U.S. 70 repaying on reservation close to start

The 6-week project will be followed by 4-lane work southwest from Ruidoso's 'Y'

BY JAMES KALVELAGE RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

More orange barrels are in store for Ruidoso-area drivers later this summer and next year. Repaying of 14 1/2 miles of U.S. Highway 70 across the Mescalero Apache Reservation, already 4-lane, could begin later this month. Mohammad Moabed, district engineer with the highway department, said bids for the project were scheduled to be opened today.

"We met with (Mescalero Apache) President Sara Misquez. I know they have been frustrated with the condition of the highway," Moabed said. "But they are also understanding and looking forward to the repairs."

The pavement rehabilitation project is expected to last six weeks. Moabed said. Once a contract is awarded, a determination will be made on construction traffic. The repaving could either be completed one lane at a time or two-way traffic could be moved to one side of the 4lane roadway during the project.

Meanwhile, the New Mexico State and Transportation Department is working toward an estimated $14 million project that would make U.S. 70 four lanes from Ruidoso to the Mescalero Apache tribal road that connects with the Inn of the Mountain Gods.

"The majority of the project is designed, except for the intersection with State Highway 48," said Moabed.

The intersection, locally called the "Y," has become an issue for the Village of Ruidoso. Officials are concerned about how Gavilan Canyon Road will tie into the intersection.

"One of the preliminary plans had it completely closed off, and that's not acceptable," said Alan Briley, Ruidoso village manager. "The way it is now is better than completely closing it off," he said. Gavilan Canyon Road now terminates at the "Y." Briley said current plans would largely leave the road's connection to Sudderth Drive (State Highway 48) the way it is now, with one-way access to Gavilan from the intersection.

"They said it is a pretty major intersection with a pretty major problem," Briley said. "But to do nothing is not a long-term answer if they're going to 4-lane 70 and we don't see them again for 20 years."

Village officials and state highway engineers and planners were expected to reconsider the intersection that provides limited access to and from

Hondo's Casey resigns; takes Las Vegas school post

BY SANDY SUGGITT KUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

Barbara Casey, Hondo Valley

Schools superintendent, has resigned her position to accept a job as superintendent in Las Vegas, N.M. — a return to her old stomping grounds.

Casey became superintendent in Hondo in July 1996, after 22 years teaching at Goddard High School in Roswell and three years teaching at Highlands University. She also served in the state Legislature for 12 years.

When she became superintendent in Hondo, she replaced Margarito Urangua, who had resigned. The school board had not allowed the previous superintendents to pay bills or spend bond money for repairs and the state superintendent stepped in during Casey's first year there and selected a new school board.

Casey said she's looking forward to returning to Las Vegas, where she graduated from college and taught Spanish for three years. School Board President Braulio Alvarado could not be reached for comment about Casey's resignation.

On June 22, the State Board of Education chose sculptor Luis Jiménez to fill a vacancy on the school board, ending months of efforts by the Hondo School Board to fill a board seat since the election in February, when Salam Sager resigned.

On April 20, the board was evenly split between Jiménez and another candidate. Rita Dickinson, and the matter was turned over to the state's Accreditation. Intervention and Management Support Unit. The state had stepped in again in Hondo in 1997 when three board members

Jiménez is scheduled to be sworn in at the July 17 school board meet-

Meanwhile, the New Mexico Foundation for Open Government had requested copies of school board minutes for March, May and June, regarding votes on matters that were not on the agendas. Alvarado said these were oversights that had been corrected at subsequent meetings, and the lawyer for the school district

On July 5, a letter was mailed to Casey from Robert Johnson the New Mexico Foundation for Open Government about not having received the May and June minutes after requesting them in a June 15 letter, which, Johnson wrote, puts Hondo out of compliance with the Public Records Act.

RIO RUNS LOW

Despite recent rain showers, the Rio Ruidoso's July flow is far below average, and building rock dams doesn't help

BY DIANNE STALLINGS

Stepping into the Rio Ruidoso Tuesday, Jim Shoop wasn't worried about getting his shoes wet.

Because of lack of rain, the river was flowing at a meager 2-cubic feet per second, and - to further slow what water was inching its way down the river bed - someone had piled a wall of rocks to form a dam and create a small pond.

"This isn't done maliciously," said Dick Wisner, executive director of the Ruidoso River Association. "My before I understood the damage that can occur. We don't want to jump on anyone, just explain why it's destruc-

"Some people think it's their property. The river bed may be, but the water isn't."

Shoop, owner of Fly's Etc. and an association director, explained that damming the river will impede the fish that need to swim up and down the stream.

"When you change the speed of water flow by gravity, there are impacts," he said. "The sun heats the ponded water and the oxygen level drops, causing a strain on the fish and maybe leading to death."

Nutrients running into the river encourage the growth of algae and when that dies and decays, it fills in the bottom along with other sediment, Shoop said. The river begins to lose its depth.

If a flood occurs, debris will pile up behind the dam, possibly flooding, property on either side, he said. Dams also contribute to river bank

One and a half months into the summer, the Ruidoso area is lagging behind average rainfall levels and that shows in readings of the river's flow. In 1999 during the month of June the average flow was 4 cfs, a year later the average was 6 cfs and this year it was 2 cfs. In the month of July, which normally sees the heaviest of the monsoon, the average flow is 13 cfs. Last year, it swelled to 27.1 cfs and this year to date, it's 2 cfs.

"If we don't start getting something significant in rainfall soon, we'll be in trouble," Wisner said "It looked like we were starting early in late June and then we dried up. The village isn't diverting any water from the river into Grindstone (lake reservoir). We're seeing what God has given us and that's less than half of normal.'

During June, the National Weather Service in Albuquerque reported only light rainfall on four days, but a spokesman said data was not turned in for June 16, a day when nearby Cloudcroft received about three-quarters of an inch.

