Capitan football players taken to local hospital

Two Capitan football players were hospitalized for tests Friday after they became ill during a routine football practice at the high school.

Coach Ed Davis said Brian Seidel and Martine Gonzales were taken to the Lincoln County Medical Center about 4:30 p.m. to determine whether their conditions were related.

He said Seidel's father, a physician, determined that his son had suffered an asthma attack. Dr. Ray Seidel called back about 9:30 p.m. to say that tests showed Gonzales was dehydrated and lacking in carbohydrates, Davis said. The boy had not eaten before the practice.

"It was so early in the practice that we hadn't taken a break for water yet," Davis said. "I've got to educate those young men that nutrition is very important when they are participating in athletics."

The boys were kept for observation overnight and released Saturday.

Money marked for hatchery by Senate

The Mescalero Apache fish hatchery, approved for closure by the U.S. House of Representatives, is marked to continue operations in the U.S. Senate's 1996 Appropriations Bill.

The hatchery on the reservation neighboring Ruidoso is among several hatcheries selected by the Senate to share $3 million in 1996. However, language in the bill directs the Fish and Wildlife Service to develop a down-sizing plan to be implemented in 1997.

U.S. Sen. Pete Domenici (R-N.M.) requested the money, saying the hatchery provides an important service to Indian tribes and pueblos. He said he would work to ensure the money stays in the final bill, a reconciliation of versions from the House and Senate.

President Clinton's proposal also seeks to close the hatchery.

Fish from the hatchery are used to stock lakes and streams on Indian land.

Lightning strikes more often locally and in New Mexico

by DIANNE STALLINGS
 Ruidoso News Staff Writer

In the last 35 years, more people per capita died from lightning strikes in New Mexico than any other state.

In three separate incidents in the past 1.5 months in Lincoln County, two people have taken direct hits and lived, several more have been hospitalized with injuries and others have been jolted off their feet. Harold Collins, struck Aug. 14 at an Alto golf course, is still in critical condition at N.M. University Hospital's Regional Burn Center in Albuquerque.

"It's unusual to have that number injured in a short period," said Charles Liles, area manager for the National Weather Service in Albuquerque. "I don't believe the number of (lightning) strikes in your area have been out of the normal compared to previous years."

Liles has a theory about why 79 people died from lightning strikes in New Mexico from 1959 to 1994.

"We have more positive bolts than other areas," he said. Positive bolts hit the ground as opposed to lightning that dissipates before it hits the ground. "They come out of the top of a cloud and hit 10-15 miles away (from the cloud). People haven't even begun to think about taking shelter, because the storm isn't close and they're not wet."

"Some studies indicate it's usually the first bolt that kills."

Storms in areas with more moisture also tend to look more threatening than New Mexico's storms, Liles said.

"A lot of people won't take shelter until they're getting wet," Liles said. "That's not a good attitude in New Mexico."

To better educate residents about the dangers and to improve their understanding of the dynamics of the phenomena, Liles' agency sponsors a Flash Flood and Lightning Awareness Week each June.

"We're the only (National Weather) service in the nation that does that," Liles said.

He also is responsible for compiling and publishing information on lightning, comparing New Mexico to the rest of the nation.

Based on his data, New Mexico leads the nation with an average of 65 lightning deaths for every one million residents since 1959.

"In 1989, I was looking through publications and our lightning fatalities and injuries seemed out of balance," he said.

Wyoming is second with 52, Arkansas is third with 51 and Florida is fourth with 49.

However, when the population factor is removed, Florida leads the nation in lightning deaths with 337 in 35 years.

The greatest number of strikes occur in during July and August in New Mexico and Florida.

Ruidoso officials shut down Carrizo Lodge construction

Apache tribe acquires lease

by JOANNA DODDER
 Ruidoso News Editor

The Village of Ruidoso forced work to stop on Carrizo Lodge remodeling Thursday, citing a lack of permits.

The lodging facilities and historic restaurant on Carrizo Canyon Road were purchased Tuesday by Gaim-Ko, Inc., which supplies gambling machines for the Mescalero Apache Tribe's Inn of the Mountain Gods.

After being issued the stop order, an Inn of the Mountain Gods official brought village Planning Director Cleatus Richards a copy of a lease between the tribe and Gaim-Ko. The lease was dated Aug. 8 and signed by Gallegos and Mescalero Apache Tribe President Wendell Chino.

The lease permits the Inn of the Mountain Gods to use the entire lodge property, in return for the tribe paying for the remodel work. An inn official told planning Code Enforcement Officer Thomas Chavez that the job would cost approximately $750,000, Chavez said.

Inn employees are being paid by the tribe to do the remodel work. Chavez estimated more than 50 of them were at the work site Thursday. Some utilities are also being billed to the tribe after utility companies were requested to do so, including county government garbage service.

"At this point, we don't know the plans being contemplated" by the tribe, said Richards. The Carrizo property borders the Mescalero reservation.

Chavez said he went to visit the site Thursday and found massive remodeling underway. Workers were being endangered, he said, because a loadbearing wall under a thick cement ceiling had been torn out in the restaurant.

"They were under the impression that they didn't need permits" because they were tribal employees and they don't need village or state permits for remodeling on the reservation, Chavez related.

"One guy even said, 'I'm not going to stop working until Mr. Chino himself tells me to stop,' Chavez said.

But when Chavez told the workers to leave the site, they did.

The village requires remodel permits, and the state requires plumbing and electrical permits for

"We have exercised our police powers in stopping the work going on, for a lack of permits," Jackson said.

Richards said the work also needs the stamp of a licensed architect because load bearings are being changed in a commercial structure.

"At this point, we don't know the plans being contemplated."

CLEATUS RICHARDS
 VILLAGE PLANNING DIRECTOR

At this point, Inn officials seem to be cooperating with the requests, Richards said.

If a change in use is proposed for the restaurant, business plaza, laundry, gallery and/or 12 condos at the Carrizo, a planning commission hearing will be required, Richards said. The adobe-style restaurant is a national historic landmark.

In the Wednesday interview, Gallegos said he has no plans for the Carrizo. Gallegos and Inn officials could not be reached this weekend for further comment.

This is the second stop order village officials have issued for a large commercial structure in the past month. A stop work order was issued for the Holiday Inn near U.S. Highway 70 on July 13, and those workers still have not complied with orders so construction remains halted, Richards said.

"They were under the impression that they didn't need permits" because they were tribal employees and they didn't need village or state permits for remodeling on the reservation.

County residents say top health problem is alcoholism

by DON HIXON
 Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Alcoholism is rated as the number one health problem in Lincoln County by respondents to hospital survey.

Survey results were reported at Thursday's Lincoln County Medical Center board meeting. It is based on responses from 300 Lincoln County residents and has a 5% margin of error.

People were asked to give their perceptions of the main health problems in the county.

The top six health problems identified by the survey are (in order) alcoholism, high blood pressure, cancer, heart disease, auto accidents and drug abuse.

