Snow means slick roads for drivers

Soft snowfall has translated into slick roads in Ruidoso since Thursday. The police department reported seven minor accidents in less than eight hours Friday.

"From 7:30 a.m. to 3 p.m., we had seven fender benders, about six times as many accidents as in a normal day without snow," said Police Detective Wolfgang Born. "They occurred mainly on the backroads. People were just slipping and sliding away."

"The telephones have been busy all morning with people calling in to ask about road conditions."

The Alamogordo office of the New Mexico State Police reported minor accidents scattered all over Lincoln County, with a small concentration in the Alto area.

A vehicle rolled over on U.S. Highway 70 West in Ruidoso Thursday night, and a semi jackknifed on the same highway near Apache Summit the same night.

New deadline on Fort Stanton lease proposals Jan. 22

About 34 companies were sampled randomly by the state to figure out why they didn't submit Fort Stanton lease proposals after asking for bid documents.

While 374 proposal packets were mailed to potential bidders, they were sent to a total of only 97 companies, said Carolyn Jackson with the state General Services Department public affairs division Wednesday. The rest were duplicates, used internally or in promotional efforts.

"About one-third of the 97 were surveyed," Jackson said. "Some didn't realize they could use improvements to offset rent. Others said they didn't have sufficient time. A few thought the property was for sale or just didn't have the financial resources."

"One person thought their company had submitted a proposal. Three or four expressed interest in trying again."

Only one proposal was submitted by the three-jointed by a selection committee.

In a second attempt to lease the former state hospital, letters will be mailed to the 97 companies Friday, giving them until Jan. 22 to submit lease proposals.

Until it was closed last March when the governor cited high costs, the fort was Lincoln County's second-largest employer.

Apaches fight casino closure

by JOANNA DODDER
Ruidoso News Editor

The Mescalero Apache Tribe will file suit against the U.S. Attorney before Jan. 15 if he continues to demand the tribe close its casino, the Mescalero president said Wednesday.

The U.S. Attorney asked tribes who plan to close their casinos to notify him by today of their intentions. Like other tribes, the Mescalero have not given notice.

Mescalero President Wendell Chino wouldn't give specifics, but he said the issue will be in court before the U.S. Attorney's Jan. 15 deadline for New Mexico's Indian tribes to close their casinos.

Casino Apache will not close as U.S. Attorney John Kelly has demanded, Chino said.

Kelly made the demand Dec. 14 after the New Mexico Supreme Court ruled in November that state law doesn't allow any form of casino gambling. Tribes had said casino gambling is legal because charities have been able to have casino nights for decades. In July, the court also ruled that Indian gaming compacts signed by Governor Gary Johnson were invalid.

"The recent state court decisions are nothing more than political decisions, and the attempt is to hit Indian gaming in the head," Chino said. "Why did the state wait more than 30 years to declare something illegal if it wasn't politically motivated?"

"They did this to get at Indian gaming."

Chino noted that Casino Apache on the Mescalero Apache Reservation employs approximately 600 people, including Indians and residents of the neighboring Ruidoso area.

"We don't want them to be thrown into the unemployment arena," Chino said. "The most important thing is, we provide employment so these employees can take care of their families."

Profits from the casino also fund tribal operations, he noted.

"It will have a detrimental effect on all aspects of tribal government," Chino said of Kelly's demand.

The Mescalero have chosen to take legal action versus physical confrontation, he said. There are legal issues that have not been answered, he said, although he declined to give specifics on what those issues are.

