Drug net reels in 12 suspects

by CHARLES STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

A local drug bust, primarily generated through contacts at the Winner's Circle bar in Midtown, resulted in the arrest of 12 Ruidoso residents, according to drug agent Gonzalo Cordova of the White Mountain Task Force.

Cordova said officers started arresting persons on Monday, after several agencies had conducted a lengthy investigation involving undercover agents posing as patrons of the Winner's Circle bar.

He said other agencies assisting in the arrests included the Ruidoso Police under Chief Dick Swenor, Lincoln County Sheriff's Department under Sheriff James McSwane and the New Mexico State Police Narcotics Division.

Arrested Tuesday were:

Larry Miller of Ruidoso, charged with five counts of trafficking cocaine, one count of trafficking cocaine by distribution as an accessory and one count of trafficking methamphetamine.

Dee Molina, a band leader at the Winner's Circle, four counts of trafficking of cocaine

Hershel Pat Spurlin, four counts of distribution of marijuana, one count of trafficking cocaine, one count of conspiracy to traffic cocaine and one count of conspiracy to traffic marijuana.

Patricia Odorica Spurlin, one count of conspiracy to traffic cocaine and one count of conspiracy to distribute marijuana.

Alan Young, a bouncer at the Winner's Circle, one count of distribution of marijuana and three counts of trafficking cocaine.

Steven Garcia, arrested in an October drug raid in 1992, was arrested for an attempt to commit a violent offense on a police officer in the Winner's Circle parking lot.

Arrested Wednesday afternoon were: Steven Powell, one count of distribution of marijuana.

Richard Shelton, two counts of distribution of Marijuana,

Wednesday morning, Terry Coe was arrested on conspiracy to traffic cocaine and possession of cocaine.

Shannon Yoder was arrested on two counts of trafficking cocaine by distribution, one count of conspiracy to traffic cocaine by distribution and one count of accessory to traffic cocaine by distribution.

Cordova said the investigation is continuing and more arrests are to be expected.

Mescalero joined by 33 utilities

by FRANKIE JARRELL
The Ruidoso News Editor

It may not be a marriage made in Heaven, but partners who have joined forces to develop a nuclear waste storage site are looking forward to a happy honeymoon.

The Mescalero Apache Tribal Council and Minneapolis-based Northern States Power Company set their sights on at least 30 utility companies to make a private storage facility feasible, and they're delighted to have come up with 33.

Mescalero, after working with the federal government for about three years using study grants from the Department of Energy, finally gave up on any government-initiated plans earlier this year.

The Minneapolis-based Northern States Power Company, in the business of providing electricity through nuclear power plants, was generating a growing stockpile of spent fuel rods with storage space almost gone.

The two made contact, made plans and then went looking for partners to make a private storage plan work.

Northern States and the Mescalero Tribal Council hosted a meeting for representatives of utility companies, and after giving them tours and conferring on various issues they gave them an early April deadline.

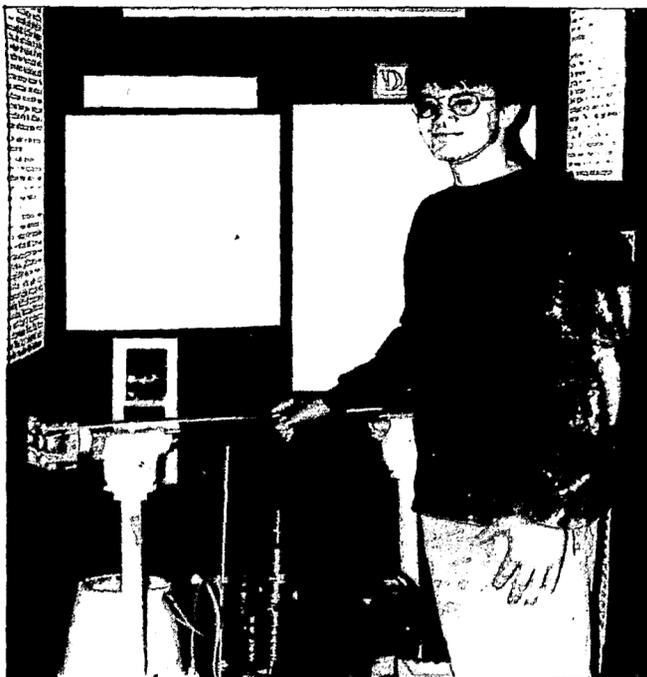

Wednesday, the tribe and Northern States announced that 33 utilities and two nuclear industry contractors have officially joined the

by PAMELA CROMWELL
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Ruidoso Downs police chief Will Hoggard resigned last week.

Mayor Joe Hayhurst has appointed officer David Hightower as interim chief and plans to submit his name to the board Monday for approval as the permanent replacement.

Village clerk Leann Weibrecht said the public was not notified of Hoggard's resignation because it was a private matter.

"I didn't think it was news," she said.

Mayor Hayhurst said Ruidoso Downs is so small that the news travelled by word of mouth.

"Everybody in town already knows it," he said.

Hoggard said he kept his decision quiet because he was uncertain of the temperament of the city. He said he had been increasingly unhappy with his job, and a recent village decision cemented his decision to leave.

"They had some patrol schedule ideas that I didn't want to implement, and they really wanted it," he said. "There's no hard feelings. I'm pretty burnt out, and I just need a break."

Hoggard plans to take a few months off, then return to law en-

Parents react to school problems

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Dissatisfaction with conditions in the Ruidoso school district and a desire to see things change for the better prompted a group of parents to organize a special meeting for 6:30 p.m. today.

Although the subject of conducting a recall election of school board members isn't the prime focus, one of the organizers acknowledged Wednesday that it may be considered, if no other avenues for change seem open.

"The meeting is to find out the feelings of the community," said Mike Kakuska, former Ruidoso high school principal, who was contacted by The News.

No public announcement was sent to The News inviting the public to attend this meeting, but Kakuska, who left the school system when his contract was not renewed, stressed that it is an open meeting.

"My objective is change. Recalls are nasty and nothing that anyone should take lightly. I'm definitely a proponent of change and, if that's the only way, it's time to sit down and talk about it."

A spokesman for the Lincoln County Clerk's office said to initiate a recall election would require a petition signed by one-third of those who voted in the election in which the school officials were selected.

Joining Kakuska in his concern for the current situation in the district ranging from student safety to the athletics program and academics, is Dub Williams, a former teacher/coach in the system and a Republican candidate for state representative.

He said he became involved after being approached by parents around the county.

"As I traveled, I heard rumors, second hand information," Williams said. "I told the people if you just sit down and talk about it, nothing is going to happen. I asked were they willing to get up in a public forum and have their voices be heard."

"I met with a group and said what we need to do is get the people with facts to go before a group and present those facts. In the process, it evolved to get five to 10 people willing to speak."

"As I view it, we will try to get concrete incidents and information together and then meet with school board members so they can hear the voices of those people. We have no intention of going in there screaming or yelling. That's not my way."

"I think we have fine people on the school board, but I still have grandchildren in the system and I don't want them to feel jeopardized every day they go to school."

Williams' connections to the school include his son, Borde Williams, a coach at Ruidoso Middle School.

Williams' daughter-in-law, Karen Parsons, who is married to another son, made an emotional

Village airport board designs proposals for aircraft mechanic

by CHARLES STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

The Ruidoso Airport Advisory Board hammered out a request for proposal (RFP) Tuesday to obtain an independent contract aircraft mechanic for Sierra Blanca Regional Airport (SBRA).

The RFP will be submitted to the governing body for approval at next Tuesday's regular council meeting in village hall.

Board members said they were looking for a proposer to provide on-call, as needed, general aviation mechanical repair services for the customers of SBRA.

Qualifications include a minimum of one General Aviation Mechanic with experience working on single and light twin engine aircraft. The mechanic shall have an FAA IA certification or be able to qualify and obtain an IA certification within six months.

The working space available is the village owned hangar at SBRA. The proposal shall also include the rental fees offered for this space. Fees will be integrated into a twelve month lease agreement.

The proposer shall name the Village of Ruidoso as an additional named insured with policy limits equal to or greater of those required by New Mexico Tort Claims Act.

Board member Tim Morris also asked airport manager Lloyd Wayne to investigate the possibility of SBRA incorporating use of the new Roswell radar facility and adapting the equipment at SBRA to be programmed with the National Weather Bureau.

spent nuclear fuel storage initiative on Mescalero tribal lands.

"With this commitment, each of the utilities has been guaranteed the opportunity to become an equity partner with the Mescaleros in their effort to site a private spent nuclear fuel storage facility on tribal lands," reads a news release provided by Miller Hudson representing the consortium which is called the Mescalero/Utility Fuel Storage Initiative.

"We are delighted with the positive response from the energy industry," said Fred Peso, vice president of the Mescalero Apache Tribe. "The number of respondents and their enthusiasm exceeded everyone's expectations."

The first phase for the 35 partners is to determine by June 1, more detailed costs and schedules for the project, according to the news release.

Once the estimates are completed, participants will decide whether or not to move to the second phase of the process in which a business entity with the Mescaleros as majority partner will be established.

The Mescalero tribe, which responded early to an invitation from the federal Nuclear Waste Negotiator's office, has followed the process into that voluntary siting plan further than any other group. The tribe was into its second phase study grant when it became apparent to the tribal leadership that the federal government had changed its direction.

Funding was cut off for any further studies leading to the siting of a Monitored Retrievable Storage

(MRS) site to hold the highly radioactive spent fuel rods that are piling up at nuclear power plants all over the United States.

Utility companies are running out of space and are faced with shutting down before their licenses expire if a temporary disposal site isn't developed. The permanent site being developed at Yucca Flats has run into serious problems and some people doubt if it will ever open.

Meanwhile, the Mescalero Apache Indian Tribe has offered its tribal lands for a temporary site with a life-span of some 40 years.

During its three years of studies through the federal program, the Mescaleros identified three study areas on the reservation as satisfactory locations for an MRS. These areas will be further evaluated for the proposed private spent fuel storage project.

Now that this new process has begun, the Mescalero Apache Tribe will need to approve the agreements that are reached for constructing and operating a spent fuel storage facility.

Following tribal approval, the licensing process with the Nuclear Regulatory Commission will begin, according to the news release. It is estimated that obtaining a license to store used fuel will take about three to four years and will cost between $8 and $10 million.

During the licensing process an environmental impact statement will be developed in conjunction with extensive public hearings.

"Northern States Power has taken a leadership role in this project because we need to take control of our own destiny," said James J. Howard, chairman and chief executive officer of the power company.

"This private initiative represents a great opportunity for the nuclear industry to pull together and make substantial progress on establishing an interim facility until a federal storage site is available."

"We expect to bring badly needed technical jobs and a large economic boost to a part of New Mexico that has been ignored by Santa Fe," said Peso.

"This is an economic opportunity that the tribal council needs to explore because it would diversify our tribal job base and place one more brick in the structure of economic self-sufficiency."

The following companies have committed to at least phase one of this process: American Electric Power, Arizona Public Service, Boston Edison, Carolina Power and Light, Centerior Energy, Commonwealth Edison, Consolidated Edison, Consumers Power, Dairyland Power, Detroit Edison, Duke Power Co., Duquesne Light Company, Entergy Operations, GPU Nuclear Corp., IES Utilities, Illinois Power, Morrison-Knudsen, Nebraska Public Power District, Niagara Mohawk, Northeast Utilities, Northern States Power Co., Omaha Public Power District, Pacific Gas and Electric, Pennsylvania Power and Light, PECO Energy Co., Portland General Electric, Public Service Electric and Gas, Rochester Gas and Electric, Southern California Edison, Southern Nuclear Operating Company, Transnuclear, Virginia Power, Wisconsin Electric Power, Wisconsin Public Service and Yankee Atomic Power.

plea to the school board during its last meeting on behalf of volleyball coach Jody Blanton who was reassigned from coaching to teaching.

Both Kakuska and Williams urged parents and school board members to attend the meeting.

"I think the parents who have problems need to be heard," Williams said. "Sometimes, when you're on a board, you're insulated and you don't hear."

His first impulse was to go directly to the board himself.

"Then I thought if people really are concerned, they should be willing to stand up. Some say they're afraid of retaliation against their children. We couldn't stand for that.

"Maybe we will end up with something concrete to take to the school board. I can't go on hearsay and I can't guarantee the board will see us when we're ready."

Kakuska said as a parent with children in the district, he is concerned for their education and safety.

"Many people I talk to feel the same way," he said. "Most are concerned with academics, but some with athletics."

Kakuska said he was contacted by parents about the legalities of a recall and parents' rights.

"This is nothing secret," he said. "This is very professional and above board. We will do things correctly. I don't want someone going crazy about one issue. This is more involved and comes from all quarters. This will be handled professionally. I won't be part of any lynch mob."

"We have agreed on that and that the children will not be involved. We don't want to operate on rumors. They can kill. We're here not to destroy, but to help the system grow."

The group will meet in the Texas-New Mexico Power building on Mechem Drive.

Garbage group gets into grease

Ruidoso News Staff Writer

A proposal to allow a private company to operate a grease disposal site at the Otero-Lincoln County Regional Landfill was called ill advised Monday by the attorney who helped design the regional concept.

J. Robert Beauvais, who was instrumental in bringing together 10 government entities in the two counties to form a solid waste coalition, questioned the exclusivity of allowing a private business to operate on the 820-acre site south of Alamogordo.

Wilton Howell, a Lincoln County Commissioner and chairman of the Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority, raised concerns about the arrangement proposed by Alamogordo officials during a joint meeting of the two boards last week.

"We didn't have any advance information or input," Howell said. "We walked in and they were ready to approve a lease on 15 acres. The company, C&C Sanitation, already lost out on a site near Tularosa, because of opposition from residents."

"I didn't think we had any basis for allowing private businesses to operate on our government land, charging others to dispose of their grease there."

The grease comes from restaurants in the two counties.

At a meeting of the Lincoln County authority Monday, Bruce Haynes, who operates a septic-grease pumping service locally, told members he uses a 25,000 gallon storage tank. Fortunately, he was able to empty the tank just before a grease disposal operation shut down in Las Cruces. Other operators who have contacted Lewandowski take their material to Roswell.

Gary Jackson, Ruidoso village manager and a new member on the authority board, said he was concerned that allowing C&C to use the landfill property might create a monopoly.

"My concern is the same as Gary's," Beauvais said. "It's a serious problem giving anyone the exclusive right to use our property, our road, to make a profit."

"We don't have any right to allow private enterprise behind our fences."

"If there is a need for this, why aren't we in the business? It's ill advised as far as I'm concerned and inconsistent with what we want to do."

Member Dr. Bernhard Reimann of Capitan agreed that if a need exists, the authority should operate the grease disposal site. The material is essentially organic and non-toxic, is spread over land to be baked by the sun and then tilled into the soil, he said.

"We need to go to the state environment people to see what is needed," he said.

"The city attorney (Alamogordo) said it doesn't require a liner (at the bottom of the disposal area to prevent material leaking into water supplies)," Beauvais said. "It doesn't matter what it is with the state constitutional prohibition against exclusivity."

Jackson said if the company went out of business and any leaching (material moving through different layers of soil and rock to reach the underground water supply) occurred, the two authorities would be liable for the clean-up and correction expense, which could run into the millions.

"They would have to agree to hold us harmless for any future expense," Beauvais said. "I see a world of problems. I'm also concerned that the plan was so well developed as it was before we were even apprised of it."

According to a memorandum from Alamogordo city manager Robert Stockwell, the city of Tularosa and Otero County officials have been looking for an appropriate site. It wouldn't be economically feasible for the joint authority to operate such a facility, he wrote.

"By leasing land not planned for use by the landfill, we would simply be providing a reasonable location for a private company to dispose of locally generated grease. The site would be permitted by the State Environment Department and our role would be as landlord."

The appraised value of the 15-acre site is $703, he said. An annual lease of $350 (for five years) is being proposed and represents a 50 percent annual return on the land value. It would be adjusted annually based on the consumer price index.

He recommended the grease disposal company be required to carry insurance coverage that names the regional landfill and authority members as additional insured.

Howell directed authority general manager Joe Lewandowski to include the issue on the agenda for the special budget meeting set for 9 a.m. Monday, April 25.

During that joint meeting last week, Stockwell also notified members that the landfill is ready to receive asbestos and recommended a disposal fee of $20 per cubic yard.

"The closest facilities that accept asbestos are in Mountainair and Odessa, Texas," Stockwell said.

At the Monday meeting of the Lincoln County authority, recycling coordinator Kerry Krumstiek has secured a $100 grant from the Keep New Mexico Beautiful program to plant trees around the recycling operations center on Second Street in Ruidoso Downs.

However, authority members told him to hold off until they decide whether to continue the lease there, purchase the property out right or move.

Lewandowski said the owners, Texas-New Mexico Power, will continue at the same price of $700 a month, with $200 going toward the purchase. The price of $85,000 already has been reduced to $79,600 over the last three years.

"I don't think we can afford to move right now," he said.

By next month, the regional landfill should be generating enough money to refund all environmental gross receipts taxes sent to Alamogordo to cover Lincoln's share of the monthly bond payments. The bonds were sold to pay for construction and start-up costs.

Lewandowski showed a graph depicting a doubling of volume in recycling material from the previous high month of 63,400 pounds to 128,000 pounds. Even subtracting the 24,000 pounds of newspapers from Alamogordo, the center took in an additional 38,600 pounds.

In response to a request from Howell at the last board meeting, Beauvais wrote a letter explaining how liens will be handled to recover past due accounts in the unincorporated portions of the county.

"I believe it should be clear that our intention is to collect fully your costs, including attorney fees, at whatever stage of the process a delinquent property owner settles this account," Beauvais wrote. "In the unlikely event it would go through a judicial proceeding, all of these additional costs would also be collected prior to a particular account being settled."

He explained at the meeting that the liens take precedence over all other claims except taxes.

"You almost never lose money on these things, unless something is wrong like double charging," he said.

In other business, the authority heard that a hydraulic line came loose on the Capitan debris landfill tractor, hit the hot exhaust and caught fire.

The cost of repair is estimated at $5,800, plus $1,000 to transport it," Lewandowski said. "Insurance will cover it, but we've held off pending budget talks to see what you want to do."

The machine was old when acquired by the authority. Beauvais suggested the board look into a lease purchase of a newer model.

"Since your income is derived from services, not taxes, a lease purchase is legal," he said.

—went over a budget statement showing expenses and income holding even at about 70 percent for the year.

However, Howell said he continues to be worried about overtime, which in some departments is as high as 11.1 percent.

Lewandowski contended overtime is a less expensive option than hiring more employees and paying benefits. He also wants to avoid accumulating large blocks of compensatory time.

"We're following Ruidoso's system (the village operated a program prior to the authority)," he said. "When someone works eight hours over, they get 12 hours off and we have a lot of extra time."

Beauvais said time and a half isn't necessary for compensatory time.

Lewandowski said the time used represents what's needed to efficiently run the system. Last week, the recycling crew spent four days helping pick up pine needles from people cleaning their lots.

"I'd rather see the overtime than see my phone ring off the hook," said member Jerry Shaw, mayor of Ruidoso.

—heard that by next meeting, Lewandowski will devise a recommended fee schedule for special collections. About 100 bags of yard material is the break point before imposing an additional charge, he said.

"We can handle a reasonable amount," he said. "It's the abuses we can't handle. Some people have called up after clearing a lot and expect us to haul away trees or a whole shed for free."

—expressed concern over the possibility that the state may require a liner and other more stringent provisions at the debris landfill in Capitan.

"It's mostly brush and trees, the same thing you find in lakes," Lewandowski said. "If it goes through, we may have to close the Capitan landfill. Talk about illegal dumping occurring in the county."

forcement work somewhere else.

