One voting place for tomorrow's election

Village clerk Tammie Maddox said she has received a number of calls from residents incorrectly thinking they could vote at the Ruidoso Library.

Maddox said all polling will be at the Ruidoso Convention Civic Events Center and no where else. "Everybody votes at the center," Maddox said. There will be two polling places at the center consolidating precincts seven and nine and consolidating precincts six, eight and 10.

RHS presents plays

The Ruidoso High School drama department presents a double feature tonight and Thursday.

"Of Widows and Vegetables," a spoof on Commedia dell'Arte, and "King Oedipus," the Greek tragedy, were performed at the ENMU Theater Festival last week.

Showtime is at 7 p.m., and the plays are expected to run a total of about two hours with intermission. Ticket prices are $5 for adults, $4 for students. Students with blue cards get in for $3.50, silver cards $3 and gold cards $2.50.

"This is the last play for the seniors," said director Linda Currier.

Voters are surveyed

Ruidoso voters will vote on a mayor, municipal judge and four councilors from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. tomorrow (Tuesday), March 1, at the Ruidoso Convention and Civic Events Center.

The Ruidoso News conducted an informal poll late last week and over the weekend, contacting more than 100 people. Some people contacted declined to predict the results of tomorrow's election.

Of the 40 responses, Jerry Shaw was predicted to win the mayoral election over Frank Cummins by 35 to five.

Prognosticators put the municipal judge's race as a dead heat between incumbent Charles Hawthorne and Mike Line, both attorneys. Hawthorne got 18 and Line got 17, with one prediction for Danny Garcia and one for Jerry Wright. Many people surveyed commented that the race is too close to call.

For the three four-year terms, incumbents Joe Gomez and Frank Potter lead the field, with incumbent Bill Karn lagging way behind.

Guessers gave Gomez 25 votes; Potter, 29; and Karn, eight. The survey showed other candidates this way: Leon Eggleston, 12; Charles Rennick, 12; Robert Storch, five; Norman Smith, zero.

Robert Donaldson leads the two-year race, according to this small survey, with 28 to Strand "Mac" McDougal's five and Allen Full's one.

The survey is unscientific and proves nothing. Village clerk Tammie Maddox, however, said that village turnout is greater in a mayoral election.

Maddox said that 79 voters sent in their ballots to vote absentee as opposed to 30 during the last election. She said restrictions were relaxed for absentee votes which could be the reason for the heavier than normal early ballots.

LCMC, county debate contract

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Signals may have been mixed, communications confused and intentions misinterpreted, but for a few tense minutes last week, sparks were flying between Lincoln County Commissioner L. Ray Nunley and attorney Gary Mitchell.

Both men sit as members of the community board of the Lincoln County Medical Center.

As Nunley sees it, Mitchell jumped on commissioners for asking questions about the county's contract with Presbyterian Healthcare Services, which operates the county-owned hospital under a contract with the commission.

Mitchell seemed to be saying that commissioners are thinking about taking over the hospital and that's absolutely incorrect, Nunley said.

"I told Gary he was trying to make smoke where there was no fire," Nunley said. "I wouldn't have made this a public issue, if it had not been brought up in a public meeting. I'm happy with the hospital and happy with the way (administrator Valerie Miller) runs the hospital. All we want is the contract, I said we have half a contract and we want the other half and accountability."

"(The commission is) not attempting to run the hospital. We don't want to run the hospital. We think they're doing a good job, but that doesn't guarantee something won't change or happen in the future. We want to know who the equipment belongs to and where we will be in the future."

The man assigned to negotiate satisfactory resolutions of any problems areas in the revised contract is county manager Andy Wynham. The existing agreement technically expired in December, he said.

"It's not so much the ownership, but the fact that the commission appropriates nearly $1-million a year from a special tax levy for the operation of the hospital, that makes (commissioners) feel they should be more knowledgeable about the financial and operational aspects of the hospital," Wynham said.

"If someone asks them a question about the hospital's ($7.8-million) operation, how that money is used or how much goes for Presbyterian's administration fee, they'd like to be able to answer."

He noted that the proposed contract sent from Presbyterian to the county is for 10 years with a renewal provision for another 10 years. When an agreement has the potential to run that long, it demands close scrutiny, he said.

One of the areas of concern is a statement that the commission "will" levy the maximum 3.25 mill special property tax for support of the hospital. (Another mill goes to the Carrizozo Health Center).

"It's against the law for this commission to bind future commissioners and I think this provision would be violating the law," Wynham said.

Besides, before agreeing to put

New baler speeds up recycling

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

The key to survival in the recycling business is packing as much material weight onto each truck as possible and finding the best markets.

With that in mind, Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority general manager Joe Lewandowski and recycling coordinator Kerry Krum-siek, with the concurrence of the authority board, bought a new baler that will pack more for the punch.

They demonstrated the $29,000 baler's efficiency last week at the authority's recycling center in Ruidoso Downs.

"It was purchased with a $32,000 grant from the State Energy, Minerals and Natural Resources Department, which included an extra $3,000 for some supplies and to cover the cost of installation, which was about $1,200."

"We wanted it to increase the density, size and weight of bales. The game is to get as much on the trucks as possible and to increase the speed of the operation."

The new machinery and other moves by the manager have increased the efficiency with fewer staff members.

"When I came on board, it took the crew four to five hours to produce one bale of aluminum, now it takes 45 minutes," Lewandowski said. "It took three hours for a bale of newspaper and that's down to 45 minutes and it took five hours for a bale of cardboard. That's down to less than an hour."

With that increased speed, Lewandowski also is looking at ways to increase the volume of recyclable material flowing into the center.

One of the major steps will be the initiation of a blue bag recycling program in Ruidoso Downs slated to begin April 1. The community already has a polycart and house-to-house collection program. The blue bags would be used exclusively for designated recyclable materials.

The number of igloos have been increased around the county for people to drop their glass, newspapers, aluminum, cardboard and plastic.

"And we're constantly trying to increase public awareness of the program," Lewandowski said.

"We've been searching all over for markets."

Cardboard still heads to El Paso and newspaper to Snowflake, Arizona. Three buyers compete for aluminum, two in Roswell and one in Tucson. Steel goes to Roswell and Alamogordo, plastic to Odessa and white goods to Alamogordo.

"It took 700 boxes of plastic to make 32 bales and a truck load," Lewandowski said.

Depending on whether it's clear or has color, glass goes to Roswell, Waco, Texas, or Coors in Golden, Colorado.

Based on volume, the center's heaviest flow is in cardboard and newspaper.

"Plastic takes up a lot of space, but doesn't have substance," he said.

He's continually looking at other avenues of hooking into flows of recycling materials.

Lewandowski and staff will take their show on the road Saturday, March 5, for the Recycling Fair in Alamogordo at the Otero County fairground.

"The other groups are bringing photographs," he said. "We're much further along than most and we plan to bring some of our equipment down — such as igloos, the crane, a blue recycling dumpster and some bales, and we're putting together a video of the operation."

Kerry Krum-siek (left) recycling coordinator of the Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority, and general manager Joe Lewandowski admire the efficiency of a new baler, purchased with a $32,000 state grant. It will speed up baling of cardboard, newspaper, aluminum and steel cans. An employee (in back) loads boxes of material onto a conveyor belt, which dumps it into the compression chamber.

Letter rehashes village history

by CHARLES STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

In an apparent attempt to sway last minute voter selection, a letter sent to all registered Ruidoso voters by a small fringe group, declared their slate of candidates and in doing so angered some of them.

The letter, mailed under the bulk permit of the New Mexico Financial Center to the voter registration list, also angered owners Ray and Judy Parrish who said they gave permission to use their bulk permit only after being assured the mailing would not take sides politically.

The effects of the letter, if there is a small voter turnout, could impact the municipal elections scheduled for Tuesday, March 1.

Parrish said she thought they were helping a community not-for-profit group and were told they would not be involved in taking sides during this election.

Drafters of the letter, L. Dowd Jameson, J.C. Schuller and Walt Durr were called by The News.

"I don't think he (Parrish) had much understanding of the letter or anything about it," Jameson said. Asked if their chosen slate knew about the letter or were contacted, Jameson said, "I think some of them were, but most of them, not directly by us. I can tell you, frankly, I do not know personally anyone on the slate. I don't think the other drafters of the letter know all on the slate. The people in the slate had nothing to do with what we put in the letter."

The Ruidoso News, in fairness to all 18 candidates on the ballot, chooses not to mention the names of the candidates on the slate selected in the letter, nor the issues printed in the letter on which those candidates were not allowed to give input.

Durr also confirmed that the candidates had not read the body of the letter, but each had been contacted and told they were going to be given support.

Schuller would not talk to The News about the letter.

"I'm not going to talk to you until you write questions down and send them to me," he said.

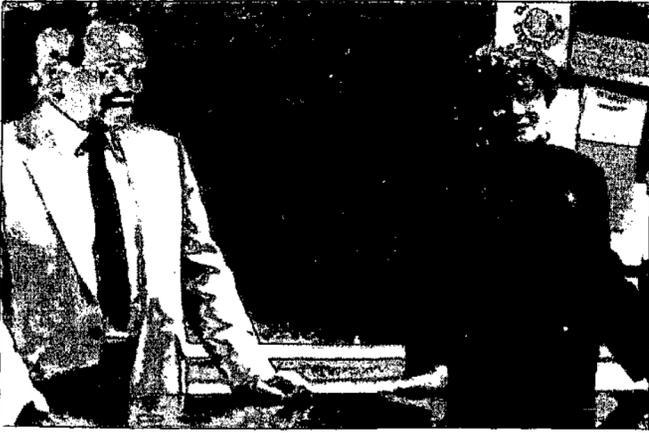

Durr and Jameson both said the only other person that had input in the contents of the letter was Ruidoso Councilor Barbara Duff.

Contacted by The News, Duff said she had intended to send a letter of her own. She said she talked with the men about the candidates and what she knew about the candidate's background. She said she did not read the body of the letter.

The News asked how New Mexico Financial Center was chosen for the bulk permit.

"You will recall that Warren Hastings came out with a letter somewhat similar to ours. To be honest with you, we were in contact with Warren, and of course he has a bulk mail permit and we thought maybe we could use his. We both agreed not to, because he is under some kind of cloud (not following campaign practices under Article 19 of the state statutes) and we did not want that to reflect on us, that's why we didn't use his."

Candidates go back to school

Mayoral candidates Frank Cummins and Jerry Shaw answered the questions of high school government students Friday. Students asked the candidates what they would do about youth services, gambling, gangs, vandalism, MainStreet, the school board and the future of Ruidoso. Students also wanted to know the candidates' positions on the MRS and the hotel at the Links, and they asked what qualified Councilor Cummins and incumbent Mayor Shaw for the job of mayor.

Asked why Hastings did not put his name on the letter, Durr said, "For the very same reason we didn't want to use his permit, because he is still under a cloud and we didn't want anything that might affect our credibility negatively."

Durr said there were others involved.

"I could name several others that are informally involved, too; quite a few others, but what we wrote (in the letter) was strictly the three of us, with some input from Barbara (Duff). I don't want to blame anybody else."

Last Friday, Durr called the paper to say he regretted sending the letter without informing the candidates of the contents first.

"We stubbed our toes, and I learned a lesson," Durr said. "We just didn't have the time to talk to everyone."

Durr said, although he was wrong in not contacting the candidates, his intentions were in the best interest of the community.

Letter angers James

Councilor J.D. James, who is not a candidate, but a councilor with two more years to serve, also was mentioned negatively in the letter.

In an unusual request, James asked The News to print his response to the letter. The following is a transcript of his taped interview.

"I've been a member of the governing body for the village for nearly seven years, and when I read this open letter to Ruidoso voters, I noticed that my name was mentioned."

It states, 'according to Councilman J.D. James, who seems to have some kind of direct connection with AllHub (hotel prospects), this is not true. I do not have any direct connection with AllHub and I resent that kind of implication that I have that kind of connection.'

