THURSDAY, October 20, 1994 NO. 46 IN OUR 49TH YEAR RUIDOSO, NM 88345 CALL US AT 257-4001 50 CENTS

On the side

Long distance goes local to Capitan

Although the official effective date for extended local service between Capitan and Ruidoso isn't until Oct. 31, many exchanges already are accessible by local dialing.

Officials with GTE-New Mexico were unable to confirm the extent of the service, but suggested dialing numbers between the two communities first as a local call.

The one hold-out at press time were numbers with the 258 prefix in Ruidoso for those calling from Capitan.

Ruidoso rates high as retirement site

Ruidoso is one of the "8 Great Spots To Vacation — and Retire" according to the Fall 1994 edition of Travel 50 & Beyond magazine.

Ranked as number four, Ruidoso is listed as a "top spot" along with Eureka, Calif., Carson City, Nev., Prescott, Ariz., Branson, Mo., Hot Springs, Ark., Dunedin, Fla., and Hendersonville, N.C.

The common ingredient to all these communities, according to the article, is that "there's a good chance that if you spend a week in one of them, you'll be hooked for life."

Oktoberfest this weekend

This year's Oktoberfest celebration is at the Convention and Civic Events Center located at the Links Golf Course, Friday and Saturday.

Oktoberfest begins at 5 p.m. Friday with the "unofficial open ceremony" of the Midland-Odesa Antique Car Club display of automobiles.

From 5 p.m. to midnight Friday, and Saturday from noon to midnight, music by the Enzian Schupplattler Group and the Rock Mountain Rhinelanders. Rudy's International Dancers, der Polka Schlingles and the Olympic Flame Greek Dancers will perform about every two hours.

Door prizes also will be given away every two hours—but winners must be present.

Kids could win free Disney Channel subscriptions and other prizes in a coloring contest.

Those attending also will have a chance to win a special dance with "Miss St. Pauli Girl," who will carry on her tradition of visiting Oktoberfest. This year she will have an all-new costume and will autograph posters, according to Laura Price Reynolds, chairperson of the event.

Village water plan puts use limits

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Starting Saturday, water use in the village of Ruidoso will be regulated by provisions of a new contingency plan.

The three-stage plan is needed to prepare for possible shortages if snow and rainfall are scarce and construction of the Grindstone water treatment plant falls behind schedule, said Village Manager Gary Jackson. In the most severe stage, rationing will be enforced with written citations and fines.

"The whole intent is to have a mechanism to drastically reduce water use," Jackson said. "If the voluntary stage works, that's great. Unfortunately, voluntary (action) doesn't always result in a reduction. Some mechanism was needed for the overriding public need."

The possibly temporary ordinance, which covers all of the 7,090 users of metered water sold or supplied by the village, is based on triggering conditions.

Under the first non-emergency phase, public education on the smart use of water will be emphasized.

Phase two, called moderate condition, will be triggered in April, if winter snowfall has been below average and the resulting runoff into the Alto reservoir is projected to be low.

Any two of three specific conditions must exist:

1.—The level in the reservoir drops to at least three feet below the benchmark.

2.—The wells produce a total of less than 1,800 gallons per minute.

3.—The level of the water in the two 5-million-gallon tanks falls below 45 feet.

Steps to be taken include an odd-even outdoor water restriction (home with odd number addresses water on odd dates and even on even dates). Watering will be allowed only between 8 p.m. and 6 a.m.

The village also will be asked to reduce municipal uses of water, Jackson said. The media will be used to spread the conservation message.

Johnson shakes up Ruidoso audience

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Republican gubernatorial candidate Gary Johnson remained firmly uncommitted Monday on the issue of storing spent nuclear fuel rods on the Mescalero Apache reservation.

Even though he faced a fundraising luncheon crowd in one of the two traditionally Republican counties in the state and they pledged votes for him on Nov. 8 if he would just say no, Johnson refused.

He said his reluctance stems from a lack of information that transportation and storage of the radioactive fuel rods would pose a danger.

But he said he hoped to be able to issue a definitive statement on the issue before the election.

"What I've said is that there is no compromise regarding health, safety and the environment," Johnson said during an interview following the luncheon. "I asked the group if they could provide me any information that would show that was the case. If that was the case, I would oppose MRS (monitored retrievable storage for spent fuel from nuclear power plants).

"To categorically denounce it or categorically accept it, I'm not informed enough," he said.

"They basically said to me (at the luncheon), if you say you'll be against it, we'll support you. But this race hasn't been so much about votes as what's right and what's

McMillan ranch in MRS path

A ranch owned by Colin R. McMillan, Republican U.S. Senate candidate, lies between the proposed site for storage of spent nuclear fuel rods and the railroad lines that would bring it to the Mescalero Apache Reservation.

But Miller Hudson, a spokesman for the tribal council in its effort to forge a private storage agreement with 32 power companies, said McMillan has not been contacted about the purchase of right-of-way.

If he is approached, it will wait until after the Nov. 8 general election, Hudson said. McMillan is challenging incumbent U.S. Sen. Jeff Bingaman, a Democrat, in the November election.

"We probably will talk to him about building a rail spur, but it's not our only option for reaching the site, which definitely is on reservation land," Hudson said.

A spokesman for McMillan said he has not been contacted about selling his land and that his ranch is not for sale at this time.

Battle at Downs condo involves 20; shots fired

by DON HIXON
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Shots were fired, one man was arrested and several others injured Sunday in a fight involving some 20 people at Champion's Run Condominiums in Ruidoso Downs.

According to Ruidoso Downs Police reports, Officer Dana Terlecky was dispatched to a reported gang fight at the condominiums at 1:26 a.m. on Sunday. Arriving at the scene, Terlecky saw a pick-up leaving the area. It approached Terlecky's police vehicle, then veered into the other lane and accelerated away.

Terlecky, lights and siren on, pursued the truck and after a chase down a service road placed Ricky Devara, 19, under arrest.

Returning to the condominiums, Terlecky was told that several persons were injured. One male was holding his arm and said he had been hit with a baseball bat.

The injured were taken to Lincoln County Medical Center, where one male received 15 stitches for a laceration to the head and another received stitches for two lacerations to the head.

According to the police report, all other males involved received some type of minor injury.

Terlecky was joined at the scene first shelter. Along with Lee McKenna, current chair, they also were driving forces behind fund-raising for a new wing and renovation. About 100 persons, including village councilors and county commissioners, toured the complex. It was designed by Jim French.

Treasurer's race strange match-up

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Lincoln County voters are being asked in the general election to choose between the current chief deputy treasurer, Joan E. Park, a Republican, and Steven Eugene Brewer, a Democrat who has refused interviews and failed to show up at party functions.

Park, the Republican candidate, was born in Roswell, but had visited Lincoln County for most of her life before moving to Capitan eight years ago.

"It was always a dream to move up here," she said. That dream came true when Park and her husband, Brady, were hired at Lone Tree Bible Camp near Capitan.

Three years later, Park was hired by the First Baptist Church and from there she became accounts payable clerk at Fort Stanton Hospital, staying for about 15 months.

"That was some of my best training for what I'm doing right now," she said. "I had to take an accounting technician test to get the job. While I was there, they upgraded the position to financial specialist, which was another test that was more difficult. Strangely enough, it had a lot to do with bonds and government things that we didn't deal with at Fort Stanton."

