Ruidosoans to celebrate yule season

Tree-lighting event Thursday

Christmas trees will be lighted at School House Park Thursday evening, officially launching the Christmas season in Ruidoso.

The Ruidoso Parks & Recreation Department organized the program, and extended an invitation to everybody - residents and visitors - to attend. School House Park is in the 500 block of Sudderth Drive.

Trees will be lighted at 6:17 p.m., after a welcome from Santa Claus and other VIPs. Mayor Robert Donaldson will help Santa turn on the lights.

Santa Claus, the featured VIP, will be available for visits by young friends beginning at 6:30 p.m. Photographs of children consulting with Santa will be available for $2 each.

Meanwhile, Lazy 2 will provide sleigh rides, while Randy Jones and Friends will provide Christmas music.

Hot chocolate and cookies will be served to all comers.

Tickets for door prizes donated by participating merchants will be distributed by Santa's Helpers during the evening, with the first announcement of winners at 7 p.m. Coordinator Ellen Bizzell said winners must be present to win.

Activities will conclude at 7:45 p.m. with the singing of "Silent Night" and the announcement of final door-prize winners.

Advocates of a proposal to build a new recreation center in Ruidoso say they hope the Lincoln County Commission will join the effort to revive the plan.

Ruidoso voters turned down a bond issue for the project two years ago, but Genevieve Phelan, chair of the Lincoln County Health & Wellness Planning Council, said last week the center is needed. It would contribute to three of five top priorities listed in the county's 2000 Strategic Health Plan, she said.

"A recreation facility would contribute to child and youth development, substance abuse services through prevention and services for the elderly," she told commissioners. "It is the opinion of the planning council that Lincoln County would benefit greatly from a recreation center, one that is intergenerational, free to all residents as is the library, and that is the 'heart' of the community.

"An Olympic-sized indoor pool would be particularly beneficial for people of all ages."

Phelan said that at the October meeting of the planning council, Joe Ingle, who served as board chairman and acting manager of the Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority since the departure of County Commissioner Rick Simpson, was hired last week for an annual salary of $20,000.

"I was hired just as another worker, not appointed as a manager," she said Friday. "They just needed a supervisor to run the place."

The board, consisting of representatives from the county and its five municipalities, interviewed four of five applicants for the job of manager, but decided to reject all. As an alternative, they hired Ingle as supervisor.

"I'll also be paid 25 cents a mile for my truck," said Ingle, who represents the village of Capitan on the board. "I turned my letter of resignation into the mayor."

COUNTY COMMISSION

Agencies' work gets county approval

State and federal agencies were encouraged by Lincoln County commissioners to continue their efforts to blend public access with private property rights.

The discussion was tied to a year-round oryx hunt declared the State Game by -Commission on state and federal land south of U.S. 380 that is accessed through private ranches.

Commissioners asked members of the county Public Lands Use Advisory Council to monitor the situation and come back to the December meeting with a recommendation.

Ed Roberson, Roswell field office manager for the federal Bureau of Land Management, said the hunting ground lies between the lava flow west of Carrizozo on the White Sands Missile Range in the counties of Lincoln and Socorro.

The hunt was expanded because the herd of oryx is increasing, wandering off the missile range, destroying fences and chasing livestock away from food and water.

The BLM is considering building a road that also would access the Puckett Cave Complex, Roberson said. While the road would be on public land, it would open up areas where people could access private land, he said.

Preventing trespassing and controlling access are major issues.

Other options are to use a county easement or develop a cooperative agreement with ranchers to use private land.

Silva takes a bow

Lincoln County Assessor Rick Silva received kudos earlier this month for the quality of his department's mapping program.

Keith Cunningham of Spatial Data Research said it is considered one of the best in the state. But by next summer, the new goal is to add capability to the data base, allowing information to be shared with the state, he said.

"It will ensure that each piece of property is accounted for properly with a correct evaluation," he told county commissioners at their Nov. 15 meet-

Maps will be based on "real world" coordinates, instead of local surveys, which have been shown in many areas to be off significantly, as detected in the rural addressing project, he Eventually, said. each appraisal will be tied to video photographs to show all improvements, he added. Aerial mapping also will help.

Even if the "real world" coordinates differ from the survey, a legal description is the document of ownership, not the maps, Cunningham said.

CHINO: Winner in tribal race vows fight for office

The election board set a precedent in 1998 when it began using electronic voting machines, Mark Chino said. He said the election board legally passed the ordinance to use machines and the council approved the use of voting machines for future elections.