A question about behavioral health services needing improvement in Lincoln County brought plenty of ideas. Family counseling, prevention of drunk driving, drug abuse prevention, alcohol and drug abuse outpatient services, juvenile detention treatment services, self-esteem building and alcohol and drug abuse hospital services were listed by respondents.

Calling Lincoln County's behavioral health services 'limited' is a compliment, because those services are practically non-existent, consultant Jan Randolph told the board.

"There aren't very many services here and they're not very well utilized," Randolph said. "In some instances it's almost impossible to get access, and in addition, there's not a high level of acceptance of mental health services."

The consulting service recommends drug and alcohol abuse prevention and treatment programs, and increasing access to family

Bears chow down at campsite while visitors see western show

by DIANNE STALLINGS
 Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Four campers who didn't pay attention to warnings from neighbors at South Fork Campground found out last week that Ruidoso really is bear country.

While David Quarrels, his buddy and their two daughters from Bryan, Texas, enjoyed the dinner show at Bent Tree Jamboree five miles away, two bears celebrated with their own dinner party back at the campsite — and it was messy.

When the four campers returned, the bears were gone. But they left behind a reminder that when campers are away or asleep, food should be locked in a car or hung high in a tree away from a tent.

"A dumpster was right next to the campsite," said Lincoln County Deputy Sheriff Larry Cearly, who received the call about 11:19 p.m. Aug. 11. "The guy had left out an ice chest and the bears tried to eat that. They tore up the screened (porch) and the tent, they bit holes in the water jugs and smashed the ice chest to see what was inside."

"The two girls didn't want to stay after that, so they packed up and spent the night in a motel."

Residents unclear on bond issues

by KATHLEEN McDONALD
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Random phone calls made to about 20 Ruidoso residents last week suggest many people may be unfamiliar with tomorrow's $6.65 million bond issue election.

As of July 25, there were 3,643 Ruidoso property owners registered to vote, said Village Clerk Tammie Maddox. About 50 people took advantage of early voting.

A slight majority contacted in the non-scientific survey said they were unfamiliar with the seven general obligation bond issues. But that 52% also said they planned to study the issues more and will go to the polls at Ruidoso's Civic Events Center. Registered voters may cast their ballots at the center between 7 a.m. and 7 p.m.

Only three of those who were called were well versed on the proposed projects. They commented on most of the issues, and said voter approval would be good for the village.

"My husband William and I have read through (the bond issues) and think they are important to our growth," said six-year resident Carrie Saegart.

"I would love to see this community grow and prosper, and I believe what the bonds aim for will bring that to pass," agreed Martha J. Morehart. "I think I'm going to vote for all of them, if what they say is true, that it is not going to affect the tax rate at all."

Village officials stress that property taxes won't rise if all the bond issues are approved, because the village has nearly paid off all its existing bonded debt. Four residents incorrectly thought their taxes would increase.

Morehart said she felt strongest about the $1.6 million bond issue for a new library, as did three others who were reached by phone.

"I'm in favor of anything to enhance the public library — I think it's a beautiful service to the community, and I support anything that promotes the dissemination of information," said Morehart, a Ruidoso resident for the past decade.

Morehart also said she also strongly favors passage of the $2 million water bond issue. The bonds would pay for the replacement of smaller, 25-year-old water lines to improve water volume. The

Number	Purpose	Village Reasons	Value
1	Water Improvement Bond	Replacement of 25-year-old, 2-inch water lines that are corroded and provide inadequate volume; expand the Grindstone Treatment Plant, doubling capacity to 2 million gallons per day.	$2 million; ($1.2 million for water line replacement $800,000 for expansion of Grindstone)
2	Sanitary Sewer Improvement Bond	Replace sections of wastewater lines that have cracks and holes, allowing hundreds of gallons of already clear rain and groundwater into the lines each day. Village could be fined $10,000 per day by Environmental Protection Agency when exceeding the system's capacity and treatment of the already clear water costs the city about $180,000 each year.	$1.5 million
3	Library Bond	Build new library; present one is overcrowded.	$1.6 million
4	Senior Citizens Building Bond	Rehabilitate and remodel existing library as a senior citizen center. Library will become available upon relocation of village library.	$100,000
5	Convention Center Addition Bond	Additional storage is needed at convention center to store tables and chairs during major events.	$100,000
6	Village Hall Addition Bond	Expand city hall because office space is inadequate; add restrooms to comply with American Disabilities Act.	$350,000
7	Athletic Fields Bond	Construct 8 multi-purpose, 1 baseball and 1 softball field adjacent to White Mountain and Sierra Vista Schools.	$1 million

Each bond issue can be voted on separately at the Aug. 22 election.
Passage of any or all the issues will not raise residents' property taxes, but replace taxes already being paid (because of retirement of existing bonds).

same bond issue would also double the capacity of the Grindstone Treatment Plant to improve water pressure.

"I'm so tired of dirty water when you least expect it — those sudden surprises when you have your white clothes in the washing machine and in comes the dirty water. Ugh!" Morehart said.

No one commented on the proposed $1.5 million bond issue for upgrading of the sewer lines. The brittle clay wastewater lines allow 500,000 gallons of fresh groundwater to enter the lines every minute, and they cost the town extra money for sewage treatment.

Officials say the water and sewer repairs are necessary, and they will raise rates and issue more expensive revenue bonds if the general obligation bonds aren't approved by voters.

Seliece Gray, who has lived here since 1989, said she thought the omission of adequate storage by the planners of the Ruidoso Convention and Civic Events Center was "crazy," but she still thought she would vote for the $100,000 convention center bond issue for additional storage space.

Two residents said they thought the $350,000 bond to enlarge city hall was unnecessary and that those at the government building should try to get by with the existing space.

Residents like Sam Pilgreen said he'll likely vote against all the issues because people in the community are taxed enough.

"I honestly think that if they were to take care of the budget they have, take care of the local people and merchants, then you'd find there'd be more money in town," Pilgreen said.

Pilgreen, a Ruidoso resident since 1976, also said he believes a lot of people move out of town because of high taxes, and that the village government should just focus on maintaining what they already have.

Joseph Gailbreath, a resident for nine years, said there isn't a need for new ballfields.

"They're dreaming of a new (sport) empire," he scoffed.

The $1 million athletic fields bond issue would pay for seven multi-purpose fields, plus a baseball and softball field.

Countering comments from Gailbreath and Pilgreen were those like Linda Shoop's.

"As long as they're retiring bonds and electing new ones for growth, there's nothing that stands out that I'm opposed to," Shoop said. "I particularly like the part about taxes not going up. If they're doing a lot of good things for the city without our taxes going up, I'm all for it."

School officials focus at local retreat

by DON HIXON
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

A perceived negative impact of collective bargaining, Mescalero Apache student enrollment and gangs were among the topics Saturday at a retreat for Ruidoso School Board members and administrators.

The group also put together a list of strengths and weaknesses of the school system.