When Treasurer Janice Ware's chief deputy quit, Park applied and was hired on July 6, 1992.

She has taken advantage of seminars and special training sessions since joining the county and is working toward her associate's degree.

Park married shortly after leaving high school, but worked as a bookkeeper for an oilman in Roswell and then for an architect.

"My strength has always been in math, numbers and figures, so it was natural," she said.

Her ties to Lincoln County go deeper than just feeling at home among its varied topography and friendly residents. Her great grandfather, John W. Owen, was a county sheriff just after the turn of the century and held the record for the most consecutive years in office until James McSwane surpassed it last January.

"We all work for money, but money is not worth being unhappy for me," Park said about her decision to run for office. "I'm going to work where I enjoy it or I will just go without it. But I love this work. I like working with the public. It's a balance of getting to use accounting, people skills and general management. I like that.

"I like having laws, regulations and mandates that you have to know and follow. It's very challenging."

Park explained that the treasurer's job is broken down into

People who have not already voted under the state's early voting law will head to the polls Nov. 8 to elect a new county treasurer. Incumbent Janice Ware is not running for re-election. week was a provision that verbal warnings be issued for poor watering practices, such as overlapping lawns and watering on sidewalks and streets, Jackson said.

The village also will suspend its practice of giving credits on water bills for leaks on a customer's side of the line. Customers had been allowed to show bills from plumbers as proof they had paid for repairs to broken or leaking lines.

"We feel we have a serious water condition and should encourage (private repairs) of a person's own water system," he said. "We could continue to credit toward sewer use, because the water that's leaking doesn't go through that system."

If water levels dip critically low, rationing takes effect.

The third conservation phase also will be triggered by any two of three conditions:

1.—The level in the Alto reservoir drops below 12 feet.

2.—The wells produce less than a total of 900 gallons per minute.

3.—The level of water in the two 5-million-gallon tanks fall below 45 feet.

At that point, no outdoor watering will be allowed and citations will be issued after the first violation written warning. The warning must be new under the third phase, not a verbal warning carryover.

Indoor uses of water are to be minimized. Customers will be advised of the situation and regulations by mailings and through the media.

Water leak credits will be suspended.

Conviction for any violations in the ordinance could be punished by a fine of up to $500 and/or imprisonment of up to 90 days. Each day of violation will be considered a separate offense.

Authority to enforce the ordinance will be assigned, but not limited to, Ruidoso police officers, code enforcement officers and meter readers. Other employees of the village may be assigned by the village manager.

The council also attached a provision that requires the ordinance to be reviewed when the Grindstone plant is in full operation. The plant is scheduled to open on Memorial Day 1995.

They heard three or four shots. Occupants of other condos verified hearing the shots.

Returning to Devara's pickup truck, Officer Terlecky found a bottle of beer in the cab and a case of beer in the pickup bed. Terlecky then returned to the condominiums where he found a single, empty 9 mm caliber, Remington Peters cartridge case. After daybreak Terlecky and Chief Hightower searched the area alongside of the service road, and recovered a Llama 9 mm semi-automatic in the driveway leading to the lower parking lot of the Museum of the Horse.

Devara was charged with counts of eluding an officer, minor in possession of alcoholic beverages, and aggravated assault, a fourth degree felony. Devara posted bond and was released from jail. According to police, more arrests are possible as the investigation continues.

by Downs Police Chief David Hightower, Officers Roxann Pfeffer and Doug Babcock of the Ruidoso Police Department, and Deputy Trinidad Zepeda of the Sheriff's Department.

According to the report, a woman stated that she and her boyfriend were confronted by Devara. She was allegedly pushed by Devara and her boyfriend was struck in the back by another male who was with Devara. A fight then ensued with other occupants of the condo and perhaps 10 to 15 friends of Devara participating.

When the fight was broken off, Devara and his friends, the report indicates, retreated to the area where their cars were parked, followed by the woman, her boyfriend, and several other males.

While approaching Devara, the boyfriend reportedly saw Devara with a handgun and saw him cock it. With that, the boyfriend and his group turned and ran. As they ran

"What could the independent agency be to look at this and say it is or isn't safe?"

Johnson said while he has talked to Mescalero President Wendell Chino, their conversations centered on gambling and other issues, not nuclear fuel storage.

Johnson had been quoted at a candidates' forum in Santa Fe as preferring to "leave the door open" for an MRS at Mescalero or elsewhere in the state, because of its potential economic benefits.

Johnson said he has not been swayed by Chino's endorsement of his candidacy.

"No, that is not the case at all," he said.

wrong, I'm not saying either one is right or wrong."

It was pointed out that many stories on MRS have been published in the last two years. Asked what he has done to gather information on which to base a decision and what he plans to do in the new few weeks before the election, he said "This group said it would provide conclusive evidence on one side and I will certainly wait for that," he said.

But for now, he's not ready to decide.

"I guess because I hear one side and am absolutely opposed and then I hear the other side and it sounds completely safe," he said.

Solid waste effort recognized

For the second consecutive year, Lincoln County's Solid Waste Authority has been recognized by the Keep New Mexico Beautiful organization.

Authority Chairman Wilton Howell, who accepted the award at a luncheon in Albuquerque, will share it with other members of the authority at the board meeting Monday which will begin at 10 a.m. in the recycling center on Second Street in Ruidoso Downs.

The award is tied to the authority's model recycling program, rated an important part of the group's overall effort to collect and dispose of refuse in the county.

During the meeting, the board, comprised of representatives from the county and its five municipalities, also plans to review budget adjustments recommended by manager Joe Lewandowski.

Included in the meeting packet is a letter from Lewandowski to the route supervisor and drivers specifying who is responsible each day for cleaning up dumpsters at the point where east-bound U.S. 70 becomes four lanes east of Ruidoso Downs.

"The area continued to be a problem for pickup," he wrote. "This area needs to be a number one priority. Effective immediately, this pickup point will be emptied six times a week."

Under the manager's report, Lewandowski noted that 340 special pickups were performed in September for an estimated cost to the authority of $5,409. He wrote that since July 1, special services has cost the authority $32,096, while it has received $700 back in revenue.

Some of those costs will be offset in the future by rate increases recently approved by the members.

Lewandowski also noted that the state environment department has accepted the authority's permit for the transfer station on Gavilan Canyon Road. Two public meetings concerning the permit will be scheduled by the state.

Repairs still are in progress on garbage containers. Since June 11, 1993, 1,485 have received attention.

Ruidoso wins conference accolades

The Ruidoso area wasn't ignored during the recent New Mexico Governor's Conference on Tourism in Farmington, which included presentation of the 1994 New Mexico Tourism Industry

Achievement Awards.

Among four tourist destinations receiving awards for marketing achievement was the Flying J Ranch in Ruidoso.

Flying J Ranch received the award for its contribution to the local and state tourism tax base.

Three special events received awards for outstanding achievement in event development and marketing.

A winner was the Lincoln County Cowboy Symposium.

Barbara Duff, former Village Councilor, winner of Ruidoso's Citizen of the Year, was among 10 individuals honored, each selected by their local Chambers of Commerce and Convention and Visitors Bureaus for outstanding service to their local tourism industry.

Health screening next week

Health screenings will be available free or for a small charge for Lincoln County residents at the Second Annual Health Fair sponsored by the County Public Health Department and the Lincoln County Medical Center.

