Press conference Tuesday focuses on Fort Stanton lease

The Lincoln County citizens will be updated on the private leasing of Fort Stanton at a state official's press conference at 11 a.m. Tuesday in Ruidoso.

Secretary Steven Beffort of the state General Services Department will head the meeting.

Lincoln County Commissioners plan to get the jump on the GSD by meeting at 8:30 a.m. the same day. Both sessions will be conducted in the Ruidoso Civic Events Center.

Commissioners have been vocal in their disappointment that only one bid was submitted to lease the fort.

Tribe now owns Mescalero Inn

Mescalero Inn now officially belongs to the Mescalero Apache Tribe.

On Wednesday, the property was deeded over to the tribe by Gaim-Ko owner Raymond Gallegos, according to county clerk's office records.

The historic property, formerly called the Carrizo Lodge, is adjacent to the Mescalero reservation on Carrizo Canyon Road, but inside Ruidoso's village limits.

The tribal council passed a resolution in August seeking to make the Mescalero Inn part of its trust lands.

Clear title of land ownership is needed before the parcel can be considered a part of tribal trust lands, U.S. Bureau of Indian Affairs officials have said.

RC&D Council to meet on water plan

The South Central Mountain RC&D Council will meet at 10 a.m. Tuesday in the Corona Senior Citizens Community Center.

The meeting's main focus will be beginning public participation for the Tularosa Basin Regional Water Plan.

Ruidoso bills on postcards now

The village of Ruidoso will begin sending utility bills by postcard as of Wednesday.

The postcards will replace the enclosed bill statements with return envelopes.

Lack of snowfall precipitates mixed business reviews

by DON HIXON
 Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Each year, visitors travel to Ruidoso to take advantage of the ski area, but so far this year, the white stuff has refused to cooperate.

The lack of snow on the mountain has local businesses giving mixed reviews. Nearby Ski Apache has delayed its scheduled opening by two weeks to Dec. 8.

"We had an awful lot of people check in and ask how to get to the ski area," Days Inn front desk clerk Carla Palmer said. "Many of them just stayed one night even if they had reservations for three or four."

Days Inn rented 36 rooms on Saturday and 60 were still available. Some people who had reservations cancelled, Palmer said.

"We weren't so dead that the world was nonexistent," she said. "But it had better snow."

Enchantment Inn rooms division manager Teresa Westmoreland concurred with Palmer's assessment.

"If we don't get any snow by the 8th, we probably will start seeing cancellations," Westmoreland said. "We were at about 65% capacity and when the slopes are open we fill up."

Many of the local lodging establishments are calling people who have made reservations to let them know there is no snow on the mountain, Ruidoso Chamber of Commerce Director Joan Bailey said. The call gives visitors the opportunity to change their reservations, but while they're on the phone, they identify the other attractions in the area. "Lodgers are telling me that for the most part, people are deciding to come anyway," she said. "It's still very special to have a holiday in a mountain community whether we have snow or not."

"My Ruidoso theory is that you're going to end up with short fingernails because you've just got to hang on."

DON DAMRON
 ALTO SKI SHOP OWNER

Alto Ski Shop owner Don Damron made something positive out of the lack of snow and took a vacation.

"Instead of sitting around worrying about it, we went to Southern California for only the second time in 15 years," he said. "Sure it affects us, but the Thanksgiving weekend is never real lucrative."

Because of the weather, some employees who would normally work at ski shops and the ski area are having to wait.

"A lot of our help is seasonal and we like to get them started instead of having a fire drill at the last minute," Damron said. "My Ruidoso theory is that you're going to end up with short fingernails because you've just got to hang on."

When Ski Apache is running at full speed, about 100 people are

State revenue shortfall hits home

by KATHLEEN McDONALD
 Ruidoso News Staff Writer

The much-publicized state government revenue shortfall has hit home in Ruidoso.

The Legislature early this year appropriated $180,000 from its general fund toward repairs of Ruidoso's leaking wastewater system and other community capital projects. But with a general fund shortfall, the money now has to come from reserves. But first the Legislature has to approve the reserve dipping, and it can't do so until it reconvenes in January.

State Rep. Dub Williams (R-Ruidoso Downs) said he is optimistic the money will be released by the Legislature. However, with the budget shortfall still looming, he said next year's capital outlay funding requests from local communities should be "be frugal and realistic."

Ruidoso's $180,000 should be coming in the early part of the one-month Legislative session, the state's budget director said.

"It might be the first bill passed in the legislative session," John Gasparich said of the reserve fund release. "I assume the Legislature can do it very easily and quickly."

However, the state's reserves are in trouble, too. Officials estimated the reserve fund would have $120 million at the end of the fiscal year, June 30, 1996, but are now estimating it will have about $41 million, Gasparich said.

"It's the first time we've seen them so low," he commented.

Approximately $24 million of those reserves could go toward capital projects the Legislature approved in its last session — as long as the Legislature doesn't change its mind. About $8.5 million of the $24 million is for local community projects, said Jeff Condrey, the director of the local government division.

The $180,000 for Ruidoso will help improve the village's wastewater inflow and infiltration (I&I) problem.

Ruidoso officials originally requested $1.5 million from the state early this year, but the tiny $180,000 since they were granted was better than nothing, they said.

Luckily for village officials, Ruidosoans voted this summer in favor of a $1.5 million bond issue to help repair the sewage lines. The state's $180,000 will be used for the engineering phase of I&I repair.

Mescalero Apache election board responds to charge of election violation

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

An election code violation may have occurred during the Mescalero Apache election, but the election board apparently doesn't intend to pursue action against the offenders.

Rufina Laws, an opponent of the plan to store nuclear waste on the Mescalero reservation, complained after the election that President Wendell Chino or his supporters violated tribal election law.

Referring to a videotape shown on a Roswell television station, she contended a poster supporting Chino was displayed and a campaign letter was handed out within 150 feet of the polling place Nov. 7.

"I'm writing her again, asking what they intend to do since there is a videotape of the illegal campaigning that's been shown on television. Do they intend to ignore it?"

RUFINA LAWS
MESCALERO ACTIVIST

Chino was re-elected to a 16th term in office.

Elizabeth LaPaz, president of the election board, told Laws in a letter that campaigning is not allowed within 150 feet of the door of a polling place.

Dated Nov. 21, a day after an article appeared in The Ruidoso News saying Laws had received no response from the election board, the letter seemed to say the board could only act if someone was caught in the act of violating the code. LaPaz could not be reached for comment.

"I assume that the purported conduct that you complain of in your letter would be prohibited by the (section) if it actually occurred as you claim," LaPaz wrote. "We have never knowingly permitted campaigning within 150 feet of the door of the polling place. However, our task is made more difficult when alleged incidents are not reported to us in a prompt fashion so that we may deal with them."

If improper campaigning had been brought to her attention, LaPaz said, "I can assure you that it would have been dealt with squarely and immediately, regardless of the status of the parties involved."

Laws said she's not satisfied with LaPaz' answer.

"I'm writing her again, asking what they intend to do since there is a videotape of the illegal campaigning that's been shown on television. Do they intend to ignore it?" Laws asked.

Conviction on a similar offense under state law could result in a maximum sentence of 90 days in jail and a $500 fine.

