Trash authority digs into budget

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Members would like to see more financial space in their 1994-95 projected $1,527,985 budget to cover replacement of aging equipment and possible mid-year staff raises.

But Monday, during the first budget review of the Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority, it was apparent no extra money is in sight.

Although the total budget is about $250,000 higher than the mid-year adjusted budget and half a million higher than the original budget put together last June (with no basis for comparison on actual operation), expenses are estimated as only $132,611 under revenues.

The new Otero-Lincoln County Regional Landfill has been successful to the point that it already is paying its own way. That will free up environmental gross receipts (sales) tax previously committed to bond payments for construction of the landfill south of Alamogordo.

But next in line for that tax is the remaining 13 years of a 15-year obligation to pay off more than $1-million for collection equipment and a compacting machine that already is wearing out.

The payments go to the member entities themselves. The Village of Ruidoso receives more than $90,000 a year from the authority for the bulk of the equipment.

The coalition of the county and its five municipalities was formed four years ago to handle garbage collection and disposal in the county. To that end, the authority bought equipment being used by the village of Ruidoso, as well as a bulldozer from the county and a debris landfill owned by the village of Capitan.

"It alarms me if we are not able to replace equipment," authority chairman Wilton Howell said. "What are we going to do in a few years. We can't make much fit into this (referring to the small capital outlay figure of $42,596).

"Talk about morale. How are the employees going to feel sitting beside the road in a broken down vehicle when we can't keep up with

Register kindergarten kids Friday

Parents with pre-school children should take advantage of free testing to be offered Friday at Nob Hill Elementary and register their children for Head Start or kindergarten all at the same time.

Professionals in hearing, vision, dental and development standards will be at the school to help with preschool screening and kindergarten registration.

The tests are valuable in identifying problems or potential problems in development that could interfere with the normal learning process. Families then can be referred to the proper professionals.

Families whose names begin with A through L should come in the morning from 8:30-11:30 a.m. Those with last names that start with M through Z should show up from 11:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

Principal Roger Sowder emphasized the need for all children who will be attending Head Start or kindergarten to attend the session with their parents or guardians.

To register, please bring the child's birth certificate and immunization card. Free preschool screening is offered to children from birth to five years old.

A certified registered nurse will be available to give free immunizations, although regular appointments can be set up through local health department.

The height, weight, speech development, dental condition, motor coordination and vision of each child three years and up will be checked. Younger children will receive some development and hearing tests. Their height and weight will be recorded.

Regular school will not be conducted Friday. For more information, call 257-9041. To reach the school, turn on Sutton Drive just southeast of the Lincoln County Medical Center.

You don't need a beach to build a sand castle. These Nob Hill youngsters prove that spring lights up the imaginations of people of all ages.

Gone fishing

The fish are jumping in Rio Ruidoso, as well as other area fishing holes, and some locals and visitors are making the most of spring fishing. Wind and chilly weather haven't kept the people of Ruidoso inside this week. The state continues to stock area lakes and rivers and anglers report that fishing is good.

Council comes to agreement with AllHub on golf course water bills

by CHARLES STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Tough issues melted in compromise and negotiation Tuesday at the regular Ruidoso Village Council meeting.

The council, at the request of The Links golf course management, approved an addendum to the Ruidoso Golf Course Lease Agreement that included an additional rate cost to The Links when effluent water credit was not available.

Village manager Gary Jackson said that even with the agreement, the village will have to monitor water usage closely on the golf course and in cooperation with The Links management.

"If there is a period where we are only operating on basic rights, and credit is not available, we are committed to notify The Links management within 48 hours so they can choose to shut their water down or they can make other arrangements."

Jackson said The Links already has shown an effort towards water conservation by greatly reducing the amount of water used from last year.

Attorney Don Dutton, representing The Links owners, AllHub Investments, said principle owner R.D. Hubbard wanted to emphasize that The Links will always desire to be a good partner with the village in the management of the golf course, because "it reflects the pride of the village as a municipal golf course."

Dutton said a Links water management program has resulted in a 35 percent reduction of water for the same time period as last year.

He said the golf course managers have walked the course, eliminating a number of sprinklers that they felt would not impair play.

"It may result in portions of the course not being as green as the past," said Dutton. "But we feel the natural blue grass area will come back when our rains return."

He said turf may have to be replaced if rain water fails to revive any area.

Dutton said two full-time employees have been hired by The Links with the sole purpose of water control.

Dutton said that the village and golf course working together can manage the water by using effluent credit water to fill the golf course lakes and then draw from the lakes. When credit is not available, the pumping will reduce to avoid entering basic water rights.

He said with the money U.S. Representative John Underwood (D-NM) was able to get from the legislature for the Grindstone water project and the work of Councilor Frank Potter to obtain additional effluent credits of the Eagle Creek Wells water shortage should not be as great of problem in the future.

Again calling The Links good partners with the village, Dutton asked the village to approve the addendum.

Mixed signals between the village council and Lincoln County officials regarding a road exchange agreement were explained by two Lincoln County commissioners attending the meeting.

The exchange would provide for paving of and transfer to the state highway system of a nine-tenths of a mile section of unpaved road now owned by the village at Sierra Blanca Regional Airport. That section would be part of an 11 mile loop to Fort Stanton Hospital that the state would maintain in the future in exchange for the county taking over State Highway 214 through Devil's Canyon from the airport to U.S. 70.

Councilor Robert Donaldson said he had a problem with the proposed exchange. He objected to a provision he said would force the village to negotiate with the county over future exchanges of roads.

"If the county came to us and said they wanted us to take over this road, we'd almost, if we agreed to this, have to take that road," he said. "I just totally disagree with this. It doesn't leave us any leeway in negotiating to turn around and say nope, this deal isn't good enough. We don't want to do it."

"I don't think this section even needs to be in here, because I think at any time the county or village can get together and decide if we want to exchange a road or not."

Village planning director Cleatus Richards pointed out that the state did not include the nine-tenths of a mile section owned by the village in committing to pave a two mile section owned by the county along the same road.

He also noted that the village must seek approval of the plan from the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA).

"The proposed use is not a problem, but we shouldn't presume," he said. He agreed with Donaldson that it might not be in the village's interest to agree to the section that appeared to obligate the village to Fight heats up Rotary enchilada dinner

by CHARLES STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

The normal tranquility of a Rotary Enchilada Dinner was shattered Tuesday when a fist fight broke out in the waiting line at the Ruidoso High School cafeteria.

Joseph Duquette, 39, and Lawrence Michael "Mike" Jones, 33, both of Ruidoso each were charged with assault and battery after the incident. Jones also was charged with disorderly conduct.

In a Wednesday interview at the Ruidoso police station, arresting police officer Dwayne Goar related Duquette's testimony.

Goar said Duquette, 6 feet 3-inches tall and 220 pounds, was standing in line waiting for his dinner. About 7 p.m., Jones, 5 feet 8 inches tall and 165 pounds, was standing closely behind Duquette, and apparently kicked him in the heels.

Duquette said he then turned to ask Jones if there was a problem.

Duquette said Jones then became belligerent and threatened to "kick his ass."

He said he told Jones he wasn't fighting inside the cafeteria, that his wife and children were inside, and that if he wanted to fight, to take it outside.

He said Jones then hit him in the mouth.

Duquette said he again refused to fight, and asked Jones to take the altercation outside.

At that time, Duquette said Jones hit him two more times in the mouth, splitting his lip in two areas, requiring four stitches, and breaking a tooth.

Goar said 11 witnesses said that Duquette never once raised an arm or even clinched a fist.

Goar said witnesses said the entire time Duquette kept saying,

"not in here, not in here, let's take it outside."

According to Goar, when the fight stopped and Jones was leaving the building, an elderly lady, about 80, said something to Jones. Witnesses say Jones began yelling at the elderly woman and was very rude.

Goar said when he contacted Jones later at his home for his side of the story, Jones told him Duquette turned around (in the waiting line) and called him a "faggot."

Jones, according to police reports, said "What?" and Duquette said, "You heard me."

Jones said Duquette then grabbed him and he was in fear that a fight was about to occur and Duquette was the larger man, so he started hitting him.

Goar said both men will be summoned into court and the investigation is continuing.

negotiate on future road exchanges with the county.

County Commission Chairman Monroy Montes then took the podium. He told the council "some of the best legal minds in Santa Fe have looked at this document and this particular negotiation has been going on for well over a year, all in good faith."

"I don't believe the nine-tenths of a mile has been deleted."

Montes said engineers from the district office of the state transportation department personally measured the road and were aware that a section was owned by the village. If the section has been omitted by error, it should be simple to correct, he said.

"I don't believe the ninth-tenths of a mile is a high priority for the village," Montes said. "You don't send equipment out there very often."

The county wants the state to take over the paved road to Fort Stanton, because it does not have the equipment to maintain it, Montes said.

"So I hope this council doesn't get hung up on the oversight of the .09 miles," Montes said. "There might not be a description in there, but the negotiations were specific. It was the whole loop and everything we did was progressive for even the village of Ruidoso."

"Then the nine-tenths will be paved?" Councilor J.D. James asked.

"That's correct," Montes assured him. "The 11 miles (the entire loop from State Highway 37 to State Highway 380) becomes a state highway responsibility except for snow removal that the county will handle."

"If we need to talk to the state to straighten this out, how do we do it?" Councilor Frank Potter asked Underwood.

"The easiest thing to do is to contact district engineer Tom Dick and, if it needs to be corrected, have it corrected," Underwood said.

Commissioner Wilton Howell reminded councilors that the negotiations actually started as long as three years ago, although they intensified in the last six months.

Last year, Underwood, as state representative even got into the act by negotiating a deal with the state on the roads. But commissioners rejected that proposal as too little money from the state, too little acceptance of future responsibility by the state, and too much responsibility required of the county.

It was at that point that Howell and Montes took over some hard-nosed talks that led to a presentation in front of the State Highway Commission and the resulting agreement with more long term benefits to both the village and the county.

