ON THE SIDE

Another sign of the times

"Welcome to the homelands of the Mescalero Apache Tribe" announces a new sign on the north side of the Mescalero Inn in Ruidoso.

The billboard was erected 10 days ago, about the same time an application to add the 7.4 acres of land to the tribe's reservation trust was sent to the Bureau of Indian Affairs' Albuquerque office.

A BIA decision has yet to be made about the land, which village officials want to keep, but the sign went up anyway.

"We're aware of it and we're pondering it, among other things," said village planning director Cleatus Richards.

Permits are needed for business signs in the village, as they are for some political signs. The tribe's sign is considered political, he said.

Just how to deal with the premature boundary line sign is being looked into by the village attorney.

"This is a new body of law that the ink hasn't dried on yet," said Gary Jackson, village manager.

Case closed on death of Ruidoso Downs woman

A Ruidoso Downs woman died from a fatal mixture of drugs, the state medical examiners office reported May 30.

The New Mexico Office of the Medical Investigator determined Deanne Perry, who died in February, suffered from the ingestion or injection of "combined morphine and ethanol poisoning."

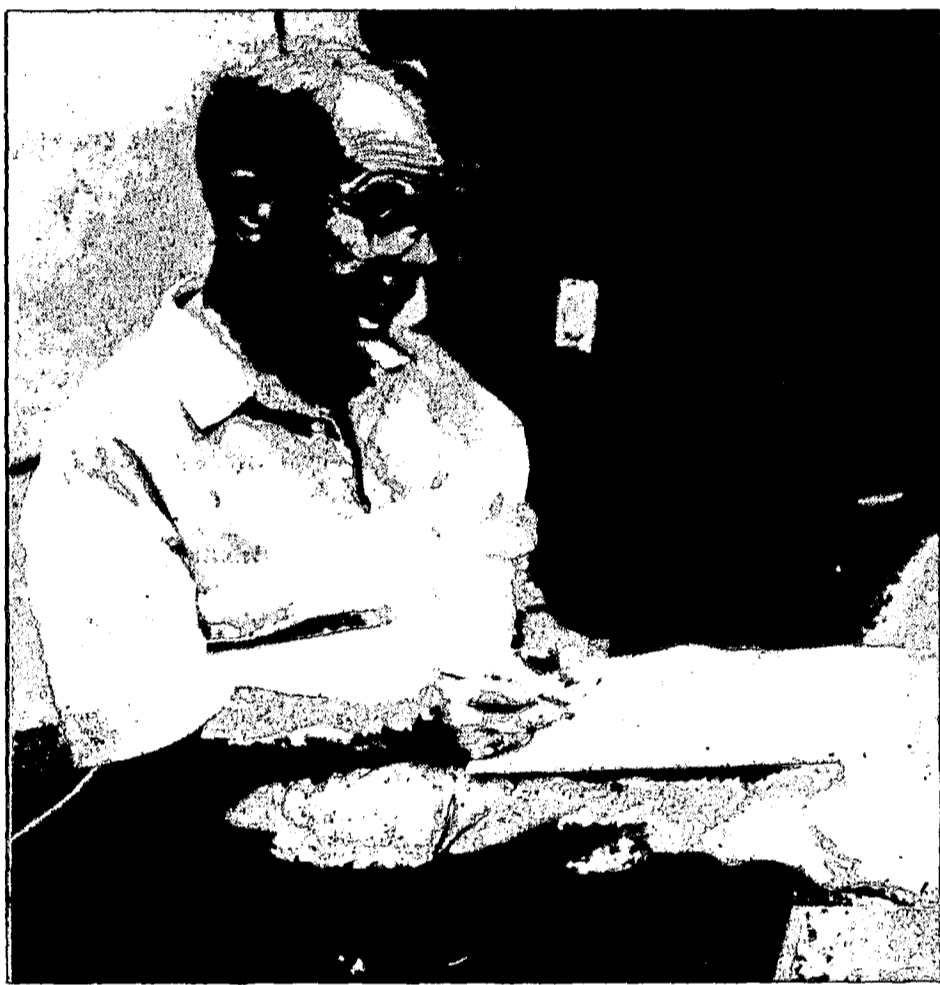

Ruidoso Downs police officers Ray Montes and Alex Hinson along with medical personnel were dispatched to 206 South Parnell because Perry was not breathing at about 8:44 p.m. February 18. Perry was transported to Lincoln County Medical Center, where she was pronounced dead of unknown causes.

Without any other evidence concerning the case, the file on Deanne Perry has been closed, said Chris Condon, Ruidoso Downs police detective.

Sullivan wins GOP sheriff's bid

By a slim 12 votes, Lincoln County Republicans picked Tom Sullivan Tuesday to run against Democrat Ralph Romero in the November general election for sheriff.

Because the wrong tally sheet was sent to County Clerk Martha Proctor in Carrizozo from a precinct in Ruidoso, the final total was delayed by about 1.5 hours while the top two candidates held their breath.

Sullivan was leading deputy Orlando Montes by four votes, but had been behind Montes at one point. The two emerged on top out of a crowded field of eight running in the primary.

"I'm a nervous wreck," Sullivan said after the final tally gave him 24% of the vote compared with Montes' 23%. "At one point I had a 100 vote lead, then Ruidoso Downs came in where I knew Montes would be strong."

He won't change his campaign strategy for the general election, Sullivan said.

"But I will be sure I contact a lot more people," he said. "I'm glad its over for now and I can go home and go to bed. I have to drive to Grants in the morning (where he works as corrections administrator)."

Sullivan served two terms as sheriff in the 1980s.

Montes said he thought his biggest opponent would be former Ruidoso police chief Dick Swenor.

"I never dreamed Tom would be my competition," he said. "I thought I would do better than that, but nobody went to vote. We tried. We chased a lot of people, but 12 votes is like 1,200 in the end."

Although tied for bottom of the pack with Connie Hopper, head sheriff's dispatcher Johnnie Johnson kept his sense of humor.

"In politics, you never know what's going to happen," he said. "Anything would have been a surprise with this many running. The only thing I wonder about is my 86 votes with 2,000 promises."

"It's been Tom and Orlando all night with Swenor and (Undersheriff Bob) Miller probably third and fourth. Tom's hair has turned gray just standing here."

Johnson said he's ready to try for public office again.

"I enjoy politics," he said. "I believe there are no losers, just some get more votes than others."

Connie Hopper, a former Roswell motorcycle police officer and Lincoln County deputy, was the lone woman in the pack.

"I not sure what it was" that failed to draw voters to her candidacy, Hopper said. She'll continue with her job as county emergency services coordinator.

The final tallies weren't available until 10:15 p.m. because of the delay caused by the Ruidoso precinct. Despite that, County Clerk Martha Proctor said the election went smoothly.

Most of the telephone calls to her office concerned how to handle write-in candidates or questions about why voters, who didn't specify a Republican, Democratic or Green Party affiliation, couldn't vote in the primaries.

