."

Signs prohibiting tobacco will be posted around the school and at games. Staff members will be told to watch for violations. They can politely point out the signs to patrons who may have missed them.

"I was surprised to learn that Ruidoso passed a policy like this back in 1991," Trost said.

"They said there were some problems at the first few games, but soon it was just understood," Sonnamaker said.

Adults who fail to comply could be asked to leave campus. On a first offense for students, the tobacco will be confiscated, parents will be contacted and a one-day suspension or detention imposed. The second offense carries a two-day suspension, the third a three-day suspension and the fourth requires a long term expulsion after a hearing with the parents and superintendent.

"I just don't want to get into the same mess that Ruidoso did with its athletic code," said board member Russell Shearer.

High school principal Darrel Stierwalt said coaches are trying to come up with some training rules that will reinforce the policy.

"I hope this isn't too much of a problem for patrons, but we're doing this for the kids," Trost said.

Board member Tim Worrell suggested that players remove spectators of the policy over the loud speakers at games. It may mean more coming from a peer, he said.

Homecoming set

In a related matter, conflicts in scheduling sporting events nearly stumped school officials as they tried to figure out a date for the district's annual homecoming game and celebration.

Stierwalt said as scheduled on September 24, it would conflict with a major volleyball tournament, making it difficult for the girls who wanted to participate.

Board member Beverly Payne pointed out that it's hard for girls to play an intense game of volleyball, then run out and do their hair.

"They will not be focused on the game," Payne said.

Coaches looked at moving up the date of homecoming to September 3. The only conflict would have been a single volleyball game.

"The problem I've got is that the student council has to get a band and sponsors and select the court," Stierwalt told the board. "We can get it done, but it's not an ideal situation."

"It doesn't seem like much time to pull things together," Trost said. He urged Stierwalt to work out some other alternative.

"I'd like to look at the Reserve game as an alternative, but we may not be able to. It's scheduled for October 8," Stierwalt said.

Usually, homecoming is scheduled sometime after the fifth football game of the season, he said.

Board members asked him to huddle again with his coaches to come up with a compromise.

Stierwalt told The Ruidoso News Tuesday the schedule will remain as drafted with homecoming on September 24 against Belen in a non-district game.

"We decided we could move around the times for the Capitan Classic (volleyball) tournament so the girls can participate in both," Stierwalt said.

Homecoming parade will leave the school about 1 p.m. Thursday, September 23, and the traditional bonfire will be set aflame at 7:30 p.m.

Payne also said she had been contacted by a former board member asking that coaches reconsider scheduling home volleyball games at 4 p.m. The time is too early for local supporters to attend.

"Usually when they're scheduled at that time it's because they fall on school nights, so we are trying to get the kids (who have to travel) home before midnight," Stierwalt said.

It's too late to change the times, because both teams playing already have signed contracts. Some trips require a four-hour bus ride, he noted.

In a related discussion, board member Tim Worrell said he is concerned about burnout for coaches that are active in three sports.

"They love it, because they don't make that much money," he said. "But there are a lot of late nights and no weekends off."

Stierwalt said that's exactly why he moved Norman Cline out of track, because he had taken on the duties of athletic director as well as coach in another sport.

"I'd like to drop all three-sport assignments back to two, but it's just a problem small schools have," he said.

Turning from instructional staff to the physical plant, the board approved the first three of six roofing projects outlined by Sonnamaker.

"We don't need to be spending $24,000 on a patching job that will only last a few years and then have to do the whole roof," she said. "I recommend doing one through three now. They can be accomplished while school is in session. Projects four through six, we can either do ourselves or do them later."

If the bids come in too high, the board has the option of rejecting them and looking at other approaches.

The three projects were estimated to cost $41,300 and include replacing and/or improving the roof on the kitchen building, the multi-purpose room and the gymnasium. Projects put on hold for now include repairs to the administration building roof, the elementary school and high school roofs.

In other business, school board members:

—reiterated that they want a policy developed to verify the background of prospective employees that includes checking fingerprints. —were told by Sonnamaker that a policy is being developed to protect the board in relationship to its attorneys in Albuquerque, from the firm of Simon, Cuddy and Friedman.