"This has been going on for some time and we had several conversations with individuals on the council here, not necessarily as a group," Howell said. "But we were working pretty closely with your previous manager."

"We don't want you to think we're here trying to pull something over somebody's eyes. We've done something here that's advantageous more so for the village than the county. We're picking up seven and a half miles responsibility the village is not going to have to touch, not even snow removal.

"I assure you it's the highway commission's intent to pave the entire road. It shouldn't take much to clear up. Maybe we should have approached you as a body, but we didn't."

Shaw said the council didn't mean to criticize the county's effort on the village's behalf.

"But when we read our name and have no input...I understand you talked with the former manager, but he's not here," she said.

Howell told Shaw, "I assure you this is something that did not come easy. We'd be glad to let you handle it the next time."

Howell noted that the document before the council was prepared by the state, not the county.

Underwood said if the county didn't object to the changes, the agreement could be approved pending the deletion of the paragraph on future road negotiations between the county and village, the insertion of the village's nine-tenths of a mile for paving and approval from the FAA.

"It's very difficult to get the state to transfer a road onto the state system," Potter said. He offered the motion for approval, which passed unanimously.

The Short Street Bridge controversy ended abruptly when the village found access to Susan Merrill's house by way of an easement off Pine Street, a little used lane off of El Paso street.

Merrill, through her lawyer Dan Bryant, was in agreement with the village staff of the alternate route that solved the year old problem of doing away with the Short Street Bridge without landlocking property owners.

Street Department head Charlie Armstrong indicated the cost to improve the easement would not be that substantial.

"I feel like we can work it in," said Armstrong. "I don't see it as being a major project."

Bryant said he was concerned about costs to Merrill, but thought the route would work and that it would be the shortest route.

"I feel certain we can work out an agreement with the village staff. We would ask the last step in the process be the removal of the bridge so that the alternate access is created and the bridge removed without a period of time when the properties are inaccessible," Bryant said.

Bryant said a neighboring land owner, Sam Blackum, would have to be notified for an easement agreement across the Merrill's property to provide access to Blackum's property.

"When we were working from the other direction, Mr. Blackum was willing to work with us, and we're willing to work with him. I think we can get that done, but that is an additional step we will have to take," Bryant said.

Bryant said that Merrill and Blackum would be the only two properties affected by the removal of the bridge.

Bridge removal costs were discussed. Village attorney Underwood said he and Bryant would work out details and inform the council at a later meeting.

"At least we're off the bridge," Mayor Jerry Shaw said. "It's been a long time." She instructed Underwood to put the clean up information together and return to the council for final approval.

The council approved a request by the Lodgers Tax Committee to authorize an advertisement expenditure and line item changes in the budget.

Laura Doth, public relations director for the Museum of the Horse, told the council that the request for one third payment of an ad was made to the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce because it was a regional ad, not just an ad for the Ruidoso Downs Race Track, Museum of the Horse or The Links golf course.

Racetrack and museum representatives are paying two thirds of the ad cost. According to councilors, the ad mentions "Billy the Kid Country," taking advantage of the western legend, popular and known in the overseas market.

She said chamber director Joan Bailey recommended seeking the money approval from the lodgers tax advisory board (LTAB).

Doth said the ad sets up the chamber as the workhorse for collecting all the data and filling all the requests. Three insertions are planned for different magazines.

Councilor Frank Cummins said the money was being taken out of the special events fund.

"It seems to me, logically, that it should come out of the chamber budget," Cummins said.

Doth said she had gone to the chamber, and agreed that it had the affect of increasing the chamber agreement.

Village clerk Tammie Maddox, who oversees the LTAB, said she was requesting a new line item so it would not amend the chamber's agreement.

Councilor Donaldson said he was concerned that the ad was presented for approval after the fact.

Doth said the ad request was to be presented to the LTAB earlier, before placement, but there was no quorum and that meeting was canceled.

Doth gave background on global advertising, and explained the importance of the ad to the area.

"We sent an individual to the World Travel Market in London last November and just recently the International Sales mission to Italy and Germany with the State Department of Tourism at their request that somebody from southern New Mexico.

"That's where those ad opportunities actually came from. After we attended those events we thought it was extremely important for the number of international visitors that are coming to the state, we had to go as southern New Mexico's representative. We never had in the past.

"Mr. Carletti who is the Department of Tourism head, basically called and said 'Please, please come with us on this. We want the southern part of the state represented.' The global ad actually gives us a 2,000 word article on the Ruidoso area, along with the advertisement."

Doth said the article also talks about the convention center. Jackson noted that the golf course lease states that any advertising that includes The Links should mention that it is a "public golf course."

Councilor Potter declared a conflict of interest because he works for the Museum of the Horse. The council allowed him to vote, and he was the only councilor to vote against the request.

Astronauts count down to blast off

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

The crew that will man the second launch of the Starship Enchantment, a flight into fantasy that will take a lucky group of second graders across the Ruidoso galaxy, has been selected at White Mountain Elementary.

They are being trained for their missions by teachers Alice Payne and Susie Rhodes, who also is project coordinator.

Matt Haines will assume the position of commander of the shuttle. His officers include pilot Lacey Whitehead and communicator Corey Lowe. In charge of payload are Adrian Olvera, Dusti Franklin, Suquala Gant, Patrick Browder, Jordan Buchhagen, Matt Ingram, Nadiya Jakse, Case Forrest and Guy Griffin.

Medical personnel consists of Kristen Johnson, Teresa Stone, Tia Lucas and Janice Bauer.

"Naturally, everyone cannot be an astronaut, so each student who is not actually on the shuttle will have a very important job at the space center," Rhodes said.

The launch date has been set for Friday, May 20 at White Mountain Elementary.

"The flight itself includes liftoff, conducting experiments 'in orbit' and visiting 'space stations' along the way," she said. "The project is an opportunity of a lifetime for our students. They will experience first hand the very special feeling of what it's like to be a working part of America's space program."

This will be the second launching of the starship. The first last year attracted major dignitaries from local and state government as well as representatives from the aerospace industry.

replacement and repair needs?"

"I also have a wish list," general manager Joe Lewandowski said.

He asked board members to consider the option of replacing the bulldozer at the debris landfill instead of repairing it. The dozer burned recently when a hydraulic line came loose. The cost of repairing it adequately would be close to the amount needed to buy another unit from the same outfit that would perform the repairs.

Members did find about $70,000 in the cash carryover ($132,611) in excess of state requirement to cover some of the items on Lewandowski's "wish list."

They looked favorably at a used service truck for $7,500, a transmission jack for $1,600 and miscellaneous shop tools for $2,500, but ruled out for now a $35,000 maintenance shop at the transfer station on Gavilan Canyon Road.

They were willing to talk about a tommy lift on flat bed for $2,000, scales to weigh loads leaving the transfer station for $14,000 (needed to ensure maximum loads are being sent to the landfill and that they do not exceed legal weight limits on highways), fencing at the station for $4,000 and the possible lease of a residential truck at $9,600 a year, a backhoe for $3,000 during the busy season.

Lewandowski is to come up with a figure for the lease of a used roll-off truck and roll-off containers.

Under recycling, Lewandowski requested $6,000 for a used Bobcat tractor and $2,600 for a semi-trailer van, but members said they would only consider those requests if more grant money is secured.

Even if overall raises aren't possible, some provision should be made for merit increases that could be considered at mid-year, said member Jerry Shaw, mayor of Ruidoso.

Members agreed with Shaw and formed a committee to devise a merit raise system.

"I'd like Gary to serve on that," Shaw said, referring to Ruidoso village manager Gary Jackson. "And I'll serve on it with him."

Dr. Bernie Reimann, representing the village of Capitan, and authority general manager Joe Lewandowski will round out the committee.

"You need some increase budgeted for merit raises," Shaw said. "There's no steps, nothing for the director."

Member Bill Schwetmann, a county commissioner, reminded members that the staff received a six percent raise at mid-year review in December.

But Shaw was insistent. "You need something, even if it's only two percent, you need to show the employees there's something."

"I concur," Howell said. "But I don't know where the money would come from."

Jackson said it's important for the board to set some goals and priorities, a level of service members want established.

"I think Mayor Shaw is saying if the board thinks morale is a priority, this is something that needs to be geared for," he said. "You need an evaluation system and based on that, you submit those who have gone beyond the call of duty."

"We could look at it mid-year if we see revenues are up," Howell said.

"I'm not for a cost of living increase," Shaw said. "I like merit increases where employees meet goals, but you need the money to award those things. I don't believe in cost of living, because the big guy gets the top money and it doesn't really help the little guy."

As proposed without raises in the budget, wages totalled $391,286 and benefits another $194,263.

Schwetmann said Lewandowski had suggested an 8.6 percent increase for the staff that would cost the authority $47,000. It was included in a separate packet and was not reflected in the projected budget.

Members noted that recycling costs the system $132,000 to operate and brings in only $71,000 in direct income and another $10,000 to $20,000 in costs avoided in having to transport and bury the material.

On the revenue side, commercial revenues were estimated at more than $13,000 a month for a total $164,465 compared to $110,000 for the current year.

Part of that increase comes from the fact that commercial money wasn't separated from residential until September or October (of a July to June fiscal year). Other revenues are down for the same reason, Lewandowski said.

"We're charging $10 for extra pick ups now," he said.

Some members expressed disappointment in the revenues generated at the Capitan landfill. With the available "call" filling up quickly, the revenue should nearly be double the $46,179 anticipated, they noted. "That's less than $200 an operating day," Howell said.

Howell said he also is disappointed not to see the cost of fuel and oil drop significantly in connection with control measures instituted by Lewandowski. Fuel and oil for the transfer station is estimated at $36,000 (down $4,000 from the mid-year adjusted budget); $1,000 for the Capitan landfill, (down $200) and at $3,500 for recycling (up $2,500).

"And the mid-year budget was up considerably from the original budget approved last June," Howell pointed out.

Shaw asked when the authority anticipated taking over billing for residential customers inside village limits. They now are billed on the village water/sewage bill and the authority pays for the administrative work involved.