"A lot of them said they can mark 'decline to state' a party in Texas and still vote in the primaries, but New Mexico has a closed party system," Proctor said.

All votes totals are unofficial until they are certified Friday by the County Commission.

Howell pulls away in commission race

□ County Clerk calls
34% voter turnout
'pretty good.'

Republican voters returned incumbent Wilton Howell to the Lincoln County Commission Tuesday.

They nominated Commissioner Stirling Spencer to run for probate judge and chose political newcomer Rex Wilson to take his place on the commission.

The 34% showing of 9,803 registered voters in the county wasn't disappointing to County Clerk Martha Proctor, who predicted about 40%.

"I think it's a pretty good percentage considering there were few contested races in the Democratic party and this was the first time without a purge (eliminating non-active voters from eligibility rolls)," Proctor said.

Nearly 46% of the eligible 5,275 Republican voters cast ballots compared with 26% of the registered 3,400 Democratic voters and 11% of the Green Party.

Howell won a second term on the commission by collecting 60% of the votes in precincts six and eight, which make up District 3 on the commission.

His opponent, former commissioner and state representative Ben Hall received 166 votes or 40%.

"I feel like I won a combination of the lottery and a trip to Disneyland, because I enjoy being a commissioner," Howell said from a small celebration at Cree Meadows Country Club. "Hall is a formidable opponent. He's been here a long time and served as commissioner and representative."

"The last couple of years, I kept my feet on the ground, but now it looks like I will be more aggressive. I'm excited about the people supporting me."

At one point, Howell led by just one vote. During the evening, Howell and Hall swapped the lead several times in one of several cliffhanger races.

In commission district one, Republican Rex Wilson bested his opponent Jimmie Luna, a sheriff's deputy, with 65% of the vote compared with Luna's 35%.

A disappointed Luna said he has no plans to run for public office again, having lost a bid four years ago for sheriff and now his run for the commission.

"They know him and they know me and they just made the decision they felt was best," Luna said. "He's a nice man and I'll help him and the Republican Party any way I can."

Neither Republican winner faces a Democratic challenge.

In the race for probate judge, incumbent Republican J. O. "Bud" Payne and his primary challenger Stirling Spencer, a county commissioner, were tied two or three times before Spencer pulled away with 52% of the votes.

Spencer still faces a tough race in November when he will square off against Democrat Jack Johnson, who currently is Capitan municipal judge.

Contacted at his ranch in Carrizozo, Spencer said he had been out feeding cattle all day and hadn't seen the totals.

"If I wake up in the morning and I'm the man, I'll be out there campaigning to show people the interest I can bring the office and to

Judge deals Casino Apache a bust

by KATHLEEN McDONALD

Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Gambling at the Mescalero Apache Tribe's casino is illegal because state legislators didn't approve the governor's compact with the tribe, a federal court judge ruled Monday.

And because Johnson overstepped his authority, the compact is void, Chief District Judge John E. Conway ruled at the hearing in Santa Fe.

"The judge made it very clear yesterday (Monday) that the governor has no authority to bind the state of New Mexico with the compacts, and that the compacts are in nullity, meaning they do not exist," related state Attorney General Tom Udall.

The U.S. Attorney has the authority to shut the casino's doors unless the U.S. District Court grants the tribe a stay of enforcement, Udall said.

The U.S. Attorney "can have the FBI go to the reservation to seize the machines if he chose to," Udall said.

Gambling opponents who joined in the lawsuit as "friends of the court" hailed Conway's ruling as a break in the "log jam" of legal actions created by the federal government and tribes.

Monday's ruling only applies to the compact with the Mescalero Apache, but Udall said he wants it applied to identical gambling compacts signed by Johnson and 13 other tribes.

Arguments over whether those compacts are legal will be heard June 18 and 19 in a suit pending in U.S. District Court. That case was filed by nine other tribes.

"When the legal issues are clear, it will be up to the governor and the Legislature to deal with the political issue, or for the U.S. Attorney to enforce the law," Udall said.

U.S. Attorney John Kelly is waiting for the written decision before issuing a statement on how he'll proceed with the ruling, press secretary Ron Lopez said. Conway's ruling is expected to be put in writing at the end of the week, Udall said.

"The point is, under the federal law, you can't have gambling without a compact first, and without a compact this is a felony crime, which is what we've been saying for a year," said attorney Victor Marshall, who made arguments at the hearing as an "amicus" or friend of the court.

dian gambling compacts were ruled invalid, and a 1994 suit that overturned voter approval of Amendment 8 for logging a state lottery question with video gaming.

The lawsuit was originally filed by the Mescalero Apache Tribe against former Gov. Bruce King for refusing to negotiate a gambling compact.

Gov. Gary Johnson approved a compact with the tribe two months after King left office. The state Attorney General's office then filed a counterclaim to the tribe's lawsuit, asking the court to clarify whether the compact is legal.

In his ruling, Conway referred to a July state Supreme Court ruling that Johnson lacked the authority to sign the compacts without the Legislature's approval. The judge also referred to U.S. Department of the Interior Secretary Bruce Babbitt's comment that a compact is only valid if entered into by the appropriate officials. Babbitt signed off on the compacts between Johnson and New Mexico tribes.

After Monday's ruling, Mescalero President Wendell Chino told reporters the tribe would appeal. But when asked Tuesday if the tribal council plans to file an appeal, he said, "I don't know. The council hasn't told me anything, so that answers your question."

BIA favors meeting about annexation

by KATHLEEN McDONALD
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Bureau of Indian Affairs officials want the Mescalero Apache Tribe and Ruidoso officials to hold a meeting about the tribe's proposed annexation of the Mescalero Inn property in Ruidoso.

"It would be nice, advisable, if the tribe wants to put the land in trust, to see if some of the objections can be addressed in some manner," said Parker Sando, a realty specialist with the BIA area office.

However, discussions aren't necessary for the annexation application to be approved by the BIA, Sando said, and the BIA's decision is expected by the end of this week. The application was filed about two months ago.

Ruidoso officials have asked Mescalero President Wendell Chino in writing for a meeting, but haven't received a yes or nay.

Village officials objected to the annexation proposal by filing a 16-page response with legal and jurisdiction arguments.

New BIA area director Rob Barker asked Sando to find out if the tribe is willing to meet with Ruidoso officials, before the BIA issues its decision.

"Since (Barker) is new here, he wants to make sure it's all done right," Sando explained.

Other issues being analyzed are: — the proposal's compliance with the National Environmental Policy Act;

— village concerns about the Mescalero Inn's link to its water supply;

— and compliance with BIA regulations for land acquisitions.

The latter issue was raised by the village in its 16-page argument to the BIA against the annexation.

Ruidoso assistant attorney Chay Rennick cited a recent U.S. Court of Appeals ruling that Congress inappropriately delegated the authority to add land to an Indian reservation to the U.S. Department of the Interior.

To address that ruling, the Interior Department put out a new regulation in April that gives counties and villages involved in annexation disputes more time to argue positions, Sando said.

