Arson suspected in reservation fire

BY JAMES KALVELAGE
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

An investigation is under way into the cause of the Turkey Well Fire on the Mescalero Apache Reservation.

Officials said the blaze, which had burned an estimated 2,000 acres, was human-caused.

"These have been man-made fires," said Troy Bolen, BIA police chief at Mescalero. "It appears to be on purpose."

About a dozen suspicious fires, all kept small before the Turkey Well Fire, have occurred on tribal lands thus far in 2000.

The latest and largest fire, about 18 miles southeast of Ruidoso, was believed to have ignited in a grass, logging slash and Ponderosa pines area about 3 p.m. Sunday. It moved into steep, rocky terrain with piñon junipers.

The blaze was described as highly active Sunday and Monday due to high winds and ample fuels. By Monday night, incident commander Lawrence Garcia had said firefighters had effectively stopped the frontal movement of the blaze.

Two single-engine air tankers delivered fire retardant to the blaze Monday. The aircraft used the Sierra Blanca Regional Airport as a slurry filling location.

"We hope we can knock it out," said Kenney McKinney, manager of Pierce Aviation of Buckeye, Ariz. "We're pounding it pretty hard."

McKinney said more than 40 trips between the slurry mixing operation and the approximately 10-air-mile-away fire had been made Monday. Each trip delivered 800 gallons of the retardant.

Additional air support has included a helicopter, lead plane and an air attack craft.

On the ground, four hotshot and eight reg-

Mishap kills Lincoln boy near Picacho

The 11-year-old was run over by a trailer loaded with stone being towed by a vehicle.

BY JAMES KALVELAGE
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

An 11-year-old Lincoln boy was killed Sunday when he was run over by a rock-laden trailer pulled by a vehicle.

Richard M. DeSantis was pronounced dead at Eastern New Mexico Medical Center in Roswell after transport to the hospital by the Hondo EMS.

The accident happened at 2:48 p.m. on a private driveway off U.S. Highway 70 immediately east of Picacho.

DeSantis was riding in the back of a pick-up truck that was about 100 feet off the highway. The boy reportedly jumped out of the truck bed and fell.

A wheel on the trailer rolled over the boy's head and chest, according to a Lincoln County Sheriff's Department report.

An investigating deputy believed the youth may have decided to jump from the pick-up truck to open an approaching gate.

DeSantis' stepfather, Manuel Gonzalez, 49, Lincoln, who was driving the pick-up, attempted CPR and first aid. Two other people, a daughter and friend of the daughter, were in the cab of the truck with Gonzalez.

Gonzalez was delivering flagstone to the property, a sheriff's deputy said.

SIGN OF SPRING

Despite the chilly winds of late, the calendar and this fruit tree in rural Lincoln County attest to the arrival of spring. The forecast calls for temperatures to warm later in the week. See the weather information on page 2A.

Governor signs bill for county-hospital contract flexibility

Exemption allows management pacts without competitive proposal process

BY DIANNE STALLINGS
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

Gov. Gary Johnson's decision to sign into law a bill to exempt counties from requirements of the state procurement code in setting up contracts with hospital management firms was celebrated by some, bemoaned by others this week.

Gary Mitchell, chairman of the Lincoln County Medical Center, said he hopes the action allows hospital officials to renew their focus on health care and put aside politics.

"We were very pleased to see the bill was passed, because it gives counties, especially rural counties, the opportunity and the power to have long-term health care without having the possibility they might have to change (providers) every four years," Mitchell said. "Providers of long-term health care become integral part of the good health practices of the county. Now we can do that and there is no law that prohibits that."

"Most important for people of Lincoln County, we can keep those who have provided excellent health care in the past and don't have to face every four years all the other for-profit groups coming in and trying to change things around and destroy what is a good health system. We'd rather run hospitals than try to deal with all the politics of it."

The amendment to the state procurement code was prompted after an attorney general's opinion was issued in April to Lincoln County stating that counties must seek competitive bids for hospital management every four years, must receive fair market value for the lease of county-owned facilities and must submit contracts for approval to the state Board of Finance.

But Lincoln County's situation - a more than 20-year relationship with Presbyterian Healthcare Services managing the county-owned hospital in Ruidoso - was echoed in about a dozen other counties in New Mexico.

"This bill straightens out a lot of things," said Mitchell, who has served on the board 20 years. "If commissioners and others want to get involved, the auxiliary can put them to work and they always are and have been invited to our meetings."

County Manager Tom Stewart said as long as counties and other hospital owners write a 180-day escape clause into their contracts like Lincoln County did, "I think it's a good deal."

Commissioner Leo Martinez, who called for competitive bidding to evaluate Presbyterian's service against other providers, said, "I just want three things - monthly accountability, fair market value for the lease of the hospital and to have appointed representatives on the board, taxpayers who are not owing to Presbyterian."

Fort Stanton use study expected this summer

BY DIANNE STALLINGS
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

Representatives of state and federal agencies, local advocacy groups, preservation and art organizations, and economic development promoters spent five hours last week outlining their visions for historic Fort Stanton.

Their input will be incorporated by officials with Kells & Craig, the Albuquerque firm charged with recommending to the state Property Control Division and the state Legislature the most financially promising uses for the 1855 complex located about 15 miles northeast of Ruidoso.

Steven Kells said Tuesday that although he had hoped to finish the study in June, he revised that time estimate to July, the deadline set by his contract with the state.

Kells headed the meeting April 4, aided by facilitator Min Kantowitz in presenting an overview of the fort's history, ownership, previous uses and the condition of its buildings, many of which need major repair and restoration after years of no use and a limited budget that allowed only minimum maintenance.

The 53 participants then broke into four groups and tackled different assignments throughout the day.

Groups first were directed to give their impressions and opinions on the current status of the fort and the history of the complex.

The second assignment focused on visions for the fort in the future. The third dealt with the strengths and weaknesses of each proposal.

Support was evident for the fort to FIRE: Officials believe 2,000-acre reservation fire intentionally set ular crews were working on the suppression effort. As many as 500 people were involved in the fire battle.

A fire break had been established around the fire.

"It's 20 percent contained," Gwen Shaffer, a fire information officer, said Tuesday. "It's all lined, now it's trying to hold the line."

Despite strong winds Tuesday, fire officials said the effort to keep the blaze corralled was successful.

"All is well," Shaffer said Tuesday night. "If we can keep it like it has been we'll be okay. They're keeping their fingers crossed that we'll hold it."

Winds of 40 to 50 miles per hour Tuesday. Shaffer said the dust-and-sand-filled winds created serious visibility problems. Nevertheless no accidents or injuries were reported.

Tribal officials said while no dwellings were in the immediate fire area threatened resources included timber stands and archeological sites.

Some archeological locations included artefacts hanging from trees, Shaffer said.

"The (tribal) people believe what ever is taken from Mother Earth should be returned," Shaffer said. An example is wooden cradle boards, which are returned by hanging them from trees.

The blaze had raised concerns for the tribe's Cow Camp, and a bunk house at the camp. Shaffer said officials were hoping the fire would remain clear of the camp.

A BIA forestry spokesperson said there was no connection between the Turkey Well Fire and an earlier weekend incident. On Saturday one person and an engine responded to a report of a smoking pile in Upper Indian Canyon. The pile, which was extinguished, was from a logging slash during the winter months. Its location is about 15 miles from the current fire in the Turkey Canyon area.

The Mescalero Tribe has placed the reservation lands in full closure because of the extreme fire danger, said Rachel LaPaz, information officer with the tribe's forestry division.

Travel throughout the reservation remains restricted. Motorists are banned from stopping or parking along U.S. Highway 70 and State Road 244. Outside fires, including the use of charcoal, are prohibited. Smoking on reservation lands is only allowed indoors and inside vehicles.

HOSPITAL: Some in Lincoln County approve of new law, some don't

COMMUNITY REPRESENTATIVES on the hospital board don't need to listen to issues dealing with patients and physicians, he said.

"They only need to know about the spending of the special property tax levy money (designated for the hospital and three county health clinics) and things that affect the building and residents of this county," Martinez said. "I think those three things are obtainable."

"Bottom line, the bill still gives control to the commission and that means the approach could change every two years.

"I have nothing against Presbyterian, the service or the employees. I've been the recipients of their good quality of care. I'm just looking out for the taxpayer's point of view."

Reynaldo Valcarcel, chairman of a petition drive that garnered enough signatures to convene a grand jury on the Presbyterian contract, but was rejected by a district judge, said the issue comes down to the attitude of the commissioners.

"If you've got a law saying people have to do certain things and you've got commissioners who are unwilling to do that, which is what we had, it doesn't help to have a good law," he said. "If you don't have a law causing people to do the right thing, but have good commissioners, they'll do the right thing."

"The point I'm trying to make is that in 2002 this will all come to a head. We've got three commission seats up for election and if during that election, the voters decide they are happy with way things are going and they want to elect the same type of attitude, then that's what's going to happen. My feeling is come the election 2002, we'll end up with four like Leo Martinez and one other, and we're going to be able to start getting real progress in addressing needs of Lincoln County and the taxpayers."

As for his group's failed efforts, Valcarcel said, "We did the best we could. We were up against some pretty big odds and it looked like at times we would prevail."

"At least the message was put out there. If legislators and the governor didn't see what we were trying to say, I think the people in Lincoln County certainly did," he said.

