Cree Fire suspect fearful of 'frame'

Mother of Joseph Martin wonders where were the parents

BY JAMES KALVELAGE
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

A 21-year-old Ruidoso man, charged with contributing to the delinquency of minors at the location of the origin of the Cree Fire, said he does not want to be "framed" for starting the fire that burned 6,500 acres.

From the Lincoln County Detention Center, Joseph Martin said Tuesday that he would just like to be home with his family.

"I don't have much," Martin said. "I just want to be with my family. I keep praying to God."

Martin was arraigned Friday on two felony counts of contributing to the delinquency of a minor. Ruidoso police arrested Martin at his place of work Thursday night after the 12th Judicial District Attorney's office filed a criminal complaint.

"I feel real bad," Martin said of the fire that swept through largely national forest lands in May. Two structures and a home under construction were destroyed May 7 during the first hours of the blaze. More than 1,000 fire fighting personnel from across the western U.S. were involved in the Cree Fire battle that lasted several weeks. Suppression and rehabilitation costs have climbed into the millions of dollars.

"I don't think these people deserved to lose their home," Martin said. "The firefighters, they put their lives on the line. People could have lost their lives because of our stupidity. I just want to say I am really sorry about what happened."

A group of four young people became suspects in the start of the Cree Fire after a Crimestoppers tip was received by Ruidoso police.

"That was the first time I was ever there," Martin said of a cave near the fire's origin, adjacent to the Pines of Gavilan Subdivision. "They said 'Let's go to the mine,'" Martin said. "Everyone agreed on it. I said 'Cool!'"

The group included three teenagers, who last week were referred to the Juvenile Probation and Parole office in Ruidoso.

Martin's account of the activities at the mine concurred with what police in May and early June said were confessions by the four suspects. An effort to illuminate the cavern with a burning stick was unsuccessful and the branch was discarded near the entrance to the shaft.

"We couldn't see what he was doing," Martin said, referring to a 17-year-old male in the group. "He said he was going to light a torch. I didn't see what was happening. I was in the cave."

One of the contributing to the delinquency of a minor counts lodged against Martin stems from Martin's alleged observation of the 17-year-old throwing the burning branch on the ground and not stopping the juvenile, according to a probable-cause statement. It also argues that no attempt was made to put out the fire and no effort was made to contact police until the four were at Ruidoso Bowling Center on Mechem Drive.

Harry Doyle Monk Jr., left, convicted Friday in Lincoln County of first degree murder, confers with defense attorney Henry Sand in the 12th Judicial District courtroom in Carrizozo.

Monk guilty of first-degree murder

BY DIANNE STALLINGS
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

After listening to testimony for four days, a Lincoln County jury took 90 minutes Friday to decide that Harry Doyle Monk Jr. was guilty of first-degree murder.

District Attorney Scot Key said Monday the Meridian, Miss., man faces a potential life sentence on that conviction, plus three years for each of three counts of threatening a witness and 18 months for tampering with evidence.

The state also will ask 12th Judicial District Judge James Counts for an additional year on each charge against Monk as a habitual offender and will argue for aggravating circumstances, which could tack on one-third more time for each conviction, Key said.

This is the first time in at least 15 years a defendant in Lincoln County was convicted of first-degree murder, Key said.

A ten-woman, two-man jury found Monk guilty of shooting his hunting buddy, Dan Van Bemen, on a November 1996 trip to the Capitan Mountains.

"I'm very pleased with how the jury deliberated and thought the story of Shannon (Monk's daughter) and Doyle (Monk's son) were so compelling," Key said. "As I said in my closing argument, their lives began the day they testified."

Key and Assistant District Attorney Canon Stevens contended Monk wanted to blame the pregnancy of his daughter, with whom he had an incestuous relationship, on Van Bemen. Monk, 51, filed a complaint against the absent Van Bemen for rape after he returned to Mississippi from the hunting trip.

But DNA evidence and testimony from the daughter at the trial pointed to Monk as the father of the fetus that was aborted later.

Hospital management issue heats up

BY DIANNE STALLINGS
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

The Attorney General's staff is standing by its previous opinion that the Lincoln County Commission erred by not receiving state approval of its lease for the county hospital in Ruidoso and for failing to seek competitive management offers.

In a letter to County Attorney Alan Morel dated July 17, Assistant Attorney General Zachary Shandler reviewed the basis for that decision and told Morel, "Please advise us of your client's plan to come into compliance with New Mexico law.

"We will continue to monitor this situation and, of course, reserve the right to take actions to ensure compliance with the law."

County Manager Tom Stewart said the county doesn't have the financial resources to sue the state over the issue.

"We'll let others do that for us," he said. "Our challenge is to satisfy the attorney general while pursuing appropriate legislative action to clarify the situation."

"When we were up there talking to the AG, I asked them to tell us if we did something wrong and we then could take steps to correct it. They said that now. We disagree, but will come up with a plan to stave off the AG while we get clarification from the Legislature."

Commission Chairman Rex Wilson said his board "will proceed with caution."

"There are two statutes that conflict with each other," he said. "We are

Commission to discuss hospital tax

BY DIANNE STALLINGS
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

The Lincoln County Commission will review some 39 action or informational items on its agenda at 9 a.m. Thursday.

One of the issues scheduled is a hearing at 10 a.m. to adopt the final version of the county's $14.3 million budget for 2000-2001 as revised by the state Department of Finance and Administration.

County Manager Tom Stewart is recommending that commissioners enact one mill of the potential 1.25 mill discretionary property tax available. That recommendation is contingent on commissioners proposing that a mill levy to fund the county hospital and three rural health clinics be reduced from 4.25 to 3 mills. Voters would have to approve such a request in November.

One mill equals $1 for each $1,000 of taxable property value. New Mexico taxes on one-third of assessed value.

Because end of year cash balances look better than initial projections and because the value of one mill is higher than initially estimated, Stewart said commissioners may want to reconsider some of the harsh cuts they made during budget sessions this spring.

If commissioners choose to impose the full 1.25 discretionary mills, that would generate $572,353 to help fix any budget shortfalls. Combine that with the more than $300,000 above required reserves in the general fund and almost $166,000 in the road fund and commissioners could consider reinstating up to $1,070,519 of capital outlay recommendations listed by Stewart at the beginning of budget reviews last April, the county manager wrote.

The recommendations include three additional deputies, a part-time or full-time detention officer, a three-percent pay raise and $100 per month clothing allowance for deputies (a $40 per month increase), a Zia Senior Center driver in Ruidoso Downs, asserted hanging our hat on one and they on the other. It's best to clear this up so they don't pull. I honestly don't know what direction we'll go. I have to see what Alan sees as our options."

HOSPITAL: Lincoln County will seek clarification through the state Legislature

De Walter, Sr. said he was with the Attorney General's office about the situation since that two years ago, could be reached for comment Tuesday. But when the first issue from the Attorney General was mailed April 27, he said he was vindicated for his contention that the process should be more open to competition.

Speaking for the hospital board, Chairman Gary Mitchell said when the Attorney General says to go out for bids every four years that may sound good, but would be disastrous for Lincoln and seven other counties affected by the plan.

"They realize you can't do that from an economic and stability point of view," he said. "If you change hospital management firms every four years — most of these hospitals employ between 100 to 200 people. Their salaries and everything are tied to particular firms."

You literally destroy their lives and end up moving others in which creates chaos. It means they don't purchase houses they just rent — these kinds of things."

Bottom line, Attorney General Patricia Madrid is a politician, Mitchell said.

"There are no differences between any other lawyers, except they are made with that political desire to look good to voters," Mitchell said.

"It always looks good to say we want everybody bidding on something, until you realize that the price the taxpayers pay for their political wishes is paid in hard dollars and in the health and lives of the citizens."

He accused the counties and other involved entities to either go to court over the bid or appeal to the Legislature to pass clarifying legislation, Mitchell said.