But Frederick Chino said the ordinance to use voting machines must be approved by the Election Board before every election, unless an ordinance is passed after the election to change the code for future elections. He said that hasn't hap-

"Mr. Geronimo knew well in advance of this year's elections that voting machines were to be used, but he never objected until after he lost his bid for a tribal council seat." Mark dictate to the Election Board what ordinances to enact, Frederick Chino said. The tribal council approved the use of voting machines at the Aug. 21 meeting before the Election Board had been appointed; that should not have been done, Frederick Chino said. The ordinance for voting machines should have been approved at the Sept. 14 meeting, but was never brought up, he said.

Another violation occurred when the tribal council decided not to allow prisoners the right to vote, Frederick Chino said. The Mescalero Apache Tribal Constitution says all members of the tribe living within a 50mile radius are allowed to vote. The Election Board is supposed to go to nursing homes, hospitals and jails for tribal members to cast their ballots.

"The tribal council discriminated against their own people by depriving them of the right to vote," Frederick Chino said.

Mark Chino said the tribal council acted illegally by allowing Geronimo to go directly to the tribal council instead of obeying the election code, which requires all disputes be settled in the Mescalero Tribal Court once the election board certified the results.

"The tribal council then acted illegally by passing an 'after the fact' law, nullifying the elections," Mark Chino said.

Geronimo is a tribal council member and is immune in the Mescalero Tribal Court, Frederick Chino said. "The tribal council sits as Supreme Court," he added.

Mark Cnino said the actions by the tribal council demonstrated that it had no regard for what the majority of members wanted. Chino said it sends a clear message to voters: "Your votes don't count. We intend to remain in power whether you like it or not!" The actions of Geronimo, Misquez and the tribal council will set dangerous precedents for future elections if allowed to continue, Mark Chino said.

"If the loser in any given race is not satisfied with the election results, he or she may circumvent tribal law and demand another election. Theoretically, this process could go on indefinitely, like children playing a game, with the loser changing the rules until he or she finally wins," he said in the news release.

Geronimo was one of Wendell Chino's harshest critics, calling Chino a dictator on more than one occasion. Chino said. "Who is the dictator now?"

The current situation results from the failure of the present tribal administration, as well as the tribal council, to understand the Constitution of the Mescalero Apache Tribe, Mark Chino said. "These violations of due process must not and will not be allowed to stand," he said.

Frederick Chino said that during former President Wendell Chino's administration the actions of the tribal council were run according to the constitution but that has changed. "None of the tribal council takes the constitution seriously enough to learn," he said.

TRIAL: Testimony begins in 1998 murder retrial

But the key witness presented by District Attorney Scot Key and lead prosecutor, Roxe Anne Matise, in the first day of testimony was Maricel Diaz, a former jockey and horse trainer at Ruidoso Downs, who said she partied with the accused and two other friends the evening of Aug. 28.

Diaz outlined a night of beer, marijuana and cocaine by the four adults as Gutierrez' son and the child of her friend watched television in another room

Gutierrez contends he fell asleep with his son and doesn't know what Diaz, her friend Rebecca Thompson and George Padilla did after he dozed off. Only later, did he agree to drive Diaz to Albuquerque, Mitchell

But Diaz told a different story. She testified that Padilla and Thompson left, and that after a few hours all the beer was gone. Gutierrez asked her to drive him to Allsup's where he said he knew a clerk who would sell them beer after legal hours.

Acknowledging that her recollections are hazy, Diaz said she waited in the car parked in back of the store at Gutierrez's insistence for about 15 minutes, then carried out four cases of beer.

She didn't see the clerk or any signs of violence, but testified that Gutierrez told her on the way to Albuquerque that he had robbed the store.

Mitchell attempted to discredit Diaz, pointing to a history of drug abuse. He hammered the lack of a blood, hair or fingerprint match with his client. But Lt. Wolfgang Born and Detective James Biggs of the Ruidoso Police Department told jurors that a shoe print found in Diebler's blood in the restroom matched prints near the tire tread of Diaz's car behind the store and lined up with the sole marking of size nine Caterpillar work boots owned by Gutierrez.

Biggs said clear fingerprints are rare in most cases.

"In the last eight years, only two cases I've worked were solved by prints," he said.

The trial is expected to wind up by Friday. The prosecution listed 22 witnesses for testimony.

Tribal President Sara Misquez said in a press release Nov. 21, that the new compacts disappointed because they hurt tribes everywhere. Misquez previously said that changes allowing race tracks to increase the number of slot machines in their casinos were beyond the gaming limits spelled out in the current compacts.