COMMUNITY BRIEFS

Students explore cultures

A public meeting for Multicultural Day at Ruidoso High School will be at 12:30 p.m. April 16 in Pixie Arthur's room. Clubs and organizations wishing to participate are welcome.

"The lunch hour is a great opportunity to raise money, and we strongly encourage your taking part," wrote the Student Council Executive Board in a release.

An assembly will be held in the morning to introduce Hispanic and Native American cultures, and booths from different clubs will set up during the lunch hour.

"If you would like to make a presentation at your booth or during another time of the day, we will be open to your ideas during the meeting on the 16th. It will be a wonderful time for learning and new experiences with different cultures and we hope to see you there," the release states.

Rotarians sell enchiladas

The Rotary Club of Ruidoso will hold its 26th annual benefit enchilada dinner from 4:30 to 8 p.m. Tuesday at the Ruidoso High School cafeteria, 125 Warrior Road.

Tickets are $5 for adults and $3 for children younger than 13 and may be purchased from Rotarians or at the door on the day of the event.

Sam Swearingin, the club's president-elect and this year's "Head Enchilada," said, "Over the next 12 months, our Rotary Club will donate well over $13,000 to the youth of Lincoln County and to various humanitarian and educational causes. We have a large college scholarship program, we provide grants for our youth to attend Rotary's Camp RYLA, we support ENMU-Ruidoso, we contribute to the American Red Cross to help support our firefighters, and we are in a cooperative venture to support three orphanages in Juarez, Mexico.

"The funding for these ventures primarily comes from the community through participation in our enchilada dinner," Swearingin said.

Democrats tap officers

The Democratic Party of Lincoln County elected new officers at its county convention March 31 at Cree Meadows Restaurant with about 40 members attending.

Doris Cherry, who lives west of Capitan, was elected chair by acclamation.

She appointed Robert Goddard to continue as county party treasurer and Flo Maul of Ruidoso to continue as county party secretary.

Elected to the county central committee to serve as Lincoln County delegates to the 2002 state convention were Henry Cobos of Capitan, Doris Rennick of Ruidoso, Daryl Snyder of Ruidoso, Robert Goddard of Capitan, Don Gunn of Alto, Charlie Griffin of Ruidoso, Betsy Burnett of Ruidoso, Paula Gunn of Alto, Cecilia Prelo of Alto, Cece Griffin of Ruidoso, Margaret Cano-Sammis of Capitan, Flo Maul of Ruidoso and alternate Louis Padilla.

The next meeting will be at 9:30 a.m. April 28 at a location to be announced.

become a learning tool, setting up credit courses in the operation of museums, promotion of tourism and in restoration techniques for students.

The future use of water rights also commanded attention, as did seeking a partnership of private, state and federal entities.

Dorothy Victor of the state Historic Preservation Alliance said wording in the covenants drawn up for any new ownership or lease arrangement must be precise to protect the fort and its historic and natural resources.

Increased national attention would follow the expansion of the fort cemetery into a state veterans burial ground, participants agreed. The cemetery is part of the fort's historic district.

Paul Happel with the Bureau of Land Management's Roswell office, pointed out that a major obstacle in the past has been the state's rule that any lease could be terminated if a state agency wanted to use the facility.

"No one wants to invest private money and maybe lose that investment because a department decides it likes what was done and can use it," he said.

Dozens of uses were proposed for the fort. One group proposed restoring the dairy operation, the bakery, the brewery, using it for bird watching groups, Buffalo Soldier reenactments, fishing and hunting guided tours, archery competitions, as a living museum with demonstrations, for riparian preservation education and as a veterans retirement community.

Another group with Ed Roberson, head of the BLM Roswell office, as spokesman, suggested using the old hospital wing as a hotel, Eddy Cottage as a museum, restoring the stables for trail rides, restoring the greenhouses and the German internment area, promoting an adopt-a-building program and encouraging private-public ownership.

A management committee should oversee the operation of the fort and a master plan should be developed, participants said.

A shuttle route could be developed to include the historic settlement of Lincoln, the quasi-ghost town of White Oaks and the fort.

Other proposals were for a life-long learning center covering the arts, history, preservation and interpretation including a Mescalero Apache component, a recreation component, a resort and a film and television locale.

If you've been thinking about changing from glasses to contact lenses, the first thing that probably came to mind was the cosmetic advantage of contacts. They fit so closely to your eyes no one would know that you are wearing corrective lenses. However, this is just one of the advantages that contacts offer.

Another advantage is that contact lenses permit a wider field of vision than eyeglasses. There is no lens frame to get in your line of sight when you look to the left or the right, up or down. Because they fit so closely, they also present a less distorted and more realistic size in the objects viewed.

Most contact lenses do require more care and responsibility than glasses, because they must be kept clean and free of irritants. Your eye doctor will instruct you in the proper cleaning and disinfecting of lenses. If you think you'd like to wear contacts, call or visit FAMILY VISION CENTER for a consultation on you eyecare options.

Federal appointee gives fort boosters new hope

BY DIANNE STALLINGS
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

Advocates of converting Fort Stanton into a living museum, conference center and family vacation destination think a recent appointment to the U.S. Interior Department may help their efforts.

Lynn Scarlett, president of Reason Foundation, a Los Angeles-based public policy research organization and a good friend of Lincoln County Commissioner Leo Martinez, was appointed last week as assistant secretary for policy, management and budget of the Interior Department.

That puts her right next to Interior Secretary Gale Norton.

"We served together in Santa Barbara on the Committee for a Balanced Community and on the District Election Committee," Martinez said. She also helped with the formation of a cultural center with Martinez in California called Casa De La Raza, or House of the People.

"She's a real smart lady. I've worked closely with her and her husband," Martinez said. "She visited me here six years ago and saw the fort and loved it, because she's a history buff. She's due back out here before she makes the move to Washington D.C. and will be a key speaker at the state League of United Latin American Citizens Convention here in late April."

State legislators will see the fort at the invitation of Fort Stanton Inc. May 5.

"I've talked to her about the fort and if any angle presents itself, we have her ear. The great part about it is we have a very willing Bureau of Land Management (which falls under the Interior Department), whose Roswell office already is a member of, the Fort Stanton Partnership that runs the museum at the fort."

One dead, two injured in reservation shooting

BY JAMES KALVELAGE
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

One person is dead, two others injured, the result of a triple shooting Sunday on the Mescalero Apache Reservation.

Martin Ganadonegro, 41, died of what police said was a self-inflicted gunshot wound to the head after he allegedly shot two other people.

The shooting happened shortly after 3 a.m. at the Carrizo Trails housing area, several miles south of the Inn of the Mountain Gods, said Troy Bolen, Mescalero Bureau of Indian Affairs police chief.

Ganadonegro was believed to have arrived home at 35 Carrizo Trail and discovered his girlfriend with another man. He allegedly shot Velva Monte, 30 in the chest and neck. Milo Chico, 38, was shot once in the temple. Both were believed to have been shot as they slept, according to a FBI news release.

residence and Monte went to a relative's home in the Carrizo Trails housing area. Ganadonegro then went to his vehicle where he was believed to have shot himself, according to a police report. He was pronounced dead by a medical examiner shortly before 6 a.m.

Monte and Chico were initially taken to the Lincoln County Medical Center in Ruidoso and then transferred to UNM Hospital at Albuquerque. Chico was released from the hospital Monday. The bullet from a .22 caliber gun did not penetrate his skull, according to a police report.

Monte was listed in satisfactory condition Tuesday at UNM Hospital, said a hospital spokeswoman.

"Based on the crime scene the two victims were at the suspect's and girlfriend's house," Bolen said. "There were four children sleeping at the house, but they were unawakened by the incident."

"He's the kind of police chief we want in our national leadership," Kuker said.

Two cited for burning

Two Ruidoso residents have been cited by police for improper handling of fire.

A backyard fire at 4:30 p.m. Sunday in the 800 block of Hull Road brought village and U.S. Forest Service firefighters to the location.

The homeowner, Mark A. Marquez, was cited by police. Marquez told police he had dumped ashes from an earth stove in the yard, according to a citation.

"The ashes had been out for quite a while," Marquez said. "I guess the wind caught them. It burned a six foot circle. I had put the fire out before they (firefighters) got there."

On Monday an 18-year-old man was ticketed for allegedly tossing a lit cigarette out of a vehicle window. Josh Wheeler was allegedly observed by a police officer about 5:40 p.m. on Sudderth Drive by Schoolhouse Park.

He was a passenger in the vehicle.

Both men are scheduled to appear in Ruidoso Magistrate Court on April 18.

The maximum fine for improper handling of fire is $500.

OUR OPINION

Flame and fortune and the winds of spring

The 2001 fire season already is making its mark

Nobody is arguing that it isn't spring in New Mexico. You can tell by the days of wind that often as not turn into weeks of wind...and the flaming Mesquero Reservation.

You can tell by the national weather reports. The Weather Channel reported Tuesday night that a 2,000-acre fire was burning — "near Albuquerque."

You can tell by the red-rimmed eyes of firefighters coming in from the forest after days and nights of building firebreaks and seeking to cool the hottest spots on the reservation southeast of Ruidoso.

And we're barely beyond April Fool's Day.

