• In a split vote, Lincoln County Commissioners Ruidoso for all of Lincoln County terminated their contract to provide a DWI program for Lincoln County.

Rick Koeppel and Johnny Montes are out of work today.

Following an hour-long heated debate peppered with insults, Lincoln County Commissioners Tuesday voted 3-2 to terminate the county's DWI program at noon today, effectively ending Koeppel's and Montes' positions as coordinators of the program.

By dropping the $117,000 contract, the county opens the door for the program to be picked up and operated by the village of

"If we have a program that has stopped functioning for whatever reason, whether it be personalities or whatever reason, then it's incumbent upon us to fix it. And that's what we are trying to do," County Commission Chair L. Ray Nunley said Tuesday, explaining his tiebreaking vote to terminate the contract for the DWI program. "Sometimes you make mistakes but I think we are right this time."

Joining Nunley in his opinion were commissioners Rex Wilson and William Schwettmann. Voting against termination of the contract were commissioners Monroy Montes and Wilton Howell.

An earlier motion by Howell to keep the program for a test period of 30 days was seconded by Montes but failed in a vote of 2-3, this time with Howell and Montes for and Wilson, nepotism in the hiring of the two men. Schwettmann and Nunley against.

Nunley put the issue on the commission's Tuesday agenda, he said, because no clients were being referred to the program and it was not being used. Ruidoso Magistrate Judge William Butts, who said he handles 75 to 80 percent of the DWI cases in Lincoln County, stopped referring people with DWI convictions to the program about a month ago.

The reason, Butts said, is because Koeppel and Johnny Montes, the brother of Commissioner Montes, are unqualified for the positions. Koeppel, a former state legislator, had been a jockey agent at the racetrack, and Johnny Montes worked previously in landscaping, Butts said. Several times during the discussion Butts also brought up the issue of Koeppel was hired earlier this summer by acting county manager Martha Guevara at the recommendation of a selection committee. Koeppel, in turn, hired Johnny Montes as his supervising officer.

Montes has previously denied the allegation of nepotism and said Butts' refusal to work with the program is based on a personal problem with him.

Howell echoed Montes' statements when telling the commission the reason for his vote. At the request of Montes, all the commissioners explained their votes.

Fifteen apply for manager's position

Three county residents among applicants, but names withheld

BY TONI K. LAXSON RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

Three local names are among 15 applicants for Lincoln County's top administrator, Martha Guevara, acting county manager, said Tuesday.

Applications for the position of Lincoln County manager have come from as close as Cloudcroft, Capitan and San Patricio and as far as Virginia, said Guevara.

Monday was the last day to apply for the position, left vacant in April when Lincoln County Commissioners in a split vote ousted then-County Manager Frank Potter. Commissioners at the time cited unspecified inefficiencies for the action.

The county advertised the posi-

Downs Trustee Judy Miller said she didn't feel threatened by the idea of a citizens advisory board, and on Monday endorsed a proposal to create such a board.

"They might see something we don't see out in the community," Miller said of the proposed board of volunteers to review village operations.

Other village trustees as well as Mayor Joe Hayhurst echoed Miller's endorsement of the proposal presented by Bonnie Richardson. Trustee Margie Morales said she liked the proposal because village employees may feel more comfortable bringing grievances before a citizen board rather than to their supervisors Richardson, co-owner of Ruidoso Wholesale Foods and a former council candidate, told village trustees her proposal was prompted in part by the number of lawsuits recently filed against the village. "We need another kind of publicity in Ruidoso Downs," Richardson said. "The rest of the state knows we are here, but not for a good reason." Besides three lawsuits filed against the Ruidoso Downs Police Department and another pending, Hayhurst has a lawsuit against the council, saying trustees did not follow personnel policy when firing an administrative assistant this spring.

A revealing hand

Village Attorney Dan Bryant cautioned trustees that many questions would need to be resolved before a review board is created.

"One of the most important areas to deal with is what is the purpose of this board, what are they going to do, what are we going to have them look at?" Bryant said. "What will trigger the jurisdiction that we give them?"

Capitan community rallies in support Smokey Bear Park closure plan draws fire

• A state official's proposal last week to close the park and burial site of Smokey Bear has resulted in a flurry of community support.

BY TONI K. LAXSON RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

State forestry officials have been showered this week with letters of support for the Smokey Bear Historical Park in Capitan.

Last week, State Forester Toby Martinez reportedly said the park could be shut down if funding and community support is not found to turn the 2acre park into the showcase it should be, a local forestry official said.

In response, Capitan residents and fans of the 20-yearold park have written about 300 letters proclaiming their support of the park and its significance to the village as well as to the area's tourism industry, said Barbara Luna, with the Capitan District of the State Forestry Division.

In addition, about 50 people attended the Capitan Village Council meeting Monday night to voice objections to the park's closure, said Capitan Mayor Norm Renfro.

"Actually, that would be a worstcase scenario," Luna said of the proposed closure, which is no longer a possibility in light of community support, she added.

Martinez made his announcement during a program review of the park, which is the only park operated by the State Forestry Division. It was transferred to the forestry division from the "What we are New Mexico Parks and trying to do is gather community support," Barbara Luna

State Forestry Division

Recreation Division several years ago because of its significance to forest fire safety, Luna said. Smokey Bear was buried at park in 1976. The park itself was completed in 1979, Luna said. The park and its center is a tourism attraction for Lincoln County, with an estimated 30,000 to 35,000 people touring it every year, Renfro said. However, "Since we have had the park, we have had a lack of funding for the upgrades and improvements that we would like to make," Luna said.

