Downs trustees meet at 7 p.m.

The Board of Trustees of the Village of Ruidoso Downs meets tonight (Monday) at 7 p.m. in the Hubbard Room, Village Hall Complex, 122 Downs Drive. On the agenda: adoption of the drug/alcohol policy, consider for publication an ordinance for court automation fees, hiring full-time and part-time CDOs. Resident Tony Parker is requesting that his subdivision be "de-annexed" from the village. At 5:30 p.m. the trustees meet for a preliminary budget workshop.

Power outage hits basketball fans

A power outage, shortly before the Chicago Bulls-New York Knicks National Basketball Association seventh and final playoff game, moved residents around town in search of electricity.

Some of the downtown service stations reported heavy traffic from motorists in the Ruidoso Downs area, who couldn't get gas during the power outage.

A service man with Texas-New Mexico Power said lightning struck a line in Gavilan Canyon around 1:15 p.m., dropping the circuit all the way to the substation. They had power restored at about 2:45 p.m.

According to residents, power returned in most areas during half time of the basketball game, but cable then went off the line.

The Knicks won.

Head Starters will graduate tonight

Proud parents and friends will gather for a special ceremony tonight at Nob Hill Elementary.

A graduation for Head Start students is set for 6 p.m. in the school cafeteria.

Parents are urged to attend the meeting of the Youth Empowered for Success (YES) at 7 p.m. June 2 in Ruidoso village Hall.

Governor Bruce King and his wife Alice shared a dais with Democratic dignitaries Thursday for a fund raiser at Cree Meadows Country Club.

Governor King, his voice weak from a series of speeches, spoke briefly before Mrs. King took the podium and hammered out the governor's message.

Mrs. King said she doesn't like the last few weeks of any campaign, because of the negativity that surfaces often to hurt people and to attack the state and country.

She listed the top attributes of her husband as honesty and dedication.

She said the state enjoyed a 12 percent increase to the General Fund for municipalities last year.

"We call that pork," Mrs. King said. "But it's your pork."

She said there were many businesses entering the state to create more jobs and other businesses, Motorola and Honeywell are increasing their staff.

She said over 60,000 new jobs have been created in the past three years.

Mrs. King said education funding had increased by nine percent and a six percent pay increase for teachers had been approved.

"Same as last year, same as next year," she said.

Mrs. King also mentioned the tough action Governor King has taken against crime, working with police and sheriffs to enact the new state crime bill, the juvenile handgun law and the new DWI (Driving While Intoxicated) legislation.

Mrs. King seemed especially proud to talk about the Children, Youth and Families Department, the first in the United States. The Kings also created the New Mexico Children's Foundation, focusing on children.

Juvenile center sought

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

The question of what to do with juvenile offenders who don't belong in the state detention center at Springer is being tackled on a regional level.

Monroy Montes, chairman of the Lincoln County Commission, is heading a coalition of officials from Mescalero, Otero County and possibly Doña Ana County trying to come up with a cost-effective alternative suited to their region.

The group met last week and Montes said he thinks it will be able to pull together a solid recommendation to the state.

"We're finding out we have to put together something that fits the different needs of each community," he told The Ruidoso News. "This is a mandate by the State Legislature. They know Springer is not working."

About $140,000 has been allocated to finance analytical and planning studies at the regional level to illustrate trends in juvenile behavior, to determine the existing

Hail and heavy rain hammers Hondo, wash away roads

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Golf ball size hail hammered into house roofs and car hoods, turned the mountains in Hondo Valley white and pushed the river over its banks by more than a foot Thursday evening.

State Representative H. John Underwood by Friday afternoon already had talked to Governor Bruce King's office about declaring an emergency situation and getting state officials down from Santa Fe to take a look.

"I just got off the phone with his office and expect a call back shortly," the Ruidoso Democrat said.

"It was my thinking, if we get an emergency situation declared, then they could determine whether this qualified as a disaster area. The first step is emergency situation."

Sections of several roads were wiped out in the storm that hit after 2 p.m. Thursday, some culverts were washed away and the apple crop was badly damaged, according to Monroy Montes, chairman of the Lincoln County Commission.

"It reminded me of 1965," he said Friday. "But we were lucky this time that there was no rain above us in Ruidoso. If there had been, it would have been a real disaster."

"At Conley's (Nursery on U.S. 70), the mountains looked white. Some residents recorded six to eight inches of hail and three or more inches of rain. At Nosker's (market in Glencoe), the river was rushing 24-36 inches below the bottom of the high bridge.

"I'm not surprised. I've seen four or five of these in my lifetime," Montes said. "People tend to pick up the pieces, repair what has to be repaired, and move ahead."

Montes, who was returning from Albuquerque when he heard on the radio the flash flood and severe weather alert for Hondo, complimented the work of county road manager Bill Cupit and his crew, emergency services director Maggi Bohks, law enforcement officers and volunteers with the Hondo and Palo Verde-Glencoe volunteer fire departments.

"When I first heard the National Weather Service talk about a 10 mile wide storm, I thought they were exaggerating, but they were quite accurate," he said. "I guess we're just lucky that no lives were lost."

Bohks said several people couldn't reach their homes, some driveways were demolished and a few homes were flooded, but everyone seemed to manage.

She stayed at the emergency dispatch center and in touch with Montes, Cupit, deputies and volunteers.

Montes said several ranchers and farmers were forced to move their livestock to higher ground. The hail knocked most of the apples off the trees in orchards throughout the valley, he said.