"Although the decision preserves the Mescalero Apache Tribe's objections to revenue sharing, the decision does not settle our concerns about exclusivity since the state of New Mexico continues to consider more horse track casinos," Misquez said.

The Mescalero Apache Tribe contends the 1997 compact contained an illegally high revenue sharing provision.

The 1997 compact required 16 percent of casino revenues to be delivered to the state. The late tribal President Wendell Chino signed the 1997

Suspect arrested Burglary, larceny

Police arrested Mario A. Madrigal, 19, of Ruidoso Downs, alleging careless driving, aggravated DWI and hitting public property in the 2000 block of Sudderth Drive at 10:16 p.m. Nov. 20.

Police said they found two trees, an orange barrel and a signpost run over.

The signpost had oil on it and officers followed the oil to Allsup's, where the vehicle was found, police said. The vehicle was damaged and Madrigal was arrested.

DWI suspected

Police arrested Alex Garcia, 28, of Ruidoso, on suspicion of DWI and battery on an officer at Mechem Drive and Cree Meadows at 1:36 a.m. Nov. 25. Police said they saw Garcia driving in the wrong lane and stopped his vehicle.

Police said the suspect attempted to drive away and resisted an officer while being handcuffed.

He fell, hit his head and became unconscious.

Emergency Medical Services were called, but the suspect was not injured, police said."

Police arrested Michael A. Gonzales, 21, and Luis Gonzales Jr., 28, both of Ruidoso, in the 100 block of East U.S. Highway 70 at 2:10 a.m. Nov. 25, alleging commercial burglary and larceny. Police responded to a call at Allsup's reporting armed robbery and were given descriptions of the men and the vehicle they were driving. The men were located in the area near Denny's, with money in their possession, police reported.

Breaking, entering

A breaking and entering was reported at a residence in the 400 block of Main Road at 12:27 a.m. Nov. 20. Police said cleaners noticed the heaters had been turned to high settings, the couch and bed had been used and food condiments had been left out. A door latch was pried open and a small dead bolt was forced.

That project next month will go through another round of public hearings — at 7 p.m. on Dec. 11 in the Ruidoso Convention Center and at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 12 in the school gymnasium at Hondo.

Meanwhile, up north, some politicians have been taking the SHD to task for tilting toward the Lincoln County project rather than spending the money on U. S. 285/84 north of Šanta Fe. They say traffic is much heavier and therefore it's more dangerous, according to the numbers.

Those legislators (who seldom express awareness that ork on U.S. Highway the very large chunk of New Mexico south of Interstate 40 even exists) have said they might challenge the SHD's $95 million bond issue to widen U.S. 70 to four lanes.

Those who have traveled the two stretches of highway, Santa Fe to Pojoaque in the north and from Ruidoso Downs to Riverside in the south, will agree that 285/84 is much more heavily traveled — and that it already is four lanes wide, with a median and wide shoulders.

They will also agree that when things get tight along most stretches of U.S. 70, there are few choices indeed. Trying to avoid a collision often means ramming an embankment on one side or going over a cliff on the other.

U.S. 70 should come first.

I saw very few of my neighbors from Rancho Ruidoso Valley Estates present at the public hearing regarding the development of 1,000-plus acres near the Spencer Theater.

You may think this doesn't concern you. You may not have had time to attend the hearing in Carrizozo Tuesday ... Unfortunately, the lovely vallev we call home is being in a sense sold right out from under us.

The water rights that you may wru may not own are being sold to a large development firm from Salt Lake City. Utah. They promised to be good neighbors. They want to install black silt barriers for us to look at. They seem to think those of us in Rancho Ruidoso Valley Estates don't mind if they buy our sewage treature at plant to use for their 304 homes. In fact, in a letter representing us, it states we have intent to sign an agreement. They want to buy our water company also but they promise not to use much water. They promise it won't affect our aquifer. Is that before or after they build the golf course? I forget. Wondering what that big drilling rig is off of Little Creek Road? No, it's not drilling a new well for us but for the unapproved development. Well, folks, it's time to wake up! Look over the hill! The trees are cleared and unlike Rainmaker Development, they aren't coming back. If you live here, you cannot afford not to be involved.

Ask the average citizen on the street if he or she is willing to go. This citizen must be informed, because "my country, right or wrong" and "America, love it or leave it" are dangerous and destructive sentiments,

In both Desert Storm (ironically the first Bush war) and this current expedition, this citizen would have echoed Mr. Todd Beamer: "Let's Roll!"

