

Holiday fills up Ruidoso lodgings

BY DIANNE STALLINGS

Criminals as well as tourists were on vacation in the Ruidoso area over Labor Day weekend. While the Ruidoso Police Department logged only five crime reports, owners of shops and lodging businesses said they were swamped with buyers and people looking for a place to stay.

A spokesman for Dan Dee Cabins in Upper Canyon said she was booked solid in advance, but the people kept coming.

"Friday alone, we received 20 to 30 calls from people wanting to come in that we couldn't handle," she said. "We referred them to the chamber and to other lodgings. We kind of call around up here and see if there are any vacancies."

High Country Lodge on State Road 48 also turned away dozens of people looking for rooms. Highway construction took a breather over the holiday and no one seemed put off by the orange barrels left behind, an employee said.

A worker at Misty Mountain Gourmet Shoppe said business was "exceptionally heavy" over the weekend.

Even the emergency room of the county-owned hospital in Ruidoso, the Lincoln County Medical Center, reported a higher than normal number of patients.

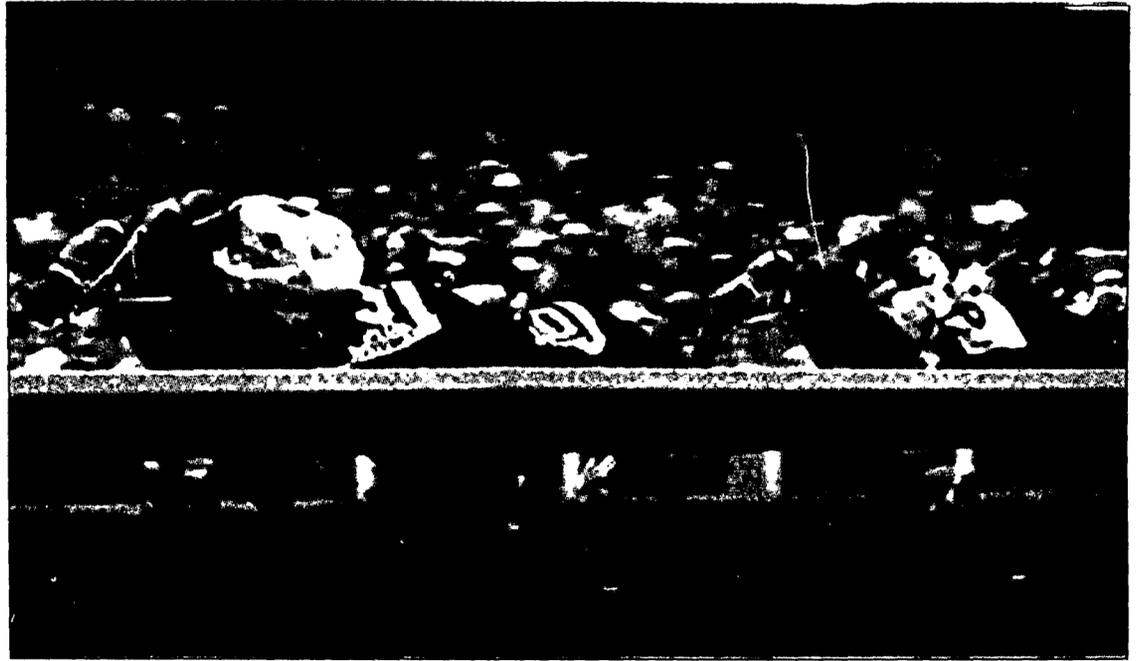

"We usually see 25 a day on a normal summer weekend, but on Saturday, we saw 36, on Sunday, 46 and on Monday, 40," said hospital administrator James Gibson. "They came in for a variety of complaints."

Ruidoso Downs Race Track notched up a record attendance on Labor Day of 15,066 spectators for the annual All American Futurity. Attendance figures for the full weekend were not available Tuesday.

Joan Zagone, executive director of the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce, said while the races undoubtedly played a major role in the influx of visitors, she also heard that people planning vacations in other Western

Hondo clinic could see opening on Sept. 18 with approval

BY DIANNE STALLINGS
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

If a state licensing agency meets its deadline, Hondo residents will begin receiving basic health care in their own community later this month.

"Our goal is to open on Sept. 18," said Serfermo Montano, chief executive officer of La Casa de Buena Salud, Inc., "The House of Good Health," which will provide services for the Hondo Valley Health Clinic.

Located at mile marker 386 on U.S. Highway 70 at the front of Hondo Valley School, the clinic will be manned by a nurse practitioner, a registered nurse, an office manager, occasionally a physician from one of the non-profit company's other three clinics, and possibly a fourth employee, depending on patient load.

Montano said the state's deadline to inspect and issue a license is Sept. 18. The clinic will either open that Monday or shortly after that date, he said.

"We are looking forward to serving all the residents in Hondo and the surrounding area," Montano said Tuesday. "Offering the best health care services is our number one goal. Our track record in Clovis, Portales and Roswell has been outstanding and we will provide the best in health care for the residents of Hondo."

A community health board and Barbara Casey, Hondo school superintendent, have worked for the past two years to open the clinic doors. The Lincoln County Commission donated a building to the cause and $20,000 remodeling money, but Casey churned up more money from the state Legislature and other sources to finish the work and to equip the clinic.

Last year during an interview with the Ruidoso News, she learned that the clinic also would be eligible for money from a special property tax levy designated by voters to benefit the county hospital in Ruidoso and health clinics in Carrizozo, Corona and Hondo.

Winning approval from the commission for $180,000 from that levy and approval from the state to move ahead with a contract with La Casa took months more.

"We're not there yet," she said Tuesday. "We're still waiting for the tax levy money and we're fine-tuning the language on the joint powers agreement the county attorney proposed."

As soon as that is worked out, we'll jump in and open. I can hardly wait to start providing services to the people of the area. I get stopped all the time asking when the clinic will open. It's a beautiful facility. I hope people take advantage of it. It's taken a lot of work to get it to where it is now."

All the equipment stored in closets for months was unpacked and is ready for use, she said.

"We just need that license from the state, the tax levy money and the people to come," she said.

Registered nurse Beth Stilwell from Lincoln will head the staff. She's a graduate of the University of Southern Colorado and Eastern New Mexico University nursing degree program.

At her side will be family nurse practitioner Doug Barlow of Albuquerque, who has 23 years of experience from family practice to emergency room and nursing home duty. He will be living in the Hondo valley.

Although the company still is reviewing several applicants for the office manager's position, anyone who thinks their qualifications fit the job can contact Montano.

Clinic hours will be from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Services will span primary health care needs, family planning, immunizations for students, Well-Child checks, assistance with the school-based clinic, pharmaceutical dispensing and referrals to dental services at the Portales clinic and medical specialists in Roswell.

Cell phone service officials say there's no 'big problem'

BY JAMES KAIVELAGE
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

If you've had a tough time ringing through to the cell phone you've dialed, or if you've missed calls on your wireless telephone, you're not alone. While cell phone users in the Ruidoso area are griping over what they say is poor service, the wireless communications companies contend things aren't terrible.

"Our area GM did not indicate a big problem in Ruidoso," said Macy Bodenhamer, a regional public relations specialist with Verizon Telecommunications, one of two major wireless providers in the area. "He did say he has heard from some, but it's not a big problem."

But the head of Emergency Medical Services at Lincoln County Medical Center labels the cell phone situation critical.

"We use it to communicate with our (ambulance) units and the hospital," said Jim Stover. "We're limited with our two-way radios sometimes because it's the same system from Socorro to Artesia. And we use the cell phones to talk directly to areas of the hospital, like directly with a doctor."

Stover said the cell phones seem to not work mostly in the Ruidoso area, but are fine if used elsewhere. He said if he is in Ruidoso, most often his incoming calls are immediately routed to his voice mail.