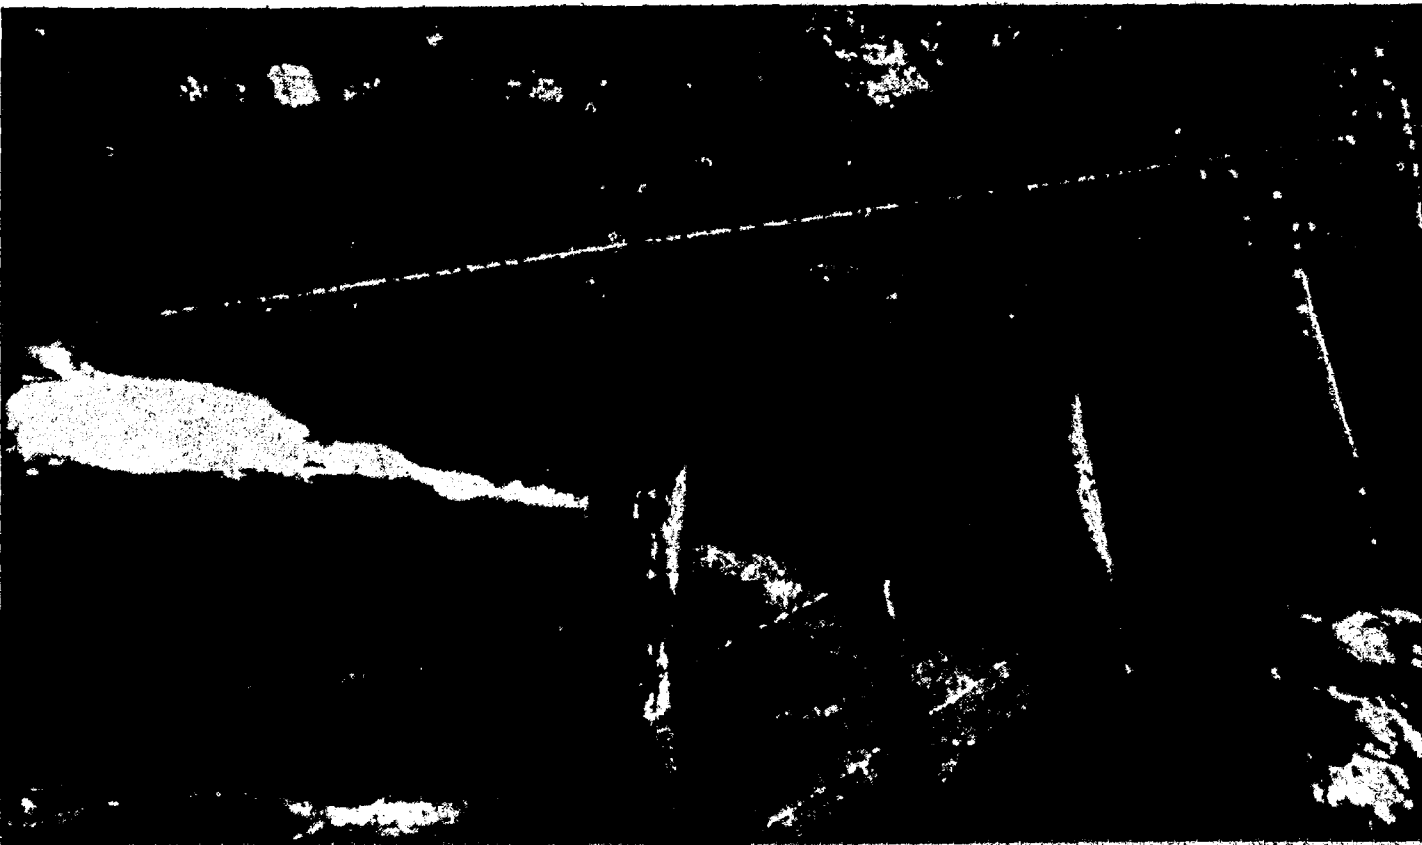

"Several miles of road were wiped out, about $100,000 plus in lost gravel," Montes said. "No county bridges were lost. Some may have been compromised and may need some shoring up. One small private bridge next to Tully's (ranch) in Glencoe is gone and an old county bridge that had been bypassed was badly damaged. It will have to be removed."

"The northern part of the Arabela Road that we reconstructed, we lost that. Around the Hondo Church, we lost material and a bar ditch, also several culverts."

Montes said Cupit has assessed the condition of all water crossings and thinks most are in good shape. The State Department of Transportation temporarily has closed State Road 214 (Devil's Canyon), but district engineer Tom Dick said some blading and reshaping work should make it passable.

"Cupit did a good job spreading out his crew, with two-man teams from Palo Verde to Arabela cleaning up hot spots," Montes said. "He was worried about overtime, but in this case there was no question, we

Wallace to head rural center

Linda Wallace, a horse handler with retail management experience, was selected Friday as the Lincoln County rural events center coordinator from among 10 applicants interviewed for the position.

A part time photographer for The Ruidoso News, Wallace also has worked at the former Super Select Sales Barn in Glencoe, now the rural events center, and is familiar with the facility.

Monroy Montes, chairman of the County Commission, said he had delegated the job of hiring the coordinator to the manager's office. With that position vacant with the resignation of Andy Wynham two weeks ago, the responsibility fell to administrative assistant Martha Guevara.

"But she was gone for a week on vacation, so I picked a couple of commissioners to help, Wilton Howell and L. Ray Nunley," Montes said. "Ray called me from Lubbock Thursday and said he would not be able to make it back for the interviews. I was going to ask Commissioner Bill Schwetzmann, but got wrapped up in the flood and never called him, so I sat in on the interviews myself."

Wallace will be employed at about $7 an hour on a probation status for 90 days.

"We'll review at the end of that period," Montes said. "We'll try to give her a chance to see what we can do. If she takes off in a good direction, I think she will be the permanent coordinator."

The salary for that position will be about the same as a senior citizens site manager at a $16,000 base, an increase to $17,600 after 90 days, a total package of about $25,000 including benefits.

"If the facility generates a lot more money, we can talk later about a bigger salary and more staff," Montes said. "If it goes the other way, we also will respond to that."