"That way if anyone does something with the board attorneys, all members will be informed," Sonnamaker said. Such a policy will prevent a superintendent from using the firm for his/her own benefit.

"There should be no advice the board members are not aware of," she said. All opinions will be requested in writing with copies sent to each member.

"I think we need this in view of what happened with our last superintendent calling the attorneys," board member Jack King said. "We finally had to call them and tell them that anything that goes to him also goes to the board president. Any time there is correspondence between the superintendent and the attorneys, we should know what's going on, nothing under the table."

—noted that they are searching for a name for the new middle school, which will be under construction this fall.

The best of the best

New Capitan school district superintendent Diana Sonnamaker proudly shows off the plaque presented to her last month when she was selected as New Mexico administrator of the year for 1992-93 for outstanding leadership. "We have proof that we hired the best in the state," school board member Jack King said. "She's done a lot in the short time she's been here," added board president Tom Trost. The award came from her peers, school administrators from across the state.

Artist honored in celebrity showcase

San Patricio artist Linda Miller was honored recently in "A Celebrity Showcase" featuring present and former Scurry County residents.

Miller's work was displayed during Scurry County's annual Fourth of July celebration that honors present and former county notables.

Miller, who lives and works in her studio/gallery/home in San Patricio, grew up in Snyder, Texas, in Scurry County, where her brother still operates a sheep ranch.

Miller's work has been featured in several one-woman shows, and will hang in the All American Art Show and Sale at the Museum of the Horse, which opens this Saturday.

Miller, whose realistic work has been compared to the "Old Masters," draws her inspiration from the natural beauty of her valley property which she shares with horses; chickens; dogs; Scarlett, a velvet gray rabbit; and Miss Lily.

Take a trail ride during the October Cowboy Symposium

The annual trail ride offerings at the Lincoln County Cowboy Symposium have always been popular. This year is no exception!

If the smell of the campfire and the glow of an evening sky appeals to you, then the Lincoln County Cowboy Symposium has the trail ride for you!

Trail ride organizers have expanded the trail rides to include a special overnight ride through historic Lincoln County and the Mescalero Apache Indian Reservation.

The three day, two night ride leaves Ruidoso Downs Race Track the morning of October 5.

Riders will enjoy the scenic beauty of the mountains as they enter the Mescalero Apache Indian Reservation on their way to an overnight camp site at Encino Tank.

While there, they'll be fed off the chuckwagon of world champion cook Jimbo Humphrey and entertained around the campfire by Indian storytellers and dancers as well as cowboy performers.

After camping under the stars, riders mount up again and head for the Tunstall Monument.

If overnight camping is not quite your style, don't despair. The Lincoln County Cowboy Symposium will once again be offering its regular day rides on October 8, 9 and 10. The Billy the Kid trail ride begins in Glencoe and heads through the hills to Lincoln.

Riders will travel over the same trails that Billy the Kid traveled years ago. The Tunstall ride is one of the most challenging offerings and visits the site of the Tunstall murder — sited as the event that sparked the Lincoln County War.

Both of these rides are $10 per ride and will be offered during the Symposium weekend, interested riders should contact Craig or Connie Whipple at 257-2520 for actual day ride dates.

On Thursday, October 7, the trail ride concludes at the Lincoln County Cowboy Symposium site in Glencoe.

This exciting new trail ride is limited to the first 100 riders — so get your reservations in now! Cost for the ride is $200 per rider which includes all meals, refreshments and entertainment. Riders are responsible for bringing their own horses.

All horses must be properly shod. Trail ride organizers remind all interested parties that the fall weather in New Mexico can be cool — so come prepared for any and all types of weather!

As the trails are brushy in spots, boots and jeans are preferable. No shorts will be permitted. Stalls for overnighting horses are available at Ruidoso Downs Race Track for a nominal fee.

