Candidates sign up for state offices

Incumbent State Senator Pete Campos (D-Santa Rosa) faces no opposition for re-election for a four-year term in District 8, which includes Lincoln County.

Campos was one of more than 240 candidates who signed up in Santa Fe Tuesday to run for state and regional offices.

Incumbent State Rep. Dub Williams, a Republican freshman from Glencoe, will face Democrat L. Ray Nunley, a Lincoln County commissioner, in the Nov. 5 general election. Representatives serve two-year terms.

Not all of the candidate figures had been tallied by Wednesday morning, but state elections official Larry Dominguez said the sign-up may be a record.

"It's one of the biggest I've been through and I'm going on my 10th primary," he said.

Twelfth Judicial District Judge Richard A. Parsons, who is asking for voters to retain him for another six years, said he was one of the first in line. But by the time he left, more than 60 candidates were crowded into the state office.

In the same judicial district, incumbent District Attorney Bert Atkins is running on the Democratic ticket for re-election for another four-year term. He will face the winner of the June 4 Republican primary between his former associate Scot D. Key, a Ruidoso attorney, and Darrell N. Brantley, an attorney from Alamogordo.

Fire crews contain Pinetosa blaze

Fire crews Tuesday were mopping up what's left of the 6,000-acre Pinetosa fire in the Cibola National Forest west of Corona.

The fire at the northern edge of Lincoln County was contained at 8 p.m. Friday, but will not be considered controlled until the mop-up operation is completed within the next few days, U.S. Forest Service officials said.

Structures were threatened, but none were destroyed by the fire that started out as a controlled burn in the forest and then leaped its boundaries when winds picked up.

The total cost of fighting the blaze is estimated at $240,000. More than 160 firefighters and support crews were used at one time on the fire that started March 12.

Nine sign up for sheriff election

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

A final tally of eight Republicans signed up Tuesday to run for Lincoln County sheriff, a possible record for a primary election.

Only one Lincoln County official will waltz back into an elected seat this year without a battle. And another elected county official is running for election again, but seeking a different job. The slate of 17 county government candidates is dominated by Republicans.

A lone Democrat joined the sheriff's standoff. Democrat Ralph Romero, a member of the county planning and zoning board and a landscaper, will be waiting in the wings to battle the June 4 primary winner on general election day, Nov. 5.

"I think it's probably a record," said County Clerk Martha Proctor of the eight Republican sheriff candidates. "It's the most I've seen since I was first elected in 1989 or that I can remember in the past."

The Republican contenders are (in order of their names on the ballot):

- Larry J. Cearley, sheriff's deputy;
- Raymond D. Merritt, former solid waste transfer station manager and military intelligence officer;
- Orlando Montes Jr., sheriff's deputy;
- Johnie Johnson, head dispatcher in the sheriff's office;
- Tom Sullivan, sheriff from 1984 to 1986 and second-in-command at Camp Sierra Blanca minimum security prison;
- Richard S. Swenor, former Ruidoso police chief;
- Bob A. Miller, undersheriff;
- and the lone woman, Connie Hopper, county emergency services director and a former deputy.

Incumbent Sheriff James McSwane, a Republican, is not seeking re-election.

County Assessor Patsy Serna, a Republican, is opposed for her third term in office.

Incumbent District 2 County Commissioner Wilton Howell, owner of One Stop Auto and Nursery in Ruidoso, will be pitted in the Republican primary against Ben L. Hall, a rancher and former state representative.

In the District 1 commission race, rancher Rex A. Wilson will run against sheriff's deputy Jimmy Luna Sr. in the Republican primary.

In an unusual switch, incumbent District 1 Commissioner Stirling Spencer, a rancher and engineer, is seeking another type of public service job. He qualified to run as a Republican for county probate judge.

He will face incumbent judge J.O. "Bud" Payne in the primary. The winner will be pitted in the general election against Democrat Jack E. Johnson, currently Capitan municipal judge.

Police say man used infant as fight shield

by KATHLEEN McDONALD
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

A Ruidoso Downs man is being charged with battering his wife Saturday while holding his baby son as a shield, Ruidoso Downs police said.

George Padilla, 31, now faces three third-degree felony child abuse charges as well as a misdemeanor count of battery against a household member. He's being held at the county jail on a $50,000 bond. He was on parole at the time of the incident.

The victim's seven-year-old daughter and her seven-year-old friend witnessed the violence, police said.

The victim's daughter told Sergeant Dana Terlecky that Padilla had dropped the child twice during the beating, he said. The child apparently fell on his face at least once because he had dried blood around his mouth when police arrived. He was also crying uncontrollably, Terlecky said.

"He took the child from his room and used him as a shield while striking his mom," officer Chris Condon said.

The victim had attempted to defend herself, and that's why

Padilla held the child as a shield, Terlecky said.

Police arrived soon after receiving a call at 9:36 p.m. Police heard the baby crying and mother screaming as they approached the Palo Verde Trailer Park home. Padilla was standing and holding the crying toddler while facing the victim, who was about three feet away on the floor.

The mother suffered an inch-long cut to her nose and her shirt was bloodied, Terlecky said.

Although the toddler was the only child to appear physically harmed, Padilla was charged with three counts of child abuse, one each for the baby and two seven-year-old girls. Anytime a child is put in a dangerous situation or at risk of injury, it's considered abuse or neglect, Terlecky said.

The baby boy was taken to the Lincoln County Medical Center and held overnight for observation. He was released to his mother the next day, police said.

Padilla, who smelled of alcohol during his arrest, had been paroled

Motor oil drips lead to suspect

by KATHLEEN McDONALD
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Ruidoso police followed a trail of motor oil to a suspected burglar Wednesday morning.

The burglar's attempt to steal a TV was bogged when he apparently ran out of energy after carrying it down a steep flight of stairs. The TV was found in the driveway near the start of the oil trail.

A Ruidoso Downs man was found asleep in his truck at the end of the oil drips a few homes away from the burglarized home. He was arrested.

Police "just followed the little trail of oil droplets and it led right to him," said Detective Jim Biggs. "I guess he needed money to buy oil, I don't know."

Adam McClendon, 24, was charged with residential burglary.

His truck was parked in the carport of a vacation home on L.L. Davis Drive just two doors down from the burglarized house, Detective Jim Biggs said.

Nothing appeared missing from the house but the 27-inch stereo Magnavox TV found in the driveway. McClendon apparently attempted to steal the TV but dropped it because it is so heavy, Biggs said.

"He said he dropped it and it broke," Biggs said of McClendon's confession to the botched thievery.