"It says that a verbal offer was allegedly made by AllHub to construct a below standard hotel on the site. This is not true. It has never been mentioned about constructing a below standard hotel. The only time it's been discussed about the hotel, was in an open meeting in village hall with 150-200 people in attendance. The subject was then, that AllHub's attorney requested that the hotel be downsized from 250 luxury type hotel rooms to 125-150 luxury type hotel rooms. That's it in a nutshell."

"I resent being brought into something like this, when I'm sitting on the council and not up for re-election. Everyone out there knows that I speak the truth. I will not lie to anyone knowingly for anything on this earth. So I'll put that part of the letter to rest."

"Now I want to speak about the golf course. It's stated in there, in part, that the village did not receive one cent from The Links, which is in error. According to the figures that I just received today, Thursday, February 24, and I quote, in 1991, the village received $27,216.54 off of a revenue of $769,372.39. In 1992, the village

Guv asked to veto county's $290,000

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

No sooner had the news been released that the State Legislature coughed up $290,000 for the purchase and operation of the Super Select Sales Barn in Glencoe than flyers hit the streets opposing the plan.

The flyers urge county residents to write Governor Bruce King and object to the county buying the barn and trying to operate what the writers contend should be a private business. King could choose to veto the bill.

Commissioners who support the purchase proposal to provide a home for special rural events expected some opposition. But they were surprised when reports surfaced that Commissioner Bill Schwettmann, who voted for the purchase, was handing out the flyers.

Schwettmann told The Ruidoso News Monday those reports are false.

"I went to the fair association meeting last Wednesday and the flyers were lying there on the table," Schwettmann said. "I picked up a couple and I gave one to (Commissioner Chairman) Monroy Montes so he would know what was being circulated."

"I haven't given out one to another soul. To my knowledge, I haven't even shown one to anybody else."

"I don't even know who put it out. I think it was from the Lincoln area."

Schwettmann said although he voted for the property purchase, it was with conditions and those conditions have not been met.

"So, I still have questions," he said. "I don't understand why the proponents are pushing it in such a very fast manner when the governor hasn't even signed the bill and we haven't even seen what form it is in and how it reads."

"The packet that went to the State Legislature asked for about $610,000, as I understand it, and we ended up with $290,000. It was not my intention to have the county obligated to (come up with) operational expenses."

The legislature allocated $250,000 for the purchase and $40,000 for the first year of operation of the facility or to be used toward remodeling and repairs.

Proponents visualize the property being used for the Annual Lincoln County Cowboy Symposium, to house a museum and for special events such as Arabian horse shows.

the special tax on the ballot for renewal in September 1992, commissioners were assured by then county attorney J. Robert Beauvais that they had the power to reduce the amount of tax levied, if commissioners determine less was needed.

Beauvais was quoted in a Ruidoso News article as saying that it wasn't necessary to include that wording on the ballot because "that power is guaranteed to you in the statutes and can't be taken away whether or not it's on the ballot."

Mitchell's view

Commenting Saturday on the hospital board meeting and his exchange with Nunley, Mitchell said, "I think if anything, this was a tempest in a teapot thing."

"I knew about some of the contract problems and I think L. Ray jumped ahead and thought I was talking about contract problems and that I was jumping down the county for raising questions about the contract. And that's not correct."

"If you talk to the board members and ask where Gary Mitchell stood, he's given Presbyterian hell over the years about our authority and their authority and how much money they spent. All the time, I'm always raising cane about it. At least, that's what the corporation thinks."

"It wasn't that. It has nothing to do with that. I did it based on another totally opposite situation in town where people are saying 'Well, why can't we do it this way or why can't we do it that way.' I say please, it's not something government can run."

"It's been obvious for many years that in this day and age that local hospitals that are run solely by a county government just can't exist. They fail right and left."

"And they have to be managed professionally. You just can't take people ... not that they couldn't learn to do it ... it's much too complicated and too many problems to just all of a sudden one day the county take over the hospital and try to run the hospital."

Asked whether a commissioner has ever indicated an interest to him in taking over the hospital, Mitchell replied, "No, never. I was surprised that L. Ray... I didn't understand what he was talking about. I was just making my comment that it's a very complicated thing as to what's going to happen (with changes in Medicaid, Medicare, insurance and the nation's health policy)."

"This is the situation. L. Ray thought that I had talked to somebody who was questioning whether the county should be involved in running the hospital. I don't know of a single commissioner who's saying that."

"And I was very blunt about it. L. Ray said the county doesn't want in the hospital business and I said damn right they don't. They better not be in the hospital business. It's insanity. We'd lose this hospital. We'd lose this hospital in 90 days and that's not an exaggeration. It's just because it's that complicated and you have to have sufficient resources to wait for the federal government or Indian Health Care of whatever the case may be to pay their bills. They don't pay in 90 days, Medicare and Medicaid."

"Part of the problem is that we knew the county was considering a contract again. I've always been vehemently opposed to politics being involved in the running of this hospital, because we have salvaged this hospital in times when everybody else was bailing."

"We just had good people from the community who went in and gave of themselves whether it be volunteering services to the hospital or be physicians working for a little less pay than they could be getting elsewhere or whether it be board members who gave up their time and learned how to do things and went and negotiated stuff and campaigned for mill levies or whatever the case may be."

Diminished power

The Ruidoso News pointed out to Mitchell that language in the proposed new contract sent by Presbyterian to the county seemed to diminish the role of the community board.

The previous contract states that the activities of the hospital are "governed" by the community board of trustees, which implies powers and that the board is mandatory.

The wording in the proposed new agreement provides that Presbyterian "may" appoint such a board strictly as an advisory body to meet quarterly.

"I think I've been on that board almost 10 years now, maybe longer, as long as anybody else there now," Mitchell said. "Presbyterian has never told us that we couldn't do something, never."

"Who do you think runs that operation? That board runs that operation, if you want to know the truth about it. If you don't think we can fire somebody, we've done that before."

The prior administrator was asked to resign before Miller was hired, Mitchell said.

"We replaced that administrator with the person who's recognized among hospital people as probably the finest administrator in the Southwest," he said of Miller.

"I have no objections to them (asking the corporation to change the proposed wording) saying 'shall' (appoint a community board)," Mitchell said. "There was never anything controversial in that contract that wasn't corrected."

Wynham pointed out that contract negotiations do not involve the community board. The contract is between the county and Presbyterian.

Hospital assets

Mitchell said he is aware that some commissioners want assurances that all equipment purchased for or donated to the hospital belongs to the county.

"I've known that all the assets ($8.2-million) belong to the county," Mitchell said. "Frankly, if somebody would sit and listen, they would know that answer already. That's never been a question, there's never been a question about who owned it."

Asked if an inventory list exists that spells out county ownership of items, Mitchell replied.

"Sure it's spelled out. It has been for years. You can go back to the inception of how this thing was originally done and who owns the assets down there. They're in the county's name. The buildings belong to the county, that's set forth in the deed records. And the bill of sale records on all the equipment, all those invoices, all those kinds of stuff, the cash receipts."

"The only things that Presbyterian owns, they own some office furniture such as computers and obviously, we use a computer program for accounting that belongs to them."

"My problem, and I guess one reason I get sort of short with commissioners, is that for 10 years, we've had a commissioner on that board so the commission would know exactly everything the board members know. All they have to do is attend the meetings. And we provide to the county and to the newspaper and to the public an entire budget available to everybody."

"My problem is, if they want to educate themselves before they start going in there and making accusations and inquiries and implying we don't do this or this hasn't been disclosed, fine. I welcome that. But for crying out loud, we go to those board meetings. There's a big book there set forth to everybody on the board. Here's all the financial stuff, here's (the) report that's given to the county or anyone who wants it. And L. Ray hasn't been at our meetings, so how in the world would L. Ray even know?"

"You've got to be there to understand. I'm not saying L. Ray's situation of not being able to attend meetings is purposeful on his part. It's not. He's there as much as he can be there. The problem is we thought we were (keeping the commission informed) by having that commissioner there."

"We vote on the (annual operating budget of the hospital). We spend three meetings to go through that budget. We prepare a preliminary budget, we go through that. Then we prepare a budget we're going to ask approval on and then bring it back in its final form."

Commissioners have a right to know about any aspect of the hospital's operation that doesn't violate confidentiality of patients, Mitchell said.

"And I want them to know and I thought we were providing.... We'd be happy to provide them with everything we can possibly do and we thought we were accomplishing that by having a commissioner on the board so that he could make reports to them," Mitchell said.

Nunley told The News in the year he has served on the board, he has missed two consecutive meetings.

Valerie Miller noted that, although a commissioner serves on the board and Mitchell invited the public to attend the monthly meetings, as a private company operating the hospital, those meetings are not subject to the state's Open Meetings Act.

Management fee

Mitchell acknowledged that there is one area that board members are careful talking about, because people outside the hospital industry may not be aware of the cost of hiring a professional organization to administer the hospital.

"I've been very leery of that and we've been very careful about how much money went into management fees," Mitchell said. "Although, to most people they say that's a lot of money, but in the hospital business it's not, it's a nominal amount."

Miller said the management fee this year is $360,000, but she stressed that it covered actual costs of using Presbyterian's services in data processing, legal counsel, accounting, billing and other areas.

Her $80,000 annual salary is not part of the management reimbursement to Presbyterian and comes out of general salary line item, which totalled slightly under $3.2-million in the last fiscal year.

"Presbyterian doesn't make money off this hospital," Miller insisted. "They're in it, because they hope that because of the association, patients will be referred to their hospital in Albuquerque. That's the fact."

"Frankly, Ruidoso has been one of the shining lights throughout the Southwest," Mitchell said. "This place has a phenomenal hospital" that does not, like many other hospitals, turn away people needing medical treatment if they don't have insurance.

"We haven't raised rates in three years. I guess I'm upset, because quietly, we have dedicated our lives to that board."

"What I see happening here and my great fear, frankly with the press, I'm afraid that people who don't know how to interpret this stuff, don't want to look at it, people who don't want to study are going to say, 'Look what they're doing here. They sent half a million dollars to Albuquerque.' Of course, they don't ever bother to think that Albuquerque spent way more than that on this hospital."

"I certainly have no problem, except that all of a sudden when the hospital is running the finest it's ever run, with finest medical staff it's ever had, rendering the finest medical care... let me tell you the thing I fear the most, is that if we are not careful in our community, what happens to a hospital in a small community is that it ends up being nothing but an emergency ward where everybody gets shipped off by helicopter or fast ambulance to Roswell, El Paso and Albuquerque."

"That is what could happen here in short order. I mean that's the reason you have to affiliate with Presbyterian. Those of us who have spent our lives down there with that hospital want the best possible care and we exhaust efforts to get the finest doctors in here. Now we've got just about everything you can have in a small community."

The hospital administration also is trying to adjust to future shifts in medical care approaches, he said.

Miller agreed. "We're way ahead of many other hospitals in the state," she said. "That doesn't have to do with me, but with the openness and flexibility of this group. They aren't going to be caught. They're preparing and positioning themselves."

"What all of us are seeing in the future is that these much larger health plans and hospitals are going out and buying huge segments of the community," Mitchell said. "For example, if you have all county employees, you can sell them one health plan. They may all have to go to Albuquerque to get their health care, but are paying that at a cheaper cost than they may be able to get provided in Lincoln County, because instructed to go to a particular hospital."

"In trying to run a hospital, we are going to join with associations throughout the state, whether it's major hospitals like Presbyterian or whatever, we're going to have to stay in major health plans to remain viable. And we hope when people go out and buy their insurance, they don't buy into these plans where they just end up going to Albuquerque."

According to information from the American Hospital Association, the 38-bed Lincoln County Medical Center in 1992 showed an average occupancy rate of 31.4 percent and total admissions of 1,396 patients.