Free flu shots and immunizations will be administered. Blood pressures will be checked, cholesterol measured, glucose screened and HIV testing performed, with counseling available.

The fair runs from 9 a.m. to noon Tuesday, Oct. 25, at La Placita in Lincoln and in the old school gymnasium in Capitlan. From 1-5 p.m. the same day the staff will be at the San Patricio Senior Citizens Center and at the Carrizozo School Multipurpose Room in Carrizozo.

The fair will continue from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Friday, Oct. 28, at the Civic Events Center off Mechem Drive.

New Gavilan school inspected

by DON HIXON
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Gavilan Canyon School opened its doors for inspection Tuesday and the "big brass" came out en masse.

State Rep. H. John Underwood, the school board, principals, teachers, parents and friends swarmed over the new facility during its first open house.

Located at 819 Gavilan Canyon Road, the school is non-traditional in both approach and look. Previously a part of the former Dave McGary Studio, a wide open bay area looks out a garage-type door to a view of trees just outside. A pine table and chairs custom made by Sierra Southwest graces the conference room and two new Macintosh computers provide students with hands-on training in the computer lab.

Upstairs is the school's counseling center, where students and parents meet with teachers and counselors as part of the Gavilan Canyon School's Student/Parent/School Contract.

Individual contracts are a key part of the philosophy of the school—to provide education, counseling and rehabilitative services to students who have needs outside of the general education programs of the public school system.

Students at Gavilan may participate in team sports as long as their grades are acceptable.

Limited to 15 students, the school uses a 4-to-1 student-teacher ratio and stresses personal and social skills designed to increase self-esteem, and help students make correct choices and be responsible for their actions.

"We are using a thematic approach," said Karen Taylor, an instructor. "Right now we are designing a 'Ruidoso Game,' like Monopoly, which teaches lots of history and social studies."

The school was established with $150,000 from the State Legislature, and the help of people like Paul Wirth, director of support services, Representative Underwood, the Ruidoso school board, and many others.

Wool check-off gains

The House of Representatives has passed a lamb and wool check-off program to promote sheep products, according to Congressman Joe Skeen, R-NM. Skeen's New Mexico district includes a large population of sheep producers.

The new checkoff program was needed because of Congress' action last year to phase out the wool incentive program, Skeen said. Under that program, promotion deductions were taken from incentive payments on wool and applied to lamb and wool promotion activities.

"When Congress eliminated the wool incentive program, it also eliminated the sheep and wool promotion program," Skeen commented, "effectively killing the industry's efforts to promote lamb and wool products."

The sheep industry has the nation's first checkoff program, Skeen added. Eighteen other commodity groups followed suit to set up a checkoff program in the years since. "It seems only fair that Congress restore the sheep industry's own promotional mechanism by this vote," he said.

After the legislation is signed into law by the President, sheep producers, feeders and importers will conduct their own industry referendum on the checkoff, which, if approved, would begin in 1996.

If the referendum is approved, wool growers will be assessed two cents per pound on domestic grease wool and two cents per pound on imported clean wool top, textiles, and products with wool content, one cent per pound will be assessed on domestic and imported lamb products.

According to Skeen, current estimates indicate about $12 million will be collected annually, half from domestic sources and half from import sources.

The checkoff results in no cost to the federal government.

"I support these efforts by the sheep industry to promote lamb and wool products," Skeen added.

Furnace repair help offered

For the first time, funds have been allocated to the state's Weatherization Assistance Program for repair and replacement of heating systems of low income New Mexico residents.

The Chaves County Community Action program has been allocated $33,800 for furnace repair and replacement in 26 homes in its 12-county service area, which includes Lincoln County.

Liz Cordova, Weatherization Assistance Program Manager, said that the Weatherization Assistance Program is designed to assist low income persons, especially the elderly and handicapped, with energy conservation repairs to their homes.

Flood plain rules on agenda

Jack Purcell, New Mexico Flood Plains administrator, will discuss flood plain regulations with members of the Lincoln County Planning and Zoning Board at their meeting at 7 p.m. Oct. 27 in the county commission room of the Lincoln County Courthouse in Carizozo.

The only other item on the agenda is a request for final approval to change the conformation of lots one and two of Deer Park Meadows Subdivision, unit six, by surveyor Tim Collins for Scott Yates.

Friday Warrior home game really battle for playoff spot

by KENT BEATTY
The News Sports Correspondent
Ruidoso High's Warrior football team will battle for its playoff life Friday night as District rival Socorro comes to town. The game is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. at W.D. Horton Stadium.

Socorro is tied with Silver City with undefeated district marks, while the Warriors and Hot Springs have yet to win in league play. Cobre and Santa Teresa are 1-1. Socorro gave Ruidoso its worst district beating of the year last season as Fred Mata picked off five John Echols passes. The situation was different in 1993 however, as two losses would not get a team into the playoffs.

This season, that scenario could happen. Silver is head-and-shoulders above the other teams in the district. The Colts could breeze through their remaining league games and end the season at 5-0.

That gives the other teams one loss. If Ruidoso beats all of its remaining opponents — Socorro, Cobre and Hot Springs — Ruidoso and Socorro would tie at 3-2. Ruidoso would advance because they beat Socorro.

The possibility is there, but sometimes the football is not. Ruidoso is minus seven in turnovers this year and the Warriors have picked bad times to give the ball away.

Silver scored twice off Warrior turnovers last week and Ruidoso was inside the Silver 10 twice, but didn't score. Take away those factors, and it would be a close game. Talent-wise, Ruidoso and Socorro are pretty close. Socorro has lost one game, to Santa Fe Capital, but they've had an easy schedule. How good they are is unclear. Nonetheless, they have six wins.

The Warriors haven't beaten Socorro since 1990, and the games since then haven't been very close. Socorro seems intent on balancing those embarrassing defeats Ruidoso gave them in the 1980s.

Don't expect tricky stuff from Socorro either. Socorro has senior Fred Mata at quarterback and speedy Michael Armijo at the halfback. On passing situations, Mata will look for Michael Vallejos and Matt Napier. Both are talented pass catchers.

Like most teams, the Socorro offensive line is bigger than the Warriors, something Ruidoso should be used to.

But there's good news: Socorro's line is not nearly as big as Silver's. Defensively, Socorro shows different faces from their offensive team. Mata and Armijo will be awaiting any errant John Echols passes from their safety positions.

The key for Ruidoso is not necessarily Socorro's stable of players, but not beating themselves. If Ruidoso can do that, a trip to the playoffs looks good.

Determination Personified

Determined kindergarten-age players from the Lincoln County Youth Soccer League showed they had what it takes at the last game of the year Tuesday. More than 250 players are registered with the league from kindergarten to eighth grade.

Soccer Warriors, at 10-4, aim toward living up to forecast

The 10-4 Ruidoso Warrior Soccer team is on the way to making the pre-season poll makers right on target. The Warriors were picked to win the District 3-AAA title, and the team seems to be peaking at the right time.

Ruidoso smashed two district foes last week as the team got 5-1 and 5-1 wins over Santa Teresa and Silver respectively. The Warriors are now 4-1 in district play. Ruidoso faces New Mexico Miltary Institute, which defeated the locals earlier in the year, today at 3 p.m. at W.D. Horton Stadium.