The tribe's election code published in 1982 requires that a hearing be conducted on all election disputes.

Last September, the election board disqualified Laws as a candidate for president, because she is living in Ruidoso. The board said it would violate the tribal constitution if she was allowed to run, because all candidates must live on the reservation.

Laws appealed for reconsideration, saying she was denied a housing assignment on the reservation for the past three years. She lived with relatives on the reservation until earlier this year. She contended her stance against Chino's nuclear project tainted her chances for a house.

The board rejected her appeal, but Laws said she has been unable to find any reference in the tribal constitution saying a candidate is required to live on the reservation.

She also has been unsuccessful in her search for a compilation of election rules promulgated by the election board, she said. Tribal code requires that the secretary of the board keep such a record after the rules have been adopted by the tribal board.

Snow

employed, general manager Roy Parker said. But for now, just snowmaking crews are working, preparing the slopes and waiting each night until midnight to see if temperatures drop low enough to make snow.

"They could only make snow a couple of nights" so far, he said Monday. "They're here every night regardless of what's happening."

"If we don't get any snow by the 8th, we probably will start seeing cancellations. We were at about 65% capacity (Thanksgiving weekend) and when the slopes are open we fill up."

TERESA WESTMORELAND
ENCHANTMENT INN MANAGER

Despite the lack of snow business, retailers contacted by The Ruidoso News said they experienced a business surge during the Thanksgiving weekend.

People were line up waiting for the Wal-Mart store to open on Friday, Wal-Mart manager Mike Daulton said.

"It looked like a good mixture of locals and visitors," he said. "We beat last year's figures and every year that we've been open."

The lack of snow probably contributed to the increase in shoppers, he said.

LaVeda Peitersen of Misty

Mountain Gourmet Shoppe in Midtown said the store was extremely busy during the weekend.

"It's been keeping us all just hopping," she said. "This is advertised as one of the best days for shopping and we thank God that they're doing it."

Another Midtown merchant is Cy Siano, owner of Sianos.

"We're on pace with last year and people are just real pleased," he said. "We haven't heard many complaints and besides, the weather's too nice to complain."

Because of the wide variety of other activities and the natural beauty of the region, tourists still find plenty to do when they visit, Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce Director Joan Bailey said.

"What we're doing at the chamber is telling them about all of the other things that are to do," she said. "They can play golf, go horseback riding, fishing and hiking."

"We're very pleased with our business," he said. "Compared with last year at this time it's shown a considerable increase."

Tourists still come to Ruidoso because of the variety of things to do besides skiing, Crumpton said.

"The other day I was talking to some visitors who had come up to go skiing, but since there was no snow they decided to go fishing instead," he said. "Their attitude was real good and there wasn't any hostility because there wasn't any snow."

"Our ski business doesn't really start until the Christmas holidays," Bailey said. "It's wonderful if people do come up to ski, but it's not really the traditional beginning of the winter business."

PAST TENSE

Lincoln County's mystery man: Jesse Evans

There are several photographs that are purported to be taken of him, but no one is absolutely certain. His origins are relatively traceable, but no one knows his ultimate fate. He was young, generally pleasant, and decidedly murderous. He claimed that, with a six-gun in his hand, he feared no man — the kind of boast that one had to be ready to back up in that time and place. Skill with a six-gun was always open to "discussion."

He has been the subject of two biographies, but the questions about him still linger.

His name was Jesse Evans, and he was about as bad as a western badman could be.

His first appearance in Lincoln County seems to have been in the summer of 1873, when he was employed by John Chisum, supposedly to steal horses from the Mescalero Apaches. This, however, was not to Jesse's liking. It bore a suspicious resemblance to labor.

His movements for the next few years are obscure at best, but by the summer of 1877, he was running a rustling operation out of Mesilla where he met a likeable young fellow named Henry Antrim, who like Jesse, had a taste for liberating horses from their rightful owners.

At this time, many referred to young Antrim as "Kid Antrim." It was not until a couple of years had passed that Antrim would be known as "Billy the Kid."

Once again, the mists of time have obscured the movements of both of these miscreants, but it wasn't long until the Kid showed up in Lincoln County, where he ultimately accepted a job working for John Tunstall.

About the same time, Jesse and his men, known as "The Boys," began to help themselves to stock in the Lincoln area.

On the 18th of September, 1877, before Billy was employed at the Tunstall place, The Boys hit it. Their biggest mistake was, they also took some horses belonging to Dick Brewer.

Three days later, Brewer and the small posse he had assembled caught up with The Boys at Shedd's ranch (a notorious distribution place for stolen stock) near the San Agustin Pass. However, seeing they were outgunned by the Evans crowd, Brewer and his men decided discretion really was the better part of valor and turned back to Lincoln, where they sought legal recourse.

It took nearly a month, but on the 17th of October, in the company of Lincoln's Sheriff William Brady and a posse considerably larger than the one he had brought to Shedd's, the determined Dick Brewer arrested Evans and three of his men at the Beckwith ranch near Seven Rivers.

On the way back to Lincoln, the posse and its prisoners met John Tunstall on the road. Tunstall, who had been on his way to John Chisum's ranch, must have looked a little uncertain, prompting one of the prisoners to mimic Tunstall's proper British accent and remark, "By Jove! He don't know if Dick has got us, or we've got him."

After being reassured that Evans and his men were, in fact, Brewer's prisoners, Tunstall's confidence returned. So much so, that when one of the outlaws asked him for a drink of whiskey, Tunstall responded that he did not have enough for all, but would come to the Lincoln jail and "soak them" upon his return.

Past
tense

DREW GOMBER
THE RUIDOSO NEWS

About two weeks later, true to his word, Tunstall visited the jail bearing a bottle of whiskey. In his letters home, Tunstall painted a picture of himself sharing whiskey and laughs with these frontier "hardcases."

This is a bit hard to believe. It seems more likely that the outlaws' laughter would have been directed "at" Tunstall, instead of "with" him. Apparently, Tunstall had actually convinced himself that he had made friends with Evans and his men. This is about as likely as making friends with a pack of hungry, rabid coyotes. He had made a deadly mistake.

At any rate, adobe walls did not long a prison make for Jesse Evans, and in mid-November he and his men escaped from the Lincoln jail. It wasn't long before they were in the employ of L.G. Murphy & Co., Tunstall's bitter enemy.

It was in this capacity, on the 18th of February, 1878, that Evans and Tunstall met for the last time.

Jesse Evans was a member of the "posse" that was on its way to take Tunstall's stock, thanks to the legal maneuverings of Murphy's partner, Jimmy Dolan.

Evans, Frank Baker (another of "The Boys"), and Murphy's foreman Billy Morton found Tunstall in a canyon near what is now Glencoe. And while Tunstall did have some of his men with him, they were strung out over a 1500-yard stretch along the trail. It was getting close to dark, and Tunstall, for all practical purposes, was alone when Evans, Morton, and Baker came charging out from behind a hill. Bloodlust had caused them to get ahead of the rest of the posse.

Morton fired first, hitting the Englishman in the chest. As Tunstall slid from the saddle,

This is thought to be a photo of Jesse Evans. The woman is unidentified.