In other management positions, 12 applications already have been submitted for the vacant position of county manager, including one from Wynham, who still lives in Carrizozo and apparently, would like his old job back.

Several more applications have been mailed to persons who have expressed an interest in the position. The deadline to apply is June 3.

"There also were two washouts in north Capitan that were to have low water crossings, so we will have to go ahead with them to the tune of about $25,000 each.

"Nearly every house in a 15 mile radius had some hail damage. It was golf ball size or better. My sister's satellite disk was punctured, roofs had holes in them. My truck had busted windows and both mirrors were broken. It was scary, really."

Insurance adjusters should have a better grasp of the damage to private property within the next week, but the impact on the county will be several hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Cupit told The News that drainage structures in the county generally held up well and did the job.

"We're in better shape today than I thought we'd be," he said Friday. "I just hope there isn't a repeat again today or we'll be in trouble. This was a big one and the ground already is completely saturated."

remained in the intensive care unit with her injuries.

Ruidoso police chief Richard Swenor said an investigation is continuing.

Last Friday morning, an 80-year old Ruidoso woman apparently attempted to commit suicide by shooting herself and was rushed to the Lincoln County Medical Clinic for an emergency operation.

A gas company employee called Ruidoso police dispatch to say he had found a woman at a residence off Paradise Canyon Road who apparently had been shot.

Upon arrival at the home, police officer Robert Achterberg said he found Mrs. Gladys Lundy with a gunshot wound to the abdomen from a .22 caliber pistol.

Mrs. Lundy told Achterberg that she had been in a great deal of pain from cancer and wanted to end her life.

The EMS rushed Mrs. Lundy to the hospital where an emergency operation was performed.

Hospital officials said Monday Mrs. Lundy was recovering at the hospital and taking calls from her room.

Flowers and get well cards can be sent to Mrs. Lundy at Room 201 in the hospital.

facilities and those needed.

Depending on the number of regional groups formed, the amount per study would be about $20,000, Montes said.

"Lincoln and Otero having past history (with a shared regional landfill), got together on this issue too," he said. "We've had some participation from Dona Ana County, even the city of Las Cruces tentatively has agreed to be part of a big region."

Although Lincoln County officials have differed with members of the Mescalero Tribal Council on the proposal the Tribe is pursuing to store spent nuclear fuel rods on the Reservation, Montes said both see the need for alternatives to properly serve their young people in trouble.

The 1994 New Mexico State Legislature passed a Regional Juvenile Services Act, which calls for an intergovernmental cooperative approach, explained Sam Larcombe, who is coordinating the statewide effort.

Currently, many young Mescalero boys are taken to Roswell for detention.

"They realized that secured detention is sometimes unnecessary and always is expensive, yet something is needed in response to juvenile apprehensions or referrals for probation or parole," he said.

"The regional approach was taken because of the scarcity of public resources and the enormous expense it takes to operate such a facility. It was obvious, areas needed to pool their efforts."

Larcombe said he's been impressed with the good working relationship between Otero and Lincoln Counties and how quickly they acted to form a cooperative approach.

"I think those two counties are to be commended," he said. "They are moving together as a work force pretty smoothly. I think the key was leadership in the counties that saw the potential as well as the inevitability of a regional approach and decided to make something out of it."

The legislature established the regional juvenile services fund with $500,000 to help regions come up with alternatives to secured detention and to demonstrate the need for immediate placement or treatment capabilities for the courts, probation officers and law enforcement officials.

Possibly by October, the State Department of Children, Youth and Families will award the state's portion of study funding ($140,000) for non-secure alternative programs based on preliminary findings, Larcombe said.

"My boss, the Juvenile Justice Advisory Committee, is a governor-appointed board, that administers federal money from the Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention division of the U.S. Department of Justice," Larcombe said.

The state's plan calls for up to eight regions, but that's exactly what has emerged, he said. "They will have to be melded together by joint powers agreements."

"My job is to make sure they are formed," he said.

Meanwhile, the juvenile advisory committee wants the regional groups to pass resolutions of intent to undertake the planning and analytical studies for trends and needs "so they can receive financial support," he said. "It's a good way for governments to get to know each other and make the joint power agreements easier."

"Each regional commission then could advise or oversee a regional facility and continue to determine and oversee all other responses to the needs," Larcombe said. "The commission would be composed of elected officials from county, school district, city or tribal government."

In the interim as the concepts are implemented, the different entities can pool their resources, share information and cooperate to make rational and deliberate decisions, he said.

The study grants do not require matching money from the regions, Larcombe said. Each regional board will receive a copy of the guidelines for conducting a study.

Once a proposal is drafted and the criteria is met, one of the member government entities would be selected to serve as the fiscal agent and receive the money on behalf of the region.

"Probably then they will subcontract with a consulting group to do the formal interviewing, system analysis and statistics," Larcombe said. "Based on that, they probably have the best information on issues, behavior trends and public response needs."

The information gathered could be used by the administration, the press, the legislature and the public.

"I give a lot of credit to the State Legislature, but it's been a long time in coming, because for a long time we assumed anything to do with juvenile justice should be put away for a time," Larcombe said. "I think the newer rationale is more individual, based on behavior and situation."

"Once the alternatives are established and operational, the range of options available to police and juvenile probation officers will make a great difference."

Larcombe said alternatives are cropping up around the state already such as a teen court at Silver City in the public schools, a program for families in need of supervision, hospital detention, counseling and sheltering.

The Ruidoso school system already has received $150,000 to create an alternate day treatment center for students who disrupt regular classes.

"I think these are exciting times when you see early intervention and knowledge is more effective," he said. "And I'm impressed to see how officials want to improve things."

Preliminary information must be submitted to the state by June 17.

"By early 1995, the regions will owe the state legislature a report on their progress and everyone would like to satisfy that debt with at least an interim report on studies and plans, the highest priorities region by region."

