Annual garage sale set for shelter

Whether you're cleaning out the cabin for the winter or setting up a new residence, keep in mind the annual Lincoln County Humane Society Garage Sale August 19, sponsored by The Ruidoso News.

Donations of household items, toys and furniture and other pieces in good condition will be accepted at the newspaper office from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. today through Thursday, August 18.

All of the money collected will be used to sponsor abandoned animals at the society shelter for spaying and neutering.

The sponsorships significantly reduce the cost of adoption and dramatically increase the chances of the abandoned dogs and cats finding new homes.

Garbage rate hike report due Monday

A report on the progress of proposed rate increases and related proposals to the members of the Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority will be presented during the coalition's meeting at 10 a.m. Monday, August 15.

The board representing the county and its five municipalities meets in the recycling center at 222 Second Street in Ruidoso Downs.

Race honors Hix

A memorial blanket presentation at Ruidoso Downs Race Track Sunday, August 14, will honor long-time Ruidoso area resident John Hix who died in December 1993.

According to his friends, Hix was an avid supporter of the racetrack, thus it's appropriate that he have a race named after him.

The owner of the horse winning the "John Hix Memorial Race" will be given the memorial blanket in the winner's circle.

Volleyball players practice on Friday

Ruidoso High School Warriors volleyball team will hit the courts Friday to prepare for the upcoming fall season.

Practices are set for 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Friday, August 12, and 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Monday and Tuesday, August 15 and 16, at Ruidoso High School.

New head coach Janie Roland asks players to bring a sack lunch.

The Warriors will see their first game action in a tournament August 26-27, in Denver City, Texas.

School bells ring in new building

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

The new Sierra Vista Primary school turned out to be a dream project for the Ruidoso School Board.

"We've entered practically no problems," said district superintendent Mike Gladden. "That's really rare. The contractor has done a good job."

This fall, the school staff will welcome about 375 first and second grade students, completing a realignment of grades in the Ruidoso school district.

Nob Hill Elementary off U.S. 70 and Sudderth Drive, will handle preschool programs and kindergarten.

In the complex off Hull Drive shared with Sierra Vista Primary, White Mountain Elementary will be home for third and fourth graders during the next nine months. White Mountain Intermediate will take care of fifth and sixth graders. That move will allow Ruidoso Middle School to become a junior high for grades seven through eight.

Ray Ward and Sons of Anthony built the school. Last week, finishing touches were being applied and Gladden was waiting for sod and other landscaping material.

Walking the grounds with Gladden and principal Don Weems, Board President Ron Hemphill emphasized that a sprinkler system will be installed to ensure the school remains a showcase.

Earth color with turquoise trim, the 30,700-square-foot school breaks with past construction by using a metal slanted roof. Flat tar and pebble type have a history, locally, of leaking, and have become a nightmare for the district.

"Mike Morris (school board member) insisted on that metal slanted roof," Hemphill said.

The district staff has a right to feel proud about the results, Gladden said. A building committee comprised of teachers, support staff and principals of White Mountain Elementary and Nob Hill visited other schools for ideas and submitted suggestions.

"One of the neat things is the teachers had a lot of input," Gladden said. "(Nob Hill principal Roger) Sowder and the committee looked at new schools and came back with lots of ideas. They worked with the architect and then provided input on playground equipment, furniture and other aspects.

"This type of approach guarantees that you're going to get a school that's functional."

Council prohibits vendors

by CHARLES STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Effective immediately, portable vending booths are prohibited in Ruidoso except during special events approved by the village council.

A motion to restrict vendor booth use was approved Tuesday by a four to two margin of the village council after lengthy discussion on both sides of the issue.

Ordinance requirements further designate booth locations to a confined area. Mayor Jerry Shaw said this provision was added to prevent the type of congestion experienced at the last Aspenfest.

Planner Cleatus Richards said a location layout will be part of future special events booth applications.

Councilor Frank Potter said he conducted an informal survey of merchants by making 62 telephone calls.

"It was an eye opener to me," Potter said. "The first person I talked to was upset as a merchant (asphalt business) in Ruidoso. He said there is a company in Alto running around and putting asphalt mix on (Ruidoso) driveways. He said that person was not much different than someone setting up (a booth) on the sidewalk."

Barbed wire gains council approval

by CHARLES STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Barbed wire and razor wire used at public and private utilities, as well as commercial and industrial installations, were approved Tuesday by the Ruidoso Village Council.

The council offered several amendments to the draft of the village fencing regulation. One amendment set approval through the planning and zoning commission as a necessity when certain exceptional needs exist.

The council, through that amendment, granted Larry Langford, owner of Village Hardware, use of razor wire for the back of his store off Sudderth Drive.

Mike Radzewicz, chairman of the planning and zoning commission, said exceptional need conditions should be implemented and named Langford's business as an area in need.

Langford said the height of an embankment in relationship to the lowness of his lot created a vulnerable situation. He said he had no problem with theft or vandalism since he installed the razor wire.

In other business, the council compromised with water customer Jerry Windham and allowed him to pay a $200 water bill resultant of a leak on his side of the water meter.

Windham had disagreed with village manager Gary Jackson's credit of $1,717.39 toward a $3,486.26 bill. Windham's water leak on his side of the meter amounted to 786,340 gallons of water.

Windham asked for a hearing with the Utility Dispute Board and they recommended the council relieve Windham of the amount over and above the minimum water usage, $19.44. The dispute board cited a broken meter can as a possible contributing factor to the broken line.

The council thought the minimum usage amount was unfair to the village and that Windham was at fault for a greater amount. They asked Jackson the amount of a high monthly water bill.

Jackson surprised the council by informing them of one resident user's bill of $3,600, nearly a million gallons of water.

Jackson said he was unable to produce the name of the resident that evening because of a glitch in the water department's billing.

Windham told the council the vote to assess him $200 was fair.

Councilor Leon Eggleston voted against the motion.

Under regular items, the council: —approved a preliminary plat, following a public hearing on the same matter, for a tract in the Second Addition of Airport West.

Richards said 15 residents within the area were in favor of the plat change to a lower density residential area, one was against. He said the lone dissenter owned property on Machem and was concerned it may affect his bargaining power to sell commercially.

The plat was approved conditional to access on Lot 7 by way of private easement and a minimum of 73-foot frontage for lots 3, 4 and 6.

Eugene Collins receives emergency medical attention after being hit by a pickup truck Monday as he headed across Sudderth Drive to his car.

Pedestrian hit while crossing Sudderth

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

A 64-year-old El Paso man was hit by a pickup truck as he tried to cross Sudderth Drive in Ruidoso Monday.

Eugene Collins had just left B.J.'s Gun Shop at 9:26 a.m. and was headed across the street to his car, where his wife was waiting.

Ruidoso Police officer Bill Heineken said Robert Orocco, 62, of Ruidoso was driving south on Sudderth when Collins stepped into the path of his 1987 Chevrolet pickup.

Homer and Opal Long were headed north on Sudderth when Mrs. Long warned her husband to stop as she saw Collins begin to cross the street.

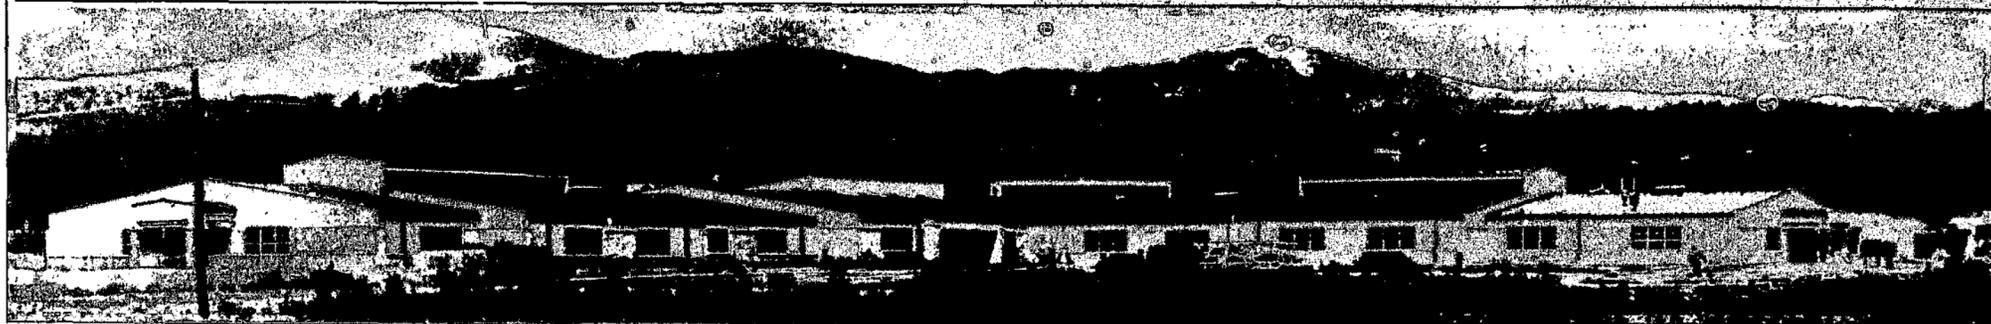

"She saw it coming and told me to stop," Long told The Ruidoso News. "The pickup wasn't going fast when it hit him, but he flipped in the air and seemed to land on his head."

Mrs. Long said she comforted the injured man's wife.

"She told us her husband was blind in one eye," Mrs. Long said.

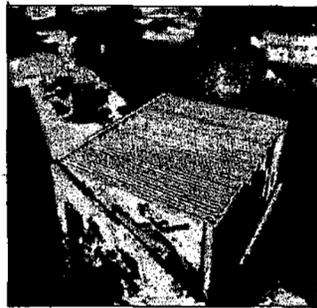

Orocco was not charged in connection with the accident, Heineken said.

