Tonkawas reject MRS on tribal land

The Tonkawa Tribe in northcentral Oklahoma has rejected a proposal to store nuclear waste on reservation land. By a 58-43 margin, tribal members in a referendum Friday rejected the possibility of either federal or private storage near a former reservation boys school at Chilocco, said Ray Mitchell, whose wife is Tonkawa. "They had promised each person in the tribe $20,000 per year, but they rejected it even though most are at or below poverty level," Mitchell said. "The leader said she will accept the will of her people and stop all negotiations."

Hotel deck collapses injuring 17

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer
Seventeen guests at an Eastern New Mexico University reception were injured Tuesday when a second floor porch of a local motel collapsed, sliding several to the ground below.

Village officials have determined that the decking was not covered by a construction permit issued for an addition to the Best Western Swiss Chalet Inn in 1991, and had never been inspected.

Cheryl LaCounte, director of student affairs at the Ruidoso center of the university, was standing about three feet away from the point where the wood supports for the deck broke.

"We heard wood crack and there was a split second before it broke and went down," she said. "There was nothing to hang on to. I tumbled down with it, but it wasn't a straight fall. I went down the incline."

"I landed with no one else around me. In a matter of seconds, hotel personnel were there helping."

LaCounte suffered bruises and cervical sprain.

Winston Cox managed to grab some broken timber as he watched other university officials fall.

"Then I was able to slide down," a scratched and bruised Cox said.

Executive director of university relations, Cox was among 17 persons taken to the Lincoln County Medical Center after the accident at the chalet on State Highway 37.

"We were here for our annual retreat prior to the beginning of the fall session," he said. "We were having a reception on the porch and it just collapsed."

"One thing we all would like to say is that we strongly compliment the emergency medical personnel and hospital staff. They both were excellent."

Cox said the two persons most seriously injured were seated, even though several others were leaning against the railing.

Ruidoso Police Chief Lanny Maddox said Wednesday that all

Business operators call for fair trash rates

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer
Business owners in the county are willing to pay their fair share, but they're bristling about the low commercial garbage collection rates Ruidoso businesses have been paying.

They took their objections to the Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority Monday and were told that some of the blame for the inequity belongs to business owners who served on the board when the authority became operational.

Jonnie Van Winkle, who owns the Circle B Campground east of Ruidoso Downs asked authority general manager Joe Lewandowski why businesses in the unincorporated areas of the county pay a higher rate than those in the municipalities of Ruidoso, Capitan and Ruidoso Downs.

"A year ago I tried to get a price breakdown and couldn't," Van Winkle said. "Things have been better since Joe (Lewandowski) took over, but who sets the rates? The one set for Ruidoso is way too cheap. It's double for Ruidoso Downs and quadruple for the county. We're way too high."

Board chairman Wilton Howell, a county commissioner, explained that each member of the authority sets its own rates. The board is a coalition of the county and its five municipalities. Two towns, Carrizozo and Corona, are not yet receiving service from the authority.

While other members passed ordinances giving them control over residential and commercial rates, the county's ordinance was silent on commercial service.

That left the responsibility to Lewandowski, who shortly after being hired 13 months ago established a rate based on current market conditions.

"I found that before, someone was being charged $18 right next door to someone paying $60," he said. "There was no rhyme or reason."

County businesses pay $45 for once a week pickup on each bin. Extra collections cost more. In Ruidoso, the current rate is $9 a bin, $18 in Ruidoso Downs and $29 in Capitan.

Ruidoso Councilor J.D. James, who serves on the authority board, said the rates that existed when the coalition became operational two years ago were left intact as a political consideration.

"One of the reasons we're having problems today is because of politics," he said. "There were business people on the board (from Ruidoso) at that time, who didn't want to impact their own businesses and kept (commercial rates) at $9. It was unrealistic and now we're faced with in order to make it operate in the black, we are being penalized for the ones who formed it."

Howell and Ruidoso Mayor Jerry Shaw, who is an authority board member, agreed.

That inequity should be taken care of when new rates proposed by Lewandowski are approved by the three towns. Ruidoso's commercial rate will increase to $29 a bin, as will Ruidoso Downs. Capitan's rate would go to $32.

Please see Business, page 2A

Business

"We realize the Ruidoso rate is too cheap," Howell said. "The rates are being adjusted now. It will be the first time the county commission has looked at commercial rates."

"Our county dumpsters actually are easier to get to than places in Ruidoso," Van Winkle said.

Lewandowski said that volume and density determine the price.

While 40 dumpsters in the county may be spread over 12 miles, in Ruidoso, they are clustered in four to five blocks.

He said part of the adjustment was to determine the actual number of pickups at each bin and to charge for each one. The charge must match the service, he said. That's why some bills doubled a few months ago. It wasn't a rate increase, it was a charge for two pickups a week.

Van Winkle again complimented the service.

"They've done an excellent job this year," he said. "I haven't had to call once. It's just that I object to paying four times as much, although I realize I may have to pay more."

"County people don't mind paying their fair share," said Lyle Deveraux, who owns the Mountain High RV Park. "We realize it costs more for diesel fuel to pick up our dumpsters. We just want to pay our fair share."

Earlier in the discussion, Lewandowski said that Ruidoso Downs already had approved higher residential and commercial rates. As an added service, the authority will take over the monthly billing for that town. The Capitan Board of Trustees will conduct a hearing next month to consider different options.

The county commission elected to postpone and possibly cancel this year's $10,000 payment toward a debt incurred by the authority when equipment was purchased from the county. Commissioners also agreed to help construct convenience stations for the authority.

"We can't bind future commissions by forgiving the entire debt," said Commissioner Bill Schwetmann, an authority board member. "It will have to be decided year by year."

Shaw said the county's action is not a permanent solution.

"I think you all are wrong to expect us (Ruidoso and other villages) to give a rate increase and you don't," Shaw told county officials. "I'm already getting calls and letters from residents who are extremely unhappy."

Howell noted that in breaking down the cost of serving each entity in the authority, the county is generating $80,000 over expenses.

"This authority has profited by us, while others are using that profit up," he said. "My feeling is one entity shouldn't supplement the others."

"Right now, we don't require much in special pickups. We're in the black and we're not getting all of those extra services."

Shaw countered that when Ruidoso sold its equipment to the authority, it was operating a collection service in the black. It might have been a better idea for Ruidoso to join Alamogordo on its own, if each of the six authority member entities is required to stand on its own, she said.

"I see this as a unit. We're in it together," Shaw said. "If not, there's no point in having an authority."

"Maybe I stated it wrong," Howell said. "I just don't think the county should supplement by $100,000 the operation of the others."

Member Jerry Wright added that Ruidoso couldn't have continued operating on the same level as three years ago, because it would have incurred heavier landfill costs under new state regulations, as well as increased demands for special services.

Ruidoso village manager Gary Jackson agreed, saying that conditions are different from a few years ago.

But Capitan member Bernie Reimann said before the authority was formed, the county paid for a commercial carrier to service the dumpsters (fewer than today) and paid for the service through general fund money.

"That money was contributed from the entire county. We in the cities paid for it besides our own trash collection," he said.

Shaw added, "And Ruidoso pays 70 percent of your (property) tax revenue."

Lewandowski has said he needs an additional $300,000 a year to buy replacement equipment, add new equipment and continue to provide some free services, such as pine needle collection, primarily to the Ruidoso residents.

decks at the motel have been closed by Ruidoso code enforcement officers pending a safety inspection by a civil engineer. A report is expected sometime today.

Maddox said the emergency call was received at 5:56 p.m. Tuesday.

The Ruidoso Police department, fire department and emergency medical services teams responded, as well as code enforcement officers and village manager Gary Jackson.

"Fifteen of those persons (on the deck) taken to the hospital were treated and released," Maddox said.