The TV, valued at $2,400 when its owners bought it in 1987, was found by police laying next to the oil drips.

An audible alarm originally brought police to the house.

They found a burglar had smashed in glass panels on the front door to get into the home. It is also a vacation home and its owners don't know McClendon, Biggs said.

An alarm sounded at the same house after a window was entered early the same Wednesday, just after midnight. But McClendon denied being the culprit in that attempted burglary, Biggs said. Police found nothing disturbed.

McClendon is charged with one count of residential burglary, a fourth-degree felony. He was arraigned at Ruidoso Magistrate Court and later released on a $5,000 bond from the county jail.

If found guilty of the charge against him, McClendon could be sentenced to a maximum two years in jail and a $5,000 fine.

County Solid Waste Authority finds firms are undercharged

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Some businesses in Ruidoso and Ruidoso Downs will be paying more each month for their garbage collection.

The staff of the Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority conducted an audit of commercial accounts and found some businesses were billed improperly, acting authority manager Jerry Wright told board members Monday.

Shopping centers were paying $54 a month when they should have been paying $250, he said. Other businesses receiving two pick ups a week were only paying for one.

The changes have resulted in an additional $3,000 of monthly income, Wright said.

"We're still working on it," administrative assistant Beverly Foote said Tuesday. "Currently, more than 15 have been notified, but we have only covered Ruidoso Downs and some shopping malls in Ruidoso. There could be more than 20 businesses by the time we're finished."

The authority is a coalition of the county and its five municipalities, formed to collect and dispose of garbage countywide. Each entity is responsible for setting rates to cover the cost of its service.

But even with the boost from the additional commercial revenue, this year isn't going well for the authority. With 3.5 months left in the fiscal year, it has spent 67% of its budgeted money for expenses and has generated only 64% of the revenues expected, Wright said.

Revenue from providing service in the county seat of Carrizozo is off budget by $20,514, because the authority started collection there three months later than anticipated.

If the spending pattern is not altered, the coalition of government entities will end the fiscal year on June 30 with a deficit of $14,217.

However, that figure does not include the beginning cash balance of $107,000. That money must be kept separate to help satisfy the state requirement for a reserve of one-twelfth of the $1.8 million budget, said administrative assistant Beverly Foote.

"We'll have a problem coming up with the full $154,378 we need (for a reserve)," Wright said.

Employees on hold

Board members agreed Monday that future grievances could be handled better by a grievance board, instead of being heard by the full authority.

They are considering a grievance board with three employees from different divisions, with appeals going to the authority board; one elected official, one layman and one employee, followed by board appeals; five citizens with the only appeal to a civil court; or an advisory committee with the final decision by the authority board.

"It seems to me past grievances could have been settled at a lower level with a faster response time," said Authority Chairman Frank Cummins. Last month, the board spent hours listening to grievances by an individual employee and an attorney representing a group of employees.

Ruidoso Downs has three employees handling grievances.

Ruidoso Downs Mayor Joe Hayhurst said no grievances have ever been appealed to his council.

"The employees are right there," he said. "They handle it. We've never had one go further."

Job descriptions and a pay matrix should be ready by Friday for members to review, Wright said. Past employee complaints have centered around a lack of these items.

Wright has collected examples from surrounding counties.

"They vary quite a bit," he said. "I'll simplify the system. I thought at first I would need 13 different job descriptions, but now I think seven or eight will cover it."

Experience and years of service with the authority will be used to distinguish different pay levels under general headings such as sanitation worker, he said.

In attempting to diffuse complaints before they are magnified, Wright said he stays at the garbage transfer station on Gavilan Canyon Road each morning until 8:30 a.m. to catch the truck drivers as they finish their first run.

"I visit each day to prevent minor irritations from turning into major complaints," Wright said.

"I also try to fix anything not working on the trucks," he said. "Some of their gripes were about equipment, and we want to at least make them comfortable."

In other action, the board voted to change its meeting time and date from 10 a.m. the third Monday of each month to 2 p.m. the third Tuesday.

They said Monday is a difficult day for the staff and many holidays fall on that day. The hour of 10 a.m. also interrupts the work schedule of authority members, they agreed.

Robert Donaldson, newly appointed to represent the village of Ruidoso on the board with village manager Gary Jackson and Mayor Jerry Shaw, missed his first meeting due to the death of his grandmother.

Village of Ruidoso employees Rodney Griego (left) and Roy Lumbra (middle) watch as the casket of Eugene Newton is removed from its first resting place Monday. Newton was buried in the wrong plot 33 years ago. The error was uncovered last week when village employees prepared to dig a grave for the recently passed away Olma Newton, Eugene's wife. After removing the casket, village employees reburied Newton in his proper place.

Village corrects error, moves body

by LAURA CLYMER
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

For 33 years, Eugene W. Newton rested in peace in Ruidoso's Forest Lawn Cemetery.

It turns out that Newton was taking his eternal nap in the wrong place.

Village of Ruidoso Street Department employee Johnny Salas discovered the misplaced plot last week when he was digging a grave for the recently passed away Olma L. Newton. Newton was to be buried next to her husband Eugene, who was buried in 1963.

But someone back in 1963 dug Eugene's grave in plot 3C instead of plot 7C. On Monday, village employees put Eugene in his proper place — about 15 feet west and eight feet south of his original resting place.

Salas received the unusual work order Friday. It stated, "Please move Mr. Newton from 3C to 7C," and was signed by Debbie Jo Almager, Village of Ruidoso Parks and Recreation director. The village's cemetery falls under Almager's direction. It has been that way ever since the village created the parks and recreation department a dozen years ago.

When the error was discovered, village officials notified the Newtons' son Ken of Santa Fe, who OK'd the move.

Monday's job required the village employees to put aside their superstitions.

It wasn't easy. When the backhoe reached the concrete vault encasing the casket, someone had to go in and sweep off the dirt.

"I'm not going in there. I've got respect (for the dead)," Fred Montoya said. Montoya did lend a hand as the casket was lifted from the grave, but it was a tentative hand.

"If the casket doesn't give, we're all right," Montoya said as the backhoe lifted the casket from the ground.

It took Salas and his crew of five about two hours to successfully remove the casket intact, and the rest of the day to bury Eugene next to his wife.

By the end of the work day Monday, the Newtons were resting in peace forever — and, most importantly, together.

Ruidoso Village Council picks two, not one, mayor pro tems

by KATHLEEN McDONALD
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Two Ruidoso councilors want to be mayor pro tem, so the council decided Thursday to let them both have the job.

