

Incumbents fall from school boards

Voters oust sitting members in Ruidoso, Capitan, Hondo

BY SANDY SUGGETT
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

Voters asked for change in Tuesday's school board elections in three districts in the county, booting three incumbents in favor of newcomers. In Ruidoso, Danny Sisson beat four-year board member Jacquelyn Branum by 320 to 103, with the third candidate, Vikkee Johnson, receiving 114 votes for Position 5.

Board President James Paxton maintained Position 4 with 376 votes to Candace Valcarcel's 147 votes.

In Capitan, 14-year-incumbent Tom Trost received 147 votes, while David Cox received 200 votes. Gary Tregembo, who ran unopposed for Position 2, received 250 votes.

Hondo incumbent Lucinda Lovell, running for Position 1 against newcomer Dennis Nosker, received 47 votes to his 120.

Voters decided for the 2-mill levy, with 100 voting in favor and 44 opposing. Last year, 44 Hondo voters rejected a continuance of the mill-levy, even though it would not have raised their taxes. Passing the mill-levy brings in about $35,000 to the district and makes Hondo eligible for public outlay money from the state.

James Grider won Position 3 on Carrizozo's school board with 245 votes to Cynthia Morales' 127 votes and Patricia M. Vallejos' 91 votes.

Incumbent Gray Gallacher resigned his position on the board.

Incumbent Eldon G. Offutt kept his seat with 252 votes to challenger Angelo Vega's 214 votes.

In Corona, the incumbents for Positions 4 and 5 ran unopposed and won, each receiving 76 votes. Voters approved the 2-mill levy with 120 votes for and 45 votes against. This brings in about $40,000 to the school district and will be used for capital improvements, maintenance, equipment and improving grounds.

In the 1999 Hondo Valley School Board election, only 20 voters (5.2 percent) came to the polls, while 167 people voted there Tuesday, or 29.5 percent.

Fire managers take advantage of ideal weather for thinning and burning

The plumes of smoke that have blanketed the Ruidoso area this winter will continue until the winds take over in the spring, officials said.

"We'll stop this when it dries out," said Matt Reidy, fire management officer for the Smokey Bear Ranger District of the Lincoln National Forest.

Reidy said the burns, like the ones taking place this week in the Cedar Creek area, probably will continue until March or Amador Martinez, with the Bureau of Indian Affairs-Forestry attached to the Mescalero Apache Tribe, works with the Smokey Bear Ranger District of the Lincoln National Forest to thin and burn the cuttings on national forest lands around Ruidoso. Officials said creating a healthy forest will reduce the potential for a disastrous wildfire.

Mountain snowpack a hopeful sign

Water content of snow equals 13-year average; officials wait to see whether it lasts until spring

BY DIANNE STALLINGS
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

Keith Kessler was forced Friday to hike with snowshoes into the area where he reads snowpack measurements each winter — an area he's been able to reach by vehicle the last two years.

The past easy access was not a good sign for spring run-off that feeds the Rio Ruidoso or for recharge of underground water supplies.

This is only the first of three times he will make the trip in 2001 to a 10,280-foot ridge that separates the Rio Ruidoso and the Rio Bonito.

A lot can happen in that time period, he said, like two years ago when high winds and warm temperatures wiped out the remaining snowpack by the April 1 measurement.

But for now, he took some pleasure in tackling a tough walk into the site off Ski Run Road with his son Brandon, 14, and his friend Steve Ramirez, 13.

"The snow from the previous Saturday hadn't set well yet and we kept sinking," he said. "We snowshoed 1.8 miles from the gate to the site. When we left the road area and crossed a field, we were sinking down 2 feet every step."

Since 1987, Kessler, who manages the Bonito Lake reservoir and recreation area for the city of Alamogordo, has trekked to the ridge during the first few days of February, March and April to determine the condition of the snowpack.

This year's readings were better than the previous two, he said.

The average snow depth was 33.3 inches, with the shallowest point at 23 inches and the deepest at 40.5 inches.

That compares to a 13-year snow depth average of 31.5 inches, making this February look pretty healthy, said Richard Armijo with the Natural Resources Conservation Service's Snow Survey and Water Supply Forecasting office in Albuquerque.

The deepest average reading at 46 inches occurred in 1991, he said.

Last year, the average snow depth for the 10 measuring points on the ridge was 7.55 inches. The high was 11.5 inches and the low was 2.3 inches. The previous year the average snow depth was 22.05 inches.

The water content for this month measured 8.9 inches, which is 100 percent of the 13-year average of 8.9 inches.

"You're doing OK, which is really good this early in the season," Armijo said. "We're hoping it stays cooler so the snowpack stays in place. It would be nice if it stayed below freezing on the ridge all day."

The lowest water content in all of the samples was 6 inches and the highest 11 inches. Last year, some measurements hit zero water content.

"The ground is not frozen and that's good because when the ground is damp, it wicks the water, allowing it to soak into the ground," Kessler said.

"But because it's not frozen, you lose storage for the snowpack. It's a plus and a minus, but I'd rather have it wicking into the ground, as dry as it has been," he said.

"You're doing OK, which is really good this early in the season."

Water rights transfer hearing scheduled for May 24

Quicker resolution would have been better for both sides, developer's representative says

BY DIANNE STALLINGS
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

A hearing to consider the transfer of water rights to irrigate The Hideout private golf course being developed by R.D. Hubbard has been set for May 24 in Ruidoso.

Protesters say the new date will give them time to obtain information on the project to present their arguments. But Hubbard's representative says a speedier resolution would have benefited both sides.

Hearing officer Fred Allen postponed a session scheduled Jan. 30 in Ruidoso and instead considered, in Santa Fe, a handful of pending motions submitted by both sides.

Hubbard plans to create a golf course on about 600 acres of an 1,800-acre tract purchased north of the Rio Bonito and northwest of Sierra Blanca Regional Airport.

To irrigate the land, Hubbard needs water rights and is proposing to move them primarily from the area around Lincoln, farther downstream.

Protesters include the village of Capitan, the federal Bureau of Land Management that owns more than 1,000 acres along the river, the Ranches of Sonterra Property Owners Association and a group from Lincoln. The county commission also sent a letter urging caution.

During the hearing among other action, Allen:

- Denied a motion for partial summary judgment by Hubbard's attorney A.J. Olsen of Roswell.

• Approved a motion by protesters to add Joe Gutierrez Jr., Elverto and Veronica Gutierrez as rebuttal witnesses. They are members of one of the families that owns water rights being requested for transfer. The family is divided on the transfer issue.

• Approved the motion by protesters to allow more time to obtain information from Hubbard's representatives. Allen set the deadline for conclusion of discovery as April 13, the deadline for exchange and filing of additional exhibits for April 27 and the hearing for 9 a.m.

Cop shoots self in hand

A Carrizozo police officer was recovering this week after being shot in the hand as he was preparing to clean his weapon, police Chief A.I. Vega said.

Officer Willie A. Reese III was taken to the Lincoln County Medical Center in Ruidoso following the late Feb. 1 shooting at the Carrizozo Police Department.

"There is no indication of foul play or suspicious activity," Vega said. "Unfortunately, any time one is dealing with weapons, an accident is always possible."

Vega said Reese is about to enter the New Mexico Law Enforcement Academy for training and certification.

Reese phoned 911 after the shooting. Vega said he also called in the Lincoln County Sheriff's Department so an outside agency could conduct an investigation.

"These things can happen, and have happened, to the best of law enforcement," Vega said. "We are all thankful that Officer Reese was not more seriously injured."

FIRE: Agencies take advantage of ideal weather to reduce fire dangers

April. He said more of the burning, to address a forest that has overgrown with trees and scrub, will resume in the summer when the rainy season begins. "This is in concert with the National Fire Plan," Reidy said. "It calls for us to double and triple our outputs. The priority is to thin the forest in the urban interface."

This week crews are burning piles of cut trees, brush and branches around Cedar Creek. "This was thinned and piled last summer," Reidy said, pointing to the now smoldering stacks of woody material. "We keep looking at different situations, looking for conditions that are right to burn. This is a perfect time," he said of mild winds and snow in the woods. The Forest Service is hiring additional people that will, in coming months, work on thinning federal lands in the urban interface, Reidy said. Extra firefighters and suppression crews will also be brought on line to be ready should a wildfire erupt.

It's to bring the forest back to a healthy condition. If we have a fire, it will creep on the ground, and be a surface fire. That we can quickly put out. In other areas, like over there on that ridge, there are small trees that can take a surface fire and take it up the trees and turn into a Cree Fire. While Reidy called it a "grind" day-in and day-out to thin forests and burn piles, he said the work is needed since the Ruidoso area is considered the third most wildfire-threatened location in New Mexico. "We couldn't accomplish what we've done without their help," Reidy said of the Bureau of Indian Affairs and Mescalero Apache Forestry employees who have been working with Forest Service officials. "It's good to have neighbors like that that are willing to help out."

Reidy admits there have been calls from concerned residents when they see plumes of smoke. In the wake of the prescribed-burn-started Cerro Grande Fire that devastated neighborhoods in Los Alamos, Reidy said people are sometimes apprehensive about burning to reduce fuels. But he added that more and more people are realizing a need to create a healthy forest to reduce the potential of a major wildfire. "We take reports of the weather hourly and monitor it," Reidy said. "We get spot weather forecasts. If the weather meets our objectives we will burn. If not, we won't." The fire manager said with snows this winter, now is the time to seize the opportunity. "It's for a healthy forest and the conditions to allow for the aggressive control of fire," Reidy said.

HEARING: Area water rights case hearing rescheduled for May 24

May 24. Denied a motion by Olsen to remove the Ranches association as a protester. Olsen explained Tuesday that in his reading of the law, the association by its own by-laws has no legal standing. He contended that individual property owners only are eligible to file protests. Greg Oleson, head of Hubbard Enterprises based in Palm Desert, Calif., and contact person for Hubbard's Rio Bonito LLC., said he thought Allen conducted a fair hearing in handling the issues.

"Obviously, I was disappointed he decided to push the (transfer) hearing until May 24," Oleson said Tuesday. "He started by opening his calendar to April, then suddenly we were talking June or July. At least it was moved up to May. "I think it would have been in the best interests of all parties to move ahead, to give us a chance to discuss the merits. I'm confident we will be successful in convincing (Allen) the protesters will not be harmed." Greg Switzer, an association member and a spokesman in the water issue, said about 25 people attended the Santa Fe meeting.

"I'm confident we will be successful in convincing (Allen) the protesters will not be harmed."

Greg Oleson, Hubbard Enterprises

Allen also ruled that:

- All 310 acre feet of water rights transfers applied for by Hubbard are for the golf course only. Any additional water needs that may arise in the future on the property, such as water for a residential development, would require a new and separate request.