LCMC celebrates Hospital Week

A staff that plays together, stays together, said Dub Williams in comment on Lincoln County Medical Center's National Hospital Week activities.

A baby picture contest and a luncheon were among the events designed to make hospital staff feel appreciated.

"On behalf of the medical staff, I'd like to say it was very nice," said Dr. Don Wolfe, Chief of Staff. "This kind of thing can only happen at a small hospital."

"What makes this staff unique is that we care and share together," Williams said at Monday's board meeting.

One of the hospital's most valuable groups, the Auxiliary, awarded $4,800 in scholarships to five people. Four of the recipients are LCMC employees, and Charlene Jones said the money will go towards increasing their skills in the medical field. The winners' names have not yet been released.

LCMC received six applications from area high school seniors for their $500 annual scholarship. The selection committee had to break a tie. Applications came from Ruidoso, Capitan and Corona. The winner will be announced at graduation.

"This was the finest group of applicants we've ever had," Williams said. "It was a tough choice. I had to read them many times."

The Auxiliary elected new officers May 8: president, Dorothy King; vice president, Linda Turck; treasurer, Al Gudek; secretary, Diane Clark.

The Auxiliary's recent blood drive collected 65 units, a tremendous success Jones said. The Auxiliary is working hard to increase blood donations to alleviate the "dry spell" in New Mexico.

According to the financial report for April, the hospital collected $95,066 in excess revenue over expenses. They are $17,069 over budget for the month.

Carrizozo Health Centers show a loss of $710 for April, and EMS was down by $5,050 this month. EMS is ahead of budget by $60,015, year to date. Carrizozo is behind budget by $1,561 year to date.

Dr. Wolfe asked the board to approve credentialing for three new specialists. Dr. Douglas Brown is a neurologist and Dr. Vincent Ortolano is a urologist, both appointed to consulting medical staff. Bonnie McCuskey, Certified Registered Nurse Anesthetist, has been added to the Allied Health Professional Medical Staff.

The board approved the reappointments of three doctors. Charles Pfaff and Sander Barry Seidman, both radiologists, were reappointed to the consulting medical staff. Samuel Smith, obstetric/gynecologist was reappointed to the courtesy medical staff.

"We're very pleased with the quality of folks who come to Ruidoso to give specialty care," Williams said. "This is something this board has worked on a long time."

Women sent to hospitals after accident

Two Mescalero women drove into a ditch off of Grindstone Resort Drive Sunday afternoon, their car coming to rest on its side and sending both to the hospital, according to the police reports.

Sharolyn Evans, 34, of Mescalero is in grave condition in an Albuquerque hospital with a broken neck.

The automobile was being driven by Molly A. Gayton, 36, of Mescalero. Mrs. Gayton was taken to the Lincoln County Medical Clinic and, as of Monday morning,

Owner hopes pets find new home

by DIANNE STALLINGS

Their owner was broken hearted, but had no options. He and his wife both are ill and unable to guarantee a home for the two dogs they love.

Benefactors of the Lincoln County Humane Society, the couple brought the mother dog and her daughter to the shelter in the hope that someone would open up his or her heart and home to the twosome.

Bargau, which is pronounced "ah-goo" and means "second dog" in Chinese, is a 1 1/2 year old spayed beagle mix. Sangau, which means "third dog" and is pronounced "san-goo," also is spayed. She's about eight months old and a beagle/shepherd mix.

"It's a very sad situation," said shelter secretary Kathy Tetraault. "He wants a good home for them. When life deals you a hand like that, what can you do?"

"They're sweet dogs and get along well with others. They certainly would be low maintenance. Being spayed, their price of adoption would be lower."

Shelter workers always seem to become attached to these little fighters who survive as pups when others don't make it.

Frisbee was one of a litter of five and the only survivor.

She's a blue tick hound mix female, about four months old and very good natured.

"She's not going to be too big," said shelter manager Esther Harper. "She's an easy dog to work with in the shelter and would be a great pet for just about anyone, even if they already have other dogs."

The society thanks all of the wonderful people who keep the organization going through their sponsorships of animals, donations of food and their financial support. Area veterinarians do their part by volunteering for visits to the shelter and by performing monthly free neutering or other health care for the animals. They also offer owners of adopted animals a first free examination for their new pets.

Local groomers have been a great source of support, providing free grooming for newly adopted dogs and sometimes, for those about to be featured in the newspaper or on the weekend puppy patrols at Wal-Mart, which will resume this summer.

For more information about Frisbee, Bargau, Sangau or any of the other dogs or cats, stop at the shelter on Gavilan Canyon Road or call 257-9841.

Donations or orders for society T-shirts (for $10, $12.50 if mailed) may be sent to the society at P.O. Box 2832, Ruidoso, NM 88345.

Suttons features originals

The Village Plaza on Sudderth has welcomed a new store to their number. Sutton's was opened by Ron and Beverly Sutton a few weeks ago.

Their specialty store is stocked with quality imitation furs, unique brass artwork and other original crafts they come across.

"We want to bring to Ruidoso things you can't find here," Ron said.

Much of the merchandise comes from Beverly's own hands. A consummate seamstress, Beverly makes skirts, purses and other accessories out of ultrasuede.

"Ultrasuede is as soft and beautiful as suede, but it's machine washable and it's very durable,"

Beverly said.

With an eye for symmetry and style, Beverly paints or applies ultrasuede to shirts so they coordinate with the skirts.

When her hands aren't stitching ultrasuede, they're knitting anything from Afghans to pot warmers.

"The pot warmer takes eight skeins of yarn," Beverly said. "It serves as a carrying case with handles, then the handles fold down to make a decorative holder."

Beverly also makes fabric wreaths, hobby horses and quilts.

"The Dallas Cowboy quilts do really well," Ron said.