Councilors Leon Eggleston and Frank Cummins will both back up Mayor Jerry Shaw — Eggleston from now until March 1997 and Cummins from March 1997 until March 1998.

"This way they both get to have fun," Shaw said at Thursday's council organizational meeting.

Also during the meeting, Village Manager Gary Jackson was reappointed to his contracted position for two more years. He has served for two years already.

"We thank you every day for being here, Gary," Shaw said. "If I'm a good mayor, it's because I have Gary as a good manager...He really makes a difference, always has information available."

Much of the council's organizational meeting is a formality. The mayor and councilors also speak of their aspirations. Such meetings are held after every municipal election to "provide for the continuity of government," Village Clerk Tamie Maddox said.

Eggleston, a past village clerk and finance officer, "has great knowledge of government from the other side," Shaw noted.

"After 12 years on the staff side, I've thoroughly enjoyed working on this side of the table," Eggleston said. "I've seen a lot of councils, and this has been a very progressive council."

Eggleston's fellow councilors unanimously voted him in as mayor pro tem until March 1997. Cummins was also unanimously appointed.

"I'm looking forward to continue team work we've had in the past," Cummins said.

Cummins, who was re-elected this month to his second council term, is now the council's senior member, Shaw said as she noted how "fast things change."

Until March 5, mayor pro tem J.D. James was the council's senior member, having served for the past nine years. He lost his incumbent seat to Bob Starchi, a former planning and zoning commissioner.

"Of course, we'll miss J.D., but we are excited to have Bob with us," Shaw said.

"I think this is going to be exciting. I think it's going to be a lot of fun," Starchi said.

Earlier in the meeting, Shaw gave a plaque of appreciation to James, thanking him for his years on the council.

"Many times, when voters kick someone out of office, they just get kicked in the butt," Shaw said. "But the time people put in, they genuinely put in because people want to make Ruidoso a better place."

James was a dedicated public servant, she said.

from jail Jan. 27 on a fourth-degree felony DWI charge, Ruidoso parole and probation officer Shawn Day said.

The status of his parole, which is scheduled to last until Jan. 26, 1997, "remains to be seen," Day said.

Padilla was arraigned at Ruidoso Magistrate Court Monday morning, and is being held at the county jail on a $50,000 bond. A preliminary hearing on the battery and child abuse charges is set for March 25.

If found guilty of all charges against him, Padilla could be sentenced to a maximum 13 years in jail and a $16,000 fine.

PLANNING COMMISSION ACTION

Following is the action taken by the Ruidoso Village Planning and Zoning Commission meeting at 2 p.m. Monday, March 18 at village hall.

NEW BUSINESS:

— Re-election of Mike Radziewicz as commission chairman and Leroy Nowell as vice-chairman; mayor's appointment of Realtor Ovella Estes as a commissioner. Estes is replacing Bob Starchi, who resigned to serve as a village councilor.

— Approved a sign permit application, SP96-001. The sign will hang outside a new 634 Suddards Drive business to be called the Coyote Pub & Grill (formerly An Taco). Laura Starvada, agent.

— Approved a McCarty Subdivision replat on Evans Road, PR96-012. Replat, requested by landowner The Villager Corporation, creates two lots. One will be 10,350 square feet, or .24 acres; the second will be 5,300 square feet or .12 acres to cure encroachment.

— Tabled until April 1 a variance request, PV96-005. Dan Smith, agent for Lindsay Holt, requested a 5.4 foot variance setback at a White Mountain Estates single-family residential lot to allow a carport.

— Approved a 10 foot variance, PV96-002. Barney Rue, agent for Healan Scott, requested the variance at a Ponderosa Heights trailer home sewer hook-up. Rue improved the site by moving about 400 cubic yards of dirt, about 391 cubic yards more than he's allowed since he only has a site development permit which allows him to improve the property. Other permits are needed for the excessive amount of excavating he did, Planning Director Cleatus Richards said. When approving Rue's request, commissioners also told him he'd be visited by code enforcement officers and would likely be red tagged because of his lack of required permits.

— Approved PVC96-002, vacation of public right-of-way in the Ruidoso Springs Subdivision where the Rio Ruidoso has shifted course. Vacation is for 1,200 square feet on Short Street, 3,560 square feet on Center Street, and 3,772 square feet of former river area on Fern Trail. Anna Kincaid, applicant; Wyatt Sparks, agent. Recommended vacation will go before the village council March 26.

Flashbacks to last legislative session

Here we go again. It seems our governor and legislative leaders learned little from their session earlier this year. Instead of putting the desires or needs of his constituents first, the governor has made up his personalized wish list of discussion items for the special session that begins today.

His list includes closing a loophole that would allow people on reservation and pueblo lands to sell gas without the state tax; create an extra reserve fund in the budget; get rid of a worker injury fund he says is obsolete; authorize hospital taxes in Cibola and Luna counties; and fund a wide variety of projects.

Basically, most of this stuff — and more — should have been finished in the first session. There never seems to be enough time, yet they joke that if they have more time, they still won't get anything done. Why didn't the governor just extend the original session? Did all these issues just occur to him later?

To top it off, the issues that some legislators admit voters said were the most important — especially gambling — are not on the special session agenda. If the governor won't add this issue to his list, the Legislature should call its own special session (although we're not going to hold our breath on this one).

Government can be strange, indeed.

I learned more in wrestling than in class at Ruidoso

TO THE EDITOR:

Many of us should be saddened to hear that as of this February 1996, Coach Gerald Ames will no longer be coaching Ruidoso's wrestling team. Ames spent a whopping 24 years with the wrestling team. What he coached and taught during that time was so vastly radical from any other person that students and wrestlers could not forget. In other words, they (the students) learned.

One of the most striking methods of Ames' was to tell people to "go out there and fail." He would continue to teach a person to succeed at failing for two reasons. One, it meant that a person was not giving up, and hopefully they would go out there and fail again. Two, it was easy to make a failure better than a winner because a winner often had that "fat head" on their shoulders.

The important concept to go along with this is that by going out and failing, the person must first have the true intention of succeeding. Like a ladder, failures are the steps to get to the top of achievement. Everyone who fails in whatever way, whether it be a minor calculation or a felony, should absolutely have the right to fail again, given a strong proven intention of getting better.

Even though they are made better, the wrestlers are still not perfect people. Sometimes, they screw up on the team's time and make the rest of the team look bad. As for the rest of the wrestlers, they learn the same things as the delinquents. They are taught about values and priorities. Ames would tell us that we were always to put family, education and God (for those of us religious freaks such as myself) before we thought of wrestling.