"I'm real happy with this decision," he said. "It's been a long year and a half, and I'm tired."

Chief of police is an appointed position, and Mayor Hayhurst has chosen to promote from within the department rather than solicit applications. Hoggard recommended Hightower as his replacement, saying that Hightower is a good man with plenty of experience.

Hightower has been with the department since 1988, and he graduated from Western New Mexico University Police Academy.

Hightower said he is looking forward to accepting the promotion to chief.

"I think Will (Hoggard) brought this department up a lot and I plan to continue that progress," he said.

Hightower said that the new schedule does not enhance officer safety to the degree that an additional officer would. His only concern with the patrol schedule, though, is that involves some fast turn-arounds in which an officer may finish a 12-hour shift, then return to work eight hours later for another 12-hour shift.

"We'll probably do some creative scheduling to make this work," he said.

Hoggard had asked the village for funds to hire an additional officer because he was concerned for officer safety. He felt it was important to have two people on duty during critical periods, such as late Friday and Saturday nights.

The village declined his request due to lack of available funds. Another officer could cost between $15,000 and $17,000 annually.

Mayor Hayhurst designed a patrol schedule that puts two officers on duty at peak times and provides for 24-hour coverage.

"The village wants to reduce comp time," said Hightower. "With the current schedule, no one is on duty after 4 a.m., so if something happens between 4 and 8 a.m., that's a call-out. Officers are paid time and a half for off-duty call-outs."

Hightower said the 911 service obligates the department to have someone on duty 24-hours a day and that there is an ever-present danger to lose officers during peak hours. The Downs employs six police officers, including the chief, and four full-time dispatchers.

Village board advises the council on allocating lodgers tax money for ads

by CHARLES STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

The Ruidoso lodgers tax advisory board began its meeting Tuesday with a certain concern over the possibility of the village council changing the method for allocating money.

The board decided it was business as usual until informed otherwise by council action.

The possible change in lodgers tax money spending was discussed at a recent council workshop meeting by Councilor Frank Potter.

Potter said that he wanted to avoid the waste in advertising spending by the village. He said there was too much duplication, and loose control.

Potter said money spent with the Economic Development Corporation of Lincoln County, Civic Events Center and Main Street could be put into a Convention Visitors Bureau (CVB) and controlled better and more efficiently. He said the council also contracts for advertising through the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce.

The village expects about $300,000 this upcoming year from lodgers tax, and another $100,000 out of the general fund.

Any change in village ad spending should not change the obligation of the lodgers tax advisory board.

As mandated by the state, all advertising requests using lodgers tax are reviewed by the lodgers tax board which then recommends action by the village council to approve or deny.

How informed lodgers tax board recommendations are may be questioned, in so far as the board has little time to study different proposals.

Last Tuesday, the board was approached by Laura Doth of the Museum of the Horse regarding an ad to be placed for three half-page color magazine advertisements emphasizing the Ruidoso area through "Billy the Kid Country."

The ad, featuring the Ruidoso Downs Race Track, Museum of the Horse and The Links Golf Course would be placed in the American Cowboy, Global Travel Guide and Foremost West International Guide.

Combined press runs are about 200,000 with the total color ad cost of $9,337.00.

All inquiries received as a result of the ad in the three magazines will be responded to by the chamber of commerce, so Doth approached chamber director Joan Bailey for one-third of the cost, about $3,100.00. Doth said the museum and racetrack planned to run the ad anyway.

Bailey told The Ruidoso News that she suggested Doth get the one-third cost approved directly from the lodgers tax board, with the money to come from the special events fund.

Bailey said her suggestion was made out of necessity, that the budgeted chamber contract money had been allocated and no extra funds were available.

According to Maddox, the $8,000 now in lodgers tax, normally is reserved for promotion of events such as the annual motorcycle rally and Christmas Jubilee.

The board approved the one-third ad cost (about $3,100) and will recommend final approval by the village council.

According to Tammie Maddox, the agenda for the lodgers tax advisory board is completed on Monday. She said board members, for the most part, never pick up their agenda until Tuesday, the day of the meeting.

Although the council already approved a contract for the chamber, the new expense, approved by the lodgers tax board after a few minutes discussion, appears to increase the amount budgeted for the chamber.

That money, according to Maddox, will have to be pulled from special events money, also budgeted by the council. By depleting that fund, new events that come along could end up being denied seed money.

The village council agenda packets prepared by Maddox are available to council members on Friday for the following Tuesday meeting, but Maddox said her workload prevents similar treatment for the lodgers tax board. Therefore, lodgers tax board members may be unsure of the project they are recommending for funding.

Maddox is an ex-officio member of the lodgers tax board by village policy, not state statute. The minutes are kept by board member Lynette Moore.

On Tuesday, the board also approved money spent in this year's budget by The Greeters and Cowboy Symposium.

They listened to, but took no action on 1994-95 budget requests by the All American Festival and the Golden Aspen Motorcycle Rally.

Lady Warriors qualify for state golf tourney

by KENT BEATTY
The News Sports Correspondent

The Ruidoso High School Lady Warriors turned in their best performance in years Monday and Tuesday in the Leroy Gooch Invitational at Cree Meadows. That exceptional effort qualified the team for the State Tournament, which will be held in Ruidoso next month.

The girls total of 816 was fifth overall in the AAA division, but more importantly just one shot back of District rival Socorro, who the girls will be battling with in two weeks at the district tournament for the 3-AAA runner-up spot. Oñate, last year's AAA State Champions, is again very strong and should repeat as the district champs as the Las Cruces school will be hosting the tournament on their home course.

This year marks the first appearance by the Lady Warriors in the State Tournament since 1988, when the girls finished sixth.

The remarkable thing about this year's team is that three of the five spots belong to eighth graders. Devon Lowe's 193 led the girls for the two days followed by Heather Stephens' 197.

The team's lone senior, Danielle Morris, a four-year letterman for Warriors, was next with 210. Katie Lukens shot 217 followed by sophomore Cecilia Fuentes' 220.

"I'm just so happy to see these girls do this," said a teary-eyed Becky Austin, the girls head coach.

"We've worked so hard and these girls have improved so much ... this will do so much for the program. I'm so happy for Danielle, who's stuck with it year after year, and now she's going to get to go to a State Tournament," said Austin.

The complete results of the Gooch appear below.

The boys team finished tied for second in the AAA of the Gooch, beaten five strokes by Deming. The Warriors were third after the first day's play at Alto — five shots behind Lovington and three shots behind pre-tournament favorite Grants.

The Warriors 325 during the second day at the Links was the team's best total of the year, but Deming got a remarkable effort by their No. 6 player, Jon Sanchez. A sophomore, Sanchez fired an amazing 75, just one shot off the day's best score of 74, which was posted by Silver's All-Star Aaron Salars. The Wildcats shot 333-313 for the two days.

Salars was also the medalist last year.

The Warriors' Jeff Chapman's

total of 153 (75-78) was second among the AAA schools. Other Warrior scores included Matt Cantu, 184; Jimmy Varnadore, 169; Ryan Wall, 171; and Eric Stephens, 172.

The Warriors actually had a great chance to come back and win the tournament despite Deming's effort, but played the long No. 18th hole at the Links nine over-par as a team.

In fact, no Warrior parred the hole.

While the loss was a disappointment for the team, who won the tournament last year en route to its State Championship, the Warriors still should be the team to beat at the State tournament when it comes back to Ruidoso next month.

Ruidoso also entered several junior varsity players in the Gooch. The Boys JV team was led by an excellent 157 (82-75) from junior Scott Christensen. His two-day total was one shot off of medalist honors among the junior varsity players.

Other Warrior sub-varsity scores included: Byron Soules, 178; Stephen Houghton, 185; Rhett Hightower, 191; and Jackie Roe, 209.

C-Team scores included: Alex Eckert, 188; Brian Phillips, 191; Billy Rogge, 197; Bryne Moore, 211; and Kevin Hoyt, 215.

The Middle School Braves also did another excellent job with their scores. Eric Russell led the team with 180 followed by Andy Schrader, 193; Ryan Humphreys, 199; Jake Graham, 200; and Scott Sebastian, 201.

The boys will again try to tame the Links and the Inn of the Mountain Gods, while the girls change venues a bit to Alto Lakes Country Club and again back to Cree Meadows.

The boys qualified for State after Monday's 327 total at Alto, which is the earliest that any Warrior team has qualified for the big dance.

The boys scores have gotten lower each week and while those trophies aren't in the Warriors' hands this year, the only trophy that counts is still a very, very real possibility.

Ruidoso will play three tournaments next week. The teams will meet tough competition in the Roswell Independent School's Invitational Tuesday at Spring River then travel to Cloudercroft on Thursday. Things wrap up on Saturday at the NMMI Invitational.

The next week will see the boys go for a 3-peat in the District Championship at Las Cruces Country Club. The Warriors won in 1992 at Silver City and last year at DeFang.

Here are the complete results of the 1994 Leroy Gooch Invitational: AAAA Boys: 1-Alamogordo, 312-311-623; 2-Farmington, 312-319-631; 3-Goddard, 321-814-636; 4-Carlsbad, 327-318-645; 5-Clovis, 317-329-646; 6-Roswell, 330-322; 7-Gallup, 321-334-655; 8-Las Cruces, 327-339-666; 9-Los Lunas, 346-344-690; 10-Mayfield, 350-341-697.

Ruidoso eighth grader Devon Lowe, leader of the girls golf team, keeps her iron parallel as she prepares to swing on the par three at Cree Meadows Golf and Country Club.

Warrior golfer Jeff Chapman, always praying with his head down, plants his left foot as he prepares to uncock his wrist for a three-iron drive.

Golf coach Kent Beatty lines up behind Eric Stephens to discuss the roll of the green. An opponent also appears to be taking advantage of the strategy.

Ruidoso High takes second place in Ruidoso Invitational

by KENT BEATTY
The News Sports Correspondent
Head coach Ronny Maskew had to be pleased with the effort that his young track team turned in Saturday as both the boys and girls Track teams finished second in the Ruidoso Invitational.

Socorro took the girls division by just 16 points, but Ruidoso handed defeat to both Artesia and Lovington. The Warriors got blue ribbons from the boys division from Kyle Humphreys and Casey Kearns. Humphreys won the long jump with a leap of 20'6 3/4", which was almost a foot better than runner-up Josh Whitmore, from Artesia.

Humphreys also crossed the finish line first in the 110-hurdles with a 15:59 mark — again, easily outdistancing his opponent. Kearns, who is rapidly developing into one of the best quarter-milers in the State, smashed the competition by almost three full seconds in stopping the timer in 50.81. The Warriors also took first in 1600-meter relay. On the girls side, senior Stephanie Haas was the only individual to win an event, taking the 1600 and 3200-meter runs. The Lady Warriors did however win both the 400 and 800-meter relays. Brandy Pfeiffer had a good day for the blue and gold with a second-place finish in the high jump and a fourth in the 200-meter dash. Monique Ramos checked in third in two field events, the Shot Put and Discus. Ramos got 30'2" out of the shot and wielded the discus 99'3". Senior Kristie Ryan also had a good day finishing second in the 400-meter dash.

Head coach Ronny Maskew definitely saw some improvement over last week's efforts in Roswell. "The kids just came out worked today. Our handoffs were better... we just did the little things a whole lot better today than the last couple of weeks. This should really help us a lot as we try to qualify for State and of course the District tournament," said Maskew.

Sports Theater to telecast the Holyfield/Moorer bout Friday

World Boxing Association and International Boxing Federation heavyweight champion Evander Holyfield will put his titles on the line against the No. 1 contender, and the most ferocious puncher in boxing, Michael Moorer.

The 31-year-old Atlanta native successfully defended his crown three times before his first encounter with Bowe on November 13, 1992. Moorer is widely considered the most devastating puncher in the sport as evidenced by his 90 career knockouts in just 84 professional bouts. The 26-year-old started his career with an amazing 29 straight knockouts. He is ranked No. 1 by the WBA and the IBF. A victory over Holyfield would earn Moorer the distinction of being the first southpaw ever to hold any portion of the heavyweight crown. In any event he will be the first left hander to face Holyfield since 1986. Born in Brooklyn, Moorer now resides in Detroit. Two sensational world title bouts will also be shown. Junior Jones defends his WBA Bantamweight crown against John Michael Johnson and John-John Molina lays his IBF Junior Lightweight title on the line against Gregorio Vargas. Jones, Brooklyn, New York, 32-0, 22 KO's, captured the WBA crown in a wild give-and-take brawl last year against Jorge Julio. His title will be on the line for the second time when he squares off with USBA Junior Bantamweight Champion, Johnson, San Antonio, Texas 17-4, 18 KO's. Molina, Fajardo, Puerto Rico, 34-3, 26 KO's will be stepping into a ring with a world title on the line for the twelfth time. The three-time world champion will be making the sixth defense of his IBF Junior Lightweight when he faces former World Featherweight Champion Vargas, Hidalgo, Mexico, 29-4-1, 20 KO's. Tickets to the fight are $10 each and are available at Win Place & Show and at Ruidoso Downs.

Parks and Rec schedules kids' fun track meet

The Parks and Recreation Department is inviting athletic and just plain rambunctious kids to participate in a track meet May 7. Eligible girls and boys ages 5-14 can enter running, jumping and throwing events for their age groups. Proof of age is required, and Rafael Salas said parents can photocopy birth certificates free at the Senior Citizens Center and at the Parks and Recreation Office, located at 801 Grindstone Drive. Entry forms are available at Parks and Rec, the Ruidoso Library and through school P.E. teachers. Entry deadline is May 4. Call Parks and Rec at any of the following numbers for more details: 257-5030, 257-2795, 257-4295.

Fishing Report

Salmon eggs are the bait of choice for anglers in this area. At Alto Lake, fishing is fair using salmon eggs and green power bait, according to the New Mexico Game and Fish Department report. Fishing is fair at Bonito Creek and Bonito Lake. The lake was recently stocked. Salmon eggs and Z-rays are bringing in the catch at Grindstone Reservoir. Over 2,250 good-size trout are waiting for the lure. The Ruidoso River has also been stocked recently. Fishing is fair there and at Tularosa Creek, where anglers are also using fire balls, pink power bait and worms.

Village recreation department looks for contract instructors

The Ruidoso Village Council has given Parks and Recreation the go-ahead to increase its programming by hiring contract instructors. According to a press release from Parks and Rec, the program will provide quality recreation for the citizens of Ruidoso and will generate revenue for the department. Qualified instructors will teach a variety of recreational, educational and cultural classes to pre-schoolers, youth, teens, adults and seniors regardless of ability. Parks and Rec will advertise requests for proposals as the need arises. Instructors keep 70 percent of participant fees, and 30 percent will be funneled back into the department to cover the costs of utilities, facilities and administration. The money will also go toward maintenance and improvements of Parks and Rec facilities and properties. Applicants will submit proposals outlining the exact type of class, cost per class and a schedule. Possible programs include indoor activities such as painting, tutoring, child care and language classes. Outdoor activities include camping, basketball, archery and aerobics. For a complete listing of possible programs, please call the Parks and Recreation Office at 257-5030.

Scorebusters, Underdogs take turns leading Tuesday league play

In the Tuesday night mixed bowling league, the Scorebusters and the Underdogs continue to grapple for top standing. The Scorebusters have bobbed around in the top four slots since February, with Inn at Pine Springs as their main rival. Pine Springs is now holding steady in fifth place, while the Underdogs have scrambled past Smokey Bear Motel and Restaurant and the Achy Breaky Hearts. As of last week, the Underdogs were in first place, leading the Scorebusters by two games. Hearts and Smokey have been trading third and fourth places, ending last week with Smokey up by two games and only one game away from sharing second with the Scorebusters. The lower half of the standings lists Cut Above/Obsessions, Double Deuce, Lincoln County Medical Center and United New Mexico Bank in sixth through ninth respectively. Despite their low standings, UNMB and Cut Above/Obsessions still hold the first and second highest series scores. Highest game score is the province of Double Deuce with Scorebusters second.

Earth Day ...Every Day

Earth Day provides a focal point for our efforts to help maintain a clean, healthy and productive planet for ourselves and for future generations.

Paint the Town Gold with aspen trees

What better way to clean up the air and improve the environment than to plant a tree? Better yet, plant lots of trees.

United New Mexico Bank, Conley's Nursery and The Ruidoso News want to help light up Lincoln County with thousands of golden aspen trees.

Paint the Town Gold, which resulted in more than 5,000 golden aspen seedlings being planted here last year, is back and it's bigger and better than ever.

United New Mexico and The News offered seedlings at less than cost last year so that residents could afford to get a head start on a golden future. The result was 5,000 little trees.

This year, the sponsors are joined by Conley's Nursery, and will be offering bigger trees — 12 to 24-inch tall aspen trees in one-gallon containers. The cost is $5 each this year, and the trees will be picked up June 16 and 17, at Conley's Nursery on U.S. Highway 70.

Trees are mother nature's answer to air pollution, so be sure to order your golden aspens early. Supplies are limited.

Let's Clean Up The Earth!

Every day is Earth day...

While April 22, was designated as Earth Day, every day is Earth Day to the nation's farmers.

"Our family farmers make their living from the land and are careful to conserve this precious natural resource," says Dean Kleckner, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

Today's farmers are true professionals who test soil and plant tissue before applying fertilizers and avoid using unnecessary chemicals to protect their crops. Many are trained and certified in the use of fertilizers and pesticides. They increasingly use integrated pest management techniques to minimize the use of chemicals.

By 1995, farm land owners will have built another 216,000 miles of soil terraces in their fields to prevent erosion. Farm land will have an additional 1.3 million acres of grassed waterways to decrease runoff of rainfall and hold the soil in place.

More than 170 million acres are under some form of crop residue management practice. By next year, almost 26 million acres will be planted on the contour and a million acres will be idled from production to protect true wetlands. There are 135 million acres managed under federally approved conservation compliance plans and another 36 million are enrolled in the conservation reserve program, designed to keep the most erosion-prone acres from use in crop production.

U.S. farmers maintain 170,000 miles of windbreaks and plant millions of trees each year on their farms.

Because they control and care for much of the nation's private land, farmers and ranchers provide food and habitat for about 75 percent of our nation's wildlife.

Recycling is becoming more popular with farmers just as it is with all of us. Farmers work to safely dispose of pesticide containers, used engine oil, old tires and even old newspapers, which are increasingly being used as livestock bedding.

Farmers encourage the use of environmentally-friendly products made from renewable commodities including ethanol fuel; calcium magnesium acetate, a safer road de-icer than salt; plastic made from cornstarch; and vegetable oil as lubricants.

Nearly 55 percent of the fiber in garments and linens comes from cotton, another natural, renewable resource.

We share these reasons why every day is Earth Day.

Survey reveals ranchers celebrate the Earth all year

Many Americans will be celebrating Earth Day on Friday by planting trees, dedicating wildlife preserves and cleaning up waterways. Interestingly, a recent survey demonstrates that cattlemen implement these same environmental practices year-round.

The study was a joint project of the National Cattlemen's Association and Beef Today magazine and covered farmers and ranchers with beef cow/calf herds in the top 31 cow/calf states including New Mexico. The New Mexico Cattle Growers' Association is affiliated with the National Cattlemen's Association.

According to the study, 27 percent of the respondents have planted trees on their land in the past five years — cattlemen with larger cow herds (over 400 head) plant more trees (41 percent). Nine out of 10 cattlemen surveyed (87 percent) have land that supports wildlife as well as cattle. And 50 percent say the condition of their riparian areas (the land along waterways) has improved in the past 10 years.

"There's a reason cattlemen are environmentalists," says Robin Cox of Quemado, public relations committee chairman for New Mexico Cattle Growers.

