Mayor Robert Donaldson said another approach would be to sue the county for equal representation, more services and more support for existing services the village provides that benefits the county.

Councilor Leon Eggleston and Donaldson complimented Commissioner Rex Wilson for representing the interests of his constituents in his largely rural district that includes Carrizozo. Commissioners from Ruidoso have failed to perform that task, they said.

Donaldson again emphasized that it was not the commission's recent decision to build a new jail in Carrizozo that prompted the action - it was the

"It shows a lack of attention to this part of the county," Donaldson said.

Police Chief Lanny Maddox said it's too costly for the village to continue to operate a 72-hour holding facility, especially if the county is unwilling to provide transport for its own prisoners, who have been arraigned in Ruidoso.

During a recent motorcycle rally, he was told by county jail personnel that no prisoners would be accepted from Ruidoso, then later that they

Commission per diem audit shows some 'crazy little errors'

BY DIANNE STALLINGS RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

An informal audit of Lincoln County Commissioners' per diem and mileage reimbursement shows numerous violations of rules.

"Most of the stuff amounts to crazy little errors and some commissioners never were told what really was expected of them," County Treasurer Joan Park said Monday from her office in Carrizozo. Park conducted the audit on a request by Commissioner Wilton Howell.

In a letter to commissioners, the county auditor, the finance officer and the acting county manager, Park wrote that the audit was performed to "review and evaluate transactions to determine if they follow rules, solely for purposes of fact finding, not fault finding."

She noted nine areas of noncompliance. They included:

voucher forms were not always used. That some expenses were reimbursed without receipts for back-up.

• Travel vouchers turned in often did not, as required, list the purpose of travel, the date and hour of departure and return. That full proposed itineraries, required by policy, were most often not submitted when asking for a travel advance.

That travel expenses were not, as required, certified as correct and true by the person submitting them or by the officer designated to approve them for the state or commispayments and 10 under payments were made, indicating that calculations were not verified before payment, Park wrote.

On at least five occasions, deductions were made from the wrong line item, she noted.

Park also cited one incident where a check was issued, a request was submitted and signed before the trip occurred.

Park also called commissioners' attention to a discrepancy between the county policy and rules of the state Department of Finance and Administration.

The DFA rules state that for per diem (daily traveling expense) purposes, official business must be at least 35 miles from the designated post of duty.

Solid waste manager faces evaluation

BY DIANNE STALLINGS RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

Jerry Wright will stay on as general manager of the Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority, at least for the next 60 days.

After a public evaluation during the open portion of the authority's governing board meeting Tuesday, members of the garbage coalition met behind closed doors for a half hour, first without Wright and then with him.

When they reconvened in an open session, they voted unanimously to keep him on at his $40,000 salary and reevaluate his performance in two months. That will allow the group to see how the authority functions without Ruidoso as a member and without the responsibility of providing service to the largest municipality in the county.

Authority member Monroy Montes, a county commissioner, asked the most questions, including whether the manager's salary should go down because he will be managing less than half the number of employ▶ RELATED STORY, 5A

Wright said he will be spending the same or more hours at least in the beginning of the transition.

After Wright read off a list of his accomplishments over the past two years, Montes said he believed they occurred because the board directed Wright to act and that most were late in coming. Montes pointed to his personal push to buy more large roll-off containers, which now are big money-makers.

Wright said he has been able to improve the authority's financial picture without raising rates and will have enough money to replace equipment in the future. He added that as Ruidoso prepared to break away, officials there recognized the need for higher rates and have increase residential monthly rates by $2.75.

Cynthia Morales, a Carrizozo town trustee, said she has no problem with Wright and he should stay in place for now.

"But he should communicate more with employees," she said.

Ruidoso representative Bob Sterchi, a village councilor, said appointed village and county officials traditionally have been underpaid. To hire and keep good people, a good salary is needed, he said.

Montes also was critical that Wright hadn't moved forward with scheduling community cleanup days by stationing roll-off containers to accept household debris free on a regular basis. Wright said he was prepared to move ahead two months ago, but an essential truck broke down and he couldn't get parts.

The four Ruidoso members at the meeting abstained from voting, because they said it was an issue that would affect the future operation of the authority. The village representation on the board will drop from five to one member Oct. 1. That member will vote only on issues related to the village's interest in the regional landfill.

Illegal dumps continue throughout county

BY DIANNE STALLINGS RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

Illegal dumps continue to be used across Lincoln County, because the state lacks manpower, the law is too restrictive and catching illegal dumpers isn't a high priority for other law enforcement agencies, says the general manager of the Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority.

During an authority meeting Tuesday, Ruidoso representative Ross Dingman questioned why Fort Stanton Women's Prison is allowed to operate an open pit dump.

Jerry Wright said the authority provides collection to the prison about 12 miles northeast of Ruidoso. He doesn't know if the pit is being used, but the state and county are aware of its existence. The possible expense connected to closing the dump previously operated by the state when the fort was a hospital is one of the considerations that caused the county to back away from taking over the complex when the hospital closed in 1995, he said.

Prison Warden Sandra Mc-Fadin said Tuesday the prison dumps its paper and wood products in the pit, but food stuff is picked up by the authority to reduce the attraction for wildlife. The pit is inspected "frequently" by the state Environment Depart-ment, she said.

A spokesman for the compliance section of the environment department was unavailable for comment Tuesday.

Dingman also asked about an illegal dump on private land off Sierra Blanca Airport Road.

Wright said the site has been photographed and the violator is known, but it's difficult to make a case without a law enforcement officer catching the person in the act of dumping.

A Ruidoso restaurant over the weekend dropped debris at the dumpsters near Smokey Bear Vista on State Road 48, Wright said.

The state says it just doesn't have the manpower," Wright said. "We take pictures and give them to law enforcement. I have a man out there almost every day (documenting violators)."

Wright said many New Mexicans just don't seem to appreciate their environment like transplants from states such as California and Washington, where a clean environment is

"I get California people who walk in with a plastic bag of flashlight batteries," Wright said. "That's the way they think and have been trained, while some of our local people will just toss batteries out the window as they drive down the highway.

"It's a matter of training and will take a generation or two to catch up in New Mexico. We're trying to start some training in the elementary schools."

could come, but only if Ruidoso drove them to the county seat. Maddox said it may be better to bypass the county jail all together for Ruidoso municipal prisoners, send them to Otero County and close the holding facility in Ruidoso.

'I guess we'd have to handcuff prisoners at the magistrate court and let the county deal with it," Donaldson said.

"If we eliminate 75 percent of the prison population, I don't know how they'd be able to build a new jail for $5 million, but that's not our problem,' Maddox said.

Councilor Bill Chance said about four months ago the village attorney was asked to take a look at the process of split-

"Everyone in Ruidoso I talk to is frustrated with the county," Donaldson said. "It's time to bring it up."

He said a recent accident on Sierra Blanca Airport Road about two miles from the village had to be covered by Ruidoso police, because no deputy was on duty. "They (commissioners) don't do roads, they don't fund the sheriff (properly). They collect taxes, but they don't provide services," Donaldson said. Eggleston agreed, saying

Ruidoso pays most of the taxes, but "is totally unrepresented and we have been for years."

What the county contributes toward the village library 'is a drop in the bucket' for the number of county residents who use the facility, he

For some reason, commissioners don't think of Ruidoso and Ruidoso Downs residents as county citizens, Donaldson said.