Renee Neeley, assistant vice president for academic affairs in Portales, Texas, was flown to Lubbock, Texas, with an apparent broken hip. Loyd Hughes, provost of Eastern's Roswell campus, was taken to Roswell with an apparent broken leg.

The rest of the retreat and a scheduled meeting of the university regents planned for Friday were canceled, Cox said. Twenty-six persons had registered for the retreat.

Village manager Jackson met with staff from the chalet Wednesday afternoon. Earlier in the day, with the help of building department and code enforcement staff, he had determined that a construction permit issued Oct. 17, 1991, for a lobby addition to the chalet did not include the deck area that collapsed.

"The only item checked was 'addition' and there is a separate box for 'decking' as one of 12 possible items," Jackson said.

No deck was shown on the front elevation drawing of the addition.

Although decks may have been discussed during the site development review, the construction plans did not include a deck, he said. No permit was requested for the addition of decking on the north side of the building and no inspections of the decking were conducted, because the unit was not part of the permitted construction.

The permit for the lobby addition was issued to Draw Engineering, but Jackson said that firm did not build the deck. Swiss Chalet owner Hans Schlunegger has indicated independent carpenters were hired.

In a typed statement, Giddings Brown, general manager of the chalet, said that the staircase apparently failed when members of the Eastern group rushed to the railing to see an animal in the woods.

"We have arranged to accommodate and feed the entire ENMU group, as well as arriving relatives and support staff for as long as necessary," Brown said. "We also have arranged for accommodations in Lubbock for the family of the party that is hospitalized there. Our insurer has been notified and their representatives are on the scene."

"We have a structural engineer scheduled to arrive (today) to inspect the damage and determine the cause."

Jackson said the State Construction Industry Division also is sending its own certified inspector today to inspect the collapsed deck and determine whether it was built in compliance with acceptable standards.

His report will be given to the village's building inspector. Jackson said, "At that time, the owner will be able to submit a permit request for demolition of the deck and then they can apply to rebuild."

"I want to commend the medical teams and the police, too, as well as the staff up at the Swiss Chalet," said Jay Francis, CEO for the managing company.

"Our primary concern right now is just that the people who were injured are taken care of."

Authority considers garbage districts

A proposal to form five sanitation districts in Lincoln County and elect representatives to operate the Solid Waste Authority is being explored by authority members.

Board Chairman Wilton Howell, a Lincoln county commissioner, said Monday that the approach would be more efficient and provide better representation for residents.

Under his proposal, one board member would be elected by voters within each district.

"That way, the authority could set rates and not have to run back to each of the boards for approval," he said. "As it stands now, we can't file liens and we can't cite violators. That would all change."

"I'd like to see us explore creating sanitary districts, cut up the county by population. I think it would be far more representative of the people."

Former councilor charged with DWI

A former Ruidoso councilor was arrested Sunday and charged with driving while intoxicated (DWI).

William Karn, 49, was stopped at 2:17 a.m. Sunday by New Mexico State Police for allegedly speeding on Hull Road in Ruidoso.

He was arrested and booked for DWI first offense (driving while intoxicated), speeding and driving without proof of insurance, according to police records. He posted a cash bond of $903, which later was returned and an unsecured appearance bond was substituted.

Magistrate Judge William Butts said attorney Don Dutton advised him that he will be Mr. Karn's counsel. Dutton said his client will waive arraignment and is entering a plea of not guilty.

Clarification

Ruidoso family doctor, Arlene Brown, M.D., was named Doctor of the Year by the New Mexico chapter of the American Academy of Family Practitioners (AAFP).

Dr. Brown, who practices at Family Practice Associates, is New Mexico's nominee for the academy's title.

In a recent announcement of Dr. Brown's award, The Ruidoso News reported that she was named Doctor of the Year by the AAFP, national organization, rather than the New Mexico group.

Dr. Brown is a past president of the New Mexico chapter of AAFP.

Lincoln man reported missing, vehicle discovered in Roswell

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

An inmate, who escaped from Camp Sierra Blanca, was arrested late Wednesday in a car belonging to an elderly Lincoln resident, missing for the past three days.

A search was launched early today for Clark Pfingsten, 84, who was last seen Monday, according to Lincoln County Undersheriff Bob Miller.

David Michael Crawford, 24, of Fort Sumner and Portales, was apprehended at 11:20 p.m. Wednesday in Roswell, according to Sgt. Leo Lopez of the Roswell Police Department.

"He had called a female to ask her to meet him at Goddard High School," Lopez said. "Officers set up at a distance and were waiting for him when he arrived. He was taken without incident."

Crawford, who was serving an 18-month sentence for receiving stolen property, was discovered missing during a 9:45 p.m. bed check Sunday at the minimum security prison near Fort Stanton. He was scheduled to complete his prison term Dec. 21, and was serving his first sentence on a felony conviction, according to Lbu Armijo, public information officer for the State Department of Corrections.

Fred Pfingsten, the missing man's cousin, said Clark Pfingsten is a widower and lives alone in the settlement of Lincoln. He is described as having gray hair, but always wore a cap, is clean shaven, about 5 feet, nine inches tall, with a slender frame.

Anyone who may have seen Pfingsten or his 1979 white and blue Ford pickup since Monday, should contact either the Lincoln County Sheriff's Department or the Roswell Police Department.

Friends remember John Hix with a special horse race in his honor

by DON HIXON
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

When 93-year-old John H. Hix died in December of 1993, he left little in the way of material possessions.

He did not own a car or house, had no hidden bank accounts and his meager belongings would be of small value.

But Hix did leave a legacy which those who knew him will treasure forever. That legacy is the memory of a seemingly common man who was, by all accounts, uncommon.

Hix's list of friends reads like a who's who of long-time Ruidoso residents. Ginger Tracy, Diane Fox, Betty Bennett, Betsy Seiler, Peggy McClellan, Shirley Atwood, Joe Reinhardt and J.A. "Doc" Potts are only a few.

Hix was born in Dixie, Oklahoma, March 4, 1900. Little is known of his early life except that he was in the Army during both World War I and World War II where he was a truck driver, and that something happened in 1947 which changed his life. Some theorize that the catalyst was a love gone wrong or a religious experience, but one thing is certain, Hix came to the mountains of Ruidoso to begin a new life.

In a story by Sheri Cantwell in the July 8, 1991, edition of The Ruidoso News, Hix is quoted as saying, "God told me to quit my way of living, to give my wife the car and leave."

According to that same story, Hix gave up drinking alcohol, and never owned another car.

No one seems to know exactly when Hix arrived in Ruidoso, but it was probably around 1942 or 1943.

Early on, Hix supported himself by doing construction and odd jobs around Ruidoso. In his later years, and with failing eyesight, he tended several yards to supplement the income he received from two small federal checks.

According to Cantwell's article, Hix never wanted much and lived by Biblical teachings, trusting that God would provide for him. He lived a simple lifestyle in small trailers or shacks, often without running water or other modern conveniences.

If there was a need in the community, Hix was quick to help. He did plumbing repairs, fought fires, and rebuilt damaged houses, but his independent spirit sometimes frustrated his friends.

"Everyone wanted to give him something, but he never wanted anything," remembers Betty Bennett, "When I was a child I saw him in the grocery store and asked him if he needed anything. No, he replied, Do you? I told him I would like to have some cheese. He bought some, gave it to me, and you never saw a happier person."

Diane Fox, or "the coach's wife," as Hix called her, recalled the time she casually mentioned to him the high price of peanut butter.

"The next day he showed up with a jar of peanut butter for me. He was one of the most giving human beings I've ever known."

Roller skating was one of Hix's passions and he was a familiar sight at the old roller rink.

In the 1950s, Hix was a member

Don Hixon/The Ruidoso News

JOHN HIX TOMBSTONE

of the skating group known as the "Ruidoso Rollers," where an unorthodox skating style earned him the nickname "Highstepper."