The Suttons are from Dallas, Texas, having moved there from Oklahoma. Ron's background is in the oil and gas business, and Beverly was in the hotel business.

"We've been vacationing here in Ruidoso for the past 16 years," Ron said, "and we always wanted to move here."

Probably the hottest selling items at Sutton's are the stress balls, flour-filled balloons.

"These are great for people with arthritis or people who want to build their arm strength," the Suttons said. "And, of course, they're good stress relievers. We've seen little hand exercisers that sell for $10 or more. Our stress balls are only $1."

Sutton's is located at 2306 Sudderth Drive in the Village Plaza. The phone number is 257-7790.

The Ruidoso Valley Grangers welcome the Suttons' new store with a ribbon cutting. Suttons carry ultrasuede, brass, imitation furs, crafts and stress balls.

Ruidoso inventor creates odorless toilet

They say that necessity is the mother of invention, and the cliché has never been more true in the case of entrepreneur James Brazael.

For seven years Brazael built and remodeled kitchens and baths in El Paso, Texas. As the owner of his own company, he attended seminars and trade shows on the best and latest in every kitchen and bath feature. One of the main topics was air contaminants, especially in the bathroom.

There is such a demand for odor-free bathrooms that Brazael decided to build a better mousetrap, or odor trap, than what is currently available on the market. After years of trial and error he came up with Sani-Vac, the odorless toilet.

"Most bathrooms have fans in the ceiling for pulling out contaminants," he said, "but they don't work because you'd have to vacuum out all the air in the room to catch all the diffused contaminants."

Brazael guarantees Sani-Vac to keep the bathroom odor free. A device the size of a hairdryer, the vacuum is installed in the toilet bowl, where it draws contaminants away at their source.

"This pulls the room into the bowl," said Brazael. "You can't pull the bowl into the room and expect to get rid of it."

With no financial backing, Brazael has worked on his idea since 1989, spending hundreds of dollars trying out other products that don't work. From there, he started a Frankenstein procedure of taking parts from already manufactured products and assembling them into evolving versions of the Sani-Vac.

When he had something that worked, he started the patent process.

"They make it real hard for poor people to get patents," he said. "You have to hire a lawyer, and the office is in Washington, D.C. It's almost impossible."

It cost him $12,000 to get a patent pending on his idea. During his search he found only 10 other patents in the world with designs similar to his, a Canadian coming the closest.

"I made them all while I was developing the Sani-Vac and they don't work," Brazael said.

Many of the patented designs are cumbersome and complicated. The Sani-Vac is small, and Brazael plans to package it as a kit for do-it-yourself installation. Right now, with Brazael doing the installation himself, the total cost comes to $175. It will probably cost less when labor is subtracted.

"All you'll need to install it is a strowdriver and a drill," he said.

The Sani-Vac fits any 2x6 plumbing and can be concealed in the wall or floor. Brazael, who used to race motorcycles, ports his motors to make them into mini-jets. The Vac is almost silent, much quieter than traditional ceiling fans.

"The fans were originally meant to control humidity," Brazael said. "The Sani-Vac is designed specifically to remove air contaminants."

The do-it-yourself kit would be contained in a 4x14 box, complete with disposable drill bits for putting a hole in the porcelain, and an incense stick for testing the product once it's installed.

Brazael plans to build his business in Ruidoso, eventually hiring people to cast porcelain and assemble the Sani-Vacs. He is a native New Mexican whose family settled in Cloudcroft.

Rain dampens softball tourney

by PAMELA CROMWELL
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Thirty-four USSSA softball teams converged at Eagle Creek Sports Complex this weekend for the "Sierra Blanca Opener," only to be rained out just before Sunday's championship games.

Women's teams Sherry and Company out of Hobbs and Bud Light from Carlsbad had just started their championship game when all hail broke loose.

As the undefeated team in the winners' bracket, Sherry and Co. was awarded the championship. Bud Light won second place, and Ruidoso's The Flamigos and Carlsbad's took third and fourth respectively.

Bud Light made a tremendous comeback, having fallen to the loser's bracket in their first game when one player broke her finger.

The Orphans from Roswell took the championship as the undefeated team in Men's Class E play. Alamogordo's Grace Methodist and The Wings from Carlsbad were about to vie for the game against The Orphans when they were rained out. Tournament officials tallied the teams' average runs, awarding second place to Grace Methodist with 9.67 runs and third place to The Wings with 9 runs. The Casino Sharks from Mescalero placed fourth.

The Furniture Connection from Hobbs won the championship in Men's Class D competition. Rain stopped the game between The Bandits from Las Cruces and the Sandmen from Holloman, which would have decided who would face the Furniture guys. In computing average runs, the Bandits won second with 12.6 and the Sandmen had to settle for third with 12 runs. Ruidoso's Merchants placed fourth.

Commercial Electric Services were the undisputed champions in the Men's Class C tournament, but second and third places were a tough call. Therapy Services from Las Cruces lost to El Paso Thunder 18-6 early in the tournament, then the teams met again in the game to decide Electric's opponent. That game was, of course, rained out. A tally of runs for both teams, though, put Therapy in second place ahead of Thunder. The Rebels placed fourth.

Lord of the Manor wins handily

The speedy 2-year-old gelding Lord Of The Manor broke on the lead and never looked back en route to a two-length win in the Rio Grande Kindergarten Futurity Trials, Friday at Ruidoso Downs.

The New Mexico-bred son of Country Manor won his second race in as many starts and looks like the one to beat in the $30,000-added final. The Futurity, which is restricted to 2-year-old New Mexico-breds, will be run May 30.

Owned by Mote and Richardson of Alto, N.M., Lord Of The Manor had a comfortable lead along the backstretch in the five furlong sprint. After running the first two fractions in a rapid :22.1 and :46.1, the gelding maintained an easy lead in late stretch and won under a tight hold by jockey Joe Martinez. Fred Danley trains Lord Of The Manor who ran the distance in 1:00 flat.

