Census 2000 – counting people means more jobs

BY DIANNE STALLINGS RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

The first step in the Census 2000 population count in Lincoln County will be a physical check of every address possible starting this year.

That assignment will create 46 local jobs paying from $7.25 to $8.75 an hour to attract applicants knowledgeable enough about the county to put together a realistic population figure, says Joseph Sandoval of the U.S. Census

The count is important because it will determine eligibility for grants and impact the amount of money the county receives for numerous programs including senior citizens groups, he told county commissioners Tuesday.

"We're starting the census now by doing address listings," Sandoval said. "In 1990, New Mexico was the state with (the worst) undercount. We're hiring locals to physically drive the roads in the county to ensure that doesn't hap-

All but the northern section of the county, which is sparsely populated, will be covered. The bureau can't afford to physically cover that large area with so few homes, he said.

After the data is collected, it will be reviewed with the county to make sure the bureau has included the major subdivisions and growth areas, Sandoval said. The group also will be working with the post offices.

"And for the first time, someone can call and respond to the census," he said. "Forms also will be available around the county at senior citizen centers, the hospital, convenience stores and the commission office in Carrizozo."

Or they can be mailed in. Staff also will be available to help answer questions about properly filling out the forms, he said.

'We're going to be able to catch duplications with our new technology," Sandoval said.

To fill the 46 jobs, he doesn't want seasonal residents or newcomers.

"I want those who are invested in the counhe said. "You need to get your people out there. People who realize the impact. It's your base for the next 10 years. The better the house count, the better the census.'

Those hired also will be paid 31 cents a mile, Sandoval said. Three or four crew leaders will receive the higher hourly amount of $8.75. He asked for the commission's help in finding people to fill the jobs and for commissioners to set aside space for them to be trained.

"Start sending them now to the local employment office or they can call 1-888-325-7733," he said.

He'd like to see retired road or water department workers on the "complete count committee" that would oversee this initial effort and come up with plans on how to implement the 2000 count and mount campaigns to urge people to respond. Committee members and the coordinator - the liaison and central contact point would be unpaid volunteers, Sandoval said.

Commissioner William Schwettmann suggested using a senior citizens group or an organization such as Rotary or the Lions to head the

County responds to jail hazards

BY DIANNE STALLINGS RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

Lincoln County Commissioners hope their response to a warning about fire and safety code hazards at the existing county jail in Carrizozo will keep the detention center open until a new jail is built.

They unanimously approved a 12-page response assembled by County Attorney Alan Morel Tuesday. State Fire Marshal George Chavez gave the county until July 22 to answer why the commission has failed to comply with about 20 life safety codes.

Chairman L. Ray Nunley said Chavez was irritated when he arrived at the state office in Santa Fe last week with Commissioner Rex Wilson, because the county had not responded to a similar letter sent nearly a year ago.

previous letter, William Commissioner Schwettmann said he saw a response that was to be sent to the state at that time.

One of the issues raised by Chavez was that all potential fire ignition points must be eliminated. That might mean the jail kitchen would have to be closed, Nunley said. If that happens, he has arranged with the Zia Senior Citizens Center to use that kitchen to cook meals, he said.

The biggest hit - about $100,000 a year - could be a requirement for a minimum of three employees in the jail at all

In the response, Morel outlined staff added during the last year by the county and asked Chavez to consider a new audio-video surveillance system recently installed at the jail when setting the minimum number.

The response also contains steps the county has taken toward building a new jail with an estimated completion date of Dec. 31, 1999.

Nunley noted that the date is not a guarantee, but a projection. Commissioners haven't yet selected. a site, but have hired a consulting

In a related matter, commissioners approved agreements with the villages of Ruidoso, Ruidoso Downs, Capitan and Carrizozo to house their prisoners for $50 a day in the jail on a space available basis.

Nunley said he was unaware of Karen Reeder, arts teacher at Ruidoso High School, gestures to the shelves where student artwork was held before an arson fire on June 10 destroyed but most of the pieces, some of which were headed to the state fair in September.

Assessing the real cost of arson

• Causing more than fire and smoke damage, the arson fire at Ruidoso High School took from students their artwork and their opportunities for art education, community members say.

Karen Reeder carefully aligned a pencil drawing in the paper cutter before trimming away one of three "It's a mystery to me," said the petite art teacher at Ruidoso High School, lifting the arm of the paper cutter and reaching for another burned piece of artwork. Standing on the soot-covered floor of an art classroom that still reeked of smoke, Reeder last week worked to save some of her students' artwork damaged in the arson fire set June 10.

While trimming the pieces, some of which were to be entered in the state fair in September, Reeder ruminated about why someone would enter the school's fine arts building, force open the door to her classroom, force open the door to her storage room, and pour linseed oil about the room before ignit-

Tve thought about it a lot," Reeder said. "I feel like it had to be somebody who knew what was in there because they went to so much trouble to break

The storage room is where Reeder kept 20 years of student artwork as well as her own work. She also kept valuable equipment in the room, such as a month-old computer printer and copier machine. None of the equipment was taken, though it was destroyed by the fire. Because nothing was taken, police investigators say a student is probably not the arsonist.

Reeder's statements echoed investigators' conclusions.

"I don't know of any student that is that angry with me," Reed said with a rueful laugh. "But if it's someone that I failed, most of them know that they failed 'cause they just didn't do anything. You really have to work hard to fail art. And I can't think that it's anyone that I just made angry."

The storage room door was closed after the fire was started and flames contained to the single room, but smoke filled the entire building, causing damage that is estimated to cost hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Principal Ron Hodges last week said damage from the fire could reach the $700,000 mark cited earlier by fire officials depending on whether the smoke-permeated ceiling tiles and floor coverings could be cleaned or would have to be replaced.

Ruidoso police Lt. Wolf Born this week said evidence from the fire had been collected and is being processed. Depending on the outcome, an arrest warrant soon may be issued for a suspect in the arson, he said.

Reeder said the school's insurance company has been very cooperative and is replacing equipment and school property. Her own insurance company, through a homeowners policy, will cover some of her personal items kept in the storage room.

Restrictions

· Homes and businesses may water outside on alternate days.

BY TONI K. LAXSON

RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

Ruidoso's water conservation ordinance on Tuesday dropped to its lowest level of restrictions, Village Manager Alan Briley said.

Under the Phase 1 of Ruidoso water contingency plan, homes and businesses may water outside on alternate days — odd-numbered days for people with odd-numbered addresses, and even-numbered days for people with even-numbered

Two weeks ago, the village went to Phase 3 of the water contingency plan, which is triggered when water supplies reach serious conditions. One gauge of those conditions is the water level in the village's two 5-million-gallon tank; in Alto.

Briley said as of Tuesday water in the tanks, which provide water to the majority of residents and businesses. had risen to 51 feet. Based on village law, at least 50 feet of water must be in the two Alto tanks before the village may go to Phase 1.

The tanks' water level had dropped to 18 feet in late June when a main water line between the Alto water processing plant and the tanks broke, village officials said.

The tanks have since recovered, largely because people haven't been watering outside, village officials have said. Outside watering has been unnecessary because of almost daily rainfall since July 2.

Mayor Robert Donaldson recently said officials think the main water line may have been leaking for some time before it broke completely at about 7:30 p.m. on June 29. That reasoning, said Donaldson, is based on the speed at which the Alto water tanks recovered after the line was repaired despite the July 4th weekend — one of the heaviest water usage weekends of the year.

