since (Swenor) wrote that letter," Stinson said. "We have more security on the door than (other bars in the area). We disagreed with Swenor's numbers and are still looking into how he came up with them.

In her letter, Hughes cited examples of behavior not allowed by the state at businesses with liquor licenses. They include anything of offensive to the average citizen, but she specifically listed loitering of intoxicated persons, rowdiness or fights, stabbings and shootings, sales of illegal drugs, sales of alcoholic beverages to intoxicated persons or minors, lewd or indecent displays, profanity and undue noise, urinating in public, sale of stolen property, sexual solicitation and "various other criminal activities."

Brown water turns off users

Brown water turned off coffee drinkers and delayed loads of laundry Wednesday at homes and businesses in the Mid Town area of Ruidoso. A spokesman for the Ruidoso village water department said employees worked on fire hydrants about 4 a.m. and stirred up sediments.

Nightmare on main street

Downtown construction delays abound

by DON HIXON Ruidoso News Staff Writer Renovations of downtown Ruidoso are now six months behind schedule, and the project will be suspended over the winter. Construction of the Sudderth Drive improvements has at times seemed to take on nightmarish proportions. The six-month-long phase one of the three-phase project has already turned into a year-long project, and is expected to end up taking 1 1/2 years.

Modern flamenco at Carrizo

Carlos Lomas con Flamenco Dancers will perform acclaimed music with dance at the Carrizo Lodge Studio in Ruidoso at 8 p.m. Saturday.

Carlos Lomas is known as a leading proponent of the modern school of flamenco guitar playing. Colored with a swaying Spanish sensuality, his flamenco artistry emerges from an array of sources.

Lomas draws his inspiration from years spent in his residence of Malaga, and in Madrid, where he has worked with the finest of Spain's singers, dancers and musicians.

His technical skills combined with an exciting musical temperament have earned Lomas the respect and admiration of flamenco guitarists throughout the world.

The New York Times is among Lomas' fans. A Times review stated, "A sizable audience came to hear him and cheered his performance enthusiastically — the poetry, soul and passion of flamenco guitar — raw energy — what flamenco is developing into."

Tickets at the Carrizo are $12 available only at the door.

Holiday concert set

The Eastern New Mexico — Ruidoso University Community Choir will present a holiday season concert at 7 p.m. Monday at the First Christian Church, 1211 Hill Road. Admission is free.

Christmas and special gospel selections will be featured at the concert, along with performances from the Ruidoso barbershop and women's ensemble groups.

Special recognition of a long-standing member of the Ruidoso music community will highlight the evening.

Classic Warner Bros. cartoons displayed here

A bunch of silly characters will converge on The Museum of the World in Ruidoso Sunday.

A new exhibition titled "That's All Folks! Bugs Bunny and Friends of Warner Bros. Cartoons" opens Sunday and continues through Jan. 29, 1995.

This will be a major exhibition of original art work of the world of Warner Bros. Cartoons, coupled with the viewing of selected finished cartoons.

Viewers will see the actual production art work, drawings, paintings, and cartoon "cels" used in the classic Warner shorts.

Since their debut in 1930, the "Looney Tunes" and "Merrie Melodies" of Warner Bros. have delighted audiences young and old. So familiar are the antics of the Warner characters that such phrases as "What's Up, Doc?," "I Taught I Taw a Putty-Tat" and "Acme" have become part of the national vocabulary. Warner's Bugs Bunny was recently named "best puppet or cartoon character" in a People magazine poll.

Originally shown in theaters, the Warner cartoons developed new audiences with the rise of television in the 1950's.

The interpretive exhibition "That's All Folks!" is an expanded version of the Museum of Modern Art Show, and consists of more than 156 drawings, paintings, and cartoon "cels" used in the making of Warner's classic cartoons.

It is presented in conjunction with six separate video monitors continuously playing finished cartoons.

The exhibition is divided into eight parts, each of which presents drawings, paintings, cels, and interpretive text panels.

PART ONE features a general introduction to the world of Warner Bros. Cartoons, drawing attention to the studio's contributions to the history of animation and American culture. PART TWO presents a chronological history of the studio, documenting its many star characters as well as the artists who brought them to life.

PART THREE delves into how classic "cel" animation was made. Using actual Warner production art to illustrate every phase of the process, viewers are taken step by step from concept drawings to the final cels and backgrounds that are photographed to create a single frame of a finished cartoon.

PART FOUR explores the history and evolution of Warner's first stars, Porky Pig and Daffy Duck.

PART FIVE provides an in-depth look at Warner's most famous creation, Bugs Bunny, along with his frustrated foil, Elmer Fudd. An extensive selection of artwork captures the rabbit's most memorable moments.

PART SIX, subtitled "Eternal Adversaries," is devoted to Warner's unstoppable antagonists: the Road Runner and Wile E. Coyote, and Tweety and Sylvester.