"Our livelihood depends on it. If we don't take care of the land, the land won't take care of us and we won't have a business to pass on to our children."

The survey shows that cattlemen do depend on the land to take care of them and their families. Forty-two percent of those surveyed operate farms or ranches that have been in the same family for more than 50 years, with 12 percent of cattlemen running the same business their ancestors did 100 years ago. In addition, four out of five respondents plan to hand down their farm or ranch to their children.

Other highlights of the study:

- 89 percent perform soil testing;
- 89 percent practice rotational grazing (moving grazing cows often);

82 percent say the condition of their range or pasture land has improved in the last 10 years;

74 percent of respondents use minimum or conservation tillage systems;

61 percent plant winter cover crops and green manure crops (to control erosion); and 45 percent use natural (no chemicals) pest control methods.

When comparing this survey to a similar one conducted in 1990 (the 20th anniversary celebration of Earth Day), it is evident cattlemen are continuing to make advances in environmental stewardship.

"Cattlemen are out on the land every day, making improvements to the environment, yet we often neglect to tell people about the advances we've made in recent years. I guess you could say we've been practicing environmentalists, not preaching environmentalists," says Robin Cox.

In 1980, 42 percent of cattlemen had man-made terraces, ponds or water containment systems on their farms or ranches; today that percentage has grown to 64 percent. Wildlife efforts have also increased — 87 percent of respondents have areas that support wildlife, compared to only 80 percent four years ago. Seventeen percent of cattlemen today even have land dedicated specifically for wildlife habitat.

The January 1994 study was conducted by Rockwood Research of St. Paul, Minnesota, and was based on questionnaires of 400 randomly selected cow/calf producers who own more than 30 brood cows and are the primary decision-maker on the farm or ranch. The survey has a margin of error of plus or minus five percent.

Beef Today is the largest U.S. cattle magazine, reaching 200,000 beef producers and is published by Farm Journal, Inc. NCA is the national spokesman for the beef cattle industry, representing 230,000 professional cattlemen, including members of 74 affiliate state cattle and national breed organizations.

EARTH DAY 1994

- Car pool to work
- Protect our forests put out campfires

- Plant a Tree
- Woody's Owl says: Give a Hoot! Don't Pollute
- Conserve water
- Turn off lights when not in use
- Walk short distances instead of driving your car.

We're all breathing easier, thanks to cleaner air

Americans can celebrate Earth Day, April 22, knowing that they are breathing substantially cleaner air than 10 years ago, thanks in part to cleaner gasoline and vehicles that meet the world's toughest emissions standards.

Today's cars are about 96 percent cleaner than 25 years ago said a recent news release.

A recent U.S. Environmental Protection Agency report on air quality trends, which showed continuing progress in reducing six major pollutants over the period from 1988-1992. The report cited, among other improvements, 21 percent drop in ground-level ozone (smog); an 89 percent decrease in lead levels and a 34 percent cut in carbon monoxide.

The good news on air quality is largely the result of tremendous reductions in vehicle emissions since the 1970s. Fuels are also cleaner today — with the elimination of leaded gasoline, improved refining techniques, leading to reducing levels of toxic compounds in gasoline, and use of oxygenated fuels in many areas during winter the release went on to say.

The cleaner cars, which will reduce hydrocarbon emissions by 97 percent, carbon monoxide by 95 percent and nitrogen oxides by 85 percent, as compared with pre-controlled cars. Americans can expect to see continuing improvements in air quality, as new cars replace older, higher polluting cars.

Cars are not only cleaner today, they're also much safer and more fuel efficient than the vehicles of 20 years ago.

Earth Day should be a time when we focus not only on the challenges that lie ahead of us, but also on how much we've already achieved. It would be hard to find a more dramatic example of progress in reducing pollution than auto emissions.

"Partners in Stewardship" is theme for soil and water week

"Partners in Stewardship" is the theme of Soil and Water Stewardship Week, April 24 through May 1.

The concept of forming partnerships to better serve the environmental needs of our area is being emphasized by the Upper Hondo Soil and Water Conservation District, which is encouraging interested organizations and individuals to join with the National Association of Conservation Districts.

The conservation district, which works throughout the year on soil and water conservation measures, is providing literature and educational materials encouraging the organization of partnerships to benefit the conservation of natural resources. The local district is one of nearly 3,000 conservation districts nationwide that works with their national and state associations to encourage the wise use of natural resources through the annual week-long observance.

Upper Hondo SWCD celebrates each year by donation "Show Your Care with Buddy Bear" activity books to kindergarten, first and second grade students in Hondo, Hondo and Capitan schools in conjunction with Arbor Day activities. Posters are also distributed to teachers and students for classrooms.

Ministers are encouraged to use a book and litany provided to promote soil and water conservation stewardship during on Sunday's worship services. Libraries are given bookmarks and restaurants are asked to use placemats with the conservation theme provided.

Chairman John Cooper of the Upper Hondo Soil and Water Conservation District said he hopes Stewardship Week will challenge organization leaders to consider ways they can become meaningfully involved with other conservation oriented groups or agencies in activities that will provide a direct benefit to the quality of the environment we live in.

"While stewardship responsibility starts with you and me, there is always strength in numbers," said Cooper.

"And, each organization can bring its own unique skills and resources to a partnership effort that will improve the success of the project," he added.

Every day is Earth Day with nuclear energy.

Nuclear energy is America's second-leading source of electricity. Every day, nuclear energy generates one-fifth of America's electricity—enough to light over half the homes in the U.S.

Nuclear energy doesn't emit greenhouse gases. Because nuclear plants generate electricity cleanly, every day nuclear energy helps reduce greenhouse gas emissions from utilities by 20%.

Nuclear energy helps reduce air pollution. Every day, by using nuclear-generated electricity Americans help reduce airborne pollutants by over 19,000 tons.

Nuclear energy helps reduce our dependence on foreign oil. Every day, nuclear energy helps cut our foreign oil use by over 850,000 barrels and reduce our foreign oil payments by $16 million.

If you would like more information about nuclear energy or Monitored Retrievable Storage of used fuel from nuclear power plants, please contact the U.S. Council for Energy Awareness. "Caulk and Putty" opens tonight with a two-for-one ticket special ENMU-Ruidoso Drama Department's original play production of "Caulk and Putty" opens at 8 p.m. today (Thursday), April 21, in the studio lounge at Carrizo Lodge.

The play, an original work by ENMU instructor Paul Adamian, will continue at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday and at 2 p.m. Sunday; and will be repeated the following Thursday through Sunday, April 28 through May 1.

Tickets are now on sale at Hair We Are, The Music Shoppe, Carrizo Lodge, the ENMU office and will be available at the door. The tickets are $6 for regular admission, $5 for students and seniors.

As a gift to theater patrons and Ruidoso supporters, the ENMU Drama Department will sell two tickets for the price of one for the Thursday and Friday night performances, April 21 and 22.

"Anyone who has already purchased a ticket for either of these two performances can go back to the place where they purchased them and pick up another ticket for each on they've already paid for," said Douglas Webb, director.

"Anyone who has yet to buy tickets for these performances can get two for the price of one," he added.

"Since this play is an original work, without the name recognition of an established playwright and a well-known title, the success of the show's run will depend on word-of-mouth advertising," said Webb. "We are especially encouraging people to come see these first two showings. I know they will be entertained and surprised at the quality of not only the writing, but the acting and design as well."

"This is an opportunity for Ruidoso people to see an original Ruidoso work, and to support through their patronage quality artistic efforts. Their support will encourage continuing performing arts production in this community, and thereby benefit the economic base of the entire region."

"Caulk and Putty" is a euphemism in the construction trade for covering up mistakes.

"The Play is intended to show a slice in the day of the life of homebuilder Bart Stibling," said playwright Paul Adamian.

"It is not, however, an average day, as theatergoers will discover. The play explores relationships within the Stibling family — father/son, husband/wife, husband/father-in-law and brother/brother. As the dynamics of the situation evolve, the audience discovers how the characters hide, cover or deny their mistakes and misunderstandings, hence the line, 'Who's your buddy? Caulk and putty!'"

The setting of the play is now — spring 1994. The set is a stylized representation of a house under construction.

"The industrial nature of the Carrizo Studio is actually perfect for the play, and no attempt has been made to hide the steel girders or duct work in the room," explained Webb.

"Lighting is simple and the entire south end of the room is used, with actors playing their scenes in, amongst, around and behind the raised stage platforms. The set has a jagged feel that corresponds with the situation on stage," he added.

"This play will appeal to many people who have never set foot in a theater before," said Adamian.

"The story is not about heroic characters or out-of-this-world situations; rather, it is written for and about everyday people. Our hope is that it will attract a whole new audience of theatergoers in Ruidoso."

The language in this adult situation comedy is typical of what one might hear on practically any construction site in Ruidoso — or anywhere else. While it is a comedy, the play is not of the sophisticated drawing-room "teacup and dolly" variety.

The language used in the play — and the situations portrayed — have the ring of authenticity with which many theatergoers will easily identify. This play is intended for adults, and parental discretion is advised.

"Caulk and Putty" is a student production, mounted entirely by members of ENMU-Ruidoso's Theatre Studies 205-206.

"The students have worked hard, and in my professional opinion, have already far exceeded typical student efforts," said Webb.

The nine-member cast includes Paul Adamian, Regina Murphy, Kevin Fleharty, Tara Hunt, Peter Schuyler, Jan Prince, Arlo Doyle, Jill Bailey and Terry Tolbert.

The play will be presented in the upstairs studio at Carrizo Lodge, across the parking lot from Carrizo Cafe, with access provided on theater level for those who prefer not to climb the stairs.

AG Udall joins western states in his ruling on land use plans

Following the lead of other western states, New Mexico Attorney General Tom Udall earlier this week said that land use plans and ordinances adopted by some counties to restrict the public land regulatory authority of state and federal government agencies have no legal effect.

But Lincoln County manager Andy Wynham said it looks like Udall has missed a major point in the scenario.

The opinion was issued in response to a request from State Representative Max Coll (D-Santa Fe). The land use plans and accompanying ordinances from Lincoln, Catron, Chaves, Eddy, Otero, Luna and Sierra Counties were considered in the course of research on the issue.

In the opinion, Assistant Attorney General Denise Brown Kulseth stated that, "the ordinances reviewed have no legal effect, because to the extent they affect federal lands, they are preempted by the Supremacy Clause of the United States Constitution; to the extent they affect state lands, they are nullified by the State's immunity from local zoning ordinances; and finally, to the extent they affect private lands, they are preempted by federal law, state law or both."

Lincoln County passed its ordinance in an effort to require more accountability from the Bureau of Land Management during a dispute over its acquisition of private land along the Rio Bonito in a swap for public land elsewhere in the state.

According to a news release from Udall's office, in some cases, the ordinances sought to limit the ability of the federal government to designate additional wilderness areas and wild and scenic rivers within a county. They provided that all federal natural resource decisions be dictated by principles protecting private property rights and local custom and culture, as defined by the county.

The county plans and ordinances also designate all roads on federal lands within the county as public. They require federal agencies to notify counties before issuing land management decisions and to consult with federal grazing permittees before issuing decisions affecting those permittees.

Udall is quoted in the release as saying that he sympathizes with the difficulties faced by local governments in dealing with federal and state government bureaucracies.

"But rather than creating legal obstacles and litigating, what we really need is more cooperation and communication between federal, state and local governments to resolve our differences," he said.

Udall said other western attorneys general have reached similar conclusions about local land use ordinances affecting federal lands.

Wynham said although he has not read the full 10-page opinion by Udall, based on the information released by his office, the attorney general missed a big point.

The ordinances and land use plans were not aimed at preempting state and federal authority, they were designed to include the counties in the process and work in concert with state and federal laws.

"The counties aren't pursuing these plans and ordinances in contrast with those laws, but in conjunction with the laws adopted by the U.S. Congress," Wynham said. "They did so under the premise that there was federal legislation requiring such ordinances and plans to be adopted to become parties in the process. They are not going over the top. They believe that federal law says if they want to participate, they must adopt those ordinances."

Play ball!

It's time to play ball, and the Parks and Recreation Department is taking team registrations for men's, women's and coed softball leagues.

Registration fees are $375 for both men's and women's league, $75 for coed.

Men's league games are set for Tuesday and Thursday nights. The women will play on Monday nights. Coed games are tentatively scheduled for Wednesday nights.

Deadline for team registration is May 6.

A swallow's scout arrives on the warmest day

In the early morning of April 17, Jack Frost brought the temperature down to 30, however, after sunup the vales began warming up rapidly until by the noon it was like a day in June with the temperature up to 85. The growing things all responded to this sudden arrival of spring warm weather. The apple fruit buds began coming into white and pink blooms sending their apple flavored fragrance all through the sunny air blending with the aroma of the first lilac blooms.

Just at high noon a swallow scout came flying out of the south over Storm mountain. He passed slowly over the house looking down bringing us the message that spring weather has arrived.

Refrigerator tops strong group of returning champs

Ruidoso Downs Race Track

World Champion Refrigerator, who became the richest quarter horse in history last year, heads a strong cast of top quarter horses and thoroughbreds expected to return to Ruidoso Downs when the track opens its 47th racing season May 13.

All American Futurity winner A Classic Dash and the ever popular Treacherously also should return to strut their talents this summer.

Along with the nation's finest quarter horses, the upcoming race meet will also attract some of the top thoroughbreds in the Southwest, including Phoenix Gold Cup winner Last Don B and the multiple stakes winning 3-year-old Set Records.

Dominant quarter horse trainers Jack Brooks, Dwayne "Sleepy" Gilbreath and Blane Schvaneveldt will have their best 2-year-olds primed to perform at the mountaintop racing strip when the 68-day meet opens with the Ruidoso Futurity Trials.

On the thoroughbred front, defending training titan Cliff Lambert and runner-up Doyal Roberts are once again expected to have strong stables this year.

Refrigerator added to his legendary status last fall when he became the richest quarter horse of all-time with $1.9 million in earnings. The 6-year-old gelding by Rare Jet began his undefeated 1993 campaign with two impressive victories at Ruidoso. After an easy 1 1/4-length fall in the trials for the Grade I World's Championship Quarter Horse Classic and posting the fastest qualifying time, Refrigerator was sent off the overwhelming favorite in the August 1 final.

Refrigerator did not disappoint his supporters in the 440-yard final as he romped home under a tight hold by jockey Bruce Pilkenton for a one-length score. After that victory, Refrigerator went on to win three stakes at Los Alamitos including the Champion of Champions which unseated Easter atop the leading earner's standings. The gelding is expected to defend his crown at Ruidoso once again this summer under the care of trainer Dwayne "Sleepy" Gilbreath and attempt to become the first quarter horse in history to win $2 million in purse money.

Treacherously captured the attention of the entire racing industry as he attempted to become only the second horse in history to capture the Quarter Horse Triple Crown. The gray gelding by Runaway Winner was head and shoulders above his 2-year-old rivals last year as he swept three Grade I races including the Ruidoso and Rainbow Futurities.

The Sam Sandoval-trained gelding qualified to the All American Futurity with the fastest qualifying time and was sent off the favorite in the 440-yard dash. Despite stumbling at the start and overcoming a bumping incident with Marganser Line, Treacherously managed to get up for third, but his Triple Crown hopes were dashed.

Treacherously began his 3-year-old campaign with an impressive effort in the West Texas Derby Trials at Sunland Park in March and had the fastest qualifying time.

In the Grade I final he had trouble at the start, but still ran a respectable third behind the up and coming colt Ducky Fred.

A Classic Dash who won one of the most exciting All American Futurities ever with a nose decision over Hexa Fast Man, may come back to Ruidoso for a rematch with Hexa Fast Man and Treacherously in the All American Derby. The son of First Down Dash first came to Ruidoso for the All American Trials after a successful season at Los Alamitos and easily disposed of his foes to earn a berth in the $2 million final with the second fastest qualifying time.

In the Labor Day final, A Classic Dash engaged in a head-to-head dual with Hexa Fast Man and just edged him out at the wire to capture the world's richest quarter horse race. The colt won seven of eight starts in 1993 and led the nation in earnings with $1,078,617.

Hexa Fast Man went on to win the rich Texas Classic Futurity at Trinity Meadows and will reside in the trainer John Bassett's barn this summer at Ruidoso.

Champion 3-year-old filly Royal Down Dash won the Grade I All American Derby and five stakes races during 1993. The daughter of First Down Dash won ten races in 15 trips to the post and earned $235,287.

Royal Down Dash made her 1993 Ruidoso debut in the All American Derby Trials where she recorded the third fastest qualifying time for the Grade I contest. In the September 5 final, the filly took the lead at the break and never looked back as she devastated the class field with a nearly effortless 1 3/4-length victory.

Royal Down Dash is still at the top of her form and already has three stakes wins to her credit in 1994.

The powerful filly should be a force to be reckoned with once again this summer.

The Doyal Roberts-trained thoroughbred colt Set Records, who was undefeated in five starts at Ruidoso last season, continued his perfection during the fall with an easy victory in the Sunland Fall Futurity at Sunland Park.

The well-bred son of Sauce Boat was then taken to classy Oaklawn Park in Arkansas to face some of the nation's toughest 3-year-olds. Set Records placed in the Dixieland Stakes and also ran well in two other contentious stakes events before returning to New Mexico in April.

In his last outing, the colt captured the Eldorado Handicap in Albuquerque and looks to be in excellent shape for his sophomore campaign.

Last Don B. defeated some of the top sprinters in the West in the well-regarded Phoenix Gold Cup at Turf Paradise in Phoenix which raised his career earnings past the $250,000 mark. The 7-year-old gelding won two stakes in fine fashion at Ruidoso last summer and will be tough to catch this summer as he has yet to be defeated in six starts this year.

Other top thoroughbreds to watch for this season include Call Me Cat, a multiple stakes winner in Albuquerque and Dart who captured the $75,000-added Ruidoso Budweiser Breeders' Cup last summer.

Last year's leading trainer Cliff Lambert and multiple training titan Doyal Roberts should once again be major forces in the thoroughbred ranks. Fred Danley, who is equally dangerous with both thoroughbreds and quarter horses, should also have a powerful barn this summer.

Danley most recently captured the Grade I West Texas Futurity in March with the promising colt Andrews EZ Effort.

The always competitive jockey colony will be complemented with the return of last year's leader Oscar Ceballos and close runner-up Roger Gomez who spent the winter at Remington Park in Oklahoma City. Ceballos currently is on track to win the Sunland Park riding crown for the second straight year.

A new face to look for in the jockey race is Billy Peterson who is a strong runner-up behind Ceballos in the Sunland Park standings. Peterson made a name for himself by piloting Andrews EZ Effort to victory in the West Texas Futurity.

Top quarter horse rider Jacky Martin, who rides the majority of Jack Brooks horses, and veteran reinsman Joe Martinez round out an excellent group of riders expected to return this summer.

Top stables arrive in Ruidoso area with opening of the barn area

Trainers Dwayne "Sleepy" Gilbreath and Gib McClanahan were some of the first trainers to begin bringing their horses into the Ruidoso Downs barn area when it officially opened Monday, April 18.

Gilbreath's top assistant Arnold Perkins arrived with the 2-year-old quarter horses that compose the majority of the stable which ranked first in the standings last year.

Gilbreath and the remainder of the horses, which include Refrigerator, are expected to be here later in the week.

Perkins said that Refrigerator spent the winter at owner James Heizer's ranch near Arlington, Texas after his undefeated 1993 campaign. The gelding has been galloping on the training track at the ranch according to Perkins, but was not certain when he would make his 1994 debut.

"We broke 60 babies (2-year-olds) this winter and sent some to Remington and some to Sam Houston, but the top 35 are here," said Perkins.