I have to debate with the education part of that though, because I learned more in wrestling than I learned in all my classes put together. I learned a lot more than how to wrestle an opponent. Because of our priorities I learned to wrestle with life. Incidents would come and go. What mattered was how I (and we) dealt, or wrestled with them.

Another major reason why wrestling is an asset to Ruidoso is that some of us just can't play basketball.

Ames' expertise will be missed. He still has two years left as a teacher though, and if you have a child in his class and happen to run into Ames in the supermarket, tell him what a great job he does, because he is every bit as great a teacher as a coach. (If you happened to read the Feb. 9 issue of Vamonos!, you might understand what I mean.) The Ruidoso school system has many colossal teachers, and Ames is one of the more unforgettable teachers. Way to go coach!

As for the wrestling team, I am just asking that Principal Hodges, Athletic Director Les Carter, and whoever else is in charge of the politics of the wrestling team, please keep it going. I am currently paying $4,000-plus per year to get my degree in college so that I might make both a great math teacher and create a wrestling team that Ruidoso can be proud of in the future. Thank you.

Agree Gomber's column is treat

TO THE EDITOR:

I have never written to your paper before, as I am a newcomer resident to the community (one year) and I felt I had no right to make a statement about anything, but after reading Mr. Herb Seckler's comment about Drew Gomber's column "Past Tense," I felt I had to add my two cents.

Please don't ever drop Drew's column. I look forward to it every time it appears.

Part of the reason I chose Ruidoso to retire to was the concentration of Western History here. It was here or Tombstone, Ariz., and there is no town of the caliber of Ruidoso near Tombstone. And further, to the credit of Ruidoso and Lincoln, Tombstone doesn't have a huge and beautiful Apache Reservation next door — a place with its own extensive and interesting history.

As "Old West" communities go, Ruidoso and Lincoln are great. Tourists come from Europe, England and Japan to see the pageant at Lincoln, "The Last Escape of Billy the Kid," as there is an unusual amount of interest in the "Old West" in those countries.

Yes, please keep Drew's column, there is a virtual unending supply of good guys and bad guys for him to write about.

Republican priorities skewed

TO THE EDITOR:

The final Whitewater report — prepared for the FDIC — recently reported no evidence of fraud or intentional misconduct by Hillary Clinton's former law firm. The report further concluded that there is no basis for claims that Mrs. Clinton acted improperly.

The official report took two years to prepare and cost $4 million, bringing the cost of the Whitewater investigation to over $90 million! The independent counsel's investigations alone continue to cost $1 million a month, and now Senate Republicans want an additional $600,000 to conduct their own hearings on the same issues.

Ironically, while Congress has spent almost 300 days investigating Whitewater, it has spent only one day discussing Medicare and two hours considering an increase in the minimum wage. How unacceptable these priorities! The Republican majority is obviously more interested in hunting imaginary workers than in helping American workers.

Gold and greens welcome St. Pat's Day

Olma Newton

Services were held March 15 at the Community United Methodist Church for Olma L. Newton, who was called home by our Lord on March 8.

The Reverend Mr. Craig Cockrell read the 23rd Psalm: "The Lord is my shepherd, I shall not want." And from The Acts of the Apostles: "For in Him we live and move and have our being..."

Dave Parks gave the obituary and paid tribute to Olma as a hard worker, an accomplished businesswoman, a true friend, and one who would give a sound opinion on all important questions.

The Reverend Mr. Cockrell sang "How Great Thou Art," accompanying himself on the guitar.

Pallbearers were Bruce Bolton, Jon Dellios, Scott Yarber, Dave Parks, Jack Warlick, and Deb Williams.

Olma Newton was a true Christian lady, and one of Ruidoso's very favorite citizens. She will always hold a fond spot in our hearts, and we rejoice that our dear friend is safe and happy with our Lord in heaven.

A Prayer For Saint Patrick

Sunrise colors of gold touched with light green welcomed Saint Patrick's Day in the Mountain Land.

At services at Saint Anne's Chapel at Glencoe, the Reverend Canon John W. Penn offered a prayer for Saint Patrick's Day: "Almighty God, in Your providence, You chose Your servant Patrick to be the apostle of the Irish people, to bring those who were wandering in darkness and error to the true light and knowledge of You. Grant us so to walk in that light that we may come at last to the Light of Everlasting Life; through Jesus Christ our Lord, who lives and reigns with You and the Holy Spirit, one God, forever and ever. Amen."

Jehovah's Witnesses meet here

A total of 878 people attended the annual assembly day of Jehovah's Witnesses last weekend at the Ruidoso Civic Center. The theme of the event was "Qualified as Ministers of the Good News — 2 Corinthians 3:5."

"We found the program most encouraging and instructive," said Don Russell, local spokesperson for the group. "Many people are familiar with our public ministry through which we share the good news that God's Kingdom, an actual government by God, will provide a lasting solution to the distressing problems facing mankind today. We feel that being ministers of this good news is a serious responsibility and that it is important to be 'adequately qualified' as such ministers. The program considered the requirements set out in the Bible for being a preacher of the good news, and how even shy or timid ones can take the initiative in sharing the good news with others."

"Through the program we were reminded of the need to be mindful of our behavior. Attention was given to the family. Young persons were encouraged by experiences from other youths on how they have resisted peer pressure. And parents were provided loving encouragement regarding the need to train their children as ministers of God."

A highlight of the day was the baptism by complete water immersion of 12 newly qualified witnesses, Russell said. Another highlight was the principal talk entitled "Qualified and Equipped as God's Ministers," delivered by S.F. Weigel, a guest speaker from the world headquarters of Jehovah's Witnesses in Brooklyn, N.Y.

Ruidoso posts solid showing in Alamo

by LAURA CLYMER
Ruidoso News Sports Writer

At a track invitational filled with bigger schools, Ruidoso's Class AAA Warriors were undaunted. Coach Ronny Maskew's thin-clads finished fourth in the boys team results and fifth in the girls team standings of the White Sands Invitational hosted by Alamogordo High School Saturday.

The home team Tigers dominated the invitational, leaving the remaining schools battling for the leftovers.

Senior Kyle Humphreys once again led the Ruidoso boys team. The sprinter scored 14 points in individual events for the Warriors, and helped the 400-meter relay team to a third-place finish.

After qualifying for the long jump finals, Humphreys needed only one leap to win the long jump with a distance of 20 feet, 10.5 inches. He also took third place in the 100-meter dash and fourth in the 200.