Against Silver last Saturday, the Warriors got scoring from Piper Adamian with two goals, Danny Schrader, Matthew Enson and Leaf Anderson.

The Santa Teresa game saw goals from Beau Jarvis, Jimmy Stover, Matthew Enson, Piper Adamian (2) and Leaf Anderson.

"We were more rested and healthier than the first time we played (Santa Teresa)...We were ready to play ball and we played the best game we've ever played. We needed to though, because we played so poorly against them the first time," said Head Coach Dean Hood.

"We played pretty good against Silver, but not as well as against Santa Teresa. That's understandable; we had played the day before and then rode all the way to Silver City the next day," said Hood.

Final Braves games slated in Cloudcroft

The Ruidoso Middle School Braves will play their final games of the season this week as the B-team travels to Cloudcroft this afternoon for a 6 p.m. kickoff and the A-team entertains Artesia Saturday at 11 a.m.

The Braves battled Tularosa to a 0-0 tie there last week in a mistake-ridden effort. The Warriors fumbled away many chances and were generally out of synch.

"We just didn't play as well as we could have," said Braves Coach Borde Williams. "Any time we got the ball, we got a penalty or fumbled...It just wasn't a very good day for us."

Today's game against Cloudcroft will give some non-starters a chance to play some different positions.

Open Gym play schedule released

Musicians think hot and spicy

The Capitan Music Boosters are putting together a Mexican delight dinner at 5:30 p.m. Friday, Oct. 28 in the Capitan school gymnasium.

Tickets are $5 for adults and $3.50 for children 12 and under. The proceeds will go toward the music department's spring trip. Advance ticket are available from any Capitan music student.

FFA attends leadership meet

Eleven members of the Capitan Future Farmers of America (FFA) attended recent Chapter Officer Leadership Training sessions in Artesia. More than 300 members from chapters across the district represented their organizations.

Travis Crandall won the most valuable award for the vice president's office. Other attending from Capitan were Jill Lunsford as president, Stacy Erwin as vice president, Shelby Gowen, Julie Barham and Amanda Bird as representatives, Joe Burchett and Jason Gipson as treasurers, Casey Cunningham as secretary, and Terry Hill and Colinda Whipple as sentinels.

Congrats to Capitan FFA fair winners at Roswell

Titles translated to big bucks for some members as Capitan's FFA chapter as they sold their livestock at the Eastern New Mexico State Fair.

Colinda Whipple sold her grand champion dairy heifer for $3,250, with a $2,000 add on from the Museum of the Horse. Terry Hill also sold her first place mutton cross lamb for $19 a pound.

Others from the chapter were Julie Barham, whose Heavy Hampshire Swine won fifth place; Joe Burchett, whose Heavy York Swine placed fifth; Casey Cunningham and Amanda Bird, who showed lambs and Stacy Erwin, who showed swine.

Add a name to Eta chapter

Virginia Tingley, past president of the New Mexico Alpha Delta Kappa, a fraternal organization for teachers, recently transferred from Roswell to the Eta chapter in Capitan.

Mrs. Tingley also attended the Southwest Region Conference in Hawaii last June with other Eta members.

High dollar trips OK'd for students

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Exciting trips may wait down the road for cheerleaders and music students from Capitan schools.

The School Board last week approved allowing students in both activities to conduct functions and raise money for the excursions.

First to pitch their project were choir director Dolores Earwood, band director Louis Banister and Juanita Smith, band booster parent.

Learning how to set goals and to work toward them is the thrust of the project, they said.

"Every four years, the music department has a big trip to give every student a chance," Earwood said. "Each student must earn his of her own money to go to San Diego. Educational Travel Consultants out of North Carolina, which is handling the arrangements, is very reliable. I know people who have used it before."

At a cost of $350 per student, the trip would last five days and two nights for accommodations (two nights also will be spent on the bus traveling to and from the site).

"We presented several different options and this is the one they chose," Earwood said. "A one day cruise would have cost $104 more."

The trip chosen includes stops at Disneyland, Mexico and the beach, which the kids swapped for Old Town in San Diego.

"Would any of the money in the music fund go toward this?" board member Beverly Payne asked.

Smith said 12 fund raisers are planned to avoid touching already accumulated money. The cost for about 40 students and chaperones will be $16,000. One chaperone will go for every 15 students.

Contracts will be sent to each parent and once they have signed, they agree to take on the responsibility.

"We're asking permission that if we don't meet this goal, to be able to change to a less expensive trip," Earwood said. "We'll be performing at least once."

The trip will encompass spring break and two days of school in April, after March mid-terms and before finals.

"I think this is great," said board president Tom Trost. "Some of these kids have never been out of the area and think Albuquerque is in another world."

The high school cheerleaders, who had softened up the board by baking brownies and other treats, took their shot next.

Angie Hutchison asked for permission to use spring break for a Bahama cruise at a cost of $1,000 per student.

"We won't miss school and I think it would be great for Capitan to compete there," Hutchison said.

The girls have the option of presenting a cheerleading or dance routine at the 1995 Dance Festival at Sea.

"It's important to set goals, whether you're a cheerleader or football player or everyday kid," said Frances Traylor, cheerleader sponsor, along with Renee Cupit.

"I really feel if they want to work hard, they should be allowed to take this on."

The board approved both trips.

Freda McSwane then reported on proposed district goals, which are being reworked after the board received input from parents.

But McSwane said only 75 out of 550 of the surveys were returned.

She asked the board to approve the goals tentatively to allow them to be sent out to parents again. The board appointed committee then will meet to review the responses the first week in November.

"We want to make sure we have something the whole community feels comfortable with," she said.

Dianne Stallings/The Ruidoso News

Renee Smith briefs Capitan School Board members on a trip to Orlando, Fla., by members of the Future Homemakers of America (FHA) and adviser Jan la Rue. They competed in the parliamentary division of the national competition and each student came home with a silver medal, missing the gold by one-fourth of a point.

Tigers tear up Cloudcroft Bears, 10-0 win

The Capitan Tigers are headed to the playoffs with a 10-0 win over the Cloudcroft Bears.

The Tigers tore up the mountain Friday, where the temperature felt like frost, as both teams knew the loser would be left behind.

With what felt like two feet of water on the field, and rain, mist and hail hitting players and fans alike, the game was filled with turnovers and remained scoreless at the end of the third quarter.

The prospect of an overtime loomed as Cloudcroft went back to punt on their five yard line. The ball slipped through frozen fingers and dropped. When the player tried to run the ball, Josh Peralta hammered him to the ground in the endzone for a safety.

With little more than a minute left, quarterback Michael Fish switched to tailback. After a slow start, Fish executed a fast drive, scoring with 33 seconds left on the clock. The Tigers wrapped it up with the extra point for a final score of 10-0.

The Tigers next will meet Animas in a home game at 2 p.m. Saturday.

The Capitan Lady Tigers won in five games against the Dexter Demons at home Oct. 11, in the first match of the second round of district play.

After losing to Dexter in the first district game this year, the Tigers came out primed and fought to an early lead, only to see it snatched away by the Demons in a 14-16 loss.

The Tigers showed tough team spirit and came back to demolish the Demons, 16-11, but the thrust didn't last as Dexter roared back to win the third game, 14-16. That was the end of demon dominance, as the Tigers tore into their tormentors for an action packed fourth game 15-5 win and fifth game 15-8 victory after a series of exciting digs, blocks and kills by both teams.