Here come the judges

Judges for the All American Photography contest announced their awards in a ceremony Sunday. Judges are D.D. Cleveland, master landscape photographer; Michael Hurd, world famous artist; and Stephen Thetford, professional photographer. Winners will be reported in the All American special section.

Art show open to local artists

This Saturday night, August 21, 1993, some of the finest artists in the area will unveil their most recent works to the public.

The 2nd Annual All American Art Show and Sale opens for viewing beginning at 7 p.m. at the Museum of the Horse.

The sale of displayed works will begin at 8 p.m. and goes until 10 p.m.

Everyone is invited to attend the grand opening of the show and take advantage of the opportunity to purchase some of the many fine original works of art.

Along with hors d'oeuvres, a cash bar will be available.

Tickets are $20 for Museum of the Horse members and $25 for non-members. Tickets are on sale now at the Museum of the Horse.

Each year, the All American Art Show and Sale highlights area artists.

"The quality of the work submitted this year is exceptional," said event organizer Sunny Hirschfeld. "Forty area artists are featured and this year we added sculpted works to the show."

Following the opening festivities, the exhibit will hang on public display at the Museum of the Horse through September 12.

The All American Art Show and Sale is one of the many events of the All American Festival — a series of events leading up to the Grade I All American Futurity at Ruidoso Downs Race Track.

"We are pleased to present such a talented group of artists to the public," said Hirschfeld.

"Many people do not realize what a tremendous pool of artistic talent we have in the Ruidoso area. Many of these artists are nationally known, and all of the artists have presented exceptional works for the show."

Because the participating artists come from a variety of different backgrounds, the subject matter of the show ranges from western art to traditional still lifes.

The Museum of the Horse is proud to sponsor such a diverse collection of art and present it to the public.

Everyone is invited to the gala opening of the All American Art Show and Sale on August 21, 1993. For additional information, please contact the Museum of the Horse at 378-4142.

All American Festival events unfold

The All American Festival is underway, with upcoming events including the All American Casino Night, Fiddler's Championship, All American Antique Show and Sale and more.

The Rotary Club presents Casino Night at 8 p.m. Friday, August 27, at the Ruidoso Civic Events Center.

Tickets are $25 each, which includes 1,000 chips to start the evening with. Proceeds will benefit the Rotary scholarship fund.

The All American Antique Show and Sale, sponsored by the Ruidoso Valley Noon Lions Club, will take over the Civic Events Center Friday, Saturday and Sunday, August 27-29.

The show, featuring 45 vendors, will be open from 5 to 9 p.m. Friday, from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. Saturday and from noon to 5 p.m. Sunday. Tickets are $2 in advance and $3 at the door.

Fiddlers will compete on Saturday August, 28, with the fiddling to begin at 8:30 a.m. Cost for spectators is $5 for adults and $2 for children.

Read all about the All American Festival in The News' special section to be inserted in Monday's edition.

Nobody wins...

A couple of bureaucrats took the law in their own hands this weekend. A state highway department staff member and a village employee put their heads together and allowed a violation of a village ordinance.

No big deal, according to the state highway engineer who apparently took it upon himself to give a business operator permission to install her business signs on our state right of way, and even on state-owned signs.

Apparently the village planning officer agreed, for when the two discussed the violations over the telephone they decided to let it go — even though the village sign ordinance is very clear, and would prevail since it is stricter than any state law that might conflict.

No big deal? Tell that to the business owner who thought she was perfectly within her rights since a state official told her to go ahead and put up her signs. State and village officials all but encouraged her to violate the law instead of looking it up and informing her what she could and couldn't legally do, and what permits would be required.

No big deal? Tell that to the local business owners and operators who take the time and spend the money to abide by the village sign ordinance and do not have the benefit of using state right of way and state signs to promote their businesses. They were crying "unfair competition," and passing on their complaints to the mayor and village councilors.

No big deal? Tell that to Village Councilor Frank Potter who responded to complaints and went out to see the signs for himself. Since he knew the signage was illegal, he took the signs down, and now faces larceny charges on a complaint brought by the sign owner.