When one of two Carrizozo residents at the meeting suggested that councilors or their representatives begin attending commission meetings to voice their opinions and give input, Donaldson said that's the job of commissioners elected from the Ruidoso district. Most of the councilors work and it's a long drive to Carrizozo, he said.

The mayor said he had been assured by one of the commissioners who represents Ruidoso that no decision on a jail site would be made until people had time to review the study. When that didn't happen, it destroyed what faith remained in the word of the commission, he said.

The next item on the council agenda Tuesday involved the village taking over the county DWI monitoring program.

Donaldson said that's one more example of the village taking over a county responsi-

BY SANDY SUGGITT RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

The number of traffic tickets issued went down this summer, along with the number of people injured in accidents, but criminal property damage and assault and battery cases increased, according to the Ruidoso Police Department's monthly report.

Police Chief Lanny Maddox said he thinks increased population in Ruidoso accounts for higher rates of crimes, and extensive road construction for fewer accidents and tickets is-

"You've got so much construction going on, you really can't control a vehicle or maneuver ... through the construction zone much faster than the posted speed. I think it's serving as a deterrent, although it's also serving as an inconvenience," Maddox said.

Police issued 90 traffic citations in August and 138 in July. Last year they issued 166 citations in July and 250 in August. The statistics also show a slight decrease in injuries from accidents.

But criminal damage to property is up, with 49 cases investigated by police last month and 22 cases in July. Last year's statistics show 31 cases in August and 14 cases in

Also up this year is the number of auto thefts and the value of property stolen in burglaries, larcenies, auto thefts and robberies: $118,478 last month compared with $89,543 in August, 1997.

Arrest rates have increased, too, Maddox said, "which means that we're resolving the problems that exist now." Police made 69 arrests in August of 1998 and 45 arrests in August of 1997.

"The impact of (increased) population in the past year has certainly had an influence on the criminal element here," Maddox said, "but I think we have a group of professional law enforcement officers that are able to handle those challenges."

Accusations of theft against several guards working for the Lincoln County Detention Center were dismissed with prejudice by District Attorney Scot Key, meaning the charges cannot be

In a statement received this week, Key stated that Leandro Vega, an investigator with his office in Carrizozo, looked into accusations by Ivan Johnson, an inmate at the jail in Carrizozo during the summer. Johnson contended in July that postage stamps were taken from his cell during a routine search and were never returned, even though they were in the proper place for personal property to be retained. He filed charges in Carrizozo Magistrate Court against jail administrator Mike Borregó and jailers Bob Turner, Kenneth Vega and Janet Walker.

Key said investigator Vegas's conclusions mirrored his own, which were that:

 Jail staff members were acting within the scope of their duties in searching inmates' cells for contraband and combustibles in line with jail regulations and a state fire marshal's inspection report.

 Staff members gave adequate warning to the inmates as to the intent of the search and the instructions that must be followed if inmates wanted to keep personal property.

OUR OPINION

Life in limbo; or, what's in a name?

Well...not likely.

That appears to be the preliminary read on the prospects of Lincoln County splitting itself into two parts in pursuit of some sort of separate-but-equal status that would result in cooperation not apparent right now in our county.

A few of our elected officials do give the idea some credence, apparently. Ruidoso Mayor Robert Donaldson suggests that "we're going to continue to be a family that's going in different directions...We'll make much better neighbors with two counties that can work together, because we're not worried about their effect on us and Carrizozo's Mayor Manuel Hernandez says he would go along with a split; that it wouldn't be a problem. He acknowledges that the "rural" county would lose a large part of its present tax base, but it also would lose the populated areas that demand more services, in effect a trade-line at Ancho."

L. Ray Nunley, commission chairman, wouldn't mind studying the issue—but tilts toward a city-county government on the order of Los Alamos. Commissioner Wilton Howell thinks the timing is perfect to discuss a split, because of a need to build a new county detention center.

Which piece would survive with the grand and historic

That just might be the toughest nut of all to crack.

ours on them...'

Capitan Mayor Norman Renfro would be willing to consider the idea. Ernest Lueras, mayor of Corona, the incorporated village in the far northern reaches of the county, really doesn't care; he'd as soon join Torrance County, a near neighbor because — "we get more services out of Torrance than Lincoln...they could put the county (somewhere).

But Howell also said he'd want to be sure the decision was driven by the people, not some disgruntled politicians.

There is some disgruntlement right now over the commission's decision to locate a new county jail in Carrizozo, apparently without much consideration of a study it had ordered that seems to indicate substantial long-term operating savings if it were built nearer the population center. And Ruidoso already is peeling away its large chunk of the Lincoln County Waste Authority.

But at this point, there apparently has been no consideration at all as to what might be the most difficult old name, Lincoln County?

Destroying beauty

To the editor:

Every time I drive the highway between Capitan and Ruidoso and see the destruction of our beautiful country, I get upset. The very thing that attracts people to Lincoln County and the very thing that the people that are fortunate enough to be able to live here (admire) is being destroyed, piece by piece. Is it a coincidence or was it planned when I saw the that the destruction stopped at the turnoff to Ski Apache, and then was told that it was being done to appease (Wendell) Chino and his skiers. I believe that. It makes sense?

I have spoken to other people that live here and the...consensus is that it upsets them also. What is happening to our county, growing so fast and becoming less rural has its price — becoming more urban... We had the terrible tragedy of a convenience clerk being brutally murdered for a few dollars and a few beers; now we're having a 4-lane highway being developed and with that the destruction of more of our beautiful country. How about the people that live adjacent to this plunder, what do they think about this, like California and the mudslides, since it doesn't take a genius to figure out that erosion will take place without something to hold the soil.

Yes, you pay a price for increased urbanization, and a dear price at that.

This reminds me of a saying I once heard: "Destroy a work of art and you're called a vandal. destroy a work of nature and you're called a developer."

Not enough interest -

To the editor:

Since a decision was made to build the new Lincoln County Detention Center in Carrizozo, I have read and heard comments stating that a decision should not have been made until the report had been released and digested by all the other city governments, particularly Ruidoso.

It has often been mentioned that Ruidoso did not have a chance to make an offer after the report from Rampar was presented to the commissioners this is not true. Had anybody from the Ruidoso Council attended and made an official offer at that time. I am sure the commissioners would have considered it. What was offered by Charles Rennick was a request for the commissioners not to make a decision at the time. Rennick said that Mayor (Robert) Donaldson asked him to make the request. Where was Donaldson if this was so important to Ruidoso? Carrizozo's Mayor Hernandez was present to represent Carrizozo. The commissioners received no concrete offer from Ruidoso.

This decision on where to build the new jail was not a last minute decision by the commissioners—there have been quite a few meetings with this on the agenda and also two public hearings were held. One of the public meetings was in Carrizozo and the other was in Ruidoso. Many from Carrizozo, including city officials, attended the meetings, also many from other areas of Lincoln County attended and spoke. I attended all of these meetings and I did not hear of a concrete proposal from...Ruidoso.

Carrizozo wanted the detention center and from almost the first gave the commissioners a concrete proposal and offer for building the detention center in their city. Ruidoso could have done the same either they did not want the...center or wanted to wait until the last minute to see how little the city would have to offer to have the detention center built there. Perhaps those in Ruidoso who wanted the jail built there should ask their officials which of the above is true, so that if something like this comes up again the citizens of Ruidoso will know how their city officials will handle it.