Catherine Sidwell served 17 points, Elaine Pichiliani served 15, Shelby Gowen and Andra Fish each turned in 13 serves, and Jessica Cline posted eight.

Coach Pam Allen said she was pleased with the team's effort and execution at the service line.

During the same matchup, the junior varsity came out fighting, but a breakdown in communication and several failures at the service line took their toll. The Tigers fell behind for a first game loss of 5-9. The team pulled together for an exciting comeback, beating the Demons 15-11 in the second go-around.

Once the momentum turned, the Demons fell quickly to the Tigers in the third game, giving Capitan an easy 15-0 win.

"The girls showed great integrity by playing hard when they were down," he said. "The second team did an excellent job of serving the ball and executing the offense."

Joni Autrey served seven, Monica Johnson, six, and Mandi Aldaz, 3.

The JV play their last two games at home against Tularosa at 5:30 p.m. today and Cloudcroft at 4:30 p.m. Saturday. The varsity faces the same two teams in two remaining district games.

Capitan Junior High seventh grade Tigers scored 15-7 and 15-5 wins against Cloudcroft Oct. 11, while the eighth graders won two out of three with scores of 5-15, 0-15 and 5-15.

Capitan sports writers Andrew Longbotham, Joni Autrey, Codi Montes and Ashley Martin from the district gifted program contributed to this report.

Very 'Odd Couple' returns

By popular demand, Ruidoso Little Theater's 1990 production of "The Odd Couple" (female version) written by Neil Simon will return to the stage with most of the original cast in November.

Leon Eggleston directs the zany comedy that features the female version of Oscar and Felix as Olive Madison played by Sandy Knox and Florence Unger played by Sandy Fredrickson. Margaret Norbury and Steve Smith will assist with direction.

"The Odd Couple" (female version) opens at the theater (at 2961 Sudderth next door to the main post office) on Thursday, Nov. 3, hosted by Ruidoso Altrusa Club.

Their female "buddies" who gather weekly to play Trivial Pursuit are Sylvie, the cynic, played by Sally Sandora; the chain-smoking cop, Mickey, played by Betty Bennett; Renee, played by newcomer to the cast, Margaret Norbury. Lela Holcomb finishes the female cast playing Vera whom she says is "one half short of a combo plate."

Two other new cast members, Steve Norbury and Dee Molina, are cast as the two Spanish brothers who live in the same apartment building as Olive and Florence.

Continuing performances will be Nov. 4, 5, 10, 11, 12, 17, 18 and 19. Curtain time is 8 p.m. Adults tickets are $7. Seniors over 65 are $5 and students under 12 are $5.

Reservations must be made by calling the Ruidoso Chamber of Commerce at 257-7395 only.

This will be RLTA's final play production for 1994. The Betty Awards will be Dec. 10 at the same location at the same ticket prices.

Chili Cookoff winners named; Rotary scholarship fund benefits

Chili lovers gathered at the 13th Annual New Mexico State Open Chili Cookoff during the recent Aspenfest celebration.

The Chili Appreciation Society International-sanctioned event brought more people than ever before, according to event promoter Paul Crown. The Ruidoso Rotary Club's scholarship fund benefited.

Top three winners of the State Open Chili Cookoff were:

1. Sesario Ramos of Clovis, with "Road Kill."
2. Ray Ramey of Hobbs with "Loco Lobo."
3. Kim Bickley of Anthony with "Laid Back."

Winners of the State Show Team

category were:

1. "DJ's Darlin'" of Hobbs, Team Captain Bill Henderson.
2. "King James & the Misfits" of Boerne, Texas. Team Captain Jim Statecany.
3. "Mystery Chili" of Ruidoso. Team Captain Ron Ludwick.

Top ten winners of the Best Chili were:

1. Ruby Ross of Marble Falls, Texas with "Ruby Red."
2. Hut Brown of El Paso, Texas with "Bounty Hunter."
3. George Towers III of San Antonio, Texas with "Bud Man."
4. Bruce Jones of Canyon Lake, Texas. Chili unnamed.
5. Fas Paske of Kingsland, Texas with "Exceptional."

6. Janie Burrus of San Marcos, Texas with "Soothing Wind."
7. Larry Burrus of San Marcos, Texas with "Restless Wind."
8. Dywane Code of Breckenridge, Texas with "Bandit II."
9. Joe Canavan of Seattle, Wash. with "Never Sweet."
10. Jerry Thomas of Hobbs, with "Hot Rod Chili I."

Winners of the Team Showmanship Awards were:

1. "Grandmas Pride" of El Paso. Team Captain Jean Wallace.
2. "King James & The Misfits" of Boerne, Texas. Team Captain Jim Statecany.
3. "Bounty Hunter" of El Paso. Team Captain Hut Brown.

Accident in mid-town

Ruidoso emergency medical staff rolled Maria Rodriguez to an ambulance after the 1985 two-door Pontiac she was driving was struck in the rear as she waited to turn left from Sudderth Drive onto Willow Street at 4:55 p.m. Tuesday. Rodriguez, 47, was treated and released from the Lincoln County Medical Center. She was cited for having no vehicle insurance. A passenger, Leticia Rodriguez, 16, was unharmed, as was Melinda Headley, the driver of the 1987 Nissan that struck the Rodriguez car.

Rasak named area delegate

Gerald L. Rasak of Corona has been elected as a delegate to the 11th annual meeting of the American Angus Association, Nov. 13-15 in Louisville, Ky., reports Richard Spader, executive vice president of the American Angus Association.

Rasak, a member of the American Angus Association with headquarters in St. Joseph, Mo., is one of 288 Angus breeders who have been elected by fellow members of their state association to serve as a representative at the annual meeting.

Representing 47 states and Canada, the delegates will participate in the business meeting and elect a new president, vice president and five directors to the American Angus Association Board.

Story hour sign-ups accepted at library

Sign-ups for Preschool Story Hour at the Ruidoso Public Library are now going on for children three to five years old.

Classes for the story hour are scheduled for Wednesdays and Thursdays, Nov. 2 to Dec. 16.

Activities will be offered ranging from puppet shows and nursery rhymes to singing and dancing, storytelling and arts and crafts. Other aspects of the program include teaching young children to cooperate in a group situation, and exposure to a variety of learning experiences.

The library, 257-4335, has additional information.

Hunter safety certification set

Ruidoso Hunter Safety instructors have announced another hunter's safety certification class, which will be Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 29-30.

The class will be held from 9 a.m. until 6:30 p.m. both days, at the Ruidoso Police Department.

Topics covered will include survival, hunting tips, safe gun handling, among others. The class is required for anyone under the age of 18 wishing to go afield with a firearm, and can be informational for everyone in the family.

Further information is available from Det. Pete Esquibel at 257-7365.

In concert tonight

Judy Carmichael, "an exhilarating, positive pianist with a flawless technique," according to the New York Times, will provide an evening of stride, swing and boogie woogie piano in the first of the season's Ruidoso Community Concerts at 7:30 tonight at the First Christian Church on Hull Road. Three concerts are yet to come, the next on Jan. 16. Admission to all concerts is by advance-purchase membership; call 336-4015 for information.

