Punitive water rates approved

Most home users won't be affected

BY JAMES KALVELAGE RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

Higher water rates for Ruidoso residents who use more than 25,000 gallons per month brought a flood of criticism Tuesday night—particularly from one village homeowner.

Displeased that the so-called punitive rates only impacted residential water system users, Myrtle Arrington questioned why commercial users, especially hotels, would not feel the punishing rates.

"I call that discrimination, with a capital D," Arrington said during a public hearing on the rate change. "I don't mind your rate increase if it is for everybody.'

Mayor Robert Donaldson told Arrington that village officials could look at commercial water rates, and perhaps "tweak them." But he also said commercial rates probably would see little in the way of increases because of the beneficial nature of tourism. Donaldson said because of tourism, employees were able to put food on their familys' tables and make bill payments.

We live in a tourism economy. said Councilor Linda Flack. "If we didn't have that, we would not have gross receipts tax (revenues). The tourists help to pay for our infrastructure. You would not be able to afford to live here if not for tourist spending.'

But Arrington, who earlier this year prompted village officials to ease outdoor watering restrictions, said she was not the only resident upset with the village's efforts to limit water

"If I wanted a limited yard with cactus, I would have moved somewhere else," Arrington said. She criticized village officials on the water issue for 45 minutes.

Village calls off emergency purchase

BY JAMES KALVELAGE RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

After initially approving what they deemed an emergency purchase, the Ruidoso Downs Village Council at the close of its Monday meeting rescinded their action.

The about-face occurred after Dan Bryant, the village's legal counsel, said he told trustees an emergency event no longer existed to warrant bypassing the bid process. The Monday council agenda sought approval of two emergency purchases, one of which was sustained. Both sought to supplement village firefighting equipment.

A truck bed, already placed on a village vehicle without a formal bid process, was sanctioned as an emergency procurement. The $4,350 purchase, made May 14, was the first like the slip-in unit and the truck bed emergency procurement approved by the council Monday.

"We're still under emergency conditions," Mayor Bob Miller said last week. Saying the village was unprotected because only a ladder truck remained at the village's fire station at the onset of the Cree Fire, Miller defended the truck bed purchase, made without a bid process or full council approval for nearly a month.

The rescinded emergency procurement, for a $12,605 "slip-in" unit, would provide removable equipment described in a quote as a 300 gallon water tank, pump and hose.

"In my opinion we could not sustain the emergency procurement," Bryant said. "I told the council that I had a misunderstanding. It sounded had all been installed within 72

In fact, the village's former rescue truck did have the bed liner installed within 48 hours of a May 12 decision by the mayor and a trustee to award the job to a Las Cruces firm. But the truck with the new liner has seen no fire activity. The vehicle has sat for several weeks in Artesia, awaiting the purchase of the slip-in unit, the mayor

Massive forest rehabilitation required

BY DIANNE STALLINGS RUIDOSQ NEWS STAFF WRITER

Agencies trying to rehabilitate 6,500 acres burned last month in the Cree Fire around Ruidoso could use some help.

More muscle would be welcomed by the U.S. Forest Service to install about 10,000 wattles-long tube-like rolls of straw that act as horizontal breaks to catch ash and soil and keep them from racing down the bare mountainsides.

"There's quite a lot of work left," said Hollis Fuchs with the Carrizozo office of the Natural Resource Conservation Service. "What's been done so far is like a bandage over a gaping wound.

"We anticipate two to three years of excessive run-off at those canyons. When the fire is out is when the real disaster begins." Recent rains washed ash to the mouths of canyons damaged in the fire. "If we have a big gully-washer, that will bring it out." Fuchs said.

Lincoln County already is declared a disaster area, making it eligible for money from the Emergency Watershed Protection program.

The county commission agreed Friday rehabilitation effort in the form of material, manpower and equipment.

Tuesday, district conservationist Greg Haussler with the NRCS, said while touring the area last week that he saw sprouts emerging from some of the seeds scattered by aircraft over the barren terrain.

But he and County Manager Tom Stewart are worried that heavier seasonal rain will soon begin and without the vegetation to slow run-off, the areas along Gavilan Canyon, Eagle Creek and Johnson Canyon will see more water and possible ash and mud slides.