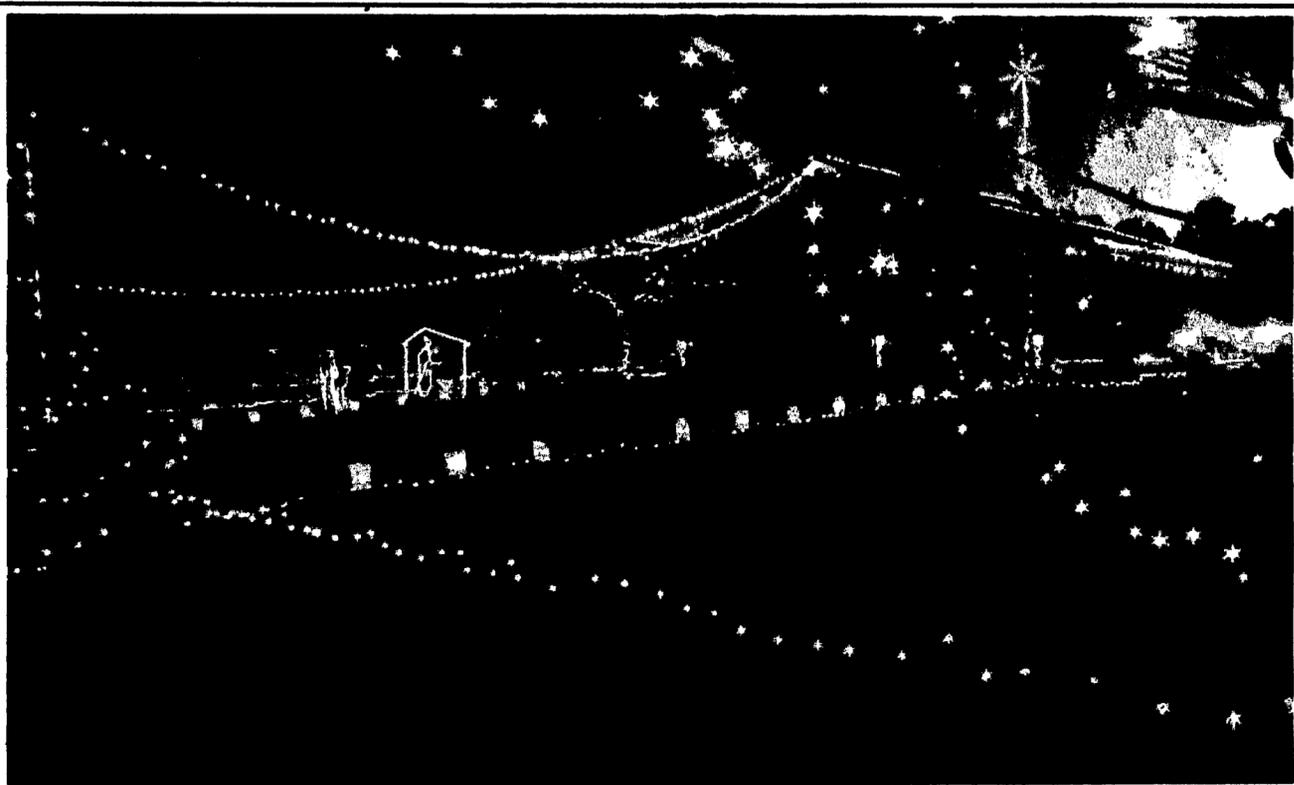

Whoever takes action against the tribe will be the focus of a lawsuit in federal court, Chino said.

"Right now we wait and see," Chino said. "We don't tell our enemies what the game plan is."

The Mescalero Apache Tribe and Sandia Pueblo have already filed a lawsuit in Albuquerque's federal district court against the state of New Mexico, charging the state with failing to negotiate in good faith, Chino noted.

New Mexico residents made it clear they support gambling, when the majority voted for a lottery and

More than 15,000 lights cover the yard of Rev. Kevin Krohn next to Cree Meadows Golf Course. He calls it his gift to the community, and he adds more every year. It includes an abstract manger scene, dancing lights and luminarias and a star.

Ruidoso minister lights up Christmas

by DIANNE STALLINGS

His wife calls it a borderline obsession.

Kevin Krohn has been creating Christmas scenes with lights on home and church lawns since he was a junior in high school.

Each year they become more and more elaborate.

This year, his efforts resulted in a first-place award in a new Christmas Decoration Contest sponsored by the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce and Texas-New Mexico Power Company.

Krohn's abstract manger scene, entry arch, perimeter designs, light-drenched trees and star of Bethlehem were selected out of a field of 10 residential entries.

"I built this back in 1977 when I was a junior in high school," Krohn said of the manger scene. "I wanted to emphasize the real meaning of Christmas. I put it up every year to do that. Over the years, it has evolved into more and more lights."

"I've really enjoyed Christmas lighting since I received my first set of lights from my father when I was five years old."

Krohn, 35, is the pastor of the Shepherd of the Hills Lutheran Church. He moved to Ruidoso from Nebraska in 1990.

What started as a few hundred lights to accent the manger scene back in Nebraska has grown into 15,400 bulbs. He's added fluorescent paint to the main figures in the manger and the three wise men, to enhance their presence in the overall scene.

The spectacular light show costs about $100 a month to power, said Krohn's wife Karen.

"I expect a letter pretty soon from the electric company thanking me," Krohn joked.

The scene is Krohn's Christmas gift to the community, he said. He's noticed more families in Ruidoso putting out lights this year, and he hopes that's a sign of an increasing appreciation of the significance of Christmas.

His dedication and ambition haven't played out, even after nearly 20 years. As the interview ended last week, Krohn was on his way outside to add a few hundred more lights.

"I found an (electrical) outlet I wasn't using," he said.

Krohn lives at 212 Barcus Road (on the Cree Meadows Golf Course) in Ruidoso. You can't miss it.

Other winners

Each winner of the residential and commercial lighting contest received a plaque designed in Christmas colors.

A special "holiday spirit" award was presented to the overall Ruidoso Downs for its village decorations.

Winning second place in the residential competition were Doug and Rita Zembik, 419 Bradley Street in Alto. Third place winner was Carl Jackson, 430 Dipaolo Hill in Ruidoso Downs.

In the commercial division, the winners were the Upper Canyon Inn, 215 Main Street; McDonald's restaurant, 144 Sudderth Drive; and Klassy Kids & Visions, 2801 Sudderth Drive, all in Ruidoso.

Commercial winners competed in a field of 13 entrants.

Santa Cops now overflowing with gifts

by DON HIXON
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Last week, Santa Cops were struggling to provide toys, clothing and food for the more than 350 families who need help.

But an outpouring of last-minute support has enabled Santa Cops to provide assistance for every family that asked for help this year.

Only 110 applications had been filled early last week, but things quickly turned around after an article in The Ruidoso News pointed out the lack of donations, Santa Cops coordinator Freda McSwane said.

"People started coming in with donations after seeing the newspaper," she said. "We had enough additional toys and food come in to be able to accommodate even the families that we had sent denial letters to."

Because of the influx of donations, every family who sought help received it, she said.

Schoolchildren helped Santa Cops by volunteering and helping wrap presents. White Mountain Intermediate School delivered more than 1,000 cans of food to the program earlier this week.

"When they brought their cans in, we were able to go back and fill up gift boxes that we had only been able to put a couple of things in," McSwane said.

Nina Wheeler is one person who benefitted from Santa Cops, then turned around and helped others when she got back on her feet.

Last year, Wheeler was helping wrap presents at Santa Cops when she mentioned in conversation that she was having a rough time making ends meet. Wheeler, who

Chapel opens its doors for Christmas

by JOANNA DODDER
Ruidoso News Editor

The people of St. Anne's Chapel are especially thankful this Christmas — thankful to be back in their place of worship.

After months of scraping up mud and water and replacing so many destroyed fixtures, their little chapel of stone is beautiful again.

It was Sept. 8 when their troubles began. Three inches of rain plummeted the Hondo Valley in a few hours, and a rushing stream of water and mud came down Devil's Canyon and ended up in their church when a retaining wall broke and a drain clogged.