"That's call blocking," Bodenhamer said. "At times the cell tower was at capacity, there was too much traffic. It should only be

Proposals for Fort Stanton to be revealed

Three firms will pitch their ideas for a study on the future of Fort Stanton Friday and the public is invited to listen.

Lincoln County Manager Tom Stewart said he asked the four-member selection committee on which he serves to meet at the fort about 12 miles northeast of Ruidoso. The meeting will begin at 10 a.m.

Although people interested in the process can observe, they may not participate in the meeting, said Michael Bodelson with the property control division of the state General Services Department.

"It will be the job of the company chosen to come up with alternate uses for the fort and to investigate the possibilities and opportunities," he said. "It will be a team process that sorts out the possibilities and comes up with something that makes economic sense and is feasible."

Fort Stanton's past included soldiers, like the ones shown here, sailors, patients, and even convicts. Its future could be shaped at Friday's session.

states we're discouraged by the fires there and decided to come to Lincoln County instead.

"The consensus literally was that there was no room in town over the holiday," she said. "From appearances and the sheer number of people around, it was one of the best Labor Days we've ever had. I'm waiting on a report from retailers."

Ruidoso's mild temperatures that ranged from 82 degrees on Saturday to a high of 85 on Sunday also were a big draw for Texans who in some areas have gone more than 60 straight days without rain and with triple digit temperatures, she said.

"We had a lot going on all over the area and the region," Zagone said. "Indicators are that the heavy crowds will continue into fall with Aspenfest and other celebrations."

CLINIC: Programs at the facility will be offered to help the elderly, indigent

Montano said he hopes to be able to establish a similar relationship with physicians in Ruidoso.

Referrals at the Roswell Clinic include internal medicine, pediatrics, family practice and a surgeon.

La Casa is part of a pharmaceutical service called Share the Care, which Montano described as a joint agreement among the National Governors Association, Pfizer and the National Association of Community Health Centers. Under that program, Pfizer provides up to nine of its top drugs needed by indigent patients. The only cost is a $5 dispensing fee per 30-day supply that goes to the clinic.

"We have other programs targeting the (medically) indigent and older people on fixed incomes," Montano said. After being enrolled in the programs, participants are eligible for pharmaceutical supplies free, he said.

"Between our existing three clinics, we provide in excess of $2 million a year in free

Some laboratory work will be sent by courier to be analyzed, he said.

Breast and cervical screening will be offered free to women who qualify under a program funded by the state Department of Health and the Federal Center for Disease Control.

"In the future, I will attempt to find money for the expansion of the clinic to provide dental services, but for now, we will refer to our clinic in Portales," Montano said. "That's quite a distance, I know, but our patients in Roswell also are referred there."

In addition to Medicare and Medicaid, the clinic will have a sliding fee schedule for residents of the Hondo area. Payment for services will be based on federal poverty guidelines for income and family size.

For example, a family of three earning up to $13,650 annually would be eligible for either free or significantly reduced charges, Montano said.

La Casa De Buena Salud has operated in eastern New Mexico for nearly 25 years.

at times when there is a lot of calls on the network."

Cellular One, the other wireless provider in the region, hasn't experienced the overload system, said its district manager.

"We haven't received any problem calls from Ruidoso," said Robert Clinton, whose Cellular One district covers southeastern New Mexico and far west Texas. "I have not heard of any capacity problem in Ruidoso. We do have a problem in the Roswell area."

James Stephens, with Radio Shack in Ruidoso, a Verizon wireless authorized agent, said he's heard from subscribers of both cellular services. He said calls are not going through. Stephens said lightning damaged radio equipment and system demand has been strong, especially during the summer months, appear to be the main culprits.

The Verizon representative said two factors in Ruidoso have contributed to the system, which at times has been overloaded. While stating the number of subscribers is proprietary, Bodenhamer said there has been an annual increase. She said the summer horse racing season brings a lot of wireless phones into Ruidoso, with a corresponding increase in calls. She promised those who have experienced trouble will see an improvement with the end of the racing season.

"I don't agree that that's the problem," Stover said. "I've had problems at two a.m."

Stephens however said Tuesday brought an improvement.

"I have noticed that since the traffic is down the phones are working better today. It's going to get better too."

He said he met recently with a trio of Verizon officials who promised upgrades to the cellular network in the Ruidoso area.

The long-term fix, Bodenhamer said, is underway. Verizon will be installing new equipment, adding more advanced technology, which, she said, will result in greater coverage and increased call capacity.

She rejects any connection of perceived service degradation with the company's turbulent efforts to site a new cell tower near mid-town Ruidoso.

"Verizon would never compromise customer service to make a point," Bodenhamer said. "The new tower, that's a separate initiative. If and when that tower is put in place that will alleviate the problem."

Stover, interviewed on his cell phone last week, said the phone call went right through at that time because he was out of the Ruidoso area.

Verizon officials said they were in taking efforts with customers who complained about poor service to adjust bills.

On another front for the advancement of the historic 1855 fort, Stewart received news from the U.S. Department of Commerce that a $44,000 feasibility study grant was approved.

Permission also was granted by GSD

Secretary Steven Beffort and Les Swindle of the property control division for Fort Stanton Inc. to obtain grant money for the preservation of the buildings at the fort.

Fort Stanton Inc. is a private, non-profit group formed with the ultimate goal of establishing a living museum at the complex, which includes more than 80 buildings, several that are original historic structures.

Stewart will coordinate the grant-seeking effort.

From 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, members of the New Mexico Heritage Preservation Alliance Board will tour the fort after a 10 a.m. meeting at the Ellis Store Country Inn in the settlement of Lincoln.

The organization's director and board members have expressed an interest in joining efforts to preserve and promote the fort.

Downs yearling sales jump by 33 percent, set record

BY DIANNE STALLINGS
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

Sales at the annual Ruidoso Quarter Horse Select Yearling for 2000 auction over Labor Day weekend increased by 33 percent from last year's record.

Nearly $10.3 million changed hands over the three-day event that ended Sunday at Ruidoso Downs Race Track & Casino.

"I've been coming to sales here for a long, long time, but I've never seen anything like this," said R.D. Hubbard, chairman of the track and casino board.

The activity reflects the growing trend of a healthy horse racing industry throughout American and particularly in New Mexico, he said.

Seven percent of the 483 horses that passed through the auction ring sold for $50,000 or more. The average sale price was $21,324, about 15 percent higher than last year's $18,469, according to Fritz Widaman, head of marketing for the track and casino.

The comparison to 1997 is even more startling, he said. The 2000 gross sales figure are more than triple the $3.4 million in sales in 1997.

The sale that year occurred before additional forms of gaming were approved and instituted by the New Mexico Legislature and signed into law by Gov. Gary Johnson in an effort to assist the then struggling parimutuel industry, Widaman said.

Henry Brown of Mesa, Ariz., topped the sale with his winning bid of $350,000 for HRH The Snowman, a son of Chicks Beduino out of Champion mare and Champion producer Florentine. HRH The Snowman is full brother to champion This Snow is Royal and world record holder Evening Snow. He was put up for sale by Abigail Kawanakoa of Honolulu, Hawaii.

Last year, Brown was on the other end of the deal. He topped the sale as a consignor by selling a First Down Dash filly for $550,000.

Jim and Marilyn Helzer of Arlington, Texas, purchased from L/J Farms the second highest seller, First Down Streak, a son of World Champion First Down Dash out of Streak Katie Streak. The sale price was $200,000.

The Helzers campaigned former world champion and All American Futurity winner Refrigerator.

Trainer Jack Brooks, a seven-time winner of the All American Futurity, purchased First Down Texas as agent for $150,000. The colt by First Down out of Swingin Val, dam of former Rainbow Futurity winner and $400,000 earner Swingin Val, was consigned by Julianna Hawn Holt.

Everado Muzquiz of Eagle Pass, Texas, bought the highest selling filly when he paid $130,000 for Roses Down, a daughter of First Down Dash and out of Rose Among Thorns, dam of Champion I Hear a Symphony. She was consigned by L/J Farms.

