Politeness doesn't always pay off

Kevin Walla of Roswell was headed down from Bonito Dam about 10:30 p.m. Friday when he pulled off on the shoulder of the road to make way for a large recreational vehicle.

According to Sgt. Bill Hanson of the State Police, the shoulder gave way and Walla's 1985 Ford pickup slid about 10 feet down the side of a gully until it caught on a tree.

No injuries were reported in that incident or in most of the other fender-bender type of encounters over the weekend, Hanson said.

"It was a pretty heavy weekend, but as far as injuries, not much," he said. "There was a motorcycle accident north of Capitan on a 90 degree curb Sunday, but I don't have the report yet. The same officer got back late last night and then had to go out early this morning for another accident with injuries north of Carrizozo."

MRS to be Upper Canyon topic

The prospect of radioactive spent fuel rods being stored by their neighbors will be the topic for the annual meeting of the Ruidoso Upper Canyon Association July 15.

Association members will get together for a social hour at 6 p.m. and dinner at 7 p.m. in the La Paz room of the Enchantment Inn. State Representative H. John Underwood (R-Democrat) is the guest speaker on plans by the Mescalero Apache to build a nuclear storage facility.

Reservation deadline is July 11. Dinner, tip and tax is $18.36. Contact the association at P.O. Box 2845, Ruidoso, NM 88345.

The public is encouraged to attend.

Weather

According the National Weather Service, weather in the southern area of New Mexico should be partly cloudy with isolated thundershowers. Chance for rain is 10 percent, with winds from the west and southwest from 10 to 20 mph.

For tonight, prediction is for isolated thundershowers, otherwise partly cloudy.

Predicted high today for Ruidoso is in the middle 80s, with low today and tonight in the mid 50s.

A pattern of above normal temperatures and below normal rainfall is expected to continue throughout the state today.

Highs in the 80s in the mountain regions and in the 90s in the lower regions.

Partly cloudy tonight, with widely scattered thundershowers.

Low temperatures are predicted in the 50s in the mountains.

The extended forecast calls for continued high temperatures.

Hospital board considers hiring docs

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

As part of an effort to hold onto primary care physicians in an increasingly competitive market, the Lincoln County Medical Center may bring some local doctors on staff.

The arrangement would guarantee a base income to the physician and would reduce individual overhead costs by utilizing the hospital's already existing system for insurance filing and patient billing.

But County Commissioner Wilton Howell, who serves on the hospital's community advisory board as a liaison for the commission, said he'd like more information and public input, since the county owns the hospital and funnels about $700,000 a year into its operation. He cast the lone negative vote on the motion.

"One of the things that really bothers me is the lack of public input for or against the idea," Howell said Wednesday. "I represent residents of the county through the commission and it's hard to represent them properly if we can't visit with them about it."

"This is a big ticket item, maybe $300,000 or more all together. It's ridiculous to think we can change the direction of the facility that belongs to the county without consulting the commission as a whole."

Howell said he will ask Valerie Miller, administrator of the 37-bed hospital in Ruidoso, to attend the next commission meeting and brief the entire board.

Miller told The Ruidoso News

Monday that most of the discussion of the proposal took place in a closed-to-the-public session of the advisory board June 16. However, the vote to approve the approach occurred in the open portion of the monthly meeting.

The meetings of the not-for-profit, private health care company are not subject to the state open meetings law.

Miller called the newspaper after Presbyterian Health Care Systems, which contracts with the County Commission to operate the hospital (LCMC), was contacted by a representative of the American Association of Hospitals.

The News had talked to Bill Erwin, the Washington D.C.-based media relations spokesman for the association, asking for information about safe harbor provisions under the Health Care Programs: Fraud and Abuse, Anti-Kickback Statute. The rule, passed in 1991 and amended in 1993, established safe harbors or exceptions to the rules in 10 broad areas, including sales of practice, management contracts, referral services and practitioner recruitment.

Miller said she had not mentioned the hiring plan in a previous interview with The News, because she wanted to broach it first with physicians.

"The reason we discussed this in executive session was that it is such a change in some ways for the hospital, I felt it needed to be communicated very carefully," Miller said.

She disclosed the information to the hospital's medical committee two weeks ago and was scheduled to meet with department managers last Tuesday.

"Most small rural hospitals and even some large ones in urban areas are finding it necessary to employ primary care physicians," Miller said. "In rural settings, this enables a physician to remain in practice where the volumes otherwise don't equal (a sufficient financial return)."

"What we discussed in the executive session was that employment would be an alternative to private practice, because it's very hard to compete with HMOs (health management organizations) snapping up primary care physicians."

Miller said the licensing of new primary care physicians will not meet the demand until the year 2015.

"There's a tremendous shortage, so those available are being offered $115,000, $120,000 to come to some hospitals," she said. "I've offered $110,000 and haven't received one call. It makes it difficult for a rural hospital to recruit or retain physicians. I've been aggressively recruiting an internist for nine months. One of the problems was no hospital employment as an alternative. Private practice is not worth it, except for specialists, such as surgeons and cardiologists."

"The income for a primary physician is disproportionately low compared to their technical and procedural colleagues."

Maddox named chief

Lanny Maddox of Loma-Grande was appointed Ruidoso police chief last Friday by village manager Gary Jackson.

Maddox replaces Richard Swenor who resigned from his post to pursue a different career.

Maddox is a graduate of the Federal Bureau of Investigations (FBI) National Academy in Quantico, Virginia, and holds the state's highest police certification, executive level.