Sidewalk project in historic Lincoln still elusive

Even with $50,000 from the state legislature and an agreement from the Lincoln County Commission, a sidewalk project in the historic settlement of Lincoln still may not turn a spade of dirt this year.

Commissioner L. Ray Nunley has pointed out that an archaeological survey must be conducted before any construction work can begin on the sidewalks in the community about 30 miles northeast of Ruidoso. By the time that's completed, not much money will be left over for the sidewalks, he said, so the county should ask the legislature for more money.

The state wanted the county to be responsible for any overruns in the project. But on a motion by Commissioner Wilton Howell, the board accepted the $50,000, but specified that the cost must be capped at $50,000.

Road Manager Bill Cupit said the state highway department may already have an archaeological study, because they have worked on the main road through the settlement and are bound by the same rules. An environmental impact study also will be required, he said.

"We've regulated this project to death," Chairman Monroy Montes concluded. "We probably won't turn dirt on it with this money."

'Golf Scramble' winners named

Two four-person teams tied for first place, both scoring 68, at the 4th annual People Care Benefit Golf Scramble, held recently at inn of the Mountain Gods.

After a match-card playoff, the team of Bob Dunn, Jeanne Laceywell, Windsor Laceywell and Link Laceywell were declared winners. Second place was won by Winston Presnell, Curtis Priddy, and Ron and Ryan Rogers, all of Roswell.

Twelve teams participated in the event, enjoying perfect weather at the inn's golf course. Golfers shared 50 prizes donated by firms from Ruidoso, Alto and Roswell, as well as prizes furnished by Southwest Airlines, Picacho Plaza Hotel, Santa Fe, and Inn of the Mountain Gods. Golfers were unable to win the Hole-in-One Prize, a Ford Ranger pick-up truck, but James Paxton came closest to the pin to win a bicycle donated by Western Auto of Ruidoso.

Grand prize, a framed lithograph donated by Barbara Diehl Westbrook of California Colors Gallery of Ruidoso, was won by Bill Pops of Roswell.

The benefit for People Care is held each year in Ruidoso to generate funds for safe, supervised housing and care for people who suffer from mental illness. Two group homes are operating in Roswell at the present time, with plans for a third home, called "Carriage House" to open soon. For information about the homes, you may contact Frances or Bill Jones in Ruidoso at 257-7601.

Will Ruidoso voters go for a balancing act?

Gary Johnson, the Republican gubernatorial candidate who likes to ride bicycles and win iron-man races, added to his athletic image with a balancing act Monday in Ruidoso.

Pressed to take a stand on whether, if elected, he would oppose the Mescalero Apache tribe's efforts to establish a storage facility for spent fuel rods from commercial nuclear power plants, Johnson put on a fascinating performance.

He balanced firmly on the fence while votes were offered in exchange for a "no," said he didn't know enough about the issue to make an informed choice, challenged the anti-storage faction to categorically prove the danger of the process...and said he "hoped" to be able to issue a definitive statement on the issue before the Nov. 8 election.

He also said his prior talk with Mescalero President Wendell Chino had concerned reservation gambling (he favors a state lottery, opposes video gambling), not things radioactive.

If his intent was to reinforce support from local Republicans at a "friendly" fund-raising event here, he exhibited amazing naiveté. Johnson's Ruidoso performance clearly was not that of a typical vote-grubbing politician (he says he isn't one), so we can but assume he is, as he says, ignorant of the subject-matter, or unwilling to offend tribal supporters, or determined to ride uncommitted into the governor's mansion as a latter-day "know-nothing" citizen.

And that's too bad. On other issues, Johnson has some good common-sense proposals that should be considered. Unfortunately he seems not to have learned something successful candidates never forget: All politics is local, and you've got to address the local issues firmly...before the election.

Letters to the Editor

It's critical to respond to 911 calls

TO THE EDITOR:

Recently, my children and myself, while visiting my parents in Alto, were in need of the 911 service. I was very disturbed with the response that was given our call.

In brief, at two o'clock in the morning one Sunday morning it appeared that a stranger was outside of my parents house, in my automobile honking the horn. No one could be seen from the doors or windows of the house, but of course it was pitch dark outside. Not wanting to take any chances that the stranger may have been armed and dangerous, none of us went outside. Rather, we dialed 911 in order to get professional assistance.

Upon reaching the operator and explaining the situation he remarked that it was a personal problem and that it was just a car alarm going off (neither my vehicle, nor my parent's have car alarms installed). But at the urging of my mother, the operator said he would dispatch someone to our location.

Well, my family and I waited near an hour before deciding that no one was going to show up, and so my father and I went outside. We were relieved to find that no one was there. However, what if the ending would have been tragic? The 911 operator never dispatched anyone to our house. The next week, after much inquiry, my parents found out the call wasn't even recorded.

This must not be ignored. The people of the Ruidoso community are paying for this 911 service and deserve for it to work. Another suggestion is for the rules governing the 911 service and its operators to be made public (by giving and explanation along with the phone bill, or by space in The Ruidoso News). I for one always thought every single call, no matter what, was supposed to be responded to. Am I right? Questions such as this need answers.

I would really hate to see someone in a dire emergency rely on the 911 service and be let down like I was. Other endings may not be as happy as mine.

Do we need an opinion poll on mid-town mess?

TO THE EDITOR:

As a new face in our small mountain community, perhaps you bring a new perspective. Take a drive through Mid-town — look at the destruction, desolation, and devastation. From November of 1993 until July 3, 1994 it looked like this — reminiscent of a SCUD missile attack. If affected the Mid-town merchants through Thanksgiving, Christmas, Easter, Spring Break and Memorial Day. With the removal of parking places from the area, it continues, certainly having a tremendous bearing on our business. Ask anyone!

The day after Labor Day, the orange barrels reappeared, with a new crew even more slow-footed.

then the previous mad men of MainStreet. They bull-dozed the sidewalks! It has now been six (6) weeks and not one sidewalk has been poured or replaced in the 2500 block of Sudderth.

We had the Motorcycle Rally and Aspentest with this mayhem — needless and willful damage.

The custom-made gutter was torn from my building, the apartment above my store cannot be accessed because of the mud and clay and water, the sewer pipe of the adjoining store was broken by the crews and left open sewage on the ground for days.

The merchants in this 2500 block of Sudderth need RELIEF! No one assumes responsibility — the buck continues to pass — we are always told to contact "someone else."

As for the completed side of Mid-town, the sidewalks are of many varying widths, the new street lights are a very bad joke (compatible with nothing) the benches remind one of Disneyland, and there is virtually one-half as much parking, even though there was insufficient parking before MainStreet corrupted our village.

Would you consider taking a poll? Would you like to know how people really feel about this Mid-town mess? I invited the former editor to take such a poll, but she would not respond. No guts!

GATT's good for farmers everywhere

by JOAN WALDOCH
Farm Bureau Federation

The GATT world trade agreement is a good deal for agriculture and the nation as a whole. Most members of Congress know that, despite the stall tactics employed by leaders of both parties in the weeks before adjournment.

If lawmakers had based their actions on what is good for the country, rather than on pre-election politics, the legislation would very likely be enacted by now. Instead, final action on the agreement must wait for a lame-duck session.