Tinnie firm gets historical landmark status

BY DIANNE STALLINGS
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

The Tinnie Mercantile, part of the Tinnie Silver Dollar Restaurant complex along U.S. 70 east of Hondo, will be dedicated as a historical landmark Sept. 14.

Majel Powell of the Sierra Blanca Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, said the group tried to gain recognition by the state when officials planned on dedicating four buildings last year. But Tinnie was knocked out of the running because it is privately owned, she said.

That didn't stop chapter members who were convinced the store and restaurant warranted special recognition. They contacted the DAR Historian General, who said nothing stood in the way of the chapter dedicating the mercantile as a historical landmark, Powell said.

At 1 p.m., Sept. 14, a plaque will be placed at the front entrance. Besides local chapter representatives, members of the DAR chapter in Roswell and District Director Edna Buleston of Silver City will attend the dedication, Powell said.

However, Tinnie Mercantile's owner, Salem Sager, will be out of the country that week.

The post office at Tinnie was established in 1903 in the mercantile building, when the mercantile went by the name of Analla, according to information in "A History of Lincoln County Post Offices" compiled by postmasters of the county in 1962. The settlement changed its name to Tinnie in 1909 in honor of the daughter of the then postmaster, Mrs. Oney Ramond.

Oilman Robert O. Anderson of Roswell bought the building in 1959 and spent hundreds of thousands of dollars preserving the structure. He added a porch all around the building, a tower and a pavilion while putting in the Silver Dollar Bar and a steak house.

John Meigs, an art collector, artist and former gallery owner in San Patricio, handled the restoration. He tracked down some of the original items in the building and purchased antiques from as far away as California to decorate the interior.

RUIDOSO PLANNING & ZONING

Guest house can't have attached carport

BY JAMES KALVELAGE
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

A request to construct a carport attached to a guest house was denied Tuesday by Ruidoso's Planning and Zoning Commission.

The commission wrangled with the differences between a garage and a carport, and a main home and a guest house. Village ordinances prohibit two garages on a single-family residential property. The property already has a detached garage.

"I admit there is a main house and a guest house on the property," said D. T. Collins, a land planner representing the property owner. "We want to attach it to the guest house."

Village planner Darrell Bremner said the application was for a second garage, but Collins said there is a difference between a carport and a garage.

"I'm inclined to agree with Tim (Collins) on the distinction between a carport and a garage," said Charles Rennick, an attorney representing the village. "I suppose you could attach it to the house itself and call it a carport. But you want to attach it to the guest house. Guest houses are not addressed in our code."

The village council last month turned down a proposed ordinance that would have identified and regulated guest quarters. Rennick advised the commission their actions could set a precedent on multiple non-conforming uses. Collins said the property was a large, 1.1 acre lot with room for a carport in addition to the home, guest quarters and garage.

Commission chairman Glen Barrow wondered if the request could be sent to the village council, which has the final say, without a recommendation from the planning commission. Rennick said a recommendation, yes or no, was required.

The council will receive a variance request with a rejection recommendation.

OUR OPINION

New Mexico's anomalous education system

Every parent of students in the public schools should read today's Education Page (page 4B) and think carefully about the subject—ratings of schools by the New Mexico Board of Education. Why? Because in New Mexico, public schools are governed by locally elected school boards and operated by teachers hired by those boards.

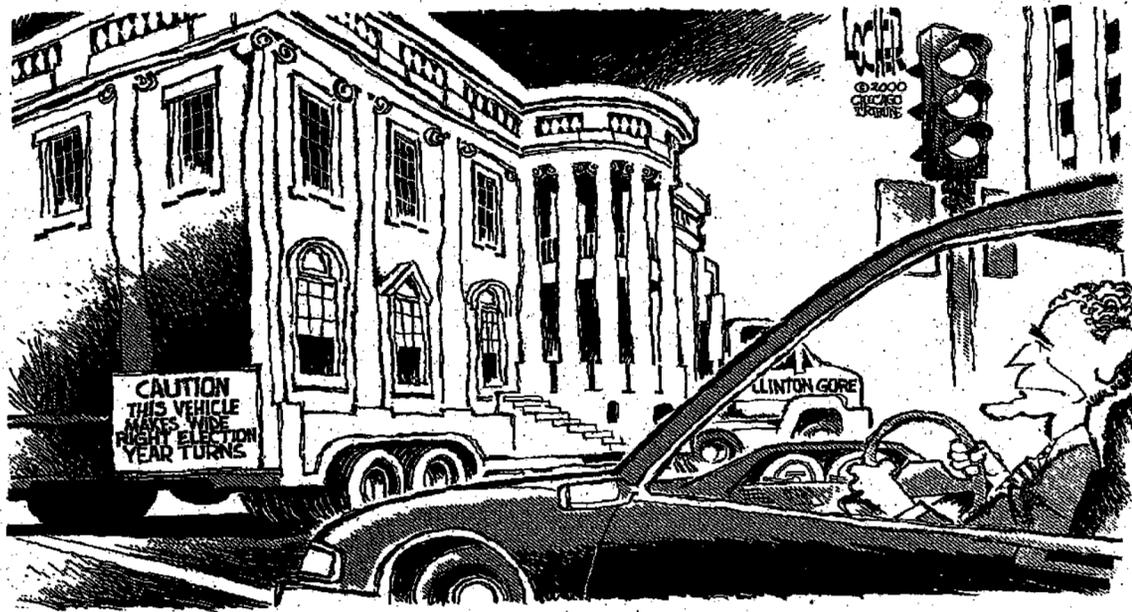

Yet most of the money is handed out by the state Department of Education through the Legislature, which following the money—means the state calls the tune.

Now the state is rating schools and the districts are watching, and waiting for some hard information to see if those ratings make sense. A large question for teachers is "content" or "teaching to the test."

It should be the same thing, but very few teachers see it that way.

And yet, going up the educational ladder, nearly every college in the land looks to ACT or SAT scores to determine college admissions and to award scholarships.

Do we learn nothing from "teaching to the test?"

YOUR OPINION

Good care, with pride

To the editor:

We moved to Ruidoso recently. My husband got very sick and we didn't know any physician, so a friend recommended Dr. Ray Seidel.

We made an appointment and the doctor knew something was wrong so he sent us to our hospital for X-rays and lab tests.

We were sent to Roswell for emergency surgery. After spending a week in the hospital we were released to come home but had to have home health care.

Our hats off to Dr. Ray Seidel and the Frontier Home Health nurses, Norma, Susie, Toni and Ann. We could not have asked for better care and concern, and we appreciate every one of you.

Our village should be very proud to have these professional people to take care of patients.

dosos for an annual reunion the first weekend in August to enjoy the cool mountain air and fish for trout in your Rio Ruidoso. As we drove up the canyon to fish the Reservation portion of the river, we were unprepared for the condition of the campground and river.

Granted, it was a busy summer weekend; however, there is absolutely no excuse for the garbage laying in and around the river. The people at the front gate blamed it on the bears but stated that the Reservation cleanup crew often did not do their job adequately.

The trash that was piled up in the river and on the banks is not the fault of bears, it is the fault of "trashy campers," lack of adequate trash containers and an uncaring and indifferent attitude of the Mescalero Apache Tribe members responsible for maintaining the quality of their "Native Lands."

I encourage all of the concerned citizens of Ruidoso to see for themselves the unhealthy condition of the upper river and do something about it.

opportunities and a lot more stress. I have no idea how strong your faith is but you had the help of a higher being to get you where you are today. Nevertheless in the Bible, 2, Corinthians 6:16, 'The body is a temple and one must treat as such. With this being said a person must remember our bodies are merely a loaner from God. Therefore the provider must keep in mind this directly relates to the level of care given to the patient.'