Among Gilbreath's star performers are the 3-year-old fillies Sticky N Picky and Gold Medal Dash who ran exceptionally well as juveniles. Sticky N Picky was the fastest qualifier to the Rainbow Futurity and ran sixth in the Grade

I final. Gold Medal Dash ran a strong second behind Treacherously in the Rainbow.

Both horses are expected to start in the inaugural running of the Ruidoso Derby Trials on May 14.

As usual, Gilbreath will also have some of the finest bred 2-year-olds on the grounds. Brother Bushwacker, a full brother to 1990 All American Futurity First Consolation winner Royal Bushwacker, is one to keep an eye on in the Ruidoso Futurity Trials on opening day.

McClanahan who has been training horses at Ruidoso Downs since the track opened in 1947, brought 12 horses to the mountaintop oval this summer after spending the off-season at his home in Brownfield, Texas, south of Lubbock.

"I have a Rooda Ryan colt out of a Coup de Kas mare named Coup de Tat that is nominated for the Rainbow and All American Futurities. I also have some 2-year-old thoroughbreds that haven't run yet," said McClanahan who was accompanied by his son Jim.

"I also have nine thoroughbreds by Coup de Kas and three of them are nominated to the Ruidoso Futurity and the Kachina Stakes."

Capitan considers cutting out-of-district transfers

Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Students who live outside the Capitan district, but want to attend school there may be refused if the district's budget is squeezed too tight.

District superintendent Diana Sonnamaker told school board members Thursday that with the transfer of some staff to the new middle school set to open in the fall, the district will be short teachers for one social studies, one Spanish and a couple of mathematics classes.

She'll attempt to find people who can teach more than one subject, but the impact is about $25,000 per position.

Another secretary also will be needed for the new school. A half time nurse will be put on full time through a new Medicaid reimbursement program.

"I hate to see the budget is getting tighter again," Board President Tom Trost said. "I hope to be able to provide salary increases, but I don't know. Salaries are 85 percent of the budget."

"We'll have to look closely next year at out of district kids. We don't want to overcrowd our schools."

A new subdivision within the Capitan district on Airport Road is scheduled to start construction during the summer and also could impact the schools.

"We're growing within the district (as well as from students outside)," Sonnamaker pointed out.

Board member Tim Worrell asked whether the district has a policy pertaining to out of district students.

"I have one in my policy book, but not in the correct section," Sonnamaker said. "It has never been approved as far as I can see."

"I'd like to see a policy passed," Worrell said. "I've had many people question me about the criteria."

During the campaign to pass a bond issue to build the middle school, allowing out of district students to attend in Capitan was a complaint often repeated, Trost said. People contended the district wouldn't be as crowded without them.

High school principal Darrel Stierwalt said a policy should be in place by the end of the current school year.

Sonnamaker said those children already attending would be "grandfathered" and allowed to continue to attend, if they chose.

The criteria could include grade point average, past behavior problems, she said.

"Cloudercraft has an excellent policy because of the students wanting to attend from Alamogordo," she said.

"What do we do to start the process," asked board member Beverly Payne.

"Form a committee," Sonnamaker said.

T.S. Arrington, the contractor for Capitan's new middle school, told members he's aiming for a mid-June completion date.

"I think I've finally got it going like I like it to go," he said. "We're almost back on schedule."

Trost said members have appreciated Arrington's dedication to the project and the fact that he called to the design firm project supervisor's attention a potential problem with drainage.

That problem ended up costing the board $13,000 in additional fill dirt to raise the elevation of the school.

"It's the duty of the general contractor if he sees something that should be done to bring it to the attention of the right authorities," Arrington said. "I did that on a Thursday and was told the following Monday morning to proceed (with adding the extra dirt)."

Arrington said he is ready to paint seven classrooms and the computer room. Hardware and metal work for the cabinets are due in.

"I've worked for several school boards and never had such terrific cooperation, especially from the administration," he said.

Music and sports

After listening to first grade teacher Becca Ferguson speak about the need for more time and space in the music and physical education curriculum for elementary students, board members said they will make that one of their priorities during the budget meeting tonight for public input.

The meeting will begin at 5:30 p.m. in the school library.

Currently, the children have to travel back and forth between buildings for their music and physical education.

"We're strapped on time and space," Ferguson said. "We definitely need the board to make a commitment to improve."

"The classes are too large to have a quality program. It's hard to get anything done."

She is allotted about 40 minutes to bring 40 students to the physical education area and participate in a program.

"By the time they get their shoes off, it's less than 30 minutes," Ferguson said, adding that only 17 minutes is allowed for music every other day.

In a related matter, David Brooks complained to the board about the lack of sports equipment available to students at lunch break. No facilities or supervision is available for a group to play basketball.

In other business, the school board:

—recognized Myrum Whitaker and the students who competed in the state mock trail competition. Capitan placed twelfth in the state, faced off against much larger 4A and 3A schools.

—reappointed all certified personnel, including Annie McKay Hoyle, who Sonnamaker said intends to retire at the end of the school year.

—congratulated Andrea S. Bailey for being named an Act (American College Testing) Scholar for 1993-94 by the New Mexico State Department of Education.

The recognition goes to students who have composite testing scores of 27 or high, plus a high school grade point average of 3.5 or higher.

—rescheduled the June board meeting from June 9 to June 16.

—heard that Heidi Hoffman won first place in a state school poster contest and Nick Pacheco Jr. won third place. They have been invited to a reception in Santa Fe.

—approved a sexual harassment policy that applies to students and staff. The vote was 4-1, with Russell Shearer casting the lone negative.

"My vote doesn't reflect that I condone sexual harassment," he told the other members. "We're getting too many policies lately and I have problems with some of the things that can be brought forward. Of course, they could even without this policy."

Capitan kindergarten students surround their teachers, Dottie MacVeigh and Joanne Washburn, earlier this week while preparing for a celebration of National Kindergarten Day with balloons and games.

Capitan searches for new kindergarten students

by DIANNE STALLINGS

Parents of children ready to enter kindergarten next year at Capitan Elementary will have another chance to get to know the school staff May 5.

Kindergarten teacher Dottie MacVeigh said that during a recent pre-school screening and kindergarten registration session, only five students were added to the roll. Twelve more are transferring from the Head Start program.

"We know there are more out there and we need to get a better handle on the number to order supplies and be prepared," MacVeigh said. Joanne Washburn also teaches a kindergarten class.

"If it's not convenient to come on kindergarten visitation day (Thursday, May 5), they can come in and register with the school secretary at the elementary administration office nearly any time.

"It's real simple," MacVeigh said. "Of course, we'd like a chance to meet the children and visitation day is the perfect time. It's a good opportunity to look around."

Call the school for more information at 354-2288.

Ruby Johnson elected as head of teachers sorority

Ruby Johnson was elected 1994-95 president of the Eta chapter of Alpha Delta Kappa Teachers' Sorority in Ruidoso last week.

Betty Ann Bell was named president-elect. Corresponding secretary is Darla Lathan; recording secretary, Cathy Jones and chaplain, Idy Schweitzer. Eva Clarke and Dottie MacVeigh serve as historians. Betty Wagner was selected as sergeant at arms.

In other chapter business, Linda McKinley was initiated into the group. Carrie Lois Godley and Hazel Arthur were recognized as Silver Sisters, members for 25 years.

Nellie Ruth Jones was honored as one of New Mexico's first inductees into the Alpha Delta Kappa Hall of Fame. Jones will be presented at the State Convention on April 22-24 in Albuquerque.

Jennifer Eldridge was voted to receive the $500 Eta Chapter Scholarship with an additional $100 from the family of member Carrie Lois Godley. It's the third year, Jennifer will be awarded the scholarship as she continues her education at Eastern New Mexico University in Portales.

The May meeting for Eta chapter will be staged at Tinnie Silver Dollar Restaurant and will feature the installation of new officers by the incoming State President JoAnne Franklin of Albuquerque.

Coffee and dessert are part of a big night for band and choir

The two musical groups at the high school will present the Spring Dessert Concert, "A Music Time Machine," at 7 p.m. Thursday, April 28, in the school multipurpose room.

The band and choir will perform a variety of music from the turn of the last century into the 1990s. Guests will be treated to dessert and gourmet coffees.

Tickets are $3 and are available from Capitan music students, will be sold at the door or can be purchased by calling the high school at 354-2567, the administration office at 354-2239 or after 5 p.m., 336-4627.

All proceeds of the concert will go toward the music program.

A FUN BLEND OF OLD AND NEW

County commissioners take the red pencil to big budget

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

While some Lincoln County Commissioners were dreaming Tuesday about how to spend the county's $1-million surplus, others suggested cutting taxes to return part of the money directly to property owners.

Neither side seemed to favor spreading the money around county departments or special programs.

During their budget workshop, they mixed a change in pay grade for detention officers and for the sheriff's new administrative officer. They turned thumbs down on an increase for the county counseling center, rejected a bid by the county clerk to turn a half-time employee into full time and by the sheriff to add one deputy to his department.

They placed a big zero on the line item for the Economic Development Corporation at Lincoln County.

Chairman Montoy Montes set the tone with his opening remarks.

"Last year, we deficit spent in excess of $200,000," he said. "I expect that to continue this year, with the county subsidizing programs like the senior citizens by about $30,000 and the road department very heavily."

"If we're going to try to hold the line at $200,000, we have to take a close look at special programs. It's my suggestion we hold the line on these as much as possible."

MAJOR CHANGES

Montes said one major change he would like to see is the county buying the equipment to be able to apply chip seal surfaces (chipped rock and oil) to some roads. It would be paid for with an increased assessment for road front footage in subdivisions (now 10 cents a foot), which would be where the chip seal would be applied.

"The increase would be used for better service, because we must recoup some of our money," Montes said.

County manager Andy Wynham delivered some good news to the commission on the revenue side.

The U.S. Senate has approved an increase in the formula used to compute Payments in Lieu of Taxes (PILT) given to counties to offset the loss of property taxes from tracts of federally owned land within their boundaries.

If the U.S. House also approves, within the next five years, the new formula would double the payment to Lincoln County and other areas, he said.

The county currently receives about $319,000 per year.

DEFICIT SPENDING

The commission has been able to deficit spend against annual revenues, because of a surplus that absorbed the overage last year. That surplus was projected to be used up within the next two years if the county continued to spend at the same level.

But Wynham said because of a change in state regulations on cash balance requirements, the county doesn't need as much money to hold in reserve. The requirement by the State Department of Finance and Administration dropped from holding five twelfths down to three-twelfths.

That means out of the county's $7.8-million budget, an additional $400,000 to $500,000 was freed up, added to the already existing half million surplus.

"This is a one time non-recurring situation, so we can't put it in ongoing programs," he said.

Wynham suggested plugging the $1-million in revenue into the facilities fund, to be used for expansion and improvement to the county courthouse in Carrizozo and other capital improvements.

"That would be a way to use it so it doesn't look like we are sitting on top of tax dollars that we're not using," he said.

That impression could hurt the county when it asks for federal grants or for money from the State Legislature.

"Everyone I talk to seems committed to the upgrading of the courthouse," Commissioner L. Ray Nunley said. "We need to plug in something to start the process of improving or adding to it."

"I don't see where we have to spend it," Commissioner Wilton Howell said. "Why not offer tax relief?"

"It would be temporary, but it would send money back to the taxpayers," Wynham said.

"How much would it mean to any one taxpayer?" Commissioner Bill Schwetzmann asked.

"I've never figured that, but I will," Wynham said. "We have three options: spend it, sit on it or send it back. If we keep it, we will spend it. I want to make sure we spend it in a productive way and not just whittle it away."

The county's tax base is beginning to grow at a faster rate. Last year, it went up $2-million, this year $4-million to $277-million. But county taxes only account for slightly under $1.9-million of the county's revenues.

Wynham said his revenue estimates tend to be conservative, up only about $200,000 from last year.

"I could have increased it by $70,000, but I think it's best to wait and see how revenues come in," he said.

"So we're not looking at any tax increase?" Schwetzmann asked.

"With over $1-million in excess of what's required, I don't think we could possibly justify a tax increase," Wynham replied.

BALANCE SHEET

Turning to the county's balance sheet, Wynham said a projected $1-million drop in the cash balance, down to $3,067,810 from the beginning to the end of the 1993-94 fiscal year, reflects capital outlay requests by the Lincoln County Medical Center from its special tax levy account and other capital projects.

Although no final votes were taken, during a look at the budget at 9 a.m. May 8, commissioners generally endorsed the figures presented by Sheriff James McSwane and finance-administration officer Laurie Ventura, except for the additional deputy. Although Wynham urged that they grant an increase, commissioners indicated, they would look at an upgrade in pay classification for Ventura at the mid-year budget review.

Following Wynham's recommendation, commissioners gave McSwane a choice of also dropping a requested new dispatcher, or eliminating an administrative post to balance the addition.

McSwane said he was willing to cut the job of secretary at the Ruidoso suboffice and offer the employee a change to serve as the new dispatcher in Carrizozo. More help is needed with the new 911 emergency telephone system, he said.

NEW VEHICLES

Commissioners also went along with Wynham's suggestion that three new vehicles be purchased for the sheriff (instead of five requested), two four-wheel drives and one patrol car. They would replace existing cars and start a regular schedule of replacement as a separate line item to be set up by Wynham, eliminating "politics" from the decision.

When questioned by Montes about the excessive number of cars on his inventory, McSwane said an auction will be conducted this year to eliminate the high mileage units no longer used on a regular basis. Some were acquired as a result of property seizures connected to drug convictions.

Several are loaned to other government entities such as the village of Capitan, McSwane said.

"We need a more precise breakdown of their condition," Montes said.

Wynham's recommendation for approval would place McSwane's general operations budget at about $90,000, the drug enforcement budget at $110,789 and the seizure fund at $18,100.

Although Wynham fought strongly for an increase for detention officers at the county jail, commissioners stuck to their stance against two raises in one year, because of an increase granted last December. They will look at the figures again next December, they said. That will lower Wynham's suggested $263,312 budget request for the department.

"While you gave a slight increase, you didn't give what I asked for," Wynham told commissioners while urging the pay upgrade. "They are paid less (later discovered to be the same or slightly more) than a secretary and this is a significantly more difficult task. They must stay inside the jail all day long. Seldom are secretaries threatened the way these people are."

Head jailer Wayland Hill pointed out that the detention officers have to work holidays, because it is a 24-hour service. They make less than a starting deputy, but because of the small staff, have to absorb a tremendous burden when vacation time is taken by anyone.

Howell said later, he's confident some adjustment will be made for Ventura and the detention officers at mid-year budget review.

Wynham said he had cut a badly needed new employee position in his department to help the chances of a raise for the detention officers. He asked commissioners to reinstate that new employee request.

"I do not have the size of staff to fulfill the type of things you may request," Wynham said. "I need staff or the commission to have a large level of understanding."

Under the Zia senior citizens budget, instead of hiring an assistant manager to help director Cheryl LaBelle, commissioners opted to slightly increase the salary of the Carrizozo site manager, who will act as LaBelle's back up.

The majority of commissioners seemed comfortable with a projected $62,313 budget for the new rural events center in Glencoe, which would include a property manager. However, they stressed that plans must be put in progress to generate income from the new facility.

NO TO EDCLC

Karen Kopp, director of the Economic Development Corporation of Lincoln County, which has depended heavily on government support in the past, asked the county for $10,000 to be used for administration.

The commission had allotted $10,000 last year with the understanding that it be used for advertising.

But Commissioner L. Ray Nunley said he was disappointed in its application.

"I just got on the board, so my observations may be shortsighted," Nunley said. "But I think it needs a new direction. We need to develop the community from within. I was disappointed in the advertising use last year, only one outlet for business relocation, to me that's a waste."

County planners get tough with developers; reach agreement on 4,800 acre subdivision

Ruidoso News Staff Writer

A series of variance requests for a 143-lot subdivision off Airport Road were reviewed Tuesday by the Lincoln County Planning and Zoning Board.

After four hours of negotiations, the board passed along to the county commission a recommendation for approval of the plan for the 4,800 acre development.

Commissioners are expected to take action during a public hearing during their meeting May 8 at the courthouse in Carrizozo.

"We tried to demand the most we could reasonably get," said county manager Andy Wynham, the county's point man in the negotiations. "Some of the variances were not unreasonable considering the terrain. We tried to get the most we could."

Properties of the Southwest, the developer of Soterra Subdivision near Fort Stanton, was represented by three engineering consultants, surveyor Tim Collins and Realtor Gary Lynch.

One of the variances dealt with five places where the road exceeded a 12 percent maximum grade limitation (which indicates the steepness of the road).

Road manager Bill Cupit explained the problems facing his workers when trying to clear steep streets of snow during the winter.

"The most excessive was 13.7 percent, but the majority were in the 12.3 to 12.8 percent range," Wynham said. "They re-engineered a few to get within the variance. Bill pushed as hard as he could, but they said on these five there was no better way to engineer (with deep gullies and sheer canyons). He did get the shoulders widened on the 13.7 percent."

The developer agreed to cut back some vegetation to allow more sunlight to reach roads.

"These will be chip seal roads (chipped rock with an oil emulsifier), not dirt, which I prefer and I believe the commission has come to prefer in any subdivision with significant traffic."

Some slight variances was recommended for approval in the surfacing application and on the grade at a few intersections.

"Our ordinance calls for all intersections to be a five percent grade maximum in all direction," Wynham said. "But three intersections were recommended for approval where one side exceeded that figure to avoid increasing the overall grade."

The Soil and Water Conservation Service signed off on the drainage design, he said.

"They have catch basins below all culverts to prevent erosion," Wynham said. "And that drains into silted ponds to prevent the material from being carried to the river. They did that on their own."

Cupit also negotiated larger culverts (24-inches) than first proposed by the developer. The county's ordinance calls for designs to carry water sufficiently in a storm the type of intensity that occurs once in 50 years for a six hour period.

In areas where tight curves could have resulted in wheels going off the surface, the developer agreed to widen the shoulders, Wynham said.

A low water crossing (which is usable in dryer weather) was approved as one of the two water crossings required for the lots along the river.

"We want to be sure that what they design doesn't catch a lot of brush and debris," Wynham said.

Two cul-de-sacs were recommended for a variance.

"They mitigated one by providing a loopier way out," he said.

Southwest officials have indicated they expect to begin building the infrastructure of the subdivision this summer. They will be using a different type of chip seal, with the rocks already oil-coated for better adhesion, he said.

Although some marketing is planned for out of state, company officials indicated that significant local interest already has been shown in lot purchases.

About 309 acres with 41 lots fall within the three-mile extrajurisdictional jurisdiction of the village of Ruidoso. But Wynham said he learned Sunday from village attorney H. John Underwood that the jurisdiction only applies to subdivisions with lots of less than five acres.

The key here is that none of these tracts are less than five acres (of the section within the village's territory)," he said. "And that makes sense. Less than five acres is urban, but more than five acres is rural."

Arbor society makes it easy to plant more trees

Ten free shade trees will be given to each person who joins the National Arbor Day Foundation during April 1994.

The free trees are part of the nonprofit foundation's Trees for America campaign.

The shade trees are red oak, weeping willow, sugar maple, green ash, thornless honey locust, pin oak, river birch, tulip tree, silver maple and red maple.

These trees have been selected to provide shade and beauty and a variety of forms, leaf shapes and fall colors.

The trees will be shipped post-paid at the right time for planting in April or May with enclosed planting instructions. The six- to 12-inch trees are guaranteed to grow or they will be replaced free of charge.

Members also receive a subscription to the "Arbor Day"

To become a member of the Foundation and to receive the free trees, send a $10 membership contribution to Free Shade Trees, National Arbor Day Foundation, 100 Arbor Avenue, Nebraska City, NE 68410 by April 30.

"I think we need to realize we've been chasing a rainbow."