- One acre foot equates to about 326,000 gallons of water. All wells have to be located and defined in the "advertised area in the application." Protesters could use the "worst case scenario" to present testimony as to possible water impairment at the subdivision.

Tentative agreement reached on Midtown expansion

BY JAMES KALVELAGE RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

A tentative agreement...may end a neighborhood protest over a planned commercial development at the site of the former Super Saver Inn in Ruidoso. Neighbors, who feared damage to their properties, appealed a Dec. 19 Planning and Zoning Commission conditional approval of a commercial site development plan. The plan spelled out ground work, including slicing into a hillside for a westward extension of the Visions shopping complex to the demolished motel property. The appeal, which had been scheduled for a public hearing at the Jan. 31 Ruidoso

Village Council meeting, was dismissed on the premise that an agreement had been hammered out after a meeting with the neighbors. Attorney Dan Bryant, who represented the neighbors uphill from the planned development, told the council that the agreement subjected developer Mark Marquez to all the conditions established by the village's planning commission. He said a copy of the agreement would be forwarded to the village's planning office for a review. Village Hall had not received a copy as of Tuesday. Bryant has been unavailable for comment. Developer Marquez said the agreement, which yet needed to be approved by the neighbors, was drafted Tuesday, ac-ording to staff at Bryant's law office. "All their demands are not unreasonable," Marquez said. "We are reaching an agreement with the neighborhood." While the pending accord would spell out the details of the site development plan approved by the planning commission, Marquez said an added feature would be seismic monitoring during planned excavation of part of a hillside. Some homeowners behind the proposed retail development at 2803 Sudderth Drive claimed houses shook and cracks began showing up in walls about the time the old Super Saver Inn was demolished. They feared more shaking when hillside excavation began.

Trio arrested in attack at bar

Two of three men wanted by Ruidoso police for their alleged involvement in a Jan. 26 attack at a bar were arrested Feb. 1 in Las Cruces.

Arrest warrants, accusing the trio of felony aggravated battery with a deadly weapon and misdemeanor criminal damage to property, followed the late night incident reported at the Ruidoso Bowling Center on Mechem Drive.

The manager of the business told police he was jumped behind the bar area of the bowling alley and hit with items from the bar area. The manager also suffered a deep, 5-inch cut on a leg that Ruidoso police said could have come from a knife.

According to a Las Cruces Police Department report, Freddie R. Baca, 24, of Ruidoso, and Mark Mendoza, 19, Ruidoso Downs, were apprehended after a computer check and contact with the Ruidoso Police Department indicated they were wanted on warrants.

The Magistrate Court of Judge William R. Butts also requested that Las Cruces police hold the two men without bond. While at the Las Cruces Police Department Baca was quoted on a report as stating, "It was just a bar fight and some guy got cut with a bottle."

During a pat down of Baca, a Las Cruces officer found two pocket knives, one allegedly with blood on the blade.

The two were returned to Ruidoso Monday.

A third person, Victor Baca, 27, of Ruidoso Downs, turned himself into Ruidoso police on Friday.

Both Victor Baca and Mendoza have been released from jail, following arraignment hearings in Magistrate Court. Freddy Baca was ordered Tuesday by Butts to remain incarcerated on a no-bond provision because of a probation condition from a previous conviction.

Ag reassessment plan postponed

BY DIANNE STALLINGS
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

Hundreds of farmers and ranchers showed up for a session in Clovis last month focusing on reassessment of agricultural land in New Mexico.

The reassessment was scheduled for this year, but strong criticism of the formula developed by researchers with New Mexico State University halted the process.

A working group, established Dec. 21, will reexamine the issue and submit recommendations to the state by Oct. 1, said Jerry Schickedanz, leader of the agency contracted to recalculate assessments for the first time in nearly 30 years.

Members of the work group will represent commodity groups and other agencies and will include NMSU agricultural economists Jim Libbin, Allen Torell, John Fowler and Jerry Hawkes, and Jeff Witte, assistant director of the state Department of Agriculture.

Schickedanz, dean of the College of Agriculture and Home Economics at NMSU, said he was pleased by the participation at the Jan. 9 meeting.

"We have the opportunity to establish a fair and equitable assessment formula," Schickedanz said in a news release from the university. "The working group will include representatives from all facets of the agricultural industry as well as lending institutions, the (agricultural college), the state Department of Agriculture and state Taxation and Revenue."

"Controversial issues are nothing new for the college. Our faculty has been involved in determining updates on state grazing fees and other state policy matters. I believe we should be helping the people of New Mexico solve their problems and that involves contentious issues."

Libbin calculated the formula based on income methods of valuations, which uses income derived from the use of land for agricultural purposes. Although state regulations provide more than one way to make calculations, some of the numbers to be used are dictated by tax regulations, Schickedanz said.

For example, regulations dictate that range land value uses a single number to represent an "average" cattle ranch statewide, he said. That does not distinguish between a cattle ranch and sheep ranch or between private and public land. It doesn't consider statewide variations in land productivity for grazing, he said.

"Obviously, there are some problems with making the calculations," Schickedanz said. "The assessments have not been looked at for a long time and they should be. State law appears to be adequate. The problem is with the implementation of the law."

AG leary of hospital contract bill

BY DIANNE STALLINGS
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

In an analysis of a bill to exempt county hospital management contracts from the state procurement code, the state Attorney General's Office leans toward rejecting the change.

"New Mexicans may be better served by the current procurement code," N.M. attorney general, in analysis of bill to change state procurement code

"Competitive bidding ensures greater public sunshine on these types of contracts and under this bill, a county will be able to enter into a contract (without limitation on its direction) with a health care company without having to secure the best value for the taxpayers by soliciting competitive bids."

As now written, the procurement code limits a contract for medical services to four years. After that date, a new request for proposals must be issued, although the existing contractor may submit a bid.

The attorney general's office routinely is asked to examine bills for potential impacts. House Bill 322 was introduced by among others State Rep. Dub Williams, a Republican from Glencoe, and former president of the local hospital board.

The Lincoln County Commission was criticized by the state for not issuing an RFP when it renewed a contract with Presbyterian Healthcare Services, which has managed the county hospital in Ruidoso for more than 20 years. The contract also exceeds the four-year limit and carries a $1 per year lease of the facilities by the firm.

The attorney general, in an advisory letter, said the county should be collecting a annual lease fee in line with the fair market value of the hospital and that the commission should have submitted its contract to the state Board of Finance for approval.

Hospital administrator James Gibson said since at least 1998, Presbyterian has charged no management fee.

"The lease is the controlling document," he said. "Presbyterian is responsible for operations. If the hospital loses money, they absorb it. If the hospital makes money (in excess of that needed for operation), it's theirs."

Presbyterian receives some financial help from a special property tax levy used toward the operation of two health clinics it manages for the county, about $200,000 this year. Previously, some of the tax levy also was used for hospital operations, but that was dropped this year, said County Manager Tom Stewart.

County Attorney Alan Stewart said Tuesday the bill analysis is consistent with previous opinions by the attorney general - opinions with which he has disagreed. Some revisions being proposed to the claim of exemption to the state procurement act would provide the same rights to county and municipal hospitals and special hospital districts regarding leases, he said.

"They're trying to give everybody in a similar situation the same rights," Morel said.

That would include an ability to cancel a lease with 180-days notice after the first three years of a contract, he said.

Last month, a district court judge, in rejecting petitions calling for a grand jury investigation ruled that the county commission acted properly by handling the hospital contract under the provisions of the state Hospital and Health Funding Act, which gives boards more latitude in terms and, instead of the state procurement code.

Reynaldo Valcarcel, chairman of the group that circulated the petitions asking for a grand jury investigation into the county's relationship with the hospital, said he was gratified to see the attorney general stand by previous advisory letters.

"The attorney general's position on the legislation is significant because in spite of everything that happened and the attempt of Presbyterian and the county commission to go to the state legislature, the attorney general stands by her position," he said.

What's with Aragon?

Legislature-watchers in Santa Fe and all around the state will be puzzling for a while over Sen. Manny Aragon's bill that would let county commissions order tree-thinning on national forests upon declaring an emergency. The Albuquerque legislator (and former president pro tem) may have been merely accommodating some county commissioners who by resolution had tried to slash and burn a U. S. Forest Service they don't like.

But that's hardly likely. Aragon, a long-time Democrat power broker, is smart enough to know that the U. S. Department of Agriculture and Congress never would forego such control — not even with a GOP administration and a states' rights-leaning Interior secretary in control. Not in an era of consensus-building in Washington.

We suspect that Aragon, in this and many other moves this session, will spend time rebuilding his power base so that once again he can be King of the Hill in the Round House.

Maybe it's significant that Aragon's was Senate Bill 1 — and as such easily overlooked in a senate that has yet to pass any bill except the one paying for the session.

CHARM INITIATIVE # 1

A commendation

To the editor:

Al Junge is to be commended for his dedication to serving our community. For many years he was a village councilor and now serves on the ET Zoning commission.

He understands government and has recently taken a stand refusing to vote on issues because of lack of information. He has requested that the commissioners get the agenda earlier than the Friday before the Monday meetings.

Wanting to be more knowledgeable about zoning requests, he would like to have time to visit the sites in question and to gather information from the petitioner and with anyone that might be opposed to a request. This seems to be a reasonable request and a point well made that he and others need more lead time to study the issues at hand.

Planning and Zoning staff is dedicated as well, but may need more help in getting out the agenda earlier. The newspaper could review and publish pros and cons, and the public could become more educated about articles scheduled to be voted on.

City Hall, Mr. Junge and other commissioners encourage public input. This helps in the decision process. Let us hope that management at City Hall can support staff in getting out the agenda earlier.

The national debt

To the editor:

Last time I checked (admittedly in the "stone ages" of Barry Goldwater), the Republican Party stood for, as one of its major planks, eliminating the national debt. I never thought I would see the day when that happened because it appeared too heavy a burden on the average taxpayer.

Now, however, after a Democratic administration has managed to create a surplus of funds, the now-in-power Republicans want to simply give money away to taxpayers, who have sacrificed to create a surplus, rather than pay off our national debt.

Now I realize that all politicians want to give away things, such as money, but the principled Republicans always maintained that they would not do this.

Yeah, right. How soon we forget!

I see how principled, and fiscally conservative they all are, now that we've elected them to office.

Just how does the Republican Party intend to pay off our national credit card? We have the money now — isn't the right thing to do to use it to eliminate our credit bills?

The reason I can never ever support another Republican is that they have not kept their promise to me to act fiscally responsible.

I used to say "let the Republicans have a chance at running government." Now I see what Republicans do when they have the chance. Same thing the Democrats were doing when the conservative movement began in 1959. That's why the Democrats were voted out, because Republicans promised to be responsible. Just goes to show that when Republicans get in power, they are just as corrupt as those they accused.

Just how is our national debt ever going to be paid off? I'm waiting for an answer.