Shaw said because the billing appears on the city's stationery, it's the village that gets blamed for errors and omissions.

"People still think the city runs it," Shaw said. "We need to find out how big a burden (the process places on village personnel)."

"Our girls are ready to have you take over anytime," Ruidoso Downs Mayor Joe Hayhurst said. His village also handles residential accounts within its boundaries.

"The authority has Lincoln County in its name and I assure you that we get more calls than Ruidoso does," Howell said.

"If we took over billing, it would make Mr. Beauvais (authority attorney J. Robert Beauvais) a very rich man," he said, referring to the liens that have to be filed by the county to collect a delinquent account. The village has the effective threat of cutting off water if any part of a bill is delinquent.

Howell told Lewandowski to place the issue on the agenda for the May 16 meeting.

The board appeared to favor continuing to lease the recycling center property from Texas-New Mexico Power at $700 a month, with $200 going toward the purchase price which now sits at $79,500.

In other business, authority members:

—elected Hayhurst as vice chairman of the board.

—appointed Jerry Wright as the third member of the variance committee after noting that it seldom meets and has never granted a variance that didn't meet the 300 contiguous acre minimum.

—voted to reject a proposed lease of 15 acres on the new Otero-Lincoln regional landfill property south of Alamo to a grease disposal company.

Ruidoso Downs firefighters ask board to update equipment

The Ruidoso Downs Volunteer Fire Department made an unscheduled appearance at the village board meeting Monday. Chief Nick Herrera asked for the board's help in bringing the department up to snuff.

"We're down to 560 feet of hose, which isn't enough to fight a structure fire," Herrera said. "The jaws of life is leaking gas, and some guys have torn bunker gear."

Herrera is primarily concerned about the department's readiness to handle a potentially dangerous season. "This is going to be a bad year," he said. "We've already run half the number of calls we ran all last year."

New Ruidoso Downs police chief David Hightower was sworn into office Tuesday, April 26.

"I want to upgrade all our units and get everyone trained from Fireman 1 to Hazardous Material," he said.

He pointed out to the board that not only are the area's most valuable attractions located in the Downs, but so are most of the gas company storage tanks. Within the fire department's service area, Conoco Gas Company stores 82,500 gallons of propane, Icard & Newson 31,000, ServiGas 30,000 and Synergy Gas 30,000.

"Synergy drains the tank next to the Texaco in the summer," Herrera said. "That means there's only fumes in there, and with it right by the gas station, that's a bad situation. A passing car can ignite a tank if there's a leak."

With 123,500 gallons of propane at risk in the area — not including delivery trucks and tanks at homes and businesses — Herrera said the village needs an evacuation plan and the fire department needs a fast response plan.

"They said if we're not there in three minutes, we can forget it," Herrera said. "Just get out of the way."

Herrera wants police officers trained along with volunteer fire fighters to handle gas leaks and tank fires.

David Hightower, who was officially appointed chief of police at the meeting, suggested that hydrants with deluge guns be installed at the hazard sites.

The board said they would support that idea if the gas companies would pay for the hydrants and the installation. Mayor Joe Hayhurst said the best way to handle a burning gas tank is to just let it burn.

Village clerk Leann Weibrecht explained that even though she keeps the fire department's books, Herrera is responsible for the budget. The mayor said the fire fighters were doing a great job and he thanked Herrera for being so proactive.

The main item on the Downs agenda was approval of lodgers tax requests. Many trustees were annoyed that only one person from the list of five organizations came to the board meeting.

The lodgers tax board granted the All American Festival $3,000, but the board of trustees reduced that award to $1,000 with the option of returning for additional funds if necessary. Trustee Charlotte Craig pointed out that half of the All American events are in Ruidoso.

Mike Warren, chair of the lodgers tax board, said he thought there were facilities in the Downs they could have used. "The lodgers tax board wouldn't hate you if you cut it to $1,000."

The board approved all other lodgers tax awards: $5,000 to the Museum of the Horse, $5,000 to the Cowboy Symposium, $2,000 to the Ruidoso Valley Greeters for the Christmas Jubilee. The trustees were so impressed with Mike Warren's demo commercial for Ruidoso Downs, they boosted his request of $2,500 to $3,500.

"I feel all our ads, except what we have in the visitor guides, promote specific events," said Warren. "What I see lacking is that the village itself is not promoted as a place to stay, eat and shop."

Warren will air 140 radio spots a month on both KRUI and W105

(Maljamar) for five months.

The board of trustees adopted a resolution dedicating the new village hall complex to the people of Ruidoso Downs. They are inviting the public to attend an open house from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. on May 7.

"I hope everybody in the Downs comes," said Mayor Hayhurst. "This is their building."

Joint Use Board keeps figuring on complicated billing equation

The Waste Water Treatment Plant Joint Use Board has yet to decide what to do about billing errors that could cost Ruidoso Downs more than $8,800.

Since June 1991, the Ruidoso finance department has incorrectly calculated the treatment plant billing shares for both Ruidoso and Ruidoso Downs. According to finance supervisor LeeAnn Nichols, the error was due to the transposition of effluent and influent readings in a complicated formula.

Correcting the transposition errors and a few other oversights in fiscal years 1991-92 and 1992-93 worked in favor of Ruidoso, leaving the village with a credit of $7,934. It left Ruidoso Downs facing a debt of $13,251.

The Joint Use Board has since simplified the formula used to calculate the villages' proportionate shares for the cost of the plant. A standing cost share of 92.2 percent for Ruidoso and 7.8 percent for Ruidoso Downs was retroactively applied to the 1992-93 fiscal year.

In correcting for this retroactive rate change, Ruidoso Downs shifted costs totaling $6,600 to Ruidoso's side of the ledger. This still leaves Ruidoso with a credit of $734, and it still leaves Ruidoso Downs with a debt of $6,651.

Downs Mayor Joe Hayhurst said that even with the transposition errors corrected for '91-92 and '92-93 fiscal years, the cost to the Downs was still incorrect because the wastewater meter readings are never accurate. He wanted the board to apply the new formula to previous years' costs.

Downs village attorney Robert Beauvais said the Department of Financial Administration might not allow Ruidoso Downs to pay prior debts out of current funds. He and village clerk Leann Weibrecht indicated that they would prefer to ignore the cost shift that resulted from clerical error.

"Those costs have already been paid," said Beauvais. "It's really just a matter of zeroing out the balance."

Chairman Gary Jackson opted to check with the DFA and return to the board with options for resolving the problem.

The board has been operating since January without the presence of County Commission Chairman Monroy Montes. His position would serve as an impartial tie-breaker in the event of a decision stalemate between Ruidoso and Ruidoso Downs.

Ruidoso councillor J.D. James moved that Jackson request a replacement to represent the county on the Joint Use Board. Beauvais, who is in the process of updating the joint powers agreement between the villages, suggested adding a clause to the agreement that would automatically remove a member after a certain number of absences.

In other business, the board approved a preliminary budget for fiscal year 1994-95, and they approved the selection of Molzen Corbin and Associates to engineer the design modifications for the treatment plant.

Three finalists picked for football coach

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

The search for a new head football coach for Ruidoso High School narrowed to three candidates earlier this week.

According to athletic coordinator Juan Baca, interviews started Wednesday and will continue through Friday, with:

—Tom Camplain, 35, who has been assistant high school football coach and defensive coordinator at Menaul High School (a private school) in Albuquerque. In the last five years, the school has posted a 54-6 win record.

—Ron Rogers, a biology and physical education teacher who has been the head football coach at Portales since 1992.

—Les Carter, head football coach at Los Lunas High School for the past five years. The team has made the 4A playoffs for the last three years. Carter also has coached wrestling, golf and track.

The interview committee consists of Baca, district superintendent Mike Gladden and assistant high school principal Danny Flores. Ruidoso high school's new principal, Ronald R. Hodges, also from Menaul, will review their recommendations and then pass his own recommendation back to Gladden.

In reference to the football program, Baca responded to criticisms leveled at his performance as coordinator by former head football coach Mike Gaston in a hand-written letter read during a recent meeting of parents dissatisfied with aspects of the school system.

Gaston accused Baca of not doing his job in arranging playing contracts for the football schedule.

"Lovington was never notified that we would not play them at varsity, junior varsity or ninth grade levels," he wrote. "They found out as well as Deming, through Coach Wiley at a track meet. When both schools called the A.D. (athletic coordinator) to find out what the hell was going on, the AD told Lovington and Deming that (I) had told him that ... (I) had notified (them) about not playing."

"I never spoke to either school about any of this. Baca was hired as the AD, not me. That is his job."

Gaston also indicated that Baca failed to follow through with the New Mexico Military Institute on a contract and Jal was substituted for Ruidoso.

Baca said he doesn't remember the situations and his conversations with Gaston the same way the former coach related them in his letter.

"First of all, Deming was dropped because they moved into 4A division and there was no reason to notify them," Baca said. "The Institute wanted to drop us because our contract had run out" and coaches there wanted to play a team that entered the season in better competitive shape than Ruidoso.

However, when Gaston returned his proposed football schedule with NMMI included, Baca said he sent contracts to the Institute, but they were never returned.

Lovington was dropped from the football team's schedule at Gaston's request, Baca contended.

"He indicated he would talk to the coach the next time he saw him," Baca said. "Perhaps I should have followed up with a telephone call to make sure that was done and they knew."

"I'm new at this and I may have made a mistake."

The slight certainly wasn't intentional, Baca said, since Ruidoso just experienced the same sting from NMMI.

"If Coach Gaston had this much discontent, he should have taken it up with me before personally," Baca said. "If anyone else has a question, my door always is open."

The varsity schedule in place for the 1994 football season will start with a scrimmage August 19 at 6 p.m. at Mountain View High in Clint, Texas. It will include six away games and five at home.

"It shifts from year to year," Baca said. "The NMMI game was to be at home, but Robertson (the substitute) only had three home games and so I said we would go there this year if they come here next year. Last year, we scrimmaged here, so this year we'll go there."