'Huge' auction Saturday at Glencoe

Many local government entities to team up at the Rural Events Center to sell off much surplus equip-

BY DIANNE STALLINGS RUTIOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

Billed as a "huge" auction by Lincoln County officials, a Saturday sale at the Glencoe Rural Events Center should appeal to everyone, claims County Manager Tom Stewart. "It's the first sale we've had for about two years and that's why there's lots of equipment, and because Ruidoso and Ruidoso Downs also joined with us," he said Tuesday. On the block are former law enforcement sedans, some heavy equipment, kitchen equipment, computers and "some mighty fine four-by-four fixer-upper vehicles for someone interested in that kind of tinkering," Stewart said.

Potential buyers may stop at the center, on U.S. 70 about 12 miles east of Ruidoso Downs, to view the sale items ahead of time during normal working hours. A representative of auctioneer James Cecil should be on site Thursday and Friday, Stewart said.

"The parking lot is filled with items and the center itself is full," he said. "We'll also have food. The FFA is catering the event."

During a special meeting Monday in Ruidoso, commissioners approved 24 more items for the sale, including an upright freezer, a 1987 mini-van, a two-compartment stainless steel sink, a steam table, a six-burner grill and a copy machine.

Other equipment up for bid includes a dump truck, a salt spreader, a loader and a

Man hurt in fall

A Ruidoso man was injured when he was thrown from the bed of a pick-up truck in Ruidoso's Upper Canyon.

H.C. Kholwadwala, 67, received head, back and wrist injuries in the July 1 incident on Main Road at Flume Canyon Drive.

Kholwadwala was reportedly holding a refrigerator in the bed of the pick-up truck when the appliance tipped over as the truck rounded a curve. He was ejected from the back of the truck and landed on the pavement. Kholwadwala was transported to the Lincoln County Medical Center by ambulance.

The driver of the vehicle, Kelwin Dogobert Sierra, 17, Ola, Ark., was cited for not having insurance on the truck.

The accident happened about 8:15 p.m.

Woman hit on street

A Texas woman was taken to the Lincoln County Medical Center after being hit by a vehicle while crossing Sudderth Drive in Midtown.

Kelly Hunter, 25, Lubbock, Texas, complained of back pain after a turning pick-up truck struck her at the intersection of Eagle and Sudderth drives. The incident happened about 3:30 p.m. June 30.

The driver of the pick-up truck, a 16-year-old Alto youth, told police he was making a left turn onto Sudderth Drive when he struck the woman who was crossing the street. The youth said he did not see the woman.

The pedestrian said the vehicle turned from Eagle Drive and hit her.

A witness told an investigating officer that the truck "barely" struck the woman and afterwards she was cursing at the driver.

The youth was cited for careless driving.

Moabed said any major changes in the intersection would up the projected $14 million price tag for the 6 1/2mile project. However, he did say the department will work with the village on the intersection design.

The remainder of the project is designed, with bids expected to be solicited late this year and construction of the 4-lane roadway anticipated to begin by March 2002. Moabed said he hopes the construction project will be completed in a year.

Some of the existing twolane U.S. Highway 70 will be retained, while other sections will be torn out and replaced. Moabed said the goal is to correct curves for safety and to provide adequate drainage.

Ruidoso police detectives are investigating the attempted murder of Willis L. Black, 71, of Ruidoso.

Officers responded to a report of a man shot at 116 Rowan Road shortly after midnight Saturday. Black was found bleeding as a result of a single gunshot wound to the abdomen. He was taken by ambulance to the Lincoln County Medical Center where he underwent emergency surgery. Black was listed in stable condition Monday.

Black had reportedly gone out with a neighbor Friday night. The neighbor, Ann Blue, 62, told investigators when she was parking Black's car she saw a vehicle drive slowly down Rowan Road and then heard a shot. Blue said she laid down on the floor of the car.

Investigation of murder

Police found a 9 mm shell casing from a semi-automatic pistol near the passenger side of Black's car.

Concluding there is no public safety issue, a state official has sidetracked a Mescalero Apache bid for having a primary enhanced emergency call (E-911) center on the reservation.

The tribe had requested that the New Mexico Board of Finance fund $120,000 for equipment for an enhanced 911 center. The request was tabled by the board last month. Lt. Gov. Walter Bradley, a member of the board, had visited with the tribe in late June to hear firsthand about 911 service on the reservation.

"I felt it did not qualify," said David Hanna, bureau chief with the Department of Finance and Administration's Local Government Division. He also oversees New Mexico's 911 program. Hanna said the Mescalero request was not placed on the board's agenda for Tuesday's meeting.

"It is very important for me to say they have excellent 911 service," Hanna said. "It was alleged they don't. This is not a 911 issue. It is not a public safety issue."

But Troy Bolen, Bureau of Indian Affairs police chief at Mescalero, disputes Hanna's

"It is minutes and not seconds that we're talking about," Bolen said of response time with the current 911 configuration on the reservation. "It is lost minutes that can equate into lost lives."

Hanna said 911 reservation calls are routed to the Ruidoso Police Department, which he described as a well-operated center.

"If there are delays it's not in the dispatch center," Hanna said. "It's a limited number of police officers covering a large Bolen admitted unplugged the system after he arrived in the spring of 1999.

"I thought it would be the best way to find out why the system was not working," Bolen said. "I figured we would get a call saying the system was not working. Four months later, US West called saying they had an alarm saying our system was not working."

While Hanna said the Mescalero police agency should have called the state to say the PAP was not operational. Bolen contended those calls were made as well as calls to phone companies that routed 911 calls.

"I feel like the Local Government Division backboarded me on this," Bolen said. "The governor said it would be considered at the July meeting. The governor supported it. The lieutenant governor did not. I am going to push the tribe to move forward on this and force the state's hand."

IDENTIFYING VISUAL IMPAIRMENT DIABETIC RETINOPATHY

Diabetic retinopathy is caused when the small blood vessels that nourish the eye's light sensitive retina become weakened or damaged due to diabetes. Since the disease can cause blindness if untreated early diagnosis and treatment is essential. If you are diabetic or have a family history of diabetes, it is important that you receive a comprehensive eye examination annually. To detect diabetic retinopathy, your doctor uses a special instrument called an ophthalmoscope to look inside your eyes. This instrument lights and magnifies the blood vessels in your eyes. The interior of our eyes may also be photographed to provide additional information.