"The thing that concerns me is that people are not aware of the amount of water that now will be generated in places where there was no water before," Stewart said Tuesday.

Haussler agreed, saying, "The whole character of the watershed has changed. Where there were a lot of trees and ground cover absorbing and stopping the water before, that all has changed now and we may see much more accumulation.

There's nothing to hold back the runoff. They're trying to fell trees and put down to pledge 25 percent of money spent on the wattles as fast as possible to slow run-off as much as we can.'

> Several homes lying at the mouths of drainage areas are threatened and the U.S.

Forest Service staff has installed diversion structures, but their effectiveness depends on the amount of material moving down the canyons, Fuchs said. Six to seven experts from the NRCS are consulting with Forest Service crews installing the wattles to ensure they are put in the most effective places and are installed correctly, Haussler said. Many of the volunteers are from Camp Sierra Blanca, a youth rehabilitation camp near Fort Stanton.

Wattles are expensive and we need to make sure they are used in the right places," he said.

The NRCS, the Forest Service, the county. State Forestry and the villages of Ruidoso and Ruidoso Downs are working together, Haussler said.

The cost of rehabilitation may turn out to be many times greater than estimated," he said. The Forest Service anticipates owner who pays residential rates for five dwellings, said coupled with other pending village service rate hikes, he will have to raise rents.

How can you have affordable housing when rates keep going up?" Smith questioned the council.

Donaldson, who is pushing for affordable housing in the village, told Smith that the village's portion of the property tax was decreasing, and a proposed $1.25 monthly increase in yard waste collection fees would probably be offset by a 55-cent decrease in garbage

When the council unanimously approved the new residential water rate schedule, one audience member applauded.

A May 30 public hearing on the water rates also brought a round of applause as well as opposition testimony from two residents.

"This affects two percent of the public," Donaldson said. "I think it is the council's intention to encourage water conservation. I think most people take the larger view and under-

The mayor said the rate structure would allow a household to use about 150 percent of an average home's water use before higher rates would begin—or about 300 gallons per person per day.

The residential water rates would be unchanged for those using up to 25,000 gallons in a monthly billing cycle. The charge would increase to $4 per 1,000 gallons for that part of usage in excess of 25,000 gallons, and double each time the 35,000, 55,000, 75,000, and 100,000-gallon thresholds were reached. The charge for water in excess of 100,000 gallons a month would be $64 per 1,000 gallons, or 6.4 cents a gallon.

In addition, the cost of sewer service could go up annually. While water rates are already adjusted each year, to one-half of the change in the consumer price index (CPI), sewer charges would be tied to the full CPI. Currently sewer charges are unadjusted for ous need for services." Dillard said Jim Bassett, a village received trustee, three quotes before the decision was made on May 12 to have B Fabricating, Inc., of Las Cruces, install the truck bed.

But on Monday, during a break in the meeting, council Bassett said he had called two truck utility companies

Albuquerque, telling them the village needed a truck bed installed as soon as possible. He said the two firms responded that they could not meet the time frame and the decision was made to have B & D Fabricating do the job because of a two-day installation promise.

"But we're still in an emergency situation," Miller said in defense of the emergency procurements. Bassett, at one point, was less convinced, saying he was unsure if emergency conditions still existed. He did say the extra firefighting vehi-

Smith, who had the department's battalion chief until May 17, said there was no emergency even last month when the truck bed was bought. He claimed there were two other fire trucks in the department's station.

The mayor disputed Smith, saying that all trucks with water pumping capabilities were on the Cree Fire, and he wanted a truck and some firefighters in the village.

"I call that an emergency," Miller said.

With the overturned purchase approval of the slip-in unit, the purchase will now go out for competitive bids, Bryant said.

During the commission meeting Friday, Commissioner L. Ray Nunley said he met with U.S. Sen. Jeff Bingaman, D-NM, Forest Service, and FEMA officials the previous week and heard that $60 million was allocated for firefighting.