No big deal? Tell that to Governor Bruce King; Secretary of the State Highway and Transportation Department, Lou Medrano; the State Legislature; Mayor Jerry Shaw and the Ruidoso Council. These officials are elected and appointed to set policy to be carried out by state and village employees. Why bother to make laws and pass ordinances if employees are going to do their own thing?

Yes, it is a big deal when a couple of people who are paid by taxpayers overstep their authority and selectively interpret state and village laws. Nobody wins, and the end result of this last bureaucratic boondoggle is embarrassment all around, with criminal charges against a village councilor, angry business owners and the threat of a lawsuit against the village.

Surprised about lukewarm MRS opposition

TO THE EDITOR:

I read the recent article in the August 9 edition on the MRS. Was surprised to read the paper's perceived conception of no opposition to the MRS.

The organizations now engaged in the opposition are numerous, large and well funded. The lightning responses have been replaced by careful strategy planning. Not tipping the proponents to the plans and actions in place and ready to be activated, is highly important.

A coordinated, strategically structured, many faceted opposition plan will be initiated at the correct time for maximum national and local results.

In the past, actions and responses were actually precipitated by pro-MRS operatives. Proponents would actually create situations deliberately to precipitate opposition response. In effect, they were controlling the situation. This is now no longer true. The MRS proponents will now have to respond to the anti-MRS initiatives.

The many groups and organizations now engaged in the MRS opposition have been informed of the wise and honorable position the paper has taken in staunchly opposing the MRS. The paper's dedication to protecting the region and the state from nuclear waste is lauded by one and all.

If push comes to shove, many will be amazed at the magnitude of the local, national and international response. The Ruidoso region could well become a Nuclear Free Zone.

Many times, apparent bad situations create actions which produce a better, safer environment for all. Mountain meadows, not Nuclear Garbage Dumps, may be guaranteed for the future of the region.

We'll see.

Summer visitor puts her feelings in a poem

TO THE EDITOR:

We are annual visitors to Ruidoso, and have been since 1981.

Our daughter, who is nine years old and in the third grade, wrote this poem for an English assignment last March.

She needs more work on her spelling, but the content clearly shows how she feels about Ruidoso.

Incidentally, the name Ruidoso is not mentioned in the poem, but both the teacher and we know what town she is referring to.

See you next summer.

Lloyd and Cindy Harper
Fredericksburg, Texas

Here's the poem:

The Best Town in the World by Lisa Harper

I know the best town in the world
It's where tall pine trees grow,
And a clear stream flows.
It's where the winter days are snowy and gay.
If I could stay there, I'd never run away.
The summer days are full of storms,

And when the people come home,
They're fully worn.
They always wear pants or jeans,
'Cause the storms there are born to freeze.

The people there always give you a smile for awhile.

This is the best town in the world,
If you haven't been there, give it a whirl.

Nosey bear visits couple

TO THE EDITOR:

A nosey bear...
Shortly after eight o'clock Saturday night, my wife, Yvonne, and I were watching the football game between the Dallas Cowboys and the L.A. Raiders when suddenly she screamed, "There's bear on the deck!"

The sliding glass doors were open and there he stood with his nose against the screen.

We earlier had eaten a dinner of gulf trout and shrimp and no doubt the smell to him was irresistible. It is also just possible he was enjoying the lackluster showing the Cowboys were putting on since most all bears are of necessity raiders.

At any rate, he made a hasty exit, but failed to negotiate the 10 feet of stairs he came up on and simply flew off the deck and scrambled up the mountainside.

It might be well for anyone frying fish to be sure all doors are well secured, otherwise they just might have an uninvited guest for dinner!

All truth, no fiction...

Dr. Lloyd Kelley

Shocked by cruelty to animal

TO THE EDITOR:

This is an unbelievable story of people in our world.
Last Sunday, following a church service, the traffic was heavy, going to the races.

We were coming out of the stop at United New Mexico Bank and saw someone throw a little, tiny, gray kitten from a car. It rolled over twice, barely missing the wheels of the next car, and ran to the bushes beside the bank.