He stressed that the issue is not just that it is not connected to next November's vote on special property tax millage to support continued advancement of the hospital and three rural health clinics.

In his July letter, Shandler wrote that after reviewing letters from Morel and Presbyterian Healthcare Services, "we continue to believe... that New Mexico law requires Board of Finance approval of certain lease arrangements and that counties must comply with the Procurement Code when purchasing professional services to run a county hospital."

Presbyterian Healthcare Services has managed the county hospital for more than 20 years.

The staff contends the Legislature created the statute requiring approval of extended leases to provide "greater public scrutiny and sunshine to these leases."

"We acknowledge the argument that counties that have traditionally sidestepped the Procurement Code could try to rely on a broad reading of (a section) of the Hospital Fund Act," he wrote.

But the staff disagrees that a section stating a county "may lease a hospital to any person, corporation or association for the operation and maintenance of the hospital upon terms and conditions as the county commissioners may determine" is an exemption from other requirements.

The state interprets that section as referring to operational items, such as if the health care provider must provide an emergency room, and not that counties may ignore altogether and be exempted from all the provisions of the Procurement Code in their entirety.

"Perhaps most importantly, the Legislature could have, but has not, expressly exempted county hospital leases from the Procurement Code," while it has exempted jails.

Mitchell sees it differently. He said he thinks the Legislature recognized the problem and wanted to exempt county-owned hospitals.

"I think we've been right on the law, I think Alan Morel has been right on the law and the majority of the commissioners have been right on the law," Mitchell said. "We've been willing to work with the Attorney General to do something in the best interests of the people, but we haven't been able to convince them to do that yet. We can't afford to have anymore economic disasters in these counties."

Long-term contracts for hospital management provide not only medical stability, but also community stability, Mitchell said.

his son, Doyle Monk III, and other members of his family if they talked about the crime, the boy, who was 15 when he witnessed the shooting, drew a map for law enforcement officials that led them to the body.

Other family members to whom Monk confessed the crime, testified that Monk was abusive and they feared crossing him.

Although defense attorneys Shawn Boyne and Henry Sand elicited some descriptions Thursday about explosive behavior that could result from interaction of medications and alcohol, two psychologists called by the defense ruled out several hypotheses of what may have happened the night of the killing.

Alamogordo psychologist Marc Caplan, Ph.D., interviewed and tested Monk, and reviewed files from other experts and physicians who came in contact with the accused.

"It remains my opinion that he knew right from wrong at that time and was able to control himself," Caplan said.

He pointed to testimony by Monk's third ex-wife, Lucy Monk, and his daughter, Shannon, that when Monk made them go back with him to New Mexico to search Van Bemen's body for money and drugs, Monk was able to drive right to the grave.

"That goes against his claims of amnesia about the burial site and (shooting) events," the psychologist said.

Caplan pointed to different stories Monk told interviewers ranging from Van Bemen left the hunting campsite with a woman, to he shot himself accidentally, to amnesia.

He noted that a psychiatrist who treated Monk for more than a year in a state mental hospital ruled out manic-depression.

The psychiatrist reported that without negative consequences he took Monk off of Lithium, a drug used to mute the wide mood swings associated with the condition.

Caplan also noted opinions expressed by other experts who examined Monk that he may be faking some of his claimed illnesses and physical problems to collect money from the Veterans Administration.

Caplan acknowledged that diagnoses of alcohol abuse, depression and an intermittent explosive personality were noted by a psychiatrist.

But after hearing Monk testify on his own behalf, clinical psychologist Edward Siegel, Ph.D., said what he had considered possible in Van Bemen's death — an episode of intermittent explosive personality by Monk — was eliminated by the defendant, who claimed he was not angry at his friend before the shooting.

When Boyne tried to persuade Caplan that Monk's behavior before the hunting trip, which included sleeping with both his wife and daughter, was indicative of manic behavior, Caplan disagreed.

"It's not an example of manic behavior," he said. "It's an example of incestuous behavior related to a very controlling individual. Incest has to do with power and control, not always sex."

Caplan said Monk more likely fits into the moderately psychopathic classification.

Some of the behavior indicators of that condition are superficial charm, pathological lying, being manipulative, lack of remorse and empathy, a parasitic lifestyle and failure to accept responsibility for actions.

Although Monk sat in a wheelchair throughout the trial and appeared to have difficulty moving from that device to the witness chair, a Lincoln County jailer testified that he walked without aid when in the detention center.

Taking the stand in his own defense, Monk appeared evasive and often either denied versions of events told by others or retreated to a claim of failed memory, especially about the moment of the shooting and the burying of Van Bemen's body.

At several points, Monk tried to implicate his son in the killing and the burying of Van Bemen's body. He suggested his third ex-wife, who he married when she was 15 and pregnant, might had advised him on a cover-up.

Key said he will encourage "very strongly" law enforcement officials in Mississippa to try Monk on sexual battery charges against him there.

San Patricio woman dies in wreck; husband held on multiple counts

BY DIANNE STALLINGS
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

A San Patricio woman was killed Saturday when the pickup truck in which she was a passenger collided head-on with a car on U.S. Highway 70.

Martha Dutchover, 50, died at the scene from multiple injuries. Her husband, Robert Dutchover, 52, was driving the car when it entered the west-bound lane while traveling east on the highway through the Mescalero Apache reservation, according to New Mexico State Police Officer Freddie Barela.

Another passenger, Destiny Dutchover, 18, suffered a skull fracture, a broken hand and broken vertebrae. She was flown to Thomason Hospital in El Paso, Texas, where she was listed in guarded condition Tuesday.

Dutchover was arrested Saturday on two outstanding warrants from Chaves County for failure to appear and contempt of court, according to court records. He was arraigned in Otero County Monday and charged with homicide by vehicle, great bodily harm by vehicle and driving with a revoked or suspended license, a magistrate court spokesman said Tuesday.

He is scheduled for a preliminary hearing July 26 in front of Otero Magistrate Judge Richard Stokely.

Barela reported that alcohol was involved in the accident and seat belts were not used.

According to information from Barela's report, Carla Beltran of Tularosa, 17, was traveling west on U.S. 70 in a 1995 four-door Mercury sedan at 11:35 p.m. Saturday when she was struck head-on by a 1987 Chevrolet pickup truck driven by Dutchover.

Beltran received minor facial abrasions. Dutchover was cut on his lip and right hand. He is being held without bail in the Otero County Detention Center.

Stewart hanging around, but maybe not long

BY DIANNE STALLINGS
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

Lincoln County Manager Tom Stewart may be hanging around a little longer, but don't bank on it.

Although he was not chosen Friday to be the new Doña Ana County manager, he has applied for municipal or county-type management positions in four other places, he said Monday.

"I'm having fun in this job," he said. "It's a big world out there and Doña Ana isn't the only fish in the sea."

He's not confining his fishing to New Mexico, although he originally took the job in Lincoln County after retiring from the Pentagon because his wife has family ties in the area.

Stewart was among six applicants chosen for interviews by the Doña Ana County Commission, as was former Ruidoso village manager Gary Jackson. The salary range advertised for the position was between $75,000 and $90,000, potentially more than double Stewart's salary in Lincoln County, where Stewart has worked since late 1998.

Lincoln County commissioners interviewed last week said they would be unhappy to see Stewart leave, but realized with his experience, record of achievement and achievements, it would be difficult to keep him.

Stewart Vinson was picked as new manager in Doña Ana County to replace Fernando Macias, who resigned after three years to become general manager for the Border Environment Cooperative Commission. Vinson is Lana County manager and previously was in the same position for Lea County. He lives in Deming.

Vinson will serve at-will on a two-year contract for $90,000 per year, about $18,000 higher than his base salary in Luna County, where he has worked since 1993.

COMMISSION: Martinez urges building up reserves

road department equipment and sheriff's office vehicles.