Richard Parrish's Bold Connection led from start-to-finish to easily win the final trial division. The Cpy Handix-trainee had a commanding lead in the early stages of the sprint, then threw off in the stretch for a five-length triumph under Eric Perner. The time was 1:00 flat.

Bold Connection, a son of Dawn Of Creation, won his career debut by three-quarters of a length here last Saturday and came back strongly after only six days rest.

Pats Pleasure rallied strongly along the rail to post a neck victory over pacesetter Herewego in the first of the three trial divisions. The Just A Tab colt was sixth at the top of the stretch, but under steady urging by jockey Kenny Nes he overtook the tiring leader to stop the timer in 1:01.4. The colt is owned and trained by Pat Baca of Albuquerque.

The following are the qualifiers for the Rio Grande Kindergarten Futurity Trials: Pats Pleasure, Herewego, Bar Passer, Lord Of The Manor, Sunnys Coin, Bold Zevi, Bold Connection, Jena Jinsky, Boggy Bottom. (The final qualifier was to be determined Saturday morning from a draw between the three fourth place finishers from each trial).

Saturday winner

Arizona invader My Rachel rallied strongly in the stretch to handily defeat a talented group of fillies and mares in the $15,125 First Lady Handicap, Saturday at Ruidoso Downs.

The 6-year-old Kentucky-bred mare by Nepal broke well and was third, just off the early pacesetters along the backstretch in the six furlong sprint.

At the top of the lane, jockey Ron Keckler swung My Rachel to the outside and she blew by leaders Poupon Gray and Chelsey's Weave to win by 3 1/2-lengths. The time was 1:11.4.

"When you let her sit off the pace and get her to relax she's double tough to beat," said Keckler who regularly rides on the Arizona circuit.

Keckler said trainer Jon Zimmerman brought the mare to Ruidoso four days prior to the First Lady and that she had no trouble adapting to her new surroundings.

"She's the kind of horse anyone would like to have because she runs just as good at a mile as she does at six furlongs," said Keckler.

The win was the fourth straight for My Rachel who previously captured three stakes events at Rillito Park in Tucson. The mare has now earned $79,975 in her career. My Rachel is owned by Mandysland Farm.

Three to one second choice Dean Alicia also rallied late to get up for the place position. The Bob Arnett-trainee earned $3,327 as runner-up. Dean Alicia was ridden by Joe Martinez and is owned by Gary Wayne Clements of El Paso.

Poupon Gray, under jockey Vickie Smallwood, held on for third and earned $1,512 for her efforts. The filly is trained by Simon Buechler and owned by Mike Weatherly of Las Cruces.

Catch $10,000 fish at Caballo

The first annual Caballo White Bass Festival will be staged in conjunction with New Mexico's free fishing day, June 4.

A tagged white bass released in the lake will be worth $10,000 to the lucky angler who catches it. The largest white bass will receive 25 percent of the prize fund. The remainder will be divided among the three heaviest. Anglers will have a 10 fish maximum for white bass catches.

Additional prizes include $100 for the largest Walleye, $100 for the largest Channel Catfish and free mounting of the largest White Bass for the winner.

Chef Eddie Adams, from the Gulf Coast Eatery and Jazz Club, will be on hand to serve up a mouth watering catfish dinner, and to demonstrate how to use his famous spices. Buddy Humphrey, from Buddy's Guide Service, will be there to talk fishing and the best baits for the area. Mimbres taxidermy will have an exhibit of stripers, large mouth and other species. Local crafts will be on display.

The $15 pre-registration fee must be received by May 27 to include the dinner. Send it to Caballo Lake Marina, P.O. Box 121, Caballo, NM 87931, (505) 743-1647.

Oliver and Fern Edwards (played by Leon Kingsley) appear at the window of their Stratford guest house in "Return Engagements," Bernard Slade's romantic comedy Metcalf (played by Terry Webb and Jack now running at Ruidoso Little Theater.

Return Engagements opens

Ruidoso Little Theater opened a new season Thursday with "Return Engagements," a romantic comedy by Bernard Slade. This play was scheduled to run in the fall, but the company was suddenly rendered homeless when their usual stages were unavailable.

Since then the board of directors signed a three-year lease on a building next door to the Ruidoso Post Office. RLT volunteers have transformed the company's new home at 2961 Sudderth into a black-box theater with raised seating.

"Return Engagements" is directed by Carl Mori with Kellie

Jackson assisting. Show time is 8 p.m. on May 19-21, May 26-28 and June 2-4 with a 2 p.m. matinee on May 28. Tickets are $7 regular admission, $5 for seniors and students.

Through their laughter, opening weekend audiences sympathized with the predicaments of four sets of couples as they discover love and learn how their lives intertwine.

The cast of "Return Engagements" stars Kellie Jackson as high-strung actress Daisy Lawrence, and Mike Starr as Raymond MacKay, the bellboy who "ruins her life." Pamela Cromwell plays Miranda Jablonski, a Polish immigrant who hires carpenter Joe Bristol, played by Jack Blake, to father her child. Cromwell returns as Miranda Nagorski, the couple's daughter, twenty-five years later.

Leon Eggleston and Stephanie Chastain star as Oliver and Fern Edwards, the couple involved in a love-quadrangle with Jack Kingsley as Henry Metcalf and Terry Webb as Dawn Hammond.

Director Carl Mori said this play has a definite message for theatergoers. "I really want to emphasize how we're all connected," he said. "You never know when you're going to change someone's life, so we need to be good to each other."