Handicap parking

To the editor:

There have been many complaints lately regarding the lack of police enforcement of handicap parking in the lots of area businesses. Many are unaware of the fact that the local police cannot issue tickets to violators of this law without the written permission of the owner, given the NM Supreme Court ruling in the City of Rio Rancho vs. Ronald H. Young. Therefore, the laws regarding handicap parking spaces are being disregarded by a segment of the general public.

An effort to correct the above problem with the existing law is now before the Legislature's current session. A change is proposed to the "Powers of the Municipalities" § 3-49-1 to make it possible to enforce the accessible parking requirements under the jurisdiction of the municipality without written consent of the property owner.

HB 450 is the bill that will correct this situation and make the law enforceable. This would also allow the municipalities to retain the funds received as a result of enforcement activities and, if successful, allow the city to use the funds for accessibility improvements.

The needed changes will not be made without a large effort on the part of all persons with disabilities and their primary care givers. Call, write, or e-mail your legislators now and throughout the legislative session. You can check the "New Mexico Home Page" on the Internet for e-mail addresses. Remember, even those of you without disabilities today will probably develop disabilities as you age, so this is in the best interest of all citizens.

YOUR OPINION

The vocal minority

To the editor:

Unlike the "silent majority," the pro-drug minority is well organized and highly vocal.

"If we don't learn from our history, we will surely repeat our past mistakes!" In the 20th century, many drugs were banned, because they had tragically affected our nation.

Most people who use alcohol don't do so to get drunk; however, most people who use illegal drugs do so to get stoned. Drug abusers are a menace to our society.

In the 1950s, England proved that drug legalization only increases drug addiction.

Today, Holland has liberal drug policies. A foreign exchange student once stated that drugs were a real problem in her Dutch school. Hopefully, New Mexico has more concern for her youth than the Dutch have for theirs. Any adult who is convicted of supplying illegal drugs to children must be executed!

A recent Harvard study found that many of our nation's minors drink and they have little difficulty in obtaining alcoholic beverages. The same would be true for legalized drugs.

We will never win the war on crime, including the war on drugs. Therefore, should we surrender to the criminals? After all, the lawbreakers merely make poor choices; therefore, they shouldn't be held accountable for their actions. Right?

After losing the Opium War to Great Britain, her illicit drug supplier, China, drastically reduced her opium usage by inflicting extremely harsh punishments on her drug abusers.

Drug opponents, please contact your state legislators.

GUEST COMMENTARY

Americans work 38 days to feed their family for a year

BY TOM STEEVER
AMERICAN FARM BUREAU

There is no country on earth where food is more affordable than it is in the United States. And it's becoming even more affordable.

A few years ago the Farm Bureau became curious about just how long people have to work to pay for their food. The thought occurred to the farm organization partly in response to the yearly reminders from the Tax Foundation. The foundation's Tax Freedom Day is that point on the calendar when average Americans have earned enough to pay their local, state and federal taxes for the year. As you might guess, Tax Freedom Day is moving further from the beginning of the year. Last year it was May 3.

Farm Bureau calculated Food Check-Out Day, the day when the average American has earned enough to pay his or her family's food bill for the entire year. This year Food Check-Out Day is Feb. 7; that's two days earlier than last year. Food requires less earning power in America.

"It's important because it shows how efficient our farmers are," said Terry Gilbert of Danville, Ky., chairman of the American Farm Bureau Women's Committee, which is sponsoring an event to commemorate Food Check-Out Day. She contrasted the bargain of food with the annual payment of taxes. "I think the average Joe should probably look at the time that it takes to pay his taxes for the year. He has to work up until May to pay his taxes but he only has to work until Feb. 7, to pay for his food for his family for the whole year," she said.

To help illustrate food's affordability, the AFBF Women's Committee buys groceries and donates them to the Ronald McDonald House.

After a half-day shopping trip, committee members present the groceries directly to the food pantry of the charity, which provides housing to families of seriously ill children. There are Ronald McDonald House locations all over the world to serve these families in need. This year's Food Check-Out Day is in Philadelphia at the site of the first Ronald McDonald House. While the donation is being made in the City of Brotherly Love, the scene is repeated by many state Farm Bureaus in several Ronald McDonald House locations across the country.

In the few years that the Farm Bureau has been observing Food Check-Out Day, the pleasure of donating food has been the elation of the volunteers and staff who see to the welfare and comfort of families who come to them in need and in hope. That thought alone is enough to cause one to lose sight of the fact that Americans pay just 10.4 percent of their disposable income for food and that they work only 38 days to earn enough for 365 days worth of food.

It's said that Americans take an abundant and affordable food supply for granted. It's because of America's agricultural producers that we can.

GOP honors Clerk Martha Procter

BY DIANNE STALLINGS
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

A calm port in last year's storm over election ballots in New Mexico, Lincoln County Clerk Martha Procter manages to retain the respect of both political parties while handling her duties.

In recognition of that unique ability and her contributions to the position, Procter was selected for the most prestigious award of the New Mexico Federation of Republican Women. She received the Order of the Jeweled Elephant Saturday during the winter board meeting of the federation in Santa Fe.

The award is presented annually to a New Mexico elected Republican official who "exhibits the highest level of honesty, integrity, morality and commitment in their appointed duties."

Procter was nominated by the Federated Republican Women of Lincoln County, which is headed by Delores Stevens.

Last year, the award went to Lt. Gov. Walter Bradley.

Procter was first elected 12 years ago and has two more years in her current term. She served two 2-year terms when the county commission was composed of three members. When the board expanded to five members and term length was increased to four years, elected officials drew straws to determine who would serve two- or four-year terms to allow staggered election of county officials. Procter drew a two-year term, which allowed her to run for two more consecutive four-year terms - both times unopposed.

"I couldn't have won without the cooperation of my staff," she said Tuesday. "Doing this job well requires the cooperation of so many people - as the November election and the snow storm that arrived at the same time proves.

Lincoln County Clerk Martha Procter

"Everybody showed up to do what needed to be done and people offered rides for those who couldn't do it on their own. They could have found an excuse not to come to work or not to come out and vote, but they didn't. That says Lincoln County has some very special people."

Mescalero agency reverts to federal control

Lee Simmons steps down, ending tribal management experiment established by Wendell Chino

BY DIANNE STALLINGS
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

Ending an experiment begun in 1998 by the late tribal President Wendell Chino, Lee Simmons stepped down as Mescalero Apache agency director Feb. 1.

Iris Drew, tribal government and self-determination officer for the Bureau of Indian Affairs, explained Monday that the BIA again has assumed responsibility for the position of agency manager.

Simmons was hired in 1998 by the administration of Chino to head the agency, but for the first time as an employee of the tribe, not the BIA.

"We used an 1834 law to allow the tribe to provide guidance over BIA employees," she said. "There was a memorandum of agreement between the tribe and the regional director."

The law was invoked only twice. The other tribe tried it for two years and then reverted to agency supervision by a

BIA employee.

"The problem is we can't provide any real authority to a person in a tribal post," Drew said. "They can't expend money or take action in reference to employees. They can only send recommendations to this office; that put extra work on other people."

"We're trying to put the decisions where they belong at the local level with the delegated federal employee."

Because the Bush Administration is just settling in and the new Interior Department secretary needs time to review regulations authorized at the last minute by former President Bill Clinton and to take a look at the agencies under her control, a hiring freeze is in place, Drew said.

"At this point, we're using forester Charles Recker for the next two weeks until we figure out what to do with the position," she said. "We have someone in mind, but we hate to release a name until we have approval."

RUIDOSO POLICE

Boy gets knife charge

A boy, 15, was taken into custody by Ruidoso police for possession of a switchblade. The teen allegedly was with two others seen by a patrol officer on the side of a Mechem Drive business about 11 p.m. Jan. 31. As the officer approached, one of the trio fled. A second was identified and released. The 15-year-old, was asked if he had any weapons. He took a switchblade from a pocket, according to a police report.

The juvenile was charged with misdemeanor possession of a switchblade knife, referred to the juvenile probation office and released to a parent.

Misdemeanor battery

Officers were called to a Mechem Drive residence at 11:09 p.m. Jan. 31 on a domestic violence call.

The victim told police an argument turned physical when she was pushed to the ground. A police report said the victim had numerous bruises and her hair pulled out.

Charles Fred Dean Jr., 46, who was arrested by police, denied being involved.

Dean also was wanted on a bench warrant for contempt of court and failure to pay a fine from a previous battery case.

Court limits tire shop's work

BY JAMES KALVELAGE
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

A Ruidoso tire shop was ordered to stop performing auto engine work after an employee at a neighboring business was treated for carbon monoxide poisoning.

The order, signed by Ruidoso Municipal Judge Michael Line, requires Richmond Tire, 139 Sudderth Drive, to perform only tire sales and installation, brake service and simple oil change, filter and lubrication work.

According to incident reports with the Ruidoso Fire Department and the village's planning and zoning department, a neighboring business in the same building raised concerns on Jan. 8 about foul odors believed to be coming from the tire shop. Days later an employee of the adjacent business complained about headaches and reportedly received medical treatment for carbon monoxide poisoning. The employee has reportedly been unable to return to work.

The cease-and-desist order dealing with engine repairs was signed by the judge on Jan. 17.

Village planning correspondence indicated Richmond Tire was licensed for the sale of tires and tire repairs. Village approval for auto repair work is required. Approval would require an exhaust system be installed to remove engine emissions from the building.

Jeremy B. Richmond, manager of the tire shop, said the firm may may install an exhaust system for venting engine fumes. He said the tire shop has an agreement with the village that allows for tire work, oil changes and lubes, alignments, and other work that does not involve running a vehicle.

Firefighters had been called to the tire shop three times in a month on concerns over odors. Air testing on at least one of the visits indicated a dangerous level of carbon monoxide was present.

Revisions to Lincoln County's subdivision regulations, aimed at tightening road and water requirements, were put on hold Thursday by members of the county's Planning Commission.

County Attorney Alan Morel said he doesn't know what to do, because he revamped the regulations at a special planning board meeting in November based on county commission direction that the county should tighten the rules.

Yet when commissioners reviewed revisions at their meeting in January, "I came away feeling they wanted them to be more lax," he said. "I came away dazed. It seemed every one I tried to change, the commission sent back and said try again."

He recommended holding off on tackling the revisions until the Legislature wraps up its session in mid-March because bills introduced could amend the state subdivision rules. One could exempt the oil and gas industries from subdivision regulations, another might provide money for county comprehensive plans and a third could broaden county jurisdiction.

Once revisions are drafted, it takes about 120 days before they are enacted, Morel said. Seven agencies review them.

"I'd rather do it all at one time," he said. "I drafted the revisions the way I thought sounded good, but others (at the commission meeting) suggested simpler language that sounded better. I'm open."

Although the county lacks zoning, subdivision regulations are used to try to ensure improvements are installed when developments are launched.

