On the side

State engineer rep to be in Ruidoso

Craig Hipple of the State Engineer Office will be available to assist water right owners and interested parties on the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month. Mr. Hipple will be available between 9 a.m. and noon at the Ruidoso Civic Events Center, 111 Sierra Blanca Drive.

Post office observes holiday January 17

The Ruidoso Post Office will be closed Monday, January 17, to observe Martin Luther King Jr. Day. However, Express Mail will be delivered and incoming mail will be placed into post office boxes. The holiday collection schedule will be used to collect and process outgoing mail.

Register Saturday for ENMU classes

The ENMU-Ruidoso college office will be open to assist in class registration from 8:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday, January 15. Individuals interested in registering for college credit or community education classes may do so at that time. Classes begin on Monday, January 17. It is not too late to register for the class of your choice. For more information call 257-2120.

Tourism task force will meet on Friday

The Lincoln County Rural Economic Development Through Tourism Task Force will meet at 2 p.m. Friday, January 14, at the Ruidoso Convention and Civic Events Center. This project is a three-year commitment, now in year two, that deals with southeastern New Mexico's economic needs through tourism development. The workshop is open to the public and the tourism task force invites everyone to join with them in an opportunity to "catch our enchanted spirit."

The group was notified Wednesday that the scheduled speaker, Congressman Joe Skeen, will be unable to attend. For further information contact Kathleen Michelena at the center at 258-5445.

Village modifies MainStreet project designs

by CHARLES STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Village officials called for a halt to "over-kill" on MainStreet designer Bohannan-Huston's construction specifications on an already costly project.

Deputy manager Alan Briley told the council Tuesday that the contractor said specifications by Bohannan-Huston could lead to a projected $150,000 cost overrun on the $950,000 downtown reconstruction.

The change of direction will not stop work or the design appearance of the project, Briley said. Village officials were concerned that the project was vastly overbuilt.

"What we have out there is two feet of base course, four inches of cement treated base, another four inches of base course with a dry pad that has No. 4 rebar in it. I think we have pretty good strength in the driveways if a Boeing 727 lands on it," Briley said.

He said one solution to avoid possible claims by the contractor would be to eliminate all cement treated base and the base course under the sidewalks and driveways, contingent on state and federal highway approval.

"We're still going to have plenty of cross section that will hold up for truck traffic, even 18 wheelers parking at the curbs," Briley, an engineer, said.

Briley said that he is waiting for lab reports that will give him an "R" factor needed to determine the amount of base course used.

He said to date, they have 530 cubic yards of over-excavation.

Village manager Gary Jackson noted that the $150,000 claim had not been filed, but was rather an anticipated claim.

Briley said the project also would move a lot faster with the modification, already two weeks behind schedule. Bohannan-Huston representatives would walk the village through any changes. He said that the engineering firm suggested dropping some of the base course.

Councilor Frank Potter asked why the Bohannan-Huston design called for so much material initially if it wasn't needed. Potter said, evidently the more materials used, the more money the design firm could charge.

"The more the contract, the more money they got," he said.

The council agreed to Briley's request to decrease the cross section.

A change order request for D&S Construction to extend the MainStreet contract by 14 days was approved by the council.

An angry Councilor J. D. James asked Briley if Bohannan-Huston's plans accounted for 11 days of the 14 days in delay. Briley said, yes.

James said that he was keeping tabs because of a previous overbudget request, nearly twice the amount of the contract, by that firm.

During a council break, James, who is not running for a council seat this year, discussed candidate forums with councilors in the village hall kitchen.

He said that in the past, not all candidates were invited to some of candidate forums organized by groups and he thought this was a disservice to voters.

Councilors Bill Karn and Frank Cummins agreed with James that all candidates should be invited to all candidate forums.

The Ruidoso News is sponsoring a forum for all Ruidoso candidates on Thursday, February 17.

The municipal election with 18 candidates running for various positions such as mayor, councilor or municipal judge is set for Tuesday, March 1.

The village's number one problem for the past three years, wastewater treatment, entered into discussion through a public hearing of Ordinance 94-2.

McMillan aims for U.S. Senate

by FRANKIE JARRELL
The Ruidoso News Editor

New Mexico business leader and rancher Colin McMillan believes he can provide the strong, conservative leadership his state needs in the U.S. Senate.

McMillan, chairman of the board of First Federal Savings and Loan and chairman and CEO of Permian Exploration Corporation, spent a couple of years in Washington D.C. when he was appointed assistant secretary of defense by former President George Bush. He's proud of some of the cost-cutting measures he put into effect at the Pentagon while in D.C., and he believes he can continue that service to the nation as a member of the Senate.

"I'm concerned about where Bill Clinton is taking America, and I think (Senator) Jeff Bingaman is lock step with the president in his social programs," said McMillan during an interview Monday.

McMillan said he thinks the President's healthcare plan will bankrupt America. Asked for an alternative plan, McMillan indicated he doesn't believe the nation is suffering from a healthcare crisis.

McMillan said 84 percent of the people in the U.S. already have healthcare, and many of those who aren't covered by insurance (such as private, military or retiree programs) don't really want coverage.

He said some of the "uncovered" are uncovered.

"That's the part we can make better," he said. "If you think healthcare is expensive now, wait until it's free."

McMillan believes people who change jobs should be able to keep their coverage at approximately the same premium, but stressed his disagreement with the Clinton approach.

"There's a better way to do it," McMillan, who is a partner in the Three Rivers Ranch, says he brings a different approach to the Senate, citing his cost savings at the Pentagon that will save $46 billion over the next seven years.

Changes he instituted there included inventory control, warehouse consolidation and cross-checks from one service to another.

"That was revolutionary," noted McMillan, adding that when the Democrats took over in the Pentagon they kept his changes and even admitted their effectiveness.

He said if the Administration and Congress have the courage, they can govern better and spend less money.

Asked why the Congress continues to overspend and block cost savings, McMillan answered, "To perpetuate themselves."

McMillan is expecting a tough fight on his way to the U.S. Senate, saying he's up against millions of out-of-state campaign contributions. He said incumbent senators, like Bingaman, get 75 percent of their campaign money from political action committees.

McMillan claims that Bingaman spent about $3 million the last time he ran.

"The only way that we're ever going to get this financing and political campaigning under control is to have term limits," said McMillan. While there are lots of opportunities for good people in government, "it's a terribly corrupting influence."

McMillan, whose ranch is near one of the sites being considered to store high-level nuclear waste, supports WIPP, and wants to see that facility put into operation.

As far as the MRS being studied by the Mescaleros, he opposes licensing any new nuclear facilities in New Mexico until WIPP is open.

"We need to have our neighbors do their part," he said. "We should not store nuclear waste at the head of a stream," he added.

McMillan also opposes any plan to increase grazing fees, saying Bingaman voted to triple those charges.

"We're going to run off the small family rancher," he said. McMillan said he raises cows at Three Rivers

Schools ban hats at all school functions

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

At the urging of principals and teachers, the Ruidoso School Board voted Tuesday to go for broke on its policy against hats and caps at school functions and in school buildings.

Superintendent Mike Gladden agreed to hire extra personnel for games, as well as use Ruidoso police officers to enforce the policy that prohibits the caps and hats and any gang related clothing.

That applies to all persons attending the functions, including parents and visitors from other school districts.

Coaches and administrators from those districts will be alerted ahead of time (at least seven days) about the policy.

Board member Susan Luttermann said she expects to see a strong effort to make the policy work, to be consistent and not slack up.

"You've got to be strong," she told Ruidoso High School principal Don Weems, assistant principal Danny Flores and other district officials.

"I agree. If I'm going to support this, it's got to be enforced," said board President Ron Hemphill.

Gladden initially suggested applying the policy only to Ruidoso district students. Even with that approach, he warned that 100 percent compliance may not be impossible.

"We strive for 100 percent compliance on all board policies, but that's not likely to happen," Gladden said. "We are requiring a high standard from our students."

"We need to set the standard. This is an area of huge concern to many districts. Some will admit they already have lost the battle."

"The administration feels it is imperative this policy be enforced for students attending the Ruidoso School District."

"The reason (the recommendation is for Ruidoso students only) is that we cannot truly control for visiting school students and fans until their behavior becomes noteworthy and they must be removed from the gym, so the focus must be on our students."

Gladden said Ruidoso Police Chief Richard Swenor assured him he could schedule uniform officers at the games. Signs would be posted at entrances asking participants to follow the standards and remove their hats and caps, drink and eat food only in designated areas and observe the smoke free and drug-free campus.

Friendly signs welcoming visitors also would designate the student section and the areas for visitors and home fans to sit.

An announcement also would be made over the loud speaker asking people to cooperate by removing their hats and caps.

Gladden initially contended that all the district could do with visiting teams and fans would be to notify them of the policy, designate where they are to sit and if problems arise, ask for the cooperation of that school's administration for future contests.

"This would apply to our student at out of town functions also?" board member Jim Varnadore asked.

"Right," Gladden said. "They can't wear hats at out of town games either."

"Can we refuse admittance (to someone who doesn't comply)?" Hemphill asked.

"We can't deny admittance unless it's one of our students," Gladden said. "All we can do is make an announcement at the beginning to remove hats and that it is a smoke free campus. We believe we can get cooperation of a high percentage. We realize we can't go through the stands and hassle adults. However, we hope our students see the need to cooperate."

But Luttermann, Middle School Principal Paula Papponi, Weems and several parents/employees asked for more.

"This should be for the adults as well," Luttermann said. "Just tell them it's for our kids, no hats at all."

"As someone who has worked the gates for four years, I say either do it or don't do it," said Sue Randle who works at the high school and has children in the system.

"If you're worried about hostility, think about our students who have to remove their hats and then enter next to another who doesn't have to remove his hat," said Sue Randle.

Students will just stick the hats in their pockets and walk around the corner out of the gate attendant's sight to put it back on.

"It would be so much easier dealing with implementing it to require all to remove their hats or not."

Her husband, Mike Randle, who also mans the gates, said that at recent high school games he saw 75 to 100 students and adults wearing hats.

"If you require them to remove them, you need somewhere to put the hats and a way to identify who owns them," he said. "If they keep them with them, they'll put them on as soon as they're out of sight. It will be a cat and mouse game."

Mrs. Randle interjected, "They have to learn that they can't come through the door with a hat. Leave them at home or in the car."

Paul Wirth, director of support services, said some people may think school officials are alarmist.

"But the gangs are out there. The policy last year was difficult, but it has helped keep gangs out," he said. "It's hard to say you can't wear a hat in the day, but an hour later you can show up at a game with a cap. It's important for our kiddos that there's consistency for a reason."

"Whether it's hats, having coke in the gymnasium or a smoking policy, we need to set standards."

Initially, flyers can be handled out as functions informing fans and visitors about the rules, he noted, in addition to calling other school districts.

"I feel if this is what we want to do, we have the control," Lutterman said. "This is our gym and we should have control of anyone who walks in. If we give advance notice, I think the other districts should help with enforcement of their kids."

Parent Beth Sayner said at the last game she attended, no one announced the rules and people were in the gym with food. Caps "were everywhere" and people were smoking outside even though it is a smoke free campus.

"It's important to educate the community, to have signs and security," Papponi said. "Everybody agrees it's not going to be easy, but we have a good policy and it needs to be enforced consistently with everybody. We need to ask ourselves if we don't, where will we be in two, three, five years from now."

Weems said two adults were assigned to the game Saturday specifically to watch for food and drinks and it seemed to work.

"The janitors said there seemed to be less trash in the gym."

He urged full enforcement of the no cap/hat rule.

"It's hard for even the best kids when they see exceptions," Weems said. "We need to make sure it's fair and across the board."

"I'm saying that no one or everyone wear hats. We can call other districts ahead of time to be prepared for this."

"Can we enforce this," board member James Paxton asked.

"That's still a question, how," Weems said. "I agree that a person at the gate should not enforce. We need someone with authority so when they say 'leave the hat in the car,' a person will turn around and do it."

"It has to be don't bring it inside the gym," Mrs. Randle emphasized again. "Leave it at home or in the car. It will be hard the first few times and some may leave, but they want to see the games. They'll be back."

"We have to get it through to the adults that this is for the safety of the children," Lutterman said. "I can't accept this policy unless it is for everyone, all students."

"We need some sort of mechanism for enforcement," Paxton said. "We can start to phase it in by announcing it one week and enforcing it the next. It can't be a wishy washy policy. Do we have the right to do that?"