Two inches of mud filled their tiny chapel — pews, organ, walls, vestals, hymnals, prayer books and carpet were covered with it.

"It picked up the pews and organ and basically piled them up against the door," recalled the Rev. Canon John Penn, who heads up The Episcopal Church in Lincoln County. He watches over the mother church in Ruidoso and three chapels, including St. Anne's at Glencoe.

The thick wooden front door of St. Anne's was so swollen with water after the flood, it wouldn't shut.

Then a thoughtless soul worsened the tragedy. Two days after the flood, as the tiny congregation worked to remove everything for cleaning, someone stole the cross on the altar.

"It's been the spiritual focus of several generations of worshippers," Father Penn said of the cross. "Whoever stole it will have a lot of explaining to do on the Day of Judgment."

The cross was given to the chapel by a Boston woman about the time the chapel was constructed in 1933. A friend of an early clergyman, she gave it in memory of a five-year-old girl who died in 1908.

"One thing that's sad about this is, for 60 years this church has been open," said Father Penn. Since the people of Hondo Valley built the chapel in honor of the faithful Helena Anne Tully Coe in 1933, there had never been a key. People from all over the world stopped by to see the beautiful chapel that was designed by New Mexico's famous architect John Gaw Meem, and they left their name in the guest book.

But for now, stung by the heartless act of the thief, the members of the congregation will lock their precious chapel.

"Nobody wants to have to lock it," laments Father Anna Gaddy, St. Anne's locally ordained priest who works with the seminary-trained Father Penn.

"This was one of the last churches in Christendom left unlocked," added Father Penn.

But the members of the congregation aren't letting the stolen cross ruin their homecoming. They still have faith that someone will return it (no questions asked). And on Christmas Day, they'll be sitting in their refurbished pews to celebrate the wonder of Christ's birthday. It was a long haul to restore the church, but Father Penn said they could do it.

When the flood hit, many of the members were at the convocation of the Episcopal Diocese of the Rio Grande in Glorieta. The first thing they asked when they returned was, "When will we get back in?"

"I said, 'I will go out on a limb and guarantee you'll be back in on Christmas,'" Father Penn recalled with a smile, now that his promise has been fulfilled.

The love of Father Penn and Gaddy for their congregation is obvious.

"God is very alive in this place," said Father Penn, who has led the four Lincoln County Episcopal churches for seven years. "It's a small congregation, but heavy-duty folks."

Since the chapel is located about 15 miles east of Ruidoso Downs, most of the members live in the Hondo Valley. Some, like lay reader

Dan Storm, have been members at St. Anne's for decades. In fact, Storm is the longest continuous lay reader in the diocese, starting in 1946.

Another member, R.O. Anderson, has been inviting his fellow congregation to worship at the chapel on his Picacho ranch the past few months. Anderson also donated a stately bell tower for St. Anne's a few years back that perfectly matches the adjoining chapel.

"It's a close-knit group with very much the same interests," Father Gaddy said of her charge. Many are farmers and ranchers.

"They are very down-to-earth people, very faithful," Father Penn added. "The care and effort they've put into this church over the years is just incredible."

Much of that work came after floods. There have been three or four in the past quarter-century. They started when nearby Highway 70 kept getting built up higher and higher. The members would do what they could to protect their chapel, but somehow the waters still got in.

This time, they're going to great lengths to put in new flood controls.

"We're going to see to it that this never happens again," Father Penn assured.

limited video gaming in the November 1994 election, Chino said.

"So that has pretty well established public policy on gaming," Chino concluded. "Indian gaming is not hurting the public policy of the state."

The compacts remain valid because they were signed by the U.S. Secretary of Interior, Chino concluded.

Governor Gary Johnson and some legislative leaders have asked the U.S. Attorney to wait on any action until the Legislature convenes for a month beginning Jan. 16.

Johnson wants the Legislature to agree on Indian compacts and legalize electronic gambling machines for racetracks and charitable groups. He also wants casino nights legalized for charities.

The governor and legislative leaders have not agreed on whether to hold a special session to deal with gambling issues.

Alto man heads border authority

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

An Alto resident was hired last week as executive director of a revamped New Mexico Border Authority.

Fred Hansen, vice chairman of the Lincoln County Democratic Party and a former state senator from Artesia, will take over as head of the authority Jan. 1 at a salary of about $55,000, according to authority member Joel Carson of Artesia.

"For us, it was a real opportunity to get a guy with Fred's qualifications," Carson said. The board received 34 applications for the position, he said.

Hansen, 60, was out of town this week and couldn't be reached. He currently is an investor and consultant doing business as PING Consulting Company.

The border authority was reorganized earlier in the year by Gov. Gary Johnson after the state Legislature approved the necessary changes in law.

Alan Richardson, deputy cabinet secretary under Bratcher, explained the authority is charged with looking at actions and projects to develop and encourage commerce along the shared border of Mexico and New Mexico.

"They will be looking initially at the Santa Theresa crossing (near El Paso)," he said. "We felt it probably has the greatest potential at this time because of the available land and water, and its proximity to Juarez. We look at Santa Theresa as being a reliever point for Juarez."

"The authority will encourage development in that area in transportation, rail, truck and air, and will help attract manufacturing and warehousing."

The authority also has limited power to issue revenue bonds to help construct facilities and infrastructure such as roads, water and sewer lines, he said.

Hansen plans to move to Las Cruces, where the authority is based, his wife, Joyce Hansen, said Thursday.

Her husband applied for the job because he thought he had the background to do some good in the position, she said. Especially valuable is his knowledge of state government, she added.

Hansen earned a bachelor of science degree in civil engineering at the University of Wisconsin, served three years as the chief executive officer of a New York Stock Exchange listed corporation, and 17 years as general manager and chief operating officer in four different energy-related organizations.