PART SEVEN celebrates all of the other delightful characters featured in Warner animation, such as Yosemite Sam, Pepe Le Pew, Speedy Gonzales, the Tasmanian Devil, Foghorn Leghorn, and Henry Hawk. It also surveys many of the lesser-known and one-shot characters who populated Warner Bros. Cartoons over the decades, such as Sniffles the Mouse, The Bookworm, The Three Bears, and others.

PART EIGHT concludes the exhibition with a presentation on a large monitor of two of Warner's most acclaimed cartoons.

Besides being a celebration of the Warner Bros. studio, the exhibition is an educational presentation about the elaborate creative process that supported the making of many classic films.

The Silver Lining

Flag Raising Ceremony On Veterans Day

This is a little late, however I wanted to tell you a little something about the ceremony and meeting on Veterans Day held by members of local veterans organizations.

At 11 a.m. the flag was raised by Doug Houseton, Elwood the Gragine and Romeo Klein.

The meeting was opened by the recitation of the pledge of allegiance to our flag.

Then Doug Houseton, commander of Jerome Don Klein Post #7072 of Veterans of Foreign Wars, welcomed those present by saying, "Today we honor and salute all of the many American veterans who throughout our history have unselfishly placed their lives on the line for our freedom."

Dub Williams gave his inspiring talk, saying we should appreciate our veterans, and be always grateful for the blessing of living in our beloved country.

Dub then invited others to speak. Among those who responded was Captain Victor Schaefer, who told how he and his wife Jean are taking care of the Fort Stanton Cemetery.

Romeo Klein spoke about ways of helping veterans and the importance of young

by Daniel Storm The Ridge Runner

veterans joining the veterans organizations.

Doug Houseton closed the meeting with a prayer.

Then we all enjoyed refreshments prepared by Carol Rue, V.F.W. Auxiliary vice-president, Virginia Armstrong, V.F.W. Auxiliary treasurer and Summer Armstrong, Auxiliary member.

We thank all those who attended this ceremony and we appreciate the good response to the Buddy Poppy program.

A Morning Frost Pageant

During the last several days we have had a great variety of November weather: high winds, low - hanging mist, snow, and good rain, which was welcomed by a thirsty mountain land.

And now this morning, Nov. 14, the sun appeared over Sunrise Mountain, turning the pines on top to trees of golden fire touched with crimson and light purple.

After it cleared the top of the hill, the sun shone down upon a vale of pure silvery white, with every cedar, juniper and pine covered with a heavy frost.

The giant walnut trees were outlined clearly with the smallest twigs trimmed in frost, now sparkling in the golden sun.

Every herb, weed, bush and grass stem played its role in this morning pageant presented by Jack Frost here in mid-November, the Thankful Month.

This blanket of frozen mist brought the temperature down to 22 degrees, the coldest day of the fall.

Corina, the Storm Ranch cat, went over to the fireplace and began scratching and clawing at the pieces of firewood, much as to say, "Let's have a little fire this cold morning."

After the fire began warming the room, Corina lay down on her pallet and dozed off to sleep, the picture of contentment.

Correction

The Ruidoso Village Council will meet at 6:30 p.m. on Nov. 29 in village hall. A story Monday listed an incorrect date.

A public hearing about recommended residential address changes will be held. The changes are meant to reduce duplications in street names and numbers.

Village officials say duplications and sequential numbering must be eliminated to ensure that emergency services dispatched by the 911 system can find a destination quickly.

Regular council meetings are normally scheduled on the second and last Tuesday of each month.

Teachers honored

Each month The Ruidoso Education Association, the local branch of the National Education Association, honors outstanding service by naming Employees of the Month. Recipients are selected by their fellow teachers and co-workers.

October's honors go to Sue Keeton, fifth grade teacher at White Mountain Intermediate School; Ronnie Maskew, computer teacher and cross country coach at Ruidoso High School; Barbara Graham, secretary at Ruidoso Middle School; Lisa Vasquez, White Mountain Elementary teacher; Terri Hardeman, Nob Hill Early Childhood Center speech pathologist; and Diane Newsom, Sierra Vista Primary School secretary.

Student wins first place

Tiffany Skinner, a seventh-grade student at Ruidoso Middle School, received first place in Junior Showmanship at the Rio Pecos Kennel Club and the Chapparal Kennel Club Dog Shows in Alamogordo last month. Skinner is an honor student and worked to earn the money needed to buy her own dog, Keesha, a Keeshond Norwegian Barge Hound. Skinner is fully responsible for the care, feeding, and showing of Keesha at dog shows.

Do the locomotion

Local elementary schools have received a dance grant through the Fine Arts Division of the State Department. The grant allows all elementary schools to incorporate dance and movement in physical education (P.E.) classes.

Students have been using drums, tambourines and music for P.E. warm-ups and are learning body control, dance steps, locomotor skills and rhythm.