Ruidoso Schools Superintendent Mike Gladden hosted the retreat at his home. All five school board members, principals from each school, Ruidoso High School Vice Principal Danny Flores, Director of Instructional Support Paul Wirth and district Business Manager Caron Snow all participated in the discussion.

Representatives from the Ruidoso Education Association were in the audience, but no input or questions from spectators were allowed during the meeting.

"We have a lot to do in a short time, and with that in mind, I'd like to limit the conversation to this table," board president Ronnie Hemphill said. "You're welcome to observe but please don't interrupt us."

RHS Principal Ron Hodges kicked off the list of weaknesses by saying that he thought the collective bargaining process was creating an "us versus them" attitude.

"Unfortunately, the process of collective bargaining puts us as educators in an adversarial position with those people who are in our profession," Hodges said. "Therefore, it becomes 'us against them' and 'them against us,' when the 'us' should be everyone sitting here today."

Few solutions to the collective bargaining problem were offered during the discussion. Most participants agreed with Hodges that the process creates animosity and that the students are the first responsibility of all educators.

If the animosity increases, it could affect the working relationship between teachers and the administration during school, then affect the level of teaching, Nob Hill Early Childhood Center Principal

Roger Sowder speculated. "I really fear that," he said. "There could be a lot of disharmony and mistrust passed right down to the children."

Gladden said recent newspaper articles about the school district's collective bargaining negotiations detract from what they are trying to accomplish.

"It's breaking the confidentiality that I feel we must have, and yet there are some people who read that and get the wrong image of our school system," he said.

Uncertainty about whether Mescalero students will return this year to Ruidoso's school district was another topic at the meeting.

Mescalero tribal leaders told school officials they are building their own schools, although the district hasn't received any official written notice. They already have an elementary school. If all of the Mescalero students leave the district, $1.3 million in school funding could leave with them.

"If anybody here has the answer, I'd be surprised," Gladden said. "And we probably won't know for sure until school starts."

Principals reported that as of Friday, 220 new students had entered the school system and there had been 74 withdrawals. They didn't know how many withdrawals were Mescalero students. The school board has projected zero student growth this year.

Another topic was the potential gang problem in the schools. Suggestions to combat the problem included the formation of a gang task force, and continuing efforts to enlist community support for programs for children.

The topic shifted to the school curriculum and the possibility of getting North Central Association (NCA) accreditation for all schools in the district.

NCA accreditation is already in effect at RHS.

The school board will study a draft of the strengths and weaknesses at the next school board meeting to determine any possible actions.

Perceived school district strengths, weaknesses cited

Individuals at Saturday's four-hour school board retreat offered their ideas on the strengths and weaknesses of the Ruidoso School District. The individual ideas include:

- STRENGTHS:
- excellent facilities;
 - strong teaching and support staff;
 - strong school board and administrative team;
 - good community support;
 - more school transport vehicles are now available;
 - well-equipped schools with new technology;
 - good cooperation between village and school system;
 - strong focus on needs of the children;
 - site-based budgets;
 - professional staff;
 - recognized as progressive in philosophy;
 - Ruidoso provides a safe environment for raising children;
 - and problems are quickly addressed.

- WEAKNESSES:
- collective bargaining is breeding animosity;
 - curriculum continuity needs improvement;
 - need more parental involvement;
 - media reports have had negative impact on school system;
 - gang problems and influences need to be studied;
 - uncertainty about Mescalero student enrollment;
 - heavy traffic flow at the White Mountain schools complex;
 - lack of adequate planning time for teachers;
 - buildings nearing capacity;
 - shortage of maintenance staff;
 - low student participation in school lunch program;
 - and the need for a fine arts center where students could perform.

Official says Starlite will open

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

A state cabinet official assured owners and patrons of a private Ruidoso preschool Thursday that waivers will be issued so the business can open this fall.

"I will work with you to have the school ready to open by the target date (Sept. 8)," said Secretary Heather Wilson of the Department of Children, Youth and Families.

Wilson said before the meeting that her department may give the preschool a temporary waiver on federal requirements under the Americans with Disabilities Act for handicapped-accessible facilities.

Access appears to be the only issue still unsettled, she said.

But the owners of Starlite Montessori school said at the meeting that serious flaws still exist in the state's approach to licensing and classification.

"We're not a day care center, we're a school and we should be licensed under the state Department of Education, not under Children, Youth and Families (CYF)," said Dick Cull, who owns Starlite with his wife Shaula.

State Rep. Dub Williams (R-Glencoe) said he intends to work on changing the rules or amending the laws to align such preschools under the education department.

Wilson also pledged to cut the number of regulations in her department by half. But both processes will take time.

Speaking to about 40 people at the Thursday meeting in Ruidoso, Wilson explained a 1987 law requires the school to be licensed as a day care center, because children under the age of five attend. Starlite opened in 1983.

In a letter to the Culls dated July 24, Wilson wrote, "There are other Montessori schools and preschools in New Mexico like Starlite Montessori School which are licensed for standards protecting the health, safety and welfare of children. If these standards are not applied to Starlite Montessori school, the standards cannot be applied to other persons in New Mexico who present themselves as schools and, therefore, many young children may have their safety at risk."

Starlite offers its educational curriculum to children from three to six years old. It is classified as a preschool by the American Montessori Society in New York City and on its state occupancy license.

The name Montessori comes from an educational method developed by Maria Montessori. It focuses on using the "absorbent mind" of children from birth to six year of age. The school does not accept children who are not trained to use the bathroom. Meals are not prepared, because classes run from 8:30-11:30 a.m. five days a week, Cull said.

Starlite meets state requirements for a private school, he said. It also meets all requirements to be exempted from the CYF rules, except for the ages of the children who attend, he said.

"Our big concern is that CYF sent us a 67-page book and said we had to meet all of these regulations," Cull said.

Alan Morel, the attorney for Starlite, said CYF officials from Roswell will inspect the building this week.

"I feel I've gotten a lot of help from the state on this issue," he said. "I've never experienced this level of cooperation from the state before."

He urged parents attending the meeting to show support for the Culls to hold off on calling and writing state officials. He expects the school to be licensed by the CYF with waivers, but if that doesn't happen, then parents can mount a campaign, he said.

Parent Deborah Richardson and several others said they resented a state agency dictating where they can send their children.

John and Deborah Richardson and their son Michael Kenneth carry placards showing their support for Starlite.

Child pedestrian hit

Don Hixon/The Ruidoso News

Medical personnel attend to Urial Garcia, 10, of Ruidoso, who ran in front of a car near Lincoln County Medical Center on Sudderth Drive Friday and was struck. Garcia was knocked about 25 feet, police said. Taken to an Albuquerque hospital because of complicated leg fractures, Garcia is stable and doing well, hospital officials said. No charges are pending against the driver.

counseling services. Those responding to the survey offered nine other areas of health services lacking countywide:

- local physicians and health care providers;
- dental services;
- women's health services;
- teen pregnancy prevention;
- primary care services;
- cancer screening services;
- child day care;
- pharmacy services;
- and cancer treatment/immunization clinics.

