Early voting now possible in Ruidoso

For the first time, Lincoln County voters will have the option of voting early at the Ruidoso Civic Events Center.

County Clerk Martha Proctor says (May 15) opened an early voting polling place for the June 4 primaries. It will stay open through June 1.

"I wanted to accommodate the voters in Ruidoso," Proctor said. "This is not required for smaller counties, but I wanted to make sure voting was more accessible."

The polling place will be open from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. each weekday and from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. June 1, the last day allowed for early voting.

Motorcyclist killed on U.S. Hwy. 70

An 80-year-old Tularosa man was killed early Monday on U.S. 70 when he was thrown from his motorcycle after being struck by a pickup.

According to a report filed by New Mexico State Police Officer Johnny Ortega, William Thompson was headed east on U.S. 70 between Tularosa and the Mescalero Apache Reservation about 9:25 a.m.

Thompson had stopped on the shoulder of the road and was attempting to rejoin traffic when he apparently pulled into the path of oncoming traffic.

He was hit by a 1996 Ford pickup truck driven by Norris Kaydazinne, 35, of Mescalero. Kaydazinne suffered minor injuries. No charges will be filed against Kaydazinne.

Fort Stanton's Joiner reassigned

After serving as postmaster at the Fort Stanton Post Office for 10 years, Betty Joiner said Tuesday she's been reassigned to the Captain Post Office.

"I heard yesterday," she told Lincoln County Commissioners during a special meeting at the historic fort. "I had given up (that a new tenant would be found)."

The fort was closed in March 1996 by Gov. Gary Johnson after operating as a hospital for nearly a century. Two attempts to find a new tenant by the state General Services Department have failed.

Willie Hobbs will take over as officer in charge of the post office until another postmaster is assigned part time. The first Fort Stanton postmaster was appointed May 5, 1857.

Fire danger sparks forest closures

by JOANNA DODDER
Ruidoso News Editor

More than half of the Lincoln National Forest will be closed Monday — unless it gets a rain of Noah-like proportions.

Lincoln County residents will have no place to camp on the Smokey Bear Ranger District if predicted closure areas remain the same. While closure areas in all the other forest districts have been set, Forest Supervisor Jose Martinez is considering revising the list for the Smokey Bear because, as it stands, not a single campground or picnic area would be open.

"This is a historic high for fire danger" on the Lincoln National Forest, said information officer Merle Glenn. "We don't know of a time that was worse than this."

The regional forester in Albuquerque has already given his stamp of approval to the closure, officials said.

Gates will not block roads, but signs will show which ones are closed and closed areas will be heavily patrolled, officials said. Those who live in or own property in closed areas will be allowed to pass through without written proof, but those with permission to use someone else's private land must have that permission in writing.

Measurements taken yesterday in the forest show dry conditions worse than any measurements taken in previous years. Pine needles (one-hour fuels) have 2% moisture and trees larger than three inches in diameter (1,000-hour fuels) have 6% moisture. That means it could literally take 40 days of rain to saturate these fuels.

The "energy release component" on the Lincoln is 94, and anything over 76 equates to extreme fire danger, said Dave Cummings, fire management officer for the Smokey Bear District.

"You have the potential for extreme fire behavior — hot, dangerous fires," Cummings said.

The forest was closed for two days in the early 1980s and 30 days in 1974, Glenn said. The 1974 closure followed a fire in the Sacramento District's Weed area, Glenn said.

SEASON OF DROUGHT

"We've already exceeded the 1974 conditions," Cummings said, "and that was considered one of the worst fire seasons in the southwest."

"We've heard oldtimers say we're exceeding the conditions of the 1950s."

Areas of the forest scheduled to be closed include:

- Capitan Mountains;
- White Mountains;
- forestland around Ruidoso, including the fitness trail near the Smokey Bear District office and all the district's campgrounds and picnic grounds;
- and the Carrizo Mountains on the Smokey Bear District.

The city of Alamogordo has decided to close the popular Bonito Lake and the road to it, forest officials added.

"This will have an impact on Ruidoso because it will shut down recreation activities around Ruidoso," Cummings said of the closures.

Areas remaining open include:

- Jicarilla Mountains north of Forest Road 72;
- Indian Divide area;
- Capitan Divide area;
- area south of forest roads 338 and 57;
- Hale Lake area;
- and lower Eagle Creek area on the Smokey Bear.

The Forest Service will release a map of the closure areas tomorrow, officials said.

All federal and state highways will stay open through the forest, but people are asked to stay on the pavement. The scenic drive to Ski Apache is scheduled to stay open, but again, people cannot leave the pavement.

In general, areas with thick stands of Ponderosa Pine and mixed conifer are more likely to be closed, because they have the highest potential for dangerous fires. And in general, this type of forest surrounds Ruidoso.

Forest officials are also banning all personal-use firewood cutting. Some commercial cutting will still go on, Cummings said. Some other special uses such as cattle grazing will also continue.

About 60 Forest Service firefighters are on call on the Lincoln right now, Cummings said.

On Tuesday, Ruidoso Mayor Jerry Shaw issued a proclamation declaring a "fire danger emergency" in the village.

Few roads in county faster for cars today

□ New speed limits affect three county roads

by KATHLEEN McDONALD
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Lincoln County drivers soon will be able to reach their destination faster than ever without exceeding the speed limit — but just on three roads.

There are five increases in the 55 mph speed limit along Lincoln County highways, officials said (although some officials offered shorter lists):

- U.S. 70 East from Ruidoso to Sunset (just past Picacho) will increase from 55 mph to 60 mph;
- U.S. 70 East from Sunset to Roswell will increase from 55 mph to 65 mph;
- a 12-mile stretch of Highway 380 from Carrizozo east to the Highway 37 turnoff will change from 55 mph to 65 mph;
- Highway 380 from Carrizozo west to about five miles before Bingham will increase to 65 mph (after road improvements are finished);
- and except for six miles near the junction of NM 545 to La Luz, all of U.S. 54 in Lincoln County will increase to 65 mph.

While the new law goes into effect today, it will take about two days before federal highways have new speeds and five days for state roads, officials said. Individual new speed limits aren't effective until the signs are up.

Highway Department Secretary Pete Rahn was in Ruidoso for a highway commission meeting Thursday and a Friday morning breakfast gathering with local officials. He said 75 mph speed limit signs have been installed on interstates and state highways.

"Whatever the sign says is what the speed limit is," Rahn warned. "Anticipate strict enforcement."