Snowball is waiting at the shelter to melt your heart

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

A big fluffy bundle of fur, Snowball was found wandering in the White Mountain area and brought to the Lincoln County Humane Society animal shelter last week.

But shelter manager Esther Harper soon discovered that beneath all of that matted and dirty fur, the three-month-old Great Pyrenees puppy was un-damaged.

"We've been trying to put some weight on him and Kathy (Tetreault, shelter office secretary) took him home and gave him a bath. He smells and looks really good now.

"He's very affectionate and not at all hyper. He gets along well with the other dogs. He would need a lot of room, because the breed grows very large as an adult (27-32 inches average up to 40 inches and between 90-125 pounds). Even as a puppy, he looks twice his age. Right now, he's also teething, so be sure to have some good chewing toys on hand."

Great Pyrenees, descendants of the Hungarian Kuvacs, are considered the aristocratic relative of the St. Bernard and the Newfoundland.

On the other side of the size spectrum, a three-year-old sheltie named Lacy also needs a second chance.

"She was found under a house with two puppies by the new tenants. They brought them in and the next day, found a third puppy," Tetreault said. "It's hard to imagine someone just leaving a sweet and small dog like that. She has no bad habits and responds to affection, but she's still a little leery. She's been here since January 14, and still is confused about what has happened to her."

Two of her pups were adopted and one died.

Next door at the cattery, Frisky ad: Olivia are ready to become someone's close companion.

An orange tabby, Frisky is a three- to four-month-old male brought into the shelter as a stray. As his name implies, he has lots of energy.

Olivia, about three-months old, also was a stray, caught in a trap. She's more laid back and white and gray in color.

Mandatory alter

Officials in Aurora, Colorado, passed a mandatory spray/neuter ordinance, according to Cheryl Conway, public information officer for the Animal Care Division of the City of Aurora.

The effort took two years and was headed by shelter manager Pam Alford, who had heard about San Mateo County's ordinance, the first in the nation. Ruidoso's city council passed the second such ordinance in the nation and last year, the New Mexico State Legislature showed its backing by requiring all animals adopted from shelters statewide to be neutered.

The Aurora ordinance requires all cats and dogs over the age of six months to be sterilized unless they have a permanent or temporary medical exemption from a veterinarian and the owner purchased an intact animal permit.

The permit does not allow them to breed the animal. That requires a special $85 breeder's permit for each litter, plus a license must be purchased and certificate of health obtained 30 days prior to allowing their animal to breed.

To assist with enforcing the new law, they included a section that requires a breeding permit to be displayed if a person is selling or giving away puppies or kittens.

According to Conway, Aurora has a human population of 222,000 and kills 7,000 dogs and cats each year at the city shelter and another 2,000 from Aurora are killed at the neighboring Denver Dumb Friend League.

The mandatory sterilization ordinances being passed are designed to stop unwanted litters and end the needless suffering and deaths of 13 million abandoned dogs and cats each year in shelters around the nation. It also will decrease the expense to the taxpayer.

Crafter turns hobby into business

Ruidoso crafters and seamsters will welcome a new specialty store supplying cloth, beads and other tools of the trade. At Mountaintop Fabric, now at Cornerstone Square, owner Diane Travelstead can supply and advise crafters.

Travelstead's business is a natural extension of her hobbies.

"I just love it," she said. "And I love crafts. This way I can sew all day and still sell things."

Travelstead sends much of her craftwork to Dallas, Texas, for sale there.

Originally from Roswell, Travelstead and her husband, James, lived in Dallas for several years with their three children. It was making clothes for her kids that got Travelstead into business.

"I started sewing for them, and then for their friends, and then I was in business," she said.

Making kids' clothes costs about half as much as buying them, said Travelstead, and they usually last longer.

"Kids outgrow things so fast, it's worth it to just make their clothing."

That teenagers will wear what Travelstead makes is testimony to her talent. She prefers to make kid's clothing, but Travelstead is a versatile seamstress and crafter.

She also makes quilts, old-fashioned stuffed animals, place mats, and almost anything her customers request.

"I don't do furniture," she said. "But I can custom make other things."

Travelstead said she wanted to bring a new market to Ruidoso with fabric paints and iron-on patterns. She would like to create crafts that will interest tourists.

Travelstead has big plans for her little store, tucked into a room of suite I in Cornerstone Square.

"I eventually want it to be like Coomers," she said. Coomers is a fabric store chain that rents out booth space like a full-time arts and crafts mall.

She noted that there are many people in town who are quilters, wood workers or jewelry makers.

"I wanted to let other crafters rent shelf space, but I don't have room," she said. Instead, she will sell her own crafts in addition to craft supplies.

Travelstead also offers workshops and classes through Mountaintop Fabric, and she sends a regular newsletter to customers on her mailing list.

"For March, we've scheduled lessons in fabric wreath making, beginning sewing, beginning quilting, and paper twisting," she said.

Mountaintop Fabric is open 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Friday and 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday.

Call 257-5864 for information about classes, or pick up a calendar and some supplies at Mountaintop Fabric.

Diane Travelstead, owner of Mountaintop Fabric, sells everything the creative crafter needs and offers classes for beginners in sewing, wreath making and quilting.

Community investment

United New Mexico Bank branch manager Carl Bartley presents Ruidoso police officer Bill Heiniken with a check for $500 toward the purchase of video cameras for Ruidoso police cars. Police Chief Richard Swenor (left) said a major cost to the taxpayer is the time police officers spend in court. A recent report from the Royal Canadian Mounted Police showed a survey between police units with cameras and units without video tape. The report from Canada stated that after a two-year trial, law officers with video cameras had zero court time.

Arrington named stockholder in firm

Davis, Kinard & Co., P.C., certified public accountants, in Abilene, Texas, announced that Terry E. Arrington, CPA, has become a stockholder in the firm effective January 1 of this year.

Arrington is the son of T.E. and Myrtle Arrington of Ruidoso. He is a native of Roswell, where he graduated from Robert H. Goddard High School. He graduated from Texas Tech University in 1982 with a bachelor of business administration degree in accounting.

Arrington is married to Susan Carrie Arrington, who is the daughter of Susan P. Miller and Sidney F. Miller, both of Ruidoso. Terry E. and Susan Carrie Arrington have a son, Tanner, age 6, and a daughter, Taryn, age 3.

Arrington is a member of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants and the Texas Society of Certified Public Accountants, where he currently serves as a member of the Real Estate Taxation and Accounting conference committee for the state of Texas. He is a graduate of Leadership Abilene and is currently serving as chairman of Young Leadership Abilene for the Abilene Chamber of Commerce.

Arrington also serves on the Abilene Public Library Advisory Board and is a member of the YMCA board of directors. He is a business consultant for Junior Achievement and a member of the Abilene Southwest Rotary Club.

Judge cracks down on drunk driving suspects; imposes jail time, hundreds of dollars in fines

by CHARLES STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Two local motorists driving with suspended or revoked licenses, both with open containers in their cars, could spend next year in the Lincoln County Jail according to Magistrate Judge William Butts.

Butts said he would help them by probation rather than jail time for the first offense, but if they violate their conditions of probation the offender will probably do the jail time that was suspended for the first offense, in addition to the jail time, if any, for the crime which revoked the probation, Butts said.

Martin Moreno, 24, of Ruidoso Downs was pulled over by officer Ray Montes on February 11, and charged with operating a vehicle while his license was suspended or revoked.

While driving his 1973 Blazer, an open container of beer was sitting on the console of his car, according to the police report.

Moreno also was charged for not wearing his seat belt and for being unable to show proof of insurance.

Judge Butts said Moreno violated the conditions of probation for a DWI conviction last November. Moreno also pled guilty on that date to suspended or revoked license, careless driving and open container.

Moreno was fined $250 and has to pay court cost of $198. He was sentenced to 364 days in the county detention center in Carrizozo.

The 364 days was suspended and Moreno was placed on probation for 364 days with the conditions that he obey all laws and abstain from alcoholic beverages.

Moreno was arraigned on February 15 and pled not guilty to the Ruidoso Downs Police Department charges. He was appointed a public defender who will also represent him for the probation violation.

Moreno remains incarcerated until a $10,000 cash only bond is posted. In a similar case, State Police Officer Browning on February 2, arrested John Martinez, 41, for the 7th offense DWI, driving while license was revoked and open container. If convicted, he could be sentenced for a fourth degree felony.

Martinez was given a first appearance and advised of his constitutional rights. He was appointed a public defender and bond was set for $10,000 cash only. A preliminary hearing was waived and Martinez was bound over for further litigation before District Judge Richard Parsons, due to the felony DWI charges.

Butts said all defendants have the same constitutional rights to a hearing regarding violations of probation.

Butts explained his courts process.

Martinez cannot plead guilty to a felony in Magistrate Court, he said. Magistrate court's jurisdiction is misdemeanors.

Misdemeanor conviction may be sentenced to one year or less by a magistrate and assessed a fine of $1,000.

Anything in excess of a year is a felony which has to be handled in District Court after going through due process in Magistrate Court.

Butts said a Magistrate's responsibility for a felony arrest is:

—first appearance before a Magistrate after the arrest and advised of:

a. The offenses in the complaint and maximum sentences if convicted.

b. Constitutional rights and is given the right to an attorney and appointed a public defender if the defendant can not afford one.

c. A bond is set and conditions of release are set when bond is made.

d. If defendant remains incarcerated, a preliminary hearing for probable cause must be held within 10 days.

e. Defendant may waive a preliminary hearing and if they do, is automatically bound over to District Court.

f. If a preliminary hearing is held, it is to determine if there is probably cause presented by the State to bind a person over for trial in District Court.

g. If a Magistrate rules the State has failed to present probable cause, the defendant is released.

Fourth or more DWI convictions is a Fourth Degree felony, maximum sentence is 18 months, $3,000 fine or both.

February was a busy month for Butts and enforcement officers in their duty to keep drunk drivers off the roads.

Michelle LaPage, 44, of Ruidoso Downs pleaded no contest in Butts' court to her arrest on February 12 by State Police McPherson. For LaPage's first conviction, she will attend DWI School, pay $147 in court cost and $125 application fee for school.

Carol Campos, 43, of Ruidoso was arrested by State Police Officer Browning last August with a second DWI and driving while license was revoked. On February 11, she pled no contest and was sentenced by Judge Butts to two days in jail for DWI-2, four days for driving on revocation, and probation for 358 days. Campos was fined $350 for the DWI, $300 for revocation and $147 for court cost. Butts ordered counseling for substance abuse.

Terry Balderama, 37, of Mesalero was arrested by Ruidoso Police Officer Robert Layher for DWI-2 and driving while his license was revoked for DWI. Balderama plead no contest February 1, and was fined by Judge Butts $300 for DWI, restitution of $100 to an accident victim plus two days in jail, fined $300 for driving on revocation plus four more days in jail, court cost of $147, probation and substance abuse treatment.

Jeffrey Welch, 21, of Ruidoso was arrested last July for a DWI first offense by State Police Officer Ruten. Welch plead no contest February 11, and Judge Butts sentenced him to DWI school and restitution to the State Police for damage to a unit, court cost of $147 and application for school of $125.

Abel Montelongo, 21, was arrested last November by Ruidoso Police Officer Pfeffer for DWI-2. Montelongo plead no contest on February 11, and Judge Butts sentenced him to two days in jail, probation for 362 days, counseling for possible substance abuse, fined $300, court cost $147, and restitution to Allsup's for damage to a gas pump.

Oliver Garms, 44, of Ruidoso was arrested by State Police Officer Browning for DWI-2, defective equipment. Garms plead no contest on February 11 and Judge Butts sentenced him to two days in jail, probation for 362 days, fined $400, court cost $147 and counseling for substance abuse.

Harold Jones, 72, of Ruidoso was arrested by State Police Officer Browning for DWI-2. He pled no contest and was fined $350, plus $147 court cost, probation for two years and counseling for substance abuse.