Jackson said that Maddox has had 16 years of law enforcement experience, including the past 10 years with the Ruidoso Police Department as a detective.

Maddox is certified to instruct in several areas of law enforcement training. He has helped win International Crime Stoppers Awards in 1991, 1992 and 1993 for an outstanding program while serving as coordinator of the Ruidoso-Lincoln County Crime Stoppers, Inc.

Jackson said the appointment of Maddox culminates a selection process which included an assessment center, analysis of experience, education and training, and an interview with Jackson.

Jackson said the initial objectives in the new chief's administration will include a commitment to public service and response to citizen needs; officer training and education; concentration on juvenile issues and coordination with the Ruidoso Municipal School District; and community relations and public education programs.

School's juvenile daycare center remains homeless

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

For a moment, the Ruidoso School District appeared to be close to choosing a site for its new juvenile day treatment center.

Superintendent Mike Gladden and support services director Paul Wirth viewed several possibilities Wednesday. But Thursday morning, a pile of pamphlets from the state were plunked on Wirth's desk, containing a seemingly endless list of facilities requirements.

"We've actually taken a step backwards since I reported to the board Wednesday," Wirth told The Ruidoso News.

"We'll have to go back and look at each one again with all of these factors in mind."

During a special noon meeting Wednesday, the school board approved the program portion of a contract with the state for the treatment center.

Using $150,000 appropriated for the project by the New Mexico State Legislature earlier this year, the district aims to create a center to provide a valid educational experience for students who disrupt regular classrooms.

Wirth said first priority for placement in the center will go to Ruidoso district students, but those from Capitan will be put on a waiting list and allowed to fill slots as they become vacant. Whether a fee could be charged to those out of district students is uncertain, he said.

Board member James Paxton suggested Wirth line up a portable unit as backup for an August opening, in case the problems with finding a building continue.

MainStreet makeover

As construction workers parked the heavy equipment and stored the orange barrels for this holiday weekend, landscapers were hard at work planting the trees in cutouts included in the sidewalk designs. The project will continue on the other side of the street, but was put on hold to accommodate holiday crowds. Ruidoso Realtors did their part to make Midtown look good by planting 40 cedar planter boxes for MainStreet.

Lost llama found

Compo, a llama owned by Patric Carlisle, found its way to the home of Linda and Herb Turck on White Mountain after it escaped from a bear late Saturday night. Owner Carlisle said the bear broke down his fence and attacked the llama. The animal had several bite marks on its hindquarters and a back problem. Turck said he was talking to a neighbor about bears when he saw the llama walking up the street toward him. Carlisle uses llamas for pack animals on touring treks in the Lincoln National Forest.

Lightning blamed for fire

Lightning apparently caused a brush fire near Alto Village Monday afternoon.

Area firefighters confined the blaze to three-quarters of an acre with no loss of structure or injury to nearby residents.

At approximately 3:30 p.m., Bill Tucker of the United States Forest Service spotted the smoke from Monjeau Lookout. A passing helicopter from the Bureau of Indian Affairs also saw the smoke and dropped two firefighters for the initial attack.

Bonito Fire Department and the USFS responded to the end of Sunrise Drive in Alto Village to vacant property owned by Featherstone Farms of Roswell. The fire also burned a small portion of adjacent state land.

Firefighters found dry grass, pine needles and timber burning rapidly, fanned eastward by winds estimated at 10 to 15 miles per hour. They contained the fire within minutes, spending the next three hours putting out hot spots. Several checks all day Tuesday assured the fire was indeed out.

This fire burned near the site of another fire two years ago that firefighters suspected had been human-caused. However, a senior fire official felt sure this fire was lightning-caused. He pointed to the top of a 35-foot conifer whose top had been blown out and the bark peeled and twisted all the way down.

"That's a typical lightning strike pattern," he said.

Another firefighter noted that tree showed evidence of a previous strike years ago. "This disproves the adage that lightning does not strike twice in the same place," he said.

Fire officials caution visitors and locals alike that the entire state remains under fire restrictions from the USFS and the New Mexico State Forestry. "Fire danger is extremely high."

School's

"We can work it out, but I do want to tell everyone that we appreciate the help from the community, people calling with suggestions," Wirth said.

District business manager Caron Snow said the district will receive a cash advance for the program instead of having to file for periodic reimbursements.

In other business, the board called for bids on a sprinkler system and kitchen equipment for the new Sierra Vista Primary. Gladden explained that kitchen items are being bid as backup to determine whether the best prices are offered through an agency on federal contract to provide such equipment.

The board also is seeking bids for the seats to cover the visitors side bleachers at Horton Stadium. Gladden said a recent quote offered on the item was much too high at $14,000.

The district is seeking bids on either a 1995 white Suburban or a 1993-94 with less than 20,000 miles that exceeds the specifications.

The board approved the employment recommendations of Dick Felts to replace Rob Lovett as band director. He has 34 years of band experience. Principal Ron Hodges said of the half dozen candidates interviewed, he "came across the best."

Lisa Vasquez was hired as gifted education teacher before the board went into a closed-to-the-public session on pending litigation.

Lincoln County auctions surplus property

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Heavy piles of bulky pipes, cattleguards, culverts and bridges in the Lincoln County Road Department yard at Capitan are scheduled to be moved to the county's rural events center in Glencoe for a surplus material sale.

Critics question the financial wisdom of moving the items when the sale scheduled for July 30 could have been conducted at the yard.

