Tuesday was the culmination of months of preparation by McSwane, who heads Santa Cops, to bring happy holidays to about 650 children in Lincoln County.

But this will be the last time McSwane will be involved in the drive to collect and buy gifts and turkeys for families in need.

Next year, she'll be in law school, pursuing a career after raising her children and working in various positions with the offices of the public defender and district attorney, and with private attorneys in the community.

"I'm really going to miss this," she said. "It's the giver who receives so much, knowing how they've brightened the Christmas of so many Although McSwane sticks around headquarters in the Sierra Mall to ensure that the right boxes go with the right volunteers for delivery, she reserves one family for herself.

With her friend and helper Lisa Bartley at the wheel and daughter Jennifer Bartley in the back seat, McSwane headed to Ruidoso Downs and the Ramon Nava family.

"The first time I went, Claudia, she was five years old," McSwane said of the Nava's oldest child. "Her mother couldn't speak English and she (Claudi:) would translate for us so easily -

Fort's future still uncertain

Five state police officers and a Camp Sierra Blanca employee have moved into housing at Fort Stanton to keep an eye on the historic complex 12 miles northeast of Ruidoso.

bring smiles to the faces of 640 children.

In reporting on the state's progress of finding a new tenant for the fort, County Manager Tom Stewart said Thursday that the fire chief will also stay at the fort. The post office there will remain open and prison inmates from Roswell will visit up to three times a week to ensure the grounds are maintained.

The state Highway and Transportation Department also will conduct training at the fort, he said.

Stewart, Commission Chairman Rex Wilson and Vice Chairman L. Ray Nunley met last month with Steven Beffort, state General Services Department secretary, and with Lester Swindle, director of the state property control division.

'Secretary Beffort assured us that while an appropriate long-term use for the fort hasn't been found, the fort will be maintained for the foreseeable future," Stewart said. Requests for Proposals are being put together to refurbish the complex, he said.

'Secretary Beffort expressed dissatisfaction with the way the use of the facility was determined in the past and is most supportive of a long-term tenant," Stewart wrote in his report.

Several state and federal options were mentioned including corrections, rehabilitation and fire fighting, he

"Without committing to any particular option at this point, the future may be a subject of this (2000) year's state legislative session and will be the subject of future meetings at the state and federal level," he said.

The fort was closed in 1995 after being used as a state hospital for decades. About a year later, minimum security women prisoners were moved in by state Corrections, but earlier this year, they were transferred to cut down expenses and to consolidate.

A local group formed to push the concept of the fort as a living museum and convention center at the same time other factions urged the designation of the fort's cemetery as a national or state veterans' burial ground.

"Secretary Beffort and Mr. Swindle indicated they appreciated our patience, support and input to the process," Stewart said.

In other issues covered in the manager's report to commissioners, Stewart said:

· A new D6R dozer was delivered Dec. 1 to the road department and will cost $2,390 per month to lease for five years as approved by commissioners.

· Roberta Marquez from state Children, Youth and Family Services will visit the old county jail to evaluate its possible use as a juvenile de-

Village curfew law called in question

State supreme court invalidates Albuquerque law

BY JAMES KALVELAGE

Ruidoso's curfew ordinance should hold up to any possible legal challenges, believes village police chief Lanny Maddox.

Curfews around New Mexico are being looked at, after the state Supreme Court invalidated Albuquerque's juvenile curfew ordinance, saying in was in conflict with the state's Children's Code.

"There are no charges on the juvenile," Maddox said of the 19month-old Ruidoso ordinance. "It mandates parental responsibility."

Albuquerque's ordinance made it a crime for anyone under 17 to be in a public place or on the premises of an establishment during curfew hours. The New Mexico Supreme Court, in upholding a lower court decision, called the ordinance "overbroad in the encroachment on parental rights and vague .

The high court ruling also negated Albuquerque's curfew provision that allowed law enforcers to take juveniles into protective Maddox said the village's ordinance makes a parent liable for their child's actions. "If we find a juvenile, they get a courtesy ride to the police station," Maddox said. "Then we attempt to locate parents.'

The Ruidoso ordinance states police can take a minor under the age of 18 into custody for violating curfew hours, but that action shall not be termed an arrest.

While Albuquerque was arresting juveniles, Maddox said that's not the case here. He said it's a parent or parents who face the potential of a citation when a child is out after hours.

"It's completely different than what Albuquerque has," Maddox

Mescalero excluded from cease order

BY JAMES KAIVELAGE RUIDOSO NEWS STALE WRITER

Four New Mexico Indian tribes have been issued "notices to cease" gaming activities by the state, but the state lacks any teeth to back up the

The notices to stop casino activities were issued by the New Mexico Gaming Control Board during 1999. The board's executive director said the state has no enforcement ability. "The only enforcement activity is by the federal government," said Janet Jes-"We can bring things to the tribes, but only the federal government can shut down tribal gaming." She said enforcement authority is spelled out in the 1988 Federal Indian Gaming Regulatory Act.

In addition, five letters of "noncompliance for nonpayment of revenue sharing and/or regulatory fees" have also been set to tribes in the state. The Mescalero Apache Tribe did receive that letter, said Jessup. The tribe has refused to pay the state a percentage of its profits as spelled out in gaming compacts with the state.

But the Mescalero Tribe was excluded from the "notices to cease" activities. Jessup said because the Mescalero had disputed their gaming compact with the state before the creation of the Gaming Control Board, they did not receive the notice to cease. Arbitration was initiated toward resolving the dispute.

The Mescalero have held that New Mexico's 16 percent revenue sharing requirement in gaming compacts is excessive and illegal under federal Indian gaming regulations.

The tribe has placed the revenue sharing monies in escrow, pending an arbitration ruling.

The Mescalero Apache Tribe would like to reach an amicable resolution to the gaming compact dispute that currently exists between the tribe and the state," attorney Gregory Quinlan, representing the Mescalero Tribe, said earlier this month. He said the disputed monies are currently in an escrow account. "The tribe needs the money and a stable compact to build schools and a nursing home. The state would prefer not to force a ruling that would prohibit all state taxation of Indian gaming," Quinlan said. "The sooner a resolution can be found, the better it will be for both parties.'

The arbitration process could become unnecessary, if the present gaming compacts are replaced. Possible new compacts, which sanction tribal gaming operations and define the scope of the gaming, go before the legislature next month.

The pending agreements, reached between the tribes and Gov. Gary Johnson, reduce the revenue sharing provisions to a four to six percent

HOLIDAY CLOSINGS

Lincoln County offices and municipal departments in Ruidoso, Ruidoso Downs, Capitan and Carrizozo will be closed Friday, Dec. 24 for Christmas and Dec. 31 for New Year's.

Post offices will shut their doors on Saturday, Dec. 25 and Saturday, Jan. 1. For mail to go out before the following Monday, it must be brought to the post office by 4 p.m. Fri-

Most state offices will be closed both Fridays, Dec. 24 and Jan. 31. But, barring an emergency, garbage collection schedules will remain the same for the holidays, according to officials with the village of Ruidoso and the Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority.

The Ruidoso Public Library will close its doors for Christmas for three days from Dec. 23 to Dec.25, and for New Year's on Dec. 31 and Jan. 1.

'Tis the season to prevent fires

BY SANDY SUGGITT ' RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

To make sure Christmas doesn't go up in flames, a Ruidoso fire prevention officer suggests people take special care with Christmas decorating lights, candles, trees, cords and fireplace fires.

Tina Ritter advises people to water the Christmas tree if it's real so it won't dry out so much, and then not to leave the lights on when no one's around.

Watch small children closely around the tree," Ritter said, "and don't lay electric cords out where they can be tripped on. Don't put the tree close to a fireplace and don't place any live flames anywhere near the tree."

Be sure to secure the tree so it doesn't fall, said Ritter, adding that her sister's house caught on fire because the Christmas tree fell over, the lights got hot against the carpet and tree branches and burst into flame.

suggests testing the smoke alarm and having a fire extinguisher handy.

Chimney fires are another hazard that increases with the holidays. Bonito Fire Chief Chris Denne advises people not to burn Christmas wrappings or cellophane in their fireplaces because they burn too hot and can ignite chimney fires.

Denne said chimney fires result from a buildup of creosote and hot flames from cellophane wraps or petrochemical products can set them off. It's also dangerous to use charcoal starter fluid or gasoline to start a fire in the fireplace, he said.

A chimney fire contained in the chimney is "scary but not dangerous," Denne said. "Unless it escapes. I've seen stove pipes glowing red from heat buildup.'

If there's a leak in the chimney flue and the fire does escape

Just as precautions, she the chimney though, it becomes a structure fire, he said.

That's why Denne suggests having chimneys checked and maintenance done on them every couple of years, unless they're used daily as the principle source of heat, in which case. they should be checked every vear.

Another kind of fire that increases during the holidays is dumpster fires. Ruidoso firefighter Chet Southard said there's an average of about one dumpster fire a day and more during the holidays.

"In every one of them there's fireplace ashes," Southard said.

Denne recalls a wild life fire that was started from wind blowing over a 3-foot by 8-foot pile of ashes and kindling a fire.

"Put them in a metal container and mix some water," Denne advised. "When they're cold, wet and out, put them in the garden or the trash."

The Goodwin's received their training with Reverend Dr. Lauren Artress, a Canon of Grace Cathedral, San Francisco and creator of VERIDITAS, THE WORLD WIDE LABYRINTH PROJECT and author of Walking a Sacred Path, Rediscovering the Labyrinth as a Spiritual Jool.

The vision of Veriditas is to establish labyrinths in cathedrals, retreat centers, hospitals, prisons, parks, aliports and community spaces around the world by the year 2000 so they are available to walk in times of joy, in times of sorrow, and when we are seeking hope.

Come join us this New Year's Eve for a "Sacred Walk on the Chartes" 11-circuit labyrinth that will include a time to release the past year to experience the ancient meditative walk of the candle lit labyrinth with special music, and private time for journaling, meditation and spiritual renewal.

Renewal coffies when we set aside special times of the year symbolically through ritual, reflection and allowing ourselves to remember that we're guided by the Divine. County employees face drug tests

BY DIANNE STALLINGS RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

Under revisions to Lincoln County's personnel policy approved last week, sheriff's deputies, jail staff and other employees who operate county vehicles may be randomly tested for illegal drugs.

But to require a drug test for employees in positions that are not "safety sensitive," a supervisor must have reason to believe drugs are being used, said County Attorney Alan Morel

Before county commissioners voted to amend the county personnel policy at their Dec. 16 meeting, only employees with commercial driver's licenses could be randomly tested. Com-talked about expanding random testing to all county employees, but Morel said the Supreme Court three months ago ruled that unless reasonable cause is established, tests can't be required, except for safety-sensitive jobs.

The revised policy expanded the definition of "safety sensitive" positions to cover employees who handle any type of drugs. It also incorporates the state Department of Transportation and Federal Highway Administration's policy for commercial driver license

If someone in a safety-sensitive job refuses to take a test. gives a positive result, is involved in an accident or ticketed for an offense where drugs are detected, they could be disciplined or fired. However, if the person voluntarily admits to drug use, he or she could be placed on leave until successful completion of a rehabilitation program. An employee with a commercial driver's license could lose it under those circumstances, because it falls under federal law. Morel said. Plaza project gets P&Z approval

BY JAMES KALVELAGE RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

What had been midtown's Ruidoso Store on Sudderth Drive will become Main Street Plaza.

The Ruidoso Planning and Zoning Commission has given their approval for the renovations of the property southwest of the intersection of Sudderth and Eagle Dri-

Property owner William of Roswell McMurtry requested the commission allow alterations and additions to the building that had been the Ruidoso Store. According to the application, the new facilities would continue to house retail space as well as a restaurant with outdoor seating.

Eight retail suites are proposed for the development. The outdoor restaurant area would include a gazebo surrounded by tables. Near the public sidewalk an informational kiosk would be erected, with the kiosk provided to the village through an easement agreement.

During testimony on the proposal, some nearby property owners raised concerns about erosion from rain water runoff and the loss of off-street parking. The alterations would eliminate seven "legal" parking spaces that had been part of the property, said project architect George Staten.

Staten said runoff concerns would be addressed "Our approach is to be a very good neighbor." The development would demolish part and renovate some of the building at 2501 Sudderth Drive. Two wings would be added to the building. The additions would flank the east and west sides of the property. The plaza area would be bordered on three sides by the retail suites. The plaza would have an open view to Sudderth Drive.

Expectations are to have the restaurant and retail plaza opened before summer.

OUR OPINION

Read aloud this Christmas Eve

YES, VIRGINIA, THERE IS A SANTA CLAUS

Editorial Page, New York Sun, 1897 We take pleasure in answering thus prominently the communication below, expressing at the same time our great gratification that its faithful author is numbered among the friends of The Sun:

I am 8 years old. Some of my little friends say there is no Santa Claus. Papa says, "If you see it in The Sun, it's so." Please tell me the truth, is there a Santa Claus?

Virginia O'Hanlon

Virginia, your little friends are wrong. They have been affected by the skepticism of a skeptical age. They do not believe except they see. They think that nothing can be which is not comprehensible by their little minds. All minds, Virginia, whether they be men's or children's, are little. In this great universe of ours, man is a mere insect, an ant, in his intellect as compared with the boundless world about him, as measured by the intelligence capable of grasping the whole of truth and knowledge.

Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus. He exists as certainly as love and generosity and devotion exist, and you know that they abound and give to your life its highest beauty and joy.

Alas! how dreary would be the world if there were no Santa Claus! It would be as dreary as if there were no Virginias. There would be no childlike faith then, no poetry, no romance to make tolerable this existence. We should have no enjoyment, except in sense and sight. The external light with which childhood fills the world would be extinguished.

Not believe in Santa Claus! You might as well not believe in fairies. You might get your papa to hire men to watch in all the chimneys on Christmas eve to catch Santa Claus, but even if you did not see Santa Claus coming down, what would that prove? Nobody sees Santa Claus, but that is no sign that there is no Santa Claus. The most real things in the world are those High neither children nor men can see. Did you ever see fairies danc ing on the lawn? Of course not, but that's no proof that they are not there. Nobody can conceive or imagine all the wonders there are unseen and unseeable in the world.

You tear apart the baby's rattle and see what makes the noise inside, but there is a veil covering the unseen world which not the strongest man, nor even the united strength of all the strongest men that ever lived could tear apart.

Only faith, poetry, love, romance, can push aside that curtain and view and picture the supernal beauty and glory beyond. Is it all real? Ah, Virginia, in all this world there is nothing else real and abiding. No Santa Claus? Thank God he lives and lives forever. A thousand years from now, Virginia, nay10 times 10,000 years from now, he will continue to make glad the heart of childhood.

Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year!!!!

Francis P. Church's editorial was an immediate sensation, and became one of the most famous editorials ever written. It first appeared in the The New York Sun in 1897, and was reprinted annually until 1949 when the paper went out of business.

Roadless initiative

To the editor: On behalf of the Lincoln National Forest, I would like to thank the people who attended the public meetings in Ruidoso and Cloudcroft on President Clinton's Roadless Area Initia-

Considering the complexity of the subject, our audiences were most patient and courteous. I was delighted to see such a substantial interest in this proposal shown by the nearly 250 attendees. It was refreshing to hear so many constructive comments and I appreciate the people's willingness to give them. The Forest Service will use the public comments form the meetings to decide the scope and issues of the Road-less Area Initiative over the next year.

During this comment period. representatives from the Lincoln National Forest have collaborated with affected state and local governments and various members of the public to identify issues that should be analyzed in depth during the remainder of the process. The initial comment period ended on Dec. 20, and now the Forest Service will begin writing the 'draft environmental impact statement (DEIS) and the proposed rule. Although the official comment period is over, com-ments will still be accepted while the DEIS is being written. The agency will release the document next spring and again seek public involvement before making a final decision in the fall.

Comments can still be submitted... Send e-mail comments about the roadless proposal to: roadless/wo_caet-slo@fs.fed.us.

Send written comments by fax to (801) 517-1021 or write to USDA Forest Service-CAET, Attention: Roadless Area NOI, P. O. Box 221090, Salt Lake Cioty, Utah 84122. No telephone comments will be taken; You may also visit the website at www.roadless.fs.fed.us to get more information.