The maneuvering on this issue was hardly an exercise in leadership or statesmanship. The Senate was unable to quell the objections of GATT opponent Sen. Ernest Hollings, D-S.C., and earlier agreed to delay its vote until after Thanksgiving. The House followed suit—in large part because of Republicans, led by Minority Whip Newt Gingrich of Georgia—who generally favor trade agreements, including this one. They simply did not want to take any action that could be perceived as a pre-election victory for President Clinton.

The delay is a victory for many of the same anti-trade agreement forces that opposed NAFTA including Ross Perot, Pat Buchanan, Ralph Nader and others who already have chimed in with their "bogus" arguments. This gives them more time to generate opposition based largely on emotion, not facts. Their target includes the agreement's new World Trade Organization and unfounded claims that it will threaten U.S. Sovereignty. The fact is, WTO will make it easier for the United States to challenge unfair trade barriers.

The eight-year process surrounding the World Trade Accord has been anything but smooth. This latest delay adds a new wrinkle and puts the trade agreement's survival in jeopardy. If the elections bring major changes in either house, good case could be made against holding a lame-duck session to vote on GATT. That could mean starting over next year with a new bill, one that would be open to amendments.

The new world trade agreement will boost U.S. exports and give farmers and ranchers a better shot at competing in the world marketplace.

Let the feds handle those cattle mutilations

by TOM DAY
Sunmount Syndicate

Let's turn for a moment from the question that's on every voter's mind—Who's going to be our state auditor?—and consider the equally difficult political question of cattle mutilations.

Cattle mutilation have gotten a bad name in some quarters. One recent story in a northern New Mexico newspaper edition went so far as to call them "so-called mutilations."

It's no wonder, really. Some of the accounts of the so-called mutilations are clearly zany. (If aliens from another galaxy have visited us, as some people want us to believe, they surely are nutritionally advanced enough to be checking out chicken or fish as well as beef.)

But other accounts, from ranchers for example, can't be dismissed out of hand. If mutilations exist—and if they do exist what causes them—are questions on the minds of plenty of people who don't believe in flying saucers.

Cattle mutilations have been in the political arena for years. Some 15 years ago, it was the district attorney for the counties of Santa Fe, Rio Arriba and Los Alamos who commissioned an investigation of mutilations.

Today, it is Sen. Pete Domenici, R-NM, who has asked the New Mexico Livestock Board for a report on the progress of its investigation into mutilations.

"I asked them to indicate to us in this report if they need any outside resources," Domenici said. "I am prepared to ask the federal government to make available whatever resources are necessary."

The director of the state Livestock Board, John Wortman, has tried to distance himself from the more far-out discussions of mutilations, saying that "A couple of people have made a big deal about it being a cult or a UFO. But we have no evidence that it's anything like that."

Wortman said inspections have shown that sex and other organs have been removed "cleanly and precisely, with very little blood" and that there are "no signs in the area of the carcass, no tracks of any kind."

A list of possible explanations given over the years was reported on the front page of one newspaper, including the following: Alien beings from outer space; chemical-biological warfare experiments conducted by the Soviet Union (if this is true, we need to revise our belief in the end of the cold war); disease; environmentalists who want to reduce ranching on public lands; foreign students attending American university; lightning; oil companies; secret government or military experiments.

When the mutilations, or so-called mutilations, were investigated years ago, the man doing the investigating was a former FBI agent, Ken Rummel. He concluded that the vast majority of mutilations are caused by predators and scavengers.

Rummel is a man who is confident about the conclusions he reaches. Asked recently about a report that some state livestock inspectors don't believe mutilations are the work of predators, the former G-man replied, "I think they're crazy. I don't think they know what they are talking about."

But now that the mutilation issue has arisen again, if the livestock board or some other reputable organization needs federal help for an investigation, maybe Domenici could get it.

Such an investigation could forget the alien-beings theories. If beings from other worlds want to get in touch with us, let them do so in a proper manner.

Medical Center open, with limits

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Patients who are unable to pay will not be turned away from an office associated with the Lincoln County Medical Center, hospital administrator Valerie Miller says.

However, local physicians are overloaded and even long-time patients have to wait weeks for non-emergency care, she told county commissioners earlier this month.

Miller was responding to a letter from Commissioner Wilton Howell concerning two incidents. As Howell related them, the first involved a woman who said she is indigent and was turned away from two local doctor's offices, including one associated with the hospital.

The second incident involved a woman at the same hospital-associated office. This woman said she had insurance, but was refused service and was told the practice is closed to new patients until the first of the year.

Howell said both women did not want their names used.

"I am deeply concerned, because it is my understanding that (the two doctors who share an office) either already are being paid by the hospital or will be paid by the hospital pursuant to some form of contract in the near future," Howell wrote. "Under those circumstances, it appears to me that the mill levy that is being collected from the citizens of Lincoln County is being used, at least in part, to fund the contract for this medical practice..."

In her response, presented at the commission meeting, Miller wrote that without specifics, it is difficult to investigate.

She said it has been verified that no patient is turned away for inability to pay at the doctors' office mentioned. She cannot comment on doctors who operate independently of the hospital, Miller said.

"The status of all primary care providers in Ruidoso is that they are overloaded," she said. One of the doctors at the office mentioned has a two to three week waiting period for non-emergency situations, and the other has stopped taking new patients until after the first of the year.

"It is important to understand that there are safe levels, in terms of numbers, for a physician to support and (the doctor) has been very busy since (opening)," she said.

That's the reason the hospital is aggressively trying to recruit new primary care physicians, to replace those who have left and to add new doctors to keep pace with growth, Miller said. But the competition is heavy for that type of practice.

"I am, however, pleased to report that we have one physician committed to coming to the area at the end of the year, pending obtaining his license, and another family physician has expressed serious interest," she said. "In addition, we have three general internists who also are interested in filling the slot vacated a year ago."

Miller said Dr. Barry Cromer, an orthopedist, opened his office last week in Ruidoso. Dr. J. Martinez, a gastroenterologist, will begin clinics in Ruidoso Oct. 28. Dr. Doug Brown, a neurologist, is conducting

If it's raining here, there's snow up there

On the morning of the fourteenth the weather changed from blue sky and sunshine to cloudy, misty light rain.

It rained all day very slowly and then gathered itself together and poured down for about an hour after midnight.

On the fifteenth it was a day mostly of low-hanging clouds and very light mist keeping the mountain half hidden from sight.

Then on the sixteenth the clouds began lifting like a curtain on a stage, revealing a mountain world shining forth decorated with autumn colors, brilliant and cheerful in the clear rain-washed air.

There is a special spot just as you drive out of what the "Old Timers" called "The Narrows," where the autumn colors are especially colorful.

Here just to the south of the highway the steep mountainside ends at the riverside.

From top to bottom of this vast slope mother nature has placed trees and bushes especially adapted to the paintings of Jack Frost.

There are several kinds of brush including small, medium and large Oak Brush; also Woodbine and Wild Grapevines.

All these present an autumn mountainside tapestry of pumpkin yellow, bright orange, crimson, purple, pink and sunlight gold — all blending one into another, in color harmony.

All along the base of this leaf-colored hillside stretches a border, a fringe of river trees also out in fall colors — Box Elder, Giant Willow Oak and Walnut, presenting colors of amber, sunlight yellow, bronze and lemon yellow.

On up the way the patterns of orange Oak Brush on the hillside take you up to the golden Aspens, and the mountain with its cap of snow, a shining crown of glory.