Nothing yet, however, resembles the threat of May 2000, when flames roared too close to northeast Ruidoso, and a southwest wind saved us...the same southwest wind that almost wiped out the city of Los Alamos.

The Musketball Fire last week on the north edge of Ruidoso could have been a threat — but a relatively gentle southeast wind and prompt, massive suppression saved us.

Fire is as familiar as wind in the spring in the Southwest; it's part of nature's cleansing. It rips through the cottonwoods and salt cedar along the length of the Rio Grande. It roars across the grasslands of eastern New Mexico.

Fire is a creature of the wind, and fortunate indeed is the mountain community that stands upwind from the source of the flames. So far this spring, the winds have favored us. We have been upwind when the fires started and upwind when they are controlled.

Our spring wildfires of 2001, however, aren't "natural." Indications are that they, deliberately or accidentally, have been man-caused.

And in that sense, our fortune and our lives are in our own hands. Smokey Bear is right:

Only you can prevent forest fires.

Ethanol industry under the gun

BY TOM STEEVER
AMERICAN FARM BUREAU

Farmers have long held a fascination for the notion of growing at least part of the nation's fuel supply.

New distillation plants come on line regularly, converting grain to ethanol to be blended with gasoline, enhancing octane and making gasoline burn cleaner. It's the latter attribute that farmers think can endear ethanol to states like California, where air pollution is a problem.

California and several other states are mandated by the Clean Air Act to sell much of their gasoline with higher oxygen content making it burn cleaner. In California the compound used to accomplish this is MTBE, methyl tertiary butyl ether, made from methanol and by-products of the oil refining process.

It has since been discovered that MTBE contaminates ground water. Farmers at first had reason to celebrate the impending ban of MTBE because ethanol could replace MTBE as an oxygenate thereby boosting demand for the farm-grown fuel. But instead of embracing a switch to ethanol, California wants a waiver from the fuel oxygenate requirement.

There is word that the Bush administration has been discussing the possibility of offering California a compromise on the matter. That's not good news for the ethanol industry and it's upsetting to the American Farm Bureau Federation.

"We're encouraging our members to call the White House and to let them know that we have some concerns," says Jon Doggett, energy policy specialist for the American Farm Bureau. "It's time for us to remember that there's an energy crisis in this country and there's also a crisis as far as low commodity prices go," says Doggett, "and we can make some headway in those problems by supporting the continuance of ethanol in California."

It's not going to be easy to resolve the issue in favor of ethanol. "It has a lot to do with politics and it has a lot to do with the business interests of the oil refining industry," says Trevor Guthmiller, executive director of the American Coalition for Ethanol. "The state of California is trying to say that the oil refiners out there can produce reformulated gasoline that's just as clean-burning without oxygenates as with oxygenates," he says. "They are trying, in a way, to impugn the environmental benefits of ethanol blended gasoline."

California has concerns that supplies of ethanol would not meet demand if it is depended on to fill the oxygenate requirement. But Guthmiller says giving that designation to ethanol would be what is needed to kick-start the ethanol industry on the West Coast.

"If they increased demand for the product out there I think they would realize and recognize some of the economic benefits to the industry like we've been able to see out here in the Midwest," says Guthmiller. Farm Bureau is urging ethanol supporters to call the White House concerning a possible compromise between the Bush Administration and California. "We can produce it, we should produce it," says Doggett about ethanol. "We need some opportunities and we're going to need some good policy."

YOUR OPINION

Eye of the beholder

To the editor:

Re: Zoning in rural areas. I'm not at all sure that our Constitution grants to Realtors, politicians, or anyone else, the right not to be offended when they gaze upon someone else's property.

Glenn Remington

The price of growth

To the editor:

Next time you are driving down one of the many beautiful roads of Lincoln County, take a moment. Don't glance up at the snow-covered mountain, which attracts so many. Don't spend time studying the light as it filters through the evergreens. Don't try to count all of the construction-related vehicles you meet. Instead, study the grassy side of the road where you will see nearly every square foot polluted by trash.

Is this the price we must pay for the 59-percent growth of which everyone is so proud? So much for the beauty of Lincoln County.

Rhonda Burrows
Captain

Warning: Volunteer

To the editor:

Ruidoso and the rest of Lincoln County has long depended on volunteers for firefighting, search and rescue, EMS and various other critical functions. Our collective hats are off to them for their services over the years, and many of us owe our lives and property to their efforts. However, there are a couple of issues that need to be addressed by the proper authorities before a municipal entity, the county and/or one or more of our elected or appointed officials gets shed.

For example, no less than three times since the first of the year, I have almost been run over or collided head-on with some volunteer speeding to some incident. If it has happened that often to one person, the overall incident rate must be high, sometimes their vehicles have displayed flashing red lights, sometimes not.

The problem: At present, state statute 86-7-6 (Authorized Emergency vehicles) states in part, "The chief of the New Mexico state police or the appropriate local agency may designate emergency vehicles and revoke the designation." Under state statute 64-3-835 (Special Restrictions on Lamps), paragraph E (in part) states only "fire department vehicles, law enforcement agency vehicles, ambulances and school buses shall display flashing red lights visible from the front of the vehicle. Together, these statutes mean that privately owned vehicles cannot be equipped with flashing red lights, cannot be designated as an "emergency vehicle," and cannot be driven like one.

I understand and appreciate the volunteers' eagerness to get to the problem area, but a one- or two-minute delay in getting there almost never makes a difference in outcome and is certainly not worth the risks caused by undue haste, elevated adrenaline flow and lack of formal training in high-speed driving.

Thus, if our elected/appointed officials permit or simply condone volunteers to illegally equip and operate privately owned vehicles as "emergency" units, it's only a matter of time before a bad accident occurs and we taxpayers, collectively, shell out big bucks. A lawyer's slam dunk!

Jim Alston

What's in a name

To the editor:

The original name of the airport road, for obvious good reason, was Sierra Blanca Regional Airport Scenic Highway. This name allowed certain restrictions (zoning) to be considered because of the title "scenic highway." It was named by Karon Petty, Rick Simpson and Bob Hemphill during their commission term ... 1989-1990.

Granted, the name was long, and through the years it appears the name changed. But if that name is still in place, "scenic highway" restrictions may be the solution to the zoning problem.

Fire wasted tax dollars

To the editor:

The Ruidoso News of April 6 headlined, "Fire cost: $551,000."

This is in regard to the recent forest fire named Musketball in an area in Lincoln County near Ruidoso. Total cost thus far, $551,000 — a total waste of time, effort and tax money.

Several years ago I was involved in a burn at my residence in Ruidoso; more than 5 acres was involved. The permitted fire containment was supervised by our local fire department, which started the fire and left after it was over. I emphasize the fact that the local fire unit was in control. Although several structures were involved, none were at risk because of the fire.

And herein lies the problem with the Musketball fire. An examination of a copy of the permit issued by the ED for this fire burn is very interesting. The permit contains seven provisions covering, in most part, what can be burned along with weather conditions, etc. Nothing in the permit restricts who can start the burn or who will supervise it.

My experience in my own fire in Ruidoso points to the glaring error in not including these restrictions in the ED permit. This is a serious omission in the ED permitting. The permit Form 059 should add Line 8 to read as follows: "Each permit approved shall ensure that the permitted fire shall not start or continue without the supervision of the applicant's representative fire department."

There are currently 43 existing permits — now on hold — in which each permit gives some person the right to start an unsupervised forest fire. This is scary!

There are some who believe that we do not have adequate ... fire units to supervise each approved permitted fire — if so, don't issue the permit until the fire unit is available.

We could afford to provide additional fire units with the monies wasted each year fighting non-supervised forest fires.

Any improvement in the operating phase of managing our forest cleanup and forest burns, which have the potential of saving millions of tax dollars, deserve attention.

In short — let's do something. The taxpayers are becoming restless.

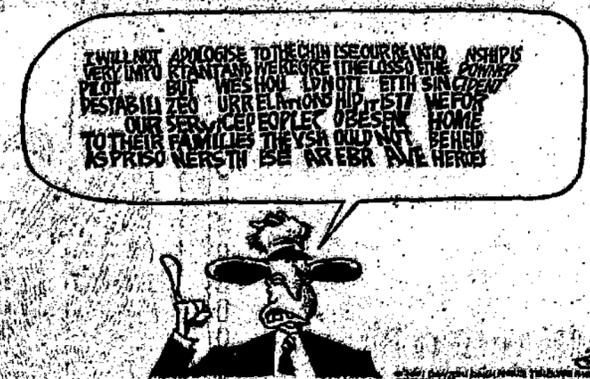

J. A. "Al" Junge

LETTERS POLICY

The Ruidoso News encourages letters to the editor, especially about local topics and issues. Each letter must be signed and must include the writer's daytime telephone number and mail address. The phone number and mailing address will not be printed; the hometown will be. The telephone number will be used to verify authorship. No letter will be printed without the writer's name.

Letters should be no more than 300 words in length, of public interest, and free of libel, editing will be for length, grammar or spelling. Shorter letters are preferred and generally receive greater readership. The Ruidoso News reserves the right to reject any letter. Longer by-lined "Guest Commentary" articles will be considered; call the editor at (505) 257-4001.

Letters may be delivered to the Ruidoso News, office at 104 Park Avenue, mailed to P.O. Box 128, Ruidoso, NM 86355; faxed to 257-7053; or sent by e-mail to ruidosonews@zinet.com.