But County Commissioner Wilton Howell defended the decision.

"The center is more centrally located for buyers coming in from Roswell," he said. "The highway (U.S. 70) is a main thoroughfare and someone is there at the center all of the time to handle people who may want to view the merchandise."

Howell said he is confident that the cost of transporting the items will be recouped through the sale.

"We have better exposure at the center," he said. "And it's not going to be that great an effort to move this stuff. It's a molehill of items. Let's not make it a mountain."

Howell said previous sales always have been conducted in Capitan.

"Maybe it's time for the people in this area to have a break," he said. "I feel this will be the best sale we've ever had. And God forbid we have a nice auction and people see the center and might want to come back and put on their own equipment show there."

Heaps of scrap iron at the road yard will be hauled directly to the smelter in El Paso or a dealer in Alamogordo, Howell said.

"This was a management decision made while our former manager (Andy Wynham) was here," he noted. "The commission did not vote on it. But we expect a lot of participation. Signs will go up down there soon and the auctioneer we selected has a big following."

Road manager Bill Cupit said about 50 cattleguards, three bridges, 15 culverts and three cords of pine are among the items that will head to Glencoe.

They will be transported by a lowboy, a large platform used to transport tractors, which gets about five miles to a gallon of gas. Items not sold must be moved within 48 hours. The round trip from Capitan to Glencoe and back is about 70 miles.

Cupit said he was given a couple of days to complete the moving effort and that equipment will be required at both ends to load and unload.

Other items that will be able to drive the miles on their own include an ambulance and several county vehicles.

Charles Stallings/The Ruidoso News

Surplus items at the road department in Capitan will be hauled to the new Rural Events Center on U.S. Highway 70 for an auction. County commissioners are hoping the easy-to-find location will attract more customers than usual to the sale.

Hospital

"I discussed with the board about that becoming an alternative in Ruidoso, because I think we possibly could lose (already established primary care doctors), if not now in the foreseeable future, because they're getting the same offers as the new physicians."

Association spokesman Erwin said offering incentives and subsidies is nothing new in the industry.

"The idea of offering guaranteed income and low rent facilities has been going on for at least 10 years as an incentive to attract particular specialties," Erwin said Monday.

"But some hospitals are purchasing physician practices outright as a way of tying the physicians and their patients to their hospital."

Erwin said a hospital would be in danger of violating the anti-trust laws if a doctor was forbidden entry to a hospital, yet was equally as qualified as others practicing there, or if the hospital offered incentives to one and not others.

Purchasing the practices of physicians is not part of Miller's proposal, although she recommended buying the doctor's medical equipment and renting the building, furniture and fixtures they own and are using.

Miller said the advisory board after the executive session voted to offer the alternative to keep physicians in Lincoln County.

"The response I've heard here has been on the whole supportive, because if they lose a primary care physician, they lose referrals, especially if they're a specialty," Miller said.

She explained that in managed care (under health care plans), a patient has to go to a primary physician for referral to a specialist.

The proposed staff alternative is open to all physicians in the area, Miller said.

"It's open to all. They can discuss it with me," she said. "But like any employer, we have the option of employing or not employing."

She said while some contact has occurred with a few primary care physicians, no specialists have shown an interest.

"We're certainly not the first hospital in New Mexico or nationally (to consider the alternative)," Miller said. "It's all over the place. We're just slower getting started."

Although Miller said the program is not a subsidy, she acknowledged that during the first year, it may amount to that.

"Is it a subsidy? It may be the first year until we realize the efficiency," she said. "But over the long haul, I don't think it will cost the county."

Certainly, it would cost less to retain a physician already in the area compared to recruiting a new one, she noted.

"When you run more through a fixed overhead, the cost of a practice goes down and break even is more likely than an individual trying to practice on his/her own," Miller said.

"In large cities, you'll find very few individuals left in practice by themselves."

Loveless Hospital and Medical Center in Albuquerque is comprised totally of employed physicians, she said.

The Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minnesota, is an example of a large employed model, where physicians are paid a base amount and incentives are tied to revenue they generate.

"The harder they work, the more opportunity to earn more income," she said, but added that the hospital retains its review process to ensure unnecessary procedures are not ordered.

Miller said she suggested to the advisory board that compensation for physicians hired by LCMC be tied to gross billings.

"If you do it on the net collected, then non-paying patients may be eliminated from a practice. Access should remain the same to all patients," Miller said.

She has not determined the number of physicians that may be brought on board through the new system.

"I have no fixed number," Miller said. "I have a couple interested now. If we are successful with an internist, that would be another."

In addition to a secure bottom line, the system could offer less paperwork and more free time for a physician.

"It offers the ability to come in and see patients, do their records and go home," Miller said. "The administrative nightmare of private practice is gone. They now are spending an inordinate number of hours in managing their practices. That makes them less productive. They could see more patients."

Miller's proposal to the advisory board suggested that employee benefits for physicians include malpractice insurance, 35 days of paid time off and $2,500 for education and dues.

Internal medicine and family practices are the worst of the different types of practices when it comes to paperwork, she said.

"With orthopedics, it's less difficult, because there are fewer numbers of diagnoses," Miller said. "But in internal medicine or family practices, the way they write the bill is different for every patient. There are primary and secondary problems."

Patients shouldn't notice any difference, if the new arrangement is enacted, Miller said.

As to possibly violating the safe harbor provisions, Miller said she checked very carefully before proposing the plan.