"I think every kid in town learned to skate from Johnny," said Ginger Tracy, who owns the Ruidoso Bus Station. "He was so good with children, very gentle and kind."

In the early 1980s, Hix decided to spend some time in El Paso. He took a small room in one of the inexpensive hotels in the downtown district. Upon returning to his room one evening he was badly beaten and left for dead. Friends say that his health seemed to decline after the incident.

The other passion in Hix's life, besides roller skating and helping people, was horse racing.

Hix either rode the bus or walked to the track to attend every race, every day. He became such a fixture at the racetrack that when Ginger Tracy and Diane Fox suggested a memorial in his honor, track officials were quick to oblige.

"Diane and I just felt that there was something incomplete about his life," said Ginger Tracy. "We considered having a graveside memorial but I just know having it at the track is what Johnny would have wanted."

According to J.A. "Doc" Potts, one morning during November of 1993, Hix fell while walking (or possibly had a light stroke) and cut his head. Someone took him to the Ruidoso hospital where they cleaned the wound and sewed up his head. A few days later he was re-admitted because of headaches, and after being transferred to hospitals in Roswell and Albuquerque, was sent back to Ruidoso where he died on December 21, 1993.

Hix was buried at Forest Lawn Cemetery in Ruidoso, on December 22, 1993, with the Rev. Jimmy Sportsman officiating.

When John H. Hix passed away he left little in the way of material possessions, but the gifts of love, compassion, and caring which he demonstrated over his lifetime will last forever in the hearts of those who knew him.

The John Hix Memorial Race took place at the Ruidoso Downs Race Track on Sunday, August 14, 1994, with "Ed Grimley" winning.

Five artists plan exhibit in Ruidoso

Five New Mexico artists will be informally spotlighted this weekend at Ruidoso's Hondo Gallery.

Ruidoso Downs artists David and Linda Smith, who just returned from a painting excursion in France, will show small oils painted on location in and around Paris and the Atlantic fishing village of La Rochelle.

Linda Smith, a member of the Salmagundi Club and a signature member of the Pastel Society of America, both in New York, is known for her portraits, most recently of the late Fern Sawyer.

Architect and artist David Smith, however, specializes in landscape and harbor scenes.

Ruidoso painter Peggy Jones will show recent pastels as well as oils.

Although her best known works are dramatic renderings of Lincoln county skies and clouds, she also paints the female nude as well as equine portraits.

Santa Fe octogenarian Harlan Lizer has been painting the northern New Mexico land for decades. A student of the legendary Alfred Morang, Lizer's oils have that mid-century feeling of the past Santa Fe and Taos art colonies.

Elizabeth McIntosh (Mrs. Lizer) specializes in watercolors of northern New Mexico. A lifelong artist, Elizabeth McIntosh's paintings have the clarity of color and "sparkle" of the traditional watercolor technique.

All five artists will be present at a casual gathering from 5 to 8 p.m. Friday, Aug. 19, at Hondo Gallery, 1404 Sudderth Drive. The public is invited to attend.

Also this weekend the Museum of the Horse presents the All American Art Show & Sale from 7 to 10 p.m. Saturday, August 20, at the museum.

For reservations, tickets and information, call the Museum of the Horse at 378-4142.

RHS Warriors ready to scrimmage Oñate Knights

by DON HIXON

Ruidoso News Staff Writer

The Ruidoso Warriors varsity football team charges into W.D. Horton Stadium at 2 p.m. this Friday, Aug. 19, for a scrimmage against the Las Cruces Oñate Knights.

Warriors head coach Les Carter, beginning his first year leading the Warriors, reflected on his coaching philosophy and team strategy.

"Our basic belief with high school football is to keep it as simple as possible," said Coach Carter.

"We believe that if we are the quality team that we need to be, we can take a series of seven to 12 plays and run them off of four or five different sets," he added.

"In my years as a head coach, I've learned that by keeping it simple and teaching basics and fundamentals, the players become confident. That confidence creates a situation where the players react much better when they are on the field."

Turning his attention to Friday's scrimmage, Carter was optimistic.

"We feel pretty solid right now," he said.

"We've got right at 40 boys, sophomores through seniors, and our predominantly strong class is our juniors.

Heza Fast Man, A Streak Of Cash top Derby trials

Rainbow Derby winner A Streak Of Cash and Heza Fast Man, the runner-up in last year's All American Futurity, top a group of the nation's finest 3-year-old quarter horses entered in five trials for the Grade I $210,000 All American Derby, Thursday at Ruidoso Downs.

The 10 fastest qualifiers from the trials advanced to the 440-yard final which is scheduled for Sept. 4. A Streak Of Cash established himself as the leading contender for the All American Derby when he defeated a classy field of sophomores in the Grade I $115,016 Rainbow Derby on July 3.

In the derby, the Streakin Six colt rallied late for the neck win over I Hear A Symphony and Special Phoebe who are also entered in Thursday's trials. A Streak Of Cash, who is trained by Dwayne "Sleepy" Gilbreath for owners John Sotseu and Stephen Williams, drew into the third trial.

The John Bassett-charge Heza Fast Man finished only a nose behind A Classic Dash in one of the most dramatic All American Futurities in history last year, returns to action in the fourth trial heat. The Arizona-bred son of The Signatures made his 1994 Ruidoso debut in a July 17 allowance contest and trounced his foes by an ever-widening 1 1/4-lengths. Heza Fast Man is owned by San Tan Tilage Inc. of Queen Creek, Ariz.

Other solid contenders in the trials include stakes winners Treacherously, Stucky Fred, Special Phoebe.

A simulcast of the New York Turf Writers Cup Steeplechase will be shown Thursday as the sixth race. The race card concludes with five simulcasts from Del Mar.

4 futurity winners highlight All American trials on Friday

Rainbow Futurity winner Dash Its Couper and Ruidoso Futurity victor Meltdown highlight the 16 trial divisions for the $1.7 million All American Futurity, Friday at Ruidoso Downs.

A total of 156 of the nation's most talented two-year-olds have assembled at the mountaintop racing strip for the 440-yard trials. The 10 fastest qualifiers from the trials advance to the Sept. 5 final which is billed as the world's richest quarter horse race.

The All American rewards the winning owner $1 million.

Joining the local futurity winners are Oklahoma imports Darlin Sixarun and Daring Difference, who triumphed in the Remington Park and Heritage Place Futurities respectively.

Darlin Sixarun, who ran a strong second in the Heritage Place, heads the list of $50,000 supplementary entries to the trials. The undefeated New Mexico-bred Major Rime and the stakes placed gelding The Fling King were also supplemented by their owners.

The other supplements are For Kicks and Check This Reb.

Meltdown and Dash Its Couper both drew into the fifth trial division which shapes up as a rematch of the Grade I Rainbow. The two juveniles battled head-and-head for the last 100 yards in the 400-yard Rainbow with Dash Its Couper prevailing by a neck at the wire.

The Larry Keiter-trained filly is undefeated in two starts in her young career. Meltdown, who resides in the Jack Brooks barn, captured the Grade I Ruidoso Futurity on Memorial Day weekend and is one of the most consistent two-year-olds in the trials.

Brooks is represented by 15 horses in the trials as he seeks his unprecedented seventh All American triumph.

Darlin Sixarun and Daring Difference are the strongest contenders shipping in for the trials and deserve strong consideration. The Toby Keeton-charge Darlin Sixarun scored an impressive victory in the Grade I Remington Park Futurity and has returned victorious in four of six career outings.

The gelding will run in the tenth trial. Daring Difference, conditioned by Mike Robbins, ran second to Darlin Sixarun in the Remington Futurity, then turned the tables on her rival in the Grade I Heritage Place in mid-July.

The filly is currently the richest two-year-old in the nation with nearly $290,000 in earnings.

Daring Difference is in the eleventh trial.