Montes asked whether the corporation had received any money from the Village of Ruidoso.

"Following the village's first budget hearing, we're not a line item in the budget," Kopp said. "We asked for $30,000. We received $23,000 last year."

Montes said he hasn't seen any support on the commission for funding the corporation.

MORE MONEY

When Barry Herd of the cooperative extension office came up to request $43,888 for the continued operation of his office, Howell and Montes asked why the county had only received $1,500 from available Rural Economic Development Through Tourism grant money available.

"A quarter million dollars was available from seven counties," Howell said. "We had the opportunity to get $30,000 to $40,000 into the county."

Montes urged Herd to be more aggressive in pursuit of that type of money this year.

Wynham will go back to his books to calculate any adjustments to the budgets considered by commissioners. The public will have one more chance to comment during the May meeting.

In other budget action, the commission:

—tentatively approved $5,000 for improvements to the Carrizozo pool.

—tentatively approved $10,000 for computers at Eastern New Mexico University-Ruidoso.

Before the commission hit the budget books, it tackled the thorny problem of a house being built in the historic settlement of Lincoln in non-compliance with the architectural code or plans previously approved by the county Historic Preservation Board.

As a compromise, the commission concurred with Wynham's recommendation that the owner be allowed to build a roof line facade to hide two clear-storage windows and other non-territorial style features.

"Short of making him go back and build the house as designed, these modifications seem all right to me," Wynham said. He added that although some former board members object to the red tin roof, the architectural code only specifies a tin roof, not the color.

We have just one Earth

Tomorrow, April 22, is Earth Day, a good time to consider this fragile world in which we live.

Technology and progress have taken their toll on the Earth, as trees have been cut, mountains destroyed by mining operations, the air polluted by cars and trucks, and waters and streams fouled by industrial and municipal waste. The problem, when viewed from the world-wide view, seems almost insurmountable. But, looking at it from a personal standpoint, we can do a lot to protect our Earth — one by one, one step at a time.

Tomorrow, on Earth Day, take time to consider what habits you can change — like establishing in-house or in-office recycling programs — to benefit Earth and everyone on it. Lincoln County's recycling center makes it easy to recycle paper, plastics, glass and aluminum, by providing blue igloo dropoff points in several convenient locations (See Earth Pages, 6A and 7A.)

Recycling paper is one of many simple actions people can take at home, at school or at work to help conserve and more wisely manage our planet's natural resources. Please read, then recycle your copy of The Ruidoso News. We do. You're reading a newspaper printed on recycled paper, and we recycle our returns and waste copies, too, in the blue igloos provided by Lincoln County Solid Waste.

Consider simple actions, as simple as planting a tree or walking instead of driving. Organize a cleanup campaign in your neighborhood or in your community.

Let's establish patterns of working together to enjoy, protect and preserve our planet 365 days of each year — and in the future.

Thought for the day:

"Until now, I thought one could browse through any book or film store in the United States without fear that the proprietor had chosen each item to avoid risk to the whole inventory. ... This ominous, onerous threat undermines free speech and press principles essential to our personal freedom."

Athletics plus academics equal education

TO THE EDITOR:

What you said in last week's newspaper about people coming to the school board meeting for athletic reasons only is a very good point.

But there is one point that you forgot to mention.

If the superintendent and the school board would pay more attention to the academics, then the athletically involved people would have a lot less to complain about.

Athletics and academics complement each other; they go hand in hand; without one you can't have the other. It's pretty sad when the administration has put them against each other.

It's a little bit obvious what they are worrying about, when they fired or let go six coaches in less than a week. Three of those, including the head volleyball, football and basketball coaches.

When there is a good percentage of kids who are coming out of Ruidoso High School who can't even get a decent education. Now ask yourself, what are they thinking about? When they clean out coaches every two to four years. Maybe the fingers in Thursday's paper were pointed in the wrong direction.

You can't honestly say that they are being fair. No one on the administration knows or obviously cares what kind of relationship there is between a coach and a player. They obviously don't seem to care or be worried about the fact that they just fired the best volleyball coach that has ever been to Ruidoso. They don't seem to care what they have done to students' hopes, dreams and futures in both the volleyball and football programs.

There is most definitely state potential coming from both the football and volleyball programs for at least the next two years.

It seems to me that every time something starts going good and the ball gets rolling again, it's off with the old, on with the new. Back to square one every two to four years.

The majority of the people in this town are very unhappy and have spoken. But have they been listened to is the question. Not it's all politics. Now what do we have to complain about? Everything!

But wouldn't it be nice if they worried about the fact that only three students were recognized for high ACT scores. Maybe the emphasis should be taken off of athletics and put on academics.

However, they both need to be taken into consideration, but the athletic program should have just as fair a chance to build a program as a teacher would.

When government was small, opportunity great

TO THE EDITOR:

There is this place I go once in a while to relax and enjoy the view. It's a high hilltop close to the highway and the scenery is great. It requires four-wheel drive to get up there, and I sometimes have lunch or just go to enjoy the sights after work. The other day, instead of gazing out across the county, I watched the highway for awhile.

In a 45-minute period, I noticed 27 government vehicles drive by, all shiny and new. City, county, state and federal, just about every agency was represented. Maybe there was some major interagency gathering in the area which might account for such an agglomeration of officialdom, so I went up to my little hill a week later for another look.

Same deal as before, this time the count was 24 well-appointed government vehicles. I also counted private sector commercial vehicles and came up with 13 of them, and they were not all nice and new. It was mostly a rag-tag, hailing wire mix of usually old vehicles complete with full flow sneeze-through ventilation.

Does it require that many government worker bees to keep our lives safe and sane? I understand that fully 50 percent of this country's work force is employed directly by government or under subcontract to it. Although my methods are admittedly unscientific, it occurs to me that this situation should be quite the reverse, and drives home the point that something is amiss.

Except for local and state law enforcement, government work forces at all levels should be cut right in half. Could it work? You bet, private enterprise frequently does so to stave off red ink. The business community would thrive, government budgets could stay balanced, and life would be better, except for the government worker guaranteed a job for life with full retirement and benefits, half of whom would have to get a private sector job and a subsequent cut in lifestyle.

I sometimes reminisce to when government was small and opportunity great. I think we all could manage a bit better with a little less big brother.

Newspaper should investigate, rate Ruidoso schools

TO THE EDITOR:

A recent editorial in The News stated that parents in Ruidoso place too much emphasis on athletics and should get back to basics in education. That is an interesting position in view of the fact that over a month ago I suggested that the editorial staff of The News should do an investigative report on the Ruidoso schools and prepare a report card on that performance for the community.

At that time I gave The News editorial staff copies of a student handbook from Douglas, Wyoming High School and suggested that the purpose of the report should be to identify the reasons that Wyoming schools, overall, are ranked number two in the United States, while New Mexico schools are ranked in the high 40s. (Note: this performance standard is attained in a state that is ranked 34th in the nation in teachers salaries.)

Consider. In Sheridan, Wyoming, 92 percent of the students graduate and 75.6 percent go on to enroll in college or a trade school. In 1993, Sheridan High School seniors averaged 21.5 on their ACT test scores, with students in their college prep programs averaging 22.8. (The national average ACT score for high school seniors is 20.6.)

The reason for this outstanding result possibly lies in the fact that Sheridan High School has three full-time guidance counselors with guidance counseling for students beginning in the sixth grade. All seniors must prepare and have a "Career Program Plan" on file with their counselor before they are allowed to graduate.

In the area of athletics, Sheridan High School also has a rich tradition of success at the state level in all sports, suggesting that academics and athletics can successfully co-exist in these times of limited financial resources.

What's the bottom line? The bottom line is that The Ruidoso News should fulfill its journalist responsibilities to this community by putting the overall performance of the Ruidoso school administration under a microscope and reporting the results to this community. If the results are good, the people responsible should be commended. If the results are bad, parents in this community should clean house and bring people in that can get the job done.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Thank you for explaining the role of this newspaper. Perhaps you haven't been reading this paper, or you'd know that we closely cover the schools and school issues. Reporter Dianne Stallings covers all meetings of the Ruidoso School Board, peruses their budgets and keeps close tabs on the administration. If she can't cover a meeting, another reporter or the editor fills in, or she listens to the tapes of the meeting. Elsewhere in the school system, Stallings and other reporters are in and out of the schools covering and photographing good citizens, students of the month, athletic events and other activities. This staff spends more time as unbiased observers in the school system than any other person or group in the system. The bottom line is that some individuals with personal agendas and old grudges will never be satisfied if the results of this objective reporting don't match the non-objective results they want.

Free shot clinic today at high school

A special free immunization clinic is scheduled today at Ruidoso High School for anyone needing the basic protections offered by the Lincoln County Health Department. "We'd like them to bring their shot records, but we won't refuse anyone, any age," said county health nurse Teresa Luna. "We'll start about 8 a.m. and run until 3 p.m."

The immunizations available include DPT, oral polio, measles/mumps/rubella, meningitis, hepatitis B and tetanus, which is good protection for anyone who works outside. Testing for tuberculosis also is available.

Workshop set today to review school budget

The budget committee for the Ruidoso schools will meet with the Ruidoso School Board at 5 p.m. today (Monday), April 25, in the administration building. The workshop session will be open to the public.

Clarification

Steve Garcia called from the Lincoln County Jail to report that the charges he faces are not drug related.

Garcia, whose arrest was included in a police story mainly about a drug bust, has been charged with attempt to commit a violent offense on a police officer.

Garcia was arrested following an incident in the Winner's Circle parking lot.

Garcia wants readers to know that he is not among those charged with drug-related offenses.

MainStreet gets ahead of funding

MainStreet is moving faster than Santa Fe can reappropriate funds and equipment suppliers can make deliveries.

According to deputy village manager Alan Briley, construction crews are still waiting for the arrival of extra barrels and barricades so they can start work at Fern Street.

"I understand the barrels and barricades are in El Paso," Briley reported.

Briley also reported that the paperwork for reappropriating $150,000 of severance tax money is stuck in Santa Fe.

"They keep saying they're going to get right on it, but I found out they haven't even started yet," he said.

The village plans to use that severance tax money to build

As construction on the north side of Sud-derth nears completion, a comparison with the southern sidewalk shows a dramatic improvement. Though the change has been traumatic for many Midtown merchants, they are again optimistic about the project. Merchants, MainStreet board members and the village are working together to improve parking and make sure every detail is right.

Group meets to demand change

Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Students are being hurt by program cuts, inconsistent discipline, staff turnover and lack of counseling services, parents told Ruidoso school officials Thursday.

More than 100 parents stressed to Superintendent Mike Gladden and five school board members that they don't want more studies or promises, they want action.

The fact that Gladden received a hefty $4,200 raise to $62,000 and access to a new administration vehicle didn't sit well with parents who have been told the district can't afford to keep many of its teacher aides and may have to drop enrichment subjects at the elementary level.

Dub Williams, a former coach and teacher now running in the Republic primary for state representative, helped organize the session and set the date for a larger gathering at 6:30 p.m. Monday, May 2, in the Middle School gymnasium.

"Obviously, there is some concern for this many to come when the meeting was only announced today in the newspaper," Williams said.

That newspaper announcement came, not at the request of the meeting organizers, but after others called saying a group was getting together to discuss recalling the school board. Williams and fellow-organizer Mike Kakuska, who was removed as high school principal two years ago, were then contacted by The News and they said the meeting was open to the public.

"We're not here to hang anyone, that's not the purpose. If you're here for that, you're in the wrong place," said Williams.

The first complaint came from the mother of a first grader, who said her daughter was faced with adjusting to five teachers in the last two years.

She said Gladden met with the parents of children in the same class, "and we felt it would be taken care of."

But she said the class is behind in skills and their student scores are extremely low.

"The others left because they were being paid less than aides and were offered more somewhere else," the woman said. "Where did the money go that we couldn't keep the other teachers?"

Williams said he can remember when the pay scale in Ruidoso was higher than in neighboring Texas communities. That bonus and the climate gave the administration 600 applications a year from Texas.

"We were above the middle, now we're below and we can no longer attract applicants," Williams said.

Rumors

Ruidoso Village Councilor Leon Eggleston said he heard that eight aides won't be rehired next year in first through third grades because

Council to consider golf course lease, water rates

by CHARLES STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Golf course water rates and a September MainStreet completion date are two items pressed for action Tuesday at the Ruidoso Village Council's regular meeting.

A proposed addendum to the Ruidoso Golf Course Lease Agreement regarding water usage at the Links Golf Course will be considered.

The proposed agreement was drafted by village attorney John Underwood subsequent to the October 26, 1993, village council meeting. The council agreed to charge AllHub, Inc., owner-managers of the golf course, a rate of $.60 per thousand for all water used in excess of 200 acre feet in a calendar year.

The 200 acre feet of effluent credit water rights by the village was provided for irrigation and maintenance purposes of the golf course, according to the lease.

Village manager Gary Jackson said there have been occasions when the golf course usage has exceeded the 200 acre feet per year. This year, however, he states no effluent water right credits are available, and the existing lease makes no provisions for water rights other than effluent credit (i.e. basic rights).

The new addendum drafted by Underwood retains the effluent credit water right provision and includes the proposal "that should lessee (AllHub) use water during the year for which no effluent water credit is available, then the lessee shall pay to the lessor (village) the sum of $.60 per one thousand gallons of said water."

Under the terms of the original agreement (12.1), the village and the golf course owners agreed that

"should there occur during the initial term or any option period a shortage of water available for municipal purposes which should cause the village council to declare an emergency situation which endangers the public health, safety, and welfare of residents of the village, municipal uses of water shall have a priority over all other uses of water, including the water rights herein granted" by the village to the golf course owners.

In the new draft, Underwood wrote "that, in addition, lessee shall be responsible to reimburse lessor for any fees or taxes on water imposed on the lessor by the state or federal government for the water used by lessee under the terms of paragraph 12.1 of the current lease."

Jackson concludes that the draft addendum is "basically a good document, although it seems that the lessee may have an objection to a portion of it."

"In any regard, I believe it is imperative to approve said agreement," Jackson wrote the council. "Especially if we are to continue to provide water when effluent credit is unavailable."

Under regular items, the council will be asked by village deputy manager to approve a change order by D&S Construction, contractors of the MainStreet project, in the amount of $25,468.44 plus tax, and a time extension of 19 calendar days, contingent upon state and federal approval.

"These 19 days would put the contract completion date to July 7, 1994," Briley wrote the council. "There has always been a commitment to the merchants, owners and residents, that all work would be

Commish asks for AG's opinion on pay increase

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

An Attorney General's opinion will be sought on the legality of raises approved earlier this month for Lincoln County elected officials.

County Commissioner L. Ray Nunley called last week for a determination in response to an editorial in The Ruidoso News advising commissioners to follow the advice of their own attorney and rescind an action apparently in conflict with the State Constitution.

"If we're out of the legal bounds, I'd like to admit it, correct it and get on with business," Nunley told county manager Andy Wynham during a special budget meeting Tuesday.

With the concurrence of the other commissioners, Wynham said he will obtain an opinion.

However, county attorney Alan Morel already has told commissioners if the issue is challenged in court, the Constitutional prohibition against commissioners receiving a salary increase during a single term would override a subsequent state law.

That law for parity says if one elected official or commissioner gets a raise, all must receive the same percentage on January 1.

The Constitutional provision was written to ensure commissioners couldn't directly benefit by approving a raise.

Two attorney general opinions in 1983 and again in 1992 stand by the interpretation that the equity statute is unconstitutional and that a raise should only apply to those newly elected or re-elected officials. That would mean the sheriff, the assessor and commissioners Stirling Spencer and Wilton Howell wouldn't benefit from the raise, because they each have two more years in their terms.

But who was up for election doesn't matter, if the set of figures supplied by the Association of suspended July 1, in order to keep out of conflict with the businesses during the busiest time of the year.

"The work would start back up after Labor Day, therefore putting the contract completion date on September 12, 1984, based on the approval of this change order."

On Tuesday's agenda, the council also will conduct a public hearing regarding Ordinance 94-5, concerning zone text amendments. A number of deletions and additions were approved by the village planning and zoning commission amending Chapter 10 of the municipal code in areas that include:

Article 4, District conditional uses; conditional uses, setbacks and height.

Article 5, Development Standards; surfacing, lighting, number of parking spaces for convenience-food restaurants, number of spaces required for retail and service establishments, regular restaurants and taverns.

Article 6, Sign Regulations; restrictions prohibited signs, signs not requiring a permit.

Article 9, Flood Hazard Regulations; basis for establishing the areas of special flood hazard.

Article 10, Subdivision Code; minor subdivisions-alternate summary procedure.

In other business, the council is expected to:

—authorize a request for proposal for an independent contract aircraft mechanic for the Sierra Blanca Regional Airport.

—consider a request by the Lodgers Tax Committee to authorize advertisement expenditure and line item changes in the budget.

—discuss and consider a road exchange agreement with Lincoln County officials.

—consider an out-of-state travel policy.

—vote on Resolution 94-12, supporting formal agreements with Lincoln and Otero counties to organize a regional juvenile services task force.

Under unfinished business, the Short Street bridge will be discussed.

The village maintains that the bridge, owned by Susan Merrill, is ugly, a health hazard in a flood plain and an insurance risk.

Merrill claims that without the bridge, allowed by the village for over a decade, she is landlocked and the village will have to furnish her access to her property.

Attorneys for both parties were to work on a solution to be presented during the meeting.

Under informational items, the parks and recreation department received a Keep New Mexico Beautiful Tree Grant.

The tree planting ceremony is scheduled for April 29 at Wingfield Park and will honor Jerry Shaw as the first female mayor of Ruidoso.

The council meeting will enter a closed to the public session following the regular meeting to discuss the purchase/acquisition/disposal of real property by the village.

MainStreet

restrooms and to purchase a parking lot.

Councilor Robert Donaldson said all the papers have been signed and all that remains is to get the money.

The MainStreet project is almost half-way completed. Crews are battling through concrete with steel reinforcement in front of Brunell's, and Briley said that part should be finished by mid-May.

MainStreet director Don Miller warned merchants that vibrations from the pneumatic hammer used to break up the concrete could shatter store-front windows.

Miller also reminded merchants to ask customers and employees not to park within the construction zone marked off by orange barrels.

Delivery of street lights is expected May 10, and Briley has instructed crews to install them immediately.

Habitat owner Bob Smith asked Briley about cost overruns. The first two phases were $25,000 over budget, Briley said. He explained that 80 percent of that was covered by the State Highway Department and the rest would come out of the reappropriated severance tax money.

"Is that a direct result of the architecture or design plans?" Smith asked.

"Partially, but not totally," Briley said. "There are some things the designers couldn't have anticipated."

"There are many secrets under that sidewalk," said Herb Brunell.

Councilor Donaldson said he'd like to see the north side of the project completed in every detail except maybe landscaping before starting the south side.

"This can be a showcase for what the whole thing will look like," he said.

MainStreet board member Pat Smith asked Donaldson about timed parking.

"I may be the only one (councilor) in favor of timed parking,"

Donaldson said.

"Well, then we need to work on that," said Jay Ross, owner of The Covered Wagon. "When you park in front of your store, it's like taking money out of your pocket."

As MainStreet merchants share customers, blocking off parking in any way discourages shoppers.

Donaldson recommended that if store owners wanted to call councilors, they should request time limits of three or four hours.

"People need at least that long to shop," he said.

Ross repeated his request for a foot patrol to walk Midtown.

"The officer would be a positive presence and he could chalk tires and enforce the parking limits," he said.

Ross and other merchants also expressed concerns about children riding skateboards and bicycles in Midtown. Donaldson suggested merchants ask kids to leave if they are causing a hazard.

"You can always get a policeman to ask them to move on," he said.

Complaints

money is short.

