Nunley defends deputy hiring allegation

BY DIANNE STALLINGS RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

For the second time since becoming a Lincoln County Commissioner six years ago, L. Ray Nunley has called on the district attorney to look into allegations against him.

Nunley announced at a special commission meeting Friday that he's asked 12th Judicial District Attorney Scot Key to look into his involvement in the hiring of a deputy.

"On Thursday evening, Commissioner (Wilton) Howell called me quite upset about me going to a meeting about the future of the county's DWI program," the commission chairman

But the motion I made was to hire a deputy for Corona and that's not where he lives. They also were not married at the time.

"(Howell) accused me of something that wasn't true," Nunley said. "Instead of me standing up and saying I'm not guilty, I just turned it over to the DA and the sheriff's office. I believe they will clear me, because I didn't do anything director and his assistant, Montes' brother, are not qualified. He refuses to work with them and wants the village of Ruidoso to take over the $177,000 grant program.

"I believe it will stop after they examine the sheriff's records."

Howell serves on the community board that oversees the DWI project and Montes was a member of the selection committee that interviewed applicants for the coordinator's position. The commissioners have pointed out acting county manager Martha Guevara, not the commission, hired the new DWI director. He then hired Johnny Montes as his assistant. State officials have said the hirings were legal.

"They weren't allegations," Howell said of his conversation with Nunley. "I was upset because I serve on the DWI board, yet I wasn't told or invited to either the meeting with Judge Butts or another meeting the same day with Martha and Commissioner Rex Wilson about the program. You'd think a person who lobbied for the program would have been told (about the meetings). How do you make a determination unless you have all the players and the facts?

"I think the commission should start doing

U.S. 70 work could start today

Bumpy, pothole-marked U.S. 70 heading east to Wal-Mart will receive some immediate repair while waiting for major reworking of the road as part of a six-mile project set to start Aug. 13.

The outside lanes of U.S. 70 will be overlaid to smooth out the ride until major construction begins, Sam Grasmick of Meadow Valley Contractors Inc. said Monday during a public briefing session on the $7.64 million project. Work on the potholes could begin today or start next week, he

The Phoenix, Ariz.-based company also is handling road reconstruction and improvements projects at the north end of Ruidoso and out to Ski Run Road.

Grasmick told 50 people at the meeting in Ruidoso Downs that the project, six years in planning, is scheduled to take one year to complete. But he hopes to persuade the state to approve a short-cut that could slice four months off construction.

"To get better, it has to get he said. But under the same system being used on Mechem Drive by subcontractors Brown & Brown of Kansas, the company is proposing to remove four to six inches of material from each lane instead of two feet that would include the heavy clay soil beneath the old asphalt, he said.

"Instead (of removing the two feet and having to haul more material back in), we pulverize the lime material to stabilize the soil,' Grasmick said. "It enhances the value of the soil four to five times. It makes bad soil a good soil. It's the exact same process we're using on other side of town and could cut four to five months of inconvenience.'

If the proposal is rejected, the company will begin tearing up the road surfaces right away to meet the 12 month deadline. However, no work will be done in front of the Ruidoso Downs Race Track until after Labor Day, he said.

If the proposal is approved by the state, the crushing work will begin in late February or early March, Grasmick said.

Tourists, intermixed with residents, pack Sudderth Drive over the weekend. Hotel and condo owners say they've seen a marked increase in the number of tourists this summer compared to last year.

Lodgings are booked solid this summer

Area visitors increase in number

BY SANDY SUGGITT RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

Lodgings are full, water usage is up, and streets seem fuller on weekdays this summer, say Ruidoso business people and city employees

"The number of nights (booked) is up 38.9 percent from last year," said Cindy Clayton, owner of Condotel, which is filling 104 homes in the area every day of the week. "Typically, in years past, every July weekend is sold out, so if we're up 38.9 percent, that means it's Sunday through Thursday

Kelly Junge, office manager of Story Book Cabins, said all weekdays have been full since the first of July. Usually, she said, the 18 larger cabins don't all get rented during the week, but this year July has been busier than last year and most have been filled.

"It's a lot busier this year than last year," said Donna Jones White, owner of Ruidoso Central Reservations. "Within the last seven days it's been incredible with reservations. You can't get any in Upper Canyon—even during the week. All of a sudden people were just everywhere, and it happened with the Art Festival, people were coming in and maybe they're staying. A lot of people want to come in and can't get in, so they'll rearrange their dates."

Margaret Vaughn, owner of Mountain Air Cabins said she sees a 15 percent increase in occupancy rates from last year. She chalks it up to hot weather in Texas.

The Holiday Inn Express had to do an early spring cleaning because of constant full occupancy, said Reggie Turner, a reservation clerk.

"We're full every night," said Clark Carpenter of Dan Dee Cabins. That's normal, he said, but this year the phone's ringing off the hook, "so we're not hustling anymore." Clark attributes the rush to the heat wave: "It's so hot in Texas that it reminds me of a woman shooing flies out of a kitchen with an apron.'

The Enchantment Inn usually has a 70 percent occupancy during the summer weeks, but lately it's been about 98 percent, said Leon Roulier, head of Anchor Limited that manages

"We are totally full," said Linda Pechstedt of Noisy Water Lodge. "This whole month has been that way during the week. We just know there's more people because our business has been full for the whole month of July.'

Referring to increased water usage, Village Manger Allen Briley said, "We've got more of a weekend crowd in the middle of the week.'

In the summer Ruidoso uses around 2.3 million gallons of water on weekdays, and about 1.8 million gallons during off-tourist times. Now, Briley said, the village is in the 2.6 million gallon range during the week. Water usage for the Fourth of July weekend was between three and three and a half million gallons per day.

Dewayne Goar, in charge of the village Traffic Unit, said the number of traffic tickets issued has been on a 'gradual upcline, but I don't know where we stand this year, we've been so shorthanded." No one's counting cars right now, he said, "but it does seem that there's more traffic in town during the week than in past years.'

Jail meeting attracts few from Ruidoso

Carrizozo residents turn out in force to keep the new center

BY DIANNE STALLINGS RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

One by one, Carrizozo residents came to the podium in Ruidoso Friday to knock down each obstacle in the way of their town being home to Lincoln County's new detention

They drove to Ruidoso to ensure county commissioners didn't forget their offer of free land, free water and sewer service for 15 years and free utility extensions. They also were there to hear any counter offers from Ruidoso.

But no incentives were offered by Ruidoso officials – only the commitment to talk about the purchase or lease of village land, if the commission chooses a site owned by Ruidoso. That offer came from Village Attorney H. John Underwood. Neither the mayor nor councilors attended.

Although the room was crowded, just a few people from Ruidoso stepped forward.

Jerry Fugere of Ruidoso said he wants to see a comparison of the cost to him in tax dollars of a site in Carrizozo versus Ruidoso for the jail, which may contain 100 beds. The existing jail in Carrizozo has 47 beds.