"I'm not real comfortable with that," Gladden said. "We have three options: all or nothing, our students only or no administrative procedure. We can try what the board thinks it can support and back off if we are not able."

"I don't think that's important what the board can support," Paxton said. "It has to be what the administration can enforce. Do you think it would be wrong with just our kids?"

"I think we'd have problems with that," Weems responded.

"What makes you think you can enforce that if you can't the smoking the policy?" Frank Sayner asked.

Randle said the district "needs bodies for enforcement, to stand outside. Don't pass it if you can't enforce it. People will try to challenge it."

"Why can't we enforce it?" his wife asked. "If it means we hire two police officers to cite people, why are we intimidated? We live by rules."

Gladden asked Weems what he would do to prepare to enforce the policy.

"If we have a security officer to do it, because a number of parents will need encouragement. The officer will have to be alert full-time and not watching the game, be visible and enforce the rules, so others can see and the point will be made that (violations) will not be tolerated. If they remember it was enforced this year, next year, they'll know the same expectations are in place," Weems said. "I think the administration can work with students."

After receiving an estimate from administrators that between 10 to 20 percent of hats are gang related, Hemphill asked, "Are we willing to put up with the hassle and aggravation and negative feelings when we try to enforce this?"

He noted that the current policy prohibits gang related clothing and isn't really directed at cowboy hats.

Coaches pass out Warrior hats at ball games, one woman noted.

Sandy Gladden, director of Region IX Cooperative Education, said gang-related clothing changes from place to place, from month to month.

Whatever level of compliance obtained is better than not taking a stand, Papponi said.

"We have speed limits that not everyone follows, but there's a consequence if they don't, the same as the DWI (driving while intoxicated) law," she said. "We have higher expectations and at least, we're taking a stand and trying to do something."

Gladden then recommended the board vote its support for the administration to go for across the board enforcement.

Varnadore proposed a motion to support a trial of the "no hat" policy, but Paxton said it shouldn't be an experiment and Papponi emphasized that the policy also covers gang-related jackets and other apparel.

Randle said the process will be evolutionary as the type of gang clothing changes.

Wirth said people need to realize that small towns are not immune to big town problems.

"For those who wear cowboy hats, it has nothing to do with you and a violation of your individual rights," he said. "It's for the safety of students."

"To do this will take the cooperation of everyone," Gladden said. "I know it's difficult for parents and the community to understand what we are dealing with, but I feel if we don't take a stand now, we'll lose the battle."

Caren Brimer and Dub Williams announced to Lincoln County Republicans

Monday that they'll run for the New Mexico Legislature.

Two Republicans run for legislature

Colin McMillan, candidate for the U.S. Senate, faced an overflow crowd at the First Monday Republican meeting Monday at the Carriazo Lodge.

Two Republicans, Dub Williams and Caren Brimer, announced for the position for State Representative from District 56, which includes all of Lincoln County and Mesquero.

The two will face off in the June Republican primary, and the winner in that race is expected to challenge incumbent State Representative H. John Underwood.

Joan Park announced that she will run for Lincoln County Treasurer, and incumbent Janice Ware announced that she will not be a candidate for treasurer.

Tom Eckart, Albuquerque, executive director of the Republican legislative campaign committee was also a guest.

Chairman Jack Page announced that the Lincoln County Convention and Central committees will meet in Carriazo February 12. All state and national candidates must be endorsed by the local county committee before the pre-primary convention to be conducted in Albuquerque in March.

National and state candidates must file with the Secretary of State by February 8.

County candidates have until the first Tuesday in April, which will be April 5, to file. Many candidates were present and all had their petitions circulating in order to get their required number of signatures.

Things are looking up in Midtown

Ruidoso architect Stanley J. French presented his plan for aiding Midtown parking at a village council workshop Tuesday.

French suggested an elevator linkage to the existing municipal parking lot on Wingfield to gain 95 parking spaces.

The parking lot faces the police department and the elevator would be located where a series of wooden steps now exist, near the Winner's Circle bar.

French told the council, MainStreet board members, State Representative John Underwood and village staff that the elevator would make efficient use of the presently owned municipal parking, provide accessible parking for the disabled; provide access to the Midtown walking area; bring some movement, interest and action in the central area; and be cost effective.

French estimated the range in cost for the elevator would be from $110,000 to $140,000 depending on items to be included.

Deputy manager Alan Briley told the council he and village manager Gary Jackson discussed moving this year's co-op street funds to repairing off streets in the downtown area.

Briley said several side streets to Sudderth are full of potholes, and that repairing and widening the streets in conjunction with the MainStreet program made sense at this time.

MainStreet director Don Miller noted that on December 30, one of the busiest days for merchants in Midtown, he counted 216 automobiles in the area.

Miller is working on a cooperative plan with merchants for joint use of parking in the area.

Some merchants and residents have expressed an opinion at a recent planning and zoning meeting that there is no parking problem in Midtown, only a communication and signage problem that could be solved.

French was invited by Miller to discuss the use of the elevator with the federal MainStreet consultants visiting Ruidoso this week.

Lincoln Trust eliminates top job

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

A decision to focus on museum operation, instead of history research, means the position of Lincoln County Heritage Trust director will be eliminated at the end of this week.

Bob Hart, who has become synonymous with the organization as its director since 1988, said he'll stay connected to the history of the area, however.

"I'm going to wind up working for my wife in contract historical and archaeological research with Human Systems Research out of Tularosa," Hart said Monday. "This certainly is nothing we had planned on, but the trust is undergoing a reorganization and redirection."

Glen Dennis, a member of the trust's board of directors, said while the group always is trying to trim expenses, that was not the primary reason for the decision to eliminate the director's post.

"We're getting more into the operation of the museum, and think we can attract more people through the museum than historical research," Dennis said from his business in Roswell.

"The Lincoln County Historical Society already is doing research in the community and you don't need several covering the same territory," Dennis said.

Asked whether a museum curator or director would be hired, Dennis said the board of directors would take a look at that possibility later. For now, the museum in the historical settlement of Lincoln will operate with its current staff, he said.

"We'll still be there," Dennis said. "There's no problem, we're there, we're solid."

"A permanent fund was set up years ago. We just need to do some more things with the museum."

Village

Several years ago, sewage overflows during a Christmas holiday period of high usage prompted stern language by the Environmental Protection Agency to correct the problem or face heavy fines. The council was told at that time that the conditions of lines and the plant were in such disrepair that the cost would reach in the millions.

Jackson summarized the past history of the village's wastewater plant and explained the ordinance that is a loan agreement with the New Mexico Health and Environment Department for wastewater improvements.

Jackson said the Regional Wastewater Facility is the result of a joint use agreement between Ruidoso Downs and Ruidoso.

He said after the 1974 joint powers agreement, the two villages obtained an EPA (Environmental Protection Agency) grant to construct the facility.

Jackson said several years ago, the council made plans to improve the facility and to put it in compliance with the different federal and state environmental agencies.

He said a substantial file has been compiled that showed over a long period of time many millions of dollars worth of improvements would be needed.

He said the first phase was scaled down last March to about $3-million dollars. During budget meetings in June, that amount was re-evaluated and scaled down further, with portions of the program being handled in-house through the facility's waste water crews.

Jackson said in looking at the top priorities within the treatment plant, an addendum was created and the consulting firm of Moltzen-Corbin came before the council with its $750,000 suggested list of improvements.

Jackson said the proposed loan is with the New Mexico Health and Environment Department at a four percent interest rate for a proposed 10 years. He said the interest rate was not predicated on the term of contract, but rather what would be in the best interest of the villages.

Jackson pointed out that Resolution 93-7 authorized funding of the program, but an evaluation of sewage rates would be needed to support the loan payments. He said whether or not a rate increase is needed, an evaluation would be required every year.

He said the missing link is for the Joint Use Board to commit to authorization of the loan and for net revenues to come within the Joint Use Fund to go with the repayment of the loan. He said state approval would be necessary prior to council approval.

Jackson said it should be pointed out that the wastewater operation is part of the Enterprise Fund and that revenues from the Enterprise Fund will be the only source of retiring the debt. It will not be a general obligation debt of the village.

The council moved to continue public hearing on Ordinance 94-2 at the February 7 council meeting.

In a second public hearing, Ordinance 94-1 regarding street cuts on village streets was amended and passed.

The major change and concept of the ordinance shifts more of the burden for repairing road cuts by utilities and other companies to those entities.

In other business, the council approved Resolution 94-2, consenting to the assignment and transfer of Rifkin Cable Income Partners to Alert Cable, a Georgia corporation based in Deland, Florida.

Village attorney John Underwood asked Leon Eggleston, representing Lincoln Cablevision, if the new owners would come before the council to discuss any anticipated changes in the future.

Eggleston said that the sale would take three months to complete. He said he would then ask the new owners to appear before the council, but he anticipated no changes.

Underwood informed the council that although they voted against rate regulation as did many cities, their options are still open with the new franchisee.

In airport business, the council voted to reject any further request for proposals to lease the airport.

Deputy manager Briley told the council he received only one bid and that it was lacking information.

Pilot Steven Hightower told the council that he would have bid on the lease, but he thought the village was requiring more than the FAA (Federal Aviation Administration) required. He said he was still interested in the hangar if the agreement was reasonable.

The council appeared to weigh the possibilities of the village operating the hangar in the future, but left their options open for further discussion at a later date.

Pilot Jim Franklin, of Franklin Aviation, asked if he could rent the hangar for at least 80 days to complete the repair of his planes.

Mayor Jerry Shaw, apparently striving for a deadline with Franklin, asked him if 90 days would be ample time to complete his work. Franklin said it would.

Shaw pointed out that a new airport board was in the works, and the first meeting to discuss the formation of that board is on January 18.

Airport manager Lloyd Wayne suggested that the council approve renting one third of the hangar to Franklin for $165 per month, while reserving two thirds of the hangar for village airport rental.

Attorney Underwood suggested the council renew the lease for 90 days with amendments covering propane gas charges and airport rental. Underwood said it would be cheaper and less time consuming for the village to extend the lease rather than draft a new lease.

The council voted unanimously to extend the lease 90 days with amendments.

Under board and commission appointments, Mayor Shaw appointed village manager Jackson to the Ruidoso-Ruidoso-Downs Joint Use Board; as an alternate to the South-eastern Economic Development Board; and as a member of the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce board.

In other business, the council: —approved a bid award on tube modules for the water department.

—tabled a bid award on water pipe fittings.

—asked the staff to negotiate for a permanent easement for drainage purposes with residents of Lot 66A, Block 1, of Palmer Gateway Sub-division.

Approved the Gavilan Canyon Road water line that will bring water to residents in that area for the first time in months.

—noted that the library will be closed for inventory on January 13 and 14.

The council canceled a closed session on collective bargaining at the request of Underwood. He said it wasn't necessary at this time.

County protests plans to releases predators

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

An ordinance that would prohibit the release of wild predators in Lincoln County exceeds the authority of the county commission, a state official contends.

Catron County officials already have been threatened with legal action by the chairman of the state game commission if they try to enforce a similar ordinance passed by that county last year.

"The State Game Commission pursuant to NMSA 1978 17-2-2 has plenary (complete) authority to regulate the hunting, taking, capturing, killing or possession of any or all species of the genera Canis (wolves, dogs, jackals and foxes), Ursus (bear) and Felis (bobcats, mountain lions and cats)," state chairman James H. Koch wrote the Catron Commission chairman Rufus Choate in December 1992.

"Moreover, the director of the Game and Fish Department has authority to issue permits to any person to take, capture, kill or transport within the state any game animal for scientific purposes.

"The county is not legislatively authorized to exercise control over game species in the county.

"Accordingly, the Catron County ordinance is in direct violation of the statutory authority granted to the State Game Commission and the Department of Game and Fish, and is null, void and unenforceable.

"If the county takes any action to arrest or charge anyone with a violation of (the ordinance), then we will request that appropriate authorities take legal action against the county."

The ordinance was designed to protect the livestock industry from the release of predators not already existing in an area. Ranchers spend a great deal of time trying to wipe out coyotes and other predators, ranch foreman Bill Hays pointed out to Lincoln County Commissioners last week.

Introducing wolves, domesticated dogs gone wild, mountain lions or other predators means more of their cattle or sheep will be killed, he contended.

Catron County manager Danny Fryar told The Ruidoso News his commission thought game chairman Koch was out of line reacting so toughly to the ordinance.