Briley said water levels in both Alto and Grindstone lakes, which are also used as gauges of the village's water resources, continue to drop. Last week, Briley said Alto Lake was down two feet from the Phase 1 benchmark.

Ruidoso mayor pushes for changes in ETZ

BY DIANNE STALLINGS RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

Before more money and time is spent by Ruidoso to update the law governing a one-mile extra-territorial district around Ruidoso, Lincoln County Commissioners need to agree in concept with five key points. Mayor Robert Donaldson said Tuesday.

"If we can get an O.K. on those major points, we can go ahead with a draft," he told commissioners during a county meeting in village hall,

The points include that the village staff would be responsible for code enforcement and that the process of handling applications would be simplified. The county has no zoning law and no code enforcement and Monroy Montes) and one officer, although it does have a planning board and subdivision regulations. The revised ordinance essentially would be a watered down version of the village's zoning law, Donaldson

ommission to look for new county manager

BY DIANNE STALLINGS RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

Lincoln County needs more than just a new county manager. It needs a purchasing agent to centralize buying and to track orders and payments, county commissioners said Tuesday.

Chairman L. Ray Nunley said it's time for the county to look for a new manager, although he commended acting manager Martha Guevara for handling the job so well since the former manager was fired last April.

Monroy Commissioner Montes pointed out that last May, commissioners agreed a purchasing agent was needed to the annual audit for purchasing Howell said: " problems.

"I'd like to consider two separate employees," Montes said The last two managers have proven the manager can't be asked to be both."

A purchasing agent probably would save the county more money than the salary he or she collects, Numley said, but the added the position should carry more responsibilities than just purchases.

County Attorney Alan Morel said he could combine job descriptions for a purchasing agent and a director of personnel, but added that normally, the manager is personnel director.

Museum of the Horse makes bid to run Glencoe Events Center

BY DIANNE STALLINGS RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

Only one management proposal was received by the Lincoln County Commission for the Rural Events Center at Glencoe on U.S. 70.

And that one was for too much money and too long a contract, commissioners said.

But three commissioners thought the proposal from the Museum of the Horse was interesting enough to at least meet with museum director Bruce Eldredge and discuss some options and a more moderate figure than $447,750 over three years.

Commissioners William Schwettmann and Rex Wilson voted against the motion to negotiate with the museum.

"When I first saw this, I thought it was ludicrous what they were asking us to do," Schwettmann said. He also criticized the commission for not advertising for a longer period than two weeks.

"As we have in the past, we rushed the advertising and we'll suffer the consequences later," he said. "Thé specifications asked for were not available until Tuesday of last week. (Acting county manager Martha Guevara) mailed out manager six packets Tuesday and that's not close to being adequate

"These people (the museum, which is involved in the annual Lincoln County Cowboy Symposium staged at the center) already knew the facility. I'm shocked that we'd even consider starting to negotiate at this level."

He pointed out museum representatives want a three year agreement with an option for two more years.

The county spent about $78,000 this year on the operation and management of the center, Montes said. The museum's proposal is for $146,450 the first year, $155,350 the second and $145,950 the third. The fee would cover management, maintenance, operations and some capital expenses.

Howell Schwettmann what he would like to see happen at the rural events center, if he doesn't want a private group managing

"I'd like to see it run by volunteers (in the same approach as the county fairground in Capitan is managed by the Lincoln County Schwettmann Association), said. "It could be padlocked between functions. We don't need a staff there full time."

If that's not successful, the county should sell it, he said. But Howell reminded Schwettmann he didn't support by Howell to sell the events center and return the $250,000 to the Legislature.

Wilson said he didn't think the center's manager position should be abolished until the commission was sure it wants to hire a management group and has an agreement. But Montes' motion to negotiate with the museum included abolition of the position. Wilson also objected to paying a full-time staff at the center for a much higher amount of money than commissioners were willing to pay Linda Wallace, who has been manager since the rural events center was purchased with money from the state Legislature. She guided its expansion, applied for grants and lobbied for additional state and federal money that built a new arena and attracted more events.

The manager under the museum is proposed to start at $37,500 plus $11,259 in benefits and increase to $40,500 and $2,150 in the third year. Wallace was paid about $21,000, Commissioner Wilton Howell said.

Chairman L. Ray Nunley said aside from the money, he liked the proposal and thought the non-profit museum was backed well enough financially to handle the job and had professionals on staff.

In his proposal, Eldredge specified that: · Glen Barrow, a licensed general contractor, chairman of the Ruidoso Planning and Zoning Commission and past director of the cowboy symposium, would be assigned as a full time manager. The museum staff will handle paperwork and receive phone calls when he's not available. Along with the museum, the center will use the professional services of the Ruidoso Downs Race Track for all of its accounting needs.

 If revenues generated result in a deficit of more than 10 percent of the contract in a single year, the museum will seek to renegotiate the terms.

 A community advisory group would include members of similar operating groups in the county such as the fair association.

 An outside marketing firm would be put on contract: with county approval, and packages will be developed with local lodgers. The proposal also included economic projections of the impact of activities at the center in terms of lodging and other spending. Direct rental and admission income was listed as $9,000 the first year $15,000 the second year and

Griffin said he and an associate showed up twice at Butts' court on two previous court dates only to find out that the trials had been continued.

OUR OPINION

Arsonists are truly the scum of the earth

The world is full of people who deserve particular scorn; but none, say we, is more deserving of scorn than an arsonist.

Arsonists belong at the bottom of the heap of garbage along with such brain-bereft humans as vandals, serial killers, rapists and pedophiles. All show an inhuman contempt for the rights of other human beings. It could even be argued that arsonists, using fire to destroy promiscuously, are the worst beasts of all.

Certainly the arsonist, young or old, who deliberately set fire to the fine arts building at Ruidoso High School, has earned our total contempt. That person caused more than $700,000 in damage to the building, but beyond that destroyed a 20-year collection of art work by students and teachers including student entries for a pending art competition.

The creative efforts of more than a generation of young people were destroyed. Why such hate? The only way to find an answer is to catch and prosecute the arsonist.

Lincoln County Crimestoppers is offering a reward of $1000 for information leading to trial or indictment of the person or persons responsible, according to Ruidoso Police Chief Lanny Maddox.

Call it a reward for scraping up some of the scum of the earth and disposing of it.

Timely reminder

"Never believe anything you hear and only half of what you see."

That's a skeptic's watchword, and not for everybody. But in this day of gee-whiz electronics and never-ending scams to make (or save) money, it's not bad advice. Ask the folks at Ruidoso Downs Race Track who received "telephone company repair" calls, asking them to key in a twodigit number, presumably to test the phone circuits. (That combination gave the the caller access to the track's long distance service, complete with computer billing access.)

With such access, unlimited phone calls could have been made worldwide, and billed to a track number.

That's just one of a variety of ways phone service can

A couple of rules apply to avoid such rip-offs: 1. Examine every phone bill promptly and contact the provider about questionable items.

2. Don't respond to any sort of unusual question when you don't know, personally, who's calling.

YOUR OPINION

Taxation without representation?

To the editor:

I have never written a letter to any news agency. My feeling is that an opinion expressed will change nothing. Those that have the power will rationalize. away every other opinion to justify their own personal agenda.

This time, however, I can no longer remain silent. It seems that every issue of the Ruidoso News has at least one article on how someone is Lincoln County is planning an increase of taxes in one form or another.

My county taxes just went up 16.2% per month. I can't even vote out the scoundrels that raised these taxes because I am a remote home owner. I see now that water and garbage rates are going up.