"And that will mean we could no longer have music and (some other enrichment programs)," he said.

Danny Sisson said he has heard that no physical education (PE) classes will be offered at Nob Hill and White Mountain elementary schools.

"Debbie Sanchez (who teaches physical ed) will be there for fourth through sixth grades with the reorganization (for the new Sierra Vista Primary school handling first and second grades)," Gladden said. Principals have been told to establish their own (site based) needs. It will be up to them to decide whether physical education, music or other subjects and activities are more important, he said.

Sisson said without some PE students will get out of shape both mentally and physically.

"I challenge parents to get to their principals and tell them we want physical education," he said.

In Texas when PE was cut, children became hyperactive toward the end of the day, a teacher said. "It was a great waste of taxpayer money, because they only were learning in the early part of the day," he said.

Gladden said the state continues to mandate programs or raises for teachers without providing adequate funding to local school districts.

"We had to take a close look because of the budget," he said. "We did away with eight (aide) positions. We feel we can find other places for those people within the system."

Sue Randle, who recently resigned from her position as bookkeeper at the high school, suggested helping the budget by cutting administrative positions.

"With three schools less than a quarter mile apart (White Mountain Elementary, White Mountain Intermediate and Sierra Vista Primary), if one principal can't handle all three, you need to let them all go," she said. "That's $45,000 for each school. Do you know how many aides that would hire?"

Teacher Cindy Eggleston disagreed, saying a principal needs to be on-site and would be spread too thin with two or three schools.

Gladden then answered rumors about other program cuts.

He said drama will not be cut for the next school year. The cheerleading program was not cut by $4,000 and a sponsor is on board for junior varsity, he said.

Randle asked whether it was true that substitute teachers were paid out of activity funds this week and if so, was that legal.

Gladden said it was true the money came from clubs accounts, not athletics, but he told The Ruidoso News later he believes it was a legal approach.

"It would be up to Caron Snow, the business manager to clarify that," he said. "Essentially, the district will reimburse them as they submit their vouchers from trips. We pick up some of the expense anyway."

Discipline top priority

Once the comments started, a flood of complaints rushed out about discipline.

Parent Dale Bates said he heard a boy caught in school with a quarter pound of marijuana was only given a six-day suspension from school.

"I had not heard that," Gladden said later. "If a weapon is involved, they're out and we do a hearing before the 10-day deadline and they are either long term suspended until the end of the year or have a total expulsion."

"We need to find out from (Gladden) and the board what happened to discipline in the school," Williams said at the meeting. "As parents and grandparents, we have to grab the situation by the horns and provide the discipline in the homes, but that takes time."

"Discipline is the key to education."

He said students participating in extracurricular activities tend to be disciplined, because they have to show up at certain times and their parents are more involved.

Teachers need to be more visible at class breaks, at lunch and in the parking lot, he said.

"I'm told they're in the hallway and see what's happening, but when they take the students to the office, they beat the teachers," a woman said.

"The discipline has to be in the classroom," said Cathy Ames, wife of coach and teacher Gerald Ames and mother of Jenny Ames, head of the student council this year and president elect for next year.

"They have to have the ability to control their class. We have a very diverse population in Ruidoso. We've always had that. And we need a diverse teaching staff, too," she said.

"I also think a lot of the problems with discipline are not nearly as big as you think they are, about the same now as before, but more visible."

"Kids are looking for direction and control, someone to tell them not to step over the line. It needs to be handled in the classroom and they don't teach classroom management in college. The administration needs to help them (teachers)."

Williams agreed and added that when a teacher takes a student to the office, it robs others of valuable class time.

"Children are the responsibility of their parents in any case," Williams said. "I wish we would get away from saying society is responsible."

"We suffer from a lack of education, because of those who won't deal with their own. We send them home. The parents are working and the child becomes a problem for society because he's roaming around."

"Teachers need backing from the administration."

Kakuska said a police detective told him several guns have been confiscated at the schools.

"If those students (who brought the guns) still are in class, my child is in jeopardy and I can't have that as a parent," he said.

Randle said enough studies with professionals and committees have been completed and enough policies are in place. The problem is lack of consistency, "at least at the high school," she said.

How policies are applied depends on "who you are, how big a trouble maker you are and, I hate to say it, but who you belong to. It's inconsistent and it's wrong."

Cindy Eggleston said her daughter in high school resents being punished for the sins of a small minority.

She urged board members to talk to teachers and students before closing the high school campus, and suggested alternatives such as only allowing juniors and seniors to leave or requiring students to earn the right to leave with good grades or other goals.

Her husband, Leon Eggleston, asked why expulsion isn't used more often.

"Twenty-five years ago if a kid had brought a gun to the gym, he'd be expelled," Eggleston said. "I don't want him in the system."

A teacher reminded the group that school districts are funded by the state based on the number of hours students attend each year and the districts have a vested interest for keeping them in class.

"That kind of student needs to be eliminated from the society of school and if we can't do it, let's find out how we can get back in control," Williams said.

"The laws are on the book," said Kakuska. "The school board and superintendent have the jurisdiction to expel."

"If there is a chance to rehabilitate the students, there needs to be an alternative," Mrs. Eggleston said.

"I disagree," her husband countered. "Eliminate him from our system and don't bring him back until he is ready to learn and obey the rules."

A mother stood up and said that guns and knives aren't the only threats to students at Ruidoso high. She contended sexual harassment occurs daily and that one boy was found guilty in court but he still is in school, because he's a juvenile.

Special treatment is given to athletes, another woman contended.

When teachers allow couples to kiss and fondle each other in the hallways, it sends the message that sexual harassment also will be ignored, a parent added.

Parents should feel like they can go to the school board, air their views, debate the issue and receive a solution, one woman said. But when a group tried that earlier this month, "You went behind closed doors and nothing happened. We couldn't get anything from this board," she said.

Other kids are being intimidated and beaten, parents said.

Parents charged

In response to an observation that too many students "are treated like babies and aren't made to be responsible for their own actions," newly-elected municipal Judge Michael Line agreed and suggested a new approach.

Noting that he used to represent juveniles in court, he suggested passing a municipal ordinance that could result in parents being charged with a petty misdemeanor if they knowingly allowed their children to be truant, engaged in gang activities, carry a gun, or be out excessively late unsupervised.

"I've seen the same kids coming through over and over," Line said. Since there is no half-way facility for juveniles in Lincoln County, they are sent to Springer and come back in 60 days.

"We don't have any way to get a kid out of a bad situation and let them get a handle on it," he said.

He said he would research the possibility of the Ruidoso Village Council approving such a law for parents.

Ames said students need to understand they have the power to say something is wrong. A gun recently found on campus was exposed by two students.

"They need positive reinforcement" to understand the importance of getting guns or other unacceptable substances off campus, Williams said.

Athletics needed

Parents also seem to push for a summer athletic program and seventh period physical education for athletes to ensure they are competitive with teams from other areas. Williams said the recent removal of Jody Blanton as girls volleyball also mobilized parents to protest.

"Athletics is just as important as academics," Bates said.

"It's what keeps some kids in school," another person added.

Bates said it appears some coaches only were concerned about being paid for their time.

"That's not the type of teachers we need in Ruidoso," he said. "The best are the ones willing to spend extra hours."

A student responded that "some coaches have families of their own to go home to."

Williams said the special athletic classes would help Ruidoso players enter a season on an equal playing field.

"Our boys are three to four months behind when they go out to compete in September," he said. Kakuska read the resignation letter of coach Mike Gaston, who recently left Ruidoso as head football coach to return to San Antonio Marshall.

Gaston pointed out that he had asked for three things to build a winning team and had received none: an athletic period with all football players, an athletic period with all coaches, and input and approval on assistant coaches.

In a handwritten note given to Kakuska to read at the meeting, Gaston went a few steps further.

He outlined how the seventh period athletics should work. He illustrated the problem of trying to put together a cohesive assistant coaching staff when individuals were hired without his input and his recommendations were ignored.

Putting financial compensation first also is a problem, Gaston acknowledged. "I told two coaches they needed to spend one day a week after school in the weight room," he wrote. "They told me they didn't feel they had to because it is out of season. Two coaches don't want to meet and get practice plans and equipment ready before two-a-days. They say they don't get paid extra for that time. They get a $400 stipend to start football before school starts. You can't run a program that way."

"If we need to work on Sunday during the season and a coach complains behind the head coach's back to the administration, the administration needs to tell them to get to work instead of sympathizing with them."

He specifically was critical of the performance of athletic coordinator Juan Baca.

"If what Coach Gaston said is the truth, we have an athletic director who is not disciplined in his job," one mother said.

Continuity needed

Williams said the district needs continuity in its teaching staff and coaching staff. Gaston had sold his house in San Antonio and took a cut in pay to come to Ruidoso. With some cooperation, he probably would have stayed a long time and built a good football program.

"If we make promises and don't fulfill them, then obviously, he'd be disgusted and go back to where he came from," Williams said. "Students and parents need to know why a teacher is terminated, although sometimes that can't be done in a public setting (because of state personnel confidentiality rules)."

Gladden said that's why he can't discuss the reasons behind Blanton's reassignment from volleyball coach to the classroom.

Paul Dunn said Blanton should have been given a chance to correct whatever deficiency may have been cited, "because there is nothing in her files as far as we know" to warrant the change.

A former employee of the high school said since Kakuska left as principal she has seen a tremendous staff turnover and backstabbing, as well as a decline in discipline.

"I got so fed up with big kids threatening you and the principal not standing behind the teachers," the former bi-lingual aide said.

A business woman added that students are not leaving prepared to survive in the real world. They don't show up on time for work, don't work once they arrive and often can't make change because of the different methods taught over their years in school.

Counseling needed

Rick Evans, who removed his son from athletics and the Ruidoso school system last year after a disagreement over the handling of a discipline, said he sees a lack of counseling in the system.

"One thing I don't see here is guidance counseling, not just on college and jobs; helping the problem kids get through," Evans said.

Rules have been written, but they are not necessarily aimed at helping individuals with problems and they offer limited opportunities for a student to get back into the system, he said.

"How come we don't have a guidance counseling system like other schools?"

Evans cited a system in Sheridan, Wyoming, with 250 graduating seniors and three full time guidance counselors. The school's students score well on national tests while Ruidoso seniors scored 19.8, slightly below the national average of 20.5 on the American College Testing (ACT) battery in a state that ranks forty-eighth out of fifty.

At Mesa High School in Albuquerque mandatory counseling begins for each student in ninth grade with class selection, as well as personal and academic problems.

"Somehow, it's not a priority for this community," Evans said. "I feel it's an integral part of the process, a missing part of the equation and I think parents should demand the administration get it done."

Gladden said he has been trying to add guidance positions throughout the system, "but you have to realize the financial burden on the system."

"I've also been working with (Eastern New Mexico University-Ruidoso) to try to get a counselor to come to the high school one day a week to assist in filling out college-related forms."

Randle disputed Gladden's statement that the situation with counselors is improving. She said she personally knows students who lost out on scholarship opportunities when given incorrect advice on what paper to fill out.

She urged board members and Gladden to become more frequent visitors to the high school campus.

"I think they are out of touch with what's going on," she said.

Karen Morris, wife of board member Mike Morris, disagreed, but her remarks met with a roar of dissent from other parents.

"Every board member has children in the system, so they are involved," Mrs. Morris said. "Finding scholarships and other financial information is our responsibility as parents."

"Most parents don't even know what's out there," said a substitute teacher.

Williams said counselors should seek more publicity about scholarships available and the timing for applications.

Mrs. Morris said two financial aid workshops were conducted this year to help parents and only six showed up out of 104 graduating seniors. A woman responded that the system can't wait until a student is a senior. The process should start much earlier.

Kakuska agreed with Evans that a lack of continuity in the system is a problem. He said a big part is the lack of coordination between grade levels to ensure succeeding teachers are using compatible books and philosophies.

"Different philosophies of instruction at different levels causes problems," Kakuska said.

Gladden said a continuity problem that can't be solved by the district is the fact that it deals with a 44.6 percent mobility rate.

"If we could isolate just those students who came up through the system, we would see something (scores) different," he contended.

"Education is a partnership between parents, the community, the board, and administration," Morris said. "I'm not saying the schools are 100 percent right."

Adopt a pet and save a life; animal shelter is badly overcrowded

Tips. The Lincoln County Humane Society animal shelter is knee deep in puppies.

Plenty of cats and adult dogs also are waiting for adoption. The construction going on to enlarge the shelter temporarily has cramped the existing space.

Seven shepherd mix puppies were brought in last Tuesday.

The man said they were dropped at his front gate. They're only about five weeks old, shelter manager Esther Harper said. They all look the same.

Four hound/Australian shepherd puppies with smooth short hair were brought in about a week ago. They have gray flecked and white and black and white markings.

Whitey is a wonderful three-year-old soft-coated Wheaten terrier mix. She was brought to the shelter from Captain with her fitter, but is ready now to be adopted. Whitey, who has one blue eye and one brown eye, would need a large area for exercise, but secure to prevent roaming.

Cedar, an especially attractive gold-eyed, eight month old male with a spotted reddish brown coat, has a sweet temperament to compliment his good looks.

He's still young and has lots of energy, said shelter secretary Kathy Tetreault. He's good natured, bright and would be easy to train. He was found near the entrance to Captain on the highway from Ruidoso.

Julio, a luxurious tiger stripe neutered male, would make a great friend for someone in an apartment or who wants a low maintenance house pet, Harper said.

Digit, a Siamese mix, offers a few extra toes on her feet as a conversation piece. The pretty blue-eyed girl is about 10 months old. Bonnie also is a blue-eyed Siamese mix, female and about six months old, without a nagging meow.

Lolita is a special favorite of Tetreault, because the black cat adopted two motherless Calico kittens brought to the shelter.

She's very petite, but full grown. The kittens are about four to five weeks old. Good Samaritans should be very careful not to remove kittens when the mother may only be somewhere around getting food, Tetreault said.

For more information about any of the dogs or cats, call 257-9841 or stop at the shelter on Gavilan Canyon Road. Donations and sponsorships (to pay the cost of neutering and enhance chances for adoption) may be mailed to the society at P.O. Box 2832, Ruidoso, New Mexico 88345.

Business

Afari's manager puts people first

Afari Travel has been arranging vacations and business travel for Ruidoso residents for 14 years, and the company's new manager has been in the travel business even longer.

Monika Willoz began her career in 1979, when she went to work for Carlson Travel Network, then known as Ask Mr. Foster.

"They only had 80 offices at the time," said Willoz. "I feel like I grew with Carlson and that I contributed to their growth." Carlson Travel now has over 2,500 offices across the United States.

Originally from Germany, Willoz began her career in New Orleans, Louisiana. She would eventually move to Washington, D.C. and San Antonio, Texas, before finding her way to this mountain village.

Along the way she has accumulated 10 years of experience managing all aspects of travel. As a quality control manager for five years, she monitored the agency's system to ensure that they were delivering what they promised — low fares and high customer service.

"I always say 'yes' to the customer," she said. "The money people spend for vacations is very precious. Sometimes it's once a year trip, sometimes it's once in a lifetime."

Willoz said she prefers the easy-going pace of Ruidoso to the hectic pace of a city.

"I feel like I'm in paradise," she said. "I do have to chill out a little."

A downshift for Willoz still amounts to constantly seeking new ways to make customers happy and the agency more efficient.

"I have some grand ideas for what we can do in this community," she said. For starters, she wants to develop special services for key clients, and she wants to utilize her staff's talents and strengths to the fullest.

Willoz is also interested in promoting Ruidoso tourism.

"People know about Ruidoso, but more could know," she said.

Afari Travel, located in Cornerstone Square on Sudderth, has the expertise to plan any leisure or business trips. Their business hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday, and 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday; the telephone number is 257-9026.

"We're always willing to come in early or stay late with someone," Willoz said. "Whatever it takes."

Nob Hill Elementary received a free Magnavox television and VCR valued at more than $850 from the Furr's Apples for the Students Program. Lara Tarvin (back left) coordinated the program, and Furr's store manager Steve Lenz presented the equipment to the school. First graders in Marge Cannella's class were on hand to thank Lenz and to witness the fruits of their labor.

USFS offers summer employment to senior citizens

Lincoln National Forest has two positions available through its senior community service employment program, open to people 55 years of age and older with an annual income of from $8,715 for a family of one escalating to $21,015 for a family of five.

Applications are being received now through May 4 for a receptionist at the Smokey Bear Ranger District office and a recreation and cleanup maintenance person.

The people hired will be paid minimum wage ($4.25 an hour) for from 20 to 24 hours a week.

For more information, or to apply, contact Christie Reeves at the Smokey Bear Ranger District Office, 257-4095.

From September to March, Nob Hill Elementary parents and teachers collected Furr's receipts, stuffing the register tapes into a box, patiently building a balance in the Apples for the Students Program. Finally it has paid off.

Furr's manager Steve Lenz presented the school with a new Magnavox television and VCR valued at more than $850.

Lara Tarvin, who runs the school's computer lab, coordinates Apples for the Students at Nob Hill.

Tarvin said the school also has collected enough receipts to get a Macintosh LCIII computer. The LCIII will be used for programs such as Dragon Tales, an interactive reading lesson.

Ruidoso schools together have earned 21 computers, 13 printers and more than $4,800 in educational equipment and software since the beginning of the Furr's program.

The Dreamer

The first calf arrives in the vale

Just after sunrise on April 19 the northern bluebird with his sky blue colors shining in the morning sun came and began drinking out of one of the bird drinking rocks.

This is the first time this year that he has come into the yard and you felt somehow that this was a signal of the beginning of a special day.

After warm and fragrant weather throughout the day, in late afternoon a band of cows came and began grazing on the bluebird meadow. You walked among the grown cows, two year olds and yearlings, suddenly you noticed that one was much smaller than the rest.

by Dan Storm
The Ridge
Ruidoso

Gentle newcomer gets a warm welcome

Sure enough, here was a little two-day-old calf with the afternoon sun shining on her brand new Hereford coat and snow white head. She smelled the new grass and then looked all around with her bright velvet brown eyes.

Her mother gave a low call and the little calf gave a little jump and ran over to her mother and began drinking her milk. You felt in your heart that sudden burst of delight at the sight of the first calf of spring.

Soon the mother lay down and the little calf came and laid down right next to her. A light eastern breeze fragrant with the blooms of the apple blossoms drifted over the meadow. The bluebirds flew to the treetops of the apricot tree and just at sundown they chirped a few notes of an evening serenade.

In your heart was a prayer of thanks to God for the miracle of this tiny new life which came to bless this green vale at the end of a day when heaven came down very close to earth, here in our mountain land.

LCMC scholarship offer finds no takers

Members of the Lincoln County Medical Center board of trustees were surprised to hear that zero applications for the LCMC scholarship had been received as of the Thursday meeting.

LCMC board secretary Glenda Perry said applications often don't appear until the deadline date. (Today, Monday, April 25, is the application deadline.)

Administrator Valerie Miller said they have had this problem before. Trustee Gary Mitchell said it is the school counselor's responsibility to inform students of scholarship opportunities but that they sometimes neglect to do that.

Trustee Wilton Howell requested a deadline extension.

"We can't handicap the kids because they didn't know," he said. The scholarship is worth $500 a year for four years.

Several trustees volunteered to call area schools to remind them of the application deadline. Miller said that if no applications are received by Monday or with Monday's postmark, the deadline will be extended. The board voted to delegate the award decision to the scholarship committee.

Ruidoso High School counselor Linda Hawthorne told The Ruidoso News that they make announcements every day about the availability of scholarships.

"The kids come in and pick up an application, then they return it to us by the due date," she said.

Students sign a sheet when they pick up applications, and Hawthorne said that only one scholarship had less than five names under it.