However, "That decision just applied to the Eighth District (Court of Appeals), which we're not a part of, so we can proceed," Sando said.

Tribal council representatives told Ruidoso officials that a revised utility plan for the Mescalero Inn property would be submitted to the village this week, Village Manager Gary Jackson said Tuesday.

The plan relates to the replat of the property, which the tribe had requested last fall. The replat was never reviewed by the Ruidoso Planning and Zoning Commission because the application was incomplete.

A replat is necessary because part of the land and utilities under the Mescalero Inn have common ownership with Carrizo Lodge Condominium owners.

The BIA is still trying to figure whether allegations the tribe is illegally selling alcohol at the Mescalero Inn would affect the annexation application. While another BIA official earlier said that isn't an issue, Sando said it might be.

Chino, Ruidoso officials respond via mail

Mescalero Apache President Wendell Chino didn't react fondly to the way his tribal council was invited to meet with the Ruidoso Village Council.

The village council asked its attorney to write Chino in April, requesting a meeting about the tribe's proposal to make the Mescalero Inn part of its reservation.

"If the village of Ruidoso wants to have a joint meeting with the tribal council, the mayor, being a representative head of the village, should address a letter to me requesting a joint meeting," Chino responded April 24. "I believe this is how the world of diplomacy works."

He also stated, "We also noted from The Ruidoso News the Ruidoso City Council desires a meeting with the Mescalero Apache Tribal Council and this is fine. However, we do not believe that it is proper and professional to expect us to convene a meeting with you based on a newspaper article. Neither do we believe that the city's legal counsel should attempt to convene a meeting with the Tribal Council."

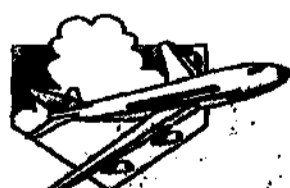

Chino indicated he and tribal councilors would be busy until around May 7 dealing with issues surrounding recent wildfires on the reservation.

Mayor Jerry Shaw wrote Chino back, stating, "Let me assure you that we meant no disrespect to you or members of the tribal council by our village attorney writing the letter requesting this meeting on behalf of our governing body."

Shaw suggested meeting around May 20, about the time she returned from a short trip.

Watering restrictions eased, but officials ask for discretion

Ruidoso residents with odd-numbered addresses can legally water their lawns between 8 p.m. tonight and 8 a.m. Thursday, for the first time this year.

But village officials are pleading with people to only use the water for two hours.

"If faucets run all night long through half the town, it will be a problem," Village Manager Gary Jackson said.

The watering is being allowed because the village has new wells, and a five million gallon water tank is back in operation after repairs.

Those with even-numbered homes will get their chance to water starting Wednesday, June 19 during the same hours.

The watering is being allowed under the new phase four of the village's water contingency plan. Councilors last week added two phases to the plan to create a total of five.

Water levels at the village's two reservoirs and at its two five-million-gallon storage tanks trigger the different phases. Wells and spring runoff into the Alto reservoir also are factors.

Phase four will allow outdoor watering at odd-numbered addresses on the first and third Wednesdays of the month between 8 p.m. and 8 a.m. on the second and fourth Wednesdays at even-numbered addresses.

Code enforcement will be beefed up to make sure residents comply, officials said. If too many violations are recorded, the village will revert to phase five and no watering will be allowed, officials said.

Violations of the outdoor water use restrictions will result in citations and possible fines, upon the second offense.

The other new phase, phase three, allows outdoor watering once a week. Phase two allows watering every other day. Phase one allows watering at any time, but includes public education about water conservation.

Fond farewell

Ruidoso school district employee Donnie Weems receives a goodbye hug from a friend during the teacher's retirement party Thursday. Weems was with the district for 21 years.

Lee Onsrud

Memorial service for Lee Phillip Onsrud, 69, of Oscura will be at 10 a.m. Saturday, June 8, at the Nogal Presbyterian Church. Officiating will be the Revs. Don and Marjorie Daniels.

Mr. Onsrud died Friday, May 31, at Lincoln County Medical Center in Ruidoso. He was born July 19, 1926 at Stoughton, Wis. to Julia and Edon Onsrud. He retired from the Air Force as a Master Sergeant serving in World War II, Korea and Vietnam. He was a Mason and Shriner and a member of the Nogal Presbyterian Church. He moved to Oscura in 1987 from the Sun Valley-Alto area, where he had lived for 17 years.

He married Eloise Helms on Nov. 11, 1989 at Milagro Springs Ranch at Oscura.

He is survived by his wife Eloise of Oscura; two sons, Stuart Onsrud of Windham, N.H., and Phil Onsrud of Captain; a daughter, Barbara O'Connor of North Pole, Ala.; three stepsons, Roy Helms of Lubbock, Texas, Dave Helms of Fairbanks, Ala. and Larry Helms of Las Cruces; and several grandchildren, great grandchildren, nieces and nephews.

The family has requested memorials to the Shriner's Crippled Children's Hospital.

Morris Redmann

A memorial service for Morris John Redmann, 81, of Ruidoso will be at 2 p.m. Saturday, June 8, in LaGrone Funeral Chapel in Ruidoso. Officiating will be the Rev. Dave Bergs of Carrizozo.

Mr. Redmann died Monday, June 3, at his home. He was born July 25, 1914 at Plaquemine Parish, La. to Josephine and Joseph Redmann. He moved to Ruidoso in 1956 from Roswell, where he had lived since 1950 when he moved there from Georgia. When he moved to Ruidoso he began Redmann's T.V. Repair service. He was a member of the Catholic Church and Ruidoso Elk's Lodge.

He married Emma Rushing on Feb. 18, 1939 at New Orleans, and she preceded him in death on Jan. 5, 1989.

He is survived by two daughters, Linda A. Thompson and Sue Lewallen, both of Ruidoso, and a sister, Mary Ellen Redmann of LaCombe, La.; six grandchildren and 14 great-grandchildren.

The family has requested memorials to the American Heart Association or to the American Cancer Society.

First thunder a welcome awakening for the Hondo Valley from its slumber

The First Thunder

The very light rain that came in to the vale about two weeks ago was quiet; it just crept up over the hill without the warning of thunder.

Then just after noon about 2 o'clock, the wind was out of the northeast and the clouds that covered the sky in the early morning began to reappear. They were gray over the southeast and also toward the northwest.

I went outside to watch the clouds moving in overhead and thought I heard a very faint rumble. Is this true, or am I dreaming here in broad daylight?

There it sounds again, in the clouds away to the northwest.

Soon you could hear this steady drumbeat moving closer along with the white-tipped clouds.

I called up Ralph Dunlap over in Lincoln and asked if it was raining. He said, "Not yet. But it's raining over toward Fort Stanton, I think."

Then he said: "Now it is raining here. I can hear it on the roof."

All the slumberers seemed to awaken out of its dreamy stupor of shimmering heat-parched drought as the gray clouds moved in over the western hill, announcing their approach with peals of thunder, each one a little louder than the last.