Ruidoso already pays the highest taxes in the state of New Mexico; what do you politicians think you're doing? How about some responsibility, how about a bunch of tax cuts! They did it with Prop 18 in California, you can do it here!

One of the things that ttracted me to New Mexico was its cheaper taxes. Well this is no longer the case; I can barely afford to make this house payment as it is, and yet you continue to tax me and others like me without representation. Let me inform you of one fact, soon there will be a big influx of "baby boomers" retiring in this town and county, and I bet everyone of them is against new taxes. There will be a revolution; no more of this Democrat tax and spend stuff.

You politicians will be lucky to be kicked out of town without the tar and feathers!

No grain of truth in anti-gun cartoons

To the editor:

I am writing to let you know that I am growing increasingly angry at your need to insult a significant portion of your readers through your anti-gunowner cartoons. The cartoon on your editorial page on Wednesday, July 8, is an example of what I mean. Even worse was the cartoon a few weeks ago showing Charlton Heston as Moses displaying a re-written version of the Ten Commandments. There, you not only insulted gun owners and NRA members, but religious people as well—all of which I am.

For a political cartoon to be effective, it has to have at least a grain of truth, but your cartoons contain no truth whatever. For instance, the July 8 atrocity suggesting that that "guns aren't killing people because the Brady Law is working" has no basis in fact. As far as I know, there are no studies that show that ANY gun-owner law has ever saved a single life.

I have no idea why you have decided to insult me, but I sup-port your First Amendment right to do so. I only wish that you would be supportive of my Second Amendment right to keep and best arms. Even though you have the right to offend. I have the right to not pay for your offense. I have subscribed to, and advertised in the Ruidoso News for nearly ten years. Unless you give up your insulting behavior and offer some apology for past offenses, I will no longer purchase your product.

'Radicals' in our midst worthy of defense

To the editor:

While in Otero County recently, I was informed that three women in Alamogordo have been labeled as "radicals" by the Federal administration because they are outspoken about the erosion of the United States Constitution, pational severeignty, and human and property rights.

I spoke with these women, and they are honorable women who are very concerned about our nation. They are also people who express their concerns in peaceful ways.

Yet these American citizens are being investigated as "might be troublemakers" and their names are being placed on an intelligence data base as I was also told that for over a year the federal administration has been gathering names of people who live in the area. who "might be troublemakers."

The people in this nation who are fighting for good government are simple people who will fight for absolutes. Lies and injustice cannot be tolerated or excused.

Forest responsibility goes back to each of us

To the editor:

Only you can prevent forest

I guess that makes you yeah, all of you-responsible for cleaning up the forest.

The forest service isn't going to do it, so I guess you have to. Years ago, Mother Nature used to clean her forests on a regular basis, by having fires burn the dead trees and brush... Well, you have been so busy doing such a Nature from cleaning house, she's been driven to suicide. Her trèes are dying in record numbers. and we won't help...but that mistletoe looks so pretty when it's covering an entire tree. You are hugging the life out of the forest.

Those big trees looks so pretty with all that ... moss covering them. Yeah, they do. But when a dead 50-foot pine is ready to fall on you and/or your neighbor's $200,000 house, you complain it costs so much to have it removed.

How much do you spend on fire/homeowners insurance? It would've been easier, safer and cheaper to remove those trees form the immediate building site before you build, then replant with fruit or hardwood trees at a safe distance from the house after you've built it. "You" need to rethink the tree rules, and fast; if a fire ever starts in this area, it will be devastating. Mother Nature has enough trash lying around her house to burn for a long

I think, those individuals who were responsible for writing and passing the laws or policy that prevented or stifled healthy forest management 20 years ago should be responsible for the removal of those now dangerous trees.

Laws should require dis eased/dying trees to be removed to prevent the spreading of the disease to healthy trees. And if healthy trees are cut for a building site they must be replaced. Replacement doesn't mean you have to plant a tree in your living room...in the very spot the tree was removed from.

How much does a healthy forest cost you? Better yet, how much is it worth to you? Logging companies can profit from helping with a complete forest clean-up. Not just cutting the healthy trees, but also removing the dead and dying trees as

They have the right stuff and equipment for the job. And the wildlife will benefit also; they'll get a clean home and a good healthy meal with some iruit trees Dianted in place.

This has been yet another sore spot touched and possibly irritated. but hopefully healed...

Courtroom security to get top review

"I strongly believe that

Lawrence Siegel,

Court security consultant people should feel safe in their courthouses, whether they are attending court or working there..."

• Gene E. Franchini, the chief justice of the Supreme Court of New Mexico, has announced the selection of Laurence Siegel, of Columbia. Md., to complete a comprehensive assessment of security issues in courts statewide, and to recommend improved security—the first such survey ever attempted. The following New Mexico Supreme Court statement defines the project.

There has been an increasing number of life threatening incidents in courtrooms across the country. While New Mexico has yet to be visited by the violence plaguing other states, there is a great demand by the public to feel secure in their courts. Unfortunately, workplace violence and crime are becoming all too common place in our society. The New Mexico judiciary is no exception. At one time, court security was considered only during high-risk or controversial trials. However, in the past ten years or so, court security has become a daily concern of the judiciary,

In New Mexico, there are no uniform, consistent, or standardized security protocols, policies, procedures, or budgets applicable to the various levels of jurisdiction in the state's judiciary. It is for this reason that a statewide assessment of the state courts' security needs to be conducted, and a strategic action plan for implementing and budgeting security initlatives must be developed.

Approaches to court security must be defined in terms of initiatives that require people versus those that require technological or architectural remedies. Based on the statewide court security assessment, the strategic action plan will determine the most practical methodology for implementing a comprehensive security program in New Mexico's courts. The goal of the program will be protecting the safety of jurors, litigants, court personnel, witnesses, and other members of the public in court facilities.

As Lawrence Siegel commented, "I strongly believe that people should feel safe in their courthouses, whether they are attending court or working there, and that the integrity of the courts should not be compromised by threats or inappropriate behavior. By setting up this statewide program, the New Mexico Supreme Court and the Administrative Office of the Courts have taken a leading position among the states in showing their commitment to safeguarding the administration of justice."

This project will examine the current state of security in courts statewide, and provide recommendations which address the need for safety, yet respect open access to the sentatives from New Mexico courts and the Administrative Office of the Courts. Operations and security procedures will be observed during on-site visits to various court facilities throughout New Mexico. All courts will be surveyed by mail to assess information about security operations and needs. The comprehensive study with recommendations will be presented in the spring of 1999. Lawrence Siegel has been active in court security operations and facility planning throughout the United States for more than 25 years. A senior fellow of the American University School of Public Affairs, Siegel is the author of "The Image of Justice." He has a master's degree in electrical engineering from New York University. Siegel has consulted on projects in more than 30 states and has served as faculty for the National Judicial College. His team includes Beverly Bright, a former administrator and elected county clerk from Washington State, and James F. Klopp, chief deputy sheriff of Milwaukee County, Wisc., where he was in charge of court security for a number of years. Funding for the study is provided by a grant of $40,000 from the State Justice Insti-

HORSE RACING

Track's surface holds up

by Tanya Laib RUIDOSO DOWNS PUBLICITY

In the horse racing world, jockeys, trainers and owners can be skeptical. They'll believe it when they see it.

Ruidoso Downs Race Track has a new surface on its quarter horse strip, and jockeys and trainers are beginning to believe all of the surface's hype. The new strip is designed to withstand rain and remain even from starting gate to finish line. Management has been singing its praises but up until now, others have reserved their judgment.