Students need help

Students at Ruidoso Middle School will visit the town of Palomas on Dec. 7.

Under the direction of teacher and librarian Ellie Keeton, the student council and library club organized a humanitarian mission to deliver food, toys, school supplies and clothing to the Mexican border town.

Keeton said that the children in Palomas learn in a school with one blackboard, dirt floors, and window frames with no glass.

The students are preparing 50 bags of food, each containing a complete holiday dinner, to distribute to the students' families. They held fundraisers all year so they could buy new toys and food. They are seeking donations from the public.

Students need new toys, food, used clothing and used school supplies for the trip.

For additional information call Ellie Keeton or Robyn Johnson at 257-7324.

Warriors, Bulldogs battle again

by LAURA CLYMER
Ruidoso News Sports Writer
The first time they met, it wasn't pretty. In fact, it was ugly.

Two-time state champion Artesia (9-1, ranked No. 1) rolled to a 34-2 thumping of Ruidoso (7-5, ranked No. 8) in the season-opener for both football teams.

But that was then — three months ago — and this is now — the quarterfinals of the Class AAA football playoffs.

Kickoff is set for 1 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 19, at the Bulldog Bowl in Artesia.

Ruidoso owns a four-game winning streak and the Warriors are eager to prove that they are a much-improved football team.

"We are a completely different ball team," Ruidoso coach Les Carter said. "In the first week you're still trying to find your personnel." The Warriors have since then settled on a starting lineup and they are healthy.

"One thing is, we've got four or five guys back that didn't play against them," Carter said.

Artesia coach Cooper Henderson, who coached at RHS from 1984-88, knows the Warriors are a different team. As District 4-AAA champs, the Bulldogs had a week off and the opportunity to scout their next opponent — the winner of the Ruidoso/Albuquerque Academy game.

"They've improved and gotten better each week," Henderson said of Ruidoso. "You've got to look at it as a new game and a new team."

Ruidoso also has to consider the Bulldogs have improved, too. Will that fact, coupled with the previous 34-2 loss, have any lingering effects on the Warriors?

"We put it (the loss) behind us," Carter said. "It may be more of an advantage than a disadvantage," he said of the setback. "They may have the idea that all they have to do is show up. Our team knows they have to play better (than they did)."

Even though he had a chance to see Ruidoso play last Saturday, Henderson said he won't dwell on what the Warriors do.

"We focus on ourselves rather than our opponents. We just believe it's important to go out and play your best," Henderson said.

Carter does concern himself with what the Bulldogs do. For the Warriors, the best defense might a solid offense.

"It kind of comes down to the situation where we've got to control the ball and put the 13-play, 14-play drives together, and keep the ball out of their hands," Carter said. "We'll keep working on the things that got us here."

Carter said Artesia plays a "wide-open" offense that runs a variation of the run-and-shoot.

Community pep rally

The Ruidoso community is invited to a pep rally for the Warriors' football team. The festivities begin at 11 a.m. Friday, Nov. 18, in the high school gym. Come out and cheer on the Warriors!

"They're going to throw the ball 30 times and when you throw it that much you expect them to go for the big play," he said.

Ruidoso will counter with a balanced running attack that likes to chew up the yardage and the clock. Junior running back Kyle Humphreys leads the Warriors' attack. He rushed for more than 120 yards against Albuquerque Academy and got the ball whenever Ruidoso faced a critical down.

The Warriors don't totally rely on Humphreys. They also call upon Rex Comanche, David LaMay and Jackie Roe. Quarterback John Echols can run as well as pass to keep the Bulldogs honest.

Henderson said his team is quick and moves well, but the Bulldogs lack size.

"We're not real big. Our size isn't real great but we haven't let that be a detriment," Henderson said.

He's also a bit sentimental about facing the Warriors.

"I take a lot of pride seeing them in the playoffs. I think they've got a good bunch down there with Les Carter," Henderson said. He added that he was glad that Ruidoso was in the playoffs but wishes the two teams could meet further down the line in the playoffs.

Ruidoso's coach is optimistic about Saturday.

"At this point, motivation doesn't become a problem," Carter said. "Our kids are ready to play and I feel like our kids have a good chance."

Tigers, Panthers to claw it out for title

by LAURA CLYMER
Ruidoso News Sports Writer
There will be a cat fight in the Bulldog Bowl this Saturday night. That's when the Jal Panthers and Capitan Tigers will scratch, spit and claw for the right to call themselves the 1994 Class A state football champion.

Capitan (11-1) takes on tradition-rich Jal (9-2) for the state title at 7 p.m. in Artesia's Bulldog Bowl.

Interestingly enough, both coaches are claiming to be the "underdog." "They knocked off the No. 1 team (Fort Sumner). We're the underdog," Jal coach David Fouts said.

When told of this, Capitan football coach Ed Davis said, "Give me a break. The Hobbs paper told me we are 19-point underdogs."