In response to Morel's report, planning board chairman Charles Rennick said county commissioners referred the subdivision regulations to the planning board because they were concerned about

"I came away dazed. It seemed every one I tried to change, the commission sent back and said try again."

Alan Morel,
county attorney

holes in the rules.

"Commissioners raised the idea about a countywide moratorium on development and did this to avoid that," he said. "We had at least two hearings and went to commissioners and they took no action. I guess we're back to the moratorium stage. That's their business. Some of these changes were cleanups to help (county planner) Patsy Sanchez."

Board member James Sanchez said, "We're looking for better management and accountability."

Morel said if rules aren't tightened, the county faces a proliferation of lot splits without control.

"Today, someone can buy 5 acres (from a subdivided tract) and within the month, divide the land again under the existing exemptions," he said. "How do I now go back in and require them to build a road to county standards after the fact?"

"People are beginning to come in and build in subdivisions platted in the 1950s and 1960s, and they have no roads."

Rennick said, "The idea (of the revisions) was to get the subdivider to decide up front what he wants to do with the land."

If that choice is to subdivide again, it's best to provide central water and sewer, member Sanchez said.

"If you chose to do it, it will be expensive," he said. "I think there would be a constitutional problem saying you cannot split a lot, ever."

However, the county could tie a minimum time limit such as seven years to splits, he said.

The board formed a subcommittee to look at the rules again and come back with suggested changes. "In the meantime, if commissioners want to provide some guidance, that would be good," Rennick said.

Member Sanchez suggested also establishing a time limit for development of subdivisions. If the owner fails to meet the deadline, he should have to reapply or meet current standards, Sanchez said. Another alternative would be to legally abandon a subdivision plat if it is not developed within a time frame.

"We have people buying up whole (old) subdivisions to complete them and they want to know what standards they have to meet," Morel said. "Right now, we're deciding on a case-by-case basis."

Planner Sanchez suggested a three-year limit before approval is voided.

"I think its a time bomb already gone off," she said. "That's why I'm asking for changes."

Developer guarantees that improvements will be completed in those old subdivisions have long ago expired, said Realtor Gary Lynch. Many simply conveyed lots to the county as a guarantee.

Resident Rod Graham said an educated estimate is that at least 40,000 lots already have been approved for development in the county.

A road in his area has turned "into an absolute nightmare" because a subdivision approved years ago is being developed on a 25-year-old plan, he said, adding, "And we all have to suffer with that."

In another matter, board members agreed that meetings for the year will be changed to 6 p.m. the first Tuesday of each month. The next meeting will be in Ruidoso Village Hall, but many of the other meetings will be in Carrizozo.

RUIDOSO POLICE

Man in custody

A Ruidoso man, on probation, was taken into custody Jan. 30 after officers reportedly found marijuana at his residence.

Raymundo Aguilar, 41, was charged with possession of less than one ounce of marijuana and possession of drug paraphernalia, both misdemeanors. The possession was also a violation of probation.

Police and a probation officer who searched Aguilar's residence found three plastic bags with marijuana and a pack of rolling papers. Aguilar admitted the items were his, according to a police report.

Aguilar denied knowledge of a billfold containing a credit card reportedly found in the residence.

Tires damaged overnight

An Apache Hills resident reported to Ruidoso police that three tires on an auto had been damaged overnight Jan. 28-29.

The tires had been cut by a sharp object, the report indicated.

The damage to a vehicle incident resulted in an estimated $300 damage.

Graffiti discovered

Another case of graffiti was discovered by police on Jan. 23. A wooden fence at a Hull Road property was found to have been vandalized with black paint lettering.

A Ruidoso police report stated that the style of graffiti was similar to other recent graffiti seen in Ruidoso.

Downs committee recommends fees

BY JAMES KALVELAGE
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

One of two newly created Ruidoso Downs subcommittees has decided how much to charge the public for copies of village documents.

The Ruidoso Downs village council on Jan. 22 created two short-term subcommittees, one charged with exploring the idea of aerial mapping of Ruidoso Downs and a geographic information system for the village, and the other was asked to recommend charges when the public seeks information, especially if photocopying or time-consuming searches are required.

The panel has recommended copies of the village council agenda packet, which includes monthly reports, accounts payable and recurring information, be provided to the public free of charge, if requested two working days before the meeting.

Agenda information under the General Business portion of the agenda would be available at a 25-cent-per-copy charge.

Extensive information, such as lengthy reports or studies, would be available for public viewing at village hall. A copy of such materials could be "checked out" for a period of 24 hours.

Copied information from departments would come with a 25-cent-per-page charge, as would information faxed by the village.

Microfiche records would carry a $1-per-page charge. Audio tape copying would cost $5 per tape. Computer diskette charges are recommended at $1 for the cost of the diskette and 25 cents per file.

At the Jan. 22 meeting, village attorney Dan Bryant said the establishment of the subcommittees fits with the trustees' desire to review the issues before taking any action. The pair of panels included two of the village's four trustees and three members of the public.

The review of village policy dealing with the availability of public records had been requested by Trustee Bonnie Richardson.

"Providing people with information makes for better government," Richardson said. "To show our concurrence and our good faith to the citizens of the village we should provide it to citizens at no charge."

Richardson said she could see a need for a cost if a request for information or documents involved a "lot of research or digging."

Some residents of the village have requested copies of village council meeting documents, such as the meeting information provided to trustees.

"At first I said 'let them have it for free,'" said Trustee Judy Miller. "But others have to pay for public records. But since this is important to me I feel like the agenda should be free. If they want all the reports (the agenda supporting documentation), $1 is not a lot."

Richardson concurred, stating a $1 charge would be reasonable.

"There's not that many more that would want a packet," said Jim Bassett, another trustee. "Hit eight or 10 more (photocopies) and just give it to them," he suggested.

Bassett cautioned, however, that "carte blanche" free access to all village records would be cost-prohibitive.

Speaking to Bassett's recommendation that up to ten council meeting packets be available free to the public, Bryant said the eleventh person that requested a full agenda, and was told there would be a charge, would be mad.

The attorney urged the council to establish a written policy.

"It makes sense to say we believe certain elements should have little or no costs," Bryant said. "You need to make certain that you don't make a policy that lets people abuse you."

Bryant noted that state statute allows local governments to charge up to $1 per page for public records.

"There are 30 pages in tonight's agenda packet," the attorney said. "Clearly $30 would be outrageous. At 10 cents a copy (page) on the other hand it's $3."

The recommendations by the subcommittee, which met Jan. 26, are expected to be reviewed by trustees at the Feb. 12 council meeting, said Gladys Dillard, village clerk.

"Providing people with information makes for better government."

Mescalero tribal members attend preservation meet

Week-long institute now under way in West Virginia

Two Mescalero Apache tribal members are participating in a program focusing on the latest and most effective preservation techniques and issue strategies.

Donna Stern-McFadden, tribal historic preservation officer, and Naida Natchez, preservation technician, were selected as preservation leaders who are in a position to influence preservation activities within their tribes.

The week-long institute is under way at the National Conservation Training Center in Shepherdstown, W.Va.

The sessions were to include classroom lectures and participatory learning experiences that cover issues of importance to tribal historic preservation officers.

Co-sponsored by the National Association of Tribal Historic Preservation Officers and National Trust for Historic Preservation, the workshop is supported by the National Park Service's Heritage Preservation Services, National Register of Historic Places, National Center for Preservation Training and Technology and the National Trust's Johanna Favrot Fund for Historic Preservation.

The center is owned by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

The National Trust for Historic Preservation is a non-profit membership organization with more than a quarter million members nationwide, six regional offices and 20 historic sites.

Examples of bills mailed from Ruidoso on Dec. 29, received and still in the county mail box were mailed from Ruidoso on Dec. 11. Resident reported that when he refused to pay the Carrizo Post Office the organization packages ended up billing him because the mailing date exceeded the 15-day free expiration period.

"As each day goes by, we continue to see evidence of poor service. Steve wrote me one-day service within the county appears to be a myth and our concern now becomes for all these citizens who wait to send in their credit card bills and other payments assuming that five days is a sufficient delivery time. I did finance charges. During the Dec. 21 meeting, I promised a full review of the delivery within the county. It would help if residents could be notified the details immediately. I will be cancelling the service and will trace what happened."

School program for skiing, not day care

Preschoolers absent from slopes

BY SANDY SUGGITT
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

Preschoolers were excluded from the Lincoln County school ski program this week, but those in charge said they never officially were included.

On Jan. 30, 120 preschoolers showed up at Ski Apache for the first of four ski Tuesdays. General manager Roy Parker enforced the original agreement, which was for children from kindergarten through 12th grade.

"They (preschoolers) never were included," Parker said. "Years ago when this program was first started, it was fourth grade and older. Then we lowered it to second grade, and when we started this time we made it K through 12, so they've never been included. It was just too much for us to handle."

White Mountain Elementary School Principal Frank Cannella, who coordinates the program with the six schools that participate (six schools in Ruidoso, three in Capitan, two in Carrizozo), said the school ski program "is not developmentally appropriate for large numbers of 3- and 4-year-olds to learn skiing." He said the first two years of the program, a few preschoolers "wiggled their way in," but it wasn't a problem because there wasn't much interest in the program. This year, however, because of "great snow," more people participated.

Last year 300 children were released from school early for a month of Tuesdays to learn to ski, Cannella said, and this year, more than 1,000 people went skiing through the school ski program.

"The program is not set up for day care," he said. "It's for introducing them to skiing."

Cannella said staff at Ski Apache is very cooperative with the schools, and he wasn't clear enough that the program was not intended for preschoolers, even though the form that children take home from school states that it is for kindergarten and older children.

"We're going back and doing what we said we were going to do, which is K through 12," Cannella said. "Somehow, by mistake or by miscommunication, they (preschoolers) got the forms and went up there and there were just too many of them."

"We're going back and doing what we said we were going to do, which is K through 12."

Frank Cannella,
ski program coordinator

The program started in the 1960s with fourth-graders and older and the price of the lift ticket was $2 and $1 for lessons, Cannella said. Now the price is $2 for a lift ticket and $2 for lessons, and Ski Apache has kept the price down.

"It's good for the community. The years without the program, we dried up as a ski town," he said.

Students with more than 10 school absences in the fall semester are not allowed to participate in the program. Parents pick their children up at school from 11:15 a.m. to noon on the four Tuesdays.

Council upholds variance denial

The Ruidoso Village Council has upheld a Planning and Zoning Commission denial of a variance that sought to allow a Riverside Drive homeowner build a house addition into a setback area.

The original request sought to encroach 7 feet into the 10-foot side lot line setback.

"We want to improve our neighborhood with the look of our house," appellant James D. Roof Jr. told the council.

Village Planning and Zoning Department Administrator Joseph Patoskie said the request did not fit a hardship exception, and neighbors had objected the the variance.