Evans dismounted and walked over to the injured man. Putting his pistol to Tunstall's head, he pulled the trigger. Then he shot Tunstall's horse. Taking Tunstall's hat, he placed it under the horse's head, like a pillow. This apparently passed for humor.

Then they joined the rest of the posse in rounding up the dead man's horses. Tunstall's employees, which included Dick Brewer and Billy the Kid, had taken cover when the main posse came into view (by some accounts, it numbered as many as 40 men).

The Lincoln County War had begun. Jesse Evans and "The Boys" fought on the side of the Murphy/Dolan faction for the next year. Evans was present during the "Five Day Battle" in Lincoln that resulted in the deaths of Alexander McSweeney and four others in less time than it takes to tell about it, on the night of July 19, 1878.

Evans was seen that same night helping to loot the Tunstall Store.

He was also present when the last murder of the Lincoln County War was committed on Feb. 18, 1879, one year to the day after the death of Tunstall. This time he only watched as gunman Billy Campbell shot down Susan McSweeney's lawyer, Huston Chapman.

In July of 1880, in the aftermath of a robbery, Evans was captured in a running gun battle with the Texas Rangers. One of Evans' outlaw cronies and a Ranger were killed in this fight.

In December of 1880, Jesse Evans entered Texas' Huntsville Penitentiary. About a year and a half later he walked away from a work detail and vanished from the pages of history.

There are many theories about Evans' ultimate fate. In all probability, he lies in an unmarked grave somewhere, a victim of his own lifestyle. There is, however, another possibility that is extremely tantalizing.

In the late 1940s and early 1950s, a man in Hico, Texas, known as "Brushy Bill" Roberts, announced that he was, in fact, Billy the Kid, and that he had actually escaped Pat Garrett's bullet in Ft. Sumner.

Historians have almost universally discounted his story, which puts them in agreement with the computer tests that Roberts' photographs have been subjected to.

However, the real mystery of Brushy Bill is that if he wasn't the Kid, who was he? Everyone agreed his knowledge of the Lincoln County War (and the Kid) was so extensive that he almost had to have been present during that turbulent time.

To compound this, all of the major Anglo participants in that deadly confrontation have been accounted for. All, that is, save one: Jesse Evans.

Is it possible that an elderly (and presumably, reformed) Jesse Evans decided he wanted some recognition in his old age? He certainly knew enough about the war, its events and participants to have perpetrated such a hoax.

Roberts, who died in 1951, did convince the entire population of Hico that he really was Billy. Unfortunately for history, the secret of his true identity was buried with him.

And Jesse Evans, true to his life as an outlaw, left a trail so dim that no one has yet been able to follow it.

(Drew Gomber's columns about the Lincoln County War and related events appear periodically in The Ruidoso News.)

Dutton family returns to entertain Ruidoso Tuesday

The Dutton family will return to Ruidoso with its special blend of country, folk, classical and tapping bluegrass music at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 28. They will perform at the First Christian Church as part of the Ruidoso Community Concert series.

The United Nations selected the Duttons to record and perform the theme song for the 1994 International Year of the Family. The Duttons experienced three other milestones in 1994: Their first Nashville recording contract, the filming of their first television special, and the formation of the Dutton Foundation to aid children in need.

Two special qualities have become hallmarks of the Dutton performances: versatility and the ability to establish an instant rapport with their audiences.

"I, for one, have never witnessed anything like this instant rapport between performers and ticket-buyers — and I've been attending concerts for almost six decades," said critic Mike Karvelas of the Sumter, S.C. Item. "In short, the Duttons are showmanship personified."

"I know of no other musical group consisting of an entire family that has such talent, exhibits such high caliber of cooperation, and is so incredibly versatile in terms of style and range of repertoire from high energy country to superb classical music," said Uri Barnea, conductor of the Billings Symphony of Billings, Mont.

After opening a concert with an engaging mixture of folk, country, bluegrass and clogging, often the Duttons amaze audiences by switching to formal clothing and classical music by the likes of Handel and Bach. Then they switch back again for a rousing folk/country finale.

The Duttons' love for each other and what they are doing is immediately obvious.

The children, who range in age from 14 to 22, play a variety of instruments including fiddle, guitar, banjo, and mandolin. Several have not only won recognition in national fiddling contests, but also garnered praise and awards in classical violin competitions.

In addition to their musical talents, the children also carry on the 'fine old American tradition of clogging, and the entire family sings.

The parents who are responsible for all this are equally remarkable. Father, Dean — a former professor of economics at Brigham Young University in Provo, Utah — plays the guitar and sings bass. Mother Sheila plays the bass and is the group's business manager.

The family maintains a busy traveling schedule, performing more than 250 concerts and traveling around 125,000 miles a year across America and Europe.

For more information about this and any other concert in the series, please call 338-4015. Admission to the concert is by membership only.

The Dutton Family performs as part of the Ruidoso Community Concert Association concert series at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the First Christian Church.

Many Blessings on Thanksgiving Day

The Weather Spirits brought us a beautiful mild and sunny day for Thanksgiving Day in the mountain land.

This way, travel on the highways was pleasant and safe, and folks journeying for Thanksgiving visits could admire the mountain world in prime Indian Summer at its best.

Brother Mark called me on the evening before Thanksgiving, and Brother Lynn called early Thanksgiving morning. This gave a running start into a very blessed day.

At noon I had Thanksgiving dinner at the house of C.R. Hicks and his wife Zella. At the table also with us was Jarrell Hicks and his wife Sandra, and their friend Don Davidson.

All the traditional vittles were there — pumpkin pie, cranberries, turkey, sweet potatoes, and dressing. Zella gave me some of this grand dinner to take home.

On the way home I stopped by the home of Helga Haake, "The Nordic Queen." Here was her son Terry and wife and daughter, Nancy and husband and all their children and some friends. Nancy gave me some vittles to take home.

When I arrived at the yard gate I could see Corina the Storm Ranch Cat looking out the kitchen door window. As soon as I got in the door, Corina's green eyes opened wide at the sight of the bags of food. She smelled the bags and then looked up at me with an expression very easy to understand.

So Corina had a little Thanksgiving dinner of her own, thanks to Zella Haake.

Thanksgiving Birthdays

This is being sent to you a little after noon on Nov. 24 and will reach you Nov. 27, the eve of the birthday of brother Lynn and C.R. Hicks. On some years these birthdays arrive on Thanksgiving Day. Arriving during the Thanksgiving season, these birthdays carry a special blessing.

Lynn Walker Storm was born Nov. 28, 1914 in Juneau, Alaska to Lynn Whippo Storm and the former Bertha Katherine Kennedy.

With the family he traveled to Oregon, California and Mexico.

After he arrived in Ruidoso Valley in 1925, he worked for Jim Jackson planting cabbage where Dub Williams lives today. Jim paid Lynn and Brother Joe with a horse called "Buttermilk." Lynn gave his half interest in the horse to Joe.

When Lynn and I worked on the Bonito Dam, he was the youngest member of the construction crew at age 13.

Martin Lynn went to high school and met his wife-to-be, the former Maxine Richter.

They were married Nov. 28, 1925 in Roswell.

They have three children, Lynnette Smith, Ann Geig and Scott Joseph Storm. They also have five grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Lynn received a degree in petroleum engineering from the University of Texas, worked in the oil fields, and invented a drilling device used all over the world.