"What we are trying to do is gather community support.

More money is needed to make the park and its accompanying museum into the showcase it should be, Luna said. Currently, the park's budget of $113,000 is enough to pay for three employees and utility costs. About $2,300 is left for maintenance, Luna said.

The division intends to ask the state for an initial funding request of $250,000 which would allow for an engineering proposal on how to turn the park into a showcase. The initial funding also would allow for some upgrades to exhibits at the park's center and improvements to a playground at the park, Luna said.

Other funding opportunities are being explored for future improvements, she added.

Renfro said state officials probably thought there was a lack of interest in the park because of poor turnout at meetings of the Friends of Smokey organization. But attendance is not always a good indicator of interest and support, he said Tuesday.

The applicants' names do not become public record until the commission narrows the field and begins interviewing applicants.

In a closed meeting Tuesday, Lincoln County Commissioners were to review the applicants for the first time, according to Guevara. She said the commission during the meeting may create a committee for the selection process.

County commissioners waited until late July before advertising the position so Guevara could consider taking the position herself, she said. Guevara, whose usual title is assistant county manager, has stepped in as manager five times since becoming a county employee in 1979.

Guevara became acting county manager when three other managers were fired - Suzanne Cox, Nick Pappas and Andy Wyman - and when Carolin Cooney resigned.

Though she feels confident with her ability to complete the duties of county manager, Guevara said Tuesday she decided against accepting the promotion.

"I have six years to retire and I want to retire from the county," she said. "As far as the work, I do it now. I've always done it ... But I would rather have a boss I can go to if I have a problem."

A glimpse into Lincoln tant. The fact that the same

Baca volunteer charged with possession of marijuana

RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF

A Capitan woman who wrote press releases for con-gressional candidate Shirley Baca of Las Cruces has been arrested on charges that marijuana plants were found in her home.

Doris Cherry, a reporter for the Lincoln County News who also was under contract to write news releases for state Democrats during the legislative session, was arrested earlier this week on a misdemeanor charge of possession and a fourth-degree felony charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

The misdemeanor possession charge represents allegedly having less than 8 ounces of marijuana.

Magistrate Judge William Butts has set a $5,000 unse-cured bond for Cherry, who said she was not held in jail following her arrest, Cherry said Tuesday she has no comment regarding the charges. She has retained a local attorney to represent her in the case.

Frank Hooper, with the Lincoln County Narcotics Enforcement Unit, said agents found four marijuana plants growing in Cherry's home dur- Congressional District seat, ing a search recently.

Live marijuana plants are typically valued at $1,000 each by narcotic agents, Hooper, said.

If found guilty on the miedemeanor possession charge, Cherry could serve as much as a year in prison and pay a fine of up to $1,000.

If found guilty of contributing to the delinquency of a. minor, Cherry could be sentenced to 18 months and/or fined $5,000.

Baca, who is running Joe Skeen for the Second said Cherry has been a volunteer for her campaign for the last three years. "If the allegations prove to be true, it would be very unfortunate for her; for her and her family," Baca said. The congressional candi-date said she would never condone such behavior.

Baca said she recently stayed at Cherry's house while Cherry was at the opera in Santa Fe.

Baca also said Cherry has not written any campaign releases for her within the last six weeks.

insults with Commissioner Montes, told commissioners the DWI program was too important to be operated by people without any experience in court issues or DWI laws.

Another candidate, an Alamogordo man, did have the appropriate experience for the position and had been endorsed by a local prosecutor but was not selected, Butts said.

Montes said the Alamogordo candidate was unwilling to relocated from Otero to Lincoln County. Montes said he and others thought local officials and county administrators should have access to the DWI coordinator

Howell gave several reasons why he was fighting so hard to keep the program in the county.

"There are problems with our management in the county"

Rex Wilson, County Commissioner

Emotionally, he told the commission about growing up father. Later, both his father and a brother died from alcohol-related deaths, and another brother was killed by a drunk driver, Howell said. Another reasons he supported Koeppel is because Koeppel was the only job applicant to say he would push to bring alcohol awareness programs to county schools, Howell said.

Wilson and Schwettmann said they were for terminating . the program because it wasn't effective.

Wilson also said the county had failed to manage the program last year, when funding ran out with two or three months left of the budget year. "There are problems with our management in the coun-Wilson said. ty,'

"It isn't a management problem, Mister Wilson," Howell responded during his explanation. "It's a personali-ty problem ... Mister Koeppel, welcome to Lincoln County. You didn't get much experi-ence as a DWI coordinator but you got a taste of local politics, didn't you?"

Montes, saying if the county can't manage one grant program, then it couldn't handle others as well, asked that the county's contracts to manage both the Drug Task Force and senior programs be put on the commission's next agenda for consideration.

BOARD: The review board would make village government more accessible

Trustees asked Bryant to research how advisory boards operate in other cities. Bryant agreed, but again cautioned trustees that they may be swamped in a "sea of paper" because of the number and variety of advisory boards now at work in American cities.

In Richardson's proposal the purpose of the review board would be to "provide efficiency, fairness, openness, accountability, harmony and accessibility between the areas of village government, law enforcement and fire protection."

