State investigates missing Capitan police ammunition

State police are investigating the disappearance of Capitan Police Department inventory.

Officer Chris Rutten was assigned to investigate what happened to missing ammunition and possibly some weapons, said Sgt. Robert Holguin of the New Mexico State Police.

Capitan's new police chief, Carol Durbin, said he asked the state agency to step in when he discovered the discrepancy soon after taking office in October.

"We are preparing to present the information gathered by Officer Rutten to the district attorney, probably early next week," Holguin said Friday. "We do have suspects, but at this stage there's not much more I can say."

Tony Cano, the village's previous police chief, resigned after pleading no contest to forging a vehicle title registration document.

Chino vows to fight closure of casino

Mescalero Apache President Wendell Chino has vowed to fight in court any attempt to shut down his tribe's gambling casino near Ruidoso.

U.S. Attorney John Kelly Thursday asked Indian tribes in New Mexico to close their casinos by Jan. 15. If they refuse, they could face possible forfeiture of slot machines and other gambling devices, Kelly said.

U.S. Rep. Joe Skeen (R-New Mexico) has asked U.S. Attorney General Janet Reno to hold off on any enforcement action until the governor meets with the state Legislature in mid-January to come up with new Indian gaming compacts.

Previous compacts signed by the governor and tribes were declared illegal by the state Supreme Court, because they lack Legislative approval. The court last month also declared all charity video gambling machines illegal, creating the grounds for Kelly's threat to close Indian casinos.

Officials from the Pojoaque Pueblo threatened to meet any closure attempt with armed resistance.

Happy trails to you

More than 1,000 skiers took to the slopes opening weekend (Friday, Saturday and Sunday) at Ski Apache. Mark Cahill of Ruidoso was among them. Sunday was the best day, with 976 skiers. A winter storm dropped eight inches of new snow Saturday and Sunday, and it was still falling Monday morning. Packed snowbase on the trails open to skiing improved to 25 inches. Ski Apache officials will continue to make snow in an effort to open Chairlift 2 to midway, giving access to Snow Park and Smokey Bear trails. The new natural snow has made skiing conditions excellent on the two trails and novice areas presently open.

County officials want more building controls from state

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Lincoln County officials were surprised recently to find out it doesn't take much to secure a local construction permit from the state.

The applicant's ownership of the land isn't confirmed by the state, and the state inspector doesn't see the property before issuing the permit.

In fact, plans sketched by hand can be the only thing required for a permit to be issued by the New Mexico Construction Industries Department (CID).

The minimal requirements came to light while county planning technician Patsy Sanchez was researching a complaint about construction on the shoreline of the Rio Bonito about half a mile below the Bonito Lake Dam.

Without county construction codes, local inspectors, local permits or a procedure for tracking projects, county officials must rely on state laws and inspectors to oversee projects.

As a result, improper and illegal construction occurs undetected throughout the county, Sanchez said.

County Commissioners hope CID procedures will change. They have sent a letter to the department asking for more information to be required before permits are issued in their county.

The six additional items requested by the commission for a construction permit are:

- proof of ownership of the land;
- a plot plan (design plan);
- a septic tank permit number (from the state Environment Department);
- flood plain clearance;
- a well permit (from the State Engineer's Office);
- and approvals from applicable utilities.

John Lingo with the CID in Santa Fe said without a specific request from a county for more information, the department only reviews a construction plan, then approves it, rejects it or suggests modifications.

"If more information is requested by a county, we normally honor their request," he said. "We have inspectors who get a copy of each permit and go out periodically. Separate permits and inspections are required for electrical and mechanical (plumbing, heating and air-conditioning).

"It's up to the contractor to let us know when he's at each stage."

Mel Brazael is state inspector for the region that includes Lincoln County. He's responsible for a territory 110 miles wide and 200 miles long. It includes all of Otero and Lincoln counties and portions of six other counties. Sixteen inspectors cover the entire state.

Project alarmed county

The new requirements will help weed out problems in the future,

Construction at the edge of the Rio Bonito resulted in a county request for more information when the state issues a building permit.

but commissioners still are worried about some ongoing projects.

The construction that sparked discussion during a Dec. 5 commission meeting was a structure being built at the edge the Bonito River, about 20 miles north of Ruidoso.

County tax records show no private ownership of the land. In fact, the assessor's office showed no private ownership of any of the land between a lot south of the construction site and a U.S. Forest Service road to the north, Sanchez noted in a memorandum to County Manager Carolin Cooney presented to the commissioners Dec. 5.

Sanchez became frustrated when checking with other agencies, trying to find out which one might have jurisdiction over construction around the river.

She wrote Cooney that: — a representative from the state Environment Department said unless debris is in the river or a builder applies for a septic tank

State tries again to lease Fort Stanton

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

The state will try one more time to find a private company to lease Fort Stanton.

The state General Services Department (GSD) plans to issue a modified request for lease proposals Friday, public information officer Carolyn Jackson said. Companies will have 30 days to respond, compared to more than three months in the first attempt to lease the former state hospital. It is located about 30 miles northeast of Ruidoso.

A seven-member selection committee Thursday officially canceled the GSD's first lease effort.

A national advertising campaign and a mailing of more than 300 requests for proposal packages yielded only one bidder in the first go-around. The proposal from New Mexico Outreach Inc. for a juvenile rehabilitation program was rejected last month by the selection committee. Although the company director submitted additional information during a 15-day protest period, the decision stands, Jackson said.

GSD staffers used the protest period to find out why other companies did not submit proposals. However, Lincoln County Attorney Alan Morel, who serves on the selection committee, said Sunday he was disappointed in the number of companies contacted.

Still, the responses helped guide the GSD in modifying the wording on the new request for proposals (RFP), Jackson said.

"Time was a factor for some," she said. "Others didn't understand that they could use capital improvements to offset some of the cash payments on a lease. There seemed to be several companies still interested and that's promising."