Rahn spent most of his Ruidoso visit describing his department's fiscal blues because of anticipated lost revenue from a gas tax loophole.

As much as $130 million in taxes out of an estimated 1996-97 budget of $500 million could be lost if the loophole for gas distributors on Indian land is fully taken advantage of, Rahn said.

Commission cool to state plans at fort

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

If state forestry and corrections officials expected Lincoln County to endorse turning Fort Stanton into a forestry work camp for minimum security prisoners, they were disappointed Tuesday.

Several county commissioners said they were distrustful of state programs that can be canceled suddenly, and of an administration that doesn't appear to plan ahead.

They still want to pursue a proposal for the county to take over the historic fort and former state hospital. With the county handling the lease of the fort, provisions could be eliminated that have driven away private companies interested in 25-year leases.

After the special meeting at the fort 15 miles northeast of Ruidoso Tuesday, Commissioner Wilton Howell said at least one company still wants the fort, but is unwilling to lease when the state could revoke the agreement without cause.

But Commissioner L. Ray Nunley said he strongly supports the idea of putting 150-200 minimum-security inmates to work in the forest improving trails, thinning

Ruidoso councilors in favor of retail tax increase

by KATHLEEN McDONALD
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

Starting in January, shoppers will likely pay slightly more for products in Ruidoso.

Prior to approving a preliminary $29.98 million budget for 1996-97 on Tuesday, village councilors also gave the nod to a hike in the gross receipts tax.

A public hearing on the proposed tax increase will be held around July, the same time the final budget is approved.

The money will help fund water projects.

"Water's a very serious issue and equipment is needed," said Village Manager Gary Jackson.

The 1/8th of 1% (0.125%) increase in the gross receipts tax — the last remaining portion the governing body has the authority to impose — will generate an estimated $220,000 a year, the village manager said.

The additional sales tax will change the current 6.8125% consumers are charged when buying retail goods in Ruidoso to 6.9375%.

If implemented, the increase will make Ruidoso's gross receipts tax rate the highest in the state, Laird Grasser of the state tax and revenue department said.

Currently the village has the second-highest rate; Taos, Questa and Red River have the highest rates of 6.875%, Grasser said.

During budget workshops in April, Jackson had proposed the tax increase be used to establish an ongoing equipment replacement fund.

But during recent weeks, the seemingly endless drought conditions prompted him to redraft the purpose of the proposed tax increase, he said.

"Every waking moment we're concentrating on water issues," Jackson said. "It's an appropriate prioritization at this time."

If the council gives final approval to the tax increase in July, councilors will determine exactly what water projects will be funded by the tax increase. It could be telemetry equipment that allows tanks to communicate through computers, or any other, line improvements, or water rights, capital projects.

In future years, money from the tax increase could be reappropriated by the council for other capital projects, Jackson said.

The vehicle equipment replacement fund will still be established in the 1996-97 budget by taking $219,000 out of general fund reserves, which will still be left with $619,412 or a 12% balance, Jackson said.

out silling trees and doing other jobs that might otherwise never be done.

State Forester Toby Martinez from Santa Fe said 11 such camps already are operating in Nevada and citizens have requested two more.

A less-formal pilot project based on the same premise has started in the Cibola National Forest, said Garry Blackwell of the state forestry division team that put together the proposal for Fort Stanton.

Corrections Secretary Karl Sannicks supports the program, because while living in Nevada, he was associated with that state's program.

The inmates would be assigned to public projects, working on county, state and federal land. Some projects may be on private land if they benefit the community at large, Martinez said. The list of possibilities is endless, he said.

Similar programs also are operating in the states of Oregon, California and Washington, he said. In New Mexico, four camps are envisioned, one for each quadrant of the state. Silver City has been suggested for the southwest and Fort Stanton for the southeast.

About 15 forestry employees and 15 corrections department workers would run the camp and supervise 12-man crews. The corrections people would be responsible for housing, feeding and other custodial care of prisoners. The forest division would handle the training, supervise the work and coordinate projects, Blackwell said.

"This would represent a higher degree of training," he said. "They would learn how to thin forests, build rock structures, restore historic buildings and protect watersheds."

Inmates would be paid 25-85 cents an hour and would not compete with private companies, Martinez said.

"Unless we get the resources we're asking for, we will not pursue it any further," he said.

If the state Legislature approves money for the program in January, the dollars would become available in July 1997. The program would have to be re-approved and funded each year by the Legislature.

The proposal already has been presented to the Governor's Criminal Justice Council and to his Chief of Staff. It goes to Gov. Gary Johnson on May 28. One or two facilities are being suggested for the first phase.

"So far, we've gotten a lot of encouragement," Martinez said. Lack of backing from the county would influence the priority of considering the fort, he added.

The state only has enough money to keep the fort running until Dec. 31, Commissioner Sterling Spencer said, adding that he supported the efforts of the two departments to come up with a plan.

"We're here to support anything that's good for the facility and the community, but you have to realize the commission is looking at running the facility and leasing it to a private company to get away from the uncertainty of operating under the state," said Commission Chairman Monroy Montes.

Commissioners Bill Schwetzmann and Howell said they're leery of the state system used to classify inmates for minimum security.

Manuel Romero, director of state corrections, said inmates would have to be in the last two or three years of their sentence, which cannot exceed five years. They could not be currently serving a sentence for a conviction on murder, sex crimes or crimes involving children.

"Is this a plan or the flavor of the day?" Howell asked. "Wouldn't it have made sense to leave Camp Sierra Blanca as it was? Over a year ago, Sannicks suggested using the fort for non-violent inmates and I guess that hasn't changed."

"It sounds like it's been repackaged so it's more acceptable," Montes said.

State Rep. Dub Williams (R-Glencoe) said he would like to sponsor a community picnic at the fort to get public response on the plan and to let residents have a first-hand view of the facility.

Pros, cons of fort prison plan

Several positives and negatives about the state's idea for a forestry prison camp at Fort Stanton were put forth at Tuesday's county commission meeting.

State Forester Toby Martinez pointed to advantages of the program as:

- the fort already is on a list of suitable facilities;

- the work would help the community;

- jobs would be created;

- defensible space against fire around structures in Ruidoso would be created;

- and the project would help tourism by improving and maintaining trails and camping areas.