She suggested that the village advertise for volunteers to make up a board of five to seven people. Applicants would be screened to ensure they do not have ties that could lead to conflicts of interest. Anyone interested in being a board member would fill out a card at village hall. The cards would be placed in a hopper and then randomly drawn te determine the board members, fuction son said

The board, she said, would meet on a regular basis as well as when a special need arose. The meetings would be conducted in public and anyone would be able to attend and approach the board with a concern, she said.

nate some of the problems that we are having and pro-mote efficiency in the government, both on a hiring level and on an operating level," Richardson told the council.

The police department's hiring practices came under fire in the most recent lawsuit filed against the village. In the lawsuit of Karen Denise Brigger & former police dis-patcher, all said supervisors told her women would never be hired as patrol officers over male applicants.

Bryant, who could not be reached earlier for comment about the lawsuit, on Tuesday said the village denies Briggs' allegations in the lawsuit, officer sexually harassed Briggs. He said the village had conducted a "full-blown" grievance procedure to address Briggs' complaints.

"That hearing officer found no harassment nor discrimination," Bryant said.

Briggs next filed a complaint with the U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, On April 28, the EEOC came back with a ruling of "no finding," which is not a certification that the village didn't violate Briggs rights, only that the EEOC's investigation did not find any violations, according to the EEOC dismissal and notice of County's past, compiled from local newspapers by Polly E. Chavez.

Good news: IRS sent county $42,000. Bad news: it's going back.

BY DIANNE STALLINGS RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

Lincoln County commissioners are scratching their heads over the receipt of more than $42,000 in refunds from the Internal Revenue Service. But some research revealed the money must be sent back. "I still have no idea why

(the checks were sent by the IRS)," said Commissioner Monroy Montes. "I think someone may have missed a deposit."

County Treasurer Joan Park notified commissioners of the situation in a letter dated Aug. 17, and also called their attention to a delay in her office receiving the checks from the county finance office. Checks for $1,495

and $41,967.67 were received in the manager's office Aug.7, but were not delivered to the treasurer's office until Aug. 14

Joan Park,

County Treasurer

said.

"This is a clear violation of state statute and county regarding policy timely depositing of received," money Park wrote. Being timely apparently also was a problem with the IRS. The federal agency deducted a $181.54 penalty from the refund, because the county did-to be deposited, she n't deposit the correct amounts of tax on time.

> Thursday, Park said she's tracking down why the county received the refund.

"I'm auditing the entire (payroll fund) for last year," she said. "Some reports were incorrect and resulted in the deposits (for IRS deductions) we make out of every pay period. Since the report didn't have the correct figures, the deposite were substantially over what the reports show, so the county got notification we overpaid and this check followed."

The county can't keep the money, she said.

"We will be sending it back, because in correcting the reports, we owe the money," Park said. "That's what I'm doing now. First we went through and audited the (payroll) reports to make sure where we stood on those and made corrections. Now I'm to the point of figuring out what we owe back.

"This is a situation that we've dealt with once before. It has some different twists, but I think it still goes back to some of the same problems that existed before."

Park was referring to a dispute a few years ago between the county finance office and the IRS that resulted in the county owing money and checks being sent from the county manager's office without commission knowledge to cover the debt and penalty.

Cooperation soothes noisy waters

Bridges over troubled waters make beautiful music, but as the water muddles up, the Environmental Protection Administration might get involved.

Look down at Ruidoso's primary river from the bridge at Mechem and Sudderth and note the roiling brown; lots of water, loaded with lots of silt. Take Main Road along the stream through Upper Canyon to the boundary of the Mescalero Apache Reservation. The Rio Ruidoso still is muddy. Sadly, it raises some questions about the new signs that have popped up at every crossing of the river this summer: "Rio Ruidoso, A cold water fishery."

Fish just can't survive in a silted stream. The mud wipes out oxygen; insects can't go through their cycle of life, and so there's nothing for the trout to feed on.

The Ruidoso River Association has been watching the river for sometime now, looking for solutions, pleading for cooperation between the community, the ski area and the U.S. Forest Service. That 600-plus member organization worked well with the village government in keeping the river flowing through a series of agreements minimizing water diversion.

The organization's focus now has shifted.

The muddy-waters problem took on new prominence last summer, when heavy rain washed out a major cut in the Apache Bowl at Ski Apache. That slumped into the Deep Freeze ski run, tearing up topsoil the length of the run, washing the silt downstream.

A parking lot, meanwhile, had been built on the site of the natural settling pond for sediment from the ski area. Holding ponds constructed by the ski area to contain water for anowing have become overloaded with series ment, and that has added to the downstream discharge during rains.

Ski Apache management has acknowledged a problem exists at the area, but insists that Upper Canyon and the rest of the village must share the blame. Maybe so, but the fact is that the South Fork of the Rio Ruidoso runs clear; the North Fork (running from the ski area) doesn't.

Perhaps it's time for the Forest Service and the Mescalero Apache government (which owns Ski Apache) to mount a concerted effort to repair the mountain that feeds the river. The Ruidoso River Association already has offered cooperation, and dollars, to help clean it up.

GUEST COMMENTARY

Reasons for maintaining the jail status quo

BY JOHN TATE LINCOLN COUNTY RESIDENT

Regarding the placement of the county jail, I would like to address several related issues which I have not herd mentioned in other presentations. These are:

Infrastructural impacts

Quality of life for residents and tourists in Ruidose and Carrizozo. •Commerce and total tax revenue for the county.

 Comparison to another resort town.

...I request that you consider the total county-not simply our immediate neighborhood. I ask this because, according to my reasoning, the the ramifications of the jail question are far-reaching and will produce a win-win or a lose-lose result for the whole county.