5. 77 percent of illegal drug users confine their use to hemp products.

6. No one death has been proven caused by bemp. Yet 100,000 deaths are due to pharmaceuticals; 150.000 deaths are due to alcohol abuse; 450,000 deaths are due to tobacco; 6,000 deaths are due to all illegal drugs combined.

7. Minorities are far more likely to be incarcerated than whites, although drug use percentages are fairly constant ethnically.

8. The female prison population doubled in New Mexico last year; 88 percent were non-violent drug offenders; 75 percent were parents.

9. Children with more parents in prison are 8 times more likely to end up there themselves...

Results of the hantavirus investigation

TO LINCOLN COUNTY RESIDENTS:

We would like...to thank everyone in Lincoln County for their warm hospitality and their interest in our investigation of the hantavirus case in Lincoln County. During the time we were (there) we were able to speak to various groups in the general public and the medical community. Everyone asked us to share the results of our investigation. We felt this was the best way of communi-caling results so that everyone would know.

Our environmental investi-gation included trapping for ro-dents inside and around the patients home and also trap-ping for rodents in fields around the community. Recommendations were also made on rodent-proofing the patient's home. Two hundred traps were set ... and 41 rodents were caught. Deer mice (the princi-caught. Deer mice (the principal reservoir of hantavirus in New Mexico) were caught in and around the home and in fields around the area.

Not surprisingly, deer mice positive for hantavirus were found in all locations including inside the home. Eleven of the 41 rodents caught were positive for hantavirus. We caught positive deer mice in open fields, demonstrating that hanfields, demonstrating that han-tavirus could be found any-most of the United States, including New Mexico and Texas. and everywhere you look some of the mice will be positive for hantavirus. There were some rumors that the deer mice might have been brought in from some other location or that the potential exposure oc-curred elsewhere. We feel that these results show that the exposure most likely occurred in and around the home and that infected deer night have always been in this area.

Should tourists stay away from Lincoln County because of these results? Absolutely not! We shouldn't try to cover up the fact that hantavirus occurs in New Mexico, but we need to educate people that this dia-ease can occur anywhere in the United States. They need to take the same precautions around their own home as when they come to visit us in New Mexico. We need to assure them that we are looking out for their safety by making sure that our motels and hotels are clean and rodent-proofed. If visitors are concerned and want to know about hantavirus we shouldn't be afraid to give them information about pre-cautions they can take to re-duce the airendy extremely low risk of contracting hantavirus. We are fortunate in New

But even with the best of facilities, people contin-ue to die of this disease. This year, five of New Mexico's ten cases have been fatal. This emphasizes how difficult it can be o manage this disease clinicaly with no specific drug as its

Thus, the importance of prevention cannot be over-emphasized: Avoid mice and their excreta, keep mice out of y9our living areas, and disinfect and clean up properly when there is evidence of mice. It is impossi-ble, and not ecologically sound, to try to totally remove rodents form our environment. It is possible, however, to keep them out of our homes and away from our immediate surroundings. Knowledge about hantavirus, how we are exposed to it, and the simple everyday precautions that we can take to protect ourselves should empower all of us.

Along with prevention, early recognition of the disease is critical. Early symptoms include fever and muscle aches, possibly with chills, headache, nauses, vomiting, diarrhea, abdominal pain and cough. These symptoms develop within one to six weeks after rodent expositive treatment, chances for recovery are better if medical attention is sought early. Thanks to the superb medical staff at Lincoln County Medical Center, your recent case was recognized early and is now back home recovering.

County's auditor notes five errors in record-keeping

The influenza season has begun in New Mexico, and the symptoms of early influenza can mimic those of early hantavirus infection almost exactly. Fortunately, there is a fairly simple blood test - the complete blood count, or CBC which can help doctors distinguish between hantavirus infection and other causes of fever and muscle aches such as influenza. Hantavirus pulmonary syndrome is a terrible disease tant who handled the audit in a joint venture with a consulting and accounting group, told county commissioners last week only one of the "findings" is a repeat from previous find something else. County Manager Tom Stewart said one of the major problems is that low dollar items as well as the big price tag pieces are being tracked. In a check of 45 lines, 56 percent of the items were valued at $500 or less, he said.

"We should eliminate the low cost items to accommodate the high dollar items," he said.

Payroll problems centered on incorrect deductions for social security, state retirement and other withholding requirements, he said.

"It's a complicated area," Hemphill said, adding that many of the errors were connected to the pay of people who elected to defer compensation. The county needs to properly tag each employees payroll for déductions, he said.

"Some didn't have enough withholding and therefore, the county's match also was short,"

Corrections were instituted by March of this year, except for the deferred payroll ac-counts, which should be corrected in January, he said. "In defense of the rect past mistakes). The amount of money isn't huge and the cost of going back would be."

His third finding dealt with a part-time employee who ended up working more than 20 hours a week, which made the person eligible for state retirement contributions.

"But the employee wasn't flagged for that because of the original hiring conditions," Hemphill said, "The person no longer is an employee, so the situation resolved itself. It's a matter of flagging payroll with the right codes.'

The fourth criticism dealt with insufficient documentation for credit card purchases.

During a sampling in what Hemphill characterized as a "high risk area," he found four purchases where documentation was not attached to a bill dealing with gasoline purchas-

Stewart said the card, which he controls, was used 23 times last year. The uses included lodging for commissioners, employees and himself, Stewart said. One charge was for the Internet, which was discontinued. The total of $1,827 also included eight merchandise purchases and the towing of a disabled vehicle, Stewart

"The auditor says we need more documentation for travel use and we will look at the recommendations," Stewart said.

The fifth criticism centered on $200,000 in accounts receivable connected to the county. ambulance service.

"Some may not be collectible, but the county should be working to collect them or should write off those that can't be." Hemphill said.

FCE gives gifts to CASA kids

BY PHYLLIS SCHLEGEL RUIDOSO NEWS CORRESPONDENT

CARRIZOZO - A Christmas luncheon and party was enjoyed by 38 members and guests of Lincoln County Family and Community Education (LCFCE) on a recent Friday.

The event took place at the Ellis Store in Lincoln.

The two clubs in the county are: LaJunta FCE, including Hondo, Ruidoso, Ruidoso Downs, Arabella, and other parts of eastern Lincoln County, and the Carrizozo FCE, called the Roadrunners, including Carrizozo, Nogal, White Oaks and Capitan members.

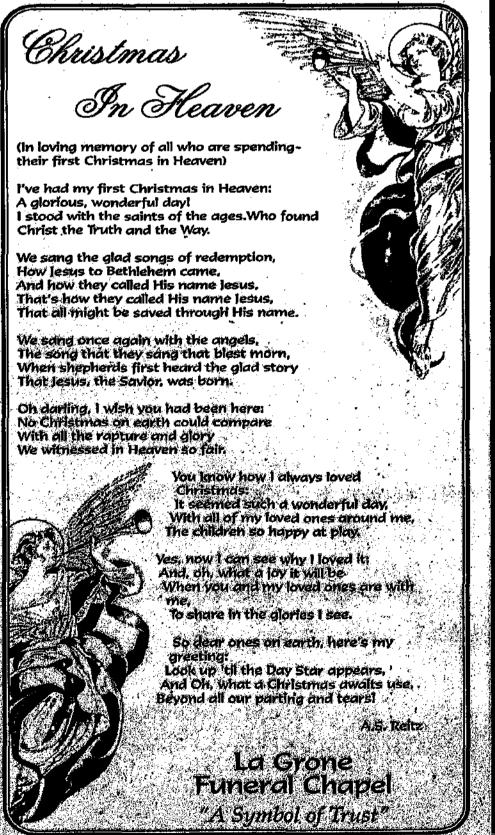

Several new members and soon-to-be new members were present for this holiday occasion at the Dec. 10 meeting.

Thirteen children from CASA (Court Appointed Special Advocates) project in Lincoln County, will receive Christmas gifts from LCFCE. Individual gifts and filled Christmas stockings were delivered to CASA headquarters in Alamogordo by FCE Advisor Betty McCreight on Tuesday.

CASA has been an active program in Lincoln and Otero Counties since 1990.

Village's ExtraTerritorial Zone role affirmed by vote

Hopes by Ruidoso Corn Roasters to set up shop in the parking lot of The Quar-ters night club in midtown Ruidoso are on hold.
The Ruidoso Planning

move her operation from the present Ruidoso Store location to the parking lot of The Quarters. The old Ruidoso Store building is undergoing renovations to become the Main Street Plaza.

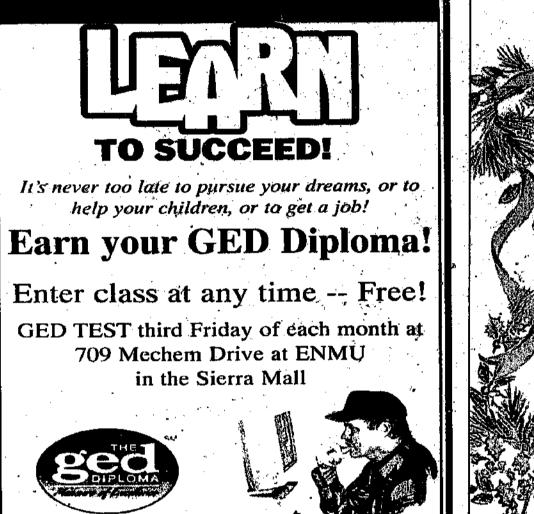

Chay Rennick, assistant village attorney, told the commission this week that the business is "unique," the only one of its kind in the midtown commercial district. He said it was grandfathered at the Ruidoso Store location, and the commission has not approved any other such operation in a parking lot. "If this is approved," Rennick told the commission, "it would set a standard where other mobile vendors could go into

A staff report on the conditional use permit request indicated no negative impact on health, safety or general welfare. The report did recommend that the corn roaster be situated so that patrons do not block the sidewalk or parking lot travel aisle.

"Pedestrian safety is our number one concern," O'Neill told the commission. She said the area around the roaster could be cordoned off to keep the flow of pedestrian traffic away from The Quarters parking let entrance. "We'll do whatever makes the planning and zoning commission happy."

"We need to take into consideration other downtown merchants' concerns." commissioner Phillis Barnett said.

The corn vending business also would need a site development plan approval by the commission. Both requests are being made by Edward Dean Fowler, owner of The Quarters. The commission is expected to revisit the issue in early Janu-

Jail contract extended by commission

CARRIZOZO - Corrections Systems Inc. has received another six-month extension on its contract to manage the Lincoln County jail here.

The company has managed the jail for about two years starting shortly after the former administrator suffered a stroke and the state Fire Marshal threatened to close the structure because of noncompliance with safety codes.

County commissioners have hired an architect to design a new fail and last week during a regular meeting heard that the town of Carrizozo deeded a 12 acres site in its industrial park to the county for the jail.

The contract extension - for $42,786 or $7,131, per month – keeps CSI and its employee Mike Borrego, jail administrator, on board until June 30. During the commission meeting Dec. 16, resident Tony Seno urged board members to advertise for their own jail Commissioner L. Ray Nunley

Ruidoso sends Dons home for the holidays

The Lady Warriors are wrapping up the year with a 3-3 record.

Ruidoso traveled to Las Vegas Tuesday for a make-up game against West Las Vegas (3-4), and defeated the Dons 51-50 in what coach Jim Varnadore called "another one of those squeakers."

The Warriors led by two to six points most of the way, but did trail 26-three quarters then held that one-point edge until the final buzzer.

Varnadore said the Dons came on strong in the second quarter.

Outstanding' Steers top Lady Chiefs

BY KAREN BOEHLER RUIDOSO NEWS SPORTS EDITOR

MESCALERO — Mescalero's girls were hoping the third time would be the charm against Magdalena, but although the Lady Chiefs (2-5) played better than the previous two times, the Steers (9-0) were just too strong, handing Mescalero a 69-34

The game, played in an unheated gym in Mescalero, went quickly, with Magdalena jumping out to an 18-7 lead and never looking back.

Possibly because of the cold — Steers coach Fran Ganadonegro said her girls wanted to get off the floor quickly - fouls were kept to a minimum. Chiefs coach Rol. Bradford said his players did a very good job at minimizing the time at the charity stripe.

"I think we played a lot better this time," he said. "At halftime we only had two fouls. I think we had 27 the last time. We worked real hard on that in our last two practices. In the first half we really played well against them.

Ganadonegro said her team came out "a little slow" because of the cold, and agreed that Mescalero had improved.

"They played a lot better," she said. "We started off slow, but once we got warmed up, we got back into our game."
Bradford was highly com-

Bradford said his team needs to work on improving their shooting and reducing turnovers, but he's happy with the improvements the team's making.

"Overall, we're trying to ke little steps at a time and I think our defense was our big step (Tuesday)," he said. "It's like I told them: We've got to come in this gym and shoot every single day. That's the only way we're going to get better."

Floyd named All-Star

BY KAREN BOEHLER. RUIDOSO NEWS SPORTS EDITOR

Ruidoso wide receiver J.R. Floyd has received yet another honor for his efforts on the football field this past season.

Floyd was named to the Albuquerque Journal All-Star team, one of only eight AAA players from across the state given that honor. The award is chosen by sportwriters at the Journal, who wrote: "Floyd put up remarkable numbers

1999, hauling in 65 passes for 1,325 years to pace the Warriors' potent offense.... Though he sometimes was double-covered, Floyd had a knack for getting open."

Warrior coach Les Carter was pleased with his receiver's good fortune.

"He's a fine young man," Carter said. "He's always done a good job for us and it's definitely an honor we're all very proud of."

Floyd said he was surprised to receive the award,

Confidence leads Steers over Chiefs

BY KAREN BOEHLER RUIDOSO NEWS SPORTS EDITOR

MESCALERO — It was experience vs. youth in Mescalero Tuesday as Magdalena crushed the Chiefs 104-64 in their second meeting of the season.

The Steers were coming off a solid second-place victory in Estancia's BVC Tournament, and that, said coach Sam Olney, gave his team confidence.
"My kids found out they can play,"

he said. "We played very hard. They found out they can really get after peo-ple. We have a lot of confidence right now. We have a chance to do some damage this year if we just keep after it."

They certainly kept after the Chiefs.

Mescalero tried to keep up with the Steers, but solid shooting by Magdalena and a limited bench kept the Chiefs out of the fray. "I just need some more guys," said coach Christy LaPaz. "Seven guys is not enough.'

Magdalena led 28-16 after one quarter and 59-38 at the half, leaving Mescalero within range. But junior Tony Chimal, a sparkplug for Mescalero, fouled out early in the second half, leaving LaPaz with only one player on the Blaylock, who drew cheers from the crowd for his hustle, and bigger cheers every time he triefl to shoot.

The Steers used the opportunity to string together 19 unanswered points, and stretch their third-quarter lead to 88-47. The Chiefs outsored Magdalena by one point in the final quarter, but it was too little, too late.

Thanksgiving weekend, McDougal competed in the America's High School Junior Tennis Tournament in El Paso.

The United States Tennis Association Southwest Sectionsponsored event drew 100 and 176 entries from the Texas/New Mexico region.

McDougal won her opening match over Stephanie Rivera of El Paso 6-3, 6-0 but lost to Hannah Johnson of Los Alamos in the second round.

In doubles competition,

McDougal teamed with Becker to defeat Alexa Ramirez, El Paso and Sarah Van Viet, Alamogordo, 6-4, 6-4, The pair then fell to highly ranked Lisa Lopez, El Paso, and Mirabel Balandrano, Durango, México, McDougal is currently ranked No. 31 in the Southwest in the 12-and-under age group. She is coached by Unit-ed States Pro Tennis Association teaching pro Stretch Meadows.

Next up for McDougall is the Phoenix Junior Open, Jan. 14-17 at the Mountain View Tennis Center.

Dog attack in Alto may have been the work of a wolf-hybrid

by James Kalvelage UIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

A pet attack last week in Alto has some wondering if there's a wolf, or wolf relative, roaming the area.

"Whatever it might have been, it probably wasn't a pure strain," said Ernie, Sandoval, the district wildlife supervisor for the New Mexico Game and Fish Department.