Councilor Leon Eggleston contended the home addition could be located outside of the setback area.

The commercial zone district along U.S. Highway 70 in Ruidoso, called C-2 (community commercial) has been renamed C-2e.

Council members approved the name, which has also taken place in other commercial areas of the village. The geographic identification of the commercial districts will allow for possible use changes in the future. As an example, Patoskie said car lots may be an acceptable use on U.S. Highway 70, but not on Sudderth or Mechem Drives. He said the geographic breakup of the C-2 district would allow for such distinctions.

As with the previous renaming of parts of the C-2 district, public hearings accompanied Planning and Zoning Commission endorsement of the plan. No public comment was presented during Tuesday's hearing before the village council.

A restaurant beer and wine license was approved by the council for Books-N-Beans/Time Square Deli at 2501 Sudderth Drive. The license yet requires state approval.

In other activity at last week's village council meeting:

• Mayor Robert Donaldson

proclaimed Feb. 2 as Groundhog Job Shadow Day.

• A second-quarter budget review for fiscal year 2000-2001 was presented by Lorri McKnight, finance officer.

• Approval was given to a cooperative agreement with the New Mexico State Highway and Transportation Department for MainStreet funding.

• Profession service agreements for on-call engineering or construction observation were approved for the MainStreet project, the water department and Sierra Blanca Regional Airport.

• A grant application for Keep Ruidoso Beautiful was approved.

• A Lodgers Tax Committee recommendation to fund $4,000 for promotion of the 2001 Championship Future of Archery Sports Team event set for early August was approved.

MAGISTRATE COURT

The following cases were recently adjudicated in Lincoln County Magistrate Court in Ruidoso with Judge William R. Butts presiding.

• David Goldsberry, 40, Ruidoso, through a plea agreement, was convicted of first offense driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor or drugs and not providing proof of liability insurance.

Charges of aggravated DWI-third offense and not having a driver's license were dismissed.

Goldsberry was credited for two days served at the Ruidoso Police Department lock-up, put on probation for 88 days and assessed fines and fees totaling $538.

• Carl Bowden, 32, Ruidoso, through a plea agreement, was found guilty of second offense DWI.

Charges of driving with a suspended or revoked license, no insurance and failure to dim bright lights were dismissed.

Bowden was sentenced to three days in jail with credit for one day previously served, placed on probation for 361 days, assessed fines and costs of $699, and required to serve 48 hours of community service.

• Boley Embrey, 64, Midland, Texas, through a plea agreement, was convicted of first offense DWI.

Charges of aggravated DWI and failure to dim bright lights were dismissed.

Embrey was put on probation for 90 days and required to pay $199 in court fees.

• Martin Amaya, 36, Ruidoso, through a plea agreement, was found guilty of second offense DWI.

Charges of third offense DWI, driving with a revoked license, having an open container of alcohol in a vehicle, a turn signal violation and a probation violation were dismissed.

Amaya was credited for one day of incarceration already served, required to serve two more days in the Lincoln County Detention Center, put on probation for 361 days, ordered to attend daily Alcoholics Anonymous meetings, pay fines and fees of $699 and perform 48 hours of community service.

Restaurant plan clears early hurdle with village

The Ruidoso Planning and Zoning Commission gave preliminary approval Tuesday to plans for a restaurant at 1103 Sudderth Drive.

The property, at the corner of Sudderth and South Overlook drives, already has a commercial building.

The commission required the business to have 18 parking spaces for the planned 48 seats.

Developer Tadd B. Johnson of Albuquerque told the commission he would provide a plan for a vegetated outdoor area, a condition village Planning Department administrator Joseph Patoskie suggested.

While a gravel driveway and parking area would be allowed for a year, Patoskie said drainage issues would need to be considered when asphalt is put down.

"This is a case in point," Patoskie told the commission about the lack of requiring a paving permit and potential runoff. "It is creating a condition we need to be concerned with."

The restaurant plan still needs approvals for actual renovations to the building.

Warrior wrestler Justin Huffman sends his Tucumcari opponent to the mat at the Sierra Blanca Invitational Saturday.

West Las Vegas tops wrestling invite

KAREN BOEHLER
RUIDOSO NEWS SPORTS EDITOR

Some of the teams that will almost certainly be battling for the No. 1 slot at the state wrestling tournament competed at the Sierra Blanca Invitational Saturday, and Ruidoso's third-place finish let the Warriors know they'll have to step it up a notch to be among the top finishers.

West Las Vegas dominated the dual-style format, with Cobre a distant second and the Warriors third.

"We didn't show up to wrestle," said Ruidoso coach Jerritt Perry. "Even though we ended up with a 3-2 record, that's not good enough. We didn't wrestle the way we're capable of. Our mental focus was not there. I felt like after the first round, it was kind of a wakeup call, and once we woke up, we realized we better get after it, because if we don't, we're going to lose."

Individually, heavyweight Patrick Hodges had the best performance of the day, going 3-0 (with two additional wins by forfeit).

His toughest match was against Tucumcari, which he won by pin late in the third period.

"We knew all along, he's a little heavyweight but he bench presses more than 400 pounds," Perry said. "Hopefully, when we see him in the individual (state) tournament, he'll be on the other side of the bracket, and we'll let Robertson and him fight it out."

Perry was also pleased with 171-pounder Brandon Brumlow, who just rejoined the team last week to fill a hole because of injuries.

Brumlow went 2-1, but won his first match with only a week's practice.

"I was really proud of him," Perry said. "That was his first match of the year, and he hung tough."

Another returner was Cade Hall, 141 pounds, 2-1, who was back on the mat after suffering an elbow injury earlier in the season.

"We're glad to have Cade back," Perry said.

"Cade won some great matches. He just needs to have a little more mat time, and we're still trying to tend to his arm, but after we get that healed up, I feel like he's a contender still."

West Las Vegas coach Joe Rubalcaba, who said his team was a dark horse at the beginning of the season, was pleased with the outcome.

"We feel real good," he said. "I think our team's peaking at the right time for district and state. Just beating Cobre and beating Ruidoso we feel real good, because they're two tough teams that have usually beaten us."

Cobre coach Barry Form was also happy with the outcome.

"The way we've wrestled this year, this was probably our brightest moment so far," he said. "We're coming together at the right time of the year."

New Mexico Military Institute coach Allen Kross said his team is going to have to improve if the Colts are to beat the Warrior's at Thursday's district meet.

"There's a couple of kids who can wrestle better," Kross said. "They know what they have to do to pick it up to make the score closer. But again, giving up two weight classes, it's going to be hard on us. If we can keep some of the lower weights off their backs, and they pick up their wrestling, we should do somewhat better."

Perry is certain the Warriors will earn the district title — the first ever for Ruidoso — then will look ahead to state.

"(Winning district is) our No. 1 goal," he said. "We've never been district champs. We're going to be district champs, and after that, our goal is to be in the top three at state. And we feel like we can do that. We've got to refocus now, and we're going to have to take a gut check. Because there's some tough people out there."

Results of the Sierra Blanca Invitational will be in Friday's Ruidoso News.

Warriors finally make it look easy

KAREN BOEHLER
RUIDOSO NEWS SPORTS EDITOR

The No. 1-ranked Warriors (17-3, 5-0) finally played a game in which their coaches and fans could breathe easy through the whole match.

Friday, Ruidoso led from start to finish in Santa Teresa, topping the Desert Warriors 77-49.

A big key to the win was the third quarter, when the Warriors held Santa T to three points.

"Our goal was to hold (Santa Teresa) below 40 points for the game," said coach Billy Page. "At half time, I told the boys, 'You have 12 points for the rest of the half that you can allow,' and the third quarter they came out with just intense pressure and great defense."

Page said the Desert Warriors came up with some late buckets to make the final score closer than it really was, but this time, Ruidoso didn't fold in the final stanza.

"We talked about being a team people can come back on," Page said. "That's going to give some people some confidence, and in the second half of our district play, we need to make sure when we have someone down, we need to go ahead and close the door on them."

Every Warrior scored in Friday's game, with Solomon Barnett tallying a season-high 27 points and J.R. Floyd picking up 10.

Page said the win felt especially sweet coming in Santa Teresa.

"It's a hard place to play," he said. "It's so far away that we don't get a big crowd. We had a decent crowd. But it was good for us. I'm really proud of the way we played."

Shots don't fall for Ruidoso

KAREN BOEHLER
RUIDOSO NEWS SPORTS EDITOR

It was another rough night for the Ruidoso girls (4-17, 1-3) on the hardwood Saturday, but not for a lack of effort.

While the Warriors hustled throughout, they just couldn't get the ball in the hoop, falling to Portales 57-31.

"The difference was their shots went in and ours didn't," said a frustrated-sounding coach Albert Ronquillo. "That's the difference in the game. Because our effort was there. We've just got to hit some shots."

For three quarters, the game belted to the Rams.

Portales led 7-4 after one, 31-11 at the half and 46-16 after three.

Ruidoso did finally start hitting, outscoring the Rams 15-11 in the final stanza, but it was far too little too late.

And despite the wide margin of victory, Portales coach Brenda Gomez wasn't pleased with her squad's effort.

"It was a really, really sloppy game," she said, noting 14 Ram turnovers in the first half. "I thought we had a good second quarter and a good third quarter. The first quarter was really sloppy and the last quarter was sloppy. We didn't play with intensity. We weren't aggressive. We weren't focused. I think those are the kind that are going to come up and get you."

The Warriors did have some success defensively, holding the Rams' big men, Kristi Harp and Laci Lee, to less than double figures.

But others stepped up, including Nicole Zamora, who scored 15 and Jaytha Culppepper, who tallied 12.

Clarissa Silva was the only Warrior in double figures with 19, including five 3 pointers.

Both coaches agreed that the Warrior effort was there, and Gomez said it's going to pay off in the future.

"I always think Ruidoso plays really, really hard," she said. "It's going to take them a while to get something going. They haven't really had the experience of playing. (Coach Ronquillo has) some good players, and I think it's going to be next year, but I think they do work really hard, that's to be admired. When you're at the bottom, it's easy to give up."

Chiefs get second OT win

Mescalero's boys took a second overtime win Saturday, surprising Gateway Christian 62-59 in Roswell.

It was the end of a four-game week for the Chiefs (6-11, 2-6), in which they defeated Hondo in double overtime Wednesday, then fell Thursday to Hagerman 65-47.

Chief coach Christie LaPaz said against the Bobcats, Mescalero had a 12-point lead early, but missed 19 free throws in the first half, which would have come in handy.

"The second half, we just didn't play ball," he said. "Those free throws would have helped."

Phillip Pike led the Chief scoring with 21, while Tony Chimal had 13.

The long week showed Saturday in Roswell, but the Chiefs found one more quarter to play.