Alan Weese, 53, of Albuquerque was arrested for DWI-2 in Ruidoso Downs by Officer Terlecky. Weese pled no contest on February 11 to DWI-2 and failed to yield. Judge Butts fined Weese $400 plus $147 in court cost, two days in jail, probation and counseling for 362 days.

At a preliminary hearing on February 10, Bruce Burks was bound over for trial in district Court for criminal sexual penetration. Burks, remains incarcerated under a $10,000 cash only bond.

Ag honors

Caren Bremer of Ruidoso recently was inducted into the Sam Steel Society at New Mexico State University's college of Agriculture and Home Economics. John C. Owens, dean of the college, presents Bremer with a certificate commemorating the occasion. Bremer was honored for her commitment to agriculture, which includes serving as contract executive director with the New Mexico Wool Growers. The society was formed in memory of Steel, a former student of the college who was murdered in 1893, just months before he would have been the first graduate.

State Engineer staff briefs public on water rights suit

Recent developments in a court case that will determine all water rights in the Hondo River stream will be discussed during a town meeting with officials from the State Engineer's Office at 7 p.m. Monday, March 7, in the Ruidoso Civic Events Center.

The case hinges on claims to water rights by the Mescalero Apache Tribe. The Water Defense Association was formed by affected landowners along the stream system to fight portions of the claims.

Warriors beat Cobre for second district win

by KENT BEATTY

The News Sports Correspondent

The Ruidoso Warriors boys basketball team ended its regular season over the weekend splitting games with Cobre and Silver on the road.

The squad travels to Deming tonight to meet the Wildcats in the first round of the District 3-AAA Tournament. Game time is set for 7 p.m.

Friday's game with Cobre saw the locals look brilliant in some instances and very mediocre in others. The Warriors led the Indians by as many as 21 points in the third quarter, but saw that lead evaporate to three points with less than a minute to go in the game.

But the Warriors got clutch free throws by Raul Davis and J.R. Chino and iced the game, finally coming away with a 71-66 victory — for the second-straight district win.

Ruidoso, who lost a three-point decision to Cobre earlier in the year, came out bombs away in the first quarter, with J.R. Chino canning two long range three pointers.

Daniel Espinosa also got off to a quick start by chipping in six points in the opening quarter.

The Warriors led by three points after one period, 18-15.

That good start just got better in the second quarter as the locals thumped the Indians 22-8. Definitely the best quarter of the year for the Warriors, Ruidoso passed, shot and played aggressive defense, leaving Cobre in their dust.

The Warriors got three-pointers from Chino, Raul Davis and Jeff Chapman and went a perfect 5-for-5 from the free throw line.

The 40-23 halftime lead was the Warriors largest since December, when the locals pounded Las Vegas Robertson.

But like most good things in sports, the streak ended a bit in the third quarter as Cobre outscored Ruidoso by five, 22-17. Cobre's big center, G.G. Chavez started to heat up and the Warriors couldn't stop him.

Early in the third period, the Warriors were in front by 21 points, but Cobre played hard and closed the gap and trailed by just 12 points heading into the final stanza.

The fourth quarter was similar as Chavez got six more points and Jason Chandler, the Indians 6-1 swing-man got into the scoring column with eight points.

Cobre pulled to within three points with less than a minute to go but the Warriors finally dug in and put the game away for their second district win.

Scoring for the Warriors was provided by Raul Davis with 17; Daniel Espinosa, 14; J.R. Chino, 12; Jeff Chapman, 11; Rex Comanche, 8; Cory Hood, 7; and Zack Turner, 2.

"We learned a lot from this game," said Warrior head coach Paul Kirkwood. "We learned that just because we're ahead, that we can't start celebrating."

"Our kids played a great first half, but we to sleep in the second half and forgot what we came to do. But thankfully we woke up in time and we got the win ... I guess it's been a while since Ruidoso won two district games in a row, so the kids were very happy," said Kirkwood.

The win moved the Warriors to 6-15 and 2-7 in the district.

Saturday's tilt with Silver, the State's number one ranked team was a far different situation for the Warriors, however.

The high-octane Colts' running-gunning offense put 96 points on the board while their stingy defense allowed the Warriors just 32 points, their worst performance of the year.

The Warriors, were totally out-manned by huge Silver team, trailing 24-5 at the end of the first quarter, 40-16 at half and 71-26 after three quarters of play.

It was a game that never saw Ruidoso get un-tracked in any department and the Colts held Raul Davis to just 8 points.

Daniel Espinosa was the team leader with nine points.

Other scorers included Rex Comanche with four; J.R. Chino, Danny Schrader, Jeff Chapman, Byron Soules, and Randy Randolph scored two points each. Cory Hood's lone score was a free throw.

The Warrior starters did not play the last four minutes of the game, to avoid possible injuries and to give them a little rest. Ruidoso will get just one day off to prepare for the Deming rematch tonight.

"Silver is just a great high school basketball team. They don't have a weakness and they are very well coached. I would really be surprised if they don't win State. We've played Lovington, and some other good teams, but Silver is better," said Kirkwood.

Silver of course won the district title with a perfect 10-0 record in league play. Socorro and Oñate tied for second with 7-3 records and will flip a coin to determine who gets a bye until Friday.

Deming finished fourth with a 3-7 mark followed by Ruidoso (2-8) and Cobre will be the sixth seed with a 1-9 district record.

The Warriors lost to Deming on January 29 in Deming and defeated the Wildcats two weeks ago, 69-67 in the Warriors gym.

The teams are virtually identical as far as records go, with the Warriors having an advantage with their athletes, and the Wildcats holding a distinct size advantage.

"I think we've really made a lot of progress this year and (the Deming) game will be the really test. If we can play as hard as we did against last time, we should be right in it," said Kirkwood.

"But if we play like we did over there the first time, it'll be another long ride home ... I just want us to play hard, and we've been doing that. A win in the tournament would mean so much to the program," said Kirkwood.

If the Warriors can shoot from the outside with some success and hold Deming's inside game at arms length, Ruidoso can win the game. If they can't — well the season will be over tonight.

The first game saw Deming scorch the nets in the home gym with a 22-point pounding of the Warriors. That game saw Raul Davis score just 14 points managed just nine.

However, the game in Ruidoso was a horse of a different color, as Davis finished with 22 and Chapman notched 18.

The winner of tonight's game will play Wednesday at 7 p.m. against the other first-round winner.

Golfers play in scramble

The Ruidoso Warriors boys golf team got together for a little pre-season practice Saturday as four of the five members of last year's State Championship team played in a benefit scramble for Oñate High School.

The 18-hole event was played at the Las Cruces Country Club, the site of this year's District 3-AAA Championship.

Seniors Jeff Chapman, Ryan Wall, Matt Cantu and Jimmy Varnadore played the 18 holes in 11-under par, which finished in the top third of the field.

"We've got a long way to go to get back to where we were last season, but if the weather's OK, we'll be all right," said Chapman after the round.

"We've had the chance to hit a few balls on the range but none of us has really played any holes, so it was fun. Our short game was terrible on the front nine (three-under) but we started hitting some greens and making some putts on the back nine," said Chapman.

Set to ski for fun and funds

Carl Bartley, branch manager of United New Mexico Bank, and Vicky Daulton, a bank staff member, are among the business people who will participate in the Ski Apache Handicapped Skiers Race Wednesday, March 9. Bartley and Daulton will join other area skiers in skiing in the race to raise money for Ski Apache Handicapped Skiers Association. They'll get into the act by using outriggers and skiing on one leg. United New Mexico Bank also is helping by renting the civic center for the association's silent auction fundraiser on Tuesday, March 8.

Pappy's Diner takes first in league

The Parks and Recreation Men's Winter Basketball League wrapped up a competitive season February 10. Pappy's Diner finished in first place with a 13-2 record, taking home a trophy and hooded sweat-shirts.

Placing second were members of the Ruidoso Jammers, winning 12 of 16 games. They received a team trophy and sports bags.

The Primos also finished the season with a 12-4 record, but came in third in a tie breaker based on game point averages. The Jammers averaged 69.6 points while The Primos had a point average of 52.9. The Primos won a trophy and T-shirts.

A fourth place trophy was awarded to Camp Sierra Blanca, who achieved a record of 10-6.

The sportsmanship award went to Joe Kirby of Prewitt Construction. Lelton Edwards of Camp Sierra Blanca won Offensive Most Valuable Player. Defensive Most Valuable Player was awarded to Tim Lathan of the Tequila Slammers.

Lathan's team placed fifth with a 9-7 record, and Kirby's team finished 7-9, putting them in sixth. Filling out the ratings: Whatever at 5-11, T.J. Swan at 3-13, and Cool Arrows at 2-14.

Joe Kirby of Prewitt Construction won the sportsmanship award in the Parks and Recreation basketball league.

Lelton Edwards of Camp Sierra Blanca was awarded the Offensive MVP award. Tim Lantham (not shown) of the Tequila Slammers won the Defensive MVP award.

Freshman cager plays varsity

The women's basketball team at Loyola Marymount University is fortunate to have freshman Mariee Webb at point guard.

Webb, who is the granddaughter of Ruidoso Downs resident Wilma Webb, has earned a respectable reputation as someone who plays to win.

According to a story in the Los Angeles Times, Webb replaced point guard Nikki Rouillard when she got hurt last season. Though Webb had been a shooting guard throughout her basketball career, she excelled in her new duties. The Times said she finished the season with averages of 6.5 points, four assists and three rebounds.

Despite a torn meniscus in a knee, Webb returned to shooting guard this season as what the Times called "one of the Lions' most consistent players," and she is averaging 9.8 points, 4.5 assists and 2.9 rebounds. She ranks fourth in the West Coast Conference in assists.

Webb went to Hanks High School in El Paso, Texas, where she was twice voted most valuable player. Her coach at Loyola, Todd Corman, said, "I first saw her at an all-star postseason tournament. She led a team of underachievers to four wins over teams that outmanned them. That really impressed me. She has a strong will to win."

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING
MARCH 3, 1994 • VILLAGE OF CAPITAN

The Village of Capitan invites you to attend a public hearing on March 3, 1994 at 6:30 p.m. at Village Hall Bldg., 114 Lincoln Ave. Capitan, New Mexico. The purpose of the public hearing will be to discuss the 1994 Small Cities Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) Program - to advise citizens of the program objectives, range of activities that can be applied for and provide other pertinent information; to obtain the views of citizens on community development and housing needs to include the needs of low and moderate income people. The CDBG program is designed to meet activities which will address one of three state and national objectives.

- Benefit principally low moderate income families.
- Aid in the prevention or elimination of slum and blight.
- Meet other community development needs of recent origin which pose a serious and immediate threat to the health and welfare of the community.

All counties and incorporated municipalities under 50,000 population are eligible to apply. Applicants may apply for funding assistance under categories including Community Infrastructure, Housing, Public Service Capital Outlay, Economic Development, Emergency, Planning and Colonias.

Complete information concerning this program can be obtained at the public hearing along with information on how to receive technical assistance on preparing a proposal for consideration. For further information, contact Deborah Cummins, Village Clerk at 354-2247 at the Village of Capitan, Capitan, New Mexico.

HARVEY AND ANNA BELLE SEARS

Couple celebrates anniversary

Harvey and Anna Belle Sears celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Saturday at Cree Meadows Country Club. Hosts for the party were the couple's three children, Sandy and Bob Vieau of Montgomery, Texas; Linda Farley of Lubbock, Texas; and Larry and Barbara Sears of Lubbock. Also hosting the party were the Sears' five grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. Harvey Sears and the former Anna Belle Killingsworth were married February 28, 1944, at Sweetwater, Oklahoma. They lived in Lubbock before moving to Ruidoso five and a half years ago.