The beginning stages of diabetic retinopathy may cause blurring in the central field of vision or it may be in your side vision depending on the areas affected by weakened blood vessels. As diabetic retinopathy progresses, you may notice a cloudiness in your vision, blind spots or floaters. In more advanced stages, scar tissue may form causing additional distortion. Over time this scar tissue can shrink and detach the retina by pulling it toward the center of the eye. Once diabetic retinopathy has been detected, your optometrist may recommend laser or other surgery to reduce the progression of the disease.

As a diabetic, or a person at risk, it is important to take steps to prevent the development of diabetic retinopathy. Take your prescribed medication as instructed, follow a proper diet, exercise regularly and have your eyes examined annually. We invite you to stop by Family Vision Center, 159 Mescalero Trail, if you have questions concerning diabetes and your eyes, cataracts, glaucoma or macular degeneration. Take care of your eyes, they're the only ones you'll ever le on reservation still must boil drinking water

RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

Boil orders remain in effect on at least four of the 14 water systems serving the Mescalero Apache reservation adjacent to Ruidoso.

Thora Padilla, who heads the Management Resource and Protection Department of the tribe, said officials there are focusing on systems that serve the highest number of people on a year-around basis. and those that have received money for improvements.

Cynthia Fanning, speaking for the Dallas regional water quality division of the federal Environmental Protection Agency, said Tuesday that Mescalero is under a continuous boil water order for the White Tail and Nogal systems — both slated for improvements.

"A new well is being drilled and a storage tank added at White Tail," Fanning said. "That work is under-

"Work hasn't yet started on the Nogal system, but the EPA sent some money to the Indian Health Service, which added some money of its own to make some improvements such as new piping."

Padilla said a storage tank also will be added to Nogal.

That's important because currently the water goes directly from the source to the pipes, she said. The tank will allow chlorination treatment of the water, one of the most frequently used methods of killing bacteria.

The water system at Silver Lakes. a spring source, also is under a boil notice, but because it's a seasonal camping area, it's not as high a priority, Padilla said.

Although the BIA Agency water system was cited last year, it's working fine currently, she said.

Her biggest problem is the North Springs system, which serves most of the tribal population and is under a continuous boil water order, Padilla

"We're so spread out. It takes a day and a half to do water sampling, and being on boll water orders, we have to do that more often," the IHS to do an assessment to determine the best option," she said. "We're facing high dollars with that one because it's a spring system and it's real vulnerable. We're looking at alternative sources and short-term things to get the water quality back. We're not real sure yet. We've got engineers looking at it.

"We don't want to sink a whole lot of money into it and not achieve what we're trying to do. Long term, we're looking at a deep well as an alternative source. We have plenty on the reservation, but stringing together "We've gotten a little money from the lines could really be expensive."

The sheer number of systems on the reservation presents a problem for monitoring, she said.

"We're so spread out. It takes a day and a half to do water sampling and being on boil water orders, we have to do that more often," Padilla

Tribal members last month were issued reports on North Springs and the Agency system, summarizing their conditions in the year 2000.

The report notes that tests were conducted for more than 80 contaminants at North Springs and 11 were detected, only one at a level higher than the EPA allows. The summary showed that in June and July, 2000, fecal coliform bacteria, indicating the water could be contaminated with human or animal waste, was detected in the water.

Microbes in those wastes can cause short-term effects such as diarrhea, cramps and nausea, headaches or other symptoms. They could pose a special health risk for infants, young children and people with severely compromised immune systems.

From May through October total coliform bacteria also exceeded the allowable limit. While total coliform bacteria are present naturally in the environment, they are used as an indicator that other potentially harmful bacteria may be present.

The report notes that the North Springs water comes from a spring collection box located next to U.S. 70. The distribution system consists of a chlorination shed, 10.5 miles of 6inch and 4-inch distribution lines, three booster pumps and four storage tanks.

The resource management division conducted a source water assessment last year that identified several potential sources of contamination within a 1,000-foot radius of the spring.

The most significant threat was from five septic systems within the spring's potential zone. Other potential risks include hazardous waste spills on U.S. 70, animal waste and flooding.

Mayor raps 'failing' planning process

■ Lack of confidence in the system is alleged, and the village manager is ordered to make a report on July 24.

BY DIANNE STALLINGS RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

The planning process is failing residents when they are hit at the last minute with additional requirements after months of work on a development proposal, Mayor Robert Ruidoso Donaldson told the village council Tuesday night.

Hearing from planning commissioners who are being called by irate petitioners, "things seems to be getting worse, not better," Donaldson said. Planning commissioners volunteer and it's not right to subject them to verbal abuse, embarrassment and frustration, he added.

"There's a breakdown in the planning process," he said. "It may be systemic. The public is losing confidence." Without public confidence, the rules that support planning could be thrown out, he said.

Donaldson directed Village Manager Alan Briley to appear at the council's July 24 meeting with a plan of review and to report in September about steps for Councilor Linda Flack attributed some of the problems to village growing pains and a new commitment to enforce rules previously ignored. Donaldson said that's why the council should review the comprehensive plan and throw out what's unnecessary.

We have a hard-working staff and volunteers and councilors committed to planning, but too much is coming up at the last minute," Donaldson said. "We need to restore the process. Everyone is trying, so something is wrong with the process and how we serve the public."

Here's a recipe for protecting what's growing in your garden

It's summer, and inevitably the critters come around to snack on what tastes best.

Living in the mountains surrounded by a national forest means that gardeners in Ruidoso face more challenges than most in the form of skunks, deer and raccoons, as well as the usual rabbits and rodents.

Barbara Pruitt, president of the Ruidoso Garden Club, passed along a recipe for keeping varmints out of summer gardens.

The recipe comes from America's Master Gardener Jerry Baker.

Mix together:

• 8 ounces of a soap mixture composed of one-third each baby shampoo, Murphy's Oil Soap and lemon scented liquid dish soap

• 4 oz. Castor Oil 4 teaspoons garlic oil

• 5 oz. of the hottest hot sauce with Habanera peppers or Habanera pepper oil, 10-12 drops. Strain the sauce: through a nylon stocking to separate out particles.