Alto resident Don Lincoln, whose pet spent six days at the vet after the attack, said he saw an animal that looked like a wolf. 'I saw something walk by my place the morning it happened. This guy was huge. If it wasn't a wolf he sure was representing one."

Lincoln's pet, a 22-pound American Eskimo, received nine puncture wounds, including five around the neck and shoulders.

"Snowball" was treated by veterinarian Becky Washburn of Capitan.

"I don't know how Snowball survived," she said. "There were fang marks way down low on each side of his neck, down towards the shoulders." Washburn believed the attacker had a wide jaw span. To have been a coyote or dog, said Washburn, it would have had to have been a huge animal.

While the attack happened later that night, Lincoln said he immediately remembered seeing what he believed to be a wolf earlier in the day "It wasn't 40 yards from me: Not a stray dog, not a coyote, not a mountain lion. If it wasn't a wolf, I don't know what it was," Lincoln described the animal as huge, grayish-brown, and sleek haired. He said the animal didn't have the "scrounge, thin" appearances of a coyote.

"A large coyote could do it. It could make those types of bites," said Sandoval. He said cattlemen and sheep farmers wiped out natural wolves in New Mexico more than 60 years ago. He speculated the animal could have been a hybrid. "I don't know for a fact, but suspect it might be happening."

Sandoval noted there was a prob-years back. The hybrids were sold as pets, and some people realized they were unable to handle the crossbreeds. Often the yet "wild" animals were set free by their owners.

T've never seen one," said Sandoval. "But there's a possibility that that could be happening. It's all speculation."

Washburn recalled some years back treating the hybrid wolves of a Ruidoso area family. "They left the area and were trying to give the hybrids to others. Rumor was they turned them loose."

Lincoln said he asked his vet if the attack could have come from a lem with dog-wolf breeding some mountain lion. He said he was told a mountain lion would have swiped with its paw initially. No such wounds were found on the dog. "He just had nine fang marks," said Lincoln. "It was a miracle he got away."

A Mexican Gray Wolf reintroduction program is underway near the southern border of New Mexico and Arizona. Sandoval doesn't believe that program has anything to do with the incident in Alto. "The Mexican Gray Wolf is a different sub-species of wolf. It's much smaller."

Lincoln's pet, Snowball, is expected to fully recover. The dog returned home after six days at the vet, and remains on antibiotics.

Car plummets into embankment

The car of a Ruidoso woman plunged 31 feet down an embankment and into a gully with water at about 1 a.m. Dec. 20.

The driver, Marcella Ybarra. 27. of Ruidoso, told State Police that she had mechanical problems and left the shoulder on the southside at the intersection of Gavilan Canyon and Warrior Drive, and from there plunged into the river.

Several juveniles passing by stopped to help Ybarra and her two children, ages 6 the vehicle and took them to her residence, the report states. An ambulance was not called.

The case is still under investigation and numerous citations are pending on Ybarra because alcohol was involved, according to the

Mescalero hospital wreath built by hand

BY DIANNE STALLINGS RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

The hospital in Mescalero was decorated inside, but seemed to lack the holiday spirit outside.

So Everett Smith, who works in maintenance with the Indian Health Services operation, decided to put some Christmas cheer at the entrance to greet new patients and their families.

For two evenings after work, he labored on a wreath to hang from the canopy over the walkway. When he emerged from the maintenance garage Friday, he needed help to lift the six-foot by six-foot wreath into a truck for the trip to the front of the building. "It took two of us to load it up," he said. "It weighs close to 60 pounds."

Hugh Evans volunteered to help raise the wreath into place while many of the hospital staff assembled outside to watch, including Joanne Skaggs, service unit director, and pharmacist Bob Anderson.

We've had nothing on this hospital for the past years and I just decided to so something for the people, the hospital and the employees," Smith said.

The Silver Lining by Dan Storm

Wherever you may be out on the plains of Texas, or up in the New England maple trees, out on the Pacific Coast, Hawaii, or far across the sea or Alaska, up near the North Star, here in Lincoln County, the Land of Piñon and Pine we send our wishes for a Happy and Blessed Christmas Christmas and a Joyful New Year full of hope and promise.

Well, Lincoln County's one hundredth birthday is most nigh about over. Yet that does not mean that all the good stories, all the happy recollections and all the new=-found things to appreciate about our home land are just cut off with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne."...

Flights of fancy have a place when Leslie's home is decorated for the holidays

Ben Leslie grew up in Capitan, went off to war and Alamogordo, then came back because he missed his hometown. Now he tries to make things better for kids at Christmastime.

Marty Racine

and awakens memories.

BY MARTY RACINE RUIDOSO NEWS CORRESPONDENT

APITAN - Santa Claus doesn't have a pillow for his belly, and his suit is worn through. Mrs. Claus' top is inside out, and the season's greetings sign facing the street is not readily visible.

But in a modest town that does not always advance its charms, Ben Leslie's world of Christmas on Smoky Bear Boulevard, is a work of whimsy. This is how a widower warms winter's memories, how a retiree stays young.

"I do it especially for the kids,", says Leslie, 77. "Kids will come by and wave at Santa Claus, and I get acquainted with their families on account of this."

His front yard display is out of a dream. There's Snoopy, Smoky Bear in shiny garland, and characters out of Disney and Dickens. There's a mannequin cheerleader, a fixture of the annual Fourth of July parade, standing tall in a Capitan Tiger black-and-orange letter sweater vinsuspended in his sled, towed by reindeer.

There are 55 empty milk cartons glowing red strung along the fence, with additional red lights between each. There are six glass gallon jugs hanging from the porch crammed with small blinking lights. There is a rainbow of lights trimming the roof and the windows and the sides of the Ben hasn't bothered to count the number of extension cords hooking all this up. Behind the scenes they are tangled like strands of spaghetti, directing the flow of electricity from eight sources.

One year the Chamber of Commerce awarded him $50 for his display. "But my light bill," he says, $oldsymbol{B}$ en Leslie Jr. was born in the several years later with his parents, Ben Sr. and May.

Ben Sr. would own a grocery here but during Prohibition he operated a still. Little Ben often accompanied him to the discrete location, and he remembers the squirrels and chipmunks getting drunk on the corn scraps.

The still was never discovered but an employee was caught and arrested. As per arrangement, Ben Sr. recompensed him $1 a day for each day spent in jail.

. "Sure enough, Dad had to pay him $365 at the end of the year."

In the days before malls and online shopping and the commercial take-over of the season, money was tight. "I remember one Christmas or two, we didn't hardly get anything," Ben says. "We'd get new shoes for the year, or a little bit of clothes."

Ben graduated in 1941 after. averaging 18 points a game for the Tiger basketball squad—impressive enough to earn a college scholarship offer.

 $oldsymbol{B}$ en joined the Navy during World War II and was assigned to a submarine outfit based in Brisbane, Australia. The Navy, no doubt figuring that one day he would be stringing together extravagant Christmas displays, sent him to electrical school at the University of Minnesota. In New Guinea he had the distinction of wiring General MacArthur's headquarters.

After the war Ben worked on power lines at Grand Coulee Dam in Washington. At a New Year's Eve dance there he met his first wife. A year and a half later he was divorced and back in Capitan.

He took a shine to the bookkeeper at the old Titsworth store. She was a pretty Mississippi girl, name of Grace. They married in 1947 and three years later moved to Alam-hills in 1922 and moved to Capitan ogordo, where Ben joined the state Bureau of Revenue in the school tax department for Lincoln and Otero counties.

brightens Christmas

He later worked at Holloman Air Force Base, repaired musical equipment on the side and was a maintenance supervisor for the New Mexico State Police. One morning, as usual, Ben raised the flags in front of the state office building. It wasn't until he saw the photo in the paper that he realized the American flag was upside down.

"I must've had a bad night," he Grace died nine years ago. In 1996, after 46 years in Alamogordo, it was time to come home.

 $oldsymbol{I}$ n a growing Capitan Ben Leslie found more memories than old friends. The memories sustained him...

²I missed Capitan. After my wife died, hell. I was up here nearly every weekend.'

He sold his Alamogordo house for twice what he paid for a bungaup, adding a front porch, back patio and fence.

It had a red brick fireplace for days like this and a picture window that looked upon the heart of town. A man living alone could feel connected this way.

Ben walked three miles a day and met more people than he could remember by name. He kicked up occasionally at a dance — he had been a jitterbugging daddy in the Navy — and he began "chasing around with a real nice gal" who works for the food stamp program in Ruidoso.

It matters not that he's 20 years her senior.

His bungalow is a palace of memories. Snapshots and framed studio photos line the hallway and tables. Here's Ben, young and handsome and maybe a little cocky. And his wife, and his first wife, and his grandchildren and great-grandchildren, and his old school buddies and Navy shots and faded images of Capitan when the town and he were

Ben Leslie chuckles. "This is what you get when you don't have a damn thing to do."

 $oldsymbol{B}$ en erected his Christmas wonderland by himself. It took about a week. Then a big cold wind blew in and knocked Santa Claus down. "It broke a guy wire-you know how heavy guy wire is?".

Last year Santa and Mrs. Claus were simply leaning against the trees in Ben's yard. One night, after the lights had been switched off, they were stolen. Even in a town like this, in a season such as this one, in a world that makes good men wonder. Fortunately, it was more of a prank; Ben tracked them down to a vacant lot.

These are no store-bought creations; Ben made Santa and the Mrs. out of 2-by-2s and 1-by-4s and chicken wire, and it took him all day to do so. Mrs. Claus' suit came from a nurses supply house and her head is courtesy of a wig display in a Wal-

"I talked 'em out of it," he says.

Those who grow up expecting shoes for Christmas know that trinkets don't hold a candle to memories, or to family. This year Ben received a most precious gift: a crayoninscribed card from a great-granddaughter. "I love you, Ben," the kindergartner wrote.

He'll see her and others of his brood in January when he travels to Texas and Arizona. But on Christmas day he'll take a nip of Jim Beam and observe his wonderland-by himself but never alone.

Holidays at sea for two Lincoln County sailors

While most Americans are celebrating the holiday season at home or with their families, two Lincoln County men are in Japan.

Navy Petty Officer 2nd Class Fernando R. Trujillo of Capitan and Seaman Steven N. Kellogg of Ruidoso will spend the holidays forward deployed at Sasebo, Japan, aboard the amphibious assault ship USS Belleau Wood.

Trujillo and Kellogg are among more than 63,000 sailors, marines and coast guardsmen who are in the service of the nation while sepa-rated from families and other loved ones during the holiday

The Belleau Wood and its embarked Marine force represents a formidable U.S. presence which can provide a rapid response in times of crisis. Sailors and Marines aboard the ship can conduct a variety of missions, ranging from reconnaissance and amphibious assaults to evacuation of civilians and providing humanitarian aid.

The ship recently was off the coast of East Timor. Its home port is Saseko.

Trujillo, the son of Fernando Trujillo of Capitan, is a 1989 graduate of Roswell, High School and joined the Navy in february, 1990, Kellogg also is a Roswell graduate from high school, in 1997, and is the son of Maria Stack of of Ruidoso.

BUSINESS

The 'millennium bug' is having some positive impact on retail sales in Lincoln County. Or is it paranoia?

BY JAMES KALVELAGE

espite assurances from area electric providers, some Lincoln County residents are backing up for Y2K.

Sales of products that would help maintain the comforts we're used to in our homes have been brisk the past several months. according to retailers.

"Sure, we're selling things because of Y2K," said Harry Noble, manager of The Village Hardware and Paint Co. in Ruidoso. "It's generators, kerosene heaters, kerosene lamps. And candles and batteries. They're selling a lot more than nor-

"People are getting ready for Jan. 1. We've sold a lot of kerosene lamps for that reason. But there are some things we sell every year about this time. I'd say it's about 50-50," Noble said of the merchandise being bought as winter, and the much prophesied new millennium,

In Capitan, Rita Crawford, who owns 3-Bar-D Ace Hardware and Mercantile with her husband, said generators are hard to find at the wholesale level. "We've been asked for those," she said. "Wood stoves. We've sold quite of few of those."

If computers read Jan. 1 as the start of the 1900s, some folks will be ready to live the time. "We've sold cases of lamp oil, wash boards, corn grinders, old fashioned enamel-wear and tubs," said Crawford. Those sales were strongest at the beginning of this year, she said.

Crawford noted some people are evidently concerned for safety, with recent increased sales of door locks, padlocks, and ammu-

Ben Wilcox, owner of Ruidoso-True Value Hardware, discounts all the hoopla over Y2K and feels some retailers will be discounting things like generators after the first of the year. "I haven't seen many people worried. I've seen some who are paranoid."

The hardware store owner does say he's selling more kerosene lamps and kerosene than usual. "I just don't think there will be any problems," Wilcox said.

Electric utilities say they're ready for the arrival of the year

"We've gone through computers and all equipment with software. We don't think there will be any major outage," said Jimmy Capps, assistant manager at Otero County Electric Cooperative in charge of Y2K compliance.

"Our biggest concern is mother nature. And our second concern is vandalism, Capps said. He noted law enforcement agencies are also aware of the vandalism potential, from those who Capps said might want o make something happen.

County Otero . Electric employees will be manning substations on the night of New Year's Eve. Other workers will be in the electric company's three offices, and on the road. "More than 30 people will be on duty. That's most of our people. We only have 46 employees," Capps

Extra employees will be on duty at Texas-New Mexico Power Company, which supplies the Ruidoso-Mescalero area, as well. "The best planning includes a contingency plan," said TNMP's manager of communications Vallerie Smith. She said there have

Smith isn't surprised that some are preparing for the worst. She noted that a recent television disaster movie on the Y2K issue seemed to spike sales of products like generators.

"If its 1996, on 1997, New Year's Eve. and the lights go out, people would think someone partying a little too much ran into a power pole. New Year's Eve 1999, that won't be their first assumption," Smith said.

Both area utilities have been warning those wiring generators up to their buildings to make certain the connection is in accordance with the National Electrical Code. "Our guys and women are out there working, and if those wires are 'hot' someone could be killed," Smith said.

BUSINESS BRIEFS

Motor company climbs

Sierra Blanca Motor Combany has captured the No. 35 spot on the list of the state's for privately held companies.

The list is compiled annually by the New Mexico Business Journal magazine. The newest rankings are revealed in the December issue.

The position for 1999 is two steps up from 1998. In 1997 it was ranked at 43. The "Private 100" rankings are based on gross sales.

Ted Durham, general manager, said it feels good to be recognized as a top company in the state. "It tells us like we're going in the right direction."

The key to success, said Durham, is customer satisfaction. "We just try to take care of our customers. It brings repeat business.

Durham also labeled service an integral part of his firm's overall performance.

He sees good things for the future, with both General Motors and Damiler-Chrysler coming with new products.

Sierra Blanca Motors employs 40 people, according to Durham. It also operated a program car lot in Roswell.

Superior rating for bank

First National Bank of Ruidoso has been awarded a five-star superior rating by Bauer Financial Reports, Inc., the nation's leading independent bank research firm.

The award is based on analysis of current financial data filed by the bank with federal regulators. It is supplemented by historical data.

"It should be comforting to First National Bank's customers and friends that their bank has the ability to usher in the next century with confidence and strength," said Paul A. Bauer, president of the research firm. It marks the 25th consecutive period that First National Bank of Ruidoso has received superior status.

Those interested in the rating of their bank or thrift may call Bauer Financial Reports toll-free at 1-800-388-6686.

Japan needs to speed up economic restructuring

BY SUNG WON SOHN CHIEF ECONOMIST, WELLS FARGO

Japan, which accounts for about 70 percent of East Asia's economy, and takes 40 percent of the region's exports, could be slipping into a recession again. In order to keep recovery alive, Japan's parliament passed another economic stimulus program amounting to $66 billion, bringing the total in this decade to $808 billion.

Remember the U.S.A. in the early 1990s? The recovery from recession was painfully slow. American businesses embarked on productivity-enhancing restructuring, delaying economic rebound.

Eventually, the restruc-turing paid off and the super tanker U.S. economy has been sailing full stoam ahead ever do the same. Massive budget deficits are not the only answer; a faster pace of restructuring in order to revitalize the economy is needed.