Other horses to watch in the trials include Los Alamitos Kindergarten Futurity runner-up First Down Hussey and Blinded By The Light, who ran a close third in the Rainbow. The Incredible Dash, fastest qualifier to the Rainbow, is one of 17 horses in the trials under the tutelage of trainer Dwayne "Sleepy" Gilbreath.

Seasoned racing champs in the gates for full Saturday card

Seasoned stakes competitors Power Stretch, Gee Ryder and Call Me Dale look to be the early favorites among a talented group of 10 older sprinters entered in the $8,000 Ruidoso Sprint Championship, Saturday.

The Sprint Championship is for 3-year-olds and up and will be contested at six furlongs.

Saturday's 15-race program includes a simulcast of the Grade I $750,000 Travers Stakes from Saratoga in upstate New York and two simulcasts from Del Mar.

The 1 1/4-mile Travers features some of the top three-year-olds currently in training including Preakness and Belmont Stakes winner Tabasco Cat and Holy Bull who has won three straight stakes. The Grade III $75,000 Pat O'Brien Breeders' Cup Handicap is the Del Mar feature.

Fletcher Hall Jr.'s Power Stretch Handicap here June 11 and is a major threat at the six furlong distance. The five-year-old New Mexico-bred gelding by Full Choke has won four times and lit the board in nine of 24 starts going Saturday's distance. Power Stretch, who resides in the Doyal Roberts' barn, has struggled since his last stakes win, but should return to peak form in the Sprint Championship.

The gelding is owned by Hall of Captain.

Gee Ryder has made two starts since returning from a nine month layoff and is rounding into the form that won him two stakes last year. The six-year-old son of Red Ryder has run second in both his starts this year against allowance company for owner Mike Weatherly of Las Cruces.

The versatile performer led from start-to-finish in last year's Ruidoso Mile Handicap and also won the six furlong Mr. Vale Handicap at Sunland Park last fall. Gee Ryder is trained by Simon Buechler.

The Linda Osborne-pupil Call Me Dale shipped in from Turf Paradise earlier this summer and has placed in two stakes and won an allowance contest in four starts in the Land Of Enchantment.

Board votes to replace CHS roof

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Portions of Capitan High School's roof will be replaced in an effort to eliminate leaks and related problems.

The school board Thursday granted permission for district superintendent Diana Sonnamaker to go out for bids on the project. The deadline to submit is Thursday, Aug. 25. Board members will meet at 7 a.m. Friday, Aug. 26, to approve the lowest and best bid.

"The portion we're going to reroof is the flat area over the science and administration area," Sonnamaker explained.

Under personnel issues, the board accepted the retirement notice of Bobbe Fowler as fifth grade teacher and hired Tiffany Menix as her replacement.

Cooks Bonnie Rogers and Mae

Padilla resigned. Janice Fraley and Ellen Fay Womack were hired to take their places.

George Holman was selected as the special education resource teacher for the middle and high schools.

In other action, the board set the grand opening for the new middle school from noon to 3 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 21. Classes in the district will start Tuesday, Aug. 23.

Mescalero leaders accuse feds of waffling on nuclear waste policy

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

A consultant to the Mescalero Apache tribal council says the federal government has flip-flopped on its nuclear fuel disposal policy and has treated his clients shabbily.

During testimony delivered earlier this month on behalf of Silas Cochise to the U.S. House Energy and Power Subcommittee, Miller Hudson said the tribal council will fight any effort to pass legislation designed to prevent the Mescalero tribe from developing a private, temporary fuel storage facility.

Hudson noted that the tribal council has been involved with federal high level nuclear waste program for three years.

"During the past three years, we couldn't help noticing that the high level waste program is deeply flawed," Hudson said. "The Mes-calero Tribal Council's treatment in the voluntary MRS (Monitored Retrievable Storage) siting effort has been shabby.

"We responded in good faith to an invitation from this Congress that we consider hosting an MRS facility on tribal lands. To the contrary, Congress reversed itself and canceled further funding. In addition, the nuclear waste negotiator has not responded to the tribe's request for siting negotiations.

"This flip-flopping policy caused us to pursue the construction and operation of a private spent fuel storage facility outside the federal program. We currently are negotiating the terms and conditions that will regulate such a storage facility.

"The agreement we seek will guarantee jobs and revenues to the tribe, but our greatest concern is the safety and health of our people.

Our utility partners share that concern."

Since embarking on an effort to construct a private spent fuel storage facility, the Mescalero council has entered a partnership with 33 nuclear power utilities.

Specific sites mention for the storage unit include the Three Rivers area on the west side of the Sacramento Mountains facing the Tularosa Basin between Alamogordo and the Lincoln County seat of Carrizozo.

Recently, the Nuclear Strategy Coalition, the National Association of Regulatory Commissioners and the Nuclear Energy Institute have announced support for the privatization of interim spent fuel storage, Hudson said.

While the government's drive to build an interim facility has been derailed by political objections, the Mescalero-private utility initiative is more likely to succeed, he said, "because it is being approached with the urgency and diligence of a 'for profit' business venture."

He said the Mescaleros have been assured by the Nuclear Regulatory Commission, as well as their own attorneys, that no changes are needed.

"If Congress does nothing, absolutely nothing, we can license this project," Hudson said. "I recognize this may run counter to your instincts.

"Let me be blunt. We are concerned that Washington will try and help us. Our experience in this regard has been very poor. I would like to put you on notice today, in the strongest possible way, that the Mescalero Tribal Council will vigorously oppose any legislation designed to prevent the tribe and our utility partners from constructing a private spent fuel storage facility."

He said issues that need federal attention include waste transportation and emergency response training.

"States will need funds to undertake these critical responsibilities, but such monies have been slow to materialize. It is our intention to open a storage facility early in the next century. We believe communities along its designated transportation corridors should be confident of their safety and secure in their ability to respond to an incident."

Hudson said the Mescaleros have demonstrated the courage to adopt new ways of thinking that could achieve three things for the tribe. It could accomplish diversification of the economy by bringing professional, high wage jobs to the reservation. It could assure long-term prosperity for future generations and it could assure the cultural survival and the growth of self-esteem of the Mescaleros through economic independence.

"We ask that you give us this chance. In return, we can help you solve a problem facing all Americans, the safe, secure storage of the nation's spent fuel until a permanent repository becomes available.

"You will find us trustworthy and reliable guardians."

He urged members of Congress to help by preventing "selfish, narrow interests from sabotaging this private initiative" that could solve a national problem without spending taxpayer money.

"Listen carefully," he told subcommittee members. "They offer no solutions. For reasons we all understand, they only want to stop us."

Garbage group stops legal action on past due bills

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Noting that the Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority has spent more than $4,000 to collect about $440 in overdue garbage bills, board members have suspended future legal action.

In a summary Monday, general manager Joe Lewandowski reported that 26 accounts were turned over to authority attorney J. Robert Beauvais for collection.

Of that amount 16 complaints have been filed with the court, four accounts have been paid, lien searches are underway on four and two were withdrawn due to billing errors.

"They (two accounts) didn't respond to certified letters and we incurred fees and filing costs only to learn eventually that they were on the billing rolls for the Village of Ruidoso," Lewandowski said. "We work off of legal descriptions and that can be difficult. The people didn't respond until they saw their names in the paper. We probably won't be able to collect any reimbursement for fees on those.

"The authority has paid a total of $3,767 in fees on these accounts and we have received a total of $1,472 in payoffs," he noted. The county was paid $175 for lien filing fees and $700 was paid directly to the title company for the title searches.

"We paid out a total of $4,604," Lewandowski said.

The board voted to have the general manager meet with Beauvais to see if a better arrangement can be worked out. Any vote required can be handled before the next joint meeting with the Otero County Solid Waste Authority. The date of that meeting has not been set.

Beauvais previously told the board that the process when completed would not cost the authority, because those persons taken to court would have to pay the fees for filing, the attorney, the court process and any other related expenses.