World War II was one of those wars. Vietnam was not. That war was fought by the conscripted, precious youth of my generation who would not have volunone is extremely high.

The no-construction option would definitely be cheaper for the texpayers, but deadlier for the U.S. 70 motorists.

How many taxpayers, like the fourlane opponents, are also willing to sacrifice lives in order to save money?

Remember, the implementation of the U.S. 70 four-lane recommendation would mean jobs. In addition, the highway money will probably be spent on the roads in either southern or northern New Mexico.

U.S. 70 improvement costs - astronomical.

But the study also reveals that the same behaviors that discourage gang activity in teens from one ethnic group might have no effect, or even encourage gang activity, in teens from a different ethnic group.

The same research indicates that gang intervention programs, which often focus on teens' peer relationships, could be more effective if they also addressed the parent-teen relationship.

"Parents are not powerless," says lead author Chanegua J. Walker-Barnes, Ph.D., of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, in the November/December issue of Child Development.

Previous studies on the interplay of family environment and teen gang activity have not accounted for the fact that "the effect of family environment may be different for adolescents from different ethnic backgrounds," she savs.

Walker-Barnes treated the 300 Miami ninth-graders who participated in her study not only as members of one large group, but also as members of three ethnic subgroups: Hispanic (54 percent), black/African-American (25 percent) and white/other (21 percent).

This strategy revealed significant ethnic differences. For example, Walker-Barnes' analysis of the entire group revealed

However, when ethnicity was taken into account, it became apparent that black youth whose parents exert more behavioral. control tend to become less involved with gangs during the course of a school year, while white/other youth with more controlling parents become more involved.

These and other findings, Walker-Barnes says, "highlight the need for different treatment strategies for youth from different ethnic backgrounds." In particular, she observes, "programs which emphasize increasing parental control and supervision over adolescents' daily activities" appear appropriate for black teens.

Another distinguishing mark of Walker-Barnes' approach is her examination of both peer and parental influences. Previous researchers have tended to examine one or the other, making it difficult to determine whether gang intervention programs should focus on peer gang activity, teenparent relationships, or both.

Her findings indicate that both exert a strong influence and should be addressed. The teens in her study group who had the most gang-involved peers also had the highest rates of gang involvement and participation in gang delinquency, both at the beginning of the school year and at its end.

Many doctors willing to take part in executions, despite ban

ANN ARBOR, Mich. - More than 40 percent of randomly surveyed physicians say they would help execute a prisoner by lethal injection, despite the fact that their acts would go against their sworn oath and the guidance of nearly all major professional societies, a new study finds.

This willingness to participate in at least one aspect of carrying out capital punishment may be mostly due to a lack of awareness of those ethical guideposts, the study's authors warn in the new issue of the Annals of Internal Medicine.

Only 3 percent of the more than 400 doctors surveyed even knew that major medical organizations had already wrestled with the thorny issues pitting medical professional ethics against duty to society, and ruled against aiding execution.

But whatever the reasons might be for such a high percentage would say they'd help in a lethal injection, the study's authors warn that far more education of physicians is needed to help clarify the line between being a doctor sworn by the Hippocratic oath to "first, do no harm," and being an American citizen with personal opinions of any kind on capital punishment.

"This issue really gets to the heart of the special place physicians hold in society, with the white-coat reputation of healers," says senior author Peter Ubel, M.D., a medical ethicist and associate professor of internal medicine at the University of Michigan Health System and the Veterana Affairs Ann Arbor Healthcare System. "The astonishing lack of awareness of the guidance barring participating in lethal injection, coupled with the high willingness to take part in at least some of the actions necessary to kill a prisoner, make for a troubling combination.'

Ubel notes that the research team's intent was not to criticize the personal beliefs of physicians as individual citizens, but rather to assess the level to which doctors had squared those beliefs with their professional obligations. The result of the survey, he says, may have implications for the public's perception of doctors, and therefore for the privileges and responsibilities entrusted to the medical profession.

In an accompanying editorial, a physician and an attorney from Northwestern University concur that the survey's results indicate the need for further education of physicians on the ethical challenge of execution. Ethical guidelines alone may not be able to bar an individual physician from taking part in executions, but, they write, education could help "morally confused" doctors.

"In this hard-fought effort to keep the white coat clean, the findings provide a wake-up call," write Linda Emanuel, M.D., Ph.D. and Leigh Biernen, J.D. "It is time to eliminate moral confusion by re-establishing the deliberate dissent of the medical profession regarding physician involvement in executions.