Third fireman suspended

BY JAMES KALVELAGE RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

A third Ruidoso Downs firefighter has been suspended by the village's administrator. Jimmy Smith, a paid member of the department, received a June 9 letter stating he was immediately relieved from duty with pay. Smith is the son of Don Smith, a volunteer on the fire department who was placed on suspension May 17. Earlier last month, Nick Herrera, who had been the village's fire chief for nearly eight years, was also relieved from duty with pay.

The suspensions came as the district attorney's office is investigating the Ruidoso Downs Fire Department. As a part of the probe, a subpoena, documents of a bank

The Lincoln National Forest reopened to the public Tuesday, but not without a number of fire restrictions.

Because of ongoing fire concerns, open flame of any kind, including campfires, charcoal grills and citronella candles are prohibited anywhere in the Lincoln National Forest, said Brian Power, a account connected to the department, was approved by a judge last month. The bank subpoena sought copies of all checks written on the account, copies of deposit slips, and copies of signature cards. The court order stated the information was needed for a felony criminal investigation. Village officials have been mum on the investigation.

In Jimmy Smith's letter of suspension, Bob Durrett, the village's administrator, directs Smith to remain off village property and equipment. The correspondence also com-mands Smith to turn in any village equipment in his possession.

As with the two previous relief notices, the letter to Smith refers any question to the village's attorney.

Another tower, another NIMBY battle

If there is anything resembling human evolutionary change in these early months of the new millennium, it has to be the instrument that appears to be permanently attached to some people's ears.

Science fiction fans might conclude that it is some unholy marriage of biology and technology, like the "cyborg." The rest of us know it as a "cell phone," an undeniably convenient way to stay in touch with co-workers, children or siblings. Those unblessed by owning one restaurant, conclude it's the modern way some rude types use to show off.

But, regardless of the sociological speculation, it appears that the cell phone is here to stay; and, with it, the extra low-tech paraphernalia that apparently is required to support it.

Like telecommunication towers.

Ruidoso, it appears, already has three of them—at Camelot, on Buck Peak, and in Alto. And now the telecommunications company GTE Cellular wants another one, on a ridge not far off the midtown strip.

The site is close to midtown, but not within the village limits, hence the involvement by the Extraterritorial Zoning Commission. Complicating the issue: Ruidoso's zoning. rules allow cellular towers on residential property. Outside the village, the only permitted sites are those desig-¬ nated for industrial use. But in canyon-cut Ruidoso, most industrial sites are in relatively flat canyon bottoms not the ideal location for a communications antenna.

So we have, as the ETZ commission chairman remarked last week as the issue was argued, a classic case of "not in my back yard" (NIMEY for short)

It is an issue, of course, that can be resolved only by some sort of compromise. Chay Rennick, the ETZ board's attorney, has some changes in mind to resolve the matter.

Whether that goes down or not will depend on the willingness of the affected residents and property owners to negotiate.

Right now, that appears unlikely.

Conflict of interest by -LCMC doctors?

To the editor:

I think there is a public financial danger towards awarding the Lincoln County Medical Center (LCMC) operating contract to the same entity (HMO) that employs entity (HMO) that employs many doctors in Ruidoso.

Part of this danger begins when these same doctors do not inform their unsuspecting, non-HMO patients, that they are employed by the LCMC operator. One naturally assumes that a doctor is a private practitioner not beholden to any other outside organization or interest—unless specifically informed.

In exchange for their more secure employment, these doc-

pressure on these doctors to maximize their office revenue. Under threat of contract termination, a doctor's patient records are even audited by the HMO to ensure that they are charging the maximum all the times.

It has been my experience that these same HMO/LCMC operator-employed doctors may also be pressured to maximize LCMC revenues via possible over-zealous testing, lab work, x-rays, etc. It's the old adage no one can serve two masters at one time; i. e., either the patient or their HMO employer. This represents a running conflict-of-interest for the doctors. In this way some Ruidoso patients will experience greater charges than if these doctors were not employed by the HMC/LOMC Operator.

For the above reason of divided loyalty, I propose that the Lincoln County Commissioners could best serve their citizens if the LCMC operator were not the same employer of many doctors in town.