MARKET GLANCE Japan is the valuation, primarily the Japan is still suffering from its old legacy of emphasizing market share rather than profitability. Intravenous feedings postpone the necessary re-adjustment process, sapping economic vitality in the long run.

week from Saturday.

Excess capacity needs to be cut and redundant labor re-deployed. An accelerated pace of restructuring will initially delay economic recovery and add to defla-tionary pressures. Eventually, economic health will. return as the benefits of efficiency bear fruit.

Government interventions to lower the value of the yen could also delay the painful restructuring process. To be sure, a stronger yen hurts exports. But exports are only about 10 percent of Japan's GDP. Besides, the savings rate in Japan is so high that the nation is brimming with curaccount surpluses.

Earnings will be less robust

The U.S. stock market has been pulled by two engines: soaring corporate profits and the expanding price-earnings (P/E) ratio. The P/E ratio has been the more powerful of the two, doing most of the work. With rising inflation expectations and tighter monetary policy, the P/E ratio is losing its power. Once again, the stock market will have to rely primarily on profits. In the third quarter, after-tax profits rose almost 12 percent or $78 billion from a year ago. A detailed analysis shows that a couple of special factors made the profit picture rosy. Inventory higher value of oil, accounted for about 60 percent of the gain, and the rebound in foreign earnings from the lousy 1998 period another 35 percent. Without these special factors, non-financial earnings actually fell 1.1 percent from a year ago. The earnings for the S&P 500 companies, which have all the major oil companies and most foreign earnings, have jumped more than 20 per-

Do not expect earnings to be as robust next year. An economic slowdown will limit sales volume gains. The costs of labor, credit and imports including energy are rising. If businesses are able to pass these higher costs onto consumers, the Federal Reserve will hike interest rates more aggressively, hurting stocks. If prices cannot be raised, margins will shrink leading to lower profits and stock prices.

Before putting the garden to bed for the winter, remove any weeds like mustards that may carry diseases or harbor insects.

"On cold winter evenings, stay warm indoors thumbing through the new seed catalogs that come in the mail," he said. Don't save seed from last year's hybrid plants. "Most hybrid varieties will not remain true to the variety once they've been planted and produce their own seed," he said. "Plants like summer squash also can cross-pollinate with some pumpkin varieties. So, if you save the seeds and replant them, you may grow some weird summer squash."

Dickerson also recommends having garden soil analyzed for nutrient content during the winter. Take several samples of soil from your garden at various locations, from depths of 6 to 8 inches where most of the plant feeder roots occur. Combine all the soil samples into one composite sample and send to a laboratory for analysis. Check with your local county Extension office for more detailed instructions and information about labs and costs.

"You should receive an analysis back from the lab in a few weeks," he said.

Besides listing the various nutrients in your soil, the Teport should give an interpretation of the results and provide fertilizer suggestions for common crops.'

CHRISTMAS

IAN ELDREDGE TEACHES JACOB RIGSBY, 7, about Chrismon ornaments so he can take the lessons home to his family.

Frances Spencer originated the decade. Christmas ornaments portraying various Christian symbols and gave the concept to the Ascension Lutheran Church in Danville, which has the copyright.

Her only admonition was that "Chrismons" never be created for profit.

The tradition is carried on in Ruidoso by First Presbyterian Church on Sutton Drive and at the Shepherd of the Hills Lutheran Church on Hull Road, where a Chrismon service is celebrated.

Chrismon is a combination of two words: Christ and Monogram, explained Rev. Kevin Krohn of Shepherd Lutheran. Chrismons are symbols of Christ and date back to the early church. They're other, women to sew cross- glistens with about 100 Chrisfound on the walls of Roman catacombs, on jewelry and utensils from excavations in Palestine, he said, quoting from literature he found in church records.

Persecuted Christians used them to identify themselves to one another.

They must be decorated in two colors - white for the Lord's purity and gold for His perfection, said Bennie Brace of Bent, who attends Shepherd and created Chrismons for more than a

The green of the tree is symbolic of promised healing and the small white lights strung around its boughs point to Christ as the light of the world.

For Brace, the job of creating new ornaments each year to add to the tree is a labor of love.

"The subject first came up when we were attending services at the Presbyterian Church while waiting for our Lutheran church to be established," said Brace, who moved to the area in 1968. "We came up with a set for a starter and then made more variations with beads, sequins and other decorations."

EYE ON THE ARTS

'Last Day' photo contest open to all

Load your camera, check your batteries and prepare to snap the day away, Dec. 31.

The Photographic Society of Lincoln County is sponsoring "The Last Day of 1999 Photo Contest," with a $100 first prize, $50 second prize and $25 third prize.

"The photographs must be taken only on Dec. 31, 1999," said society official Herb Brunell. They may be taken during the day or at night with the aim of showing what the person thinks most represents the last day of 1999, he said.

The contest is open to everyone, Brunell said. Prints must be matted in a plain mat.

Winners will be announced at the society's regular meeting Feb. 17. Selected winning pieces will be on display for one month.

Photographers may submit an unlimited number of entries as slides or prints. The deadline is Jan. 29, 2000. No entry fee will be charged-

Mail entries to PSLC, P.O. Box 3060, Ruidoso, NM 88355-3060.

Return postage and packaging should accompany mailed entries, or entries may be hand delivered to Brunell's Department Store on Sudderth Drive in Ruidoso.

For more information, call of email David Travis at (505) 258-4006, dhtravis@trailnet.com or Brunell at (505) 258-4003. hbrunell@zianet.com.

New Mexico Arts and Crafts Fair looks for art

ALBUQUERQUE — The New Mexico Arts and Crafts Fair (NMACF) announces a call for entries for the 39th annual fair. Entry deadline for the June show is Jan. 21, 2000.

Entrants must be New Mexico residents and submit five slides for each category entered. There is an $18 jury fee for each entry. For a complete prospectus, contact NMACF at 5500 San Mareo NE, Suite 105, Albuquerque, 87109, or call (505) 884-9043.

An entry workshop at 1 p.m. Dec. 12 at the NMACF office in Albuquerque will be held for artists interested in how to enter, how to prepare slides or what category to enter.

More than 200 artists from all over the state will show and sell their work. In addition to the arts and crafts exhibit, the New Mexico Arts and Crafts Fair hosts a jurors' exhibit and a youth art show. Live musical performances, educational activities for children and outdoor food booths round out the festivities.

Professional blackjack player holds book signing

The author of "Blackjack the Smart Way" will host a book-signing at the Aspen Tree Bookstore in Ruidoso at noon today.

Richard Harvey, who hails most recently from New York, said his unique approach to blackjack covers the gamut of the game: from stacking chips to advance strategy.

The strategy includes systems such as card counting or "card"

"Right now there are two tinds of books on blackjack," larvey said, "Simple books that are basically wrong and compliated books that have systems for he professional. This book is in he middle. It is aimed at the averge person who doesn't want to ut $500 on the table or spend he rest of their lives memorizing harts."

Harvey said he has spent a lozen years playing blackjack all ver the United States and in ome foreign countries.

The book, he said, is being old all over the world, including long Kong.

"It's one of the hottest selling ooks this year," Harvey said.

Harvey said before he started laying blackjack at a professionlevel, he was playing bridge.

"I got tired of the nastiness of ridge," Harvey said. "I looked for new card game and started playglackjack on the computer."
Harvey said his natural propensity toward mathematics led him to discover a reliable system for blackjack.

"I found that most of the advice and books were wrong," Harvey said.

After being laid off, Harvey had a chance to put his system to the test at the casinos of Atlantic City.

"I had a long winning streak there." Harvey said.

Harvey now conducts professional seminars on blackjack and; is on a national book-signing tour.

While Harvey has played Blackjack throughout the country, he does admit to being a discriminating player who does not sit at just any table he comes across.

"I'm very discriminating and I teach other people to do that too," Harvey said. "It's your money on the table."

Chapters in "Blackjack the Smart Way" include:

- Basic Card Strategy For Beginners and Intermediates
- The Perils of Doubling Down and Splitting
- The "Tricky 2s" and the "Silent 7s"

Professional blackjack player holds book signing

The author of "Blackjack the mart Way" will host a book-signng at the Aspen Tree Bookstore n Ruidoso at noon today.

Richard Harvey, who hails nost recently from New York, said nis unique approach to blackjack overs the gamut of the game: rom stacking chips to advance trategy.

The strategy includes systems such as card counting or "card observing."

"Right now there are two kinds of books on blackjack," farvey said. "Simple books that are basically wrong and complicated books that have systems for he professional. This book is in the middle. It is aimed at the average person who doesn't want to put $500 on the table or spend the rest of their lives memorizing charts."

Harvey said he has spent a dozen years playing blackjack all over the United States and in some foreign countries.

The book, he said, is being sold all over the world, including Hong Kong.

"It's one of the hottest selling books this year," Harvey said.

Harvey said before he started playing blackjack at a professional level, he was playing bridge.

"I got tired of the nastiness of bridge," Harvey said. "I looked for a new card game and started playing blackjack on the computer."

Harvey said his natural propensity toward mathematics led him to discover a reliable system for blackjack.

"I found that most of the advice and books were wrong,"

After being laid off, Harvey had a chance to put his system to the test at the casinos of Atlantic City.

"I had a long winning streak there," Harvey said.

Harvey now conducts professional seminars on blackjack and is on a national book-signing tour.

While Harvey has played Blackjack throughout the country, he does admit to being a discriminating player who does not sit at just any table he comes across.

"I'm very discriminating and I teach other people to do that too," Harvey said. "It's your money on the table."

Fun Mithut Brothers Brothers Thompson

Drew Gamber
HISTORIAN
THE HUBBARD MUSEUM
OF THE AMERICAN WEST

(Ben) shot and slightly wounded his own brother-in-law, a man named Moore who had been foolish enough to slap Ben's sister.

brated gunmen in the Old West. He was never known to be long on patience, except when his brother Billy was concerned. In fact, Ben was as dangerous as men got in the Old West, and was considered to be one of the most lethal opponents a man could face by both Wyatt Earp and Bat Masterson, neither of whom were exactly light weights themselves.

Aside from his own uncontrollable temper, one of the biggest liabilities in Ben's life was little brother Billy. Ben was dangerous, but Billy was downright vicious, a "quality" that he displayed on a number of occasions.

Early troubles

Ben's career during the War Between the States was just as interesting as it could be. Serving alternately as a courier, spy and guerrilla for the Confederacy, he was in and out of trouble with his own side nearly as much as he was with the hated Yankees.

With war's end, the occupation army issued an order for the arrest of Thompson, who managed to escape to Mexico, where he was employed as a soldier of fortune by the embattled Emperor Maximillian, who was, of course, destined to lose. The Mexican people discovered that, after shooting Maximillian numerous times in the face, he didn't bother them anymore.

After the fall of Maximillian's government,

Ben managed to make his way back to Austin where he had left a wife and two children. It was there that he first found himself in the position of having to deal with the indiscretions of his younger brother.

After Billy had killed a Yankee soldier (to be fair, it was probably in self-defense) the Reconstruction troops issued an order for his arrest. Brother Ben, whose own arrest warrant had been rescinded some time earlier, rode out into the country. The army, assuming that he was headed out to help Billy, followed him. As it turned out, he was leading them on the proverbial wild goose chase while Billy escaped in the opposite direction.

Ben was perfectly capable of getting into trouble all by himself, however, which he proved beyond a shadow of any doubt in 1868. In that year, he shot and slightly wounded his own brother-in-law, a man named Moore who had been foolish enough to slap Ben's sister. When Ben was taken before the local judge, he compounded his crime by threatening the magistrate, who threw him into jail. In jail, Ben's temper once again got the better of him when he poked out the eye of a guard. He got four years; but was pardoned after two.

In 1871, with his family in tow, Ben headed for Abilene, Kansas, where, with partner Phil Coe, he opened the Bull's Head Saloon. Things went swimmingly for a time, until Ben and his family got into, of all things, a traffic accident.

It was pretty bad. Ben broke his leg, his son's foot was badly mangled and Ben's wife Catherine's arm was so badly crushed that it had to be amputated. Deciding to take his family back to Texas to recuperate, Ben received even more bad news on the way when the news reached him that Phil Coe had been killed in a gunfight with Abilene Marshal Wild Bill Hickok.

Elisworth

In 1873, having recovered from both his broken leg and the depression that friends claimed he suffered from after Coe's death, Ben, in the company of brother Billy, headed for the newest Kansas boomtown: Ellsworth.

And it was in Ellsworth that the brothers Thompson got into what was, perhaps, their most serious trouble. In August, Ben had trouble with a cowboy named John Sterling who had apparently borrowed money from the gunman and refused to pay it back.

Backed by local deputy "Happy Jack" Morco, Sterling challenged the Thompson brothers to come out of Brennan's Saloon and settle the matter. The Thompsons being the Thompsons, they accepted immediately. As luck would have it, the Thompsons' friend, sheriff Chauncey Whitney happened along, off-duty and unarmed, and attempted to calm the situation down. He did this by offering to buy the Thompsons a drink, even though it was obvious that Billy had already consumed more than enough.

As the trio turned to re-enter the saloon, someone shouted a warning that Sterling and Morco were approaching. When Ben shot at Morco, who already had drawn his weapon, and missed, the Sheriff demanded to know "What's the meaning of this?" The only response that he got was in the form of a shotgun blast fired by Billy Thompson. Three days later, to absolutely no one's surprise, Whitney died.

According to virtually every eyewitness present. Billy had discharged the weapon accidentally. Nevertheless, rather then admit to the accident, the younger Thompson, drunk as he was, preferred that people think he had done it deliberately. Ben was horrified. "My God! You've shot our best friend!" cried Ben. Eyewitriess William Purdy later said that Billy responded by saying "I'm sorry." The newspapers reported otherwise. According to them, Billy's response had been "I do not give a damn! I would have shot if it had been Jesus Christi" What a guy.

Billy's "escape"

Whatever Billy said, big brother Ben immediately advised him to leave town before he was "jerked to Jesus" by irate citizens. Billy began to leave, but was uh, distracted when he passed through the Red Light district. Finally, Ben had to go and personally escort his murderous sibling out of town.

That night, after paying a small fine for discharging a weapon inside the city limits, Ben was attending a play when he was informed that Billy was back in town. Flabbergasted, the elder Thompson went and found Billy, who informed him that he would be safest in Ellsworth, where everyone thought he was long gone.

It would appear that Ben was the brains of the family. Again, Billy was smuggled out of town. Shortly thereafter, a $500 reward was placed on his head. Four years later, in 1877, Billy was captured and returned to Ellsworth, where he was acquitted of the murder of Sheriff Whitney.

Over the course of the next few years, Ben's reputation as a gunman flourished thanks mainly to the fact that he kept shooting people that irritated him. But in 1880, Billy once again reared his ugly head. In Ogallala, Nebraska, Billy was shot five times by a cowboy that he had run afoul of. Despite the fact that Billy was the loser of the gunfight, the citizens of Ogallala still felt that if might be a good idea to string him up anyway. Personally, I can't blame them.

Ben, realizing full well that the citizens would expect him to come and rescue his trigger-happy brother, asked old pal Bat Masterson to do it for him. Masterson reportedly replied, "I'll bring him out, but he doesn't deserve it."

And Bat did manage to bring Billy out without incident. The Dodge City Times of July 17, 1880, wryly commented that "W.B., Masterson arrived from a visit to Ogallala this week. He says Nebraska is dry, and many people are leaving the state."

had to come to Billy's aid. He had more than enough troubles of his own. He began to drink more and more and more — and pretty soon people began to avoid him when he was "in his cups" — the more he drank, the more dangerous he became.

Ben did serve as Austin's chief of Police for a time, and is remembered as being one of the most efficient officers ever to hold that position. This doesn't come as a particularly big surprise... I mean, I certainly wouldn't be inclined to resist arrest when Ben Thompson was the arresting officer — would you?