"That involvement, Ubel explains, has been the subject of ethical debate for centuries, but in recent decades has centered around more humane ways of executing convicted criminals under state and federal laws. The debate has led the American Medical Association, and the hundreds of med ical societies that help guide the AMA on specific issues on behalf of 98 percent of American physicians, to set specific guidelines.

Chief boys falter in season opener

Turnovers ruined Mescalero's chances in a barnburner against Alamo Navajo Saturday.

BY WES SCHWENGELS RUDOSO NEWS SPORTS EDITOR

It wasn't the start the Mescalero High School boys basketball team had hoped for, but Chief coach Christie LaPaz said it wasn't all bad either.

Mescalero fell to the Alamo Navajo Cougars 88-72 Saturday on the road in its first game of the year. LaPaz said turnovers killed his team's chances.

"We threw the ball away too many times," he said. "About 25 times in the first half and 15 more in the second half."

The coach added that the Cougars had a large edge in rebounding as well.

He said he was still proud of the effort the Chiefs displayed, though.

"The kids hung in there to 10 minutes left in the game.

> Chiefs basketball

Alamo Navajo 88, Mescalero 72 • The Chiefs fell in a high-scoring season opener Saturday. Until we got in foul trouble," LaPaz said.

The Chiefs psed a full-court press and tried to stay with the run-and-gun Cougars, and had their opportunities, climbing within four at times.

But in the end, Alamo Navajo was just too much.

Still, for such a young team, Mescalero showed a lot of promise. The Chiefs have only two seniors, one of whom is playing his first year of basketball. The rest of their 15 players are sophomores or freshmen.

"This is the most I've had in recent years," LaPaz said. "That might help."

Senior Raymond Bigmouth, the most experienced player on the team, led the way against the Cougars with 27 points. Bart Garcia pitched in with 18 and Randy Fulsom had 10.

Mescalero was within eight at halftime, 38-30, after falling behind by 14 in the first quarter. But the Cougars came out strong in the second half, boosting their lead back to 14 at 68-54.

LaPaz said it is still too early to tell where his team stands with the rest of District 8A, but that he expects Mesilla Valley to be strong.

"We'll see where we're at this weekend," he said. The Chiefs will travel to take on Vaughn Saturday.

Capitan, Carrizozo head to Roadrunner

 The Tigers are hoping .
 to make up for their poor showing at the tournament last year, when they failed to win a game.

BY WES SCHWENGELS RUIDOSO NEWS SPORTS EDITOR

It's tourney time for two area schools, as the Capitan Tigers and Carrizozo Grizzlies boys and girls head off to Hagerman for the Roadrunner Tournament.

The annual competition pits eight small-school teams together over three days to find out which is best in the early season.

For Capitan, the tournament is a chance for both the boys and girls to make up for a disappointing 2000 showing. Both teams went 0-3 last year. Carrizozo was Zozo lost to Tatum last year in the first round of the Region D Tournament 42-40. A win would have put the Grizzlies in the state playoffs.

All the action gets started Thursday in Hagerman when the Tiger boys and girls take on Fort Sumner and Carrizozo's boys and girls battle the host school, Hagerman.

Games will continue through Saturday in Dexter and > Hagerman. This all starts

just two days after the Tigers Grizzlies and faced off in Carrizozo in the season opener for both. Results Tuesday's from games were not available at press time.

Cougars a 56-42 loss Saturday in its season opener on the road. The win avenged last year's 72-41 defeat at home to the Cougars.

Chief coach Roland Bradford said his team was able to avoid giving up the big quarter, something it had a problem with last season.

"I thought we really did a good job. We played excellent defense," Bradford said. "In the third quarter we came out strong. That was one hump we wanted to get over." Instead of giving up a big third period, the Chiefs (1-0) got one, outscoring the Cougars 23-11. It was a two-point game at halftime. Mescalero was then able to play even with Alamo Navajo in the fourth to secure the victory.

Senior Rosie Smith led the way for the Chiefs, putting in 14 points, while junior Nicole Dolan added 13 of her own.

Natalie Piño had 14 for the Cougars.

The experienced Chiefs showed that they had learned plenty from last year's contest with Alamo Navajo, getting back on defense consistently. The Cougars prefer to run when they can, and hurt Mescalero with their quickness last time.

Now a year older and wiser, Mescalero was able to contain the Cougar offense.

"We've been working real hard. The girls are in great condition," Bradford said. "... We hustled back on defense. I was/really pleased with that." The Chiefs' have nearly everyone back from last year's District 8A runner-up squad after losing just one senior. They also have just one senior, Smith, this time around.