In other action, the board: —agreed to consider passing a resolution in support of the beverage container recycling act, commonly called the bottle bill, under review by the State Legislature.

Lewandowski said under the bill's provisions, the authority would cost 5-cents a bottle, but will be paid seven cents.

Grants from the container recycling fund will be available to help establish recycling centers or improve existing ones.

Gary Jackson, Ruidoso village manager, said since Lincoln County is a leader in recycling, it should endorse the bill. He said he will bring to the next board meeting samples of other resolutions that have been passed.

Lewandowski said glass is one of the biggest losers in the recycling business. The bill would mean more revenue and a little more paperwork for his staff.

—received a copy of a letter from Doreen M. Zarkowski, assistant general counsel for Camp, Dresser & McKee Inc., the firm that handled the design and permitting of the regional landfill owned by the authorities in Lincoln and Otero counties.

The letter was addressed to Rebecca W. Ehler, Alamogordo city attorney. The city operates the landfill for the authorities and handled the construction project.

The company is demanding payment or some discussion about alleged performance deficiencies and $163,000 being withheld on its contract with the authorities.

The board met for less than half an hour in closed session to discuss pending litigation.

Lodgers committee considers tax increase

by CHARLES STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

An increase in lodgers tax or gross receipts tax may be a necessity, Lodgers Tax Advisory Board members say.

Board vice chairman Bill Hirschfeld said Tuesday current lodgers tax revenues are inadequate for all of the community's advertising needs.

He said a one percent raise in the lodgers tax from four to five percent would generate an additional $60,000 per year and cap out the amount of lodgers tax allowable by law.

Hirschfeld said to raise the gross receipts tax (sales tax) by the allowable amount, one sixteenth of a percent, would bring in about $100,000 in revenues.

The last lodgers tax raise occurred Sept. 1, 1991, on a proposal by former councilor Ron Andrews, himself a lodger.

The advisory board only recommends to the village council. Any tax raises would be the decision of the council following a public hearing.

Members discussed the need for a village promotions board, to complement a proposed Convention

Visitors Bureau (CVB) Marketing Director, now in the planning to handle all village advertising.

Hirschfeld said such a board would carry representation by all entities of the village like skiing, real estate, clubs, horse racing, museums and retailers. He said those representatives would give input to the CVB or marketing director.

Board chairman Bill Chance said he will bring a proposal for a village promotions board to the village council before the year ends.

In other business, the board: —approved $1,500 to the Ruidoso Lions Club to help fund the International Association of Lions Clubs convention in Ruidoso.

—denied purchase of an ad in the New Mexico Municipal Clerks "Travel Guide."

—approved a "Ruidoso" metal promotion pins policy. Ruidoso pins will be the responsibility of the village clerk, to be stored at village hall. Requests are through application to the village clerk and quantity is limited to 100 pins.

Requests in excess of 100 pins shall be submitted to the Lodgers Tax Committee for a decision.

The Silver Lining

The Valley welcomes summer rains

This is being sent to you in midmorning of August 15.

Yesterday, evening clouds began moving out of the east on a cool breeze, which was welcome after a hot day. By evening, the light clouds had covered the sky and just after nightfall, the rain began sprinkling down while the golden half moon shone cheerfully through the thin cloud cover.

Early this morning, it was still raining lightly, and about an hour after sun-up, the rain gradually slowed down and clouds of low-flying mist began drifting up the valley into the Vale.

The air was cool, fresh and clean-washed, filled with the life giving flavor of the rain drops falling on the piñons, cedars and blue junipers. It filled you with the pride and joy of life to inhale this pure mountain air.

All morning the temperatures stayed around 70, cool for this time of the year.

Now at 11 o'clock, the sun breaks through an opening in the misty clouds, turning the meadows, glens and hillsides into a wonderland of raindrop jewelry, rubies, topaz, amethyst and emerald, shining on grass, bushes, evergreen and river trees.

Still the air is cool reminding you of a day in early fall. Other little touches of early fall appear here in midsummer.

The late summer flowers, the morning and evening primrose, the scarlet trumpets of the rocky mountain cilia, the wild four-o'clock are in full bloom.

By Dan Agnew Storm

The sunflower, beloved traditional emblem of the fall, is beginning to bloom by the roadside, their golden faces smiling from their stalks, six and seven feet tall.

Today is truly what you might call a day of fall in mid summer.

Our good health, the greatest wealth

There is an old German folk song titled "There is no wealth, but life."

During the last few years and especially during the last few months, we have been made especially conscious of our health. For years, we heard about vitamins, cholesterol and weight control and now health care.

Along with the remarkable progress in medical science, there has been a renewed emphasis on taking care of our own health, ourselves.

The old standby rules of physical fitness and good health remain little changed: fresh air, nourishing food, sound sleep and exercise. Climate comes into the picture here also, and we in New Mexico live in a climate that is world famous as a healthy place to live.

"Food as Medicine"

The other day, I read an article in a newspaper titled "Food as Medicine."

Of course, food is the great medicine, the source of physical life itself. This article brought out some good points, opening up a special field of study.

Among the foods long considered medicine are carrots, garlic, lemons, tomatoes, onions, rhubarb and asparagus.

The king of all medicinal food is, you guessed it, our old, old friend, the apple.

Long before we heard of vitamins, minerals and other very important modern day elements of health, we made up the old jingle, "An apple a day, keeps the doctor away."

In the old days, people stored apples in straw in special cellars, along with potatoes, so that they could be eating them almost all year.

Which brings us to the apple crop in the valley. The picture is somewhat better than earlier expected, what with the late breeze and record hail.

There are still apples ripening around Hondo and over the other way toward Bent.

I will let you know more, later on as the apple picture becomes more clear.

Meanwhile, follow the rules of all around well-being: physical, mental and spiritual. And thank the Lord always for our blessings.

Put safety first this fall

When the yellow school busses roll to take kids back to school, it's a good time for motorists to take stock of their driving habits. It's always time to drive carefully and watch out for the little folks.

Drivers are reminded to slow down, not just in school zones, but throughout the village where the fleet of busses is picking up and dropping off youngsters on most every street corner.

When a school bus stops and the driver turns on the flashing lights, vehicles following the bus are required to stop. If the road has just one lane each direction, oncoming vehicles also are required to stop.

In Ruidoso, four-lane roads are treated the same as divided highways. On Sudderth, and other streets with two lanes each direction, only the vehicles going in the same direction as the bus must stop, and the oncoming traffic can continue, according to Lt. Mike Lovelace of the Ruidoso Police Department.

"When you see a school bus, be aware that children are about, and children are at times unpredictable," added Lt. Lovelace. "They can dart out in front of you, and you must really be on your toes."

Safety begins at home, and parents can help keep their children safe by following these guidelines provided by the National PTA:

- Be on time.
- Never run to or from the bus.
- Stand back from the curb.
- Don't push or shove.
- Stay in your seat.
- Don't yell or shout.
- Always obey the driver.
- Wait for the driver's signal before crossing.
- Always cross at least 10 feet in front of the bus.
- Never crawl under a school bus.

Remember that it is everybody's business to ensure the safety of our children. Taking a few minutes to review these simple, but important rules can make the difference.

Letter to the Editor

Writer remembers when father really knew best

TO THE EDITOR:
I've become increasingly concerned about a planetary species that has not been, as yet, recognized as endangered, but actually is very close to extinction. The human male sometimes referred to as "Father."
Father used to "know best." Now he is absent from family scenes almost 60 percent of the time due to divorce. His children are automatically removed from his direct sphere of influence and control to basically a disinterested judge and a mother who contrary to "NOW" opinion cannot remotely surrogate a father.

If you care or are impressed with what the Bible says Proverbs 17:6 "And the glory of children is their father," but we are wiser now aren't we?

Divorce rate is up, teen pregnancies are up, teen murders are up, juvenile delinquencies are up and 50 percent of the work force are mostly mothers. Who is raising our nation's children? No wonder God hates divorce.