Collins received emergency medical care from the Ruidoso ambulance unit, was taken to the Lincoln County Medical Center and then transferred to Beaumont, Texas. Reports indicate that Collins did not suffer spinal damage, but did sustain other major injuries.

one wall. Four tables and a copy machine will be set up for those scarce moments when teachers can concentrate on projects for their classes.

The color scheme reflects the Southwest look, Gladden said, adding that the tones also are good for younger children.

Instruction will occur in 22 classrooms, a library and computer laboratory. Both hallways feature special boxed areas where aides can bring students for tutoring and be out of the mainstream of walking traffic.

"The special education room is designed to be divided into three sections so it can accommodate a full class, two medium size classes, or three small groups or can be used for individual instruction," Gladden said.

Students shouldn't feel crowded with 840-square-foot per classroom and light flowing from windows in the rooms and in the hallways.

A multi-purpose room exceeded original expectations with terrific acoustics and wall paneling, Weems said.

"Rotary already has met here and the cheerleaders are going to be using it," Hemphill said. "It's really multi-purpose and well insulated." A radiant heating system was picked for the high ceiling room.

Most of the classrooms already are decorated and waiting for the students who will crowd through the doors August 18.

On the outside, new playgrounds are being installed for the intermediate school and for Sierra Vista.

"It should be a fantastic playground for these kids," Weems said. "We're putting up three swing sets, several different types of physical fitness and activity centers, slides, fire trucks and poles, sandboxes, picnic tables and a blacktop area for basketball and hopscotch."

Meals will be prepared at another school and delivered to Sierra Vista.

Dealing with smaller students isn't new for Weems, even though he served as high school principal for the past two years.

"When I moved here 19 years ago, I was principal at Nob Hill for kindergarten through second graders, so this isn't a new age for me," he said. "It's a little different than high school and I'm looking forward to it."

Diane Newsom will be secretary for the new school, a pivotal position to ensure its smooth running.

"The district also has hired a new nurse and we have a nursing room," Weems said. "She will be in charge of all the elementary schools and there will be a separate nurse for the secondary schools."

"The district requested six new buses from the State Department of Education and they came through," Weems said. "We're proud to be able to serve the kids. Kindergarten through sixth graders have their own set of buses as do seventh through twelfth. So children will have the same bus in the morning as they take home in the afternoon. We've been pushing for that arrangement for years."

The Sierra Vista school bell will ring for classes at 8:30 a.m. and end the day at 2:50 p.m.

"Our teachers will offer a diversified and full curriculum that meets the basic needs of students," Weems said. "They all have different approaches to that goal, but we are going to try to be consistent in all the things that we do that depend on building from one grade level to the next."

Parents and the public are invited to an open house at 2 p.m. Sunday, September 11.

Sierra Vista Primary teachers

First Grade: Mandy Spurlin, Beth Nacastro, Kathy Rhoten, Sherry Baca, Frances Herron, Joan Howland, Becki Lewis, Linda Lott, Debbi Porter and Jan Holleman for special education

I called radio and TV people on my list. They didn't want people going out and selling TVs or radios in parking lots," Potter said.

"Out of the 62 merchants I called, there was only one that didn't care. That was a large restaurant, established, that didn't seem to care if someone wanted to set up 10 barbecue outfits."

Richards said emphasis has been placed on food and beverage vendors, but he recalled past problems dealing with vendors selling jewelry and other items. He said the council was looking at the full spectrum of vending.

Councilor Leon Eggleston said under the existing ordinance, a vendor had to obtain permission from the existing property owner.

"I don't see a problem. If the property owner gives permission, I don't see a problem with it myself," Eggleston said. "They still have to meet the requirements."

Resident Pat Healy was concerned if not-for-profit organizations like the Boy Scouts of America would be restricted within certain areas.

Councilor Robert Donaldson told Healy that during special events, on a case by case basis, a sponsor could come before the council.

"It would be within our right to allow certain zones," Donaldson said.

Bob Sterchi identified himself as a member of the planning and zoning (P&Z) commission. Sterchi was on the losing end of the P&Z vote that recommended to send the ordinance to the council for a final vote.

"I am here to speak against the proposed ordinance as it is presented," Sterchi said.

Sterchi said the ordinance passed P&Z after a tie vote, with P&Z commissioner Mike Radziewicz breaking the tie in favor of approval.

He said the reason some commissioners were opposed to the ordinance was because of its rigid standards.

"It offers no flexibility, no variances for mobile vending stands or booths," he said. "All of us on the planning and zoning commission agree with Councilor Donaldson that the ordinance that we have can be improved. But I think the ordinance as it is written now could bring harm to the community."

Sterchi recalled a trip to an Albuquerque superstore that allowed a snowcone booth in its parking lot benefiting the Boy Scouts. A permit granted by the city was attached to the booth.

"To me if the city of Albuquerque can coordinate something like this, we certainly should be able to do so," Sterchi said.

"Our suggestion is that we remand the ordinance back to a committee of the council and to planning and zoning to make it user friendly. Yes, improve on what we have, but don't eliminate every possible circumstance as this ordinance proposes to do," Sterchi said.

Shaw said the ordinance would not affect organizations that use the inside entrance of Wal-Mart to sell cakes and cookies.

Terry Jentgens from Bradenton, Florida, identified himself as a vendor.

"When a person like myself goes to a merchant, rents space, and sets up a business that is licensed, I don't see where you can make legislation to deny that. I think you are messing with free enterprise and people's rights," Jentgens said.

"You can talk all you want about parking areas. Small portable functions are not interested in attracting people to drive up to, it's the people that are there to take advantage of," he said.

Brad Richards, who owns Richards Puzzles, said he was against the ordinance. He said as a tourist town, the village should be interesting, attractive and fun for the tourists.

Richards said Wal-Mart wanted to test market his puzzles and so he set up an outside stand along with a lemonade stand. He said village code enforcement officers shut it down.

He asked the council how the ordinance would affect Wal-Mart setting up furniture sales outside, or ski shops selling their wares outside.

Shaw said sidewalk sales by merchant vendors would not be considered street vendors.

Planning and zoning chairman Mike Radziewicz discounted petitions circulated by some vendors to validate their position.

"The only petition we will ever need in this town is a petition to do away with every other petition we can think of," Radziewicz said.

He said the vendor that circulated the petition admitted it was vaguely worded. Merchants came to him to say they didn't know what they were signing.

"I thought it was for food stamps," Radziewicz said.

He said when some merchants found out the competition was with them, they thought the petition wrong.

Radziewicz said if vendors set up in the down months, paying employees when there were no tourists, they would be considered fair competition.

"I would welcome them if they set up their stands for 12 months," he said. "We are victims of our own success. We have good ordinances that are well enforced. Several years ago you could drive down Sudderth and get tattooed in four different locations. Do we want to go back to that?"

Councilors Potter, Donaldson, Joe Gomez, and J.D. James voted aye to pass the ordinance. Councilors Eggleston and Frank Cummings voted nay.

Village manager Jackson said he has requested an extension of time with the EPA officials who assessed a $10,000 penalty against the village for excessive polymer use at Water Treatment Plant No. 1.

Jackson said mitigating circumstances should produce a reduction and settlement of the fine.

Deputy manager Alan Briley said benches and trash receptacles for the MainStreet project had arrived and should be in place by Wednesday. He said the light poles had been shipped and should arrive any day.

Local man confesses to assault

A 28-year-old Ruidoso man entered the police department early Saturday to report a rape he said he had committed while at the apartment complex where he lived.

Detective Pete Esquibel reported that the man told officers he thought he had done something wrong by raping someone he knew.

Officers drove to the apartment complex and located the adult female, who did report she had been raped by the man to have sexual relations with him.

After investigating the situation and consultation with assistant district attorney Viola Rhodes, police jailed the suspect and charged him with criminal sexual penetration, a third degree felony.

Ruidoso Downs Police officers also responded to a reported rape at 5 a.m. Sunday, August 7.

One suspect was arrested on Sunday afternoon and is being held on $50,000 bond.

School board hears complaints; new volleyball coach resigns

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso Staff Writer

Complaints about the girls' volleyball program, coupled with questions about student activity money and other financial dealings of the school district, ignited a heated exchange at the Ruidoso School Board meeting Tuesday.

Wednesday morning, coach Sid Wright resigned as girls' head volleyball coach to devote his time to building the boys basketball program, according to Ruidoso High School principal Ron Hodges.

Wright had been appointed three weeks ago to replace former volleyball coach Jody Blanton, who was reassigned in spite of emotional pleas from several players and their families.

Still on staff, Blanton teaches physical education.

Hodges said he will recommend to district superintendent Mike Gladden that Janis Roland be appointed as the new head volleyball coach. She already leads the girls' basketball program.

Hodges said the meetings with the two coaches were conducted by administration officials early Wednesday without school board members or parents.

"We will continue to try to do the very best for our students," said Hodges, who also is new to the district. He took over the high school last May while his predecessor, Don Weems, supervised the construction of a new elementary school.

Discussion of the volleyball program and finances occurred during a "comments from the public" portion of the school board meeting.

Former high school bookkeeper Sue Randle began by asking whether a peer counseling position had been posted for staff members to apply and how the position will be funded.

Randle said several teachers with master's degrees in counseling told her they would have applied for the job had they known it was open.

Gladden said the position does not require additional funding, because existing staff will be serving. The money comes out of the regular teachers' salary line item in the budget. The job was not posted.

Hodges on Wednesday explained that Bob Elder has been employed in essentially the same position for the past semester under the title of student assistant coordinator.

"This was more of a name change than anything else, a title," he said. "The duties basically are the same."

Randle then asked why the proceeds from the sale of parking spots at the high school were being taken away from the cheerleaders, who have received them for the past two years. The money is to be funneled into the purchase of toner for a copy machine.

Gladden said he couldn't comment, because he was not aware of that situation.