The top five health needs for respondents older than 65 were different: home health services, adult day care and increased access to specialty services ranked among the top five needs.

A total of 78 (26%) people said they have difficulty getting health care because of high costs. Recommendations to combat this problem were: increased access to sliding fees (payment based on size of household and ability to pay), increase of primary care services throughout the county, and expansion of Carrizozo Clinic outreach services.

Consultants recommend an increase in health care services for the adolescent and elderly. The consultants say the county should strengthen teen pregnancy prevention programs and examine opportunities to increase the scope of services for the 65 and older population.

Transportation is a problem for 20% or more of those answering the survey, depending on the community where they live, with 78% indicating that they would use a mobile clinic for family health care if one becomes available.

The consulting firm suggested ways to meet the need for rural health services were to increase access, especially for children and the elderly; promote coordination of services among county health providers; have more convenient hours of operation; increase access to health screening and health education activities that promote prevention and early diagnosis of disease; address the distance and transportation needs of patients; increase referral services; publicize existing clinic services; and expand access to dental services.

The importance of a collaborative effort between health care providers was stressed by Lincoln County Municipal Hospital director Valerie Miller.

"We've got to get rid of turf," she said. "We cannot do it (make changes) individually, but that takes time for people to realize."

The hospital tried to obtain a grant for a mobile health care unit earlier this year, but was unsuccessful.

The hospital paid Rocky Mountain Consulting of Corrales $16,000 in non-government money, hospital officials said. The survey was conducted via random mailings and field interviews in the county from April to June 1995.

Social service offices understaffed

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

The state social services office in Ruidoso needs more staff, a local mental health counselor told state officials Thursday.

"It's so frustrating to get a message machine when you may be dealing with a child abuse complaint," Birgit LaMothe told Secretary Heather Wilson of the state department of Children, Youth and Families. "There isn't even a secretary. At least I'd like to get a live human voice, but instead there's a machine telling me that the caseworkers are out and referring me to Alamogordo. I don't want to call Alamogordo again."

"I have so much contact with the CYF and our services in this town are so uneven. We lost a very faithful employee four or five years ago (from being overworked). One person for such a large territory results in a large turnover (of staff)."

Burn-out has been a big problem statewide, because the staff has been stretched too thin, said Wilson, who was in town to hear complaints and suggestions for her department. She's aware of the problem at the Ruidoso CYF office, she said.

Currently, 20% of the department's jobs are vacant, compared to the normal 2-3% vacancy, she said.

"If we had full staff, they would be less likely to burn out," Wilson said. "We're going for extra federal money and any other source."

Her department has been exempted from a state freeze on hiring.

Besides cutting regulations to benefit the public, Wilson said she has assigned a committee of employees to rewrite policies for her department's workers so policies are more flexible and friendly to families.

"They should be done by late September," Wilson said. "I want to attract the best people - create an atmosphere where people can grow, realize they are valued and that when necessary, they can ask for time or changes to meet other family obligations."

She's looking at the possibility of giving "time out" for employees who are feeling the pressure of the job of dealing with social programs and the 1,600 children who are under their direct supervision.

"Why should administrative leave only be granted when someone is completely over the edge or an alcoholic?" she asked. "Giving them a breather will make them more effective on the job."

The Lincoln County Humane Society and The Ruidoso News staff extend our Thanks to the residents of & visitors to Ruidoso for their patronage of the 4th Annual Garage Sale to benefit the shelter's spay and neuter fund. The event Saturday was a RECORD SALE, earning more than ever before!

Winalota Cash, Shake The Bank top Futurity hopefuls

A pair of late entries posted the fastest times in the All American Futurity Trials Friday at Ruidoso Downs Race Track.

Winalota Cash and Shake The Bank became eligible for the trials when their owners paid a $50,000 late nomination fee. Both qualified to the 38th running of the world's richest quarter horse race, the $1.6 million All American Futurity, to be run Labor Day.

Both horses qualified for the final when they ran the 440-yard trial distance in the identical time of 21.47 seconds, while competing in separate divisions.

The third supplemental entry, Naturally A Winner, also paid dividends for his owner by qualifying for the finals. Naturally A Winner, trained by Johnnie Goodman, posted the eighth best time of 21.69.

A total of 173 2-year-olds contested the trials, and the 10 fastest qualifiers will make their next start in the All American Futurity. The winning owner will receive $904,135.89.

The Gregg Sanders-trained gelding Winalota Cash, who had finished second in two Grade I futurities prior to Friday's trials, broke a bit awkwardly as the 2-5 favorite in the fifth division. Under jockey Billy Peterson the Texas-bred son of Light On Cash quickly hit full stride midway down the racing strip. He dominated his foes by 2 3/4-lengths, the largest margin of victory in the 18 trials.

"He had his head turned when the gate opened and it startled him so he kind of hopped out of the gate," Peterson said. "We were beat a length, and maybe more at the break, but he was drawing off at the end."

Winalota Cash, the fourth richest quarter horse in the nation this year with more $165,000 in earnings, is owned by Andra Meridith of Odessa, Texas.

Shake The Bank, undefeated in four starts at the Hipodromo de las Americas in Mexico City before coming to the trials, won the first trial by 1 1/4 lengths. The Oklahoma-bred filly by Bully Bullion was piloted by Henry Garcia for trainer Juan Gonzalez, who is employed by owners Hector Roldan and Ramiro Alpizar of Mexico City.

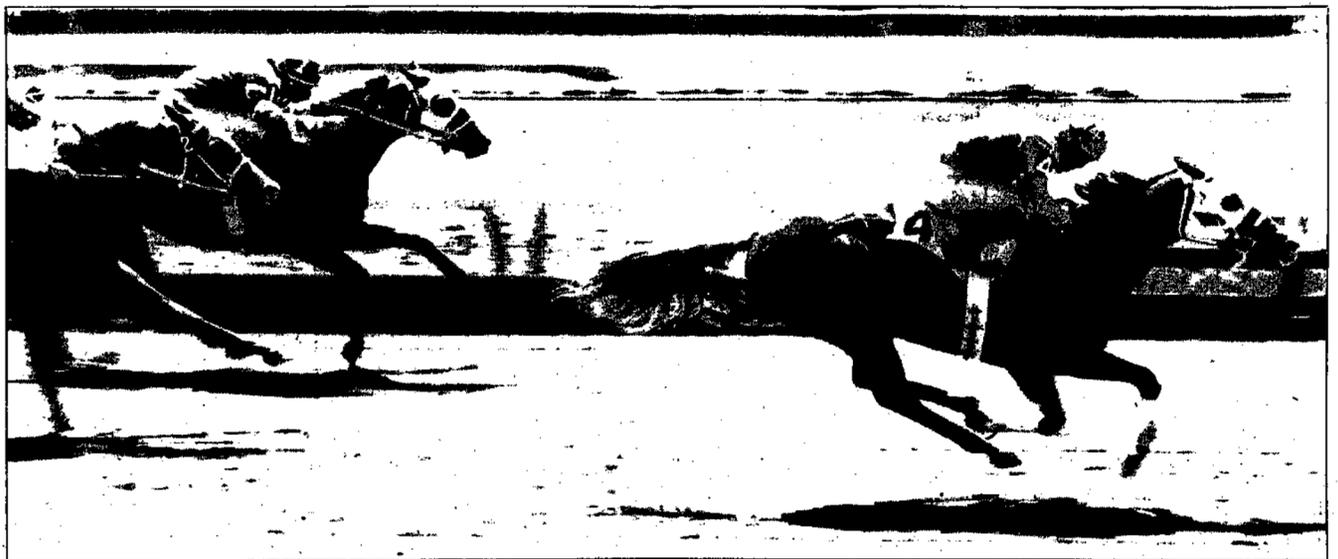

"We felt that because of her record in Mexico City she deserved a chance to run in a race like this," Alpizar said. "Everyone says she's a 'little' horse, but she's got a big heart."