"I'm for the cheapest," he said. "That's my only concern. Will it cost more to transport prisoners all the way down there (Carrizozo) in the long run, or would all the freebies Carrizozo is going to give us be cheap-

Frank Sayner of Ruidoso suggested building on the Fort Stanton Reservation supervised by the Bureau of Land Management, about 12 miles northeast of Ruidoso. The fort already is a women's prison. Male juvenile offenders are kept nearby at Camp Sierra Blanca. The area is closer to Ruidoso than Carrizozo, good highway connections are available and Sierra Blanca Regional Airport is within a few miles, he said. Being north of Ruidoso also would fit with the movement of the population.

Ruidoso resident Al Junge, a member of the Extraterritorial Zoning Commission, said no matter what commissioners decide, "50 percent will be pleased and 50 percent

The committee composed of John Y. Hewitt, S.A. Neid and S.M. Wharton was appointed by the people of White Oaks to attend the exhibit of minerals from this place to the Chamber of Commerce at El Paso.

The exhibit shipped from here last Thursday was sidetracked at Alamogordo and did not reach El Paso until Friday evening. This delayed the committee the additional expense of two days lay-over in El Paso.

No excuse was given for the retention of the cars in Alamogordo.

It is evidently a piece of gross carelessness on the part of someone connected with the railroad and should be investigated by the railroad company.

WORK: Road officials say conditions will get worse before they get better

Ernest Sanchez, project manager for the state Highway Transportation and Department, said Grasmick should have an answer from the state by Aug. 15, but possibly as early as the end of this week.

Work will continue on the project during the winter. A crew will stay on site to take advantage of periods between snowstorms, working eight to 10 hours at a time, Grasmick said. Company officials have learned on the Mechem project that after July 1, rain shuts down any consistent construction for more than a month, he said. During the winter, utility installation and underground work will continue; curb, driveway and sidewalk work can be done.

The project consists of four-lane reconstruction from the junction of State Road 48 (Sudderth Drive) east through Ruidoso Downs to the end of the existing four line section. The median strip will be removed, except in front of Wal-Mart, end just west of Wal-Mart. New lighting and storm drains are part of the design.

The first phase will run east of the SR 48 intersection to west of Wal-Mart. Phase two will continue east to Zia Gas Co. in Ruidoso Downs and phase three will go east from Zia Gas to the end of the existing four-lane section

Al Oulman, project manager for Meadow Valley, said by summer, new asphalt should be installed and signals and new signs should be going up to complete the transformation of the highway, possibly as early as July 1, 1999. "We'll tear out the entire road from one end to the other and give it a completely new look," he said, adding, "The way the road looks now, anything would be better."

Rain still could cause unanticipated delays, but Grasmick told gallery owner from McMahon that the company faces a $1,500-a-day penalty if it misses the deadline not correct old drainage problems, it's not supposed to cause new ones, he said.

People who have questions about drainage work around median strip will be removed, except in front of Wal-Mart.

One business owner asked that construction barrels be weighed down more to prevent them from rolling into other lanes, if they are hit by vehicles.

Sanchez said the state can't make them too heavy, because someone then might be injured if their car struck one.

"Nothing would make us happier than to put concrete in those barrels and let people hit them for fun," Grasmick said. "We do put on double ring. (weights) to keep the center of gravity toward the ground. Our traffic control supervisor looks at it every day. I realize it can be dangerous, because if one rolls into an adjoining lane, drivers have no place to go."

McMahon and several other people also asked for a lower speed limit during construction and after the road is finished.

"If you want people to walk on the sidewalks," the limit needs to go down," said Don Nason, owner of Cigarette Alley.

Ruidoso Downs Police Chief David Hightower said nearly everyone driving through his town violates the 40 mph speed limit. Grasmick said hed wel-come an officer stationed in the construction area to write tickets. Speeders pose a big danger the state of the s

"With the support of the community, we can do that (lower the speed limit)." said Mohammad H. Moabed, state district engineer. "With a better road, people will go faster. We have to consider what needs to be done. The department is committed to fixing it."

Nason also asked if businesses will have continual access from the highway during construction.

"This (project) needs to be done and we're willing to sacrifice as long as we can function," he said after the meeting.

The answer from project representatives was that access should always be provided, although one may serve several businesses.

"You have to be notified 24 hours in advance if there is any change in access," Zagone said. Moabed said the threephase project is a partnership between the state and the communities served by the road.

"Please give us a chance," he said. "Call us if something doesn't look right and give us a chance to resolve the issue or find the answers. State and company repre-

State, contractor get together to talk it out, not fight it

Odds improve on Mechem work

As soon as it is available. Virginia Lorenz said she wants to submit a photograph to the media of a group of state officials and road contractors together, to "show people we are working together even though there is a numer out there that we are at odds,"

Lorenz, a district construction engineer with the New Mexico Highway and Transportation Department, said that after several months of hitches and slowdowns in the $8 million project to widen Ruidoso's Mechem Drive (State Road 48), state highway officials, including herself, spent two days last week with construction contractors in a seminar on how to avoid conflicts and complete the project the best way pos-

"To facilitate getting solutions in a timely manner (benefits) everybody in the project," Lorenz said.

"We worked on conflict resolution how to prevent everything ranging from fights to arguments and claims," said Bill Loomis, a project manager for Meadow Valley Contractors, the Phoenix-based company hired by the state for Mechem and three other road construction projects in the Ruidoso area.

Since April, the company has been at work widening about 4 miles of Mechem Drive from the intersection of Sudderth. The company also has a $1 million contract to repave Ski Run Road, a $7.6 million contract to repave 6 miles of U.S. Highway 70 and a $7.6 million contract to widen 2.6 miles of Mechem from White Mountain Drive to Ski Run Road.

Besides the usual impediments to road work, such as weather, the 4-month-old Mechem project has run into one obstacle after another.

"I think on this project it has become extremely complicated because of some issues about design and hot mix (pavement ever, the slowdowns concerned the contractor, who wants to finish the job in a timely and cost efficient manner, she said.

"So the workshop allowed us to discuss certain issues," Lorenz said.

When Meadow Valleys started the project, Loomis announced the company's intention of finishing it before winter. Now, says Loomis, the project won't be completed until next year.

"I've lost lots and lots of sleep," he said.
"It's one of the most detailed and toughest.
I've ever been involved in."

Lorenz on Thursday predicted that work will progress smoother following the seminar on "partnering" held Tuesday and Wednesday at the Best Western Swiss

A Meadow Valley executive, Sam Grasmick, traveled from Nevada to attend the session; and the state's district engineer, Mohammad Moabed, came in from Roswell. In all, about 40 people participated in the seminar conducted by corporate consultant

Sherman Tingey.

The cost of the workshop, which was not immediately available, was to be split between Meadow Valley and the state, Loomis said.

"We really had an excellent workshop," Lorenz said. "The idea is for everyone in the project to work together as a team and achieve the goal, which is to have a good, quality project as well as minimal problems

We went over all of the issues we expected to be troublesome and then (worked through the problems) with all of . the people involved in the project from the construction area to the materials lab out of the district," Loomis said.

Lorenz said the seminar was more effective than similar workshops she's attended for other projects.

"From almost the beginning of the workshop everybody had a commitment to make it work," she said.