He raised cattle, sheep and goats on their ranch at Dripping Springs, Texas. At one time he was president of the American Polled Hereford Association.

At this Thanksgiving season I am thankful to God for my brothers Lynn and Mark.

Happy Birthday to C.R. Hicks

Clifton Robert Hicks was born Nov. 28, 1912 in Louise, Texas to William Laundrum Hicks and the former Mabel Leona Featherhill.

In 1936 he was married to the former Zella Mae Sherrill in El Campo, Texas.

They have two sons, Jarrell Robert Hicks and Douglas Wayne Hicks, and a daughter, Carol Anne Douglas. They also have five grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

C.R. spent much of his life as a cattle rancher, and rice and cotton farmer near Edna, Texas.

Later he spent time as a big game hunter in the Northern United States and Canada.

A few years ago he and Zella moved to Ruidoso. Cliff and Zella made many friends here in their new home, and we wish C.R. Hicks many happy returns of the day and all God's blessings.

Prep hoop madness begins for local squads

by LAURA CLYMER
Ruidoso News Sports Writer

Thanksgiving marks the start of the holiday season, the beginning of Christmas shopping, and the most important — in the minds of some sports junkies — the long-anticipated commencement of the cage season.

Put away the leftover turkey, it's time to play basketball.

Ruidoso and Capitán open the 1995-96 season this week, while Carrizozo's girls and boys enter their second week of competition.

Warriors and Wildcats

First-year girls basketball coach Dwayne Rogers and his Warriors start the 1995-96 campaign tonight against Tularosa.

The team's practice time has been limited, because the volleyball season extended into state playoffs.

"We're going to try to make the best of our two weeks of practice," Rogers said.

Rogers has had most of his team for only 10 days. Senior center Sheryl Dockery has made only seven workouts, so it will take the Warriors some time to hit all cylinders.

"We want to be good in February, not so much in November," he said.

In the short time he's had a complete team, Rogers has noticed some things the Warriors do well.

"We can get the ball up and down the floor and we can shoot the ball fairly well," Rogers said.

Pacing the Warriors will be four seniors: Dockery, Angela Sims, Jasmine Flaherty, Angelica Figueroa, and junior point guard Brandi Dollar, a transfer from Texas.

Ruidoso will press defensively and keep an up-tempo game, but don't expect to see much of that early in the season or tonight, Rogers said, because it's too early in the season. Rogers did promise the Warriors will be better than last year's 2-19 team under Jamie Roland.

"We want to control the tempo of the game. We want to be proactive rather than reactive," Rogers said.

Last season Tularosa and Ruidoso split a pair of games. The Wildcats won the first game, but Ruidoso bounced back to win the second contest.

Tipoff for junior varsity girls is 5:30 p.m., with the varsity set to go around 7 p.m.

Ruidoso vs. Capitán

The Tiger boys pay Ruidoso a visit Tuesday evening in the season opener for both teams. Junior varsity boys tipoff at 5 p.m., with varsity action starting around 7 p.m.

The Warriors lost seven players to graduation, including all-star Malik Waters, who led Ruidoso in nearly every statistical category. Despite the departure of those seven seniors, Ruidoso will have plenty of familiar faces sporting its spiffy new uniforms.

Leading the way will be 6-foot, 5-inch senior Joshua Hodges, an all-district 3AAA selection last year. He will be joined by senior teammates Cory Hood and Rex Comanche — both Hood and Comanche started the hoop season last year but quit a third of the way through it for different reasons.

Senior Jackie Roe is the other returning varsity letterwinner for coach Ben Sanchez, who is in his first full year as head coach. Sanchez was junior varsity coach for the Warriors last season. Sanchez took over for ousted Ruidoso coach Sid Wright on interim basis as the team headed into district playoffs last season, and then he was named head coach April 11.