Commissioner Leo Martinez said Tuesday he advocates no action on the discretionary millage until the mid-year budget review to see where the county stands. Even then, he'd like to see the commission hold onto any extra money to build back its reserves and for any unexpected expenses connected with the construction and operation of the new county detention center in Carrizozo.

On the consent agenda, which includes items usually not discussed and often approved in a block by the board, a few issues may spark discussion, including contracts for housing county inmates in Otero County and Chaves County detention centers, and an agreement to transfer ownership of the 1902 Rio Hondo Bridge at Picacho to the New Mexico Farm & Ranch Heritage Museum in Las Cruces.

Plans call for the bridge to become the centerpiece of a permanent display on historic bridges in New Mexico and would be used to span an arroyo connecting two sections of the museum property.

A letter to the state Department of Finance and Administration from Stewart notes he was advised four months ago that as part of the Enhanced 911 program addressing grant, the county must map the village of Ruidoso Downs.

"Ruidoso Downs was not part of the original spread sheet provided by the DFA" for bids on the estimated number of map points to be designated, he wrote. The change will increase the cost of the work by the county contractor from $82,107 to $143,982, he stated.

He has learned that Ruidoso Downs was part of Ruidoso's mapping effort a few years ago, which was state-funded. He asked for the department's help in resolving the potential financial shortfall. The full grant amount to the county is $221,765, but also covers other work on the E911 project.

A meeting is set for 6:30 p.m. Aug. 31 in Carrizozo by state 911 coordinator Bill Harris to discuss a long-range plan for the consolidation of dispatch services statewide.

Other items on the agenda include:

- A report on the start-up of drug and alcohol rehabilitation at Fort Stanton under the Amity Foundation, based in California. Stewart noted that state parolees and probationers arrived two weeks ago and the historic fort will be used as a treatment base for up to 48 patients coming out of prison.

- Consideration of Sam Tobbia Road near Ruidoso by Dr. Larry C. Mixon.

- A report by Margaret Romero about plans to move a postal distribution center from Carrizozo to Alamogordo.

- An application for summary plan approval for the massive Vista Las Montanas subdivision on Sierra Blanca Airport Road.

- A proclamation setting the ballot wording for the November vote on special tax levy support for the county hospital in Ruidoso and three county health clinics.

- Employer/inmate and supervisor/inmate work release agreements.

- A report from Wanda Gielow de Figueroa on membership appointments for the county Maternal Child Health Board and a request for office space at the county substation in Ruidoso for the Lincoln County Youth Substance Abuse activities.

- Proclamations for Ernie Gonzales, as Physician's Assistant of the Year and for Lincoln County Fair Month in August.

SUSPECT: 'I'm so upset about everything that's happened'

The other count alleges Martin provided marijuana to a juvenile. Martin said the pot smoked in the cave was his.

"I admitted to smoking pot with them," Martin said. "If I've got to go to prison for that, that would be justified. But I did not start the fire."

Charges could also be filed against the three teens.

The 17-year-old male has been referred to juvenile authorities on allegations of negligent arson and making false reports. A 15-year-old female has been referred for possession of marijuana. A 17-year-old female is also being considered for charges of false reporting and concealing identity.

Patricia Martin, Joseph's mother, said she fears her son could "take the fall" for the entire group.

"Deep down he's a good boy," she said. But she added her son made a mistake.

"He deserves what he gets for what he did," Patricia Martin said. "But if Joe is the responsible adult for the actions of the juveniles, where are the parents of the kids?"

Joseph Martin too admitted he made a mistake on May 7.

"I don't feel one person should be blamed though," Joseph Martin said. "I was there. I didn't start the fire, but I want to put back into the community what was taken out. If I have to go up there and plant trees for the rest of my life, I will. I'm so upset about everything that's happened."

A preliminary hearing for Martin has been scheduled for 1 p.m. Monday in Magistrate Court. Martin remains in the county jail in lieu of a $30,000 bond.

Although most children between the ages of 3 and 18 receive some sort of vision screening through their school system, each child should be screened annually by a licensed Doctor of Optometry. While screening does provide an indication for corrective lenses, it does not tell about eye health, repair perception, color vision or peripheral vision. These visual conditions can only be determined by a comprehensive eye health and vision examination. Other conditions including strabismus (abnormal alignment of the two eyes or turned eyes), amblyopia (poor sight in one eye) and emmetropia (good vision at distance but not at near) usually require corrective lenses. Children who have eye problems are occasionally misdiagnosed with Attention Deficit Disorder (ADD) or other conditions that don't necessarily address their vision. Vision therapy such as eye exercises or vision training may help correct certain visual disorders and thus make visual tasks especially reading, enjoyable.

Lenses for children are often made of plastic material. However, a polycarbonate lens is recommended since it is the most impact resistant and thus the safest lens available. Glass lenses should never be used for children. Frames can be a helpful tool for enabling a child who experiences some vision. Aspheric lenses can reduce the effect of magnifying the eye in high plus powers and make lens wear more comfortable.

Governance is an imperfect art

Sometimes it takes an embarrassment to get your attention. A prime example cropped up at last week's Ruidoso Village Council meeting.

A couple looking for land to build a home on accidentally discovered some slippage in the way the Ruidoso Planning Department operates, and incidentally the village fathers discovered that they didn't really know how much land they own and where it is.

Bob and Diane Whiteley asked the village to vacate some right-of-way it owned on Royal Drive, following procedures set up by the planning department. But when the council discovered that some six-tenths of an acre was involved (worth thousands of dollars on the market), it said no. The village manager noted that the request was for a very large area of right-of-way; that it threw the planners for a loop.

The Whiteleys weren't pleased, and didn't get the land either. The mayor apologized for the planning department's error, and subsequently recommended that the village compile an inventory of village-owned properties, to understand what is owned.

A working inventory of village-owned land should be available Friday, thanks to the village's embarrassment.

LETTERS POLICY

The Ruidoso News encourages letters to the editor, especially about local topics and issues. Each letter must be signed and must include the writer's daytime telephone number and mail address. The phone number and mailing address will not be printed; the hometown will be. The telephone number will be used to verify authorship. No letter will be printed without the writer's name.

Political candidate endorsements or attacks will not be published; comment should concern issues only. No political comment letters will be published in the edition immediately before an election.

The Inn of the Mountain Gods marks 25 years

To the editor:

To the many people and businesses that supported and contributed to our 25th anniversary celebration at the Inn of the Mountain Gods, the staff and management convey their utmost appreciation to you.

We would also like to thank our guest speakers—Mescalero Apache Tribal President Ma. Sara Misquez, United States Senator Pete Domenici, United States Representative Joe Sken, and Mark Chino, whose father, the late Wendell Chino, led the Mescalero Apache Tribe for over 30 years.

The highlight of the celebration was the announcement and unveiling of the model display of the new Mescalero School, which will house grades Kindergarten through 12th grade. President Misquez and Senator Domenici stressed the importance of the school, which will offer all Mescalero children the finest in educational facilities.

The food was great. Even the rain was great. The surroundings were beautiful with tipis and Mescalero artists displaying their art and jewelry works. The Mescalero grade school dancers performed during the luncheon, and at dusk on Friday and Saturday, the Mountain Gods honored us with their blessing and traditional dances. Door prizes were abundant, thanks to the many local merchants' donations. Fry bread was made and given out to our guests and visitors.

Most important, this event would not have been possible without the hard work and long hours put in by the staff of the Mountain Gods employees, the Bureau of Indian Affairs, and other Mescalero Apache entities that shared their employees to make it such a success. Our heartfelt thanks to everyone.

The county mill levy for health care is needed

To the editor:

This November, the voters of Lincoln County will have the opportunity to vote on a mill levy which, when passed, will be used to support health care in Lincoln County. The funds will be used for capital improvements at Lincoln County Medical Center, such as the purchase of a new roof and medical equipment, as well as support the much-needed clinics in Carrizozo, Corona, and the proposed clinic in Florida.