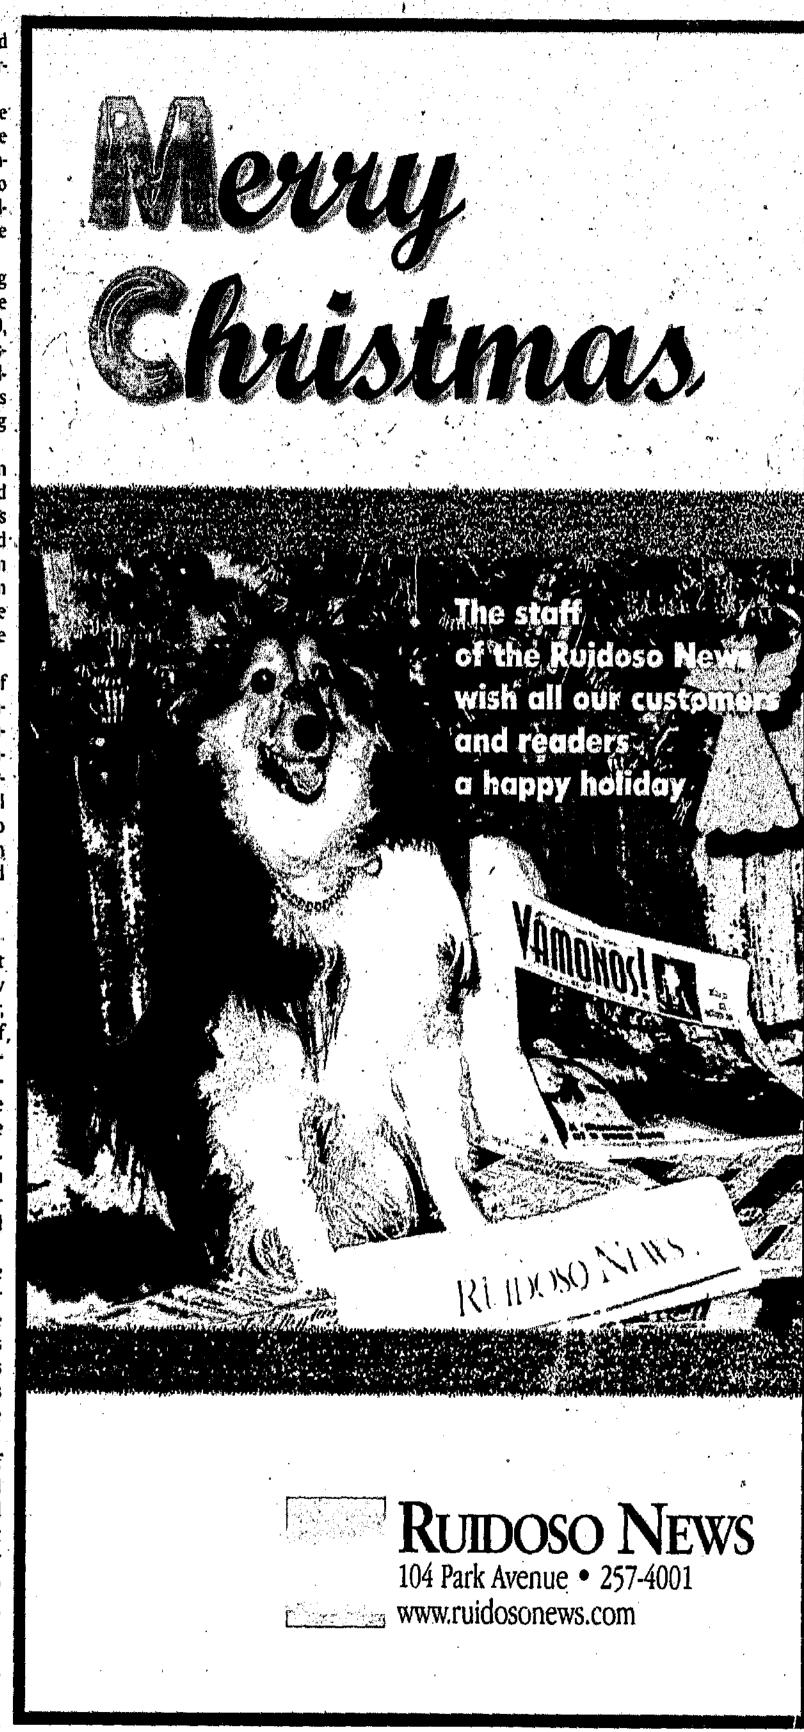

The End

It was in March of 1884 that Ben, in the company of fellow Texas "gunman John King Fisher, made the terminal mistake of drunkenly entering the Variety Theater, whose owner Ben had dispatched across the River Styx some time before. The partners of the deceased were ready and waiting. Both Thompson and Fisher died in a hail of gunfire so vicious that eyewitnesses said their blood flowed down the stairs "like a river."

Billy Thompson happened to be in town that night but never, either then or afterward, did he make the slightest attempt to avenge his brother's death. Had the brothers positions been reversed, this would most definitely not have been the case.

Ben was eulogized over half of Texas. Despite his faults, he had many friends and many mourned his passing. It is almost fitting that little is known of brother Billy after Ben's death. He was rumored to have been killed in Laredo in 1888, but the fact is, no one cared.

For Y2K, Barry advises to stock up food that won't fight back

Dave Barry TRIBUNE MEDIA SERVICES

If you've been worrying about this "Y2K" computer problem, you can relax. I am pleased to report that, according to computer experts, everything is totally under control. There is absolutely nothing to worry about. In fact, you might as well stop reading this article right now!

I said, THERE IS NOTHING TO WORRY ABOUT and you should STOP READING THIS COLUMN RIGHT NOW.

OK, good. We have gotten rid of the idiots who still actually believe the news media. We are down to the savvy individuals like you — people who know, from personal experience, that nothing involving computers is EVER "under control"; people who have attempted to perform some seemingly simple computer-related task, such as connecting a computer to a printer, and eventually decided - after weeks of puzzling over manuals written in the Ewok language and trying to communicate with "Technical Support" — that the only workable printing solution is to hold a piece of blank paper in front of the computer screen and trace the words manually.

Oh yes, this Y2K thing is going to be very, very bad. At exactly midnight on Dec. 31, all the computers in the world, and an estimated 80 percent of the Etch-a-Sketches, will malfunction. In one way, this is good: Your Permanent Record from school will be erased forever, which means future generations will never find out that you once mooned a Thanksgiving assembly.

But everything else about Y2K will be catastrophic: Lights will go out; phones will stop working; the banking system will collapse; juke boxes will refuse to play anything except "Copacabana"; VCR machines will suddenly start displaying the correct time; and this is the ultimate nightmare scenario — airline computers will charge people who are on the same flight THE EXACT SAME FARE. Within hours, civilization will collapse.

And believe me, the "computer experts" know this is going to happen. Why do you think Bill

Gates built himself a house the size of the Houston Astrodome? To hold parties for his friends? WHAT friends? He's storing canned food in there! Unfortunately for him, the Y2K problem is also going to cause all the can openers in the world, both electric and manual, to become inoperable. But don't worry about Bill Gates: He employs many skilled, highly intelligent engineers. So he can eat them.

You are not so fortunate. You must find a way, right now, to feed your family when Y2K strikes. You will NOT be able to grow crops, because photosynthesis will no longer work (many areas will also be without gravity). You might want to consider getting a cow and some pigs. That way, when everybody else is starving, you can go "Ha ha!", because you'll know that any time you get hungry, all you have to do is grab a sledge hammer and mosey out to your yard, and there will be your cow, looking at you with big brown eyes that say: "Hi! Your kids call me Daisy! You could no more kill me than you could mate with a squid!" And then you will mosey back into your house, because the pigs are chewing on your sneakers.

So forget livestock. You need to get a large supply of food that cannot look you in the eye, and you need to store it in a safe manner. What do I mean by "in a safe manner"? I mean "not in the manner that was described in a news article on the front page of the April 4, 1999, issue of the Northwest Arkansas Times."

This article, which was written by Sarah Fisher and sent to me by alert reader Missy Leflar, is headlined "BEANS, RICE EXPLODE AT FAYETTEVILLE HOME." It concerns a man, apparently preparing for Y2K, who filled some six-foot pipes with "a mixture of beans and rice with dry ice." He planned to bury the pipes, but before he could, pressure from the dry ice caused one pipe to explode in a blast that blew a hole in his roof, spewing beans and rice all over. The police had to evacuate the area and bring in a bomb technician to detonate the other pipes.

I don't want to alarm you, but there is no way of knowing how many other people have unwittingly created Y2K food bombs. You could be living next door to such a bomb. And it might not be as benign as rice and beans. What if your neighbor happens to like seafood? How would you like to be awakened one night by a violent explosion, then watch as your house and loved ones are torn to ribbons by large, sharp pieces of high-velocity shrapnel from an Alaskan king crab? Wouldn't "Crab Shrapnel" be a good name for a rock band?

You had better come up with some answers to these questions, because time is running out. Y2K is right around the corner, and you need to be prepared, no matter what it takes, or how much it costs. I'll sell you my cow.

Welcome to Eastern New Mexico University's Ruidoso Instruction Center! As your local University Off-Campus Center, we serve more than 1,400 credit and noncredit students through a wide variety of academic programs. Our instructors and staff are talented, experienced professionals in their respective academic fields, friendly and ready to help you. That's why we have designed this schedule to make enrolling and registering at the Ruidoso Center as convenient as possible. Inside, you will find a list of afternoon and evening classes scheduled for the Spring Session. You will also find information on how to enroll and how to register for class, and what student services are available. But, if you still have questions, call us at 257-2120 or 1-800-934-3668. Or visit our offices at 709 Mechem.

!BIENVENIDOS!

Bienvenidos a la Universidad del Este de Nuevo Mexico en Ruidoso, como Universidad local, servimos a mas de 800 estudiantes acreditados y no acreditados con una extensa variedad de programas academicos. Nuestros maestros y personal administrativo son amistosos y estan listos para ayudarle. Por eso es que hemos disenado este programa, para hacer el ingreso en ENMU-Ruidoso tan conveniente como sea posible. Encontraran una lista de clases por las tardes o en la noche. Tambien encontraran informacion en como ingresar y que servicios estan disponibles para los estudiantes. Si tiene alguna duda o pregunta, puede llamar al telefono 257-2120 o 1-800-934-3668.

ADMISSIONS

The Ruidoso Center has an "open" admissions policy which means anyone with a high school diploma or GED Certificate may attend. First, you have to fill out an Admissions application. Applications are available at the Ruidoso Center office, 709 Mechem Drive, Ruidoso.

CANCELLED-LIMITED SIZE CLASSES

The Ruidoso Center reserves the right to cancel any classes which do not attain the minimum enrollment requirement. The Center reserves the right to close enrollment in those classes where the maximum capacity is reached.

ATTENDANCE

Attendance is required at all sessions for each course for which the student is enrolled. When circumstances make attendance impossible, such absences should be reported to the instructor. Possibilities for makeup work should be discussed with the instructor on an individual basis. No extensions of vacation periods are given to a student. Nonattendance of classes due to late registration is considered the same as absences incurred after registration.

BAD WEATHER (Snow) POLICY

The Ruidoso Center does not cancel classes for inclement weather including snow. Instructors also do not cancel class. If you are unable to attend, please notify your instructor and obtain the makeup work assigned in your absence.

COURSE REPEATING

If you are repeating a course, be sure to fill out repeat forms at the time of registration.

EDUCATIONAL PROMISSORY LOANS

Educational Promissory Loan contracts are available to students who are taking a minimum of six (6) credit hours. A $10.00 contract fee plus 30% of the total amount of tuition and books is due at the time of registration. Students who have a balance due on a Educational Promissory Loan Contract from previous semesters will be required to make financial arrangements with the Office Coordinator prior to registering. Failure to make these arrangements may result in voiding of your registration.

ENROLLMENT IN MATH or ENGLISH

Degrée seeking students planning to enroll in any classes for the first time, particularly the above subjects, are required to take the college's COMPASS computer-based placement test prior to registration to avoid registering for the wrong class. The COMPASS is given free each week during office hours in the Ruidoso Center Office, 709 Mechem Drive. Please call the College Office at 257-2120 to make testing arrangements.

FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE

The Ruidoso Center has financial aid counseling available on an appointment or walk-in basis to assist you in making the correct financial decisions to support the accomplishment of your educational and career goals. Many grants, loans and scholarships are available through the assistance of our Student Affairs Office. Make your appointment as soon as possible with either Cheri LaCounte or Sue Kluthe; call 257-2120 or 1-800-934-3668.

HIGH SCHOOL/ HOME SCHOOL STUDENT ENROLLMENT

State statutes now allow universities and high schools to operate a dual enrollment program, enabling students who need to earn additional credits to attend college while also in high school. The following high schools presently participate in the dual or "concurrent" enrollment program: Ruidoso, Hondo, Capitan, Mescalero, Tularosa, Carrizozo, Corona, and many area Home Schools. For more information on this opportunity, please contact your high school or home school counselor, or call 257-2120 or toll free 1-800-934-3668

Eastern New Mexico University Upper Division and Graduate Courses

College of the Air * Internet Courses for Spring 2000

Eastern New Mexico University has dramatically expanded the amount of upper division and graduate programming available in Ruidoso and Lincoln County, from instruction delivered by ITV (instructional television) and the Internet. Continuous registration for ITV classes at the Ruidoso Center is available for the Spring session. If you need to discuss financial aid to assist you in attending classes, call 1-800-537- LERN and your call will be transferred to the appropriate office. You may also register the first meeting of class but we suggest preregistration to insure your spot in class. Tuition and books must be paid by January 18 or arrangements for payment must be made with the Accounts Receivable office, also available by calling 1-800-537-LERN. Books may be purchased through the ENMU bookstore in Portales via phone order or internet and are mailed directly to the student's home. Courses are subject to change without notice. Call (505) 257-2120 or toll free 1-800-934-3668 for more information.

Teacher Education Program

Semester Schedule Information

All students who intend to become a teacher must attend a program information meeting each semester until they are ready to student teach. The purpose of the program information meeting is to provide education student with specific requirements they need to discuss with their advisor before registering for subsequent semesters. The meetings for Spring 2000 are scheduled as follows:

Date	Time	Location
February 22, 2000	3:30 PM & 6:30 PM	Portales campus - ED Building Room 127
March 9, 2000	3:30 PM & 6:30 PM	Portales campus - ED Building Room 127

Application to the Teacher Education Program

All students apply for acceptance into the TEP program while enrolled in EDF 222. Students who have already taken EDF 222 but did not apply or were denied acceptance to the program must reapply. Former students must make an appointment with the instructor and attend one of the class sessions during the third week of the semester to receive an application and instructions. The minimum requirements for acceptance into the Teacher Education Program are: 40 hours of Teaching Degree General Education hours completed with passing grades; have completed and reported to ENMU the established passing scores for all sections of the PreProfessional Skills Test (PPST); and have obtained a 2.80 career Grade Point Average. Application to the program are due to the instructor by Thursday of Week 5 of the semester.

Testing Requirements

The School of Education has elected to use the Praxis series PreProfessional Skills Test (PPST) as the entrance examination for the Teacher Education program. All student planning to apply to our program are required to take the examination and pass all three sections - Math, Reading and Writing - prior to applying to the program. It is recommended that Freshman test during their second semester on campus and Transfer students test during their first semester at ENMU. The test is administered in written form six times each year. Registration bulletins are available from Counseling and Testing, SAS 107, or at the Reception counter in the School of Education. The New Mexico Teacher Assessments Test series is required for licensure in the State of New Mexico. Anyone preparing to apply for licensure will be required to complete the New Mexico Assessment of Teacher Basic Skills, Teacher General Knowledge, and Elementary or Secondary Level Competency. Students must schedule for two test sessions due to the Basic Skills test and the General Knowledge test being administered in the morning only. Registration bulletins are available from Counseling and Testing, SAS 107, or at the Reception counter in the School of Education.

Student Teaching

All students planning to complete their student teaching during the Fall 2000 semester are required to attend an application meeting. This meeting will explain all the requirements of student teaching and the application process. No applications will be given at any time other than these meetings.

COMMUNITY EDUCATION PROGRAM

The Ruidoso Center Community Education Program is designed for people who are not interested in formal credit programs of study. The program strives to fulfill that part of Ruidoso Center mission which is "to make inexpensive, high quality educational services available at convenient times for the residents of the Ruidoso School District and the surrounding area of Lincoln and northern Otero Counties." Programs are also designed to be of interest to visitors to the Ruidoso and Lincoln County. The program is oriented toward lifelong learning and the fulfillment of the individual.