Quality of life impact

To the editor: In December 1999, the public was given a brief opportunity to comment on the Bureau Of Reclamation (BOR) Draft Environmental Impact Statement (DEIS). This DEIS concerns Elephant Butte and Caballo Reservoirs.

Let us not forget the final EIS will impact your quality of life; possibly forever! If the BOR makes a mess of the process — your future recreational activities will be impacted, and the good people of New Mexico will suffer.

Josie Powell is a selfdescribed "military brat," meaning that she grew up all over the world, sometimes in mundane, sometimes exotic places, such as Japan. Her father retired an Abilene, Texas and that is where she feels she is "from." She is a single mom, with a 13-year-old daughter named Charlotte and moved to Ruidoso eight years ago from Fort Worth, Texas with the idea of getting Charlotte out of the cark.

In September of 1999,

Josie purchased Olook Creations, expanded it to include furniture and in February opened Josie's Frame Shop in another part of the same building. At this point in time. Ms. Powell's business takes up nearly a full block at 2809 Sudderth Drive. The former owner of High Country Outlet, she is no stranger to furniture with a staff of two employees, Rosie Leftwich and Donna Simmons, with whom she could not do without and who she calls her "two right-hand ladies,".

Josie Powell is a custom-picture framer by trade, having been in the business some 19 years. Her interest in framing has led her down various paths over the years... although the herself can-not paint, her love of framing has increased her appreciation of arr over the years and she feels that she can improve the look of almost any piece of art with good Josle Powell stands in the main shopping area within her store. She bought the business in September of 1999 and expanded in February of this year. 'As you can see, there are plenty of decorative items to choose from for any taste.

In addition, Josie likes to sell furniture and, in fact, has a love of furniture in general She has a passion for Mexican forniture and feels that the craftsmen south of the Rio Grande are very creative and that it is fun to "see what they come up with when they are designing functional furniture."

Personable, pretty and outgoing, Josie enjoys meeting people and maintaining friendships with customers, many of whom she counts among her friends. And it is fun to browse at Josie's! She sells specialty food items that include salsa, salsa mixes, soups, killer bee honey mustard and honey butter (the man who makes this stuff actually. works with real killer beer!). Also, she stocks things like bread and butter jalapenos, which are very popular and she "sells the heck out of," barbecue sauces and a special sauce called Tequi-lime, which acqually has requila in it! In addition to the various jellies, pastas and herbal teas that are also available at this cozy and pleasant shop many of these items can be sampled by customers every weekend.

"At Josie's it is Christmas year round. A section of the store designated the "Christmas Room" features items for that holiday season all year long. When going through Josie's you can't miss it it is the room with the life-size Santa Claus in it.

Josie, in her unceasing efforts to stock the unique, also handles all sorts of candles and home accessories such as lamps, pillows, rugs, artwork, ceramic dishes, terra cotta kitchenware and all manner of other items for the home and office. Josie's goal is to "upgrade and give a better quality selection of crafts and other items." Even if the shopper isn't increased in buying just then and is more inclined to spend some time browsing, Josie's is an ideal-place to do such a thing, with Josie and her two good "right hands," it is nearly impossible to not enjoy the experience of entering Josie's and seeing just how enjoyable shopping can be.

County planner urges new subdivision rules

BY DIANNE STALLINGS RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

Planner Patsy Sanchez wants to see some changes in Lincoln County's subdivision regulations, the only rules pro-tecting the public in unincorporated portions of the county.

Working alone and without zoning rules, Sanchez for more than a decade has tried to clean up confused situations with older or never-developed subdivisions and to act as county watchdog over new subdivisions.

Care of roads and a rush to subdivide previously divided lots and tracts could translate to big problems down the line,

During a county commission meeting Friday, she pointed to subdivisions such as Ranches of Sonterra, saying almost immediately after the raw land was subdivided to create that community, portions were divided once or twice

Noting that commissioners are worried about the proliferation of domestic wells and future water shortages, she said tighter lot-split restrictions would be one way to better control domestic wells.

"We approved subdivision with X number of parcels." She wrote in a industribution to the board. "And in the same breath, board. "And in the same breath, we say your can further subdivide these according to regs. This language gives no avenue to deny further subdivision.