"I'm very cautious about what we do," she said. "I would never violate our Medicare provider designation or not-for-profit standing under the Medical Fraud and Abuse standards."

"It would jeopardize the whole hospital if we make a mistake."

In 1990 when she took over as administrator, the hospital was a half million dollars in the hole and had just lost three physicians.

"It doesn't take much to find yourself back in that position," Miller noted.

Howell said while he wants to keep a strong hospital, he doesn't think the administration should rush into a new arrangement.

"I think Valerie's estimate that it will cost $90,000 the first year is conservative," Howell said. "The salary and benefits are not the whole picture. She's talking about renting their buildings and taking on their staffs, buying their equipment and she also wants to hire a practice manager (to handle the conversion, manage the practices, manage the Carrizozo Health Center and coordinate visiting specialty clinics)."

"It's my belief that the (revenue from a special property tax levy allocated to the hospital each year) is not for experiments. It's primarily for capital outlay. I know we've varied from that some, but not for a subsidy for doctors."

He noted that a budget already has been approved for the year and an item like this should have been included.

"Where is the money for it coming from? From Lincoln County, from Presbyterian?" he asked. "There are a lot of unanswered questions."

Firefighters continue battle against wildfires throughout the region

A series of fires broke out in the mountains around Lincoln County over the holiday weekend and most still were blazing Monday morning. Blazes flared at the Stallion Base of White Sands Missile Range, in the Patos Mountains near White Oaks and at the east end of the Capitan Mountains. "The big one is in the Patos, a couple miles directly east of White Oaks and was started Thursday by lightning," said Peg Crim, spokesman for the U.S. Forest Service, which is supervising the fire fighting effort.

"About 600 people are involved and 4,500 acres. We established a line last night and now are burning between the line and the fire to eliminate any fuel. This fire burned into the Big Rocks fire further east."

"We're trying to get helicopters in to burn islands of fuel still left. They drop pingpong type balls with combustibles inside."

Three different fires were reported Friday and Saturday, one covering more than 200 acres, still were burning Monday in the Capitans.

"The big one is at the head of the Poncho and Torrez Canyons near Capitan Peak," Crim said. "We let it burn the last couple of days, because we had no available resources. The Smokey Bear Hot shots will be down in today. But it's pretty steep terrain."

A spokesman for the federal BLM said lightning from thunderstorms Saturday ignited 16 fires within the bureau's Roswell district. Ten still are uncontained.

Cherokee survives to take her place as some lucky family's pet

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

She greets everyone like a long lost friend, full of affection and an eagerness for life.

Maybe her joy comes from her two close brushes with death in her brief 14 weeks on earth.

Cherokee, a slimy-built black and gray Australian shepherd with narrow muzzle and white eyelashes, was found wandering alone on the highway near Mesalero.

A good Samaritan brought her to the Lincoln County Humane Society animal shelter. The timing wasn't good, because a wave of the deadly disease, Parvo, was sweeping through the puppies.

But Cherokee survived and now has received all of her protective shots.

"She just loves attention and doesn't know a stranger," said shelter manager Esther Harper. "She's smart as a whip and, as young as she is, could be trained easily."

Cherokee was taken to Wal-Mart the weekend before last for a Saturday visit with shoppers, as part of a public awareness campaign and a chance to hand out educational literature.

One of the more attractive blue heeler mixes at the shelter, Levi is heavily flecked with gray and is about 1 1/2 years old.

"He's one who gets along with almost any animal one on one," Harper said. "But if he's in a bigger crowd, he wants to be top dog."

Levi was brought in with another dog by an owner who wanted to get rid of both like pieces of used furniture.

In the feline room, stop to see One-Eyed Jack, a luxurious long hair black cat who was hit by a car and lost one eye. A volunteer took him to a local veterinarian who removed the eyeball, performed a second procedure to take care of a chipped bone and then spayed Jack at the same time.

For more information about Cherokee, Levi, Jack or any of the other dogs and cats, call 257-9841 or stop at the shelter on Gavilan Canyon Road.

Tote bags bearing the society's friendly dog logo may be ordered for $12.50 by mail. Send donations or orders to the society, P.O. Box 2832, Ruidoso, NM 88345.

Nature's Gifts promotes kinder, gentler gifts

When it comes to giving gifts they say it's the thought that counts. When the thought is about human responsibility to the environment, it counts that much more.

Nature's Gifts offers the chance not only to tell a special person that you care, but also to show that you care about the health of the planet. Everything at Nature's Gifts has an eco-conscious theme, and there is something for everyone.

For the inquisitive child, there are games and kits that encourage exploration. Kids can put insects into magnifying jars — Nature's Gifts owners ask that they let the bugs go when they're done looking. Nature's Gifts has puzzles, art kits and stuffed animals, just to name a few items.

Gardeners and patio loungers will delight in the wind chimes, bird feeders and garden steps. One special item is the dung animal, a cute sculpture that sits in the garden and slowly releases fertilizer.

Copper fountains gurgle in one corner of the store.

The owners of Nature's Gifts are Diane and Chuck Dunn, long-time residents of Ruidoso recently returned from a stint in Louisiana. They opened the store on Mechem with the help of their children Chris and Erika, who have a strong say in what gets ordered for the store.

The Duns say their store is a great environment for kids and for anyone else with some curiosity about the world. With their interest in education and exploration, the Duns offer educators special discounts.

"They need access to these products," said Chuck. "Our educators feel under-appreciated for their roles and responsibilities."