But County Commissioner Wilton Howell criticized the state's lack of consistency and planning ahead, noting that:

- Gov. Johnson closed the fort in March 1995 without a plan for a replacement operation;

- the head of the state department of Children, Youth and Families (CYF) said in 1995 she couldn't use the fort because she didn't want young offenders near adult prisoners at Camp Sierra Blanca (CSB);

- the county opposed a plan last year to put a minimum-security prison at the fort;

- when the state announced Camp Sierra Blanca will close later this year, the CYF decided to start a juvenile environmental work camp there;

- and now the state is again proposing to house adult inmates at the fort.

New playground equipment planned in Downs park

The Ruidoso Downs Board of Trustees Monday approved spending $2,000 to buy new playground equipment for the new All American Park.

Police officer Ray Montes presented estimates from two playground equipment companies, and the village chose Quality Industries.

For $4,766, they will buy two swing sets, a four-way "buck about," a merry-go-round, a slide, and two barbeque grills. Quality Industries gives municipalities a 10% discount.

A raffle held by the village five years ago generated $3,200 to help buy playground equipment. The village held off on the purchase until a ballfield was fixed up and other maintenance was completed.

Also at the Ruidoso Downs meeting, Officer Chris Condon was awarded the President's National Medal of Patriotism by the American Police Hall of Fame. The honor recognizes an officer's dedication to supporting the U.S. Constitution and Bill of Rights. Condon is past president of both Kiwanis and the Fraternal Order of Police, and he is assistant scout master for Boy Scout Troop #57.

Ruidoso Downs fire chief seeks more burning restrictions

By PAMELA CROWWELL
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

As the weather heats up and no rain is in sight, Ruidoso Downs Fire Chief Nick Herrera wants to expand on the village's fire ban.

And although Ruidoso Downs is not experiencing a water shortage like Ruidoso's, village trustees are thinking about adding a water shortage contingency plan to their existing water ordinance.

Ruidoso Downs has already prohibited smoking except within an enclosed vehicle equipped with an ashtray, a building, a developed recreation site, or while stopped in an area cleared to barren ground three feet in all directions. Neighboring Ruidoso has no such restriction.

Herrera said the potential for a serious fire in the village is extreme.

"If we get a fire on Turkey Canyon Street, we won't have enough water to put it out before it reaches Roswell," Herrera said.

Trustee Jackie Branum suggested officials enforce current restrictions to the maximum. Herrera and other law-enforcement officials will be especially strict with anyone caught smoking near hazardous ground or burning an open fire. Fireworks are completely outlawed. The penalty for selling or setting off fireworks is $300 and/or 90 days in jail.

As a safety measure, Trustee Jackie Branum presented a rough draft of a water contingency plan at Monday's Village Council meeting. Phase I of this plan is a non-emergency, public education campaign on "smart water usage."

A public hearing on whether or not to adopt this water contingency plan will be held at the next village council meeting on Monday, June 10.

"I think we need to be in this phase now, anyway," Branum said. "It's important to not be wasteful."

Part of the village's concern is the need to have enough stored water to fight fires.

"Right now we're holding good," Mayor Joe Hayhurst said. "Our 500,000-gallon tank is full."

The village water source is a mountain spring in Ruidoso Downs. Village Clerk Leann Weibrecht said the water maintenance department has not seen any signs of a water shortage in Ruidoso Downs.

Phase II of the proposed plan would call for moderate usage: outdoor watering on an odd-even day system, watering only between 8 p.m. and 6 a.m., and concentrated media campaign efforts to reduce water consumption.

Phase III of the water contingency plan would be water rationing, including no outdoor watering and limited use of indoor water. In a Phase III situation, citations would be issued after one warning.

The decision of when to move into a new phase would be left to the village maintenance department, which monitors water levels and consumption rates.

Khenany will perform a variety of Latin American rhythms at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the First Christian Church.

Folkloric group is last in concert series

The final concert of the season for the Ruidoso Community Concert Association will feature Khenany, the popular folkloric group from Mexico.

The concert will be held at the First Christian Church at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, May 16. Immediately following the concert, there will be a punch and cookies reception for the audience and the artists.

An evening with Khenany is more than a concert; it is a musical journey to diverse cultures and eras.

Playing Latin American rhythms including salsa, rumba, cha-cha, samba, bossa nova, and especially the native songs of the Andes mountains, Khenany's music is both haunting and beautiful. Most of Khenany's songs are in Spanish, but Quechua (the language of the ancient Incan empire), and English selections are also included to produce a sound that cuts across all age, race, and ethnic backgrounds, appealing to a broad audience.

Using dozens of instruments created from wood, bamboo, clay, and even armadillo, Khenany produces rhythms that have held hundreds of U.S. and Mexican audiences spellbound with interpretations of the new and the old. Interspersed with the music, the group explains some of the folklore and history of its repertoire and instruments.

Organized in 1981, Khenany has recorded five albums/CDs since its inception in the northern Mexico city of Obregon. The group takes its name from a divine Peruvian princess who, legend holds, fell in love with a Spanish conquistador, and Khenany was transformed into a bamboo shoot to escape the wrath of her people. A Spanish poet found the bamboo shoot and carved it into a flute that became the soul of Andean folk music.

Hondo Fire Dept. plans Arabela substation

A substation will be established in Arabela to cut the 22-minute response time to fires in that area for the Hondo Volunteer Fire Department.

Lincoln County Commissioners approved moving ahead with the new station on property donated by a local landowner.

Chief Modesto Chavez said the next step is to approach the state forestry division and Bureau of Land Management for some used equipment such as a brush truck.

"Previously, this was no man's land," said Commission Chairman Monroy Montes. The action squares up the boundary lines of the Hondo district, extends it to the county's eastern boundary and cuts out responsibility for any land on the Mescalero Apache Reservation.

"By having a truck there, we probably will save some homes," Chavez said.

"It's a good site for a substation," said Barbara Luna, manager of the Capitan state forestry division. "Historically, there are a lot of lightning strikes in that area. It will make our job easier. Our response time adds 20-25 minutes."

About five volunteers already have signed up to handle the substation. The person donating the land also will provide water, she said.

County Emergency Services Director Connie Hopper said a request for permission to establish a substation couldn't be sent to the state fire marshal until the county approved the map of the new district lines. Commissioners last week approved $10,000 out of the county facility fund to use toward the station.

"Most of our fires here are caused by cigarettes," said Tom Armstrong, a captain in the Downs fire department.

Open fires, campfires, charcoal broilers, and outdoor wood and coal stoves are also already prohibited in Ruidoso Downs.

Herrera wants to ban gas grills as well.

At Monday's trustee meeting, Mayor Hayhurst and the trustees did not support Herrera's request to tighten fire restrictions.