His work has covered economic evaluations involving oil and natural gas transportation and marketing, according to information from the state. He has experience with the rules and regulations of the Interstate Commerce Commission, the federal Energy Regulatory Commission and the New Mexico Public Utility Commission.

He also served as a trustee with a rural electric cooperative, as president of a regulated water and sewer utility and has invested in oil and gas exploration and production.

was a single parent, had just moved to Ruidoso from California and was holding down two jobs to support her family of four children.

"Two of the people at Santa Cops happened to hear me make the statement that I was having difficulty," she said. "Two days later I received a box with food, clothes and toys."

Since last year, things have improved drastically for Wheeler. She recently married, manages the mens and boys department at Wal-Mart and also helps coordinate the fundraising activities for Santa Cops at the store.

Wal-Mart employees managed to raise $10,000 for the program this year.

Because of the unselfish and caring attitudes of people like Wheeler and many other businesses and organizations throughout Lincoln County, families who might not have had a celebration will have a merry Christmas after all.

"I always think that the community will come through," McSwane said. "This year wasn't any different, and we thank everybody."

RHS girls gear up for Goddard cage gala

by LAURA CLYMER

Ruidoso News Sports Writer
The 1995 book isn't closed yet for the Ruidoso girls basketball team. The Warriors are one of eight teams to play in the Roswell Goddard Tournament Dec. 27-29.

"It's a tough tourney. It's got a lot of big schools in it. It looks like a really solid tourney," Ruidoso coach Dwayne Rogers said.

Joining the Warriors in Roswell for the post-Christmas affair are Portales, Artesia, Roswell High, Goddard High, Alamogordo and a pair of El Paso schools.

Ruidoso's first round opponent is Portales. The Rams and Warriors square off at 1 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 27.

The two teams have met previously this season. Portales posted a 68-41 victory over the Warriors in Ruidoso Dec. 8. The Rams' standout senior guard Leah Montoya burned Ruidoso for 22 points in that contest.

"Our objective is to shut her down. They couldn't press us at all. If we do a good job on this Montoya, then we will be fine,"

Rogers said.

The Warriors have had some intense and "pretty mean" practices of late, Rogers said. The first-year Ruidoso coach likes that, and he's optimistic about the Warriors' chances versus the Rams.

"We really expect to beat Portales," Rogers said. The Warriors must rebound, play better team defense and take care of the ball to come out on top, he added.

If Ruidoso wins, it would be the team's first victory in six tries.

The Warriors will have to do without the services of senior forward Angelica Figueroa. Figueroa will miss the whole Goddard Tournament to visit an ailing relative in California. She's tough to replace. The 5-9 forward leads the team in two important categories: scoring and the intangible, competitiveness.

After the Goddard Tournament, the Warriors waste no time returning to the thick of it in 1996. Ruidoso hosts Artesia Thursday, Jan. 4, for junior varsity and varsity contests.

Ruidoso coach Dwayne Rogers' Warriors seek their first win of the season at the Roswell Goddard tournament. Ruidoso opens the three-day tournament Wednesday, Dec. 27, against Portales.

What would you do? Local coaches answer 'The Call'

by LAURA CLYMER

Ruidoso News Sports Writer
"The Call" will undoubtedly go down in history with the "The Catch" as one of 49er fans' favorite moments in Dallas Cowboy history.

Dwight Clark's immaculate reception from Joe Montana in the 1982 NFC championship game signaled the start of the San Francisco reign and the end of Dallas' heyday (what a shame!).

Thirteen years ago, the 49ers made the play to beat the Cowboys. This time, however, the Cowboys didn't challenge their opponent to win the game — the Pokes beat themselves. Barry Switzer's blunder in Philadelphia, resulting in a loss to the Eagles, might have the same implications for the "Boys as the Montana-to-Clark catch.

With that in mind and plenty of Texans flocking to town for the holidays, let's torture Cowboy fans and ask some local experts what they would have done in the same situation.

The scenario: At your own 29-yard line with the game tied at 17, your team faces a fourth-down-and-one foot to go for a first down. A little more than two minutes are left to play in the game. What's the call?

Les Carter, Ruidoso H.S. football coach, what do you do?

"Punt the ball. Punt it!" Carter emphatically answered. "He (Switzer) is never going to hear the end of that one."

Carter, a self-described defensive-minded coach, added, "You've got to give your defense a chance to win the ballgame. You make them beat you."

Ed Davis, Capitan H.S. football coach, what do you do?

"I would punt. I promise you, I would punt the football," said Davis, a self-proclaimed Dallas fan for "umpteenth-hundred years."

Davis admitted the decision to go for the first down dismayed him. "But people have to understand, Barry's not calling the shots — it's those idiots behind the glass up in the booth."

Sid Wright, Carrizozo H.S. football and basketball coach and ardent Dallas fan, what do you do?

"Go for it. I completely agree with him (Switzer). The only thing I would have done is change the play. I would have faked the hand-off and thrown the ball. They could've scored there," said Wright, who noted the Cowboys play better when they aren't the favored team.

Ben Sanchez, Ruidoso H.S. boys basketball coach and self-proclaimed "huge Dallas Cowboys fan," what do you do?

"Go for it. Now, I don't run the same play two times in a row..." Sanchez qualified (leave that dubious achievement to Barry). Sanchez based his decision on Dallas' offensive line and running back Emmitt Smith, both the best in the business, he said.

Dwayne Rogers, Ruidoso H.S. girls basketball coach, what do you do?

"I say you gotta punt that one. They had not been running the football well the whole half," Rogers said.

"I like, Barry, by the way. I don't like Jerry. Jerry's the guy who is a little too hands on for me," added Rogers, who wouldn't totally reveal his team loyalties.

Rogers did make an excellent point. "You can't lose Jimmy Johnson, Butch Davis, Dave Wannstadt and Norv Turner and expect to be a good ballclub. That's like having head coaches at every position."