The regular games begin at 7:30 p.m. Friday, August 26, against Artesia in Ruidoso. Following that, the Warriors play:

- Gadsden at Gadsden, September 2;
- Robertson at Las Vegas, September 9;
- Tularosa at Ruidoso for Homecoming, September 16;
- Portales at Portales, September 23;
- Fabens, Texas at Fabens, September 30;
- Santa Teresa (replacing Olate, which moved to 4A) at Ruidoso, October 7;
- Silver at Silver City, October 14;
- Socorro at Ruidoso, October 21;
- Cobre at Cobre, October 28;
- Truth or Consequences at Ruidoso, November 14.

State preliminary play is set for November 12, followed by the state quarter finals November 19, the semi finals, November 26, and the finals December 3.

Rodeo Club rallies in Capitan

The Lincoln County Rodeo Club (LCRC) has officially entered the 1994 Junior Rodeo season.

Ruidoso Police Chief and club promoter said Saturday, April 30, will be the final clinic day at the Capitan Fairground arena and all members or potential members must attend a clinic day before starting the 1994 competitions beginning May 14.

Swenor said this year's membership has already reached more than 80 young people, who will be competing in the Rodeo Club's Junior Rodeo Days, 4-H Rodeo and New Mexico High School Rodeo competition in the state, regionally and nationally.

Members or potential members who need the clinic day need to report to the Capitan arena at 8:30 a.m. Saturday, to become eligible for season competitions.

Swenor said stock events are scheduled from 8:30 a.m. to noon, and time events are scheduled from 1 p.m. until completed.

The LCRC continues to seek sponsors to insure that each young competitor receives an award at the end of the season, and all sponsors will be guests at season finals/hanquet on August 28.

They're baaaaack! Warrior golfers win the Roswell invitational

by KENT BEATTY
The News Sports Correspondent

The Ruidoso Warrior golf team finally found the same gear they used when the team won last year's State Championship as the boys took home the first place trophy in Tuesday's Roswell Independent Schools Invitational Golf Tournament.

Not only did the Warriors win ... they smoked their mostly AAAA competition and set a school record while doing it.

Ruidoso's total of 296 over Roswell's Spring River Golf Course, was almost 20 shots better than any other team total that the Warriors have recorded in almost 20 years.

Ryan Wall recorded the low-round at the tournament with 72, and teammate Jeff Chapman's 73 was second. Matt Cantu brought it home in 75 while Eric Stephens shot a career-low 76. Jimmy Varnadore shot 85.

Team scores included Ruidoso, 296; Alamogordo, 305; Lovington, 307; Roswell, 308; Carlsbad, 310; Clovis, 316; Goddard, 317; NMMI 328; and Hobbs, 336.

The Warriors shot 317 last year at the Links at Sierra Blanca which was their lowest score in years, but Tuesday's effort was ... awesome. Considering that Ruidoso has not played to its potential in any tournament this season, the Warriors have begun to show sparks of life of late and Tuesday's effort was proof that they have no intention of giving up the State Championship trophy without a battle.

The squad finished tied for second in the Leroy Gooch and realistically should have won the tournament, which is New Mexico's largest prep event.

In that tournament, the Warriors did not play as well as Alto as they could have and played the 18th hole at the Links collectively 11 over-par. The team was beaten by Deming by five shots.

Despite the early season setbacks, the Warriors scores have improved week to week, no matter where they've played.

Thus, the pressure of the State qualifying procedure ended earlier this year than any year in history.

Ruidoso got to State after the Alto tournament and the relief of that pressure may have had something to do with their exceptional play at Roswell.

"The kids showed today what kind of golfers they can be," said Head Coach Ron Wall after the tournament.

"Our biggest enemy has been ourselves this year and today we proved to the other teams and more importantly ourselves that this is the same team that won last year. Actually, this round happening away from home was a blessing in disguise," said Wall.

Individually, the Warriors placed four of its players in the top ten. In addition to Ryan Wall and Jeff Chapman, Matt Cantu tied for sixth and Eric Stephens tied for eighth.

The Lady Warriors also competed in the RISD but could not repeat their heroics of last week's Leroy Gooch, where they qualified for State for the first time in five years.

As always Goddard finished first in the tournament with JoJo Robertson leading the way with 72. The Lady Rockets team tally was 335 followed by Alamogordo, 378; Carlsbad, 388; Lovington, 392; Hobbs, 411; Roswell, 419; Ruidoso, 437; and Clovis, 468.

"We were disappointed a little for the girls, especially after they played so well in Ruidoso, but they are young. Three of the five girls hadn't seen the course before, so they'll be much better next time."

"We're going to Las Cruces this weekend for a practice round and our next goal is to land some players on the All-District team, which will be quite an accomplishment for such a young group of players," said girls coach Becky Austin.

The Lady Warriors were led by Danielle Morris, 106; Heather Stephens' 107 was next followed by Cecilia Fuentes, 108; Devon Lowe, 116 and Katie Lukens, 117.

The Warriors will play the District 3-AAA Championship at the Las Cruces Country Club next week.

While the girls are prepping for District, the boys will take their games to Cloudercroft today and Roswell Saturday for the NMMI Invitational.

The Warriors loaded up an extra-large bus this morning on the way to Cloudercroft as 25 youngsters teed it up at The Lodge's nine-hole layout. The Warriors entered the varsity boys and girls, in addition to the boys Junior Varsity, C-team and the 8th-grade Braves.

The junior varsity will be represented by Scott Christensen, who has had some very good rounds of late, Byron Soules, Jackie Roe, Stephen Houghton and Rhett Hightower.

The C-teamers (freshmen) include Billy Rogers, Alex Eckert, Nathan Pena, Bryne Moore and Brian Phillips.

The Braves will be led by Eric Russell, Jake Graham, Scott Sebastian, Adrian Wallen and Ronnie Wright.

While the Cloudercroft tourney is little more than a chance for the varsity teams to improve their scoring average, Saturday's test will be completely different.

The Warriors won't have to face the AAAA schools again Saturday, but they will find themselves pitted against red-hot Tucumcari, who won the District 4-AAA week championship last week and Artesia, who blistered Lovington's course last week in 288.

Ruidoso beat both teams in the district, but NMMI's wide-open spaces give the Eastern New Mexico teams some added confidence. Anytime Ruidoso steps out of the mountains, they have to play extremely hard to beat the likes of Lovington, Artesia and Tucumcari.

All three of those programs are much improved from last year and all three will be prime contenders for the State Championship along with Grants.

The younger golfers and the week either at Cloudercroft, or for those not making that trip, Sunday at Socorro. The Braves have a dual match set up with Socorro at New Mexico Tech.

It has been an excellent season for the freshmen and eighth graders. The C-Teamers and 8th graders have played in eight tournaments this season, which is far more than all of Ruidoso's opponents.

That tournament experience has reflected in their scores as well as consistently shoot in the '90s and occasionally in the high '80s.

All golf team members will be honored at a banquet at Cree Meadows next month to celebrate the 1994 season.

Silver Lining

Rains bring smiles throughout the Valley

Early rains cheer the mountain land

After two unusually hot days, what a pleasant surprise it was about noon on the 22nd to see gray and purple clouds moving in from over the hills to the east. Soon the lightning flashed gold and silver and the thunder boomed.

By Daniel Agnew Stohn

A light shower of large drops came pattering down upon the dry fields, rocks and trees and you could inhale the welcome breath of the rain falling on the fields, rocks and trees. Just that morning I had been going over some of my columns of last year and came upon one telling of the funeral services of Bill Hostetter.

I was remembering how I used to call him up and ask him when we were going to have some rain and I noticed that on the 29th it will be one year to the day that Bill was called home by Our Lord.

After dropping a light shower on the vale, the clouds drifted over to the south where lightning flashed and thunder mumbled for a half hour and up the valley you could see where it was raining in Ruidoso and over towards Lincoln and the Capitans.

April is usually a dry month in Lincoln County and maybe the weather spirits are bringing in the weather spirits early to make up for the light snow fall this last winter.

We look forward to flowery May

This is being sent to you in mid-afternoon of April 24, and will reach you on April 28, just two days away from May the first.

The rains, the warm weather, the wind have given the mountainland a running start into the month of May, the month of flowers. Out in the mountain meadows and hillsides the pink and white spring daisy, the purple wild verbena, the wild New Mexico pink, all have come into bloom in a day.

The west wind has brought out the purple and white lilacs in the yard and all of a sudden the first purple iris have come into bloom. The apple blossoms have dropped their petals and the young apples have begun to grow.

Mother Nature is rejoicing all through the mountain land and our hearts are filled with joy and thankfulness to Our Lord.

Arthur Burton Sherrill

Mrs. Zella Mae Hicks of Ruidoso returned April 22 from Edna, Texas, where she attended the funeral services of her father, Arthur Burton Sherrill, who was called home by Our Lord on April 18.

Graveside services were held April 20 at Memory Gardens Cemetery in Edna, with the Reverend Jim Gilbert, pastor of the Edna First Baptist Church in charge of services.

Mr. Sherrill was born July 6, 1898, in Mount Pleasant, Arkansas. On August 11, 1917, he was married to Millie Helms. They moved to Texas in 1925, and then to Edna in 1970. They raised one child, Zella Mae. They have three grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren. He is also survived by his wife.

Mr. Sherrill was a Christian gentleman and we rejoice that he is safe and happy with our Lord in heaven.

Buddy Guthrie completes 45 years On the first day of May, Elton Guthrie, affectionately known as Buddy, will complete 45 years with the Otero Electric Cooperative.

A member of a pioneer Lincoln County family, Elton Edward Guthrie was born in Lincoln February 9, 1938, to Elton Guthrie and the former Pearl Friggilla.

He attended grade school in Lincoln and then Capitan High School where he played football and basketball. He graduated in late April 1959, and then on the first of May he went to work for the Co-op in Capitan, working for Joe Wislay.