"There's a lot of people hollering already," Hayhurst said. "I don't want to ban gas grills."

Because Ruidoso Downs borders the national forest, Herrera said, it should follow current Lincoln National Forest fire restrictions. The Forest Service has banned gas grills and all smoking except in enclosing vehicles.

RUIDOSO VILLAGE COUNCIL RESULTS

Following is action taken at the May 14 Ruidoso Village Council regular meeting.

PUBLIC HEARINGS
— Approved a zone map amendment changing from single family residential (R-1) to high density residential (R-3) lots 2-6, block 3, of the Hamilton Terrace Subdivision.

The R-3 zone will allow less dense construction — about 21 units with parking for 36 cars on the 1.5 acres of land compared to the approximately 33 units with parking for 48 cars in the R-1 zone recommended by the Planning and Zoning Commission.

Applicant Don Minor said he'd probably build a maximum 18 units. Two of the lots will have three units, and the other three will have four-unit, one-level apartments.

Prior to receiving a certificate of occupancy for the new apartment construction, the applicant must construct or plant barriers separating the apartments from houses.

The zone map amendment is consistent with the village master plan.

About six residents of the Hamilton Terrace area opposed the zone change, saying they bought their property because it is in an R-1 zone; that the increase in traffic volume would negatively impact their neighborhood; and that the increase in water usage shouldn't be considered by a village suffering from severe drought conditions.

— Approved ordinance 96-06, authorizing an $850,000 loan agreement with the New Mexico Health and Environmental Improvement Division for improvements and construction of the Regional Wastewater Treatment Plant. The loan will be paid off with wastewater plant revenues.

REGULAR ITEMS
— Voted against the vacation of 5,212 square feet of public right of way at the south end of Morningside Road because the village is under no obligation to approve land vacations. The applicant, Dagmar Arnes, owns adjoining property on each side of the subject area. Arnes also offered to pay for construction of a cul-de-sac at the end of the road if the vacation was approved; currently, emergency vehicles can't access the lower part of the road or turn around.

Two neighboring residents opposed the vacation, saying it would leave their homes on Cree Meadows Drive landlocked without future additional access options.

— Approved the Ledger's Tax Committee recommendations for spending funds in fiscal 1996-97. Recommended expenditures for special events promotions is $27,000; recommended Convention and Visitors Bureau budget is $419,000, which includes $279,572 for advertising and $139,428 for operations.

— Approved the $29.96 million preliminary budget for the Village of Ruidoso for fiscal year 1996-97.

— Awarded the audit services contract for the fiscal years 1996-1999 to Ronnie Hemphill, CPA.

— Delayed consideration of the Scenic Byways Interpretive Center site until three questions to state officials are answered. One land offer, next to the Museum of the Horse, is from the Hubbard Foundation; the other offer is Lincoln County's Glencoe Rural Events Center.

Pending questions are: can a gift shop be built within the interpretive center with proceeds going to the center; can a facility built on donated land be reverted back to the donor if for some reason the village could no longer operate the center; and could center construction money be used to remodel an existing building.

— Delayed the Joint Powers Agreement with the New Mexico State Highway and Transportation Department for the $650,000 scenic byways project until answers are obtained about the interpretive center site.

— Delayed a bid award of a one-ton 4x4 crew cab truck for the water department.

BOARD APPOINTMENTS
CONSENT REGULAR ITEMS
— Approval of village council meeting minutes.

— Bid award of $9,795 to Road Machinery for a water department trench compactor.

— Authorized committee to proceed with negotiations on a proposed Scenic Byways Corridor Management Plan contract.

MUNICIPAL OFFICIALS REPORTS
Because Mayor Jerry Shaw and mayor pro tem Leon Eggleston will be out of town Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, Councillor Joe Gomez will serve as the acting mayor.

VILLAGE MANAGER REPORTS
Four exploratory wells have been drilled in the Eagle Creek area; as many as seven in the Eagle Creek area may be drilled. Pump tests to reveal the producing capability of one of the exploratory wells already drilled is currently taking place.

A request has been filed with the state engineer to give emergency consideration allowing a new well to be added for use before public hearings are held and permits are obtained.

The manufacturer of a plant addition at the Grindstone Water Treatment Plant will have the addition ready in about eight weeks.

The village has printed "water conservation" brochures to be distributed at motels, and has ordered 15,000 water flow restrictors that will be offered free to citizens.

A five-million-gallon water tank, out of commission for repairs, is being refilled for consumer use.

Plans for water distribution line and sewer line improvements will be ready for bid early this summer.

Village Manager Gary Jackson proposed adding one more phase to the village's three-phase water contingency plan. The new phase would allow limited outdoor watering in a more restrictive way than the current level 2 restrictions.

Forestry camp at fort is idea worth considering

It may not be a good idea for county commissioners to shoot down state agencies' idea to have a forestry work camp for minimum security prisoners at Fort Stanton.

With the fire danger we're experiencing now, we could use some help thinning out forests around here. Since funding is often hard to come by, using prisoners at dirt-cheap wages is an idea worth strong consideration. Plus, the prisoners get to work out in the sunshine instead of staying cooped up indoors, so it's not a bad deal for them, either. It's just too bad that bureaucracy doesn't allow quicker action than early 1997.

If county officials have a better idea, now's the time to be specific about it. The fort has been closed for more than a year now, and if county officials know about a good tenant, we want to know who it is. The prospective tenant needs to do some public lobbying, too, and gets its plan out to the media.

We can't argue with some commissioners' comments that the Johnson administration doesn't appear to plan ahead. But we need to do something with that fort before the dozens of buildings start to deteriorate.

We like Rep. Dub Williams idea for a community picnic at the fort to see what the community thinks. Williams should schedule it as soon as possible.

Please support Optimists' May 18 Golf Scramble

TO THE EDITOR:

The Optimist Club of Ruidoso has done so much good for the youth of our community, that I feel it is important to urge the citizens of this town to support our Golf Scramble at the Links on May 18.

There are children who have no shoes, or coats, or food, that our club has provided for. We work with Head Start and all of the schools, trying to provide anything that the principals ask us. This year has been amazing. We have held (and will hold another) a bicycle safety rodeo, assisted with the immunization program, will spend the day registering children with photos and fingerprints should their parents ever need them; organized over 100 students to clean up the river; filled up hotel rooms in this town with our convention; and offered scholarships for an oratorical contest, ENMU, and an essay contest. This list goes on and on.