The requested 3.08 mills in this election is down from the 4.25 mills passed in the 1992 election. This decrease is due to increased property valuation and successful hospital management improvements.

The cost of the mill levy tax to property owners is minimal. One mill equals $1 for each $1,000 of taxable property value. Property is taxed at one-third of its assessed value. For example, a $150,000 home has a taxable value of $50,000. A one-mill levy on this property would be $50 per year. This is a small price to pay to ensure our communities' health care services stay on the cutting edge.

The management of the hospital, although managed successfully by Presbyterian Health Services for 28 years, is a totally separate issue and should be addressed at a later date.

Continuing to offer exceptional health care in Lincoln County is vital to the success of our community, both for tourists and residents. We need to pass the mill levy in November.

Make our courts dispensers of justice

To the editor:

Some people are saying that we should abolish the death penalty, because it's discriminatory and too many innocent defendants are, supposedly, being sentenced to death across our country.

The above isn't the answer. Our courts must be transformed from infesters of injustice to dispensers of justice.

The U.S. has the best judicial and legal systems in the world. A D on a test is better than an F, but neither are worth bragging about.

For every 1,000 guilty felons that our courts release, I'm sure that, at least, one innocent defendant is convicted. This, probably, wouldn't be the case if our courts were truly concerned about truth and justice instead of verdicts and deals. Remember, many judges are also lawyers and we have all heard of professional courtesy.

Verdicts are, sometimes, based on misinformation, half-truths, unanswered questions, and withheld information. The trial results are, often, determined by which of the officers of the court, the prosecution or defense, is the better con-artist.

I know from past experiences that jury duty is a dirty job, but someone has to do it. It's the law! I would be proud to be a juror if our courts would only make the motto "truth and justice for all" a reality.

Please contact your federal and state legislators.

Installing potholes most educational

To the editor:

I always wondered how potholes got started in roadways. I didn't understand how a firm, flat surface could crumble and turn into a hole. Now I understand that potholes don't just happen. They are installed. Over the past few days, I've watched workers installing the new potholes in the recently paved section of Gavilan Canyon Road. It's incredible. I'm taking my children to see these new potholes tomorrow, so we can watch them turn into bigger potholes over time. I think it will be a wonderful educational experience.

GUEST COMMENTARY

Ethanol can help end the grumbling

BY G. DAVID KELLY
AMERICAN FUEL BUREAU FEDERATION

You can hear the grumbling from Seattle to Miami. Motorists across the United States can hardly believe their eyes as they pull their minivans and sport utility vehicles up to the pump to "fill 'er up."

For the first time last week, drivers in New York City had to fork over more than $4 per gallon for gasoline. Folks in Chicago know how motorists who lived with $2-per-gallon gas prices until the state of Illinois recently suspended a 10-cent-per-gallon gas tax. Prices finally dipped below the $3 mark.

But not many drivers can be seen doing cartwheels as they still have to pay gas prices never seen before in this country.

Sure, people grumble. But what can they do? They have to drive. And grumbling doesn't change a cent. With the missing alternative, grumbling along, adding just nearly $60 to fill up the family vehicle is just a bitter pill most Americans are willing to swallow. For now.

It's also a bitter reminder of just how dependent on foreign oil Americans are. Our nation has begged Organization of the Petroleum Exporting Countries or OPEC, nations to boost production to help avert the price spikes we've seen. The fact is, Saudi Arabia has obliged.

It's also a bitter reminder of just how dependent on foreign oil Americans are. Our nation has begged Organization of the Petroleum Exporting Countries or OPEC, nations to boost production to help avert the price spikes we've seen. The fact is, Saudi Arabia has obliged.

What is it going to take for the United States to lessen OPEC's grip on its energy market? For years, the American Fuel Bureau Federation has called on the federal government to help beef up the ethanol industry to help make the United States less dependent on foreign nations and OPEC for its oil fix.

The benefits of ethanol are endless. A more prominent ethanol industry not only would ease our dependence on foreign oil, it would be a boost to America's economy, the environment and the economy. And, the general public would benefit.

Lower gasoline prices for one from increased ethanol in fuel. Ethanol is the most cost-effective component in gasoline today, according to the Renewable Fuels Association. Blending 10 percent ethanol in gasoline would save consumers more than 6 cents per gallon in production costs. Further price reductions would result from ethanol's role in increasing gasoline supplies.

Ethanol and how bioethanol fuels are made from corn, soybeans and other grains. American farmers enjoy an increase in net farm income of $4.5 billion from ethanol. Nearly 1 million farmers are members of farmer-owned ethanol production cooperatives. And the general economy benefits as well as the ethanol industry is responsible for pumping more than $450 million into state tax receipts and results in net savings to the federal budget of $2.6 billion. It also reduces our trade deficit by $2 billion.

Unless prices start falling soon, Americans will begin losing patience with $2-per-gallon gas. Politicians may then start listening and help beef up the ethanol industry. The solution is already in place. And it's time America turned to ethanol and other alternative fuels, not only to bring gas prices down to a manageable level, but to rid itself from its dependence on foreign oil and to boost a market for domestic agricultural products.

Lindal Cedar Homes stands behind product, quality

BY DREW GOMBER
Special to the Ruidoso News

Back in the old days, a log cabin was usually a structure that had been painstakingly built by our pioneer forefathers and was almost invariably extremely simplistic in design. Of course, there was never a bathroom on the INSIDE, and other amenities were, more or less, non-existent.

~~Times have changed.~~
Thanks to Lindal Cedar Homes, we modern

NOW, however, comfort most definitely comes with the territory.

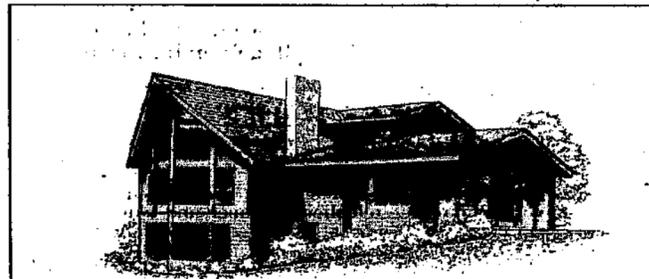

Lindal Cedar Homes was founded in Seattle in 1945 by Sir Walter Lindal. Lindal's corporate offices are still based in that city and they are the largest supplier of kit homes in the United States. Lindal manufactures its own wood and vinyl windows. They also manufacture wood and aluminum sun rooms as well as wood type patio covers. In addition to the basic fine home. And, as though this were not enough, Lindal Lindal dealers work with their customers to design the home. They do not do the actual building - they work with the owners and their contractor, but they DO oversee the entire operation. The average home comes in a 2x6 construction, but Lindal also offers a 4x8 solid cedar home built of 4x8 kiln-dried cedar logs.

Also, the structural package offered by Lindal is worthy of mention. The company, in its zeal to please its customers, offers a premium-grade brand of lumber, doors, windows and exterior siding.

Conscientiously following their own high quality grading system for materials to be used in the construction, Lindal Cedar Homes literally bends over backwards to please their customers!

In Ruidoso, the independent distributors for Lindal Cedar Homes is Gary and Sharon Steensgaard, who are not exactly novices in the business. Gary, who is retired from John Deere, has been, along with his wife Sharon, operating Lindal Cedar Homes dealerships for for the last 11 years. They have been in Ruidoso for the last five years and were dealers in Iowa for nine years. For sev-

Blast wrecks cabin

Nobody injured in gas explosion

BY JAMES KALVELAGE
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

An explosion Friday blew out a wall of a rental unit at Casey's Cabins on Sudderth Drive.

Ruidoso firefighters responded to the explosion and resulting fire just before 7 p.m.