Two-time All American winning trainer Dwayne "Sleepy" Gilbreath qualified two horses to the final, Cash On Deposit and Six Delights.

Shake The Bank was one of three supplemental entries to qualify for the $1.6 million All American Futurity finals. Shake The Bank and Winalota Cash posted the fastest qualifying time of 21.470 Friday at Ruidoso Downs Race Track.

All American runner-up Heza Fast Man, also has two qualifiers. Bassett's duo includes Evening Snow and Western Heart.

Evening Snow is owned by Abigail Kawanakoa, who had the winner of the 1993 All American.

Western Heart is owned by Ruidoso Downs President R.D. Hubbard and Ed Allred, owner of Los Alamitos Race Course.

Real Six Time, Game Streaker and Run Em Up, the only Grade I winners in the trials, all failed to qualify.

Mildly Sinful takes advantage of forgiving track

Mildly Sinful, winner of the first division of the All American Derby Trials, ran the fastest 440 yards of the 60 sophomores competing in Thursday's All American Derby Trials at Ruidoso Downs.

A 3-year-old Oklahoma-bred filly owned by Six G's Stable and David Gibson, Mildly Sinful carried jockey Billy Peterson across the wire in 21.405.

Four of the 10 Derby finalists came out of the first division, which also had Six Cartu, Ima Jewel Dash, and Ms. Achy Breaky Heart qualify for the $200,401 Grade I All American Derby. The Derby will be run at Ruidoso Downs Sunday, Sept. 3.

"She broke clearly and never had any trouble," said Mildly Sinful's jockey Billy Peterson, who also rode the Fred Danley-trained filly to victory in the Ruidoso Derby Consolation earlier this summer. The filly's owners Six G's Stable and David Gibson are from Rockport, Texas.

"Everyone always overlooks her because she's had a lot of bad luck," Peterson said. "She's either gotten bumped or she's never been real quick away from the gate. But she's very consistent and she's going to give you everything she's got in every race."

"The track was a lot soupier towards the end of the day," Peterson said. "But it had a good base for the first race in the trials."

- Hot Diggity Dash 21.875
- Kuhl Kuhl 21.700

Mildly Sinful could give trainer Fred Danley his first All American Derby win. Danley leads the quarter horse conditioner standings with 24 wins and is the 1994 defending champion.

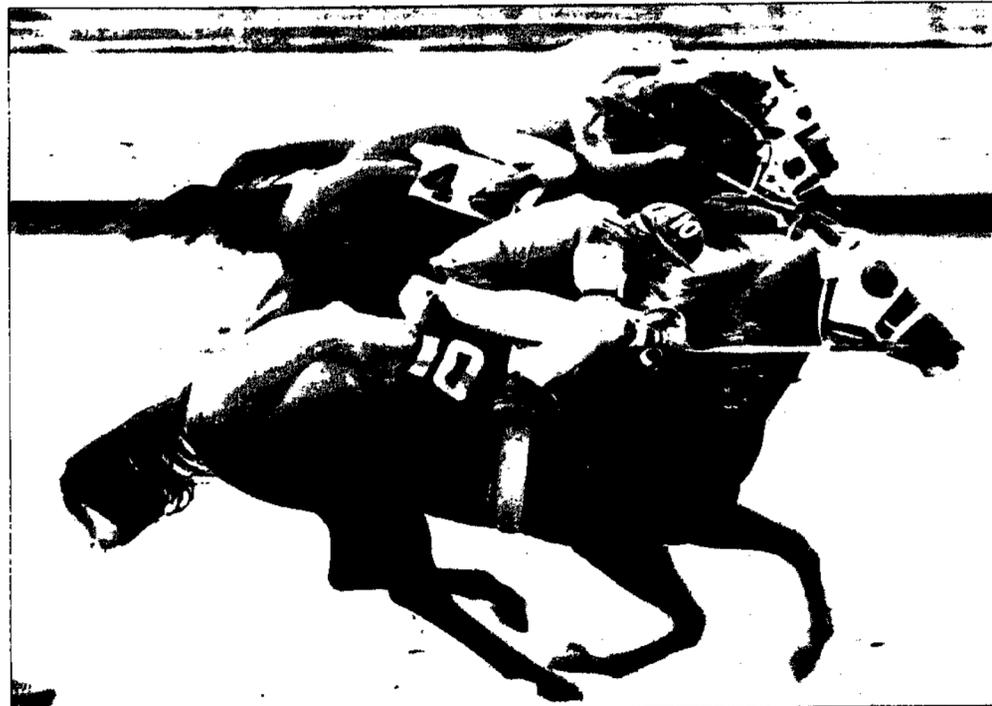

Trainer Dwayne "Sleepy" Gilbreath, winner of the 1986 All American Derby with Six Popper, qualified three finalists. Robert B. Roark's Six Cartu, who was a half length behind Mildly Sinful in the first race, had the second fastest time of the day at 21.48. Ima Jewel Dash, third in the same race, clocked in at 21.57. Gilbreath's third finalist was determined in the racing office Friday morning when a shake decided Kuhl Kuhl would be the 10th starter.

The Gilbreath-trained Romas Sound, first in the fifth division, and Kuhl Kuhl, second to Meter Me Gone in the sixth and final division, tied for the 10th fastest qualifying time at 21.70 each.

The major upset of the afternoon was the failure of Gliding Bunny to qualify. The multiple stakes winner and star of the Rainbow Derby won the third division in 21.776, but must settle for a shot at the $35,920 Derby Consolation.

Gotum Lookin had everyone looking at the photo finish to see if he won his division of the All American Derby. Gotum Lookin's time of 21.610 was the sixth fastest qualifying time for the Derby. The quarter horse will join nine others in the finals of the All American Derby Sunday, Sept. 3.

Smart Attack pulls away from the rest

After battling two rivals for the lead the favored Smart Attack pulled ahead at the top of the stretch and drew away to a 2 1/4 length victory in Saturday's $3,300 featured race at Ruidoso Downs.

With Teresa Briggs handling the reins Smart Attack covered the 5 1/2 furlongs in 1:06 over a fast track to score her fourth lifetime win for owner Jerry Givens. Joel Marr trains the Kentucky-bred, who won her last race at Ruidoso Downs June 10.