Diane is planning workshops for kids. The store's front deck, overlooking the Rio Ruidoso, makes a perfect classroom.

"I'd like to do a start to finish flower press, maybe some art work," she said. "We'll do some seasonal stuff, something for the holidays, too."

The Duns say they are not radical environmentalists, but they do believe in developing an awareness of ecology.

"We aren't rabid tree huggers," said Chuck, "but we try to be conscious of people's effect on the environment. There's a balance."

Chuck said there are some encouraging signs of progress in our care for the planet. He read that our air is cleaner than it was in the 1970's and that the life span is five years longer.

Nature's Gifts is largely supplied by the Nature Company and Natural Wonders Cooperative, giving them a variable and eclectic inventory.

So far their reception in Ruidoso has been positive. Diane said they are discovering what people like and where their interests lie.

"There's been an increase in the popularity of nature related toys," she said. "It's something that challenges kids to explore and learn something."

"We think it's a healthier investment in their future than Rambo," said Chuck.

Prices at Nature's Gifts range from 70 cents to $550. They carry gift wrap, cards from the Sierra Club, recycled stationery, T-shirts with non-leaded dye. A percentage of proceeds from the educational kits go toward funding research. They also carry music, jewelry, books, oils, soaps and colognes.

Nature's Gifts, located at 103 Mechem Drive, is open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily. Phone: 257-9039.

Pam Cronwell/The Ruidoso News

Nature's Gifts is a family venture run by Chuck and Diane Dun and their children, Chris, who is in kindergarten, and Erika, a fifth grader.

Obituaries

Thomas A. Mayo

Visitation for Thomas A. Mayo, 81, of Ruidoso, was conducted on Friday, July 1, at LaGrone Funeral Chapel in Ruidoso. Graveside services were Saturday at Forest Lawn Cemetery with the Reverend D. Allen Cleary of First Baptist Church officiating.

Rains arrive in time for a cool Fourth celebration

The Warm Days

This is being said to you in midmorning of June 30, a sunny day with the temperature at 86 degrees — cool compared to the temperatures that have set a record here in the Vale, during the last few days.

On Tuesday, it got to 114 degrees in Roswell, the temperature went up to 107 here at the house.

It seems that the old saying "one extreme follows another" has come true about the recent weather.

Back in May, we had a blast of hail such as I have never seen anywhere and now the true June weather leading us into the rains of July.

On the early morning of the twenty-eighth, the East wind brought in a light mist which soaped away as the sun began to heat up the mountain world.

By midafternoon, white clouds began drifting in from the south, to be joined overhead by gray thunder clouds coming in over the western hills. There was light thunder and some pale flashes of lightning and you could see the purple streamers of rain extending down from the rain clouds.

Yet on the way down through the hot dry air, the drops faded away so that no rain reached the thirsty land.

The rains arrive

Around noon on the twenty-eighth, the clouds began gathering from the south and the west again.

This time the thunder boomed overhead

by Daniel Storm
The Ridge Runner

Tradition has it that long ago the Apaches were traveling through the mountains in great haste.

Two of them, one lame and the other blind, fell behind. Night came on and the Mountain Spirits appeared to these two and gave them food and shelter.

These ceremonies are handed down by the spoken word, spoken and sung, since time out of mind.

It is one of the outstanding rituals in the United States and sacred to the Mescalero people.

The rodeo and parade have a special Apache charm and color — especially the children in the parade.

Be careful over the Fourth

It goes without saying that we should be careful driving — given the great crowds on the highways and in the cities.

During the hot weather there is a gathering at lakes, pools and rivers to escape the heat.

You have to be very, very careful around the water. If you are out on a lake in a canoe, do not dive out to take a swim unless someone remains in the canoe. The breeze will blow the canoe away faster than you can swim.

I pray that you may have a safe and happy Fourth of July. Remember to fly the flag and pray for our country and let us pray for all people everywhere, that peace may soon bless the whole world.

and the lightning flashed overhead. A cool breeze swept down from the sky and you could see the drops falling.

Soon you hear that joyful sound: large raindrops pattering on the dry road in front of the house sending up little clouds of tan-colored dust.

Aha! the smell of the rain on the dry grass, on the hot cedar branches and the piñon limbs. All through the Vale floats the very breath of life itself: the first rain after the hot days in our Mountain Land.

The Mescalero ceremonies

One of the highlights of the fourth of July in the Mountain Land is the four-day ceremonies on the Mescalero Apache Reservation.

The central feature is the four-day ceremonies for the maidens who reach womanhood. Other elements of the celebration are the all-night chants and the dance of the Mountain Spirits.

BLINK

Oops, somebody just blinked and missed your television advertisement. Maybe they went to the kitchen for a snack, or answered the telephone, or changed the TV channel, or just leaned back and closed their eyes. Anyway, your advertising dollar was wasted.

You could have advertised in The Ruidoso News, the newspaper 83% of the people in Lincoln County buy. And what they buy they read.

Remember, it's not just the dollars you spend but the results you get. Invest in an ad that people can read when they want to, for as long as they want to. Use the proven power of the newspaper.

We've been bringing buyers and sellers together since 1945.

The Ruidoso News

As a Basket Maker, pine needles are my natural choice. What might seem like lawn clutter to others is basket art to me. Fine needle baskets are an ancient and universal craft. My grandmothers made pine needle baskets.