For the girls, Erica Romero continued to run well, taking second place in the 800-meter run with a time just over two minutes, 36 seconds.

Romero then ran the anchor leg for Ruidoso's 1600-meter relay team, which placed second with a time of 4:25.06.

The Warriors have a dynamic duo in the strength events with Angelica Figueroa and Olivia Whitaker. Both made the finals of the shot put, with Whitaker capturing third place. Figueroa led the Warriors in the discus with a second-place finish.

The Madness brings out the best in sofa spuds

This is the time of year when I become a true couch potato. I can thank ESPN and CBS for my present state of inertia.

Ever since CBS started televising the first and second-round games of the NCAA Division I Men's Basketball Tournament in mid-March, I've had the activity level of a hibernating sloth (if sloths do indeed hibernate).

Credit ESPN with letting us tune in to the David vs. Goliath matchups of the first rounds. The total sports network used to air the early-round games before the executives at the eyeball network figured out that fans wanted to watch those games.

The most energy I've expended while watching the games since the hoopla started March 14 was a vigorous pumping of the air with my fist when March Madness became March Madness for UCLA. The cerebral Princeton Tigers dissected the defending national champions in an on-court dissertation of fundamental basketball.

I was sad to see the Princeton season end Saturday against Mississippi State. But not too sad; I picked Mississippi State to advance to the Sweet 16 in one pool.

During the NCAA tournament, team loyalties are conditional, and they last about as long as the flavor in a piece of Bazooka bubble gum.

ESPN has added a dimension to my cage dementia — it's now the home network of the NCAA Division I Women's Basketball Tournament and it's telecasting those early round games as well.

Of course, the tape-delayed games aren't on until 11 p.m. (Hmmm, it's 1996 and Title IX has been around for more than 20 years — what's wrong with this picture. A hint: it's not your horizontal setting). It doesn't matter how late it is. I would watch the Stanford Cardinal or the Tennessee Lady Vols play at 3 a.m. if necessary.

It's too bad the women's games aren't on earlier. Basketball purists know it's the top-level women who play basketball as it was meant to be played. If you're into picks, screens, blocking out, playing defense and real shooting — not just jamming it home — you are either tuned in to a women's game or you're watching Bob Knight's Hoosiers.

I guess you could say the combination of daytime and late-night programming makes me a sofa-starchy night owl or a nocturnal-bird-of-prey sofa spud.

Either moniker is OK with me. With the March winds blowing the white sands over the crest of Sierra Blanca, I'm right where I want to be: clinging to my remote control, taking root on my couch and cheering for the University of Massachusetts men and the Stanford women — after all, that's who I've got going all the way.

Coyotes sweep past improved Warrior nine

by LAURA CLYMER
Ruidoso News Sports Writer

In just four games, the Ruidoso baseball team has proved it knows how to get on base. But running the bases once they're on the bags has proved troubling to the Warriors.

On Saturday, Ruidoso committed four baserunning errors, including two pickoffs at second base, as it dropped a doubleheader to Roswell Goddard. But Warrior coach Rodney Webb was quick to find a silver lining in the somewhat dark cloud.

"We played better than the previous week," said Webb, referring to Ruidoso's season opener against Roswell. The Warriors split with the Coyotes March 9. Saturday's loss dropped Ruidoso to 1-3 overall.

Ruidoso banged out 14 hits in the first game with the Rockets. The Warriors rallied with two runs in the top of the seventh to take an 8-7 lead on Goddard.

But the Rockets staged a comeback of their own. Goddard scored a pair of runs on an infield hit, a Texas-leaguer and a Ruidoso error. The rally in the bottom half of the inning gave the Rockets a 9-8 victory.

Brad Davidson and Luis Figueroa led the Ruidoso hit parade. Davidson finished 3-for-4 with two RBI and a double. Figueroa scored three times on three hits, including a double and a triple.

Ruidoso's Ricky Pacini started on the mound for the Warriors and gave up only one earned run in four innings pitched. He could have gone the distance, but Webb is limiting his pitchers to four innings of work per ballgame because it's still early in the season.

The second game was closer than the final score indicated. The Warriors were down only 8-1 going into the bottom of the sixth when the wheels came off the cart. The Rockets scored seven runs in that frame, padding their lead to 10-1.

"They just started hitting hard and seeing eye ground balls," Webb said.

First benefit golf scramble survives wind

The Ruidoso High School golf team hosted its first benefit scramble of the year Sunday at Cree Meadows. More than 50 golfers battled the changing winds in the first of four scrambles, which raise money to defray the golf team's traveling and equipment costs.

Alto Lakes Country Club assistant professional Scott Forster's team blistered the course with an amazing 13 under-par total. On Forster's winning team was Time Vega, David Heath and Warrior golfers Ryan Edwards and Robert Owen. The winners received $50 gift certificates.

Mike Scott's team of Slick Graham, Jim Butler and Warriors Ryan Humphreys and Heather Stephens took second with an 11-under 80.

Three teams tied for third place and received $10 gift certificates. Dwight Andrews, Charles Bentley, Robert Owen, Richard Edwards and Warrior golfer Frizzell Frizzell

The Boys of Spring take the field for the first time in years

by LAURA CLYMER
Ruidoso News Sports Writer
It seems history does repeat itself.

Forty years ago Ruidoso fielded its first high school baseball team. The Warriors opened the season scrambling for equipment and a schedule to play.

Fast forward to the present. After being hired as coach around Christmas, Rodney Webb finds himself in the same situation — searching for equipment, ordering uniforms, putting together a schedule for his fledgling baseball team.

That's where Webb hopes the similarities between his 1996 squad and the 1956 Warriors end.

Webb will focus his efforts on establishing a program that won't die out after several years like the program of the late 1950s. With 31 players on his roster and most of them underclassmen, Webb sees a bright future for Warrior baseball.

Even though they've already played two doubleheaders, Webb is still evaluating his talent.

"More than anything, we're still looking at a lot of kids. We're trying to prioritize our needs right now," Webb said.

In just a month of practice and games, some of the Warriors have proved that they can fill some of those needs.

Senior Luis Figueroa, who's hitting at a .583 clip, is one of those Warriors.

Webb has high praise for his pitcher/outfielder.

"He's got a heckuva arm. The Goddard coach was raving about him (L. Figueroa)," Webb said, noting the Warrior can hit as well.

"He's just knocking the cover off the ball," Webb said. "He's a model kid, a really good one to have around."

Kevin Pellman and Jesse Fromknecht are the only other seniors on the team for Webb.

Ruidoso's talented youth has Webb excited about the Warriors' future.