Soon a dark purple-gray cloud appeared directly over the vale and the thunder boomed, resounding from hillside to hillside. The words of the old favorite spiritual song came to mind:

*My Lord calls me
He calls me by the thunder
The trumpet sounds
Within-a my soul.*

Just after this reverberating signal from the cloudy sky, the drops came pattering down, beating a tattoo on the cedars and junipers and raising small clouds of dust from the road in front of the house, and pitter-pattering on the leaves of the apricot trees.

Right away the smell of the rain falling on dry grass and dry twigs of cedar and pinon reached you on the light eastern breeze, like a heavenly benediction, while the cool drops gave the world new life.

Soon you were in a new world with the rain falling down all around you, and gray and purple streamers extending down over the hill to the south, up the valley toward the mountain; and over toward Lincoln and Carrizozo.

Mother Earth's prayer of thanks sent a responding prayer into your heart.

A Second Day of Rain Clouds

And now, a half-hour after high noon, the skies above are offering the second act of yesterday's thunder-cloud-rain pageant.

With clouds coming over the hill in the exact same spot, the first small drops come shining down upon the thirsty land.

Let us all rejoice and thank the Lord for the rain and all our other many blessings.

A state of division

Mescalero Apache President Wendell Chino was a man of few words after Federal District Judge John E. Conway ruled Monday that casino gaming on the reservation is illegal.

Chino told reporters the tribe probably will appeal the ruling to Denver's U. S. Circuit Court because "once we get out of New Mexico, we have a better shot."

And nobody is surprised that at Casino Apache it was business as usual come Tuesday.

A legal appeal is a tried and true way to keep on doing whatever you've been doing while lawyers drum up more evidence in an effort to tip the balance.

Certainly New Mexico's record in dealing with the issue is nothing to be proud of, unless you love political gridlock and totally despise gambling.

Three governors ago, in 1989, the Mescaleros sought to negotiate gaming compacts with Gov. Garry Carruthers. Nothing happened, so electronic games continued at Mescalero and Sandia.

In 1991 the U. S. attorney threatened to shut down the electronic games, but didn't. Later that year, Gov. Bruce King was presented with negotiated compacts, but refused to sign.

In 1992, the tribe and Sandia Pueblo filed court actions because of King's refusal to sign, and Judge Conway dismissed them.

In 1993, a federal magistrate quashed subpoenas by a federal grand jury seeking seven tribes' gambling records.

In 1994, another U. S. attorney signed non-prosecution deals with eight casino gaming tribes, pending a resolution of the issue.

In 1995, Johnson signed compacts with 12 tribes, the state supreme court ruled them void under state law, Interior Secretary Bruce Babbitt said he thought they were legal under federal law but the Justice Department was studying them, the tribes started lobbying the legislature, the U. S. attorney pushed for voluntary closing of the casinos and the tribes refused.

In 1996, the legislature spent most of a short session debating the issue without action, the U. S. attorney said the federal compacts remain in effect but the Indian casinos are illegal because state law doesn't permit them, the Jicarilla Apaches opened the state's 11th tribal casino, and Judge Conway dumped the Mescalero compact as illegal.

Are you surprised that Wendell Chino would want a new venue?

POLICY

The Ruidoso News encourages letters to the editor, especially about local topics and issues.

Each letter must be signed and must include the writer's daytime telephone number and address. The phone number and street or mailing address will not be printed, however the author's hometown will be included. The telephone number will be used to verify authorship. People made Torch Run great success

TO THE EDITOR:

I would like to take this opportunity to thank the people of Lincoln County as the coordinator for the Lincoln County leg of the New Mexico Law Enforcement Torch Run. It has been a real privilege to serve in that capacity. The Torch Run was a huge success and was able to raise a substantial amount of contributions for Special Olympics.

I would especially like to thank all the runners and bicyclists that took the time and effort to make this leg work so smoothly. This was for the kids and you people made it a success for them.

The support that was displayed by the public throughout the run was amazing. People were coming out on their porches and the front of their businesses and waving the participants on. It was definitely heart warming.

The employers and law enforcement agencies that allowed their personnel the time off to participate, we thank you. Also the many people, organizations and businesses that donated money and time, it would not have worked without you.

There are too many people to list them individually, that deserves recognition. This was the only way that I felt it could be done adequately. A special thank you to my employer for allowing me the time to put into this worthwhile effort, the Village of Ruidoso Police Department.

Again Lincoln County, thank you for a job well done.

Anti-gaming Buffett makes money off gaming

TO THE EDITOR:

The Pueblo of Pojoaque salutes anti-Indian gaming, scalot George Buffett.

After our extensive business dealings with New Mexico Representative George Buffett, his attorney recently requested to know where our money comes from and where it goes.

Here's a partial summary: The Pueblo of Pojoaque, owner of the Cities of Gold and Pojoaque Pueblo Enterprise Corporation, deals with the honorable Representative and his wife's company, B&H Company, Inc., on a monthly basis. PTE's Santa Fe Downs also deals with B&H Company, Inc. on a monthly basis. Our transactions generate almost $50,000 annually for Mr. and Mrs. Buffett.

And isn't that what this whole anti-Indian gaming issue is about — making money and creating jobs? The Pueblo of Pojoaque and PTE want to make money, keep horse racing and create jobs. Mr. Buffett and his gang want to take away horse racing and jobs from northern New Mexico. But Mr. Buffett and his wife seem happy to get a little of that gaming money on the side for as long as gaming lasts. After all, he wants to keep HIS employees employed.

Well, Mr. Buffett, here is all the Pueblo has to say publicly: We plan to continue doing business with you for as long as we can both make money. After all, we're both just taking a page from your Republican forefather, President "silent Cal" Coolidge, who wisely advised that the business of America is business.

And, Mr. Buffett, we note with glee that the Cities of Gold is not the first gaming concern that you've dealt with. A cursory glance at your 1994 contributors reveals that Lady Luck Gaming Finance Corp. came across with a contribution. And then we also discovered that the bastion of morality — Chapter II Lounge of Albuquerque — also came across with a few bucks.

Mr. Buffett, the Pueblo salutes you. In the grandest tradition of politics, you've found a way to be against gaming while making a pretty penny for yourself. Congratulations.

Cartoon was rude and tasteless

TO THE EDITOR:

Ron Brown was the first cabinet officer to die in office in some 50 years. On the day of his funeral, and of many of the others who died in an unfortunate accident with him, you chose to print a tasteless, rude cartoon. Shame on you!

We have a society today, young and old, that respects very little. You have chosen to contribute to that sad situation with your editorial choice on the cartoon.

I hope that you will give this letter a small part of the column space you chose to give a cartoon that insulted a public servant and his survivors, who died serving our country. Will you be printing offensive cartoons about our enlisted soldiers who die in Bosnia and elsewhere?

Ruidoso schools bid farewell to longtime employees

by PAMELA CROMWELL
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

The largest group of retirees ever to leave Ruidoso Municipal Schools in a single year bid a bittersweet farewell to colleagues, parents, and students Thursday. Most of the retirees have served the district for more than 20 years.