Bradford said he believes his team can top its performance from last season.

"We should be the strongest team (in the district)," he said. That includes Hagerman, which defeated the Chiefs last year in the district championship game 50-38. Mescalero was then knocked out of the regional playoffs by Grady. • The Chiefs used tough defense and solid shooting to slow down the runand-gun Cougars and get the seasonopening win.

Although Hagerman lost several key players from last year's squad, Bradford said he > has to respect the program that has been established there. The coach added that Mesilla Valley could pose a threat to his team.

"We're about four steps up compared to where we started last year," he said. "For us to be able to go up there (Alamo Navajo) and play that well was a big thing."

Foul trouble was a bit of a problem for the Chiefs, as Leslie Bigmouth and Augusta Lang both fouled out of the contest. But Bradford had only praise for his club, especially Smith and Next up for the Chiefs is a trip to Albuquerque for the Sandia Prep Tournament, scheduled for Friday and Saturday. It was not clear at press time who the Chiefs would be playing.

The girls will then have some time to rest before taking on the Corona Cardinals at home Dec. 18.

New Mexico 53, New Mexico State 0 Lobos run to shutout over NMSU

New Mexico completely dominated the Aggies in the in-state rivalry game Saturday, racking up 350 rushing yards.

Led by dominating rushing and defensive performances, the University of New Mexico football team blasted interstate rival New Mexico State University 53-0 on Saturday afternoon at University Stadium in Albuquerque.

New Mexico improved to 6-5 on the year to notch its first winning season under head coach Rocky Long and first since its 9-4 campaign in 1997.

The Lobos also earned their first shutout in 206 games, since blanking West Texas State 27-0 on Sep. 15, 1984, and recorded their biggest margin of victory since defeating the National University of Mexico 77-6 in the first game ever played at University Stadium on Sep. 17, 1960.

Leading just 3-0 after the first quarter, New Mexico took control of the game in the second quarter behind its seniorled rushing attack.

Senior running back Jarrod Baxter ran for 60 of the Lobos' 110 second quarter rushing yards, including a three-yard touchdown plunge to give UNM a 9-0 lead three seconds into the quarter.

Senior kicker Vladimir Borombozin added a 34-yard field goal and sophomore quarterback Casey Kelly vaulted into the end zone from seven yards out to give New Mexico a 19-0 halftime lead. NMSU was unable to convert on its best scoring opportunity of the day as Dario Aguinaga missed wide right on a 27vard field goal attempt, spoiling a 13-play, 80-yard drive by the Aggies.

New Mexico slammed the door on NMSU in the third quarter, outscoring the Aggies 13-0.

Baxter capped an all rushing, seven-play, 59-yard drive with a seven-yard touchdown run on the Lobos' first possession of the half and senior cornerback Stephen Persely intercepted Aggie quarterback K.C. Enzminger on NMSU's first play of the half.

Senior running back Holmon Wiggins later scored on a one-yard run to give New Mexico a 32-0 lead at the end of the third quarter. In the quarter, UNM ran 22 plays for 137 yards, while New Mexico

State ran just four plays for nine yards.

Most of the Lobos' 21 seniors had a part in New Mexico's 60th win over the Aggies and biggest in the series since a 61-0 shutout in 1948. Baxter rushed for 131 vards and two touchdowns to pass Rocky Long on the alltime rushing list, finishing seventh with 2,090 yards.

Wiggins had 135 all-purpose yards, including 27 punt return yards, finishing three shy of Chad Smith's school record 666 career yards.

Fellow senior running. backs Javier Hanson and Sulayman Konte added fourth quarter touchdowns and finished with career-highs of 88 and 42 yards rushing, respectively.

UNM's final touchdown of the game came when senior nose tackle Tony Mazotti blocked Brian Copple's punt, which was returned 30 yards by senior linebacker Amos Wilson.

The Lobos' senior linebacker duo of Mohammed Konte and Gary Davis combined for 13 tackles and a sack on the day, while senior Lobo safety Scott Gerhardt had five tackles.

Enzminger, playing his fourth straight game with a torn ligament in his left knee. finished his career with 6,778 total yards. He's only the third player in school history -Cody Ledbetter and Joe Pisarcik the others - to have more than 5,000 yards.

UNM finished with a season-high 350 yards rushing on 59 attempts, while holding New Mexico State to just 79 yards on 31 carries. The Aggies entered the game averaging 219.5 yards and 47.2 attempts per contest.

Fullback Marcus Dixon led NMSU with 20 yards rushing on five carries, while Enzminger finished 8-22 passing for 77 yards and a two interceptions.