In 1980 while in Florida, I learned to make the basic stitch and how to take care of a basket. My 20-year-old son, a basket maker by her grandmother, was in superb condition with my 20-year-old son. I personally design and hand sew each basket sold by La Naturelle.

My 1994 collection includes over 50 Old World and contemporary shapes. Each shape is named, often for the customer who gave me the idea, and each basket is numbered. Winner of Best of Show in 1993 from Artists, N.M., Arts Council in 1993, my customers have taken baskets home to England, Japan, Germany, Alaska, Hawaii. Although you may think your basket will continue to dry, becoming lighter in color and texture, the baskets naturally break at the thread line. This will not damage the quality of your basket. Don't display in direct sunlight. To clean, wipe with damp brush. If it loses its sheen or rigidity, a thin coat of varnish will restore its beauty and increase its life.

La Naturelle, for the customer who prefers "The Natural Choice" when selecting a gift.

Scott Wells named manager of Ruidoso Downs

Scott Wells, formerly assistant general manager at Hollywood Park, was named general manager at Ruidoso Downs Thursday, announced Ruidoso Downs President R.D. Hubbard.

Wells replaces Max Johnson who submitted his resignation Wednesday to be effective immediately.

"Scott Wells brings with him a background in racing and particularly a background in New Mexico racing," said Hubbard.

"He was a successful trainer of both quarter horses and thoroughbreds for many years before turning to public relations and track management. Those who have worked with him have confidence that he is a natural fit for Ruidoso Downs," added Hubbard.

Wells, 44, has been in the racing industry his entire life and first came to Ruidoso in 1960 with his father, Ted Wells Jr., a horse trainer. He was actively involved in helping his father with Savannah Jr., winner of the 1965 All American Futurity.

"New Mexico horse racing and Ruidoso Downs racing in particular offer a charm and atmosphere unlike any I've experienced," said Wells. "I'm very eager to join the team in this position."

Throughout his racing career, Wells has served as an assistant for renowned thoroughbred trainers D. Wayne Lukas and Jack Van Berg, as well as training his own stable for over 15 years.

Wells' diversified talents also include writing. He authored the book "The Nicodemus Era" documenting the riding career of legendary jockey Jerry Nicodemus and has had numerous articles published in national publications. In 1992, he joined Hubbard at Hollywood Park after working as a columnist for the Daily Racing Form and in management at Remington Park in Oklahoma City.

A Streak Of Cash rallies late to win Rainbow Derby on Sunday

Fastest qualifier A Streak Of Cash recovered from a slow start to rally in the final 100 yards for a neck win over I Hear A Symphony in the Grade 1 $115,020 Rainbow Derby, Sunday at Ruidoso Downs.

The Streakin Six colt, sent off the second choice at 2-1, was fifth at the start of the 440-yard race, but was less than a length behind early leader Special Phoebe. Midway down the lane, A Streak Of Cash had improved his position to fourth and was battling head-and-head with 3-2 favorite First To Score in third. Nearing the wire, the colt blew by Special Phoebe and First To Score to post the narrow victory.

I Hear A Symphony rallied strongly on the outside to get up for the place position, while Special Phoebe held on for third, a nose in front of First To Score in fourth.

It was the first career stakes win for A Streak Of Cash who ran fifth in the Texas Classic Futurity at Trinity Meadows in November which was his only prior stakes appearance.

A Streak Of Cash ran the classic quarter horse distance in :21.38. He qualified to the Derby with a 21.26, only 24/100ths off the track record set by Truckle Feature in 1973.

"The seven horse (First To Score) had me about a head or neck at the start, but halfway down he kicked in and ran by him," said Joe Martinez who piloted A Streak Of Cash.

Trainer Dwayne "Sleepy" Gilbreath was in Oklahoma City with the champion Refrigerator who ran second in the Remington Park Championship, so his wife Joanie saddled A Streak Of Cash in the Derby.

"We didn't have him last year and we just got him at the first of the year and he's been doing real well," said Gilbreath. "We have a good race horse and he ran the same race he did in the trials."

Owners John Soileau and Stephen Williams purchased A

Streak Of Cash at the 1992 Ruidoso Horse Sales for $11,000. Soileau, who resides in Opelousas, Louisiana, and Williams from Beaumont, Texas, said that the colt is getting better as he gets older.

"He's getting better as time goes by. He's matured and has come into his own," said Soileau who also owned multiple stakes winner Royal Bushwhacker who ran at Ruidoso in 1990 and 1991.

The win was worth $47,473 and bumped A Streak Of Cash's earnings to $97,367. The colt has won five of eleven career starts.

I Hear A Symphony earned $21,702 for the place. The Ronas Ryon filly was ridden by Charles McMahon and trained by Kenneth Roberts Sr. I Hear A Symphony is owned by Tommy Bass of Lake View, South Carolina.

Special Phoebe received $11,122 for third. Gwendolyn Eaves of Midland, Texas, owns the Special Effort filly who is trained by Richard Fry. Eric Perner was the rider.

Welcome back

Dancing, barbecue and music add up to a party at the Sports Theater in Ruidoso successful "Welcome Back Horsemen" Downs.

Flying Drone, Kelsey's Hero star in Friday's Rio Grande Futurity trials

William and Martha Galloway's Flying Drone put away Norgor Futurity winner Bandit Commander in the turn, then drew off for a nearly effortless 7 1/4-length win in the Rio Grande Futurity Trials, Friday at Ruidoso Downs.