Superintendent Mike Gladden was master of ceremonies, thanking Ed Branch, Bob Arnett, Shirley Neuhaus, Judy Radtke, Kathy Weems, Donnie Weems, Eddie Parker, and Betty Day for their uncommon devotion to education in Ruidoso.

Ed Branch worked for five years as a head custodian, first at Ruidoso High School, then at Sierra Vista Primary. Gladden commended Branch on taking pride in the school's image.

"Ed taught me that if you tape steel wool to the toes of your shoes, it's easier to get those black marks off the floor," Gladden said.

Bob Arnett worked seven years as head custodian at Ruidoso Middle School. Mike Gladden was middle school principal at the time

Arnett started.

"This is the man who was never unwilling to do anything," Gladden said.

Shirley Neuhaus is retiring after 15 years as a bilingual teacher in the district. Gladden applauded her for making a "tremendous impact" on the lives of students who couldn't speak English.

For 21 years, Judy Radtke was the Ruidoso High School librarian. Gladden said Radtke was responsible for computerizing the school libraries and that her influence was visible in every aspect of RHS's library.

Husband and wife Don and Kathy Weems retired together after 21 years in the Ruidoso district. Kathy Weems has taught kindergarten, fourth grade, third grade, seventh grade, and eighth grade during her career.

"A good teacher can teach at any level," Gladden said, "and Kathy has proven herself an excellent teacher regardless of her grade placement."

Don Weems is probably the "most-transferred" educator in the district, having taught at White Mountain Elementary, then serving as principal at Nob Hill Early Childhood Development Center, White Mountain Elementary, White Mountain Intermediate, Ruidoso High School, and finally Sierra Vista Primary.

Gladden said Weems' motto is, "Wherever the district needs me, that's where I'll go."

Eddie Parker reminisced about episodes on student trips during his 22 years as marketing teacher and DECA sponsor at Ruidoso High School. Gladden said Parker's achievements were too numerous to name.

"Eddie Parker is a legend among DECA teachers in New Mexico," Gladden said. "No one has the record he has."

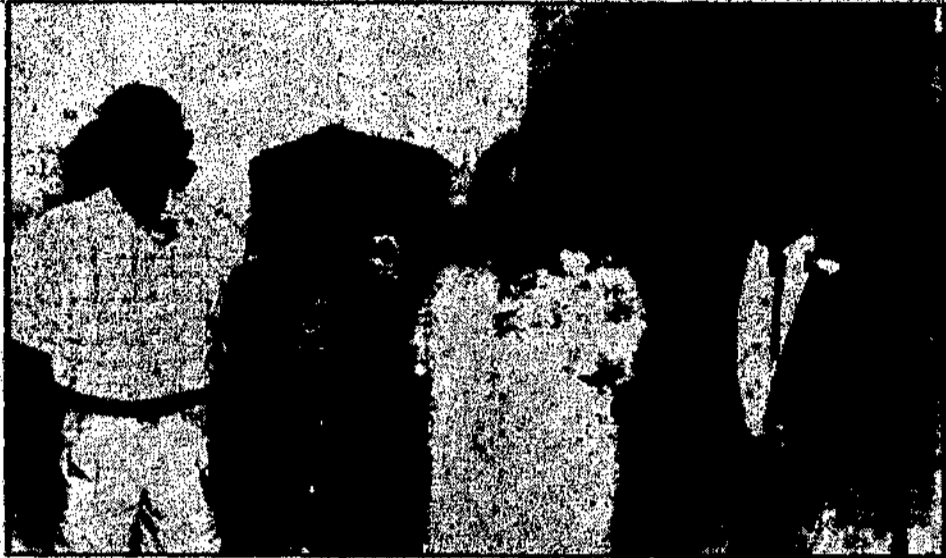

Finally, Betty Day crowned the list of retirees with 25 years as an art teacher in Ruidoso schools. She worked mainly with elementary students. Day is considered the expert in teaching art techniques, Gladden said.

"She is always extremely happy," Gladden said, "and I never heard a word of criticism from her."

At a dinner held in their honor at the Museum of the Horse in Ruidoso Downs, retirees accepted commemorative Nambé trays as gifts from the school district. Dinner was provided by Ruidoso Middle School FFA students.

Gladden closed the evening with thanks and well-wishing for the retirees.

"We are happy for the opportunity to be your colleagues," he said. "May social security remain solid, and may you sleep late on Aug. 19."

Theater workshops for kids coming up

Ruidoso Little Theatre is offering theater workshops for children during the first half of June.

The children's play "Good-bye to the Clown," scheduled for performance June 20-22, will be produced entirely by young people.

The workshops are free to children of all ages interested in learning more about theatre, and parents are encouraged to attend. Children should wear work clothes that can be marked or stained by paint and make-up.

Workshop Schedule

Set building and design: 5-7 p.m. Wednesday, June 5
Program and poster design: 5-7 p.m. Thursday, June 6
Stage props workshop: 5-7 p.m. Friday, June 7
Hair and make-up: 5-7 p.m. Wednesday, June 12
Costumes workshop: 5-7 p.m. Thursday, June 13
Lighting and sound: 5-7 p.m. Friday, June 14

Learn geology of our mountain oasis

Eastern New Mexico University of Ruidoso is offering a course in physical geology for the 1996 summer session.

Taught by Johnny Hughes, the course is designed primarily for non-science majors and students with no prior background in geology.

The course will explain the geologic processes that formed the earth, and it will emphasize the geology of the Ruidoso area to explain why our mountain oasis exists as it does.

Late registration ends at 5 p.m. today, June 5. Call ENMU at 257-2120.

Local students win ACT Scholar prize

The New Mexico State Department of Education, in cooperation with the ACT Corporation, has awarded 1995-96 ACT Scholar Certificates to seven area graduating seniors. From Ruidoso High School, Shannon W. Gray, Melissa K. Miller, and Anthony E. Trujillo were named ACT Scholars.

From Capitan High School, Nathan W. Longbottom, Neil G. Montes, Sherry A. Palco, and Jaylan A. Ware were named ACT Scholars.

ACT Scholars achieve an ACT composite score of 27 or higher and a high school grade point average of 3.5 or better. About 5% of all graduating seniors in New Mexico received an ACT Scholar Certificate.

Last chance to sign up for summer sessions at college

Late registration has begun at the Ruidoso Center of Eastern New Mexico University for June and July sessions of undergraduate, upper division, and graduate classes.

Openings are still available in many credit and community education classes. Anyone interested in registering should come by the college office at 709 Mechem between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m., or call 257-2120 for phone registration and more information.

Schedule

For Session I, June 3-28, late registration ends 5 p.m. Wednesday, June 5.
For Session II, July 8-Aug. 2, late registration ends 5 p.m. Wednesday, July 10.
For Extended Session, June 3-Aug. 2, late registration ends 5 p.m. Friday, June 7.