Infrastructural impacts

1. Land. Much of the attraction of Kuidoso is its love ly terrain. Because of its attractiveness, that land is capable of generating revenue. Likewise, because that land is a limited, non-renewable resource, its value is magnified. The employment of such a limited resource `should be towards revenue generation. When Ruidoso-area land is used for ... government buildings, that land is transformed from a profit center to a cost center. Not only does it cease to generate revenue, it becomes a burden. Now, while it may be necessary to have government buildings, it seems prudent to locate them in a fashion which does not restrict the generation of that commerce upon which government...feeds. Ruidoso's economy largely based on tourism and a related resort community. I a related resort community. I challenge the prudence of allo-cating land with such a high commerce and revenue gener-ating capacity to a non-rev-enue generating installation such as a large jail facility-especially in view of alternatives such as Carrizozo. 2. Water. As all New Mexico residents know, water is a precious resource. As most Ruidoso residents are aware, water-both above and below ground-is often in short sup-ply. And during the last drought, many residents of the Ruidoso area were forced to deepen their wells or drill new ones.

However, Carrizozo is part of a different water system--the Tularosa Basin. And even during the worst of the last drought, (the) State Engineer's test ... showed no changes in water level.

...I challenge the wisdom of removing water from the residents and tourists of Ruidoso to give it to prisoners, especially in view of alterna-tives such as Carrizozo.

Consider that a 100-man jail equates to about 30 families or a 50-unit motel. When the water runs low again, and you know it will, there will be no federal judge guaranteeing your family or the neighborhood restaurant has adequate Rut von there will be a federal judge demanding that the jail prisoners get their hot showers. 3. Power. While Ruidoso has an abundance of lovely mountains and forests, Carrizozo has an abundance of sun. That sun can provide yearround hot water for free. Also, it can provide a substantial portion of a structure's heating requirement in winter. 4. Road network. Due largely to topographic features (mountains, hills, vallevs and canyons). Ruidoso is aligned along N. M. Highway 48 (Mechem and Sudderth). While Gavilan Canyon, Hull Paradise, Grindstone and Carrizo Creek Roads are important tributaries, at the present time travel through Ruidoso is constricted. In the area around Center Street, the congestion is arguably deadly.

main business, for Ruidoso, whether a juil is placed off Grindstone or Airport Road, any Ruidoso locale, the addition of ... traffic related to jail business., contributes to congestion without contributing to revenue.

Quality of life

A. Water supply and traffic congestion are part of a larger issue: quality of life. It is the beauty and serenity of the Ruidoso area that draws affluent residents, wealthy retirees, and most of all the tourists who largely fund...the paychecks of Ruidoso citizens. 2. Will tourists continue to flock to Ruidoso if what awaits are water rationing and traffic jams? Can the ambience of central Ruidoso remain when a six- or eightlane highway passes through? This extreme scenario is a projection which flows from the change in focus from

A comparison

1. While it may not be immediately apparent (and they vary in scale), there are many similarities between Ruidoso and Waikiki-Honolulu. Both achieved economic greatness as resorts for tourists. Both have their growth restricted by limited usable land. However, Honolulu serves as both state capital and county seat. And it is in this conflict that Ruidoso can learn a ... lesson.

News Hotline: 505-257-1122

2. In the 1980s and 1990s, the severe congestion in Waikiki-Honolulu; on the southeast side of Oahu; forced the local government we buy land some 20 miles away... The purpose of this land is to house what they call "the second city," a collection of government offices moved form downtown Honolu-

3. The current situation in Lincoln County duplicates the Hawaiian solution and thereby

The Rio Ruidoso is our greatest resource, winter and summer. It hasn't met the state's water quality standards at least since the rains of '97.

If all else fails, perhaps the Environmental Protection Administration should step in, and start assessing fines.

These same topographic features will always channel the city's development. And while some roads may be widened, central Ruidoso will remain a choke point as long as its facade and focus remain the tourist trade.

In contrast to Carrizozo where government...is the faceted metropolis.

3. All proper urban planning must revolve about the ultimate goals of a city. Does the new venture complement or contest with existing institutions?

In contest any for resources, does the new venture produce a higher or lower return on investment?

The question is: Why would Ruidoso desire to transform itself from a recreational site to a government center when the result is overall lowering of quality of life for all concerned?

Commerce and total taxes

1. Interwoven through all the previous discussion is money. The costs of land, util ities and structures for a jail are immediately apparent. But what of lost business revenue, property valuations and tax revenue. When the infrastructural strains on Buidoso cause it to be less attractive to tourists, revenue will fall; the tax base will shrink.

2. If Carrizozo dies as a town, revenue will fall, the tax base will shrink. If these things happen, all of Lincoln County will lose! 3. ⁴ preempts the problem!

Conclusions

For authority for my conjec-tures, I refer to NMSA 4-34-1. ... that article speaks of jails four times...in every case the word "jail" is accompanied by the word "courthouse."

Thus, (I) followed the established pattern in our state law and include the obvious next step—relocating the courts, then all the county offices.

...let's not be naive, for that is what we're talking about, moving the county seat from Carrizozo to Ruidoso. And this is clearly a loselose proposition for both communities. On the other hand, the status quo only means more bail bondsmen and lawyers must drive a few miles. (through some lovely country) to visit their clients.

Especially in view of Honoluhis lesson, I say we should be thankful that providence led us to the right arrangement, and we should not try to fix what aint broke.