"We recognize that state and federal laws supersede county ordinances," he said Monday. "The state agencies automatically would be excluded. This was aimed only at private groups or people to prevent them from coming in and releasing wolves.

"The state already has a law prohibiting anyone from bringing in endangered species and the wolf is endangered."

Since the Catron ordinance was passed in October 1992, no one has been prosecuted for violating its provisions, he said. The ordinance carries penalties of a $800 fine and/or 90 days in jail.

"It doesn't seem like it has much teeth to it anyway," Fryar said.

His commission was not concerned over the fine points of interpretation, which caused some Lincoln County commissioners to ask for changes and definitions.

Commissioner Bill Schwettmann wanted to be sure no action would be taken against owners of domesticated dogs or cats who get away by accident.

"We thought the spirit of the ordinance means wild animals, not domesticated, and that there had to be an intent to release," Fryar said.

Larry Bell with the legal division of the State Game and Fish Department, said when Catron County passed its ordinance, an opinion was sought from Attorney General Tom Udall.

But Koch ended up issuing his letter, with the appropriate legal references instead.

Bell said, "Our concern was what bearing this might have on the state doing research such as releasing monitored animals, or on moving a problem bear and releasing it on public land."

Hans Stewart, public information officer for the Albuquerque office of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, said that his agency has no jurisdiction over what laws the county may pass.

"We believe very strongly in having a cooperative relationship with the county on the release of any animals back into the wild," he said. "We work to avoid conflicts."

Federal and state officials pointed out that county laws are superseded by state laws, which are superseded by federal laws.

Lincoln County attorney Alan Morel already has put the county commission on notice that anything in the ordinance that conflicts with laws such as the Federal Endangered Species Act would be unenforceable.

The county commission is scheduled to take action on the ordinance at its regular meeting February 1.

Seatbelt safety

Three people walked away from a high impact crash near the Stroud building parking lot. Achterberg said the impact was so severe it shoved the turning car approximately 70 feet off the highway. He said no one was seriously hurt because they were wearing seat belts.

MainStreet pros continue studies here

Consultants from the National MainStreet Center toured Ruidoso Wednesday and talked with merchants about downtown renovation and parking problems.

Scott Day is the National MainStreet representative. He will be accompanied by Marty Wells of Wells and Associates, Inc. (traffic specialists), David Dekker, State MainStreet contract architect and Julie Johncox, State MainStreet director.

The group met with

MainStreet's executive committee for lunch at noon and with a focus group of merchants later in the afternoon in village hall.

One of the plans discussed was an idea presented by Jim French, local architect, that called for an ADA (American Disability Act) approved elevator from Wingfield's municipal parking lot in front of the police station to a lower level destination on Sudderth Drive, currently occupied by a wooden staircase.

On Thursday, another focus group meeting is scheduled with the mayor, selected councilors and village staff beginning at 9 a.m. in village hall.

Marty Wells, a traffic and parking expert, will give a presentation at a noon luncheon meeting, $7 per person, at the Enchantment Inn.

The meetings are open to the public.

For further information, contact MainStreet director Don Miller at 257-6346.

Hubbards donate to the Downs

The Village of Ruidoso Downs got an unexpected boost to its municipal building construction fund Monday.

During the board's regular meeting, Jim Stoddard, executive director of the R.D. and Joan Dale Hubbard Foundation, presented Downs Mayor Joe Hayhurst with a check for $18,000 toward the building.

Ruidoso Downs, faced with replacing its municipal building after it had to be torn down, went to the state for help last year and received a grant to replace the building on U.S. Highway 70.

Ground was broken last week for the construction project, and meanwhile the village and police department offices are housed in a portable building off Highway 70 in front of the village's senior citizens center.

Mayor Hayhurst and the board thanked Stoddard for the generous donation. The Hubbard Foundation is headquartered in Ruidoso Downs, the home of the Museum of the Horse and Ruidoso Downs Race Track, both Hubbard enterprises.

During other regular business Monday, the board made quick work of a short, routine agenda.

The board praised Volunteer Fire Department Chief Nick Herrera and his crew for controlling a mobile home fire that could easily have taken out neighboring homes.

Herrera thanked Police Chief Will Hoggard for his help on that fire. He also said he's looking for more volunteers to join his crews.

Anyone wanting to join the Ruidoso Downs Volunteer Fire Department, should contact Herrera or call the Downs municipal office at 378-4422.

In other regular business Monday, the board:

- approved accounts payable, the 1994 holiday schedule and monthly reports for the police, fire, court, animal control, code enforcement and maintenance departments.

- adopted a budget resolution relating to construction on village hall.

- adopted a resolution dealing with Lincoln Cablevision's change of ownership. Leon Eggleston, representing the cable company, assured the board that the company has no immediate plans for any changes.

- authorized Chief Hoggard to hire retired Ruidoso Police officer John Layher as a temporary communication/detention officer.

Energy Savings Flow When You Save Hot Water.

You can turn on energy savings with these few easy steps to reduce the amount of hot water you use:

- Keep your water heater set at 120° to 140°. If you have a dishwasher, check the manual to see if it recommends any water temperatures.
- Use less hot water. Wash clothes in cold or warm water and use cold water rinses. A low-flow shower head will also reduce water use. Remember, too, that small leaks add up to big waste.
- Use water heater insulation, especially on heaters that are located in unconditioned areas of the house.

For more information on saving energy, call or visit your local TNP office and ask for your free Energy Management Guide.

Warriors prep for Moriarty, NMMI matches

by KENT BEATTY
The News Sports Correspondent

The Ruidoso Warriors boys basketball team will make its second trip of the year to Moriarty today (Thursday) for a clash with the district 2-AAA Pintos. The varsity game gets under way at 7:15 p.m. and the junior varsity action tips off at 5:30 p.m.

After taking Friday off, the Warriors will then host New Mexico Military Institute Saturday at the Warrior gym. Game time is set for 5:30 p.m. and 7:15 p.m.

Both the Moriarty and NMMI varsity games will be carried live by KRUI radio.

The Warriors played in Moriarty's Bruce King Classic in December but did not meet the Pintos in the tournament.

Ruidoso dropped two of three games while in Moriarty, but since then have picked up three wins en route to a 4-5 season record.

Tonight's basketball game appears to be a fairly even match, even though Ruidoso will be without the services of 6-8 postman Casey Kearns, who was dismissed from the team during Monday's practice.

The Pintos and the Warriors had a close ball game last year when the two teams met, and both teams won just one game in the Bruce King.

Ruidoso comes off a 101-61 thumping from the Portales Rams last Saturday and this week's practice schedule hasn't helped matters. Monday was a regular practice day but Tuesday and Wednesday were inconvenient to say the least.

On Tuesday the eighth and ninth grade teams had games so neither the varsity boys and girls could work out, and Wednesday saw the wrestling team get the main floor so the girls worked out at tiny White Mountain gym and the boys had another day off.

After the Warriors defensive effort against Portales, Kirkwood would have liked to have picked another week to have just one practice day.

"I'm just a little nervous after Portales about our defense. We need to practice and so do the girls, but with so much going on and no auxiliary gym, it's tough to practice and still give everyone a chance to play in games," said Kirkwood.

How the Warriors handle the rest of the season without Kearns will be interesting. The senior was the Warriors' big man and was Ruidoso's leading free throw shooter. Moriarty has some size, but the Warriors should own the quickness advantage with the likes of Cory Hood and J.R. Chino in the backcourt. Corvin Lester should return against Moriarty after a bout with the flu last weekend, which forced him to miss the Portales game.

Kearns' absence may also see Hood play a little more inside, despite being only 5-11. Hood is probably the Warriors' most complete player, but the majority of his games have been played in the backcourt.

More playing time will also be seen by Jeff Chapman, who is the Warrior's third-leading scorer, as well as Rex Comanche and Daniel Espinosa. All three of the above players have started multiple games this season for the Warriors, but rotate in and out fairly often.

By season's end, 6-4 Todd Young will be forced to step in and make an impression in the paint for the Warriors.

Young, a junior, transferred here from California this year and has limited experience, but owns a soft shooting touch and was Ruidoso's leading scorer in the JV game against Tularosa.

Saturday's game with NMMI will be Ruidoso's third look at the Colts this year. The Warriors scrimmaged the Institute in November and met them in the first round of the Bruce King in Moriarty.

That game saw the locals fall 75-55 after leading at halftime. In fact, Ruidoso led until midway through the third quarter before the bottom fell out.

NMMI comes into Saturday's game after a two-point double overtime thriller against Tularosa Tuesday night. The Colts won the game because Tularosa couldn't handle 6-8 Freddy Gonzales.

In their game with the Warriors, Gonzales stayed in foul trouble and was generally ineffective, scoring 11 points — nine of which came in the fourth quarter.

If the Warriors are to win against the Colts, they again have to stop Gonzales, but more importantly have to stop the three-point basket.

Portales hit 14 "threes" against the Warriors and NMMI point guard Art Garcia and shooting guard Martin Ramos can light up the gym if the Warriors don't get a hand in their face.

In game one, Ramos, Garcia and Jesus Mendoza hit the Warriors for 16, 13 and 18 points respectively.

Wrestlers pin Goddard

The Warrior Wrestling team continued its resurgence Wednesday with a 43-33 win over AAAA power Roswell Goddard, at the Warrior gym.

The Warriors, who controlled the dual-match throughout, got wins from Gunner Johnson and Matt Bates to go along with forfeit wins from Julian and Johnny Flores, Billy Austin, Scooter Bussell and Eustace Gallerito.

The Warriors lost forfeits at the 125 and 189 weight classes.

James Flores lost his match at 112 pounds, as did Shaun Cobb (135); Dylan Carusona; and Sergio Guerrero (160).

Exhibition matches were split with Warrior Johnny Flores defeating Robert Ortiz at 125 pounds and Ruidoso's Eustace Gallerito falling to Kevin Weekley at 189 pounds.

The junior varsity team turned in another good performance while winning six of eight matches against its Goddard foes.

Warrior Wrestling Coach Gerald Ames wasn't happy with his teams performance, despite the win.

"We didn't wrestle well. Our kids are trying to make weight and they're more concerned with that than wrestling. Half the team has dropped a weight class ... I hope they get their heads back into it before Friday, or we'll be making a quick trip home," said Ames.

Friday, the Warriors are entered in the Southwest's largest wrestling tournament at El Paso's Bowie High School.

After Bowie, the Warriors have a big week scheduled next week as they meet NMMI Wednesday, and host the Ruidoso Invitational on Saturday.

Lady Warriors open district

The Ruidoso Lady Warriors begin district 3-AAA play Friday and continue Saturday with a long road trip to meet Bayard Cobre and Silver.

Friday's action against Cobre begins at 4 p.m. with the C-team, followed by the junior varsity and varsity games.

Saturday's schedule looks the same as the Lady Warriors tip off up the road 20 miles against Silver.

The Lady Warriors head into district sporting a 4-6 mark for the season after dropping two games to Artesia last weekend.

Brandi Pfeffer and Sarah Dix lead the team in scoring.

Ruidoso Lady Braves win again

The Ruidoso Middle School Lady Braves record remains a perfect 8-0 perfect as they defeated Socorro for the second time of the season Tuesday. The Lady Braves floor-boarded it on the offensive end to score 57 points to Socorro's 18.

The B-team girls also won, 30-23.

The Brave boys teams lost to Socorro. The A-team score was 60-41 and the B-team lost a heart-breaker 42-40 after giving Socorro six shots at the basket in the final 25 seconds.

The Braves' boys traveled to Roswell last Saturday and played Mountain View, losing 49-31 in the A-team game and the B-team fell 37-20.

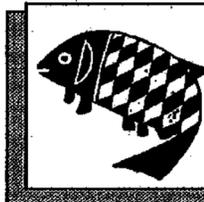

Inside The Outdoors

Mark your calendar now for 1994 hunts

It's only the beginning of the new year, but some folks really have to plan ahead. Some organizations require their employees to put in for vacation time real early in the year, and for sportsmen this is sometimes difficult. It is hard to find out exactly when the deer seasons are this early, because Big Game Proclamations have yet to be printed. This information may help these sportsmen.

This year, there are nine different hunt periods for the rifle hunter. It may be a bit confusing trying to figure out exactly which hunt dates are available for the area you wish to hunt. Take a look at the following chart, it may simplify things.