School board candidate withdraws

Defeated former board member would have filled slot created by a resignation

BY SANDY SUGGITT
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

Former Hondo school board member Lucinda Loveless — defeated in the February election — withdrew her bid Monday for appointment to a vacant position on the board.

That leaves two candidates for the post, Luis Jimenez and Rita Dickinson.

"She said she was the main problem and that by withdrawing it would eliminate the problem, since she's apparently the one creating the to-do," board President Braulio Alvarado said.

Dennis Nosker beat incumbent Loveless in the Feb. 6 election, 122 votes to 48 votes.

Loveless, along with Jimenez and Dickinson, applied for the position vacated by former board member Salam Sager, who resigned as of March 1. No one ran for that position in the election.

The board voted to decide on the appointment April 17.

But under state law, the board must fill the vacant position by April 14, or within 45 days after the resignation.

Superintendent Barbara Casey said the school attorney was "vague" about the issue.

"It depends on what the board decides to do," she said. "If they decide the time frame has expired, they can request that the state board fill that vacancy, or they can go ahead and take a vote. I don't think the state Board of Education will be upset about being three days late."

Jimenez told the school board that he has lived in the Hondo Valley since 1985 and his "profile is not too different from many of the kids that come" to school in Hondo, in that he didn't speak English when he started school in El Paso, Texas. He taught junior high school for three years, worked with Head Start in New York City and was on the Youth Board there, working with gangs for three years. He is a distinguished professor at the University of Houston and teaches there from Tuesday through Thursday each week for four months in the spring.

Dickinson, who is finishing her education in Roswell, said if appointed to the school board she would "bring better view and understanding of our state statutes and our school board policy and see that they're abided by honestly. A lot of things tend to get overlooked," she said. "I don't think a lot of statutes have been taken to heart."

Board approves plan for auto paint shop

BY JAMES KALVELAGE
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

The Ruidoso Planning and Zoning Commission has endorsed a request to place an auto paint shop at 201 U.S. Highway 70, immediately north of the Furrs Supermarket.

The amended site development plan and conditional use approval will allow Sierra Blanca Motor Company to apply for permits to put up a 44-foot-by-116-foot building on land behind their existing body shop.

Johnny Durham, of Sierra Blanca Motor Company, said the firm wanted to move its paint department from the nearby dealership repair shop to the body shop property.

The location would be immediately below a nearly vertical hill at the back of the property, with a residential area on top of the hill.

One neighboring residential owner disapproved of the paint shop plan.

"It is totally inappropriate to allow a business to operate a paint shop immediately below a peaceful and quiet neighborhood," wrote Frank Heath. "The odor, noise and air pollution does not complement the surrounding residential area."

The hillside immediately behind the proposed steel building raised a concern with Joseph Patoskie, Planning Department director.

"They cut into the hill," Patoskie said. "There is an issue concerning runoff going onto (U.S. Highway) 70. It's an issue for us."

Durham said the runoff would go into an existing storm water drain.

"There is zero runoff from my property that goes onto 70," Durham said.

The commission waived a required 83 parking spaces at the planned building behind the existing body shop after hearing that five employees will work at the shop and patrons don't typically come to a paint shop to see the progress of auto repair work.

Traffic stop brings a remark: 'I am busted'

A Las Cruces man was arrested March 29, charged with drug possession following a traffic stop.

Robert A. Durio, 29, was a passenger in a vehicle stopped for speeding at Country Club Drive and Bogle Lane.

It was discovered Durio was wanted on an outstanding arrest warrant from Truth or Consequences.

When police checked Durio, they allegedly discovered a plastic bag containing marijuana.

Durio was charged with possession of marijuana over 1 ounce but less than 8 ounces and possession of drug paraphernalia.

When an officer told Durio he was wanted by police at Truth or Consequences, he reportedly said, "I am busted."

They will exchange vows at the First Christian Church at 8 pm.

The bride is the daughter of Stan and Judy Cunningham of Roswell and Pauline and Phil Gantz of Las Cruces.

He is the son of Ron and Carole Wall of Ruidoso.

A reception will follow the wedding at Alto Lakes Golf and Country Club. The couple was graduated from the

Ryan Wall and Erin Cunningham

University of New Mexico. He is a bank branch manager in Santa Fe. She is a special education teacher in Edgewood.

RUIDOSO POLICE

Burglary probed

Ruidoso police are investigating a felony burglary and larceny case. A residence in the 200 block of Allen Way was discovered broken into on March 26. Four doors and a window at the residence were found open. Missing from the home were a washer and dryer, microwave oven and tiles. The property, valued at $1,286, was believed to have been removed through the front door of the residence.

Vacation home hit

A vacation home in the 1100 block of Main Road was reportedly burglarized sometime between March 3 and 31. The owner of the seasonal residence told police a television, CD/DVD player, VCR, coffee table and bedding items were missing. The value of the electronics was estimated at $500.

Property damaged

A breaking and entering as well as criminal damage to property was reported at a home in the 100 block of Niblic Court. The property owner told Ruidoso officers that he did not believe entry was made to the home and nothing appeared to be missing.

An estimated $150 in property damage was done to a screen door and door jamb.

Steam cleaner stolen

A steam cleaner valued at $180 was reported taken from a driveway at a residence in the 100 block of Birch Drive.

The homeowner said the cleaner had been in the driveway for about two weeks. About 6 p.m. April 1, the homeowner told police she saw someone load the device into a pick-up truck.

Battery alleged

A complaint alleging felony aggravated battery on a household member has been drafted against a Ruidoso woman.

Police were called about 7:30 p.m. April 7 concerning a report of a man stabbed at a residence in the 100 block of Juniper Road. The man said he had been sleeping and his girlfriend cut him with an electric knife blade. The man had minor cuts at several locations on his body.

A search of the residence by police showed the woman had left the home. The victim said the night before there had been an altercation where his girlfriend knocked out some of his teeth.

The criminal complaint named Kerry Lu Rukas, 42.

Jail phone damaged

A criminal complaint was expected to be filed after damage to a telephone at the Ruidoso Police Department jail. A detainee at the jail reportedly became angry and damaged the phone after a communications-detention officer turned away a man who wanted to visit with the detainee.

The officer said the communications center was too busy with radio traffic related to the Musketball Fire to arrange the visit.

Felony drug charge

Beci Lei Taylor, 19, Ruidoso, was taken into custody after police located a vehicle whose owner wanted to report as stolen. Asked about weapons or drugs, Taylor reportedly told officers she had a smoking pipe in her possession. Police also found a white powder substance.

Taylor was charged with felony possession of drugs and misdemeanor possession of drug paraphernalia. The arrest happened shortly before 1 a.m. March 31.

Credit card complaint

Police issued a criminal complaint after a Ruidoso man said his credit card was used without his authorization. The man told police his credit card statement showed a March 15 charge from a Ruidoso business for $113. Stephanye J. Reynolds, 30, Ruidoso, was charged with fraudulent use of a credit card and forgery, both felonies.

FIREWISE COMMUNITIES

APRIL 20th & 21st

7:30 - 11:30

MORNING SESSION

"DEFENSIBLE PLANNING"

1:00 - 5:00

AFTERNOON SESSION

"FIREWISE PLANNING"

WHERE:

RUIDOSO CONVENTION CENTER

WHY:

COMMUNITY AWARENESS

Why Should You Attend the Firewise Workshops?

The Firewise Communities Workshops were created to help you with the work you do every day — and to make it better. You will be able to apply your new knowledge immediately, in the following ways:

Architects - Offer your clients value-added features related to wildland fire protection. Determine the best site and materials for new construction and the retrofits that are best suited to homes in fire prone settings.

Bankers - Protect your investment and associated community stability. Analyze lending packages for homes to be built in fire prone areas with an eye to their susceptibility to wildland fire loss.

Builders and Developers - Make your projects safer and more attractive to customers, and know the reasons why. Let fire and other officials hear about your projects' requirements.

Chambers of Commerce - Implement changes into the planning process, which is designed to lessen the community's probability of wildland fire loss.

Elected Officials - Make simple changes to the community's infrastructure that will provide big savings should wildland fire threaten. Add another safeguard to community stability and security.

Emergency Managers - Incorporate wildland fire mitigation into other natural hazard mitigation strategies.

Extension Agents - Advise constituents about proper construction and landscaping techniques, which will reduce the risk of wildland fire loss.

Landscape Architects and Arborists - Create landscaping opportunities in public planning projects. Plan and maintain landscape designs in both private and public areas in a manner which will minimize the spread of a wildland fire.

Planners - Incorporate GIS themes in Firewise planning along with other natural hazard mitigation. Add wildland fire protection concepts to community development planning.

Realtors - Identify Firewise developments and individual features as benefits for prospective buyers.

Other Benefits . . .

Earn CEUs from the National Fire Protection Association.

AIA members will receive credit for hours of Health/Safety & Welfare Course work.

Receive Firewise planning and building information.

Access additional post-conference training in Firewise Communities planning via the Internet.

Capitan track teams run well in Roadrunner Relays

BY WES SCHWENGELS
RUIDOSO NEWS SPORTS EDITOR

It was a fruitful weekend for the Capitan High School track teams, as the boys won the Roadrunner Conference Relays Friday at Hagerman, and the girls took second while qualifying six more ladies for state competition.