Barrow said the planning department, whether an appli-cation is approved or not, still has to do all the paperwork for the application. The cost of the fees and permits offsets that work load, he said.

Lodgers plan delayed

A decision on whether to raise Ruidoso's lodgers tax from 4 to 5 percent was postponed recently for 60 days.

At the recommendation of Mayor Robert Donaldson, the Rundoso Village Council last week continued a public hearing on the tax increase. The new date for the public hearing is Oct. 13, Village Clerk Tammie Maddox said.

Donaldson said a subcommittee appointed to study the possible tax increase should first meet with the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce Board before a joint meeting with the council and the subcommittee.

Councilor Ron Anderson questioned Donaldson if the owners of lodging establishments in the village would be invited to one of the meetings and Donaldson said they would. That particular workshop discussion could be held at either the council chambers at Village Hall of at the Ruidoso Convention Center, he said.

Donaldson said the subcommittee would set a date for the workshop at its next meeting.

Signs given okay

Four existing off-premise signs, which promote businesses at other locations, were approved by the Ruidoso Village Council last week.

One of the signs, for Cree Manor and located at Paradise Canyon and Sudderth drives, was approved on the condition that its appearance be improved within 30 days. Otherwise, the council will revoke a waiver which allows the sign to be larger than allowed under the village's ordinance for off-premise signs.

All four signs received licenses for use of the village public right-of-way. The other three signs are:

• A sign used by the Crown Point Home Owners Association and located at U.S. Highway 70 and Crown Drive; • Two signs used by High Sierra Condos and located at Camelot Drive and Warwick and at Guenevere and Excalibur.

Event funding

Last week, the Ruidoso Village Council gave two new special events a total of $7,500 to offset expenses.

Using revenue from lodgers taxes, the council approved a funding request of $5,000 from the Mountain of Blues Festival, held in June outside the Sierra Blanca Regional Airport.

Another $2,500 will help out the Aspencash Poker Run, a motorcycle rally to be held in the spring of 1999, and sponsored by the Golden Aspen Rally Motorcycle Association.

Both requests were previously approved by an advisory committee to the council, the Lodgers Tax Committee.

By law, the revenue from the village's lodgers tax of 4 percent must be spent on activities or organizations that promote increased tourism.

THE DREAMER

The prime of summer in the mountain land

This is being sent to you an hour after high noon, and the sun is shining down through light misty clouds overhead, casting all the green vale below in a dreamy halflight.

The cows and calves, of all sizes, are resting in cedar and piñon shade, with the youngest ones half hidden in the tall grass, some of them stretched out asleep.

From half way up the thick-growing pinon and cedar of the hillside to the south comes the call of a lone Piñon Jay, sounding like a happy, cheerful human voice. Nearby the coo-ooh of the dove reaches you from the lower branches of the large cedar tree at the yard gate.

The crow gliding motionless overhead sends down his calm voice in a fair-weather song. And all the mountain world is in a peaceful noontime hull. ---

Williams picks up 100 animals a month, on average, though many of these are wild animals she rescues.

It's sometimes a dangerous job. In 1994 she was bit by two dogs, one on each leg and she ended up with stitches and osteomylitis because one bite went into the bone.

She carries plastic chaps for handling snakes, a tranquilizer gun for vicious animals that can't be trapped otherwise, and now has a blowgun that will allow her to tranquilize animals in a gentler way

Four days ago there was a light rain falling just east of the house, and another a quarter of a mile down the valley, and still another farther down.

The rain from the nearest cloud faded to just a sprinkle and a rainbow arched from just across the river to the top of Sunrise Mountain. The first arc of airy colors - with the hillside evergreens shining green beyond --- seemed so close you felt you could walk out and touch them.

Then you looked farther down the valley and the purple streamers of rain under the clouds had given way to their own rainbows, and those heavenly arches of celestial colors were set in a background of hills and vales of sparkling, rain-washed emerald green.

And so here we are with hearts, full of thankfulness to the Lord, rejoicing as we enter the special days of the prime of summer in the mountain land.

North elected to sacrifice against five diamonds, hoping

South would go down only one for minus 200 points and thus prevent East-West from scoring 400 points for making five diamonds. The idea was good, and should have been rewarded, but South misguessed the trump situation and wound up going down two – 500 points – then shifted to a low club. East took the ace and returned a club, the jack losing to the king. West exited with the jack tricks and now had to make the rest to avoid a deadly score of minus 500. He won the heart with the king, cashed the ace of spades, ruffed a diamond in dummy, and then led a spade on which East followed low. The question now was whether to finesse or play for the drop of the queen. After two. It is true, mathematically, that declarer is better off in the long run to play for the drop rather than finesse when he is missing Q-x-x-x of a suit. However, this was a special case where declarer should have finessed.

critical point, that West started with Q-x, is not valid because it means that West could not have made five diamonds, since he would have had to lose two spades and a heart. This in turn means that a score of minus 200 would yield a poor result.

Declarer must therefore assume that the spades are divided 3-1, and so must finesse to justify the sacrifice bid. He is bound to do badly if he plays for the drop, and can get a good score only if the finesse wins because West started with just one spade.

PET CORNER

These pets are currently up for adoption at Lincoln County Humane Society Call 257-9841

Snowball is strictly a "fancy feast" type cat who's one year old and has long lucurious hair. She would be an elegant addition to any household and is ready to go.

Janie and Anie, two female heeler pupstare waiting at the shelter for new homes and someone to train them. They're about three months old and attractively marked.