Other items to be clarified in the new RFP include:

— $1 million is only a suggested estimated lease cost, and bidders may offer less;

— the GSD will support requests to extend the 25-year maximum lease term, which will mean asking the state Legislature for a waiver;

As a new requirement, bidders must submit an audited financial statement to prove financial stability, Jackson said.

Although several company representatives previously complained about a provision allowing the state to cancel a lease without cause, that point was not changed in the RFP, Jackson said.

Lincoln County Commissioners have urged the state to move rapidly in its search for a new tenant at the fort, closed last March because of its drain on the state budget.

Judge overturns assault conviction against contractor

by KATHLEEN McDONALD
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Barney Rue says he has his reputation back — and he helped get the Ruidoso government to change an impractical driveway ordinance.

Rue appealed a July Ruidoso Municipal Court conviction for assault and disorderly conduct against village planning director Cleatus Richards. Otero County District Court Judge Sandra Grisham overturned the conviction Monday.

"I want people to know I don't go around threatening people," said Rue, a Ruidoso excavating contractor.

Richards said Rue threatened to kill him, shouting, "You're a dead man in Ruidoso," during a January argument about the driveway ordinance. Three witnesses agreed with Richards' account, but Rue didn't.

"I certainly hope this doesn't spawn people into thinking they can come into city hall cursing and abusing officials and employees," Richards said of Grisham's ruling.

Ruidoso Municipal Judge Mike Line had fined Rue $329 and told him to keep away from Richards.

"I feel good about winning the appeal, because I proved it's a kangaroo court here in Ruidoso," Rue said. "Whenever you fight city hall, you know the judge has got to go with city hall."

Rue said he paid a high price in terms of attorney fees and time for the appeal, but it was worth it because his reputation had been tarnished.

"I want to explain to people that I'm not a criminal, I'm a businessman," Rue said. "I care about business, and it's the reason I do things like this because I care."

The ordinance, which restricted driveway grades to a maximum 12%, was changed about three months after the criminal complaint was filed. The village council voted to allow any grade on driveways, with certain stipulations.

On the day of the argument, the old ordinance had been applied against one of Rue's customers.

As soon as Rue learned of the permit denial, he came into village hall to complain. He said he'd never even heard of the ordinance and its application was arbitrary.

Richards and his staff argued the ordinance had been applied before, more often in recent times since new code enforcement staff came on board.

"I said 'Ruidoso is going to die,' not, 'You're a dead man in Ruidoso,'" Rue recalled.

Rue figured Richards latched on to the words kill and die, and took them as a threat against himself.

"It's just the way I express myself, get loud," Rue said. "The thing about it is, they all know that."

Richards still maintains Rue made the threats, and he had reason to believe Rue might harm him.

Ruidoso police arrest another 13-year-old boy for burglary

Ruidoso police have arrested another 13-year-old boy on third-degree felony charges for his alleged part in a November burglary of a Grove Drive residence, police said.

The boy also admitted to forced entry into three other Grove Drive homes in November, Detective Jim Biggs said.

Both boys have been referred to juvenile authorities.

During a Monday interview, the boy allegedly told Biggs he committed the crimes with his friend, the same boy arrested last week when his fingerprints were found to match those at the Grove Drive burglary scene.

Biggs charged the boy with one count of residential burglary, as he had the other boy, and three counts of breaking and entering, a fourth degree felony.

The detective then filed three counts of breaking and entering on the other boy as well, he said.

The burglarized home was entered sometime between Oct. 30 and Nov. 11, Biggs said.

When Biggs asked the boy if he broke into any other homes, the boy allegedly admitted he and his friend entered two other Grove Drive homes, "just to hang out and watch TV," Biggs relayed. All three of those houses are vacation homes. Nothing appeared missing in any of them, Biggs said.

One homeowner found a broken window and lights burning when she arrived in November. She also found a bed ruffled, guessing someone had been jumping on it.

She and her husband were in a hurry to get back on the road and failed to report the B&E, Biggs said.

Permits

permit, that agency does not have jurisdiction;

— the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers only gets involved if wetlands are dredged or filled;

— and the State Engineer only regulates the water itself.

Brazael was scheduled to inspect the site Thursday at the commission's request, but no information was available from that visit by press time.

A permit for construction was issued to T.C. "Terry" Coe Aug. 24, after Brazael red-tagged (stopped) the project when it didn't have a permit, Brazael said Wednesday. The plan submitted to the state shows a deck and barbecue area with a roof, valued at $4,500, Brazael said.

Coe did not return telephone calls from The Ruidoso News. Sanchez said Coe called the county office last week to tell her he was building a deck for a barbecue and jacuzzi.

County records show the entire area between the forest road leading to the lake and the subdivision lot south of the Coe site as being the Rio Bonito, said Paul Baca of the county assessor's office.

When the county assessor's office finds property with no apparent ownership, Assessor Patsy Serna said she tries to schedule time for her employees to check records through local title companies.

If an owner is determined, a value is placed on the property and it is listed on the tax rolls retroactively under the owner's name for the previous 10 years, but it is not taxed at the full rate for that period.

Coe indicated the land was part of the A.N. Runnells Garden Plot subdivision and was originally subdivided by his grandmother, Sanchez related.

Most of the county's five villages regulate construction with their own codes. Construction in a three mile radius around the village of Ruidoso falls under municipal building codes as part of an agreement between the county and Ruidoso.

Fund set up for young Downs girl

A bank fund has been set up to help pay for the medical expenses of Holly Dwyer, 11, who suffered severe injuries in a car accident Nov. 9.

Holly is back at home in Ruidoso Downs after two weeks in intensive care followed by more time in the University of New Mexico hospital in Albuquerque. She has recovered amazingly from her injuries.

"I can't stress how strong this kid is...the first couple days were so critical," said Holly's mother, Linda Boegeman, who is deputy clerk for the Ruidoso Downs government. "It's just really a miracle everything came out so well."