More help available for developmentally disabled

SANTA FE -- More developmentally disabled New Mexicans have been added to a list that will allow them to receive benefits sooner.

According to the New Mexico Department of Health, the ability to deliver "developmental disabilities waiver" services to an additional 156 individuals comes from the Legislature and Gov. Gary Johnson, through a $3 million budget item. It leverages about $8 million in federal Medicaid dollars, for a total of $11 million for the program as of July 1. But 1,700 individuals remain on the waiting list, and the number is growing at about 3 percent annually.

Ramona Flores-Lopez, the level of 2900 individuals.

department's long-term services division director, said it was a significant movement on the waiting list, but a challenge remains to make major strides in moving the developmentally disabled from the waiting list into service.

OUR OPINION

The price of efficiency

Once upon a time, people in Ruidoso didn't bother to lock their doors; most didn't even lock their cars. It was part of the "code of the West" that kids grew up with, and lived by and still survives in many small towns in the Southwest.

No more in Ruidoso. Today, locked homes are the standard, only the thoughtless leave a vehicle unlocked, and few women dare leave a purse visible on a car seat, whether the car's locked or not.

So, why should Ruidoso's residents be surprised that Mayor Robert Donaldson has ordered installation of a lockout system in Village Hall that controls access to almost all departments with offices in the building?

It seems pretty reasonable; lots of businesses hire receptionists to direct traffic, fend off unwanted visitors and present an image of efficiency to the world at large. A good many courthouses, state and federal, have security systems designed to protect the good guys-like judges and lawyers—from the bad ones.

Village Manager Alan Briley, similarly, invoked "security" for the steps taken at Village Hall; theft has occurred. Some tickets to the race track disappeared recently from the mayor's office. Briley's own office was hit sometime ago. He also noted that during council meetings in the building (considerably larger after an addition was completed earlier this year), people do wander through. He's had only two complaints about the new procedure, Briley said last week.

Dave Parks, a life-long observer of the Ruidoso scene, thinks it's "a little sad that it has gotten to that point." Parks also suggests that the lock-down might have been in response to people who abuse the privilege and waste people's time. (Yes, every community has a few "gadflys" who sometimes irritate by insistence upon being heard, but they're citizens, and taxpayers, too.)

Frank Sayner, a former village councilor, agreet village Parks. He also is concerned about the image to village administration might be projecting: "Behind the locked doors, are they doing the people's business, or are they giving the people the business?"

And that is the hang-up. The mayor campaigned on a platform pledging greater openness in government. But almost immediately after taking office, rules for addressing the council in public sessions were severely tightened, in the name of efficiency. The mayor appointed two new council members, sidestepping the more traditional approach of appointing the losing candidate who received the most votes. (True, it's much more logical to appoint people you think will support you rather than oppose you; it's certainly more efficient.) And now, in the name of security, Ruidoso's seat of government has been made a little bit less accessible.

The emerging image, unfortunately, is one of a village administration seeking maximum efficiency, no surprises, and absolute control.

This is...appreciation and thanks to all those who supported the Forest Health Association of Lincoln County by their donations and purchase of tickets for the carved bear generously donated by Bob Grizzly" Ādams.

The winner (was) Carol Gardiner, who has the bear ensconced at her Ruidoso home. Perhaps fittingly, the bear was delivered to Carol and her husband, Jim, during one of the rains that have reduced our fire danger from extreme to low.

Thanks also to those who sold tickets, especially Sue Lutz of "Dr. Steve's," and Ginny Dingman and John Rogers, who with the bear and Mart; sold the remaining tickets on the Saturday of the drawing.

As a former member of the village council, it occurred to me that the fire problem was being ignored by both the council and the (Ruidoso) News, In former years, before the fire problem became acute, the News, radio, television, the council, and other sources set up a plan which recognized the problem and set actions to help in prevention and evacuation in the case of a récrious fire. My remarks were published in the News on July 1 and fortunately the rains came shortly thereafter. The agenda participation still exists.

The village council meetings and subjects discussed are controlled by an agenda listing the subjects to be discussed along with other matters.

A portion of the regular agenda items is shown as "consent agenda." The consent items are items that don't require open discussion in an open council meeting, such as approving minutes of a previous Items requiring open meeting discussion should not be separated from the regular agenda itèms.

Normally, a small number of the regular items become consent agenda items, but no more than 10 to 20 percent of the regular items. This brings us to the village council agenda for the July 28 meeting. The total agenda items are 14, of which 11 are shown as consent agenda items. This means that only three items are to be discussed in an open meeting, and 11 items are to be approved enbloc by the council.

Since the consent items have been been approved in sessions not open to the public, it might be well to examine these consent items.

Four items appear as not belonging in the consent group. These are: 1., renewal of the village attorney's contract; 2., ratification of firefighters union contract; 3., approval of travel for the mayor; 4., approval of travel for the chief of police.

All of these items cover the spending of tax money and should be discussed in an open meeting. Too many consent items appear on this agenda.

And finally: In view of the council's interest in improving relations with the public, recent changes in the public access to the Village Hall are very strange. As you enter the building, to the left is the P & Z Department, to the right is the Water Department, this is as far as one can go.

All of the other offices and operations are restricted by locks on both hallway doors. To visit these offices, one is compelled to visit the information desk in the main lobby, where you are asked for your name and who you wish to see. If your request is approved you proceed through the hallway door, which is unlocked for your visit. This is an unnecessary delay.

For some of us who just like to walk through the Village Hall, this is an imposition. The Village Hall, built with tax dollars, belongs to its citizens. If safety is a concern, individual office doors could be locked, not an entire hall-

Ground broken for fourth post office in Downs' history

BY SANDY SUGGETT RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

Shirlene Roberts, postmaster, and other postal employees broke ground Monday for the fourth post office in the history of Ruidoso Downs.

Coffee and doughnuts were served in the present post office to celebrate,

Construction is expected to be completed by Dec. 1, said Ed Norris of Bowers Norris Development, the Albuquerque contractor that also own the land.

We're trying to get it done before Christmas but it may not happen. If we don't get in there by early December we won't get in there until January," Norris

Not enough post office boxes for new residents and not enough parking spaces were cited as the major problems with the old building. The present post office has more than 1800 post office boxes and the new one will have more than 3000. The new post office will face U.S. Hwy. 70, with the parking area in front.

Roberts became postmaster

"It's going to be a lot of work to move from one office to another," she said, "but I just think it's going to be a piece of cake."

When Roberts first came to the area in 1960, the post office was in a little grocery store that opened in 1947 and Dorothy Parnell was the first postmaster. The second post office opened in 1961 across the street, a block from the first oh Hwy. 70.

"We moved into the present (third) one in 1968 because we were overcrowded," Roberts said. "I don't expect to be here for the fifth post office."

Blood flow to the skin increases, causing blood flow to decrease to the vital organs. This results in a form of mild shock.

If not treated, the victim's condition will worsen.

Body temperature will keep rising and the victim may suffer heat stroke.

Get the person out of the heat and into a cooler place. Remove or loosen tight clothing and apply cool, wet cloths, such as towels or sheets.