"It has been my recommendation for many years, and I have expressed it many times, that, a subdivision should not be allowed to further subdivide."

The county's role should not be to protect one person's rights, but to protect the rights of the public, she wrote.

Water plans submitted for subdivisions such as Sonterra, Los Chozas and Vista Rio Bonito were based on an original number of lots, "not for theoretically four times that many, which is what they soon

"If we do approve the further subdivisions, we should require proof of water for the maximum number of lots that can be divided. I believe this is wrong. And I urge you, once again, to please put a stop to this," Sanchez wrote.

Although Commissioner William Schwettmann proposed a moratorium on other lot splits until the issue is handled, the board took no action.

Commissioner L. Ray Nunley, said no proposed subdivisions or splits have come before the county in six months, but Schwettmann warned "they all will come when they read this."

County Attorney Alan Morel said a moratorium could be declared, but must be tied to a special finding, which he could present at a commission meeting later this month or the regular meeting next month.

Sanchez said she'd also like to clear up what it means when roads are dedicated to the county and take another look at when community water systems should be required.

"I'm also concerned about county roads," Commissioner Leo Martinez said. "Are we mandated to take over roads in subdivisions we approve? Where will this stop? Are we going to raises taxes to do it?"

He suggested either a selfimposed tax on subdivisions or requirements for private roads to entice more developers to go that route.

More restrictions on lot divisions, requirements for water systems and for developers to maintain model. ers to maintain roads could create a dampening effect on development, he said.

But Reginald Richey, an architect and planner for a major development company, told commissioners that developers expect to pay the burden for development. One approach is to make each new subdivision an improvement district that could be taxed.

"Don't sell yourselves short," he said. "Development will come to you. It's a beautiful county," Richey said.

Lincoln resident James Sanchez said many people warned commissioners about potential water problems when Sonterra was being developed on Airport Road.

"Lot owners there say now that they should have listened," he said. Instead of 500 domestic wells, some of which only pump two gallons a minute, a community water system or fewer lots would have been a better approach, Sanchez said.

"We can't stop growth, but we can control it with planned development," said Sanchez, who served on the county planning commission.

"We substantially rewrote the regulations after Sonterra,* Chairman Rex Wilson said.

Martinez urged members of the planning commission to become more active in searching for solutions. The time may be right to look at some form of zoning, he said.

This is a place that people want to come and they're starting to come and we need to give direction to the planning commission to have regulations in place.*

Morel said as regulations are written, the commission can't require community water systems and the county has no impact fées.

"We can change that," Wil-

Ruidoso woman sues LCMC Padilla to celebrate coming of age

BY DIANNE STALLINGS RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

The mother of a woman injured in a May 1998 traffic accident is suing the Lincoln County Medical Center, an emergency room physician, and his physi-cian's assistant for medical mal-practice and intentional infliction of emotional distress.

Holly Volquardsen filed the laysuit May 5, on behalf of her daughter, Aubri Volquardsen. She claims that Dr. Stephen Frey and physician's assistant Vince DiMarco were negligent in their treatment of the injured woman and that the hospital is liable for the actions of its employees.

The acts of defendants Frey, DiMarco and LCMC were reckless, wanton and with utter disregard and indifference for the rights of others like Aubri Volquardsen and the plaintiff," the suit states.

The women are asking for punitive and exemplary damages to deter "this kind of conduct in the future."

Carol Gunn, media specialist with Presbyterian Healthcare Services, which manages the hospital in Ruidoso for the county, said Tresday, "Our practice is not to respond to specific allegations or provide comment on pending lawsuits in a public forum.

"Ms. Volquardsen has chosen to file a lawsuit. We respect and understand that decision and we will respond through the judicial (avenue), which in this situation is a more appropriate forum."

In the lawsuit, the Volquardsens contend that Frey and DiMarco failed to properly assess, diagnose, monitor and treat the injured woman, that they failed to provide adequate and appropriate emergency care and treatment, that they failed to obtain and order proper tests to assess her condition, that they failed to consult with specialists in trau-ma life support or emergency medicine regarding her condition, and that they failed to transfer her in a timely fashion to a facility of higher care.