Region	Dates
A (except Unit 2)	Oct 29-Oct 30 Nov 2-Nov 6 Nov 9-Nov 15
B (Special Deer Entry Permit Required)	Nov 5-Nov 7 Nov 10-Nov 14
B (Sub Unit 5A)	Oct 17-Oct 21
C (Special Deer Entry Permit Required)	Oct 1-Oct 3 Oct 7-Oct 9

by Ben Hanson

D	Oct 29-Oct 30 Nov 2-Nov 6 Nov 9-Nov 15
E (Except Zuni Mtns)	Nov 9-Nov 15
F	Oct 29-Oct 30 Nov 2-Nov 6 Nov 9-Nov 13
G	Oct 29-Oct 30 Nov 2-Nov 6 Nov 9-Nov 15
H	Oct 29-Oct 30 Nov 2-Nov 6 Nov 9-Nov 15
I	Oct 31-Nov 2

Nov 4-Nov 6	Nov 9-Nov 13
J (Except Unit 17)	Oct 31-Nov 2
K	Nov 4-Nov 6 Nov 9-Nov 13 Oct 31-Nov 2
L	Nov 4-Nov 6 Nov 9-Nov 13 Oct 31-Nov 2
M	Nov 4-Nov 6 Nov 9-Nov 13 Closed
N	Oct 31-Nov 2
Unit 29	Closed Nov 4-Nov 6

For bow and muzzle-loader deer hunters things are much the same as last year. The bow season for deer will run from September 1 through September 20 with a late season hunt from January 1, 1995 through January 15, 1995. The muzzle-loader deer hunt will be September 10 through September 20.

All the rules and regulations will be outlined in the Big Game Proclamation. These should be available by the middle of March.

Quality Care Preventive Maintenance.

Your car can't take care of itself. There are things you should do to help ensure it runs properly. Here are a few of them:

1. Inspect the brakes every 30,000 miles to help ensure safe stopping ability.
2. Change your oil and oil filter every 3,000 to 7,500 miles (depending on your driving habits) to maintain engine performance.
3. Check coolant, belts and hoses annually to help prevent overheating.
4. Change spark plugs and tune-up engine every 30,000 miles to help your engine burn fuel efficiently.
5. Check air conditioning system annually for cooling efficiency and to help keep the environment clean.
6. Change air filter every 30,000 miles to help prevent a loss of power.

Of course, the first step is to stop by our dealership for Quality Care Preventive Maintenance. It includes the items listed here and it's expert service performed by Ford-trained Quality Care technicians. We use only genuine Ford or Motorcraft parts. And we do it all at a competitive price.

Joe Skeen asks voters for 8th term in Congress

Congressman Joe Skeen, a lifelong New Mexican and veteran of a 30-year public service career, has announced his intention to seek an eighth term in the U.S. House of Representatives.

"I'm proud of my record serving New Mexicans both in Congress and in the New Mexico State Senate," Skeen told those assembled at a Roswell rally.

"I'll stand on that record of accomplishment as I go to the voters and ask their vote of confidence and approval yet another time."

Skeen was first elected to Congress in 1980 as a write-in candidate. He has been re-elected six times, and on two occasions, no Democrat filed to run against him in the general election.

JOE SKEEN

Monitored Retrievable Storage (MRS) facility on the Mescaleros' New Mexico properties.

According to his announcement, this idea was originally advanced by Congressman Skeen, who was successful in amending the House version of the bill to include the spending moratorium.

As vice chairman of the House Agriculture Appropriations Subcommittee, Skeen was successful in targeting more than $2.7 million to valuable ongoing agriculture research projects at New Mexico State University.

An additional $2.7 million in federal funds was allocated to New Mexico's State Highway Department, at Skeen's request. Skeen has asked that the money, though not earmarked, be designated to begin design studies for a frontage road along U.S. Highway 70, east of Las Cruces.

"Thanks to the efforts of Congressman Skeen, a first-year member of the Defense Appropriations Subcommittee, $40-million was appropriated for the Single Stage to Orbit (SS10) program, which is conducting test flights of the Delta Clipper rocket at White Sands Missile Range," continues the release.

The House fully funded the program for another year, but the money was deleted by the Senate, said Skeen.

As a House Conferees, Skeen argued successfully for the full appropriation to be restored.

Skeen worked on the Appropriations Committee to defeat President Bill Clinton's "Economic Stimulus" package.

"The Administration claimed this additional spending was needed to promote economic growth. But in reality, it would have increased the deficit by $16-billion," Skeen said. The bill was ultimately defeated.

Working with his Senate colleagues, Skeen directed the Federal Aviation Administration to conduct a review of its plans to remote-operate the radar system at Roswell's Industrial Air Center from Lubbock, Texas.

"I'm confident this review will prove that the safest, most cost-effective solution is to operate the radar at the RIAC," Skeen said.

Skeen was successful in fighting a plan to close USDA field offices in New Mexico. USDA Secretary Mike Espy abandoned the plan and agreed to review his Washington operation for possible cuts, before cutting field services in the states.

As a member of the House Appropriations Committee, Skeen is supporting several efforts to bring more responsibility and accountability to the federal spending process.

Skeen supports passage of a Balanced Budget Amendment and giving the President line-item veto authority.

Throughout his 14-year tenure in the House, Skeen has maintained a strong pro-business voting record, particularly in support of small business interests. He has consistently supported tougher crime legislation, while opposing tighter gun restrictions.

Skeen is part of the current effort to repeal the Social Security Earnings Limitation, which penalizes senior citizens and he is backing efforts to halt Congress' record of imposing unfunded federal mandates on local municipalities and private industry.

During 1993, Skeen conducted 11 town meetings throughout the 2nd Congressional District. He also offered many other opportunities for local officials and residents to meet on a variety of controversial topics, including: a comprehensive session on farm labor laws and regulations in Las Cruces, an informal discussion in Carlsbad on legislation that would affect Carlsbad Caverns National Park and Lechuguilla Cave, a meeting in Silver City to discuss proposals to create a Mimbres Culture National Monument, and a meeting with city and county officials in Las Cruces to discuss proposed Highway 70 improvements.

Serving a redrawn 2nd Congressional District, Skeen has advanced several projects to bring Congressional services to the outlying areas of the district. In particular, he has directed his district staff in Roswell and Las Cruces to conduct regular office hours in Fort Sumner, Santa Rosa, Vaughn, Grants and Belen.

"I believe that my 1993 schedule and the legislative accomplishments I have listed show that I have continued to be responsive to the needs and concerns of New Mexico's 2nd Congressional District. I pledge to continue that record of service in the year ahead, and beyond if the voters choose to reelect me in 1993," Skeen concluded.

Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority to meet on Monday

Budget revisions, election of a vice chairman and a decision on a variance for the Eagle Creek Summer Home Association are on the agenda of the Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority's meeting at 10 a.m. Monday, January 17, in the center at 222 Second Street in Ruidoso Downs.

Other items include the manager's report, a recycling audit, John Wilson speaking about the Capitan landfill road, the site assessment for the Capitan landfill, an update on the environmental gross receipts tax collected by the authority, appointment of members to a variance committee and an executive session on personnel matters and pending litigation.

ENMU-R adds music camp

A new summer orchestra camp for high school students is being formed by Eastern New Mexico University-Ruidoso.

From June 26 through July 1, a camp directed by Dr. Rob Radmer of the university's music department on the main campus in Portales will be headquartered at La Junta Guest Ranch in Alto.

The camp will be open to students throughout New Mexico and the Southwest. It will feature intensive individual and small group instruction, performances and recreation Sunday through Friday.

The camp is the only opportunity for summer instruction currently available for high school students in New Mexico.

For more information, contact the Ruidoso instructional center office at 257-2120 or call Dr. Radmer at 562-2736 in Portales.

Silver Lining

Happy 82nd birthday to dear New Mexico

Happy birthday dear New Mexico

In my last message to you I forgot to mention that New Mexico's 82nd birthday was January 6, the same day as Epiphany or Twelfth Night. The Land of Enchantment was admitted to the Union on this day in 1912.

The first governor was William McDonald, pioneer rancher of Carrizozo and great-grandfather of Stirling Spencer, Lincoln County Commissioner. Mr. McDonald was a very distinguished governor who started New Mexico on the way to a bright future.

The great charm of new and old

New Mexico is rich in Spanish and Indian history and culture; and is also home to some of the most scientific landmarks, such as Los Alamos and Holloman Air Force Base.

Our state became known as the Sunshine State and its healthful climate became legendary. Folks by the thousands came from all over the country to regain their health, some just in time.

One example is Lak J. Frasier, who was taken off the train on a stretcher in Roswell, and through the kindness of the people and

by Daniel Agnew Storm

the decent climate regained his health and became four times mayor of Roswell.

A land of inspiration

The bracing climate, the mountains and desert, the four seasons and the people all blend together to form an uplifting and encouraging spirit throughout the state. The state flower is the yucca, the state tree is the piñon, the state bird is the roadrunner or paisano. The roadrunner welcomed the early Spanish pioneers to this country so they called him paisano or fellow countryman.

Willa Cather, the great New Mexico writer, in her book, "Death comes for the Archbishop," says that some regions have colorful history while others look to the future.

New Mexico says to us, "today, today." We wish our beloved state many happy returns of the day and all God's blessings.

Ernest McDaniel recovering well

We are all glad to hear that Ernest McDaniel is well on the way to recovery after his recent illness. We remember him in our prayers.

The deep of winter

This is bring sent to you a little after mid-day on January 10. All morning the sun has been shining in a blue sky and now to the northwest the clouds have suddenly moved in over the hilltop.

Here we are one-third of the way through January and no real cold weather yet.

However, there is an old saying "as the days begin to lengthen, the cold begins to strengthen."

We are on the edge now of what is called the "deep of winter." The coldest days of the year — from January 10 to February 5.

Let us thank the Lord for a mild beginning to the year and a promise of snow very soon.

A cooperative effort between the Ruidoso Chamber of Commerce and the Ruidoso Lincoln County Crimestoppers to deter graffiti from being a part of our mountain scenery is currently underway. This intentional damage to property is not only considered visually unacceptable, but is also costly to the citizens of our community. It has a bearing on our insurance rates, our real estate values, and our village in general. As citizens of Lincoln County, we can deter the impact of this type criminal activity in our community by getting involved, and reporting any suspicious activity to the local law enforcement agency in your area, or by calling Crimestoppers.

The Crimestoppers phone line is manned twenty-four a day, seven days a week, and you do not have to give your name to be eligible for a cash reward. The Crimestoppers phone number is 257-4545. Anyone wishing to call collect, may do so within Lincoln County.

Capitan Tigers shine in Smokey Bear Tourney

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Seizing the home court advantage, both Tiger teams from Capitan toppled their opposition last weekend in the Fourteenth Annual Smokey Bear Basketball Tournament.

The boys started their first round Thursday against Moriarty without key player Trevor Cox, who was out with a high fever. Moving up the bench, Michael Fish took over and led the team to another level of defense to win 65-37, holding Moriarty under 40 points.

Coach Ron Becker said Fish, Jamil Maboub, Neil Montes and Justin King stopped the penetration of the ball to the basket, showing great team defensive play.

In their second outing on Friday against Alamogordo sophomores, the Tigers trailed most of the game. With three-minutes, 40-seconds left, great defensive play broke open the scoring, allowing Capitan to rack up 15 points to their opponent's three.

In an exciting come-from-behind win, the Tigers took the game 59-51. Cox chalked up 10 field goals.

In the final game Saturday, Capitan faced Magdalena for the championship.

To claim the trophy, the Tigers stopped Magdalena's point guard Rubin Martinez from penetrating and froze out attempts at three pointers.

With six minutes left in the game, the Tigers had built a 47-29 lead, but Magdalena wasn't finished. They fought back to within eight points, but couldn't beat the final buzzer.

Cox, Fish and Maboub from Capitan and George Vega from Carrizozo were named to the All-Tournament Team. The sportsmanship award for the tournament went to Magdalena and Mike Brazil from Mountainair took home the free throw championship.

The Tigers face the remainder of the season with a 7-3 record. Their next game is set for 6:30 p.m. today against Fray Felipe at the Reserve Mountainair Invitational Tournament.

Other scores for the boys' side of the tournament were Alamogordo over Mountainair in the first round 66-50, Mesilla Valley Christian over Carrizozo 64-62 and Magdalena over Lake Arthur 64-47.