While a fire report listed the ignition factor as undetermined, the report goes on to state that an investigation discovered a new gas line had been installed with a "T" at the end of the line. One end of the "T" was connected to a rental unit in the cabin complex. The other end was unconnected.

The manager of the rental complex told investigators that he had rented one of the duplex units and turned the gas on. An undetermined source ignited the propane gas, according to the incident report.

No one was injured in the explosion, the report stated. A south wall of the structure was blown away and the other walls were separated from the foundation. A small fire on the back of the building was extinguished by firefighters.

Scores of youngsters sought for roles in 'Rumpelstiltskin' at the Spencer

For the third summer season in a row, the traveling troupe of the Missoula Children's Theatre is coming to the Spencer Theater, helping to transform area children into singers, dancers and actors in just a week's time.

Auditions for the free, week-long intensive workshop are at 10 a.m. Monday (July 24) July 24 at the Ruidoso High School gymnasium.

Approximately 50 children of ages 5 to 17 will be selected to perform in an original musical adaptation of the Grimm Brothers' fairy tale classic, "Rumpelstiltskin." Rehearsal schedules will be determined immediately after the auditions, and will commence at the Spencer Theater July 24-July 29.

On Saturday, July 29, at 3 p.m. and 7 p.m., the young stars will take the stage, with many sharing previously unseen talents for all to see, sponsors said.

"The experience is fun for the children and inspiring for everyone involved," says Charles Cantilli, theater executive director.

"It's a wonderful outreach program in which we get to see firsthand the positive impact the performing arts has upon children. Each summer since the gala opening in 1997, the Spencer Theater has hosted the MCT, enabling area children to reach their goals, stand in the bright lights and enjoy well-earned applause.

Chief Lanny Maddox says the village will transport its prisoners to the county jail and reduce costs in the long run

Ruidoso getting out of the jail business

BY JAMES KALVELAGE
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

When Ruidoso relocates its police station and discontinues the use of its municipal jail the department would transport prisoners nearly 45 miles to Carrizozo, and pay $50 per day to house each detainee.

That could cost the village thousands of dollars monthly, based on average Ruidoso jail population figures.

Ruidoso Police Chief Lanny G. Maddox confirmed that the cost of paying Lincoln County to hold those arrested by Ruidoso Police could total $3,000 per month.

Excluding what the police jail register called "Bureau of Indian Affairs holds," which were detainees housed for the Mescalero Law Enforcement agency while renovations of the Mescalero jail were under way, the Ruidoso lock-up over the past 18 months an average monthly detainee count of 69. The average is based on 1,249 adults booked into the jail between January, 1999, and June, 2000. The Ruidoso Police Department's jail register does not include juveniles held short term.

Most adults were also short-term detainees, awaiting a court appearance or the posting of bail. In some cases however detainees spent several days in the Ruidoso jail.

Additional costs would include police officer time to deliver detainees to the Lincoln County Detention Center in Carrizozo and wear and tear on vehicles.

Ruidoso receives $19,500 annually for the cost of detaining and processing those arrested, Maddox said.

"It (the state funding) will be an offset of paying the county," the police chief said. "And we have deleted a position, a communications/detention officer, which will save $30,000 in salary and benefits."

Maddox said once a prisoner enters the court system Lincoln County would be responsible for transports to and from court.

Currently the police department schedules three communications/detention officers (CDO) per shift. After the move to the new police building there will be two people per shift in the dispatch center as communications officers, Maddox said.

One of the present dispatch employees will be reassigned as a transport officer, to deal with short-term Ruidoso detentions and their transportation to the Lincoln County Detention Center.

The net change in employees would be one less from the present staff.

Ruidoso's reliance on the county for jail space will also likely impact costs for Lincoln County. The county jail has "an absolute maximum capacity" of 47, said Tom Stewart, the Lincoln County manager.

"Our average count at the detention center is 70 to 75," Stewart said. "We are constantly farming people out."

The overflows are transported to available space at lock-ups in Alamogordo or Estancia, Stewart said.

"Running prisoners around is expensive stuff," he said. Otero County charges $70 per day per Lincoln County inmate delivered to the Alamogordo jail. Torrance County charges $57.33 per day.

And the number of county inmates shipped out of county could increase when Ruidoso closes its jail. Stewart said the county detention center will make room for those arrested by Ruidoso police.

"We would displace some of ours," Stewart said. "I see that as part of our responsibility. People in Ruidoso pay taxes to Lincoln County too."

Ruidoso would pay the county $50 per day per detainee, Stewart said.

The potentially increased county jail facility should ease next April, when a new 120-bed jail is scheduled to open.

"It will be a better situation then," Stewart said.

Ruidoso police will be moving to a new building, which will exclude a jail, as soon as Aug. 15. Maddox said only portable holding cells would be included in the new police building on Mechem Drive opposite the post office. The cells would hold detainees for an hour or two. Maddox said.

The present police department building on Center Street has a jail section that can hold nine prisoners. The Ruidoso jail, which is overseen by the agency's CDO personnel, is expected to be utilized until Oct. 1 because new radio equipment for the dispatch/911 center will not be in place immediately at the new police facility.

"We will make every attempt to bond them out," Maddox said, to limit the financial impact of prisoners on the village. "I don't think we'll see any drastic change."

The police chief said freeing his department of the liability of running a jail brings and eliminating jail meals will result in added savings.

FUNERALS DEATHS

DA 'eager' for retrial of Gutierrez on murder charge

BY DIANNE STALLINGS
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

District Attorney Spal Key says he is looking forward to retrying Johnny Ray Gutierrez on a first-degree murder charge for the stabbing death of Allsup's convenience store clerk John Diebler.

Early in June, a Lincoln County jury failed to reach a verdict after nearly two days of deliberation. They split 10 for acquittal and two for conviction for murder and eight for acquittal and four for conviction for armed robbery.

Interviewed after a mistrial was declared by 12th Judicial District Judge Karen Parsons, some jurors said they didn't believe one of the prosecution's prime witnesses and suspected Mari Diaz was more involved than she revealed in testimony against Gutierrez.

They also said they wanted to see another man who partied with Gutierrez the night before the murder in the early morning hours of Aug. 29, 1998, because the defendant suggested that they look alike.

"The vote in that case was 10 not guilty and two for guilty," Gutierrez' attorney Gary Mitchell pointed out Tuesday. "Sometimes prosecu-torial vindictiveness goes too far. This saving face is outrageous. They presented their best case. There was nothing left out. They ought to leave him alone, but they won't and I'll have to try it again."

Gutierrez maintains that on the early morning of the murder, he stayed with his son and another young boy when three other people left the apartment of a friend after hours of partying with drugs and beer. He claimed Diaz returned and asked him to drive with her to Albuquerque.

The prosecution countered with testimony from Diaz, who admitted she was foggy with drugs and alcohol while she waited in the car Gutierrez had her park around the corner of the Allsup's building.

Gutierrez went inside and returned later to ask her to haul out four cases of Budweiser beer although it was after legal hours for selling alcohol, Diaz testified.

Diaz said Gutierrez told her he knew the clerk and had worked out a deal. But when she entered the store, she never saw the clerk, she said.

Another witness told jurors he watched Gutierrez behind the counter and that the defendant barred him from entering the store at about 3:45 a.m.

But that witness, Rob Stralow, was suspicious that a robbery was under way when he didn't see Diebler. He drove to another Allsup's for help.

When Ruidoso police arrived, they found Diebler dead in the men's restroom. He had been stabbed 27 times. Seven of those wounds could have been fatal, experts testified.

No new trial date has been set, Key said.

COMING OF AGE

Public invited to maiden's rite of passage

Elizabeth Ashley Runningwater, right, celebrates her coming of age ceremony this weekend with the help of her parents, and aunts and uncle, including aunt Penny Cleghorn at left.

BY DIANNE STALLINGS
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

In a lush green meadow surrounded by forest, Elizabeth Ashley Runningwater prepared Monday for her coming of age ceremony on the Mescalero Apache reservation.