• 1 tablespoon Alum, dissolved in a small amount of water.

Use a 20 gallon hose end sprayer, not a dial type, at the following ratios: one teaspoon to a quart, one tablespoon to a gallon, one cup to 20 gailons. Fill the remainder with warm water.

Spray everything and everywhere, plants, trees, up the bark, under the trees and under leaves. The mixture also will keep away deer. If you want them to come in close, watch where you spray.

ALBUQUERQUE -- "Living in a happy, healthy, and safe place is what all Americans want, and that is exactly what Ann Munsey provides her everyday," said tenants Roberto Salazar, USDA Rural Development's state director. Salazar statements came as received Munsey Development's site manager of the year award for 2001.

USDA Rural Development's Rural Housing Service (RHS) provides funding to construct multi-family apartment complexes for very low to moderate-income families. The management firms that operate the complexes have to abide by various federal government regulations to provide services to the tenants who qualify to live in these complexes.

Each year a survey is conducted on each of the 110 apartment complexes across New Mexico which are overseen by the RHS. The survey is conducted to determine which site manager provides the best living conditions at his or her facility. This year two awards were given: one for apartments housing the elderly and one for apartments housing families.

This year's survey determined that Ann Munsey come with mitment to her tenants goes beyond what is expected of a manager of an apartment complex. The Camelot Place apartment complex that Munsey oversees is located. just outside of Ruidoso.

Munsey said, "The Camelot to all of those children." Place apartment complex is a great place to raise kids. She added, "I treat my tenants as family, I feel like I'm a granny

OUR OPINION

Pay now, or pay more later

The county commission takes a long view on liens

Members of our county commission, recipients of few compliments in these pages, earned one last week.

That's because lot owners in Alto who haven't bothered to pay assessments for a 14-yearold road surfacing project won't be getting a free ride after all.

Some $86,000 in assessments, delinquent since 1996, would have been written off had recommendations of the county manager, the county treasurer and even the original bond counsel on the project been followed.

But commissioners representing Ruidoso (Leo Martinez) Alto (William Schwettmann) applied some knowledge of real estate and property values to the mix. They noted that more than $100,000 in delinquent money (including interest and penalties) had been collected since 1996. And, further, the lien would remain on 31 outstanding accounts.

So the commissioners decided to wait it out, concluding that the high-dollar properties eventually will be sold, and when they are the liens must be cleared before an owner can obtain clear title. Meanwhile. interest and penalties accrue.

It's a bit like the one-time automobile muffler ad on television said, "Pay me now or pay me later.

The county might find it hard to budget that extra income, but every little bit helps.

AGRICULTURAL OUTLOOK

Raising a child isn't cheap

BY AMY BAKKER AMERICAN FARM BUREAU

The Agriculture Department recently confirmed what most parents already know. It isn't cheap to raise a child.

In fact, according to the USDA report "Expenditures on Children by Families," a family with a child born in 2000 can expect to spend over $165,000 for food, shelter and other necessities to raise that chiid over the next 17 years. The total, however, jumps to over $233,000 when factoring in inflation.

Since the report's inception 40 years ago, the overall cost of raising a child, in real dollars, has increased 13 percent. Items such as child care and education expenses have increased from 1 percent to 10 percent. Housing cost was the single largest expenditure on a child in 2000, averaging 88 percent of the total over 17

How does the cost of food figure into this equation? According to the report, food expenditures have actually decreased in the past 40 years, from 24 percent to 18 percent of total child-rearing costs.

Over the years, producers continually work to improve their efficiency and productivity in order to provide the most reasonably priced, most abundant and safest food supply on Earth. And they consistently do this despite low commodity prices, rising energy and other input costs, increasing regulatory restrictions and other challenges.

Most Americans don't realize that in less than about 40 days, the average person earns enough disposable income to pay for their family's food supply for an entire year. What amount of that disposable income spent on food ends up in farmers' and ranchers' pockets?

According to USDA, farmers and ranchers receive only 20 cents out of every food dollar spent in the United States, down from 31 cents just 21 years ago. The rest goes towards off-farm costs including marketing expenses associated with processing, wholesaling, distributing and retailing of food products.

Since American families are expected to continue the trend of purchasing more convenience foods and eating away from home more often, the amount of the food dollar ending up in farmers and ranchers pockets will most likely continue to decline.

Farmers and ranchers have been helping Americans raise their families by providing nutritious, affordable food. At the next meal, keep in mind that your parents spent a greater percentage of their income on the food you needed while growing up than you will spend as a parent for your children.

Needed: Watchers of 'The Plan'

To the editor:

It is a rare occasion in this world today to witness an event during which everyone involved, including those who are witnesses, are made to feel victimized. Such was the case (last) week during Ruidoso's Planning & Zoning Commission meeting. The specific agenda item that led to this debacle was concerned with the proposed assisted living facility to be built on 4.9 acres directly off Sudderth Drive.

What led to this debacle was not the conditions under which the developers proposed this project. What soon became the issue of the day was the impact that this project could have on Ruidosos mäster plant adopted in 1988 after much community input. Quickly tempers rose, confusion set in, and sides were taken. The only individual who appeared to have a copy of "The Plan" was the assistant village attorney. Various professionals interested in this project were heard to be saying "What master plan? Why haven't we heard of this before now? Does anyone have a copy of the master plan?"

One of the weak links in our democ ratic process is that we do not allow elected officials to serve forever. Periodically, because we change faces and directions, we lose our historical references and perspective, and long, thoughtful planning often goes out the window. We lose our reference, we lose our focus and we lose our way. As citizens, there is really no one group to point fingers at because we have all allowed it to happen. Maybe what we need to create is a team of community players whose role is to monitor "The Plan," suggest appropriate adjustments when necessary and hold the watch as elected officials come and go. It might also be advisable for municipalities to include a yearly review of the master plan as they do for their yearly budget planning so that we are reminded that there is a plan and a purpose for it.

One day in the very near future all the vacant land now available will have something on it. Will that development come from our own vision or from the vision of others? Does anybody care?

Joan J. Zagone Executive Director, Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce

Summing up — plan

To the editor:

I got curious!