Hodges said Wednesday that giving the $600 generated by the parking spaces to the cheerleaders or other clubs in the past has caused resentment from groups not selected to receive the money.

"We decided to use the money for the copy machine to benefit all of the clubs. They all can run off their materials," Hodges said.

In response to another question by Randle, Gladden acknowledged that a portion of the salary of Nob Hill Elementary principal Roger Sowder also was taken from the teachers' salary line item, because Head Start money was not sufficient.

Randle began forming a fourth question when Board President Ron Hemphill told her she had used up more than the three minutes allotted for each speaker.

At that point, Randle's husband, Mike Randle, volunteered to yield the time that he had left on a previous question that didn't take up a full three minutes.

Hemphill told him that would not be allowed, but Randle refused to be cut off. In spite of Hemphill's admonition to "be quiet," Randle continued to press for others to yield their time to his wife. Several persons responded.

"I believe you are responsible to these people in this meeting," Randle said. "If I can't get order, I will adjourn this meeting," Hemphill said. He added that he could call the police department to ensure control.

"You're not in charge of this meeting," he told Randle. "I see no place in the rules where it says someone can yield their time. I say no."

"I figured you would," Sue Randle shot back. "That's your usual response."

It didn't take long for emotions to stir again when Darlene Martinez stood up with questions about the volleyball program.

"Is winning secondary?" she asked the board.

Hemphill said participation is a major goal, but he hopes winning goes along with that.

Board member Susan Lutterman said two days of workouts with a new coach are not enough to judge a program.

"Two days shows a lot," Martinez countered.

Several volleyball student players said they were discouraged by remarks they said Wright made to them and because he had not coached volleyball in 11 years.

One woman said her daughter was told that no one else would take the job and that five girls who had been in the program for several years have quit.

"Let me assure you, we're looking into this immediately," Hemphill said.

Karen Parsons, an attorney who spoke out on Blanton's behalf at previous meetings, told board members, "I resent that we're being asked to cooperate when we gave you petitions with 300 signatures asking for your cooperation (to keep Blanton) with no results. I think every one of you have lost sight of what is best for the girls."

"You have breached your duty to us."

Several parents urged quick action before more girls drop out or training advantage and motivation are lost for those who stay.

"We appreciate your remarks," Hemphill said. "We have the kids at heart. That's why we're here."

Downs increases garbage rates

Ruidoso Downs trustees passed a rate increase Monday for village residential and commercial customers of Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority (LCSWA).

With Mayor Joe Hayhurst and all members of the board present, the rate hike passed with all "ayes."

Downs residential rates will go from $8 a month to $9.25 per month, with the commercial fee increasing from $18 to $29 for once a week collection of one container. Additional container collection rates increase proportionately.

Ruidoso Downs is among five members of the authority which had asked for the increases to cover the costs to provide garbage collection service in the village. Joe Lewandowski, director of LCSWA, made a presentation during the last meeting of the board.

According to Lewandowski, Downs residents have the "Cadillac" service with a portable plastic container called a polycart placed in front of each residence as opposed to the shared metal dumpsters which are used in Ruidoso.

The Downs also is the site for a door-to-door recycling project financed with a grant. Residents are given blue bags in which they place their recyclable materials. The filled bags are placed at the curb on specified days and picked up by LCSWA staff.

Also Monday, Mayor Hayhurst told resident Carl Jackson that the village didn't have money budgeted to grant Jackson's request to repave his street, DiPaolo Hill.

Hayhurst assured Jackson that he'll contact the street supervisor and ask him to fill the potholes on the street.

The board approved recommendations from the lodgers tax advisory board to allocate $2,500 to promote the Ruidoso Downs Auxiliary's annual arts and crafts fair and $5,000 for the All American Festival.

Trustee Charlotte Craig read a letter of appreciation from Bob Butler, Incident Commander of the Great Basin Overhead Team, to the personnel of the Ruidoso Downs Volunteer Fire Department for their assistance in fighting the fires in the Big Rocks Fire Complex.

The board voted to hire Albert Flores as a full-time police dispatcher, on the recommendation of Police Chief David Hightower.

In other regular business, the board:

- passed a mobile home variance for Salvador Ortiz.

- approved purchasing two refrigerators for the village hall/police complex from Jack's T.V. and Appliance, who submitted the lowest bid.

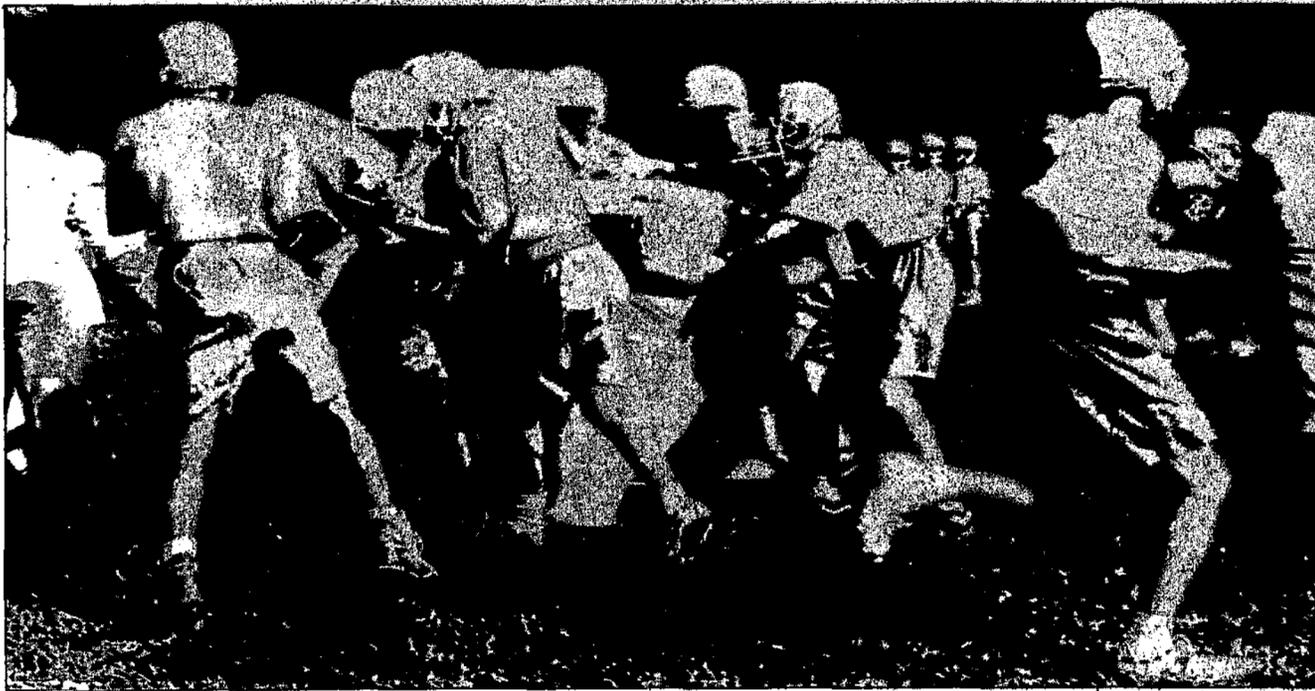

- OK'd paying Candyce J. Garrett for signs for Village Hall.

Inside the Outdoors

It's best not to mess with Mother Nature

The usual calm in the Game Department office was disturbed on the morning of July 28. There was a mewing sound like a kitten and the clatter of sliding hooves. It turned out to be nothing dangerous, as a matter of fact it was very cute and cuddly — a very young, very hungry deer fawn.

The little spotted fellow was picked up by someone in Timberon and ended up with our conservation officer over in Alamogordo. He in turn brought it to Roswell on his way to Santa Fe where he would arrange for transportation to its final destination in Espanola.

Quite a trip for one so young. I hope the fawn will survive the ordeal. I'm sure that the people who picked up the little critter had no idea what they had started.

Most of the people picking up baby deer, elk and antelope at this time of year, think that they are doing the wild young critter a favor. They find it hiding in the bushes and look around for its mother. Not seeing anything, they assume the baby has been orphaned or abandoned by its mother, and pick it up to save it.

Most of the time, though, they are dooming it.

Young wild critters have a very sensitive digestive system and they are extremely hard

In the case of a male or mother deer, they can even get dangerous to people they think are going to interfere with their breeding or rearing of young. The answer must be the zoo then. If there is room in the zoo, this will work out, but unfortunately most of them have more than enough mule deer. It's a tough problem.

There are also some folks out there that would like to have that cute, pudgy little deer as a pet. They take it home and try to raise it. This very rarely works out because of the nutritional requirements of the baby, besides it is against the law.

A Mesa Poleo man decided to do this, but was turned in through Operation Game Thief. The deer fawn he had was very weak when seized by conservation officers. Earl Velasquez pled guilty to the charge of illegal possession of a deer in magistrate court. The judge took the violation seriously and fined him $400, assessed $31 in court costs, suspended a 90-day jail sentence and put him on probation for six months.

Think about the baby critter if you find one in the wild. Those pretty little spots on that fawn are its way of hiding from predators while mom slips away for a while to feed or get water. If you interfere, remember what's probably going to happen.

Health care providers testify before state task force

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Local health officials briefed members of New Mexico's Health Care Task Force recently about the status of health care in Lincoln County.

The session in Ruidoso was organized by State Representative H. John Underwood (D-Ruidoso) to give school, city and tribal representatives and the public a chance to enter their comments.

The task force, created earlier this year to work on devising a comprehensive health care delivery system, met in Ruidoso August 1 and moved to Roswell the following day.

Valerie Miller, administrator of the Lincoln County Medical Center (LCMC), a 38-bed acute care hospital in Ruidoso, said it costs $40 to $50 a patient day to cover the administrative demands of complying with regulations.

She said the hospital has imposed no rate increases since April 1990, has brought 18 medical specialties into the area and provides $1 million of free care annually.