With the help of several people, we got the little one out of the bushes.

It was so frightened, but is making a home in our house, if only our big, old cat will let it.

Policy

The Ruidoso News encourages letters to the editor, especially about local topics and issues.

Each letter must be signed and must include the writer's telephone number and address. The phone number and street or mailing address will not be printed, however the author's hometown will be included.

The telephone number will be used to verify authorship. No letter will be printed without the writer's name.

Libelous letters are not protected by the rules of privilege or fair comment and will not be printed.

Letters will be edited for spelling and grammar to the extent possible without impairing their flavor or changing their meaning. Letters may be shortened to fit the space available.

We try, whenever possible, to allow people and/or businesses mentioned in a letter the opportunity to respond, usually in the same or the next edition.

Letters must be original and exclusive to The News. No open letters to public figures, copies of letter or poetry will be printed as a letter to the editor. In most cases, thank you messages are printed in the Classifieds under "Card of Thanks."

The News has the right to reject any letter.

Letters may be hand delivered to The News office at 104 Park Avenue or mailed to PO Box 128, Ruidoso NM 88345.

Singing Churchmen

The rich, sonorous harmonies of men's voices will be echoing throughout the sanctuary of First Baptist Church, 420 Mechem in Ruidoso, at 7 p.m. Tuesday, August 24, as the New Mexico Singing Churchmen present a concert of sacred music. The Singing Churchmen is an all-male chorus composed of staff members — ministers of music, ministers of education, ministers of youth and pastors — of New Mexico Southern Baptist churches. Singing a diverse variety of Christian music, the men seek to provide a meaningful worship experience and enjoyable evening of fellowship. The concert is free and all are invited to attend.

50th anniversary

Röbert and Lucile Smith of Alto celebrate their Golden Anniversary with an onstage presentation of "The Horse and Buggy Days." The Smiths were honored by 41 family members in Lake City, Colorado.

The Silver Dollar presents concert

Drive on down to Tinnie Sunday afternoon and relax on the covered veranda while listening to some topnotch jazz.

The Silver Dollar invites everyone to a free jazz concert from 2:30-6:30 p.m. Sunday, featuring trumpeter and vocalist Gerald Hunter. He will be backed by veteran players, including tenor saxophonist Pedro Ruiz Jr., trombonist Frank Otero, bassist Manny Flores, drummer Eric Hutson and pianist Michael Francis.

They'll be joined by Silver Dollar owner Lester Price on guitar.

Guests at the concerts are welcome bring blankets and sit on the lawn or find a table on the porch where drinks and hors d'oeuvres will be available for sale.

Come early and have lunch at the Silver Dollar, or stay over for dinner invites general manager Maxine Francis.

The last concert of the summer series will be the Fiesta Concert featuring Spice of Life from 2:30 to 6:30 p.m. Sunday, September 26.

RHS Renaissance Program rewards students, teachers

The Ruidoso High School Parent Advisory Council is asking area business owners to support the Renaissance Program.

The program is a broad based recognition program for teachers and students which rewards students who are showing improvement in academics, attendance and conduct.

According to a news release, the students will be rewarded with discounts at participating local businesses.

Students may either a silver or gold card based on a combination of the specific criteria and overall grade point average performance.

Teachers also may earn gold cards based on general performance as evaluated by the administration.

The Renaissance Program relies on local business to honor those students and teachers who show dedication and improvement by honoring gold card holders with a 15 percent discount on any purchase or service. Silver card holders will be allowed a 10 percent discount on any item or service.

The parent council is now gathering businesses to take part in the program.

Anyone interested in taking part is asked to call Ruidoso High School, 258-4910.

Billy fans

The recent Billy the Kid Symposium drew history buffs from throughout the nation to Lincoln County where they studied Billy and his boys in the area where they lived. The symposium was a learning experience and Lincoln

Lincoln parade winners listed

The 1993 Old Lincoln Days festival is a memory for another year, but some of its parade participants are still celebrating their honors.