Having served as Alderman for the Town of South Padre Island, Texas, I am fairly well informed about the importance of a dynamic and current master plan. So I conducted an informal telephone survey this week to see how we compare with similar towns and cities. Below is a chart of the information compiled.

	Location	Current	Published	Available
	Durango, Colo.	Yes	1977	Yes
	Aspen, Colo.,	Yes .	2001	$20
•	Park City, Utah	Yes	end of July	Website
	Taos	Yes	1999	• • •
	Santa Fe	Yes	1999	$10
	Silver City	Yes	1996	by request

In conclusion, I often hear how different and special we are and I agree. We probably live in one of the most beautiful areas in the country. However, there is a term I learned from a city manager whom I still hold in high regard. Mr. Eduardo Campirano warned of "the ivory tower syndrome." He would define the condition as a municipality which thought it was so different and so special that it staved high above the rest, in arrogance, and eventually failed to serve its citizens' needs and wants. Let us not come down from our mountain and discover that, because of a lack of planning, our village has lost its charm and beauty. Instead, let us show a willingness to learn and plan well with others.

Let us update a plan, beyond politics, and keep our eye on the future!

Deborah Marcum-Byars

A dead raccoon

To the editor:

On July 5th, I sighted a dead raccoon alongside High Mesa Drive about 100 feet south of the French Drive intersection in Alto Village.

Calls to the Lincoln County Sheriff's office, the Lincoln County Waste Management and others were non productive. The carcass remains alongside the street.

Apparently 10 county agency has the obligation or the incentive to remove dead animals from the village streets. This speaks volumes about the Lincoln County Commissioners.

Dr. Miller was hired to come and prepare the college ten years ago and showed up to do so on July 15. As 12 classes were scheduled to begin on August 26, Dr. Miller had a lot to do. Number one, he had to round up some students' and teaching staff in a mere fiveweek period before classes. began.

"The university had already done some work in terms of advertising, filling positions, and creating a class schedule," says Dr. Miller.

Initially ENMU-Ruidoso shared offices with Region IX Education Cooperative at 300 Sudderth Drive, where community volunteers and Region IX, as well as volunteers from the Portales ENMU campus, assisted Dr. Miller in preparing the college for the first fall semes-

"(That is) an example of the type of people that helped get the place started," says Dr. Miller.

With the assistance of the volunteers, Dr Miller recruited 300 students over that fiveweek time frame, between July and August of 1991, and teachers were hired. Judy Whitecotton, John McCullough, Mike Line, Majel Powell, Ray Fleischmann, Thurman Sanchez, and Karen Reeder were among the first faculty to teach at ENMU Ruidoso, teaching art, computing, math, Business Law, English, accounting, building trades and management.

"In the next 10 years, We are going to continue expanding out facilities to meet needs of increased occupational/training, additional high technology training, growing interest in fine arts and additional collaborations with other institutions and agencies in the adult education business," says Dr. Miller.

ENMU-Ruidoso also plans to expand the use of the building and continue to work with employers of the region to continue growing a better-trained work force in Lincoln County and the Mescalero Reservation.

The week will also be spent honoring legislators for their work in making ENMU-Ruidoso the quality education institution that it is today. Ruidoso Warrior A.J. Richardson drives to the basket against Wingate at the Alamogordo Kiwanis Summer League over the weekend. The Warriors went 1-6 at the camp.

Summer's end

Warriors go 1-6 at last camp before school

By Todo Buits

The Alamogordo Kiwanis Summer League provided the Ruidoso High School boys basketball team une last chance to put some wins together and, more importantly, more experience.

The league, held July 5-7, was the players' last chance of the summer to work on their skills in a game setting before the regular school season begins.

And while Ruidoso's record (1-6) was ot too spectacular, Warrior coach Billy Page said he saw plenty of positives at the camp.

"I was real pleased with the boys" effort ... they showed that they want to get up and get in the thick of the competition," Page said. "They feel bad when they lose, they feel bad when they don't do good. They're inexperienced and young, but in the long run that's going to be a good thing for them."

The young Warriors started off slowly against the Alamogordo Tigers

(4-3) Thursday, allowing the Tigers to jump out to a 34-2 lead in the first half. Even though it went down as a loss, the Warriors showed heart and came back in the second half to cut the lead to 18. They outscored the Tigers in the second half for a final of 52-34.

"It has been great summer for the Alamogordo Tigers. The kids have shown a lot dedication and commitment. It is a great opportunity for all the kids here at the camp to get better for the season. So I have been real pleased," said Tigers coach Ron Geyer. "I think coach Page has done an outstanding job with the program at Ruidoso. His commitment in bringing these teams down to our camp is doing a lot to rebuild the program. They have had excellent talent the last couple of years. They're rebuilding and he is doing all he can to rebuild the program."

One of the highlights of the camp for the Warriors came against the Wingate Bears. It was a close game at the end of the first half, as the Warriors trailed See RHS, page 2B

The accident occurred during the final race Friday at Ruidoso Downs Race Track and Casino. The race was a Rainbow Futurity trial.

Badilla was taken to Lincoln County Medical Center and then flown to Covenant Hospital in Lubbock, Texas. His condition there was listed as stable.

According to officials at the racetrack, Badilla bad suffered a slight concussion. The track's director of marketing, Fritz Widaman, said most of the measures taken were precautionary.

Badilla, who had ridden Rainbow Futurity qualifiers Jump Jive An Wail and Ausual Suspect, was on Cayenne Flama when the horse fractured its left front leg. The horse had to be put down.

"It's no fun when it happens," Widaman said of such accidents, "but it's part of racing.

ALBUQUERQUE (AP) -The regional tournament systern used in high school sports last season was a disaster, says the president of the New Mexico Activities Association's board of directors.

"The system looked good on paper, but it was a mistake. It was a disaster," said board president Mike Dorame of Tularosa.

It's likely some type of change in the regional tournament format will be made when the NMAA board meets Tuesday. Athletic directors around the state reportedly favor changing it to allow district champions to host games, a plan that board member Mike Phipps of Artesia said will be considered.