"When I was younger all I wanted was to be a doctor, reason being I wanted to be a person who made a difference in the care giving of people. Through observations in dealing with health care professionals I have found quality of care tends to peak and plummet at the drop of a dime. Now I have changed my major because I can only assume that over time a person's care diminishes. The one person I found the care stays the same is Dr. Dylan Midkiff, D.D.S. I have seen and heard the compassion the doctor has for everyone he treats.

"This summer I worked front office where I experienced the pain of the patients' voices and all I could do was sympathize and try to fit everyone in our busy schedule. Now that I assist the doctor in the back I feel the most important thing now is to put them at ease and sympathize with them face to face.

"Dr. Midkiff, I commend you on the care and quality you extend to everyone you treat."

Making no noise

To the editor:

Newspapers and guns are the same at times; the crooks don't want them making noise.

The nice things about newspapers is you can print a retraction.

Youth not a crime

To the editor:

After reading an article in "People" Magazine about opposition to random drug testing in public schools, I felt compelled to write.

I, too, vehemently oppose random drug testing because of the presumption of guilt—a position all too often taken by public school systems.

Fortunately, courts across the country (Indiana, Maryland, New Jersey) are finding the testing to be unconstitutional after suits were filed by concerned citizens and parents just like Larry Tannahill of Lockney, Texas.

Unfortunately what's right is not always popular and what is popular is not always right. To Mr. Tannahill and fellow freedom fighters across the country: Keep up the good work!

To the citizens of Lincoln County as we contemplate random drug testing, school uniforms, closed campuses, dress codes and curfews: let's take to heart the Libertarian youth motto:

"Youth is not a crime."

River needs help

To the editor:

"A River Runs Through It," but do you know where it has been? The Village of Ruidoso is blessed to have such a beautiful river coursing through its heart. The Village obviously takes great care and pride in preserving this treasure for its residents as well as its visitors. However, they will, as I was, be shocked and utterly appalled with the quality of the river above the Village limits on the Mescalero Apache Reservation. My family gathered in Ruidoso

GUEST COMMENTARY

Direct from farm to consumer, for extra income

BY TOM STEEVER
 AMERICAN FARM BUREAU FEDERATION

The middleman is far from dead. For years there has been much disparagingly said about that part of the marketing chain between the farmer and consumer. Often the blame for agriculture's financial ills is placed on the faceless entity that processes, packages, ships and retails farm commodities.

The truth is, in most cases the middleman is a necessary part of agricultural marketing.

There is, however, a pocket of agriculture where that is not the case. In direct marketing vernacular it's known as the farm stand. By description it is anything from sweet corn sold from a lawn chair to large permanent emporia stocked with a diverse inventory of produce and gifts.

A growing number of producer entrepreneurs are selling directly to consumers. Many of these direct marketers are, expanding on the quaint, umbrella-shaded roadside outlets. "We first started out calling ourselves Watt Fruit Stand," said Watt Farms operator Karen Watt of Albion, N.Y., "now we've kind of raised that to a level where we're calling ourselves a country market because we have expanded with a variety of items that are not particularly agriculturally oriented." A cursory scan of the home decorations, compact discs and stuffed animals among the store's fruit, fudge and preserves makes it apparent that this is more than a roadside stand. But the fact is, a decade ago it started just that way.

It's obvious that the fruit Watt grows and sells is a cut above what is available through supermarkets. Consumers are accustomed to finding direct-marketed fruit to be better. "We pride ourselves on our fruit," said Watt, president of the North American Farmers Direct Marketing Association. "We grow a very high quality fruit and that's what gets sold through our retail store." Direct marketers such as Watt, who grows 250 acres of apples, soft fruits and berries with her husband, maintain operations that are highly labor intensive.

All of the fruit is hand-picked and carefully sorted for quality. Some of the fruit is sold in local food stores at a premium, some is sold at outdoor farmers markets but the best of the best goes immediately to Watt Farms' retail store.

Direct marketing goes beyond serving the community with merchandise and fresh fruit. In Watt's case, she promotes agriculture through the Farm Bureau and hosts tourists on a faux train that runs on a trail through their orchard while a conductor gives an educational narrative about growing fruit.

Traditional middlemen exist for a reason and are in no danger of disappearing. But, there are many reasons why some growers choose to become direct marketers. For Watt, it's economics.

She laments waiting for payment for apples sold through a middleman in 1999. "If I can garner more money directly from the consumer and cut out other people who seem to nibble away at the final amount of money that I wind up with," said Watt, "I get that money sooner and I'm able to regenerate with that."

Tom Steever is a producer in broadcast services for the American Farm Bureau Federation.

Bridge tournament at ranch

Bridge players convened en masse last week, for the Spencer Guild First Annual Denim Day Bridge and Luncheon.

The event brought 100 players at 25 tables, spread across several buildings at the La Junta Guest Ranch in Sun Valley.

"This is the first annual luncheon and bridge," said Katherine Finley, president of the guild of the Spencer Theater for the Performing Arts and organizer of the new event. "We want to do this every year, about the same time at the end of August. Today is for (guild) members and their guests."

Any contributor to the Spencer Theater is eligible to be a guild member, Finley said. The guild hosts artist receptions at the theater. The newly formed group organized in April. Finley called it the social arm of the Spencer Theater.

The event began at 11 a.m. with canapes and then lunch. Cards were dealt beginning at 12:20 p.m. At 3:30 p.m. players gathered in the Big Haus of La Junta for the awarding of the grand bridge prize, the grand door prize and 17 other door prizes.

The bridge playing women were assembled in a dining area of the ranch as well as guest rooms, appropriately labeled east and west.

"I really think Ruidoso is missing out by not advertising as the bridge capitol of the southwest," Finley said.

RUIDOSO DOWNS

Mobile Home approved

The Ruidoso Downs Village Council on Monday approved a variance for a 1977 mobile home at 613 Valley View Lane.

Paul Van Gulick, chairman of the village's Planning and Zoning Commission, said the Valley View Lane lot was large enough and the mobile home, which is more than ten years old, was consistent with surrounding use.

In requesting council approval, Van Gulick said there had been no objections from neighbors.

Village purchases new pickup

The council approved the purchase of a new pickup truck for the village's animal control department.

Gladys Dillard, Ruidoso Downs clerk/treasurer said after publishing for bids, only Ruidoso Ford responded with a bid.

Dillard said there have been some "complimentary responses" before the request for bids was published, but only one after the publish date.

The four-wheel drive, F150, had a price of $17,387 plus tax, title and license.

New clerk hired

A new clerk/specialist for village hall in Ruidoso Downs will come from Ruidoso's government ranks. Terri Mosley, Ruidoso's purchasing agent, was one of seven applicants for the position in Ruidoso Downs, said Dillard, who added Mosley was well qualified. Mosley has been with Ruidoso for 14 years, Dillard said.

Special projects added to budget

A special projects line item has been established within the general fund of the village.

Trustees unanimously approved budgeting $40,000 for special projects.

The resolution stated that special projects could arise from time to time during the fiscal year.

Carrizozo rattled by Tucumcari

BY MATT WARREN
FOR THE RUIDOSO NEWS

CARRIZOZO — The Carrizozo Grizzlies volleyball team was caught off guard by the AAA Tucumcari Rattlers Thursday, falling 3-0 in a trio of close games. Carrizozo, playing host to Tucumcari, was overwhelmed by the visitors' offense.

The Grizzlies came out with a handful of saves and often times the lead. However, the Zozo girls could not prevail, with the Rattlers taking the first game 15-2. In a come-from-behind win, Tucumcari took the second game 15-13. The Grizzlies played "phenomenal" in the final game, giving the crowd the most heart-stopping game of the night. They were overcome by only a three point difference, with Tucumcari taking a 15-12 victory.