With the arrival of Ruidoso's torrential monecons, the new racing surface has received its first test. Three and half inches of rain fell Wednesday and Thursday at the track – days before the 17 scheduled Rainbow Futurity trials. Friday, sprinters in the first race ran on a track listed as wet/fast. However, by the second race, the track condition was changed to fast.

"The track dried up and stayed in the shape it was in because of the stabilizer" said Ruidoso Downs General Manager Rick Baugh. Stabilizer is a hyproduct. It looks like brown commeal and can hold 60 times its weight per granule of water.

In conjunction with the stabilizer, a sports grid also was added. The sports grid is about 1 1/2 inches long, looks like fiberglass, and has a spring like an accordion. Together, the sports grid and stabilizer keep the track, "live and kind with less kick-back."

John Bassett trains Hes My Dasher, one of two horses that share the fastest qualifying time for the Rainbow Futurity Finals. "I have never seen a racetrack take on as much water as it did and still be good. They never had to water it for the trials and it stayed even. I think it is a good racetrack," Bassett said. Some of Ruidoso's regular riders, Chris Zamora and Nancy Summers, agree. "I was comfortable with the racetrack, and figured it would dry out because of all the fibers in it." Zamora said.

Nancy Summers, jockey for Rainbow Derby Finalist Honor Ease, added. The track han-dled the rain very well, It is kind to the horses. There seems to be a lot less leg problems."

The new surface is living up to Baugh's expectations.
"I feel it's more forgiving on horses, wet or dry, period." he

Track owners supplement purses again

Ruidoso Downs Race Track owners R. D. Hubbard and Ed Alired have upped the ante agair.

The track's general manager Rick Baugh announced last week that Hubbard and Allred have kicked in an additional purse increase of 10%, bringing the total increase for the face meet to 35% effective Sunday.

The purse supplement of $350.00 before the meet opened has drawn more quali-ty horses resulting in more full fields and a more viable prod-uct for live racing fans as well as simulcast fans to enjoy watching and wagering on said Baugh, explaining the reason for the increase.

tuidese Downs municipal budget grows nearly one-third

Commissioners act to correct smoky Arabela firehouse issue

BY DIANNE STALLINGS RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

After a half hour executive session Tuesday, Lincoln County Commissioners directed County Attorney Alan Morel to try to resolve a ticklish situation with the Arabela fire substation that could result in the loss of its annual state funding.

A representative of the state fire marshal's office last week said if his office learned the county did not have control of the land on which the $20,000 substation was built, the $10,091 allocated for its operation would be eliminated by the state.

He said the county shouldn't have built the station without having a deed in hand. Commissioner Monroy

Montes said Tuesday the board instructed Morel to meet with Fernando Montoya and his family, owners of the small parcel on which the station was built about a year ago.

"They have a legitimate gripe," Montes said. "The fire station has not been properly equipped, but we already have applied for a loan from the New Mexico Finance Authority (through the Hondo Volunteer Fire Department) to buy a new pumper to station there. But we are in a catch-up mode."

Montoya confirmed last week that he has not signed any document turning the property over to the county.

Someone dropped the ball," Hondo Fire Chief Modesto Chavez said Tuesday during a break in the regular commission meeting. Hondo operates the Arabela substation, which is in part of its coverage district.

He defended the fire department's use of volunteers from Hondo to respond to fires around remote Arabela, about 15 miles north of U.S. 70. As long as a pumper and other heavy equipment is at the substation, it doesn't take volunteers long to reach the area, he said, responding to the state official's admonition that a minimum crew of two must be maintained in Arabela to keep the substation viable.

Midtown speed monitor damaged; reward offered

BY TONI K. LAXSON RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

A $500 reward is being offered to find out who damaged a midtown speed monitor.

· Police Chief Lanny Maddox said Tuesday the $10,000 monitor, which shows motorists their speed as they enter the midtown area, was inoperable after someone cit its wires on Saturday.

The monitor was purchased by the village following the death of a Roswell woman who was struck by a motorist on May 22 as she was crossing Sudderth Drive.

Maddox expects to have the monitor working again this week; he has asked a Texas manufacturer to express deliver parts to repair it.

It was the second time the monitor as been purposely damaged since it placed in the midtown in June, Maddox said.

"I have had more positive phone calls about that speed monitor being not only an enhancement to the safety factor for that area but also that it has helped people realize how fast they are going," Maddox

Ruidoso-based video production company sold to national media group

• OTI's new owner intends to expand services at the video production company, a company official said.

BY TONI K. LAXSON RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

A national firm recently purchased On Track, Inc., the Ruidoso-based video production firm locally referred to as

OTI, a company official said. Cy Leland, OTI founder and president, said Trident Media Group, Inc. intends to expand the reach and services offered by OTI, though no immediate modifications are planned.

"There are no major staffing changes here in Ruidoso or in our other New Mexico and Texas offices," Leland said. "I will be remaining with On Track in the capacity as regional manager.

"I have known the principals of Trident Media for several years now and I am very happy to be working with Trident Media, a multi-million company based in CaliforOTI on June 24, according to a press release.

Leland, O'll's major stock-holder, declined to release the terms of the company's sale to Trident Media.

OTI currently offers advertising services, racetrack broadcasting, surveillance services and production of public access channels among its operations.

Leland said OTI has a total of 30 employees, 12 of which work at the Ruidosp office. The company also has offices in Los nia, finalized its purchase of Lunas and Albuquerque as well as field agents in Southern New Mexico and West Texas. he said. 🛠

Though Trident Media provides Vides production services at Churchill Downs in Kentucky, home of the Kentucky

Derby, the company's primary business strength is in satellite transmission, Leland said, "Trident Media is bringing its considerable expertise in satellite television transmission and resention to the mix," Leland said of the CII purchase chase.

Leland said OTI's strength Leland said OTT's strength is in the advertising services it provides to 17 cable outliets, including some in Colorado, New Mexico and West Texas. OTT has exclusive contracts with numerous cable systems in New Mexico to provide cable advertising and advertising insertion services, according to a release from Trident.

Trident Media's expansion

Trident Media's expansion plans for OTI include providing photorinish; timing systems, event photography and closed circuit television services, the press release said. Leland said the company will expand its service area to include more of the Southwest.

. Leland said he personally expects to market more services to racetracks in the state because of the gambling legis-lations that allows tracks to have slot machines. Profits from those machines must be put back into the race nurses, and are expected to revive tracks that are now dormant, Leland said.

"I think you are going to see more tracks open by 1999," Leland said.

PLANNING AND ZONING

The Ruidoso Planning and Zoning Commission took the following actions last week:

· Denied unanimously a conditional use application from Wendy Clark to open an adult video store at 1509 Sudderth Drive. The commissioners did not give a reason for the denial; however, about 35 people attendmeeting to oppo store. The commission is not required to give a reason for denying a conditional use application, according to village staff.

Denied, in a split vote, a conditional use application from Bob Adams to operate a wood carving business in the Ruidoso State Bank free parking lot on Sudderth Drive. Though three of the five commissioners present voted for Adams' application, two voted against it. By village law, a conditional use application must have a two-thirds majority to pass. Opponents to the application said the use of a chain saw at the lot would disturb neigh-

· Approved unanimously a request from the Crocker-Davis estate to vacate the 14-acre Country Club tract, across from the Cree Meadows Country Club, so that a church may be built at the site. The land had been platted so it could be developed with townhomes. Dwight Andrews told the commission the First Baptist Church intended to build on the tract at 270 Country Club Drive, but probably not for a couple of years, yet. Jane Houghton, a neighbor of the proposed church, told the commission she was concerned about increased traffic on Country Club Drive when the church

The 1.3acre site will be on the northwest corner of the intersection. limit the drive-through car wash hours of operation to 7 a.m.-10 p.m. They additionally told the commission a water recycling system will be installed as soon as the proper technology becomes available.