In other hospital business, Miller reported that the Lincoln County Commission has approved the hospital's request for $1.2 million. The funding comes out of a mill tax levy dedicated for the hospital, and the money will cover capital and operating expenses for both LCMC and Carrizozo Health Centers.

Miller said that over $300,000 of the budget was money approved last year that the hospital did not spend. "We don't buy things until we have to," she said. "So that money carries over to this year."

The hospital's finances this month are slightly below expectations but still good. Miller reported net revenue was up $112,592 from last month but down $98,660 from March 1993. Excess revenue over expenses was $115,596 and $9,598 behind budget for the month.

Carrizozo Health Center is ahead of the game by $2,636 for the year. The center showed a gain of $5,706 for the month. Ruidoso EMS is also ahead of budget, up by $60,944 for the year.

The board of trustees voted to approve hospital privileges for Dr. Timothy Frost, an ear, nose and throat surgical specialist who also does some cosmetic surgery. The Alamogordo doctor will serve as a surgical consultant to the hospital.

Counties is accurate. The maximum limit for salaries of elected county officials is based on population and tax base. A spokesman with the State Department of Finance and Administration said two weeks ago that Lincoln County commissioners could be paid up to $14,030. Other information indicated the clerk, treasurer and assessor could earn up to $85,190 and the sheriff, $36,685.

But according to the association, Lincoln County officials already have hit the maximum pay for the size of the county (a population under 100,000 and tax base over $75,000 but less than $300,000). Commissioners currently are paid the top amount of $10,005, the assessor, clerk and treasurer, $30,130, and the sheriff, $31,510.

The commission approved seven percent increase (costing the county about $12,215) would push county officials over the legal limit.

Howell and Chairman Manroy Montes voted against the raise, saying they had a contract with the public and it should not be rewritten in mid-term. Other elected courthouse officials lobbied for the raise, noting they had not received one in three years and it would be three more years before another could be considered.

Only a commissioner who voted for the raise can ask for reconsideration.

In other budget action, commissioners:

—approved $19,000 for the county Fair Association, its management of the fairground and its running of the annual fair.

"This is a handshake deal," said Howell, referring to previous negotiations of the management contract with association officials.

RHS track team survives its first '94 state qualifier

by KENT BEATTY

The News Sports Correspondent
The Ruidoso Warrior Track team made some headway toward the State Track Meet Friday as the squad got qualifying efforts from Stephanie Haas, Kyle Humphreys and Casey Kearns.

Other than those three athletes, it was a disappointing day for the locals, who showed much improvement last week in their home meet.

Haas took first in the mile with a time of 5:40.61, easily defeated Portales' Cain by more than 16 seconds.

But it was Haas' two-mile performance that got her into the State Meet. Again the fleet senior runner smashed her opponents — this time by almost 30 seconds — stopping the clock in 12:22.99.

On the boys side, senior Casey Kearns earned the only blue ribbon of the day for the Warriors as he continues to dominate his AAA opponents in the quarter. Kearns got to the State Meet with a 51.5 clocking in the prelims and came back to win the 400-meter dash in 52.06.

Kearns blasted the second-place Lovington runner by more than a full second.

Sophomore Kyle Humphreys got to the big dance with a 15:40 effort in the 110-meter high hurdles in the prelims. He came back in the finals with a 15.66 effort in the finals which was good for third place, just in front of teammate David Hufstedler's 16.04.

With almost no rest between events, Humphreys also finished third in the long jump and fourth in the 100-meter Dash.

Other third-place finishers in the boys division included David Hufstedler in the 300-meter hurdles, the boys relay team in the 400 and 1600-meter relays and Rex Comanche in the 800-meter run.

The boys accumulated more points off the efforts of Brandon Abeita's 128 1/2 effort in the Discus; David Eisenbrown's 41 1/2 toss of the shot put and Kent Sparks fifth-place finish in the 1600-meter run.

The girls team notched a win from Sarah Dix in the long jump with a leap of 18-1 and got second-place finishes from Jody Randle in the High Jump and Lindsay Willard in the 100-meter hurdles.

The girls relay team of Dix, Kristie Ryan, Brandy Pfeffer and Randle took first place in the 400-meter relay in an excellent 52.72 clocking — two seconds in front of Lovington who finished second.

Brandy Pfeffer checked in third in the High Jump and Sarah Dix got a fourth in the 200-meter dash.

Other Lady Warriors receiving points in Artesia included Monique Ramos, 6th in the Discus; Kristie Ryan, 5th in the 400-meter dash; Tina Barnes, 5th in the 800-meter run; Pfeffer, 6th in the 200-meter dash and the above-mentioned relay team, third in the 1600-meter relay.

The medley relay squad of Willard, Melissa Miller, Lita Reyes and Kara Castanon finished fifth to gain points for the team, stopping the clock in 5:21.10.

Head coach Ronny Maskew showed some concern after the Artesia meet.

"We didn't do near as well this week as last week. I thought last week we took some giant steps forward in competing and it seems like we fell backwards this week. I really think that is a coaching problem on my part and we're going to correct that this week," said Maskew.

"We had some kids gone to the national DECA conference this week and the band competition that hurt us some, but didn't justify the total collapse we saw."

"We were hoping to get two of the boys relays and three of the girls relays qualified this week and even though we won two of those girls relays, we didn't feel like we ran as well this week as we had hoped to, so starting Monday (today) will be making some corrections that will hopefully give us a shot," said Maskew.

The team will get another chance at the State qualifying marks this Saturday at Lovington. That facility will offer both excellent facilities and competition, which should allow the Warriors to land more athletes in the State Meet.

Fuentes, Danielle Morris, Heather Stephens and Katie Lukens. Team coaches are Becky Austin (standing) and Pixie Arthur.

Golfers prep for busiest week of year

The Ruidoso Warrior Golf Team will play in three tournaments this week as both the boys and girls prepare for next week's District 3-AAA championship at Las Cruces Country Club.

The Warriors will take part in Tuesday's RISD Invitational at Spring River and will face traditionally rivals Lovington, Artesia and upstart Tucumcari among others.

The boys, who finished tied for second in the Leroy Gooch Invitational last week with Lovington, beat Artesia and Tucumcari in the Gooch, but won't have the home course advantage this time around.

The Lady Warriors defeated the above opponents and should shine Tuesday among the AAA opponents, coming off their first State qualifying effort in five years in the Gooch.

Thursday's action will see the Warriors travel to Clouderoft for that school's Invitational. It will be a loaded bus making the trek up the mountain as the Warriors are expected to enter 20 golfers in the event.

Saturday, the boys will play their final tourney before district in the NMMI Invitational. The Warriors will face a similar field as Tuesday's but will hope for better weather as year-long team scores are the criteria for seeding at the State Tournament.

The Warriors want to paired with Deming, who took a surprise win in last week's Leroy Gooch Invitational.

The Lady Warriors will skip the NMMI tournament and travel to Las Cruces for a practice round at Las Cruces Country Club in hopes of landing some players on the All-District team.

The Warriors hosted their third scramble of the year, Sunday, at the Links at The Inn of the Mountain Gods.

The Links at Sierra Blanca's teaching professional, Al Forrester's team blasted the field with a 14-under par 58. Forrester's teammates included Warrior Matt Cantu who had a hole-in-one in last week's scramble at the Links.

Scott Roser's team fired an 11-under 61 to collect second place. Joining Roser were Phil Clark, Zeb Smith and Frizzell Frizzell.

The show spot went to Danny Alvarez, Mike Fair, Don Clark and Bill Jones with a 10-under 62.

Tom Baker, Carole Wall, Bob Walters and Matt Pena checked in fourth, losing a scorecard playoff with the Alvarez team.

Fishing Report

Spring is here and fishing is improving, according to the fishing report published by the New Mexico Department of Game and Fish.

At Alto Lake, the department recommends using power baits and worms for trout. Some nice rainbows are being taken from Bonito Creek on salmon eggs and worms. Over 700 pan size rainbow trout were planted there last week.

Bonito Lake is open, and anglers have been catching trout on green power bait, fireballs and worms. Crews planted over 2,650 nice size rainbows last week.

At Grindstone Reservoir, fishing is good using various colored power baits. According to the report, limits are being taken.

The Ruidoso River is rising and anglers are catching trout with salmon eggs. Crews planted 1,250 rainbows in the river.

Carrizo Lodge has come up with a great way to spend part of the summer in Ruidoso.

The owners have poured new resources and renewed energy into the Lodge's summer art school, drawing long time favorite artists as well as new names.

They particularly encourage local residents to take advantage of top notch talent at their doorsteps.

The week of July 18-22 will offer an especially varied program of instruction, ranging from watercolor to papermaking and oil portraits of humans and animals and papermaking.

Fred Chilton will tackle watercolor for students of all levels.

Chilton has achieved national recognition through his participation in exhibitions at the American Watercolor Society, The Butler Institute of American Art and the Salmagundi Club, among others.

His "Best of Show" award in the 1991 exhibition of the New Mexico Watercolor Society and his feature in the May 1993 issue of New Mexico Magazine place him in the forefront of today's watercolorists. Through methodical application of materials and principals, student will have an opportunity to gain understanding and working knowledge of the medium. Both beginners and advanced watercolorists can benefit from Chilton's guidance with drawing, composition, value, color and paint application.

For those who choose, special emphasis on the use of the figure in context will be explored. Chilton will help students identify their weak points and then focus to strengthen and master those areas.

Tuition for the week-long session is $300. In a studio nearby, Charles Bell will explore the basics of papermaking.

The workshop will include mold and deckle construction, paper chemistry, pulping, sheet formation, pulp painting, lamination, embossing, casting and creation of paper from plant materials.

A variety of pulps will be provided for class use. Bell's work involves several fine art media. Although he is very much involved in painting, drawing and collage, papermaking is his primary interest. Many of his works appear on his own handmade paper.

Bell enjoys working with the textural and primitive aspects of handmade paper. Mastery of the subject varies with the medium, but is mostly based on landscape themes. He uses color, texture and form to build contemporary landscapes that range from representational to abstract.

Bell graduated with a M.Ed. in art from Sul Ross State University and was on art instructor there. Tuition for his workshop is $240. During the same week, Nancy Kyte Ely will focus on Realism Oil and Portrait Still Life-Animals.

Ely received her formal art training from the Famous Artist School of Westport, Connecticut, and after completing the commercial art course in illustration, did historical art for an education film company.

Her popular oil portraits of famous stars of the screen have been put into prints. Her original oil, limited edition prints and commissioned portraits are in galleries, gift shops and private collections throughout the world.

Nancy's technique uses thin washes of oil paint for buildup. Her realistic style of art is taught from beginning drawing to a finished pencil preliminary, which is traced onto the canvas. The class is designed for students at all stages of art proficiency, beginners, intermediates and professionals. Each student progresses at his/her own rate.

Tuition for the session is $330. A full schedule of workshops will continue through August 5, with other artists and instructors to be featured in upcoming editions.

Class sizes are limited, so call Carrizo Lodge at 257-9131 to reserve a spot in one of this summer's art classes. Ask for a class schedule, now available at Carrizo Lodge located in Carrizo Creek Road in Ruidoso; or write to Carrizo Art School, PO Drawer A; Ruidoso NM 88345.

WAYNE A. JORDON
Truth In Sentencing

You've seen it in the paper - defendant A sentenced to X. What's the rest of the story? Why are some defendants sentenced to prison and some not? Why shouldn't everyone who commits the same crime receive the same punishment? As your district judge, I will issue a press release every time I sentence a criminal and tell you the crimes that were originally charged, the details of any plea bargains, and the reason for the sentence - you deserve to know.

As a United States Magistrate Judge for seventeen years, I had the opportunity to follow the development and implementation of the federal sentencing guidelines. The theory behind the federal guidelines is that a person who commits a crime in Vermont will be given the same sentence as a person who commits that same crime in New Mexico.

The federal sentencing commission categorized all of the federal crimes and assigned basic sentences to them. The commission then worked out a system of assigning points on a grid - first, the crime is considered; for example, the quantity of drugs or nearness to a school for drug offenses. Then the criminal's history is considered and points are assigned for prior crimes, prior crimes committed while on probation or parole, etc. After the information on the particular crime and the criminal's history is figured on the grid, a judge can sentence a defendant within a narrow range such as 33 to 41 months, in jail for a crime that carries a maximum of five years. A judge can deviate from that sentence only in rare instances. In the federal system, if a criminal is sentenced to 41 months he will do 41 months, less a maximum of 15% for good time. In New Mexico, good time can cut a criminal's sentence almost in half.

New Mexico started to study sentencing guidelines, and we need to renew that effort. The federal guidelines have many good points, but we need to adapt them to allow for imposition of appropriate sentences in special instances.

Recently, I read in the El Paso Times that a young man was sentenced to fifteen years for stealing a six pack of beer from a convenience store. The citizens of Texas have committed hundreds of thousands of dollars to punish a person for stealing a four dollar item. I will not do this as your judge. Around the same time, a different judge sentenced a bank executive to eighteen months for diverting millions of dollars from a savings and loan. I would also not do this as your judge. A judge has to have common sense and be able to give a sentence in the context of the realities of our justice system, and guidelines can help. We need to put the bad guys who hurt people in jail for a long time. We need to insure that non-violent, non-serious first-time offenders have learned their lesson, make restitution where appropriate, and contribute to the community instead of draining it.

B SECTION

Editorial

Yours, ours and theirs

What a dull world it would be if everything was in black and white and everybody agreed on every subject!

And yet, periodically, we have reason to speak up in defense of a world that is large enough for many opinions and different views on every subject. As La Rochefoucauld, a French writer, said in 1685: "We seldom attribute common sense except to those who agree with us."

And so, in the narrow view, it's safer to read only newspapers and periodicals that match your philosophy and choose friends who agree with you on every subject. If you're afraid to be exposed to different opinions, then you should avoid reading the opinion page of this or any newspaper. For on that page is where you'll read the newspaper's opinion, columnists' opinions, letter writers' opinions and see cartoons which may or may not be anybody's opinion, but are drawn with an eye toward making you think. So, if you don't want to think, avoid editorial pages and especially editorials and cartoons.

In this newspaper, the editorial (always in the top left corner) contains the philosophy and the opinion of the newspaper itself. It doesn't matter if the editorial is written by the editor, the publisher or another writer, that space is reserved for the newspaper's opinion.

To the right of the editorial is the editorial cartoon, always chosen with the hope of making readers think and helping them put their own views into perspective. The cartoons aren't necessarily the opinion of the newspaper, but they should prompt a strong opinion or they aren't very effective.

Under the editorial cartoon is the space for letters and/or columns. Columns are usually written by staff writers, but now and then are contributed by others or purchased from Sunmount Syndicate. Columns contain the opinions of the writer alone, and do not necessarily reflect the philosophy of the newspaper.

And, of course, letters contain the opinions and beliefs of the writers only and do not have to match the opinions of the editor and publisher to be printed.

There's room on the opinion page, and in the world, for our opinion, your opinion and countless other opinions. Isn't that worth thinking about?

Thought for the day:

"Miserable is the fate of writers: if they are agreeable, they are offensive; and if dull, they starve."

—Lady Mary Wortley Montagu
British essayist

Letters To The Editor

Rancher offended by different opinions

TO THE EDITOR:

Once again this past Thursday, April 14, you printed another of Mr. Martinez's anti-ranching cartoons, unconcerned of its effect on rural Lincoln County.

I have been tolerant of the past insults believing that as an informed editor you would avail yourself of the BLM booklet on rangeland reform....

This is a complex issue, not only dealing with grazing fee increases, water rights riparian area, endangered species, the control of private domain and other issues. You should be better informed before printing such biased material.

Studies have been done that show the economic consequences that would occur as Rangeland Reform '94 now reads. Two such studies are available from Western New Mexico University, Silver City and New Mexico State University, Las Cruces.

I now cancel my subscription to your paper. Please remit to me the amount I am due on my paid subscription. I will boycott any advertisers to your paper. I will pay for the new hot water heater I charged at Village Hardware on Saturday. No more Furr's, Wal-Mart, Brunells, C&L Lumber and poor Bobby at Harpers Auto Parts, the cafes and all the gift stores where most of my Christmas shopping was done. Oh well, it's not far to Roswell or Alamogordo.

I am but one, what if more do what I am doing. Would we even make you think again of your contract with Sunmount Syndicate.

A private land owner and a BLM permittee.

Ruth Shannon
Captain

EDITOR'S NOTE: We welcome diverse views; they always make us think. We challenge our readers to do the same.

Cartoon angers reader

TO THE EDITOR:

I have always bought your paper and thought it pretty good most of the time, but after the last three issues came out I've decided to quit buying it.

Your cartoons and replies about ranchers has turned me away, and I'm sure a few others.

I don't know where you came from, back east somewhere, I guess, but you have no idea how much the ranching industry does for this country.

Many of us have been here generations before your folks stepped off the boat, and have put our whole lives into this much needed business, despite the hardships and the government red tape, rightist, leftist, extremist, enviros, communists and editors like you and your paper.

People will always want beef and its byproducts, and as long as we can stick together against those who want to end it all for the sake of being politically correct or just stirring up the enviros and heading the march, we will keep our heritage intact as well as beef on your table and shoes on your feet.

I'll bet you won't print this "reaction."

Johnny Cox

Policy

The Ruidoso News encourages letters to the editor, especially about local topics and issues.

Each letter must be signed and must include the writer's telephone number and address. The phone number and street or mailing address will not be printed, however the author's hometown will be included.

The telephone number will be used to verify authorship. No letter will be printed without the writer's name.

Libelous letters are not protected by the rules of privilege or fair comment and will not be printed.

Letters will be edited for spelling and grammar to the extent possible without impairing their flavor or changing their meaning. Letters may be shortened to fit the space available.

We try, whenever possible, to allow people and/or businesses mentioned in a letter the opportunity to respond, usually in the same or the next edition.

The News has the right to reject any letter.

REAL ESTATE ROUNDUP

Realtors have been making the most of the spring sunshine to play golf on the area's courses.

Glen Crane and Dwight Andrews were on one of three teams that tied for third in the Ruidoso High School's second scramble of the season at The Links of Sierra Blanca.

The Jeffrey Chapman who is making a name for himself on the links is the son of Realtor Jeff Chapman.

Linda Long of Sierra Blanca Realty has just received her broker's license. Sierra Blanca's Sarah Cole also has just received her sales agent license.

Beverly Stephenson, formerly at Top Brass Realty, is now at Bill Pippin Realtors.

Century 21 has announced the addition of three new real estate professionals with a combined 50 years of experience.

Jerry Ketner, Charles Imke and Bill Weatherford have joined the professional staff at Century 21 Aspen Real Estate, Inc.

Jerry Ketner is a licensed New Mexico real estate associate with 25 years sales background.

Ketner has been a New Mexico resident for 20 years.

Charles Imke, a licensed real estate associate, has 18 years background in real estate related areas.

Bill Weatherford brings 12 years of sales and customer service experience to the Century 21 office. He also is a licensed real estate associate.

Century 21 Aspen Real Estate, Inc. was the recipient of the international real estate organization's honors for customer service.

The Quality Service Award, presented to franchises for 1993 service, is based on surveys returned by clients who answered questions about the service they received from Century 21 brokers and agents during the year.

"We are especially pleased to receive this — of all awards — a reflection on our basic belief that service is the most important consideration in our business," said owner broker James Paxton.

The customer satisfaction survey study was launched by Century 21 International in response to the industry-wide need for improving service in every area, explained Paxton.

The office had to earn a 90 percent or better score from its customers and clients in every category to earn a Certificate of Recognition for 1993.

Richard Loverin and Nancy Lore of Coldwell Banker SDC, Realtors in Ruidoso two of the company's International President's Elite, an honor given to the top less than one percent of nearly 52,000 Coldwell Banker sales associates in the United States, Canada and Puerto Rico.