The regional format adopted for 2000-2001 awarded multiclass tournament sites by hid process. The format often required teams to travel hundreds of miles for a single game and created such illogical matchups as two Albuquerque schools playing baseball at a regional site in Shiprock.

"It was a fiasco," board member Jim Magee of Aztec conced-"We didn't look closely enough at the impact of travel, but I know we're going to fix that

The push for change in the one-year-old regional tournament system has been led by Albuquerque Schools, who have been at odds with the NMAA leadership on several issues. APS at one point threatened to leave the NMAA if the district's demands change were not addressed.

Several members of the NMAA board of directors say they are confident two of APS' three demands for change can be resolved at Tuesday's board meeting. If so, APS school board president

Leonard DeLayo said Friday, that is probably enough to keep the state's largest district from leaving the NMAA fold.

"I feel like we're heading in the right direction one small step at a time." DeLayo said. "... I don't see any reason we couldn't get together over a cup of coffee and work all this out in an hour"

DeLayo's comments contrast sharply with the combative stance APS officials took toward the NMAA in June. APS board bership dues and threatened to stay in five classes." withdraw unless the association" A The NMAA adopted a flyemeets its demands for change.

The demands include: tion in NMAA's decision-mak ing process based on student enrollment.

• Elimination of the regional-tournament format introduced in 2000-2001.

• Elimination of the five classification athletic system introduced in 2000-2001 and a return of the four-class system previous used in years.

Dorame, Magee and Phipps said schools from their APS's support regions demands for representational change and altering the regional format. However, they don't want to return to a fourclassification athletic system.

If the schools they represent don't support returning to four classes, NMAA board members say they won't either.

We're trying to fix things, and I can't stand the idea of Albuquerque pulling out," Dorame said. "But if that one thing is a deal-breaker, there's nothing we can do about it. The

"We definitely understand the complications of trying to change that," he said. In my opinion, we'd kind of he willing to let that ride, as long as our other concerns are met and we feel classification is being looked at."

The district's representation concerns came a step closer to resolution this week when APS superintendent Brad Allison was elected to the NMAA board. Allison was eli-gible to vote at Tuesday's full meeting, results of which were not available at press time

As of Friday, the regionaltournament format was listed as an action item on a lengthy agenda for the meeting. Classification/alignment and governance issues were listed as nonaction items.

Softball team undefeated in regular season

BY TODD BUTTS

FOR THE RUIDOSO NEWS

The Ruidoso Parks and Recreation Women's Softball League has a new champion. The Casino Apache team had a great season, going 12-0.

Casino Apache played its last game to go undefeated against the Ma Ma Mias (1-10). It was the last chance for someone to try and keep Casino Apache from a perfect season.

Offense is the name of the game for Casino Apache. They took a quick lead in the first inning, 5-0. Hot bats for Casino Apache in the second inning increased the lead to 15-3.

The Ma Ma Mias tried to make a comeback in the third inning. After holding Casino Apache scoreless in the top half, the Ma Ma Mias' offense put them back in the game. A infield homerun cut the lead to 15-8.

That was the only stumble for Casino Apache. The team went on to win 24-13 by the 10-run mercy rule in the fifth inning.

"I am very proud of this team," said Casino Apache coach Abraham Chee. "They deserve the recognition for the hard work they put in to go undefeated this season."

Casino Apache and the rest of the league begin a double-elimination tournament Monday.

the Bears 26-24. Both teams were playing well and with 6:30 left in the game it was all tied at 36-36. Great hustle and desire by the Warriors let them slowly pull ahead for a 50-45 victory.

"It is a good experience for the kids. I think it is a wellorganized camp and the competition is there," said Wingate coach Tom Chee. "It is a good time to work out the kinks. We are looking forward to a great year."

The game against the Moriarty Pintos had the Warriors working on breaking the full court press. Ruidoso was in the game, trailing the Pintos at halftime 26-18, even though the Pintos had the larger team. The Warriors buckled down and went straight at Moriarty in the second half of the game. But it was not enough as the Pintos took the contest 51-40.

The kids put it all on the line, said Warrior coach Billy Page. "They tried hard. They knew they had a chance to be in the game. Their effort was outstanding. I liked the way they played the (last) five or six minutes. Especially their sense of urgency. They know the camp is winding down. They want to end it on a good note. You can see it in their eyes. They are really trying hard."

Managed care in the public schools

State agencies have been exploring options for better coordination of health care services between managed care organizations and school-based health centers, an initiative started last year because of the large number of children being enrolled in Salud! Medicaid Managed Care, through a $500,000 grant awarded to the New Mexico Human Services Department from The Center for Health Care Strategies of Lawrenceville, N.J.

Ruidoso Middle and High Schools and the Hondo Valley Public Schools, through Region IX Cooperative were selected to participate in the program, along with Santa Fe, Española, Albuquerque and Silver City area schools.

During Phase I of the initiate, a work group consisting of representatives from HSD, the fall of 1997 and is also a gradthree Medicaid managed care , uste from the institute's high; ingenizations (Climatron, aschool division, where she Lovelace and Presbyterian), the New Mexico Department of Health, State Department of Education, Children, Youth and Families Department, provider organizations, and consumer advocates was formed to develop consensus on issues relevant to the project.

Phase II was scheduled to begin in June and last for two years. Five school-based health center sites are participating in the pilot program with the goal to increase children's access to care, provide more comprehensive services and preventative care, provide better coordination of care, particularly primary and behavioral health care and improve the overall health of children and adolescents attending school.

KIDS, ART AND HISTORY

An intern will spend a year with the Hubbard Museum of the American West seeking to create closer ties between the museum and area schools

BY SANDY SUGGETT

new intern at the Hubbard Museum of the American West is taking registrations for a free day of music and storytelling for children age 7-12 in Lincoln July 19, her first educational project at the museum.

Elizabeth Becker's goal for her 1-year internship is to develop stronger relationships between area teachers and the museum, "to reach kids through the schools," she said, "something (the museum) has wanted to do for some time."