A Cowboy Poet Visits the Vale

L. P. Bloodworth Jr., son of the man who established The Ruidoso News, and his wife, Nancy came up from their ranch home near Sonora, Texas for their annual pilgrimage to the Cowboy Symposium, and to visit Bob and Betty Lambert at the Canyon Trading Post.

While visiting there he recited one of his poems, a tribute-eulogy to his friend Frank Fish.

"When Frank Fish's name was called to enter the pearly gates all the cowboys on the inside looked around to check up on his faith. He moved to meet them proud and straight and looked them in the eye. It was very strange to them to see a cowboy who could fly."

"To ride a horse had been his style. No pick-up cowboy was he. 'Saddle up, get out among 'em boys!'"

"Was the way he liked to be. His heart was bigger than himself and seldom will you find a cowboy that was hard as nails, but mostly very kind."

"Well, so long Frank... maybe we will meet again somewhere on a far distant trail a-lookin' after cattle and some calves that might be frail."

Strong Ties to Ruidoso

L.P. Jr. has a fond spot in his heart for Ruidoso, and many fond memories of the years his father Lloyd Sr. and his mother, Ida, spent establishing The Ruidoso News.

One of the many good features of the Cowboy Symposium is that it is a homecoming and reunion with friends of folks like Lloyd Jr. and Nancy Bloodworth.

We wish them all good fortune and God's blessings.

Howell told Miller, "I assure you, I don't think you are anything less than honest. We just have a difference of opinion."

Rufina Laws of the Mescalero Apache reservation, left, lights her candle from the flame of Del Rae Baird of Ruidoso while Barbara Martinez and Myles Herrera protect their candles from the wind during a evening vigil in opposition to the proposed storage of spent nuclear fuel rods on Mescalero land near Three Rivers in neighboring Otero County. Fifty persons joined the ceremony.

Candles glow to oppose MRS plan

As dusk settled on Ruidoso, candles glowed at a vigil to show opposition to the proposed storage of spent nuclear fuel rods on the neighboring Mescalero Apache Reservation.

About 50 persons participated in the event Oct. 12, at the headquarters of Sacramento, an environmental center on Sudderth Drive, often used as a staging point.

Organizer Dave Dale said 35 people held candles, sang and prayed as darkness crept into town. The vigil was tied to a similar event at Prairie Island, Minn., the site of two nuclear power reactors.

Miller Hudson, consultant to the Mescalero Tribe on a private agreement being worked out with 33 nuclear utilities to bring waste to the reservation near Three Rivers, also showed up.

"He came at our invitation," Dale said. "He stayed nearly all night and there were some lively debates, but I don't think either side was persuaded."

Effort attacks radon at home

In observance of Radon Action Week (Oct. 18-22), the New Mexico Environment Department has announced the formation of the New Mexico Radon project, a partnership of several community organizations whose goal is to help individuals cost-effectively test for and reduce radon levels in their homes.

The project's primary effort is a series of community workshops.

The first workshop will be held in Albuquerque with other meetings, including one in Ruidoso, to be announced.

Schwan's products recall announced

Several cases of gastrointestinal illness and salmonella which may be associated with Schwan's Ice Cream have been reported to the State Division of Epidemiology.

Schwan's Company is doing a voluntary national recall of implicated ice cream products. Persons who have bought Schwan's ice cream products who wish to receive a refund or credit for future purchases should contact their local Schwan's route representative for that refund or credit.

Hantavirus campaign starts

The New Mexico Department of Health has initiated a campaign to inform the public on how to protect themselves and the families from hantavirus. The Department urges all New Mexicans to Seal Up, Trap Up and Clean Up during the month of October.

Seal Up your home so mice don't get in. Trap Up mice until they are all gone. Clean Up nests and droppings using disinfectant. But most importantly, before you begin get the Department's new brochure on how to seal up, trap up and clean up safely.

The campaign is the product of a hantavirus education committee that has been working together to educate the public since the outbreak of the disease in spring, 1993. In addition to Department of Health personnel, the committee is represented by the Indian Health Service, the Navajo Nation Division of Health, the State Department of Education and the Environment Department.

Hantavirus Pulmonary Syndrome (HPS) is caused by hantavirus found in the urine, saliva and droppings of deer mice. Fall is the time when the mice enter homes for food and warmth. They can enter through a hole as small as a dime, so it's important to get rid of any potential sources of food, water and shelter. The deer mouse is very adaptable and will take advantage of almost any man-made object for shelter. Make sure that old cars, wood piles, trash cans and similar items are at least 100 feet from the house. Store dry food in containers with lids.

As of Sept. 30, there were 88 confirmed cases of HPS in 20 states. Of those 88 cases, 48 or 54.5 percent died.

In New Mexico there have been 23 cases and 12 deaths. Four of the cases and two of the deaths are from 1994. The last confirmed New Mexico case was a 27-year-old woman from Taos County who became ill on Sept. 2. The woman has recovered.

Radio and television public service announcements have been distributed statewide. A new brochure illustrates simple step-by-step procedures for cleaning up and mouse-proofing homes. Brochures already have been sent to most of the homes in the northwestern New Mexico area through utility bills, and will be sent to 80,000 more homes in southern New Mexico by the same method. The Department has trained personnel available to make presentations to schools and at-risk industry groups.

The earliest confirmed case of HPS was recently found in Utah and dates back to 1959. "But hantavirus has probably been around for hundreds of years or longer," said State Epidemiologist Dr. C. Mack Sewell. "And it's going to continue to be a health problem."

Sculptor Luis Jimenez plans 'el dia de los muertos' lecture

Nationally acclaimed sculptor Luis Jimenez, of Hondo, will present a lecture on his work and its affinity to El Dia de los Muertos (The Day of the Dead), at the Roswell Museum and Art Center Thursday, Nov. 3, at 7:30 p.m.

The talk is part of the museum's Informed Vision Lecture Series and will be preceded by a 5:30 p.m. Tardeada. For ticket information, contact the museum's business office at 624-6744. Seating is limited.

Luis Jimenez is known for his large fiberglass sculptures that can be seen in public spaces throughout American. Currently, his mid-career retrospective, Man on Fire

El Hombre En Llamas, mounted by The Albuquerque Museum, is on view at the National Museum of American Art, Washington, DC.

Jimenez's monumental sculptures and his works on paper have an explosive presence that fuses the aesthetics of urban pop Hispanic, Texas honky tonk, and Mexican-American folk tradition.

A Day of the Dead exhibition featuring Jimenez's lithographs is now on view at the museum and will serve as the basis for the artist's talk. Preceding the lecture, Luis Jimenez will be available to autograph copies of the Man on Fire Exhibition catalog.

In the Service

Marine Lance Cpl. Zacariah S. Diaz, son of Bobby A. and Alice M. Diaz of Mescalero, recently completed a six-month deployment to the Western Pacific and Indian Oceans with 2nd Battalion, 5th Marines.

Diaz was one of 2,200 Marines and 2,000 sailors in the four-ship USS Peleliu Amphibious Ready Group. During the deployment, Diaz served three months off the coast of Somalia and helped in the evacuation of U.S. citizens from Rwanda and Burundi.

The Marines and sailors provided assistance to on-scene embassy personnel, offering medical help and command and control support. The American citizens and other foreign nationals were evacuated to Nairobi, Kenya.

Diaz joined the Marine Corps in August, 1992.