 Approved unanimously a request from Gilliam T. Byrom for a vacation of right-of-way in the Town and Country North subdivision. Byrom wants a 1,067 square-foot triangular area of the San Juan Road rightof-way as a remedy to encroachments into the right-of-way by his driveway and an elevated · Approved unanimously a variance request from William E. Querin to allow a covered entry for a proposed townhome at 551 White Mountain Meadows Drive. The entry will be 15 feet, 6 inches from the front lot line. Standard setback is 20 feet.

 Approved unanimously a variance request from Wayne Edwards to allow an existing home at 139 Carrizo Canyon Road to remain 7 inches from one side lot line; and 2 feet, 10 inches from another side lot line.

Because of a replat, the standard setback is 10 feet, according to planning department staff. So, the variances are 9 feet, 5 inches, and 7 feet. 2 inches. respectively.

Another variance allows the home's carport to remain 1 foot, 7 inches from the east side lot line. The standard setback is 3 feet, staff said.

Approved a variance request from Sierra Cleaners at 102 Texas St. to keep a recently installed driveway 52 feet wide.

It was originally approved by planning staff for a width of 83 feet. Wyatt Sparks, speaking on behalf of the business, said he didn't know why the contractor decided to make the entrance to the cleaners larger than had been planned. But, he said, it really wasn't significant enough to impact motorists safety.

Cleatus Richards, director of the planning department, recommended against the variance, saying people pulling out of the cleaner's parking lot may not be able to see traffic in a timely manner because the wider driveway shortened the length of road between the entrance and the corner of the road.

 Approved a variance request from Walter E. Whitehead to build a deck at his house at 100 Fox Drive. The open deck will be 5 feet from the front lot line. Standard setback is 10 feets village planning staff said. Whitehead also received permission from the commission to build two sets of steps to the. front lot line, representing a 100percent variance, staff said.

Katherine and all her family are devout members of St. Eleanor's Catholic Church in Ruidoso.

We wish Katherine Randolph Klein many happy returns of the day and God's blessings.

The rains turn the mountain world green.

On June 30 all the vale was powder dry with dust flying in the heat.

Then on July 1 our old faithful friend, the east wind, moved in and began singing its song of rain on the way.

On the first of July thunder sounded over the hill to the west, and on the second raindrops began running races on the dry bluebird meadow, and here came a light sprinkle just to let us know the weather spirits had not forgoten us, and that the summer rainy season had arrived.

On the glorious Fourth of July came Mother Nature's own fireworks in the form of thunder and lightning overhead, and a down-pouring rain, Oh, what can compare with the smell of new rain on the dry grass? The sound of a raindrop tattoo on the roof?

And now, after several good rains, here at high noon on July 13 the sun is beaming down on a mountain world of emerald green.

The hilltops have a fringe of new green that seems to extend even into the air above. And the aroma of rapidly growing grass is carried on the eastérn breeze.

Now, at 12:30 p.m., the clouds are moving in from every direction, and you can see the purple curtains of rain extend down from the lead-gray clouds up the valley.

Along with Mother Earth we give thanks to the Lord for the rains of July and all our blessings.

Once again, the Wyeth House beckons visitors to rest and relax within its friendly confines

For decades, they welcomed visitors far and near to share the peacefulness, the beauty, the sounds of their Sentinel Ranch.

Peter Hurd and Henriette Wyeth Hurd were the consummate American painters, and equally complete entertainers. Visitors to their adobe, Spanish-style home included famous actresses such as Helen Hayes and Linda Darnell, or fellow artists, or neighbors from the nearby ranches.

The Sentinel Ranch's lush, almost tropical, surroundings, the gurgling of its running acequia produced an atmosphere of creativity where Peter and Henriette thrived - and so did their children, family and friends.

But the deaths of Peter Hurd (1984) and Henriette Wyeth (April, 1997) brought a temporary end to those days of visits in the grand sala or discussions on the front terrace.

The youngest son of Peter and Henriette has changed that. In June, artist Michael Hurd opened one wing of the hacienda as a guest house for those seeking the solace of the ranch. Henriette stayed in this portion of the house during her final years. Eddie Parker, director of the Hurd-LaRinconada

Gallery and the guest homes, explains:
"After she died, Michael had the first option to buy the house. We already have guest homes on the ranch. We decided to open up a portion of it and even-

Lincoln: what went on and what's coming up

What a wonderful Fourth of July we had. Wasn't that rain wonderful and it was enough to do some good.

Most of it came down slow so that it was able to soak into the hard ground. The ranchers around Carrizozo had over 1 inch of rain Thursday.

The Smokey Parade at Capitan went off without any problems. There were a lot of spectators and saw many friends from the float. You could tell it is election year with all the politicians with their various floats. And of course you had all the horses and mules that make up the parade. The Masonic Lodges of Carrizozo and Ruidoso put on the delicious barbeque this year

There were several barbeques going on in the area with everyone enjoying seeing old friends and neigh-bors, blue all the good food.

The weather wasn't hot and that made it so nice. Everyone was thankful for the rain that we

The Lincoln County Bural Economic Developpoint through Tourism met at the Ruidoso

The group was brought up to date on the recent Fam Van that was held last month for the various megazine reporters.

The next event will be the "Art in the Orchard" in September.

For the bakers there will be a pie baking contest so get out your favorite recipe and bring your baked pie to the contest. Reminds me of the old Apple Festivals we used to have in the valley. More as the plans are finalized.

The Lincoln County FCE Council met to make plans for the County Fair next month. It is time to think about what you would like to enter in the fair from sewing, canned goods, crafts, photography, fine arts, etc. Hopefully, I will ge the display of the history of the fair finished.

The Wortley Hotel is open for rooms but as yet the restaurant isn't open. They are looking at various bids and hope to have a decision soon.

It also is close for pageant practice to begin. The first practice will be July 21, 6:30 p.m. at the pageant grounds. The next practices will be July 28th, July 30th, Aug. 3 and the dress rehersal Aug. 5. All those who are interested in being in the pageant are invited to participate.

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Byrd were honored with reception recently at the home of the bride's (former Sharon Smoot) mother, Jeanette Smoot.

We missed it as the brakes on our van were out. The La Junta club held their annual picnic at the John Meigs meadow.

WYETH HOUSE: Guest wing opens

"Michael wanted people to enjoy the atmosphere. It's so unique."

Michael Hurd was unavailable for comment for this story: he was finishing a painting for his show in August.)

Building renovations included some rock work in the patio area, new lighting in the courtyard and repairs to the kitchen floor. New furniture was brought in because most of the original pieces in the estate went to Henriette's three children.

The Wyeth House includes a kitchen with a dining area, a sitting/living room with a sleeper/sofa, a full bath and a master bedroom with adjoining sun room.

"We wanted to keep the integrity of the house, but we wanted to make it functional for people staying there," Parker said.

The courtyard features the original cast-iron chairs Henriette used on the terrace. A huge, weather-worn, carved wood Mexican credenza sits under the eaves, a testament of time. Polo mallets hang on a wall, and dozens of peacock feathers sit in a woven basket.

The grounds remain much the same as when Henriette and Peter enjöyed them. Water delivered by the acequia (the irrigation ditch) nourishes the towering cottonwoods, apple trees and various vines, ground covers and flow-

Next on the renovation list is the grand sala; many guests were entertained in the high. ceilinged room. Michael Hurd and Parker envision that room as a retreat space.