Rogers is exactly right. All of those former assistants to Johnson are now head coaches elsewhere.

Davis coaches the University of Miami football team — instead of coaching cowboys, he's coaching outlaws. Turner directs Washington — that's a 180-degree shift in loyalty, from cowboys to Indians. Wannstadt is head coach at Chicago — that team is barely alive after a terrific start. Johnson, meanwhile, gets to grin that silly grin of his and listen as Jerry Jones sings a rendition of Tammy Wynette's "Stand By Your Man."

Norman Cline, Capitan H.S. athletic director, girls basketball coach and Tiger junior high football coach, what do you do?

"As a junior high football coach, I would punt the ball as far as I could. As a loyal Redskins fan, he (Switzer) did exactly what he should have done. Let me put it this way: I feel Barry Switzer is doing a super job, and he needs to stay right where he's at," said Cline, adding, "The Redskins can't beat anybody else — except the Cowboys."

Let's consider women's intuition.

Kim Gremillion, Carrizozo H.S. athletic director and coach of every girls sport at the school (middle school and high school), what do you do?

"Heck no, I don't go for it — not on your own 29-yard-line," said

Gremillion, who favors the Kansas City Chiefs. "I even like Jacksonville better than I like Dallas."

Jauna Sanchez, Ruidoso H.S. volleyball coach and professed Miami Dolphin fan, what do you do?

"I would go for it and throw a long pass for a touchdown," Sanchez said.

Laura Clymer, The Ruidoso News sports reporter and self-proclaimed 49er fanatic, what do you do?

"Try to get that first down. I think Barry made a great call. And to try it two times in a row simply proves what a gridiron genius he really is."

"Thanks Barry, from the bottom of my heart I left in San Francisco when the Niners beat Dallas in the early '80s. Now my beloved 49ers can regain home-field advantage for the playoffs," Clymer said with glee.

'Twas the Night Before Christmas' high school parody winner

Ruidoso High School recently sponsored a contest asking for parodies of the classic "Night Before Christmas" poem.

'Twas the night before Christmas and all through the house, The roaches were feasting on food that was left out. It was three in the morning and I was wide awake. I think it was that last piece of pie that I ate. When all of a sudden I arose with a clatter. Then mom woke up and said, "What is the matter?" I said, "It's my stomach, it just won't be placid." Then she said, "Well, get up and go take some antacid." While visions of sugar plums never entered my head I did think of Christmas and what lay ahead. Mom, Dad, Melissa and I would be leaving at noon With a car full of presents and Merry Christmas tunes. With poinsettias and food all stacked in their place Uncle Bob and all his crew would set the first pace. While out in East Texas and no doubt still asleep, Joe and Cindy were still counting sheep.

But we were all going with one thing in mind, For Christmas at Granny's and to have a good time. And I could see Granny just pacing the floor and guessing the time we'd all walk through the door. But she couldn't stand it so with actions so quick she rivaled the speed of good ole St. Nick. And reached for the phone and with fingers aflutter, she dialed it so fast she could have churned butter. "Merry Christmas, what's happening, why haven't you gone?" As the frost on the grass was just greeting dawn. And Wyatt was straining to see what Santa had left for him under the tree. And MeaMaw and PawPaw were miling no doubt As they watched Granny Faye hurry and scurry about. And there on the floor on her hands and knees, Deanna said, "Which one is for me?" While there at the table with his face all agrim, Pappy sipped his hot coffee, and took it all in. When all had arrived with hug and with kisses we had a big meal and cleaned up the dishes. Then on to the presents with anticipation, excitement and glee, and some apprehension. The wrappings were shredded, like grass in a mower, soms opened them quickly, while others were slower. The presents were wonderful some big and some small, and some wondered if theirs were presents at all. What a wonderful time we all had that year, When we were all together and full of good cheer!

Just one thing more, fore I turn out the light, Merry Christmas to all, and to all a good night!

THE DREAMER

Gladys Knox

Services were held Dec. 18 for Gladys Knox, who was called home by our Lord on Dec. 16.

During her 99 years here on this earth she has been an inspiration to children as a teacher in many parts of America — from her native home in Iowa all the way to the Canal Zone.

She has been a blessing in our lives in Lincoln County since her arrival here in 1946 — almost 50 years.

She and her husband, Rowland K. Knox, brightened the lives of all of us during these years. Like his wife Gladys, Rowland "Scotty" Knox was the very spirit of Christian kindness.

From his garden in his yard he brought flowers to the hospital, and gave away vegetables and strawberries.

The blessings that Gladys and Rowland have brought into our lives will remain with us always.

And we rejoice that Gladys has gone to be reunited with Rowland and other loved ones with our Lord in Heaven.

through the sky. Much of the snow is gone from the sunny side of the vale — swallowed up by the thirsty ground.

Yet on the shady side of the valley, you can see snow waiting under the cedars and pinons — waiting to be covered by the snow of the next storm.

Angel Voices

I am looking forward to Friday evening for the arrival at my house of the young singers of Christmas carols. They go from house to house and bring Christmas blessings, following an ancient tradition handed down to us from time out of mind.

These little angel voices are under the direction of Luz Elva Chavez, music director of the Church of Living Water of San Patricio.

A Blessed Christmas to you and your loved ones

This will reach you on Saturday, the 23rd of December. Therefore, I have one more chance to wish a blessed Christmas to you and your loved ones in this world and in Heaven.

Let us help each other to have a joyful Christmas as we celebrate the birth of our Infant Lord and Saviour.

LINCOLN COUNTY SCRAPBOOK

A glimpse into Lincoln County's past, compiled by Polly E. Chavez with excerpts from John Haley's 1913 Lincoln County Yearbook.