Becker is working on a master of arts degree in museum science at Texas Tech University in Lubbock, and children in schools drew her toward education programs in a museum. She worked as a docent at the Maxwell Museum of American Anthropology in Albuquerque. and, becoming disillusioned with academic anthropology — which basically leads to college teaching - she was thrilled by children's reactions to her museum presentations.

"That was the hook," she said, "the excitement of kids in the schools: 'Let me touch it," Let me look at it.""

Originally from the St. Louis area, she received a bachelor of science degree in anthropology at Loyala University in Chicago, then moved to Albuquerque because of the University of New Mexico's reputation for work in Southwest culture, anthropology and archeology.

She took classes for a year and decided it wasn't the right route for her, and started looking into other graduate schools. While in Albuquerque, though, she gave one-hour programs to school children on Southwest culture and history, with a focus on art, culture and arche-

"My particular interest is education, and that's why Paula (Nelson, curator of education at the Hubbard) and I are trying to get as many educational initiatives as possible going. I think they sorely need help — the Education Department. There's just Paula and the volunteer coordinator, Trink Edmonds."

Becker said she's trying to figure out how to do it in Ruidoso, and sees area artists as resources for educational programs through the museum, with a community of artists who seem to be com-working fortable with school children and in the schools.

One of the events planned is an open house to introduce area teachers to what the Hubbard Museum has to offer, to allow them to see the tours and museum's exhibits and ask them what their needs are and how the Education Department can help. This tour is expected to be ready for the coming school year, Becker said, as well as a teacher's guide explaining all the programs available for teachers at the Hubbard this school year.

Becker is working on a Santa Fe Trail Tour, initially planned for thirdgraders, although it could reach to seventh grade. This tour will utilize several vehicles in the museum's collection to tell the story of how goods and people traveled, from before the Santa Fe Trail: different phases the trail took, along with the various jobs people had and different perspectives.

With the Mexican carreta, children will learn how goods traveled to Santa Fe via Spain, Mexico, Mexico City and Chihuahua in carts and by pack animals.

With Conestoga wagons, typical covered wagons, goods were hauled from Independence, Mo. to Santa Fe; and later the Santa Fe Trial became the mail route and a tourist road, and stage coaches were used to carry mail and passengers.

Different cultural perspectives will be discussed, since the travel often took place in Native American territory and Mexican and Anglo traders hauled the goods from Mexico and St. Louis to resell in Santa Fe.

This goes with the general theme of the Hubbard Museum of the American West and a Santa Fe Trail image of the opening of the American West," Becker

Another educational tour in the making is an introduction to the museum, for first- and second-graders: "What museums are, what our's has, how to behaveand terminology," she said. "Trink and

Fine Arts in Historic Lincoln

A one-day, free summer program has been planned for children ages 7 through 12 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Thursday, July 19 in Lincoln through the Hubbard Museum of the American West.

Local musician Marcella Garcia will conduct the morning session, guiding children through three hours of percussion, voice and dance. In the afternoon, former teacher and Hubbard volunteer Nisha Hoffman will lead the children in storytelling, puppet making

A free lunch will be provided at noon.

This event is made possible through the support of New Mexico Arts and local businesses Franks, The Buttery, Subway, Brewer Oil of Capitan and Walgreens.

To register, please call Elizabeth Becker at the Hubbard Museum of the American West, 378-4142 or (800) 263-5929. (Transportation will not be provided.)

> Nisha (Hoffman) are both former teachers, so they have experience in the schools. It'll be an hour to an hour-and-ahalf session and they'll have a docent guide them around the museum and activities, so it's hands-on, not just lecture.

The third major tour is of three cultures in Historic Lincoln: Hispanic, Anglo and Mescalero voices, a program developed with Trink Edmonds, Nisha Hoffman, Nelda Lewis, Kaye Rucker and Pat Sullivan, featuring living-history visits with Apache grandmothers Lorenzita Herrera, Ellen Casey and Grace Laws.

Becker finds the Ruidoso area an "all new world." She interviewed for the internship in June and was surprised to find "green stuff everywhere" --- as well as a feeling of remoteness. She stayed at the Gallegos House in Lincoln until she found a place to live in Ruidoso and started exploring the area on mountain bikes with her boyfriend, who is from Albuquerque.

"We visited Perk Canyon where we were rudely interrupted by a black bear. something I had never seen - a bear in the wild. I reacted incredibly nervously," she said. The bear had gone up a tree, but when Becker and her boyfriend began arguing about the best course of action. the bear started coming down hissing, apparently wanting to get its two-cents worth in.

Becker arrived in late June and after this year's internship, will return to Texas Tech for her final comprehensive exams in August 2002. After that, she'll look for a job in an education department at a museum in New Mexico, she said.

The state of Texas can boast the largest prairie dog town on record. It once covered about 25,000 square miles and Was home to about 400 million prairie dogs!

Prairie dog mounds

The mounds they build outside their tunnel entrances serve as lookout towers where sentries can stand to watch for danger.

In order to have a clear view if an enemy approaches, prairie dogs bite off the grass around their mounds. The mounds also keep water from flooding the tunnels below.

If a sentry spots danger, it gives a danger call and then scampers below and listens. If it hears nothing, it peeks its head out for a double check.

Prairie Dogs' Place in Nature Cheers for prairie dogs Prairie dogs are protected in Prairie dogs have several problems, one of which is living space. More than 98 percent of their habitat has been destroyed bv humans

This is very sad because the prairie dog is considered a keystone species upon which other animals depend. If it were to die out, other animals might become threatened or disappear.

Experts believe there are about 140 species of wildlife that eat prairie dogs or use their towns.

This list includes golden eagles, badgers, weesels, coyotes, hawks, the burrowing owi, the cottontail rabbit, the horned lark and many snakes.

The black-footed ferret

The prairie dog was the main food for the black-footed ferret. When so many thousands of prairie dogs were killed in the 1920s, this ferret nearly became extinct.

Ferrets were saved when, 60 years later, a few were discovered still living. They were taken to a safe place, and today their numbers are growing.

Look through your newspaper for photos and stones about wildlife in your area.

Next week The Mini Page is all about many parks and refuges. These include: Wind Cave National Park in South Dakota, Devils Tower National Monument in Wyoming, and Theodore Roosevelt National Park in North Dakota.