DON'T KEEP IT TO YOURSELF. SHARE YOUR KNOWLEDGE!!

Our instructors are a diverse and talented group of people, each with something very special to share. If you would like to propose a class, workshop, or tour for ENMUconsideration, just give us a call. Whether you would like to teach in our program or just recommend an activity, we'd love to hear from you!

COURSE FEES

The Ruidoso Center Community Education program is a self-sustaining program with course fees covering all program-related expenses. Fees are based on an estimated minimum number of students. Unlike credit programs of study at the Ruidoso Center, the Community Services Program does not depend on state and local taxes for support. Honored Americans (ages 62+) will pay half fees unless otherwise specified.

CLASS CHANGES AND CANCELLATIONS

The Ruidoso Center reserves the right to cancel any course with insufficient enrollment. Locations, dates and times of classes and instructors are also subject to change. A class will be closed when it reaches maximum enrollment, so you are encouraged to register early. Classes with insufficient enrollment will be cancelled, and you will be notified by phone. To make contacting you easier, please give day and evening phone numbers with your registration. Refunds will be automatically processed on courses which the Ruidoso Center cancels.

REGISTER EARLY - MOST CLASSES BEGIN AFTER February 1!!!

Register as soon as possible to assure a space in the class or classes you want. Mail-in, walk-in or FAXED registrations will also be accepted until the start of class. Registration is also now available via the Internet by visiting www.ruidoso.enmu.edu

The Community Education program holds classes in a variety of Ruidoso locations. The course instructor will meet you at the class location.

REFUND POLICY FOR COMMUNITY EDUCATION COURSES

We want you to be 100 percent satisfied with your Community Education class. If for any reason your class isn't exactly what you wanted, simply come by the office, and we will be happy to assist you. If you prefer, we will refund your money under the following conditions:

- 1. Registration fees are refunded in full only when:
- -- the class or workshop for which an enrollment was submitted is already full; OR
- -- the activity is cancelled; OR
- -- the Ruidoso Center rejects the enrollment application.
- 2. If after the first class meeting, you find the class isn't exactly what you wanted, 50% of the registration fee will be refunded. It is your responsibility to notify the Center Office prior to the second class of your intention to withdraw if you want a refund.
- 3. There will be no refund for withdrawals after the second class meeting. If you haven't withdrawn even though you are not attending class, you still have a financial obligation to complete payment for that class.

REQUESTS FOR REFUNDS

Requests for refunds must be received by the Center office during weekday office hours before the deadlines stated above. Requests may be presented in person at the Business Office or may be mailed to 709 Mechem Drive, Ruidoso New Mexico 88345. Please allow 15 days for processing any refund.

Ruidoso

Winter wonderland

BY LAURA CLYMER + RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

Linda Wallace/Ruldoso News

Ruidoso In all its winter splendor.

Born as a summer retreat, the greater Ruidoso area has grown up to become a winter resort as well, thanks to sun-filled winter days, fresh powder atop Ski Apache and a bevy of shops, restaurants, lodges and tourist attractions.

Ruidoso has carved out a name for itself as a winter haven that offers Rocky Mountain skiing and much, much more. If attacking the 1,900-feet of vertical slopes of Ski Apache doesn't thrill you, then there's plenty other things to do in Ruidoso — gift shops and art galleries to visit, two casinos at which to try your luck, golfing at four area courses and a number of family-oriented activities ranging from museums to scenic routes to that favorite winter-time past-time, sledding.

Cherie Homes, executive assistant at the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce, said the diversity of activities and a family environment "amazes" people who inquire about the greater Ruidoso area.

"We are getting more and more inquiries each time," Holmes said. "They want something that can entertain the kids and a place where their wives can go shopping. Everyone can come up and have something to do."

Ski Apache

No doubt about it, many who have discovered Ruidoso in the winter did so because of Ski Apache. The southern-most ski area in the Rocky Mountains enters its 39th season of operation and is located about 16 miles northwest of Ruidoso.

Ski Apache opens each Thanksgiving and closes Easter Sunday.
The second-busiest ski area in the state boasts 55 trails, more than 750 skiable acres, rental shops for skis and snowboards and the highest lift capacity — 16,500 skiers per hour
— in the state.

In addition, Ski Apache has snowmaking capabilities on 33 percent of its slopes. So when nature isn't cooperating, like last year when it delivered just 123 inches, the snowmaking crews can create coats of manmade snow on the slopes.

"It was a lousy year (1998-99), but we take pride in the fact that we are able to make snow. We were able to make a lot of people happy with manmade snow on a year like last year," Ski Apache official Riker Davis said. "The bottom line is you prepare for the worst and hope for the best."

Unlike its northern counterparts in Colorado, Ski Apache and the greater Ruidoso area combine to provide an affordable choice for a ski resort, said Mark Doth, who handles marketing for the village of Ruidoso.

"Our lodging is probably a half to a third less than those areas," Doth said.

Ski Apache and the greater Ruidoso area attract visitors from Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and northern Mexico

"Texas is still our bread and butter," Doth said. "But we've seen a significant increase in other states regionally such as Arizona, California and the El Paso/Juarez area."

By establishing links on the Internet, Ruidoso has increased its visibility not only across the country but also internationally.

"Especially this year, as an overall resort destination, we've been striving to even out our highs and lows," Doth said. "We've really, really tried to increase our exposure on the Internet and it's really paying off."

Lodging

With more than 2,200 rooms available, lodging options can meet the needs of just about anyone. For those who prefer all the amenities of a resort, there's Inn of the Mountain Gods. For those who would rather enjoy the cozy comforts of a mountain cabin, there's that option as well as condominiums, bed and breakfast inns, national chain hotels and motels, plus recreational vehicle parks. A number of private rooms, cabins and homes are available for seasonal rent as well.

The Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce acts as a clearinghouse for room availability, and on holiday weekends, the lodging options can fill up fast. Lisa Muhn, group sales director for the village of Ruidoso, suggests visitors call the chamber for lodging information.

Restaurants and night life

More than 75 restaurants serve up everything from southwestern cuisine to French-inspired meals, from Mexican, Italian and Asian favorites to steak, seafood, burgers, pizza and fast food.

At night, visitors can enjoy live music at the Quarters, Win Place and Show, the Texas Club, the Inn of the Mountain Gods and at other nightspots, or visitors can take in the latest production at Spencer Theater. Check Friday's Vámonos in the Ruidoso News for the latest information on entertainment happenings in the greater Ruidoso area.

"What I've been seeing is that it's not just skiers coming up. People want to get away and they're bringing their families," Muhn said.

DEANNE STALLINGS + RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

Linda Wallace/Ruldoso News

Cross country skiing is a popular alternative to the downhill race.

Streaking down a mountain at break-neck speed may not be everyone's preference in winter sports.

For some, a peaceful glide across snow covered meadows or trudging up hiking trails blanketed in white translates to a real outdoor experience.

The sound of previously undisturbed snow crunching beneath boots, cross-country skis or snowshoes delivers a thrill of a quieter nature. But the chance of seeing tracks of mountain lions, deer, bear and other creatures keeps adventurers alert, eager to read the story behind the footprints.

Many summer hiking trails in the Lincoln National Forest are passable in the winter, but for something close to home, Park Canyon and Spring Canyon offer some views and reasonable terrain for excursions of a few hours.

Mountain biking enthusiasts may have better luck hitting the trails of the Fort Stanton Special Management Area about 15 miles northeast of Ruidoso. The Tlaloc Trail loops around historic Fort Stanton over a 19.65mile course with an elevation change of 920 feet. Take State Road 48 to Capitan, turn right on U.S. 380 to the Fort Stanton turnoff.

Many ranch roads branching off from State Highway 37 as it heads through Loma Grande on way to Nogal from Alto also provide some excellent rides, good views and occasional encounters with wildlife in the winter.

If you can reach a trail, you probably can hike at least a portion of it, said longtime hiking and camping enthusiast Johnny Hughes.

He offered these tips for a safe hiking experience:

- Choose adequate foot gear, waterproof, warm and with a good tread.
- Layer clothing so you can peel or add as the day progresses.
- Take several types of fire starters.
- Pack some iodine tablets in case you have to treat water for drinking. People can become dehydrated in the winter.

Snowshoe and cross-country skiing trails crisscross the Sacramento Ranger District of the Lincoln National Forest around Cloudcroft. Just pick a trailhead and head out after telling relatives or rangers your route and expected time of return.

Winter camping is allowed in the forest, although most campgrounds are closed when the cold weather and snow hits.

Hughes recommended Three Rivers Campground on the western side of the mountain range accessible by U.S. 54 between Carrizozo and Tularosa. At a lower elevation of 6,000 feet above sea level, the campground usually is free of snow.

A hiking trail runs along the western base of the White Mountain Wilderness in high chaparral country. The campground features vault restrooms, corrals, horse trails, fishing and a picnic area.

An added advantage is the campground's proximity to the Three Rivers Petroglyph National Recreation Site where ancient Mogollon carved designs in stone.

Baca Canyon Campground near Fort Stanton on U.S. 380 also is open. Hardy campers can try to reach the Argentine campground on Forest Road 107 west of Bonito Lake or pick a site in one of the designated camping canyons along Bonito Lake Road. But South Fork Campground is closed in the winter and the gate to Monjeau and Skyline camping areas will be locked when the snow flies.

If you enjoy hiking or skiing with a purpose, buy a Christmas tree permit for $5 at either of the ranger district offices and search out that perfect specimen. Plan a method of hauling it back ahead of time, so you don't get tired and leave it along the trail.

Details on Perk Canyon

- A four-mile round-trip hike or mountain bike excursion into the upper Brady Canyon drainage.
- Views of Sierra Blanca
- 950-foot elevation climb
- Easy to moderate hiking
- Take Main Street into Upper Canyon, turn right onto Ebarb Road at the Story Book Cabins sign, continue up the hill to Perk Canyon Road, turn left to the trailhead. If the road is rough, park at the bottom off Main and hike a quarter mile to the trailhead.

The trail is open to mountain bikers, but because of some short, steep rocky sections, it may be unsuitable for novices.

Details on Spring Canyon

- ♣ A 1.5 mile trail or three mile round-trip
- ❖ Chances to view wildlife and enjoy solitude
- ❖ 760 feet elevation gain
- Moderate difficulty

Turn onto Cedar Creek Drive from State Road 48 by the Smokey Bear Ranger District Office. Go 1 1/2 miles and turn right at the intersection of Spring Canyon, look for the trailhead after a half mile. Or approach the trail from the other side by taking SR 48 to Ski Run Road, turn left and proceed to the junction with Forest Road 127. The trail-head is on the south side of the highway.

If you want to know the best slopes and all their peculiarities, Stan Cape has lived and skied in Ruidoso for the past 30 years.

Cape, who with his father operates the A-Frame Ski Shop on State Road 48 (Mechem Drive) and Stan's Snowboard Shop on Sudderth Drive, now spends a big chunk of his time behind the counter, but he hasn't lost touch.

"I would rather ski here than anywhere else when snow is good," he said. "We have such great powder, the vertical drop of the mountain is excellent and the ski area does a marvelous job of maintaining the slopes."

The A-Frame, one of more than a dozen ski and snow sport equipment sales and rental businesses in town, last year grew out of its rustic digs and into modern new quarters showcasing snowboards for sale and rent.

"Snowboarding has really increased," Cape said, "We now carry more than 200 rentals as well as the step-in bindings that have been developed."

Don't worry if you arrive in town without the proper skiing wardrobe,

Cape rents clothing, helmets and even two-way radios.

"We even carry those Spandex shorts with rear-end padding for snowboarders, because they end up on that part of their anatomy a lot," Cape said.

Brands include Burton, which Cape said is top of the line, Salomon and K-3.

Ski rentals include Salomon, K2 and Rossignol.

Trying to find the traditional straight ski might be a problem, he said.

"The most exciting thing to happen in recent ski history is the onset of the shaped ski," he said. "It turned the entire industry around."

Mike Steed of Steed Sports, whose business is across the street from A-Frame, said the shaped ski makes turning easier for novices and experts alike.

"The skis have a radical arch, in other words, they are wider at the shovel, narrow at the waist and wider at the top — sort of an hour glass shape," Steed said. "Snow-boards incorporated that shape and the ski industry took it too. They've always had a side cut, but now it's more pronounced."

The side cut draw a skier into a turn, he said.

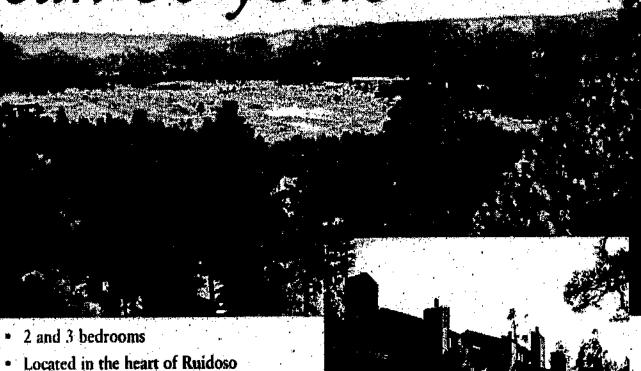

Steed's snowboards use the traditional two-to-three strap binding. Purchase prices have dropped on the boards over the last few years, he said.

He also rents cross-country skis and snowshoes. Trails in the Lincoln National Forest double in the winter for cross-country and snowshoe adventure.

Inow Play

Careening kids

BY DIANNE STALLINGS & RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

Laura Clymer/Ruidoso News

Even backwards it's fun.

Shrieks of laughter pierce the cold winter air as children on tubes careen down School House Park hill.

Winter in the Sacramento Mountains means locals and visitors to Ruidoso head for the ski slopes and sledding hills, they don snowshoes or cross country skis, or they climb aboard a snowmobile for a fast ride over mounds of fresh snow.

Between Ruidoso at 7,200 feet elevation in Lincoln County and Cloudcroft at 9,000 feet in neighboring Otero County, they have two ski resorts and two snow play areas at their disposal, miles of winter trails in the Lincoln National Forest and plenty of steep hills to try out their skills.

Lodging ranges from national name motels to quaint cabins and a historic lodge.

Two favorite sledding spots in Ruidoso are the hill behind the Senior Center in School House Park off Sudderth Drive and at the end of Cedar Creek Drive on the slopes that gave locals their first skiing thrills back in the 1940s. Turn off State Road 48 (Mechem Drive) on Cedar Creek Drive next to Smokey Bear Ranger District headquarters of the Lincoln National Forest.

A commercial Snow Play area, Ruidoso Winter Park, in its third year of operation, continues to offer premium tubing and two tow lines for those who want to save their energy for the downhill ride on three chutes.

The park, operated by Tom Dorgan at the Eagle Creek Sports Complex on Ski Run Road 1/4 mile west off SR 48 north of Ruidoso, opens on Thanksgiving.

"We're redoing the Kids Korral for children under 42 inches in height, redesigning and lengthening chutes," Dorgan said. "We're also adding another chute to the upper part of the hill."

One hundred new tubes — including several for four to six people — will be available, along with triple and quadruple tandem tubes.

Because most of the snow last year arrived before Spring Break, Dorgan bought a more powerful pump from Oklahoma to double his snow-making capacity.

Rates are $5 for children 42-inches and under for three hours on the slopes, $13.50 for children through 15 and $15 for those 16 and older.

For more information, call (505) 336-7079

Most of the sledding and tubing on the Lincoln National Forest occurs around Cloudcroft, about 40 miles southwest of Ruidoso.

"We encourage people to head to the Karr Snow Play area off Sunspot Highway six miles south of Cloudcroft," said Max Goodwin, Sacramento district ranger. "We have space for parking and nice slopes. People can tube without getting hurt"

Guided snowmobile rides can be arranged at Lopers in Cloudcroft or at Mystical Mountain Magic, called Triple M Snow Play.

Owner Craig Sparling plans a Dec. 17 opening for Triple M's snowmobile tours and a Dec. 18 opening of two tubing slopes with a tow line.

The fun center will stay open every day through Jan. 2. After that, operations for the tubing slopes will cut back to 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, and 10 a.m. to 4:15 p.m., Friday through Monday for snowmobile tours. The center will be open on all winter holidays. Private snowmobile tours may be scheduled at any time.