The boys won their side of the meet with 104.5 points, finishing ahead of strong Dexter and Fort Sumner squads. The Tigers continue to excel despite missing several athletes to injuries. Capitan was also without a few runners who were at a state agriculture competition.

Tiger coach Ed Davis said he's hoping to get those injured athletes back by the end of the season.

"We're doing everything we possibly can," he said. "It's the same for everybody else."

Those who were there stepped up, though. The field events continue to be the Tigers' advantage, as Cody Glass won the discus and got second in the shot put, Jared Joy took second in the discus and third in the shot, and Jarrod Stierwalt got sixth and fourth in those two events. Ryan Kimbrell and Bo Sparks also took first and fourth in the javelin.

Kimbrell also set a state qualifying mark while finishing second in the long jump. He then got fourth in the triple jump.

Also standing out for the Tigers was Tyler Haughness who gave his usual stellar performance in the distance races, taking first in the 1,600-meter and second in the 3,200. The Tigers were actually trailing by four points going into the 1,600, which was the next-to-last event. But Haughness' victory put Capitan over the top.

The relays were also strong for the boys, as the 800-meter and medley both finished second.

Davis said there is still some juggling going on in some events.

"We're still moving people around, trying to find out what they run best," Davis said.

Relays were also the story for the Tiger girls, as two of their teams qualified for state competition. The 800-meter relay team took first and the 1,600 second as they both met the state mark.

As a team, the girls finished second overall while scoring 83 points, just six behind Fort Sumner.

The Lady Tigers now have nine girls qualified for state. Melissa Becker, Amy Irvine, and Stephanie Kelsey ran on both of the relay teams Friday, while Audrey Thomas led off the 800, and Jessica Castaneda anchored the 1,600. Castaneda

The Sun Country PGA Section is now accepting application for the 2001 Sun Country PGA Junior Golf Tour. The winners of the boys and girls divisions of the Section Championship will compete at the national Westfield Junior PGA Championship in Westfield Center, Ohio, July 18-21. Junior golfers, ages 7-17, may qualify at any of the nine qualifier sites featured in the 2001 tour by obtaining a membership in either the Junior Tour or the Pepsi Tour. Membership information may be obtained at suncountry.pga.com or by calling (505) 667-4690.

Bike Race
The High Altitude Classic, the second race of the New Mexico Off Road Series, will be held May 5-6, in Cloudcroft. The registration fee for the cross-country race before April 28 is $25 and $35 after. The cross-country race is Saturday, May 5, and racers may register for one, two or three laps, each nine miles long. The race begins at 10 a.m. There will also be a downhill race May 6 at 10:30 a.m. Early registration for that race is $20, and $30 late. Bikers must have an ACA license or buy one for $2. For more information on either race or a registration form, call (505) 682-1229 or visit www.highaltitude.org.

Warriors lose three times over weekend

BY TODD BUTTS
FOR THE RUIDOSO NEWS

The Ruidoso JV baseball team played doubleheaders against the Alamogordo Tigers and Gateway Christian last week.

Ruidoso lost to the Tigers 16-12 in a close first game. The Warriors were tied 1-1 in the second contest when the game was called due to darkness.

The Warriors split the double header with Gateway Christian, winning the first game 14-10 and losing the second 12-4.

In first game of the double-header against Alamogordo, the Warriors spotted the Tigers an 8-0 lead through the first three innings. The Warriors came back, battling around in the third and scoring six runs to cut the Tigers' lead to 8-6.

Ruidoso eventually tied the game at 12-12. But a couple of errors in the outfield allowed the Tigers to score four more runs and defeat Ruidoso 16-12.

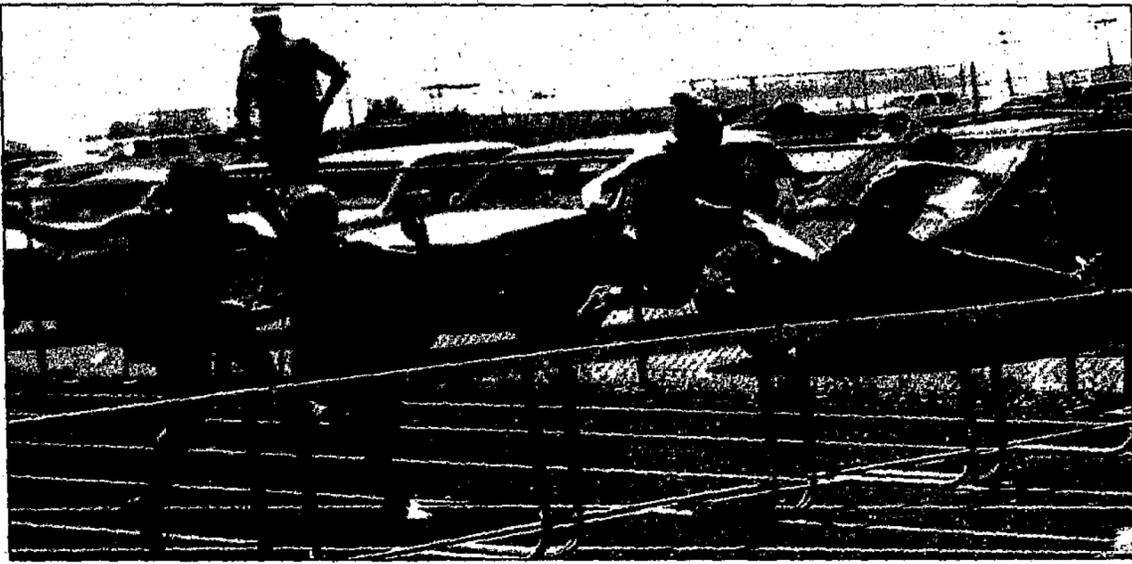

"Once they woke up and decided to start playing ball we did well," said Warrior JV head coach Mike Swanner. "They brought it back to within striking distance. I am happy with the way they played."

In the doubleheader against Gateway Christian the Warriors started off slow, allowing Gateway to jump out to a 4-0 lead after two innings. The Warriors once again batted around in the third inning to tie the game at four.

Ruidoso closed out the game scoring five runs in the seventh inning for a 14-10 victory over Gateway in the first game.

In the second game, the bats went cold for the Warriors. Gateway had built a 6-0 lead after three innings. The Warriors managed to score four runs, but it was not enough, as they fell to Gateway 12-4.

The Warriors will face Goddard JV Thursday in a doubleheader beginning at 3 p.m.

Ruidoso track teams hold their own with Class 4A and 5A schools

BY WES SCHWENGELS
RUIDOSO NEWS SPORTS EDITOR

Warriors Solomon Barnett and Carrie Line shined for the Ruidoso High School track teams, as the squads took on a number of larger schools Saturday at the Carlsbad Invitational.

Barnett followed up a five-gold-medal performance last week at Socorro by taking three top spots at the Carlsbad meet.

The boys team finished fourth overall behind strong showings by Barnett, Jose Linares, Nathaniel Hedin, Darryl Bagley, J.R. Floyd and Tyler Liza, all of whom scored multiple times.

"Jose Linares really came through for us," said Warrior head coach Ronny Maskew. Linares finished second in the 200-meter dash and third in the 100, both races which Barnett won. Linares also ran legs on the third-place 400- and 800-meter relay teams.

The boys team scored 65 points and finished fourth overall in a field of nine schools, most of which were Class 4A or 5A. Carlsbad won the meet, scoring 88 points, 10 ahead of Hobbs.

The Warriors were hindered somewhat by the absence of one of their better throwers, Dominic Gonzales, who was taking the ACT college preparatory exam.

The girls team also put forth a strong effort despite missing one of its stars, Kammi Sparks, who was also taking the ACT. The girls were bolstered, though, by several girls fresh off of the cheerleading squad that just finished second in state.

"They did really well," Maskew said of the girls. "We found a lot of things that we improved on."

In Sparks' absence, Line, a junior, stepped up for the Lady Warriors. Line finished second in the 800-meter low hurdles, fourth in the 100-meter high hurdles, sixth in the javelin and led off for

Softballers swept by Wildcats

BY TODD BUTTS
FOR THE RUIDOSO NEWS

The Ruidoso Warriors softball team (2-9, 1-3) traveled to Lovington to face the Wildcats (9-2, 4-0) in district 4AAA action Saturday. The Warriors fell to the Wildcats 10-0 in the first game and 11-1 in the second. Both games ended in fifth inning because of the 10-run mercy rule.

In the first game, the Warriors suffered the same problem they faced in their last contest against Portales: they could not get the offense rolling. The Wildcats' defensive and pitching efforts held the Warriors scoreless. Even when the Warriors were able to get runners on base, they could not find a way to get them around and in to score some runs.

"Even when they got runners on, we were able to keep our composure," said Lovington head coach John Moore. "We really started hitting the ball hard today. Everybody in the lineup got a hit today."

The Warriors started strong in the second contest as they took a 1-0 first inning lead. The Wildcats then answered, tying it at one. The Warriors then went down in order in the second and third innings and in the bottom of the third inning, the Wildcats turned up the heat, scoring has also qualified in the high jump, while Kaycee Gilson is in state in the pole vault, Jessica Becker in the shot put, and Lindsey Bush in the shot, discus and javelin.