Holly suffered severe facial trauma, breaking several bones in her face including her nose, cheeks, upper jaw and palate. Surgery repaired these bones three weeks ago. Luckily, she suffered no brain damage from the car accident, which occurred in western New Mexico when high winds blew the family's car off the road and the car rolled several times.

Holly's brother, Brian, suffered a broken femur in the accident. A steel rod was put in his leg. Brother Bobby suffered only minor injuries, as did the children's mother.

Today, Holly's face is nearly back to normal. She still faces orthodontic surgery for loose teeth, and surgery on her septum and ear. She is blind in one eye and lost some of the hearing in her right ear (although she enjoys being able to turn down the sound on loud voices).

Holly is excited about the prospect of being able to eat hard food for the first time on Dec. 29, when metal wires will be removed from her mouth. Coincidentally, Dec. 29 is also her 12th birthday, so this will be the best present of all.

Since the accident, Holly has been putting everything from pepperoni pizza to Lucky Charms in the blender.

Holly plans to return to school for the second semester in January. She was happy to receive notes from her classmates and others.

Since her mother Linda Boegeman just began working for the Ruidoso Downs government shortly before the accident, her medical insurance didn't kick in until Dec. 1. A small amount from car insurance helped, and Medicaid is also assisting. However, many more bills will be left unpaid.

To make contributions to defray medical costs, make checks payable to the Fund for Holly Dwyer, c/o Ruidoso State Bank, P.O. Drawer B, Ruidoso, NM 88345. Add the account number, 8073430, to the check.

If you want to write to Holly, her address is P.O. Box 713, Ruidoso Downs, NM 88346.

Gift certificates for shelter pets for sale

Gift certificates are available at the Lincoln County Humane Society shelter for people who want to add a pet to their home, but prefer to wait until after the holiday rush.

With a certificate, the person receiving the pet can be part of the selection process, increasing the odds of a successful match.

It also ensures that the gift cat or dog won't be confined even for a few months to a box under the tree, which can be a traumatic experience.

The shelter is on Gavilan Canyon Road. It will be closed Christmas Day but will reopen Tuesday, Dec. 26.

THE DREAMER

Happy Anniversary to Dave and Della Bonnell

This is being sent to you on a bright and sunny Dec. 14.

This morning when I went to the Glencoe Post Office, Postmaster Della Bonnell told me today was the 38th wedding anniversary of her husband David and herself.

They were married Dec. 14, 1957 in the Tinnie Baptist Church.

They have three children, Ruth Bradley, Joel Bonnell, and Paul Bonnell, and three grandchildren, April and Cerina Bonnell and Krystyn Bradley.

Della has been Glencoe's postmaster for 13 years, and in the Postal Service 18 years. David is engaged in ranching and sand and gravel mining.

For a Christmas present, Della gave me two books of stamps.

We all wish David and Della many happy returns of the day and all God's blessings.

Restoration of Saint Anne's Chapel Progressing Well

On the way back from the post office, I stopped by Saint Anne's Chapel to chat with the Reverend Bob Batton. He was doing restoration work on the church, which he has been doing since the church was flooded in the summer.

The Reverend Bob gave the good news that the church will be completely restored by Christmas.

We wish to thank all the faithful friends who worked on the renovation of Saint Anne's Chapel.

A Church Service In Valdez, Alaska at Age Two

The full moon was shining overhead in Valdez, Alaska on Christmas Eve, making the snow sparkle with snow jewelry, as father, mother and brother John, age 4, walked from our house to the church 200 yards away.

Father was carrying me, age 2, and mother carried brother Mark, age 3 months.

When we got to the church, here in the late afternoon was a Christmas tree decorated with candy canes and toys such as small bugles, tops, drums, bells and toy dogs.

Also on the tree were gauze stockings filled with an orange and candy of all kinds — taffy, fudge, gum drops and Jaw Breakers. Father found me one of the tree socks, and then we all went into the tree section of the church.

During the church service some of the Jaw Breakers broke out from my Christmas stocking and went rolling all over the floor of the church, which was filled with people.

I got down and went crawling all around under the pews and among the feet of the folks, collecting the escaped Jaw Breakers and other round candy.

Crawling out from under the first pew, I looked up at what seemed to be a giant figure, the minister.

He gave me a nod and a kindly smile and I went running back up the aisle with my stocking and recovered candy.

The minister was the Reverend Father Zigler, pioneer Alaska clergyman who continued holding services all over Alaska past the age of 90.

The church was the Episcopal Church of the Epiphany, one of the first Episcopal churches established in Alaska.

Warm December Day

Just an hour after high noon, the sun is shining down from a pure blue sky. The temperature is a springtime 68, and all the mountain world is rejoicing to welcome the birthday of our Infant Lord and Saviour.

Lovington pounds short-handed Warriors in girls basketball

Ruidoso was no match for the Lovington Wildcats the first time they met, so when the Warriors played at Lovington Thursday without three of their seniors, the result was just as ugly. Lovington had little trouble with Ruidoso, posting a 62-28 win.

The loss keeps the Warriors winless in five tries as they head into the Christmas break.

Missing in action for the Warriors were seniors Angelica Figueroa, Angela Simms and Jazmin Fleharty. Figueroa, Ruidoso's leading scorer, and Simms were playing in a band concert, and Fleharty was sidelined with strep throat. In all, seven players missed either the varsity or junior varsity contest.

Coach Dwayne Rogers didn't use the depleted squad as an excuse.

"I still felt like we should have played better," he said.

"Lovington is going to win their district. They're going to state. They just play real hard, aggressive, and it's something we're not used to," he said.

Rogers praised the efforts of sophomore Myra Romero and senior Sheryl Dockery.

"Myra gave me everything she had. I also got a great effort from Sheryl Dockery. They didn't leave anything on the court. That's what you want - for them to play their hearts out," Rogers said.

The Warriors will play in the Roswell Goddard Invitational Dec. 27-29.