It is time to ask you one more time to offer your donation as a hole sponsor to our club so we can keep the good work going. Contact Jim Wood at 258-9218 or Phil Dipalo at 258-4649 to sponsor a hole, or to join us in playing golf on May 18. We need the help of our community so we can continue to help you.

Other important dates: May 18, Golf Scramble; May 25, Child ID program and immunizations at Wal-Mart; June 1, Bicycle Rodeo (bicycles still being accepted for donation).

A poem for a fallen officer

TO THE EDITOR:

This week our nation and community will honor police officers that have given their lives in the line of duty.

Police officers deal with people every day, and most of the time the people are at their worst. Below is a poem written by Randolph Lieber, a past president of NJ Lodge #27. Next time you receive a speeding ticket, think of this poem and remember that cops are not out to get you, they are only protecting you, your family and friends.

"Blood Upon the Shield"

by Randolph Lieber

president of N.J. Lodge #27

Confronted in an alley, the Centurion does not yield. But this time the good guy loses: there is blood upon the shield.

And the mournful sounds of bagpipes play out across the land, drowned out by the sobs of a lonely wife and a child too young to understand.

While the killer pleads his case in court, the thin blue line is one man short. And we're one step closer to society's fall: another cop's name is engraved on the wall. Another state funeral, with an army in blue, and we know it could've been me and it could've been you.

We all look ahead to what the future has in store, front line troopers in a country that's at war. At war with itself and at war with its cops and we're out there every day 'cause the battle never stops. It's not the way it is on TV shows or like we learned in school; no cool music in the background, no playing by the "rules."

We're disillusioned warriors, but for right we'll always strive. We just pray that at the end of our stress-filled day we'll get back home alive.

You stand out on the corner, ig-norning the insults and the stares, close to the point of believing that no one really cares, when a six-year-old boy walks over after watching you for a while, reaching out to shake your hand, on his face a friendly smile. To him you are a hero, a protector of our land, and he wants to learn about you, as a cop and as a man.

And when he asks you why your badge is covered by a black elastic band, tell him about our Brother — A cop who made a stand,

Ask for God's help for end to drought

TO THE EDITOR:

A cry to God:

The lack of water is serious in Lincoln County. WE NEED RAIN!

I wonder how many of us are crying out to our God (who created all) to send water and end our drought, to save our forests from fire? I am asking God, are you?

Lord, we repent — please heal our land!

Mother's Day was also Rogation Sunday

Sunday, May 12, was Mother's Day and also Rogation Sunday, the time for blessing the farms and pastures, and the animals of farms and ranches, and for giving thanks for the bounty of the earth.

Mrs. Eleanor Shockey placed on the altar memorial flowers from the garden of her mother, the late and beloved Jewell Bonnell, in tribute to all mothers on their special day.

The Reverend Canon John W. Penn offered a prayer for agriculture: "Almighty God, we thank you for making the earth fruitful, so that it might produce what is needed for life. Bless those who work in the fields; give us reasonable weather; and grant that we may all share the fruits of the earth, rejoicing in your goodness; through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen."

Father John also offered a special prayer for rain. The part of the service devoted to Rogation Sunday was conducted outdoors, with clouds gathering overhead.

Happy Birthday to the Arizona Kid

This is being sent to you on May 18, and will reach you on May 16, three days before the birthday of Bob Lambert, also known as the Arizona Kid.

Robert E. Lambert was born May 17, 1909, in Ballard County, Ky. When Bob was nine he and his mother set out for Arizona for his mother's health.

While on the train his mother had a conversation with a man who turned out to be Zane Grey, world famous writer of western stories. In Arizona, Bob began a life that would remind you of stories written by Zane Grey.

Once in Arizona, Bob's mother's health began improving rapidly and he went to work as a cook on ranches around Fayles, Ariz. In helping his mother, Bob learned much of the art of cooking, which served him well in later years and until this day.

The cowboys on the ranches took a great liking to Bob and helped and encouraged him to become a hand himself.

At 15 years of age, Bob began life as a cowboy. "We got $50 a month and check," Bob remembers, "and you had the whole outdoors to sleep in."

From his youthful beginning as a cowboy, Bob received the name "The Arizona Kid."

In 1945 Bob had saved $1,000 with which he made a down payment on a ranch.

His Star of Good Fortune

Bob's Star of Good Fortune shone down brightly when on July 28, 1945, he was married to the former Beatrice Jane Vyne, affectionately known as "Betty," in Skull Valley, Ariz.

In Arizona, Bob and Betty had become acquainted with Bill Dick and Duke Browning, natives of the Ruidoso Valley, which they often described as God's country.

After 30 years of ranching in Arizona they arrived at their present home, where they established The Canyon Trading Post in 1969.

Here they have met people from all over the world. And they soon came to believe that the Browning boys were correct in their description of the Ruidoso Valley.

Bob has said that when you live out of doors, you often feel close to God. Bob and Betty have a deep appreciation of all God's creatures.

One time a sparrow had broken its leg and was helpless in the yard. Bob made a splint out of a popsicle stick and the bird recovered and became a great pet. They named him "Spare Like the Sparrow."

Spare Like would spend the night in his cage. In the daytime he would come down into the room. He would perch on Bob's shoulder while he read "True West" magazine.

Every time I remember Bob and Spare Like, I think of the old favorite song "Rocked in the cradle of the deep. I lay me down in peace to sleep. Secure I rest upon the wave let them, O Lord, hasten to me. I know that thou wilt heed my call for those that make the sparrow's fall."

Bob and Betty have been a blessing to us through the years. We wish "The Arizona Kid" many happy returns of the day and all God's blessings.

Thinclads run middle of the road at state

by LAURA CLYMER
Ruidoso News Sports Writer

One savvy term described Ruidoso's performance at the Class AAA State Track Championships.

"It was kind of medium, Warrior track coach Ronnie Maskew said.

What Maskew's teams needed was either a race or well-done showing. The Ruidoso boys team scored 10 points in the final team standings, while the Warrior girls came up empty.

"I think we should have done a little bit better in a couple areas," said Maskew, adding he was still pleased with the efforts of his Warriors.

Senior Kyle Humphreys led Ruidoso individually with a second-place finish in the long jump and fourth place in the 200-meter dash. He also anchored Ruidoso's 300-meter relay team, which ran sixth in the finals.

Closing out Ruidoso's scoring was junior Guadalupe Garcia's sixth place in the 300-meter hurdles. He also made the finals in the 110-meter hurdles, but finished out of the scoring in seventh.