POOP SCOOP

BY DIANNE STALLINGS RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

For years I've read about special collars that can discourage barking in a dog, but they always seems cruel, because they involved an small shock.

But when two of my dogs started going bananas when neighbors walked by or cars passed, not to mention the occasional evening visit by a bear or herd of deer, I looked for help.

What I found is a collar called "The Silencer," which is consider humane by the Humane Society of the United States and most other animal rights groups.

It emits a high pitched sound that is unpleasant, but not painful to a dog. The goal is to interrupt a cycle of barking, not prevent it all together. That's a compromise for the owner who still wants her dog to be able to alert her to intruders or other situations.

A battery-operated device on a collar is positioned on a dogs throat area after being fine-tuned to prevent unnecessary beeps in reaction to other sounds.

The first day I used the collars, I was amazed. The barking stopped. At first, one of the dogs seemed a bit fearful, but she's gotten over that. However, she knows when I move to put on the collar, that's her signal to cool the barking. The directions say not to use it all of the time. The dog should get the hint after awhile and it can be used again to refresh their memories when needed.

Judith Halliburton, author of "Raising Rover," a book I consult on many occasions, offers some other remedies.

First, she explains that barking can be a survival mechanism when a dog feels threatened, can be meant to alert or for protection, may be used for communication or when a dog feels isolated, or result from frustration or an attempt to protect territory. Or maybe, it's the breed or compulsive behavior.

Going down the list, she advises if the dog is barking out of a survival instinct, put yourself in the "head Honcho" position to relief the dog's feeling that he has to take care of himself.

When he begins to bark, get his attention and give him a command that means "stop barking." As you take over, the barking should decrease.

If barking is a result of the breed, such as shelties, beagles and lhasa apsos, try to control, not correct it.

When the dog is a puppy, teach a command for "barking stops," an don't encourage the trait because the puppy looks cute doing it.

Next week, more on controlling or stopping unnecessary barking.

pras. "I can't turn away from Pete. He reaffirmed his dominance at Wimbledon, but I believe he won't really be fully appreciated for his accomplishments until he's gone in five to 10 years. Then everyone will say, 'Wow, look at what he did.' He's not a showman - just the best all-around tennis player in the world." Joining Macatee for USA's coverage from Arthur Ashe Stadium are lead analysts John McEnroe and Tracy Austin, Barry MacKay, Ted Robinson, and studio host Bill Patrick. Michael Barkann provides features with often wild angles. Catching the ball at wild angles is CBS' "Mac-Caín," which was named after McEnroe and reveals in slowmotion replay whether a ball is in or out after a disputed call. McEnroe, who also is behind the mike for CBS, was known for disputing just about every borderline call as a player. Now he has the technology to show who's right. Leading up to the U.S. Open, CBS continues a tradition of telecasting Arthur Ashe Kids' Day on Sunday, Aug. 30.

USA Network and CBS have weekday and weekend coverage of tennis's U.S. Open, which begins Monday in New York. American Venus Williams is a contender for the women's title.

Macatee front and center for U.S. Open tennis coverage

By Jim Baker oTVData Features Syndicate

Bill Macatee is all set for a two-network volley of U.S. Open tennis when he calls the play-by-play for USA Network's and CBS' extensive coverage.

"It's exciting for me to work somuch of the Open," he says, "and I'm looking forward to my first Grand Slam finals."

Macatee believes the U.S. Open, which begins Monday, Aug. 31, may be the breakthrough tournament for Venus Williams to overcome defending champion and No. 1-ranked Martina Hingis and win her first major title.

"No one rival consistently steps up and beats Hingis," Macatee says, "but I'm looking for Venus to do it in New York, where the animated home crowd will help her and sister Serena. Venus has been on that stage before and loves it."

Macatee sees one dominant figure on the less-colorful men's side: fourtime U.S. Open champion Pete SamTRIVIA

Mila Kunis, who plays whiny girlfriend Jackie on Fox's That '70s Show, was born in Russia. Her film credits include Krippendorf's Tribe.

An Internet poll named J.R.R. Tolkien's Lord of the Rings the most populat work of sci-fi literature. Ornon Scott Card's Ender's Game was second.

Live From Lincoln Center

"Twelfth Night, or What You Will" Starring Helen Hunt

For only the second time in its history, Live From Lincoln Center presents a live theatrical performance, as the Lincoln Center Theatre production of William Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night, or What You Will" airs. Oscar-winner Helen Hunt stars as Viola, with Paul Rudd as Orsino, Kyra Sedgwick as Olivia, and Philip Bosco as Malvolio in this special Live From Lincoln Center event, staged at the Vivian Beaumont Theatre.

Twelfth Night, tale of mistaken identities and misplaced affection written in the early 1600s, is one of the Bard's most popular romantic comedies. The merriment begins when look-alike sister Viola (Hunt) and brother Sebastian (Rick Stear), who are devoted to each other, are shipwrecked and each presumes the other dead.

Live From Lincoln Center "Twelfth Night, or What You Will" will be broadcast Sunday, August 30th at 7:00 p.m. on KENW-TV with a stereo simulcast on KENW/KMTH-FM.

Reflections of a Bonehunter

Loren Eiseley has been called the greatest nature essayist since Henry David Thoreau. Eiseley was that rare scientist who spoke with the voice of a poet, and as an anthropologist and philosopher, he wrote a series of books which have achieved international recognition since his death in 1977. The first documentary ever produced about Eiseley's life and work is Reflections of a Bonehunter.