If the person is conscious, give cool water to drink. Make sure the person drinks slowly. Give a half glass of cool water every 15 minutes.

Let the victim rest in a comfortable position and watch carefully for changes in his or her condition.

Football practice in Capitan starts bright and early for the Tigers.

We're starting Monday. Anybody interested in football can show up here at the fieldhouse around 7:15 a.m.," coach Ed Davis said.

But before any athletes spike a volleyball, dribble a soccer ball, run a mile or drop back for a pass, they must pass a physical test. Ruidoso administered its tests last spring. Capitan examined its athletes Monday.

'If they don't have their physical, we'll take care of them (Monday),' Davis said.

The football teams in the county will spend the first three days of practice in shorts, then they will add pads after that.

All athletes must have 10 days of Coach Davis has a new right-hand man to pace the sidelines with him. The newcomer, however, is an old hand at i the business.

Mel Holland replaces Pat Ventura as Davis' assistant coach. Ventura, who had worked with Davis for a number of years, departed a couple of weeks ago for Carrizozo, where he'll try to pump life into the Grizzlies' six-man football program.

Holland has had head coaching stints at Tucumcari and Tatum, plus eight years as an assistant coach at Eastern New Mexico University. He'll coach football, track and possibly basketball for the Tigers.

When Davis blows the whistle Monday he expects between 35-40 gridders in grades 9 to 12.

Peter Hurd Cup goes to home team

BY LAURA CLYMER RUIDOSO NEWS SPORTS EDITOR

Polo season thundered into action Saturday and Sunday at the San Patricio Polo grounds. When the horn signaling the end of the final chukker sounded, Berrendo Creek Farms of Roswell won the Peter Hurd Memorial Cup trophy for the three-day tournament. Berrendo Creek downed Crestview Farms of Fort Worth, Texas for the cup. In the consolation match, Y Bar O fell to BTA of Midland, Texas. Y Bar O had one local connection wearing its colors. Tom Nickoloff, president of the San Patricio Polo Club, donned the brown and ivory of Y Bar O for the weekend.

Y Bar O played catch-up for most of the match, finally tying the contest at 5-5 heading into the final chakker. But three quick goals by BTA in the fourth chukker forced Y Bar O to play the clock as much as the opponents. Y Bar O ran out of time, losing 8-7.

It was great tournament. We had big turnout, lots of teams," Nickoloff said.

Nickoloff expects four, possibly five teams, to be in town for this weekend's Tom Babers Memorial Cup. Matches are tentatively slated to start at noon and 1:30 p.m. Saturday and Sunday at the San Patricio polo grounds.

Wadif answers with a win in the Kachina

BY TANYA LAIB-SHIPLEY RUIDOSO DOWNS PUBLICITY

Wadif dominated a field of nine other 2-year-old fillies to capture the $57,596 Kachina Stakes Sunday at Ruidoşo

The Texas-bred daughter of Hadif out of Western Squall pulled away from her competition to post a time of 1 minute, 13.3 seconds for the six fur-longs. Jimmy Claridge's trainee remains undefeated in three lifetime starts over the Ruidoso Downs surface.

Despite her No. 12 post position, Wadif headed down the backside third, sitting just behind leaders Allinductime and Louisiana Reign. With just a quarter of a mile to go, Wadif exploded and cruised to a eight-length victory under a hand ride from jockey Chris Zamora.

Trainer Claridge said Wadif is as good a filly as he has had in recent years.

"She's smart and does everything you ask her to. It's like a game to her. She loves it," he said. "It's nice to have a horse that wants to compete."

Owner Phil Mote pointed to his trainer for his filly's suc-

"Jimmy gets the credit. He's done really good with her. She still bucked three months after breaking her. We took Wadif to Jimmy and he rode her three weeks in a stock saddle at his house," Mote said.

In order to mest the need for these types of blood compo-nents, United Blood Services needs to increase the number viduals, with blood types "A negative" and "O negative."

"Only 15 percent of the population has Rh negative blood and only five percent of the eligible donors actually give blood, so it is very difficult to collect enough of these blood types to fill the hospital requests for this special type of blood component," said Clarissa Gonzalez, community relations representative with Unit-

Every day in New Mexico about 240 pints of blood donations are essential to provide enough blood for patients in the state's hospitals.

"The need for blood is constant. Sometimes we need more than 240 pints a day, so when we have one big blood drive, it only helps for that day or week," Gonzalez said.

Gonzalez also pointed out that blood has a shelf life of only 42 days.

"However, it is transfused well before the expiration date," she said. "That is why there is a constant need for new blood every day."

Forest Service conducts burnings to thin brush

BY DIANNE STALLINGS. RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

Where there's smoke. there's fire - but not always destructive fire.

Firefighters called "Hot Shots" who work with the U.S. Forest Service, took advantage of recent rains to burn slash piles last week.

Some of the piles had been sitting since thinning operations around the vil lage of Ruidoso in 1994.

The service was scheduled to return last Saturday, if the Hot Shots were still available, said Bobby LaMay of the Smokey Bear Ranger District.

The controlled burns are occurring in the designated "urban interface" area where the national forest abuts the village.

The service has been thinning and clearing those areas to reduce fire danger for several years, but the piles can only be burned when it's damp, but not raining.

"We started across the street from the ranger district office on Cedar Creek Road and are working our way (north) to Alpine Village, all within the boundaries of the forest," LaMay said. "We eventually will tie into the area we burned last fall."

The "Fueled for Flight" video education kit, created with "checkoff" funding in part from Lincoln County beef producers, uses the exciting world of space travel to deliver a message about good nutrition and the role of beef in a healthful diet to fifth and sixth graders locally.

Checkoff money is paid by ranchers in the state and comes from $1 per beef animal sold.

"Fueled for Flight" is effective, because it uses space travel and science - two subjects that fascinate children - to deliver a nutrition méssage, Reitzel said.

"It's a simple message in a fun, informational package."

she said. "By using astronauts Mark Lee and Jan Davis, as well as NASA food and fitness experts, we can provide interesting facts to students that leave lasting impressions. Astronauts and scientists are excellent role models for children."

Among the messages the kit sends is that variety and moderation are the most important things to remember when eating for good health.

In addition, it recognizes that beef can be a part of a healthful diet and provides protein and vitamins for energy and building muscle, Reitzel said.

."The kit includes a 20minute video, a 20-page teacher guide, 16 activity masters for duplication, and a preand port-test," she said.

Fueled for Flight" was developed by the Education Department of National Cattlemen's Beef Association. which has been creating and distributing valued education materials to teachers for more than 70 years.

Beef producers in New Mexico and across the U.S. continue to be committed to providing the best in education information to tomorrow's consumer, Reitzel said.

A recent direct-mail campaign to promote the "Fueled for Flight" kit generated a 20 percent response rate from teachers – a tremendous return for this kind of tool.

About 10,000 kits are already in use, and additional kits will be available after school begins this fall.

During the 1997 school year, more than 100,000 teachers in the Utilited States from preschool through high school asked for checkoff-funded audiovisual kits and posters carrying positive messages about beef.