Leading the way for the parade on August 7, was the Lincoln County Sheriff's Posse as the color guard. Felipe Salcido and his grandsons were the honorary colanguard. Winning the Sweepstakes Award was the American Legion Float, while Brent Fisher, riding a Longhorn steer, earned the Best Single Entry award. The Best Mounted Law group award went to the Lincoln County Sheriff's Posse and the Border Patrol Mounted Unit.

The Best Mounted Group honors went to the Texas Fourth Cavalry Unit of Lubbock, Texas and to the McInnes children of Lincoln. Mike Walstad of Ruidoso Downs was Best Male Rider and Alison Walstad also of Ruidoso Downs was Best Female Rider.

The Best Frontier Group went to the Mountain Men, who set up camp during the weekend event. Jim Calvin, of the Mountain Men, was the Best Frontier Men. Best Couple award went to Johnny and Mickey Thomas, the grand marshals for the parade.

Nathaniel Chee, a Mescalero dancer, received the Best Native American Entry award. Ab Lucero and grandsons, Old Timer and New Generation, earned the Best Hispanic Culture Entry.

The Best Children's Entry was the Helms children of Capitan. Leon Pinkert of the Llano Estacado Driving Society of Lubbock drove a black survey in the parade to win the Best Wagon award.

Lincoln County Medical Center won the Best Float award. Ken Groman of Roswell and the United States Forest Service of Ruidoso received the Best Antique Car honor.

Judges for the annual event were Hob Lucero of Lincoln, Carol Robertson of Lincoln and Johnson Stearns of Carrizozo.

Girl Scouts seeking volunteers

Zia Girl Scout Council is seeking volunteers to help inspire girls to their highest potential. Volunteers may work with girls ages five to 17, and help them become self-confident and caring young adults, according to a news release.

The release continues that leaders may choose the age that suits them best.

There are many ways to help: as a troop leader, assistant leader, helper or a resource in a particular area of interest and expertise.

"Girls today need a positive role model to help them cope in today's society," reads a news release provided by the council. "A little of your time could prevent a teenage pregnancy, suicide, child abuse; encourage good grades and the importance of a good education.

"All this comes about by your being willing to listen and give girls the opportunity to talk out their problems, communicate in an all-girl setting where girls come first, have fun and learn to contribute to our community."

Zia Girl Scout Council provides training and support for all Girl Scout volunteers. Working women, homemakers, college students, retired citizens, single persons wanting to help girls can all be Girl Scout volunteers, says the release.

Girl scouting is very flexible and can work around today's busy schedules.

Programming includes troop settings, in-school activities, special interest projects, such as sports clinics and mentors.

The Girl Scout program is designed to supplement the formal school system by having adult role models guide small groups of girls through a progressive education system.

"Now is the time to make a commitment to yourself and the community to help girls of all ages become resourceful," invites the Zia Council. "Help Girl Scouts prevent problems before they begin."

Cash donations also are welcome, and they're used to purchase uniforms, books or supplies for the scouts, or for special field trips or events.

Anyone interesting in donating time or money or sponsoring a troop is asked to contact Jan Leonard, executive director for Zia Girl Scout Council, in Roswell at 1-800-734-9846 or 746-9846.

violation of Section 7-38-74 is void.
4. Successful bidders are required to make payment in full of the amount bid before leaving the premises on the day of the sale. Payment is required to be by money order, certified check, cashier's check, or personal check which is accompanied by bank letter of credit for the amount of or in excess of the amount of the personal check drawn to the order of the Lincoln County Treasurer.

5. Upon receiving payment for the personal property sold, the Lincoln County Treasurer shall execute and deliver a certificate of sale to the purchaser. The certificate of sale transfers all the former property owners interest in the personal property as of the date of the sale. The purchaser takes the personal property free of any unrecorded or untitled interests unknown to him at the time of sale.
6. The sale price of personal property at this public auction sale is not to be taken or considered as being the value of the property for property taxation purposes.