Buddy has been area superintendent now for 20 years. This area takes in all of Lincoln County and the Mescalero Indian Reservation and parts of Otero and Chaves counties.

43rd Wedding Anniversary Buddy's star of good fortune shown brightly when on April 21, 1951, he was married to the former Clara Nail. They have three children, Edward, Nelda Francis and Ruth Ponce and ten grandchildren.

On the stormy nights when the power goes out, Buddy is out in the blizzard with his men, whom he calls "my boys." When the power comes back on we send up a prayer of thanks for Buddy and his faithful workers. Of his years of work, Buddy says, "I have enjoyed every minute of it, both the job and the people. The people are what makes the job enjoyable."

His wife, Clara struck the right chord, "This job is Buddy's life."

We are grateful to Buddy for his many years of faithful service and we congratulate him and his wife on the occasion of their 43rd wedding anniversary and we wish them all of God's blessings.

Lunch planned to celebrate tourism week; Chamber schedules annual banquet May 6

by PAMELA CROMWELL
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

The Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce is gearing up for a busy week and a month of important guests. Next week, May 2-7, is both Small Business Week and National Tourism Week, and May 6 is the chamber's annual banquet.

In honor of National Tourism Week, the chamber is hosting a luncheon at noon, May 3, at The Enchantment Inn. The guest speaker will be Billy Dietson, Eastern District Regional Administrator for the Rural Economic Development Through Tourism Grant Project.

"As far as I know, we were one of the first chambers in the state to celebrate National Tourism Week last year," said executive director Joan Bailey.

This year the occasion will be widely celebrated because tourism has taken on a new importance as an industry in New Mexico. Bailey said the tourism publications are proclaiming tourism as the number one industry in the world.

"It's always been the cleanest industry, and the great thing about tourism is that every dollar literally turns over and over again," said Bailey.

Thanks to the promotion efforts of the Tourism Association of New Mexico (TANM) and the New Mexico Department of Tourism, this state has gained national and international popularity.

"Tourism is a true industry now, not just a fun job," said Bailey. "Not long ago you couldn't get a degree in tourism related fields."

Bailey said Ruidoso is finally making it onto tour itineraries that were previously limited to destination towns like Albuquerque, Santa Fe and Taos.

"Ruidoso is finally coming into its own," said Bailey. "We have a character about us that's a very popular commodity. We have scenic beauty, a wealth of history and evidence of Indian culture."

The Tourism Department has taken notice of the Ruidoso area, and a sales mission to Milan, Italy, connected Ruidoso to the Non-solomoda television station.

Lorena Bari and her staff will visit New Mexico in May, and at the gentle prompting of Sharon Malool, Bari requested that Ruidoso be added to their itinerary. Bari wrote that she wanted "to film something very western like a movie show with pistoleros, stuntmen and so on, a saloon with a live show."

The chamber is busy arranging for the Italians to meet the Flying J Ranch.

Other dignitaries expected in May are visiting to familiarize themselves with the area, the better to promote it. Three state legislators -- Representative William Porter from Las Cruces, Representative Debbie Rodella from San Juan Pueblo, and Senator Michael Winters from Albuquerque -- will tour the Apache Trails, regional promotional sites in Mescalero, Otero and Lincoln Counties and Cave Country, including Carlsbad Caverns.

Visitor center personnel are also touring the area in May. They plan to visit the race track and sports theater in Ruidoso Downs, the Museum of the Horse, the Convention and Civic Events Center, the Links Golf Course, McGary Studios and Smokey Bear State Park.

Bailey said everyone in the community is invited to the Second Annual Tourism Luncheon.

"We're encouraging everyone to wear red because that's the tourism color," she said.

On Friday, May 6, Chamber of Commerce members are invited to attend the chamber's annual banquet. At the awards ceremony, Bailey will announce the Family of the Year and Citizens of the Year. A six-way tie for Family of the Year called for a run-off, and two people will be named Citizen of the Year.

The business voted most improved in beautification will receive the Mr. Zhu'Ne Award. Last year the Museum of the Horse received this honor.

Outgoing board members will be recognized at the banquet. Jim Bassett, Valerie Miller, Frank Sawyer and Paul Crown have completed their terms. Outgoing president Tom Rigby will remain on the board in an advisory position. New president Joe Gomez will introduce the newly elected board members.

Reservations for both the tourism luncheon and the annual banquet may be made through the Chamber of Commerce, 257-7395.

Feds approve funds for 2 local projects

Sierra Blanca Regional Airport and Eagle Creek Inter-Community Water Supply Inc. are two local projects that will soon receive federal aid.

Senator Pete Domenici (R-NM) asked the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) Thursday to provide the Sierra Blanca Regional Airport in Lincoln County with equipment that would allow it to resume full operations.

Domenici requested a status report from FAA Administrator David Hinson on FAA-required equipment for the Sierra Blanca airport.

The Senate Transportation Appropriations Subcommittee, conducted a hearing on the FAA's 1995 budget requests last week. Domenici serves on this subcommittee and its parent committee, the Senate Appropriations Committee.

"This regional airport has been waiting to receive a localizer for about three years. It was programmed and included in the FAA budget years ago, but has never materialized," Domenici said. "I'd like to know if it will ever materialize. If it's not in the budget for 1995, then it should be."

The airport has relied on a non-directional beacon for air traffic guidance until the beacon was put out of service because it did not meet FAA specifications in recent inspections.

If the airport, Domenici said, receives a localizer, which helps a pilot make a precision approach until the aircraft is within visual sight of the airport, it will be able to resume full operations because the specifications for the non-directional beacon would be relaxed when used in combination with the localizer.

"This airport needs to be operational so that the airport can meet the economic development aspirations of Lincoln County. Its success is directly tied to optimum tourism in the region," Domenici said.

Senator Jeff Bingaman, (D-NM) announced that the Eagle Creek Inter-Community Water Supply Inc. in Lincoln County has been awarded a $557,600 loan from the Rural Development Administration (RDA).

"Eagle Creek Inter-Community Water Supply will use the loan to upgrade its water system," Senator Bingaman said. "The project includes rebuilding a diversion dam, dredging Alto Lake and constructing new transmission lines."

The loan is for 20 years at a five percent interest rate. The RDA is an agency of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Locals named to regional promotions board

Appointments to a newly created State of New Mexico Department of Tourism Regional Marketing Board were announced last week.

Appointed to serve on Region 3, the Southeast Region, are: Dennis Dismanson, superintendent of White Sands National Monument; Kathleen Michelena, community events director, Ruidoso Convention and Civic Events Center; David Vigil, owner of the Ellis Store B&B in Lincoln; Bill Hirschfeld, citizen, Ruidoso; Craig Ridgeway, general manager, Holiday Inn, Clovis; Jack White Jr., president of White's City.

Six regions within the state were established. The primary focus being marketing and advertising, with other areas of responsibility for regional activity such as tourism management programs and hospitality training programs as additional focus.

Regions will be up and activated by July 1994.

The board will help define policies and procedures for their regions, assist the department of tourism in the delivery of an asset inventory, and develop a marketing plan for that region. A profile defining the regional marketing approach to tourism in New Mexico is available at the Ruidoso Convention and Civic Events Center.

The initial meeting for Southeastern, Region 3, is scheduled for 10 a.m. Wednesday, May 4, in Ruidoso at the convention center.

Contact Kathleen Michelena at 258-5445.

Members of the Regional Advisory Committee will meet with the board and all interested parties from Region 3.

Members of this committee include: Marsha Adams, deputy secretary, Department of Tourism; Susan Musgrove, Department of Tourism regional program coordinator; Dr. Dick Seely, marketing plan adviser; Janet Green and LaNelda Rolley, asset inventory adviser; Calvin Tafaya, Department of Tourism Indian tourism director; Joseph Gutierrez, Department of Tourism director and co-op manager.

All persons interested in this project are invited to attend.

Mayor calls special meeting

Ruidoso Mayor Jerry Shaw has called a special meeting of the governing body at 3 p.m., Friday, in village hall.

Shaw said the purpose of the meeting is to authorize a request to the County of Lincoln for funding village services utilized by county residents.

Shaw said the council will discuss and possibly take action concerning advertising and promotion efforts of the village.

Downs board divides up lodgers taxes

Ruidoso Downs Lodgers Tax Advisory Board faced a full agenda of requests Monday, but most of them are for the next fiscal year, which starts in July.

Laura Johnson requested $5,000 to advertise the All American Festival. Eight of the 16 festival events will be in the Downs, including the Call to Post brunch at the race track, a charity ball at Museum of the Horse and an art show/sale at the museum.

Other events include a bedding, needlework and photography contests as well as a fashion show. The board voted to give Johnson $5,000 now and $2,000 this summer.

Laura Doth received $5,000 out of the next fiscal year's budget for advertising the Museum of the Horse. Doth said the museum saw more than 27,000 visitors in 1993 and was named "Best Destination" by the Tourism Association of New Mexico.

She added that despite a lean winter, the museum is 26 percent ahead of last year's attendance.

Doth and board member Tony Wilcoxson discussed the museum's interest in promoting tour buses. Wilcoxson pointed out that tour bus customers are an important market for the Ruidoso area because they are generally retired people with spendable income.

Doth said the museum is encouraging this form of tourism and that Mike Doth was recently on an international sales mission at the request of New Mexico Department of Tourism. Along with the Secretary of Tourism, Doth went to Milan, Italy; Munich, Germany, and Frankfurt, Germany, to meet with people who put together New Mexico tours.

"Santa Fe fills up and people are looking for other places in New Mexico to visit," said Doth. "The state tells us that international tourists are a growing market."

Laura Doth also spoke on behalf of Sunny Hirschfeld, requesting $5,000 for the Cowboy Symposium. She said the symposium operates only on what it can solicit.

"This has really become a valuable attraction," Doth said. The symposium attracts cowboy artists, craftsmen, musicians and poets from as far away as Montana, and it hosts the largest chuck wagon cook-off in the country.