Grizzly girls rally in third quarter in upset

by LAURA CLYMER
Ruidoso News Sports Writer

Early in the second quarter Friday, it looked like the Capitan girls basketball team would do what it has routinely done to the Carrizozo girls for the last several years: methodically pound the Grizzlies.

The Tigers expanded an 8-4 lead into a 15-5 advantage with less than six minutes to go in the first half.

The rout, it seemed, was on. So why not substitute your starting five, your juniors and seniors, and put in underclassmen and your eighth-graders? That's exactly what Grizzly coach Kim Gremillion did. And her youngsters made the second-year coach look like a motivational genius.

"I brought the little eighth-graders in to fire up my seniors because they were just standing around. I figured if my eighth-graders and freshmen can't fire 'em up, no one can," Gremillion said.

With 'Zozo's juniors and seniors on the bench, the Grizzlies outscored the Tigers 6-2 and trimmed the Capitan advantage to 18-11 at halftime.

Suddenly the Grizzlies were in the game and the seemingly-invincible Tigers were not so mighty.

Gremillion put her starters back in toward the end of the half, and Carrizozo carried the momentum into the third quarter. The Grizzlies, led by junior Naomi Vallejos, outscored Capitan 19-6 and went on to post a 41-36 win over their rivals.

Gremillion's move in the second period put Vallejos and senior Debbie Bond on the bench. The time on the pine gave both a chance to look at what Capitan was doing.

Carrizozo's Katie Hightower attempts a layup with Capitan's Chris Worrell defending. The Grizzlies upset the Tigers, 41-36, in girls basketball action Friday.

by LAURA CLYMER
Ruidoso News Sports Writer
In rather ho-hum fashion uncharacteristic of an old rivalry, the Capitan boys defeated Carrizozo, 84-69, Friday night.

It was a decidedly uneventful game, perhaps determined by pregame events.

Carrizozo was without head coach Sid Wright, who was serving a one-game suspension for receiving two technical fouls at the Grizzlies game against Magdalena Dec. 8.

Capitan didn't dress three seniors — Keith Cox, Jeremy McGarvey and Josh Peralta — who were benched for disciplinary reasons, stemming from an incident at the Floyd Tournament, Dec. 7-9.

So Friday night belonged to the Capitan underclassmen and Carrizozo assistant coach Randall Robbins.

The Tigers and Grizzlies played a tight first half with Capitan, taking a 40-36 lead into the locker-room.

Capitan pulled away in the third quarter behind Jon Ugalano's 3-pointers and Neil Montes' penetrating drives to the basket. The Tigers opened up a 66-51 lead after three quarters of play.

"I thought we did the best job we have all year of passing the ball," said Capitan coach Gerald Montes.

The crisp Tiger passing resulted in wide-open shots and a high shooting percentage. Capitan finished with a nifty 48% from the field.

Five Capitan players scored in double figures. Ugalano led the team with 18 points. Nathan Longbotham had his highest output of the season with 18 points. Neil Montes added 14 and Ernie Trujillo finished with 13. Cody Turnbow pitched in 11.

Carrizozo was paced by Jeff Maynard, who finished with 19 to lead all scorers. Willie Silva, Zack Chavez and Bud Maynard all added 11 for the Grizzlies.

No. 3-ranked 'Dogs take a bite out of Warriors

by LAURA CLYMER
Ruidoso News Sports Writer

Ruidoso dared Artesia's supporting cast to beat the Warriors Friday night in boys cage action. The No. 3-ranked Bulldogs responded to the challenge and posted a hard-fought 69-62 win over Ruidoso.

But while Artesia won the battle on the scoreboard, the Warriors also captured a victory in their minds.

"I'm probably happier with this game, even though it was a loss, than with our five wins," Ruidoso coach Ben Sanchez said.

The Warriors stayed with the defending Class AAA champs in Artesia's own dog pound. But short stretches of inconsistent play at the end of the first half, at the end of the third quarter and the beginning of the fourth quarter proved fatal to the Warriors, Sanchez said.

"By outplaying them in their place we proved we can play with anybody in our district," Sanchez said, adding that Artesia is comparable to No. 2-ranked Silver.

The Warriors, namely senior Cory Hood, held the Bulldogs' leader, Andrew Patterson, to just 15 points. Patterson had only four points at the break in part because Hood was chasing him all over the floor. Ruidoso played a 1-3 zone behind Hood and the strategy worked.

Artesia's other threat, point guard Mike Rogers, finished with 16 points for the victors.

Despite holding the two top 'Dogs to a combined 31 points, the Warriors found themselves on the short end.

"Some other guys stepped up and hit really big shots," Sanchez said. "What you're hoping for is that somebody else doesn't step. And I give them credit because they did."

Artesia's biggest lead was 16 points, but Ruidoso rallied late in

Upset

"Our team is more than five people and it shows," Bond said.

Carrizozo's unsung heroes were sophomores Mandy Baca and freshmen Courtney Maynard and Amber Vallejos. Their success against Capitan's pressure man-to-man defense gave the Zozo upper-classmen confidence.

It also didn't hurt that the elder Vallejos, who didn't score in the first half, caught "fuego" in the third period. Naomi scored three straight baskets to give Carrizozo the lead, 20-18.

"I just put my head into the game," Vallejos explained.

The Grizzlies never surrendered that two-point lead and built a seven-point margin, 31-24, by the end of the third period. Fewer turnovers and little bit of a zone defense helped the Zozo cause. As much as she hates playing zone defense, Gremillion used it to slow down the Tigers and control the boards.

The Grizzlies made a paltry five-for-18 free throws in the final eight minutes to give Capitan a chance in toward the end of the game. But it wasn't meant to be for the Tigers.

Nothing would fall in the basket for Capitan. The Tigers rallied and cut the lead to 39-36 with 23 seconds left, but that was as close as they would get.

Vallejos led all scorers with 17 points. Chris Gonzales paced Capitan with seven points. Sonya Woods and Coye Robbins each contributed six points to the losing cause.