"One thing we looked for was as many good arms as we could find."

RODNEY WEBB
BASEBALL COACH

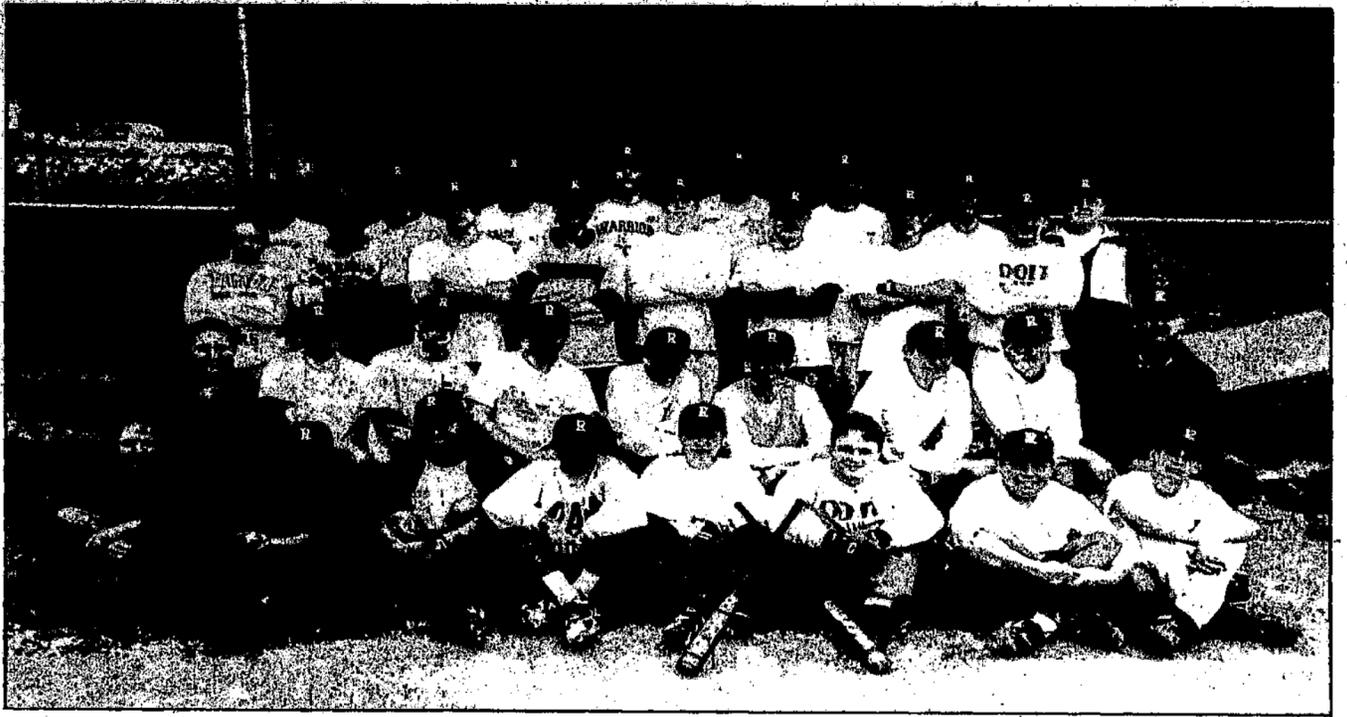

The team is strong up the middle defensively with shortstops Gilbert Sambrano, a junior, and Scott Sebastian, a sophomore. Freshman Brad Davidson at second base is "a tremendous player" according to Webb. Sophomore John Gaston can play the second base spot as well.

A pair of juniors play the corners for Ruidoso. Erik Padilla is at third, while Billy Rogge has first base duties.

Three Warriors will handle the catching duties: Andrew Tenorio, Brett Meyer and Alex Eckert.

Freshman Jorge Figueroa does it all for the Warriors. The utility player can handle the infield, the outfield or pitch.

Anchoring the Warrior outfield are Ricky Pacini, Jorge Garcia and Luis Figueroa (when he's not pitching). Andy Friberg is another pitcher/outfielder Webb has at his disposal.

Thanks to a strong summer Little League baseball program, Webb's team understands the basics of America's favorite pastime. The first-year coach has been busy teaching the subtleties of the game.

"Our baserunning is below average. It's not a matter of just being fast. It's a matter of knowing how to take a lead and when to break on a pitcher's move," Webb said.

Webb wants his team to get more aggressive at the plate. The Warriors make contact when they swing; they're just watching too many third strikes,

The Ruidoso coach's biggest concern, however, is developing pitchers. Because the schedule features doubleheaders, high school teams really need six good pitchers, Webb said.

"One thing we looked for was as many good arms as we could find," Webb said. Presently the Warrior coaching staff is developing seven pitchers.

Ruidoso will play mostly freshman and junior varsity teams from established high school baseball programs this season. The Warriors aren't allowed to compete for district playoffs because this is their first year of competition.

Warriors face rebuilding in '96

by LAURA CLYMER
Ruidoso News Sports Writer

Ruidoso junior Stephen Houghton might feel like the lone ranger on the golf course for the Warriors this spring. He is the only returning varsity player from last year's team, which finished fifth at state.

It doesn't take a quick wit to figure out it's a rebuilding year for coach Ron Wall and his Warriors.

"We have lots of new faces," Wall said.

Ruidoso lost four of its top five players to graduation last year. Yet, even with fresh golfers, Wall thinks his team can still qualify for the state tournament and be competitive.

GOLF

The Warriors don't lack talent, but they are short on experience. The team's only two seniors are Jackie Roe and Byron Soules, both of whom played on the junior varsity squad last year.

Roe and Soules have plenty of athletic experience, though it's not necessarily on the golf course. Both are seasoned varsity players on the basketball and football teams. Wall will depend on them for leadership.

With a varsity team dominated by sophomores and juniors, the Warriors' lack of tournament experience is their Achilles heel.

Houghton will probably play in the No. 1 spot for Wall. Vying for the remaining varsity slots are sophomores Eric Russell, Ryan Humphreys, Adrian Wallen, Ryan Edwards, and Jake Graham; and juniors Brian Phillips, Rhett Hightower and Houghton.

Wall also welcomes eighth grader Ben Andrews, who is considered one of the better — if not the best — players on the team despite his youth. Wall envisions Andrews occupying the fourth or fifth position on varsity. That way he can get varsity experience without the pressure of playing No. 1 or No. 2.