Through the company that leases the hospital from Lincoln County, Presbyterian Health Care Systems, LCMC also operates the ambulance service and the rural health clinics in Carrizozo and Corona.

Miller said Presbyterian would like to see reforms in malpractice insurance, caps on court awards for malpractice suits and expansion of alternative dispute resolution programs.

To help with recruitment in rural areas such as Lincoln County, she also would like to see more relief from anti-trust regulations to allow working together with physicians and other providers.

To practice at LCMC, a physician must live within 30 minutes of Ruidoso, Miller said. That requirement sometimes deprives local physicians who serve residents from outlying rural areas such as Corona, from benefiting from programs that forgive all or a portion of the cost of medical education.

"In some incidences, the cost of medical education can be forgiven or part, if a physician practices in a medically underserved area," Miller said. "But if they live in Corona, they cannot have active staff privileges at the hospital, because they are too far away. So we find ourselves in a bind. We are working to get an exemption based on the distance and time factor that recognizes that, although their offices may be in Ruidoso, because they have to be available, people are coming down here from those areas."

Miller noted that accidents involving skiers and other care needed for summer visitors help the hospital's bottom line.

"The tourist dollars provide some buffer, but it is not a constant factor," Miller said. She added that with the last two years of less snow, "If we see much more erosion of the bottom line, it will impact our ability to provide service."

Cutting services could damage the future growth of the community, "because the elderly don't want or cannot travel for services."

In response to questions from committee members, Miller said outpatient care appears to be the direction for future survival.

The current occupancy rate at the hospital is 27 percent, but most of the beds are filled during the day with outpatients there for small surgical or other procedures.

The average charge for three days in the hospital is $3,800, she said.

Ray Hayhurst, who represented the privately-owned Ruidoso Care Center for long-term care, said Medicaid is lacking in the area of qualifying the elderly for long-term care.

"I believe it may be an issue that this panel is not looking at now," he said.

Verna Adams, administrator of Home Health Care Services, said her company serves all of Lincoln County "to the last ranch at the edge of the county and sometimes beyond, because of the tremendous need."

Strong family structures allow the system to work and save thousands of dollars a year in care per patient, compared to nursing home or hospital care, she said. The system allows patients to stay at home and in their community to receive care needed to live and to die.

"The key is that someone is coming in and giving them support," Adams said. "Ranch people are wonderful to care for. They're used to taking care of themselves and use the telephone and a nurse once or twice a week."

The service tends 150 patients a month and receives referrals from hospitals all over the state. It employs 43 people and most were trained locally, she said. They often have children at home and would find it difficult to conform to a normal employment routine.

"Ruidoso may be considered rural, but the majority of services are centered here and there is nothing else outside of it, except an occasional doctor who visits one day a week," Adams said.

"As you look at reform, we are concerned that rural areas not be left out. Why should someone have to be uprooted and move to get the services they need when we can provide economic care by sending an employee out to them?"

Insurance coverage needs to be expanded in that area, she said, adding, "Obviously we need alliances, but we also need to keep our voice for our people. I don't want to see small areas lose their identities."

Dr. Charlton Wilson reported on the health care delivery system on the Mescalero Apache Reservation and surrounding communities from the standpoint of the staff of the Mescalero Indian Hospital.

Any person with proof of Native American ancestry is eligible for care at the hospital, but the population being served is very young, he said.

"Half the patients are under 18 and only 11 percent are over 45 years of age," he said.

The hospital operates on a budget of about $4 million with a per capita expenditure of $800 with 5,158 active patient charts.

From the standpoint of looking at the Mescalero or other Indian Health Service facilities as models, the system seems to excel at cost efficient primary care," Wilson said. "This is likely achieved by a high ratio of primary care to specialty care (10 to 1), classic managed care principals of limiting patient referrals, using contracts with providers whenever possible and paying at government rates."

"The future of the Indian Health Service is unclear. If non-federal universal coverage is obtained in the United States, would American Indians be better or worse off under different plans? Would the (health service) be able to maintain patient enrollment if competition is affordable and available? Will the (health service) be able to maintain the costs as the population ages? These questions must be answered.

in order to plan for the future of this special population."

In response to a question from committee member Nina Ward, Wilson acknowledged that the younger age of patients reflects the shorter average life span of the Mescalero.

"Unfortunately, yes," he said. "It's tied to accidents and injuries, liver and kidney diseases related to diabetes frequently."

Dr. Charlton Wilson (second from right) briefs members of the state health task force about health care services for the Mescalero Apache. Valerie Miller (far right), administrator of the Lincoln County Medical Center, also testified, as did Ray Hayhurst, left, from Ruidoso Care Center, and Verna Adams of Home Health Care.

Higheasterjet 'Cap and Pacific Classic simulcast top Saturday racing action

The Grade III $10,000 Higheasterjet Handicap and a simulcast of the Grade I $1 million Pacific Classic from Del Mar top an action-packed 13-race program on tap Saturday at Ruidoso Downs. Stakes winners Yawls Rabbit and Racin Vike top a compact group of six older quarter horses expected to run in the Higheasterjet Handicap which is named in honor of the 1980 All American Futurity winner. The Pacific Classic annually attracts a classy field of the nation's finest older handicap stars and this year is no exception. Best Pal, winner of the inaugural Classic in 1991 and Bertrando who captured last year's edition, are the top nominees for the prestigious race. Hollywood Gold Cup winner Slew Of Damascus is also a probable starter in the 1 1/4-mile classic. Due to an early post time at Del Mar on Saturday, no other simulcasts will be shown after the Ruidoso Downs live program.

James Lewter's Yawls Rabbit won the Grade III Mr Jet Moore Stakes on opening weekend and has lit the board in all five of his starts here this summer. The 4-year-old By Yawl colt placed in the Rainbow Silver Cup and ran third in the Jet Deck Handicap earlier in the meet and looks like the horse to beat in the 350-yard Higheasterjet.

Racin Vike won the Higheasterjet last year and is back to defend his title.

Ruidoso Thoroughbred Futurity trials highlight Friday program

Futurity winners Bold Connection and Bandit Commander stand out among a select group of 2-year-olds entered in two sets of trials for the $25,000-added Ruidoso Thoroughbred Futurity, Friday. The six furlong trials will be run as the eighth and ninth races on the live program. The top six finishers from each of the trials earn a spot in the rich futurity which is slated for August 27. Rio Grande Kindergarten Futurity victor Bold Connection most recently ran a respectable third behind Flying Drone in the $83,000 Rio Grande Futurity on July 16 and should be heavily favored in the second trial.

Bold Connection, a New Mexico-bred gelding by Full Choke, scored his biggest career win in the $72,000 Kindergarten on May 30 when he beat a talented bunch of sprinters by 3 1/4-lengths. The Coy Hendrix-trained has been a consistent performer all summer with three wins, a place and a show in five outings for owner Richard Parrish of Meadow, Texas. The undefeated colt Homemade and Santa Fe Futurity qualifier The Beat Is Back are two other horses to watch in the second trial which attracted a field of 10. James Lewter's Bandit Commander captured the $46,000

Norgor Futurity here June 19 and looks like the horse to beat in the first trial division. The New Mexico-bred gelding by Sky Command has blazing speed out of the gate and should be tough to catch in the six furlong sprint. The Tim Cross charge made his last start in the Rio Grande Futurity where he battled for the early lead, but tired in the stretch to finish eighth in the 12-horse field. Bandit Commander is owned by Lewter of Clovis. Impressive maiden winner Buttery Express also must be considered a threat in the cast of nine horses entered in the first trial.

$10,000 up for grabs in a new promotion at Ruidoso Downs

One lucky racing fan could win a cash prize of $10,000 on Friday, August 19 at Ruidoso Downs in the All American Futurity trials "Fastest Time" contest. The innovative contest challenges racing fans to pick the fastest qualifier to the Grade I $2 million All American Futurity and that horse's exact time for the 440 yards. "We're extremely pleased to offer this great contest to our fans," said Ruidoso Downs C.E.O. and President R.D. Hubbard. "We feel that trial days for all the big races are exciting, but the day of the All American Futurity trials is always one of the most exciting days of the season — a day when the fans get to see the fastest horses in the world in one of the most suspenseful settings in all of sports. With this contest, not only do the horse people have a fortune at stake, but the average racing fan can also win a huge sum of money," added Hubbard. "This is a very 'hittable' contest because only so many horses have the talent to be the fastest qualifier and the range for the exact time is really pretty narrow." A complete list of entrants in the trials will be available in the form of an overnight at many locations throughout the Ruidoso area and at the racetrack beginning Tuesday, August 16. Entry blanks and a complete set of contest rules will be available at the racetrack. All entry blanks must be placed into entry boxes located at the racetrack at least 10 minutes prior to first post time on August 19. To be eligible to win, fans must be 18 years of age or older and must be present at the end of the races.

when the fastest qualifier will be announced. No purchase is necessary. "The 'Fastest Time' contest is one of the most exciting innovations we've ever come up with. The American Quarter Horse Association and Ruidoso Downs want to share with the fans the excitement of being involved in the world's richest quarter horse race, and with $10,000 on the line for some lucky fan, we feel this is the way to do it," said Ruidoso Downs general manager Scott Wells. If no entrant guesses the exact time, then a $1,000 consolation will be awarded to the person who has correctly selected the fastest qualifier and is closest to the correct time. In the event of a tie, it will be broken by a random drawing.

Part of the home team

Jockey Gilbert Villegas guides Jena jinsky to a 3 1/2 length victory in the Kachina Stakes trials at Ruidoso Downs. The New Mexico-bred filly by Full Choke is owned by Fletcher H. Hall Jr. of Capitan, and trained by J. Doyal Roberts Sr. The hometown horse traveled the six furlongs in 1:13.1, the fastest time for the two trial divisions.