Friberg, Willis marry in Albuquerque

Jennifer Friberg and Garner Willis, both of Albuquerque, were married at noon January 15, in a double ring ceremony at the Ramada Classic Hotel in Albuquerque.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, is the daughter of Marci and Charles Friberg of Ruidoso.

The groom is the son of Karen Zamora and Mark C. Willis of Albuquerque.

Bridgett Herrera of Ruidoso served as her best friend's maid of honor; and Seth Willis served as his brother's best man.

A reception followed at the Ramada Classic before the couple traveled to Reno, Nevada, for a honeymoon.

They make their home in Albuquerque where the bride, a Ruidoso

High School graduate, is a secretary at Telstar Construction Company. Willis is assistant chef at Stuart Anderson's Black Angus.

RHS student council members attend state meet

The Ruidoso High School Student Council attended the New Mexico Association of Student Council state convention in Alamogordo February 10 and 12.

Members that attended the council were President Jenny Ames, Vice president Jami Mulholland, Secretary-treasurer Mandy Parker, Historian Montana Hise and council members Melissa Currin, Cory Burford, Leah Brown, Amber Lundquist, Earl Holstein and Valerie Maldonado.

Pixie Arthur, their sponsor, accompanied the group.

The Ruidoso Middle School had four officers attend — they were Katie Lukens, Jamie Estes, Felicia Frizzell and Tammy Pafford.

While at the convention the students heard motivational speakers, attended seminars, dances, a pizza party, a banquet as well as other activities.

Resolutions presented to the general body of students included ones concerning teen violence, teen pregnancy, teen voter awareness, and state-wide recycling. The Ruidoso members had an opportunity to meet and to visit with students from other schools and discuss common problems and possible solutions. The convention was enjoyed by all and the Ruidoso students returned home enthusiastic about creating a positive change in the spirit and morale of the Ruidoso High School students.

Rachel Tissnolthtos, Holly Kelly, and Suede Mills won cash prizes in the DECA free enterprise poster contest. They are in fifth grade at White Mountain Intermediate.

3 young artists win poster contest

by PAMELA CROMWELL
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Three fifth grade students at White Mountain Intermediate were recognized Tuesday for their superior posters representing the virtues of free enterprise.

"I couldn't have done it without my mother," said Suede Mills, who won $20 for his first-place effort.

Mills drew a cityscape highlighting various examples of free enterprise.

"In America you can do anything," he said. "Sell hot dogs or work at McDonald's." Mills said he wants to be a professional football player.

In second place, Holly Kelly received $10 for her poster. She drew a young woman imagining all the possibilities for her future.

"I learned I could be three things at once," said Kelly. "I can be a gymnast, a skier and a hair dresser."

Rachel Tissnolthtos wants to join the marines. Her poster was a collage showing women in the armed forces and children with futures as doctors. Tissnolthtos won $5 for third place.

The poster contest was sponsored by Distributive Education Clubs of America (DECA).

High school students Kristie

Ryan, Melissa Currin and Shirley Chavez organized the event as part of their Free Enterprise Project.

The contest was open to elementary and intermediate students. Ryan estimated they received 30 to 40 entries.

"We talked to the kids about how free enterprise means they have a choice of careers," said Ryan.

The winners say they are saving their money, a sound financial decision. Winning posters are on display at White Mountain Intermediate, and they may be displayed later at the high school, to remind older students of the possibilities free enterprise offers.

Bookmobile covers the county

Books will be hauled through the back roads and byways over the next three months to give rural residents a chance to check out a few volumes.

Paula White, associate director of the New Mexico State Library released a schedule for the rural Bookmobile, a free library service.

In Capitan, from 10 to 11 a.m. and from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. on Wednesday, March 9, April 13 and May 11, the Bookmobile will be stationed outside the Smokey Bear Cafe.

In Fort Stanton, from noon to 1:30 p.m., on Wednesday, March 9, April 13 and May 11, it will move to the administration area of the fort.

The Bookmobile will visit Carrizozo from 4 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. on Tuesday, March 8, April 12 and May 10, and from 8 to 9:30 a.m. on Wednesday, March 9, April 13 and May 11 at the Otero Electric building.

Other communities to be served in Lincoln County are:

—Corona from 12:30 to 2:30 p.m. on Tuesday, March 8, April 12 and May 10 at the Corona post office.

—Hondo from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. on Wednesday, March 9, April 13 and May 11 at the Hondo Store.

—Lincoln from 2 to 3 p.m., Wednesday, March 9, April 13 and May 11 at the Lincoln post office.

Although no registration fee is charged, children under 14 must have a parent or guardian sign their applications.

No fines are charged, but White reminded patrons that someone may be waiting to read a book they have not returned. Books may be returned by mail. O.D. Patrons are responsible for lost or damaged books.

The Bookmobile carries a variety of both informational and recreational materials: arts and crafts, do-it-yourself, best sellers, mysteries, Southwest children, teens and titles in Spanish.

To arrange books to be sent by mail, call the toll free number 1-800-395-2144. Books for the blind and physically handicapped may be arranged by calling 1-800-456-5518 or write the State Library at 325 Don Gaspar, Santa Fe, New Mexico 87503.

Students get together with Senator

More than 80 high school students from Eastern New Mexico participated in the student legislative seminar program, sponsored by Senator Jeff Bingaman (D-NM) at the Oilfield Training Center in Roswell.

Ruidoso High School was represented by Cordell Baltache, Betty Mantoya, Crystal Pfeffer and Jerry Ramirez.

Senator Bingaman said the seminar gives New Mexico high school students the opportunity to meet with him and his Washington legislative staff to discuss political and social issues.

According to a news release, Senator Bingaman conducted a "Town Hall" meeting with all the students to get their views on the issues they find important.

"Over the years, we have found that these seminars have provided New Mexico High school students with the skills to help formulate public policy," said Bingaman.

"More than anything else, I feel that we encourage the students to carefully consider all sides of a critical issue. It is my hope that they also gain a better understanding of the legislative process and the issues that will have a direct impact on them and their families.

Santa Fe, Albuquerque and Silver City also will host seminars which will include more than 250 New Mexico high school students.

Senator Bingaman's legislative staff led discussions and role playing on education reform, jobs and the environment, national security after the Cold War, federal support of the arts and humanities and how federal laws and court decisions affect everyday life.

Schools set a public hearing tonight

A public hearing on the possible designation of the Ruidoso Intermediate School as a state charter school is set for 7 p.m. tonight in the district administration office.

Paul Wirth, director of Ruidoso school district support services, said 10 schools qualified statewide and five will be chosen. During the current year, the intermediate school received some training and planning money, but officials must decide whether to submit the final application.

The charter program makes a school by working with the state and parents, able to provide unique programs to meet students needs and not be restricted by some of the state guidelines, Wirth said.

The hearing is a chance for anyone in educational Region IX to hear about the program.

Farm Bureau enrolls record number of members

The New Mexico Farm and Livestock Bureau hit a membership high this year with 11,633 family members on its rolls.

Organization president John Van Sweden, a Raton rancher, said the membership shows the real strength of agriculture in New Mexico.

"We're extremely pleased with reaching membership quota so early in the year and a level that's historic in the 76 year history of the organization," Van Sweden said.

The bureau represents all segments of the agricultural industry including the livestock, farming and agri-business sectors.

"While we're the largest private, agricultural organization in the state and nation, I think it's important to note that we have many members outside the agricultural community who are members because of our philosophy, our many programs and our history, and we're proud of that," he said.

The farm bureau has active organizations in 32 New Mexico counties and is affiliated with the American Farm Bureau federation, which has 4.2-million members nationwide.

Bells ring out

Martha Proctor, county clerk, and Father Bob Patton poses in front of Saint Anne's Episcopal Church in Glencoe. The bell tower was newly equipped with two bells donated by Robert O. Anderson. Proctor also is shown with Robert O. Anderson and Barbara Anderson. The Andersons donated two bells to the St. Anne's church on January 23. Robert O. Anderson gave a speech dedicating the bells he donated to St. Anne's Episcopal Church. He named the bells after his parents. Father John Penn with Robert and Barbara Anderson and the Reverend Ann Gaddy lead the procession into St. Anne's chapel in Glencoe.

Volunteer fire fighters from Ruidoso Downs and Hondo douse and stamp out a blaze that ignited when two cars collided on Highway 70 in San Patricio.

Ruidoso Downs Fire Chief Nick Herrera used the jaws of life to rescue Lillian Lester from her crushed vehicle. She is in stable condition and her passenger is fine.

Headon car crash causes fire

by PAMELA CROMWELL
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

A crowd of emergency vehicles responded to an accident in San Patricio yesterday morning when a westbound driver of a GMC Jimmy swerved into the wrong lane, colliding almost head-on with two women in a Chevy Blazer.

Sparks from the skidding vehicles ignited a grass fire which a nearby construction crew contained until volunteer fire departments from Glencoe, Palo Verde, Lincoln, and Hondo arrived. "Fortunately, they (construction crews) had a water truck with them," said Albert Chavez of the Hondo Volunteer Fire Department.

"They were fighting it when we got there."

Ruidoso Downs fire department was called out to rescue a woman trapped in her vehicle. Chief Nick Herrera had to use the jaws of life to free Lillian Lester, who was pinned in by the dash board.

"It was a quick extrication," said Herrera. "It only took us five minutes to get her out."

Lester sustained injuries to the right side of her body and was taken by ambulance to Lincoln County Medical Center in Ruidoso.

Lester, who is a social services representative for the Bureau of Indian Affairs, was transporting a client to Roswell. The client was treated for minor injuries at Lincoln County Medical Center and released.

Dr. David Martin of Lubbock, Texas, was on his way to Ruidoso when he lost control of his vehicle on U.S. Highway 70 near mile marker 281. He told state police that his dog stepped into his lap, causing him to turn the wheel. State Police officer Salvador Beltran said Martin had one beer in Roswell, but did not appear to be drunk. A partial six-pack of beer was found in a closed, brown paper bag behind the driver's seat. No open containers of beer were discovered.

Ruidoso police said Martin's driver's license will be suspended for one year because he refused a blood-alcohol content test. Martin was also taken by EMS to Lincoln County Medical Center. He suffered a broken leg and other injuries. All accident victims are in stable condition.

One man who reported the accident watched in his rearview mirror as Martin's vehicle slid into the hillside.

"People don't realize how dangerous this road is," he said. His companion said people misjudge the curves and speed too much.

Commission considers clean air ordinance for county buildings

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

A clean indoor air resolution, essentially a no smoking policy for county buildings, will be considered by the Lincoln County Commission at its meeting Tuesday.

The plan calls for all county buildings to be off limits to smokers, but provides that each elected official can, with commission approval, designate an enclosed office under their jurisdiction as a smoking area. The county will attempt to ensure employees receive a break every four hours, according to the resolution.

It also states that the county intends eventually to create a smoking lounge.

Commissioners, who meet in the county courthouse in Carrizozo, also will discuss the proposed purchase of the Super Selpet Sales Barn in Glencoe, now being called the Lincoln County Rural Events Center. The State Legislature approved $250,000 for the purchase of the building and another $40,000 toward its operation the first year.

The county also had asked for money to repair and remodel the facility, but legislators left it up to commissioners to figure out how to finance that part of the project.

In other business, a three-quarters of an acre tract of land off the road to Sierra Blanca Regional Airport is being proposed for disposal.

Public hearings are scheduled on an ordinance granting a franchise to Lincoln Cablevision; an ordinance to amend the county's collective bargaining procedures; and on projects for the upcoming round of federal Community Development Block Grants.

Commissioners are scheduled to appoint members to vacancies on the Agriculture and Rural Affairs Advisory Committee in District 2; the Economic Development Corporation of Lincoln County in District 1; Extraterritorial Zoning Commission in District 1; the commission representative on the Lincoln County Medical Center; members for Districts 1, 2, 4 and at large on the Planning and Zoning Commission.

Dr. Bernhard Reimann, chairman of the county's E911 committee will report on the status of the project.