The Dreamer

Arizona Kid celebrates birthday in God's country

Happy Birthday to the Arizona Kid. May seventeenth, today, is the birthday of Rob Lambert, also known as "The Arizona Kid." Robert Lee Lambert was born on this date in 1909 in Ballard County, Kentucky. When he was nine years old he came west with his mother for his mother's health. On the train on the way out, his mother had a conversation with a man who later turned out to be Zane Grey, greatest of all writers of stories about the American west. And Rob Lambert's life turned out to be a true story that would have delighted the immortal Grey. Bob's mother began working as a cook on a ranch near the small village of Tolson, Arizona. Bob helped with the cooking and here learned the art of ranch cooking which came in handy later on, and at which he is still an expert today. The life of a cowboy began for Bob at the age of fifteen. About 1940, Bob had saved up one thousand dollars. With this he made a down payment on a small ranch. Bob's star of good fortune shone down brightly when on July 29, 1945 he was married to the former Betty Wyne. After many years of happy life as ranchers, Bob and Betty thought they would like to try a climate where it rains a lot. So they moved to Missouri, where for a while they enjoyed the abundant rain, the strawberries, tomatoes, vegetables and fruit of all kinds. Bob says: "My bones began aching, the chiggers ate me up, and my saddle and dance boots turned green. On our way back out I stopped at the first windmill I saw, and got out of the car and lay down under it just to hear it squeak."

Economic conference to impact Lincoln County

A conference presenting the economic outlook for the entire Paso del Norte region will be held May 24 in El Paso, Texas.

Sunwest Bank is sponsoring the event, which is the first to cover the regional economy.

Conference speakers will discuss current economic performance and the two-year outlook for five areas: Chihuahua, El Paso, New Mexico, the United States and Mexico.

Karen Kopp, Executive Director of Lincoln County Economic Development Corporation plans to attend the conference and encourages other Lincoln County business people to participate.

"This is the first conference of its kind, focused on the regional economy," said Kopp. "I think it's going to be pretty valuable in terms of deciding what directions we should take in developing this area."

David Graham, chief executive officer of Sunwest Bank, El Paso, said business people are the targeted audience, but anyone interested in the area's economy will find the meeting beneficial.

"The conference presents a great opportunity for people to learn about the economy of the entire region," Graham said. "It will be another step in building the Camino Real Alliance."

Speakers covering the region are C.R. Manuel Garza Davila, Vice President, Ejecutivo, Desarrollo Economico de Cd. Juarez, A.C. (topic: Ciudad Juarez/Chihuahua); Dr. Timothy Roth, Chairman, Department of Economics and Finance, University of Texas at El Paso (topic: El Paso); and Dr. Brian McDonald, Director, Bureau of Business and Economic Research, University of New Mexico (topic: New Mexico/Southern New Mexico).

"The conference will begin at 2 p.m. at the Paso del Norte Camino Real hotel in downtown El Paso. Admission is $25."

Art School workshops to focus on watercolor

Two workshops on watercolor, from traditional to abstract, will be the focus during the last week of the 1994 summer lineup of artists at Carrizo Lodge Art School.

This will be the last chance to expand art skills under the guidance of the line-up of respected artists who offer week-long sessions of instruction at the lodge.

The week of August 1-5, James Whitlow's session on watercolor will focus on extra individual attention as Whitlow and his wife, Cheryl, instruct together to teach the discipline, freedom, and spontaneity of paint and color.

Whitlow describes this class as "Impressionism of the Southwest."

The seminars will cover many levels of technique. Special emphasis will be placed on rejuvenation of paintings in preparation for the market. Studio experiences will be primary; on-location work may be organized.

After studying art with Sam Smith, Whitlow, trained with Maurice Loriaux; each fall they combine their talents at the Southwest Art League Seminar, Ghost Ranch.

Whitlow's watercolors hang in universities in the Far East; Japan, China, Taiwan, Malaysia and Korea. He was listed in American Artists of Renown, and has received a meritorious award of appreciation from the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools. He is a member of the New Mexico Music Educators' Hall of Fame.

Whitlow presents workshops and lectures to art leagues, colleges, Elderhostel groups and others. Additionally, Whitlow's work is promoted through two video tapes on "Watercolor Techniques," one of which was done at the Carrizo Lodge.

Tuition for this session is $285. Betsy Dillard Stroud will throw down the gauntlet for her students in "Watercolor-Pushing the Limits-Abstraction" the week of August 1-5.

Stroud, painter and writer, combines her skills to give a workshop designed to stimulate the student's imagination to the fullest while increasing their painting skills.

Whereas basic principles of design, color, and technique are not ignored, emphasis will be on loose, creative painting, brush work and pouring techniques, and intuitive painting processes.

Self-expression will be encouraged through exercises designed to help the student discover individual symbolism and distinct characteristics of their work.

Stroud will demonstrate every day. Critiques and round table discussions, and a "paint your dream day" will be part of the process.

She is a signature member and past president of Southwestern Watercolor Society. Her paintings have been selected for the National Watercolor Society Show in California, the Rocky Mountain National Watercolor Contest in Colorado and the Western Federation of Watercolor Societies. Her most recent award is the Rives Arches Award in the Southwestern Watercolor Society's Annual Membership Show.

She is the author of two books, the most recent still unpublished.

Tuition for her workshop is $300.

This week winds down the full schedule of workshops for the summer. Class sizes are limited, so call Carrizo Lodge at 257-9131 to reserve a spot in one of this summer's art classes. Ask for a class schedule, now available at Carrizo Lodge located in Carrizo Creek Road in Ruidoso; or write to Carrizo Art School, PO Drawer A; Ruidoso NM 88345.

Heartworm Disease And Responsible Pet Ownership

Is Your Dog Safe From Heartworm Disease?

Heartworm disease affects dogs in this area.

Big or small, long-haired or short, house pet or kennel dog, your dog is at risk. Heartworm disease is a deadly blood-borne parasite that can be fatal. It is the most common and most serious disease affecting dogs in the United States and in Canada.