Bush stood out again at the Roadrunner meet, taking second in the discus and shot, while netting a third-place spot in the javelin.

Having two of the relays qualified gives Capitan coach Zale Woodward the option of running some of those girls in individual events, something he's stayed away from this far.

"We may pull one or two of the girls off the relays..." he said. "But we want to qualify the other two relays too."

Other multiple scorers for the girls included Jessica Becker, Randi Goss and Gilson, who took second in the pole vault, fifth in the 110-meter hurdles and sixth in the 300-meter hurdles.

"It was a real good track meet," Woodward said. "We had the lead going into some of the latter events."

Both Tiger teams were at home Tuesday for the Tiger Relays, but results from that meet were not available at press time.

Capitan next visits the Ruidoso Invitational Thursday at 10 a.m.

Results from the Roadrunner Conference Meet in Hagerman:

seven runs and increasing their lead to 8-1.

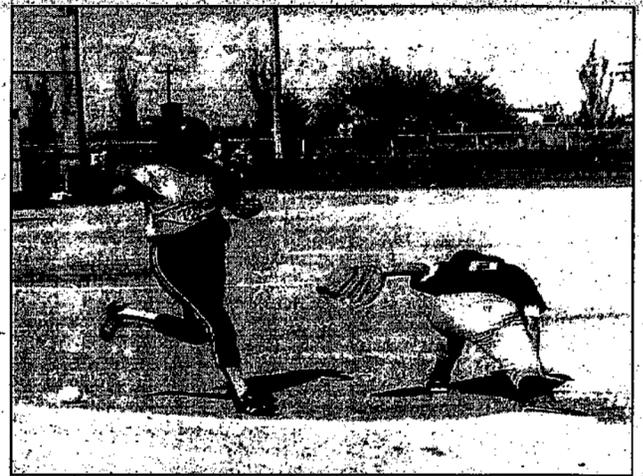

In the fourth inning, the Warriors' Crystal Gheer and Kathy Hightower were able to get on with base hits. But again the Warriors went down swinging, leaving the runners stranded.

During the fifth inning, the Wildcats hot bats ended the game 11-1 due to the 10-run mercy rule.

"We did some things well," said Woodward head coach Brian Baca. "I think we need to work on getting together a full game. We've got to come out and hit the ball. That's the bottom line. Lovington is a good ball club. They hit the ball when they needed to. They caused some things to happen."

Ruidoso has four scheduled district series left and must find a way to get runners on base and in to score if they hope to make a move in a tough district 4AAA.

The Warriors have struggled in the past with mental errors, according to Baca, but appeared to be improving in their split with Portales March 31.

The Warriors were scheduled to travel to Santa

Teresa for a doubleheader Tuesday, but the game was postponed due to high winds. It was not known at press time when those games would be made up.

both of the fourth-place 400- and 800-meter relay teams.

Line scored nine individual points and contributed to eight points on the two relays she ran.

Other multiple scorers for Ruidoso were seniors Leah Miller and Mindy Brunell, and sophomore Kayci Brunell. Meghan Gabaldon was also impressive, taking second in the pole vault.

The girls scored 36 points as a team and finished sixth out of nine. Carlsbad also won the girls side of the meet with a staggering 170 points, exactly 100 points more than second-place Lovington.

The Warriors are now busy preparing for their home meet Thursday, which will also feature Capitan High School. The Ruidoso Invitational begins at 10 a.m. at the high school.

RHS grad joins Titans' PR team

NASHVILLE, TN. — The Tennessee Titans NFL football team announced last week that Tresa Halbrooks, a 1990 Ruidoso High School graduate, has joined the franchise as the Titans' Manager of Community Relations.

Halbrooks' primary responsibilities will include serving as the team's community and nonprofit liaison as well as managing Titans special events and player appearances.

"We are excited to have an individual of her caliber and expertise join our team," said

Titans VP of Community Affairs Bob Hyde. "She will be an excellent representative of our organization in the community."

Halbrooks, a 1994 graduate of New Mexico State University, was most recently with Gaylord Entertainment, the parent company of the Grand Ole Opry, WSM Radio and Opryland Hotels, serving as Senior Manager of Community Relations. Tresa also has community relations experience with Service Merchandise Headquarters, appearing on national television in 1998 during the Jerry Lewis Labor Day Telethon on CBS.

"I've had such interesting career opportunities, but I never imagined that I'd have the opportunity to work for an NFL football team," Tresa said. "I've truly been blessed with many projects that have provided me with a 'paycheck of the heart' over the past several years. I love the work God has allowed me to do."

Tresa is the daughter of Anita and Clark Carpenter and Jack and Jerri Halbrooks of Ruidoso.

LAS CRUCES — One of seven Americans who died in a helicopter crash in Vietnam over the weekend grew up in Las Cruces and graduated from New Mexico State University.

Maj. Charles E. Lewis II, 36, of Navarre, Fla., had been stationed in Vietnam since Oct. 3 as part of a team searching for the remains of U.S. soldiers missing in war from the Vietnam War, said his sister, Mary Askew of Las Cruces.

A colonel from Holloman Air Force Base near Alamogordo called her Sunday to tell her he was dead, Askew said. Earlier in the day, Air Force officials told her his whereabouts were unknown.

Lewis moved with his family to Las Cruces in 1979 when he was 14, and he graduated from Mayfield High School in 1983 and from NMSU in 1987 with a degree in electrical engineering, Askew said.

HOBBS — A man who contended he was wrongfully fired from the Hobbs Police Department has dismissed the final part of a lawsuit he filed against the department.

David Lester, who was fired in 1997, sued in July 1999, listing eight allegations of wrongful termination, including breach of contract and defamation of character.

The court dismissed seven of the allegations last June. The judge refused Lester's request for reconsideration in October, but ordered a trial on Lester's final claim, that he was defamed by Chief Tony Knott.

Trial was set for April 16, but last month Lester asked that the claim be dismissed.

Knott and Albuquerque attorney Josh Harris, who represented the city, were pleased by the dismissal.

"We were ready and prepared to go to trial and defend the one remaining allegation," Harris said.

Gregory Acton, an Albuquerque attorney who represents Lester, says the voluntary dismissal was a procedural strategy and does not mean the lawsuit is over. He said he believes several of the dismissed allegations will be reinstated on appeal.

State kills diseased fish

LOS OJOS — The state has killed nearly 400,000 rainbow trout at a hatchery because they were infected with whirling disease.

Parkview Hatchery crews buried 133,994 fish between 4 and 12 inches long and about 228,000 2-inch fish during March and the first week of April, the state Game and Fish Department said Monday.

The state has a policy of not stocking infected trout, and the department tests all trout lots before stocking.

Stocking around New Mexico already has been reduced to 80 percent of what it was before the discovery of whirling disease in state hatcheries, said Mike Sloane, assistant chief of fisheries for the department.

Game and Fish will buy catchable-size fish from a Missouri hatchery to maintain the current stocking levels, he said.

Whirling disease was discovered in January in two lots of trout tested before stocking.

The department then checked a well supplying water to the hatchery near Tierra Amarilla and found tubifex worms.

State's 8th-graders show gains in math

Good readers are getting better while poor readers are getting worse, assessment concludes

SANTA FE (AP) — Math grades for New Mexico eighth-graders rose during the 1990s, while scores on reading and math remained flat for fourth-graders overall at the same time the gap between good readers and poor ones widened.

The scores are based on the National Assessment of Educational Progress, tests given in the fourth, eighth and 12th grades in various subjects on alternating years.

The latest report, released Monday by the National Education Goals Panel, analyzed fourth-grade reading and math scores and eighth-grade math scores without giving specific scores.

The major findings: States are making more progress in math than in reading, and good readers are getting better while poor readers are getting worse.

New Mexico's results were "fairly consistent with what was happening nationwide," said Cheryl Brown-Kovacic, director of assessment and evaluation for the state Department of Education.

The results also mirror the results of other standardized tests in improved math scores in New Mexico, she said.

Of 36 states studied for fourth-grade reading scores between 1992 and 1998, eight saw improvement in reading achievement, the panel said.

But the gap in reading scores between the highest- and lowest-achieving students grew in 16 states, shrinking only in North Carolina.

In math, states did a bit better, with seven of 39 states improving fourth-grade scores and 26 of 32 improving eighth-grade scores.

The gap in math scores between the top- and bottom-performing fourth-graders grew only in Delaware and the District of Columbia. The gap for eighth-graders grew in the District and Montana.

Panel officials were at a loss to explain the results, saying further research was needed on a state-by-state level.

The report found students who watched no more than three hours of television a day outperformed students who watched more television.

The report said students who reported doing more homework and more reading did better on tests.

Those who reported spending a moderate amount of time on homework — a half-hour to an hour a day — did better than those who spent more than an hour or those who did not do homework.

Students who took weekly or monthly tests that required writing long answers had higher scores than students who took such tests only once or twice a year if at all.

Students who discussed their studies at home daily, weekly or monthly averaged higher scores than those who said they hardly ever or never discussed their studies at home.

The U.S. Education Department last Friday released the results of the 2000 National Assessment of Educational Progress, which showed that more than two-thirds of 8,000 fourth-graders tested nationally can't read proficiently, continuing an eight-year trend.