H.B. Briscoe had four catches for 48 yards, all in the first half, to lead the Aggie receivers.

Safeties Siddeeq Shabazz and Tyrone Gifford combined for 23 tackles, while linebacker D'Wayne Taylor had 11 tackles. Kelly finished with 113 yards on 5-9 passing, while Wiggins had two catches for 52 yards to lead the Lobos in receiving.

Ruidoso River - No change from last week. A small amount of moisture found its way into Ruidoso the past week. However welcome the rain, it was not enough to change the flow rate on the Rio Buidoso River. The river flow rate is well below 2 CFS. Below the confluence of Carrizo Creek the fishing has been out-standing. The water flow in this part of the River is about normal for this time of year, but is dropping due to lack of rain. The River was stocked two weeks ago with over 900 Rainbow trout. The water is gin lear so wear clothes that blend in with the background. New Mexico's fourth- and eighth-grade students outperformed California's on the National Assessment of Educational Progress science assessment in 2000.

According to results compiled by the National Center for Education Statistics, New Mexico's fourth-grade students averaged a score of 138 on the assessment, compared to 131 for California, and eighth-grade students averaged a score of 140, compared to 132 for California. The average national score was 148 in grade four and 149 in grade eight, based on NAEP science sale of 0 to 300.

"New Mexico's content standards and benchmarks provide the basis for local school districts to develop their science curricula. We believe that as the standards are fully implemented at the local level, science instruction will improve and student achievement in the sciences will increase," såid State Superintendent of Public Instruction Michael J. Davis.

The science assessment, including earth science, physical science and life science, was administered at the state level at grade eight in 1996 and at grades four and eight in 2000. New Mexico participated in both of these assessments; however, no individual student scores were reported by NAEP and no trend data are available for fourth grade.

wo Lincoln County students put themselves into the past and won a statewide essay contest by writing "nistorical" accounts of dealing with the drought in Capitan and the Capitan Mountains in 1905.

WINNERS

Steven Ramirez, a ninth-grader at Carrizozo High School, won first place and $300 in the junior division for ninth- and 10thgraders, and Jason Gentry, a ninth grader at Capitan High School, won honorable mention for that division.

Other awards were given for senior division winning essays from 11th- and 12th-grade students.

The 2001 Water Essay Contest was sponsored by the New Mexico Water Resources Research Institute, and almost 100 students from throughout New Mexico submitted 1,500word essays. The first- and second-place winners read their essays at a luncheon Nov. 6 at La Fonda in Santa Fe in conjunction with the institute's 46th Annual New Mexico Water Conference. Both Lincoln County essayists said they didn't much care for writing. Ramirez said he sometimes likes to write, but it was the competition that made writing his essay fun, something he'd never done. He said he likes to write stories and make-believe, like this essay theme. "I already spent the $300," he said, listing the things he bought with his award-winning essay: a hunting rifle, ammunition; a hunting license and a Nintendo 64 --- and there's still a little bit of change left, he said.

Going to Santa Fe to read his essay was "pretty cool and weird; the first time reading in front of a lot of people. They had a big ol' lunch and we read afterwards and I was nervous at first."

Ramirez said he got the information for his first-person account of living through a drought from his mother's dad that was able to find one hundred and sixty acres to homestead. We were even more fortunate to find a place with a spring that still runs. We came here in hopes of finding more water than we had at home but soon found out there. has been an almost 10-year drought in this country too. Still, the drought has worked in our favor in a way because Dad knows how to witch wells. Uncle Cliff and Dad found a good place up in the Gap and hand dug a good well. Since then they have had plenty of work because everyone is desperate for water.

September 5

Talking about being desperate, just last week some people over the mountain got shot. Our neighbor Pat had found a little seep where he watered his goats and he got in an argument with a fella who claimed that he had a right to the water too. Pat got shot in the back and died. This sure is some rough country.

I got to ride the new horse back and we were all happy until we got home and saw Mom sitting on the ground crying. As it turned out she had been to the garden picking beans and when she went to shelling them there were so many shriveled up that she got to worrying that we might not have enough to get us through the winter. This life has been hard on us but it has been. even tougher on Mom than for any of us. Dad didn't dare tell her about what had almost happened to little Bill until after supper or she might not have even ate.