Summer class hits the trails Billy the Kid once rode

by PAMELA CROMWELL
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

The infamous William Bonney and his gang of Regulators covered some pretty serious territory during the Lincoln County War. Part of that territory is covered again in Eastern New Mexico University's course called "High Country Trail-ride," alias, "The Billy the Kid Trail Ride."

The class is limited to 15 people, and you must furnish your own horse or mule. The ride begins Saturday, July 27, and ends Wednesday, July 31. Riders start off at Nogal Mesa and head west toward the Helen Rae Mine, then into the White Mountain Wilderness.

During the five-day tour, students will not only learn the ins and outs of recreational trailriding, but they will also study history, pueblo archeology, botany, and geology. The class leader is Trail Boss Bill Thorpe.

Thorpe is a biologist, Lincoln County historian, and rancher. He'll show students how to identify wildflowers and rocks. He'll share native folklore and stories, plus the history of Native Americans and Western Americana.

Randy Bowen, veteran livestock operator, will assist Thorpe as campfire cook and all-around handyman.

Students will also learn wilderness survival and proper use of public lands. The course includes brush and rock clearing as trail maintenance on ENMU-adopted Trail No. 64.

Riders will camp out in the wilderness and should prepare accordingly (pack toilet paper). All equipment and horse feed will be provided by the school. Cooking will be performed by ride participant teams; each will be totally responsible for kitchen duty for one day.

The average day's ride will be 12 miles. The base camp will be in the historic Totolita Canyon in the western end of the Nogal Mining District. Day rides will take you into high mountain meadows, beside rushing streams and into the sheerness of 9,400-foot Nogal Peak. Nearby is the lush Spring Creek Cabin area and the majestic 12,003-foot Sierra Blanca Peak.

Part of the history lesson includes learning about the mining districts, and you'll experience gold panning with your own pan and "poke sack." The trail takes you past the Helen Rae, Parsons, and Little American mines in Bonito and Nogal mining districts.

A glimpse into Lincoln County's past, compiled from local newspapers by Polly E. Chavez.

The Southwestern Outlook June 4, 1909

Have you signed that county seat petition yet? If not get busy; if you have, ask your neighbor about it.

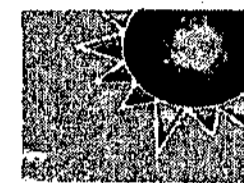

"Happy" Hosier returned Thursday from the Vera Cruz Mines, and reports the mines shut down for a short period. Mr. John Forsythe has brought Mr. J.K. Martin's blacksmith shop and will continue the business as it was run by Mr. Martin. Mr. Forsythe is a first class mechanic and will do general blacksmith and wagon work.

Gov. George Curry was the chief speaker at the commencement exercises at the New Mexico School of Mines, held in the Garcia opera house at Socorro yesterday. Another interesting feature was the address in Spanish by Mr. Estevan Baca.

Early June finds Arcturus at its very highest when the increasingly late twilight fades to dark. Look high in the south. About halfway up the eastern sky is bright bluish white Vega. If Arcturus is called the Spring Star, it shines almost straight overhead during evening for most of the summer.

EDUCATION BUZZ

Smith inducted by Sigma Theta Tau

Brenda Smith, daughter of Robert and Helen Chambers of Ruidoso, is being inducted to membership in the Sigma Theta Tau International Honor Society of Nursing in Libby.

Sigma Theta Tau International is a prestigious organization of nurse leaders, scholars, and researchers. The honor society, founded at Indiana University in 1922, currently has 349 chapters at more than 3,391 colleges and universities in the United States, Canada, Taiwan, South Korea, and Australia.

Membership in the society is awarded to bachelor's, master's, and doctoral nursing candidates who achieve high scholastic averages, and to graduates of nursing programs who have made outstanding contributions to nursing.

Ruidoso High buckles up

Ruidoso High School won $400 in the ninth annual New Mexico High School Safety Belt Challenge, known as the "Buckle Your Bod" campaign. Student council secretary Maya Mascareñas chaired the RHS campaign.

With a 92.5% seat belt usage rate, Ruidoso ranked third in the category of schools with 100-500 student drivers.

"Buckle Your Bod" is sponsored by Safer New Mexico Now and the New Mexico Department of Health. Fifty-two schools participated in this year's campaign, which is designed to increase seat belt usage among teens in order to save young lives.

Ruidoso Chief of Police Larry Maddox presents a $400 check to Maya Mascareñas, Ruidoso High School student council secretary and chairperson of the Buckle Your Bod campaign.

Dana Stevenson presents certificate to Julie Phillips

Local gas company gives scholarships

Zia Natural Gas Company has awarded scholarships to Shannon McGrath of Capitán High School and Julie Ann Phillips of Ruidoso High School.

McGrath received $250 to study engineering at New Mexico State University in the fall. She graduated from Capitán High with a 3.4 grade point average. Her extracurricular activities included band, track, cheerleading, student council, and the lifeguard program.

Phillips received $1,000 to study business and psychology at New Mexico State University in the fall. Phillips graduated with a 3.4 grade point average and scored 16 on the ACT. She was involved in band, volleyball, basketball, DECA, SADD, student council, Girl's State, and the New Mexico State University Alumni Association of High School Honor Scholars.

Shannon Conley

Senior graduates through local home schooling program

Shannon Conley is among the recent high school graduates of Ruidoso, but earned her diploma through home schooling. Her credits were earned through a correspondence school in combination with many local Eastern New Mexico University courses.

Conley will be traveling to Spain in September as a foreign exchange student and will be studying in a Spanish high school. Upon her return, she will attend the University of the South in Seawater, Tenn.

Conley has received a scholarship to the University of the South, as well as two local scholarships, one from Ruidoso State Bank and one from the Chamber of Commerce. Conley is the daughter of Doug and Vicki Conley of Ruidoso Downs.

Colleges announce Ruidoso graduates

Following are announcements of 10 Ruidosians who graduated from various colleges this spring.

Brenda Grace Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Chambers of Ruidoso, received a bachelor's degree in nursing from Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center. Smith was one of 33 School of Nursing graduates this May.

The following Ruidoso residents are graduates of Eastern New Mexico University in Roswell: Raphael Joseph Chavez (with honors), Associate of Science in Occupational Therapy; Christopher H. McAdams, Associate of Applied Science in Aviation Maintenance Technology; Manuelita Melissa Montoya (with honors), Associate of Science in Occupational Therapy; and Robert Witham (with honors), Associate of Applied Science in Drafting Technology.

Former Ruidoso resident Shannon Griffin graduated May 19 from Tufts University School of Dental Medicine in Boston, Mass. Family and friends celebrated Dr. Griffin's graduation at Cree Meadows Country Club in Ruidoso.

Dr. Griffin is the daughter of Lee and Georgia Griffin, and the granddaughter of Charles Griffin, all of Ruidoso. She is a Ruidoso High School graduate. She will be completing a one-year internship at the University of Oklahoma before going to practice.

Ruidoso High School graduates Mary Baudo and Rachel Garrett graduated from The University of New Mexico in May. Baudo received a master's degree in Recreation, and Garrett received a bachelor's degree in Journalism and Mass Communication.