The National Education Goals Panel was founded in 1990 by then-President George Bush and then-Arkansas Gov. Bill Clinton after a 1989 education bipartisan panel of 50 state governors. The bipartisan panel includes a rotating group of eight governors, four members of Congress, four state legislators and two members selected by the president.

The panel keeps track of progress in education improvement efforts.

Ag official confident of property value compromise

■ Original proposals would have doubled the taxable value of some livestock and increased the taxable value to Curry County farm land more than eight-fold.

CLOVIS (AP) — A state agricultural official says he's confident a task force will find a compromise between the agricultural industry and state tax officials over proposed new tax valuations that would raise taxes on agricultural property.

The state delayed the valuations and held a series of meetings in December to allow farmers and ranchers to express concerns. Task force members were chosen from among growers around the state.

The Agricultural Property Tax Task Force, which met for the first time last week, was formed after producers protested proposals that would have more than doubled the taxable value of some livestock statewide and increased the taxable value of farm land in Curry County more than eight-fold.

"We're just starting the process of reviewing the laws and regulations that affect agricultural property and livestock values," said Jeff Witte, assistant state agricultural secretary and tax force coordinator.

"We needed to get the consensus of real participants, not bureaucrats. We wanted producers to help determine how they would be assessed in the future."

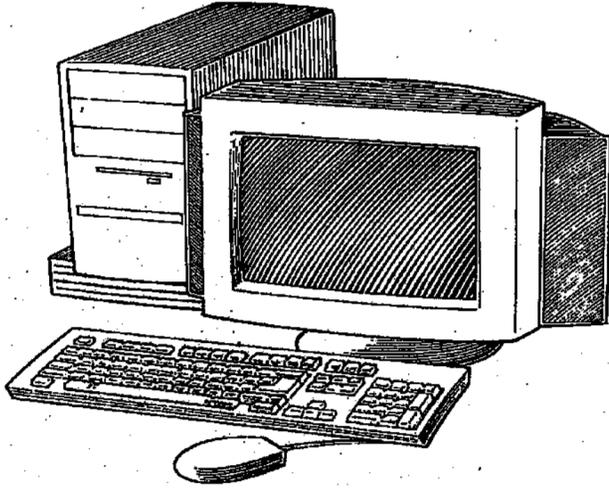

At the first meeting last week, the group "talked concepts, not numbers," Witte said.

For example, members discussed which expenses should be deducted before income is calculated for taxes and the possibility of measuring income on production cycles.

Witte said the process could be finished before fall.

EDUCATION BRIEFS

Team seniors

The Ruidoso Senior Center/RSVP knows that many seniors would help in the schools if only they had a convenient time to work around their own schedules. The Ruidoso Municipal Schools now has a plan by which seniors can help just by dropping in at a school at their convenience and listening to a student read, one-to-one, for 30 to 45 minutes.

RSVP will provide seniors with a list of teachers and times their students are available for reading help at Sierra Vista Primary School (grades 1 and 2), White Mountain Elementary School (grades 3 and 4) and White Mountain Intermediate School (grades 5 and 6). Participants may just come by the school office and school personnel will take them to a teacher.

The time donated may make a difference in a child's educational future. The flexibility will enable seniors to both help students and have time for other activities. The only qualification for volunteering is a desire to help a student.

Schedules are available at the Ruidoso Senior Center, 501 Sudderth Drive, or call 257-4565.

MIT accepts Spurlock

Jon Spurlock, son of Michael Spurlock of Ruidoso, stepson of Denise Dorn and grandson of Glenda and Dalton Haines of Alto, was accepted to Massachusetts Institute of Technology and will start classes in the fall.

Spurlock was a Ruidoso High School graduate of 1999 and joined the Navy. He received a letter of recommendation, to M.I.T. by James N. Boerner, electronics technician chief with the Navy in Goose Creek, S.C.

"I teach ... a 97-hour course in digital electronics and microprocessors for future naval nuclear propulsion plant operators and technicians. Difficult concepts are presented nearly every hour. Mr. Spurlock routinely asks questions so probing as to require me to research the answers, no small feat given that I have taught the course over 20 times ...

"Mr. Spurlock can communicate with instructors more than twice his age, then shift to a less technical explanation to assist his peers ...

"Mr. Spurlock is the class leader for his section of more than 30 sailors, responsible for all aspects of their military bearing. I will most remember Mr. Spurlock's equal level of comfort talking to either his gifted or academically challenged peers, indifferent to being on a much higher level.

"Mr. Spurlock missed only 9 of 420 points in my course, and only 122 of 2,915 in the entire school curriculum. To realize the level of achievement of his 3.86 overall grade-point average, you must know that all exam questions are essay type. You must also know that a 3.94 is the highest ever achieved in the 14-year history of Nuclear Field A School, the most challenging enlisted academic program in the United States Navy. President Jimmy Carter completed the Navy Nuclear Power pipeline. Mr. Spurlock is in the pipeline today. You would be fortunate to have Mr. Spurlock attend your outstanding institution. Mr. Spurlock is the brightest sailor I have seen in my 20-year career."

KIDS HELP BURN VICTIMS

Mescalero Elementary School art teacher Dawn LaRue's students made dreamcatchers for burned children, as part of the Dreamcatchers for Kids project sponsored by the Otero County Fire Fighters Association, the Bent Volunteer Fire Department, and the Alamogordo Rooket Shrine Club.

The sponsorship includes shading information, videos and education in the school system regarding fire prevention. The dreamcatchers will be sent to the Shriners Burn Institute in Galveston, Texas. Jularosa Middle School Indian Club members also made dreamcatchers; theirs were shipped in January. LaRue said every student in the Mescalero schools made a dreamcatcher, including preschoolers, and made a card in both Spanish and English accompanying the dreamcatchers. Elementary school principal Marie Saenz said staff hope to make this an annual event for the school.

Looking for a solution to the 39-percent problem

Schools tackle reading shortfall

BY SANDY SUGGITT
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

In Ruidoso, and nationwide, only about 39 percent of fourth-grade students read at grade level, said Mike Gladden, superintendent of schools.

But New Mexico and Ruidoso are doing something about that. Since January, 18 teachers and a few other staff members (an administrator, a librarian and a counselor) have been students in a class on reading comprehension designed specifically for the needs of the Ruidoso Municipal School District.

Taught by Patricia Whitney in Ruidoso, an instructor of elementary reading methods classes and young adult literature at the College for Teacher Education at Eastern New Mexico University-Portales, the Ruidoso class was developed for teachers of all grade levels to provide consistent, unified instruction and to develop strategies for improving reading comprehension in students. Tuition was paid by a technical grant, and classes were arranged for after school, on a few weekends and a couple of half-day in-service periods.

"One of our EPSS (Educational Plan for Student Success) goals is reading comprehension across the curriculum," Paul Wirth, associate superintendent, said. "We wanted to focus on reading comprehension — basically, reading comprehension with writing skills involved."

One of the 20 students in the class, Frank Cannella, principal of White Mountain Elementary School, said participants are coming up with "some real good strategies to improve reading comprehension across all the grade levels. Sometimes kids will have their phonics down, but don't have a clue as to what they're reading," he said.

"What (Whitney) is doing is giving teachers strategies to make the kids more engaged so that they're thinking and questioning and bringing their own personal experiences to the written word."

Whitney received a master's degree as a reading specialist at San Francisco State University in 1985, and later a doctorate as a literacy specialist. She's taught kindergarten, fourth through eighth grades and graduate and undergraduate students between her university training, and has observed changes in learning theories and practices over time.

Whitney explained that going to school once — and learning mostly theory — for a career in teaching isn't enough. A teacher spends five or six years as a beginning teacher, she said, mainly "learning to survive in the school culture."

"Then it's time to go to graduate school and rethink some of those ideas and how to support literacy in the classroom," she said.

At the University of British Columbia, she found a theory of teaching reading that made more sense, she said, "using a variety of materials and experiences, (with) the learner making sense of what reading and writing is all about because they had a real reason to read: the grandmother sending a letter, or someone writing a manufacturing company to complain about this product they bought. A real reason drove them to want to read or write."

Gladden said that the Whole-Language Approach, which came into use about 15 years ago, de-emphasized phonemics as a method of teaching reading, and the goal of the district and of this class is to "take the best of both," he said. Although the critical years for learning reading are kindergarten through second grades, Ruidoso's high mobility rate means students come to the district at all ages and from districts with different philosophies and techniques for teaching reading comprehension. Because of this, the class is valuable for teachers of all grade levels.

"Folks in the community are not satisfied with young folks entering the work force," Wirth said. "The federal and state governments responded to that by tightening up accountability, retention (holding students back who are not meeting standards) and providing safety-nets schools are to implement."

Wirth said the district wrote the technical grant for this ENMU class for teachers to complement the Accelerated Reading Program, used in grades 2 through 6.

A sequel is planned for next year and the district has applied for another technical grant.

"I think we'll continue to offer university classes (for professional development), but more and more we'll be going to identify a trainer and develop a long-term relationship with the trainer," Wirth said. This way, he said, there will be follow-up and consistency.

Gladden said the district also is seeking early identification of reading problems and rapid intervention with tutors or parent volunteers in the schools. Part of this involves increasing public awareness of the importance of reading (and of parents reading to and with their children).