Reflections of a Bonehunter uses Eiseley's own words to tell his story, along with archival footage and interviews with colleagues and family members, including author Ray Bradbury. Actress Julie Harris narrates, with author N. Scott Momaday speaking Eiseley's words.

Reflections of a Bonehunter airs Sunday, August 30th at 10:00 p.m.

Paxson launches nation's seventh broadcast network

By Cynthia Werthamer oTVData Features Syndicate

Paxson Communications Corp., which owns and operates the largest group of broadcast television stations in the United States, is launching a new venture executives hope will place the corporation even closer to the television pinnacle.

Pax TV, which takes off Monday, Aug. 31, will be the nation's seventh broadcast network, available free of charge to broadcast viewers and cable subscribers alike.

The corporation has reached agreements with major cable operators, including TCI, Comcast, Intermedia and TCA, to bring Pax TV programming into virtually all major markets in the country - 88 stations reaching about 70 percent of American television households. Within a year, plans are to expand its cable agreements to reach 85 percent of that market. According to Jeff Sagansky, Paxson's president and chief executive officer, the network will set itself apart from its competition by pledging not to air programming containing gratuitous sex and excessive violence. In pursuit of this goal, Pax secured exclusive rights to rebroadcast Dr. Quinn. Medicine Woman, starring Jane Scymour, and will air syndicated episodes of Touched by an Angel, with Emmynominated Roma Downey, and Diagnosis Murder with Dick Van Dyke. Pax TV's exclusive rights to Dr. Quinn begin Sept. 14. Sagansky says he wants to run a two-hour promotional salute to the saga of the tough female doctor, but he says CBS is claiming Pax TV doesn't have the rights to the program. Sagansky disagrees. "We're going ahead with it," he says, adding the network plans to air the special in October or November. Pax TV retains exclusive rights to all the other syndicated programs it carries, with the exception of Bonanza and The Love Boat. According to Sagansky, Pax TV's main viewing audience is expected to be women ages 25-54 and their families. "We are basically targeting family and inspirational programming, with strong positive role models," he says. But "inspirational" doesn't necessarily mean "religious," he hastens to add.

"The values are family, friendship, community service, faith. People find faith in all areas in their lives, in their families and their friendships. This is nondenominational; that's why we'll succeed."

A furor arose in the media over an advertising campaign for the new network, which included an ad that said Pax TV would not peddle "alternative language and lifestyles."

Steve Sohmer, head of the marketing, promotion and publicity team for the new network, says the word "alternative" was intended to refer to promiscuous sex, not homosexuality.

Sagansky insists the questionable phrasing was "a mistake of language. 'Family' is pretty all-encompassing. It means people who care about each other and have responsibility for each other," he explains. "We're not saying it means a mother, a father and two kids at all. The whole notion of 'family values' has gotten politicized, and I want to get away from it. We mean the value of the family, however you define it. It's something we all need." Sagansky says that unlike The Disney Channel, Pax TV isn't directing the majority of its programming at children; "Diagnosis Murder is not for kids," he notes. He's also not expecting competition for the family audience from such stations as the Fox Family Channel. "The audience is much bigger than that," he says. In addition to its syndicated shows, Pax TV also will air original programming. The new shows include Little Men, a series based on Louisa May Alcott's sequel to the popular Little Women; Flipper: The New Adventures; It's a Miracle, exploring miracles in their many forms; Neon Rider, a Canadian show about a psychologist (Winston Rekert) who runs a ranch for troubled youth; Woman's Day, a daily dose of empowerment for women; and Reel to Reel, a movie trivia game show. In the planning stage is a pilot for an animated series titled This One and That One, based on two children's books by Seymour, Sagansky says. He is hopeful the mix will provide the right formula for a large viewing audience. "Because of the values and the language and the lack of exploitation, we want everybody to be able to watch," he says.

Hunt is mad about the Bard in PBS' Twelfth Night

By John Crook CTVData Features Syndicate

For Helen Hunt, apparently film and TV glory isn't as good as it gets.

The Oscar- and Emmy-winning actress (As Good as It Gets, Mad About You) has spent the summer on the boards of Lincoln Center, brushing up her Shakespeare as Viola in Nicholas Hytner's production of Twelfth Night, or What You Will, The production has received high marks from the critics, and its final performance airs on PBS on Sunday, Aug. 30, as part of the venerable Live From Lincoln Center series (check local listings).

In addition to Hunt, the cast includes theater veterans Paul Rudd, who previously teamed with Hytner for the movie The Object of My Affection, and Kyra Sedgwick (Miss Rose White).

One of Shakespeare's most beloved comedies, Twelfth Night mingles two bittersweet love stories with spiraling confusion over mistaken identities:

As the play opens, a devastated Viola reaches the shores of the kingdom of Illyria following a shipwreck that apparently has claimed the life of her twin brother, Sebastian.

To survive, Viola disguises herself as a boy, Cesario, and becomes an attendant to a handsome duke. Orsino (Rudd), with whom she falls in love. He, however, is in love with Countess Olivia (Sedgwick), and sends his "boy" to woo her in his stead. In a reverse Tootsie, Olivia promptly falls in love with "Cesario," thus forming a comic triangle: Viola, masquerading as Cesario, loves Orsino, who loves Olivia, who loves Cesario/Viola.

Matters become even more confused when Viola's twin, Sebastian (Rick Stear), returns alive - and is the very image of Cesario.