Sarah Allison Dix and Robin M. Line of Ruidoso graduated from New Mexico Junior College on May 11.

student reading performance. Cordova will also receive a $250 grant. Mescalero Apache School will receive discounts on educational software and staff development opportunities.

The Reading Renaissance program combines computer technology with a regimen of extensive reading practice to rapidly build student reading comprehension.

Hisel makes the grade at Adams

Vicary Montana Hisel of Ruidoso Downs has been named to the Vice President's Honor Roll at Adams State College in Alamosa for 1993 spring semester. Students must achieve a grade point average of 3.5 or higher to receive this honor.

Hisel, who made her acting debut in the Adams State Theater this past school year, will be a junior next fall.

National academy honors local grad

Joe Dennis Grimes, a 1996 Ruidoso High School graduate, has been named an All-American Scholar by the United States Achievement Academy. The award recognizes superior students who excel in the academic disciplines. All-American Scholars must earn a grade point average of 3.3 or higher.

Grimes will attend Texas Tech University in the fall. He is the son of Dennis and Rae Nell Grimes. His grandparents are Willy Day of Arlington, Texas, and Agnes Grimes of Seagraves, Texas.

Lion's Club gives five scholarships

The Ruidoso Evening Lion's Club awarded $400 scholarships to Ruidoso High School graduates Cody Sparks, Cory Hood, Kyle Humphreys, Byron Soules, and Jackie Roe.

Scholarships were awarded based on grade point average, ACT scores, and economic need.

Pamela Cordova

Mescalero teacher certified for model classroom program

Pamela Cordova, who teaches at Mescalero Apache School, received Reading Renaissance Model Classroom certification from the Madison, Wisc.-based Institute for Academic Excellence. This certification indicates that Cordova's efforts to adopt Reading Renaissance methods in her classes have resulted in measurable increases in Kody Sparks, Cory Hood, Kyle Humphreys, Byron Soules and Jackie Roe received $400 scholarships from the Ruidoso Lion's Club. Presenting the scholarships is Lion's club member Doyle Howell.

REPLAY

This week in Lincoln County sports history, compiled from The Ruidoso News.

10 years ago - Alpine Shifters Bicycle Club awards honors to club members for their efforts in tours and road races. Winners are: Carl Luera, most responsible; Chad Neilsen, most optimistic; and Jesse Foster, cyclist of the year.

20 years ago - Mary Hoover wins the championship flight of the Alto Ladies Golf Association's Border Golf Play Day. Ruth Wimberly and Fran Russell tie for second place.

30 years ago - Village of Ruidoso recreation committee members Dave Parks, Dub Williams, Pat Valliant and Ken Newton request village trustees to move the location of the proposed lighted little league/softball fields from Schoolhouse Park to property north of the new fire substation near the municipal airport.

40 years ago - The Alamogordo office of the Forest Service lifts its ban on campfires in the Lincoln National Forest. Recent rains improve the moisture levels in the forest.

Twisters, visitors stir up tourney

by LAURA CLYMER

Ruidoso News Sports Writer
Out-of-town teams and a pair of forceful dust devils swept through the Sierra Blanca Opener at Eagle Creek Sports Complex over the weekend.

The mini twisters scattered players and ripped off a dugout roof, narrowly missing hitting spectators.

Visiting teams outclassed Ruidoso's entries of the 53-team men's and women's softball tournaments, except for No Excuses in women's class D competition and the NADS in the men's class E bracket.

No Excuses was the top finisher of the local teams. It posted a 3-2 record for third place. In the women's D championship, Lady Nighthawks of Alamogordo defeated townmate Excelerators.

The NADS also finished with a 3-2 mark, which earned it sixth in its division. Ruidoso's other men's class E teams were: Ace Plumbing, eighth place; Homeboys, 10th place; Casino Apache Sharks, 12th place; Rookies II, 14th place; and Sonterra, 15th place.

Diamond Sals, competing in the women's class C division, found the going tough. The Ruidoso entry was defeated in all four efforts of the round robin tourney.

But it was two fiendish funnels which really stirred up the action late Saturday afternoon. Players, fans and umpires ducked for cover when the first of the two mini twisters picked up steam and decapitated the third base dugout on field B. That dust devil dumped the wood and tin roof about 15 feet directly behind the dugout.

Fans, who were seated in the area watching the game, took cover in between cars and no one was seriously injured.

An 8-year-old boy from Artesia was crouching behind the dugout when the dust devil hit. The roof grazed him as it flew over. He suffered an abrasion on his face and was taken to the Lincoln County Medical Center for observation.

Village of Ruidoso Parks and Recreation director Debbie Jo Almager, who camps out at the field during tourneys, was at home for a shower and a break when she was notified.

"After I saw that (the roof) I was surprised...It's a miracle that no body was hurt," Almager said.

Almager and others witnessed the second dust devil about an hour later. It peeled the tin off the roof that was already on the ground, dumping it 250 feet away, just beyond the left field fence of field B. Again, no one was hurt.

Work to repair the dugout will get started as soon as possible, Almager said.

The dirt and dust created by the first twister caught the attention of the village's fire lookout, who thought it was fire and sent fire trucks.

Other than the pesky dust devils and three no-show teams, the tourney went well, Almager said.

Kindergarten Futurity field set for June 15 finals

Ten 2-year-olds qualified for the Rio Grande Kindergarten Futurity, and Acrylic claimed his second straight Governor's Handicap, highlighting action at Ruidoso Downs over the weekend.

Acrylic with Kenny lies in the irons came from slightly off the pace to win the Governor's Handicap. Acrylic drew clear in the stretch to win by five lengths.

Post-time favorite, Politic'n raced just off the pace early and swung out for the stretch drive, but faded to fourth. The rider of Politic'n, Vicky Smallwood, claimed foul against the winner but the stewards ruled no foul.

In the other featured handicap from the weekend, Truckle Tipper held off Special Masked to win the $10,000 Guaranteed Fine Loom Handicap Saturday.

The trials for the Rio Grande Kindergarten Futurity featured a pair of tight races. Naturally Naughty upset Donchalisentoumdun by a nose in the fourth trial, and Bold Spirit won the same margin in the first trial.

HORSE RACING

Those qualified for the 5-furlong test slated for June 15 are: Bold Spirit, Trixie's Drone, Dixieland Creation, Bob First, Tana's Boy, Jak's Ego, Naturally Naughty and Donchalisentoumdun. Ivenchek and Just Gran took the final two spots by winning a shake.

HOOFBEATS: Winalota Cash was beaten by a half length in his trial race for the Remington Park Derby at Oklahoma City. The defeat came at the hands of Elegant Dasher and jockey Kenny Hart. Elegant Dasher broke the track record for 440 yards running the distance in 21.205 seconds. Winalota Cash had not missed the winners circle since he

Tiger head coach gets Jal position

by LAURA CLYMER

Ruidoso News Sports Writer
Another Capitan coach has left the Tiger athletic staff for better pay elsewhere.