Commissioners will discuss the county's mileage and per diem policy.

LCMC finances in the black

There may not have been as many skiers falling off the mountain this year as there were last year, but Lincoln County Medical Center has managed to come out in the black, more or less.

On paper LCMC shows a negative balance of $20,471 at the end of December, but the hospital is in no way losing money. Having recently switched to a January-December fiscal year and implemented a new billing system, LCMC has had to make several adjustments in its bookkeeping.

Valerie Miller, LCMC administrator, explains that the negative number is due to a lump sum booking of salary expenses and to bad debt expenses not yet reimbursed.

Though the December balance reflects a nine-month fiscal year, the full twelve months of salary expenses was booked in July, overstating the nine-month cost by $35,667. Miller said the hospital expects to collect $345,576 of bad debt reimbursement by March 31, 1994.

According to a summary passed out at the LCMC board meeting Thursday, if the year end financial statements are adjusted for these two booking wrinkles, the hospital's excess revenue over expenses is $472,966. This puts LCMC ahead of this time last year by $95,675.

Miller also gave board members a ratio analysis of business indicators. LCMC shows an almost 50-50 mix of inpatients and outpatients.

"You'll probably see a shift to more outpatients," said Miller, taking note of the national trend in this direction.

LCMC shows a 39.9 ratio in the relationship between Medicare case mix index and length of stay. This ratio indicates how effectively patients are managed. The higher the number the more effective.

The balance sheet indicator of days in cash measures how many days a facility could operate if they did not collect any cash. LCMC would be in business 52 days if its cash income was cut off.

Overall, the hospital reports that its business performance is up to standards.

"We haven't had a customer rate increase since 1990," said Miller. "We have managed to absorb expense increases due to volume increases."

So, while it was a slow winter, it wasn't slow enough to hurt LCMC.

MY FELLOW CITIZENS OF RUIDOSO

"My name is Danny Garcia and I want to be your next Municipal Judge."

I am one of the few true locals from around here. I was born and raised here around 41 years ago, went to school here and married a Hondo Valley girl who was also my High school sweetheart; bought a little property here and made up my mind long ago, that I would live here for the rest of my life. I have one daughter who graduated from Ruidoso High in '92 and one son who is presently a sophomore at FHS.

I was the original founder of the HAPPY HOLIDAYS FUND DRIVE, that has evolved into the current highly successful annual "BANTA COPS" program for needy families. We fed 20 families that first year - look at what that fine group of concerned individuals accomplish and member of VFW post 7072. My family and I are not special people - just folks that have a vested interest in making sure Ruidoso remains the best place in the world to live and raise a family.

Over the years I have had a number of different jobs, ranging from firefighter for the Village of Ruidoso since 1968, to hauling rock and being a stonemason, to plastering and laying block, to cutting meat for RJA, and Benson's Grocery, to owning my own auto repair business, to Chief of Security at the Inn of the Mountain Gods. All these diverse jobs had one thing in common, however, they gave me a knowledge of people, human behavior and local attitudes. They also gave me an invaluable experience of how people react under duress and in times of crisis. I am presently building upon that experience by working toward a degree in CRIMINAL JUSTICE at ENMU-Ruidoso. I have no law degree in my background, but I believe that to be an asset instead of a detriment to being a local judge, especially the Municipal Judge!

We have all been educated on our "RIGHTS," but we almost never hear about our "PERSONAL RESPONSIBILITIES" in the same paragraph. All elected officials, especially judges, have an obligation to constantly emphasize the responsibility side of our democratic freedoms. This is especially important with young people. For that reason, I would like, in conjunction with our school system, to establish some sort of "OFFICE HOURS" for the judge in each of the schools to meet and talk one-on-one with our youth "BEFORE" they get into trouble with the law. "Folks, don't be misled by the current politically popular rhetoric that professes to be developing programs with our schools and youth. If the intent was ever there, why not 4 years ago?? Why now, just prior to elections??" It is almost a criminal act in itself that most people get to meet and know law enforcement officers and judges only after they become offenders. I strongly believe in reversing that! Any time spent in prevention will be saved 10 times over.

Contrary to Judge Hawthorne's contention, you don't need to be an attorney to read state statutes or village ordinances to sentence offenders. As a matter of fact, neither of the two current magistrate judges, both superior to the municipal judge; nor any of the announced candidates for the upcoming magistrate election are attorneys. A wise judge needs to be able to apply the INTENT of a law based on the circumstances and what is best for the offender, the victim and society. When one leaves the courtroom there should not be any feelings of winning or losing, rather an understanding of the cause, effect and necessity to correct the problem. I realize that is not always possible, but I pledge that it will always be my goal. None of this should be interpreted as being lenient or soft on those who break the law. Quite the contrary-it often takes time in jail or a hard to pay fine to impress some people, but the goal should be the same; if possible, any sentence should be instructive and constructive as well as punitive. An effective judge needs to take the time to find the best resolution. Less than a full time effort demonstrates minimal commitment and certainly doesn't exhibit qualities of compassion and caring for our youth and citizens.

That brings me to my final point. The salary of the Municipal Judge is presently $1,500 per month; an amount in line with the wages of most skilled workers in this area of the county. Those who know me know that I have never accepted something for nothing, so if I am elected, I will devote at least 40 hours per week to the job - more if necessary - for the same salary. I will be a full time judge like Sam Nunnally and John Cupp both were - Men that both I and the rest of the community loved and respected. Judges that were respected not because their position demanded it but because they earned it.

I am not a sit-behind-the-desk sort of person. I believe in talking to people wherever they are, and not I, am most comfortable. So, the 40 or more hours per week that I will put in will be spent, not simply sitting behind my desk in a courtroom but involved with offenders, victims and the citizens, as well as in the schools, to resolve or prevent problems before they get to court. Again folks, don't be misled into thinking a municipal judge cannot do much with juveniles and today's problems. He can if he has just half the motivation and spirit which I, as a courtroom educator and peace officer, possess in my job satisfaction ahead of his pay rate. I believe the judge himself should also be an advisor and counselor, especially for first-time offenders; and to be effective he should be able to counsel with experience from within, rather than from academic expertise. People see right through phonies, so if you're not sincere in wanting to help, every academic degree and title you might have is useless. "Please folks, I submit to you, I don't just want a job - I want to help people and serve my community!"

Ruidoso needs a full time INVOLVED MUNICIPAL JUDGE!!! We are paying enough to have one - let's get what we pay for.

I ASK FOR YOUR SUPPORT AND VOTE, BUT REGARDLESS OF YOUR CHOICE, THANK YOU FOR EXERCISING YOUR DEMOCRATIC RESPONSIBILITY."

Exercise your right to vote!

In the words of Homer: "Speak out, hide not thy thoughts."

Voters will have a chance to make their thoughts and wishes known when they go to the polls to select municipal leaders on Tuesday.

If you care what happens in your community, be sure and vote Tuesday.

Stop the MainStreet project before it destroys Ruidoso's Midtown

TO THE EDITOR:

In the summer of 1966, my wife and two small sons left the hot weather in Oklahoma and visited Ruidoso for the first time. The trees, cool weather and quaint shops of the Valley area were beautiful to us.

We found shops and cafes that were different than those back home. The sidewalks needed repair then, but I think that just rebuilding the walks and leaving 100 percent of the parking would have been a much better plan than cutting the parking to 30 percent.

I cannot imagine the merchants of the walking area buying into this plan let alone the owners of the buildings. The outlying shopping areas are the only ones to benefit this plan.

Even in 1966 parking was a problem in the summer.... However, the parking problem in 1965 didn't keep our family from visiting most every summer and now for the past several years from being part-time residents.

We have also had two retail businesses in that area and found that parking was very important to any merchant trying to keep their doors open.

I understand that one complaint was merchants and employees park their cars on the street all day. This has been solved most places with two-hour parking with an attendant to mark the tires.

I believe that most people return to Ruidoso many times as it is different from their home base. It should be kept a "mountain village" for every one to enjoy.

Parking up a hill or an elevator in a private parking lot will not accommodate older visitors (the ones with money to spend on themselves and for gifts). Merchants that own additional parking with their businesses need those spaces and they have paid dearly for that land.

Several years ago most merchants placed tubs of blooming flowers in the front of their businesses and this with re-paved sidewalks should have been sufficient.

I realize that this is probably too late to stop the destruction of midtown Ruidoso — it is a sorry state that even the ones responsible for this project won't be able to park in the walking area come summer!

Policy

The Ruidoso News encourages letters to the editor, especially about local topics and issues.

Each letter must be signed and must include the writer's telephone number and address. The phone number and street or mailing address will not be printed, however the author's hometown will be included.

The telephone number will be used to verify authorship. No letter will be printed without the writer's name.

Libelous letters are not protected by the rules of privilege or fair comment and will not be printed.

Letters will be edited for spelling and grammar to the extent possible without impairing their flavor or changing their meaning. Letters may be shortened to fit the space available.

The News has the right to reject any letter.

Shocked & appalled by misleading letter

TO THE EDITOR:

I received a letter from a group with the audacity to try to manipulate me with distortions of facts. How convenient that they continuously refer to mysterious unpublished documents.

I can only assume that this is a political announcement since the writers failed to comply with regulations naming candidates, committees, etc. I am also assuming that this is a questionable use of voter registration information since that is the only possible place they could have gotten my mailing address. Again, I'm not surprised. They have at least named some of their preferences:

1.) William Lou Karn, most informed about Ruidoso water problems, municipal airports, and Santa Fe politics. Also, most likely not to attend council meetings in favor of taking care of personal business.

2.) Frank Cummins, a man of quiet demeanor...so quiet that he never states where he stands on any issue, except to admit that he agrees with Mayor Shaw's positions and probably would not have done anything differently!

This group probably also supported the guy who quit the community as Councilor, quit the community as mayor, and quit the community as a businessman!

Writers were so good with their figures they almost had me convinced that The Links golf course can't possibly contribute to tourism and the successful competition for convention business. Maybe they haven't noticed, but all correspondence pertaining to resort areas, convention bids and tourism in general always includes references to activities available (golf courses, etc.), hotel accommodations, available transportation and so on.

Sure, the airport is a white elephant now. But, we must work to bring its potential to fruition.

Right now all we can say to corporate America and other tourists is "Ruidoso is a great place to visit, you just have to figure out how to get here!"

Why are they so intimidated and afraid for our village to succeed and grow? Either they are representing a group of "old money-old power" that is desperately clinging to remnants of past control of this village, or they have some issue against acknowledging that maybe the best man for the job is a woman.

Sorry, but I refuse to submit to those tactics.

Bill Chance
Ruidoso

Reader is fed up, responds to issues in letter

TO THE EDITOR:

I am writing this letter in response to a letter I received from a group of people who want me to vote for a slate of candidates that they endorse. The letter is so full of (inaccuracies) that I probably should ignore it.

However it's time to tell it like it is. Messers Jameson, Schuller and Durr, if you are so concerned about the $12,000,000 dam and the multi-million dollar airport, with a two-bit operation, how can you support Bill Karn, a man you claim is the most informed candidate about Ruidoso's water problems and municipal airport operation?

Your personal attacks against Mayor Shaw, Councilman James, and Councilman Potter (by the way, was he not supposed to get another job after the previous council let him go?) are a prime example that you guys will resort to anything to cram your ideas down the throats of the voters of Ruidoso.

I am sick and tired of the nit-picking of the golf course lease. The real fact is, there was no one else who would come forward and put up any money to develop that property. R.D. Hubbard was the only game in town, folks, and without his proposal that land would be head high in weeds and Mr. Schuller would be complaining about the eyesore and the lack of funds to keep it maintained.

You also keep complaining about The Ruidoso News. The way I see it, the truth hurts and The News only prints the truth. Maybe you guys wouldn't know the truth if it hit you in the face.