Frey and the medical center also are accused of failing to train, hire or supervise personnel qualified to provide quality medical

DiMarco is accused of "careless, wanton, reckless, intentional and utter disregard of the health and safety of Aubri Volquardsen."

The suit claims that as a direct result of those failures, Volquardsen suffered serious and permanent injuries.

The Volquardsens are represented by attorneys Karen J. Meyers in Albuquerque and Ray Sharbutt in Ruidoso.

Warriors see pre-season football action

BY KAREN BOEHLER RUIDOSO NEWS SPORTS EDITOR

LAS CRUCES — The Year 2000 Ruidoso Warrior football squad got its first chance to see game action Saturday, competing in the Aggie Passing League 7-on-7 tournament Saturday and Sunday at New Mexico State University.

Although the Warriors didn't get past the consolation quarterfinal round
Sunday, coach Rodney Webb was pleased with the effort.

We knew we were up against a lot of things," he said. "We have a lot of kids who are playing new positions this year and we have a lot of young kids who are being thrown into the fire for the first time. So going into it, we knew it was going to be a learning experience. We really didn't know how the wins and losses were going to fall. Considering those factors, and then the fact we played primarily AAAAA and top notch AAAA schools, we feel like we're looking good going into next year."

The Warriors were in the tougher of two brackets - 31 teams competed, from AAAAA to AA — defeating AAAAA Manzano, Los Lunas and Rio Grande in Saturday's games, and falling to AAAAA Mayfield and Roswell, AAAA Oñate and AAA West Las Vegas.

The losses to Mayfield and Oñate were by one and three points. The big disappointment was the eight point loss to West Las Vegas, against whom the Warriors open the season.

"I was very disappointed when that happened," Webb said. "Because that's a AAA school and we play them next season. That's a team we've got to handle. We've got to beat West Las Vegas worse than anybody. And to not do that was disappointing. But that was at the point of the day when our kids started getting tired and feeling sorry for themselves. But I think we rebounded nicely. After that game we played Roswell close and we came back (Sunday) and we really played well."

In the day's final matchup, the Warriors played eventual champion Roswell, which Webb called, "the class of the tournament," falling by only one point.

Sunday, the Warriors again fell to Mayfield, but only by one point. In two games against the AAAAA team, Ruidoso lost by a total of only three points.

The Warriors then pounded Oñate, getting revenge for Saturday's loss, bringing them up against Las Cruces

ALAMOGORDO - For high school athletes, summer is the time to hone the skills they'll need for the coming year's contests. Last week, the Warrior basketball team got a chance to work on those skills at the annual Alamogordo Kiwanis Summèr League basketball tournament.

The varsity, junior varsity and freshmen teams each got seven matches at the hoops camp, facing 26 AAAAA to AAA teams from New Mexico and Texas.

The Warrior varsity had solid wins Thursday and Friday with a full squad.

Ruidoso led the Roswell Coyotes for almost the full game Friday, taking a 56-43 final win. Then, against district for Santa Teresa, the Warriors had a slow start, but eventually pulled away for a 55-36 victory.

Saturday, Ruidoso was missing most of its starting squad because of a football tournament. The Warriors lost to Alamogordo and Onate, finishing the tournament with a 4-3 record. But coach Billy Page was pleased with what

The JV squad went 2-6 for the tournament, playing "real shorthanded" with only eight or nine players.

"They did a good job," Page said. "At least three will be key players in the uncoming season. That'll really help and I'm glad they were there. We just reed to get the rest out here."

The freshmen matched the varsity with wins, going 4-d even though they too were missing some key players.

Some of the bad stuff I saw, and I think this is everybody, not just us, I talked to some of the coaches from the other schools, is we all have trouble getting kids in the gym. There's so many things for them to do. There's too many distractions in the summertime. I guess they figure this is their time, and you can't make them. If I had one thing to change, I'd have more kids in the gym more often."

Fightin Jane, a horse be July 22. whose owners tried to sell her twice, battled seven horses to win the $399,945 Ruidoso Quarter Horse Futurity at Ruidoso Down Race Track and Casino Sunday.