Stopping at nothing to keep the game alive, Grizzly Ariel Vallejos was all over the court, diving and jumping for the ball. She had help from Christa Franck, who cleared the wall by only inches trying

Eyesa Special cruises to All American win

BY KAREN BOEHLER
RUIDOSO NEWS SPORTS EDITOR

A jockey and trainer who've been there many times before proved why they're so successful Monday at the 42nd annual All American Futurity.

Jockey Jacky Martin rode Eyesa Special to a two-length victory over Fashionisanattitude, posting a stakes record time of 21.097, just missing the track record set 27 years ago.

The All American win was the seventh for Martin and eighth for trainer Jack Brooks, who said he's like to add a few more wins to his streak.

"I hope I do it for several more years because I'm going to keep coming back," Brooks laughed.

But he was still pleased and excited about the victory.

"This is unbelievable," Brooks said. "I knew this horse might have a breathing problem, as hot as it was. He bled a little in his trial."

Martin said the win really was as easy as it looked.

"I didn't have to really push (Eyesa Special) because he was in front and the main thing was just let him keep his feet in front of him and don't do nothing to mess him up at that time," the jockey said. "When I did hit him, he just accelerated. Then he got so far in front he wasn't running. He wasn't really just busting a gut to stay out there, so I hit him a couple more times and boy, when I did, he really accelerated then."

Brooks wasn't surprised with the big edge his horse had, either.

"Not really. Like I say, this horse is really a great colt," he said.

Eyesa Special's win over Fashionisanattitude with First Down N Surf third marked the same 1-2-3 finish as in the trials. But the horses did pick up seconds on their times over the muddy, windy trial race.

Martin had a choice of which horse to ride. He also qualified No. 2 Fashionisanattitude, but said he always knew he'd ride Eyesa Special.

"I knew, before I got off of him, when he crossed the finish line in the trials he'd probably be the one I'd ride, Martin said."

And despite the apparent ease of the win, Martin said the competition was up to the challenge.

"It was a tough field of horses. It really was," he said.

Favorite Copper Buff finished fifth.

"I got a good break and he was really running good," said jockey Alex Bautista. "But about 150 yards out, he reached out and grabbed his (right front) shoe and pulled it off. He was running real good but after that he just slowed down and backed up."

Baby Runaway posted a 12-1 upset in the All American Futurity Consolation, leaving hometown Favorite Stoll to finish a distant seventh.

Results of the All American Futurity follow.

All American Derby

A Delightful Dasher made it two years in a row Sunday when the 3-year-old gelding came from behind to win the All American Derby, edging Big on Charm and becoming only the fourth horse in history to win both the All American Futurity and Derby.

Unlike this year's Futurity, times were slow in the Derby. A Delightful Dasher covered the 440-yard course in :21.52, the stakes' slowest winning time since I Hear A Symphony's :21.52 in 1994.

Part of that might have been due to a crush just out of the starting gate.

A Delightful Dasher was bumped by Chicks Call Me, which ran second to the gelding in last year's All American Jockey Jacky Martin and trainer Jack Brooks are all smiles as they walk Eyesa Special toward the winner's circle after the colt won the All American Futurity in almost record time.

Futurity, in post 1. Rallying with determination, A Delightful Dasher passed early leaders Significant Speed and Big On Charm to record his eighth win in 11 starts. "He left decent," said jockey Joe Badilla. "He broke better than he usually does. (Big On Charm) left exceptionally good, and we got bumped a little, but it didn't really affect us. We were never really so far out of it that I was worried.

Amanda Montes sprinted to the finish of Saturday's Alamogordo Invitational.

Runners impress in first race

BY KAREN BOEHLER
RUIDOSO NEWS SPORTS EDITOR

ALAMOGORDO — Ruidoso and Capitan runners got their first look at cross country competition Saturday at the hot and steamy Alamogordo Invitational, with the Tigers boys scoring as a team and everyone else competing as individuals.

The Warriors had four girls and three boys in the varsity division, with Amanda Montes finishing sixth overall for the girls and Josh Romero 18th for the boys. Montes was second in AAA and Romero third.

The competition drew runners from AAAAA to double, competing along a fairly flat but toasty course.

"It was hard, dry with a little bit of pebbles," Montes said of the 3-mile course. "Every once in a while you'd step on one and kind of lose your balance. But it was a good course."

Montes said she was surprised with her finish.

"I know I started out real fast at the beginning," she said. "It was hard during the race and I fell once."

Romero said the heat and distance had its effect on the Warrior runners.

"It was really hot and honestly I don't think we did enough endurance training this last week to be ready to run three miles straight," he said. "When we have been running, we would run two miles, walk a little while, do some 400s and then run two miles again. But that's a big difference from running three miles straight, race pace."

Coach Ronnie Maskew was pleased with the overall effort.

"We thought they did pretty well," he said. "We really didn't know, at this stage, what they would do, but we had

Fort Sumner out foxes Tigers

BY KAREN BOEHLER
RUIDOSO NEWS SPORTS EDITOR

Capitan's Tigers had a tough night in Fort Sumner Friday, getting pounded by the Foxes 37-0.

"We just never showed up," said coach Ed Davis. "(The Foxes) took the ball the first series and took it all the way down and scored and we never could put it together, offensively or defensively."

The stats are not pretty. Fort Sumner tallied 457 total yards to Capitan's 34. The Tigers passed for 48 yards but lost 14 on the ground. Both sides were close in the number of passes attempted — 17 for the Foxes and 13 for Capitan — but the Tigers only completed two to Fort Sumner's seven.

Davis could only find one Tiger highlight.

"We punted the ball well.

About all I can say is we punted the ball well," he said. "Some of them we didn't cover well but we averaged 39 yards on punts."

Capitan averaged 39 yards on punts. The Tigers did cut down on turnovers from the previous week, giving up the ball only twice.

Fort Sumner lead 15-0 after the first and 35-0 at the half. If there was some good news for Capitan, it was that they held the Foxes to only a safety in the second half, when the clock was running under the mercy rule.

"We held them twice in the second half, and moved the ball a little but nothing to what we're capable of doing," Davis said.

That capability is what concerns Davis.

"There are no excuses to be made. We just weren't ready to play football," he said. "We've got the talent. It's just the mental thing, that's what it is."

The other thing that scares Davis is the eerie resemblance to the start of last year's disastrous season.

"We did the same thing last year we did (Friday) night except we did it in the Lordsburg game. We went to Lordsburg and it was a carbon copy of (Friday) night's game."

"And the coach wants no similarities to that season. "We don't want to have any facsimile at all to last year," he said. "We don't want to look back, we want to look to the future. Those young men are the only ones who can change it. And I believe in my heart they will."

The Tigers will try to get back on the winning track Friday during homecoming when they square off against Lordsburg.

Lady Tigers perfect after opening matches

CAPITAN — Capitan's volleyball squad is off to a good start.

After two days of competition, the Tigers are 2-0 on the season with wins against Melrose and Tatum.

Thursday, Capitan traveled to Tatum, where they won 15-11, 14-16, 15-2, 15-12 despite tiring conditions.

"It was just hotter than heck," said Tiger coach Sherry Gowan. "It was bad. I was scared the girls weren't drinking enough, it was that bad. But they pulled it out there too considering the heat. And the coach down there has some good hitters, too."

Saturday, the Tigers hosted their home opener Melrose, winning 15-9, 15-13, 15-10.

But it wasn't easy, as Melrose never gave up. It was back and forth in game one, with the Tigers finally winning on three unanswered serves by Swanlynn Chico and two, including an ace, by Jessica Tully-Mitchell.

Melrose led for a good part of games two and three, but couldn't hold on.

"They've got some heart," said Buffalo coach Tande Delt. "But they came back too late. They didn't start playing their game until the third game then it was too late."

Gowan said the Tigers adjusted their game

Warrior netters aiming high despite changes

BY KAREN BOEHLER
RUIDOSO NEWS SPORTS EDITOR

Ruidoso volleyball will see two big changes this season.

First is a major redistricting, which leaves only Santa Teresa from the former 3AAA. Gone are Cobre, Hot Springs and dreaded rival Silver.