Talk about intimidation in your letter. It wasn't intimidation that made certain members of the council resign their positions. It was a lack of conviction and courage. They pledge to the people who elected them to do their job as best as they could, not quit when the going got rough. I don't believe that is representing the best interests of the village citizens who elected them.

Ruidoso is the greatest place in America to live. We don't need anybody to tell us how to vote. It is quite simple, the people with the most votes win (majority rule). I am not endorsing any candidate with this letter. If the people I vote for do not win, I will be disappointed, but I will not put out a letter personally attacking (anyone).

Jeff Chapman
Ruidoso

Candidate says he's independent of any group

TO THE EDITOR:

Ruidoso voters recently received a letter concerning the operation of our village government which endorsed my campaign for village council. I genuinely appreciate the outpouring of support and encouragement I've received from literally every segment of Ruidoso. I believe my candidacy has received this broad support precisely because I am independent of any group or special lobby. The political views expressed in the letter were those of the writers. I want every Ruidoso voter to make his or her decision regarding my candidacy based upon my political views and beliefs, which I have publicly stated many times at various forums. I intend to represent all of Ruidoso.

Our village faces serious challenges which will require the cooperative effort of village leaders. A governing body which is divided simply cannot be as effective as one which shares a common vision of the future. I intend to work as hard as I can to unite our village's leadership to move forward efficiently, effectively and economically.

During this campaign I have met an enormous number of outstanding people — people like me who care for this community. I have no promises other than to serve honorably. My pledge to Ruidoso is simple: I will look at each and every issue facing our village and will listen to all sides before voting. Then, I pledge that I'll vote for what I genuinely believe will be in the best interests of all of Ruidoso.

A salute to remember

Linda Wallace, who coordinated the Salute fashion show, hands over a purse from Steppin' Out, presented as a doorprize to Raquel Reiman, a member of the mid-school Braves' undefeated basketball team. The Braves were special guests at the luncheon, courtesy of K-Bob's and The Ruidoso News. Karen Lester (above, center) and Teresa Herring (above) model fashions from Fashion Crossroads. Next year's salute will be Monday, February 13.

OF

'93 building is off to booming start

Construction in and around Ruidoso is off to a healthy start.

In January 1994, 34 permits valued at $1,188,194 were issued by the Village of Ruidoso. That's up by more than 400 percent over January 1993, when 30 permits valued at $230,681 were issued.

January 1993 was down slightly from January 1992's 17 at $282,919.

The big boom in Ruidoso building is in single family homes with 10 permits issued this January with a total value of $1,043,606. In contrast, January 1993 saw one single family home under construction at just $79,869.

Residential remodels totaled 21 in January 1994, with an estimated value of $112,964, down nearly 20 percent from January 1993 when 24 residential remodeling permits were issued at $137,412.

Commercial building remains sluggish, and no new construction permits were issued in that category in January 1994, 1993 or 1992.

With the area's abundance of commercial buildings, the trend has been to fix up and refurbish existing commercial building, but even that category was quiet in January 1994, when no permits were issued in that category.

Five, totaling $13,400, were issued in January 1993.

The village issued one apartment addition/alteration permit with a dollar value of $23,668 in January 1993, one "other" permit with $5,256, and one demolition permit at $1,700.

January building permits issued by the Village of Ruidoso* are listed below by owner's name, contractor, address, type of construction and estimated value:

Mike Pritchett, Cyclone Construction, 238 White Mountain, single family dwelling, $85,504.008;

*The Village of Ruidoso Downs has its own building inspection department and issues its own permits, which are not included in these figures. However, the Village of Ruidoso issues permits for an extraterritorial zone around Ruidoso, including Alto.

The biggest construction job in the village these days is the new school being built as part of the White Mountain complex on White Mountain Drive.

Home sales are hot!

As home buyers continue to respond to some of the most favorable conditions in years, sales of previously owned homes shot up 3.6 percent in October, reaching their highest level since 1979.

According to National Association of Realtors (NAR) information, Van Patton, co-owner of Better Homes and Gardens Ruidoso Properties, Inc., sales of existing single-family homes exceeded the $4 million mark with a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 4.08 million units — up from 3.94 million in September.

It's another indication of the positive direction in which real estate is moving.

A recent news release stated that attractive interest rates, along with positive economic conditions, are encouraging consumers to stay in the market — even during a time of the year when sales generally start to taper off.

Buyers are definitely out there and sales are not showing signs of letting up. It appears that first time buyers are really benefiting.

According to the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation, 30-year fixed-rate mortgages averaged 6.83 percent in October, down from 6.91 percent a month earlier. It was the lowest monthly rate recorded by the corporation.

Through October, there were 3.17 million previously owned home sales, seven percent above the number sold during the first 10 months of 1992.

NAR numbers indicate that home sales remained heavy in November.

The national median price of an existing home in October was $106,000 down from $107,200 in September, but up from $103,400 a year earlier.

Sales jumped 9.6 percent in the west, to a 910,000 annual rate. The median price was $141,200. Sales were up 3.8 percent to a 1.09 million rate in the Midwest, where the median price was $85,200. They rose 1.7 percent in the northeast.

In the south, where the median price was $95,200, sales advanced 0.7 percent to a 1.47 million rate.

In Soft Real Estate Markets Landscaping Makes Difference

While the economy may be picking up steam — as exemplified by the much-improved Christmas shopping season — big ticket transactions such as home sales remain quite slow in many areas.

However, there are those who, because of a career move or some other circumstances, have no choice other than to sell their home.

Under such conditions, knowing the tricks is essential to avoid being one of those all-too-common sellers today with a "for sale" sign sitting on the lawn for a year or longer.

It may come as a surprise to some, but one of the best of these "tricks" is landscaping. According to appraisers and real estate agents, a beautifully landscaped and maintained home will sell faster and for more money than neighboring homes with unstyled grounds.

Landscaping adds value to the entire neighborhood, according to the Associated Landscape Contractors of America. Just as a neglected property brings down property values, a well-maintained landscape adds to the desirability of the area.

In making home improvements and renovations to add value to their homes, a majority of people seem to overlook the importance of natural exterior beauty.

Recovering Costs
This is particularly unfortunate.

because, unlike most home renovations, landscaping lets a homeowner recover 100 to 200 percent of the improvement cost, according to Money magazine.

Statistics show that most renovations to a home itself result in more money being spent than can ever be recouped when it's time to sell. For example, owners who add an indoor room may get back only 75 percent of the costs.

In a survey of homeowners by the Weyerhaeuser Corporation, landscaping was reported to have increased home values by an average of 15 percent.

Still, there is the fact that many people want an extra room anyway. Some homeowners have taken landscape professionals' suggestions to add outdoor "rooms" instead. By that they mean an outdoor living area designed to match a family's particular lifestyle.

This idea offers an unseen benefit to everyone and everything. Plants and trees absorb ozone-damaging pollutants, produce oxygen and help keep temperatures down.

There's even a psychological advantage to landscaping. Researchers have actually determined that attractive landscapes play a significant role in reducing stress.

Telephone rates going down

Contel of the West, doing business as GTE West, has reached an agreement with the New Mexico State Corporation Commission to reduce basic local rates, service connection charges, and to eliminate the touch tone surcharge for residential and business customers.

These rate reductions went into effect on February 15, and will appear on customers bills beginning March 1. Affected customers will receive a billing credit retroactive to February 15.

GTE is pleased to see their proposed rate reduction approved said a recent news release. GTE prides itself in providing customers' cost-effective service and adapting to changing technical and regulatory environments.

GTE originally filed for this reduction on November 23, 1993, in response to the December 31, 1993, expiration of the Alternative Regulatory Framework (ARF). Under the terms the ARF, GTE has been able to share its efficiencies with its customers in the form of annual credits. These credits were issued in 1992 and 1993, and a final ARF refund for 1993 will be remitted to customers in the next several months.

Due to the elimination of the ARF, GTE will reduce rates in order to allow customers to continue to benefit from the company's cost containment and efficiencies. The newly-approved rate structure will benefit GTE customers with an approximate $1.1 million reduction in rates overall.

Both GTE West and the New Mexico State Corporation Commission agree that this rate reduction is in the best interest of the customer. Service levels and quality will not be impacted by the approved rate reduction.

The news release went on to say that the reduced rates will mean different savings to different customers, depending on the service options they select. GTE expects many of its customers currently using a measured local service option to change to an unlimited flat rate option as unlimited flat rates drop from $28 to $21.

GTE will not apply any service charges from regular usage rates to flat rates, and vice versa for a period of 120 days, beginning February 15.

6 regions ask state for $600,000

"6 Regions—$600,000" was the message of New Mexico's tourism industry and legislators who met in the Capital Rotunda to participate in the Tourism Association of New Mexico's Black Tie and Boots barbecue luncheon.

Legislators were treated to a meal of barbecue beef brisket and chicken green chile pasta, and were given cowboy hats custom-decorated to represent the state's regional tourist attractions. A huge cake baked in the shape of New Mexico and decorated to represent the state's six tourism marketing regions was served for dessert.

The Flying J Wranglers entertained the assembled group with a cowboy music show, highlighted by their performance of "A Song for New Mexico," an original composition by the group's leader James Hobbs.

A trade show featuring displays from the state's six regions, and Tourism Association members dressed in tuxedo jackets, red western ties, blue jeans and boots added to the festive atmosphere.

Special guest Governor Bruce King took the stage briefly to welcome the assembled group and emphasized the importance of tourism to New Mexico's economy.

Tourism Day at the Legislature is an annual event. This year's theme reflected a $600,000 special appropriation request, to develop regional marketing plans and brochures, and to fund regional participation in travel shows and sales missions.

HOME TIPS

EXTRA BUTTONS - Here's what I do with those extra buttons that come with new garments. You can never find them when you need them.

I stitch one of the buttons to the inside of a pocket on the garment or under a collar. When a button gets lost and needs replacing, a replacement is handy. Be sure to keep other loose buttons secured in a jar with a lid or in a plastic container. Myrna T., West Trenton, N.J.

REAL ESTATE ROUNDUP

Chris Demarest, Marge Woodul and Jennie Dorgan have joined ReMax Realtors of Ruidoso, according to owner/broker Wayland Burk.

Demarest has been in the real estate industry for 16 years. She moved here from Barstow, California.

Dorgan received her real estate license in 1985, and specializes in trades and exchanges, both residential and commercial. She's been in Ruidoso for 14 years and also owns and operates the InnCredible in Alto.

Woodul has lived in Ruidoso for 21 years and has been a Realtor for 17 years. She's a big fan of Ruidoso and offers her experience and assistance to anyone needing help on what the Ruidoso area has to offer.

"The addition of these agents with their real estate knowledge and experience will be a big asset to ReMax of Ruidoso," said Burk.

Doug Siddens and attorney Don Dutton have joined forces in a new business at 229 Rio Ruidoso in Ruidoso.

Doug Siddens and Lawyers Real Estate Services can be reached by calling 257-2323.

Rookie of the Year, an award that goes to a beginning Realtor, with 1993 being their first year in Ruidoso MLS, went to Warren Rouse of Century 21 Aspen Real Estate.

Rookie of the Year is based on total dollar production, both in listings and sales, as well as MLS participation and professional attitude.

Other newcomers vying for the top rookie title were Joe Ben Ashby of Bill Pippin Real Estate and Gary Van Patton of Ruidoso Properties Better Homes and Gardens.

Ann Jones of Ruidoso Properties/Better Homes and Gardens landed the most new listings in the last two quarters of 1993, and for that she reels in a trip to Las Vegas, Nevada.

Jones and all the agents are attending advantage training, a Better Homes and Gardens exclusive in Alamogordo. The six-day session has proven to give agents the advantage in providing the ultimate in customer service.

The home marketing system and the home buying system top just some of the training they are receiving.

David Steinborn of Las Cruces is spearheading the training. Steinborn is recognized as a three-term mayor in Las Cruces and is nationally ranked Better Homes and Gardens trainer.