Magdalena took Mesilla 61-56 in the second round while Carrizozo beat Lake Arthur 59-54 on the consolation side and Mountainair took Moriarty 69-51.

Carrizozo went on to win the consolation division 68-60 over Mountainair. Lake Arthur came in seventh (third in consolation) over Moriarty 57-44.

Alamogordo's sophomores took third place against Mesilla Valley 56-44.

Girls mop up Mesilla

The varsity girls headed out on court to face Mesilla Valley Christian Thursday in their first game of the tournament.

Coach Norman Cline said his girls used a combination defense of zone and man-to-man coverage. Anita Aldaz and Stacy Gowen showed what they could do on the defensive boards and Jessica Cline mastered the man-to-man, helping the team to post a final score of the board of 48-23.

Tycie Traylor was leading rebounder with eight and high scorer with 14 points, followed by Mandi Aldaz with eight points and seven rebounds and Catherine Sidwell with seven points.

Meanwhile, in other-first round games, Lake Arthur polished off Reserve, Animas trounced Carrizozo and Mountainair took Wagon Mound.

In their second match against Mountainair Friday, Capitan ended the first half up 18 points and enlarged that lead for a final score of 54-29.

Traylor again led the scoring with a whopping 24 points and seven rebounds, followed by Gowen with seven points and six rebounds and Catherine Sidwell and Jessica Cline, each with six points.

In a tighter game, Lake Arthur polished off Animas 54-40 to meet Capitan in the finals. Then Animas took third place with a 66-32 rout over Mountainair.

On the consolation side, Reserve took out Carrizozo 51-21 and Wagon Mound slipped past Mesilla 35-30 to meet in the finals, with Reserve walking away with the easiest victory of the tournament, 67-19.

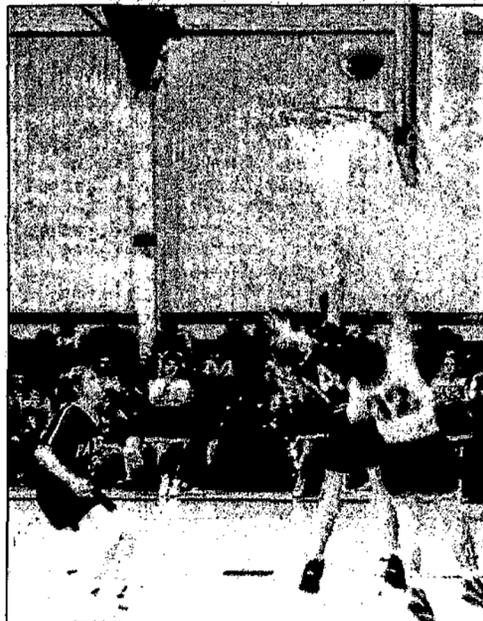

Mesilla earned a seventh place with its win over Carrizozo, 39-28.

In the final confrontation of the girls' tournament Saturday, the Lake Arthur Panthers were pacing, but the Tigers were tenacious.

Lake Arthur grabbed the jump ball, but Capitan's defense was pumped and ready.

Catherine Sidwell faced the tough assignment of guarding Rainy Hill, but held her to 12 points, compared to her usual 20 points a game.

When the final score blinked on the boards, Capitan won 47-28. Tycie Traylor scored 12 points; Christina Gonzales sunk a three pointer and three field goals for nine points; Catherine Sidwell, Jessica Cline and Anita Aldaz each posted six points and Aldaz hit four for four from the free throw line; play, and Trevor Cox does the same for the Tigers during the boys final, all tournament players for the girls line up for their awards; and Jessica Cline stretches for the rebound. Photo by Kathy Hinkle.

Gowen sunk two baskets; Andra Fish and Mandi Aldaz each scored two points.

Traylor again was the leading rebounder with nine and Jessica Cline had four assists and five steals. Traylor and Jessica Cline were name all tournament players.

The Carrizozo Grizzlies won the sportsmanship award. Dawn Delgado from Reserve was named free throw champ, sinking eight out of 10 in a tie with Stacy Gowen, then going on to make her next two shots while Gowen faltered on her last attempt for nine out of 12.

Trustees support school tax election

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Although some Capitan trustees expressed strong support for the continuation of the local school district's special capital outlay tax at their meeting Monday, at least one balked at taking an official vote on the issue.

School district superintendent Diana Sonnamaker explained to the board of trustees that the two mill tax is a continuation of a special levy first imposed in 1976. The property tax generates the extra money needed to pay for major school building repairs and large equipment purchases that could not be squeezed out of the district's regular operating budget.

But when Mayor Frank Warth asked for a motion of support for the referendum February 1, Trustee Leroy Montes objected.

"I don't think you ought to put us on the spot," he said. "Just leave it as it is."

The capital outlay tax must be renewed by voters every three years. One mill is equal to $1 for every $1,000 of taxable assessed property value after exemptions. For a home valued at $54,000, with a taxable value of $18,000 (one-third), the owner has been paying $36 a year or about $3 a month.

Trustee L.C. Cozzens, a former school superintendent and an adviser to the Capitan district on finances, said the capital outlay levy "is a lifesaver for small districts."

The trustees approved a request to approve the transfer of the village's cable television franchise from the Rifkin Cable, a Delaware corporation, to Alert Cable TV, a Georgia corporation based in Deland, Florida.

Bob Sanders, an employee of Rifkin who handles the Capitan system, said Alert is the ninth largest cable corporation in the United States.

His major concern is that the new company follows through with a scheduled $700,000 in improvements to the local equipment, he said.

Village attorney J. Robert Beauvais said the franchise runs through the year 2002.

The village currently charges two percent of revenues as its franchise fee, but could go as high as five percent, he said.

"Frankly, there are no grounds on which to deny the transfer," he told the board.

In other action, the trustees approved a precinct board selected by village clerk Deborah Cummins.

The members are presiding judge Bertie Beavers, election judge/absentee Doris Pounds, election judge/absentee Carol Reamy, election clerk/absentee Darralene Stewart and election clerk/translator Lena White.

Tigers named to All-Stars

Capitan's Trevor Cox has been named to the Single A All-Star football team for the south. Cox, a tight end, was the only Capitan player to make it on the list selected by a committee of head football coaches in each section of the state.

Coach Mike Draper, president of the New Mexico High School Coaches Association, and chairman Kerry Scott announced the selection of the 1994 North-South A/AA All Star teams. The athletes will be invited to play in the association's Fourth Annual North-South A/AA All Star Football Game June 11 at Artesia's Bulldog Bowl.

Last year's game was won by the South 17-13. The South leads the series 3-0.

Tycie Traylor and Stacy Gowen of Capitan were selected for the South's A/AA All-Star volleyball team. Traylor was selected as a middle blocker and Gowen as a setter.

Their game is set for June 10 in Roswell and the South leads the series. The matches are co-sponsored by the Roswell Bullet Boosters Club and the association. The teams were selected by a committee of head volleyball coaches in each section of the state, representing each class and the districts within those classification. Only graduating seniors are eligible for selection to the teams.

State lawmaker gathers input from constituents

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

With the State Legislature set to convene next week in Santa Fe, State Representative H. John Underwood stopped to talk to Capitan business and school board members Monday.

Both village and school district officials wondered whether they would see any of the state's $300-million surplus.

But the Ruidoso Democrat was not overly optimistic.

"More so than other sessions, this will be the toughest, because the surplus has been so well publicized and more than $1-billion in requests have rolled in," he told the two boards. That will move some of the regular funding groups like education down the ladder to respond to new requests that probably will be one-time situations.

"So for a 30-day session, the number of requests has quadrupled," he said, adding that he expects the session starting next Tuesday to be tougher than the previous three he has attended.

New Mexico has one of the highest levels of poverty in the United States. Everyone with any need will be beating on the door of the vaults.

Capitan school district superintendent Diana Sonnamaker pointed out that the surplus will only last one year, if some of the money isn't set aside.

The $300-million was generated by a variety of sources, including the state gross receipts tax. Of that surplus, $80-million was generated by the 6-cent gasoline tax imposed by the legislature at its last session.

Underwood told members of both boards that he will follow the lead of his constituents on how the surplus should be handled, even though he thinks it would be a waste to send rebate checks or to give credits on residents' 1993 taxes.

The cost of figuring and mailing the checks to each resident would eat up a large portion of the remaining surplus, he said. Offering a credit for 1993 would require sending out new tax forms for residents to file amended returns, because the regular income tax forms already have been mailed.

"I'd like to see $100-million put aside and I don't want to buy into recurring situations," he said. "If we don't plan, we'll put ourselves back into the hole within four years. Let's make a five-year plan with this money. Let's invest some of it to make more money instead of spending it all."

If a tax credit of $21 per exemption is allowed, plan for it in the 1994 returns, he suggested. He also supports not repealing the 6-cent tax since gas distributors have assured state officials that the consumer will not see a 6-cent per gallon difference at the pump if it is eliminated.

"I'd rather repeal the tax on prescriptive drugs (which generates about $6-million annually)," Underwood said. "We're the only state in the nation that taxes prescriptions and that impacts everyone."

Tourists helped build the surplus by paying the gas tax, he noted.

"But it would be committing political suicide to vote against repeal until other options are there," Underwood said.

New Mexico's total gas tax of 22 cents a gallon may be among the highest in the nation, but neighboring states are catching up, he said. Texas charges 21 cents and Colorado charges 20 cents.

If the 6-cent tax isn't repealed, he'd like to dedicate a portion to the improvement of the state's road system, which would benefit the state's tourism and help full time residents.

He already is pushing a $60-million project to four-lane the highway from El Paso to Alamogordo. The southeast section of the state doesn't receive its fair share of road money and a four-lane road would improve tourism in the area, he contended.

"We blundered into a tax critically beneficial to the road system," he said. "If we bite the bullet this year, we'll be sitting fine."

School concerns

Underwood told school officials that he needs a great deal of feedback from them to alert him to impacts not obvious on the face of a proposed bill.

"A lot of agendas can be contained in school bills and will slip past someone lacking in the knowledge of the language of education," he told board members Jack King, Beverly Payne, president Tom Trost and district superintendent Diana Sonnamaker.

"I need to have you alert me to what's going on beyond the title."

Underwood said he anticipates an attempt to initiate a gun law to deal with students bringing guns onto a school campus.

"But we have to be careful, because there can be other gun bill agendas hidden inside and I don't want to find out later we prohibited all law abiding citizens from carrying guns," he said.

The legislator pointed out that school funding is up to 47 percent of the state's budget.

"I can't promise we'll make 50 percent this session," he said. "We'd be crazy to do that all at one time."

Lincoln County teachers fare well on a scale of education salaries in the state.

"As we see continued movement up for teachers' salaries, they may be required to spend five more days (working)," Underwood said.

Proposals are being discussed for 185-day contracts, instead of 180, using the extra days for mandatory in-service training. Sonnamaker said, adding that she favors the move.

On the flip side, a push is on to ensure that teachers don't have to work during periods set aside for lesson planning, Underwood said.

Sonnamaker questioned whether Senate Bill 109, which set up goals such as student-teacher ratios when passed about five years ago, was ever going to be financed sufficiently to enact the improvements. The state should either move forward on the provisions or discard them, she said.

"Other than use it as a political baseball bat, I don't think they're going to do anything," Underwood responded. "A bunch said get rid of it if we're not going to do it and others said, we need it as a standard to work toward."

The legislator said he is reluctant to mess around with the state's funding formula for school districts.

"The more tweaking going on, the more results that we don't anticipate," he said.

Trost said the way the state handles the formula is like a company hiring someone for a job and then midway through, dropping the pay. Two years ago, the anticipated per student unit reimbursement figure turned out to be higher than the amount sent back to counties. Last year, the figure went up.

Underwood said Ruidoso school district superintendent Mike Gladden has suggested basing the reimbursement for the coming year on the current year's enrollment instead of trying to project the number of students that will attend.

He said he may file a memorial for the money to study that proposed change.

Underwood said he'd like to get back to the original funding formula as drafted 10 years ago, before the legislature added scarcity and urban adjustment factors.

"It seems we continue to give the money to those with the high numbers that already have more money and are best able to handle (problems without financial help)," he said.

One area that Sonnamaker said will need close monitoring is the weighted vocational education formula. While Capitan could use additional money to improve its program, "some are going to continue with the status quo by just taking the weighted money and replacing money included for vocational education in the regular operating budget."

"We could do great things with it (for the program)."