Happy Birthday Nellie Ruth Jones

The Reverend Art Tripp, at last Sunday's services, offered a birthday prayer for Nellie Ruth Jones:

O God, our times are in your hand; look with favor, we pray, on your servant, Nellie Ruth, as she begins another year. Grant that she may grow in wisdom and grace and strengthen her trust in your goodness all the days of her life through Jesus Christ Our Lord, Amen.

Nellie Ruth Jones was born Aug. 7, 1983, in Roswell to Fred Lucas and Helena Coe Lucas.

It is hoped that we can have something about the life and work of Nellie Ruth next time in the issue of the paper on Friday, Aug. 7

A father and daughter arrive in the vale

Brother Mark and his daughter, Carrol Jane Elliot. arrived at Mark's new house on July 26, journeying up from Houston, Texas.

They are enjoying especially the front porch, which is actually a work of construction art put together by two firstconstruction men: class Velarde Gonzales and Gerald Candelaria.

Here Mark and Carrol Jane love to sit and watch the world go by while resting from working on the finishing touches of the recently completed adobe home.

It is always a blessing when Mark and one of his daughters arrives in the vale.

A lady of 97 reads the columns

I have gotten to the point that I go to the grocery store sometimes even when I am not out of chuck.

People come up to me and say, "You are Dan Storm aren't you?" or "Dan, I have been reading your columns for years."

They recognize me from the drawing at the top of "The Silver Lining" (the column in Friday's edition) by Mark.

On Jan. 29, I walked in the store and a typical Texan with a true Texan accent said, "I know you are Dan Storm."

He turned out to be Charles B. Hamilton of Austin, Texas. He said he has been reading the columns for years and clips them out and sends them to his aunt who is "ninety-seven years young," as Mr. Hamilton put it.

Her name is Bessie Yeager; and she passes the clipped columns on to her companions in the nursing home where she resides in Mineral Wells, Texas.

I want to thank God for the blessing of becoming acquainted with Charles Hamilton; and I hereby express my gratefulness to his Aunt Bessie, who is an inspiration to all of us.

We thank Our Lord for people like Bessie Yeager.

A Ruidoso couple battles for medical rights

BY DIANNE STALLINGS RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

Rick Garrett landed on his back after falling 12 feet from a scaffold in 1984 doing masonry work at the then new Ruidoso High School.

In a daze, he struggled to his feet and started walking away. But after a few steps, the entire scaffold collapsed on top of him.

"I don't remember any of it," Rick said during a recent interview at his bedside in Ruidoso.

When he became coherent a few days later in a Roswell hospital, Garrett was told the falling debris hit him in the back of the neck, pulverizing one area of his spinal cord and cracking another vertebrae in five different places.

The next 14 years strengthened the faith of Rick, now 50, and his wife, Sarah, and taught them to be fighters, not only in his personal battle for recovery, but in defending his medical rights.

"We felt other couples should hear what has happened to us," Sarah said. "The advice we would give anyone having similar problems is to document everything. Copy it, keep a record of every call, every doctor's report and all of your research."

That thoroughness is what Sarah credits for their recent victory in a lawsuit brought against them by an insurance company that bought out the original carrier of their worker's compensation coverage.

With the help of Home Health Services of Lincoln County and Dr. Arlene Brown, the cooperation of the first insurance company and the determination of her husband, Sàrah was ablè keep Rick out of the hospital despite conditions that normally someone with his disability.

the active life he was leading.

The couple asked that the name of the insurance company not be used, because they will be dealing with the firm for many years. Instead of castigating a particular company, they wanted to let other families know how to combat what they consider unreasonable mandates.

"They're not used to being fought," Sarah said. "You have to make lots of telephone calls and document them with follow up letters. Our documentation is what led to our success in the lawsuit, because it was more complete than the insurance company's."

"I feel sorry for the elderly people who flat do not know. Rick said. "They're used to paying premiums and just rolling over. This company bumped up against two people who won't

Recovery

Rick had been X-rayed at the Ruidoso hospital after the early morning accident in 1984, then was transferred to Dr. Paul Turner, a neurosurgeon in Roswell. But the news wasn't good. After the physician stabilized Garrett, he met with his wife.

"He told me if he makes it hall he parathrough the night, he'll be paralyzed for the rest of his life." Sarah said. "It was pretty trau-

"A couple of days into this, he had a surprise for me," she said, tearing from the memory. "I was called to the room. It scared me to death. I walked in and he held out his arm. From then return (of function) started back like a n g

Turner didn't believe in rushing nto surgery. He thought the body should have time heal to itself.

Rick stayed in the hospital 28 days in a fully automated bed with an apparatus on his head and weights to hold his neck immobile. The doctor drilled holes in his skull and stabilized his neck with a brace before transferring Rick to the New Mexico Rehabilitation Center.

"He met a precious lady named Mary Kay Church," Sarah said. "She was little bitty and she pushed him."

"I would cuss her as we rolled to therapy," Rick said. "She would get me two times a day. The lady had no mercy. Her goal was to get me up and active, because with the severity of the damage, there's a 98 per-cent mortality rate. The lungs fill, kidneys fail. Mary Kay just flat beat me into the parallel bars. If it hadn't been for her, I'd probably not be here now."

"It's been an uphill battle, but (the original insurance company and its local agent), thank God, saw the benefits, if they paid the claim and backed us. Rick said. "We had a real good relationship. If I needed anything I called them and said, "If I had this. I could do that.' Through 12 years, they backed me completely on maintenance care after asking questions of the doctors and doing some research. By maintaining the care, I was only in the hospital one stay since the accident and prior to the buy-out by the other insurance company."

He stayed at the rehab center for four months. Sarah was trained to care for him and that training was continued by home health when they returned. When problems with Rick's health occurred, "We'd always call (home health) in first rather than just check into a hospital," Sarah said. Physical therapy was handled through the Lincoln County Medical Center.

Although the second insurance company sued the Garretts. claiming Rick had received excessive care, the judgment handed down in Albuquerque largely favored the Ruidoso couple and set a minimum standard of care to which the company must adhere, according to court documents provided by the Gar-

During the course of the lawsuit, Rick was ordered by the company to undergo two medical evaluations. On the first in 1996, the Dallas doctors sent him home after two days, because they thought his maintenance program was excellent and Rick was thriving, the couple said. The doctors had a few suggestions on the second trip in 1997, including buying a power wheelchair and switching to aquatic therapy from wei shoulder rotators were wearing).

The couple contends the last trip to humid and hot Dallas caused an ulcerated sore to develop that keeps Rick out of his wheelchair or braces.

He used to do the laundry and household chores while Sarah taught at Sierra Vista Primary, but he now is confined to

"This has set me back three

Sarah thinks that for the insurance companies, it's a matter of showing that they're in con-

"The corporate has come aboard and they are mandating where we get our prescriptions and our supplies," she said. But Rick still tries to find the least expensive options and present them, as he did with the electric wheelchair that he was able to buy locally for $6,000 less than the supplier first proposed by the insurance company.

The couple is waiting for lawyers to work out the details of the judgment, but they still have trouble understanding why the insurance company took actions that ended up costing it much more money, when they were trying to provide Rick's care at a minimum cost.