"They played hard Thursday night, then Saturday they were tired, but they still hung in there to the end," LaPaz said.

The Chiefs might have won in regulation, but leading scorer Pike, who tallied 17 points, fouled out with four minutes left. The Chiefs also missed several

Girls
Lordsburg 59, Capitan 32

In the afternoon's opener, the Maverick girls triumphed over Capitan, taking a 59-32 win.

It was the aggressive defense for the Mavericks that lead them to victory and a tie for first place in District 3A with Hatch.

Lordsburg coach Tammy Hall said her team came out real strong.

"Our main philosophy is defense and we came out strong defensively," she said. "We still need to work better on post defense and the transition game. We are little weak getting back. Our half-court trap was working OK, but when it comes down to the fast break, any type of transition defense, we are in a lot of trouble."

The Mavericks' ball handling spread the scoring around.

Amanda Plowman led Lordsburg with 15 points. Jessica Atijono had 14 and Lezley Levario contributed 12.

The Mavericks held the Tigers under double figures, with Candle Turner the top scorer.

Hondo runs out of legs after long week

KAREN BOEHLER
RUIDOSO NEWS SPORTS EDITOR

Weather postponements forced the Eagles into a quartet of games in five days — three of them on the road — and it showed, as both the boys and girls fell to Mesilla Valley and Hagerman.

"I think we just ran out of legs," said girls coach Julie Montoya. "Too many games in one week. With three of them being away, we couldn't get anything going defensively to make up for our offense."

The girls fell to Mesilla Valley 47-41 in Las Cruces, got back to Hondo at 3 a.m. Saturday morning, then had to be in Hagerman for a 3 p.m. game.

Needless to say, the Lady Eagles (8-9, 4-3) fell 72-47 to the district leader.

Hondo was playing without senior Chriselda Acosta, who was ill, but other factors played into the loss, Montoya said.

"We just played sloppy. We couldn't move on defense. I think they were just pretty wore out."

The situation was the same for the boys (8-16, 0-7), who fell 100-35 to No. 4-ranked Mesilla Valley Christian, and 81-45 to Hagerman.

Despite the losses, coach Eddie Chavez said his team played hard.

Against the Son Blazers, "We played as good as we could," Chavez said. "The intensity never dropped. They never gave up. We just got outbounded, that was the main thing. They're pretty big. They're strong inside. And they're quick. They had full-court pressure the whole game."

And they kept the Blazers to Grizzlies split in Vaughn, Mountainair

BY KAREN BOEHLER
RUIDOSO NEWS SPORTS EDITOR

Carrizozo's girls added another victory to their strong season Friday, while the boys came close in one match, but couldn't top either Mountainair or Vaughn.

Girls
Carrizozo 54, Mountainair 26
The Lady Grizzlies (19-2, 6-0) made things look a lot easier in Mountainair than they did at home, topping the Mustangs 54-26.

Zozo led 12-9 after one quarter and 25-18 at the half, putting forth an effort that wasn't there in a non district loss to Santa Rosa earlier in the week.

"I think, sometimes losing humbles you," said coach Mel Holland. "We've got to realize we've got to go to work every time we get on the court, no matter who we play."

Holland said the win was the result of "good, aggressive" man-to-man defense.

"If we can keep you under 30 (points), we think we can win," Holland said.

Christa Franck led the scoring with 17 points, while Brooke Holland picked up a dozen.

Boys
Vaughn 81, Carrizozo 45
The Grizzlies (6-14, 2-4) opened a two-day road stand with an 81-45 loss to Vaughn Thursday.

"We didn't play very well at all," Holland said.

The Grizzlies kept things close through the first quarter, trailing 26-16, but were outscored 15-3 in the second quarter.

The Grizzlies were playing without starter Chris Margis, and had both eighth and ninth graders on the floor.

Also, Holland said, it's tough to play in Vaughn's gym. Still, "We create a lot of our own problems," Holland said. "I still think if we play well one ball game, we're lucky."

Brandon Langley was the only Grizzly in double figures with 16.

Mountainair 59, Carrizozo 48

Friday, still playing without Margis, the Grizzlies had a much better game, falling to District 8A leader Mountainair by a mere 11 points, 59-48.

After falling behind 23-9 in the first quarter, the Grizzlies slowly played catch-up, cutting the lead to seven at two points, but unable to get any closer.

Holland said Zozo has to start playing better defense to win.

"If we'd start guarding somebody, we might give ourselves a chance to win," he said. "Right now that's the problem."

Holland said the Mustangs had trouble with the Grizzly zone defense, which allowed Carrizozo to close the gap.

"When we went to the zone, they didn't shoot well," he said. "We're lucky they didn't shoot well."

Langley again led the Grizzly scoring with 18, while Lane Dixon and Adam Means

Vaughn edges Corona despite long game delay

KAREN BOEHLER
RUIDOSO NEWS SPORTS EDITOR

CORONA — Sometimes, even when a game is on the schedule in black and white, the other team doesn't show up.

Friday, the Corona boys were scheduled to play Vaughn. (Vaughn's girls forfeited their season because of too few players, so the Lady Cardinals scheduled a non district match vs. New Mexico Military Institute.)

Part way through the girls game, a Vaughn resident whose daughter played for NMMI realized the Vaughn boys didn't have the game on their schedule.

A flurry of phone calls between the Corona and Vaughn athletic directors followed, and Corona agreed to give the Eagles time to get there.

In Vaughn, the team stopped practicing, the players ran home to get their uniforms (the parents of two players who lived out of town drove the uniforms to Corona) and the boys boarded a bus for the 45 minute ride.

Two hours after it was scheduled, the game finally started, and even though the Eagles had practiced for the equivalent of a quarter, they still took the victory, winning 69-60.

"Fourth quarter, it just seemed like we had some break-downs on defense and shots weren't rolling in for us," said Corona coach Ronnie Dunsworth. "We got frustrated. We had them until then. Overall, it was a good effort. It was a hard game. The kids played their hearts out."

Corona (1-14, 1-5) led through most of the first quarter, with Vaughn taking a 16-15 lead at the buzzer.

The Cardinals turned things around in the second half, leading 34-30 heading into the locker room, then the teams traded the lead in the third, with Vaughn finally pulling away in the final stanza.

Eagle Eric Lozano was key to the Eagle victory, tallying 32 points for his team. Jason Tenoria had 12, Lucas Tapia 11 and Andres Aguilar 10.

For Corona, Albert Sanchez put in 26 shots, while Andrew Bagley had 11.

Vaughn coach Joe Gauna admitted he was a little worried, especially because of the practice before the game, but said his team "settled down and played tough defense. That made the difference," he said.

And playing Corona is always tough, no matter what the situation, he said.

"It's always a close game with these guys, and district means a lot right now," Gauna said. "We had to win this game."

Mountainair 59, Corona 52

Thursday, the Cardinals finally got in a game that had been postponed several days because of the weather, and Corona almost pulled off an upset over Mountainair before falling 59-52.

"We finally put four good quarters together, and it's probably the best team defense we've played all year long," Dunsworth said. "We tried to take away their 3-point shooters. I think it made a world of difference."

Corona and the Mustangs were tied at half and only a few points in the second half separated the two teams.

Bagley led the way for Corona with 19 points, while Sanchez and Chauncy Jinks each had 10.

"We just played a good ball game," Dunsworth said. "The kids hadn't played a game all week long, so they had fresh legs and they were ready to play. It helped to have the home court, too. The kids played good at home. If we just had a few more lucky bounces and a few more shots go, we could have beat them. We just ran out of time at the end there."

Girls
Mountainair 65, Corona 59

Corona's girls (6-8, 3-2) also came close vs. Mountainair, falling 65-59. Coach Tommy Mulkey said the Cardinals played pretty well, but were outrebounded on offense.

"They got some putbacks," he said. "They were beating us up and down the floor. They were getting some easy shots. Then, at the end, when we really needed them, we had some easy shots and we missed them."

Delia Gonzalez led the Cardinal scoring with 20 points, with sister Delia picking up 19 and Dominica Fernandez 12.

Mulkey said the Cardinals shot well from the free-throw line, and played with intensity throughout.

NMMI 56, Corona 51
It was a different matter Friday, as Corona came out flat against New Mexico Military Institute, falling 56-51.

"I don't know why we didn't come out ready to play, but we sure weren't ready," Mulkey said. "That's what happens. You get a team who can shoot like that, if you're not ready to go, they'll beat you every time."

Corona led at halftime, 28-25, but the Colts took the lead early in the third and held it until early in the fourth, when Laura Gonzalez nailed a trey to put the Cardinals back up.

But Colt Mariposa Sanchez matched that three with one of her own, and although freshman Estee Cooper tied the game with a free throw halfway through the final stanza, Corona never led again.

The Cardinals had a rough night at the free-throw line, going 12-for-33.

"We had some young girls get on the line who don't get a lot of free-throw time, and that hurt us," Mulkey said. "Put our seniors out there or our juniors, and we win the game because they make those free throws."

But he had nothing but praise for Holland.

"She just hustled her rear end off," he said. "If everybody had been playing with that kind of intensity, we would have been all right."

NMMI coach Lori Hubble said she told her team it was up to them in the second half.

"They had to do it," she said. "If they wanted to get out there and play, then they would. If they didn't, then they wouldn't."

Sanchez led all the scoring with 25 points.

Laura Gonzalez had 19, Delia 13 and Rhiannon Alirez 10. Seven of the eight Cardinals scored.

er with eight. For the Tigers (2-13, 0-4), the problem was the same as it's been all year.

"We had way too many turnovers," said coach Cindy Terry. "We couldn't execute our offense because we had a hard time breaking their half-court trap. We're young, we're mostly freshman and sophomores, that's the core of our team. Next year we will be a threat. I think we'll be one of the powerhouses next year."

Boys
Lordsburg 72, Capitan 51
The Tiger boys (3-12, 1-3) came up just a little short against the Lordsburg in the District 3A shootout, falling 72-51. Offensive rebounding and working the ball in the paint led the Mavericks to another district win.

"I think when they first started pressing us, the first couple of times we did some things that we don't normally do," said

Maverick coach Rickie McBrook. "Once we started running our press breaker, we were able to get the ball up the floor and have lay-ups. We were happy about that."

Tiger coach Royce Brown said the team played better than it did in Lordsburg.

"We had a better effort than we did there," he said. "I think we missed an opportunity; one of their two best kids is sitting out with an injury. So we wanted to take advantage that and we didn't do it. Defensively, I thought we struggled all night. We didn't do things fundamentally sound like we'd been taught. They got easy buckets running and stuff like that. It really hurt us. We've got to get better on the inside and rebounding. We didn't rebound well at all."

One highlight for the Tigers was their outside shooting.

Sheldon Moor led the team with 16 points, including a trio of treys. Bo Sparks had 11, with six of those points coming from a mere 100 points.