PRESTON STONE ANNOUNCES FOR COUNTY COMMISSION SEAT

Preston Lee Stone, 47, from north of Capitan, is the democratic candidate for Lincoln County Commissioner, District 4, in the general election on November 8.

Upon graduation from Capitan High School in 1966, Stone entered the Army where he served for 3 1/2 years, with a one year tour in Germany and 1 1/2 years in Viet Nam. After discharge from the Army and marriage to the former Willa Edgar of Capitan in 1969, he was in ranching near Vaughn until they returned to the family ranch north of Capitan in 1972. Preston and Willa, along with 17 year-old twins, Troy and Tracey, currently manage the cow-calf operation, as they have since 1974.

Stone served on the Lincoln County Fair Board for 18 years, the Capitan School Board for 10 years, with 5 years serving as board president. He served two terms each on the Farmers Home Administration board of directors and ASCS advisory board for the Upper Hondo Soil and Water District. He and his wife were both volunteer EMTs in the Capitan area for 11 years, until 1992. He has served on the Otero County Electric Cooperative board of directors for 10 years, where he is currently secretary. He has been a 4H leader for the Capitan 4H Club for many years in horse judging, horsemanship, and rodeo. He is a member of N.M. Cattlegrowers Association, N.M. Woolgrowers, N.M. Farm and Livestock Bureau, American and N.M. Quarter Horse Association, and American and N.M. Herdard Association. He and his family are members of Trinity Southern Baptist Church in Capitan where he serves as a deacon.

With his diversified areas of community service and leadership along with his experience in the ranching business for 20 plus years, Stone feels qualified to serve as commissioner. He believes strongly in Lincoln County tradition along with wise financial planning for future county growth. He plans to respond to the needs of the county and be responsible to the people of the county he represents.

Mescalero tribal leader speaks on MRS in D.C.

Fred Peso, vice president of the Mescalero Apache Tribe testified at an Energy and Power Subcommittee hearing last Wednesday in the Rayburn House Office Building in Washington, D.C.

Peso spoke on the tribe's major concerns about the nation's efforts, both public and private, to store and ultimately dispose of high-level nuclear waste.

Peso responded to questions on the progress of the program, problems and how they should be addressed.

The committee asked Peso to provide details if there are concerns about financing interim or permanent storage.

Peso provided the subcommittee with 50 copies of prepared testimony in advance of the hearing. The copies allowed members and staff of the subcommittee to review his testimony.

In other tribal business, the Advisory Task Force on Bureau of Indian Affairs (BIA) Reorganization has scheduled its twenty-second and final three-day working session for Tuesday through Thursday, August 16 through 18, at the Inn of the Mountain Gods.

The nearly 1,200 tribal leaders and members met in various locations nationally in September 1990, expressed a need and a request for a participatory process whereby they would assist in planning for the reorganization of the BIA.

The Congress supported the tribes' position and the fiscal year 1991 Appropriations Act contained language supporting the tribe, but prohibited using budget money to reorganize the bureau until a task force was formed consisting of tribal, bureau and departmental representatives reviewed any proposal to reorganize.

The Task Force was officially established on December 20, 1990, and its first meeting was held on January 22, 1991.

To identify Task Force members, a participatory process was initiated in each of the 12 BIA administrative areas in the country.

Prior to the upcoming August 16 meeting, work groups will be held on August 14 and 15, in the Convention Center of the Inn of the Mountain Gods.

Changes recommended by the Task Force and implemented by the BIA included the proposal of two offices for the Office of the Assistant Secretary-Indian Affairs.

Support was communicated to the Appropriations Committees to establish the Office of American Indian Trust.

Squeals and brays poured out of the Lincoln County Fairground livestock pens Wednesday as competitors from around the county unloaded their entries for the annual county fair that starts today (Thursday).

Inside the fair building, exhibits were being assembled in dozens of categories including baked goods, vegetables, flowers, clothing, accessories and art.

If the crowd bustling from table to table is any indication, the turnout this year will be record breaking, said an optimistic Janice Herd, general superintendent for the fair.

Weigh-in of livestock and check-in of exhibits were handled Wednesday, with the public scheduled to start stopping by at 8 a.m. today.

Other activities planned for the day are the market lamb show at 9 a.m., the Cabrito show at 1 p.m., the breeding cattle show at 2 p.m. and the market steer show at 2:30 p.m.

Friday's special events will be the market swine show at 9 a.m., the dairy goat show at 11 a.m. and the rabbit and poultry show at 1 p.m.

A pet show, one of the biggest drawing cards of the annual fair, is set for 8:30 a.m. Saturday, followed by a special lead class at 9:30 a.m., lunch for livestock buyers and a fiddler's contest at 11:30 a.m. and the big finale, the junior livestock sale, at 1 p.m.

Besides the usual hot dogs and fair fare, a barbecue dinner will be served in the main building.

Judges are George Martin for sheep, beef, swine and Cabrito dairy goats; Robin Crouse for poultry; Weldon Wahl for rabbits; James Duffey for market lamb and as swine classifier. Rick Walters will be the junior livestock sale auctioneer.

Trustees agree to limit growth in the Village of Capitan

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Sometimes no growth becomes a necessity, Capitan trustees said Monday.

They passed a resolution putting a moratorium on annexations to the village and on all extra territorial (outside village limit) water connections.

The move was recommended by members of the village planning and zoning commission. The ban will take effect immediately and will stay in place until a water line from the Eagle Creek Water Association is completed and more storage units are installed.

The first obligation is to serve lots within the existing village boundaries, said Mayor Norm Renfro.

"We've done seven or eight water taps in the last couple of months," said village clerk Deborah Cummings.

While living inside the village may ensure water service, it also could mean a resident's garbage collection rate will increase.

Joe Lewandowski, general manager of the Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority presented five options to the trustees Monday.

As general manager of the authority, Lewandowski put together the figures and came up with what the coalition needs to continue some free services, improve disposal access for large loads, maintain regular routes and to put aside money for repair and replacement of equipment.

Last month, he presented the results to the governing board of the authority, which is comprised of representatives from the county and its five municipalities. His next assignment was to visit each of the entities receiving service from the authority and give them a choice from among several options that would produce the amount of additional dollars needed.

The options included differing approaches to commercial and/or residential rates, cutting back on services or forgiving debts accumulated by the authority when start up equipment was purchased from the member entities.

Lewandowski said that after firing a volley of questions during the trustees meeting, Capitan residents seemed to accept the need for the raise.

"Everybody needs to bring in 16 percent over the cost of providing the service," Lewandowski said. "For Capitan that means $4,140, for the county it's $18,000, for Ruidoso Downs it's $31,000 and for Ruidoso, it's $272,000."

"As usual, the Capitan people had a lot of questions, but when they saw the figures, I think they felt they were in a good position."

"We need extra trucks for back-up that we don't have now, if one goes down."

Lewandowski also emphasized that before suggesting an increase, he tried to tighten the operation by ensuring that commercial customers were paying the correct amount and by picking up new accounts that hadn't paid at all in the past. Those moves alone generated $100,000, he said.

"There's not much else I can do now," he said.

He offered Capitan the following five options:

—to go up $1.50 a month for residential accounts from the current $7.50 to $9 and by $3 for commercial from $29 to $32. Polycarts would be used at each home.

—to raise residential accounts to go up $3 on commercial accounts and 50 cents on residential.

—to keep special services, to go up $3 on commercial accounts and 50 cents on residential.

—to leave residential the same, raise commercial by $3 and forgive the $3,000 annual payment of the authority for the purchase of the debris landfill from the village.

A public hearing on an amendment to the village's solid waste ordinance will be scheduled prior to next month's regular board meeting.

The board may take action on any one of the options or reject all five.

In other business, members of the local volunteer fire department announced that Pat Huey has retired as fire chief and David Cummings was selected to replace him.

Other officers include assistant chief David Cox, captain Terry Cox, first lieutenant Fred Payton, second lieutenant David Brooks and second lieutenant/secretary-treasurer George Schultz.

Silver Lining

Old Lincoln Days recreates county history

Old Lincoln Days follows pioneer tradition

The Old Lincoln Days of this year carried out especially well the spirit of folks gathering together to review fond memories and to make new friends.

Back in 1940, at the beginning of the celebration, old timers and also folks of all ages gathered from mostly New Mexico and the Southwest.

Today, people come from all over the United States and even from across the waters.

This year, people came from Chicago and other distant places. One lady and her daughter came all the way from Australia, just to see the pageant.

Many friends that I had not seen since the early days of the pageant walked up to me introducing their children and grandchildren.

Tina Hendricks of Meadow, Texas, has been sending me Christmas, Easter and birthday cards for years.

I was finally fortunate in meeting this charming lady when she, her daughter and grandchildren came to see this year's pageant.

Perfect weather adds to the enjoyment.

The weather spirits were especially kind to us all three days, clear and cool for the night shows and a light sprinkle just before the afternoon performance.

This made it possible for small children and the elderly to take part in the celebration and fellowship.

Wedding day for a former "Kid"

Sunday, the seventh, was a big day in the lives of Jennifer L. Buckner and Thomas G. Shreengost.

They were married at five o'clock at the pageant grounds. Services were performed by Thomas' great-grandmother, the Reverend Gertrude Huey.

Thomas grew up with the pageant playing many parts including "Billy the Kid."

We wish Jennifer and Thomas all happiness and God's blessings.

The parade

The Lincoln Days parade, like the pageant, is one-of-a-kind, in a class by itself.

Horseback riders of all ages, mules, burros, buggies and wagons all take you back to early days in Lincoln County.

One tiny horseback rider, age three, complete with boots and spurs, rode in the parade drawing cheers from the crowds.

The crowds that lined the streets in the parade always show a great spirit of appreciation, like those who see the pageant.

Little children, two and three years old and some even younger, wave from the roadside with their tiny hands, smiling and calling out to those filing by in the parade.