She asked Underwood about the chances of getting $175,000 for a special project to redo the computer systems throughout the Capitan district.

"I don't want to piecemeal," she said.

Underwood said if she sent him

the necessary information, he would take it to the legislature.

Trost said in the past, it has gone against the district because it's not taxed to the full extent and is not deeply in debt.

"It's strange," he said. "You try not to be in debt and you get penalized. You have to keep taxing your people."

Underwood explained that before allocating money, legislators look at how dedicated voters are to their school districts.

"If we had an area with no will to have its own people carry their share and they still kept coming back to the state, the area would become more a limb of the state government," he said. "We want people to have the will to support themselves."

"I think our people have done quite a bit by approving a bond issue for a new middle school," Sonnamaker said.

Underwood said he would like to see extra money pumped into education for all-day kindergarten to ensure children are not sent home to empty houses.

"Perhaps we could avoid juvenile problems later," he said.

He favors creating a juvenile facility that would handle those young people convicted for violent crimes and separate them from others. "I think we will see that concept discussed this session and action taken during the 60-day session," he said.

Underwood said he sees a trend in favor of requiring those sentenced (adults and juveniles) to serve their entire terms with no parole.

"Even with most liberals, there's a common understanding that we have a problem," he said, adding that he would like to see more laws, including tax laws, that benefit families and encourage commitment and acceptance of responsibility for personal actions.

Elementary principal Jerry Newsom said tax credits to encourage one parent to stay at home with children would go a long way to strengthening the family.

A lottery

"Yes, I think there will be a lottery," Underwood told members of the two boards.

But he will not support Governor Bruce King's proposal to pass one in this legislative session.

"Last session, we set up a vote for a constitutional amendment in 1994 for video gambling and a lottery," Underwood said. "I think the people of the state need to vote it up or down."

He wouldn't trust any promise to dedicate a portion of the lottery to education. Based on a similar experience with Florida's lottery, what happens is the state substitutes the lottery money for regular funding instead of using it in addition. That leaves school districts at the mercy of the fortunes of the lottery.

Village attorney J. Robert Beauvais said the state's population is too small to generate a big lottery pot.

Underwood said a Four Corners lottery is being discussed, pooling money generated by Arizona, New Mexico, Utah and Colorado.

STATE REPRESENTATIVE H. JOHN UNDERWOOD

Village concerns

Underwood said he intends to introduce a memorial honoring the village of Capitan and its celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of Smokey Bear as the symbol of forest fire prevention.

"You deserve some publicity off of it and don't worry, it won't come out of the $10,000 we already approved for advertising," he said.

Mayor Frank Warth said the village may run out of advertising money before the July Fourth celebration.

He'd try for some money, but the funding period doesn't start until July 1, and that wouldn't do much good, Underwood said.

Warth said the village needs $200,000 to spend on roads to tie in with its $1.2-million downtown paving and curbs project using Community Development Block Grant money.

He agreed to send Underwood the particulars.

Trustee L.C. Cozzens urged Underwood to push for the reinstatement of a tax rebate to low income residents that was removed several years ago.

In another matter, Beauvais asked whether there was any chance the public employees collective bargaining law would be repealed.

"I think legislators shot themselves in the foot over this. I think state employees are going to eat the state's lunch on negotiating wages," he said.

"A bill may be introduced and I will support repeal, but I don't think it will be, because there are more workers than employers," Underwood said. "I didn't vote for (collective bargaining)."

Turning to the future of Fort Stanton Hospital and Training Center, he said it appears secure in the transition to a long term care facility.

"I'm not hearing anything negative," he said.

Supermarket owner David Cummins asked Underwood to push for a rollback in contributions to the state's unemployment tax. It started as $2 from the employer and employee each year and now requires the same amount each quarter. Yet he read that there was such a surplus in the fund that the state raided the money for other purposes last year.

High gasoline prices

Beauvais asked what the state intends to do about distributors who are gouging the public with high gas prices.

"Why is the attorney general so ineffectual in regulating and investigating the gas industry?" he queried.

Underwood pointed out that the industry is unregulated and he disliked seeing the government get involved.

"We can leave it up to the industry and encourage them to bring it down themselves," he said. "On the other hand, the industry obviously is flaunting the situation to the public."

"Someone should get regulatory oversight and hold these guys responsible for the cost of gas," Beauvais said.

Prices in Alamogordo are as low as 85-cents while in Ruidoso they hit $1.30 and in Albuquerque as high as $1.60 a gallon.

"Maybe we should tell them to deliver it to the bottom of the mountain and we'll drive it up ourselves," Underwood said. The distributors obviously are setting prices as high as they think the market can bear, he said.

Underwood said while Attorney General Tom Udall announced that he would launch an investigation into gasoline price fixing and associated complaints early in the year, he backedtracked when he discovered the system was so complicated. His office has been fairly silent since March.

However, State Representative Max Coll (D-Santa Fe) intends to introduce a bill to regulate gasoline distributors because he contends gasoline is like a public utility, Underwood said.

"To blame the price of gasoline on the six cents, it's just not so," he said. "In reality, it's a better deal to keep the 6-cent gas tax and abolish another."

Beauvais said the high gas prices hurt the state's tourist industry. "Consumers are screaming," he said. "I'm not in favor of government intervention into private industry or for consumers to be gouged."

Warth said a gas tax hurts low income people the most. Trustee Gordon Ross said New Mexico had the highest gas prices in the country over the holidays, according to the American Automobile Association.

"We penalize our own people," he said. "We are not a wealthy state."

Underwood said he would support Udall taking the distributors to court to get a ruling on the situation, instead of repealing the gas tax.

County orders its share of pork pie

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

While he advocates saving some of New Mexico's $300-million surplus, State Representative H. John Underwood admitted Wednesday he'll be looking for a fair share of the money to benefit his constituents.

The legislator from Ruidoso met with Lincoln County Commissioners, representatives from the historic settlement of Lincoln, the director of the Zia senior citizens program and other interested residents to hear their requests.

Underwood explained that about $40-million to $50-million of the surplus was generated by the 6-cent gasoline tax enacted last year by the State Legislature. The rest comes from individual state income taxes, corporate taxes and gross receipt taxes not projected by the Department of Taxation and Revenue.

"It's a good sign of the state's economic health," he said. "In years past, we primarily depended on the severance tax on oil and gas, but now oil is $11 a barrel and the severance tax revenue is no longer a primary income source."

This 30-day session that starts next week, the Democrat's fourth legislative session, will focus on money and issues included by the governor.

"It will be most difficult because a gubernatorial election will be in progress and there will be a lot of posturing and not all common sense will prevail, it will be political sense," he told commissioners.

The legislature has received about $2-billion in requests for the $300-million surplus, he said.

Topping the commission's list is help from Underwood in convincing the State Highway Commission to upgrade some of its roads in the county, including State Road 214 to the local airport and Fort Stanton Hospital and Training Center.

Commissioners asked Underwood to attend the session they have scheduled with the highway commission next week.

"I know you went to bat for us last year and it still has not been resolved," Commission Chairman Monroy Montes told Underwood.

"I understand that you and Commissioner Wilton Howell have been working hard and I think you will end up getting a better deal than you were offered last year," Underwood said. "You can make a difference if you keep plugging away."

Underwood said the southeastern portion of the state has not received its fair portion of the highway money pot in the past.

Next up was Ralph Romero, who introduced I.M. Gonzalez, head of agricultural and extension education at New Mexico State University.

Gonzalez said university officials are interested in the purchase of the Super Select Sales Barn in Glencoe. He said the building is "ideally located for a variety of functions and clients."

The Region II Agricultural Education Association, representing five states, met in Ruidoso a year ago and expressed interest in training vocational education teachers here, he said. The county has four voc-ag programs operating, out of the 60 in the state.

Other voc-ag groups with which he is associated always are looking for new meeting locations, Gonzalez said. Ruidoso is a good central location, he added. He also is in contact with business and industry groups from Chihuahua, Mexico, from Texas and around New Mexico who would come.

"I've heard much positive on the Super Select Sales Barn purchase," Underwood said. "I think the county's in a unique position. That particular facility may be the cornerstone of economic development in Lincoln County unprecedented in the past, because of the location and the price."

He, too, sees the building as a place to assemble displays and events about the cowboy culture as it crosses ethnic lines.

"We have a unique history to take advantage of," he said. The area can cash in on the $16-million state spends each year promoting New Mexico's cultures.

"This is an opportunity for Lincoln County to help itself and I see Ralph already has contacted the university."

He recalled the experience of sitting around a chuckwagon with friends eating stew during the last County Cowboy Symposium, drinking up the atmosphere.

"I realized we could be the heart of the cowboy culture in New Mexico," Underwood said. "I've been contacted by the cutting horse industry and they would love to put on a show here."

In combination with a proposal to bring the Cowgirl Hall of Fame and Western Heritage from Texas to the Ruidoso area and the university's new museum, this Glencoe building could fit perfectly, he said.

Gonzalez said he would be available to appear before legislative committees to promote the money necessary for the project.

Commissioners have emphasized that they will need enough to buy the barn and property, to improve it and to operate for the first year.

Underwood said, "It's crazy for me to promise anything, but I will make the best presentation that can be made and fight as hard as possible for Lincoln County."

He said he has been working with Commissioner L. Ray Nunley, "who has traveled throughout the county to line up requests from senior citizens groups and that helps me."

Cheryl LaBelle, director of the Zia Senior Citizens Centers asked Underwood if she could file a higher amended budget than the one she submitted to the State Agency on Aging.

Two new meals programs in Corona and in Ruidoso Downs (also serving Ruidoso) will require more money than budgeted to deliver adequate service through congregate meals and home delivered meals, as well as other outreach programs.

"They need nutritionally balanced meals and sometimes this is the only meal they eat in the day, plus we offer a human touch they need," LaBelle said.

In Corona, out of 123 served this year compared to 101 last year, 58 are frail and disabled.

About 940 will be served in Ruidoso Downs, without counting the Ruidoso seniors, she said.

"I'd like to be able to submit another budget to adequately support the services," she said. "I'm concerned we can't meet the need with the money in the Agency for Aging budget."

Nunley said LaBelle has done such a good job, the level of participation has increased across the county, especially in Honda.

Ralph Dunlap and officials of the Lincoln Historic Preservation Board presented a list of projects totalling $697,885.

The first priority all agreed would be a $40,000 archaeological survey, which is necessary before any projects that involve digging could be started.

Then the officials would like to have utility lines buried for about $430,000 to preserve the historic correctness and image of the area.

Walkways, originally submitted last year, were back at a higher figure of $126,720, because they will extend further through town and will be constructed to blend into the surroundings.

The fact that someone goofed last year and sent Lincoln's sidewalk money to the town of Carrizozo by mistake should work for the community. Legislators will fall guilty, Underwood said.

County manager Andy Wynham pointed out that the county attempted to help Lincoln on its own, but found that matching requirements imposed by the state on transportation money designated for the walkways, were too stiff for the county.

Underwood said he hadn't learned until recently it was the state regulations causing problems for small county's seeking that money and he would look into the situation.

Noting that the settlement of Lincoln has been featured on the Public Broadcasting System, Underwood said, "I wonder if we're promoting it enough."

He asked Dunlap to think about long range planning and a possible by-pass around the settlement to prevent 18-wheelers from driving down the community's main street.

"There's still disagreement in Lincoln whether to go for a by-pass," Dunlap said. A survey showed that 60 percent of our visitors stumbled on it and didn't even know it was there."

He asked county officials to support him in a common sense approach in how to use the $300-million surplus and to delay a rebate until 1994 when it can be returned to taxpayers without huge mailing and printing costs.

He complimented the county, saying its residents are known for their independent thoughts and actions, not worried about being politically correct.

"I also don't want to commit political suicide," Underwood said. "If taxpayers are not given some rebate, I would vote for the 6-cent gas tax to be rescinded because citizens deserve something back." But as long as there are options, he would opt to keep the tax in place and use the money for major improvements to the state's road system.

He said tourists paid about 20 percent of the surplus generated by the 6-cent gas tax.

Commissioner Bill Schwettmann called for a crack down on the gas distribution industry to eliminate price gouging and fixing.

He also questioned why elections with no opposition must be conducted with poll workers and machines after the deadline for write-in candidates has passed and no one has registered.

"It's ridiculous," he said. "We have two village with no opposition, yet we must staff the polling places."

Schwettmann suggested that the simplest and most cost effective approach to using the surplus would be to divide it equally among the state's 33 counties and send them checks.