"The win means we finally got our confidence," Gremillion said.

To Bond, it meant more than that. It meant their season had been made.

"You mean we play more games?" Bond asked with a smile.

GRIZZLY GROWLS: Going into the game, the Grizzlies were shooting 82% from the charity stripe. That number will take a nosedive after Carrizozo hit only 15 of 38 free throws Friday...When was the last time Zozo beat Capitan in girls basketball? "Nobody can remember us beating them — at least no one I've talked to," Bond said...Carrizozo is 5-2 overall. The Grizzlies are back in action Jan. 4-6 at the Smokey Bear Invitational in Capitan.

Boys

Capitan sophomores Chris Davis, Jason Montes and Matt Daniel and freshman Garydon Silva filled in well for the Tigers, coach Montes said.

The 6-foot-4 Davis snagged seven defensive rebounds for Capitan.

Carrizozo fell to 3-5 overall. The Tigers improved to 4-4 after the Carrizozo win.

the game as it did against New Mexico Military Institute Tuesday. With 2 1/2 minutes left in the game, the Warriors trailed by four with the ball. Ruidoso couldn't score and the Bulldogs hit a deadly 3-pointer that sealed the fate of the Warriors. Suddenly, instead of trailing by two if they scored, the Warriors found themselves down by seven.

"I'm pleased with the way we played, disappointed with the loss," said Sanchez, whose team slipped to 5-3 overall.

Sanchez said the team will chalk up Friday's game as a learning experience. In close games this season, the Warriors have won one (NMMI) and lost two (Moriarty and Artesia).

"I'll take the learning experience versus Artesia as a tradeoff for a win or a couple of wins in the district," Sanchez said.

Senior Jackie Roe paced the Warriors with 20 points on 8-for-11 shooting. He also snagged 10 rebounds.

But no other Warrior reached double figures. Hood managed nine points, and Eric Padilla, Ryan Trout and Byron Soules each scored eight points.

Loving beats tired Tigers, 82-69, Saturday

Back-to-back games got the better of the Capitan boys basketball team during the weekend. After Friday's contest with rival Carrizozo, the Tigers turned around and hosted Loving Saturday.

Fatigue took its toll on the Tigers and Loving posted a 82-69 victory. Capitan dropped to 4-5 overall with the loss.

"We just ran out of gas," Tiger coach Gerald Montes said.

The Tigers held a four-point halftime lead, 36-32, but Loving outscored the home team 26-15 in the third period and took a 68-51 lead into the final eight minutes.

Ernie Trujillo paced the Tigers with 18 points. Jon Ugalano and Cody Turnbow pitched in a dozen points apiece. Freshman Garydon Silva added 10.

Capitan will take this week off from practice and return to the gym Dec. 28. The Tigers then have five days to prepare for their Smokey Bear Invitational, Jan. 4-6.

Practice, practice

Ruidoso doesn't play again until Jan. 9, but don't think for a minute the Warriors will enjoy a lengthy break.

"We are still not where we need to be offensively and defensively," Sanchez said.

The Warriors will work on conditioning, refining the motion of defense and set plays.

Ruidoso will practice through Dec. 22. The Warriors then take five days off before returning to the hardwood for practice every day, except Jan. 1 and 7, until their Jan. 9 rematch with Tularosa.

The team found its identity after the Artesia game, Sanchez said, and he's happy with the Warriors' chemistry — a trend that, he hopes, carries into the new year.

DRUMBEATS: In the latest Albuquerque Journal statewide stats, Ruidoso senior Cory Hood is the eighth-leading scorer, averaging 15.8 points a game. Ryan Trout checks in at No. 10 with 11.2 points per game. Joshua Hodges leads the rebounding category with an 8.8 average. Hood is also second in assists with a 4.5 average...Junior varsity player Arthur Miller's 3-pointer beat the buzzer and NMMI last Tuesday.

Ruidoso construction figures show increase

Ruidoso's construction activity for November of 1995 was valued at $2,463,048, an 84% increase from the November 1994 figure of $1,342,055.

The value of home construction alone rose by 43% this November compared to November 1994.

At the same time, the number of single-family permits rose by only one, from 12 last November to 13 this November.

"People are building larger and more expensive homes," village inspection division secretary Joyce McMath. "Plus, it costs a little more to build now than it did a year ago."

For the January through November period, 133 single-family home permits have been issued versus 106 permits by the same time last year, a 20% increase.

Storage units account for $250,000 of the new commercial activity. Another $65,000 is for construction in Jira Plaza.

The village issued 74 building permits, including commercial and alteration/addition permits, this November, versus 93 permits last November.

Following is a breakout of November construction activity figures:

— New residential construction: $1,649,254, a 43% increase from $1,152,422 in November 1994;

— Residential alterations/additions: $307,815, a 91% increase from $160,781 November 1994;

— Commercial construction: $315,000 this November. Last November there was no new commercial construction; — Year-to-date construction figures show a 13% increase from 1994, from $19,315,643 to $21,760,131.

Loan fund helps Apache woman beat the odds

In an old salt shed on the Mescalero Apache Reservation, a single Apache woman named Francine Burgess is defying the odds by going into business for herself.

A beadworker and teacher, Burgess is not only providing her own livelihood, she is also helping others create waves of new artwork which emanate from the old building. Along with doing her own beadwork, she trains others in traditional Apache arts and crafts and sells art supplies to students and artists.

Her business has stabilized and started to grow, thanks to the New Mexico Community Development Loan Fund.

Burgess' unique crafts shop and school is named Hanging Arrow (Kaa Dasi'ta) Arts and Crafts. It is located about a mile west of the summit on New Mexico Route 70, in an area known for its many windmills; kaa dasi'ta is the Apache name for windmill.

A $30,000 loan from the Loan Fund is providing working capital reserve for Burgess and making it possible for her to renovate the salt shed. The old corrugated metal building with a dirt floor is getting water and sewer service for a bathroom and small kitchen, a heating system and a new floor, as well as professional signs outside to alert people to this small haven of creative artistry.