All in all, a splendid spirit of goodwill prevailed, encouraging John Shreengost and all the cast to do an especially brilliant performance this year.

Again, we thank all those who helped make the 46th Old Lincoln Days one more memorable event.

Mountain world turning greener by the day

This is being sent to you just a little after high noon on August 8.

Here in the Vale, the sky is blue and white with slow moving light clouds riding overhead on a light breeze blowing over the meadows of glowing green.

Cool nights and warm days bring us perfect weather here in midsummer in the mountain land.

Let us count our many blessings and thank our Lord for them all.

Extended day program moving to Sierra Vista

Ruidoso's extended day program for young students will move from Nob Hill Elementary to Sierra Vista Primary this fall.

While the number of grades covered will be expanded from kindergarten and first to include third and fourth, the amount of money has been cut by the state, said program director Lee Ann Carner.

That means fewer children will be able to enroll.

"We have 30 slots for those families that are income eligible," Carner said. "Everyone will pay a fee based on a sliding scale and their income."

Children may be registered from noon to 5 p.m. Wednesday, August 17, and from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Thursday, August 18, at Sierra Vista Primary.

"Parents need to bring their social security numbers, a paycheck receipt or some other proof of income from FDC (Families with Dependent Children) or school college credit hours," Carner said. "I'm expecting well over 30 children. We'll be conducting the program in the multi-purpose room."

Real estate rules change

The New Mexico Real Estate Commission has scheduled a public hearing in Ruidoso for a series of proposed rule changes.

The hearing will begin at 1 p.m. Friday, August 19, at the Enchantment Inn, 307 Highway 70 West. A copy of the agenda is available at the commission office or upon request five days prior to the meeting.

Persons desiring to present their views on proposed rule changes may appear in person and/or send their written comments to the New Mexico Real Estate Commission, 1650 University Boulevard.

Auxiliary aides are available by contacting the commission administrator Jim Apodaca at (505) 841-9120 at least one week prior to the meeting.

Obituaries

Fay Halley Vest

Services for Fay Halley Vest, 80, of Monahans, Texas, were conducted Tuesday, August 9, at the First Baptist Church in Monahans. Burial followed in the Monahans Cemetery.

Mrs. Vest died Sunday, August 8, at Ward Memorial Hospital in Monahans. She was born October 8, 1903. She married Earl Vest on March 9, 1934. He preceded her in death on August 4, 1974.

She was a pioneer of Ward County, Texas, and began ranching there in the early 1930s. She attended college at Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene, Texas. She was a member of the First Baptist Church in Monahans and a member of Camp Swanney for diabetic children.

She is survived by one son, Sam Vest of Monahans and also a part-time resident of Ruidoso; one sister, Mrs. Mike Estill of Midland, Texas; two grandchildren, Sam Ann Vest Watkins and Vance Vest, both of Monahans; and three great-grandchildren, Vandon Vest, Stetson Vest and Sawyer Vest, all of Monahans.

The family suggests memorials to Camp Swanney, PO Box 918, Gainesville TX 76240.

Art exhibit combines ancient and modern

Exhibitions by two ancient Japanese master artists and award winning artist Chat Kwicinski are on display at the Bill Rakocy Southwestern Art and History Museum in Ruidoso.

Kwicinski will be at the museum gallery from 1 to 4 p.m. Saturday, August 20, to meet the public and discuss his work.

Japanese wood cuts by Katamatsuka Hokusei (1790-1848), and Ichiyuzai Hiroshige (1797-1858), utilize a painstaking etching and color process. Each creation requires the artist to cut away an image in reverse, which creates a negative to form a wood cut. Many separate wood cuts are required to attain the various colors in the completed work.

Both Japanese artists are very well known in their native country where Hiroshige was a student of Hokusei.

Artist Chat Kwicinski is best known for his paintings of the Gila Wilderness of New Mexico where he maintains a summer studio. He was the director of the Abilene Fine Arts Museum from 1973 to 1980 and has won numerous art awards.

A teacher for many years in Ohio, and at the college of Artesia in New Mexico, Kwicinski is called upon to judge art shows and to hold critiques and workshops for arts organizations.

Kwicinski has restored works by Peter Hurd, Olaf Weghorst, Frederick Jud Waugh, Murray

Burnet, Frans Klimes and others.

Bill Rakocy, owner of Southwestern Art and History Museum, describes Kwicinski's paintings as "Western Romantic Impressionistic works taken directly from nature." His works are in private collections across the country.

The Bill Rakocy Southwestern Art and History Museum is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily. Call 297-9377 for additional information.

Fashion can be fatal

As children and parents begin their annual back-to-school shopping excursions, the National Safety Council recommends they keep safety in mind, especially when selecting items with drawstrings or straps.

Children carrying book bags with straps or wearing loose clothing, scarves and drawstring jackets run the risk of injury when exiting a school bus.

According to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration numerous incidents in the United States have been reported in which clothing or book bags got caught on bus handrails as children exited school buses.

It is important for school transportation officials to warn bus drivers about this danger, particularly at stops where there is minimal or no adult supervision of exiting students. Caution is especially important during autumn and winter, when children wear bulky clothing that can become snagged easily.

The apparel industry also needs to be aware of this problem and should consider designs for clothing that can be secured without the use of drawstrings or straps. Drawstrings pose a serious hazard to infants and small children, as well as to schoolchildren boarding the bus, and some experts are recommending that parents remove drawstrings from garments.

Brightly colored clothing is more than just a fashion statement, too; as it makes children walking to the bus stop or to school easy for motorists to spot.

When planning a back-to-school wardrobe, put safety first.

Policy

The Ruidoso News encourages letters to the editor, especially about local topics and issues.

Each letter must be signed and must include the writer's telephone number and address. The phone number and street or mailing address will not be printed, however the author's hometown will be included.

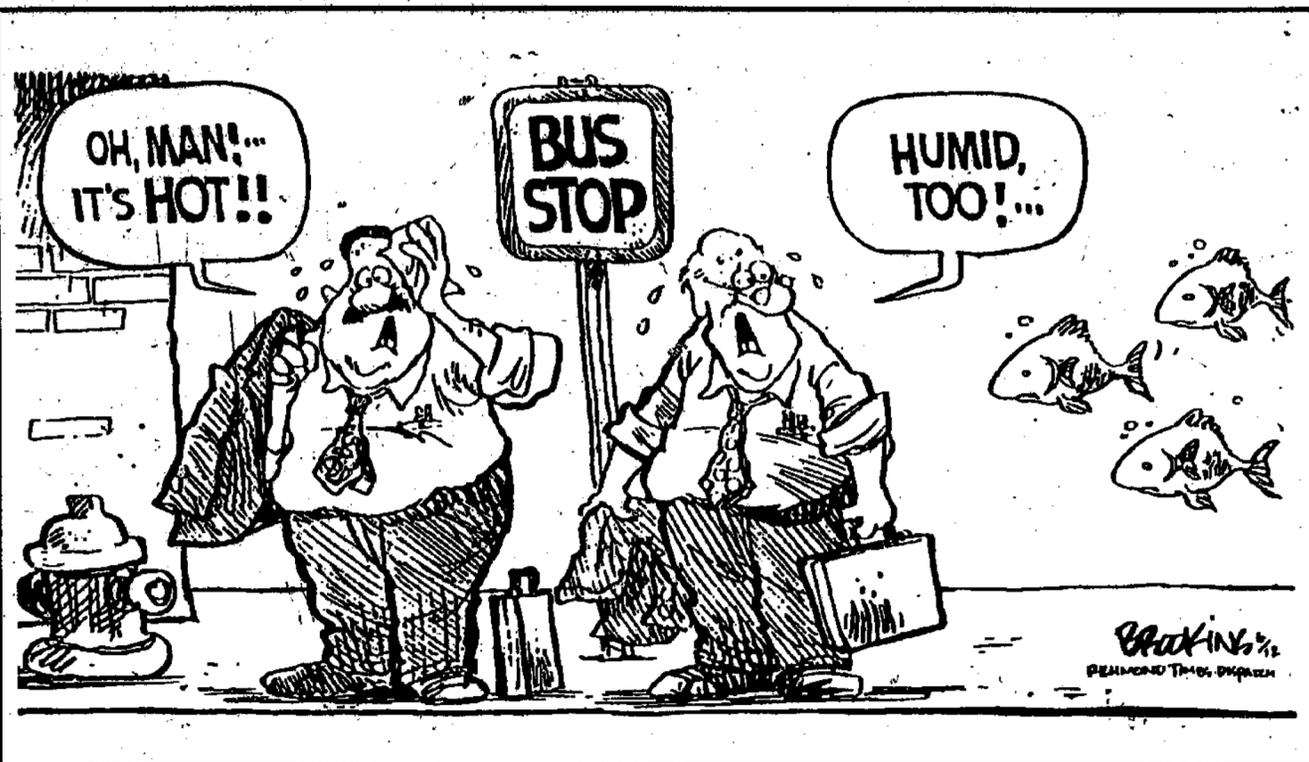

The telephone number will be used to verify authorship. No letter will be printed without the writer's name.

Labelous letters are not protected by the rules of privilege or fair comment and will not be printed.

Letters will be edited for spelling and grammar to the extent possible without impairing their flavor or changing their meaning. Letters may be shortened to fit the space available.

We try, whenever possible, to allow people and/or businesses mentioned in a letter the opportunity to respond, usually in the same or the next edition.

Letters must be original and exclusive to The News. No open letters to public figures, copies of letters to other newspapers or poetry will be printed as a letter to the editor. In most cases, thank you messages are printed in the Classifieds under "Card of Thanks."

LCMC volunteer recalls hospital's history

TO THE EDITOR:

It is hard for me to understand the attitude of your paper and the county commissioners concerning the Lincoln County Medical Center (LCMC), though I do appreciate the fact that you both are trying to make sure our tax dollars are not wasted.