Snowmobile rates are $30 per hour for singles and $40 per hour for doubles, Tubers pay $16 for all day, $11 for half day for the use of the lift and tube, or $8 for all day with a tube, but no lift.

Bring your own tube, and the price goes down to $12 all day and $8 half day with lift. Access to the slopes is $6 without a lift.

Triple M is 4.7 miles south of Cloudcroft. Take Highway 130 to the intersection of Sunspot Highway, continue on Sunspot and watch for the Triple M sign to the left. To reach Cloudcroft from Ruidoso, take U.S. 70 west toward Mescalero and turn south on Highway 244.

For more information about Triple M, call (800) 766-7529.

The Lodge, a historic inn and restaurant in Cloudcroft, also offers cross country skiing, tubing and snowmobiling. More sedentary visitors can try dining at Rebecca's Restaurant or shopping at Season/Lodge Mercantile. Special winter lodging and activity packages are available.

Call (800) 395-6343 for more information.

The village of Cloudcroft on U.S. 82 operates the only skating rink in the area, the main road through town.

"We usually open the second week in December and stay open until March 1," said Village Manager Mike Nivison. "It depends on when freezing temperatures begin. If you have your own skates, you can hit the ice about anytime the rink is not being groomed."

Members of the local FFA rent skates for $3 for adults and $2.50 for children at the rink at the west end of Zenith Park.

Visitors can take to the ice as early as 10 a.m. on weekends and at 3:30 p.m. on weekdays. The skating goes on into the evening. A large fire-place and cover helps skaters stay warm. Telephone numbers of skating instructors are available through the chamber of commerce at (505) 682-2733.

A full moon skating party will be scheduled in February. Check with the chamber, where information also should be available on a month of events in December for Christmas in Cloudcroft, including a pet parade, a tree lighting ceremony, late night shopping and the arrival of Santa Claus.

Surrounding Cloudcroft is the Sacramento District of the Lincoln National Forest, which offers miles of scenic trails for cross-country skiing, and Ski Cloudcroft, managed by Mel and Jeremy McAdams, opens its downhill skiing and snow boarding in mid-December, if the weather cooperates.

Call (505) 682-233 for information about rates and hours.

Winter Safety

Be careful out there

BY THE RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF

The slopes and snow-laden trails can make for funtimes. But visitors and locals should also keep in mind the hazards winter can bring. The Ruidoso News encourages visitors to enjoy themselves while in the area but be safe.

Road travel

Plan your travel and check the latest weather reports to avoid the storm.

- Fully check and winterize your vehicle before the winter season begins.
- Carry a winter storm survival kit: Blankets/sleeping bags; flashlight with extra batteries; firstaid kit; knife; high-calorie; non-perishable food; extra clothing to keep dry; a large empty can and plastic cover with tissues and paper towels for sanitary purposes; a smaller can and water-proof matches to melt snow for drinking water; sack of sand (or cat litter); shovel; windshield scraper and brush; tool kit; tow rope; booster cables; water container; compass and road maps.
- Keep your gas tank near full to avoid ice in the tank and fuel lines.
- ◆ Try not to travel alone.
- Let someone know your timetable and primary and alternate routes.

Car safety

If a blizzard traps you in your car:

Don't panic! Stay in the vehicle. Do not attempt to walk in a blizzard. Disorientation comes quickly in blowing and drifting snow. Being lost in open country during a blizzard is extremely dangerous. You are more likely to be found in your car and will at least be sheltered there.

- Avoid overexertion and exposure. Exertions from attempting to push your car, shoveling heavy drifts, and performing other difficult chores during strong winds, blinding snow, and bitter cold of a blizzard may cause a heart attack even for persons in apparently good physical condition.
- * Beware of carbon monoxide.
 Run the engine, heater or catalytic heater sparingly, and only with a downwind window open for ventilation. Make sure that snow has not blocked the exhaust pipe. Keep a downwind window slightly open for fresh air. Freezing rain, wet snow and wind-driven snow can completely seal the passenger compartment.
- Take turns keeping watch. If more than one person is in the car, don't all sleep at the same time. If alone, stay awake as long as possible.
- Turn on the dome light at night to make your car more visible to working crews.

Outdoors

The following applies to outdoor recreation as much as it does to emergency situations.

- Avoid overexertion. Cold weather itself, without any physical exertion, puts an extra strain on the heart. If you add to this the strain of heavy physical activity such as shoveling snow, pushing an automobile or even walking too fast or too far, you risk damaging your body.
- Dress warmly in loose-fitting, layered, lightweight clothing.

Outer garments should be tightly woven and water repellent. Wear a hat. Protect your face and cover your mouth to protect your lungs from very cold air. Wear mittens instead of gloves — they allow your fingers to move freely in contact with one another and will keep your hands much warmer.

- Watch for frostbite and other symptoms of cold-weather exposure. Frostbite causes à loss of feeling and a white or pale appearance in extremities such as fingers, toes, tip of nose, ear lobes. If such symptoms are detected, get medical attention immediately. Do not rub with snow or ice - this does not help the condition and, in fact, will make it worse. The best treatment for frostbite is the re-warming of the affected tissue, as described above in the section on treatment for cold weather exposure.
- Avoid alcoholic beverages. Alcohol causes the body to lose its heat more rapidly even though one may feel warmer after drinking alcoholic beverages.
- Keep yourself and your clothes dry. Change wet socks and all other wet clothing as quickly as possible to prevent loss of body heat. Wet clothing loses all of its insulating value and transmits heat rapidly.
- If paralyzed persons or infants must go outside in severe weather, they should be checked frequently for signs of frostbite.

Signs of exposure

When the body begins to lose heat faster than it can produce it, a condition called hypothermia begins to develop. The symptoms become very apparent, and include:

- ◆ Uncontrollable shivering
- ♦ Vague, slow, slurred speech

- Memory lapses; incoherence
- Immobile, fumbling hands
- Frequent stumbling
- Drowsiness
- Apparent exhaustion; inability to get up after a rest.

Exposure treatment

If a person shows any signs of overexposure to cold or wet and windy weather, take the following measures — even if the person claims to be in no difficulty. Often the person will not realize the seriousness of the situation.

- Get the person into dry clothing and into a warm bed or sleeping bag with a "hot" water bottle (which should actually be only warm to the touch, not hot), warm towels, heating pad, or some other heat source.
- Concentrate heat on the trunk of the body first — that is, the shoulders, chest and stomach.
- Keep the head low and the feet up to get warm blood circulating to the head.
- ❖ Give the person warm drinks.
- Never give the person alcohol, sedatives, tranquilizers or pain relievers. They only slow down body processes even more.
- Keep the person quiet. Do not jostle, massage or rub.
- If symptoms are extreme, call for professional medical assistance immediately.

House fires occur more frequently in the winter due to lack of proper safety precautions when using alternate heating sources (unattended fires, disposal of ashes too soon, improperly placed space heaters, etc.). Fire during winter storms presents a great danger because water supplies may freeze and it may be difficult for firefighting equipment to get to the fire.

State of the 'Arts'

AURA CLYMIIR + RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

Violinist Lella Josefowicz

ising from a juniper-dotted mesa north of Ruidoso, the Spencer Theater for the Performing Arts enters its third winter season, offering patrons a variety of shows and entertainers in a near-perfect hall in which to perform.

The $20-million majestic theater built by Dr. A. N. and Jackie Spencer of Alto and designed by Albuquerque architect Antoine Predock opened in October 1997.

Acting executive director Charles Centilli, who has been with Spencer Theater since its opening acts, said the winter lineup is tailored to audience preferences.

"They basically want to have fun and be entertained," Centilli said.

Patrons want a variety of performing arts — musical theater, drama, dance and family shows - and that's what they'll get this winter season and next summer as well, he said.

Spencer Theater officials made an effort a year ago to get in harmony with its audience by asking patrons to complete a survey. Seventy percent returned the survey and the No. 1 request was for live musicals and/or Broadway shows.

That's one reason why this winter features two musicals, "Victor/Victoria" and "Annie," and Neil Simon's comedy-drama "Last of the Red Hot Lovers."

Director of operations Ed Spurr, who coordinates the productions for incoming shows, said, "The survey really pointed the direction of how programming goes."

The third winter season also spotlights musical performances by Elite Syncopation jazz ensemble, violinist Leila Josefowicz and Celtic musicians Hesperus with Bonnie Rideout.

While audiences love the intimacy of the 514-seat hall, performers are often surprised by the theater's sound and stage quality.

"We are truly a state-of-the-art theater," Spurr said. "When they walk in and see all the equipment we have, they are in awe."

Among its assets, the theater boasts:

- ◆ Dressing rooms for 52 artists: four star dressing rooms with access to a relaxing courtyard; two 12-member dressing rooms; one 24-member dressing room; and a multipurpose room:
- A scene shop with 30-foot soundproof doors to stage;
- Fly space to accommodate most productions, and;
- State-of-the-art sound and lighting technology.

"Technically, we can bring in any show out there," Centilli said.

About the only obstacle Spurr and workers face is when a performance calls for three dozen stage hands. That's when the theater's geographic remoteness becomes a challenge.

A Broadway show such as "Victor/Victoria" will require 30 to 36 experienced stage hands to help set up scenery, aim lights and assist with costumes, Spurr said.

Spurr's answer to that challenge is to form alliances with Eastern New Mexico University-Portales. The college will send some technical students from its theater department to help and receive hands-on experience.

What goes on backstage ultimately affects what the audience sees and hears, and based on the efforts of the Spencer Theater staff and the performance hall itself, that should be music to its ears.

Check out the theater's Web site for up-to-date ticket availability about the 1999-2000 Winter Season: www.spencertheater.com

Performance tickets may be purchased at the Spencer Theater Box Office, open 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday, or patrons may call ProTix at 1-800-905-3315 to charge by phone. Tickets for most performances range between $15 and $35, with children and family performances costing between $3 and $5.

For more information about the Spencer Theater Winter Season 2000, contact the box office at 888-818-7872.

The waiting list is sometimes worth the wait

It's never too late to join the waiting list for sold out Spencer Theater performances, says Mari Hein, box office manager.

Although there are no refunds or exchanges, ticket returns occur more frequently than patrons would guess.

The theater is a non-profit facility, so when tickets are returned they may be considered a tax deductible donation.

When tickets are turned back, box office personnel go straight down the waiting-list, chronologically, and inform the patrons of the ticket availability.

This procedure secures seats for about 10 percent to 20 percent of those listed, Hein says.

Those listed are informed of the ticket availability via telephone. As a policy, however, box office personnel will not leave a message on an answering machine, so leave both work and home phone numbers when being placed on the waiting list.

Ski Apache

Slopes and moguls

BY TERRANCE VESTAL & RUIDOSO NEWS EDITOR

Jamie Lamphier gets a helping hand from Marty Marietta of Brown City, Mich.

Ski Apache offers an adaptive ski program for people with disabilities.

Ski Apache, located about 16 miles from Ruidoso, continues to draw crowds from all over the globe because of its temperate weather and terrain that accommodates the beginner as well as the expert.

The 1999 winter ski season kicked off with a 52-gun salute earlier this month — 52 snow guns that is.

Mother Nature actually sounded the beginning of the season with a mid-October snow that brought shivers of anticipation from all over.

"That snow brought a lot of interested phone calls," said Roy Parker, who has managed the ski area for the Mescalero Apache Tribe for more than 30 years. "That's what we hope for. People are getting tired of the summer sports and are ready to ski."

Ski Apache, situated on a 12,000-foot mountain with 11 lifts and 55 ski runs, has something for everyone as far as terrain and weather, said Scott Goeller, who heads the ski school at Ski Apache.

Goeller points out that the temperature at Ski Apache is usually about 10 degrees higher than resorts in Colorado or even northern New Mexico.

"It's either snowing like crazy or the sun is shining," Goeller said.

Often when it snows on the mountain, the town below doesn't get snow or as much of it, which is a nice boon for motorists, he said.

Ski Apache also has a state-ofthe-art grooming system to care for terrain that provides challenging runs to skiers of all levels.

"It's a first-rate facility and people know that," Goeller said.

What also is attractive this year is that base lift ticket prices have remained the same with daylong tickets available at $40. There also is a special rate for non-holiday weekday passes and those skiers 75 or older hit the slopes for free.

Those skiers who want to improve their skills have come to the right place.

Ski Apache is renowned for its ski school, which caters to beginning skiers.

"We encourage people to stop at the school and take a lesson," Goeller said.

A lift-ticket is included in the first time beginner lesson package.

Ski Apache offers a special lesson package for friends and couples, Goeller said.

"We offer a special half-price [package] for an upper level lesson

Juan Arreola, from Ruidoso, feels the need for speed.

if they purchase a full-day lesson at any level," Goeller said. "So if the wife doesn't ski, she gets her lesson while the husband gets a halfpriced lesson at his level."

The ski resort also looks after the younger snow burns with its Kiddie Korral. The children's program targets 4- to 6-year-old children.

"It's a full-day, supervised program," Goeller said. "It's not day care, it's a ski program."

Goeller said children in the Kiddie Korral have their own area to work on skiing.

"They have their own environment that takes them out of the high traffic areas," Goeller said.

Goeller has about 110 ski instructors in the school, about 35 full-time instructors and another 80 who come in on weekends and holidays to handle peak times. Lessons are offered in the mornings and afternoons, with the times approximate, he said. Classes are formed as students appear.

Private lessons also are available for those wanting individual assistance.

"We have a wide myriad of services offered to skiers at any level," Goeller said.

Not only does Ski Apache have much to offer skiers, but ski instructors as well.

During the first weekend of December (Dec. 4 and 5 this year) a ski-hiring clinic is offered for people interested in teaching.

"We try to create a low-stress environment so people can learn how to teach beginning skiers," Goeller said, adding that part-time and full-time instructors are needed during the season.

As a member of the ski school, Goeller said "you make a little money and improve your own skiing through clinics and improve your teaching abilities."

Ski Apache, according to resort information, opened as Sierra Blanca Ski Resort for Christmas in 1961. After several years of feasibility studies measuring snow depths on horseback, the Forest Service was persuaded in the late 1950s to release a portion of the White Mountain Wilderness on the north side of Sierra Blanca Peak. Successful oilman Robert O. Affderson, from Roswell, N.M., formed Sierra Blanca Corporation and brought in ski expert Kingsbury Pitcher, from Aspen, Colo., to develop a new ski area. During its inaugural year, the ski area offered three T-bars and $3 lift tickets.

In 1963, Anderson merged his oil properties into Atlantic Richfield and sold his several ski businesses. Under the leadership of Wendell Chino, the Mescalero Apache Tribe bought Sierra Blança Resort. Pitcher left after buying the Santa Fe Ski Area. Parker, who had managed a ski resort in Colorado and had years of experience in ski area operations, was hired by the Mescalero Apache Tribe in the summer of 1964.

Parker's ski business skills have guided the area through more than 30 years of expansion and improvement. In the winter of 1984-85, the ski area hosted an all-time record of 274,000 skiers and the name changed appropriately to Ski Apache.

The ski season traditionally runs from Thanksgiving to Easter and hosts skiing guests mostly from Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and Mexico.

Of the dozens of different lodges in the Ruidoso area, the Inn of the Mountain Gods continues to be one of the favorite gems. The Mescalero Apache Tribe also owns this four-season resort.

Hubbard Museum

More than just horses

BY DIANNE STALLINGS + RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

Laura Clymer

Part of "Free Spirits at Noisy Water" — a life-size sculptural work by artist Dave McGary.

A change of name and an expanded mission in 1999, transformed the Museum of the Horse in Ruidoso Downs into the Hubbard Museum of the American West, and took the historical center in the settlement of Lincoln under its wing.

The first hint of what lies inside the museum is what greets visitors on the outside — a bigger-than-life bronze sculpture of seven horse breeds galloping over hilly terrain. Local artist Dave McGary, internationally known for his exquisite and intricately realistic Indian bronze sculptures with color accents, created "Free Spirits at Noisy Water."