Their intention is to provide our customers with the most highly trained real estate professionals in Ruidoso, continues the release.

WARREN ROUSE

Bill Hirschfeld of Realty Services spent some time in Santa Fe during the recent legislative session. He's shown with State Representative H. John Underwood and Nancy King of Santa Fe.

Ski race supports program

For 18 years, an elite cadre of specially trained instructors, both paid and volunteer, have brought the joy of motion on snow to those who would otherwise not know it.

Those who lack the use of their eyes or ears, for example, ski with guides, one on one, utilizing the sense that work.

Skiers who lack the use of one or both arms or legs use imaginative adaptive ski equipment. These include, but are not limited to, outriggers, sit-skis or mono-skis.

A mono-ski or sit-ski allows the skier to sit in a sled-like device and steer with either short poles or by shifting body weight from side to side.

Instructor time and equipment cost far more than the very nominal fee students pay. So SAHSA holds an annual fundraiser.

For the next two weeks, volunteers will be canvassing local businesses for items for SAHSA's silent auction Tuesday, March 8, from 6 to 9 p.m. at the Ruidoso Convention and Civic Events Center. At the conclusion of the auction, some lucky ticket holder will win a Ski Apache season pass for next year.

The next morning, Wednesday, March 9, the annual Businesspersons-Handicapped Ski Championship Race runs at 11 a.m. on East Easy Street at Ski Apache.

Local businesspersons team with SAHSA students in a fundraising event that emphasizes fun as the businessperson skis on only one leg and uses outriggers.

Since most businesspeople don't usually ski this way, SAHSA will conduct free clinics on race morning beginning at 8:45 a.m. running every 15 minutes.

If you'd like to help out the SAHSA program, there's lots you can do.

If you're a businessperson, be generous when an SAHSA volunteer asks for an auction donation.

Or consider teaming with a SAHSA student on race day. It's only a $25 entry donation.

If you're a shopper, art lover or bargain hunter, check out the many goods and services at the silent auction.

Or buy a $2 ticket on the $700 Ski Apache season pass.

Lastly, volunteer to collect auction merchandise, help out auction night or at the races.

For further information, call SAHSA headquarters at 336-4416. To donate an auction item, call Teri Sodd at Mountain Arts Gallery, 257-9748.

To race, call Cindy Lynch at Gary Lynch Realty at 257-4011.

You'll be glad you did.

American Workers Eating Lunch Faster, Spilling More

In case you haven't noticed, the lunch hour is out. Eating at the work place is in.

In a nationwide survey, sponsored by the makers of Tide with new grease-releasing formula, it was learned that almost half of America's work force eat lunch at their work place. And the largest percentage of them do it in 15 to 30 minutes.

Dubbed "The Dirtiest Job in America Survey," the poll of 1,000 consumers reveals some interesting differences among peoples' eating habits — and what kind of food they spill on themselves.

For instance, while 49 percent eat at the work place, more women do so than men (59 percent versus 41 percent). And three times as many men as women eat lunch in their cars, especially in the South.

More women than men (41 percent versus 22 percent) admitted to spilling salad dressing on their clothes. Men, on the other hand, seem more likely than women to drip barbecue sauce on their shirts.

Among the foods most likely to hit the shirt or skirt over lunch are: salad dressing or olive oil, spaghetti sauce, hamburger grease, pizza grease, barbecue sauce, butter or margarine, and mayonnaise.

And who's concerned about all this grease? Everybody! According to the Tide survey, 69 percent of consumers reported being concerned about these stains, with more women than men (81 percent versus 61 percent), and more 18-to 24-year-olds than those over age 65 (37 percent versus 23 percent). That could be because 18-to 24-year-olds reported getting five times as many grease stains in a six-month period.

Stain Relief

So what's a person to do?

The experts at Tide offer these suggestions to win the food fight in the laundry room:

- Treat a greasy food stain as soon as possible after it happens, even if it's just with soap and water in the nearest rest room.

- Once at home, pre-treat or soak the stain with a liquid or powder detergent especially formulated to remove greasy food stains, such as new Tide with Grease Releasers. If using a liquid, pour the detergent directly on the stain, rub gently and allow the detergent to remain for a few minutes. With a powder detergent, rinse the stained area first, apply a "paste" of detergent, rub gently and allow it to remain for a few minutes.

- Wash as usual.

... and enjoy lunch — even if it's a quick bite at your desk.

BUSINESS ROUNDUP

Candle Power is now welcoming customers into a larger, brighter space, stocked with more fascinating scented and sculpted things.

In November, Candle Power owner Sally Sandora, knocked down the wall separating her shop from Love Reigns. Sandora still carries the pottery Art and Denise Ortega sold at Love Reigns, and now she has room to stock more of her favorite things.

Her walls are graced by the acrylic paintings of Jerry Rice and the pine-knot wood carvings of Fred Serna. Rice is a Ruidoso artist who also teaches in Capitan. Candle Power has carried Serna's work exclusively for six years.

Sandora's famous Yankee candles still line the shelves, as do the eclectic jewelry, candlestick holders and new age music.

"It's nice to have room for everything," said Sandora. "I used to go to market and want something, but I didn't have the space."

Gloria Graham, a Candle Power sales woman, is proud of Sandora's progress.

"I was a faithful customer for years before I became an employee," said Graham. "I've seen her grow, and she does such a good job."

Ruidoso crafters and seamsters will welcome a new specialty store supplying cloth, beads and other tools of the trade.

Mountaintop Fabrics, now at Cornerstone Square, is owned by Diane Travelstead.

Originally from Roswell, Travelstead and her husband, James, lived in Dallas for several years with their three children. It was making clothes for her kids that got Travelstead into business.

She also makes quilts, old-fashioned stuffed animals, place mats, and almost anything her customers request.

Travelstead said she wanted to bring a new market to Ruidoso with fabric paints and iron-on patterns. She would like to create crafts that will interest tourists.

Travelstead has big plans for her little store, tucked into a room of suite I in Cornerstone Square.

The Texas Club is shaking things up in the kitchen, bringing in almost all new cooks and a chef with some spicy plans.

Patti Cervantes has served up good cooking in many of Ruidoso's restaurants, including the Incredible, Cattle Baron, the Jockey Club, the Blue Goose, and the Inn of the Mountain Gods. She has recently returned to the mountains after working at Cibolo Creek Ranch, a small luxury hotel between Shafter and Marfa, Texas.

Cervantes is a graduate of the Western Culinary Institute of America in Portland, Oregon. She has traveled the country as a chef, and she has owned her own catering company in El Paso.

Texas Club owner Peggy Baker is excited to have Cervantes in her kitchen.

"Patti's been here about three weeks and our customers have been giving her rave reviews," she said.

Baker said the restaurant's Super Bowl and Valentine's Day buffets were sold out.

Cervantes has hand selected her staff, a group of highly talented men. Tony Grant was the evening supervisor at the Inn of the Mountain Gods for three years.

Brandon Gochenour was the head chef and food and beverage manager at the Bull Ring. And Mike Smith has been with the Texas Club for almost six months.

With the new chef come menu revisions. Cervantes is casting a Southwestern flair over many of the dishes.

Peggy Baker invites everyone to savor the new and improved cuisine at the Texas Club.

"A lot of people think this is a private club, but it is definitely open to the public," she said.

Live entertainment takes the stage Friday and Saturday nights in the restaurant's comfortable lounge. The Texas Club also will book small parties or cater an event.

Located on Metz Drive, the Texas Club is hidden from mainstream traffic. Take Mechem to Cree Meadows, and turn at the Texas Club sign. They serve lunch Monday through Friday 11 a.m. to 2 p.m., and dinner is served Monday through Thursday 6 p.m. to 9 p.m., Friday and Saturday 5 p.m. to 10 p.m.

For casual fine dining, which means you can wear jeans while you enjoy quality New Mexican cuisine, the Texas Club is a fine choice.

Officials of Cellular 3 Inc. of Clovis have announced that the company will undergo a name change.

Effective immediately the company will now be known as Plateau Cellular Network, Inc. (PCN). Officials stated that the new name will better describe the vast area of coverage provided.

PCN through its network of communication partnerships and authorized agents, provides cellular service to over 25,000 customers in eastern New Mexico, the Texas Panhandle and southwestern Texas.

Officials with PCN said that the only change Cellular 3 customers will see is the new name.

Realtors celebrate a bangup 13 months

If anybody says 13 isn't a lucky number, you can bet it's not a member of the Ruidoso Board of Realtors.

Ruidoso real estate professionals got together Wednesday to celebrate a banner "baker's dozen" year when their sales took a mighty $28,248,847 jump to $80,678,441.

Real estate sales included in that close to $81 million total were for the 13 months that ended January 31. Realtors completed 1,083 sales in the year-plus-one month period of 1993 and January 1994. That, too was a big increase over the 805 sales listed for 1992's $52,428,943 total.

In 1991, the Board of Realtors reported 672 sales for a total of $44,052,197.

Gary Lynch of Gary Lynch Realty completed the most transactions in 1993, to earn the "Hustler of the Year" designation — again.

Lynch has hustled his way to the top in this category for the past four years, winning the award in 1989, 1990, 1991 and 1992.

Other nominees for Hustler of the Year were Nancy Lore of Coldwell Banker SDC Realtors and Susan Miller of Century 21 Aspen Real Estate.

Miller was the top lister for the second year in a row, earning the title of Lister of the Year for 1993. Lynch, Lore and Richard Loverin of Coldwell Banker SDC Realtors were the other nominees for this title, which goes to the Realtor who has the largest number of listings sold in a year.

Miller also recorded the largest dollar volume of total production in all of MLS, including sales and listings sold, and in so doing earned the title of Top Producer of the Year.

Nominees for top producer included Bill Hirschfeld of Realty Services, Lore, Lynch and Loverin.

Last year, Miller had to share her top producer title in a three-way tie with Loverin and Doug Siddens.

Salesperson of the Year award went to Loverin, who garnered the highest dollar volume of buyer controlled sales.

Others nominated for Salesperson of the Year were Lynch, Miller, Hirschfeld and Lore.

Rookie of the Year, an award that goes to a beginning Realtor, with 1993 being their first year in Ruidoso MLS, went to Warren Rouse of Century 21 Aspen Real Estate.

Rookie of the Year is based on total dollar production, both in listings and sales, as well as MLS participation and professional attitude.

ton of Ruidoso Properties Better Homes and Gardens.

Also recognized during the annual awards were Ruidoso's real estate agents who had topped a million in total dollar volume of production in 1993, and hit various plateaus over a million.

Richard Loverin and Susan Miller were presented plaques for topping the $10 million mark in 1993.

Gary Lynch was recognized for passing the $8 million milestone; and Doug Siddens and Nancy Lore both were presented awards for total dollar volume of more than $6 million.

Bill Hirschfeld recorded a total dollar volume of more than $4 million in 1993.

At over $3 million were Ed LeBlanc, Wayland Burk, Johnny Mobley, Harvey Foster, Peggy Jordan and Joe Zagone.

Recognized for passing $2 million were Bob Turner, Barbara Willard, Betty Beachum, Bill Newman, Cindy Lynch, Scott Roser, Lisa Dinkins, Gary Caughron, Rose Peebles and Bill Rickard.

Million dollar producers included Marcia Guynes, Marge Woodul, Bill Pippin, Dwight Andrews, Jackie Covington, Joyce Cox, Phyliss Lutrick, James Scott Miller, Mary Parsons, James Paxton, Warren Rouse, Larry Tillman, Mary Austin, Glen Crane, Frances Richardson, La Verne Brewer, Linda Long, Wayne Bergeron, Don Lincoln, Mark Mobley, William Saegart and Carrie Saegart.

Susan Miller and Richard Loverin were honored for a series of accomplishments. Miller was top lister and produced largest dollar volume. Loverin was salesperson of the year.

Cindy and Gary Lynch are pictured after Lynch was named Hustler of the Year for the fifth year.