Jeese N. Dawson came to Lincoln County in 1905, residing for a time in Carrizozo. He moved to Capitan in 1912. He married Nellie Kyle of Capitan and they had one son. Dawson, a native of Iowa, was born at Sheridan in 1874. He attended public schools in Chicago. In 1913 he had a farm on the Magado, above Capitan. Dawson's specialty was the production of cauliflower, which he found to be a very profitable crop.

Charles B. Lane came to Lincoln County in 1900, locating at Alto on Eagle Creek. He was engaged in farming and for eight years ran a sawmill at Alto. Lane was a native of the "Sun-flower" state, born in 1868. He and his wife Lurlyne had five children. Lane was a prominent Socialist, being the state organizer of that party and twice a national delegate. He took great interest in all socialistic propaganda, and was a strong advocate of socialistic theories.

Opera singer opens The Enchanted Needle needlepoint shop

by DON HIXON
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Practitioners of the art of needlepoint in England purposely make a mistake in their work because only the queen is allowed perfection.

Debra Funke-d'Egnuff relayed this bit of needlepoint trivia during an interview at The Enchanted Needle, her new needlepoint shop located at 2809-B Sudderth Drive in Ruidoso.

Funke-d'Egnuff has been stitching needlepoint for more than 10 years and has studied both basic and advanced stitching techniques. Much of her training comes from her mother, who owns a needlepoint shop in Florida.

"I have sewn and done numerous crafts, knitting and things like that, since I was a child," she said. "But I got hooked on needlepoint when I did a piece that my mother sent me."

The Enchanted Needle is a full service needlepoint shop carrying all of the supplies necessary for the craft.

The shop stocks hand-painted needlepoint canvases; English tapestry kits; plain canvas for counted needlepoint; various types of fibers including wools, cottons, floss and metallics; scroll and floor frames; stretcher bars; magnifying lamps; tote bags and stitcher's accessories.

"Once someone has actually stitched something, they have to send it off to have it finished — made into pillows and things like that," she said. "Finishing is another aspect of my skill so that I can do finishing in-house."

Needlepoint pillows are probably the best-known result of the craft, but stitchers also create ornaments, belts, rugs, eyeglass cases and more, Funke-d'Egnuff said.

"We have canvases that range from the very traditional things that you would see in old English tapestry books to things that are more modern," she said. "We are carrying a variety, but for the most part we will carry the hand-painted canvases."

Funke-d'Egnuff is also offering needlepoint instruction at The Enchanted Needle. Lessons will range in price from $25 for a two-hour private lesson to $15 for groups of three or more.

"Many men are taking up needlepoint because it is very relaxing," she observed. "Many male opera singers are stitchers."

Funke-d'Egnuff should know, since she is also an accomplished opera singer who has studied in San Francisco, New York, Austria and Germany, and performed throughout the world. She will make her Ruidoso singing debut at the Museum of the Horse on March 9, 1996.

The Enchanted Needle is open from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday, and Saturday by appointment. The phone number is 257-2001.

Stuart Funke-d'Egnuff gets a needlepoint lesson from his wife Debra. The couple owns the new needlepoint shop, The Enchanted Needle.

New Mexico Mortgage Finance Authority approves mortgage financing rate drop

Records are meant to be broken by someone else, but in this case the New Mexico Mortgage Finance Authority (MFA) has broken its own.

After 20 years of providing home loan mortgages to first-time buyers at interest rates substantially below prevailing market rates, the MFA board of directors has approved the release of $28 million for mortgage financing at 6.74%, the lowest rate in MFA's history.

"It is a record milestone for would-be buyers who may not otherwise have had the opportunity to afford the home of their dreams," MFA board chairman Jon Word said.

The current market interest for a 30-year fixed rate mortgage is approximately 7.5%.

"Compare that with the MFA's new rate and the savings is dramatic," he said.

The latest offering of $28 million will benefit approximately 460 homeowners across New Mexico.

"The latest release stresses the commitment of MFA's board to provide working families across the state the opportunity to make the dream of home ownership a reality," Word said.

MFA is the state's legislatively-created and largest housing finance provider for low and moderate income New Mexicans. The additional $28 million is the latest installment in the MortgageSaver program and brings the program total to nearly $120 million for 1995.

The MortgageSaver program offers first-time buyers who are either first-time buyers or have not owned a home in the past three years the chance to finance their homes with loans substantially below current market rates.

MFA does not use state tax dollars. It was created by the state Legislature in 1975 and since then, more than 24,000 families and individuals have purchased homes with MFA funds.

For more information call the MFA at 1-800-444-6880.

RUIDOSO'S NIGHT BEFORE CHRISTMAS

by DON HIXON
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

'Twas the night before Christmas, and the stars were shining bright,
While far, far below,
Ruidoso slept through the night.
The skateboarders were sleeping,
they must be careful you know,
not to offend,
wherever they go.
Mayor Shaw was dreaming
of a vacation cruise,
of Gilligan's Isle
and tropical booze.
Wilton Howell's dreams
were full of banners bright, all inviting Santa
to stop at his house this night.
Roy Parker was dozing,
he runs Ski Apache you know,
hoping the peso would no lower go.
Dave McGary's dream was fitful,
he let out a groan,
dreaming they'd banned Free Spirits,
for not wearing clothes,
Artist Candyea Garrett was snoozing,
her face lit with glee,
dreaming of lots of free publicity.
Village council was dreaming
some tossed and some moaned, dreaming about forming an X-Rated zone.

Downs Mayor Hayhurst,
he's nice and not mean,
was hoping Santa would visit
since his chimney he'd cleaned,
Of the old Stanton fort,
Dub Williams was dreaming,
of ways to get it reopened,
his mind it was scheming.
The Exalted Ruler of the Elks
was snoring and snoring,
without electronic slots,
would the meetings be boring?
Wendell Chino was dreaming of Christmas porridge;
of gambling battles,
and nuclear storage.
Teachers were dreaming
of big salary hikes,
of making as much as the super named Mike.