Fightin Jane is the home raised and bred Texas filly of Frannie Stewart. Fightin Jane is trained by Russell M. Harris and ridden by Sam Thompson.

Fightin Jane was put through the Texas quarter horse sale in Houston, where her owners tried to sell her twice before giving her to Har-ris to train. Harris has been training Fightin Jane since the spring of 2000. Harris also placed second and fourth in the Futurity.

vaiors Goig, ridden by Larry Payne, owned by Gene Voss and trained by Harris, lost by a head to Fightin Jane. Harris also trained Mr Varsity, who came in fourth in the race by a neck.

"I owe it all to my barn crew," Harris said. "I have the best crew in the country, from the ones who gallop to the grooms. This is when you start separating and the cream starts coming up to the top. The ones that were in the top part of this thing are the ones you will hear for the rest of the year."

All three horses are being pointed to the Rainbow Futurity. The Rainbow Futurity Trials will be held July 6 and the Rainbow Futurity Final will be July 23.

In action Saturday, Southern Cash Man dueled four horses to the wire to come out victorious in the $81,981 Ruidoso Quarter Horse Derby. Southern Cash Man, ridden by Larry Payne, owned by Karma Inv Inc. and WGC Inv Inc. and trained by Russell Harris, won by a head over Big On Charm.

Southern Cash Man, a Texas home-bred colt, is the first stakes winner for Karen and Gerald Cummings.

I got the mother from the Heritage Place from Joe Kirk Fulton, and bred her to Heza Fast Man," Gerald Cummings said. "He is my first homebred coit so i am reai proud," Cummings summed up the race by saying, "This is too good to be true, this just doesn't happen." According to Harris, Southern Cash Man ran the race in a nonchalant way. "He got away good and clean but he never really kicked in until the last 25

"It was a close game," Webb said. "It was a game we actually had an opportunity to win toward the end."

The Warriors were down by 12 near the end and scored to make it a four point game. To tie, Ruidoso needed an interception (in 7-on-7 football, an interception garners four points) but the Bulldog quarterback threw the ball into the ground to retain the win.

"We actually had an opportunity to tle it there at the end and we just couldn't do it," Webb said.

The Ruidoso junior varsity also competed in the tournament, winning two and losing six against some tough, big-school opponents. Webb was pleased with the JV effort, saying, "They played

Ruidoso Downs fire ordinance changes get council review

BY JAMES KALVELAGE RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

A revised Ruidoso Downs fire department ordinance, to "realize the real world" said Dan Bryant, the village's attorney, was presented to village trustees Monday.

The proposed rewrite fol-lowed a vow last month by Bob Durrett, the village's administrator, to revamp the decades-old regulations. The current village article dealing with the fire department was, in part, the cause of friction between the administration and former volunteer department members. Volunteer firefighters quit "the department last month, after fire chief Nick Herrera and battalion chief Don Smith were placed on leave.

"This (rewrite) is a collaborative effort between Mr. Durrett and myself," Bryant told the village's mayor and trustees. "It says fire person-nel are actually approved by the village council. The ordinance on the books doesn't recognize we have a paid fire chief and one paid firefighter."

According to the draft, the Ruidoso Downs fire department would be a combination of paid personnel and volun-

COMMISSION BRIEFS

Road coordination needed, Martinez says

Better coordination is needed when major road projects are anticipated, Lincoln County Commissioner Leo Martinez said Friday.

He was commenting during a commission meeting on the closure of a section of Gavilan Canyon Road for resurfacing when the road is being used as a detour for drivers trying to avoid construction on State Road 48, also called Mechem

"Ruidoso is being slammed enough with road construction," he told County Manager Tom Stewart. "Gavilan was backed up for about a week before the election. It was tough getting around. Let's get Mechem done first.'

Commissioner Rick Simpson reminded Martinez that the Mechem project was supposed to be finished by now, but the new deadline is July 4.

Commissioner William Schwettmann pointed out that the money for the cooperative project with the state trans-

Indigent care forms to get public airing

After a review of a proposed application form and other forms for Lincoln County's new indigent health care program, county commissioners agreed to schedule a hearing on the documents recommended by program director Teresa Montoya.