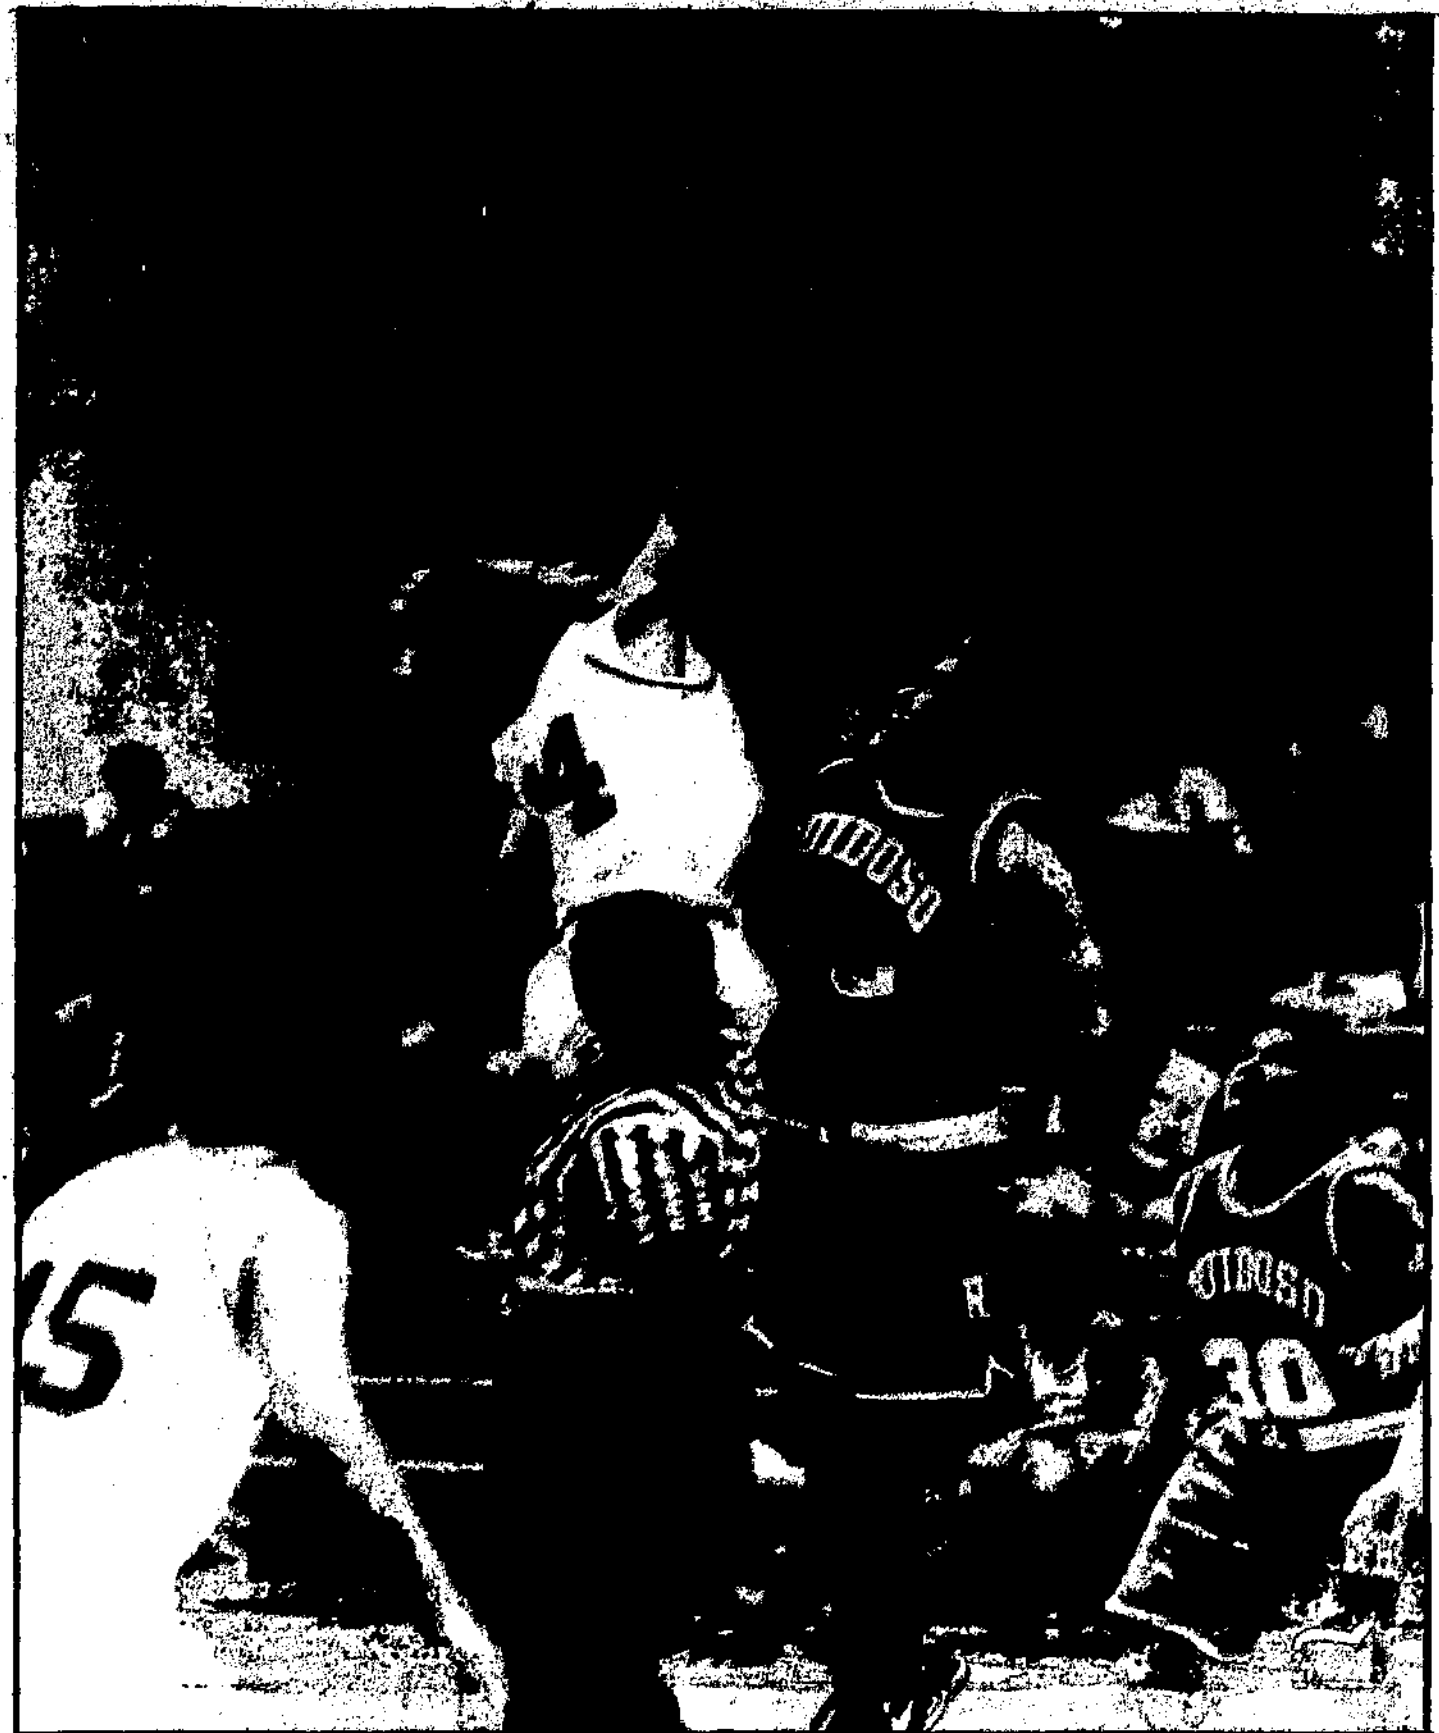

Ruidoso enters Tuesday's contest after an intrasquad scrimmage Nov. 21. The Warriors, donning their new uniforms, gave fans a taste of what to expect for the upcoming season. Sanchez emphasizes the halfcourt game (offensively and defensively), but gives the green light for the fastbreak — it should make both basketball purists and players happy.

Sanchez identified two priorities Tuesday night: playing good man-to-man defense and running the assigned lanes in the fastbreak.

"We're going to be very vanilla on both ends of the floor," Sanchez said about Tuesday's game.

At the Warriors' intrasquad scrimmage, Sanchez saw several things he liked.

Ruidoso and the Wildcats play at 7 p.m. in the high school gym.

WHY DOUBLE VISION?

There are any number of reasons for double vision. Dr. Sonnenmoser and Dr. Gutowski are trained to get to the root of the problem and, in most cases, solve it, too. Suddenly seeing double may be more serious a problem than misaligned bifocals; it's a simple matter for the eye professional to readjust the glasses or change the placement of one segment. Occasionally, double vision may be the sign of a developing health problem; in that case, you may be referred to a specialist.

In children, the key to double vision is often poor eye-muscle coordination that can result in crossed eyes. The child is unlikely to complain; instead, the brain seems to compensate for the double vision by blocking out the image from the eye. As a result, binocular vision may be suppressed and the child may grow up without the full depth perception needed for normal school and play activities.

Early examination and intervention—usually glasses and/or vision training—will generally improve the child's functional vision.

CHS dominates all-3A grid squad

The Capitan football team made its presence felt on both sides of the ball in postseason District 3A football honors. Seven Tigers made the first-team all-district offensive list, while six earned first-team all-district defensive honors.

Named to the first-team offensive unit were: Jeremy McGarvey, center, sr.; Justin King, guard, sr.; Keith Cox, tackle, sr.; Alan Hazel, split end/kicker, sr.; Ernie Trujillo, tight end, sr.; Neil Montes, QB, sr.; and Josh Peralta, RB, sr.

Five of those seven made first-team defensive also. Tigers on the first-team defense were: Cox, defensive tackle; Trujillo, linebacker; Peralta, outside linebacker; Montes, cornerback; King, defensive end; and Kyle Jones, defensive tackle, jr.

Capitan finished the season 9-2 overall and District 3A runnerup. The Tigers lost to Jal in the first round of the Class A football playoffs, 37-6.

"When you end it (the season) like we did, you know there are some disappointments," Tiger coach Ed Davis said.