This is the second consecutive year the Loverin and Lore have been selected as members of this prestigious Coldwell Banker group.

Regional director Alex Perriello presented the two with their awards at the company's international business conference in San Diego, California, with approximately 6,000 Coldwell Banker sales associates, brokers, managers and support staff in attendance.

"The International President's Elite designation is the highest honor among Coldwell Banker sales associates," said Perriello. "Both Loverin and Lore are most deserving of this prestigious award for their outstanding sales performance."

Loverin is a $10 million-plus producer and Lore is a $6.5 million-plus producer.

Ed LeBlanc, Rose Peebles and Lisa Dinkins of Coldwell Banker SDC Realtors have been selected for the company's International President's Circle, an honor given to the top two percent producers of the nearly 52,000 Coldwell Bank sales associates in the United States, Canada and Puerto Rico.

The President's Circle is for those sales associates who have demonstrated exceptional sales performance.

LeBlanc has produced sales of more than $3.2 million, with Dinkins' and Peebles' sales production at $2 million each.

Buyer agents say they take the risk out of home buying

People buying real estate in Lincoln County used to be on their own when it came to looking out for their best interests. Now buyers can enlist the services of a broker and an attorney who can make almost every step of buying a home worry-free.

Lawyers Real Estate Services, Inc. is a partnership of attorney Don Dutton, attorney/broker David Stevens and qualifying broker Douglas Siddens. They are the first in the area to represent buyers and buyers only in real estate transactions. They carry no listings, and their services generally cost the buyer nothing.

"This is the wave of the future," said Siddens. "Buyer agents are already working in Texas, California, New York and Utah. And now it's going to happen in New Mexico."

Stevens explained that until two years ago New Mexico state law required brokers to represent the seller. Even when two brokers were involved in the deal, both were obligated to the seller. If a buyer wanted someone looking out for his interests, he typically had to hire a lawyer.

According to a national study, Stevens said, 85 percent of buyers who brought brokers into negotiations believed the brokers were representing them, even though brokers signed a disclosure that said they represented the seller.

"Imagine the negotiating table where sits the seller, the seller's broker, the seller's attorney, and the guy with the money, who's all by himself," said Stevens. "There's something wrong with that picture."

"Now the rules have changed," said Siddens. "We're obligated only to you, the buyer."

"It doesn't cost the seller anything extra," said Stevens. "They agree to pay a commission to their broker anyway, and the broker splits the commission with us, just as they would with a Realtor."

The arrangement is beneficial for everyone but any potentially unscrupulous seller. LRS checks out every aspect of the deal in terms of legality and advises the buyer of potential problems like power easements or unusual property lines. If they miss something that comes back to haunt their client, the malpractice insurance covers the costs.

"There are a lot of legal problems that come up in real estate and result in a lot of litigation," said Stevens. "This is preventive medicine. If you treat something early you save yourself the expense and trauma of a hospital stay."

Another advantage to using a buyer agent is anonymity. LRS is not required to disclose a client's name and so can negotiate deals for entities who prefer to remain nameless when buying real estate.

"That's a sophisticated buyer," said Stevens. "But we're probably most helpful to the unsophisticated buyer, the person who brings in a nest egg of $20,000 and wants to buy a home in Lincoln County. More than anyone, that person needs us to protect their interests."

Such a buyer can trust that LRS has the best talent in the brokerage business and will give good legal advice, said Stevens.

Siddens was a multi-million dollar broker for Coldwell Bank and he has 17 years experience with the real estate market in this area.

LRS is also allied with Sun Country Mortgage in El Paso, Texas, which allows them to short-cut the loan application process.

"It's one-stop shopping," said Stevens. "Our objective is to provide full service to our clients. We can familiarize them with the market, negotiate the deal, help with funding and give legal advice."

Stevens pointed out that real estate brokers are limited in their powers to amend contracts, and they cannot tell a buyer that although a property lists for $100,000, the buyers could probably get it for $89,000. LRS, on the other hand, is obligated to get the best price for a property, and an on-site lawyer can amend contracts or take care of any legalities on the spot.

"Our loyalty is only to our client," said Stevens. "Now that you can get experts to represent only you at no cost to you, why do it any other way?"

Cattle Baron Restaurants, Inc. was the successful bidder at the Small Business Administration's auction of the former Bull Ring on Saturday, March 26.

According to a press release, Jeffrey Wilson, president of Cattle Baron Restaurants, Inc., has not yet decided on a concept for the newly acquired property.

"Whatever we decide, it will be a well thought out, exciting and professionally executed concept," he said. "I can say with certainty that the concept will not include a club or dance hall as it has done in the past at this location. We feel the business should co-exist with the surrounding residents and other businesses in the area."

Wilson added, "With the economic recovery and growth of West Texas and Southern New Mexico over the last several years, Ruidoso has a lot of dynamic potential through the end of this decade."

According to the press release, permitting, demolition, renovation and licensing should take 90 to 120 days. The peak employment will add 65 jobs to the local economy.

From September to March, Nob Hill Elementary parents and teachers collected Furr's receipts, stuffing the register tapes into a box, patiently building a balance in the Apples for the Students Program. Finally it has paid off.

Furr's manager Steve Lenzo presented the school with a new Magnavox television and VCR valued at more than $850.

Lara Tarvin, who runs the school's computer lab, coordinates Apples for the Students at Nob Hill.

Tarvin said the school also has collected enough receipts to get a Macintosh LCIII computer. The LCIII will be used for programs such as Dragon Tales, an interactive reading lesson.

Ruidoso schools together have earned 21 computers, 13 printers and more than $4,800 in educational equipment and software since the beginning of the Furr's program.

What better way to clean up the air and improve the environment than to plant a tree? Better yet, plant lots of trees.

United New Mexico Bank, Conley's Nursery and The Ruidoso News want to help light up Lincoln County with thousands of golden aspen trees.

Paint the Town Gold, which resulted in more than 5,000 golden aspen seedlings being planted here last year, is back and it's bigger and better than ever.

United New Mexico and The News offered seedlings at less than cost last year so that residents could afford to get a head start on a golden future. The result was 5,000 little trees.

This year, the sponsors are joined by Conley's Nursery, and will be offering bigger trees — 12 to 24-inch tall aspen trees in one-gallon containers. The cost is $5 each this year, and the trees will be picked up June 16 and 17, at Conley's Nursery on U.S. Highway 70.

Trees are mother nature's answer to air pollution, so be sure to order your golden aspens early. Supplies are limited.

New roofers stay busy here

Hail storms across Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas have kept Pearson Brothers Roofing so busy they've opened a branch office in Ruidoso.

Of course, the company's commitment to quality also might have something to do with their expansion.

Estimator Terry McCree suggested opening the office here, telling his boss how beautiful it is in Ruidoso and how ready the market is for them. Mr. Pearson was so impressed with the village, he immediately bought a house in Alto and plans to move here in about five years.

McCree, meanwhile, has taken up residence in the house and made connections with Ruidoso builders such as Jack Pruitt, Jack Burford and Tom Garber.

"We officially opened in March, and we've done nine jobs already," he said.

McCree said Pearson Brothers, based in Dallas, Texas, is known for using high-grade materials and standing behind their work. As a member of the National Shake and Shingle Bureau, which regulates all wood coming into the United States market, Pearson Brothers is obliged to use only #1 grade wood.

"I think Ruidoso is kind of soured on wood (roofs)," said McCree. "Most of the shakes and shingles here are #2 and #3 grade. Some people think you can't use wood at all here because of the ordinance, but the ordinance only bans untreated wood. #1 wood is treated, but it costs more, so some builders won't use it."

McCree said metal roofs are popular here, probably because they install quickly and can endure hail storms.

"A metal roof is supposed to last 20 years," he said. "But if you don't leave breathing room between the metal and the felt, you cut the value of the roof in half. Also, the neoprene washers only last about 10 years, then they crack and you get leaks."

For the Ruidoso climate, McCree prefers a composition or tile roof. Pearson Brothers gives a five-year warranty on all their work. For flat roofs, McCree likes to use Rubberoid, a rubber roof that carries a 20-year manufacturer warranty.

Not only does McCree believe in doing a job right, but he also believes in doing it efficiently.

"Roofing doesn't have to be slow," he said. "Once we get the materials, we can usually finish a job in three or four days."

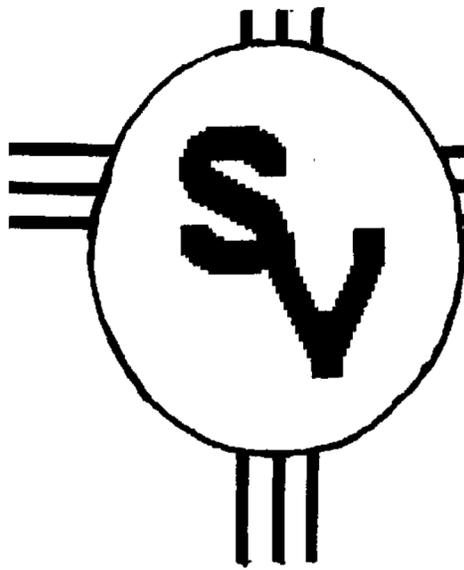

Coming from a family of roofers, McCree has been climbing around on buildings since he was a boy in Illinois.

"Pearson Brothers is a good company," he said. "We're ambitious and we're on the ball. People can count on us."

GTE expands number base by requiring area codes

Beginning June 19, long-distance calls originating and completing in area code 505 should include the area code ("0" or "1" + the area code number + the seven-digit directory number).

There continues to be a growing demand for telephone lines within the 505 area code, according to a recent news release. This expanding need from population growth, economic progress and new technology-cellular telephones, fax machines, paging services, computer modems and others has required a change in dialing procedures for long-distance calls within the area code.

From now until June 19, callers have the option of using the area code when dialing long-distance calls within the 505 area code.

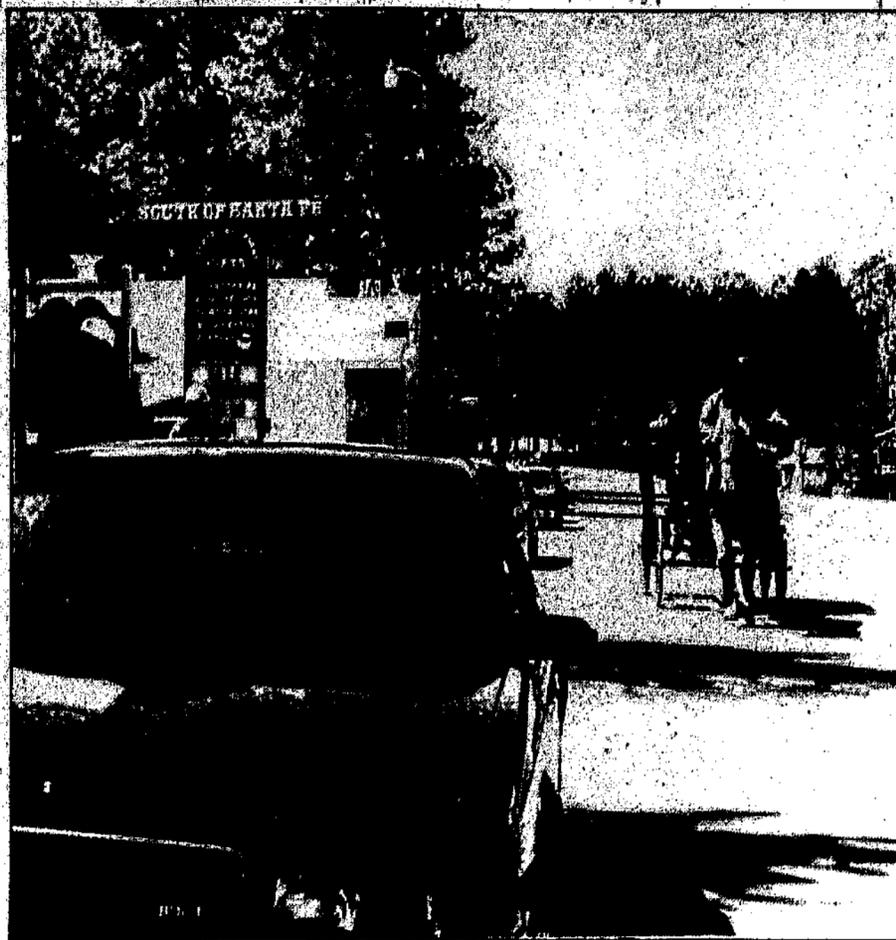

After June 19, only long-distance calls within the 505 area code using the ten-digit number (area code + the directory number) will be completed. After that date, customers will hear a recording if they dial "1" or "0" + the directory number. The recording will ask the customer to dial the number again using the 505 area code.

GTE is asking customers to be sure telephone equipment requiring dialing reprogramming or modification is changed by June 19. Equipment that may require attention includes PBX systems, key systems, cellular phones, fax machines, computer modems, automatic dialers, voice mail, pagers/beepers, burglar/fire alarms, speed calling and call forwarding features.

This dialing change allows telephone prefixes with three-digit numbers using the middle digit of "0" or "1". The result is many more telephone numbers being available to customers in the 505 area code. Without modification, telephone switching equipment would not be able to distinguish these numbers as prefixes or area codes.

Changing personal dialing habits and completing any necessary equipment modification will assist everyone through a smooth transition to the new dialing procedure by June 19, continues the release.

Last year Jeter gave rides to the more agile residents of Ruidoso Care Center, but this year he plans to build a wagon with wheelchair lifts suitable for more residents. The wagon will be pulled by two draft horses.

HOME TIPS

—If your property is beautifully landscaped with railroad ties, you may need to shore them up more securely.

—Examine and physically inspect your roof (if possible) for any unusual wear or damage.

—Also check your gutters and leaders and make sure they are firmly intact.

—A San Pedro, California, woman reported that she had a huge problem with ants getting into bird feeders which she had mounted on an upright pole from her deck rail. She ant-proofed her feeders by wrapping the poles with a few inches of fly paper.

—Paint brushes are handy for dusting, too. A two-inch wide, inexpensive paint brush is perfect to dust hard-to-reach crevices on furniture and window sills. It's also a good tool for dusting pleated lamp shades.

—Keep a watchful eye on those usually damp and wet basements this time of year. Most of the nation had above-normal winter precipitation and we will have a much lengthier spring that.

HOUSEHOLD HEAPS

Q. I own a modest three-bedroom home and am soon planning to install a glued down wood floor in my dining room. I currently have a medium pile rug with foam padding underneath. My intentions are to remove and discard the carpet and install a hardwood tongue-and-groove floor. This level of my house is above ground so there isn't any potential for moisture to seep through. Can you provide me with some basics on starting this project?

A. I can't guess how large your dining room is but doing this is generally where you will begin. Try to measure the exact square footage of the room by multiplying the length and width. You should account for extra flooring beyond the actual size for edges, corners and waste.

Some good advice would be to visit a major flooring dealer in your area and examine all their various styles and hardwood floor finishes. You will be spending much more money on a floor as opposed to a carpet, so I'm sure they will accommodate your needs and desires. Of course, other materials such as the glue, a notched trowel and other household tools will be needed for this job.

The initial step, of course, is to remove your old carpet, padding, perimeter tack strips and any other protruding nails. Be sure the surface is totally free of any foreign debris and is reasonably flat and solid. If your sub-floor happens to be terribly marred and chewed up, you can always install up to a 3/8-inch thick plywood underlayment floor. Your flooring dealer can give you all the specifics necessary if you have any questions.

To start your actual layout, you must begin by snapping chalk lines, usually at 90-degree angles (from the wall). The manufacturer's installation instructions are very precise and quite easy to follow. You will also need to temporarily remove the baseboards around the perimeter of the room, if they exist. In addition to this, the trim and door frames will need to be undercut at the same thickness of a spare piece of flooring strip.

Before you lay down your floor, you must distribute the glue evenly. Once again, follow the directions on the product's container and take the necessary safety precautions. Take enough time to do this job to guarantee a satisfying finished product.

Q. The siding on my house is made up of an old-fashioned composite material. The shingles have weathered a bit over the years, but can still maintain a good appearance when painted. However, I have one side of the house which has a recurring problem with fungus and dampness after a period of time. If there's any consolation in this, several others homes in my area have the same problem on that exact side of the house. Is there any paint primer or something on the market that I can use to combat this headache?

A. First, let me tell you that I have personally had problems with aging composite siding, including fungus and peeling. I am certainly no stranger to these eyesores, and ended up having vinyl siding installed.

Let's hope that this won't be your ultimate solution. Instead, let's restructure from here. One telltale indicator that you mentioned is that it's the same side of each home which is affected. It appears to me that the particular side which has the problem doesn't get enough natural sunlight. Another cause can be an overabundance of shade due to too many trees near the house.

You can purchase many paint primers from your paint store dealers but what you need is one which specifically treats your kind of surface problem. I am not at liberty to mention any brand names but your paint dealer can suggest what is best for you. I don't know if you have previously used a primer but now is a good time to start.

Perhaps the next most important fundamental to keep in mind is to apply your primer and finish paint on a perfect day. There are probably only several "perfect" days to paint and, like me, you have some other important things to do. However, the ideal weather is a sunny, warm day in the 70- to 80-degree range.

Another very important consideration is to be sure of what type of additives are present in the paint you purchase. Ask your dealer if there is a sufficient amount of the chemicals (biocides and fungicides) to prevent mildew. If not, you can buy additional additives and use as needed. Good luck on this job and write back to me to let me know how your paint job is faring.

Q. I am planning on doing some renovation work in the master bathroom of my single-family home. Aside from painting and wallpapering, I want to remove an old medicine cabinet and replace it with a more stylish type. The existing cabinet is very light in weight and considerably smaller in size. The new cabinet I want to install is made of oak wood, is larger in size and of course, much heavier than the lighter metal cabinet. The old cabinet was secured to two 2x4 studs and with only four sheet metal screws. Also, the cabinet itself was installed to the wall's surface (minus the wallboard) and not recessed within the wall. Can you advise me on whether I need to preprep the wall for better reinforcement and a safe installation?

A. Provided the new medicine cabinet is much larger and heavier, you will definitely need to strengthen and support it better. I am sure you will have more space to store things and then some.

You didn't mention where you will purchase your new cabinet, but most major department stores and bathroom item manufacturers will supply the hardware that is necessary. If not, I would recommend that you buy at least a half-dozen extra-long sheet metal screws. A three-inch length and a no. 12 size gauge is quite adequate for your purpose. You should simply hang the new cabinet to the original 2x4s and possibly another, if the cabinet is wide enough. Most importantly, if your cabinet has pre-drilled holes in it, mark them and drill a hole in each position with a drill bit smaller than the screws. I would also advise you to have a helper nearby and use a carpenter's level for accuracy.

Finally, for easier installation, use either soap or paraffin on the screws.

Conventions Become A Thriving Industry

(NU) - Can you name the 17th-largest industry in the United States? If you said conventions and meetings, you're right — much to the surprise of many.

For local conference centers, hotels and tourism bureaus that cater to conventioners, business is booming, according to a study commissioned by the Convention Liaison Council. Some findings from the study:

- Conventions, expositions and meetings generated $75.6 billion last year. The lion's share — or about $54 billion (71 percent) — was spent on association-sponsored events.

- Local and state governments received $4.62 billion (44 percent) of the tax receipts from local events. The balance went to the federal government.

- Conventions, expositions and meetings account for $22.6 billion (36 percent) of the hotel industry's operating revenue. The percentage is even higher for business hotels.

What do all those conventioners do when they get together? For most people, association conventions are the primary method of updating crucial job skills and learning about new technology. "Their specialized education sessions are often the only source of current, accurate information," says R. William Taylor, president of the American Society of Association Executives.