Most dogs contract heartworm disease from mosquitoes and wherever mosquitoes are present, dogs are at risk. It is the female mosquito that bites the dog, spreads the disease. The female mosquito is very tiny and can easily slip through cracks around windows, doors or screens, so even dogs that stay indoors can be at risk.

This is a good time to test. The first step toward protecting your dog is to test your veterinarian and arrange for a simple heartworm blood test. Having your dog tested is important because you can't begin a preventive program until you know for sure your dog is free from heartworm. If your dog already has heartworm disease, treatment can be dangerous for him and expensive for you.

Prevention is simple. If your veterinarian determines that your dog is free of heartworm, he or she will tell you how easy and convenient prevention can be. So don't delay calling your veterinarian, because heartworm disease is a serious problem, and every dog needs to be protected.

Call Dr. Leslie at Mountain View Animal Clinic. Heartworm Clinic will be held Thursday, 5:00 pm to 8:00 pm, 5:00 pm to 8:00 pm, 6:00 pm to 8:00 pm, 257-9126

WAYNE A. JORDON

JASON'S STORY, PART I

From infancy to incarceration, it is frighteningly easy to imagine the development of a child passing through the new New Mexico Children's Code. For the next two weeks, we will follow Jason's first seventeen years in the system.

Jason's problem began before he was born. His teenage mother, Tammy, liked to drink beer and smoke the whole time she was pregnant, and couldn't be bothered to get pre-natal care. Jason was born early, underweight and with breathing problems. After a few months, the newness of a baby wore off and Jason spent more and more time in his crib. When Tammy left him with a neighbor for a few hours and didn't show up after two days, the neighbor called the police. New Mexico law requires anyone who has reason to believe a child is abused or neglected to report it.

The police took custody of Jason and delivered him to a social worker. A doctor diagnosed Jason to have a "failure to thrive" and started him on overdue shots. Tammy returned that afternoon and Jason was returned to her under Children, Youth and Family's (CYF) supervision. After another two months of weekly check-ups, Jason showed continued poor weight. Tammy had been watering down his baby formula to save some of the money received from Aid to Dependent Children - cigarettes were expensive. The department went to court and placed Jason in foster care for a few months. He was fed, ate well, began to develop normally, and was again returned to Tammy.

For the next ten years, Jason was in and out of foster care. Tammy had four more children in a short period of time; teenage mothers are at a high risk of having one child after another.

Shortly after his tenth birthday Jason was caught shoplifting. Under the Code, shoplifting was a delinquent offense, but Jason was "conferenced and warned" and returned home. Over the next few years, Jason caught the nurturing sense of family he couldn't get at home. Unable to become pregnant, he joined a gang to get his "family."

By the time he was thirteen, Jason was seen in Children's Court for a series of increasingly serious delinquent acts: drinking, vandalism, car theft and larceny. He was put on a consent decree, which is a period of probation for six months, after which a case is dismissed. Two months into it he started skipping school and the consent decree was revoked. Jason was then put on probation for up to two years.

When Jason violated the terms of his probation again he was sent to the New Mexico Youth Diagnostic & Development Center (YDDC) in Albuquerque for a fifteen-day diagnostic. YDDC recommended intensive probation for Jason, with counseling with his mother.

Next week we will learn the rest of Jason's journey through the juvenile justice system. Please save this column because you will want to have it when you read the conclusion of Jason's story next week.

GRILLING
 with Chef George Hirsch

In this new 26-part series, Chef Hirsch goes from the top of a penthouse to an afternoon tailgate party to show there's a lot more on the grill than hamburgers. 'Pizza on a grill? Yes, it's not only possible — it's delicious. Add to the menu spinach salad with roasted orange and honey, five onion soup, linguine with grilled clams, Texas brisket, garden ratatouille, and banana boats for dessert — all grilled to perfection! So grab your grill and get ready to put a little sizzle in your menu.
 Grilling with Chef George Hirsch airs Thursdays, at 1:00 p.m. (beginning May 26th).

ART OF SEWING
 with Sue Hausmann

Each week Sue Hausmann and her guest present a complete project in a manner that is clear and easy to follow. Seamstresses of all levels will be inspired to try the newest projects on home decor, wearables, and gift giving. The 13-part series includes secrets of Sashiko quilting, simple machine techniques featuring floating threads and mirrors, the transferring of treasured photos to fabric, and projects using laminated and "metallized" fabrics.
 Art of Sewing airs Fridays, at 1:30 p.m. (beginning May 27th).

GETTING THE LOVE YOU WANT:
 A Guide for Couples

Based on the best-selling book of the same name by Harville Hendrix, Ph.D., this seven-hour series focuses on the dynamics of marriage and relationships. Workshop participants and viewers go through the process of turning a troubled relationship into one characterized by safety and passion. The goal of the series is to help individuals in a relationship get the love they want, accomplish their own personal growth within their committed partnership, and create the marriage of their dreams.
Getting the Love You Want: A Guide for Couples airs Mondays, 11:00 p.m. (begins 23rd), Wednesdays, 1:00 p.m. (begins 25th), and Saturdays, 7:00 a.m. (begins 28th).

FIT or FAT
 with Covert Bailey

Diet pills? Liposuction? Calories? Carbohydrate loading? Overwhelmed by conflicting advice on diets and exercise, most Americans are looking for sound, sensible advice on how to get and stay in shape. Best-selling author and noted lecturer Covert Bailey will help cut through this controversy in his 13-part series. Known for his offbeat and candid presentation style, Bailey has helped thousands turn their "fatness" into "fitness." The cornerstone of Bailey's crusade for fitness, and the focus of the series, is an understanding of body fat: how it is made and stored and how it relates to other physical conditions.
Fit or Fat with Covert Bailey airs Wednesdays, at 11:30 a.m. (beginning May 25th).