Smart Attack returned $6.80, 44.20 and $3.20.

Runnerup Sue's Enchantment, who along with Crown Me Royally challenged the winner for the early lead, returned $7.80 and $5.00 for place, while Crown Me Royally hung on for a $3.80 show pay.

Cloudcroft surprises Alamo JV in scrimmage

In a steady downpour Thursday, the Cloudcroft Bears tuned up for the regular season with a scrimmage game against Alamo's junior varsity football team.

The Bears took control of the game, racking up 370 yards of offense to Alamo's 141 yards.

Cloudcroft scored three times during its offensive possessions, and had one defensive score.

Sophomore fullback Josh Turnage carried the ball 11 times, averaging five yards a carry.

But the real terror for the Alamo Tigers was senior tailback Neil LaSalle, who rushed for 209 yards on 16 carries.

Averaging more than 13 yards an effort, LaSalle scored two touchdowns, including a 70-yard burst.

Cloudcroft opens the regular season against Tularosa at 7:30 p.m. Friday at Tularosa.

Fall soccer sign-ups set for Aug. 24 and 26

Lincoln County Youth Soccer League will have its fall season sign-ups from 5 to 8 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 24, and from 9 a.m. to noon Saturday, Aug. 26, at the White Mountain Elementary cafeteria.

Local team fee is $25 per child. Traveling team fee is $30 per child. Girls and boys ages 5 to 13 are eligible to play.

For more information, call 257-5877 or 257-5431.

Scramble tees off Aug. 26 at The Lodge

A four-person golf scramble to benefit the Otero County Unit of the American Cancer Society is set for 8 a.m. Saturday at The Lodge and Golf Course in Cloudcroft.

For more information or reservations, call Marty at The Lodge Golf Course at 1-800-395-6343.

RHS football team loses starting QB for season

The Warrior football team suffered a serious blow Friday when starting senior quarterback Billy Rogge broke his left leg during a scrimmage game with Onate High School.

Rogge, who suffered a compound fracture of the tibia and fibula, will be out for the season.

Doctors operated on Rogge Friday night at Las Cruces Memorial Hospital, and inserted a rod in his left leg, said Les Carter, Ruidoso football coach.

"His attitude was real good," Carter said of Rogge after the surgery. Despite the setback, Carter said the Warriors played well defensively.

The Ruidoso defense held Onate scoreless in its first 20 offensive plays from scrimmage.

After Rogge went down, the Ruidoso struggled offensively, but Carter said the Warrior backfield of Kyle Humphreys, Rex Comanche and Jackie Roe performed well. Humphreys scored an 80-yard touchdown run for RHS.

The Warriors open the 1995 season at Artesia Friday night.

Runners Classic

Thirty-two runners and walkers participated in the Village of Ruidoso Parks and Recreation Saturday. Ruidoso's Becky Forster was the overall winner for women in the 10K run, while Mescalero's Rodney Peña took top honors for the men. Peña covered the 10K run in 40 minutes, 21 seconds. Forster finished in 43:46.

Alleged victims recant story of gang attack near Ruidoso

by KATHLEEN McDONALD
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Two alleged victims of a gang attack changed their story at a preliminary hearing Friday and said they couldn't see who attacked them Aug. 4.

The victims had earlier named seven alleged attackers, and four of them were then arrested Aug. 7, Sheriff's Deputy Trinidad Zepeda said.

Each suspect was charged with four counts of aggravated battery (a third-degree felony) and one count of conspiracy to commit aggravated battery (a fourth-degree felony). One, Zack Turner, was also charged with two counts of battery.

Assistant District Attorney Viola Rhodes said after the hearing that she doesn't plan to drop charges, citing other potential witnesses.

The victims and defendants all live in Ruidoso.

Clint Eidson and Scott Stevens recanted their charges against Turner, 18, Gabe Augular, 18, Abselin Chavez, 19, and Ricky Davara, 20, as the ones who hit them with golf clubs and baseball bats. They said Friday that they could not see who had hit them, because the 10:30 p.m. attack was sudden and it was dark outside.

The alleged attack took place behind the Rainbow Lake amusement park in the Carrizo Canyon area near Ruidoso, Lincoln County Sheriff's Office officials said.

Sheriff James McSwane thought the fight was gang related. Some witnesses testified the confrontation was "east vs. west."

About 40 people, mostly Ruidoso High School students and alumni, were subpoenaed to testify as witnesses to the fight, said Rhodes. Five testified Friday in court.

Some of the witnesses also testified that it was too dark to see who was fighting, and others said they did not see the defendants anywhere near the fight scene. Several said defendant Chavez had tried to break up the fight.

The alleged victims were Clint Eidson, 14, Shane Eidson, 21, and their stepbrother Scott Stevens, 15. The Eidsons' friend, Mario Sanchez, 20, was also allegedly hit, but never named any of the defendants. Shane Eidson, who only named Turner as an assailant, was not at the preliminary hearing. He had returned to college in Kansas.

None of the victims received serious injuries, Eidson's mother said, but did receive minor ones.

The four suspects were jailed between three and seven days before posting their $10,000 cash bonds.

Magistrate Judge Gerald Dean is expected to decide later this week whether there is probable cause for the felony charges.

Magistrate Judge Gerald Dean swears in a group of witnesses outside the courthouse Friday.

Bears

When he received the call at 11:19 p.m. Aug. 11, no state Game and Fish officers were available. But Cearly said the bears probably had been gone an hour before Quarrels returned. They didn't bother any other campers, he said.

"Signs are posted all over the campground telling campers what not to do," said Jim Rogge with the U.S. Forest Service, operator of campgrounds in the Lincoln National Forest.

"Apparently, the head of the party refused to listen to advice from other campers and left coolers in the screened area at the front of the tent," Rogge said.

LINCOLN COUNTY SCRAPBOOK

A glimpse into Lincoln County's past, compiled by Polly E. Chavez with excerpts from "A History of Lincoln County Post Offices."

Jicarilla

A small community of placer mines and ranches in northern Lincoln County petitioned the U.S. Post Office in 1892 for an office to be named for the surrounding mountains.

On December of that year, Jicarilla was established with Jacob Weisher as the first postmaster. The office continued until Nov. 12, 1927 when it was discontinued only to be re-established a little later and again abolished.

Though the community is still indicated on state maps, it no longer has a post office. The people of the area are served by a star route.

Some of the postmasters until 1927 were: Jacob Weisher, 1892; Emilia S. Ozans, 1894; William Frost, 1898; William S. Ross, 1898; J. Phillips, 1900; William Frost, 1900; Geo. J. Weisher, 1914; Edward J. Weisher, 1927.

After 1927, postmasters included Kathryn Spence, Mrs. Theo. Thompson, R. W. Bilbo, Fannye Sherill and Callie Rosella.

The office was discontinued in 1942 and mail went to Ancho.