Doth said the event is good for Ruidoso Downs because people stay in motels and eat in restaurants, plus many Downs residents are involved with the project.

Two lodgers tax board members requested advertising funds.

Chairman Mike Warren waived his vote on a proposal that his radio station KRUI, which is partly owned by R.D. Hubbard, air commercials for Ruidoso Downs.

"We don't want to do just Ruidoso," Warren said. "We want to emphasize the Downs. I think it should be ballyhooed. I'd like to see more lodgers come here."

Warren read a rough-draft commercial billing the Downs as the village at the end of the rainbow, gateway to it all. Then the commercial lists Downs attractions such as the race track and the Museum of the Horse, the number of motels/hotels and the number of restaurants.

Warren proposed an advertising package that included $2 announcements on both KRUI and on W105 (Maljamar), which broadcasts all the way to Lubbock, Texas, for $500 a month. The board voted to give the package a five-month trial starting in May, for a total of $2,500 of next year's money.

Board member Camille Mansell temporarily waived her vote to request $2,000 for the Christmas Jubilee sponsored by the Ruidoso Valley Greeters. Mansell said the Greeters' advertising would target Texas and Arizona. Last year's Jubilee was so successful it filled the Convention and Civic Events Center.

As a final item of business, the board talked Tony Wilcoxson into taking the long-unassigned job of secretary. Wilcoxson's meeting attendance has been spotty, but Village Clerk Leann Weibrecht promised to give him reminder calls.

Weibrecht has been performing the secretary's duties, and Warren said that it is not really her job to take minutes.

Village reported more than $459,000 in lodgers gross receipts for 1993-1994. About $23,000, or five percent, was collected in lodgers tax.

In July, the board awarded $5,000 to Friends of Smokey and $2,000 to Apache Trails. In September, the board purchased $2,874 worth of advertising from The Ruidoso News and $900 worth of Ruidoso Downs lapel pins. In March, the board gave $2,000 to the Golden Aspen Motorcycle Rally.

County manager takes on the municipal judge's job

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

The manager of Lincoln County government may be serving double duty as municipal judge in the town of Carrizozo.

The selection Tuesday of Andy Wynham to fill the unexpired term of the late Judge S.M. Ortiz came as a total surprise to several of Wynham's bosses.

Speaking from his family home in Virginia where he was caring for his ailing grandmother, Wynham told The Ruidoso News Wednesday that he didn't have an opportunity to speak to all five county commissioners about the judgeship before leaving the county last week.

"I had spoken to commissioners L. Ray Nunley and Stirling Spencer casually about the idea, although the news that I was selected still may be a surprise to them," Wynham said.

Nunley confirmed Thursday that Wynham talked to him more than a month ago. He said that he was thinking about submitting his name.

"I told him that I had no personal objection, but I questioned whether he had time for it," Nunley said. "Other than that, it's a personnel matter and we will have to discuss it when he returns."

Spencer could not be reached for comment.

Commission Chairman Montroy Montes said he didn't find out about Wynham's selection until noon Wednesday and declined further comment.

"I consider this a personnel matter that warrants discussion when Andy returns," Montes said. "I have asked the other commissioners to bear with me. I am not making any comment."

Commissioners Wilton Howell and Bill Schwetzmann concurred with Montes that the issue concerns personnel and they had no comment until they have a chance to speak to Wynham.

Carrizozo Mayor Cecelia Kuhn told The News that Wynham was the third person presented to the town board of trustees Tuesday for confirmation to serve in place of S. M. Ortiz, who died shortly after being re-elected. His replacement will serve until the March 1996 election.

"It takes an absolute majority vote to select someone," Kuhn said. "I followed the letter of the law after my board decided they were not interested in abolishing the position."

Kuhn said state law allows towns with populations of less than 1,500 to eliminate the position of municipal judge, which pays $200 a month.

Five persons put their names on the list for consideration. I submitted three. Johnny Johnson was the first considered, but failed 3-1 to get a majority," Kuhn said. "Then I submitted Chuck Rominger, who received a 2-2 vote. Andy's name received a 4-0 vote."

"Andy has been out of town and wasn't at the meeting," Kuhn said she will continue to arrange a swearing in ceremony for Wynham until she hears otherwise from him. She was under the impression he had cleared the idea with the commissioners, Kuhn said.

Wynham said he doesn't see a problem serving in dual capacities. "I felt it was another nice way to serve my community, like I volunteer with the local fire department, the little League and the ambulance," he said. "It's a way to help."

As part of his county duties, Wynham oversees the management of the county jail, supervised by Wayland Hill.

His initial idea was to serve without pay, Wynham said. He would conduct court in the evenings on his personal time.

"I think I'm a fair and compassionate person with a strong government background. I did not lobby for the position or call anyone."

Regarding the lack of notice to commissioners, Wynham said if he had not left town suddenly due to his grandmother's hospitalization, the situation would have been handled differently.

He called his administrative assistant Martha Guevara Wednesday and asked her to notify Montes of his selection, Wynham said.

"I hope they understand that I got caught in an awkward position, not being there," he said of the commissioners. "I wasn't at home. I wasn't able to participate in the process. I didn't assume I would get it. Others interested in it had been around Carrizozo a lot longer than me and usually, this is quite a political process. I didn't think it was necessary (to clear it first with the commission), although I casually broached it with several."

"Of course, I would like to accept the position. I don't see it as a conflict."

"I live in a small town with a population of 900. The judge passed away and the town was struggling to find someone. Our governments do interact, but the judicial does not."

Wynham said his two-year contract with the commission (for a current annual salary of $50,350) doesn't mention the issue of additional jobs.

"I believe there would be a complaint if I did not perform my county duties, but as long as I am successful in my primary employment, it shouldn't be a problem," he said. "This is not something you do for the money, especially relative to my very well-paid position with the county."

Calling all cowgirls — time to try out for Lincoln County Fair Queen

The time to select a new Lincoln County Fair Queen is coming around again and Mary Dell Jones wants to be sure local beauties know the contest is a countywide competition.

To compete, the girls must be between the ages of 17 and 23 and live in Lincoln County.

The local contest is judged 60 percent on horsemanship and 40 percent on personality.

An orientation and the final sign up date is set for 7 p.m. May 13 at the county fair building in Capitan.

The local judging is scheduled for June 4. The queen will be crowned by association president Gordon Barham during the rodeo Friday night as part of the July Fourth celebration.

Capitan squeezes school budget

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Parents will need to pitch in next school year to help the Capitan school district navigate the narrow financial path laid out in its proposed $2,363,916 operating budget.

"The New Mexico State Legislature gave districts a lot of money this year, they really did, but it was not enough to cover the suggested six percent increase in teacher's salaries, the increases in gas, electric and water, and insurance," district superintendent Diana Sonnamaker said Wednesday.

"We'll be seeking a lot of parents as volunteers to help at many different levels," she said.

Sonnamaker reviewed the budget with members of the school board last Thursday during a public hearing primarily attended by school staff.

The projected total figure is about $133,000 higher than last year, reflecting the fall opening of the new Capitan Middle School for grades sixth through eighth with about 140 students.

Although the addition of a new school added some budget pressure, most of that cost was offset by the new funding units generated by the facility, Sonnamaker said. Construction costs were covered by the sale of $1.3-million in bonds approved by voters in February. Those will be repaid under other non-operating sections of the budget covered by the property tax specifically designated for that purpose.

Sonnamaker said she will take over the responsibilities of principal at the school in addition to her superintendent duties, saving about $46,000 in administration expense. The superintendent and administrative secretary's office already was scheduled to be moved to the middle school building.

"I don't think we'll ever have a principal at the middle school, although something could change," she said. "We need to build up staffing and programs first. I'm trying to work out some way to provide more music and physical education. We're also short teaching periods, two in social studies and three in math.

"When we hire a counselor, I will be looking at someone who can also teach. We're looking at some sharing of jobs.

"It's going to be tough on the staff. The teachers will work in the afternoon on discipline and meetings with parents."

She plans to discuss the teaching philosophy for the middle school at the next board meeting.

"I'm proposing that it be a little bit like the eighth grade at Ruidoso, thematic units with instructors teaching the same concept in the different disciplines," she said.

Teachers won't be seeing the 6 percent raises suggested by the state. They simply will progress one step on the pay matrix reflecting years of experience and level of academic achievement. For teachers, that will mean a 1.77 percent increase over their current pay; 2.99 percent for non-certified personnel.

"That amounts to between $100 to $400 for most people," Sonnamaker said. Administrative staff will receive a .85 percent increase, which comes to about $400 each. Sonnamaker's current salary is $63,000.

"Of course, the teachers wanted 6 percent raise, but they understand the money isn't there. They know what the kids need and are willing to go the extra mile," the superintendent said.

A beginning teacher at Capitan with no experience will earn $22,000. At the other end of the spectrum, one with a master's degree, plus 45 hours and 20 years experience would collect $34,400.

Sonnamaker said with expected increases in health insurance in January, some teachers actually may see their take home pay go down, even with the step increase.

With the step increases, it will cost the district $1,379,592 (salaries and benefits) for 39 teachers; $291,495 for 14 non-certified staffers; $114,799 for principals and $65,320 for the superintendent.

"Salaries and benefits account for 78 percent of our budget," Sonnamaker said. Salaries for the entire staff hit $1,429,528 and benefits (retirement, health, social security, workman's compensation, unemployment premium, vision and dental coverage) another $412,888.

The major portion of revenues for the $2.3-million budget come from the state equalization reimbursement, $2,179,705, based on student units weighted by classification. Local property taxes contribute less than $30,000.

The budget also includes:
—the addition of a half time English teacher and moving Jerry Rice, previously half time regular and half time special education, to full time regular instruction.

—the addition of several electives at the high school.

—one secretary for the new school, but split up the duties of custodian instead of hiring an additional person.

—an effort to purchase as many big equipment items as possible out of State Senate Bill 9 money.

"It's a very tight budget," Sonnamaker said. "We have to be very careful."