Francine Burgess' studio and shop is one of many projects of the New Mexico Community Development Loan Fund, which was founded in 1989 by members of the New Mexico Conference of Churches to help alleviate poverty in New Mexico.

The fund loans money mostly to lower-income people who cannot receive business loans from traditional lending sources, and just as important, the fund gives technical business assistance. It requires the businesses and non-profits that it helps to provide a significant benefit to lower income people.

The Loan Fund's Executive Director, Vangie Gabaldon, expects cumulative loans to top $2 million in 1995, and the fund has never had a loan go into default. Information on how to apply for a loan is available at 243-3196.

Francine Burgess retails her own work, that of her students, and items by other Native Americans in her quickly-expanding enterprise.

She was referred to the Community Development Loan Fund by Judy Garcia of the Alamogordo Small Business Development Center. Burgess received title and ownership of the salt shed from the Mescalero Apache Tribal Council in accordance with the Tribe's economic development policies. Tribal officials are also considering launching a business training program for Mescalero entrepreneurs.

Francine Burgess is only one woman, yet she is determined to preserve and propagate her craft.

Francine Burgess shows some of the traditional Apache arts and crafts found at Hanging Arrow (Kaa Dasi'ta) Arts and Crafts on the Mescalero Apache Reservation.

Her determination paid off: she is now a manufacturer, retailer and wholesaler of traditional Apache and other Native American arts and crafts, and a retailer of supplies to other artists.

The benefits she is providing to her community, along with the preservation of culture that she is accomplishing, make her an excellent fit for the economic development programs of the New Mexico Community Development Loan Fund.

Village of Ruidoso Downs joins Apache Trails Promotion Council

by DON HIXON

Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Village of Ruidoso Downs trustees Monday gave $1,500 in lodgers tax money to promote tourism.

Frank Potter received $500 to help cover his expenses. He promotes Ruidoso and Ruidoso Downs tourism at National Tourism Association (NTA) meetings.

Tour operators attend NTA spring and fall meetings to learn about resort communities, Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce director Joan Bailey told the council.

"Hundreds of tour operators attend NTA meetings," Bailey said. "You pitch your area to them."

Trustees also approved $1,000 for Ruidoso Downs membership and advertising through the Apache Trails Promotion Council.

Apache Trails is an organization dedicated to promoting regional attractions.

"Through Apache Trails, we are able to advertise, in a very precise manner, attractions that are within an hour's drive or less of one another," Bailey said. "White Sands is the farthest attraction that we promote."

Apache Trails advertises the region in the New Mexico Vacation Guide and also publishes a brochure with a calendar of events, regional map and suggested attractions, she said.

Chamber members in the tourism organization include Ruidoso, Alamogordo, Tularosa, Cloudcroft and Carrizozo.

Bailey also received permission to have a bonfire at the Museum of the Horse for yesterday's Ullerfest Winter Festival.

The Council also approved the transfer of Hollywood Inn ownership from Rex and Marie Vaughn to Peggy O'Leary. The Vaughns operated the Hollywood Inn for 20 years.

"We are just tired," Marie Vaughn said. "That's why we decided it was time to sell."

Other council business included: — approval of a $932 bid from Powell Tires in Roswell to replace tires on a fire department tanker truck;

— approval of a $2,507 bid from Valin Company in Albuquerque to upgrade four fire department air packs;

— approval of a sign permit for Happy Jack's Trading Post, a new business in Ruidoso Downs; — and moving the next regular council meeting from Christmas Day to 7 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 27.

New Mexico Community Development Loan Fund and WESST corp establish joint Roswell office

The New Mexico Community Development Loan Fund and the Women's Economic Self-Sufficiency Team (WESST corp) have been given a grant to establish a joint office in Roswell to serve southern New Mexico residents.

The $75,000 grant came from the Levi Strauss Foundation in El Paso, Texas.

Since 1989 the Loan Fund has been making loans and giving technical assistance statewide to businesses and non-profits benefit-

VANGIE GABALDON
LOAN FUND EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

"This is our first branch office," said Vangie Gabaldon, Loan Fund executive director. "This gives us an exciting opportunity to increase our services in the southern half of the state."

WESST corp is a non-profit organization providing business consultation, training and loans to New Mexico women, helping them create their own economic security by reducing the risks of starting and owning their own business.

The Loan Fund's new Roswell office is going to provide loans and technical assistance to small businesses and other projects creating employment opportunities for low-income individuals. It is scheduled to open in January.

The Loan Fund is also seeking a loan officer familiar with southern and eastern New Mexico, who is also knowledgeable in lending and lower-income community needs. Those interested may call the Loan Fund in Albuquerque at (505) 243-3196.

Look what Johnson got us into this time

When it comes to gambling on New Mexico's Indian reservations, Governor Gary Johnson is the obvious person to point a finger at and say, "Look at the mess you got us into now."

There's a reason it's obvious: it's basically his fault. This country's government is based on a separation of powers, and for good reason — to keep one of those powers from going off and doing whatever it wants. It seems our governor needs a refresher Government 101 class. The basic concept of separation of powers extends to all levels government, including his.

Johnson should have known he was stepping outside his power to sign Indian gaming compacts in the first place. If he had sought ratification of those compacts by the Legislature, we'd never be in this mess.