"That's what I told the boys," Chavez said. "There's a little consolation here. We held them to 100, not 115 or 120."

The Hagerman game was closer, but the Bobcat depth and height took its toll.

"We played hard for four quarters," Chavez said. "They're deep. They've got a good second five on the bench, and they really played good as a team."

The coach said three of his starters also fouled out, which didn't help, but it didn't stop the team from trying.

"There's no quit in this team," he said. "It's easy for them to lay down and just forget about it, but they gave me everything they had for four quarters, and that's all I can ask for."

free throws that could have made a difference. With the Warriors up by two with less than a minute left in regulation, Raymond Bignmouth hit a field goal, knotting the score at 55-55.

LaPaz credited Ryan Torres and Fred Chee with stepping it up to keep the Chiefs in the game.

Chimal put in 16 points in the OT effort, and Bignmouth 14.

Lady Chiefs
The Lady Chiefs also split the week's final two games, falling 63-59 to Hagerman, then defeating Gateway 56-33.

Against the Bobcats, coach Rol Bradford said the Chiefs (7-9, 6-2) played hard, "but didn't shoot worth a darn."

The Chiefs also had far too many turnovers, Bradford said.

"We really scrapped with them, and we created a lot of turnovers with them," he said. "Our defense really played well in the first half, but we turned the basketball over 21 times."

Chief Rosie Smith held the 'Cats' leading scorer, Sara Garcia, to only three points, but a trio of Bobcats, Stephanie Prather, Kami Mason and Margaret Pace all picked up the slack, each scoring in double figures.

Mason and Chief Nicole Dolan butted heads in the first half, resulting in a black eye for Dolan, and a possible concussion for Mason, who was taken to Lincoln County Medical Center after the game.

Smith tallied 14 points, Sasha Aragon 12 and Dolan six before she had to leave the game.

With Dolan out because of her injury Saturday, and another player on the bench because of a missed practice, the Chiefs still managed to defeat Gateway Christian 56-33.

But the Chiefs used the game to highlight other players, and Augusta Lang stepped up, scoring a career high 17 points.

"We tried to put our post up play together, with her and Rosie low, and she really had a heck of a game," Bradford said. "Hopefully she'll just keep gaining confidence."

Aragon picked up 19 points and Smith 14.

Weight Loss Puzzles Doctors

ATLANTA, GA — Doctors were surprised when two separate studies found that a natural dietary supplement could help cause significant weight loss.

Although not conclusive, both studies found that patients receiving the formula called Bio-Rex 3000s, lost more than twice as much weight as those in a control group on the same fat reduced diet. Neither group was instructed to decrease the amount of food they ate or to increase their exercise levels. An article published in the American Journal of Clinical Nutrition says that you don't have to decrease the amount of food you eat to lose weight, provided that you limit the fat.

According to a spokesperson for Phillips Gulf Corporation, the exclusive North American distributor of Bio-Rex 3000, the company is considering additional studies in order to get federal approval to make pharmaceutical claims. Currently, weight loss claims for the Bio-Rex 3000 supplement are limited. However, with the requisite approval, the company could say that Bio-Rex 3000 decreases sugar cravings, increases metabolism and interferes with the body's ability to produce excess fat. Bio-Rex 3000 is currently available as a dietary supplement and plan in pharmacies and nutrition stores or by calling 1-800-729-8446. A four week supply is just $19.99.

Bio-Rex 3000 is available locally at:

EDUCATION BRIEFS

Students honored

Selina Steed, a Ruidoso High School graduate, was named to the dean's list at Western State College in Gunnison, Colo. Steed is a psychology major.

Six Ruidoso High School graduates are among the 481 students in the 2000 fall semester dean's honor roll at Eastern New Mexico University-Portales.

The students and their majors are: Sara L. Ames-Brown, general studies; Gerald A. Gomez, elementary education; John A. McCasland, computer science; Tiffany Lynn Skinner, music; Lorene J. James, undecided; Kari D. Kolander, general studies and elementary education; and Tamra A. Rice of Alto, general studies and elementary education.

Capitan High School graduate Charlotte Jean Jenkins also was named to the dean's honor roll.

Students must complete a minimum of 15 hours for a semester and maintain a 3.25 grade-point average to be eligible for the Dean's Honor Roll.

The following local students were named to the fall 2000 dean's honor roll at New Mexico State University, Las Cruces:

Ruidoso Downs - Cory Heath Battles, agricultural economics and agricultural business; Casandra Marie Bednorz, nursing. Ruidoso - Brooke Elizabeth Fryer, elementary education; Aaron Robert Gillespie, hotel, restaurant and tourism management; Kristen Ryan Hayes, unclassified; Farrah Jeannene Kelley, nursing; Danilee Renee Maddox, management; Melissa Kay Miller, elementary education; Amber Lynne Rini, unclassified; and Anna Maria Sutton, unclassified. Alto - Sherry Ann Palko, nursing; and Deann Genevieve Shade, unclassified.

To be named to the roll, a student's grade-point average must rank within the top 15 percent while carrying at least 12 hours on a regular grading scale.

Sherry Palko of Alto is among 59 New Mexico State University students selected for the 2001 edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges."

Palko, daughter of Robert J. and Cheryl J. Palko, is a senior nursing major.

Anderson invitation

The Anderson Schools of Management at the University of New Mexico will hold an open house for prospective students from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Saturday.

High school seniors, parents guidance counselors, high school administrators and current UNM students are invited to "Put Yourself in Business," an inside look at the undergraduate business administration program at UNM.

The open house will conclude with a buffet lunch. Participants may reserve complimentary tickets to see the Lady Lobos home basketball game against Air Force starting at 2 p.m. in the Pit.

There is no charge to Put Yourself in Business, but space is limited and reservations must be made in advance. To reserve a place, call (505) 277-8441 or (505) 277-3888.

Shadows report on their special day

Middle school program introduces possible careers to students on Groundhog Day

BY CHRIS KLUTHE AND R. J. LUDWICK
FOR THE RUIDOSO NEWS

Are you going to volunteer after On the Job Day?

"Yes," said Tricia Bergeron, an eighth-grader from Ruidoso Middle School. She is a participant in Job Shadowing Day.

This day is where all eighth-graders go out and find a job they're interested in. They work for free and "shadow" a worker from the job. Tricia was working for the Red Cross and said she plans to volunteer there.

We asked Tricia's mentor, "Do you think this is a good way for students to get a real-world feel for the workplace?"

"Absolutely," he said. "As a matter of fact just the computer problems we've been having right now give Tricia the appreciation for what we have to go through."

All the students we spoke with agreed that this is a great way to find out about different occupations. They said they thought this program was very fun - much better than reading about it in school.

Margaret Lahey, educational outreach director, and others at the Spencer Theater put in their effort to make it worth the students' time.

Neal Jones of KidX 101.5 Classic Rock radio station said it's great to see kids out on the job and actually work.

The jobs at which students worked ranged from hair salons to an airport. Many students went to Lincoln County Medical Center.

Others worked at Ruidoso and Ruidoso Downs police departments, the Pizza Hut's, Inn of the Mountain Gods, Ruidoso Ford, several banks, local veterinarian clinics and Mescalero Forest Service, BIA and Conservation.

Students learn skills on the job they might have never expected. Both the students and the mentors said they would want to do this program more than just once a year.

Some others like the Red Cross will get workers like Tricia that work after OJ day.

Tim Morrison, another student, shadowing at the Spencer Theater, said he likes to act and that this is a good way to see whether this is a job worth pursuing.

We ourselves were being reporters. We went out and interviewed the job shadowers and even wrote this report.

Overall, everybody involved with on the job day had a great time.

About the day

BY JOSHUA WADLEY
FOR THE RUIDOSO NEWS

My name is Joshua Wadley. Today is Groundhog Day, and Job Shadowing Day.

Everyone knows what Groundhog Day is, but do you know what Job Shadowing Day is? Job Shadowing Day is when the eighth-grade kids from Ruidoso Middle School have to go out and find a job for one day.

The job of my choice was Ruidoso News, which I thought was a great choice. All of the employees were awesome.

The first thing we did was get a tour of the radio station. The second thing we did (which I think was the funnest) was writing the cop briefs. Before writing them, we had to go and pick some out at the new police station. After taking notes on the briefs, we got to go eat at Schlitzky's.

After eating, we went back to Ruidoso News, which is where I'm at right now writing this report. I wish we could come back every Friday, but I guess it's a once-in-a-lifetime chance.

Getting to do this was a great experience. Although it wasn't easy thinking of what to write, I would do this any chance I had.

My Job Shadowing Day

BY SETH CARRUTH
FOR THE RUIDOSO NEWS

For Job Shadowing Day I worked at the newspaper as a photojournalist.

To start off with, an editor gave me and three other kids - Josh Wadley, Chris Kluthe and R.J. Ludwick - a tour of the building. After we had the tour we went out to take pictures of the people working at the radio station.

Our reporter used to work at a radio station, so he said some stuff on the air. Then we went to the Ruidoso police station and a woman took us on a tour. I only got to take pictures of the main area.

Then we sat down and wrote some police reports, which are in the newspaper too. After we were done with that, we went to eat at Schlitzky's for lunch. We came back from lunch and I had to type this and the police report.

I am really looking toward a career in photojournalism. My day was really fun and it gave me a look at what is ahead of me in the future. And thanks for reading the newspaper.

Summer internships in Domenici's office open to college students

New Mexico college students interested in a summer internship in the Washington office of U.S. Sen. Pete Domenici, the senior member of the New Mexico congressional delegation, are invited to apply for a position by March 1.

Each summer, a number of New Mexico college students are selected to work in Domenici's office. The 2001 summer internship program will consist of two sessions, May 29-July 6 and July 9-Aug. 15. A $1,400 stipend is provided for Washington summer interns who are residents of New Mexico or attending school in the state.

"I believe my internship program offers enterprising young New Mexicans a great chance to get an insider's view of our nation's capital. Interns in my office will be able to experience the workings of a U. S. Senate office and participate in a variety of activities. This program gives college students a fantastic opportunity to learn more about public service, the federal government and our nation's history," Domenici said.

Applicants must have completed at least one year of study in an institution of higher education and be enrolled for the following semester. New Mexico residents and/or students will receive priority in the selection process. Students participating in the program in past years have come from a variety of schools, including universities, community colleges and vocational schools inside and outside of New Mexico.

To apply for a Domenici internship, candidates must complete an application form and submit a cover letter, resume and two letters of recommendation. This information should be mailed to: U.S. Senator Pete Domenici, Attention: Intern Coordinator, 328 Hart Senate Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20510-3101.

Applications are due in Domenici's Washington office by March 1. Interviews and selections will take place during the month of March and notifications made by April 1.

Two African Cloths Materials With Meanings

This is the second in a series based on the "African Voices" exhibit at the National Museum of Natural History, Smithsonian Institution, Washington, D.C.