Flying Drone, a full-brother to multiple stakes winner B.G.'s Drone, was sent off the 3-2 favorite in the nine-horse field which also included Rio Grande Kindergarten Futurity winner Bold Connection.

The gelding by Dawn Of Creation broke right with Bandit Commander at the start of the six furlong sprint and the two ran in tandem along the backstretch. Entering the turn, Flying Drone eased passed Bandit Commander to take the lead and was hand-ridden to the wire by jockey David Lidberg.

Flying Drone, trained by Dwain Grissom, beat a maiden field by 10 1/2-lengths on June 5 after he was fitted with blinkers for the first time. The gelding should be the probable favorite in the $63,257 final which will be run July 16.

In the first trial division, Kelsey's Hero won a fierce stretch duel with 3-5 favorite My Special Ego for a neck victory. Ridden by Harla Webb and trained by Donald Hoover, Kelsey's Hero battled for the early lead, dropped back in the turn, then got a second wind to retake the lead nearing the wire to secure the win. The time was 1:14.2.

The complete list of qualifiers for the futurity follows: Flying Drone, Bold Connection, Bandit Commander, Go Tana, Kelsey's Hero, My Special Ego, Bar Passer, Fred's Band, Sparkleville, Reckless Connie, Herewego, Boggy Bottom.

Marie Ryon takes Thursday feature by half length

Heavily favored Marie Ryon took an early 1 1/2-length lead, then held on at the wire to beat 3-1 second choice Kamalani by a half-length in the $8,000 allowance feature, Thursday at Ruidoso Downs. The victory was never in doubt for the Johnnie Goodman-trained filly who traveled the 400-yard distance in :19.92 seconds. Marie Ryon, a 3-year-old filly by Ronas Ryon, was sent off the 6-5 favorite in the eight-horse field and earned $2,160 for owner Jim Johnson of Brownsville, Texas.

Darrell Blevins was the winning rider.

Kamalani, with Rick Thedford in the irons, finished 1 1/2-lengths in front of third place finisher Its Kasual, ridden by Billy Peterson.

NEW MEXICO STATE TRIBUNE COMPANY'S PETITION FOR ASSIGNMENT OF N11 NUMBER

DOCKET NO. 94-52-TC

U S WEST'S RESPONSE TO STAFF MOTION TO ESTABLISH RULEMAKING

U S WEST Communications, Inc. ("U S WEST"), by and through its attorney, hereby submits its response to Staff Motion to Establish Rulemaking as requested by the State Corporation Commission's May 25 Order Establishing Deadline for Responses to Staff Motion.

U S WEST is in agreement with Staff that the request of the New Mexico State Tribune for the abbreviated dialing number 511 or another N11 dialing number should be held in abeyance. However, U S WEST believes that a rulemaking at this time is premature and therefore requests that no action be taken to initiate a general rulemaking on the assignment and use of N11 numbers until the FCC has completed its deliberations in Docket 92-105. This will ensure that standards are national in scope and to the advantage of all customers throughout the United States. It will also have a significant impact on the question of whether a rulemaking by this Commission is necessary and if so, exactly what such a rulemaking should consider.

A. Limited Availability of N11 Numbers

There are only eight N11 numbers available for use — 211, 311, 411, 511, 611, 711, 811, and 911. In New Mexico, three of these are being used for public service-related types of access. 411 is used for Directory Assistance, 811 is used by customers for access into the business office to establish new telephone service, and 911 is used for access to emergency services. Both 411 and 911 are, and have long been, universally recognized by the public in most states across the U S WEST region. Currently, four of the eight available N11 numbers are already being used for public service purposes throughout the U S WEST region.

To date, U S WEST has received approximately forty requests for N11 numbers, fifteen of which apply to New Mexico. Although some of these requests are on a regional basis, they request N11 numbers in every one of U S WEST's exchanges, which would include the New Mexico exchanges. U S WEST has carefully documented the receipt of each request for N11 numbers it has received and will continue to do so. Similarly, many requests are now before the FCC for N11 number assignments. If N11 numbers were assigned to these additional public service purposes, all of the available N11 numbers would then be assigned.

B. FCC and State

In response to a petition for declaratory ruling by Sprint Corporation, the FCC established Docket 92-105 which is currently pending to investigate and propose national guidelines and standards for the use of N11 codes and other abbreviated dialing arrangements. Subsequent to the FCC receiving Comments in Docket 92-105, the National Center for Law and Deafness and Telecommunications for the Deaf, Inc. filed a joint petition asking the Commission to direct assignment or reservation of uniform nationwide N11 numbers (511 and 711) for TRS, the National Association of State Telecommunications Directors and the Governor of Montana requested that an N11 number, such as 211, be assigned for use by state governments, and the General Services Administration requested an N11 code for use by the public for access to the services of the Federal Government.

To date, no state within the U S WEST region has approved requests for N11 numbers, citing in most instances the pending FCC docket as a reason for denying petitions, thus recognizing the need to resolve this issue at a national level.

II. COMMENTS ON PROPOSED RULEMAKING

A. Assignment of N11 for Public Service Use

U S WEST believes that the assignment of the remaining N11 numbers should be based on the functions provided through the use of the numbers, not on the entity or entities offering the services. For example, if 711 were assigned nationally for a specific function, such as for the hearing impaired, then hearing impaired telephone callers in New Mexico and across the United States, could obtain access to telecommunication realty services (TRS) by dialing 711, regardless of who was providing the service. This uniform application of N11 numbers on a functional basis throughout the national would be an efficient use of this limited resource and eliminate the customer confusion that would result if N11 numbers were assigned for diverse uses in different geographic areas by different network providers. U S WEST submits that it is this kind of example of public service use that N11 numbers should be reserved for, and U S WEST proposes national standards be established that support this use.