Davis found some solace in his team's performance against District 6AA champion and state runnerup Animas. The Tigers held the Panthers to their lowest point and yardage total of the season, but Capitan still lost, 14-6.

"They (Animas) put it together enough to make it to the state finals," Davis said. "All in all, you're never satisfied if you don't go all the way, but there are positives and that's what we're trying to emphasize here at Capitan."

Capitan will honor its football and volleyball athletes at a fall sports banquet Monday, Dec. 4.

All-District 3A Team

Tipoff

"We're a little bit further along than I thought and we're a deeper team than I thought we'd be," he said.

The Warriors are not blessed with height, but they are quick and physically strong. Ruidoso has a nice mix of finesse and strength.

"I like this team. I'm optimistic about them. I'm optimistic but I'm also realistic. We play in one of the best conferences in AAA in the state," Sanchez said.

Capitan is also under the direction of a new head coach. Gerald Montes takes over for Ron Becker, who coached the Tigers for three years.

The Tigers scrimmaged Mountainair a week ago, and according to Montes, they looked a bit rusty. But the Tigers still won the get-together with Mountainair.

Capitan will try to run the ball more and continue to play its solid man-to-man defense, Montes said.

Ruidoso got the better of Capitan in two meetings last year.

"Our goal (for the game Tuesday) is just to play hard the whole game and see what kind of condition we're in," Montes said.

Montes scouted the Warriors' intrasquad scrimmage and saw several things his team needs to do Tuesday.

"If we don't stop their break it's going to be a long night for us," Montes said.

Capitan returns seven seniors from last year's 11-13 team. Gons are 6AA all-district selection Michael Fish, J.P. Whipple and Rodney Sedillo to graduation, and Trey Allen, who moved to Artesia.

Back for Montes are seniors Neil Montes (all-district honorable mention), Keith Cox, Jeremy McGarvey, Josh Peralta, Jon Ugalano, Cody Turnbow, Nathan Longbotham, and Ernie Trujillo.

CAT TRACKS: The Capitan girls open the season Thursday at the Roadrunner Invitational. The Tiger boys also play in that tourney...Ruidoso pounded Capitan 86-57 on Nov. 29 and 78-47 on Dec. 20 in their two match-ups last season. The latter game featured extracurricular activities among two parents that almost prevented future contests between the two county schools.

Group makes a pitch for baseball

by DON HIXON

Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Ruidoso baseball fans are determined to have a high school team by next spring.

Things are already falling into place: the school board has applied for New Mexico Activities Association sanctioning, and the ballplayers have fields with more on the way.

The baseball movement actually began last April when Ruidoso Baseball, Inc. was formed by President Diana Buchanan and others. Buchanan is also the commissioner for the local Little League.

"There were all these kids who wanted to play baseball during the summer and somehow or another, I ended up being the commissioner," she said. "It just fell into my lap."

Buchanan's 14-year-old son Brett was one of the teenagers who wanted to play baseball. She helped organize a junior and senior Little League team for play last summer. About 60 boys between 12 and 17 years old participated, she said.

Little League organizers approached the Village of Ruidoso Downs and received permission to practice and play at the All American Park.

"We couldn't play too many games there because there were no lights," Buchanan said. "But we're working on that now."

Because of her affiliation with the Little League program, Buchanan began to realize just how many boys and girls want to play the sport.

"There's so many kids that want to just play baseball," she said. "The idea for Ruidoso Baseball, Inc. grew out of talking to other parents about baseball."

The corporation was formed so people who wanted to give money or materials would have a tax-free donation.

"It grew by small steps into an organization of people that are supporting baseball," she said.

The corporation has already raised $6,000 and plans to raise another $6,000, local attorney Ron Lewis said.

Because of the passage of a village bond election in August, $1 million is available for improvements at the White Mountain School Complex site, including the creation of baseball and soccer fields.

Ruidoso Downs is also in the process of installing lights and restroom facilities at All American Park.

Formation of the high school baseball team came up during the Nov. 14 Ruidoso School Board meeting.

For a Ruidoso baseball team to compete in district play, the process of petitioning the New Mexico Activities Association (NMAA) must begin immediately, Ruidoso Superintendent of Schools Mike Gladden said during the meeting.

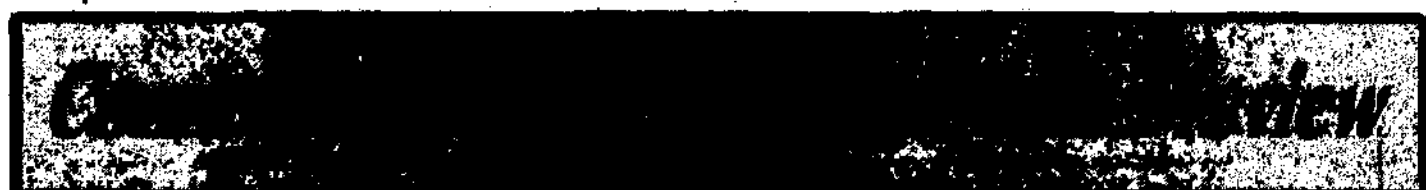

"If we do that this year and begin competition in 1997, we will be eligible to compete for all the honors and have a facility available to do that," he said.

Lewis told the school board if play began in the spring of 1996, teams would have a year of experience under their belts. Then, "maybe when you can compete for district championships, you would have a real chance," he said.

The school board began the NMAA application process and scheduled a meeting so Ruidoso Baseball officials and board members could discuss details.

"We are getting together to have a small, in-depth discussion about facilitating baseball here this spring," Buchanan said. "We have all the ingredients put together and we'd really like to do it."

The corporation is glad to accept donations and support, she said.

LINCOLN COUNTY SCRAPBOOK

A glimpse into Lincoln County's past, compiled by Polly E. Chavez with excerpts from John Haley's 1913 Lincoln County Yearbook.

John B. Baird was constable of the Carrizozo precinct as well as deputy sheriff in 1913. He married Hallie F. Payne at Fort Stanton in 1909. The couple had one daughter, Margaret, who in 1913 was three years of age.

Baird came to New Mexico in 1907, locating at Carrizozo. He was born in Llano, Texas in 1887. He attended schools in Mason County, high school at Brownwood and two years at Daniel Baker College.

L.F. Avent was a member of the Texas Rangers, the New Mexico Mounted Police and also a deputy sheriff in the county. In 1913 he lived in Ruidoso, where he had an alfalfa and grain farm, and was also engaged in the cattle business.

He came to New Mexico in 1895 and moved to Capitan in 1900. Avent was born in 1856 in Bexar County, Texas. He and his wife Ella had seven children.

Brandin' Iron is a family affair

by DON HIXON
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

The success of Bent Tree Jamboree led owners Eldon and Lois Harris to open a new restaurant, The Brandin' Iron, in Ruidoso.

The Harrises moved from Loop, Texas three years ago and opened Bent Tree Jamboree near the airport in Alto. Bent Tree Jamboree features a family-oriented stage show with a wild west theme dinner theater.

"We've had such tremendous support and response to the food at Bent Tree that we decided to open The Brandin' Iron," Eldon said. "We had so many local people and church groups coming out to Bent Tree that it seemed the right time to open a restaurant."

The Brandin' Iron opened at the circle in the upper canyon Oct. 30, and community response has been terrific, he said.