Former Ruidoso school superintendent Sid Miller is applying for a Carl Perkins grant for an evening welding class at Capitan through Eastern New Mexico University-Ruidoso, Sonnamaker said.

"We already use the school in the evening for other classes. This way we could use the equipment during the day and others could take the course for college credit at night, she said.

With the arrival of new computers (through a special $100,000 allocation from the legislature), the district also is looking at the possibility conducting computer classes for parents in the evenings or on weekends, she said. They may start this summer.

Tiger band will tune up in brand new uniforms

Members of the Capitan High School marching band will dazzle fans this fall when they strut onto the football field in their new uniforms.

The School Board last Thursday approved the $11,438 purchase of 30 new uniforms with several accessories that offer some variation in the overall appearance of the band. The uniforms will be used after the marching season for regular band performances.

The selection of the Fruhauf company, based in El Paso, Texas, and Wichita, Kansas, followed the recommendation of a uniform committee, whose members literally tore apart uniforms sent by bidders to determine the best quality.

Fruhauf also offered a 12 year warranty. Loss or damaged items can be ordered separately. Parents, friends and boosters have a chance to enjoy the talent of the school band and choir while savoring mouth watering desserts tonight.

The annual Spring Dessert Concert, "A Music Time Machine," is scheduled for 7 p.m. in the Capitan school district multi-purpose room.

The concert will focus on music from the 1890s to the 1990s. Desserts will be just as varied. Tickets are $3.

A FUN BLEND OF OLD AND NEW

DA Atkins runs for judge

Bert Atkins, district attorney for the Twelfth Judicial District, is a candidate for the office of district judge, Division IV, in the June 7 primary election.

The 43-year-old Atkins, a Democrat, has been district attorney for Lincoln and Otero counties since 1988. Prior to being elected to that office, he served for five years as district public defender of the Twelfth Judicial District.

He also has been an assistant district attorney in this district.

"In almost 14 years, my legal career has been virtually devoted to public service," Atkins said.

"I see the addition of a new judgeship in our judicial district as an opportunity to grow professionally and at the same time continue to serve the people of our judicial district," he added.

"As an attorney with a criminal law background, I have logged many hours in the courtroom. I have defended and prosecuted cases ranging from minor traffic offenses to capital murder.

"As this district's chief prosecutor, I have represented the people of the State of New Mexico and my decisions to prosecute or not to prosecute have always been based upon the law," said Atkins.

He said he has no obligations or ties to other attorneys or members of the law.

"I believe this background provides me a strong foundation in the law and the insight and wisdom to be a district judge that will fairly and impartially administer justice.

Atkins is a past president of the New Mexico District Attorneys Association and a past president of the Otero County Bar Association, was recognized as an outstanding bar of the state.

He has served as a board member of the prosecutors section of the New Mexico State Bar and as an advisory member to the New Mexico Supreme Court's Judicial Information Systems Council.

He served on the Governor's Task Force on Crime, the Governor's Task Force on Controlled Substances, and the Governor's Judicial Information Records Task Force.

Atkins also is a member of the New Mexico Street Gang Task Force. According to a news release, he is credited with having worked on such projects as the Otero County Domestic Violence Task Force, the Otero County Street Gang Task Force and the Otero

BERT ATKINS

County Teen Court.

As district attorney he has provided for crime victims recognition through a victim's advocate program. He has created a narcotics prosecution unit with federal grant monies. This program has been viewed as successful for four years.

Atkins is a lifelong resident of Alamogordo. He and his wife, Eve, have been married 23 years. They have three daughters, Mardelle, Erin and Alessandra.

Appointee goes to voters

District Judge James Waylon Counts announced his candidacy to retain the Division IV district judgeship he currently holds.

Counts has held the judgeship since April 8, 1994, when he was sworn in after appointment to the new judgeship by Governor Bruce King.

In addition to more than 12 years' experience as an attorney, Counts served as substitute municipal judge in the Alamogordo Municipal Court in 1989.

"The overwhelming criminal case load in this district has impacted the courts' ability to quickly and efficiently administer the civil case load. My appointment as the fourth judge in the 12th Judicial District will allow me to bear my share of the burden in both areas," Counts said.

"I can and have taken cases from other judges in the district in order to get cases before a judge quickly. I will continue to increase my work load, both through regular case assignments and through case transfers from other judges, until this district is the most efficient district in the state," Counts said.

A New Mexico born, raised, and educated native, Counts gave up a successful private practice to accept the call to public service.

"It has been difficult and expensive to dismantle a practice I worked hard to establish, but I have done so to better serve the people of Lincoln and Otero counties.

"I wouldn't have accepted this job and decided to run to keep it unless I was sure that I was the best person for the job and that I would do a good job."

"As solo practitioner, I had no one but myself to rely on to get the work done in my office. A judge is the same way, because that responsibility lies on that one person's shoulders. I am already here at work for the people of Otero and Lincoln counties. I have proven that I can succeed as a business person, an employer and as a lawyer. I bring the same work ethic and knowledge to the court," he said.

A major concern of the citizens in the 12th Judicial District is juvenile crime, according to Counts.

"Crimes committed by juveniles are on the rise and say frightening things about our society. We need to remember, however, that there are many good kids who you never hear about. I have tutored kids who were willing to put in the extra effort necessary to succeed in school.

"I have also been involved with teenagers through the Alamogordo Tigers baseball program. I will give particular attention to juvenile cases and work for just solutions for all concerned parties, including victims."

Lawyer is GOP candidate

Alamogordo lawyer Frank K. Wilson is running for the Republican party nomination in the June 7 primary election for the position of Division IV District Judge in the counties of Otero and Lincoln.

The new position was created by the 1993 State Legislature to be effective January 1, 1994.

Wilson was one of the nominees recommended by the Judicial Selection Commission, a panel of 19 judges, lawyers and law persons assembled to review qualifications and recommend to the governor for appointment.

The gubernatorial appointment is an interim measure, because the appointee and any other attorney meeting the minimum experience and residency requirements may seek the position in the 1994 election.

In announcing his candidacy, Wilson said, "I came to New Mexico nearly 25 years ago with the United States Air Force. It didn't take me long to fall in love with the Tularosa Basin and decide that I wanted to settle here."

He received his law degree from the University of New Mexico

School of Law in 1978. His first position was as assistant district attorney for now Judge Robert M. Doughty II in Alamogordo. After two years, he tried private practice, but was appointed district attorney in 1979. He served one year and then another year as city attorney for the City of Alamogordo.

"I have been in the private practice of law ever since," Wilson said. "I have a broad range of experience. I believe that I have a reputation for honesty and integrity and feel that I have the gifts, talents, experience and abilities to serve the people of the Twelfth Judicial District as District Judge."

Wilson served as president of the Rotary Club of Alamogordo-White Sands in 1985-86, president of the Board of Directors of the Otero County Association of Retarded Citizens, the Otero County Council on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism and the White Sands Soaring Association. He has been a member of the Board of Directors of the Alamogordo Music Theater and the Alamogordo Civic Auditorium Inc.

Wilson has been an officer in the

FRANK WILSON

Otero County Bar Association, a member of the State Bar Association Fee Arbitration Committee and as a regular volunteer with the New Mexico State Bar Elderly Referral Program.

"My family, including my wife, Carolyn, and our children, DeeDee, Thomas, Betty and Barbara, are excited about this next step in my professional career," Wilson said. "I look forward to serving the people of Otero and Lincoln counties in this capacity."

Jordon announces for new judgeship

Wayne A. Jordon, an Alamogordo attorney, has announced his candidacy for the position of District Judge, Division IV.

Jordon grew up in Alamogordo, attending elementary and middle school there before attending New Mexico Military Institute (NMMI). He graduated from the University of New Mexico Law School in 1972, and was admitted to the New Mexico Bar that same year.

Jordon also is admitted to practice before the United States District Court for New Mexico, the United States Tax Court, the United States Court of Appeals for the Tenth Circuit and the United States Supreme Court.

After discharge from the United States Air Force, Jordon joined the Alamogordo firm of Stapley, Barrett, Conway & Sandenaw and has been in private practice of law since that time.

Jordon, a part-time United States Magistrate Judge from 1977 to 1994, cites his 17 years of federal judicial experience as a prime qualification for the position of district judge. Jordon resigned his position as U.S. Magistrate Judge in order to become a member of the state judiciary. He has attended the National Judicial College in Reno, Nevada, as well as numerous judicial conferences and conclaves.

Jordon has handled a wide variety of legal problems, and is qualified to be listed in the Martindale-Hubbell Bar Register of Preeminent Lawyers in the areas of Civil Trial Practice, Real Estate Law and Banking Law. He is a member of both the New Mexico and American Bar associations and served as state chairman of the New Mexico State Bar Section on real estate, probate and trusts.

Jordon is a senior active member of the Alamogordo Rotary club and has been associated with many children's organizations of the years. A concern for children's issues is one he shares with his wife, District Judge Sandra Grisham.

They have two children, Addie, age 8, and Max, age 7.

Jordon said there is absolutely no ethical or legal problem in having two judges in the same family.

"Judges are independent, sitting by themselves on each case," said Jordon. "There is no 'team approach' on the bench, but it can be very valuable to the litigants when judges consult with each other.

"My expertise is civil law and I have been given the highest possible rating (an AV) by my peers. This complements Judge Doughty's expertise in criminal matters and Judge Grisham's expertise in family and children's court cases.

"I anticipate an excellent working relationship with both judges and would not hesitate to consult with them, just as doctors consult with each other on difficult or unusual cases, much to their patients' benefit.

"But ultimately, each judge at the district court level decides his or her own cases independently."

Jordon also is known in the legal community as an expert in the application of computers in the practice of law. He believes this knowledge will greatly assist the district court in fully utilizing the new computer network that we are obtaining. He has attended the National Conference on Court Technology.

"There is so much the court can do in streamlining its case management and providing better service to litigants. Time is perhaps the most precious resource of the courts and technology can be of a great assistance in managing that time better."

Jordon believes his recognized expertise in the judicial, legal and computer fields will best serve the Twelfth Judicial District as its new judge.