Concert association membership drive starts

The Ruidoso Community Concert Association's artists for the 1995-96 season have been announced.

The performers will be violinist and pianist Eric and Michele Grossman, The Dutton Family, the Lenny Solomon Jazz Trio, and Khenary.

The concert association is conducting a membership drive throughout this week. Members can go to all four concerts in Ruidoso, plus all other community concerts in New Mexico (30-40 concerts).

Tickets are $30 for adults, $70 for families and $16 for students through high school.

Tickets for individual concerts are not available. Memberships allow the association to attract top talent at a reasonable price, like the hundreds of other community concert associations across the country.

Tickets are available from concert association members, most Ruidoso banks, The Aspen Tree, Family Practice Associates, The Great Southwest and Sierra Blanca Realty.

NOTICE

The women's long crepe jumper with tie sides advertised on the cover of today's Target sale section will not be available. This style of jumper does not meet Target's high quality standards. The short twill jumpers on sale at $17.88 will be available.

In addition, we are offering any other women's jumper or dress at 30% off the regular price.

Also the kids' Greatland-R flannel pants advertised are not available, due to manufacturer's shipping problems. Please fill out a rain check so that we can notify you by mail when they are in stock.

We regret any inconvenience this may cause.

BUSINESS

BUSINESS BRIEFS

Village gross receipts tax revenues rise

Gross receipts tax revenue for Ruidoso rose 2% from January to May when compared with last year's figures.

The latest village gross receipts tax report shows increases in March and April but a decrease in May. The gross receipts tax is similar to a sales tax. The money goes to the state and is then returned to communities. Numbers for individual business collections are confidential.

During March of this year, the total gross receipts revenue was $433,620, 2% higher than the March 1994 figure of $424,765.

The April figure of $421,960 indicates a 16% increase over last April's figure of $363,163. But for May, gross receipts dropped 18% to $405,523 from the May 1994 figure of $492,926.

Overall, gross receipts are up by $58,020 from January to May of this year, a 2% increase from last year at the same time. Last year, gross receipts totaled $2,049,860 from January to May. This year, $2,107,880 in gross receipts were shown in the January to May report.

Gross receipt figures for July will be available next month.

Remax of Ruidoso goes on-line

Remax of Ruidoso has joined

RE/MAX on HomeWEB, part of the real estate industry's on-line Internet information network.

"Our company is proud to be one of the first in the area to place homes for sale on the Internet service," Remax of Ruidoso owner Wayland Burk said. "Potential home buyers can now shop for a property 24 hours a day, seven days a week."

Each real estate listing contains a color photo and 30 categories of information pertaining to the property.

The service is available to those who have access to the Internet by connecting on-line to:

NEW BUSINESS

New hostel opens in county

A turn-of-the-century adobe ranch home on 240 acres of range land houses the new Oscuro High Desert Hostel in Lincoln County.

The hostel is located 15 miles south of Carrizozo on U.S. Hwy. 84. Owner Paul Noren, who also operates the Route 66 Hostel in Albuquerque, opened the Oscuro hostel June 6.

"Hostels provide low-cost accommodations by offering dormitory sleeping accommodations and allowing the guests to cook for themselves in a fully-equipped kitchen," manager Dick Norris said.

"The philosophy behind hostels is to provide an atmosphere where travelers from varied cultures can come together and learn from one another," Norris said.

Charges for Oscuro High Desert Hostel are $12 to $14 per night for shared accommodations. The hostel also offers two private rooms for $28 per night. There is a free weekly shuttle between the Route 66 Hostel and the High Desert Hostel, and a free pick-up service for those traveling via Grayhound bus, Norris said.

For more information call Oscuro High Desert Hostel at (505) 648-4007.

Vote yes on Ruidoso bond issues tomorrow

The timing is right for voters to approve the Village of Ruidoso's request for seven bond issues.

With other bonded debt on the verge of being paid off by the village, property owners won't even see an increase in their taxes if the bond issues are approved.

Approval of the athletic fields bond issue is a chance for voters to put their money where their mouths are, when they worry about their children not having enough to do. The fields will offer more sorely-needed recreational opportunities for youngsters in this community.

The same argument can be used for the library bond issue; if approved, more space would mean a less-cramped children's library room. A likely site for this library would be near village hall and a public walking path, creating the opportunity for a nice public resting area.

It doesn't hurt to provide more recreational opportunities for our older set, either. The senior center is a proven popular hangout for our seniors, and we should do what we can to help them out — and, of course, most of us will be seniors ourselves in the not-too-distant future.

Some of the bond issues are actually money savers. If the water and sewer bonds aren't approved, the village will be forced to increase utility rates to solve its problems. General obligation bonds available with approval of the bond issues cost us much less than the revenue bonds the village would have to issue without voters' approval. The general obligation bonds have lower interest rates and can be paid off quicker, so the total paid interest will be lower.

As Ruidoso grows as a tourist destination, unfortunately government needs to grow along with it (although we hope not as much). The village hall addition would allow consolidation of employees now spread around town. It would also allow the village to more fully utilize its new GIS computer system, which is now pitifully housed in a shed by the police station.

We're not thrilled that the Ruidoso Convention and Civic Events Center wasn't constructed with ample storage space a few years ago, but that's not the fault of current village leaders. They should be allowed to have enough storage space to provide adequate services for civic center renters.

Approximately 60% of Ruidoso's homeowners live outside the county and state, so they can't vote tomorrow even though they pay property taxes. That's a state law. Those who do live here, however, can be thankful they'll get that extra help in paying off the bond issues. Non-residents can hopefully calm themselves by considering how they use nearly all the government services that will be offered by the bond issues, albeit on a less-frequent basis.

As the federal and state governments pass more responsibilities to local governments, voters may need to shift their way of thinking and allow local officials to handle the increased workload and need for capital improvements. It may turn out for the better, since local residents have more say with local versus state and federal government — we get to vote.

Judging by the state government's reaction to Ruidoso's request for money for the athletic fields and rec center earlier this year, we can't count on the state's help as much as in the past. But voter approval of these bond issues will at least show the Legislature we're willing to kick in on the cost, so maybe the state will throw some money in the pot next year.

No matter what you think, we urge you to vote — or you have no right to complain about the election's outcome.

GUEST COMMENTARY

The facts behind Ruidoso's ballot issues

by ROBERT DONALDSON

Village of Ruidoso councillor

I believe it is everyone's right to speak their views on the issues of the day. I also believe it is important to address inaccuracies when they are put out as being facts.

Recently, a letter to the editor had a number of charges against the Ruidoso Village Council. First, it said we spent less time on the budget than we did on the skateboard issue.

What was seen on TV, when we passed the final budget, was the product of hundreds and hundreds of hours of work, beginning with the department heads formulating their needs, upper management working with council to establish out priorities, and then blending these two together in countless workshops and special meetings that are not televised.

It was stated that we increased the initial budget by $2 million when in fact we cut the original budget coming from the department heads by $2 million to match projected revenues, as is required by state law.