Prison official announces notification policy change

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Responding to criticism that local law enforcement agencies haven't been notified about the type of inmates on work release programs in their communities, officials with Camp Sierra Blanca Adult Rehabilitation Center are going to try a new approach.

Warden Sandra McFadin told The Ruidoso News last week that she will send a weekly update to Lincoln County Sheriff James McSwane and Ruidoso Police Chief Richard Swenor listing inmates sent on work assignments.

It will include their names, ages, current conviction and sentence, and where they are working. McSwane said Monday he's pleased with the new procedure outlined by McFadin. If a problem arises, his deputies will know exactly where each inmate is assigned and his history.

Swenor said he was contacted by a representative of McFadin.

"I haven't seen the list yet, but it will be good information to know. We don't have problems, generally, but it's good to know where everybody's going to be," Swenor said.

The News has published several articles recently about the camp and its work release program. In part, the new procedure resulted from points raised in those stories concerning unsupervised inmates on work assignments being allowed to drive a wrecker.

B SECTION

Editorial

Healthy lifestyles start early in life

January is the time for new beginnings — the time when many, many people resolve to eat healthy, exercise and generally improve their lifestyles.

When family members make New Year's resolutions this January, they should remember that good health and eating habits begin early in life.

Heart disease has no age limit, reminds the American Heart Association, which calls on health-conscious parents to watch what their kids eat, too.

The American Heart Association estimates that 36 percent of U.S. children age 19 and under have high blood cholesterol, a major risk factor for heart disease. A diet high in fat and saturated fatty acids and cholesterol raises blood cholesterol levels. High blood cholesterol could lead to atherosclerosis, a hardening of the arteries, and later to heart disease.

Therefore, the American Heart Association, which has developed the Hearty School Lunch Program to encourage healthful eating in the nation's school cafeterias, suggests that healthy children over age two, eat a wide variety of foods and eat less than 10 percent of total calories from saturated fatty acids. The heart association recommends they eat only enough calories to support growth and proper body weight.

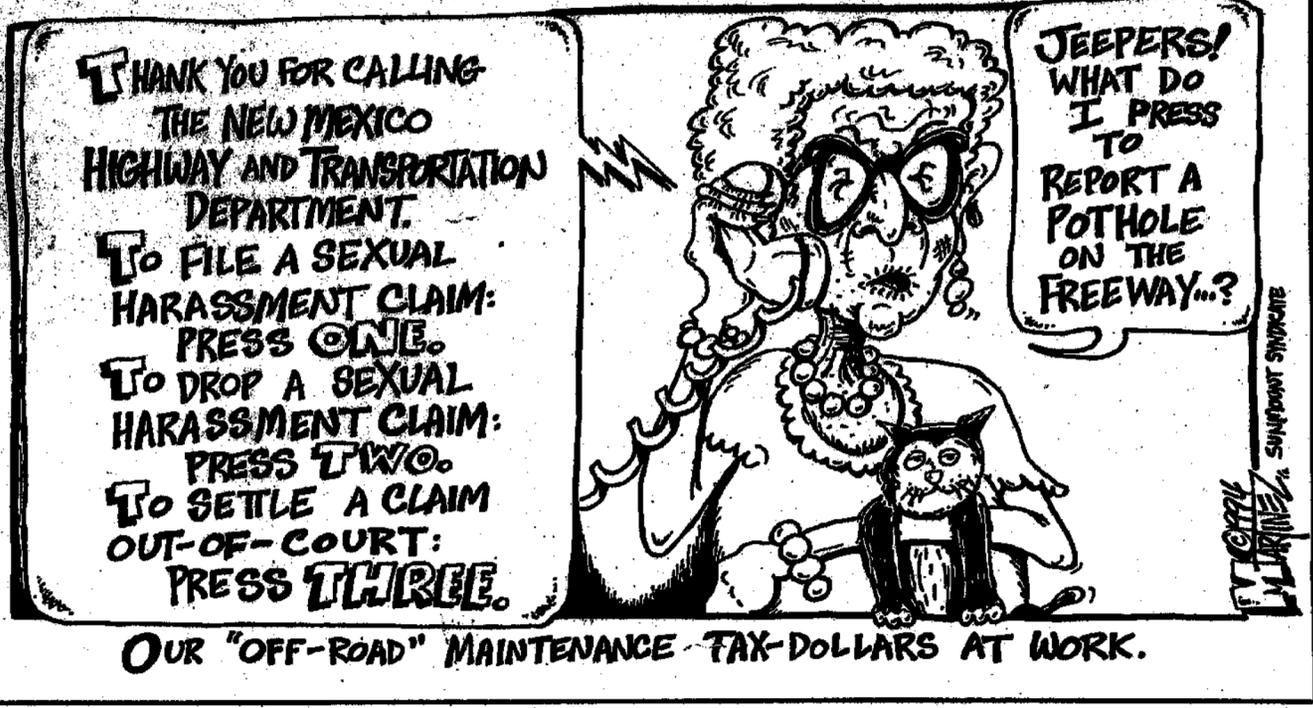

These and other positive lifestyle steps, such as physical activity, can help your children avoid developing heart disease — and maybe live longer.

For more information on healthy lifestyles and dietary guidelines for children, contact the American Heart Association at 1-800-AHA-USA1. Resolve to live healthy this year and every year.

Letters To The Editor

We need less gun control, more thug control

TO THE EDITOR:

I am writing this letter as a response to a letter to the editor printed in your December 20, 1993, issue, written by a Ms. Shirles Chiavario.

I wish first to state, that I am a police officer with the Ruidoso Police Department, and the opinions or statements contained in this letter are of a personal nature, and not necessarily the opinion of my employer.

I wish to state that Ms. Chiavario was exercising her first amendment rights to respond to a statement made by Lt. Mike Lovelace of the Ruidoso Police Department. She seemed to think that he had stated that all citizens should arm themselves to kill other human beings. I was present at that interview, and did not hear any such statement made, and when I read it in the paper, I did not read any such statement printed either.

I think Ms. Chiavario took the article out of context, in my opinion.

However, I am glad that she used her first amendment rights to make her opinion known. She should prize the first amendment, as the rest of us prize it, and protect it. This is the first time I have taken the time to express my opinion in a newspaper, and I am glad the amendment exists. I would not deny it to anyone.

I, as a police officer, am under the opinion that my job is to prevent crime if it is possible for me to do so, to apprehend the violator and bring him before the court whenever possible for me to do so, to serve the public in any manner in which my expertise is forthcoming, and whenever something is out of my line, to put the citizen in contact with the proper authority.

That job also means protecting the Constitutional rights of each and every citizen of this nation to the best of my ability. That does not just mean the first amendment, but the other twenty-seven following it, including, but not limited to the second amendment.

It is also a right for the American citizens wishing to exercise it, as well as the persons and citizens wishing to exercise the FIRST AMENDMENT, and so it, as well as the persons and citizens wishing to defend these rights for you. I and they do not wish to deny you the first amendment rights you have chosen to exercise, nor do we condemn you for using them.

Lt. Lovelace and I were stating an opinion that we did not agree with the Brady Bill because it violates the right of every American citizen to the second amendment, for not only personal protection, recreation, but most importantly, the right of Ms. Chiavario, and any other citizen of this nation, to be able to have the right of freedom of speech, press, religion and expression, along with the rest of the rights guaranteed by the U.S. Constitution, from a repressive government, or individual, remember, in a police state, you have the freedom of speech and press, only as long as you agree with whoever is in charge.

My gun, whether private or professional will continue to protect those rights for you, because I also wish to have them, as I am glad that I may exercise it now. But in a police state, that could not and would not be the case probably.

You do not need to own or possess a gun, as you have my gun, and the guns of other citizens to defend these rights for you. I and they do not wish to deny you the first amendment rights you have chosen to exercise, nor do we condemn you for using them.

We like those rights also, so do not deny us the rights of the second amendment, just because you do not wish to participate in what it guarantees. It is there in case you decide to change your mind, and it does not require that you kill or injure anyone.

That can only be your choice. Those that do make that choice, should be made to stand responsible for their actions, swiftly, and surely.

I probably have already said too much for possible space allowed, so let me end by saying that if The News would donate me the needed space, I would gladly write an article defining why I think citizens should have the right to own and possess firearms, and why the Brady Bill or any other gun control bill will not be effective.

In my opinion, we need less gun control, and more thug control.

More gun control laws

TO THE EDITOR:

Attention hunters, target shooters, ranchers, and the general public of New Mexico. There is presently legislation being considered in Santa Fe that would cause the following laws to be enacted:

1. Make it illegal for anyone under the age of 21 to own a gun. This means our sons and daughters would not be able to hunt or target shoot unless they were under the direct supervision of an adult.

2. Make it illegal to carry a loaded firearm in your vehicle.

3. Place more taxes on firearms, ammunition and components.

None of the above will have effect on crime. Please write the Governor and your state senators and congressmen and let them know that you don't need any more government intervention in your lives.

Policy

The Ruidoso News encourages letters to the editor, especially about local topics and issues.

Each letter must be signed and must include the writer's telephone number and address. The phone number and street or mailing address will not be printed, however the author's hometown will be included.

The telephone number will be used to verify authorship. No letter will be printed without the writer's name.

Libelous letters are not protected by the rules of privilege or fair comment and will not be printed.

Letters will be edited for spelling and grammar to the extent possible without impairing their flavor or changing their meaning. Letters may be shortened to fit the space available.

Dancers line up for classes

Meet others and have an enjoyable Tuesday night starting January 25, learning the hottest craze sweeping the nation—Country Western Line Dancing!

ENMU-Ruidoso's Community Education program is offering a six-week course where everyone can learn these great country dances. Each dance is broken down into easy-to-learn patterns—vine, pivot, hitch, strut, reggae, etc.

After learning the basic country line dance steps you will dance your way through the less complicated Electric Slide to the more demanding Achy Breaky dance.

As new country line dances appear on the scene, you will know the basic steps and be able to learn any new dance quickly and easily.

The objectives of this six-week course are to instill self confidence and provide the student with fundamental knowledge of the basic steps of the popular line dances: Electric Slide, Honky Tonk Stamp, Slap Leather, Tush Push, Achy Breaky and others.

Teens as well as adults are welcome. Students need not have a partner in order to take this course. Instructor for the class is Karen Laine who has taught numerous Country-Western and ballroom group and private lessons during the past several years.

Classes begin on Tuesday, January 25, continuing for six consecutive Tuesdays ending March 1. The location will be Ruidoso High School's Fine Arts Building from 7:30 to 9 p.m. The fee for the six-week course is $45 per person with registration at the ENMU-Ruidoso office, 1400 Sudderth Drive.

For further information, please call the ENMU-Ruidoso office 257-2120 or Karen Laine at 257-7777.

Learning to dance is a great way to exercise and keep fit while enjoying the many social benefits. Come join the fun!

Food Bank seeking volunteers

The Lincoln County Food Bank is looking for volunteers and board of members to operate and staff the food pantry.

The Food Bank, located in the First Presbyterian Church on Nob Hill, serves all of the county.

Directors, who serve without pay, are elected by the board for a three-year term.

According to a news release, volunteers and directors are persons who possess an active interest in pursuing the goals and purposes of the Food Bank, which mainly is to provide food and other items of necessity to deserving persons within Lincoln County and the nearby parts of Otero County.

Anyone with the desire to serve the needy people of this county, are invited to attend the board meeting at 7 p.m. Thursday, January 20, at the First Presbyterian Church on Nob Hill.

Meetings are conducted monthly at 7 p.m. the third Thursday at the Presbyterian Church.

Volunteers operate the Food Bank without pay, working two-hour shifts weekly on either Monday, Wednesday or Friday afternoons from noon to 2 or 2-4 p.m. Also volunteers are needed to fill-in for regular volunteers who are unable to serve their shift.

Those interested in volunteering should contact Jenny Lanfar at 257-5598 to arrange a training session.

Volunteers may also leave their name and phone number at the Food Bank during regular hours.

The Food Bank telephone number is 257-5823, but is staffed and answered only on Monday, Wednesday and Friday from noon to 4 p.m.

Area artists featured at Roundhouse

Governor Bruce King and First Lady Alice King are pleased to announce the upcoming exhibition at the Governor's Gallery: Artists of the Hondo Valley.