"The care he received before kept him healthy and happy." Sarah said. "(The insurance company's) bill probably has tripled what it was, plus the cost of the litigation. Look at what they've paid and what they've done to our lives. It makes no sense.'

BRIDGE TACTICS

EVASIVE TACTICS

⁻South dealer. Both sides vulnerable. Three notrump played by

EAST ◆ QJ 102 ▼ 10865 ◆ 10 6 SOUTH • KQ1088

South would have been a far better contract, but, the way the bidding went, South wound up at five diamonds. North would have done better to bid three hearts over three clubs in an effort to sound out the possi-bility of game in notrump. Had he done this, South would have been able to bid three notrump to arrive at the best contract.

West led the queen of hearts against five diamonds and South had to play very carefully to get home safely. Eleven tricks were far from certain when dummy first appeared. The danger was that East would win a club trick at some point and shift to a spade, defeating the contract if West had the ace of spades.

Faced with this threat, declarer did all he could to avert it. He won the heart in dummy and cashed the king and ace of diamonds. He then led a low club and finessed the queen, hoping it would lose to the king - but it didn't.

If South had now cashed

the ace of clubs in the hope of catching the king, he would have gone down one. But he realized there was a chance of making the contract even if East had started with three clubs to the king.

Accordingly, he entered dummy with a heart and led another low club. When East followed with the nine, South ducked, and was rewarded for his care when West was forced to win the trick with the ten.

West could now do no better than cash his ace of spades, and South made five diamonds as a result.

It is interesting to note that West could have defeated the contract by dropping the ten of clubs on the queen the first time clubs were led, but this play, it should be stated, is much easier to make on paper than at the table.

Hey There, Koala Bear!

Onya-Birri feels safe in his mother's arms. Omya-Birri means "ghost boy" in the language of native Australians.

Unusual baby

A big surprise with a little pink nose, little pink eyes and white fur popped out of its mother's pouch last spring at the San Diego Zoo.

The zoo is famous for the largest colony of koalas outside of Australia. New arrivals are not unusual. But this one was. The baby was an albino. It does not have the pigment, or coloring, that koalas usually have. While a gray koala is cute, a white one is simply adorable.

Like all albinos, Onya-Birri is sensitive to light. Since he sunburns easily, he will always be in the shade.

Other than his unusual color and his need for special care, Onya-Birri is like other koalas.

Marsupials

While we call koalas "bears," they are not. Koalas are marsupials (mar-SOOP-euls). Marsupial moms raise babies in their pouches.

When a koala is born, it is hairless and weighs less than an ounce. It is about the size of a jelly bean. After birth, the baby crawls into its mother's pouch, where it attaches itself to one of her two nipples and nurses for about five months. When it comes out of the pouch, it is fully developed.

Morn and baby rest in the fork of a tree. Koala moms don't pick up their babies with their front paws, but they do let them grab ahold and ride along. He will be with his mom for

Koala babies must eat some of their mom's droppings while they are very young. These "pap" droppings have certain bacteria that enable the koala to digest the special food it eats for the rest. Picky eaters Koalas eat only the tender leaves and bark of certain kinds of eucalyptus (yoo-kuh-LIHP-tuss) trees. Many kinds of these trees grow in Australia, but koalas are picky about the ones they will eat. They also must bite the leaves off the branches themselves.

Since there is so much moisture in the leaves, koalas drink very little water. They also may eat dirt when they come down to the ground to move from tree to tree. The dirt may help their digestion.

Their diet of about a pound of eucalyptus leaves a day does not supply them much energy. They spend as much as 18 hours a day asleep in their treetop homes. Koalas are most likely to be awake at dawn and at dusk.

Lenna Doyle, a keeper at the San Diego Zoo, holds a mom and her "joey," or cub. While koains look cuddly, they don't really like to be handled and can bite end scratch.

No Tree, No Me, Says the Koala

A koala in a zoo in Australia peers from one of its favorite perches, the fork of a eucalyptus tree.

Up a tree, at home alone

Koalas are hard to see, even in Australia. Most visitors see them only in zoos. Koalas usually sleep during the day and are so high up in trees they can't be seen easily.

Koalas live in the branches of eucalyptus trees. They are solitary animals that prefer to be alone.

A koals on its way to another tree. Notice that all its legs are about the same length.

While a koala might shuffle from one tree to another in search of food or a mate, it will usually stay high in the special trees it prefers.

The Mini Page thanks Lenna Doyle, senior mammal keeper at the San Diego Zoo, and Amy Fry of the Australian Koala Foundation for help with this lasue.

To do: Look through your newspaper for news or ads about animals. Next week, read all about back-to-school

Koala ... the very mention of the name makes people smile and get a warm, fuzzy feeling. Koalas are a favorite animal around the world. Many tourists put them at the top of their 'must-see" list when they visit Australia. The interest in koalas brings money to the country. These lovable animals are

Koala problems

As important as they are, koalas are in trouble. While it is against the law to kill often used as symbols of Australia.

a koala in Australia, it is not against the law to cut down the trees that are the koalas' homes and food sources. People are cutting down trees and clearing the land to make way for homes and shopping centers. Today experts think that only about 20 percent of the original population

The early settlers killed them for their skins. In 1924, as many as 2 million koala pelts, or skins, were shipped out of the country.

A sign warms drivers to watch out for the over by care koalas. They can tell by the bark scratches and by the droppings on the ground.

The Australian Koala Foundation and the San Diego Zoo are working to save the animal. With the aid of computers, they are taking a very careful count to mark koala homes. The koalas are not evenly spread all over the country. Their forests are near the eastern coast in an area where people want to live, too.

People have pets that pose a threat to koalas. Dogs are the main threat. The koala foundation is encouraging builders to think about the koalas before they start clearing the land.

THE COVER

It's the best of daytime love

Luke and Laura (Anthony Geary, Genie Francis) had the hottest romance on daytime TV in the early '80s when they married on 'General Hospital.' They are among the couples featured in Soaps' Most Unforgettable Love Stories, a special airing Monday on ABC.

PET CORNER

These pets are currently up for adoption at Lincoln County Humane Society Call 257-9841

Scotty is a small Airedale/collie mix who's about 4-months-old and full of playful energy. He's cute, ready to be trained and enjoyed by some lucky owner.

Shirley is a high energy, classically marked, border collie female, about two years old. True to her breed, she's smart and would pick up on commands quickly.

A new campaign of the Humane Society of the United States aims to end the pain of laboratory animals by the year 2020.

About 20 million vertebrae animals are used annually in biomedical research, testing and education in the United States. The number is declining, but still is staggering.

HSUS officials are encouraging different approaches in biomedical research that don't require pain as part of the formula.

An article published in the Summer 1998 issue of HSUS News, details the society's objectives and methods.

The writer, Martin L. Stephens, HSUS vice president of animal research issues, writes that if the society's goal is met, "Animal protectionists, sympathetic scientists and others then would be free to concentrate on eliminating the use of animals in laboratories altogether or at least in procedures that would result in injury or death."