Some day, the hope is to open Peter Hurd's studio as well as Henriette's studio, the guest wing and maybe even the old commissary. The sprawling home also has an indoor pool and a 1 1/2 story greenhouse.

Given her noted hospitality, it seems to make perfect sense to open Henriette's house to guests.

She was one of these ladies that if you met her, she made a lasting impression," Renee says. "Opening her house was a way to share her."

"I adore this place so that it became more and more and more my absolutely basic home. I have loved and adored this valley. We drove in the moonlight to this place which I had never seen before and the whole aspect of the whitewash buildings and the dark red roof just seemed enchanting to me. ## Fifth case of plague in New Mexico identified

The Scientific Laboratory
Division of the New Mexico
Department of Health has confixined plague in a 14-year-old boy from southern Santa Fe County, according to a release by the state Department of

The patient, who is the fourth confirmed case of the disease in New Mexico this year is hospitalized but is expected to recover fully.

The source of the patient's infection is unclear at present, but health officials suspect that he was exposed to infected rodents or their fleas. An investigation at the home of the patient is being conducted by the Vector Control Program of the New Mexico Environment Department.

There continues to be a large plague outbreak going on in rodent populations over a large geographic area of north-ern New Mexico, and this is reflective in the fact that we have already had 32 confirmed cases in cats and three in dogs," said Public Veterinarian Dr. Paul Ettestad. He noted animal cases have occurred in San Juan, Rio Arriba, Bernalillo and Santa Fe Counties and have all been in pets that are allowed to roam and hunt. "With the summer monsoon rains starting, our rodgest populations may likely remain high for the rest of the summer, so people need to con-tinue to take precautions to prevent exposure to plague."

Plague, a bacterial disease of rodents, is generally transmitted to humans through bites of infected fleas, but also can be transmitted by direct contact with infected animals, including rodents, wildlife and

Most people become ill two to seven days after being infected with the plague bacteria. Plague symptoms in humans include fever; painful swollen lymph nodes in the groin, armpit or neck areas; chills; sometimes and headache, vomiting and diarrhea Symptoms in cats are similar with fever, lethargy, not eating, and swollen lymph nodes (usually in the neck area) being the most common signs. With prompt diagnosis and appropriate antibiotic treatment, the fatality rate in people and pets can be greatly reduced.

To prevent further cases of lague, both the Department of Health and the New Mexico Environment Department, recommend avoiding sick or dead rodents, not allowing children to play near rodent nests or burrows, spraying or dusting pets regularly with an effective fles powder, wearing gloves when skinning animals, cleaning up areas near the house where rodents could live, and preventing pets from roaming and hunting whenever possi-ble. People with sick outdoor pets - particularly cats should have those animals examined promptly by a veterinarian.

The first two cases of human plague this year were in a 45-year-old woman and a 60-year-old woman, both from different locations in Santa Fe County; both recovered.

The third case was in a 40year-old woman from Taos who also recovered.

There were no human cases of plague in New Mexico last year.

Fiesta fun set for weekend

Cheese dripping enchiledas, fiests dancing and a bas-kethall tournament will keep visitors to the Santa Rita Fiests in Carrizozo busy Saturday and Sunday.

Sponsored by the Santa Rita Catholic Community, the celebration starts off with a 6 a.m., Walk-A-Thon Saturday from the front of the church in the community about 37 miles northwest of Ruidoso.

The basketball tournament begins at 8:30 a.m. with registration at Fred Chavez Park. Two on two competition costs $10 to enter.

The fiesta dance twirls into the sunset from 8:30 p.m. to 1 a.m. with music by Darren Cordova at The Old Nike, a former dance hall and now an auction house on U.S. 380. Advance tickets are $20. The charge at the door is $25 and all attending must be 21 or older.

Fiesta Mass is scheduled for 11 a.m. Sunday at Fred Chavez Park, followed by a salute to veterans, including Carlos Zamora Jr.

An enchilada dinner for $4.50 will keep people's bodies and spirits going at Santa Rita Hall. Dinner for children under 12 cost $3.

Several other activities and events are planned for the Fiesta booths may be arranged by calling the parish office at (505) 648-2853.

C. a broad foot that helps it move and stick to things.

Univalve shells

Looking for shells is fun Many of the shells you collect at the beach are empty homes.

Most of these empty homes are made by creatures that are members of a special group or animal family called mollusks. There are about 120,000 different kinds.

Mollusks have soft bodies. They must keep their bodies moist or they will die. Most mollusks make shells.

Mollusks live just about everywhere. Some live on land. Some live in deserts or monthland, Some live in freshwater.

Thousends of dollars in scholarship money go untapped every year at the Ruidoso Center of Eastern New Mexico University, a school official said this week

There's a lot of 18- to 20year-old kids who could go to college but don't. Well, here's the money to go," said Jim Miller, center administrator, about the more than 140 scholarships available at the school.

Only about about one-third applied for every year, Miller said. of those scholarships are

"So, that means about twothirds of them go unawarded."

The deadline to apply for scholarships for the fall semester is Aug. 1, only two weeks away, Miller said. The scholarship application deadline for the spring semester is Dec. 15, he said.

A list of the scholarships, which range from $100 to more than $1,200, may be obtained at the center, located in the Sierra Mall on Mechem Drive. Miller said the combined scholarship list/application form also will be available at the Ruidoso Public Library, located next to Ruidoso Village Hall off of Cree Meadows Drive.

"And there are several of us at the office who would be

The scholarships may be used by a wide range of people, from high school graduates to continuing college students; from working adults to senior citizens, Miller said. There are scholarships for full-time or part-time students. Some require a 2.5 grade point average and a few require a 3.0, but others don't list grades as a factor.

Some scholarships apply to more specific groups, such as 12 for county employees. There are about 15 scholarships for people who took the GED, the high school graduation equivalency test, as well as 15 scholarchips for emergency medical training volunteers, Miller

There are scholarships working specifically for women, for the parents of chil-dren in college, for people with disabilities, and for the chil-dren of Wal-Mart employees.

Miller said new scholarships at the center include four for people working on upper division level courses via instructional television.

Besides the list of locallyprovided scholarships, ongoing students may apply for the New Mexico Lottery Success Scholarships, Miller said.

They are available to New Mexico high school graduates who go on to college and make at least a 2.5 grade point average during their first semester. The scholarships become available to second semester, fulltime students.

Registration under way at campus

Fall registration began Monday at Eastern New Mexi-co University's Ruidoso center for credit, upper division television and community education courses. Classes start Aug. 19.

Financial aid and academic counseling appointments are available. The math-Englishreading placement test is also available. Interested students may register for fall classes in person at the college at 709 Mechem Drive by phone, fax, mail or purchase order. Helene and Michel Mahler of Toulouse, France, stop at a pile of small trees axed during a thinning procedure by the U.S. Forest Service around the exercise trail on Cedar Creek Road.

They're thinning the trail's trees to save the forest, right next door

BY DIANNE STALLINGS RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

Clumps of small trees axed near their base are scattered throughout the exercise trail on Cedar Creek Road, just past the Smokey Bear Ranger Dis-

Some of the joggers and walkers this week wondered aloud what had happened along the 1.25 mile trail at the edge of the Lincoln National For-

"It's part of our demonstration area in the wildland interface area," said District Ranger Jerry Hawkes.