Fouts' teams have been to the state championship game the last three years in a row — in Class AA, where the schools have more students. They won the title two years ago.

No wonder Davis is claiming to be the underdog.

"We've just got to slow down their offense. No one has yet," Davis said. Jal has won its last four games by 40 points or more. The Panthers are riding an eight-game winning streak.

Jal features a balanced running attack. Junior quarterback Trevor Dobbs leads the Panthers in rushing with 1,158 yards in 144 carries.

Senior running back Phillip Pierce has rushed 94 times for 732 yards.

Dobbs and senior defensive end/fullback Troy Burkett lead the Panther defensive charge.

"Our maturity and experience is one of our strengths," Fouts said. "We have about eight or nine seniors who have started in three state championship games. We need to play a mistake-free ballgame. We're going to have to contain their quarterback from breaking the big play."

Davis' troops will rely on what the Tigers have all season — pride, speed and senior quarterback Michael Fish.

"They all made a vow that they would do whatever was necessary to make the playoffs and they did," Davis said of his team.

"They've (Jal) got a real fine quarterback and their defense just lines up and sics you," he said. "Usually you see 10 people on the line."

Davis said he hopes Capitan's hard-fought battle with Fort Sumner in the semifinals will better prepare the Tigers than Jal's relatively easy trip through the playoffs.

"Our guys know it's going to be a war. Win, lose or draw, nobody will be disappointed. They'll leave their hearts on the field like last Saturday," Davis said.

He's happy to be playing Jal in Artesia. "We started it (the season) there. What's more fitting than to end it there?" Davis said.

Watching the Wild Side

Department of Game and Fish administrators will propose a specialty license plate to the 1995 legislature that would benefit the Share with Wildlife program.

plate through the Motor Vehicle Division. Proposed fee for the colorful specialty plate is $25 in addition to the regular registration fee.

Similar programs in other states have been successful. Arizona's environmental plate earned $300,000 in a 14-month time span. The money is put into a special environmental education fund.

Traditional funding of wildlife programs in New Mexico, based on license sales and largely for game species, has become inadequate, say state wildlife officials.

The specialty license plate would allow people to display their support for the Share with Wildlife program. New Mexico motor vehicle owners could purchase the special

Baptism by fire — uh, I mean by snow

In just a week, Ski Apache is scheduled to open for another season. Spirits were high a couple weeks ago when seven inches fell and all 35 snowmaking machines were cranking out the snow that will become the base. And spirits remain up there because of the recent weather conditions.

Already, it looks as though Ski Apache will have a better start to the ski season than last year. This is good news not only for the skiers but also for winter visitors and local merchants.

I skied once or twice, a long time ago. But, you see, I grew up in Tucson, Arizona and the nearest ski areas were several hours away. When it snowed in Tucson we loved it. Not because we could go skiing but because it meant school was cancelled even though the snow usually melted by 10 a.m.

By sixth grade, I became addicted to basketball, baseball and flag football. Skiing was something you watched during the Olympics.

I'm looking forward to learning how to ski from real pros — but don't tell my mother. After three knee operations, two of them anterior cruciate ligament reconstructions, I can boast about scars and "zippers" with the best of them. Mom is begging me to take up golf more than ever now. I will — but not until this summer.

From the bench

Laura Clymer

I made my first trip up the mountain that Friday, Nov. 4, when Mother Nature dumped seven inches of snow. It was partly cloudy when I headed up the mountain. By the time I reached the ski lodge, clouds had moved in and it started to snow.

I'm not going to talk about the drive up the mountain because it was nothing compared to the drive down. The scenery was stunning, but the real triumph was driving back down the mountain after my visit with Roy Parker, general manager of Ski Apache, and members of the snowmaking crews.

Snowmaker Trumen Bob showed me how they check on the snowmaking machines when they make their rounds. We zoomed up a ski run on a snowmobile, hesitated right under the stream of manmade snow and looked at our sleeves to check the consistency of the snow.

At one of the machines Trumen discovered a leak in the hose. He turned off the water source and we went back down to get a new hose.

After we replaced the leaky hose and made the rounds, we returned to the lodge where the crew rests and dries their clothes. My jacket was wet. It's good thing the guys loaned me an extra jacket, a ski cap and gloves, otherwise I would have been soaked to the skin.

My first adventure up the ski run was a blast. It's not difficult to see why people get addicted to the mountain. It was time to head back and the snow was coming down at a good rate.

Now was the real test. Could I handle the drive back down? I took my time and made it down all right thanks to the four-wheel drive vehicle I was driving and the lack of traffic.

When I returned to the office, everyone breathed a collective sigh of relief. The native Arizonan had returned alive and well and the newspaper's Jeep was in one piece.

Call it baptism by fire or, more appropriately, by snow. It was truly an experience and one I'm looking forward to repeating again and again this ski season.

But please, don't tell my mother.