Los Alamos' Kevin Dutton stepped Humphreys' unbeaten streak in the long jump finals Saturday morning. Dutton posted a mark of 23 feet, 3 1/4 inches — a measurement within Humphreys' range, but not on this day. The Warrior's best effort was a 31-5. Humphreys had won eight straight long jump events going into Saturday's finals.

"I guess that leg is a little bit worn out," Maskew said of Humphreys' right knee.

Humphreys tore his anterior cruciate ligament during the football season last fall. During the winter, he rehabilitated it without undergoing surgery so he could compete in track this spring.

"As much as he's had to do in the last three or four weeks, I think it has finally caught up in that leg," Maskew said.

CLASS AAA STATE MEET

Humphreys closes out a stellar career for the Warriors. He owns the school long jump record of 23-2 and won back-to-back District 3AAA titles in the long jump and 100-meter dash. Humphreys also claimed the 200-meter dash district crown in 1995.

Maskew will have a tough time replacing Humphreys, who has been invited to participate in the Great Southwest Track and Field Classic at Arizona State University in Tempe May 24 and 25.

"We'll find a way to replace him the best we can," Maskew said.

The last Warrior to be invited to the Great Southwest meet was distance runner Louisa Tain. Tain has since gone on to have a fine running career for Texas Tech University. She recently received the university's highest honors for student-athletic achievement. High school age participants from California, Arizona, Nevada, Colorado, Utah, New Mexico and Texas will converge upon Sun Devil Stadium for the event.

Humphreys isn't the only senior Maskew will have to replace. He also loses Joey Bewley, Greg Anderson, Erik Kakaska, Rex Comanche and Kody Sparks off the boys team.

"These kids have put in a lot of time and effort for the track program and we really appreciate their contributions. They'll be hard to replace," he said. "But we think we've got some good people coming back."

The girls lose discus and shot put thrower Angelica Figueroa, sprinter and high jumper Sheryl Dockery and distance runner Nancy Palmer to graduation.

Figueroa was the only Warrior to make it to the finals of her event, the discus. Figueroa took seventh overall.

Still, the Warriors return a number of young faces for next year, including state-qualifying runners Lisa Lopez, Mandi Levallen, Priscilla Rojas, America Sandoval, Jessica Daniels and Jayme Faxton.

"We hope it was a learning experience for all the younger kids. For the seniors that we had, they all performed as well as they could," Maskew said.

The Warrior girls program seems to be on the up and up. Ruidoso took 11 girls to the state meet compared with just two in 1995.

"Girls have made a lot of progress since last year," the Warrior mentor said. "We've got some girls that are dang good competitors."

DRUMBEATS: The Warrior boys 400-meter relay team ran one of its better times in the event, but didn't make the finals.... It was hot, hot, hot in Albuquerque, but it didn't bother Ruidoso's entries — at least it shouldn't have if it did. "The thing was, it wasn't just hot in our lane," Maskew said.

RHS alum's team captures track title

by LAURA CLYMER
Ruidoso News Sports Writer

At least a former Warrior had a field day at the Class AAA State Track Championships.

The Albuquerque Academy boys team, coached by former Ruidoso student-athlete Scott Neal, finally claimed the Class AAA title after narrow second-place finishes the last two years. The Chargers beat out Kirtland Central by a single point.

"It was a dream come true year. The kids worked really, really hard," said Neal, who graduated from Ruidoso in 1982.

Ruidoso track coach Ronnie Maskew offered his congratulations to his former athlete.

"If we can't win it, I'm glad someone like Scott can," Maskew said.

Neal has taught and coached at Academy for nine years. He's been the head track coach for the last five years.

The Chargers were second-best in 1994 and 1995, and in '95 they lost the state title by the same margin they won it this year; one point.

"Since the night of state last year, it's been a goal (to win the state meet)," Neal said. "They just came through at the right moment."

Academy needed at least a sixth-place finish in the last race of the meet to tie Kirtland Central for the team title. The Chargers took fifth place, which gave them sole possession of the top spot in AAA.

"Our goal is, we want to be the best program in the state. That doesn't mean you win every year; it means you're consistent," Neal said.

"He (Ronny Maskew) began to instill a pride and tradition in track, and certainly a strong work ethic. He was a strong motivator."

SCOTT NEAL

ALBUQUERQUE ACADEMY is an all-Boys Track Coach and former Ruidoso Warrior.

Maskew and Neal keep in touch during the track seasons, as one would expect from a coach and his protégé. The Ruidoso mentor's coaching has influenced the University of New Mexico graduate's style, Neal said.

Neal remembers his sophomore year at Ruidoso when Maskew took over as head coach of the track program.

"We got new uniforms and warmups that year. He began to instill a pride and tradition in track, and certainly a strong work ethic," Neal fondly recalled of his mentor. "He was a strong motivator."

Neal described himself as a "mediocre at best" relay runner for the Warriors, but Maskew recalled it differently.

"Scott was a very good athlete, kind of one of the mainstays of our track program," Maskew said.

Did Maskew offer his former standout any advice at state?

"He knows what he's doing. They have top quality kids in every event," Maskew said. "Sometimes, you're better off not offering any advice."

Romero ousted in first round

by LAURA CLYMER
Ruidoso News Sports Writer

Ruidoso coach Dave Anderson wanted to offer words of consolation to his young tennis standout Myra Romero last Friday, but the intense Warrior would have none of it.

"She wouldn't talk to me," Anderson said, adding that Romero felt like she beat herself.

Who could blame her? Romero had just fell in the first round of the Class A-AAA State Girls Tennis Championships in Albuquerque.

It was a hard-fought affair between Romero and Silver's Cori Brak, with the Colt prevailing in three sets, 7-6 (7-5), 4-6, 6-0.

"Myra broke down. She just lost concentration in the third set," Anderson said. "She was playing the points, but she wasn't going for it."

As competitive as she is, Romero will learn from the experience and use it to improve her play next year. She has already set her sights on the district singles title and a better performance at the state tournament, Anderson said.

That's not to say Romero played poorly in Albuquerque — she didn't.

"Stroke for stroke, Myra was a better player. But mentally the Silver girl kept her stability," Anderson said.

To help gain experience, Romero plans to play as many United States Tennis Association (USTA) tournaments as she can this summer. Anderson said Romero will compete in a higher age class so she play against the older, heavier-hitting girls.

Romero earned her trip to Albuquerque by finishing third in the District 4A-AAA tournament, hosted by New Mexico Military Institute (NMMI) May 4.