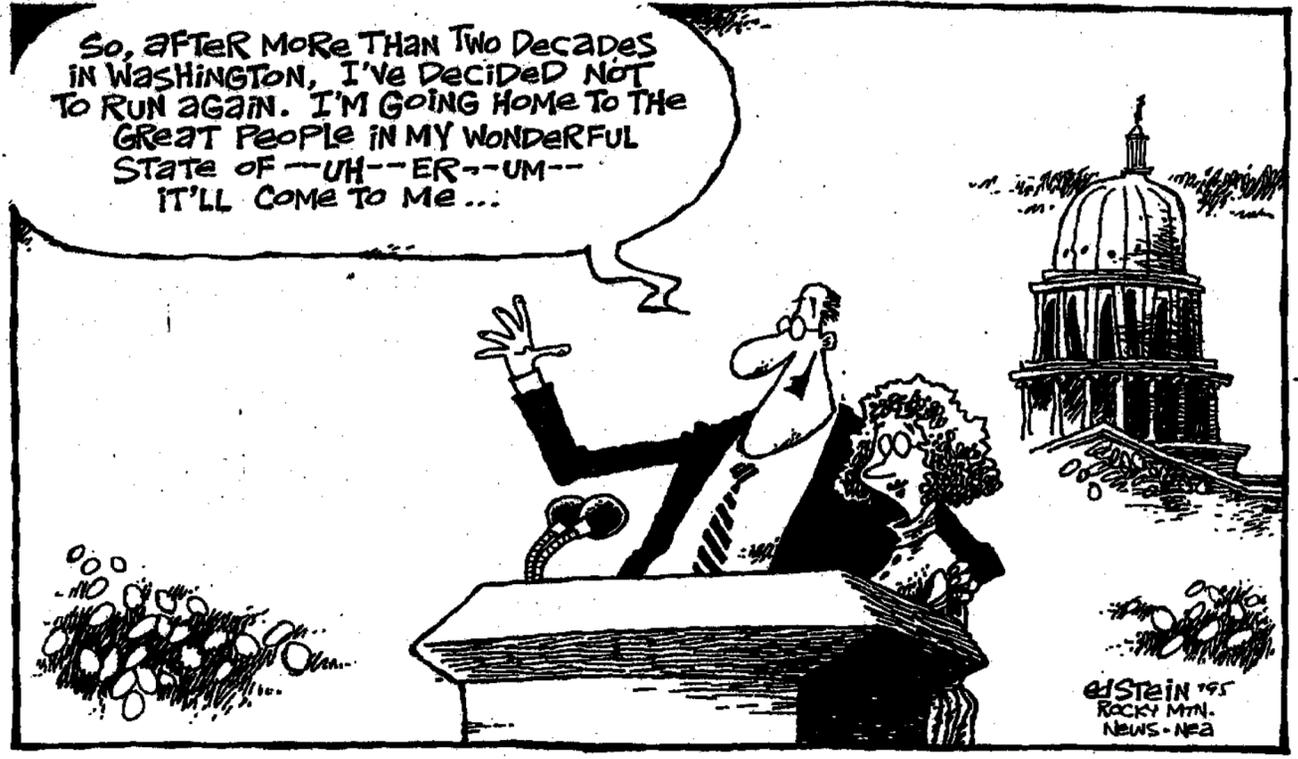

We might not have been in this mess if the Legislature had taken the time to vote on some expanded gambling proposals, either. But at that time last winter, the Legislature didn't know the Supreme Court would shoot down the compacts. And, understandably, the Democrat-dominated Legislature hasn't been in the mood to solve Johnson's mess for him.

Johnson knew about the Supreme Court's feelings on the compacts in enough time to call a special session, but chose not to. Instead, he just asked the U.S. Attorney to look the other way for awhile.

Well, we found out Thursday that U.S. Attorney John Kelly isn't going to do that. After all, he has to save some face, too. It would be nice if he would look the other way, but that's hard to do when you're supposed to enforce the law.

Who gets to suffer the consequences? Not Johnson. The tribes and pueblos, who understandably put their faith in Johnson's assurances, get to suffer. If the U.S. attorney forces them to shut down their casinos as he says he will, it could be an economic disaster for them and their employees.

There's going to be a showdown. Too bad they can't put Johnson in the middle of it.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

My two cents worth about obscenity law

TO THE EDITOR:

Here are my two cents worth I didn't get to put in at Tuesday night's Ruidoso council meeting (no one to blame).

The other night two competent attorneys enlightened the council audience concerning the laws pertaining to obscenity, etc. It was a lengthy dissertation, resulting in too short a time frame for me to put my two cents in.

Here goes "Priorities." To whomever is spending time, money and energy to push through the proposed "obscenity" ordinance, I say get your "priorities" straight.

You bring to mind the following analogy of "A man obsessed by a ketchup spot on his tie while his pants are burning."

This "tempest in a teapot" is ridiculous, when you consider six million children go to bed hungry every night.

You profess to be motivated by your love for children. How many jackets have you given to the organization that strives to keep poor children warm this winter? How much money have you donated to UNICEF, Salvation Army, etc., etc.? How many children have you visited in the hospital to cheer them up? (It takes no money — just time and energy.)

If you really care about your children, put your time, money and energy into trying to get an ordinance passed:

1. Requiring exposure of convicted child abusers to be conveyed to the entire community they decide to settle in.

2. Work towards getting a free community center built that caters to all ages. This would end a lot of you complaining about teenagers hanging around convenience stores. Also, there would be a reduction of burglaries. Forget about pandering to the tourist trade. We don't need more golf courses, baseball fields, etc.

For example, who was the "genius" that came up with the brilliant idea to build an open-air swimming pool at an altitude of 6,400 feet where kids need money to attend? Also, no one swims on thunderstorm days. No swimming all winter. What a waste of tax money.

3. Why not work to have an ordinance passed to have an intelligent numbering system added to the street names? Then even a newcomer to this area could find the house and possibly save a life when seconds count. It works in other communities that care enough to be progressive.

Why don't you kill all dogs and cats in case some day the kids on a school bus chance to see animals copulating and have their psyche completely shortcircuited for the rest of their lives? Possibly all the kids that grew up on a farm are now criminals or worse.

Wake up! This is the real world. The tooth fairy can't protect you. Added to the constitutional amendments should be "Freedom of thought."

Community support for SAHSA is heartwarming

TO THE EDITOR:

Mark learned to ski with SAHSA four years ago. Four years before that, when Mark was 17, he was involved in a car accident. A momentary lapse of concentration, an over-correction, a rollover and Mark's life was changed forever. He woke up in a hospital with no feeling from his chest down. His world went from girls, parties and football games to catheter, colostomy bags and learning to use a wheelchair.