However, it seems to me that instead of trying to find someone doing something wrong, you should be doing everything you can to support what is, without doubt, the most important service in this area.

If my memory serves me correctly, our hospital was not "built with county tax dollars." It was built with a combination of funds, including a bond issue and federal grants matched by contributions from individuals within the county and by generous summer residents. The first and second expansions were done with Hill-Burton funds. Presbyterian has since bought out the Hill-Burton obligation.

I was appointed by the county to serve on the hospital board during some of those early years, when we had to run the hospital and it was a real struggle to try to find and keep even a minimum staff and to pay bills; and that was before all of the government red tape and rules and regulations.

I think it safe to say that without PHC we would not have a hospital in Ruidoso — and I remember what it was like when we didn't — and people who died before they could get necessary medical attention.

Presbyterian Health Care is a non-profit organization consisting of professionals dedicated to bringing the best health care possible to the most people possible within our state. They carried our hospital for a number of years when it was going in the hole by hundreds of thousands of dollars, and were on the verge of giving up when they sent Valerie Miller here as an interim administrator. Thank heaven, she agreed to stay.

LCMC is not the first hospital she has pulled out of a hole and turned around. She is probably the most highly-qualified and finest administrator in this part of the country. Not only has she put this hospital on an even keel, but she has brought services that few hospitals this size can offer.

As for that money the commissioners are so worried about "pouring into this hospital" — that is mill levy money voted by the taxpayers, as well as most of the voters in the county, for use by the hospital — and I doubt if most of those voters were concerned about whether the money was to be used for capital improvements or to take up the slack caused by all the people who can't pay. LCMC does not turn anyone away.

Besides, the county general fund benefits from the interest generated by those mill levy funds.

If Presbyterian or LCMC had anything to hide, they would not have invited a commissioner to sit on the board.

I was on the board during the year I was auxiliary president and I found the regular members to be sincerely interested in the health concerns of the county and — not inclined to stagnate — always open to avenues of improvement.

I have spent many hours doing volunteer work with the hospital auxiliary because I enjoy working with a wonderful group of caring people.

Reader opposes plans to store nuclear waste in this region

TO THE EDITOR:

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the Mescalero Apaches' plans to host a high level nuclear waste storage facility on their reservation.

I have a history of working in the environmental health field on Indian reservations, with the Indian Health Service and the Mescalero-Apache Tribe. The health, safety and welfare of the Mescalero people and their environment was my official and personal dedication.

I first became politically/environmentally aware and active during the anti-environment Reagan years when I went to work as the Environmental Health Officer for the White Earth Chippewa Tribe in northern Minnesota.

After three frustrating years working as a tribal employee, I had enough of the tribal politics and the lack of concern for the environment. I applied and was commissioned as a lieutenant in the United States Public Health Service-Indian Health Service and stationed at the Mescalero PHS Indian Hospital (May 1989).

As the Mescalero Service Unit Sanitarian, I was responsible for the Environmental Health and Safety program on the reservation.

Though it was my job to preserve, protect and try to improve the environmental, health and safety conditions on the reservation, I had no enforcement capabilities, I was simply an adviser....

I decided I had had enough and decided to resign. I could have kept my commission, moved on and advanced in the USPHS but I have come to love this entire Sacramento Mountain region and feel it is a sacred and safe place that should be a body/mind/spirit rejuvenation/retreat and not the nation's high level nuclear waste dumping ground, "temporary" or not....

Please, if you truly care about this place and this issue, get informed, get angry, get involved! I can be contacted for more information... I encourage everyone to write the DOE with your concerns by September 22, 1994, and participate in the August 27 call to Action/National Radioactive Waste Day.

Just say no more reckless science!

Goose egg may turn brass

TO THE EDITOR:

I am sure most of us are familiar with the fable of the Goose That Laid the Golden Egg. Well, it is possible to kill the goose (out-of-town property owners).

I read in a recent article in The Ruidoso News that the city council is considering raising sewer rates again. I'd like to present a few facts and figures for your readers and let them judge what residents are expecting of those of us who can only enjoy the cool pines on occasion.

1981: water and sewer—$22.03	property taxes—$441.84
1987: water and sewer—$23.50	property taxes—$520.28
1990: water and sewer—$24.34	property taxes—$616.02
1991: water and sewer—$26.78	property taxes—$672.08
1994: water and sewer—$31.10	property taxes—not billed yet

(This is for the same house, no additional improvements. During this period, our electric bill has remained virtually unchanged and our insurance has gone from $466 to $336 per year.)

Thank you.

Square dancer disappointed in Ruidoso Civic Center acoustics

TO THE EDITOR:

We came to Ruidoso on July 16 to attend a square dance at the Civic Events Center. It was a very disappointing evening.

The Civic Events Center is a very beautiful building inside and out, but the acoustics are terrible.

I really believe they are the worst of any building I have ever been in. Some places you can hear and some you cannot. One man from Ruidoso put it best, "$10 million dollar building and you can't hear a thing in some places."

Why hasn't the architect been called back and made to correct his big, big mistake?

Historical Society presents musical

"La Musica, the one truly universal language of the heart; it floats freely across the shadowy realms between languages and cultures. Voices and instruments in song penetrate where ideas tangle and words fail. In music we celebrate ourselves and are revealed."

"The contours of a culture emerge as clearly and mysteriously as the emotion on the face of a singer," so writes Dr. Enrique Lamadrid, professor of modern and classical languages at the University of New Mexico.

The Lincoln County Historical Society presents "Musica Del Corazon: New Mexico Folk Music" at 6 p.m. Saturday, August 20, at the Civic Events Center in Ruidoso.

Ancient and modern New Mexicans have expressed their evolving sense of the land as a place set apart for mythic emergence, holy pilgrimage and historic journey.

As early as the eleventh century, A.D., southwest native cultures were regularly using the figure of Kokopelli or the humpbacked flute player as a symbol of those who play the ceremonial flutes. They are united in a society with a leader and their presence is required even today in some Indian pueblos when corn is planted. It is believed that flute playing is required to make everything grow better. In a simultaneous motion, the flute players raise and lower ends of their flutes toward the sky and wave them to and fro, suggesting the motion of clouds that bring life giving rain. So writes Frances Desmore in "The Music of Santa Domingo Pueblo."

The inhabitants of Chaco Canyon lived with the ever present sounds of stone and wood being chipped and polished for use. The travelers on the Camino Real walked to the tunes of the New Mexico troubadour or to the rhythmic creaking of the wooden wheels of the "Carretas." Early explorers and hunters, on the Llano, experienced the thundering roar of the fleeing buffalo herds. Homesteaders listened to the "squeak and groan" of the windmills.

Visitors to Santa Fe were given a rickety welcome at fandangoes, while solitary shepherds listened to the mountain echoes of the flute. In the North, villagers congregated to the sound of the church bell. New Mexicans know many stories of the evil winds that whip through the mal pais children fear the doleful wailing of La Llorana.

Local folk songs mimic the hooting of the owl, the droning of the cicada, the lowing of the cattle, the cackling of the hen and the braying of the burro.

The public is invited to join us for this program. Made possible by grants from the New Mexico Endowment for the Humanities.

Alternative providers present health care options during afternoon fair

Alternative health care has been embraced by a large number of people, some of whom attended the "Alternative Goes Mainstream" Health Fair at Cree Meadows Country Club last month.

According to Chiropractor Dr. Sandra Davis, about 160 people came to find out about and try alternative health therapies offered by local practitioners.

Services included acupressure, massage, reflexology, naturopathy, and a variety of health foods.

"Our guests came and stayed for hours, virtually all afternoon," Davis said. "Many of the therapists provided mini treatments, which were booked solid."

Davis stressed that the alternative health care providers at the fair are all licensed or certified.

"They strive to provide the best possible care using all healing methods available," said Davis.

Davis promises that the health fair will be even bigger and better next year. Alternative health care providers who would like to participate or persons seeking additional information about alternative health care, may call Davis at 257-7555.

New director takes reins at Museum of the Horse

Jesse G. "Jay" Wright Jr. joined the staff of the Museum of the Horse as director on August 1. Wright comes to the Museum of the Horse from the Buffalo Bill Historical Center in Cody, Wyoming.

According to a news release, Wright was born in Sidney, Ohio, a small town in the western/central part of that state. He attended Georgetown Preparatory School in Washington, D.C.

After a year at Notre Dame University, he entered the Jesuits and received his bachelor's degree in philosophy and his master's degree in English from Loyola University in Chicago.

Wright, after teaching at Xavier High School in Cincinnati, Ohio, left the Jesuits and returned to Notre Dame where he earned a master's degree in art.

While pursuing his master's at Notre Dame, he also taught at St.

Mary's College.

His career as a museum director began at the South Bend Art Center in Indiana. From there, he moved to the Michael C. Rockefeller Art Center Gallery at the State University of New York where he was both the director of the gallery and an instructor.

Wright was a co-founder of the Gallery Association of New York State, an exhibition-sharing cooperative. From New York, he returned to Ohio where he served as the director of the Canton Art Institute.

Wright then became director of Philbrook Art Center in Tulsa, Oklahoma. While in Oklahoma he served as the president of the Oklahoma Museum Association and was a member of the Oklahoma Humanities Committee.

Moving closer to horse country, he then became director of the J.B.

Speed Art Museum in Louisville, Kentucky.

Following an entrepreneurial bend, Wright left the Speed to begin his own business as a consultant. Under the name of "The Wright Group," he served clients as diverse as the Naples (Florida) Philharmonic Center for the Arts, and a children's museum in Louisville.

He did the preliminary work for an African-American museum in Kentucky.

Wright went to the Buffalo Bill Historical Center in Cody, Wyoming, as a consultant, and stayed on to become the development director.