Next he simplistically compared our total budget to Roswell, to attempt to say we spend too much money for a city of our size.

This is the argument that the previous administration used to justify cutting the budget. Those actions actually led to reduced services and the neglect of the maintenance of our infrastructure, problems we are now trying to catch up with.

Ruidoso has as many miles of roads and water lines as does Roswell. We have 35 water pressure zones in our water distribution system where Roswell probably has less than five. Roswell's daily population remains relatively stable while Ruidoso's varies dramatically.

I would not be surprised if we were able to take a daily census for a full year, that our population on an average daily basis would approach that of Roswell's.

Next, it was stated we are raising your taxes by having this bond election and raising our overall debt. If the bond issues pass, they will be replacing bonds that are being retired; neither the rates nor the overall debt will rise but will remain constant.

More troubling is the notion that we are forcing something on the taxpayers. I believe a bond election is democracy at its finest. The people, not the government, decide the future direction of their community.

If you support preparing our infrastructure for the future, pass the bond issues. If you support enhancing our tourism facilities, pass the bond issues. If you support increasing recreational, cultural and social opportunities for all age groups, pass the bond issues.

If you're content with things as they are, don't vote for the bond issues. Both are legitimate views, but base your decision on facts, base your decision on intelligent discussions with your family and friends, and base your decision on the premise that complex problems demand sophisticated solutions, not simplistic sound-bite solutions.

The letter to the editor talked about the elections last fall. I believe that the Republican revolution last fall was about what kind of government is best for this country.

I believe that the government that is best, is that which is closest to the people, the state and local governments.

As the programs are shifted to the states, hopefully the federal budget will go down. Undoubtedly, the state and local governments' budgets will have to go up. The savings to the taxpayer should come from the ideal that the more specialized programs developed at the state and local level will cost less than the one-size-fits-all programs developed at the federal level.

We are going to have to be more self-sufficient at the local level, and I believe that the people will be seeing more opportunities to set the direction for the future of their communities.

An informed electorate is necessary for democracy to work. However, the greatest danger is not the uninformed, but the misinformed. It is a cancer that undermines our very culture as a nation and a people.

We must have discourse and debate because it is healthy for a democracy, but it must be based on fact and the truth.

Politically, more often than not, the place we try to reach is the same, but we philosophically travel different paths to get there. When we are misinformed, not only do we travel a different path, but we end up at a place different than the one we were seeking.

The Ruidoso Village Council believes that these bond issues are in the best interests of our community. It is your choice, though, whether these issues are passed or defeated.

If you have any questions on these issues or any other issue with the village, please call one of your elected officials; we are your representatives.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Please invest in community with bond issue #7

TO THE EDITOR:

Members of the Lincoln County Youth Soccer League (LCYSL) want to remind Ruidoso residents to vote YES on bond issue #7 on Aug. 22.

Funding from the public park bond will help meet the needs of recreational programs for youth in the area. Expansion of available field areas for soccer, baseball and football is critical in order for these youth sport programs to meet the needs of the children in our community.

The 1994 soccer program enrolled approximately 250 children in Lincoln County from ages 5 through 13. The high school soccer program continues to expand, with the Warriors playing competitively against teams with more established histories.

In addition to providing supervised after-school activities for boys and girls, expansion of the existing soccer fields will allow the LCYSL to say YES to the many soccer leagues who regularly inquire about tournament play in "the playground of the southwest."

Youth and adult leagues from both in and out of the state have expressed the desire to play in Ruidoso. Limitations in both the size and quality of the existing playing fields behind the White Mountain schools prevent the LCYSL from hosting tournament play. When we turn down these prospective visitors, we turn away thousands of dollars in lodging, food and shopping that is spent in other communities where the financial benefits of providing quality recreational facilities are recognized.

The formation of a Joint Powers Resolution between the Village of Ruidoso and the Ruidoso Municipal Schools has laid a solid foundation for expansion of recreational facilities in our community.

As residents in the "playground of the southwest," consider how first-rate recreational facilities enhance the quality of life that brings so many people here to visit and live.

Ruidoso's bread and butter is recreation in one form or another. Local children need and deserve safe playing fields. The fringe benefits from passage of bond issue #7 will reach beyond our children and enhance the economic well-being of businesses in the community.

A YES vote for bond issue #7 is an investment in our children and our community.

Vote YES for athletic fields on Aug. 22.

Sue Kluthe
secretary of LCYSL
Ruidoso

Please don't let children down

TO THE EDITOR:

As local business and property owners, parents, and coaches, we are pleading with Ruidosians to vote yes for the upcoming athletic fields bond.

Ruidoso Little League has approximately 30 teams trying to play and practice on one field!

We have lived in towns one quarter the size of Ruidoso that have four times as many fields.

We feel blessed to have coached baseball here in Ruidoso; these kids have great dedication, talent and heart. Please don't let them down — they truly deserve a place to play.

PET CORNER

These pets are currently up for adoption at Lincoln County Humane Society
Call 257-9841

Rogue is a striking Australian shepherd mix with blue eyes. His coat is light, but with traditional markings and his hair is short to medium length. At 1.5 years of age, he's looking for a lifelong owner.

Diamond is a dandy domestic short-hair cat wearing a perpetual black tux with white markings. He's about 1.5 years old and was brought to the shelter as a stray. He's affectionate, alert and ready for a home.

Although years of research have shown that neutered animals usually are healthier, people still argue against sterilization of their pets.

Below are some of the excuses heard at the Lincoln County Humane Society shelter, according to assistant director Sandra Ford.

Excuse: A female pet won't be happy without at least one litter.

Reality: No physical or behavior benefit is derived from a canine or feline bearing or siring a litter. Humans are superimposing their emotions on their pets.

Excuse: Neutering will change a pet's personality.

Reality: If a personality change occurs, it will benefit the pet owner, Ford said.

"Neutered pets tend to be calmer, more contented animals," she said. "According to a study by the U.S. Humane Society, they also are 80% less likely to bite. Males are less likely to try to mount, to urine mark in the house, to roam or be aggressive toward other male dogs."

Excuse: The female dog or cat in heat will be confined.

Reality: "This isn't an easy task," Ford said. "The desire to be mounted is strong. It only takes a moment and its done."

Excuse: It's a way to teach children about birth.

Reality: Many other methods are available that are less risky for a pet and will not result in more animals who may end up abandoned.

Excuse: The litter can be sold for profit.

Reality: "The income you could make from selling a litter does not equal the expenses incurred such as stud fees, food, veterinarian bills, advertising, health certificates and shots, plus the effort to ensure the health of the mother and litter," Ford said. "If complications arise or if any of the puppies have medical problems, you could be looking at a huge loss."

Excuse: Good homes will be found for the litter.

Reality: Most people are inexperienced about how to place pups in good homes and end up "getting rid of the pups. Each dog or cat placed takes away a home from an animal whose birth was less preventable and contributes to an overpopulation problem resulting in 20 million abandoned animals being killed in shelters each year," Ford said. Only one out of five dogs stay in their first home.