Is it too late to define "father?" It is not a male who biologically sires offspring, animals do that and are not recognized as fathers. It is a real father who provides security — both physical and emotional, material needs, spiritual leadership, a hero who understands what a man is, he teaches his sons how to treat a lady with tenderness and respect and teaches his daughters what to look for in a man, he protects the family from evil influences and threats, he teaches his children how to be an involved citizen, to love their country and the laws its security is founded on.

Anyone out there seen a father lately? How many generations of divorce have occurred by now?

Mothers cannot provide what it takes to build strong men who are capable of becoming fathers, if they could, they would spontaneously conceive a child. It takes two to produce and somebody better realize it takes two to raise them properly.

Fathers have become a discarded aspect of our social structure. If they don't "behave," they are controlled through the legal system, ordered to pay enormous amounts of child support and the risk of losing their children becomes great because some "judge" ordered it.

Fathers are being abused and controlled under the guise of child support. The law is designed to insure children are adequately cared for and not to become a burden on the state, but the laws and the way they are applied are grossly discriminatory toward fathers.

Some fathers lose everything they own, or are financially crippled for years, not because the children would be destitute if they did not pay support, but because they are father of the species.

If the situation were to be reversed, no sexist laws, so obviously discriminatory would be allowed on the books, much less applied.

There is much publicity about deadbeat fathers who do not support their children. The impression is they just don't care. Sometimes that is true, but not to the extent we see reported in the media, many of these children are well off, but their father is in jail for failing to decrease his family's standard of living to add to the already above average standard of living at the ex-spouse's home. Joint custody should also be joint financially.

As with any endangered species, we need to take immediate steps to protect such a valuable member of our society. This is not the fifties, when women could not get a job, nor did they want to. It's the nineties so NOW tells us and women can do anything they wish.

NOW cries discrimination in jobs so let us update the laws to reflect a woman's potential. Women who stay home voluntarily, who don't go to school to improve themselves when all the children are of school age, can still send the father of the children to jail as a mutant form of citizen, they help to hunt down and destroy just what our children need — a father. Their accomplices should be mentioned, the attorneys who profit from destroying families.

It is appropriate to recall the humor of Robin Williams in "Hook." "Scientists are now using attorneys instead of rats in their experiments, because there are some things that a rat just won't do."

I am finding this to be all too true.

Please do not misunderstand, I respect and support anyone who respects and supports the law and many attorneys do. Some do not. They manipulate it for their own purposes. They need to be stopped! Save our fathers.

RLT is in rehearsals

Ruidoso Little Theatre's September production, "The Murder Room," is now in rehearsal.

Betty Bennett, the director, has cast the English murder mystery farce with some seasoned players and says the play is fast-moving and hysterically funny.

Gene Templeton plays Edgar Hollister, a recently married English gentleman. Edgar's bride, Mavis, is played by Susan Rogalla, the housekeeper is Louise Cone and Leon Eggleston plays the police inspector. Shannon Gray as Edgar's daughter and her suitor, Stagger Lee Pittman, finish out the cast.

"The Murder Room," written by Jack Sharkey, opens Thursday, Sept. 15, at Ruidoso Little Theatre, 2961 Sudderth, west of the main post office.

Continuing performances will be Friday and Saturday, Sept. 16 and 17, and Thursday through Saturday, Sept. 22, 23 and 24, and Sept. 29, 30 and Oct. 1. Curtain time is 8 p.m.

Ticket reservations may be made for all performances by calling the Ruidoso Chamber of Commerce at 257-7395. Tickets are $7 for adults and $5 for those 65 and older and children under 12.

Altrusa Club members will be selling tickets to an opening night gala for "The Murder Room."

Republicans host state & county candidates at valley fundraiser

The Republican Party of Lincoln County will host a fundraiser at 6 p.m. Friday, Aug. 26, at Bob and Jade Boebinger's "La Finca," located at mile marker 281.6 on US highway 70, just east of San Patricio.

A foot-square blue marker with "La Finca 281.6" is located at the head of the driveway on the south side of highway 70.

Principal speakers will be U.S. Rep. Joe Skeen, lt. gov. candidate Walter Bradley and Lincoln County candidate. Gubernatorial candidate Gary Johnson had been invited, and planners say they're hopeful he'll be able to attend.

Candidates and others have donated historically and/or politically significant and fun objects for spirited purchase at a silent auction, according to a news release. The cost is $12.50 per person and includes a catered dinner by Ellis Store and Company of Lincoln.

Tickets are available from Dave Skeen at 336-4442, Bill and Coleta Elliott at 258-4465, Bob and Bev Nys at 258-4372, Pat Hume at 354-2382, Martha Proctor at 648-2394.

"Hams" expand their circle of friends

What is needed to get started? According to the release, a written test that is published by the FCC, exactly as the applicant will take it. Morse code tests are no longer required for the entry level license; there are five levels, novice, technician, general, advanced and extra class. Each gives more operating privileges to its holder. Some hams have passed their exams with as little as one day's study.

Contact any member of the Sierra Blanca Amateur Radio Club (SBARC) for information on becoming a ham. Even the mayor, Jerry Shaw is a ham (N60DT).

Call Dusty Rhodes at 257-2135 or Beverly Carlson at 257-2065 and they can arrange for your written or code tests here in town, as well as answering your questions about amateur radio.

You may even want to join the ham club for breakfast every Saturday morning at 9 a.m. in the Deck House restaurant.

Amateur Radio, you've heard of it, you probably know that amateur radio operators are called "hams," (nobody knows quite why).

Perhaps you have seen amateur call signs (station identifiers) on auto license plates like AA5BJ, W5ZIT, WB5HEN, KC5BFF, AE4W or WB5OMO. But who are these people and what do they do?

According to a recent news release, most hams are different from non-hams in just one way — their circle of friends is not limited by distance or social class.

While the broadcast media brings the world into each home, that world is still distant — you can't converse with images on the TV news.

Hams, however, can have daily contact with friends anywhere in the world. On the air waves, there is always a friendly ear, someone to talk with. It may be an astronaut in space, a homesteader in Alaska, a missionary, a camper in a Canadian National park, a student in a Wyoming high school radio club, or a sailor in the mid-Pacific, all without leaving home, continues the news release.

Hams also communicate locally via "repeaters" placed on mountain tops. One can easily talk from downtown Ruidoso to hams in Roswell or Tucson, Arizona, on only a small walkie talkie with less than one watt of power.

The release states that hams even talk through satellites in space. While most hams use voice or Morse code, many use their computers to send text (RTTY) messages all over the world. Some are even using television to send live color pictures with their voice signals.

Public service is a large part of amateur radio. Hams provide radio support for many activities in their communities. In Ruidoso, hams assist the search and rescue service and operate an emergency telephone patch sponsored by the GTE telephone company here in town.

Cowboy artists creates from varied experiences

Nogal artist Virgil C. Stephens was born and raised as a cowboy in Globe, Arizona, but he felt right at home at the Ruidoso Art Festival.

His careers and associations have been varied ever since his dad, cowboy Elmer Stephens, put him to work on a ranch when he was just a boy.

Virgil Stephens also tried his hand at rodeo, but decided, like most people in Globe, that there was more money working for the nearby copper mines.

In 1973, he settled into becoming a "lifer" at one of the mines. That changed when that mine was forced to close in 1982 because of the poor economy.

Because of the influence of people around him, convincing him he had talent, Stephens decided to pursue an art career.

With virtually no formal art training, he set out to establish himself as a fine artist, while working full-time at different jobs.

His first big break came in 1984, when he was selected as "Artist of the Year" for the Phoenix Jaycees "Rodeo of Rodeos." He was selected for the same honor again in 1987.

This experience gave him the exposure he needed to get off the ground. Another big break came in 1985, when he met his wife-to-be at a church he was attending.