I'm from Carrizozo and I am proud of how my city officials fought for what the citizens of Carrizozo wanted. Now I hope every person involved with designing, building, filling, and running the detention center will work together.

have a long oral tradition that says they came here from a hole in the ground. Here is part of the Hopi version of that story, which is similar to the stories recounted by many of the Pueblo Indi-

The world was created by Tawa, the spirit of the sun, from endless space. The first creatures were like insects. They lived in a dark cave far underground, which the Hopis call the First World.

Tawa was not pleased with his imperfect creation, so he sent his messenger, Spider Grandmother, to prepare the beings for the Second World, another cave far above the first. As they made the long journey, Tawa changed them into new shapes resembling animals.

He still was not satisfied. He had Spider Grandmother lead the creatures higher to the Third World, where they became human.

There was some water and some light in the Third World. The people built villages, grew corn, and Spider Grandmother taught them how to weave. The Hopi version of Prometheus, Masauwu, brought them fire, and they learned to mold and fire pottery.

But all was not well. Some of the people became powakas — witches — who brought disruption. They preferred gambling to work and were disrespectful to their elders. They stole things and seduced other people's spouses. They forgot who had created them.

Spider Grandmother came to the good people and told them they should leave the powakas and go to another place. She didn't tell them where, or how to get there.

"If at first you don't succeed, try, try, try again," might be the way the Hopis would translate Poor Richard. Over and over again in their stories, success comes on the fourth try. The number four has sacred meaning to them and many Native American people.

In this case, the medicine men made a magical bird out of clay — a swallow — to fly up and see if there was a hole in the sky. It saw a hole but was too fatigued to investigate it.

The medicine men fashioned more birds: a dove, which found land beyond the hole; a hawk, which explored more of the land but found no one dwelling there; and finally a catbird, which found Masauwu, the giver of fire and the spirit of death. Masauwu agreed that the people could come to his land, which the Hopis call the Fourth World.

The Hopis call the hole in the sky of the Third World sipapuni. The word in other Indian languages is similar: sipapu and shipapu are among the variants.

Again, it took four tries for the people to get to the sipanini. First, a sunflower seed was planted. The people sang, and the magic of their singing made the sunflower grow, but just as it was about to pass through the sipapuni, the weight of its flower made it bend over.

They tried again, singing first a spruce tree, then a pine tree, and finally a bamboo stalk up towards the opening. The bamboo made it, but to this day the plant reveals evidence of the people's imperfect efforts. As they sang, the bamboo grew, but they became tired, and each time they stopped singing, a joint formed in the stalk. Spider Grandmother would then urge them to sing again, and finally the plant made its way through the hole.

The good people climbed up the bamboo and entered the Fourth World, where they now

Ruidoso on Thursday will begin picking up its own garbage

BY TONI K. LAXSON RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

As of Thursday, the garbage trucks running in Ruidose will in fact belong to the village of Ruidoso.

It will be the first time for the village to collect its own trash since 1991, when the Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority was formed.

About a year ago, complaints about the service prompted village officials to start planning a separate collection service.

Village Manager Alan Briley said last week the village's newly formed solid waste department is ready to take

Two new garbage trucks have arrived, six of 10 of the department's employees have been hired — five just this week — and plans to renovate the transfer station (where garbage is compacted before being taken to the Otero/Lin-coln County landfill) have been set in motion.

"We have gotten it done and will be ready to go Oct. 1," Briley said.

He added that the roughly $1 million village department could have been ready to go by the first deadline, Sept. 10. However, administrators put off hiring employees because the authority requested that the "switch-over" date be delayed until Oct. 1.

The reason for the request was to allow the switch to occur on a quarter break for bookkeeping purposes. Briley said the village didn't start staffing the department until

Besides planned operational changes, to be made with a $200,000 state grant, the transfer station is to undergo some cosmetic changes, including better fencing, according to Mayor Robert

Donaldson. The station will not be operated and maintained the same way it has been, he said. Briley said village consultants are awaiting state approval on planned engineering modifications to the transfer station before proceeding. "So, we are probably looking at spring time before it is completed," Briley said.

Modifications will be designed to compact garbage evenly, making it safer for drivers and more efficient for the trucks hauling trash to the landfill, Briley said.

New dumpsters are scheduled to be ordered in October and should arrive sometime in November, Briley said.

In a 9-point memo for the Ruidoso Village Council's Tuesday meeting, Briley outlined progress in setting up the department. Equipment purchased includes over-the-road haul trucks and trailers, grapple trucks to be used for yard waste pick up and fleet vehicles.

The equipment was bought with a seven-year lease purchase agreement of roughly $1 million with Norwest Bank of Denver. The first payment will be in January, 1999.

The village increased monthly garbage collection fees for both residential and business customers in July. Residential rates went from $7.50 to $10.25, a $2.75 increase. Part of the increase, $2, pays for the yard waste pick up services and the remaining 75 cents pays for recycling efforts.

Three racers head into the steepest turn and final major climb of the White Mountain Challenge, in all, 17 racers completed the 11-mile alpine-style climb Sunday. Despite the low turnout, race organizer and participant Wendell Lane wants to keep the race alive, even if it means moving the race to earlier in the year.

▶ BICYCLING

Racing club revives a fall classic

• After a one year absence, a southern New Mexico bicycle racing club pumps life back into the White Mountain Challenge.

BY LAURA CLYMER RUIDOSO NEWS SPORTS EDITOR

About 20 road racers renewed on Sunday what some of them consider a fall ritual the White Mountain Challenge, a bicycle race up Ski Run Road.

Sponsored by the Zia Velo Racing Club of Las Cruces, the White Mountain Challenge is an 11-mile, alpine-style climb. The racers start at an elevation of 7,300 feet climb to 10,005 before "dropping" to 9,900 feet over the last mile into the finish line.

Twenty riders conquered the mountain. The fleetest was Ryan Blickem racing for Bikes Plus. Racing in the highest class, Men's Category 1 & 2, Blickem completed the course in 45 minutes, 47 seconds (or about 14.6 miles per hour) – a course record for the new, shorter distance. Ruidoso's own Bart Bowen holds the old course record of 44.58 for the 12-mile course.

"It went well," said Zia Velo Racing club member Wendell Lane. "We would have liked to have a better turnout. (But) It's late in the season and we're a long way from Albuquerque."

Local bicycle riding enthu-siast Galen Farrington had similar problems when he organized the race prior to Zia Velo's participation.

Lane said the Challenge is a favorite among some of the riders, but they may have to move it to an earlier date in the racing season to draw enough participants.

We want to keep it on the schedule," Lane said. "It's kind of an autumn ritual for us."

Lane said Cloudcroft hosts a road race in June, which generally attracts up 100 riders.

"Another idea I'm just kicking around is to have a series of races in Lincoln and Otero counties," he said.

In a race series, riders accumulate points and then receive awards based on those points.

Lane, who also competed in Sunday's event, said the ride down the mountain was worth the grunts and groans it took to get up it, in part because of the newly repayed road.

"The surface was great, and it helped us coming down more than anything else," Lane said.

Warriors shut out Academy

BY LAURA CLYMER RUIDOSO NEWS SPORTS EDITOR

Ruidoso overcame a sluggish start offensively and relied on an impenetrable defense to blank the Academy Chargers, 35-0, Saturday in Albuquerque.

The Warriors improve to 4-1 overall, while Academy drops to 2-2. "We held them to 27 yards offense," Ruidoso coach Les Carter said. "Our defense just did a great job."

The Ruidoso offensive unit started slow, Carter said. The Warriors scored first with 6:24 remaining in the first quarter on senior quarterback Corey Saenz's 31-yard touchdown run. That capped a seven-play, 74-yard drive.