Most other Ruidoso teams compete in District 3AAA, but Anderson prefers the 4AAA because it's a stronger tennis district.

"If we can win in this district then we can do well in state because almost all of the kids from this district made it past the first round. So, we're obviously in the right district — it's stronger," said Anderson, noting NMMI's boys won the Class A-AAA doubles title and had the runner up in boys singles play.

Anderson's remaining Warriors didn't fare as well as Romero at the district tournament.

The Ruidoso boys No. 2 doubles team of Juan Arreola and Jeremy Phillips and singles player Chad Messick all lost in the first round, as did the Warrior girls — No. 2 singles player Corrie Garcia and doubles teams Desiree Maldonado and Melissa Lucero and Rachel Beddoe and Amanda Sisson.

Eighth-graders Charles Flannery and Bryant Davis proved they might hold the Warriors' hopes for the future. The Warriors' No. 1 boys doubles duo stubbornly lost in three sets at the District 4A-AAA tourney.

RHS vice principal position eliminated

by PAMELA CROMWELL
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

The Ruidoso School Board approved the restructuring of Ruidoso High School's (RHS) administration at its Tuesday meeting.

RHS Vice Principal Danny Flores is transferring to Sierra Vista Primary, where he will replace Don Weems as principal. Weems is retiring this year.

Rather than hire a new vice principal for the high school, Principal Ron Hodges has re-distributed that position's duties among two student advisers, the school's department heads, the registrar, and the secretary.

Mike Gladden supported the idea of restructuring the administration, which will free up money for student services.

Officials said the Ruidoso School District now ranks 81st out of 89 school districts in administrative costs per pupil, making it one of the most efficient.

Principal Hodges assured the school board the high school will still operate effectively.

"I will miss Danny, but I don't like to just hold the status quo," Hodges said.

"The purpose of educational reform should be to create the kinds of institutional arrangements and organizational structures that promote excellence and not those that guarantee mediocrity," he explained in a letter with his restructuring proposal.

Student advisers Bob Elder and Les Carter will answer directly to Hodges in place of a vice principal. Elder will be responsible for discipline of 10th and 11th graders, teachers' sick and personal leave, substitutes, and other duties.

Carter, who is also the RHS athletic director, will expand his duties to discipline for ninth graders, transportation requests, and other duties. Hodges will take over discipline for 12th graders in addition to his regular duties as principal.

District achievements

The board also heard about several school district achievements.

Three high school students were named ACT Scholars. Shannon Gray, Melissa Miller, and Anthony Trujillo all scored within the 92-percentile on the ACT test and earned a grade point average of 3.5 or higher.

Roger Bowder, principal of Nob Hill Early Childhood Development Center, talked about Nob Hill's accreditation from the National Association for the Education of Young Children (NAEYC). The achievement was originally awarded and announced in April. Five percent of the schools in the nation hold this accreditation, and Nob Hill is the only school in New Mexico to earn it so far.

Superintendent Mike Gladden said the high school graduation ceremony will take place at 10 a.m. Saturday, May 25 at the W.D. Horton Stadium, accommodating a larger audience than previous indoor graduations.

"We also believe that since we've moved it outdoors, this will be the day we get our big rain," Gladden said. "We're happy to provide this service."

Early budget work

Business manager Caron Snow presented a tentative 1996-97 school district budget. For the first time, general operations funding is expected to pass the $10 million mark because of a slight increase in unit value and conservative estimates of increased enrollment.

The 1996-97 unit value, which determines how much money per student schools receive, is up 6% from 1995-96. This unit value is determined by House Bill 2. Ruidoso anticipates a 1.32% increase in enrollment.

School board member Susan Lutterman pointed out that the school board was not consulted in the planning of this tentative budget. Superintendent Gladden explained the budget work is still preliminary. Lutterman called for a special meeting so the board can review the budget plans in detail.

New hirings

The board approved Gladden's recommendations for hiring five new licensed employees to replace retirees and fill open positions. Henry Sutton will replace Eddis Parker as RHS marketing teacher and DECA sponsor. Jerrett Perry will take over Jackie Toljar's position as special education teacher at the high school, and he will be the wrestling coach.

Students can help prevent wildfires

New Mexico State Forester Toby Martinez is asking schools and students for students' help preventing fires.

The current potential for wildfires in New Mexico is one of the worst in recorded history, Martinez said. Fires could go from a few acres to thousands of acres in a matter of hours.

Students can help by following these fire prevention tips:

- Do not play with fire of any kind. That means no fireworks or bottle rockets.
- No campfires, just stoves that have safety devices.
- Do not burn any trash.
- Do not strike a match of any sort. That could potentially start a fire.
- When you are in the woods, be alert and safe. Make sure you know what your friends are doing.
- If a fire starts by your house, it can burn not only yours, but many people's houses.

Elementary school launches space shuttle

by PAMELA CROMWELL
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

The Starship Enchantment blasted off Friday from White Mountain Elementary School with 26 young astronauts aboard. The third and fourth graders in the space shuttle education program sponsored by NASA visited two distant galaxies and returned safely.

The shuttle experienced only minor difficulties, and astronauts reported their findings at a press conference following their return.

Astronaut Matt Haines reported that the shuttle suffered a broken wing, a loose panel, some turbulence and one backfire.

The Starship Enchantment is a converted school bus donated several years ago by Rick Simpson and painted to resemble a space shuttle. It blasted off with a puff of green smoke ejected from its back door "rocket boosters."

The launching ceremonies followed actual NASA procedures as closely as possible, with 120 students participating in various jobs. Security guards monitored all entrances, and a hospitality crew welcomed guests.

Medical technicians, with the help of school nurse Paula Timmerman, made health checks on all the astronauts. Launch and landing crews were assisted by Southwest Airlines pilot Stewart Force and flight attendant Robbia Force.

Several dignitaries attended the launch, including Ruidoso Downs Trustee Jackie Branam, Lincoln County Commissioner L. Ray Nunley, County Commissioner Bill Schwetzman, Ruidoso Councilor Joe Gomez, Ruidoso School Board member Jim Varnadore, and State School Board President and Ruidoso School Board member Susan Lutterman.

The event was given an official military style with the White Sands Missile Range Color Guard presenting and retiring colors for the ceremony. A special speech was made by German Air Force Pilot Volker Henkel, from Holloman Air Force Base.

Several speakers told the students that the most important key to success is following your dreams. "If you want to do it, just do it," Henkel said. "You'll know it's worth it when you're in your aircraft, and your afterburner lights and you get a kick in your back, and you go straight up."