In the absence of the ability to burn portions of the forest to thin the trees and create more open space, trees must be cut, he said. The goal is to space the trees to eliminate competition for water and soil nutrients to produce a healthier forest—and to eliminate fuel for any wildfire that might threaten the town.

But why were smaller trees targeted when some of the larger Ponderosa pines don't look too healthy and keep the sunlight from reaching trees beneath them?

For a practical, if short-term, reason, Hawkes said.

"We weren't able to use chain saws. because of the restrictions (related to prohibiting anything that might start a fire during the dry period that ended two days before July 4th), so we did the smaller trees with an ax," he said. "We had some Hot Shots (firefighters) here and wanted to use them while we could. We'll cut anywhere it's thick. There were just thousands of little trees. We've been allowing people to take them for planting, but that doesn't eliminate enough."

With the ban on chain saws now lifted because of recent and steady rain, foresters will go back into the exercise tract and take down some of the unhealthy larger trees, Hawkes said. The demonstration area is part of a band around Ruidoso where it abuts the forest and is part of the Service's attempt to lessen the danger to the community from wildfire.

Many contracts that fail are often attributed to bad hick. In all too many of these cases, though, the true fault lies in the way declarer played his cards.

Consider South's sad story in today's deal. He arrived at three notrump after East had overcalled with one spade, and won East's ten of spades with the king at trick one.

With only eight sure tricks in view, declarer cashed the ace of diamonds, crossed to dummy with a heart, and led a low diamond. When East followed low, the jack of diamonds was finessed, losing to the queen. Back came a spade, trapping dummy's queen and East happily ran off four spade tricks for down one.

South lamented his misfortune in losing the diamond finesse, especially when he learned that he could have dropped West's doubleton queen by playing the A-K instead of finessing.

We don't contend that declarer should have known the queen would fall, but the contract should have been made nevertheless. The diamond finesse posed an unnec-essary risk which might cost the declarer his contract, and did in the actual case.

South should reason that a finesse is not the only way to score a trick with the jack of diamonds if East happens to hold the queen. The jack can also be converted into a trick by cashing the A-K first, then leading up to the J-4 if the queen hasn't already appeared. If East does have the queen of diamonds, he can take it, but is then unable to attack dummy's queen of spades, so the contract is safe.

The one thing declarer cannot afford to do is to lose a trick unnecessarily to the queen of diamonds in the West hand. If West started with three or more diamonds including the queen, the cause is hopeless regardless of how South plays. By cashing the A-K, though, South gives himself the additional chance of dropping the doubleton queen offside, and it costs him virtually nothing to make this play.

THE COVER

Goodwill Games in the running

In the shadow of the Empire State Building, two-time Olympic gold medalist Michael Johnson prepares for his 200m and 40m races at the Goodwill Games, July 19-Aug. 2 in New York.

Johnson says competing in the U. s. against the world's best gives him a hometown advantage.

Wildlife National The Federation is asking for support to fight a move to remove wolves reintroduced into Yellowstone National Park in 1995.

Although the organization is conducting its own petition campaign, everyone is encouraged to send letters expressing an opinion.

The petitions being sent by the federation are aimed at Dean Kleckner. president of the Farm Bureau American Federation, which initiated the suit that led to the order to remove the wolves, and at Interior Secretary Bruce Babbitt, who has said no wolves will be removed on his wetch.

Ben McNitt, communications manager for the wildlife federation, said since 40 wolves were reintroduced in Yellowstone, their population has increased to 73. The program is considered the most successful wildlife reintroduction ever undertaken in the United States.

But U.S. District Court Judge William Downes ruled on Dec. 12, 1997, they must be removed.

"The crux of his decision." which he said he reached reluctantly, is that naturally occurring wolves that might stray into the reintroduction area might lose some of their protection as an endangered species, because those reintroduced wolves are listed only threatened," McNitt said

Monday. But the judge also warned the farm bureau and ranchers to watch out. What they wish for may backfire, because if all of the wolves are endangered, they are fully protected by federal law while the reintroduced population is called a non-essential experimental population. Under certain circumstances they can be relocated, or in cases of severe predation, even killed. However, McNitt noted predation of livestock has not been a major problem.

Letters are needed now, because the appeal filed by the federation and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service is under review by 10th Circuit Court of Appeals.

"We filed our brief last week to keep the wolves in Yellowstone." he said. "If people give this an honest chance to work, we can have successful introduction of wolves without serious harm to people, livestock and ranchers."

Write Babbitt at Department of Interior, 1849 C street NW. Washington DC, 20240.

Write Kleckner at 225 Twouhy Avenue, Park Ridge, Ill. 60068. or e-mail in care of Joseph S. Fields, director of P.R., at joef@fb.comm

For more information about the wolves, check the federation's web site at www.nwf.org.

FAMILY VISION CENTER

Dr. D. Joyce Sonnenmoser Dr. Anatole F. Gutowski (505) 257-5029

ASPHERIC ...

for high plus and high minus prescriptions. If your prescription for farsighted (plus) correction causes the center of your lenses to bulge out of your frames and gives you that "bug-eyed" look, you should know more about apsheric lens design. Optical scientists have designed a lens that uses a different type of curve. These aspheric lenses are much slimmer and lighter. By reducing the center thickness of the lens, this design will magnify your eyes much less than conventional lenses. Best of all, you will see better through them, especially when you look to one side or the other.

Prescriptions that correct for nearsightedness (minus) oftenhave thick edges which adds both bulk and weight to lenses. The aspheric lens design results in a thinner, lighter lens and signifi-cantly improves peripheral or side vision.

Aspheric lenses, whether for nearsighted or farsighted correction, provide a much more attractive solution than conventional lenses. Come by Family Vision Center, 159 Mescalero Trail and see our Aspheric Lens Display or call 257-5029 to speak to an optical technician.

Showdown in Berlin

The most dramatic rescue operation of the 20th century was the Berlin Airlift — a remarkable mission that saved more than 2.5 million people from starvation and served as the single most significant event in stopping the Soviet advance across post-World War II Europe.

Showdown in Berlin, a new one-hour special, captures this phenomenal tale of perseverance, ingenuity, and human kindness in the face of overwhelming odds. The program is one of the premiere events that mark the 50th anniversary of the end of the Berlin blockade. Hosted by award-winning journalist Paul Duke, the story is told through newsreels, eyewitness accounts, and interviews in Germany, the United States, and Britain.

Showdown in Berlin marked a time of great glory for the United States and its Western allies during the early days of the Cold War. The Russian blockade — an attempt by Stalin to wrest control of Berlin and continue communist expansion across Europe — began on June 24th, 1948, and remained in effect until May 12th, 1949.

Relive the triumph of the Showdown in Berlin. The program will be broadcast Monday, July 13th at 7:00 p.m. It repeats Saturday, July 25th at 6:00 a.m.

In Their Own Words: New Mexico Veterans of World War II

Tony Hillerman, speaking publicly for the first time of his experiences as an infantryman in Europe, is one of 12 people interviewed in the 90-minute special In Their Own Words: New Mexico Veterans of World War II.

The veterans come from Albuquerque, Bayard, Belen, Clovis, Crystal, Isleta Pueblo, Las Vegas, and Santa Fe. They include a Navajo "Code Talker," a survivor of the Bataan Death March, a B-17 gunner, a witness to the Dachau concentration camp, a fighter pilot, a submariner, and a paratrooper.