Recall would be costly error

Petitions are one way for people to jump on somebody else's bandwagon, often costing taxpayers a lot of money for nothing. In most cases, the same or better results could be achieved in a more orderly and less costly way.

For instance, a handful of people are rumored to be circulating a petition to recall the Ruidoso School Board. It takes the signatures of only a small percentage of the number of people who voted in the last school board election to prompt an election. Just getting the signatures doesn't mean petitioners would win an election, anyway. Some people will sign anything, and others say, "why not have an election," without really considering the time, money and energy that would be lost forever.

If people want change, they can certainly be more effective by lobbying the current board regularly, turning out in great numbers for meetings and presenting a specific action plan.

Meanwhile, they can be searching out good people to run in the next school board election, and encouraging those prospective candidates to get involved now to be prepared for an informed run for office. It's not too wise to jump on one issue without delving into the entire system and process.

A recall election would cost several thousand dollars, and would put the entire district into an "us" versus "them" mode that could last for years. The board wasn't elected for life, so why not take the high road of working within the system today while planning and preparing for a different direction in the future?

Thoughts for the day:

If George Washington were president today:

On The Record

Change really isn't so bad — time to chill

Maybe the good old days weren't so good, but they weren't so bad either.

All this talk about education, academics and athletics got me thinking about George R. Bean Elementary School in Lubbock, Texas. I learned a lot there in the fifties, stuff that has stood me in good stead for a lot of years.

Us old folks at The Ruidoso News were talking about how we used to go to school and spend the day with one teacher who taught all day, took us outside for recess, took us to lunch and kept order for 30 or so kids.

After reading all the complaints by a few parents at a couple of recent school board meetings, it's a downright miracle that any of us middle-aged people, or even our kids, can read, much less make a living. We were deprived and undereducated, and we didn't even know it.

Nowadays, we hear that little kids HAVE to have physical education — going outside and playing on the playground just isn't enough.

When I was at George R. Bean we didn't have PE — we ran our little legs off during our morning and afternoon recess, though. We didn't know we needed a PE teacher and a teachers' aide to keep us organized and safe.

We just played and played and played, and while we were playing we got some fresh air, lots of exercise and learned how to get along with lots of different people.

In third grade we played "cows."

"You mean you played cowboys and Indians," remarked Chuck Stallings.

"No — we just played cows."

"Just COWS?"

"Yep, we played cows." OK, so we were deprived; running around mooing and butting heads instead of shooting at one another.

While we were having fun, we learned a lot. It was at George R. Bean that I learned to take turns. At my house I was the youngest, so I was always first; but on the playground I was just another cow, and I didn't always get to be the mama cow — she was the leader.

Later in life, I learned that what I really wanted to be was the "bell cow," but that's another story.

by Frankie Jarrell

And then, after recess, it was back to the books where, in spite of all the things we didn't have, most of us learned reading, writing and arithmetic; with some social studies, history and geography, too.

I learned more about getting along with people at George R. Bean than I've learned since. Like, listening. If you wanted the teacher to like you, you had to listen.

That lesson has kept me out of trouble more than once. Listen first, then figure out the next step.

Following directions, doing your work and obeying the rules paid off with good grades and a nice warm feeling back at Bean.

We didn't need computers, fancy equipment or a team of teachers — which is not to say such progress isn't a good thing. Of course it's great to have specialized teachers, great equipment and many, many more opportunities.

But, we got along just fine, and something has been lost on the way from the fifties to the 21st century. Not all of it has to do with school, though.

Some of the best lessons I learned in Lubbock, Texas, were in a little white house on 31st Street. That's where I learned about love and loyalty — and to wash my hands before dinner.

It was from my family that I learned that it was OK to mess up out there — they'd love me anyway. If I wasn't the best kid in the world, I was still theirs — I knew my mother, father, grandmother, brother and sister and I would be together no matter what.

That was a good feeling, one that made my schooldays a lot safer and happier. Not every kid had that base from which to start each day even then. Fewer have it now.

It must not have been that easy for my folks to provide that secure feeling through some tough times. My dad had been a coach before World War II, but by the time we settled in Lubbock, he was a sales rep.

There's probably a story there, and it probably has to do with the fact that coaches know they have to be prepared to move on. My dad loved football, and he loved coaching, but he didn't look back.

At Bean, I learned to go with the flow — that change isn't a bad thing.

Knowing that didn't keep me from thinking it was the end of the world when my own youngsters suffered disappointments and setbacks.

For parents, the whole world begins with our children, and that puts us back to the recent parents' meetings where every issue was earth shattering.

In this new and more frightening time, every change is seen as the end of the world. Our children MUST have everything — more teachers, better equipment, smaller classes, fine arts, athletics, field trips...

These children of the late eighties and nineties have had some advantages we didn't dream of back at George R. Bean — like PE, computers, more choices, travel and on and on.

Sure, they're probably a lot smarter than we old folks, but is the world a better place for it? Are their (and our) lives enriched by these educational advantages? I don't think so.

The more the system "gives" to young people, the more they seem to test the limits and look for some new thrill.

Going without a PE teacher, changing coaches or even adjusting to several teachers in one year isn't the end of the world. But, worrying if your parents will be there for you when you need them surely can be.

We've gained a lot, but we've lost a lot, too.

Local MADD chapter forms

TO THE EDITOR:

For those of us lucky enough to live in Lincoln county, we know it would take more space than is available here to reflect on the many joys and benefits of calling the "playground of the southwest" our home.

Area residents are truly fortunate that many fine organizations exist to enhance and preserve our admired lifestyle.

It is with similar objectives in mind and a sincere wish of "safety for all" that I proudly announce the formation of Mothers Against Drunk Driving's community action team in Lincoln County.

As the coordinator of this local effort, I would like to personally and forcefully state that it is our goal to prevent driving while under the influence of alcohol. It is not, however, our intention or desire to prohibit the consumption of alcoholic beverages.

We are implementing several community programs designed to inform and educate all age groups. If you are interested in becoming a member of our community action team, or would like to help in any way, please contact me (Chris Weatherford) at PO Box 844, Alto NM 88312; 336-4296.

Homemakers host regional meeting

Lincoln County Association for Family and Community Education (FCE), formerly the Lincoln County Extension Clubs, will host the District IV meeting at Bonita Park Campground. Lincoln County Extension director Barry Herd, state FCE president Lucile Wilson and county chairperson Helen M. Lock will be among program participants.

VanAnn Moore, a chautauqua speaker, will present her one-woman show as Susan Shelby Magoffin.

According to a news release, Moore has played more than 30 major roles in musicals, plays and operas.

She's an artist-in-residence with the New Mexico Arts Division where she has written, directed and performed numerous one-woman shows.

The Magoffin show is a favorite of area residents, as Moore has presented it for several local groups.

Susan Shelby Magoffin was probably the first American white woman to travel the Santa Fe and Chihuahua trails. She was an 18-year-old bride who took her extended "honeymoon safari" at a very critical time during U.S. history (1846-47).

Her detailed daily journal tells of her 15-month journey across the plains from Missouri to Santa Fe, then down the Rio Grande Valley to El Paseo del Norte, and finally to Chihuahua, Mexico.

Moore, as Magoffin, brings the journal to life in a musical drama. Betty McCreight, Lincoln County extension home economist, will introduce Moore.

Also on the agenda for the meeting is the regional cultural arts fair and exhibit.

Who am I?
What am I worth?
Do I really matter?

At one time or another many of us ask these questions. Here at Angus Church we understand these questions. And we believe we have found some hopeful answers from the Bible.

How to build biblically-based self-esteem in the people around us, especially our children. We will have a gift for each family that attends this Sunday. Angus Church is located midway between Capitan and Ruidoso on Highway 48 on the Bonita Park Nazarene Camp. Once on the grounds, just follow the signs.

RMS bids farewell to teachers

Ruidoso Middle School bid an early farewell to their sixth grade teachers at a surprise party at noon Wednesday. Next year the sixth grade teachers will move to the brand new Sierra Vista Primary school now under construction on the White Mountain campus complex. Principal Paula hind them. Carolyn Stover presented the teachers with cross-stitch plaques bearing staff signatures on the borders, and Page Hubbard drew caricatures of all the teachers. The teachers also received parting gag gifts memorializing their time at RMS.

April good citizens

Wesley and Danielle Hall (top, left), the Rocking M (top, right) and a lineup of local talent that included Janice Whitaker, Lou Ann Ellison, Eddie Hedin, Jane Houghton, Lanny Maddox, Mike Daulton, Jony Autrey and many, many more. Roger Coble (in the top right picture with the Rocking M musicians) was back from Albuquerque to serve as master of ceremonies. Among the biggest crowd in the musical's history were Jody Ashby and Martha Proctor and grandpa Bud Jarrell and little Joshua Jarrell (bottom, right).

EMS volunteer is '94 Rookie of the Year

Sammy Roper, a member of the Lincoln County EMS, was named Rookie of the Year at the Eastern New Mexico Emergency Medical Services Region III conference.

"This rookie of the year has actually been around EMS more than a year, but has become a licensed EMT within that year," according to a news release.

"He knows where every remote ranch house in the area is located and keeps his fellow EMS crew from being lost in the boondocks," continues the release.

In nominating Lopez, his fellow ambulance service members noted that when he sees something wrong he takes care of it.

Here's what his colleagues had to say about Lopez:

"He's the one that can't stand a messy storage shed, so he builds cabinets."

"He's the one who built a grill guard to keep repair costs down, in case the ambulance hit a deer in the night, which it did."

"His the one who sets the standard for cleanup. If the ambulance won't be clean enough for his inspection, just do it again before he sees it."

"During his first year as an EMT, he has had runs that tested the skills and emotions of seasoned EMTs."

"This EMT is not only dedicated and deserving, but also brings out the best in any crew he works with."

Debbie Radcliff, EMS Region III executive director, presents Sammy Roper with the Rookie of the Year award during a recent EMS Region III Conference.