We have sure been busy. When we aren't hauling water from the well or the spring we have been working on the cabin trying to finish it for the winter. We have been living in a cave on the mountain since we got here. It hasn't been so bad this summer because we can camp out and not worry about freezing, or getting wet since it never seems to rain. Still, we don't want to grow up in a cave and we are working really hard on the cabin so Mom can be more comfortable. Dad says that it is really important since it looks like we might have anoth-

It is now 1905 and I live in Capitan, New Mexico. I am a rancher who is struggling desperately to support and raise a family. In the ranching business, I raise cattle to sell as well as to feed my family. The past 10 years it has been very difficult because we have been in a drought. Without the rains, my pastures are not very productive and so my cattle do not get enough of the nutrients necessary to produce strong and healthy calves. I

Carrizozo also have problems due to drought conditions. This has been making it difficult for the locomotives. The wells having alkali and gypsum in the water, the locomotives often snorted and wheezed to a standstill. The high mineral content also made the water unsatisfactory for drinking. With the Sierra Blanca Mountain having as much as a 100-inch base of snow in the winter, run-off into the Rio Bonito occurs in the spring. A rancher by the name of Tom who lived in the Bonito Canyon decided to sell his water rights to the railroad. With this decision, the railroad can now build a pipeline to Carrizozo for the locomotives. This is a very big asset for the area because the water in the Rio Bonito is spring-fed and with the melt in the spring, this would prove to be good water source for both the Railroad Company and our local ranchers.

Dad and Uncle Bill had a real close call today while they were digging a well for some people down in Lincoln. We were real happy about the job because they are trading a real pretty horse for digging the well. Uncle Bill was down in the hole since he is the smallest and they were getting pretty far down. The side of the well started caving in and Dad heard Little Bill yell. He ran over there and pulled Bill up with a whole 10-gallon bucket full of rocks and dirt. We were so glad to still have Bill with us since there has been more than one person killed doing the same thing that he was.

Although there are good places for them to eat, such as around creeks, it is still not enough food for the cattle to stay alive. Water is a resource that we cannot live without.

... In the late 1890s and early 1900s the area was very drought-stricken. This has made it very difficult for ranchers in the area to provide water for their cattle. With our well going dry, my family and I walk to the nearest stream for water five miles away. We haul the water back home in buckets to use for cooking and cleaning. It is heartbreaking to see the water level drop with each passing day. These same streams were also a water source for my cattle.

The wells near the town of El Paso and Southwestern railroad, developed the project of piping water from Bonito to the railroad. The pipeline is going to be built from the South Fork of Bonito Creek and run a total of 53 miles. The first three miles will allow water to be stored in the Bonito Lake, then continue on to be stored in Nogal Lake. The pipeline will then continue on to different locations that the railroad needs.

When the pipeline is completed to Nogal Lake, Capitan will build a pipeline south across the range to bring water to our ranchers.

... Water is a precious resource and every drop should be treated so. Also, remember your neighbor in times of drought by leaving a glass of water on the table so that he may take a fresh drink if passing by.

POOP SCOOP

BY DIANNE STALLINGS RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER Before moving to Lin-

I use high doses of vitamin C, aspirin for pain and ones." Many dogs are forced to live lives that are limited in one or more ways by genetic defects, she stated. Dogs today are plagued by more than 300 identified genetic defects, she wrote, ranging from minor allergies and skin conditions to debilitating blindness, deafness, joint problems and other life threatening defects of the heart, liver, kidneys and di-gestive and circulatory systems. Unfortunately, dogs with exaggerated physical features and or disproportioned body types, or with very short legs, very broad chests, very short muzzles, protruding eyes or, hairless often are limited in the kinds of activities in which they can participate, she noted.

coln County, I never heard about hip dysplacia, and seizures were a rare occurrence in dogs around me in Florida.

It could be that dog breeds preferred in the wide open plains and high mountains are more prone to those conditions.

In any case, just like many other genetic or acquired disabilities, treatment is available and no longer should signal a premature end to an animal's life in most cases.

My dog Zodiac, a dingo/shepherd cross adopted nearly 10 years ago from the local shelter, now suffers from dysplacia. Surgery, although extremely expensive, is an option. However, at her age, the prospect is not quite as promising. various tissue and joint rebuilding and strengthening mixtures, and give her moderate exercise.

I've also researched canine wheelchairs, which seem to work well in certain conditions.

Another of my dogs, Toughie, named for the tough life she lived before I discovered her starved, pregnant, full of mange and with a broken pelvis on U.S 70, also needs special consideration for her right back leg, which is unable to bend.

In "The Humane Society of the United States Complete Guide to Dog Care," Marion S. Lane wrote that "an unavoidable consequence of selective breeding for desirable traits has been to inadvertently concentrate undesirable