Sheriff McSwan's dreams were in knots wishing all of the lawsuits would stop.
But lovers of baseball
were dreaming sweet dreams,
hoping to be playing the game
in the spring.

Mister Hubbard was dreaming of a field that was level,

to get it done,
he'll fight like the devil.
The Art and Film Board was dreaming of more ways to promote
new art events galore.
And the committee that worked on the scenic byway was pooped glad they got funding for The Billy the Kid Loop.
The ENMU-Ruidoso folks,
were sleeping so sound,
the move to a big building
might keep local kids around.
When suddenly I was awakened from my slumber so deep,
and when through my shutters
I did finally peep,
What I saw was the strangest thing yet,
Santa and his reindeer barely had missed running into a Lone Star jet,
into bags of pine needles
Santa fell on his fat belly, and looking at me
he smiled and jiggled like jelly.
"Ho, Ho, Ho," Santa said. "Ruidoso is tops.
"In the whole world, it's my favorite stop!"
And I in amazement,
could only but muse,
and say Merry Christmas, Ruidoso, from The Ruidoso News.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

God already gave us perfect gift

TO THE EDITOR:

As the holiday season approaches and everyone is looking for that perfect gift, I would like to remind everyone that God has already given it: eternal life through his son Jesus.

A lot of people seem to have overlooked this and will continue to search in vain. It is beyond me how people can celebrate Christmas and leave out the most important aspect, the birth of our savior Jesus Christ. So please remember as Christmas approaches that perfect gift suitable for yourself or anyone of any age is as close as a prayer — accept Christ as your savior and you will have the perfect gift: eternal life.

Thanks, Dad and others, for making Christmas special

TO THE EDITOR:

As I was hanging Christmas lights all around my family's house this year, it occurred to me to send thanks to my Dad. Through all the many years I took for granted the wonderful job he'd done decorating for us kids.

As I struggled to untangle the cords and check each and every bulb to make sure all the strands of lights worked, climbing up and down ladders and crawling on the roof, I found out what a chore it was.

But my father did it endlessly every year, always smiling and cheerful. And it brought happiness and joy, not only to us, but to those who were less fortunate.

So my special thanks goes out to my father whose countless hours spent decorating not only then, but still now, made this world a much brighter place in this special time of giving. Not only for his children, but for all to enjoy.

I love you dad & thank you!
Also many thanks to all the people who have taken the time to make everyone's lives a little brighter by spending those same countless hours, making this a truly special season.
Merry Christmas.

Please mail fronts of cards to charity St. Jude's project

TO THE EDITOR:

I am interested in helping neglected and abused children located in a home near Las Vegas. They have a project which helps them earn a little pocket money. It's recycling used greeting cards.

Can you alert your readers to send the FRONTS of attractive greeting card to St. Jude's Ranch for Children, 100 St. Jude's St., Boulder City, NV 89005? Donations of cards have dropped in the last several years, and I feel that a mention in your publication would once again get the word out about this worthwhile recycling program.

FAMILY VISION CENTER

Dr. D. Joyce Sonnenmoser
Dr. Anatole F. Gutowski
(505) 257-5029

GLAUCOMA

Glaucoma has been called the "silent killer" of eyesight, because by the time there are noticeable symptoms, it may be too late to save vision. Prompt treatment can prevent further loss of sight, but not restore vision already lost. That is why a test for glaucoma is an important part of routine eye examinations for those over 45. African-Americans are more a risk and may be tested even earlier.

The eye condition causes progressive damage to the optic nerve, often accompanied by increased fluid pressure in the eye. Dr. S. Gutowski and Sonnenmoser's tonometer test, quite painless, measures tension in the eyeball.

Most common is primary, open-angle glaucoma, which usually moves slowly but gives no warning. Drug therapy is usually adequate to treat it, except in advanced cases. Primary, closed-angle glaucoma develops quickly and may cause pain, nausea and blurred vision. It must be treated immediately. Secondary glaucoma can result from an injury or may accompany vascular disease, diabetes or some medications.

Sally is a five-year-old border collie who promises loyalty and companionship with every glance. She's spayed, is sweet, quiet and intelligent. She was wandering without tags on Jerry Shaw Drive.

Cooper, a one-year-old, fawn-color Cocker Spaniel male is neutered and good-natured. He likes to be the center of attention and would do well as the only dog in a family. He was found wandering without tags.

A Hobbs woman, whose small dog nearly died after receiving third degree burns over 40% of its body, is trying to convince the state Legislature to require licenses and training for dog groomers.

Iva Cordero is circulating petitions to be presented to the legislature when it convenes Jan. 16 in Santa Fe.

"Because there are no regulations, if the groomers don't know what they're doing, they can severely injure animals, especially small dogs like Sissie," Cordero said of her two-pound Yorkshire terrier.

"Since my story came out, so many people have called and said similar things have happened to their animals, but they didn't know what to do," she said. "I urge them to at least file a police report as a way for legislators to track the number of complaints."

According to Cordero, Sissie was burned by a pet groomer, possibly by a hair dryer propped near the wet dog while she was trapped inside a cage.

The groomer was charged with cruelty to animals, was ordered to pay Cordero's $2,570 veterinarian bills and told to find a new occupation.

Cordero stayed home from her nursing job for six weeks to care for Sissie, who was on an IV for dehydration and taking pain medication.

"Passing a law is the only way groomers can be required to get training," she said. "Right now all they have to do is buy a business license and set up shop."

An essential step will be to set up a training school in New Mexico, she said.

Sue Rank, who grooms at Mountain View Veterinary Clinic in Ruidoso, said licensing is needed.

"The problem is what will you require and how will you get the training," she said. "In New Mexico, when I started looking around, there wasn't any schooling available other than the person I was replacing training me."