But things aren't going to get any easier.

"No, they're not," said coach Fran Webb. "Portales, I'm sure they will be the No. 1 team in the state. Lovington is no slouch. We haven't seen Lovington a whole lot, but they are just an athletic bunch, and we cannot write them off. Santa Teresa you never know what they're going to have."

That means the Warriors are going to have to work hard to achieve the team's goal — getting out of district and into the state tournament. But Webb thinks her squad has what it takes to do that.

"I'm real excited about the bunch we've got," she said. "We've got a real strong senior bunch this year."

That's where the second change comes in.

The Warriors lost six seniors to graduation from last year's third-place 3AAA squad, including Julie Miller, Cassie Bednorz, Aquilina Herrera, Sarah Fromknecht and LaJaur Herrera.

But Leah Miller, Krystal

The Warrior volleyball team is taking a new perspective on the season, hoping to earn a berth in the state tournament.

Rojas, Kami Sparks, and Eve Reyes all have experience, meaning the missing graduates won't be quite as missed.

Add in junior Carrie Line and freshman Erin Nutting, and you have the nucleus of a solid Warrior team.

"They do have varsity experience, they really do, and we have about four of them that got serious varsity experience. So that helps," Webb said.

The number of Warriors out for the squad isn't big — about 13 between the varsity and junior varsity squad, with eight full-time varsity players — but quality makes up for a lack of quantity.

Webb said the team's strength is going to be its hitting.

"We're going to be very strong hitting," she said. "Our setting is coming around, and of course you've got to have that to have hitting. But when our sets are good, our hitters are very strong. So that is going to be one of the things we're going to bank on a lot."

"We want to use our strong hitters to cause the defense to not know who they're going to, because we will be well spread as far as hitting. Hopefully, that will make the defense uncertain as to where we're going with our hitters."

If there's something the team needs to work on, it's passing and serving.

"The thing is, again, if you don't have a pass, you can't have a hit. So we're really going to focus a lot on our passes," Webb said.

Despite the tough district competition, the coach is thinking positive. She really would like to see the Warriors take the new district title.

"I really think we can," she said. "I think we've got a good bunch. These seniors are strong workers and the ones who are below them are following right along as far as following their lead. And there's some talent. The four seniors are very talented. They're just an athletic group. They really are. And I'm really excited about them."

But first, Ruidoso is going to have to get past the Rams. Webb thinks it's not an impossibility.

Just because they're ranked No.-1 I don't think we can't beat them," she said. "I think we've got to really focus on them and we're going to have to play the top of our game, but I don't think they're undefeatable. ... We can't look at Portales as our Silver City. We've got to look at them as just Portales and that we can beat them. We got this thing with Silver City that we just can't beat them, we can't beat them. ... I think we have got to really aim high."

The Warriors will get a chance to prepare for Portales during a pre-district season that includes facing such top AAAAA and AAA squads as Roswell, Goddard, Moriarty, Deming and Artesia, as well as 16 of the state's top schools at the Roswell Tournament.

"We're going to go for death or glory, I guess," Webb laughed about the early-season schedule.

Even with the strong competition, Webb said she's excited.

"We've got a good strong bunch and I hate to set my hopes too high but I really don't think I am," she said. "I think it's very possible for these guys to do very well. They've got the work ethic. They've got the athletic ability. And they've got the killer instinct mentality, which is something we don't get very often."

some good times compared to where we started out last year. Some of them finished real well, but we were looking for overall effort and time and we thought these kids have improved a bunch since last year."

Capitan

The Tiger boys were the only Lincoln County squad that competed as a team, and despite five of the six runners being completely new to the sport, the boys finished fifth overall in the Open (JV) Division, behind AAAAA and AAA schools, and ahead of AAAA squad Goddard.

Lady Tiger Randi Goss ran what coach Zale Woodward said was "a smart race," starting out dead last but moving up to finish 14th. Armand Nicolet edged an ailing Tyler Haughness, finishing 20th with Haughness 22nd. Woodward was also pleased with the time of third-place runner Kurtis Lee, who crossed the finish in 21:25.

"I think things went well," Woodward said of the opening Tiger effort. "I think everybody enjoyed the competition. We're not seasoned veterans yet, but at least we've got one competition under our belt."

And he's expecting to see improvement as the season progresses.

"I thought the times were good," the coach said. "Of course, the heat took its toll; we're capable of running faster but we've got a starting point now and something to build upon."

IDENTIFYING VISUAL IMPAIRMENT GLAUCOMA

The exact cause of glaucoma is not known and cannot currently be prevented. It is one of the leading causes of blindness in the U.S. today, but if detected early and treated promptly, it can be controlled and vision loss can be minimized. Most frequently, glaucoma occurs in people over 40, those who have a family history of glaucoma, persons who are extremely nearsighted, or who are diabetic. Glaucoma is more common among blacks than whites.

Glaucoma is an eye disease in which the passages that allow fluid in the eye to drain become clogged or blocked. This results in the amount of fluid in the eye building up and causing increased pressure inside the eye. This increased pressure damages the optic nerve which connects the eye to the brain. The optic nerve is the main carrier of vision information to the brain. Damage to it results in less information sent to the brain and a loss of vision.

Regular eye examinations are an important means of detecting glaucoma in its early stages and will include:

- Tonometry - a simple and painless measurement of the pressure in the eye.
- Ophthalmoscopy - an examination of the back of the eye to observe the health of the optic nerve.
- Visual field test - a check for the development of blind spots.

Glaucoma can usually be treated effectively by using eye drops or other medicines. Unfortunately, any loss of vision from glaucoma usually cannot be restored.

We invite you to stop by and visit us at Family Vision Center, 159 Mesclero Trail, if you have questions concerning glaucoma, diabetes and your eyes, cataracts, or macular degeneration. Protect your vision and your eyes, they're the only ones you'll ever have.

Mescalero looking for v-ball success

BY KAREN BOEHLER
RUIDOSO NEWS SPORTS EDITOR

MESCALERO — The Lady Chiefs are finally hoping to get some respect in district.

After a few tough early years, coach Ardena Orosco said her squad is ready to compete with the best.

"I don't think there's anybody (in District 8A) who's really awesome, who will really blow us out of the water," she said. "The girls can play with each one in the district. It's just they have to be determined when they do. I think we can be competitive in the district."

The Chiefs graduated only two seniors — Angel Aragon and Deena Dolan — but are returning five of 13 total players (varsity and junior varsity).

"We do have a minimum of two years experience, so that's good for us," Orosco said. "For a long time, we haven't had any experience."

Leading the team will be seniors Sasha Aragon, who's played four years and Alice Tahnitto, who's had mostly junior varsity experience.

Juniors Petra Valdez and Rosie Smith, sophomores Nicole Dolan and Penny Chimal and freshman Charlotte Tahnitto round out the varsity.

Orosco, who watched her team defeat the Ruidoso freshman Thursday, said fans can expect to see lots of hard work from her squad.

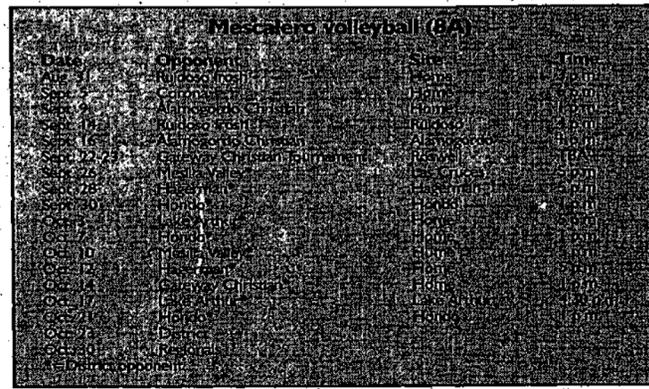

"I got compliments from the referee (in the Ruidoso game) that they played really well," the coach said. "He's watched us develop over the past four years, and he said they're really more aggressive and going for more balls and being a little more active in play. Because when we first started, we would just stand there and watch the ball drop.