School board fires at campus gun policy

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Local regulations designed to comply with a new state law prohibiting weapons on school campus should balance individual rights with student safety, Capitan school officials say.

Last Thursday, they reviewed a proposed policy to cover students who bring weapons on campus. The policy was developed by the Albuquerque law firm of Simons Cuddy & Friedman.

But board members said it seems to be written for schools in large cities and does not take into account that many students in rural areas of New Mexico keep hunting rifles in their cars and routinely carry pocket knives.

Specifically, they objected to the provision prohibiting weapons within 1,000 feet of a school.

"Does that mean you can't go over here on the highway hunting?" asked board member Russell Shearer. He asked School Supt. Diana Sonnemaker to find out how much the district can modify the policy to fit its own circumstances. He proposed deleting that section of the policy.

"Will this cause people within a certain area around the school not to be able to own a weapon? That is a breach of your freedom and that's dangerous," said parent Sherry Underwood. "It's perfectly legal in the State of New Mexico to drive anywhere with a weapon in your vehicle."

"What happens when I've been deer hunting and I come to pick up my kid?" asked school board President Tom Trost. "I don't even think about it."

Board member Jack King pointed out that the policy refers only to students, not parents and others who enter the campus.

Board member Beverly Payne said she was bothered by a provision that allowed case-by-case exceptions to the expulsion punishment for violators.

"It should be black and white that if you do it, you're out," she said. "That would relieve some liability that would exist with inconsistencies."

The provision would give the district a chance to evaluate whether it was simply a mistake on the part of the student or intentional, Shearer said.

In his cover letter to the board, attorney John F. Kennedy wrote that the case-by-case modification of the expulsion requirement was added to allow the board to vary the sanctions.

He also noted that the policy covers the prohibitions of state law and will have to be modified in the future to comply with new federal law, which is more specific.

Trost said the issue involves the community and a committee should be formed, including members from the public, to review the proposed policy and offer some alternatives.

"We need to address the problem and not go overboard like they did with the crime bill they forced on us," Shearer said. "I don't agree with the crime bill. I don't think I want to tell people coming to our games that they can't have (an unloaded) pistol under their (vehicle) seat. That's too invasive."

"We need to look at this as what we want to do is keep guns from coming in (schools). You can see where the court is coming from and we need to stay with the spirit of that, not infringe in our freedom."

What about students carrying pocket knives, King asked?

Because she has seen students injured in the past, school officials already ask students to hand over their pocket knives at the beginning of school, Sonnemaker said. They get them back at the end of the day, she said.

In other business, the school board set the date of Feb. 7 for the next school board election. Three positions, numbers 3-5 on the

Trustees postpone Eagle Creek Water contract

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Before they sign on the dotted line to buy water rights on 10 acres of land, Capitan trustees want to meet with members of the Eagle Creek Community Water Association to resolve a few issues.

The village has been using more water annually than the rights approved by the state engineer. To cover that shortfall, trustees have been looking at long-term and short-term solutions.

For a quick fix, they are negotiating with members of the Eagle Creek association to buy surplus rights the village has been leasing for several years. The rights would produce 32.5 acre-feet of water flow per year. An acre-foot is equal to the amount of water it would take to cover one acre of land.

"The trustees decided that if they could be purchased under the right terms, they could get them for nearly what they have been paying for lease," said Village Attorney J. Robert Beauvais.

At the meeting of the trustees Monday, Beauvais recommended renegotiating a few items. Since the villages of Capitan and Ruidoso are partners in the association, Beauvais said better terms could be worked out for purchase of the surplus rights, which were acquired by the association years ago from Capitan's municipal well.

Under the proposed agreement, the purchase period would run three years, with the village paying $18,000 down and $12,333 a year for a total price of $55,000. The rights have been leased based on usage, but the cost has averaged $4,800 a year, according to Village Clerk Deborah Cummins.

Beauvais would like to see a provision deleted for Capitan to pay interest and he wants the contract to release acre rights as each one is paid for by the village, not all at the end of the contract.

Currently, only Ruidoso benefits from water pumped by the association from Eagle Creek and its wells. Association board member Benny Coker said the group is moving ahead with a Capitan pipeline project and will be pumping water to the community by next summer to help with a long-term solution.

Grand send-off as Tigers leave for top state match

A rousing pep rally and a village proclamation Friday, and a community spirit send-off Saturday, will mark the departure of the fighting Capitan Tigers as they head to Artesia to battle Jal for the state Class A football championship.

The proclamation, passed Monday by the Capitan Board of Trustees, declares Nov. 19 as Capitan High School Tigers Day. It will be read during the pep rally, set to start at 2:20 p.m. Friday in the school complex old gymnasium.

The public is invited to meet at the school before 1 p.m. Saturday to wish players good luck before they leave. Cheerleaders will spend an hour decorating cars and a caravan of boosters will move out about 3 p.m. The game is scheduled to begin at 7 p.m. in the Artesia Bulldog Bowl.