It didn't take long for Ruidoso to find paydirt again, thanks to the Warrior defense. Pinned deep in its own territory and facing third-and-long, the Chargers quick kicked. Ruidoso took over on its own 37-yard line. Saenz started the drive with a 30-yard run from scrimmage. If it wasn't Saenz, then running back Adrian Herrera tore off chunks of yardage.

But Saenz left the game when the wind was knocked out of him on a late hit. From there sophomore quarterback Todd Schrader took over, and the Warriors didn't miss a beat. Four plays later, Herrera scored from the 2-yard line and Ruidoso led, 14-0, with 36 seconds left in the first quarter.

As it would turn out, Saenz sat out the rest of the first half, giving Schrader quality time. "It was a good feeling to see him (Schrader) get in there and do some good things," Carter said. "He got more comfortable as the game, went on."

That comfort level was evident when Schrader hooked up with senior split end Josh Varnadore for a 23-yard TD pass in the second quarter, pushing the RHS lead to 21-0 by the half. Saenz returned in the third quarter, and had his hand in both of Ruidoso's TDs that period. Herrera led the Warriors in rushing with 16 carries for 161 yards.

Capitan 38, Artesia JV 26

The Tigers withstood a fourth-quarter rally by the visiting Bulldogs to post their third win of the season. Capitan upped its record to 3-2 over-all with the 38-26 decision over the Artesia junior varsity.

What started out as a defensive standoff turned into a slugfest by the end of the game. The Tigers led 8-6 at the half.

Capitan opened the third quarter with 21 points, and then faced the prospect of holding off the Bulldogs.

"We played poor defense. We didn't sack the quarterback once," Tiger coach Ed Davis said.

Capitan had plenty of opportunities to do so. Artesia was more than pass-happy; it was obsessed.

The Bulldogs put the ball in the air 46 times, completing 15 for 258 yards. They rushed just 16 times for 75 yards. The Tigers racked up some offensive yards (661 total) themselves. James Robinson provided the offensive fire-works with 201 yards in total offense and two kickoff returns for touchdowns. Raymond Harris gained 195 total yards and Joey Saiz rushed for 179 yards.

Next up for the Tigers is Class AA's defending state champion, Dexter. The Demons downed NMMI, 24-3, to raise their record to 5-0.

Other games

In other local football garnes of note, Reserve moved to 4-1 overall with a 42-6 over Mescalero (0-3). Floyd contained Carrizozo's offense with a 22-12 decision. The Grizzlies slip to 2-2 overall. Corona suffered its fourth-straight forty-fiving, a 75-20 thumping at the hands of Melrose.

A feisty Magdelena team didn't let Capitan's power game blow it off the court in Saturday's championship of the Capitan Classic. Instead the Steers gave all they could to the Tigers before falling, 15-7, 12-15, 15-8, 10-15

Capitan (9-1 overall) defended its Classic championship but not without shedding some sweat.

"We were out of sync because they were finessing us with roll shots, dinks and just good serving and passing," Tiger coach Bryan Massé said. "It wasn't like a power team versus a power team. A power team is going to make more mistakes than a finesse team."

So Capitan had to adjust, and it did after Magdelena evened the match at one game apiece.

The Tigers started going to sophomore middle hitter/blocker Lindsey

"I thought we were pretty successful in the middle. One on one they just couldn't stop her in the middle," Massé said of his 6-foot, 1-inch sophomore. "We needed to run the middle more because of the height advantage and because they weren't stopping Lindsey.'

Still the Steers pushed the match to five games with a victory in the fourth. In the fifth game of matches, rally scoring is kept. (Teams don't have to serve to win points.) But that was the type of experience Massé was hoping his Tigers would get over the weekend.

"We needed it - the tournament experience, we got a lot of touches on the ball," he said. "It's a great experience for us, winning back-to-back. There was some pressure there for us to repeat." The Tigers finished Friday's pool play with a 5-1 record, earning the No. 1 seeding. Capitan dismissed Carrizozo in the quarterfinals, 15-6, 15-6, 12-15 and 15-4 that night. Saturday, the Tigers swept Elida in three games in the semifinals. Elida was that only team to win a game off Capitan in pool play. The Tigers rolled 15-2, 16-14 and 15-10, setting a showdown with scrappy Magdelena.

"We weren't clicking on all cylinders, but we won." Massé said.

Four Tigers made the all tournament team. Joining Bush were E'rin Autrey, K'rin Autrey and Adriana Scaff.

Carrizozo wins consolation

The Grizzlies didn't falter after their loss to Capitan in the quarterfinals. Instead Carrizozo won its final two to win the consolation championship of the Classic. Tycie Traylor's Grizzlies defeated Cloudcroft and Grady for fifth place.

Tigers begin districts Thursday

The district season is already upon Massé and the Tigers. Thursday, they host Cloudcroft in their District 6AA opener.

The Bears finished eighth in the Classic, but don't count them out. They always seem to give their Capitan rivals plenty of fight on the court.

Massé meanwhile hopes his Tigers will continue their climb toward higher levels of play. "We still haven't peaked by any means. Hopefully we'll just get better," he said.

Thursday's match begins at 4 p.m. with the freshman game followed by JV and varsity contests.

Mouth-burning, tear-jerking chili takes the center stage Saturday when the 17th New Mexico Open Chili Cookoff heats up the Aspenfest weekend festivities.

Close to 100 teams are expected to compete for top honors at this year's event, said organizer Paul Crown. Seventy-two teams are preregistered; from as far away as Washington and North Carolina, and as near as Arizona, Colorado and Texas, and including up to 10 local contestants.

"I think it's probably going to be one of the biggest ones," he said. "A bunch of people are coming in from Amarillo that I haven't had before."

The fun begins at 9 a.m. Saturday with a cook's meeting on the contest's grounds, the Tall Pines RV Park on Sudderth Drive.

"They have from 9:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. to cook it," Crown said.

All cooks must start with raw meet, any kind of meat. They can add whatever seasonings they want. They can spend as much as $75 for ingredients, or as little as $5. "But the chili can't have

Honors for Valerie Miller

More than two hundred friends and co-workers of Valerie Miller gathered Friday at the Lincoln County Medical Center to honor Valerie on the occasion of her retirement. after serving eight and a half years as administrator of the hospitel.

Many fond memories and tributes of appreciation were shared; and we all wished Valerie all happiness and blessings in her retirement.

State Rep. Dub Williams presented Valerie gifts from a table overflowing with pre-Outstanding among these was a plaque presented to Valerie by the Hospital Board of Trustees for her years of faithful leadership.

The last paragraph on the plaque follows:

"The people congratulate and thank the lady from Scotland, Valerie Miller, who came, saved our hospital, and did it with such class, compassion and grace."

Williams said that all heartily agree with the statements expressed in this honorary plaque.

The entire staff of the hospital presented Valerie with a memory book filled with photographs and other memorabilia.

Native of Scotland

Valerie Miller was born in Glasgow, Scotland, Feb. 2, 1944, to Phillip and Marigold Kirkup.

She went to high school and to nursing school in Lon-

In 1966, the year she finished nursing school, she came to Dallas where she worked as an intensive care nurse in a hospital.

In 1974, she earned her master's degree in hospital administration from Trinity University in San Antonio, Texas. Then, in 1975, she went to Presbyterian Hospital in Albuquerque, where she was administrator until 1990.