Sometimes, younger players

Expectations high for RHS girls

by LAURA CLYMER
Ruidoso News Sports Writer

The Ruidoso girls golf team came home from the 1995 Class A-AAAA State Golf Championships with the unexpected — a third-place trophy.

"We really surprised a lot of people — even ourselves," Warrior coach Les Carter said of his young team's performance.

This year, however, the Warriors won't be able to sneak away with hardware. No longer can they use the element of surprise to shock opponents. Nor can they hide behind limited expectations.

Ruidoso proved it can play with the big girls last spring, and this spring it needs to prove it was no fluke.

Back to answer any cynics are four of Carter's five top players. Senior Cecilia Fuentes returns along with junior Leigh Ann Christensen and sophomores Heather Stephens, Devon Lowe and Leslie Girth.

Senior Kendra Eggleston also returns after missing last season because of an injured knee.

they need to work hard, Carter said.

"You just don't become a state champion. You have to work to earn it," he said.

How hard the Warriors are willing to work during the season will determine how well they finish up the spring.

"We learned to play with better teams. It's time to play that way all year," Carter said.

Despite their youth on paper, the Warriors are veterans on the course. They have a lot tournament experience. But a lack of depth will be a potential problem for Carter's team.

Carter has a pair of sophomores who played junior varsity last year, in Brooke Fryer and Lily Waistead. After that, Carter would have to pull up middle school players Samantha Ward, Kristin McAllister, Natalie Cervantes and Amy Volin, if he needed them.

The Ruidoso coach hopes it won't come to that. He and assistant coach Pixie Arthur will rely on the Warriors' returning core of players, especially Fuentes and Stephens.

 press, trying to make the spectacular shots when all they need to do is shoot bogies to record a good high school score. Wall said. He and the rest of the Warrior coaching staff will emphasize the importance of playing smart and shooting for scores in the lower 80s.

"The key is the short game and that's where the kids need to concentrate — on putting and chipping," Wall said. "We're in pretty good shape when it comes to the short game."

Ruidoso, which won its fourth straight District 2A-AAA title last year, will have its greatest challenge from district rival Socorro for 2A-AAA laurels.

"Socorro may be our toughest foe. It will be between us and Socorro for districts," Wall said.

Ruidoso has progressed well since it started practicing Feb. 20, Webb said. The Warriors have a grasp of the basic fundamentals, but they need work on the intricacies of the game.

"It's just the little things that we have to do better. Hitting our cutoff man, throwing to the right base, running the bases — those are the things that will come with more practice," Webb said.

Youthful netters to focus on the basics

by LAURA CLYMER
 Ruidoso News Sports Writer

The Ruidoso tennis teams open the 1996 season in Silver City Saturday with a tournament hosted by the Colts.

"This will give us a good indication of what we have," Warrior coach Dave Anderson said of the non-district tourney.

What Anderson has is a team that's as green as a pale verde tree. Both the boys and girls netter teams are replete with underclassmen.

Sophomore Myra Romero should lead the Warrior girls and play No. 1 singles for Anderson.

The athletic sophomore is Ruidoso's top returner in more ways than one.

"Her forehand is pretty strong, as is her backhand. She's a ground stroke player," Anderson said. "We're trying to develop her net game."

Anderson thinks Romero has a chance to qualify for the state tournament.

Another sophomore, Erica Malis, will play No. 2 for the Warriors.

"She really has improved the most in one year. She's playing real strong," Anderson said of Malis.

Like Romero, singles play is Malis' forte, not doubles, and that poses a problem for Anderson.

The Ruidoso coach's top doubles player is senior Corrie Garcia, who will also play No. 3 singles.

Battling for the other three singles spots are mostly freshmen and eighth graders, including Melissa Lucero and Erica Oxford.

Ruidoso lost only Noelle Beechie from last year's team. Beechie qualified for state and lost in the first round. Beechie drew a tough first-round opponent at the state meet — the eventual Class AAA state runnerup. Had Beechie developed a better individual record, she might have gotten farther in the tourney.

"They've got to be concerned about their individual record because it's important for seeding at districts and state," Anderson said.

Anderson's boys team may look more experienced because it has three seniors, but it isn't. The rest of the team's players are eighth graders.

Senior Leaf Anderson returns, but he has not been very consistent in the preseason. Still, Anderson shot a 62 to get part of the third-place money.

The Links of Sierra Blanca professional Eric Eggleston (RHS class of '87) led his team of Jim Rogers, Quinton Eakins and Warrior golfers Rhett Hightower and Josh Varnadore to their portion of third place.

Inn of the Mountain Gods pro Martin Espinosa (RHS class of '89) as well as team members Robert Reed, Henry Ernest and Warriors Brian Phillips and Leigh Christensen also posted a 62.

The next scramble is scheduled for Sunday, March 24, at Alto Lakes Golf and Country Club. Open to the public, interested golfers should call 386-4281 to sign up.

A glimpse into Lincoln County's past, compiled from local newspapers by Polly E. Chavez.

Lincoln County Leader
White Oaks
March 21, 1891
The streets were so muddy on St. Patrick's Day that even the Irish couldn't raise dust. A.B. Seger, one of the leading attorneys and democrats of Las Vegas and Anthony Martin, one of the clearest gentlemen of Meadow City, spent a couple of days in camp this week, a major portion of the time within the paje of this moral centre. With tears lefting their bandannas they left vowing they'd come again. — Hope they will.

We learn that the brick building occupied by Goodman, Ziegler & Co., together with 25 feet adjoining on the corner of White Oaks Avenue and Placer Street, and the 50-foot lot adjoining immediately back, corner of Jicarilla and Placer Street, changed hands during the past week, John Y. Hewitt being the purchaser. This is one of the most desirable properties in town.

EDUCATION

Gifted education committee seeks hiring of second teacher

Board sets child abuse policy, next year's calendar

by DON HIXON
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

The Ruidoso School District's gifted education program has been so successful that a committee wants to add another teacher.

Members of the Gifted Education Advisory Committee told the school board last week about the progress of the program.

The program serves approximately 75 students and has one full-time teacher, Lisa Vasquez. She works with students in kindergarten through sixth grade. Middle school gifted students are taught in the regular class setting, and high school gifted students are taught by Bob Elder, explained district Director of Special Services Paul Wirth.

"Since the middle of the school year, we've had a significant increase in the number of kids qualifying for the gifted program and as a result we are looking for an additional teacher for next year," Wirth said.

Students are identified for the gifted program through various testing and screening procedures, including critical thinking, creativity and cognitive skills, he said.

"We are very sensitive about choosing the right tools or using alternative tools to determine how a student is functioning, particularly for students from minority or different cultures," Wirth added.