Everything at the restaurant has the personal touch. All of the meat is excel grade, the grade above choice, Eldon said.

"We cut all of our meats," Lois said. "We don't buy anything already processed or breaded, and we make all of our own bread from scratch."

All of the steaks served at the restaurant are broiled over an open flame mesquite grill, Eldon said.

Those hankerin' a hearty breakfast can eat to their hearts' content at The Brandin' Iron's all-you-can-eat breakfast buffet from 6 a.m. to 10:30 a.m. for $4.99. There is also an all-you-can-eat $4.99 lunch buffet from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m., and a Monday through Saturday all-you-can-eat dinner buffet including the salad bar for $6.99.

Other items on the menu include the Colossal Blooming Onion, a huge breaded and deep-fried sweet onion cut into the shape of a blooming flower; pressure-fried broasted chicken, blackened catfish, homestyle hamburgers, cheesecake and homemade pie. There are also selections geared towards children and senior citizens on the menu.

The Harrises' daughter Shelly and son-in-law Phil Jones are co-owners in the venture, Eldon said.

"It's a real family affair," he said.

The Brandin' Iron is open from 6 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday through Saturday and 6 a.m. to 2 p.m. Sunday. All major credit cards are accepted. The phone number is 257-7349.

Apache drug rehab official charged with selling marijuana in undercover sting

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

An employee of the Mesalero Apache Drug Rehabilitation Service has been charged with selling marijuana to an undercover agent.

Debra Weinbrenner, no age listed, was charged Nov. 17 with one count of drug abuse, said David Culver, an agent with the drug enforcement unit of the Bureau of Indian Affairs (BIA).

Weinbrenner is accused of selling marijuana to Culver while he was working undercover, Culver said.

"The arrest and that of her husband earlier are the result of a several-months-long investigation," Culver said from his office in Artesia. "The investigation was a joint effort with the Mesalero BIA criminal division and our office."

Culver did not have the arrest report and was not able to provide details of the case.

Weinbrenner denied the charge Friday, saying she is the victim of a vendetta by a woman turned down for a job at the tribe's rehab center.

Weinbrenner said she has worked as clinical director of the rehab center for the past four months and is still in the job.

"This (alleged sale of drugs) is old allegations, like last year in March," she said. "They say it was a continuing investigation, but there was nothing going on. I never sold to Culver. This woman has connections and they took her word."

Weinbrenner said she has entered a not guilty plea and is scheduled for trial Dec. 21. Since she is Mesalero and lives on the reservation abutting Ruidoso, her case will be handled in tribal court.

Weinbrenner's husband Dan A. Weinbrenner, who is not a tribal member, will stand trial in Otero County District Court in Alamogordo on three counts of distribution of marijuana. He also has entered a not guilty plea.

He is accused of selling marijuana on March 20 and April 26 of this year.

According to information filed with the court in Alamogordo, the sales took place at a home on Penn Scott Drive. He is accused of selling two quarter-ounce bags of a leafy substance believed to be marijuana for $70 and a quarter pound for $400. On the March date, he also is accused of selling Culver six quarter-ounce bags for $200.

OBITUARIES

Thelma Henderson

Mrs. Joe "Baldy" Thelma Henderson, 89, of Ingram, Texas died Friday, Nov. 24 in a Kerrville, Texas hospital.

Graveside services will be held at 2 p.m. today, Nov. 27, at Evergreen East Cemetery in El Paso, with Pastor Steve Dittmore officiating. Funeral services were Sunday, Nov. 26 at Grimes Funeral Chapel in Kerrville, with Rev. Andrew Pate and Rev. Paul McClung officiating.

Palmer receives DWI rehab help

Mescalero resident Arlington Palmer is out of jail and receiving substance abuse treatment while awaiting a district court trial on a felony driving while intoxicated (DWI) charge.

Ruidoso Magistrate Judge William Butts released Palmer Nov. 22 from the county jail to the Mesalero Rehabilitation Center for 90 days of inpatient treatment. He was sent there after Butts found probable cause in the sixth DWI charge against Palmer.

A DWI charge becomes a fourth-degree felony in New Mexico after the third drunk driving conviction. A conviction on the 4th DWI is punishable by a maximum 2 years in jail and $5,000 fine.

Palmer, 38, had been held at the Lincoln County Jail since Nov. 13 on a $6,500 bond after his Nov. 10 arrest by Ruidoso police. He had been driving erratically on Carrizo Canyon Road and later failed a field sobriety test, police said.

Judge finds probable cause against Martinez

An Alto man charged Oct. 13 with battery on a police officer remains at the Lincoln County Jail after Ruidoso Magistrate Judge William Butts bound his case over to district court Wednesday.

During his Nov. 22 preliminary hearing, an intoxicated Steven Martinez was shown on videotape whipping his boots at Ruidoso police officers and causing a ruckus at the department's holding cell.

Martinez, 35, made a good shot with one of the boots, hitting officer Louis Torres in the leg. The videotape also showed police subduing Martinez with pepper spray.

While in court, his attorney Adam Raskin argued hitting an officer with a boot hardly constitutes battery on a police officer.

But the state statute reads battery is the unlawful, intentional touching or application of force to a person in a rude, insolent or angry manner.

"From what I saw, it sure was done that way," Butts related.

In addition to the 4th-degree battery charge, Butts also found probable cause in the assault, resisting arrest and disorderly conduct charges filed against Martinez the night of his arrest.

If found guilty of all charges, Martinez could be sentenced to a maximum 4.5 years in jail and a $7,500 fine.

After being charged, Martinez was free on a conditional release until the judge concluded he was violating his conditions and had him arrested by warrant Nov. 14. He is now in jail on a $10,000 bond.

Ranchers, farmers are backbone of America

The classic film "Grapes of Wrath" was an appropriate choice to air Thanksgiving morning. As we watched the suffering and starvation of the Dust Bowl years, we thought about how lucky we are to have such bountiful food today.

But it isn't luck. Farmers and ranchers are still the backbone of this country's wealth, because when the rest of us don't have to worry about that most basic necessity of food, we have the luxury to pursue other interests.

Many Americans alive today experienced those harsh Dust Bowl years. We must keep their memories alive; it wasn't that long ago that masses of people were literally starving to death in this country and couldn't find work to feed themselves.

As remote as it seems, it can still happen — and it is happening in other parts of the world. The world population is outpacing the Earth's ability to support it. More land is plowed to feed the starving, and sometimes it's land that cannot support the types of farming being put upon it, creating other Dust Bowls around the planet. As population continues to compound in the future, farmers and ranchers in this country will be more and more important.

That's why Congress needs to do what it can to support our farmers and ranchers and keep them on the land. Once they leave a parcel of land, it is often taken over for other uses, never to return again to its past use. The rest of us can encourage our elected officials to remember the Dust Bowl years — and next time you pass a rancher or farmer, stop him or her and just say, "Thanks for being the backbone of America."

GUEST COMMENTARY

Indians' New Federalism trashes America

by RUFINA LAWS
Humans Against Nuclear Waste president and Mescalero Apache Tribe member

The United States Government is getting out of the business of Indian affairs. The Bureau of Indian Affairs (BIA) is shutting down and all of its duties, responsibilities and funds are to be given directly to the individual tribal governments.