The limited number of available N11 codes mean that the assignment of remaining codes to a few providers would inevitably provide the recipients with a significant competitive advantage over their competitors. There is little doubt that an information provider would have a marketing advantage if it could offer information services to the public through an N11 number and its competitors could not. The New York Department of Public Service, in comments approved by the New York Commission, worried that this advantage could be viewed as being anti-competitive resulting in possible legal disputes from firms unable to obtain N11 numbers.

On July 29, 1992, the National Association of Regulatory Utility Commissioners, in response to the FCC Docket 92-105, adopted a resolution which opposed N11 use by Enhanced Service Providers and recommended a joint FCC/state effort to develop guidelines for the use of N11 codes on a nationwide basis. In addition, the National Emergency Number Association (NENA), a non-profit organization involved in the proliferation of Enhanced 911 throughout the United States and Canada, requested that the FCC not assign N11 codes for commercial purposes would quickly compromise the uniqueness of the "9-1-1" emergency telephone number, would result in a great deal of confusion of the part of the general public, and could very easily cost a life because of a simple mistake in dialing.

B. Establishment of National Guidelines

By establishing national guidelines, the public interest will be benefited by consistent use of N11 numbers that have traditionally been assigned and used for public service, such as 911 for emergency police, fire and medical services; 411 for directory assistance services; and in some states, 611 for telephone repair and 811 for access to telephone business offices. Because N11 numbers are a scarce and valuable resource, every effort should be made to ensure they are administered in a manner that will benefit the public-at-large. To require the use of N11 codes for anything other than public service use would be contrary to this public-at-large objective.

Consistent with U S WEST's proposal of limiting the use of N11 numbers to national standards and rules for management, use and recovery of N11 numbers should also be established and that any state rules adopted should conform to those standards. This would ensure consistency across states and eliminate possible customer confusion from a multitude of different dialing arrangements.

C. Alternative to N11 Numbers

A range of alternative should be considered, preferably at the national level, before rules are adopted which would allow or mandate N11 assignments for commercial use. For example, U S WEST urges the Commission to consider supporting the development of national telephone numbers in the form of 555-XXXX, which would accommodate the demands for abbreviated dialing, provide numbers for up to 10,000 ISPs, and alleviate the need to consider the assignment of N11 numbers for other than public service use.

U S WEST believes it is important to emphasize that there are numbering alternatives available today to commercial business for establishing their proposed service. For example, using a seven digit number has been successful for Information Providers in other states. U S WEST stands ready to assist the New Mexico State Tribune, or any IP, in establishing service using any of the available alternatives.

III. CONCLUSION

U S WEST believes that N11 numbers should be released only for national public service uses, determined by standards established nationally. By allowing the development of national guidelines surrounding the allocation, assignment, and recovery of N11 numbers, consistency across the country remains intact, customer confusion is kept to a minimum and N11 numbers are assigned that will clearly benefit the public.

For the foregoing reasons, U S WEST recommends that the Commission grant Staff's Motion to hold the Tribune's request for assignment of an N11 number in abeyance and deny Staff's Motion to Establish Rulemaking. After the FCC acts in its pending dockets, the Commission will be in a position to determine whether a rulemaking on the issue of N11 numbers assignments is warranted.

Public Television

Evening at Pops

Public television's most enduring musical entertainment program celebrates its 25th anniversary season when Evening at Pops premieres its 1994 lineup. This year's series presents the Boston Pops Orchestra and a star-studded array of performers in two new programs and several popular encore broadcasts.

In the season premiere, celebrated violinist Itzhak Perlman and conductor/composer John Williams reunite to perform selections from their Academy Award-winning film score for Steven Spielberg's Schindler's List. Perlman then reads "Sneaky Pete and the Wolf," by Peter Schickele.

Later in the season, Evening at Pops welcomes consummate "cross-over" artist Julia Migenes, probably best known for her Grammy Award-winning performance as Carmen in the 1984 film version of the opera with Placido Domingo.

Loyal fans and new Evening at Pops viewers will delight in this summer's encore broadcasts which include "Arthur Fiedler: Just Call Me Maestro"; "Sarah Vaughn and Wynton Marsalis"; "Linda Ronstadt and Rosemary Clooney"; "James Taylor" and more.

Evening at Pops will be broadcast Mondays at 7:00 p.m. and 11:00 p.m. beginning July 11th. It will repeat Wednesdays at 1:00 p.m.

The Steven Banks Show

Public television lightens up this summer with The Steven Banks Show, a new, offbeat comedy series.

The shows take place primarily on one set — a cluttered apartment — and focus on the comic style of rising talent Steven Banks, who plays a "thirty-something single guy" that procrastinates constantly and finds himself far too easily distracted from any task at hand. Drawing viewers into a world limited only by Bank's imagination, the series highlights his knack for comic monologue, his flair for parody, and his ability to sing, write music, and play nearly a dozen instruments.

Teresa Parente and Michael Kostroff play six recurring characters and more than 50 one-time roles, both on-camera and in voice-overs.

The Steven Banks Show will air Mondays at 8:00 p.m. beginning July 11th. The series repeats Sundays at 10:00 p.m. beginning July 17th on KENW-TV.