Although ritual events already are under way and she cannot leave the ceremonial grounds, the public portion of her puberty rite and feast begins Thursday and will run through Sunday.

Runningwater, 14, is the daughter of James W. Runningwater and Katherine Herrera. She has one brother, Wyndham Keith Runningwater.

The ceremony of passage survived colonization, cultural assimilation and attempts to squash Apache beliefs, and today is one of the most treasured rites still practiced.

The public is invited to join the family in the feast at lunch or dinner and to watch portions of the ceremony, which includes dancing and the maiden's run around a basket of sacred objects. Blessings with pollen are bestowed on guests at different points in the rite.

A ninth grader at Las Cruces High School, she enjoys writing poetry and swimming. She hopes to attend college in Colorado.

Ms. Patsy Blazer, manager of the Big Chief Store on the reservation and sister to James Runningwater, is feast sponsor. Assisting with the feast are brother Wyndham Runningwater of Albuquerque, sister Mary Ann Belatche of Mescalero, and Penny Cleghorn of Apache, Okla.

Paternal grandmother was the late Elizabeth Coonie and her great-grandfather, the late Hugh Coonie. Hugh and Eliza Coonie who were brother and sister, were Warm Springs Charleaux Apache prisoners of war. They were released from Fort Sill, Okla. in 1913 to live in Mescalero with other Apaches.

James Runningwater is Runningwater's great-grandmother and mother of Elizabeth Coonie. She was Mescalero Apache. Elizabeth Runningwater is the great great-granddaughter of Daa-dee-te, a woman warrior who fought alongside Geronimo during the Apache wars.

Her maternal grandparents are Layola and Pete Herrera of Tularosa. Uncle John Herrera is the uncle of the celebrant's mother.

Reunion for 1949-70 RHS classes here July 28-29

The year 2000 Reunion committee consisting of alumni from classes 1949-1970 is urging classmates who attended Ruidoso High School during these years to come home again July 28-29 to celebrate the New Millennium.

Activities will begin at 5 p.m. on Friday, July 28, at the Ruidoso Middle School Cafeteria for registration and reminiscence, with a program to recognize classes and introduce special guests beginning at 6:30 p.m.

Alumni will have the option of touring the "old" high school building (now the middle school).

Activities on Saturday will begin at 9:30 a.m. with coffee and donuts at the "new" high school cafeteria on Warrior Drive where former students may tour the school. Participants will have the opportunity to visit with former classmates on their own until 6 p.m.

There is a golf course in the works for Saturday and picnic grounds at Cedar Creek also have been reserved.

The evening program includes gathering at the Elks Club at U.S. Highway 70 West with an open bar and dinner/dance following at 7 p.m.

The committee urges local alumni who have not registered to do so by calling Dean Holman, 379-4588, or Vera Wood, 258-9218.

Former and present teachers, administrators, and other employees of Ruidoso High School are welcome.

Roswell takes all-star tourney title

BY WENDY WIDENER
FOR THE RUIDOSO NEWS

Thursday marked the championship game of the Ruidoso Little League-sponsored District 11 9 and 10 year old all star baseball tournament, with Roswell facing off against Eastside.

The Roswell Noon Optimist All Stars challenged Roswell's Eastside, with the Noon Optimists taking a 7-1 victory.

Coming up from the loser's bracket, Eastside did not go down without a fight.

The previous Saturday, the Optimists shut out Eastside 8-3, putting Eastside in the lower bracket and setting up the rematch.

"We made a lot of errors," said Eastside manager Gary Roybal of the first defeat. "We handed over five runs in one inning."

Roybal was fairly new at managing an all-star team, but took the second place finish as a "learning experience."

"When it was crunch time they came through for us," he said.

The younger Roybal won two games, beating Tulapes 10-0 during the tournament, and his manager father was proud of him.

"I'm so proud of all of the kids," said Roybal. "We stuck like glue."

The Eastside team doesn't have as many financial assets as the rest of the league, Roybal said. Parents, managers and players had many fund-raisers to help raise enough money for the standard gear that an all-star requires, such as the highly acclaimed all-star jacket.

"It makes the kids feel good," said Roybal. "It makes them feel like a part of a team — like a family."

"I felt that the team earned a lot of respect," said Roybal of coming up from the loser's bracket. "Little kids from the Eastside can play too."

"In the end it's all about the kids. We're in it for the kids," said Roybal.

Coming from the same town, Roybal was a little worried keeping up their "friendly competition."

"I tried to tell the kids that win or lose, we're in it together," said Roybal. "I was proud of the way they handled themselves."

Cooper was also proud of his team. Noon Optimist second baseman Lance McLeod, Cooper said, played well defensively.

"He made several outstanding fielding plays that stopped (Eastside) from doing anything on their end."

At bat, Noon Optimist Chris Trujillo was 3-for-4, Justin Cooper 2-for-3, and Jeremy Kirk 3-for-4.

Joe Camp also pitched a 3-hitter, assisting in the 7-1 win.

"Both pitchers on both sides pitched really good games," Cooper said.

Eastside pitchers Calvin Reese, Ricky Nunez and Christopher Roybal did excellent jobs keeping their team afloat, said manager Roybal.

"When it was crunch time they came through for us," he said.

The younger Roybal won two games, beating Tulapes 10-0 during the tournament, and his manager father was proud of him.

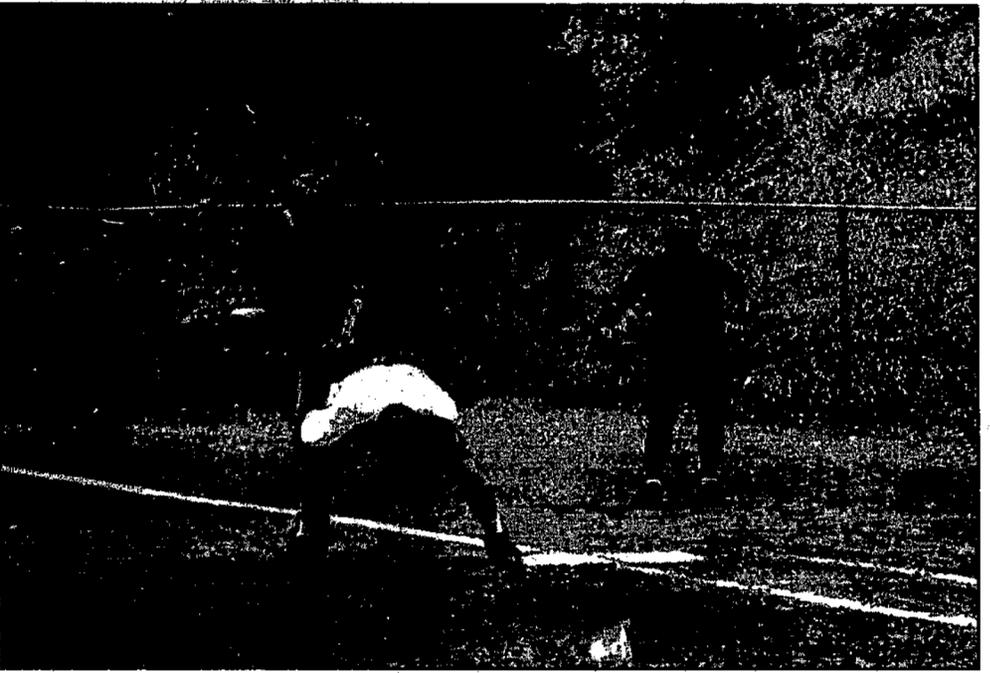

"I'm so proud of all of the kids," said Roybal. "We stuck like glue."

Merchant first baseman Bobby Snowden puts a lot of body English into an attempted out at first in the Men's Class E championship game at the Last Chance Tournament Sunday.