In that year she came to Ruidoso.

In 1998. Valerie was married to Don Miller. They plan to stay in Ruidoso.

Feeling at home

Valerie surely feels much at home here because of the mountain land is much like Scotland.

Several favorite flowers of the Land of the Heather grow here, including the Scotch Blue Bell.

We all wish Valerie and Don Miller all good fortune and God's Blessings.

Visit from Texas friends

On Sept. 23 Bill and Ann Hayes of Plano, Texas, came over to the Storm Ranch for their first visit since the spring of 1997.

Bill and Ann have a home in Ruidoso and often come up in the spring and fall.

Last year the Lilacs were in full bloom when they were here, and they sent me photos of the lilacs – purple, lavender, and white.

This time the purple clematis vine was in full bloom to welcome these good Texas-Ruidoso friends.

Plant some mums for an immediate shot of color into any gardening bed.

Why are pots and pots of mums lined up at the half dozen or so local nurseries?

"Because it's the only thing that will bloom this time of the year, and they come in the fall colors," said nursery specialist Maria Lerma. "They're hardy and after they bloom, you can cut them back and mulch them real good and they will come back every year."

The chrysanthemum (mum) comes in a variety of colors from white to brilliant yellows to peachy oranges to shades of lavender to burgundy.

They also produce bunches and bunches of blossom throughout the fall and sometimes even past the first light frost. Trimming off the dead blooms results in a plant that will continue to produce flowers.

"Mums do wonderfully here. They do better in full sun but they can take partial shade," Lerma said.

To make your mum investment a long-lasting one, use bark mulch to protect the mums over the winter and trim the stems down to about twoto-three inches long.

Lerma says don't use pine needles as mulch.

"Pine needles have too much acid. Mums are not acidloving plants," she said.

Other choices for fall flowers include pansies and astèrs. But if it's the golden yellows, oranges and rust reds - the traditional colors of the fall that you prefer, you can't beat mums.

Bulbs

Now until the first week of November is the time window for planting bulbs. Tulips, daffodils and crocus are just a few bulbs that do particularly well in the southern Rocky Mountains. These flowering plants are the first sign of spring, a break from the winter blues.

"You have to get them in now when the ground temperature is changing, when it is getting colder," advised Lerma. It's best to plant before the soil freezes. This allows the bulb's root system to grow before the harsh cold of winter arrives.

Use bulb booster or bone meal to fertilize. Dig a hole of proper depth for the bulb, usually 2 1/2 times the size of the diameter of the bulb. Sprinkle the bulb booster. Place the bulb bottom side down in the hole and cover.

The fall is the best of two times (the other being spring) to establish a lawn by starting from scratch. The ground is warm enough for the seeds to germinate. The sun isn't so hot that it will burn the young blades. Plus fall-sown grass has longer to establish a root system.

For established lawns, now is a good time to apply a winterizer fertilizer.

A chrysanthemum by any other name ...

Chrysanthemum {kri-san'-thuh-muhm}

Mums are a fall favorite because of autumnal color options - from yellows to oranges to deep reds.

Chrysanthemums, or "mums," are any of several annual and perennial herbs in a large genus, Chrysanthemum, of the daisy family, Compositae.

Chrysanthemums are widely grown commercially for their showy red, white, or yellow blossoms, which are produced in late summer and fall.

The blossoms range from daisylike in appearance to very shaggy.

Although most of the popular varieties are new hybrids, chrysanthemums originally came from China, India, Japan, and Korea; they are the floral emblem of the Japanese imperial family.

The Chinese and Japanese varieties are the tallest, reaching heights of four feet or more.

Indian or pompon varieties have smallest flowers. Japanese species the eight of spades

When a British pair held the East-West cards, the bidding went as shown.

Against four clubs the Dutch South, faced with an unpleasant choice of opening leads, chose the eight of spades.

Declarer won with the nine and played the ace of clubs, South showing out.

Three rounds of spades then enabled East to discard a diamond loser, and he subsequently lost two hearts and a trump to make four clubs for a score of 130 points.

At the second table, with the other British pair holding the North-South cards, the bidding went very differently East bid a conovercalled with four hearts. West doubled and that ended the bidding.

Declarer ruffed the club lead, played a heart to the king, and ruffed another club. Two rounds of hearts drew the outstanding trumps. South's sole problem now was to hold himself to one diamond loser, since two spades had to be lost in any case. If declarer had led a low diamond to the king, intending to finesse the jack on the way back, he would have gone down.

But the situation clearly called for a safety play.

South therefore played the ace of diamonds first. When East produced with nine, the contract became assured.

Declarer next led a low diamond.

West followed with the six, but dummy's eight was played to guarantee the loss of only one diamond trick.

So the British South made four hearts doubled for 790 points to give his team a net gain of 920 points on the deal.

The safety play guarded against any hand where West had four diamonds and East had the singleton nine or ten, and also assured the contract in every hand where East had the queen of diamonds or the diamonds broke 3-2.

EDUCATION BRIEFS

Ruidoso students score high in testing

Four Ruidoso HIgh School students scored high nation-wide on college-level advanced placement exams and were named AP Scholars by the College Board.

Of the approximately 23 percent of America's graduating seniors who took one or more advanced placement exams in May 1998 (more than 635,000 students), only about 13 percent performed at a sufficiently high level to merit such recognition.

Nelva Cervantes, Jacque-line Onsurez, and Harold Tommy Seay qualified for AP Scholar with Honor Award by earning an average grade of at least 3.5 on all AP exams taken, and grades of 3 or higher on four or more of these exams.

Jon Maxwell Beatty qualified for the AP Scholar Award by completing three or more AP exams with grades of 3 or high-

Community orchestra continues for the love of music

BY SANDY SUGGITT RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

An eclectic group of people from the community take over a room at the high school Thursday evenings and play for two hours — Gluck's Symphony in G Major, for instance, or Mendellson's "March from Athalia."

Their leader, Ugo DiDio, considers them "hard-core" in dedication, loyalty and sincerity. They consider him a genius.

A relatively new project, the Ruidoso Community Orchestra, under the aegis of ENMU-Rui-doso, debuted last April with 22 members at the First Christian Church on Hull Road. This fall there are only around a dozen at rehearsals because many of the high school students are involved in the marching band.

About half of the group is adults from all over Lincoln and Otero Counties. All of them are enthusiastic about creating a permanent community orches-

This will be flutist Lily Cherry's third year in the orchestra, and she enjoys it as an opportunity to play with different people from those she plays with in the high school band, and a chance to play with strings (the heart of an orchestra, as DiDio pointed out).

Arlene Brown, a Ruidoso physician and violinist, had been waiting 15 years for an orchestra to start in Ruidoso.

"I couldn't stand not doing it," she said. "It's part of my life. I studied in college, I played in orchestras, and here there was nothing, so it's been a 15-year

Some of the orchestra members have never played in any group before, while others have performed in orchestras or assemblies, but all of them are very eager to see that this succeeds, said DiDio.

'This is a group of people that really wants to play music," said Brown. "We have an outstanding conductor. I'd like to see it really grow."

"We're so lucky to have (Ugo DiDio). He's taken this motley crew and made an orchestra. It's amazing ... He has pulled us together," said Sally Wimbrow. owner of Candle Power in mid-

"The community members who are there are a very closeknit group," DiDio said. "It's a. pleasure to work with them. They're really devoted to the orchestra and to making music."

He'd like to see the orchestra give what he calls the "third dimension" of cultural development to the community.