They're really into playing this year."

That doesn't mean the Chiefs are quite ready to take on the best yet.

They got a late start to the season because only four players came out for the squad before school started. When it was announced the season would have to be canceled if more girls didn't play, Orosco got her crew. But the team is still trying to get into shape.

The Chiefs also aren't very tall, something Orosco said she's just going to have to work around.

"I don't have anybody taller than 5-foot-5," she said. "Our hitting and defending the high spike is going to be our problem. That's one of the things we're going to learn: to be a little more scrappy to get those balls that come from good hitters."

Their strength, the coach said, is being like family.

"They each know they can play together, which is good, because four of them have been playing together for a long time," she said. "So each of them knows their limits. If they see one other player getting down, they can either say, 'Come on, you can do this. Don't let it bother you too much to where it affects your play.'"

Orosco said she hopes her squad surprises some of the schools in the district.

"I would like to see them compete hard for it in district, because I watch my girls play, and I think they can do it," she said. "I want them to get up there and be a district competitor. Since we're such a young school, they don't think they can do it. But I see them. They have the heart to play in district."

Corona falls in season opener

The young Cardinal volleyball team opened the season with a loss, falling 3-1 to To'hajiilee in To'hajiilee, but despite lack of experience and low numbers, still won one game.

"We played better than I had thought we would," said coach Rick Gage. "Could be better but it could have been worse, too."

The Cardinal squad of seven squared off against a full team from To'hajiilee, where out of 13 players, only eight saw action.

"I felt like we were playing the best they had," Gage said. "I was impressed with the (Cardinal) young ones. We're making some progress. We'll see what happens here in a couple of weeks from now."

Corona opens district against Vaughn at Vaughn Thursday, then plays district foe Bosque Prep Friday in the team's home opener and Hondo Saturday.

"We didn't know what to expect and stuff, but they had two really good, strong hitters and we adjusted the block," she said. "The block wasn't on but the defense adjusted to it and we got them."

Senior Lindsay Bush had some strong spikes that had the hometown crowd cheering, including one to end the match, but other Tigers did

"They had their strongest blocker on Lindsey," the coach said. "What I was impressed with is when T.J. (Maroon) got up there because a lot of teams are looking at Lindsey Bush and they don't know our second rotation is just as strong."

Ratings of schools in New Mexico are out — at least on the Internet — and Ruidoso area administrators, for the most part, question the validity of the rating system.

Administrators claim that they have requested information from the system from the State Department of Education (SDE) and not received it. They say not all districts test all students, so the districts' test results are not comparable. No definitions have been established for some of the criteria used to make the ratings, say others, such as for attendance and drop-outs.

The districts are unable to validate the data used to make the ratings, despite requests to the SDE, and their administrators mistrust the accuracy of the SDE's records. Basing a school's rating so heavily on standardized test scores is also criticized, even in those schools — such as Cloudcroft — that received good ratings from the SDE.

Many administrators consider the SDE's accountability system an attempt to get on a political band wagon, and say the result will be a loss of real education as teachers replace teaching content with "teaching to the test."

The model

"This model they devised is just a philosophical model they invented, and they've changed it several times," said Paul Wirth, director of instructional support for the Ruidoso Municipal School District. "They haven't had the opportunity to look at all aspects of the model and pilot it first to see if it makes any sense."

Wirth also pointed out that the SDE has come up with no common definitions for attendance; in some schools this can mean a student is in school all day, in others it can mean a student showed up for one class. Yet attendance is one of the criteria used to rate the schools.

"For the life of me, I can't figure out the system," said Glenna

Goodwin, superintendent of Cloudcroft Schools. Her high school was one of the few in the state to receive an "exemplary" rating. "I do think there's some problems with the system they're using and there's much controversy over it. There's been a lot of questioning about how they're rated and the data."

"We'll know nothing as to the specifics (of the ratings) for another two to three weeks on what we scored where," said Dale Jackson, principal of Capitan Middle School. "We do know it can be as simple as having one area of concern that drops you from 'exceeds' to 'meets,' like your CTBS (standardized) test scores."

Jackson mentioned that some of the schools listed as "on probation" in an Albuquerque Journal report were not actually on probation and that the state superintendent of schools, Michael Davis, made a public apology.

"We don't know what areas we need to concentrate on because we haven't got the information back," Jackson said.

Wirth said he requested information last spring at a meeting in Las Cruces, so that he could verify that the SDE was using accurate data.

"We were told that it would be available in a couple weeks," Wirth said. "We still haven't received it."

The deputy director for accountability and information services of the State Department of Education, Patricia Rael, said she wasn't aware that Wirth had requested information, and that the SDE held forums last spring and sent preliminary ratings "as a heads-up." She said all the data used to make the ratings came from the school districts, so they already had that information.

Test participation

Rael said the test participation rate for all districts in the state was close to 100 percent, but no data on this has been provided, and many administrators doubt it.

"If she is claiming that close to 100 percent participate," said Helen Kobelnik, principal of White Mountain Intermediate School, "we have asked for them (the data) for the last several years. When are they going to publish the participation rates?"

they are is because of all the programs we have in place, and we implement new programs all the time."

Ward cited accelerated reading programs, a high school reading program for students reading below their expected level, incentive programs, a computerized reading program as some of the things the district has done to raise the skills of students.

A computerized reading program will be installed this week and teachers are being trained to use the program, he said.

Hondo has 125 computers in four computer labs, Ward said, "more than most schools our size."

"We know we do certain things well," Ward said, "and are continuing to do those well and trying to improve on the deficit areas we see. We are certainly dealing with those on a daily basis."

Rael said probationary status "means that, using the statewide indicators, which are assessment results, dropout results and attendance results, a school is considered not to be meeting the state standards, that they are in need of some actions that will improve its status."

The first time a school is rated probationary, Rael said, the school receives a performance warning, "and they are required to do a needs assessment, to review their plan for student success, to work closely with their district to align their work with the district curriculum and, in turn, the district curriculum is aligned with state expectations in terms of standards."

The second year a school is rated probationary, the SDE will assist the school by sending staff to train personnel in how to do a thorough needs assessment and to review the progress of students. Schools will be shown how to take the data apart to determine which needs of students are not being met.

"If a school still does not improve its status," Rael said, "then it goes into requirements for school improvements that are closely monitored by the Department of Education."

In the second year of probationary status, a SDE staff meeting is required, with SDE staff present and the community involved in helping the school decide which actions the school should take.

Because I think we have a right to know."

Kobelnik said 97 percent of the Ruidoso students take the test, and she has talked with administrators from other districts and believes it's much lower, with many students who wouldn't score as well not taking the tests.

Kobelnik also said the model used by the SDE is faulty, that it uses the number of free and reduced lunches, which is not allowed by the federal government for its programs.

"The more free and reduced students you have, the lower the expectation on the score," Kobelnik said. "That's like saying poor kids are ... is refusing to accept this, so the state is still going ahead with this rating system based on a model that the federal government has told me is unacceptable."

Some district administrators and Rael disagree on whether the guidelines for the types of participation by special education students are clear enough that all districts participate uniformly, resulting in data that are actually comparable from district to district.

Probation: what does it mean?

Hondo High School received a probationary rating, and Eddie Ward, principal, said no one has been able to explain to his satisfaction what that means. He said it appears that the "standardize tests are the main indicators."

"There are a lot of other indicators we feel should be used to fairly assess what's happening in the individual schools," Ward said.

Only 36 percent of the children entering kindergarten and first grade last fall were proficient in English, Ward said, and only 27 percent rated in the high proficiency range. Yet 83 percent of sixth graders tested last year are proficient in English, scoring in the mid-level range in reading and writing skills.

This shows, he said, "that the school is making great strides to improve the literacy, reading and writing skills, particularly when you take into consideration it's a status population, not transient."