Village hall closes for holiday

Capitan village employees will be enjoying football and parade specials and chowing down on Thanksgiving turkey next Thursday and Friday with the rest of the nation.

Village hall will be closed Thursday, Nov. 24, and Friday, Nov. 25, for the Thanksgiving holiday.

Capitan enrollment grows

Although Capitan's student enrollment this year went up by 23, the district will not collect as much from the state as the total would indicate, because the growth also knocked it out of special small school funding.

"Although we are over in numbers, we lost 11.28 units for small school funding, which we projected for our elementary school, and 4.16 units for the middle school," School Supt. Diana Sonnemaker told school board members Thursday. A unit equates to one full-time student by state standards.

With 201 students, the elementary school's enrollment exceeded by one student the eligibility limits for small school funding. The middle school's enrollment is 156, resulting in a loss of 4.16 units of the projected 38.48 extra units for the middle school, she said. Each unit is worth $2,015 to the district, for a total of $31,110 lost to the district out of an operational budget of more than $2 million.

Based on actual regular education numbers and estimated special education numbers, the district will receive $10,000 more than last year.

Capitan honor roll announced

The first nine weeks of school brought special recognition for 18 seventh and eighth grade Capitan students, who earned a place on the high school honor roll.

In ninth grade, honor roll members are David Bush, Stephanie Hawks, Ann Marie Holt, Travis Jaquess, Monica Johnson, Phillip Koreny, Regina Reidhead, Coye Robbins, Veronica Roybal and Heather Wooddell. Tenth graders are Mandi Aldaz, Joe Burchett, Kyle Jones, B.J. Montoya, Thomas Roybal and Mackey Tully. Joni Autrey, Julie Barham and Cody Turnbow received straight As.

Expansions approved by village planners

Expansions of a children's day care center and a restaurant kitchen were among the projects approved last week by the Ruidoso Planning and Zoning Commission. Phil Davis, owner of Casa Blanca Restaurant on Mecham Drive, wanted to expand his kitchen. In reviewing the application, the planning staff discovered the restaurant was never approved for serving outdoors and the village had no information on seating capacity, said chairman Mike Radzewicz.

The board recommended approval of Davis' petition on the condition that he submits the seating information, unifies all of the lots into one and improves the parking lot. He was given until April to complete the parking, since weather conditions may prevent that type of work for several months.

"We said go ahead with the kitchen in the meantime and felt that we met him halfway," Radzewicz said.

Carolyn Wallace was given the board's recommendation for a conditional use permit and an amended site plan to expand the number of students at her day care center in Palmer Gateway Subdivision. A variance to add an awning extending the full length of the building was denied.

The board also recommended approval of a commercial site development for construction of a storage unit on tracts one and two of Skyland Addition, requested by Tim Hoyt. The project was first ap-

About RUSTIC RANCH FURNISHINGS... RUSTIC RANCH FURNISHINGS began in June 1992 with a barnwood-style hutch and the commitment to design a unique affordable complete line of weathered wood furniture. Nestled in the scenic countryside of North Texas, thirty miles east of Dallas, a working horse ranch and barn was transformed into a furniture studio.

RUSTIC RANCH FURNISHINGS is the creation of John and Vicki Cassell. Together, they have taken the furniture from local trade days and flea markets to a permanent showroom at the World Trade Center in Dallas and retailers nationwide and in Canada.

John is the innovative craftsman and designer whose skills have bridged the gap between old world simplicity and the functional needs of today. Although Vicki's involvement was limited to nights and weekends during the first year, she left her career in bank management to work fulltime with John in July 1993.

The furniture is completely handcrafted from natural weathered wood. As the seasons and years have passed, the wood has gained strength and character in nature's process leaving cured wood of distinguished texture and color. Although the finish remains natural gray, the wood is lightly sanded by hand for a smoother surface.

The tables are available with wood or tile tops. Tile colors include Mexican sand, bluegray, hunter green, mauve, berry, coral, gray, navy, and others. A selection of western, southwest and colorful print fabrics are available for the chairs. The addition of pony horseshoe pulls to drawers, doors, mirrors and beds adds to the western flavor of the furniture.

...The enthusiastic response to our weathered-wood furniture is a 'dream come true' for us. We have enjoyed the many opportunities to meet and work with customers from all over the country. We appreciate everyone who has encouraged us through letters, phone calls and the purchase of our furniture. Thank you!

Nature offers sure signs of confused winter

The Farmer's Almanac says November through March in the "Southwest Desert" region will have "great variability." In our eastern portion of this region, the prediction says it will be warmer than usual with above-normal precipitation.

Some of those here at The News feel we have the best gauges of the winter season, by watching nature's ways.

Herb explains that a wet spell always follows a dry spell like we had last winter.

Dianne figures it's going to be a harsh winter, because her resident raccoon is already storing supplies of blankets, good books and wine under the deck of her house.