Even sympathetic scientists and lab personnel who support the issue sometimes have been slow to translate that support into action, he wrote.

"Only in the past decade has the use of painkillers in laboratory rodents become accepted practice, and animal distress that is not the result of pain still is not assessed or quantified," he said. The scientific community needs to identify what procedures cause either pain or distress and to what degree, the HSUS contends. That will allow the society to concentrate on the most urgent cases first.

One of the first projects is to have a committee of experts produce a technical report on what is currently known about pain and distress in lab animals. It will contain definitions, how to recognize, assess and alleviate the pain, how to pinpoint the capacity of lab animal species to experience pain and distress, identifying the procedures that cause significant pain and distress and how to replace them with more humane methods.

Letters have been sent to the institutional animal care and use committee (IACUCs) of several hundred research institutions to encourage their adoption of the campaign's 2020 goal.

Federal agencies, including the US Department of Agriculture, which enforces the Animal Welfare Act, are being encouraged to implement policies and guidelines that foster the campaign's goals.

To learn more about the project, contact Stephens at HSUS, 2100 L St. NW, Washington DC, 20037-1525.

FAMILY VISION CENTER

Dr. D. Joyce Sonnenmoser

Dr. Anatole F. Gutowski (505) 257-5029

GOOD VISION CAN REALLY IMPROVE YOUR OUTLOOK

Good vision can also improve your attention span, your disposition and your personal appearance. Seeing clear, crisp images instead of fuzzy, blurry or vague shapes has a profound affect on every individual but this is especially true for children. Imagine seeing trees as green, blurry blobs, never realizing that trees are made up of individual leaves. Writing on a blackboard or words on a page cannot hold the interest of someone who gets a headache from looking at them. Squinting never improves a person's appearance.

Identifying vision abnormalities such as nearsightedness, farsightedness, astigmatism, eye coordination and other visual skills is critical to good school performance. Good vision also enhances performance in sports and is essential to all drivers. Before school starts this fall, children should receive a complete vision and eye health evaluation. From Head Start to Senior Class, good vision can really improve your outlook.

Call or come by FAMILY VISION CENTER in the Sierra Professional Bldg., 159 Mescalero Trail, for additional information on your vision, eye diseases, new frame styles, lens materials and all your contact lens needs.

At this stage in her career, Channing has had so many triumphs that it's easy to overlook a 25-year-old TV movie.

Wagon Train; Journey of Modern Pioneers

From April to July 1997 an unusual journey took place across the arid plans of the Midwest and over the treacherous Rocky Mountains. Families traded in their sport utility vehicles and modern conveniences for horses, wagons, and handcarts. To celebrate the 150th anniversary of the Montion trek west, a re-enactment was underway to honor America's pioneer heritage. Just as with the original pioneers, participants came from around the world. Wagon Train: Journey of the Modern Pioneers reflects their unique perspective of this modern journey west.

By the time the journey ended, thousands had been part of the largest wagon train re-enactment in 100 years. Some joined the wagon train for the entire four months while others walked along for a day or two. For some, the wagon train was a spiritual pilgrimage; for others, it was a tribute to their ancestors; and for still others, it was the ultimate adventure.

Wagon Train: Journey of Modern Pioneers airs Monday, August 3rd at 8:00 p.m., and on Saturday, August 8th at 6:00 a.m. Trail of Hope: The Story of the Mormon Trail tells the story of the original pioneers who made the trek west. It airs Wednesday, August 5th at 8:00 p.m.

"The Challenge for Teen Parents" (Pt. 1)

"What About the Children?" (Pt. 2)

Sundays at 11:00 a.m. (begins 2nd)

The Managed Care Maze series models ways in which families can ask for and receive the care their children need. "The Challenge for Teen Parents" - Being a teen parent is not easy. When you add managed care and a child with special needs to the equation, receiving adequate medical care can seem like an impossible challenge. This program brings ideas, answers, and possibilities for teen parents who are trying to negotiate the managed care maze for their children with special needs. "What About the Children?" follows several culturally diverse families as they negotiate the health care system. Through thoughtful, careful planning and team work, the families, together with their doctors, solve problems and develop strategies for dealing with complex health care systems.

Lawyer Bobby Donnell (Dylan McDermott) and his girlfriend are on opposite sides of a murder case in a special two-hour edition of The Practice, airing Sunday, the show's new night, on ABC.

The Practice holds session on new night

By Glenn Telchman CTVData Features Syndicate

The Practice has another trial to endure. The acclaimed legal drama from executive producer David E. Kelley is moving to a new night for the third time in its two-year history.

Beginning Aug. 9 with a special twohour rebroadcast of last season's episodes "The Trial" and "Cloudy With a Chance of Membranes," Bobby Donnell (Dylan McDermott) and company bring their courtroom theatrics to ABC's Sunday lineup.

In "The Trial," a young woman is slain in a brutal fashion, and Assistant District Attorney Helen Gamble (Lara Flynn Boyle) is assigned to the case.

Helen and her office investigate the crime and find a prime suspect: a wellrespected doctor who was having an affair with the murdered woman.

After the doctor is arrested, Bobby agrees to represent him, knowing full well that it will threaten his budding romance with Helen, whom he will now have to face in court.

The case concludes in "Cloudy With a Chance of Membranes" with several surprising twists and turns - and an ending viewers have to see to believe.

The move to Sundays comes after a momentous year for the series. Last fall, The Practice was placed in a deadly Saturday lineup, and the general consensus was the program would die there. But viewers tuned in, attracted by the show's excellent writing and sharp ensemble cast.

Though the show could hardly qualify as a smashing success, it survived. And after the end of the football season. ABC moved The Practice to Monday, where it handily beat its dramatic competitión.

The show now faces a new challenge. as its Sunday competition includes many prestigious TV movies and miniseries. ABC Entertainment Chairman Stuart Bloomberg says The Practice will do fine.

"I see big opportunities for us. It's the only series (in that time slot). When NBC put Law & Order on (there), it did well. I think there is a good flow from (Fox's). The X-Files into that. ... They're going to get a good audience."

As to whether Bloomberg is right, the jury is still out.

Discovery isn' afraid to swim with the sharks all week long.

By Jennifer Miller OTVData Features Syndicate

Sharks have an image problem. Often described as perfect killing machines and vilified by Steven Spielberg, they are now being slaughtered at a rate of 30 to 100 million per year.

The Discovery Channel would like to help. Discovery's latest Shark Week lineup, airing Aug. 9-15, takes a scholarly, sympathetic advocacy approach.

"People are fascinated more and more by science, less by the sensational, gory aspects of sharks. They've seen the shows about attacks; they're well-versed on that, and it's time to move on to other aspects about sharks - and there's a lot of them," says Jeff Kurr, a wildlife filmmaker and shark expert who wrote, created and directed three of the eight Shark Week specials: Sharks of the Atlantic, Great White: In Search of the Giants and Shark Attack Files II.

Although Shark Week does feature the usual footage of partially maimed shark-attack victims, as well as dramatic re-enactments of attacks, the emphasis is on conservation and insight into the shark's habits and condition. For example, Great White, premiering Sunday, Aug. 9, tempers its discussion of a huge shark that attacked fishing boats off the coast of South Africa with an exploration of the reasons the enormous white sharks of the past are so infrequently seen today.