Different people react differently when faced with a calamity. Some people sink further into despair, some accept it with a benign indifference, some see it as an opportunity to live a better life and some are even able to transcend their circumstances and do things they never thought possible.

Today, Mark is married with two beautiful daughters. He started his own business which has become very successful. He participates in myriad sports, including, of course, skiing, and he counsels other paraplegics in his spare time. He wishes that the accident never happened, but for him, it is in the past and, although it was difficult to overcome, he is able to look beyond it and live life to its fullest.

Today, Ruidoso is filled with its own calamity: the lack of snow. Unlike Mark's situation, it is temporary — it will get cold soon and the snow will fly, tourists will come and although it may not be a great or even good year, there will be good and great years in the future along with some bad ones. The only constant, as Mark would be quick to acknowledge, is that things can change in an instant.

It is said that character is most fully defined in times of crisis and whether it be an individual or a community, whether it be good or bad, the qualities displayed continue on after the crisis is past. If this is indeed true, and I believe that it is, the support and generosity shown for the Ski Apache Handicapped Skiers Association at the Snowflake Ball is all the more poignant and appreciated.

So, to the ski shops that participated in the fashion show, to The Ruidoso News and its staff who worked so hard, to the people who worked at the Inn of the Mountain Gods, to Ski Apache and to all the people that attended the ball, I'd like to extend my most heartfelt thank you.

Bill of Rights is my Contract with America

TO THE EDITOR:

Did you know that Bill of Rights Day was Dec. 15? This was a new one on me, so I decided to celebrate the occasion by re-reading The Bill of Rights to the Constitution of the United States of America. The Preamble was a good start.

"The conventions of a number of the states...in order to prevent misconstruction of abuse of its powers...extending the ground of public confidence in the Government..."

The Preamble is a powerful statement. It started me thinking of day and night. This war is not about the quality of the human environment — about wetlands, about habitats for the endangered species, historical corridors, ecosystems, nor any of the other crap that the federal government is using as an excuse to destroy our economy, to take away our property rights and our ability to engage in economic pursuits that sustained our forefathers, and that our nation still requires if it is to remain a powerful nation.

If you don't think that the war on the West continues to escalate, what about (1) President Clinton's decision to try to stop mining in Montana, (2) Secretary Babbitt's decision to bring the United Nations to Wyoming to decide our future, (3) the decision by a federal judge to stop all timber harvesting on federal lands in Arizona and New Mexico — and it goes on and on.

People who live and work off the land in the West are, by nature, excellent stewards and protectors of that land. They do a far better job than the make-work bureaucratic federal agencies who use an economic impact statement that basically contains little scientific proof of anything but is used as an instrument to harass hard-working American people...

My Contract with America is the Constitution of the United States of America. Is it asking too much of liberal bureaucrats that they read it and abide by it?

GLAUCOMA

Glaucoma has been called the "silent killer" of eyesight, because by the time there are noticeable symptoms, it may be too late to save vision. Prompt treatment can prevent further loss of sight, but not restore vision already lost. That is why a test for glaucoma is an important part of routine eye examinations for those over 45. African-Americans are more a risk and may be tested even earlier.

The eye condition causes progressive damage to the optic nerve, often accompanied by increased fluid pressure in the eye. Dr.s Gutowski and Sonnenmoser's tonometer test, quite painless, measures tension in the eyeball.

Most common is primary, open-angle glaucoma, which usually moves slowly but gives no warning. Drug therapy is usually adequate to treat it, except in advanced cases. Primary, closed-angle glaucoma develops quickly and may cause pain, nausea and blurred vision. It must be treated immediately. Secondary glaucoma can result from an injury or may accompany vascular disease, diabetes or some medications.

PET CORNER

These pets are currently up for adoption at Lincoln County Humane Society
Call 257-9841

Rocko is an attractive gray tabby who's about five months old. He was found wandering loose on K Street. He's bright and energetic, loves to snuggle and is looking for a family to take care of him this time.

Rags is a Scottish terrier/poodle mix who's about one-year-old. She's already spayed and shines when groomed. She was found hungry and cold by a local cabin motel. She's neat and tidy in her kennel.

With Christmas nearly here and the end of 1995 close behind, it's time to look back at one of the most progressive years since the Lincoln County Humane Society was formed less than a decade ago.

The organization has evolved into a professional operation headed by a well-trained shelter director with many years of previous experience in Doña Ana County.

The shelter has been enlarged, remodeled and repainted into a pleasant place for prospective owners and pets to get to know each other.

Disease takes fewer lives as strays are isolated from other animals. Those without documentation are inoculated.

Nearly 300 animals were adopted from the shelter on Gavilan Canyon Road this past year. The shelter is reaching out to serve more communities that in turn, are paying their share of expenses.

"I'd like to thank The Ruidoso News and the residents of Ruidoso and Lincoln County for making it a great year for animals and people alike," said shelter director Jim Riggins.

"The gift that keeps on giving,' is a phrase often used this time of year, but one that could not be more true in the case of our adopted animals," he said. "They give so much joy and unconditional love to their new families.

"For each adopted animal, a slot was filled in a home with a spayed or neutered, non-breeding animal. The slots could have been filled with a breeding animal from a pet store or kennel. Since most breeding occurs unintentionally, the tragic cycle would have continued.

"Breaking the cycle is what we are about and we would be glad to put ourselves out of business," Riggins said.

While many animals found new homes, others ended their lives at the shelter receiving as much compassion and humane treatment as possible.

Ending the practice of euthanasia of healthy animals is up to pet owners. They must love their animals enough to confine them for safety, to stop reproduction by neutering them and to protect them from diseases, Riggins said.

The society appreciates the help it has received from caring people and professional such as local veterinarians, merchants, the shelter staff and contributors, he said.