"The students that are coming in at a low level of English proficiency are leaving elementary school at 83 percent. The reason

EDUCATION BRIEFS

College-bound SAT

New Mexico's college-bound students scored higher in 2000 than their national peers on the Scholastic Assessment Test, a major college entrance examination measuring verbal and mathematical reasoning skills.

The administering College Board reports that on a 200 to 800 scale, New Mexico students averaged a score of 549 on the verbal portion of the test and 543 on the math portion, compared with national averages of 505 on the verbal and 514 on the math.

Twelve percent of the state's high school graduates, or 2,322 students (including 1,779 public school students), took the SAT, an increase of 21 students over last year, reported the College Board.

Cheryl Brown-Kovacic, the State Department of Education director of assessment and evaluation, said many college-bound students prepare by taking advanced-placement courses and participating in concurrent enrollment programs.

An ENMU 'dream class'

A class at ENMU-Ruidoso will discuss common dream themes, dream interpretations and lucid dreaming.

Becoming aware of and understanding one's dreams can guide one towards a more complete knowledge of one's self.

A minimum of six students is required.

The instructor, Betsy Hambrick, is a licensed master of social work and has used the healing powers of art and image with her clients for more than six years.

Classes will be from 5:30-7 p.m. on Wednesdays, Sept. 27-Oct. 11.

The fee is $45 and the location will be announced. For information call the Ruidoso Instruction Center Community Education Program at 257-2120.

Warming Up for the Summer Olympics

Hello, Australia

Australia is in the Southern Hemisphere. Its name comes from the Latin word "Australis," meaning "southern."

Australia's seasons are different from ours. It's almost fall here, while it's almost spring down there. Soon, the whole world will be watching the Summer Olympics to be held in Australia from Sept. 15 through Oct. 1.

Tasmania is a beautiful island off the southeastern coast. It is Australia's smallest state.

Australia is divided into six states and two territories. The two territories are the Northern Territory and the Capital Territory (the area around the country's capital, Canberra).

Australia is ...

- the smallest continent.
 - the largest island in the world.
 - the only country that takes up an entire continent. Its real name is the Commonwealth of Australia; the country is independent but has close ties with Great Britain.
 - a low, flat continent that is like a bowl, with low flatlands in the middle and mountains along the coast.
 - next to Antarctica, the driest continent, with about a fifth of the country covered by 11 deserts.
 - about the size of the continental United States (which has a population of 275 million).
- With so little area suitable for settlement, there are few people (about 19 million) when compared to its size. Most people — 80 percent — live in cities along the coast.

The British arrive

Unfurling the British flag.

More than 200 years ago, in 1788, a group of British sailing ships, called the First Fleet, landed at Sydney Cove.

The first white settlers were convicts, guards and tradesmen, sent to set up a colony for prisoners.

The host city

Sydney is on one of the most beautiful harbors in the world.

Sydney, the host for the Olympics, is Australia's largest city. It has a population of 4 million people. The city is famous for its Harbour Bridge, which is heavier and wider than any arch bridge in the world.

Rookie Cookies Recipe

Anzac Biscuits

"Biscuit" is another word for cookie in Australia. This popular Australian treat was created during World War I. They were sent in food parcels to troops known as "Anzacs" (Australia and New Zealand Army Corps).

You'll need:

- 1 cup oats
- 3/4 cup coconut
- 1 cup all-purpose flour
- 1 cup sugar
- 1/2 cup butter
- 1 tablespoon golden corn syrup
- 2 tablespoons boiling water
- 1/2 teaspoon baking soda

What to do:

1. In a medium bowl, combine oats, coconut, flour and sugar. Mix well.
2. In a small saucepan, combine butter and syrup over low heat. Cook until butter is melted.
3. In a small bowl, combine boiling water and baking soda. Mix until smooth.
4. Add water mixture to butter mixture. Mix until smooth.
5. Add liquid mixture to dry mixture. Mix well.
6. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto a greased cookie sheet. Press with a fork.
7. Bake in a preheated 300-degree oven for 20 minutes or until golden-brown.

The natives

Aboriginal dancers perform a dance from their past.

The natives of Australia are called Aboriginals. They are dark-skinned people whose ancestors were on the continent for about 60,000 years. Few Aboriginals today live as their hunter-gatherer ancestors did. About 72 percent live in towns and cities. Today they make up more than 2 percent of the population.

MIGHTY FUNNY'S Funny Phonics

It's fun to learn phonics, or the way letters sound. This week's target sound is the one made by the FL blend, as in the word flag.

John: I don't like all these flies!
Alan: OK, pick out the ones you like, and I'll get rid of the rest.

Q: Where do dogs get fleas?
A: The flea market!

Q: What did the flaming match say to the man who lighted it?
A: "How dare you strike me!"

Go on an FL word hunt. What other words can you find with the FL blend? What sound do you hear?

The Aussies ... Kids, Places and Things

The Kids

Most Australians have British, Irish or other European backgrounds, but there are many other backgrounds represented, too. The kids in the photo above go to a school made up of 19 different ethnic groups.

Most kids wear school uniforms in both public and private schools. The students above are priding allegiance. They dress very much like American kids do when they are out of school.

Kids bring their lunches from home or eat meat pies or sandwiches from the school canteen, or small kitchen.

AUSSIES LOVE VEGEMITE.

Sometimes the entire school might eat their lunch outdoors at the same time. Aussies love being outside. In bad weather, kids eat in their classrooms.

SUMMER Australian schools do not have cafeterias. A spread called Vegemite is used for sandwiches and crackers. Although it looks like chocolate sauce, it tastes quite different. It has a salty taste.

Since the seasons are different in the Southern Hemisphere, Aussie kids start each school year in February.

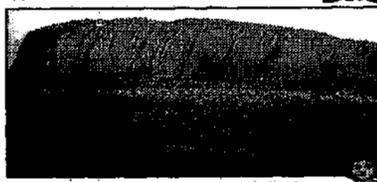

WINTER

Places

You will be seeing many of Australia's unusual landmarks, both natural and made by human hands, when Australia shows its many attractions during the Olympics.

The Sydney Opera House overlooking Sydney harbor is one of the most famous landmarks in the world. Some of the Olympic events will take place with the Opera House in the background.

Ayers Rock is the largest rock in the world. It is a single stone rising out of the desert in the "outback," or middle of the country. Ayers Rock measures 5 1/2 miles around the base and is 1,000 feet high. The rock is also called Uluru (oo-LOO-roo).

The Great Barrier Reef is a chain of more than 2,500 reefs and many small islands. It stretches 1,242 miles along the coast of the state of Queensland. Tourists visit there to see the many fish and plants that make this spot one of the wonders of the world.

Look through your newspaper for news of Australia and the upcoming Olympics.

The Mini Page thanks the Embassy of Australia, Washington, D.C., for help with this issue.

Things

The Australian flag features the Southern Cross, a five-star constellation seen in the Southern Hemisphere; the British ensign, or symbol; and one star that represents the Commonwealth of Australia.

The people of Australia enjoy a very high standard of living. The country has a well-trained workforce on farms and in modern factories. Below are a few of the products of Australia.

Australia is famous for its wool and sheep. Australia produces more wool than any other country in the world. There are six sheep for every one Australian! Farmland covers about 65 percent of Australia, but most of it is dry grazing land.

Australia is the third-largest exporter of wheat in the world. Other important crops include sugar cane, barley, oats, potatoes, grapes, rice, sorghum and cotton. Crops are grown on only about 5 percent of the farmland.

Mining is important to Australia. The country is the world's largest exporter of black coal, bauxite, diamonds and mineral sands. It also exports iron ore, uranium, aluminum, gold, copper, tin and silver. Australia produces most of the world's finest opals.

Australia is a leader in the research and production of livestock vaccines and pet-care medicines. The country also produces airline fueling pumps.