"The two things that I find extraordinary (about this production) are, first, you can understand what they are saying extremely easily," says John Gobnan, who has been the executive producer of Live From Lincoln Center since its inception 25 years ago. "It doesn't have that kind of stilted, otherworldly pronunciation that makes you not sure of what's going on.

Helen Hunt

"Secondly, it's just very, very funny. The comic bits are genuinely funny, so this is very accessible Shakespeare." Goberman credits Hytner's production skills for the unusual accessibility. "The concept is so extraordinary as to where this is happening and when; it's not modern dress, but it's not costume drama, either," he explains. "There's just a marvelous sense of otherworldliness, but always appropriate to the play."

In addition to the three celebrity leads, this Twelfth Night features other familiar faces from film and TV playing the characters who handle most of the play's more rancous comedy.

Tony Award winner Philip Bosco, who appeared as the father of the bride in My Best Friend's Wedding, plays Malvolio, and Max Wright, familiar to millions as the TV "daddy" of ALF, plays Sir Andrew Aguecheek. The mischievous Maria is portrayed by Amy Hill, who played the irascible grandmother on All-American Girl.

Small wonder that Live From Lincoin Center opted to present a play for only the second time in the history of the series. "With this I said, 'Let's just take a chance,' " Goberman says. "It's got a great director, a great designer (Bob Crowley) and a terrific cast - and it's Twelfth Night! We'll make it work, "The cast is really 'up' about doing this at their last performance together, which is usually something special. And they'll be performing for an invited audience. I feel very good about it!"

Watros steps into Another World

By Candace Havens OTVData Features Syndicate

Cynthia Watros is returning to daytime, but not as the popular Annie on Guiding Light. Wattos is taking over temporarily for Jensen Buchanan, who plays Vicky McKinnon on Another World.

"Procter & Gamble (Co.) has been really good to me, and AW casting director Jimmy Bohr is a friend," Watros says. "The show needed someone, to step in and help out, and I'm happy to do so." Buchanan is scheduled to return to work on the NBC soap Tuesday, Sept. 8.

News of Jonathan Jackson's (Lucky) departure from General Hospital is a bit premature.

Several publications reported Jackson was leaving GH immediately. The truth is the young actor wants to go to college this winter and is trying to decide if he wants to go to school and work at the same time. If he does leave, it won't be for several months.

Dear Candace: I really enjoy The Bold and the Beautiful and the character Ridge (Ronn Moss). The other day, I saw an advertisement for some '70s music, and I was almost sure that the lead singer for the group Player was Moss. Can you confirm this? -Patty in Oklahoma.

Dear Reader: You are correct. Moss was a rock star in the '70s.

Dear Candace: What happened to the original Ruth on All My Children? Also, are Doug Davidson (Paul, The Young and the Restless) and Eilcen Davidson (ex-Kristen, Days of Our Lives) related? -L.L. on the Internet.

Dear Reader: Mary Fickett (ex-Ruth) decided to retire and left the role voluntarily. Doug and Eileen are not related.

Dear Candace: My mother and I have a disagreement. She says the ex-Connor and the new guy, Pierce, on B&B are played by two different actors. I think the same actor played both toles. So, who is right? -Kelly Caron, Fort Kent, Me.

TV PIPELINE

By Taylor Michaels OTVData Features Syndicate

Q: When Ellen first came on the air, she had a roommate named Adam. How exactly did they write him off the show? -D.S. via e-mail.

A: In one of the show's many retoolings, Adam (Arye Gross) moved to London to accept an exciting job opportunity.

Q: Please settle an argument between my husband and myself on two questions. I recall an episode of The Lucy-Desi Comedy Hour involving the character of actress Tailulah Bankhead. My husband says that Bette Davis played Taliulah; I say it was Tailulah herself.

Next, who played Louise on Dear John? My husband insists it was Jane Leeves of Frasier, but I say no.

Dagmar, a dim, poetry-spouting blond bombshell.

The routine was an instant hit with audiences, and Dagmar (Lewis took the character name as her own) became Lester's sidekick and a beloved TV personality in her own right. Q: Whatever happened to The Straight Dope on A&E? It was a quirky show that answered questions from viewers about everyday things from embalming to how rats end up in toilet bowls on the fourth floor of apartment buildings. -Todd Urguhart via e-mail.

-Patty Smith (and Brian) via e-mail.

A: You are right on both counts. That was Bankhead herself camping her way through an episode that, if you recall, involved her fierce allergy to "strawwwwwww-berries," as she called them. Jane Carr, who bears a passing resemblance to Leeves, played Louise on Dear John.

Q: In the Mickey Rooney TV movie Bill: On His Own, did David Duchovny play the rabbi who befriended Bill? -Jonathan Gallagher via e-mail.

A: No. Rabbi Jeff Portman was played by actor Paul Lieber.

Q: In the early days of TV, I remember a late-night talk show hosted by Jerry Lester, who used to swap jokes with a large-busted gal. What was the name of the show, and who was the woman? --Walter Sweikhart, Montgomery, Ala.

A: You're thinking of NBC's Broadway Open House, the 1950-51 predecessor to The Tonight Show. For a comedy bit one night, Jerry Lester invited actress Jennie Lewis to appear as A: Dope, a spinoff of Cecil Adams' hip syndicated column, simply didn't attract a large enough andience to survive.

Q: Is Robbi Chong of Poltergeist: The Legacy related to Rae Dawn Chong? -Roger A. Hatfield, Del Rio, Texas.

A: They're half sisters. Comic actor Tommy Chong (of Cheech & Chong fame) is the father of both actresses.