The program was originally intended as a local oral history archive designed to honor New Mexico veterans and give students a sense of history. "These veterans look back 50 years with tremendous honesty and lack of bitterness, capturing the youthful excitement but without glorifying war," said Ingrid Vollonhofer of the New Mexico State Library. "... this belongs in every U.S. library. Nearly 500 copies of the videotape have been donated to New Mexico Schools, libraries, and video stores for free rental.

In Their Own Words: New Mexico Veterans of World War II airs Monday, July 13th at 8:00 p.m. It repeats Friday, July 24th at 11:00 p.m.

TBS keeps Goodwill Games

the Olympic spirit of not offering money. For New York's Goodwill Games, there will be a $5 million purse for prizes, as well as incentives for records and performance.

Two-time 1996 Olympic gold medalist Michael Johnson headlines this year's field of approximately 1,500 athletes from more than 60 countries competing in 15 sports.

"It is great to compete against the top runners in the world while having the home-court advantage," says Johnson, a Dallas native who is scheduled to run in the 200m and 400m. "A special energy that comes from the crowd spurs you on ... and the addition of prize money will ensure (the runners) turning in top-level performances."

As for Lampley, his mission may be to get through his telecasts without incident. In 1996, he was ringside for HBO when a riot broke out at a Riddick Bowe-Andrew Golota bout, and he was on the air for NBC's late-night Olympic show when the bomb exploded in Atlanta's Centennial Olympic

Referring to his extended ad-libs during catastrophes, Lampley, a former newscaster at KCBS in Los Angeles, says, "I've been in that kind of situation dozens of times. I had earthquakes, fires, hostages. I've seen murders, plane crashes."

The Goodwill Games, though, should be smooth sailing for Lampley - as long as his floating anchor desk off Giuliani's island doesn't sink.

Previous Goodwill Games - St. Petersburg, Russia, in 1994, Seattle in 1990 and Moscow in 1986 - abided by

Q: What can you tell me about Catherine Bell of JAG? I think she has beautiful eyes. — Phillip Smoot, Lynchburg, Va.

A: The 20-something aetress was born in London on Aug. 14, although the year is undisclosed. A former model, Bell made her film debut in 1992 working as Isabella Rossellini's body double in Death Becomes Her, then landed small parts in a couple of TV movies, as well as guest roles on Hercules: The Legendary Journeys, Friends and Dream On.

She guest starred as a murder victim on JAG in 1996, making enough of an impression on series creator Donald Bellisario that he hired her when he recast the female lead for the show's move to CBS.

Q: Please settle an argument. I say Jean Stapleton played Katey Sagal's mother in the TV movie Chance of a Lifetime. My husband says Stapleton is dead and that the role was played by the actress who used to play Roseanne's mother. Who is right?—Stephanie O'Madigan, Charlotte, N.C.

A: You are right, Stephanie. Stapleton, still alive and well at this writing, played Mrs. Duncan in that TV movie. Your husband is thinking of Estelle Parsons, who co-starred on Roseanne.

Q: My dad says John Travolta's first movie was Grease. My mom says he had a small part in a movie called The Devil's Rain. Who's right? -Kiara via e-mail.

A: Your mom is right. By the time Travolta made Grease, he had been in such high-profile hits as Carrie, The Boy in the Plastic Bubble and Saturday Night Fever, and had gained TV stardom as Vinnie Barbarino in Welcome Back, Kotter.

Q: My husband is driving me

Catherine Bell

crazy. He swears that Titanic director James Cameron used to play the father on Family Ties. I know he is wrong, but he won't believe me.—L.M.R., Erie, Pa.

A: Boy, this is turning into a bad week for husbands. I suppose there is a mild (and bearded) resemblance between the two men, but that was Michael Gross as Steven Keaton on Family Ties.

Q: Whatever happened to David Ogden Stiers? We graduated from the same high school, so I have followed his career with interest. -Claudia Douglass, Baker City, Ore.

A: Best known for his work as Maj. Winchester on M*A*S*H, Stiers is now a regular on ABC's Two Guys, a Girl and a Pizza Place.

Savage Earth, airing Sunday and Monday on PBS (check local listings), examines volcanoes, tsunamis and earthquakes, including the temblor that hit San Francisco in 1989.

Savage Earth shakes off summer doldrums

By Suzanna GIII oTVData Features Syndicate

When we lay the foundations of colleges, cathedrals, concert halls and custom homes in the Earth's crust, we tend to think of the planet itself as settled, civilized and reliable. It's not.

Savage Earth, airing Sunday and Monday, July 19 and 20, on PBS (check local listings), shows how what lies beneath your feet can end up in your face.

The sequel to 1996's Savage Skies, this four-hour documentary gets up close and personal with volcanoes, earthquakes and tsunamis. Savage Earth begins and ends in the Seattle area, which is prone to all three events.

Usually, the terrible forces unleashed at the surface come from deep within Earth's core, where red-hot magma is on rolling boil.

The first hour, titled Hell's Crust, serves as a reintroduction to dear old Mother Earth, starting with true stories from survivors of the Mount St. Helens blast in 1980. Then the program follows an invisible but very real stress line from the Pacific Northwest to Italy, where the earth shook hard six months after St. Helens blew. In another eyewitness account, an airline passenger tells of taking a 12-minute free fall when volcanic dust clogged all four engines in a trans-Pacific jumbo jet.

The second hour, The Restless Planet, focuses on earthquakes, especially the temblors of the last two decades in California, Mexico and Japan. Too bad there is nothing about the massive 1811 New Madrid, Mo., quake that changed the course of the Mississippi River, or about the very erratic effects of a quake's passing.

Monday's episode, Out of the Inferno/Waves of Destruction, deals with volcanoes, which can strike with amazing speed and thoroughness, and tsunamis, the destructive waves that can cause devastation thousands of miles from their source. Evidently, production was complete before the devastating volcanic outburst on Montserrat.

Perhaps the lesson to be learned is that when it comes to upheaval on the Earth's surface, there never will be a final event.

SOAP TALK

Two Pauls join Bold and the Beautiful

By Candaço Havens oTVDeta Features Syndicate

Some new but familiar faces are joining The Bold and the Beautiful. Paul Satterfield (ex-Paul Hornsby, General Hospital) and songwriter-actor Paul Williams are being added to the cast.

Satterfield plays Pierce Peterson, a psychiatrist working with Taylor (Hunter Tylo). Pierce, who also is a motivational speaker who firmly believes in turning negatives into positives, could become a new love interest for Brooke (Katherine Kelly Lang).

Williams portrays Bailey, an associate of Pierce's who works with him to help motivate people. Bailey and Pierce appear to be positive and happy, and that is a nice change for a soap opera

In other news: Michael Damian (Danny, The Young and the Restless) surprised his fellow cast members by tying the knot with his fiancee in Las Vegas instead of holding the European wedding they had planned. Damian says that getting married overseas involved too much red tape. The two will still have a ceremony and throw a reception in a 12th-century castle in France. It promises to be a very classy affair.

Dear Candace: Is there a chance that Charles Keating (ex-Carl Hutchins) will return to Another World? He was the main reason I watched the show. Soaps are supposed to feed fantasies, and Carl's relationship with his wife, Rachel (Victoria Wyndham), was the stuff dreams are made of. I'm not alone in thinking Carl's departure was a big mistake. What are his plans? -Celt26 on the Internet.

Dear Reader: Keating was a big draw for many fans. The actor is spending the summer doing theater and has several projects in development. He has no plans to return.

Lear Candace: What happened to Ruth (Lee Meriwether) on All My Children? We heard she left the show.

-The Meyers in Florida.

Dear Reader: Contract negotiation broke down between Meriwether and the show. Her last episode aired July 7.