Whitney said she sees the teaching profession as evolving and also at a stage of surviving. "There's a lot of what should be going on in the schools," she said, "sometimes by people who have children in the schools, sometimes by people who are just trying to jump on the bandwagon."

Society has changed, she said, and there are no more jobs working at a gas station, so educators need to do everything they can to allow children as many choices as possible when they're adults.

In Ruidoso, she said, "Here is a group of teachers that are examining what they're doing in their classrooms. That shows a great deal of maturity on their part, a great deal of professionalism: trying to examine their practice and asking 'Is there something else I might be doing here?'"

"It's been a real pleasure working with these teachers and this district," Whitney said. "What they're doing is probably the most outstanding thing a district can do for its teachers. They invited 18 teachers, paid for their tuition, paid for their books, gave them two in-service days. That shows so much respect for the teachers. If school districts want to honor their teachers, these are the kinds of things they should do."

The Oldest Civilizations

A History of Africa

Humans' first home

Many experts believe humans have been living in Africa for about 200,000 years. This is probably much longer than humans have lived anywhere else on Earth.

Many scientists think people first left Africa about 50,000 years ago to settle in other parts of the world. They believe all the people on other continents are descended from these first African travelers.

Ancient peoples

Two of the greatest civilizations in the ancient world, Egypt and Nubia, came from Africa's Nile Valley.

These two civilizations traded, married and fought with each other for thousands of years, from 3,100 B.C. to 332 B.C.

Egyptian and Nubian traders, scholars and diplomats traveled throughout Asia and the Mediterranean countries. They influenced the science, literature, art and religions of people throughout the world.

*Nubia was in the area of what is now Sudan.

The Mini Page celebrates Black History Month with a two-part series based on the exhibit "African Voices" at the National Museum of Natural History, Smithsonian Institution, Washington, D.C.

There have been many reasons Africans have left their continent to settle in other areas. African migrants have had a big influence on the world.

Africa is the second-biggest continent. It has:

- more than 1,000 ethnic groups;
- more than 800 languages.

Slave trade

About 500 years ago, Europeans and Africans began buying and selling slaves. Some African rulers traded other Africans into slavery. Slaves were often prisoners captured in wars between rival African kingdoms.

In the United States, most African slaves were forced to work on plantations.

Although millions of Africans resisted this cruel trade, it continued for nearly 400 years. In 1888, Brazil was the last country in the Americas to outlaw slavery.

It's fun to learn phonics, or the way letters sound. This week's target sound is the one made by the STR blend, as in the word string.

Lisa: How do you keep a stray dog off the street? Michelle: Put him in a barking lot!

Al: How do cucumbers go on strike? Kent: They form a pickle line!

Go on an STR word hunt. What other words can you find using the STR blend? What sound do you hear?

Patient: I have this strange feeling that I'm a bell! Doctor: Well, if you're not better tomorrow, give me a ring!

More About African History

European colonies

In order to get Africa's gold and other riches, European countries started setting up trading posts and establishing colonies as far back as 600 years ago. They fought with each other for pieces of the continent.

Finally in 1884, European countries held a conference and divided Africa among themselves. Only two countries were able to remain free, Ethiopia and Liberia. But other African nations continued to resist, and by the 1960s most had won back their freedom.

Today African countries are struggling to decide what things from the colonial past they will keep, change or completely throw away.

Ethiopia

For centuries Ethiopia was a big influence on the world. For example, it adopted Christianity in the third century, before much of Europe. Today nearly half its people are Christians and nearly half are Muslims.

The Ethiopian flag is green, yellow, red and blue. In 1896, Ethiopian Emperor Menelik II fought and defeated Italians trying to conquer his country. This successful resistance became an inspiration to other African countries. Ethiopia has remained free except for an occupation by Italian forces at the beginning of World War II. Its people have suffered much in recent years from famines and fighting among themselves and with their neighbors.

Rights in South Africa

A white minority ruled in South Africa for more than 75 years. In 1948, they started a cruel practice of discrimination called apartheid (uh-PAR-tite). Apartheid made it illegal for black people to vote. They could live, work and go to school only in certain places. They could not even sit on the same benches as white people.

South African leader Nelson Mandela speaks in the Special Committee Against Apartheid at the United Nations in 1960.

Thousands of South Africans lost their lives or were imprisoned in the fight against apartheid. People all over the world refused to do business with South Africa. Finally in 1991, apartheid was ended. In 1994, black South Africans were able to vote for the first time in history. Nelson Mandela, who had been a political prisoner for nearly 30 years, was elected president of the new South Africa.

The South African flag is green, black, white, gold, red and blue.

This souvenir plate picturing Nelson Mandela was sold at election time.

Next week is the second in a series based on the exhibit "African Voices." Site to see: www.nmnh.si.edu Look through your newspaper for stories about Africa.

LEGAL NOTICE TWELFTH JUDICIAL DISTRICT COUNTY OF LINCOLN STATE OF NEW MEXICO

RUIDOSO STATE BANK, A New Mexico Banking Corporation, Plaintiff,

vs. CV-00-256 DIV. III

NORMAN KENT ANDERSON and THOMAS B. McFARLIN, Defendants.

NOTICE OF SALE OF REAL ESTATE UNDER FORECLOSURE JUDGMENT

NOTICE is hereby given that under and by virtue of that Decree of Foreclosure entered by the District Court of Lincoln County, New Mexico, on March 16, 2001, in civil cause number CV-00-256, in the case of RUIDOSO STATE BANK vs. NORMAN KENT ANDERSON and THOMAS B. McFARLIN, wherein Ruidoso State Bank is the plaintiff and Norman Kent Anderson and Thomas McFarlin are the defendants, the undersigned will offer for public sale to the highest bidder for cash at the front entrance of the Ruidoso Municipal Building, Ruidoso, Lincoln County, New Mexico on the 30th day of April, 2001 at 9:30 a.m., all rights of the defendant Norman Kent Anderson to the following described real property located in Lincoln County, New Mexico;

Lot 1, Block 26 of RANCHO RUIDOSO VALLEY ESTATES, Lincoln County, New Mexico, as shown by the plat thereof filed in the office of the County Clerk of Lincoln County, New Mexico on November 30, 1982, in Cabinet D, Slides 99 through 103,

("the Property").

Notice is further given that the court directed foreclosure and claim of lien on the Property and that the amounts to be realized at said sale from the Property, with interest calculated to date of sale, are as follows:

PUBLIC NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that the Alpine Village Water & Sanitation District (WSSD 580-14) public water supply system failed to collect the required number of valid bacteriological samples for the reporting period of January 2001. Your public water supply system is required to submit these samples under the requirements of the New Mexico water supply regulations.

As a result, the bacteriological quality of the water was undetermined for the period shown above.

The procedure to collect a routine sample each month, if the routine sample comes back total coliform positive four more samples must be collected. This was done and the results came back negative. The following month 5 samples must be collected, this was not done. Your water samples collected in January and February were absent of total coliform.

COUNTY OF LINCOLN NOTICE OF INVITATION FOR BID NO. 00-01-034

INSTALLATION OF A WATER SOFTENING SYSTEM IN THE LINCOLN COUNTY DETENTION CENTER.

Due: Wednesday, May 2, 2001, 2:00 p.m.

The County of Lincoln is issuing an invitation to Bid to furnish and install a water softening system in the Lincoln County Detention Center, 200 Airport Road, Carrizozo, NM.

There will be a pre-proposal conference and site evaluation on Thursday, April 26, 2001 at 2:00 p.m. at the Detention Center. This will be your only opportunity to evaluate the needs of the facility.

Copies of the invitation to Bid can be obtained in person at the Office of the County Manager, 300 Central Avenue, Carrizozo, NM 88301 or will be mailed upon written or telephonic request for Jane Williams at 505-848-2385.

Bids will be received by the Lincoln County Purchasing Agent at the Lincoln County Courthouse, 300 Central Ave (P.O. Box 711), Carrizozo, NM 88301, until 2:00 p.m. Wednesday, May 2, 2001, at which time and place the bids will be opened. Bids received after the time and date will not be considered and will be returned unopened.

All bids must be clearly marked on the outside of the sealed envelope with the Bid Title, Bid Number, Date and Time of Opening. If the bid is sent by mail, the sealed envelope shall have the notation "Sealed Bid" along with the Bid Number.

The Lincoln County Board of Commissioners will review the bids and make their final determination during a regular 9:00 a.m. County Commission meeting on Thursday, May 17, 2001 at the Lincoln County Courthouse.

Lincoln County reserves the right to accept or reject all or any part of the bid, waive minor technicalities and award the bid to best serve the interests of Lincoln County.

vs/Jane Williams Purchasing Agent

PSYCHIC PREDICTIONS FOR THE NEW MILLENNIUM

Judith L. Christopher

Week of April 11 - April 17, 2001

Arles: (Mar 21 - Apr 19) Your future is in question! Don't leave it up to the inadequate people... Leo: (July 23 - Aug 22) Too many cooks could spoil the soup... Taurus: (Apr 20 - May 20) You're not out of the woods yet... Gemini: (May 21 - June 20) A lot of "Mumbo-Jumbo" is going around... Cancer: (June 21 - July 22) You may feel a little bit confused... Scorpio: (Oct 23 - Nov 21) A long-lost friend or loved one may seek you... Sagittarius: (Nov 22 - Dec 21) Don't waste precious time on what you can't do not.