Although horses play a dominant role in the museum's exhibitions, its scope is much broader, said Bruce Eldredge, director of the 50,000-square-foot museum on U.S. 70 next to the Ruidoso Downs Race Track and the Billy the Kid Casino. Exhibits give visitors a glimpse of many more aspects of the American West with examples of wagons from Europe and North America, carriages, coaches, guns, saddles, cowboy boots, Indian pottery, crafts, weaving and assorted clothing.

More than 60,000 people tour the museum every year, Eldredge said. Another 17,000 people attend the annual Cowboy Symposium sponsored by the museum in October.

Ten thousand more participate annually in programs and activities put on by the museum, Eldredge said.

"People want something to do that is arts, culturally or historically oriented during their visit to the area," Eldredge said. "People want a well-balanced, well-rounded vacation and we are part of that, just as the Spencer Theater now is a part of that."

The museum is the second largest private museum in New Mexico in terms of budget, visits and staff size, he said.

Anne C. Stradling, a New Jersey heiress and noted horsewoman who collected western memorabilia until her death in 1992, donated most of the museum's collection.

Her collection was displayed from 1960 to 1989 at the Patagonia Museum of the Horse in Arizona. When her health began to fail, Stradling decided to move her collection to the Hubbard museum. The building was created out of the former Chaparral Convention Center.

"When Anne gave her collection to the museum back in 1990, she gave about 10,000 objects," Eldredge said. In the last five years, objects not considered museum appropriate were weeded out, he said.

About 9,500 of Stradling's pieces are displayed with 600 new items added to the museum, he said. People who decide the museum is the best place to display a historic saddle or antique stable cloth from a major American cloth manufacturer often donate the new items, he said.

One of the newer features of the museum — a virtual reality animated horse race — is a sure-fire stop for visitors. Actor and film director Kevin Costner climbed aboard one of the "horses" to race R.D. Hubbard, the museum's co-founder, during a visit last summer.

"It's the first game of its type to put a racer into an animated horse race," Eldredge said. "Your image is projected into the race. We prototyped it with the Vivid Group out of Toronto, Canada, and with the Hollywood Park Racing Corporation of Englewood, Calif."

A favorite exhibit, the Ruidoso

Downs Race Horse Hall of Fame, highlights the winners of past All American futurities, the richest quarterhorse race in the world that runs Labor Day weekend.

To learn more about the real Billy the Kid and the Lincoln County War that spawned him, visitors also can travel 20 miles east on U.S. 70 and then 10 miles north to Lincoln. The Hubbard museum operates a visitors' center and other stops in the historic stomping grounds of the outlaw there.

The museum's success comes from community support and the efforts of its board of directors and founders R.D. and Joan Dale Hubbard, owners of Ruidoso Downs Race Track, Eldredge said.

The Billy the Kid Casino, also a Hubbard enterprise and situated behind the museum at the race-track, opened in mid-1999.

Three hundred slot machines offer a different type of winter entertainment. The casino is open from 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. Hamburgers and other easy food is fixed up in the R rt Stanton Grill for gamblers taking a break to rest their arms.

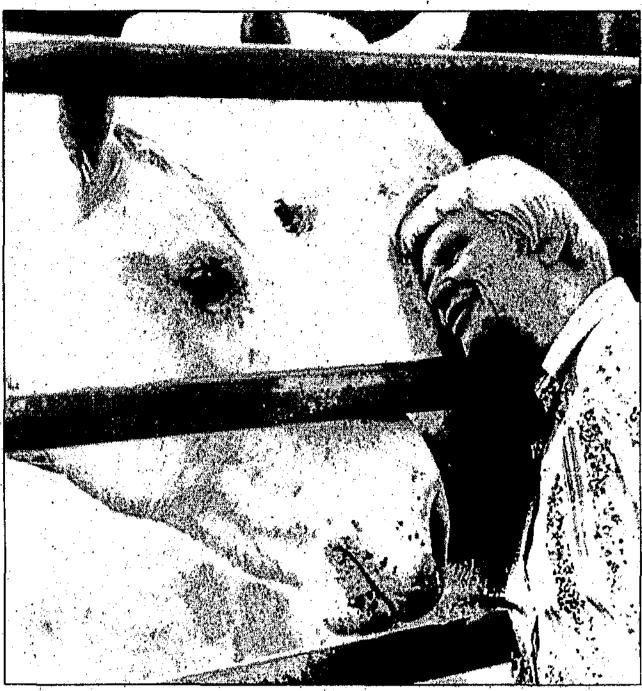

Simulcasting also is shown form nine tracks across the country including Belmont, Lone Star, Sun Ray and Remington Downs.

Lincoln

History comes alive

EY SANDY SUGGITT + RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

Billy the Kld

Driving into Lincoln, 12 miles east of Capitan on U.S.

380 in the Rio Bonito Valley, is much like driving into the past on a day before — or after — the events surrounding the Lincoln County War when bullets whizzed.

Famous as the focus of the five-day Lincoln County War in which Billy the Kid fought on the side of English store-owner John Henry Tunstall against the Murphy-Dolan faction, some of Lincoln's historic buildings are still standing.

Lincoln State Monument Division of Museum of New Mexico and the Hubbard Museum of the American Horse manages these properties.

A tour of historic Lincoln this year goes beyond Billy the Kid lore to include Mescalero Apache history and a history of Bonito Valley, said DeAnn Kessler, monument manager.

Kessler, who has worked for 15 years as a monument ranger in Lincoln, coordinates with three other rangers who each specialize in some aspect of historic life in Lincoln: the Lincoln County War, adobe construction, military living, and the Mescalero Apache Indians, who lived in the area for centuries.

Zone A, or the "downtown area," has 54 people living and working in it, and in the 10-mile long historic district, 150 people make their homes, including some ranching families that have lived in the area since the days of the Lincoln County War.

Lincoln State Monument manages 11 historic properties in old Lincoln, and seven of these are open for visitors during the winter season for a $6 admission fee Monday through Friday (closed Thanksgiving Day, Christmas Day, New Years Day, and Easter). Winter hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Individual site tickets for any of the museums can be purchased for $2.50 at each site.

There is a 50 percent discount on Sundays for New Mexico residents. Wednesday is New Mexico senior residents day when admission for that group is free. For parties with 10 people or more, there is a 20 percent discount, and school groups are always free.

Included in the price of the ticket is the Hubbard Museum of the American West's museum, formerly operated by the Lincoln County Heritage Trust, with memorabilia of the Lincoln County War, Billy the Kid, and other history of the area.

Buildings open to the public

- The Courthouse Museum, in 1874 the Murphy-Dolan store, and the place Billy the Kid was held and from which he made his infamous escape after killing two deputies.
- The Tunstall Store Museum, built in 1877 by John Tunstall and Alexander McSween, who were the founders of the Regulators, the opposing faction to the Murphy-Dolan group. This museum holds original goods stocked by the store. December through February this building will be open only on weekends from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. or by reservation.
- The Dr. Woods house, owned by the Hubbard Museum of the American West, still has - much of the original surgical equipment of the turn-of-thecentury doctor's house and clinic and the living quarters are intact.

- The Torreon, a round building standing out from the rest of the squat adobe buildings, was built by the Spanish in the 1850s as protection against the Mescalero Apaches, Kessler said, but was never used. It is being restored by the rangers and visiting school children.
- The San Juan Church, built in 1887 with local timbers from the Capitan Mountains, is used at 10:30 a.m. Sundays for Episcopalian church services. It is much as it was when used by Lincoln's 19th century inhabitants. A plaque with the names of the builders has been placed inside the church as a memorial to their work.
- The Montaño Store, built in the 1860s, honors the Hispanic heritage of the first settlers of Lincoln, when it was a town of about 400 people. Here also is a brief history of some of the sheriffs and deputies that served after the Lincoln County War.
- The Historical Center, owned by the Hubbard Museum of the American West, has displays on the Lincoln County War, the Buffalo Soldiers, Native Americans and Hispanic heritage education. A walking tour map with descriptions of the buildings is on sale here.

For information, call the Museum of New Mexico Lincoln State Monument office at (505) 653-4372 or the Hubbard Museum of the American West at (800) 263-5929.

For those who wish to partake of the ambience of Lincoln for a night, there are several charming B&Bs in the historic zone. The Wortley Hotel and restaurant, formerly the Lincoln Hotel, is closed during the winter season.

Lodging: Casa de Patron (505) 653-4676, Ellis Store (505) 653-4609, the Bonito Inn Bed and Breakfast (505) 653-4893 or (800) 519-2632.

Capitan Everybody's bear

SANDY SUGGITT * RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

✓apitan, the birthplace of Smokey Bear, is a pleasant village of about 2,000 nestled between the Sacramento and Capitan mountains with much to offer visitors.

Smokey Bear State Park, named after Smokey, who was born in the Capitan Mountains and is buried in the park, has both a local and a state museum that offer displays on forest fires and bears. There are interactive displays and other displays that illustrate the vegetation in different zones in New Mexico. The park is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. except Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Year's Day.

The Smokey Bear Museum, next door to the park, is operated by the village and has Smokey literature and memorabilia. The museum is open from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

About five restaurants provide a variety of food, and the Smokey Bear Motel and the Raymond Gilmer Lodge (a bed and breakfast) provide lodging for visitors. New to Capitan is Rancho Los Burritos - A Mexican Kitchen, and Spanky's offers gourmet pasta, salads and pizza, among other fare.

There are picnic tables on the other side of the old railroad depot in Veteran's Park and in the Smokev Bear State Park for those who wish to eat outside on warmer days.

About a dozen businesses offer everything from antiques to leather work to groceries. Capitan has a branch of the Ruidoso State Bank, two RV parks, and a public library. The Zia Senior Center is active and eight churches serve the community.

Winter events include the Merchant's Open House from 10 a.m.-8 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 9, with door prizes and refreshments, and at 7 p.m. that day, Christmas in the Park in the Smokey Bear Historical Park.

For information on the artists in the area, contact the Capitan Chamber of Commerce at (505) 354-2273.

To check for weather condi-

Mescalero

Past meets present

DIANNE STALLINGS + RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

At the Mescalero Apache Reservation, Native American culture is kept alive.

Vhen paintings of mescal plants and ceremonial symbols start appearing on hillside walls and overpasses, visitors know they've entered Mescalero Apache territory.

The reservation, which abuts Ruidoso and sprawls for 1,278-square miles on either side of U.S. 70, mixes tradition with modern business enterprises.

The biggest source of pride for the Mescalero is their Inn of the Mountain Gods, a luxury resort with golf course, lake and Casino Apache, for those who prefer their entertainment challenging the odds inside.

With the Inn and casino, Ski Apache resort and an assortment of other businesses including a cattle operation and metal fabrication plant, the Mescalero may look as if they've left their heritage far behind.

But in this case, appearances are deceiving.

A resurgence of interest in the preservation of their culture, language and history is evident in a series of initiatives. Some are not so obvious to casual sitors to the 460,000-acre reservation, but others — such as the painting of the mescal plant, the source of the tribe's name - are visible reminders of the tribe's history.

A rare nugget of historical perspective can be found at the Mescalero Cultural Center, across from the tribal store off the highway in the main settlement.

Managed by curator Ellyn Bigrope, the center displays traditional and ceremonial clothing, baskets, plants eaten and used in ceremonies and other artifacts.

Photographs of tribal members from different moments in history line the walls.

Admission is by donation. Hours are from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. Special tours during regular hours or off-hours and weekends may be arranged in advance by calling (505) 671-9254.

Outside the center, a monument by artist Oliver Enjady to the "Red Hats," the Mescalero wild firefighters, depicts a crew climbing and clearing their way up a mountain.

The crumbling adobe walls of Blazer's Mill, where one of the gun battles of the Lincoln County War occurred in the late 1870s, reminds visitors of the mix of cultures in the area more than a century ago.

The massive stones of St. Joseph's Apache Mission, by far the most majestic landmark along the highway, catch the rays of an afternoon sun and stand as monuments to the drive and dedication of Father Albert Braun.

St. Joseph's took 20 years to build after Braun first arrived in 1916 as a young friar. His work was disrupted in 1918 when he served in World War I and returned inspired by the Gothic cathedrals he saw in Europe.

Stone for the mission was quarried four miles west in a canyon near Bent. Lime was burned in pits near the church. Timber for the massive roof and ceiling came from a local sawmill and floor tiles from a pottery plant in La Luz Canyon.

The 131-foot-long, 65-foot-wide church was dedicated in 1939. The four-foot thick stone walls are 50 feet high — 80 feet to the peak of the roof.

Braun, who died at 95, is buried in the sanctuary of the church.

A campaign is underway to repair the walls, carefully replacing the aging lime mortar with a new mixture especially designed for restoration projects.

Apache dedication to their churches doesn't mean they have abandoned beliefs established long before the first encounter with Spanish explorers. The symbol of the mountain gods can be found throughout the community, a reminder of the spirits who drive away sickness and evil.

Visitors may have the good fortune to see one of the Mountain Gods dances if a community or family celebration is scheduled. However, most of the tribal events occur in the spring and fall, including the cherished puberty rite marking the time a young girl becomes a woman.

More than 3,000 tribal members live on the reservation. Founded on May 27, 1873, it encompasses some of the most spectacular real estate in New Mexico, marked by fertile valleys framed by mountains, with a few small waterfalls and running streams.

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service raise thousands of rainbow trout each year at the reservation fish hatchery.

For some authentic Mexican cooking, try The Old Road restaurant. Ask for directions, because there are no signs and it's off the highway down a dusty road.

The tribal store sells groceries, T-shirts and other tourist items, as well as some handmade goods and tasty piñon seeds.

Another good shopping stop is the Kaa Dasita farther east on U.S. 70, which carries the work of many tribal members and craftsmen from other tribes, including cradle boards, jewelry, medicine bags and beaded leather key chains.

For superb dining, a more sophisticated setting and more striking scenery, stop at the Inn's main dining room called Dan Li Ka or the Mescalero Tee at the Inn's golf course. You might even try a round of golf as long as it's not snowing.

"We're usually packed on weekends with golfers," said golf shop employee Don Mendez.

Two parties are planned for New Year's Eve to mark the passage of the millennium. Expect some exotic dishes, good music and a lot of nontraditional fun at either the Mardi Gras 2000 in the Inn of the Mountain Gods or at the Y2K celebration in the nightclub at the nearby Mescalero Inn.

Hondo Valley

Of art and apples

BY SANDY SUGGITT + RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

An the middle of the last century, the Hondo Valley was a farming and ranching community that raised alfalfa, corn and cattle for nearby Fort Stanton, and Lincoln was the center of activity of the area.

Then, when the fort closed in the late 1800s, the valley's inhabitants switched to truck farming, supplying West Texas with cabbage, strawberries, and carrots, and the area became known for its delicious apples.

Monroy Montes, a former county commissioner, has his father's orchard and fruit stand, growing and selling apples, along with only about half a dozen other ranchers who had either the tenacity or enough property to make a living.

"People still remember the Hondo apple as a very good apple," Montes said.

Montes figures about 600 people live in the valley now, which extends from about 20 miles east of Ruidoso on Highway 70, the Biscuit Hill area in Glencoe, to the Silver Dollar restaurant in Tinnie and the Picacho area. Most people nowadays have small tracts and although some may raise a few head of cattle, most have gone into different occupations, Montes said.

Two galleries in San Patricio: off Highway 70 will have holiday receptions: Benson Fine Art (653-4081) and the Hurd-La Rinconada Gallery (653-4331).

Michael Hurd, son of artists Henriette Wyeth and Peter Hurd, designed and built the Hurd-La Rinconada Gallery, where artwork of three generations is exhibited. Visitors can stay at the Hurd Ranch Guest Homes (call 653-4331 or (800) 658-6912 for reservations).

In Glencoe, visitors can see San Isidro Church, named after the patron saint of farmers, but Mass is only performed there once a year, in May. Another once-ayear church is San Patricio Mission that has a Mass on St. Patrick's Day only.

The San Patricio senior center, Lincoln County Zia Center, is next to the San Patricio Post Office and has activities throughout the year and will have a Christmas party Dec. 21, beginning at 10:30 a.m., with lunch at noon and exchanging of gifts at about 1 p.m.

... Regularly scheduled activities include bridge on Thursdays, movies on Wednesdays, crafts on Tuesdays, exercising on Mondays and Thursdays, and pool tournament's the second Friday of every month.