"We have theater, dance, art. This would be that extra dimension. There is no orchestra in the entire area; we certainly would be fulfilling a need."

The director of ENMU-Ruidoso, Jim Miller, said they're recruiting now to get more people lined up for January (registration for the fall semester ended several weeks ago), and to make the orchestra into a yearround activity.

We need string players very much, no matter what they play - violin, viola, cello or base, DiDio said. The position of concert master also is open now, and he encourages anyone who's qualified to see him.

"Fear of joining" and "Not knowing there was an orchestra" were topics among orchestra members at rehearsal last

Jennifer Harvey, R.N., said she'd heard people say they're afraid the conductor will pick on them, or they say, "I haven't played since high school."

"My dog howls when I practice." said Sally Wimbrow, who borrowed a base clarinet from the high school so she could join the orchestra. She hadn't played since 1962.

Ugo DiDio came to the orchestra in January last year, with an illustrious background conducting, composing and teaching.

Building the Space Station

Working Among the Stars

The Mini Page talked with astronaut Greg Harbaugh, manager of extravehicular* activity, or EVA, projects at NASA. EVAs will be very important in the next few years as the United States joins with 12 other countries to build the International Space Station.

*"Extravehicular" means outside the vehicle, or outside the spacecraft. When astronaute go outside, we say they are taking space walks.

Astronaut Greg Harbaugh

Greg Harbaugh has gone on four space flights and taken three space walks. He helped install new equipment on the Hubble Space Telescope. He also flew on the first U.S. mission to dock with space station MIR.

He said that Greg Harbaugh, 42, studied how to build humans need to planes and spacecraft seek out when he was in college. challenge. "The He and his wife have three daughters. space program is a way for humankind to reach outward.

"How we do that remains to be seen, but 100 years ago people didn't believe you could fly. Who's to say where the real limits are? The space station is one step in that process."

Building the Space Station

Scientists and astronauts are getting ready to build the International Space Station, or ISS. The first stationbuilding missions are scheduled for launch in November and December of this vear.

Astronauts will need to take about 160 space walks to build the station. Station parts will be built on Earth and put together in space.

"The United States will be doing the lion's share of building it. We're responsible in the end for being sure it all works together," Greg Harbaugh

Scientists and astronauts hope that discoveries made way up in space will lead to a better life down here on Earth.

Advice to kids

Greg Harbaugh said: "The key thing I'd like children to get is that people tend to view the job of an astronaut as one that is out of reach. They might view other things (professions) that way, whether it's being a surgeon, or lawyer or teacher. But the truth is that average people do extraordinary things because they love what they do.

"Cling to those dreams. Don't let go of them because people tell you it can't be done. I'm living proof that it can be done. Dreams do come true.

A Walk on the Wild Side

"It is the most incredible thing to be out there. It's awesome to look up and see the Earth. It's like being suspended between heaven and Earth." Astronaut Greg Harbaugh

History

Astronauts took the first space walks in 1965. In 1984, American astronauts began taking space walks without tethers tying them to the spacecraft. They were manned maneuvering units, or MMUs, to help them move about.

Astronauts fired jets on the MMU to move through space. They were used mainly on missions to retrieve satellites.

MMUs were so expensive that they were used only for a few years. Today satellites are retrieved with the space shuttle's robotic arm.

Bruce McCandless II was the first person to walk in space wearing an MMU.

Look through your newspaper for stories about the space shuttle and building the space station.

A safer walk in space

Space is a dangerous place. Greg Harbaugh and the other members of his NASA team are working to meet the challenges of a safer walk in space.

The main danger in these walks is that astronauts are out in the vacuum of space. Early astronauts had to worry about getting a hole in their spacesuits. If this happened, they could die within minutes.

Today, suits are much safer. Even if the astronaut gets an average-size hole, the spacesuit will continue to feed oxygen for at least 30 minutes. The astronaut will have that much time to get back to safety.

Sharp objects are still a danger. Scientists are carefully inspecting all the tools the station crew will be handling to make sure there are no sharp points that could tear holes in the spacesuits.

When working on the space station, astronauts will always wear a tether tying them to a safe place. Crew members will also wear newly designed jet packs. In an emergency they will able to throw a switch and use the jet pack to return safely.

Training

Astronauts learn to walk in space in a huge tank of water. The tank holds more than 6 million gallons and takes a month to fill.

Being underwater and buoyant gives a good idea of what it is like to be weightless, Greg Harbaugh said. "It's kind of like being inside a bubble that wants to rise."

"Maneuvering in water is a lot like in space. But it's a little bit more difficult to get going, and the water slows you to a stop.

"In space, it is just the opposite. In space you're always moving, so you'll just keep going unless you stop yourself," he said.

PET CORNER

These pets are currently up for adoption at Lincoln County Humane Society Call 257-9841

Rudy, a dazzling white short-hair cat with golden green eyes, is looking for a home. He's about six months old and super affectionate. This is one feline who will listen to your gripes and give you some attention when you need it.

Charlie, a hairy-faced bearded collie/cocker mix already is neutered. He's about four years old, house broken and very well mannered. He needs a settled home he can count on and he would get along great with other dogs.

POOP SCOOP

BY DIANNE STALLINGS RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

First some reminders of upcoming events sponsored by the Humane Society of Lincoln County.

A membership drive will be launched at 10 a.m. Saturday, Oct. 10, at the entry to Wal-Mart Super Center in Ruidoso Downs.

Volunteers will be on hand to sign up new members for annual dues of $10 per person or $15 for a family

They'll be signing up people until 4 p.m., giving away bumper stickers and offering free T-shirts to contributors.

A few may be in costume as an added treat for children.

Animal blessing

The annual Blessing of the Animals, a tradition tied to the feast of St. Francis of Assisi, is set for 10 a.m. to noon Oct. 17 at School House Park near the Ruidoso Senior Center off Sudderth Drive.

Father David Berg of Santa Rita Catholic Church in Carrizozo will give the blessing. Everyone is invited regardless of denomination. Free Polaroid photographs will be taken of animals with Santa Claus, or you can bring you own camera.

Awards will be handed out. All types of pets are welcome, but be sure to keep them on a leash or under restraint.

New guide for traveling

A new book is receiving good reviews from the Humane Society of the United States. It's for people who travel and want to take their pets with them.

Titled, "Pets Welcome, a Guide to Hotels, Inns and Resorts That Welcome You and Your Pet," the book is published by Bon Vivant Press and sells for $19.95.

Each state – of the lower 48 – has its own section with comments from authors Kathleen and Robert Fish.

Each entry is rated with from one to four paws of approval.

Five places are featured in New Mexico. They are:

- The Ranchette in Albuquerque, which received three paws and provides trails for horses traveling with their owners. However, a $100 refundable deposit is required as is prior approval of the manager.

- Alexander's Inn Bed and Breakfast in Santa Fe, which received four paws.

- The Inn of the Turquoise Bear, a four-paw entry also in Santa Fe, but requires the manager's prior approval and an extra $20 deposit.

- Inn on the Alameda in Santa Fe, a four paw stop.

- Zuni Mountain Lodge in Thoreau, which received three paws and has spacious fenced yards for pets.

Next week, some traveling tips from the authors.

Bruce Lee gets ready to teach an opponent a painful lesson in The Greatest Martial Artist - Bruce Lee, airing Saturday on The Learning Channel.