Viewers unaccustomed to lamenting the paucity of great whites in their vicinity may find themselves feeling an unfamiliar pang as experts describe the difficulty of finding sharks over 14 feet long.

"In the past, nobody wanted to save sharks," Kurr says. "Dolphins and seals and whales are so cute and cuddly, and everybody wants to save them. But sharks didn't get a lot of sympathy because of the way they look and the way they've been misperceived and portrayed in the media."

While presenting a balanced perspective, the specials often begin like traditional sensationalized shark films. For infest an ocean with fear. To witness a seg of charks is beyond our worst

However, after this ominous start, the show goes on to explore hammerheads' mysterious gatherings in the Pacific and to discuss fascinating research involving this species" ability to navigate enormous distances using the magnetic ridges in the ocean's floor.

Likewise, Zambezi Shark, premiering Monday, Aug. 10; begins, "Sharks strike more fear in the heart of man than all the rest of the Earth's creatures. The shark is the predator

The program then presents an admiring profile of the Zambezi river shark, the only shark known to swim up rivers, sometimes hundreds of miles into fresh water. The film investigates the Zambezi's incredible electroreceptors, which allow it to sense electric fields as low as one millionth of a volt.

Kurr says educating the public about how to avoid shark attacks, as well as demythologizing the danger of sharks, is one of the purposes of Shark Attack Files II, airing Saturday, Aug. 15.

"The odds against being attacked are astronomical," he says. "Millions of people go in the water worldwide, and "only a handful of attacks occur,"

Prehistoric Sharks, premiering Sunday, does not feature any shark attack footage for obvious reasons. The sharks it profiles have all been dead for duillions of years. Prefitstoric focuses, as the show's illustrator, Ray Troll, puts it, on "exposure to some of the stranger, weirder sharks."

Troll helped produce illustrations and computer animation that bring to life ancient sharks, including the Carcharodon megalodon, a predator that fed on whales and was as long as a city bus, and the swift iniopterygians.

"Sharks are in trouble," Troll says, voicing his opinion that contemporary sharks are just as extraordinary as the ancient species and may soon become just as rare outside of museums.

Discovery shares Troll's concern, and the oceans, where they belong.

ABC soaps bubble in prime-time love fest

By Candace Havens CTVData Features Syndicate

Passion, steamy sex, intrigue and betrayal are key elements in developing a great love story for daytime television. But those things are not enough if the. actors involved don't have a certain kind of chemistry.

Soaps' Most Unforgettable Love Stories, airing on ABC in prime time on Monday. Aug. 10, spotlights several of daytime's most popular characters and their love stories.

Soap opera supercouples from the past and present of All My Children, General Hospital, One Life to Live and Port Charles discuss what makes their stories so special.

"I think there has to be chemistry in the beginning," says Vanessa Marcil. who plays Brenda on GH. "Ingo (Rademacher, who plays Jax) is very nurturing, and our relationship grew from the start."

For the past couple of years, Brenda has been involved in a love triangle with two of the soap's most popular leading men: Jax and Sonny (Maurice Benard). Since Benard left the show, Brenda has turned to Jax again.

"It also has to do with the relationship between the actors and how much they understand each other's characters." Rademacher adds. "Brenda and I are always on the same page, and we work well together."

Kelly Ripa and Mark Consuelos, who play Hayley and Mateo on AMC, had so much chemistry they became an offscreen couple and are now married with a baby.

"The first day I worked with Mark, he was shirtless and gorgeous," Ripa says. "I think the writers saw the chemistry in the beginning, or they never would have written our story the way they did.

"Being a couple makes it a lot easier for us during those love scenes," Ripa adds. "My favorite scenes are the ones when we make love in the shower."

love scene look authentic.

"We would clear the set of all nonessential people before doing a love scene," says James DePaiva (Max, OLTL) of his passionate interludes with former co-star Fiona Hutchison (Gabrielle). "I have to, at that moment, believe I am in love with the person I'm making love to, or it won't work. A love scene is what separates a soap opera couple from everyone else."

Other OLTL couples in the special include doomed lovers Jake and Megan (Joe Lando, Jessica Tuck) and fun lovers Bo and Nora (Robert S. Woods, Hillary Bailey Smith).

The GH contingent includes secondchance lovers Luke and Laura (Anthony Geary, Genie Francis) and tragic lovers Robin and Jason (Kimberly Mc-Cullough, Steve Burton).

AMC ventures into the past with Cliff and Nina (Peter Bergman, Taylor Miller) and Tad and Dixie (Michael E. Knight, Cady McClain).

The opposites-attract segment is covered by Kevin and Lucy (Jon Lindstrom, Lynn Herring) of Port Charles. "Falling in love for them was a point when they both just gave in," Herring says. "Kevin is always right and Lucy never is, and it drives her crazy."

Lindstrom adds, "Kevin would like to change everything about Lucy, but it's those same things that keep him coming back for more."

ABC polled viewers on their favorite soap supercouple, and their choice will Many actors say it's hard to make a be revealed at the end of the special. Twenty years ago, Luke and Laura would have taken home the prize, but viewers will have to tune in to see who walks away with the title this year.

SOAPTALK

Revenge on Y&R; Bo and Carly on Days

By Candace Havens OTVData Features Syndicate

Imagine the surprise an actor experiences when the role he plays is suddenly recast and he's out of a job.

On General Hospital, Joseph C. Phillips, who played Justus, was suddenly replaced by soap veteran Monti Sharp. The reason given for the change is that the writers want to take the character in a different direction.

Dear Candace: I think Diane (Alex Donnelley) on The Young and the Restless got just what she deserved. She dumped poor Jack (Peter Bergman) the same way Victor (Eric Braeden) dumped her. You know what they say: "What goes around comes around." Don't you agree? -Satisfied in Georgia. Dear Render: Diane is a bitter woman and plans to get her revenge. Dear Candace: I understand that my favorite soap, Sunset Beach, will have yet another disaster episode. This time it features an earthquake that rocks the area. Will my favorite character, Vanessa (Sherri M. Saum), be cured of her skin problem by the time the earthquake happens? -Ronzique, East Cleveland, Ohio.

Dear Reader: Vanessa's problems don't end any time soon.

Amazingly, when the earthquake scenes were being filmed, there was a real carthquake rocking the Sunset Beach set. No one knew because the fake earthquake was so realistic.

Dear Candace: I have watched Days of Our Lives for as long as I can remember. Is there any chance Victor Kiriakis (John Aniston) is going to return?

Also, I think the writers do a lot to make sure that there is always something going on for one of the couples, no matter how far-fetched the story might be. I just wondered why the subject of Bo's (Peter Reckell) relationship with Carly (Crystal Chappell) has never come up? Billie wasn't the only woman in his life during the time Hope (Kristian Alfonso) was gone. -Sampsel in Ohio.

Dear Reader: There are no immediate plans to bring Victor back. And there is no reason to bring Carly into the picture. Bo has enough trouble.