White Mountain Elementary (WME) Principal Frank Cannella applauded the teachers and volunteers who organized the space shuttle project. Five classes participated, including Alice Payne's, Susie Rhodes', Molly Long's, Gary Stamper's, and Susan Carter's.

Volunteers from parent groups, White Mountain Search and Rescue, and various businesses donated time and supplies. The Ruidoso High School 14-Karat Gold Band played the national anthem and other spirited songs.

WME students volunteered to participate in the space shuttle program, and they had to pass a number of physical tests and show a good record of academics and citizenship.

Commander Traci Estrada said the physical tests included bouncing a ball as long as possible, jumping rope, and running an obstacle course. She said the experience was fun and taught her about being an astronaut.

The astronauts conducted various experiments during their visits to two galaxies. At Galaxy Bonito, where they were assisted by the Forest Service, astronauts conducted soil quality experiments. Astronauts Katie Coronado, Michael McKlesky, Christopher Kluthe and Ashlee Powers reported that the soil was too sandy and its pH too basic to support vegetation well.

The second crew visited Skylab on the Saturn moon Titan (Ruidoso Middle School), where Ruidoso High School science teacher Rick Overdorf helped conduct various experiments with solar power.

Astronauts Ryan Vordermann, Cass Forrest, Adria Saldin, Suqala Gant, Caydee Swanner, and Javier Martinez reported the Skylab team's findings. Solar power is much weaker on earth than on Titan, they reported. Astronaut Swanner noted a definite increase in astronauts' body temperature during the shuttle's flight.

Principal Frank Canella congratulated the students, teachers and volunteers for exemplifying the principles of teamwork and goal-setting.

U.S. Rep. Joe Skeen visited the crew and shuttle in April, and Canella reported that Skeen was very complimentary of the school and its students.

Astronaut Ryan Vordermann has his blood pressure checked by Nurse Paula Timmerman during a pre-flight exam.

The Starship Enchantment, a renovated school bus, blasted off from White Mountain Elementary School with 26 young astronauts aboard. The "rocket smoke" came from a fire extinguisher.

The crew of White Mountain Elementary's Starship Enchantment face the press after the shuttle returned from its tour of two nearby galaxies. The astronauts reported the findings of their experiments.

The Outlook White Oaks May 11, 1905

The Lincoln Court adjourned last Friday morning after an almost four weeks session. The term was one crowded with business from beginning to end. The jury in the Analla arson case failed to agree.

Beattie Familie, charged with murder was found guilty in the first degree of that crime, and sentenced to be hanged June 2nd. B.J. Baca pled guilty of burglary and was sentenced to one year in the penitentiary. A number of civil cases were decided, and in several the court reserved its decision.

The White Oaks contingent who attended the session have all returned, feeling that they had an interesting visit to the county seat.

Jury finds local man not guilty of stealing Nolan Ryan baseball

A jury May 7 found a Ruidoso man not guilty of receiving stolen property in connection with a stolen baseball autographed by Nolan Ryan, police said.

Jerald Lee Rushing, 19, was defended by attorney Adam Raffin. Rushing testified he found the baseball in a friend's car he towed from Carlizozo, police said.

Testimony against him came from a convicted felon, Jeb Stuart Russell, who is serving a three-year sentence for a series of Ruidoso burglaries, police said.

Russell, who had been living with Rushing before being convicted in June for November 1995

Pippin Street burglaries, told police Rushing had the baseball as well as an ATV, pocketknife, fireworks and other items that were stolen, police said.

Russell informed police of the stolen property the day of his conviction, while he was being held at the Lincoln County Jail, police said.

Detective Wolfgang Horn called Rushing and told him police were informed he had stolen property at his house. Horn asked Rushing to bring to the station all the items that belonged to his ex-roommate or things that he believed to be stolen, Rushing, who also goes by the name Pearce, later brought in a bag of dirty laundry and two rifles, police said.

A few days later, police obtained a search warrant for Rushing's Nob Hill residence and recovered the Nolan Ryan baseball, valued at $5,000, together with a 1985 Honda ATV, pocketknife, tools, and about 27 other items believed to be stolen from about 12 Ruidoso homes, police said.

Rushing maintained that, besides finding the baseball in a friend's car, he bought the knife at Wal-Mart and the ATV belonged to Russell. The jury decided Rushing did not know the items were stolen, police said.

Omar is a cute and cuddly Chow Chow mix. He's about six months old with a brown "Fozzy Bear" coat. Although poor breeding has given chows an undeserved reputation, Omar exhibits a sweet and affectionate nature.

A fun-loving and boisterous Labrador/hound mix, Michael is full of enthusiasm for life. About a year old, he's a good looking dog, but smaller than an average lab. A short coat means low maintenance.

Four types of parasites commonly afflict dogs in the Ruidoso area.

Owners should watch for diarrhea, prolonged or intermittent.

But don't jump ahead and begin worming a dog that may be showing those symptoms, said Sandra Ford, assistant director of the Lincoln County Humane Society animal shelter on Gavilan Canyon Road.

"Let your veterinarian perform tests and diagnose the condition," she said. "Giving a dog worming medication without a diagnosis and a prescribed treatment can be harmful to a pet, because remedies against one type often are ineffective against another."

The more common parasites treated in the Ruidoso area are roundworms, tapeworms, coccidia and giardia.

Hookworms and whipworms are rare here, according to local veterinarians. If they are seen at all, it is in dogs that have come from humid climates where the parasites flourish.

Pets can ingest parasites by eating rodents and other small animals that already are infested. They also can pick up parasites from eating grass, being around contaminated feces and living in unsanitary conditions.

Puppies especially are vulnerable. Roundworms can be passed to pups through their mother's milk. Veterinarians find coccidia common in pups raised outside in areas with a dirt floor.

Sanitation is the best prevention. Keep dogs' bedding clean and dry, pick up feces in the yard regularly and don't encourage your pet to hunt rodents.

Drinking from ponds, gutters and streams, dogs can contract a microscopic parasite called giardia.

Infection can be prevented easily by always having a fresh water source available. Running mountain streams often are contaminated.

When planning a long walk or hike with a canine friend, you may want to bring water for both humans and dog. However, your dog still may sneak down to the stream to drink.

Even without symptoms, take a stool sample with when your dog goes for its annual rabies, Parvo and distemper shots and overall check up. Your doctor can look for parasites in the stool under the microscope. The vet will send home the necessary medication to kill the parasite, usually with no significant side effects.