Good Housekeeping

CAN LOWER-FAT CHEESE FOOL LASAGNA LOVERS? Homemade lasagna has never been considered diet food. But wouldn't it be nice to save a few fat grams and calories without sacrificing texture or flavor? The Good Housekeeping Institute gave it a try, inviting seven hungry staffers from their Food and Nutrition departments to lunch so they could sample and compare three versions: one made with fat-free mozzarella and ricotta, one with part-skim cheeses, and one with whole-milk products.

The tasting was as blind as it could be considering that most of the GH food pros could tell at a glance which was the fat-free version; they said the top layers of shredded mozzarella looked shiny, "plastic-like," and very white. Even for a savings of 8 fat grams and 64 calories per serving* compared to the full-fat lasagna (and 6.6 fat grams and 53 calories over part-skim), the lightest lasagna was not considered worth the effort. Comments ranged from "this is like chewing plastic" to "the ricotta leaves a bitter aftertaste."

The lasagna with part-skim cheese was voted close enough to the real thing in taste and texture to merit a switch, although the fat and calorie savings per serving (3 grams fat and 25 calories) were not as significant. The panel said that although the mozzarella was a bit rubbery, it melted well and didn't make a major difference overall.

SUNGLASSES FOR EVERY SEASON

Sunglasses and tinted lenses serve a variety of functions. Tints provide protection from bright light in every season. "Special application" tints are used for skiing, shooting or driving. Recently sunglass companies have referred to their projects as providing protection from "harmful rays". By this they mean ultraviolet radiation. UV radiation may contribute to the growth of cataracts.

Anti-reflective coatings, polarized lenses and photochromic lenses also aid in protecting eyes from the sun. Brown lenses tend to make the view a little warmer and brighter than gray lenses. Forty years ago sunglasses were sage green. All three colors are considered neutral because they transmit all colors in their true relationship. Yellow lenses are recommended for shooting and driving.

Everyone wants to be able to see clearly and comfortably no matter what the light conditions. It is also important to protect your eyes. Selected non-prescription sunglasses including Harley-Davidson and Guess are now available at 20% off. All prescription sunglasses and selected frames with clips are also 20% off. We invite you to stop by Family Vision Center, 159 Mescalero Trail. See our wide selection of frames and experience hands-on our lens options to determine your specific optical needs. Take care of your eyes, they're the only ones you'll ever have.

The samples with whole-milk ricotta and mozzarella were, of course, the forks-down winner for "creamiest." The mozzarella was soft and stretchy; it didn't melt into a solid sheet like the fat-free kind did.

In the end, the choice is yours. Your family may not be as picky as the GH experts, and the taste buds can get used to anything if you're really determined to trim calories — plus, regardless of their fat content, all of these cheeses, slimmed down or not, are good sources of calcium.

* Good Housekeeping used a 32ounce container of ricotta and 8 ounces mozzarella in each lasagna (baked in a 13" by 9" dish). If your recipe calls for more cheese, fat and calorie savings will be more signifi-

Shannen Doherty (Beverly Hills, 90210) Joins Alyssa Milano and Holly Marie Combs as sisters who discover their family secret is a bewitch-Ing one in Charmed, premiering Wednesday on The WB Network.

Charmed sister trio casts bewitching spell

By Cynthia Werthamer CTVData Features Syndicate

Shannen Doherty is a witch. Or at least she plays one on TV, along with Holly Marie Combs (Picket Fences) and Alyssa Milano (Melrose Place, Who's the Boss?) in the new series Charmed, premiering Wednesday, Oct. 7, on The WB Network.

The three play the Halliwell sisters, for whom - literally and figuratively - all hell breaks loose when they come to live with their grandmother and discover they have inherited their family's ancient powers of witchcraft.

Viewers learn, along with the sisters, that Prue (Doherty) can move things with her mind, Piper (Combs) can freeze time, and Phoebe (Milano) is able to foresee the future.

Prue, the oldest, is aghast to discover that her average 20-something life as a museum curator is about to be turned upside down. She blames Phoebe, the youngest, who read the spell that activated their powers.

"You turned me into a witch." Prue cries in despair.

"You were born one," Phoebe responds. "We all were, and I think we'd better start learning to deal with that."

For the trio, dealing with it means using their powers for good, not evil. In the show's pilot, evil takes the " form of a dark-hooded character who silently moves around San Francisco murdering witches.

Series creator and executive producer Connie Burge says she wants the sisters to be seen not just as role models, but also as normal siblings.

"Unlike an X-Files type of show, this is a story about three sisters who happen to be witches. They are bound by this secret and this is going to affect their jobs and their relationships," she explains.

Executive producer Aaron Spelling, who brought Doherty and Milano to the hourlong series, says this is his best team since Charlie's Angels.

"I feel closer to these three, I guess, because they're good witches and they have me under their spell or something," he says.

Sunday, The Disney Channel rolls out Rolle Polie Olie, about the adventures of a 6-year-old robot boy living with his parents, grandfather, sister and dog.

New releases from Disney delight preschoolers

By Jacqueline Cutier of TVData Features Syndicate

The ketchup-on-everything set will love the new offerings from The Disney Channel. Those old enough to have moved on to mustard just won't get it.

New shows Rolie Polie Olie and Out of the Box are a tad treacly, except for the most precious grown-up, but they are a hit with their target audience of preschoolers – at least the two who watched it with this cranky adult.

The Disney Channel is dedicating October to preschoolers, adding the two new shows to a lineup that includes the series 101 Dalmatians and Sing Me a Story With Belle.

Rolie Polie Olie, premiering Sunday, Oct. 4, is the first completely computer-generated animation series for 2- to 5-year-olds. Each show contains a trio of seven-minute shorts featuring what are supposed to be robots, but resemble caterpillars or some retro insect.

The Polie family lives in a teapot where every article is anthropomorphized – a Pee-wee's Playhouse without the camp. All objects are rounded, and there's not a hard edge in sight. The mother, Polina Polie, and father, Percey Polie, take care of 6-year-old Olie, 2-year-old Zowie and their dog, Spot. Grandfather Pappy rounds out the family.

Within the first few minutes, adults may find themselves studying their watches and wondering when they stopped ticking. The two 4-year-olds, however, were enchanted. They laughed – the dancing flowers were hilarious – and sat hypnotized by the TV

Segments are about simple subjects, such as getting ready in the morning, making breakfast for the parents and having a loose tooth. Zowie's pet rock segment was the best part of the first two shows. These are not exactly layered plots – then again, many adult sitcoms are plotted around a lot less.

While the computer-generated art doesn't fill the screen with the awe of Disney's more intricately crafted animation, creator William Joyce says he was aiming for the simplified art deco look of 1920s and '30s animation. "I was thinking of cartoons and TV shows I watched growing up," he explains. "Olie is really a hybrid of the stuff I watched back then – sort of Leave It to Beaver combined with robots."

Out of the Box debuts Monday, Oct.

5. It's a chirpy effort full of happy people singing and having fun. How the characters come together—whether they are neighbors or attend the same daycare—is not explained. The children didn't question the relationships, so perhaps that's another pesky adult problem.

Each episode of the weekday morning show focuses on one topic to be explored through music, storytelling and art.

The premiere revolves around seeds and growth as Vivian Bayubay, the adult female lead, tends to her plants. The racially mixed cast sings along and pretends to be seeds growing.

Bayubay, who has a lovely voice, teaches how to make a tree out of three sheets of newspaper: Tape sheets together, roll sheets, tape again and cut the top part into sections. It's a nifty little art project that takes as long to do as it does to explain, and using mundane objects for crafts definitely is a plus.