Actions she recommended included:

• Setting a limit for assets that an applicant can own to establish a basis for denying an application.

• Add 30 days to the time limit for submitting claim documentation, which also would establish a basis for denial.

 Establish that applications are good until the end of the fiscal year in which it is filed. Montoya noted it's too difficult to track from year to year.

• Moving ahead with notices that the county is looking for

Although the county hospital, the Lincoln County Medical Center, is eligible to receive money out of the gross receipts tax set aside for the indigent program, officials have said they will not ask for any of that money if a special property tax mill levy remains in place.

Commission Chairman Rex Wilson said if the hospital dipped into the grass receipts money, nothing would be left for other health care providers.

Fireworks display set

In a 4-1 vote Friday Lincoln County Commissioners approved a fire works permit for the Carrizozo Fire Department to stage its annual July 4th display.

Although the golf course where the display is staged is owned by the town, it falls within the county and a permit is needed. Commissioner Schwettmann voted against the motion and also objected to issuing a permit to the Spencer The-

PUBLIC MEETING ANNOUNCE US 70 Improvements Project Autiles & Bevins to

The New Mexico State Highway and Transportation Department (NMSHTD) has recently completed the second phase of an alignment study for US 70 between Ruidoso Downs and Riverside. The findings and recommendations of the alignment study will be presented at public meetings scheduled for late June of this year. Public comments on the findings and recommendations of the alignment study are desired and will be used by the NMSHTD in the preparation of an environmental impact statement to be conducted as the next phase of this study.

The alignment study evaluated the project purpose and 2 need, existing conditions, alternatives considered, and the likely effects that proposed improvements would have on the social, cultural and natural environment. A recommendation was made based on an evaluation of alternatives in meeting design criteria, and correcting identified problems with the existing roadway.

Two public information meetings are scheduled for the week of June 21, 2000. The information presented at each meeting will be the same, but the meetings will be held at different locations to increase public access. The dates, times and locations of the meetings are as follows:

BY DIANNE STALLINGS RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

National Dog Bite Prevention Week was celebrated last month by the Humane Society of the United States.

Officials with that organiza-tion urged the more than 39 million families with one or more dogs to take precautions to ensure their canine companions don't become part of the 4.7 million dog bites that occur each year.

"Dog bites can cause serious injury or disfigurement for human victims, who often are children or elderly people," said Martha Armstrong, vice president for companion animals and equine protection for HSUS. "Dogs who bite often lose their homes and sometimes their lives. Every family who accepts the commitment that comes along with bringing a dog into their home has a responsibility to their neighbors, their friends and their children to prevent dog bites." injury or disfigurement for dog bites."

Of the 109 fatal dog bites recorded in the United States by the HSUS between 1989-1994, 18 percent were caused by dogs kept restrained on the owner's property. Chaining or tethering property. Chaining or tethering refers to the practice of fastening a dog to a stationary object. Animal behaviorists agree that constant chaining makes dogs aggressive and therefore, more likely to bite, she said.

"Many people who keep their dogs outside mistakenly believe their dogs enjoy the fresh air and the neighborhood sights, sounds and smells," Armstrong said, "The truth is, strictly outdoor dogs live a lonely existence. Dogs have been bred for thousands of years to be companions to people and every dog deserves the chance to be a full part of a loving family."

Many who keep dogs outside do it because of an unresolved behavior issue such as chewing or house soiling, Armstrong said.

She urged owners to work with their veterinarian, dog trainer or animal behavior specialist to modify problems that prevent does from living indoors. The HSUS offers tips for that transition:

• Visit a veterinarian to treatment of fleas, ticks and have picked up outside.

Spay or neutered the dog, an action that often reduces aggressive and territorial or dominant behavior and helps reduce pet over population.

The Humane Society of Lincoln County has a spay and neuter program at reduced prices for dogs and cats, even if they are not adopted from the shelter on Gavilan Canyon Road.

information.

• Enroll the dog in training classes to humanely teach him appropriate behaviors. Shelter staff or your veterinarian should know about local classes.

• Limit your dogs access within the house for a week while gradually increasing the space available to the dog. Remove dangerous items and make valuable items inaccessible.