Sammy assures us we're going to get an abundance of snow because he didn't see any bucks this year while hunting, but he saw plenty of does in the lowlands earlier than usual.

Because Joanna's dog hasn't grown enough spare hair to drop at least one of these hairs per square inch of her dinner, she predicts balmy weather this winter. And because blue jays are more ravenous than she's ever seen them before (actually gobbling up the dog's tennis ball alongside the bird feed), the editor figures there's going to be oodles of snow covering the bird's natural ground feed.

Laura concludes it will be frigid because she just moved here from Wisconsin, and terrible weather always follows her.

Perhaps the most telling sign is one from Frank, who reports that his Mescalero Apache source at the Inn of the Mountain Gods says the snows will be piling up incredibly high because white men are stacking more wood than usual.

Policy

The Ruidoso News encourages letters to the editor, especially about local topics and issues.

Each letter must be signed and must include the writer's telephone number and address. The phone number and street or mailing address will not be printed, however the author's hometown will be included.

The telephone number will be used to verify authorship. No letter will be printed without the writer's name. Libelous letters are not protected by the rules of privilege or fair comment and will not be printed.

Letters of thanks are usually printed in the Classified section under "Card of Thanks." Letters will be edited for spelling and grammar to the extent possible without impairing their flavor or changing their meaning.

Letters may be shortened to fit the space available.

The demise of King: what happened?

by FRED MCCAFFREY
Syndicated columnist

What defeated The Kings? Largely, they defeated themselves.

You note that I use "the Kings," a plural form. That's because, if we are to understand why Bruce King went down to defeat before a Republican neophyte, we must appreciate the dual form of government that has been practiced on the fourth floor of the Roundhouse in recent years.

As Democrats, the Kings had all the numbers going for them — so much so that some of us, me included, thought the numbers alone would likely pull their chestnuts out of the fire.

Those numbers, of course, are Democratic registrations in our state which take such preponderance over Republican or "other" registrations that it would appear almost impossible for a Democratic statewide candidate to lose.

That would be so if the Kings hadn't ticked off such large numbers of the members of their own party.

The major causes of that state of affairs, which they were not able to mend in time for election day, are Bruce's leadership style (which is not to lead anyone anywhere); his appointments to good jobs (which appear to have been at least in part controlled by Alice); his unavailability to his friends, who might have told him what to do to keep out of trouble (and which is also partly the fault of the dragons Alice seems to have placed around him); and the simple error of staying too long at the fair (which must have been the result of joint decisions by Bruce and Alice).

Unfortunately for this partnership, it would appear that when one member made a bad judgment, the other member concurred in it instead of disagreeing.

Mistakes in people-handling also made this year a hard one for the King family when those mistakes came back to haunt them. Roberto Mondragon's long-simmering resentment at the two of them, which could have easily been cured by a little attention to the former LG and his warm-hearted beliefs, contributed to their debacle. So did the same sort of benign neglect of Casey Luna, whose temper, as we all came to see, is much more volatile than Roberto's.

Two women also contributed, although neither was chosen by the Kings themselves. Patsy Madrid, paired on the ticket with Bruce by the primary, was apparently so blinded by her own ambition she never caught on to the spirit of the times. And Diane Danish, by announcing that she planned to run against Casey Luna, incumbent LG, apparently pushed him to make a run for the top job in the primary, where Bruce's first wounds were opened in view of the public.

And how about "the spirit of the times," referred to above? That kind of "cut-the-pastels-out" attitude would have been bound to hurt an incumbent who has been in that position of incumbency as long as King has, no matter what. By itself, however, it probably wouldn't have done the Old Cowboy in. To accomplish that took a combination of all the elements above, no one of which is the sole reason for the end of the King era.

All those things, taken together, made up the load of straw that broke the camel's back.

Letter to the Editor

Camp Sierra broken promises

TO THE EDITOR:
(This letter was sent to Gov. Bruce King and is being copied to The Ruidoso News.)

I am writing on behalf of the senior citizens of the area surrounding the Camp Sierra Blanca in Fort Stanton. We are requesting your attention to the problems regarding this prison.

As you are well aware, following the escape of one of these prisoners and the brutal murder of a Lincoln man, and the escape of three prisoners a couple of weeks later, we were promised by you, Mr. King, and other area officials, that drastic changes were going to be made at the prison to guarantee our safety.

It has now been well over two months now, and we are getting no satisfaction in the way things are being handled. It seems that prison and state officials are promising to beef up security, improve some sort of warning system, curtail work detail, fence the prison ground, and change the road through the prison grounds, but to date it has all been talk. The warden has just stated in the local papers that we can call in our phone numbers to her and that we would then be notified when there has been an escape. We will only have a message on our phone that there has been an escape, not telling how many or giving a physical description of the man, or men. These men are wearing street clothing, therefore we cannot tell them from any other citizen.