Merchants just miss tourney title

BY WENDY WIDENER
FOR THE RUIDOSO NEWS

With 10 local teams and 51 teams from around New Mexico and Texas competing in the Last Chance Softball Tournament, most of the home-town squads finished below the medal round.

One exception would be the Ruidoso Merchants. Playing in the Men's E classification, the Merchants were undefeated until Sunday, when they were matched up against the Clovis Broncos, falling twice.

In the first championship game, the Merchants fell 16-5, forcing an "if" game. After a short break, the teams squared off again.

In the top of the fifth inning of the final match, the score was 13-5, Broncos. By the end of the game, the Merchants had scored nine more runs, but the Broncos still took the victory, winning 16-14.

Sponsored by Lincoln County Transportation and Swanner Plumbing, the Merchants were undefeated until the championship game, but, according to left fielder Michael Swanner, they just "quit hitting the ball; plain and simple."

The seventh inning started to turn around for the Merchants.

"We finally started hitting the ball so we started making runs and we just ran out of time," said manager Richard Guevara. "I think we were just tired."

Ruidoso pitcher Phil Townsend pulled a quadriceps in his right knee, but was still able to strike out more than three batters. Townsend is the Merchants' only pitcher, and played all six games with a knee brace.

Short stop Chad Swanner is the youngest player on the Merchant roster.

"He did a good job for us. He's young and he's learning," said Guevara. "When he goes for baseball he's just gonna be that more mature."

"Everyone did a good job," Guevara continued. "It was definitely a team effort."

Bronco Manager Tiny Cordova was happy with the win.

"It is always fun when you're winning," said Cordova.

The Ruidoso Merchants did elect a MVP at the end of the tournament. Chad Evans took home the gold for his play in the right field.

Other Ruidoso teams that participated in the tournament did not place as high as the Merchants. Playing only in the D and E classifications, D classification teams were Aramark Thunder, coming in fourth and Raza, finishing 11th.

In the E Classification, the Grizzlies came in third, the Homeboys fifth, the Mescalero Indians eighth, the Nada ninth, the Gaters 10th, Sierra Blanca Brewers 11th, and Extreme 12th.

Despite threatening clouds, the rain hardly effected the tournament. The only delay was on Sunday, the last day of the tournament.

"The rain didn't really effect us at all," said Claudia Branum, village of Ruidoso sports coordinator. "We may have been delayed 30 minutes at the end."

Just Us takes womens softball title

BY RHIANNON REYES
FOR THE RUIDOSO NEWS

Just Us from El Paso and X-Treme from Clovis closed out the Last Chance Tournament Saturday in a close 22-20 game with El Paso taking the spoils.

The game was tight from the fourth inning, when the score was 14-13, right until the end.

Just Us had come from victories over McMillan and Ruidoso's Flamingos, preparing them for the game they were to play against X-Treme, who had conquered such other teams as the Lady Hot Shots and T&B Girls. The two teams had never played each other before, thus leaving the game more to blind speculation than a game with veteran rivals. But both teams were well matched as the final score proved — X-Treme finishing a mere two points behind Just Us.

Plays were random and unpredictable.

With X-Treme batting in the top of the fifth inning, the play resulted in three consecutive outs. However at the top of the sixth, Clovis put through eight batters and drove four runners home.

El Paso was more than able to keep up with Clovis, though, with gutsy base running and a good eye for pitching the whole game through.

Although aggressiveness on both sides was intense, a sense of good sportsmanship was around at the end of the game.

"I thought it was a tough game," Pitcher Michelle Kern of El Paso said after the game. "They're a good team — we'd never come up against them before and they gave real good competition. I thought it was well fought on both sides." Just Us wrapped up the tournament undefeated, with a 5-0 record.

Clovis X-Treme coach Gary Morris said he found the game to be "real interesting."

Morris didn't have much else to say at the end of the game because one of his players, Pamela Schiana, was suffering a severe asthma attack and was waiting for Emergency Medical Service to arrive. However, Morris did manage to give his team credit for their hard work and endurance to make it to where they did.

"(It) took the girls," he said modestly. "They had to work hard."

No doubt Clovis' X-treme team needed a rest that night, as they had started off the day at 2 a.m., closing the tournament Saturday afternoon with a 4-2 record.

Four Ruidoso womens' teams entered the tournament. The Flamingos came in fourth, Thunder & Lightning sixth, the Loaners grabbed ninth place and the Mama Mias finished the tournament in 10th.

Ruidoso riders bring home ribbons

Riders representing the Equestrian Equestrian Center in Ruidoso participated in the Beach Party Horse Show at the New Mexico State Fairgrounds last weekend. Local riders were joined by teammates from Roswell and El Paso.

Organizers of The New Mexico Hunter/Jumper Association event tried to develop the beach party theme, but the arduous 12-hour days of competition were anything but a party. The celebration came later when the final tally of championships and blue ribbons was made. Successful participants earned points towards the American Horse Shows Association awards and championships programs.

Debra Van Pelt of Santa Teresa was Reserve Champion in the adult amateur division, riding her thoroughbred gelding Mucky Waters. Van Pelt won the adult amateur hunter under saddle, the adult amateur equitation over fences classes and the adult amateur hunter stake event.

Pamela Bruemner of El Paso won the pre-training jumper class on Tracey Smith's thoroughbred mare, Chocolate Rain.

Susan Bairwith from Roswell won the modified low hunter under saddle and baby green under saddle classes on her thoroughbred mare, Almost Perfect.

Sharon Wells, trainer of the Equibest team, rode the Dutch Warmblood Mount Zion, belonging to Jill Yates of Ruidoso. Imported from Holland, this was the 5-year-old's debut in the jumper division. He won ribbons, clearing all fences through out the competition, promising a very exciting future.

In the children's events,

Madeline Paton and Jakob Yates showed up their older teammates in the Cinderella Classic by taking first and third after two rounds of competition among 25 riders. Paton also won the short stirrup equitation over fences and short stirrup hunter classes on her medium pony, Into Mischief.

Chamblee Yates made her debut as a horse show competitor by finishing as reserve champion of the Crossrail Division. She won the crossrail hunter over fences class and placed second in the crossrail equitation over fences class riding her brother Jakob's pony, Bonnie Blue.

Katy Paton won the pony equitation over fences class on her large pony, Baby Grand. Beth Robinson and Amber Yates of Ruidoso and Hale Murphy of Roswell also placed well in their events.

Qualifiers set for Kachina Derby

Twelve horses qualified to battle for the $57,141 Kachina Stakes title to be held July 30. The Kachina Stakes Trials, a 6-furlong race for 2-year-old fillies, were held Thursday on a heavy track.

Out of the first trial division, the winner of the race was the favorite, Miss Einstein, trained by William Leach, owned by Leach and Roger Bensley and ridden by Joe Martinez. Miss Einstein won by an impressive 7 furlongs in the final time of 1:13.80.

Second in the race was Mystic Mood, followed by Lucky Thirty, who outran Mesillavalley lady by five lengths. Flipster and jockey Chris Montano and Sunny Stage, trained by first year trainer J. Clay Carnes.

In the second division, trainer Leach and owners Leach and Bensley, qualified two with Ocean Motion and Ginteed. Ocean Motion, ridden by Mike Clark, won the race by 7 lengths in a final time of 1:14.0. Ginteed and jockey Joe Martinez placed third.

Second was Lookin At 'Cha. Qualifying fourth was Analyzed. Play The Numbers and jockey Perry Whetstone moved to fifth through the stretch while Kelly's Shadow rapped up the qualifying list.

Rainbow Silver Cup Samilaso Dancer broke from the gates like an arrow and left the field in the dust to win the $17,000 Rainbow Silver Cup Saturday.

A student project in the Carrizozo Public Schools teaches landscape architecture and horticultural beautification

CARRIZOZO — Needed refurbishment of outdoor learning areas at this Carrizozo schools led to a plan for landscape architecture and horticultural beautification. The project was made possible to "school to work" funding — money available only for career exploration.