Because of improvements in assessment tools, more students are being identified as gifted, Wirth said.

Referrals come from teachers, parents and even students, he said. "Referrals go through the Student Assistance Team and we ask for parent and teacher input," Wirth said. "Then we conduct an Individualized Educational Program (IEP)."

"Since the middle of the school year, we've had a significant increase in the number of kids qualifying for the gifted program."

PAUL WIRTH
SPECIAL SERVICES DIRECTOR

The state required the formation of the advisory committee about two years ago, he said. It includes about 12 to 15 staff members, parents and students.

Committee members make recommendations about possible improvements and directions of the program.

Students in the program are challenged in a variety of ways, Wirth said.

"I think that we are all in agreement that everybody likes the services being provided in the program, but we just need a second Lisa," Wirth said. "Our goal is to make the second teacher high on next year's recommendation list to the school board and the budget committee."

Child abuse policy

At last week's meeting, the school board also approved a draft of a new child abuse reporting policy. Parents, teachers, Ruidoso Education Association members and the Children, Youth and Families Department were involved in creating the five-page draft.

"We had a policy but we didn't have the actual procedures," Wirth said.

1996-97 calendar

The board also approved the 1996-97 school calendar at the meeting. The schedule of the calendar is:

- Aug. 20: students' first day;
- Sept. 2: Labor Day holiday;
- Oct. 11-14: Fall break;
- Oct. 18: half-day workday;
- Oct. 24-25: parent/teacher conferences;
- Nov. 27 (half-day)-29: holiday;
- Dec. 20: half-day workday;
- Dec. 23-Jan. 3: holiday;
- Jan. 6: return from holiday;
- Jan. 20: Martin Luther King holiday;
- Feb. 17: President's Day;
- March 14: half-day workday;
- March 20-21: parent/teacher conferences;
- March 24-28: Spring break;
- March 31: Easter holiday;
- May. 29: all-day inservice;

will probably start out No. 1 for the Warriors.

Anderson's other two upperclassmen are seniors Jack Roddy and Chad Messick.

"The eighth-grade boys are looking real promising," said Anderson, noting Bryant Davis and Jeremy Phillips in particular.

James Haddad, James Herrera and Charles Flannery round out Anderson's eighth-grade class.

"We're not going to be strong this year, but in two years we should be really strong," Anderson said.

With such a young team, Anderson's goals for the teams are relatively simple: fundamentals, fundamentals, and more fundamentals.

Francois' want ad reads: a single male domestic short-hair with interesting markings seeks a comfortable house and family to care for him; litter box trained and 1.5-years-old. His owner could not keep him.

Rosy is an adorable white female terrier/poodle mix who is gentle, smart and housebroken. She's not a big barker like many small dogs. She likes to be inside on a comfortable lap and is about three-years-old. She's stray from Capitan.

The ease or strain of housebreaking a dog can dictate the tenor of an owner's relationship with a new pet.

Crate training is one of many methods suggested for both pups, young dogs and even adults, who may need a reminder after a stay in a shelter or if they have been outdoor dogs.

The structure, whether its wood, wire or plastic, functions as the dog's den, room and safe house. The main requirement is that it is large enough for the animal to stand up when full-grown, turn around and lie flat on its side.

Remember dogs are den animals, genetically programmed thousands of years ago to seek safety from attack above or behind.

The crate is a housebreaking tool, because dogs will not soil their dens. It's a place comfortable for your pet when guests are in the house and for use as a retreat when the pet seeks some time alone. It is kept inside and is not a dog house.

The success of crate use depends on how it is introduced to a pet. Don't ever use it for punishment. When a crate is brought home, let the dog examine it. Put a washable cotton blanket inside.

Try baiting with a treat, but it still may take a few days before the dog ventures inside. Once it settles down, let the animal take a nap with the door open. In time, the door can be closed at the same time the dog is being praised for being good.

Before closing a dog inside a crate, be sure it has eliminated, then direct it to go to the "crate."

Don't forget the crate is a tool, not a way of life. Your dog's favorite place is with you. Never put a pup in a crate and leave the room for a long time. Dogs are social creatures and pack animal. You are now the dog's pack.

In summer, keep the crate out of the sun and be sure there is plenty of air circulation.

A crate also is a handy tool when traveling with a dog, preventing windows from being licked and you from being distracted. In case of an accident, instead of being thrown from the car or being hit running away on the highway, the dog can easily be removed in the crate.

Pups about six weeks of age need to go outside about every four hours. That increases to five hours at eight weeks and eight hours by 5-6 months. They should be supervised when loose in the house.

FIRING LINE

"Resolved: Cyberspace Doesn't Need Special Protection From Smut"

In March, a two-hour Firing Line looks at new technology in "Resolved: Cyberspace Doesn't Need Special Protection From Smut."

Porn on the Internet is not the sole aspect of the argument. The telecommunications bill currently before Congress could change the ground rules for every area of the communications industry. Can the new technology be regulated? In an era when every desktop has the power to become a broadcasting station, is government intervention actually possible? If so, is it right or wrong and where does the First Amendment fit in? Should the protection of children prevail over the adult right of free access to information?

Firing Line "Resolved: Cyberspace Doesn't Need Special Protection From Smut" will be broadcast Friday, March 22nd at 9:00 p.m.

The New Explorers

"The Critical Connection"

In "The Critical Connection," The New Explorers with Bill Kurtis follows physicians at The Rehabilitation Institute of Chicago as they treat victims of severe head and spinal cord injury.

Each year an estimated two million people in this country sustain a traumatic brain injury. Ten thousand people injure their spinal cord. These injuries prevent information from being carried to the muscles and vital organs of the body. Before World War II, injuries such as these meant certain death. Now, improved understanding of traumatic injuries to the brain and spinal cord enables many to survive their injuries... but there is still no cure.

For more information about tapes, educational guides, or The New Explorers companion book, call 800.621.0600.

The Critical Connection on The New Explorers will be broadcast Sunday, March 24th at 6:00 a.m. on KENW-TV.

Hidden Mexico

This entertaining exploration of the food, history, and folk cultures of Mexico travels through two states in Mexico's western region—Michoacan and Guerrero—to highlight the people and foods unique to each area. The program introduces viewers to a variety of Mexican foods, including an exotic delicacy native to the mountains of Taxco: "jumiles"—brownish-green, winged beetles about the size of a horsefly.

Hidden Mexico will be broadcast Sunday, March 24th at 11:00 p.m. It repeats Saturday, March 30th at 6:00 a.m.