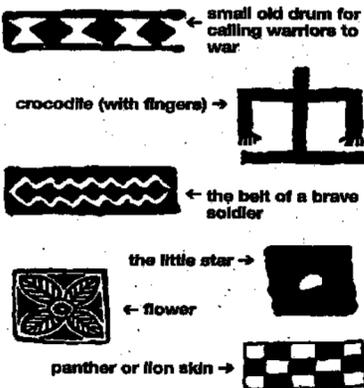

The exhibit looks at some of the ways African customs from the past are a part of modern, everyday life.

Mud cloth

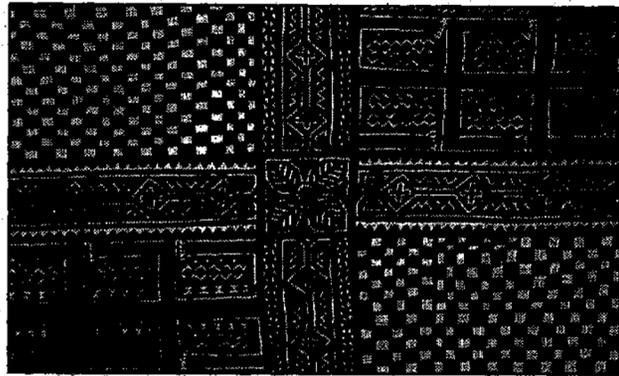

Mud cloth is one of the many kinds of African cloth.

Hundreds of years ago women from the country of Mali invented this special cloth. Today women from Mali are still making this cloth, using patterns painted on with mud.

These patterns all have meanings. Some examples include:

Circle each of these patterns on the cloth at the top of the page.

Making mud cloth is a long, hard process. First women spin cotton into thread, then men weave the thread into cloth. Finally women artists dye the cloth, paint designs on it with mud and bleach it. Mali artist Nakunte Diarra used 13 different designs in this cloth.

Proverb cloth

Ghana is famous for its different prints of blue-and-white cloth. Each print is a symbol of a proverb.

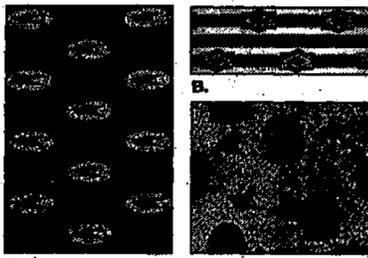

Proverbs are beliefs or truths that become sayings. They have been passed from person to person through the ages.

People wear these blue-and-white cloths on special occasions. For example, families throw a big party to show off a new baby. Female guests all buy the same pattern of cloth and wear it to the party. This shows friendship and support for the new mother.

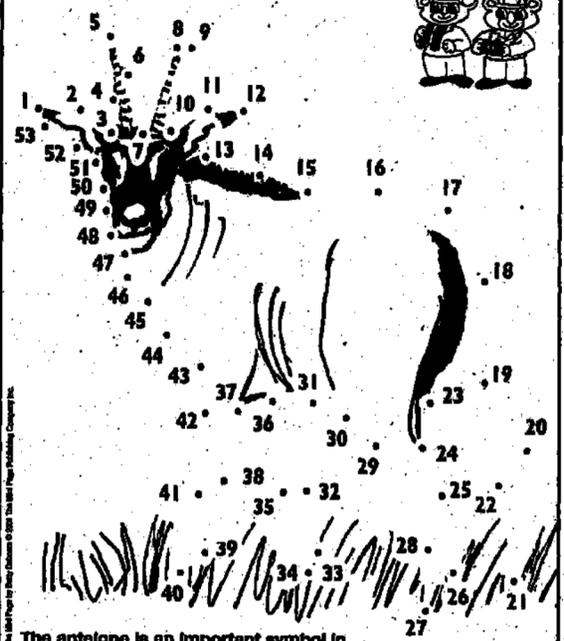

Match the proverbs that go with these cloth patterns.

1. If you leave, I leave.
2. Money flies like a bird.
3. When someone loves you, you have to love that person back.

Answers: 1. C; 2. A; 3. B

Go dot to dot and color.

The antelope is an important symbol in many African customs.

Rookie Cookies Recipe Mafe (Chicken Peanut Stew)

This recipe is adapted from a recipe in the "Africa News Cookbook" (1985, Penguin Books). You will need an adult's help.

You'll need:

- 2 chickens, uncooked and cut into pieces
- 3/4 cup peanut oil
- 2 large onions, chopped
- 3 tomatoes, chopped
- 1/4 cup tomato paste
- 4 1/4 cups hot water
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup peanut butter
- 1 small cabbage, chopped
- 3 sweet potatoes, cut into chunks
- 6 carrots, cut into chunks
- 6 turnips, cut into chunks
- 12 okra, sliced
- 1/2 teaspoon cayenne pepper
- 5 cups cooked rice

What to do:

1. In a large pot, cook chicken in oil over medium heat until done. Stir often.
 2. Add onion pieces. Cook until golden brown. Stir often.
 3. Add tomatoes and tomato paste. Mix well.
 4. Add 4 cups hot water and salt. Bring to a boil.
 5. Combine peanut butter and 1/4 cup hot water in a small bowl. Mix until smooth. Slowly stir into large pot. Mix well.
 6. Reduce heat to simmer. Cook for 30 minutes. Add more water if necessary.
 7. Add remaining ingredients. Cook 15 minutes or until vegetables are tender. Stir often.
 8. Serve over rice.
- Serves 8 to 10.

African Art and Customs

Farming ceremonies

Africans have been farming for more than 8,000 years. Today millions of Africans grow food for themselves and sell food and other crops such as cotton and coffee.

The Bamana people in the country of Mali honor a mythical antelope named Ciwara (CHEE-war-uh). ("CI" means "to farm." "Wara" means "wild beast.")

In the myth, Ciwara pawed at the ground to teach people how to hoe and plant seeds.

Today, after the first rains in late May, many Bamana villages hold a special ceremony to honor the memory of Ciwara. Two men dance wearing wooden headdresses carved like antelopes. Farmers hoe the fields and women sing. The community asks Ciwara to bless the new farming season.

Today Ciwara is a powerful symbol for the modern nation of Mali.

Antelope

Royal family

The Edo are one of more than 250 ethnic groups in Nigeria today. The Edo kingdom is now the Edo state in the country of Nigeria.

Kings, or Obas, from the same royal family have been ruling the Edo people for about 600 years. Today's Oba is a symbol of his people's past.

At the same time he is helping decide how to handle modern problems. He is a well-educated lawyer.

Today Nigeria is governed by elected officials. These national officials still consult the Oba about important matters in his region.

This sculptured head is a memorial to an Oba who ruled in the 1700s. It is meant to show his calm, self-control, judgment and wisdom. The Edo people are famous for their metal sculptures.

Toy making

For centuries, African boys have made models of things such as ships and planes, using whatever scraps of material they can find.

This helps them learn about art, engineering and inventing. Fathers, uncles and older boys help out.

This toy was made by a Fulani boy in Freetown. He probably saw a covered wagon in a movie western or comic book.

Merchants and artists

The Swahili (swah-HEE-lee) people on the coast of Kenya and Tanzania have been important world traders for more than 1,000 years.

They were influenced by Arab people with whom they traded. They built great stone cities on the coast of East Africa. They are famous for their literature, and for creating beautiful art and buildings.

The Swahili "tower of power" is made of wood, cotton cord and ivory.

POOP SCOOP BY DIANNE STALLINGS. A new policy was initiated last week by the Humane Society of Lincoln County at the animal shelter the group operates on Gavilan Canyon Road. Instead of giving adopting owners a voucher and having them sign a contract pledging to neuter or spay the animal, a flat fee of $50 was set and the procedure will be completed before the pet leaves. The policy is aimed at ensuring that all animals adopted are unable to produce future unwanted litters. They also will leave with all of their essential vaccinations. The policy covers puppies and kittens as well as adult dogs and cats. The shelter also is in need of donations of many types including dog and cat food - especially puppy chow. Newspapers or other shredded paper is needed, as are blankets and towels. Money donations always are welcomed, allowing the staff and board members to decide what else is needed. Donations also can be earmarked for the society's spay and neuter fund, which reaches beyond the shelter walls to help pet owners sterilize their animals. PETA Resolutions Thought I'd pass along a few of the resolutions published by People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals. The group is asking animal lovers to try a few, if not all. They are: • Donate only to health charities that don't fund animal experiments and write to the ones that still do to explain why you've decided to take your contributions elsewhere. • Record an animal rights message on your answering machine. • Collect products tested on animals and return them to the manufacturers, demanding a refund. PETA has a cruelty-free shopping guide. • Provide village council members with information on why a circus is dangerous to humans and even worse for animals. PETA has a circus ordinance pack. • List your legislators' telephone numbers in your address book so that you can easily contact them about animal rights issues. • Although most grocery stores in Ruidoso already do this, PETA asks that people request grocery stores to designate a cart for donations of pet food for the local shelter. I'm asking pet owners who think they have an interesting story about how they acquired their pets, to jot down a few details and send them to me with your telephone number. You don't have to write the entire story unless you prefer doing that. I try to ask for these stories once each year and have been given some wonderful tales to publish. Send the information to the Ruidoso News, Attention: Dianne Stallings, P.O. Box 128, Ruidoso, NM 88355.

Pet Corner. Sponsored by the RUIDOSO NEWS. HOURS: Tuesday through Saturday, Noon - 4 p.m. 257-9841. BUNNY: A spayed short-hair tabby Siamese mix who's about two years old. She has blue eyes and is exceptionally pretty with a very laid-back personality - a lap cat. DUFFY: A black and white border collie who's about eight months old. He was raised on a ranch and knows how to work, but is full of puppy energy and needs direction. ADOPTERS MUST MEET ELIGIBILITY REQUIREMENTS.

ATLANTIC SALMON BAKED WITH PECAN CRUNCH COATING

Ingredients:
 3 Tablespoons Furrs Dip-Spread Mustard
 3 Tablespoons Furrs Baker, Malted
 3 Tablespoons Furrs Honey
 1/2 Cup Furrs Italian Cheese Bread Crumbs
 1/2 Cup Chopped Pecans
 3 Tablespoons Chopped Fresh Parsley
 8 (4 oz.) Salmon Fillets
 1 Lemon, Wedged for Garnish

• Mix together mustard, butter and honey in a small bowl and set aside.
 • Mix together bread crumbs, pecans and parsley in a small bowl and set aside.
 • Season each salmon fillet with salt and pepper. Place on a lightly greased baking sheet. Brush with mustard-honey mixture. Pat top of each fillet with bread crumb mixture.
 • Bake at 400 degrees F for 10 minutes per inch of thickness, measured at the thickest part, or until salmon just flakes when tested with a fork. Serve with lemon wedges.