7. All persons intending to bid upon property are required to register and obtain bidders number from the auctioneer and to provide the auctioneer with their full name and address. Certificate of sale will be issued to registered names only. Conveyances to other parties will be the responsibility of the buyer at action. Persons acting as "agents" for other persons will register accordingly and must provide documented proof as being a bona fide agent at time of payment for property purchased. Registration will close promptly at start of sale.
8. The auctioneer reserves the right to withdraw from sale any of the properties listed below; to sell any of the properties listed together; or to sell only a portion of any of the properties listed below. If any dispute arises between or among the bidders, the auctioneer's decision with respect to the dispute is final, and the auctioneer may auction the property again, in his discretion. The auctioneer reserves the right to reject any and all bids. Their personal property listed below may not be sold for less than the listed minimum price. Done at Carrizozo New Mexico, this 10th day of August, 1993.

LEGAL NOTICE

NOTICE is hereby given that on August 9, 1993, Enchanted Forest Water Corporation, P.O. Box 241, Alto, New Mexico 88312, filed corrective application No. H-722-S-4 with the STATE ENGINEER to show that shallow well No. H-722-S-4 is actually located in the NE1/4SE1/4NW1/4 of Section 22, Township 10 South, Range 13 East N.M.P.M. Said well is authorized by permit issued by the State Engineer on October 16, 1990, for the diversion of up to 29.0 acre-feet per annum of shallow ground water for domestic use within a subdivision.

This is a corrective application to show where well was actually drilled. Any person, firm or corporation or other entity objecting that the granting of the application will be detrimental to the objector's water shall have standing to file objection or protest. Any person, firm or corporation or other entity objecting that the granting of the application will be contrary to the conservation of water within the state or detrimental to the public welfare of the state and showing that the objector will be substantially and specifically affected by the granting of the application shall have standing to file objection of protests. Provided, however, that the State of New Mexico or any of its branches, agencies, departments, boards, instrumentalities or institutions, and all political subdivisions of the state and their agencies, instrumentalities and institutions shall have standing to file objection or protests. The protests or objections shall be in writing and shall set forth all Protestants or objector's reasons why the application should not be approved and must be filed, in triplicate, with Eliud Martinez, State Engineer, 1900 W. Second St., Roswell, New Mexico 88201, within ten (10) days after the date of the last publication of the Notice #8810 3t(8) 19,26 (9) 2

LEGAL NOTICE

NOTICE OF PUBLIC AUCTION SALE OF PERSONAL PROPERTY FOR DELINQUENT PROPERTY TAX Notice is hereby given that, pursuant to the provisions of 7-38-53 thru 59, NMSA 1978 the Lincoln County Treasurer will offer for sale at public auction beginning on Sept. 2, 1993 at 10:00 am, at the County Courthouse in Carrizozo, New Mexico, the following described personal property, the sale to continue until all the described property has been offered for sale. THE TERMS OF THE

LEGAL NOTICE

SALE ARE AS FOLLOWS:
1. A sale properly made under the provisions of 7-38-53 thru 59, NMSA 1978 constitutes full payment of all delinquent taxes, penalties and interest that are a lien against the property at the time of sale, and the sale extinguishes the lien. The property is sold subject to the lien for property taxes for the year of the sale, provided those taxes are not yet delinquent. The buyer at public auction, or his successor in interest, will be liable for those property taxes when they become due.
2. The description of the following personal property is designed to permit the identification and location of the personal property by potential purchasers, or taxpayers. The Lincoln County Treasurer warrants no title to properties purchased at public auction sale.
3. Section 7-38-74 NMSA 1978, prohibits officers or employees of the state or any of its political subdivisions engaged in the administration of the property tax from directly or indirectly acquiring an interest in, buying or profiting from any property sold by the County Treasurer for delinquent taxes, except that an officer or employee may purchase property sold for delinquent taxes if he is the owner of the property and was the owner of the property at the time the taxes became delinquent. Any officer or employee violating Section 7-38-74 is guilty of a fourth degree felony and shall be fined not more than five thousand dollars ($5,000.00) or imprisoned for not less than one year nor more than five years, or both; and he shall also be automatically removed from office or have his employment terminated upon conviction.