Math teacher, head girls basketball coach and athletic director Norman Cline resigned his position at Capitan to accept a teaching and coaching job at Jal High School. Cline will teach math and coach football and girls basketball for the Panthers.

With the move, Cline will make $8,000 a year more than he did at Capitan.

"It's not the prettiest part of the country, but a classroom is a classroom," Cline said Tuesday. "It was a hard decision to make, but I just couldn't pass up the money."

Last year, Capitan lost veteran coaches Pam Allen and Ron Becker, who found greener grasses and larger paychecks in Artesia and Alaska, respectively.

Jal, nestled in the far southeast corner of the state, is a Class AA school with an enrollment of 185 in grades nine through 12. Capitan has 205 high school students.

Taking over the head girls cage position for the Tigers will be Cline's assistant from last year, Dionne Lewis.

Cline posted a 131-82 record and three district championships in his seven years as head coach of the Tiger girls. He directed the 1990 Capitan squad to a third-place finish in the Class A Girls Basketball Championships, and in 1993 the Tigers took fourth in state.

At Jal, Cline will be reunited with former Tiger assistant coach Donnell Merchant, who is the head volleyball coach and assistant basketball coach for the Panthers.

Cline and his family will move to Jal sometime in July. Until then, the 13-year veteran of prep coaching will focus his efforts on directing the Class A-AA South girls basketball all-stars, who play the North all-stars in Farmington Friday, June 14.

Great Performances

"Dance in America: A Renaissance Revisited"

Hosted by lifelong dance fan Joanne Woodward, Great Performances "Dance in America: A Renaissance Revisited" is a 20th-anniversary souvenir of some of dance's greatest moments. The multi-award winning "Dance in America" series on Great Performances began with an evening of works performed by the Joffrey Ballet on January 21st, 1976. Since then, it has presented virtually every major American choreographer and dancer.

"Dance in America: A Renaissance Revisited" offers amazing evidence of the dancing brilliance of Mikhail Baryshnikov, Gregory Hines, Natalia Makarova, Rudolph Nureyev, and others. The telecast revisits masterwork by such seminal figures as George Balanchine, Martha Graham, and Jerome Robbins, asking the question "What is dance about?" The program lets these great choreographers answer with their work, which unfolds thematically rather than chronologically, presenting pieces inspired primarily by story, music, and movement.

The nine choreographers seen on camera offering thoughts on their work include Alvin Ailey, Frederick Ashton, Merce Cunningham, Agnes de Mille, Robert Joffrey, Kurt Jooss, Jerome Robbins, and Paul Taylor.

Great Performances "Dance in America: A Renaissance Revisited" airs Tuesday, June 4th at 1:00 p.m. and Thursday, June 13th at 8:00 p.m.

The Gentle Doctor

When dogs rest their heads in our laps, gazing up at us with heavy, houndishly trusting eyes, when birds perform simple but uplifting chirping concertos, or when we get a sneak peek at our cats during an innocent and peaceful slumber, the bond between human and animal intensifies.

It's a bond of companionship, trust, love, and responsibility. However, when a pet is sick or misbehaving, both pet and owner endure stress and confusion. Since pets can't speak our language, we must attempt to learn theirs as we can care for our pet's needs. In addition to training our pets, we need to train ourselves for responsible pet ownership.

In this 14-part series, The Gentle Doctor travels across the continent to visit pet foster care programs, injured pets who use "wheelchairs" to get around, pet day care centers, the Animal Rescue Foundation, bird shelters, physicians who perform pet organ transplants, dog psychologists, and more.

In addition to the feature stories in each episode, basic pet care tips are presented by veterinarians and animal trainers. Each show also visits Walt Disney World's Discovery Island, a Galapagos-type wonderland where an interesting animal is profiled.

Dr. Debbye Turner, Miss America 1990, hosts the series again this year. Turner, an animal lover since childhood, has dedicated her talents toward the welfare of animals with her work as an animal activist and veterinarian.

The Gentle Doctor airs Sundays at 9:30 a.m. beginning June 2nd.

PET CORNER

These pets are currently up for adoption at Lincoln County Humane Society
Call 257-9841

Mary Lou is one of the shelter's rare comedians with her wrinkly face and a deep hound dog bay. She's about 1.5 years old with classic tickhound markings. Although thin from recently having pups, she's filling out fast.

Everyone who meets Abby is enchanted by her bright, inquisitive manner and charming personality. She's a spayed Australian shepherd, on the small side and about two years old. Her long coat is black and white. She loves children.

The Ruidoso News

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

When a roofer shot staples from a high-powered gun into the eyes of a small dog in Ruidoso recently, it pointed up the need to require a meaningful punishment for anyone convicted of animal cruelty.

One top state official has joined the effort to change animal abuse from a misdemeanor to a felony under New Mexico law.

State Commissioner of Public Lands Ray Powell, a practicing veterinarian, announced last week he plans to ask the state Legislature to strengthen the laws on abuse of animals.

Besides upping the severity of possible punishment, in some cases, a court could bar a person from owning a pet under Powell's proposal.

"The proposal would apply to all animals," he said. "It would exempt legitimate animal husbandry and other agricultural activities, as well as rodeos and scientific and educational use of animals."

"I'm motivated to develop this proposal because of a generalized increase in violence. There is growing evidence that young people who are cruel to animals are more likely to display violent and antisocial behavior later in life, including abuse toward their spouses, children and the elderly."

He pointed out that recent studies show the cycle of violence of mass murderers often began with violence against a family or neighborhood pet.

"By apprehending and punishing the offender, and prescribing mental health treatment when appropriate, we will protect other defenseless animals and potential human victims in the future," Powell said. "The bottom line is that the violent criminal doesn't care how many legs his victim has."

Spaying and neutering of domestic pets must be encouraged to reduce the number of unwanted companion animals, he said.

Powell consulted several district attorneys and animal rights groups, including Kate Rindy of the Santa Fe Animal Shelter, and will be seeking sponsorship of the proposal for the 1997 legislative session.

"As a misdemeanor, animal abuse crimes don't get the attention from law enforcement they deserve and would if they are felonies," Powell said. A misdemeanor cruelty charge only carries a maximum $500 fine and up to 90 days in jail. Felonies carry much tougher sentences.

To get involved, call Powell's office at (505) 827-5760 or contact Sandra Ford with the Lincoln County Humane Society shelter at 257-9841.

Celebrate Ruidoso!

Three institutions that helped make Ruidoso what it is today will celebrate 50th anniversaries with a Convention Center party on Saturday, June 22. The Village of Ruidoso marks 50 years of incorporation, Ruidoso Downs Race Track marks 50 years of parimutuel racing and The Ruidoso News marks 50 years of publication.

Your Own Business Also Has Something To Celebrate...

Whether it's a year, a decade or a quarter century. Use the special tabloid section to be published on Friday, June 21, to tell your own story of success in Ruidoso.

Call Christine or Tony today at 257-4001 to reserve your "Celebrate Ruidoso" advertisement.