Herb Borden's vocational-agriculture students, with elementary teachers and students, undertook to beautify adjoining yards of classrooms.

The students landscaped the yards with gravel, creating planting beds, and building picnic tables. Elementary students planted and maintained the beds.

Teachers hoped the project with hands-on work would create enthusiasm for budding landscape and gardening enthusiasts of the future, as well as instilling pride in the school campus.

Fourth-graders Gabriel New (top) and Chlo Rimple were among students working together to beautify outdoor learning areas adjoining classrooms in the Carrizozo school.

Fort Stanton study continues

BY DIANNE STALLINGS
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

Just a few more meetings and a management plan for the Fort Stanton Area of Critical Concern may be ready for final review.

Howard Parman, of the Bureau of Land Management Roswell office, said the citizens planning team and BLM staff went through the proposed planning documents last week and came up with a few suggestions for "little things that need to be fixed."

At the next meeting, the goal is to pinpoint sites of proposed improvements and restricted areas, Parman said. Priorities also may be set for projects in the area.

Parman said the next meeting will be in August. The Fort Stanton AOC consists of about 26,000 acres around the old fort.

He said some projects listed in the plan, such as a campground, are "a long way off" for consideration.

For now, the concentration is on how to improve the watershed "function," which should have a domino effect to improve fish and wildlife habitat, giving more recreation opportunities, Parman said.

Ruidoso's summer readers learn about Mexico

BY WENDY WIDENER
FOR THE RUIDOSO NEWS

As they "read 'round the world," the children in the 2000 Summer Reading Program at the Ruidoso Public Library are not only sharpening their reading skills, but are also learning about other cultures.

Thursday, children gathered around Polly Chavez, Carrizozo Retablo artist and teacher, as she informed them about "El Dia de los Muertos" (Day of the Dead).

Celebrated on Nov. 1 and 2, it is not comparable to Halloween, but to Memorial Day. The annual event celebrates the souls of the lost, and "acknowledges death, making it less fearsome," said Chavez. At the same time, the holiday mixes Indian and Catholic traditions.

Chavez assured her audience that "there is nothing to be frightened of; only things to be marveled at and enjoyed."

The children made "cempasuchiles," yellow and orange marigolds out of tissue paper and pipe cleaners. The cempasuchiles were traditionally used to put on the graves of family and loved ones," said Chavez. Deceased relatives are also able to visit their living relatives on the holiday and offerings are made to the deceased such as candy and Pan de Muerto (Bread of the Dead).

After sticking marigolds behind ears and on shirts, the summer readers were given sugar cookies in the shape of skulls. Some children made their skulls have faces, while others made theirs look like cemeteries.

The Summer Reading Program has ongoing events until July 28. Most programs are open for all ages, but children 8 years old and under must be accompanied by an adult.

Volunteers can work to improve the New Mexico environment

New Mexico Volunteers for the Outdoors allows people to volunteer to help the environment and possibly get a tan at the same time. Located in Albuquerque, the NMVFO provides opportunities for people who aren't members of specific organizations and, those who are, to provide services and talents.

Sandia Mountain National History Center is offering a chance to help the handicapped and the environment by inviting the public to come out one half mile east on Columbine Road, which is northwest of Albuquerque off of State Road 14. Aug. 5 and 6, project leader, Rickey Richardson will be helping volunteers double the length of a handicap accessible trail that was begun last year. Volunteers are allowed to camp on the grounds, providing that fires not be ignited. For further information call (505) 884-1091.

Volunteers are also needed for general maintenance and project work on Aug. 5 and 6 for the 17th year at the Wild Rivers Recreation Area located at the junction of the Rio Grande and the Red River. The turnoff to the park is located three miles north of Questa on Highway 522. Turn west (left) on Road 378 and follow the NMVFO signs to the camping site. Reserved for volunteers is the La Junta campground, which is a group shelter with water, toilets, sheltered tables for meals, individual camp sites, RV parking and fire rings. A meal will be provided for dinner Saturday, with cuisine by Barbara and Charles Washington. Breakfast and lunch are not provided, but volunteers are asked to bring their own food. Volunteers are also encouraged to bring gloves, sunscreen, hiking boots, hats, and bug repellent.

Baby boomers might save Social Security

New study of wealth uncovers evidence that, contrary to predictions, the boomers have much more economically than their parents

COLUMBUS, Ohio — A new study of wealth in the United States concludes that baby boomers have already accumulated more wealth than their parents did at similar ages.

The study predicts that this gap will continue as baby boomers retire, and that they will actually continue accumulating wealth after retirement.

The results, if true, may ease concerns that the Social Security system will fail as the glut of baby boomers leaves the work force.

"Based on these results, speculation about baby boomers shocking the Social Security system may be overstated," said Lisa Keister, author of the study and assistant professor of sociology at Ohio State.

"Of course, the sheer size of the baby boom generation may worry policy-makers, but at least there is reason to believe that the boomers would be able to support themselves in retirement if necessary."

The results of the study appear in Keister's new book Wealth in America: Trends in Wealth Inequality (Cambridge, 2000).

Keister said she studied wealth — including stocks and bonds, bank accounts and homes — rather than income to give a more complete picture of Americans' financial situation.

She analyzed statistics from a variety of sources, including two national surveys that collected data on the wealth of Americans periodically between 1962 and 1995.

One key to this study, however, was that she developed a simulation model based on 30 years of historical economic data that allowed her to predict wealth trends for baby boomers and their parents through 2026.

Keister said the model, which makes many assumptions about future economic trends, is designed only to make broad estimates about what may happen. As such, it is impossible to predict with accuracy exactly how much more wealth boomers will have in the future relative to their parents. But the model suggests that baby boomers may accumulate as much as twice the total wealth that their parents have.

"The results suggest that baby boomers had — and will have — considerably more wealth than their parents at all stages of the life course," Keister said.

"The notion of the American dream centers on the idea that children will be better off than their parents were at a similar age. It seems clear that the baby boomers have fulfilled that dream."

One particularly positive sign is that Keister's estimates show boomers' net worth continuing to increase even after a large number of them have reached and passed retirement age. This result suggests boomers may be somewhat frugal with their money because they are preparing to live long after retirement, and because they want to leave an inheritance for their children.

Even without projecting into the future, the boomers' financial success compared to their parents has been evident.

For example, a household head aged 35 to 44 in 1962 had a median net worth of $30,765, Keister found. But a similarly aged household head in 1995 — a member of the boomer generation — had a median net worth of $56,911. (All values were adjusted to 1990 dollars.)

Results suggest that older baby boomers — those born between 1945 and 1954 — did particularly well when compared with their parents.

Those born between 1955 and 1964 also did better than their parents, but not by as large a margin.

The success of the boomers is somewhat surprising, Keister said, because many observers had expected this generation would be the first in American history to do worse than their parents financially. The theory was that the large demographic bulge of boomers would result in more people competing for scarce jobs and other resources.

Yet boomers have benefited from positive economic trends in the 1980s and 1990s, including soaring stock and housing values, Keister said. Other trends — including higher levels of education and increases in two-earner families — also created advantages for baby boomers.

However, not all boomers have done better than their parents, Keister said. At a particular disadvantage are those who have no high school degree, married couples with only one earner, single women and non-homeowners.

In general, the results indicate that between 1962 and 1995, the rich got richer and the poor got poorer.

Keister calculated that the richest 1 percent of Americans controlled 33.5 percent of the nation's net wealth in 1962 — and that climbed to 38.5 percent by 1995. The bottom 40 percent of Americans owned just 0.3 percent of the nation's wealth in 1962 and that dropped to 0.2 percent by 1995.

"The results demonstrate that wealth is very unequally distributed, and they suggest that inequality steadily increased over the three decades in this investigation," Keister said.