Even if adults find the show syrupy and Bayubay's talking to the camera a tad artificial, the intended audience was happy. "She's a nice lady and I really want her for my teacher," was one child's 'a.

Also in this episode, the children and Tony James, the adult male lead, perform a friendly version of "Jack and the Beanstalk" in which no one ever is threatened. James clearly has a great time with the children, and they respond well to him.

These aren't shows that will teach children much. On the other hand, they're safe shows, with no violence, questionable behavior or language that needs to be explained or banished. Parents can let the very young watch while they steal away for a few minutes. The children will be entertained, and anyone old enough to remember the Bush administration will appreciate the break.

NOVA celebrates its 25th anniversary season

"Lost at Sea: The Search for Longitude"

"Lost at Sea" tells the story of John Harrision, who spent a lifetime perfecting an accurate timepiece that could be used on shipboard to determine longitude, the East-West position on the Earth's mapping grid. The North-South position, called latitude, is easily measured by sighting the North Star or the noonday Sun. There is no comparable, simple way to fix longitude. As a result, mariners were literally "at sea" about their precise location, often running aground or missing their destinations entirely. In 1714, British authorities were so alarmed by the loss of ships and fortunes due to faulty, inexact navigation that they offered a prize of several million dollars by today's currency for the solution to the vexing problem of longitude. Meanwhile, in rural England an uneducated carpenter and clockmaker named John Harrision set about solving the problem by building a precise clock. After decades of toil to find a solution, his elegant invention, which remains the basis for most modern forms of navigation in the world today, made him an unlikely hero.

"Chasing El Nino!"

Next, Nova premieres "Chasing El Nino!" A massive planet-sized machine controls the world's weather day-by-day, and the climate season by season. It takes an event of staggering proportions to disrupt a machine this large and powerful, a juggernaut with more energy than a million nuclear bombs. Such an event is underway — El Nino. El Nino is second only to the seasons in its effect on global weather. As scientists push to extremes to explore this phenomenon, they are understanding for the first time the extent to which all the world's weather is connected, and just how delicate is the balance.

"Terror in Space"

Nova chronicles the life-threatening catastrophes on the Russian Mir as seen through the eyes of U.S. astronauts Jerry Linenger and Michael Foale in "Terror in Space." Linenger was in his second month on Mir when a malfunctioning oxygen generator suddenly sent a blow-torch flame shooting into the cabin, accompanied by splattering molten metal and billowing smoke. Quick reaction by everyone on board contained the blaze, which burned for fourteen terrifying minutes. Linenger returned to Earth in May 1997 aboard the space shuttle that delivered his replacement, Michael Foale, who was fated to have his own dire emergency. Foale's brush with death unfolded as Russian cosmonauts tested a risky procedure for docking an unmanned cargo ship by remote control. In a night-marish scenario, the cargo ship crashed into Mir, rupturing a wall and damaging the station's solar panels. It took fourteen hours to realign Mir and restore power to their most critical systems. The station has been occupied almost continuously since its launch in 1986.

Nova can be seen Tuesdays at 7:00 p.m., Saturdays at 9:00 p.m., and Sundays at 12:00 midnight.

Winningham is stunning in taut psychological thriller

By John Crook CTVData Features Syndicate

Emmy winner Mare Winningham (George Wallace) gives a haunting performance as a mild-mannered woman plagued by repressed memories in Little Girl Fly Away, a fact-based psychological drama premiering Tuesday, Oct. 6, on CBS.

Adapted from Gene Stone's 1994 book, Little Girl focuses on Catherine and Frank Begley (Winningham, Bruce Davison), a sedate middle-aged couple whose calm lives are devastated when she begins to receive threatening letters and phone calls from a man who is out to kill her.

Catherine grows convinced that her stalker is The Poet, a sinister figure who sends crudely written notes in rhyme and who once attacked and scarred her. As the threats accelerate in intensity, Frank insists they go to the police

While Catherine is visibly terrified, one of the detectives (Clayton Rohner) begins to smell something fishy about the case and comes to suspect that Catherine may know her tormentor. The truth, when uncovered, is even more bizarre: The Poet is directly connected to a hideous childhood trauma Catherine has repressed for most of her life.

The film's starring role would put any actress through an emotional wringer, yet it seems tailor-made for Winningham, whose exceptional career has included playing a number of ordinary women in bizarre circumstances, from an alien abductee (Intruders) to a beauty whose brain is transplanted into a plain woman (Who Is Julia?).

The actress admits that her first reaction to this intense material was that it would be "fun" to tackle.

"Actually, I've wanted to do a role like this ever since I saw Sybil back in junior high school," she says, referring to the Emmy-winning drama about a woman with multiple personalities.

"Although Catherine isn't a multiple personality, she does sort of split off from herself, and I think that makes for a very interesting challenge: How do you play denial? What the audience is seeing some of the time is not really what is happening. So it was just an exciting dramatic opportunity to try."

Winningham subsequently immersed herself in Stone's account of Kansas housewife Ruth Finley, the real-life prototype for Catherine.

"Analyzing a character this way just confirms my intuition," she says. "There were 300-odd pages about her therapy, and that was vitally important to me. ... Her early doubts about her own denial sort of mirrored my own doubts when I first read the material, and the book addressed that for me."

The TV movie builds to a shattering emotional catharsis with a scene in which therapist Helen Geddes (CCH Pounder) helps Catherine confront her horrific past and make peace with it. Winningham credits director Peter Levin with shrewdly planning these crucial moments for maximum impact.

"We shot that final scene near the last day of filming, so we had established a trust level with everyone," she says. "That scene builds so you can't really break it up into pieces, and Peter clearly had planned it out in his mind. He knew something would happen, and he somehow knew how to have his cameras in the right place to catch it when it did."

Viewers, too, will want to catch this superb actress at the top of her form. She's a keeper.

She left As the World Turns to attend Yale University, but it looks as if Jordana Brewster (ex-Nikki) will defer her enrollment in that prestigious institution.

Prior to beginning school, Brewster was offered a role in the NBC miniseries The '60s. The actress has decided to take the role and put off school for another year.

Dear Candace: I am a fan of Jeanne Cooper, who plays Katherine on The Young and the Restless. Please give me an address where I could write to her.—Jesse Haenig, Marshall, Ill.

Dear Reader: Write to Cooper c/o
The Young and the Restless, CBS-TV,

Dear Candace: The Bold and the Beautiful blew it. Instead of giving handsome Grant (Charles Grant) a wonderful story line, they decided they had nothing for him. -B.M.L., Indian Harbour Beach, Fla.

Dear Reader: B&B fans are in an uproar about Grant's departure from the show. It seems like the writers could have come up with something for the character.

Dear Candace: I am a fan of Another World, and I loved the scenes where Nick and Sofia (Mark Mortimer, Dahlia Salem) discussed their future. Then, the next thing I knew she was in bed with Matt (Jeff Phillips). Every time Nick and Sofia get close, someone is there to rip them apart. It isn't fair. -J.B. in Jamaica.

Dear Reader: Sofia used to be a bright, sensible young woman. Since the change in writers, her character and story line have been very inconsistent

Dear Candace: Why don't the writers on soap operas ever have a black man in a relationship with a white woman? It happens in the real world, why not show it? -K. Collins, Merril-Iville, Ind.

Dear Reader: Perhaps you should tune into Neil and Victoria's (Kristoff St. John, Heather Tom) relationship on Y&R.