Not everybody cheers

Some ranchers fear that their cattle might break their legs if they fall into a prairie dog tunnel.

But this happens very rarely. Ranchers = also dislike prairie doge because they think that they destroy the grass the ranchers' herds eat. In the 1920s the U.S. government had a special program to do away with prairie dogs because ranchers thought them to be a nuisance.

However today some studies have found that herds of cattle, bison and deer may do better in areas where prairie dogs live. When prairie dogs eat the grass, they make room for other kinds of plants. They also loosen the soil when they dig, so that seeds of leafier, more nutritious plants can grow.

Prairie dog defenses

Snakes, hawks, badgers and coyotes are some of the animals that eat prairie dogs.

Prairie dogs do have sharp claws and teeth, but they are not good fighters. Their only real defense is to run away. They can run up to 35 miles per hour for short distances.

To make their underground towns safer, they dig escape turinels that 😘 they cover up so nothing can come in. However, the prairie dog can open ··· them quickly to get out.

They don't build mounds near these escape hatches, so enemies don't know they're there.

Today prairis dogs are also threatened by a disease brought into this country from Europe, the blibonic plague. Prairie dogs have not developed an immunity to it, so it can be very deadly.

The Mini Page thanks Susan React and Bob Seron, park rangers. Theodore Received National Park, North Dakora, and Mike Fritz, natural heritage zoologist, Netresiks Came and Parks Commission for help with this leads.

was charged Jan. 4 for a collision the day before on U.S. Highway 70 Enjady, 30, of Mescalero.

the other case, Amy Armstrong, 28, Alamogordo, was charged in connection with a single vehicle rollover on State Highway 48 between Alto and Capitan that occurred March 29. Alcohol was list-

In the Jan. 4 fatal crash, Belin is accused of rear-ending another vehicle and then fleeing the location. He was apprehended on the Mescalero Apache Indian Reservation by tribal conservation officers and BIA police.

Belin is charged with felony vehicular homicide, felony child abuse (a 16-year-old was in the pick-up truck at the time of the crash), possession of an open container of an alcoholic beverage in a motor vehicle, and being a minor served alcohol. The arraignment hearings are scheduled for District Court in Carrizozo.

RUIDOSO POLICE

Dog shooting probed by Ruidoso police

Ruidoso police are investirating the shooting death of a bull mastiff in the 100 block of Fir Drive. The animal's owner told officers he found the animal, named Otis, dead on a neighboring property.

A bullet wound was found on the 115-pound dog. The dog was believed to have been killed between July 4 and 8.

The owner said he did not keep Otis tied up because he was not a mean dog. The owner said his pet would just wander the neighborhood.

The incident is being considered as extreme cruelty to an animal, a felony, and negligent use of a deadly weapon, a misdemeanor.

'Unreasonable' noise

Unreasonable noise may result in a criminal complaint against a resident in the 100 block of Spruce Drive. Responding to a call of a dog barking "all night," police went to the reported home, heard a voice ask "who was there," and no further response when the officer identified himself as police. A police report stated that a criminal complaint may be filed because of numerous similar reports of a barking dog.

Expensive belt taken

A Zuni belt, valued at $2,000, was reported stolen from a room at the Hawthorn found unknown chemicals, Suites Golf and Convention Resort on July 7. A guest said she returned to her room and found the door open and the belt missing. The theft has been classified as a felony larceny.

Burglary, damage

A felony burglary and misdemeanor criminal damage to property case was filed after police responded to an alarm in the 400 block of River Trail. Officers found a rear door open and a bathroom window broken. A police report stated someone had apparently gone through a nightstand when the alarm was triggered.

Minors arrested

Three minors were arrested July 8 after police checked a vehicle parked near Grindstone Lake. After discovering a pipe in the vehicle, an officer was told by one of the three that there was marijuana on the passenger-side front floorboard. Police allegedly found pot and a white powder that J. Frizzell Jr., 18, Mescalero, said was cocaine. An additional quantity of marijuana was also discovered by police. Frizzell, who was charged with felony possession of cocaine, misdemeanor possession of marijuana and misdemeanor posses-sion of drug paraphernalia, told an officer he had purchased the marijuana earlier.

Also charged, each with misdemeanor counts of possession of marjuana and drug paraphernalia, were Keith C. Bassett, 18, Ruidoso Downs and David Drake Wozny, 18, Ruidoso.

Aggravated assault

POOP SCOOP

BY DIANNE STALLINGS
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

One of Lincoln County's most active bird watchers, Ginny Dingman, writes that she's seeing a lot of activity at feeders around her home.

Species nesting and fledging

young include:
• northern red-shafted flicker

- nortnem reu-snatte
 acorn woodpecker
- hairy woodpecker
- downy woodpeckerwhite-breasted nuthatch
- pygmy nuthatch
- mountain chickadee
- dark-eyed junco
- pine siskin
- black-headed grosbeak
 Other bits and pieces of information I have stashed in my file from time to time includes a 24-hour animal poison control hotline number offered by the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

The number is 1-888-426-4435 or to help remember, that translates to 1-888-ANI-HELP.

tion from "Your Dog," a Tufts University School of Veterinary Medicine monthly report includes hints on getting dogs to take medicine, crate training and what to do about dogs who eat toilet paper.

The authors advise that eating paper has more to do with playfulness than with hunger and is rarely a cause for concern.

Tissue products are produced from indigestible fiber and usually pass through a dog's digestive tract harmlessly. Only if a dog eats massive amounts and begins to retch or vomit, or become constipated, should a veterinarian be called.

For eye drops, the authors suggest sneaking up on your dog from behind and squeezing the dropper before the animal realizes what's happening.

For liquid medicine, put a syringe in the mouth and squirt. For pills, store the medicine in his treat jar and it will absorb the odor. I smear my dog's pill with peanut butter.

The authors say while crates are a great housebreaking tool, owners shouldn't ask a puppy to hold elimination longer than feasible.

Their rule of thumb is that a puppy can hold his bladder for the number of hours equal to his age in months, plus one. A 4-month-old, for example, they wrote, can stay in the crate for five hours.