Emily Stephens encouraged him to become a full-time artist and set out to make sure that he did just that.

In the summer of 1992, Stephens and his family ventured out New Mexico way on an invitation from a friend. He had heard so many good things about Lincoln County, he had to see for himself.

It took only three days to decide this is where he wanted to raise his family and to purchase a home on the highest mountain top they could find.

Stephens' background as a working and rodeo cowboy in and around the rocky country where he was raised shows up in his work.

"My greatest rewards are not in the plaques and ribbons I win, but in the compliments that I get from working cowboys and horse people," says Stephens.

Because of his versatility, Stephens works in bronze, oils and pencil. Originals as well as limited edition prints are on display in various galleries and at Stephens' Nogal studio.

All American Festival heats up the summer season

The fifth annual All American Festival is making plans for a large variety of events to entertain you and your family.

The Ruidoso area celebrates the All American Futurity and the end of the season with a number of events ranging from the All American Fiddler's Championship, showcasing talented fiddlers from across the United States, to an art show and sale featuring Lincoln County artists.

The Super Select and All American Horse Sales have a new location this year, the Ruidoso Downs Sports Theater.

Race fans definitely don't want to miss the excitement of the All American Festival Duck Race as the bobbing plastic quackers return for another run down the Rio Ruidoso.

The All American Antique Show and Sale returns for its third year at the Ruidoso Civic Events Center.

Also, at the Civic Events Center this year will be the All American Gun Show, benefiting the Ruidoso gymnastics building fund.

The All American Burger Cook-off, sponsored by The Ruidoso News, will pit the area's best burger chefs in a contest to pick the most delicious hamburger. The winner will be announced during the All American Fiddler's Championship.

If it's arts and crafts that you enjoy, the All American Arts and Crafts Fair will take place at Labor Day weekend at the All American Park in Ruidoso Downs.

Or perhaps, you wish to enter your own creations in competition with the All American Needlework Fair. The Festival wouldn't be complete without the All American Fashion Show and Luncheon at the Sierra Mall.

Everyone will want to be on hand for the excitement of the Call to Post Brunch at the Ruidoso Downs Turf Club and when the post positions are drawn for the World's Richest Quarter Horse Race.

The All American Art Show and Sale will be held at the Museum of the Horse and will feature a beautiful array of original fine art by artists all living in Lincoln County. This event will benefit the Museum of the Horse.

The festival will again be topped off by the 1994 All American Charity Celebration. Everyone can enjoy a night of dancing and dining and help the finalists in the All American Futurity celebrate their hopeful victory.

"The All American Festival would like to extend its thanks and appreciation to the sponsors of the 1994 Festival," said coordinator Tracey Moran in a news release.

Jazz is back at Tinnie's

Mainstream jazz returns to the Silver Dollar free concert series on Sunday, August 21, with the return of trumpeter Gerald Hunter and the first appearance of Canadian vocalist Cécile Laroche.

Hunter received standing ovations in his first appearance at the Silver Dollar last year.

Laroche is a new addition to the El Paso, Texas, jazz scene where she is performing with the Michael Francis Trio at O'Henry's.

Francis and his jazz quartet will perform at Tinnie's with Hunter and Laroche. The group consists of Francis, pianist; Manny Flores, string bass;

Eric Hutson, drums, and Pete Ruiz, tenor saxophone.

Lester Price is expected to play guitar.

The free concert is scheduled from 2:30 to 6:30 p.m. Sunday, August 21, under the veranda at Tinnie's.

Guests planning to dine with the Silver Dollar are encouraged to call 505-653-4425 for reservations, as a large turnout is expected, according to Maxi Francis, general manager.

She also reminds patrons that children are welcome to attend, and adds that rain at the covered veranda location is "not a problem but an enchantment."

Treasures of the Track includes Belmont silver punch bowl trophy

The Beautiful silver trophy awarded to Tabasco Cat for winning the 126th Belmont Stakes in New York on June 11, is on display in the Turf Club at Ruidoso Downs Race Track.

A silver exhibit, Treasures of the Track, is in place at the Turf Club, and is open to the public every race day, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Thursday through Sunday through Labor Day.

Admission to see the unique collection is free.

This exquisite display of 36 trophies celebrates the rich history of thoroughbred racing and highlights the National Museum of Racing's collection of exceptional pieces.

The silver punch bowl Belmont trophy was made by Tiffany in 1897, and is presented each year to the winner of the Belmont Stakes, the third jewel in the thoroughbred triple crown.

Although the trophy remains year-round at Belmont, the winning owner is given a round sterling silver tray inscribed with the names of the previous winners of the Belmont.

Tabasco Cat, a three-year-old colt by Storm Cat, overtook Kentucky Derby winner Go For Gin in mid-stretch of the one and a half-mile Belmont to win easily.

The colt won the May 21 Preakness stakes and would have become the first triple crown winner since 1978 if not for a sixth place performance in the Derby.

Tabasco Cat is trained by D. Wayne Lukas who regularly kept a stable of horses at Ruidoso Downs during the 1970s when he was a prominent quarter horse trainer.

The fair will feature exhibitors from Arizona, Texas, Oklahoma, Nevada and Colorado. Plenty of parking is available in the area.

Visitors can browse through the fair from 1 to 6 p.m. on Friday, September 2, from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Saturday, September 3, and from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday, September 4.

As an added bonus on Saturday, people can see the annual pie judging contest. Everyone is welcome to enter, even visitors.

The Ruidoso Downs Auxiliary will be giving away $200 each day for a total of $600. Concessions will be available on the grounds.

Summer racing is ducky for skiers

"Take a Quack" at $1,000, invites the Ruidoso Ski Team.

Even though it is the off season, this club just cannot get enough of racing, according to their sponsors. However, this summer race is not on snow, but down the Ruidoso River.

Yes, it is the Second Annual All American Duck Race, hosted by the Junior Racers and open to everyone.

The gun will sound at 10 a.m. on Saturday, September 3, and the ducks will float to the finish line at Two Rivers Park.

The owner of the winning duck will receive $1,000 cash and the Poke Paddler (losing duck) will receive $100 cash. Owners of 20 randomly drawn ducks will win $20 each.

So, buy your ducks now from any Ruidoso Ski Team member. The ducks sell for $5 each or 6 for $25.

This event promises to become a major fundraiser for the club that includes, not only skiers from Ruidoso, but also Southeastern New Mexico and Mexico.

Kids do not have to be expert skiers to join the team, but can start in the development program as young as eight years old.

Racers progress from Age Class divisions (ages eight through 14) through Ability Class divisions (ages 15 through 24). This club is a member of the Rocky Mountain Division of the United States Ski Association.

The excellent coaching staff provides technical training for racing and also encourages the young athletes to set goals and take on responsibilities.

If your children are interested in the program or if you have any questions, please call either Vicki Conley at 378-4270 or Bill Kelly at 257-4839.

Duck race judge Roger Sowder is all dressed up and ready to grab the little quackers as they float down the river.

Frankie Jarrell/The Ruidoso News

Junior racers (left, during last year's duck race) dump baskets of racing ducks into the Ruidoso River and then are on hand at the end of the course to scoop the plastic floaters into baskets.

Ruidoso businessmen raise funds for American Cancer Society in the new All American Fillies Beauty Pageant

The All American Fillies Beauty Pageant, the newest All American Festival event, took place Friday, August 12, as a benefit for The American Cancer society.

The pageant presented some of Ruidoso's notables wearing formal gowns and negligees, with Bert Brunell, in the running as "Royal Quick Dash," Mel Adams stepping out as "Easy Date," Mike Kakuska as the "Refrigerator," Tyler Halbrooks as a "Hot Idea," Danny Sisson as "Real Wind," plus, John Jeffers, Johnny Van Winkle, Shane Garner, Terry Tolbert and Bob Sterchi.