In looking closer into this situation, it has come to our attention that there is a lot of "behind the scenes" things going on that have not been brought to the attention of the local citizens.

To begin with, a closer look at the history of the institution shows that in the past approximately 25 years or so, there were very little disturbances going on until recently. Before the current warden came here, there were very few escapes, and I believe only one violent crime was committed from these escapes.

The unrest at the prison seems to be internal. In our own private investigation, we have discovered that some very serious problems have developed between the inmates and the warden, and between the employees and the warden. Is that telling us something? There has been an alarming turnover of employees since this warden came. What is the reason for this?

In further investigating this problem, we have discovered that there is a very liberal classification system out there. They are incarcerating men convicted of more violent crimes, and I believe that they are not supposed to be sent out here until they have about 2 to 2 1/2 years left to serve, and they have some here with more than that length of time to serve. There are men here that are gang members, and they cause problems among the other men. I believe that the individual who escaped and killed the man from Lincoln was in fear for his life, and though not a violent man himself, could have possibly been acting in fear for his life.

Why was the inmate who is still at large — out for eight hours before reported as escaped? To save face maybe?

We in Lincoln County are also running in fear for our lives. A good percentage of us are senior citizens.

Some live alone. A lot of us have come to this area because it is, or was, a quiet, peaceful and safe place to live. NO MORE. We now lock our doors, not only when we leave, but while we are at home. We take our weapons out and "target practice," when we really have no business even owning a weapon. It will probably get us in more trouble than if we had no weapon at all, but we feel a bit more secure having one. Many of us live outside the village limits, and have no close neighbors who could help us in a hurry if needed. WE ARE IN MORE DANGER NOW THAN WE EVER WERE IN OUR WHOLE LIFETIME. Something MUST be done, and now, not SOMETIME.

We are requesting some serious investigations, starting at the TOP at Camp Sierra, and SOON. We have many reasons, some listed above, that all is not what you think it is out there. If this is not done now, one of our citizens will be maimed or killed, and some of the state officials will be more responsible than the inmates.

Why not interview the inmates themselves to see why there is this unrest, as well as former and present employees. You may learn some things that would surprise you. Seem when you sent investigators to talk to the warden, she says "ALL'S OK NOW." She just wants you to think it is!

PLEASE - don't put this on the back burner. We love our little area, and you, as governor, can return our peaceful community to us.

Following this letter will be a copy we are circulating for signatures of the citizen in this area. Thank you for your time, and consideration in checking into this for us.

Hunter education course great

To The Editor:

I recently sat through a hunter education course with our two daughters and we want to say thanks to Detective Pete Esquibel and Game Warden Ron Moore for taking time out to teach the course. These guys really taught from their hearts. It is an excellent class for all ages, even for those who never plan to hunt.

Also thanks to Nick for providing delicious pizza for lunch. And we appreciate Rita Esquibel being there. You all did a great job!

Leave Ruidoso to peace and quiet

To The Editor:

I must congratulate David Schultz on the letter he published in Thursday's paper. For straight thinking (and some firm language) it couldn't be better expressed.

Like you, David, my wife and I chose Ruidoso for peace and quiet. We only hope the would-be spoilers of that peace will decide the town is too small to bother with.

Thousands in state wait for adoption

During November, child advocates across the U.S. and Canada celebrate National Adoption Awareness Month and work to educate the public about children who wait.

In New Mexico, approximately 2,000 children live in some type of foster or substitute care setting. Some have lived most of their lives in this "temporary" situation, and have moved within the child welfare system more times than they care to remember. Fifteen percent will never return to their birth families. One hundred seventy-eight are currently legally free for adoption.

These waiting children come from a variety of backgrounds. Some have physical or mental disabilities; some are part of a sibling group; many are of African American or Native American or Spanish heritage; many are older.

Rocky Mountain Adoption Exchange provides specific information about waiting children and the adoption process in New Mexico. To learn more, contact the Adoption Exchange, 610 Gold SW, Suite 222, Albuquerque, N.M. 87102 or call 1-800-888-6966.

FFA competes in ENM state fair

The Ruidoso High School F.F.A. competed in the Eastern New Mexico State Fair and attended leadership training recently.

Dominique Rue was awarded third place at the state fair for his Limousin crossbred steer. Rue sold his steer for $1,500/pound. Dominique also showed three pigs, two Durocs and one Hampshire.

Due to an injury, Ronnie Wright was unable to show his rabbits. Therefore, Raynaldo Lopez showed for him. He showed three Bakers, a New Zealand Buck and a California Dog.

Corrina Reed showed her Duroc gilt. Reed decided not to sell her pig, but instead plans to breed her and raise a litter of pigs for the upcoming show year.

The F.F.A. went to O.C.L.T. (Chapter Officer Leadership Training) in Artesia Oct. 17. The Colt Program aims to get members more involved in their chapters. More than 300 member attended, and the Ruidoso High School F.F.A. took 19 members.