The exhibit will present artists from this culturally rich region including Gary Morton and Walt Wiggins from Ruidoso Downs; Ted Robertson, Vito Payne and Russell Waterhouse from Lincoln; Dave McGeary from Noga; John Meigs, Peter Hurd, Henriette Wyeth, Joe Dunlap, Peter Rogers, Carolyn Hurd-Rogers, Peter LaFuente from San Patricio; Luis Jimenez from Hondo; and selections from the Meigs collection in San Patricio.

The Museum of the Horse in Ruidoso Downs will also have several works in the exhibit.

This exhibition is being presented to bring this area to the public eye. The Hondo Valley has long been a regional center for important artists including Peter Hurd and Henriette Wyeth.

An additional point of interest is the recent gift by artist John Meigs of his San Patricio estate and art collection to the Museum of New Mexico Foundation. Meigs' gift includes several houses and acreage (known as Fort Meigs) and an extensive art and book collection.

The exhibition will run from January 14 through February 28. The opening reception will be from 4 to 6 p.m. Wednesday, January 19, at the Governor's Gallery, fourth floor of the State Capitol. The event is open to the public and is free and handicap accessible.

On Campus

MATTHEW J. MACVEIGH, a high school junior at New Mexico Military Institute, was named to the Dean's List for academic achievement during the first semester of the 1993-94 school year.

MacVeigh is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. MacVaigh of Capitan.

To be eligible for the Dean's List at NMMI, a student must have a minimum grade point average between 3.25 and 3.5 on a 4.0 scale and an A in department.

NMMI is a state-supported, coeducational, four-year college preparatory high school and two-year junior college with an enrollment of about 850. Scholarship endowments currently total more than $1.25 million.

ACAPPELLA

Gospel concert is planned here

The Acappella Company announces its Acappella Family Tour. AVB and Acappella will perform at 7 p.m. Tuesday, January 18, at Gateway Church of Christ. Tickets will be available at the door for $4.

The singing group Acappella, whose album, "We Have Seen His Glory," was number 25 in national sales of inspiration albums last year, will appear in selected cities, including Ruidoso, along with brother-group AVB.

AVB's B-boys recently returned from Barnaul, Siberia, where they were the first Christian singing group ever to appear in their 3,000-seat sports arena.

According to a news release, their youth-oriented lyrics and high-energy stage antics have appealed to sell-out crowds around the United States as well.

"Acappella was our first choice for our family-oriented Halloween alternative concert recently," stated general manager John Pohlman of radio station KLTI in Wichita, Kansas. "Because they are family-oriented themselves, they really relate in a personal way to people of all ages."

The Acappella Company's vocal artists were nominated for five Dove Awards this year by the Gospel Music Association, and are heard regularly on CCM-TV, Crook and Chase, Nashville Now and other national television programs.

Locals meet the President

Cece and Charlie Griffin of Ruidoso were among 50 people and dignitaries from around the state invited to meet Air Force One when it arrived with President Bill Clinton and his entourage aboard.

After arriving at Kirtland AFB, being cleared by Secret Service and led through metal detectors, the group was guided to a spot a few feet from where the President would eventually embark from the plane.

Seeing Air Force One approach, land and taxi toward where the group was standing was extremely impressive, said the Griffins.

"The door opening and the President of the United States of America walking down the steps was awe inspiring."

Cece Griffin said, having seen many Presidents in person, it is still a thrill to be included in the excitement of greeting a president on a visit to the State of New Mexico.

for Bernalillo with about 40 vehicles filled with dignitaries following.

Griffin did not go to Bernalillo but was told later that the entire route was sealed off from traffic.

The President spent considerable time in Bernalillo explaining the proposed Health Plan.

That evening the Griffins attended a private reception where again the President spoke about the Health Plan and other things the Administration is trying to implement.

"Everything at the receipt was first class — the food, entertainment, everything," said Griffin. "At the beginning, the First Lady of New Mexico, Mrs. Bruce King, presented the President with a white Stetson hat which he looked very good in."

Griffin said she noticed that he looks thinner in person than on television.

"He was very calm and shook all the hands he could. He gave special attention to the children in the mariachi band from Española that played during the reception."

Among the hands that the President shook, was that of another Ruidoso resident, Rachel Garrett, a student at UNM who was a volunteer hostess at the reception.

Garrett, who was meeting her first President of the United States,

"We were that close," said Cece Griffin, who shook President Bill Clinton's hand when he was in Albuquerque.

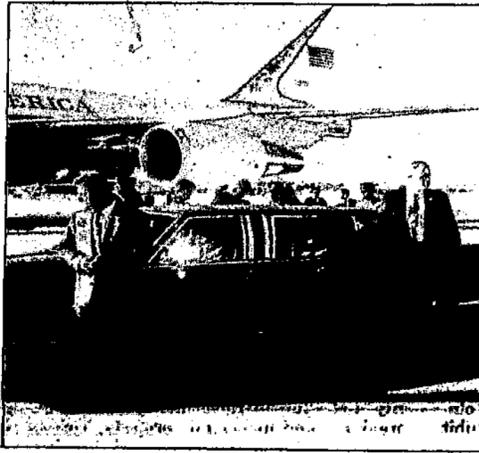

was just as impressed and awed as the Griffins with President Clinton.

After the reception, President Clinton attended a $1,000 a plate fund raising dinner which was at the Albuquerque Convention Center.

Griffin said it was very apparent that Bill Clinton and Bruce King are very good friends and President Clinton is always pleased to be in New Mexico.

Griffin talked of the tight security maintained by the Secret Service, the press that travels with the President, the local State Press and the special limousines that were flown in for the President to travel to Bernalillo.

Before boarding his limousine, the President spent some time greeting and shaking hands with the welcoming group. He then left his visit to Albuquerque. Security was tight at the airport where hundreds of people lined up to see the President.

Mescalero 4-H students, bulls win prizes at Arizona Nationals stock show

Ten-year-old Mescalero Apache 4-H Club member Bryan Martinez exhibited the Brahman/Brahman Cross Champion at the 1993 Arizona National Livestock Show (ANLS) in Phoenix, Arizona, the last week in December.

The Brahman/Charolais/Angus cross steer champion, Tiger, was purchased in the Arizona National's 1992 Feeder Steer Sale, and tipped the scales last week at 1,400 pounds.

In addition to Phoenix, Bryan has exhibited Tiger at a SAILA Jackpot in Sonoita, Arizona; the Otero County Fair and the New Mexico State Fair.

The steer was purchased by Pat Carrigan, Maricopa Feed Yards, Maricopa, Arizona, on a $1.25 per pound bid.

With the Arizona National, Bryan, a student at Ruidoso Middle School, completed his second year in 4-H and embarked on his third year, purchasing another crossbred steer in Phoenix.

Standing right behind Bryan was fellow Mescalero Apache 4-H'er Ellereen Sage, with Reserve Brahman/Brahman Cross Champion. Ellereen's third steer, Bozo, was the first ever Red Brangus sired champion steer. A Red Brangus/Hereford cross, he tipped the scales at 1,050 pounds.

In addition to securing the championships and prime sale positions, the Mescalero 4-H members were selected as winners of the Herdsman Award for the show for their stall display area.

In all, the Mescalero Apache 4-H Livestock Show Team attending the ANLS, one of the nation's top 10 livestock shows, consisted of 10 youngsters.

Steer exhibitors included Kevin Pellman, Erika Martinez, Michael Torres and Starlen Bigrope.

Eight-year-old Jordan Torres Jr., a heifer exhibitor until he is nine when he can show steers, showed his Shorthorn heifer, Purdy, in both the open and junior shows.

His five-year-old brother, Ted Torres, exhibited his fine wool ewe, Woolite, in the Gentlemen's Lead Class. Young Ted also competed in the five-year-old division of the Little Buckaroo Rodao riding Shredder, a fine wool ewe.

First year 4-H'er Swannie Chico showed her crossbred market lamb.

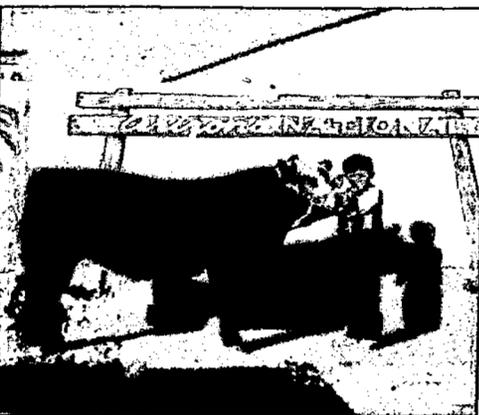

With more than 20 youngsters signed up for livestock projects for 1994, the Club has its sights set on the Otero County Fair, the New Mexico State Fair and a third ANLS trip, in addition to any jackpots that budget and schedule allow.

For the three years, the 4-H members and their parents have staged a wide variety of fund raising projects to pay travel and supply expenses.

For 1993-94, the Mescalero Apache Tribe has granted the group a bull/alk permit for the 1994 hunt. The 4-H Club is offering tickets on the permit, complete with guide services from the Tribe's premier guides, for $10 each or 12 for $100.

The tickets are transferable and the winner will be drawn during the July 4 festivities in Mescalero.

Anyone interested in the permit may contact any Mescalero Apache 4-H Club member or their parents, or 4-H leader Caren Cowan Bremer at 257-6788.

Mescalero 4-H Club members who won prizes at the Livestock Show in Arizona include (clockwise, from top left) Michael

Torres with Renegade, Ellereen Sage with Bozo, Starlen Bigrope with Redskin and Bryan Martinez with Tiger.

LEGAL NOTICE
 NOTICE OF
 REPORTING REQUIREMENTS

Property which was valued in 1993 in this county by the county assessor is not required to be reported or rendered for the 1994 or subsequent years, EXCEPT FOR:

- 1. mobile homes
- 2. livestock, and
- 3. land used for agricultural purposes

If, for any reason, your property was not valued last year and it is subject to valuation this year, you are required by law to report it to the county assessor on forms provided wither by mail or at the assessor's office.

All nongovernmental entities (property owner)
 which claim to be exempt from the property tax must report their property and claim their exemption for 1994 if the exemption was not claimed in 1993.

Reports for mobile homes, livestock, land use for agricultural purposes, property not valued last year and claims for exemptions by nongovernmental entities must be completed and mailed or delivered to the county assessor not later than the last day of February.

If you made improvements to your real property and:

- 1. the improvements
 cost more than $1,000 and
- 2. a building permit for the improvements was not issued;

you must report the nature of the improvements and their cost to the assessor not later than the last day of February. These reports must be on forms provided by the assessor.

If you believe your property decreased in value
 during the preceding year, you must report, or forms provided by the assessor, a signed statement which:
 1. describes the property

affected,
 2. states the cause and nature of decrease in value,
 and
 3. states the amount you contend the value has decreased.

This statement must be filed with the county assessor no later than the last day of February.

Veterans claiming an exemption must bring in or mail to the County
 Assessor's Office their
 New Mexico Veteran's Certificate of Eligibility
 no later than the last day in February.

If the head-of-family exemption was claimed and allowed in 1993 no new claim for that exemption is required to be filed. However, if that exemption was not claimed and allowed in 1993 and it is now claimed, claim must be made by the last day of February by filing with the assessor the form provided by the assessor.

Beginning in the 1982 tax year, taxpayers are responsible for declaring their property
 classification to the assessor, as residential or nonresidential. When the declaration is accepted by the assessor, it shall remain as such and need not be made in the subsequent years unless the classification changes.
 If a taxpayer has not declared their property to be residential in 1993 and desires that classification for 1994 they must complete a declaration of residential classification and return the signed declaration to the county assessor's office by the last day of February, 1994.

Certain mineral and personal property of contractors operating in more than one county are required to be reported to the Taxation and Revenue
 Department, Property Tax
 Division of the State of New Mexico in Santa Fe.
 Information about property to be reported to the Taxation and Revenue
 Department, Property Tax

Division can be obtained from the county assessor or the Taxation and Revenue Department,
 Property Tax Division,
 Central Assessment
 Bureau, P. O. Box 630,
 Santa Fe, New Mexico
 87509, Phone: (505) 827-0893.

THIS NOTICE is only a brief statement of the provisions of Section 7-38-8, 7-38-8.1, 7-38-13,
 7-38-17 and 7-38-17.1
 NMSA 1978 of the Property Tax Code. It is not intended to reflect the full contents of these statutory provisions. If you wish to review the full contents of these provisions, they can be examined at the office of the county assessor.