During his various directorships, Wright created, or oversaw the creation of, a wide variety of exhibits ranging from an Italian Renaissance exhibition entitled, "Gloria Dell'Arte," to an exhibition of Warner Brothers cartoons, cells and drawings called "That's All Folks."

Wright says that American art, decorative arts and architecture are all areas of interest. He has worked with Native American art collections, and recently completed an exhibition on North American racetracks.

Some of Wright's professional credits include serving as a committee member for the National Endowment for the Arts, the Association of Art Museum Directors and Indiana Arts Council.

He has been a grants reader for the National Endowment for the Humanities.

On the personal side, Wright has been a Rotarian and a member of the vestry of his church. He has been active as a soccer coach and referee and he enjoys tennis, golf and trout fishing.

Helen Pogue wins a blue ribbon for valley scene

A field trip to John Meigs' gallery in San Antonio paid off with a blue ribbon for artist Helen Pogue of Midland, Texas.

Pogue's "The Guest House at Fort Meigs" oil painting was awarded a blue ribbon first place award in the Art Institute for the Permian Basin 1994 Exhibit this June in Odessa, Texas.

According to information provided by the artist, the first place ribbon was picked by Clay McGaughy, an artist and illustrator from San Antonio, Texas.

Pogue said she and her Carrizo Lodge Art School classmates were invited to the Meigs estate to paint in "plein air" on location.

"At that time, I sketched and photographed Mr. Meigs' guest house on the Ruidoso River, and during the winter months proceeded to execute an oil painting of the scene," said Pogue.

"I am very grateful to Mr. Meigs for being so hospitable and gracious in inviting and giving artists an opportunity to paint and study the light and shadow of New Mexico in such a lovely setting as San Patricio," she added.

Pogue also won two honorable mentions in the Permian Basin show, one for an oil on canvas titled "Ski Basin Road, Santa Fe," and the other for "Early Light, Gunnison."

Pogue, who spends her summers in Ruidoso, paints on location with low-light — early morning or late afternoon — to capture the shadows. She said shadows are very important because they add drama and effect.

"And that's what painting is all about — capturing the affect of the light on an object," said Pogue.

Pogue's paintings and her prints hang in churches and private collections from Santa Fe to Atlanta, Georgia, according to a news release.

Apprentice chefs sponsor art show and five-course dinner

The American Culinary Federation and the Mescalero Apache Culinary Apprentices are sponsoring the First Annual Mescalero Apache Indian Art Show, with American Indian artists exhibiting their work from New Mexico and Arizona.

This two-day show, to be conducted from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. on Saturday, August 27, and from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Sunday, August 28. Admission to the art show is free and open to the public.

A silent auction will be conducted on Saturday with the proceeds contributed to the Mescalero Apache Culinary Apprentices. The show will be juried.

On Saturday evening, at 7 p.m., a five-course southwest dinner will be prepared by the apprentices, along with the kitchen staff of the Inn. Certified Executive Chef James Muldowney is orchestrating this event and he hopes to educate and interest the public in the apprenticeship program.

The crown dancers will perform following dinner.

CRIMESTOPPERS "CRIME OF THE WEEK"

Graffiti

The Ruidoso-Lincoln County Crime Stoppers will pay a $500 cash reward for information leading to the arrest and Magistrate Court Bindover of the person or persons responsible for the graffiti in Ruidoso this past week. Crimestoppers will also pay cash rewards for the recovery of stolen property or the solving of other felony crimes.

Phone 257-4545

A cooperative effort between the Ruidoso Chamber of Commerce and the Ruidoso-Lincoln County Crimestoppers to deter graffiti from being a part of our mountain scenery is currently underway. This intentional damage to property is not only considered visually unacceptable, but is also costly to the citizens of our community. It has a bearing on our insurance rates, our real estate values, and our village in general. As citizens of Lincoln County, we can deter the impact of this type criminal activity in our community by getting involved, and reporting any suspicious activity to the local law enforcement agency in your area, or by calling Crimestoppers.

The Crimestoppers phone line is manned 24 hours a day, seven days a week, and you do not have to give your name to be eligible for a cash reward. The Crimestoppers phone number is 257-4545. Anyone wishing to call collect may do so within Lincoln County.

LEGAL NOTICE PUBLIC NOTICE USDA FOREST SERVICE LINCOLN

NATIONAL FOREST SMOKEY BEAR RANGER DISTRICT

Notice is hereby given that bacteriological water samples, from the South Fork Campground and Cedar Creek Picnic and Ranger Station water supply systems, were not collected during the month of June, 1994. Due to wildfire suppression activities in the local area, personnel were not available to collect the water samples. As a result, the bacteriological quality of the water was undetermined for the above period. Water samples were taken during the month of July and the quality was determined to meet N.M. water supply standards. For more information, please contact the Smokey Bear Ranger District at (505) 257-4095. #9408 1T(8)11

Interested parties wishing to apply for assistance under either Section 16 (elderly and disabled transportation) and/or Section 18 (public transportation), must return a Letter of Intent postmarked no later than August 31, 1994 to: New Mexico State Highway and Transportation Department, Public Transportation Programs Bureau, P.O. Ruidoso School District

Attendance Policy

The Ruidoso School District is committed to excellence in education. Every student will have an equal opportunity to receive a sound educational program. As a District we believe that regular school attendance has been shown to be the first necessity for success in school. Maximum learning cannot occur if a child is not in class. Therefore, it is the responsibility of the parent and the student to hold absences to a minimum.

It is the responsibility of the student and parent, guardian or one having custody to ensure that the respective student take advantage of the learning opportunities at Ruidoso High School.

The Public School Code, Chapter 7, Compulsory School Attendance Law, Section 22-12-2, states the following:

"Any qualified student and any person who because of his/her age is eligible to become a qualified student as defined by the Public School Finance Act until attaining the age of majority SHALL attend a public school or a state institution."

"Any parent, guardian or person having custody and control of a person subject to the provisions of the Compulsory School Attendance Law is responsible for the school attendance of the person."

General Policy

- A. A student may have no more than 10 absences per semester.
- B. When a student has six absences his/her parents will be notified.
- C. When a student has eight absences his/her parents will be notified and a conference requested.
- D. The parents will be notified again on the 10th absence.
- E. Should an 11th absence occur the parent may be referred to the Juvenile Probation Office for violating Article XII, Section 5 of the New Mexico Children's Code, or Section 10-4-4 of the Mescalero Apache Tribal Code.

Report Cards

Report cards are indicators of students progress. They are based on nine (9) week periods. At the High School final grades are given at the end of each semester. These report cards are computerized. If you have questions regarding any of the reports, including grades on the report card, call our counselor's office for either an explanation or to set-up a conference.

To help the parent monitor their child's progress, interim report cards will be handed out to students at the end of 5 weeks of each nine (9) week grading period.

Ruidoso Middle School

Seventh and Eighth Grades

Registration and Orientation

New students entering grades 7 or 8 may register on August 8th and 9th, 1994 from 9:00 am to 3:00 pm at the Middle School office. Shot records will be required for registration and parents or guardian will need to fill out and sign a transcript request form.

Students who were in Ruidoso schools at the close of last year do not have to register.

Elective Fee

Because of rising costs and budget limitation, each student will need to pay $10.00 per year for elective fees. This should be paid by the end of the second week, as each student will be involved in elective courses. If there is a financial problem, arrangements to pay the fee can be made. Please talk with Mrs. Papponi.

First Day of School - August 18, 1994

All 7th grade students will report to the hall outside the cafeteria. Students' names will be posted under their first hour teacher. Students will then report to first hour, and receive their full schedule from their first hour teacher.

All 8th grade students will report to the gym lobby. Students' names will be posted under their homeroom teacher. Students will then report to homeroom.

Dress Codes

In order to provide a safe, stimulating and productive educational environment for our students at Ruidoso High School, the following guidelines will be implemented:

A. As a Ruidoso High School student, you are preparing for successful post-secondary experience and must practice proper dress and grooming. Although clothing is an individual preference, it is expected that all students will dress neatly, cleanly, appropriately and not to draw undue attention to themselves.

B. All hats, caps, headgear, bandanas, hairnets, etc. will be removed before entering the school building and stored appropriately in lockers or lockers for the duration of the school day. No hats allowed in the building during an instructional day. NOT EVEN AT LUNCH.

All sunglasses worn in the building will be confiscated and turned in to the office. Students must see the Vice-Principal for their return.

C. No student shall wear, possess, use, distribute, display or sell any clothing, jewelry, emblem, badge, sign or other items that:

1. evidence or reflects membership in, or affiliations with any organization, especially Ruidoso High School; or

2. which display profanity, obscenity, violence, tobacco, alcohol, or other items prohibited in the building.

Students wearing clothes which reflect membership with any gang or which displays profanity, sex or substance abuse (#2 above) will be sent home for the remainder of the day. Repeated offenses will result in suspension.

This list will be reviewed regularly and updated as necessary!

Parking Codes

1. All students must register their vehicle(s) with Mrs. Elder. All vehicles must have a RHS parking tag to park on-campus. Parking spaces are available for $15.00, $10.00 or $1.00.

2. No student without a valid license will be permitted to drive his/her car or motorcycle on the school grounds at any time.

3. Vehicles must be licensed and insured. The school is not responsible for the vehicles or its contents.

4. Five (5) miles per hour is the maximum speed on school grounds. Speeding or reckless driving will be reported to the police and the student's parents. Driving privileges may be suspended for violations of rules.

5. Student vehicles are subject to search if there are reasonable grounds to believe that drugs, alcohol, stolen property or other contraband might be present in that vehicle.

6. There will be no loitering in any other parking areas during school hours.

7. Students are NOT to park in the teacher's parking lot or the areas behind the cafeteria, vocational building, science/fine arts building, or industrial arts building. Students' vehicles parked in these areas may be subject to towing at the student's expense.