Rank found videotapes and books to hone her craft. She also received guidance working for a veterinarian.

Rank advised pet owners to ask groomers about their training, equipment and procedures.

"The only thing guarding the animals now are their owners," she said. "So don't be shy and always leave your telephone number."

Cordero may be contacted at (505)392-3265 or write 907

Power of Holy Child flows across centuries

*"And the Word became flesh and lived among us, and we have seen his glory, the glory as of a father's only son, full of grace and truth."
— John 1:14 (NRSV)*

Dear Friends,

Early this year I had an opportunity to visit Bethlehem and the traditional site of Jesus' birth. We were told that the stable where the Holy child was laid in a manger was actually a cave. There are many such caves in the area and they were, and still are, used as shelters for livestock by the local farmers.

Today, the Basilica of the Holy Nativity is built around that cave, though one must enter the church by a very low, and rather cave-like, door. Once inside, the high walls show the dim images of those associated with the birth of the Christ.

Legend has it that when the Persians attacked Palestine in the early 7th century, they destroyed all the churches in the Holy Land (many of which were built under the direction of St. Helena, Emperor Constantine's mother) except one — namely the Basilica of the Holy Nativity. It seems that when the Persian generals entered the church, they saw mosaic images like themselves on the walls and assumed that the church was there in honor of Persians!

Thus, the place of our Lord's birth was spared and the Basilica of the Holy Nativity remains as the oldest place of continuous Christian worship in all Christendom. And who were the figures in the mosaics? Of course they represented the Wise Men from the East — most likely from Persia.

So the Eternal son of God was born to a virgin and laid in a manger in a cave and was given gifts by Wise Men, whose commemoration 600 years later saved a church from destruction by pagans. And so the power of the Holy Child flows across the centuries — even to our own day, bringing Life and Peace to a world of Sin and Death.

Have a Blessed Christmas!

Remember the Grinch

In celebrating Christmas, so many people can and do get caught up in the details such as toys, the turkey, the tree and the travel, that the bigger picture can be missed.

I sometimes think of the Grinch who stole Christmas. He stole the details from the people, but his heart changed when he realized that Christmas is about much more. May God help us to remember the bigger picture, so that the true Spirit of Christmas may change our hearts.

Merry Christmas

Let Christians unite in common holiday bond

Christmas is a season for new beginnings. The annual celebration of the birth of Jesus Christ gives focus to the truth of 'God with us.' Many individuals will encounter the wonder of God's presence and renew commitment, while some will for the first time experience the majesty of God's perfect love. Congregations of Christians will be revitalized, and some will find new purpose in the message of Christmas.

Once again the different traditions and bodies of Christianity will be exposed to the common bond from which they all have come. The renewal of acquaintance with a common ancestry, common spiritual gene pool, and common history offers another opportunity for a new beginning. Those standing before the first manger were as different as animals, shepherds, angels, and magi. Their togetherness and unity before the 'Babe of Bethlehem' was a new beginning. Christmas renews its call for Christianity to lay aside the differences which divide and separate, by returning to its common bond of Jesus Christ.

The Advent themes of Hope, Peace, Joy and Love are delivered in the birth of Jesus Christ. While Christians everywhere are aware of hope and peace, joy and love, it remains necessary for a new beginning before the words may become reality. The Christmas season is an opportunity for Christianity to overcome the traditions that divide, in the Spirit of the one who unites.

The blessing of Christmas 1995 awaits the testimony of Christianity in the days and months after Christmas — the testimony to one God, one Christ, one church and the unity of all Christians in praise and honor of the 'Babe of Bethlehem.'

Set aside silent time

Christmas in Ruidoso is different from many other places. It can be one of the busiest times of the year. Our community fills with people who have gathered to ski, shop and enjoy a celebration in the mountains.

It becomes all the more important for those of us who live here year 'round to take the time to remember the true purpose of the season. The title "Prince of Peace" takes on extra meaning. As we remember our troops around the world, it becomes our most sincere prayer. Yet, as we ready ourselves for the hectic pace of the next couple of weeks, it becomes a course of conduct.

Jesus' birth was not, on earth, a widely heralded event at the time. It was known only to Mary and Joseph, a few shepherds, and later the magi. We imagine the setting as a truly quiet and peaceful time — a "Silent Night." It was into this silence that the Savior was born.

Today it is still within the quiet and silent times that Christ is born into the hearts of believers. In the midst of the flurry of activity of this time, take a moment and take a deep breath and remember the Prince of Peace.

Pastor of Community United Methodist Church, Ruidoso

This is actually 2,000th year since Christ's birth

Most people know that the calendar we follow is based on the birth of Jesus. That is why dates are counted as "B.C." — that is, "Before Christ," and "A.D." — the first letters for the Latin "Anno Domini," which means "year of our Lord." Yet, when our calendar was set up centuries ago, the calculation was not made correctly. It turns out that Jesus was not born in the year 1 A.D. as we might think.

The Gospels of Matthew and Luke tell us that Jesus was born while Herod the Great was still king of Judah; Herod died in April of 4 B.C., according to our present calendar. Historians and theologians, studying both secular historical records and Biblical records, have concluded that the birth of Christ took place between the years 7 and 4 B.C., with 5 B.C. being the most likely year.

Since the year of 1995 A.D. is probably the 2,000th anniversary of our Savior's birth in Bethlehem, it means that the year's Christmas celebration is unique. As we pass such a milestone in the life of the Christian Church, how should we be celebrating? Certainly not in the commercialized worldly celebration so characteristic of our society. Instead we focus upon the real meaning of this season...the birth of Jesus Christ as our Savior for the forgiveness of our sins! As we commemorate the 2,000th year since the birth of Christ, come worship with us at Shepherd of the Hills Lutheran Church, 1210 Hull Road, Ruidoso.