This plan is called "New Federalism for American Indians." The plan is an open door to making the BIA and the Indian Health Service (IHS) a thing of the past, as we know it. This means all the federal services that were being provided and the money for the services will be turned over to the tribal governments and placed in the tribal governments' bank accounts.

Around 1975, fraud and corruption within the U.S. Department of Interior surfaced concerning the DoI's mishandling of millions and millions of dollars of trust funds owned by Indian individuals and tribes. A full congressional hearing was held. After the entire process, Congress made a decision, which is as follows:

a) All treaties and agreements made in the past were to be CANCELLED! CANCELLED!
b) All treaties and agreements would be replaced by NEW negotiated self-governance compacts (i.e. gambling compacts) whereby federally-recognized American Indian tribes would receive an annual amount of money to administer service programs which were once operated by an agency of the federal government. The annual amount each tribe would receive would be given according to a pro rate schedule based upon their service population — or, in other words, the population of the tribal membership.

The "New Federalism for American Indians" plan didn't start until 1988. An investigation by the Senate Committee for Indian Affairs uncovered many, many cases of federal violations of trust responsibility and just plain criminal acts of fraud, corruption and mismanagement. However, NO federal employee was ever convicted.

In November, 1989, the investigation gave its final report. It described what was found and made recommendations for change. The recommendations became the heart of the new plan.

This plan started the change in how the federal government would approach and treat the American Indians throughout the USA;

the plan is called "A New Federalism for American Indians — The Tribal Self-Governance Pilot Program."

The Reagan administration started the idea. It continued through the Bush administration and into the Clinton administration. It was introduced by Ross Swimmer, a Cherokee who was Assistant Secretary of Indian Affairs (AS-IA).

From the very beginning, THIS PLAN HAS BEEN APPROVED BY A SMALL GROUP OF TRIBAL LEADERS. In 1989, Ed Brown, Pascua-Yaqui of Arizona, was selected as new AS-IA. Brown's suggestions included a policy change and a task force of 15 tribal leaders and 15 BIA management officials. Brown became the Dept. of Interior's representative, co-chairman of the BIA reorganization task force and the leader for 15 BIA management officials.

WENDELL CHINO, Mescalero tribal president, became the CO-CHAIRMAN OF THE TASK FORCE as the leader of the 15 tribal leaders.

In 1982, Congress passed the Nuclear Waste Policy Act (NWPA), which was designed to deal with the massive amount of spent fuel and other radioactive waste accumulated from the military-industrial complex's voluminous stockpile. The plan was to create a permanent geologic repository as the final solution, with a Monitored Retrievable Storage (MRS) facility as the interim storage for the immediate industrial nuclear solution.

The MRS proposal was introduced in Tennessee, and was soundly rejected. From that time forward, each time the idea was introduced, it was rejected in many eastern states. In 1987, the plan was revised as the NWPA Amendment. Together the politicians and nuclear industry sought to broaden the context of its search for a dumping ground. Attention focused upon Indian reservations as the solution to the interim and final disposition of their problem.

David Leroy, Nuclear Waste Negotiator for the Bush administration, approached the Native American leaders at the National Congress of American Indians Conference in December 1991. With subtle suggestion in his appeal to the assembled members, he asked them to draw on their "Native American culture and perspective" and its "timeless wisdom" to seize the opportunity to house the radioactive waste. Leroy quoted Chief Seattle and said, "Every part of this soil is sacred in the estimation of (Indian) people," implying that no matter where the waste eventually ended up, it would still be on sacred grounds.

The Pitch: $100,000 with "no strings attached" to consider the storage of the waste. The Close: if they accepted storage of the waste it would only be for 40 years, and after 40 years the waste would be transferred to Yucca Mountain, Nev., for its final resting (under) grounds. By May of 1992, the waste negotiator's office doled out 20 "Phase I" MRS planning grants of $100,000 to each of the Indian tribes that applied for the study of this plan.

Many tribes simply returned the money. Others withdrew, and still others declined after a referendum in which the people prevailed.

The exception was the Mescalero Apache Tribe. The issue was voted down on 1/31/95 by a vote of 490 to 362. Within six weeks, on 3/9/95, a second referendum was held and the result was 693 to 372 for nuclear waste. The vote was highly controversial for it was made with empty promises in exchange for a vote for the industry.

Embracing the "contaminated vote," the attorneys and representatives of the Mescalero Apache Tribal Council and utilities met with the Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC) in Rockville, Md. on 8/30/95. In this historic meeting, initial steps were taken toward securing a license to operate the nuclear dump prototype of the world.

Upon issuance of the license, the Nuclear Waste Transportation Plan will be set in motion. The real beginning of the trashing of America will commence as the lethal cargo of high-level radioactive nuclear waste (from commercial plants, the military and foreign countries, which are beginning to ship waste back to its point of origin — the USA) traverses America in 75 to 125-ton canisters on specially-built slow trains to the "World's Nuclear Dumping Grounds."

This will impact 43 states with a schedule of waste moving upon major railways and highways. It will pass through many cities like St. Louis, Mo., every eight hours for at least 30-35 years (maybe forever?). At that point, the $500-billion-a-year industry will have no boundaries in its expansion for power, and the Nuclear Waste Transportation Schedule could be tightened down to every six hours, then every four.

The trashing of America. Its backbone? Self-government compacts!!!

Al and Ouzo are 11-week old male kittens. Al, a Siamese mix with intriguing markings, goes limp and hangs like a ragdoll when given a head massage. ## POOP SCOOP

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

While some people tend to consider dedication to a pet a sign of emotional maladjustment to the real world, some great intellects saw the benefits.

Following are some of their thoughts and I'd be interested in reading other favorites:

— "Hear our humble prayer, O God, for our friends the animals, especially for animals who are suffering, for any that are hunted or lost or deserted or frightened or hungry, and for all who must be put to death."

"We entreat for them all Thy mercy and pity. And for those who deal with them, we ask a heart of compassion and gentle hands and kindly words. Make us, ourselves, to be true friends to animals."

Albert Schweitzer

— "If all beasts were gone, man would die from a great loneliness of spirit."

For whatever happens to the beasts, soon happens to man.

All things are connected."

Chief Seattle

Suquamish Indian Tribe

— "A strong desire to touch the beloved person is commonly felt (in humans)...love is expressed by these means more plainly than by any other. We probably owe this desire to inherited habit. With the lower animals, we see the same principle derived from contact in association with love. Dogs and cats manifestly take pleasure in rubbing against their masters...and in being rubbed or patted by them."

Charles Darwin

The benefits from touching and petting go two ways.

Psychological and medical researchers have found that interacting with a pet lowers the blood pressure of the human, at least temporarily.

"The minute you start talking to and petting your dog, your blood pressure goes down and stays down during the interaction," said Aline Halstead Kidd, Ph.D., professor of psychology.

"The point is human to human interactions make certain demands. A pet allows you to interact with another loving being that makes no demands and loves you without regards to anything."

Winston Churchill offered this thought about pet ownership:

"In thinking of pets, I don't care for dogs much, because they look up to you so. Cats on the other hand look down on us. I prefer the company of pigs. They consider us equal."