Jockey escorts for the standing-room-only show included Mike Short, Todd Fincher, Eric Perner, Jerry Rodriguez, Billy Peterson, Darrel Blevins, Kenneth Hart and David Lidberg.

Guests voted for the candidate of your choice with dollars, which will be used for cancer research.

It was a night full of fun, laughter and adult humor when the fillies pranced, danced and entertained the audience, under the stewardship of

"The reason for this madness is one we've all been touched by -- to help contribute to the fight against cancer through research and education," said organizer Barbara Downs.

Today about 53 percent of people who develop cancer, survive cancer. In the 1930s, less than 20 percent survived. With the help of local volunteers across the nation, more than $100 million of the funds raised by the American Cancer Society last year were directed to research.

Survival percentages can increase with the help of volunteers dedicated to the eradication of cancer and the suffering it causes.

Candidates were sponsored by Ruidoso State Bank, Cablevision, Thompson Land and Appraisals, C&L Lumber, Ruidoso Office Supply, Dr. Joe Tam, Ruidoso Downs Racing, Ruidoso Ford, United New Mexico Bank, First National Bank, LCMC, Parsons Mechanical and Kelly Electric.

Music was provided by the Graham Brothers.

Charity Celebration honors All American finalists

The end of summer brings with it at least one shining moment — the annual charity celebration at the Museum of the Horse.

This September 4, the Museum of the Horse will once again undergo a massive transformation and the party of the summer will take place on the main exhibit floor.

The 1994 Charity Celebration honors

the finalists in the 36th running of the Grade I All American Futurity — the world's richest quarter horse race. Each year, the finest two-year-old quarter horses in the nation compete in front of the crowds at Ruidoso Downs Race Track in hopes of joining the elite ranks of the All American Futurity finalists.

Following a grueling series of time trials, only the fastest and finest horses will break from the gates in the All American Futurity that will run Monday, September 5. In that short dash down the track, only one lucky horse owner will become a millionaire.

It is fitting that the Charity Celebration of the finest quarter horse is held at the Museum of the Horse.

"The heritage of the horse is something to be treasured and explored," reads a news release provided by the Charity Celebration planners. "Our goal at the Museum of the Horse is to bring that exploration to life. Proceeds from the 1994 Charity Celebration will go to the Museum of the Horse in our quest to preserve the history of this great animal, the horse."

The Museum of the Horse is pleased to host along with Ruidoso Downs Race Track, all of the finalists in this prestigious race.

Remember, you can come join in the celebration too. Tickets are on sale now for the 1994 Charity Celebration and may be purchased at the Museum or at Ruidoso Downs Race Track for $50 per person.

Once again, the Wichita Linemen will be tuning up for a night of toe-tapping music and dancing.

A fitting video tribute to the All American Futurity Qualifiers will be shown, and a delicious hors d'oeuvres buffet will all be included in the ticket price.

"It will certainly be a night to remember. Join us for one of the best parties of the year."

Frankie Jarrell/The Ruidoso News

The All American Festival leads up to the world's richest quarter horse race, and the last big event before the big race is the All American Charity Celebration — the party of the year. Wichita Linemen (pictured at right) will be back to entertain and provide music for dancing.

36th All American Futurity should live up to last year's exciting finish

There have been close finishes in the Grade I All American Futurity. Not every All American champion runs away with the race by 2 1/4-lengths as Dash Thru Traffic did in 1992 or the substantial four-length margin that Special Effort demolished his foes by in 1981.

Horses have gone down in history as All American Futurity champions after winning by just a half-length, a neck or even a head.

But only three horses in the 35-year history of the world's richest quarter horse race have won by a mere nose:

Possumjet in 1972, Higheasterjet in 1980 and now A Classic Dash in 1993.

Last year's edition of the world's richest quarter horse race was expected to be the final hurdle for Treacherously who had already triumphed in the first two jewels of the triple crown.

But it was not to be as the gray gelding was bumped at the start and was passed by Heza Fast Man and A Classic Dash with 100 yards to go in the 440-dash. Nearing the finish, the two horses battled nose and nose with A Classic Dash just getting up at the wire to gain the narrow victory.

Treacherously held on to finish a respectable third.

This year's futurity also shapes up to be an excellent contest with Ruidoso Futurity winner Meltdown and Rainbow winner Dash Its Couper expected to showdown against each other in the August 19 trials.

The 10 fastest qualifiers from the trials advance to the $2 million estimated final which rewards the winning owner a guaranteed $1 million payday.

Meltdown failed in his attempt to become only the fifth horse in history to win the first two legs of the triple crown when second-time starter Dash Its Couper upset him in the 400-yard dash on July 24.

Dash Its Couper won her very first in the Rainbow Trials on July 7, then followed that effort by beating the nation's finest 2-year-olds in the Grade I $538,000 final.

The consistent performer Blinded By The Light who rallied strongly to finish only a nose behind Meltdown in the Rainbow, should take to the 440-yard distance in the All American Trials.

Heritage Place Futurity winner Daring Difference and First Down Hus-

A Classic Dash (#10) noses out Heza Fast Man (#8) to win the Grade I $1.9 million All American Futurity at Ruidoso Downs on sey, the runner-up in the Los Alamitos Kindergarten, are also expected to make an impact in the trials for the world's richest quarter horse race.

The winner of this year's All American could follow in the footsteps of his 3-year-old predecessors who have returned to run in the All American Derby Trials on August 18.

Although A Classic Dash was retired after the All American and will not be able to defend his futurity crown, both Heza Fast Man and Treacherously are expected to return to action in the trials for the Grade I derby.

If both Heza Fast Man and Treacherously qualify to the $200,000-estimated Derby, a rematch between the two could make this year's dash one of the most exciting races in the 21-year-history of the Derby.

Heza Fast Man and Treacherously have already made successful appearances here as 3-year-olds and should be the horses to watch in the 440-yard trials.

Heza Fast Man made his only start here this summer a winning one as he easily defeated a classy allowance field by 1 1/4-lengths on July 17. It was the second victory of the year for the Arizona-bred colt by The Signature who also captured a division of the Remington Park Derby Trials.

The colt has earned over $750,000 in his young career and is the richest horse in the All American Derby Trials.

Treacherously won a division of the Rainbow Derby Trials in June, but finished sixth in the Grade I final. The powerful gray gelding ran second by a nose in the Ruidoso Derby Trials, but faltered to sixth in the Memorial Day Weekend final.

For John Bassett, trainer of Heza Fast Man, looking after his horse took on a new meaning four days before the All American. Bassett noticed an abscess on his finalist's foot the Friday morning before Monday's race. By Sunday evening, the abscess had not broken and Bassett realized that he may have to scratch Heza Fast Man from the race.

Bassett spent a sleepless night in the barn deliberating his options and hoping for a miracle. In the middle of the night, he got it. The infection broke and the abscess began decreasing.

"We couldn't do nothin' with him for the last four days and I can't believe he even got to the track," Bassett said. "We made the decision to run him a half hour before the race and he sure wasn't 100 percent today, but he has a heart as big as all the great outdoors and I'm really proud."

After his courageous All American performance, Heza Fast Man went on to win the Grade I $850,000 Texas Classic Futurity at Trinity Meadows in November.

Treacherously, winner of the Ruidoso Quarter Horse and Rainbow Futurities, just missed capturing the Triple Crown.

His respectable third place finish in the All American was the gelding's only loss in his nine-race 2-year-old campaign.

First To Score and A Streak Of Cash, winners of the Ruidoso and Rainbow derbies, must also be respected in the talented group of 3-year-olds expected to assemble for the derby trials.

First To Score posted a half-length victory in the Grade I Ruidoso Derby on May 30 and has been a consistent competitor versus stakes caliber horses all summer.

A Streak Of Cash clocked the fastest qualifying time of :21.26 in the Rainbow Trials on June 17 and came into the Grade I final in perfect shape.

In the rich final, he overcame a slow start to score a neck victory over the talent-laden field.
