Drivers fight first snowfall

2.5 inches fall; slick roads cause 13 wrecks

BY DIANNE STALLINGS

Roads turned slick and nasty within minutes after snow started falling in Ruidoso about 7 a.m. Tuesday.

Village salt trucks were on the road an hour later, but by that time some people learned the hard way how dangerous a thin coating of slick snow on cold pavement can be.

Several cars collided at the bottom of a hill where Paradise Canyon and Hull Road intersect. A school bus, without children on board, lost traction and slid into a ditch there, said Lt. Wolfgang Born of the Ruidoso Police Department.

"From 7 a.m. to 11 a.m., we had 13 accidents," he said. "Lots of people slid off the roadway. No one was injured. We were lucky."

Usually, a light snow quickly melts off roads in Ruidoso, but Born said with cloudy skies and no sun, several consecutive cold days created a frozen base on the pavement.

Outside of Ruidoso, few accidents were reported.

A dispatcher for the Lincoln County Sheriff's Office said a few minor accidents occurred, mostly in the mountains near Ruidoso. The State Police received one call when a car hit a tree.

While just 2.5 inches of snow were reported in town, Roy Parker, manager of Ski Apache, said five inches fell at the ski resort Tuesday morning. The sky cleared for a while and clouded back up for some more snow in the afternoon.

Businesses ask input on tax increase issues

The next time an issue such as an increase in the lodgers tax is discussed by the Ruidoso Village Council, members of the Lincoln County Hospitality and Tourism Association would like some input.

They also need some advance notice.

A letter formally requesting those two things will be sent to the council and village administration by Jules Videau, association president, on behalf of his members.

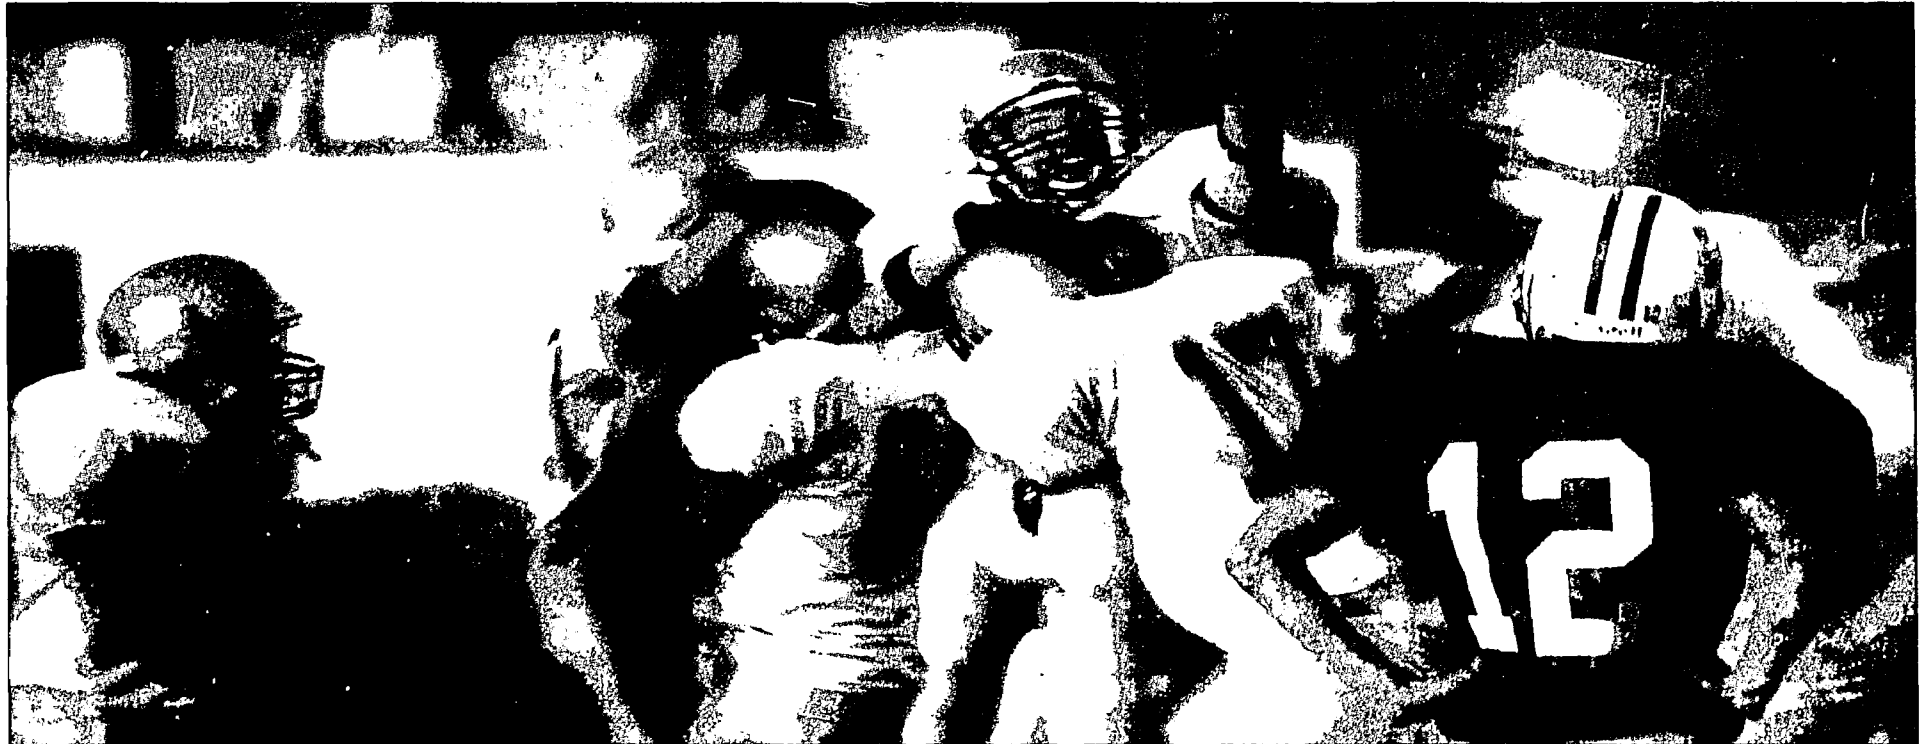

The motion to authorize the letter was approved Wednesday during the group's quarterly meeting in Ruidoso.

Videau said he and other lodgers were unprepared when the issue came up at a meeting a few months ago. Councilors talked about increasing the lodgers tax by 1 percent to its maximum 5 percent, but settled for a quarter of a percent.

He asked for an indication of what position he should represent for the association if the council decides to up the tax again. Renee McAlister of Piñon Park Vacation

Racing commissioners fire back at Johnson

As allegations and questions fly surrounding the gaming and racing licenses of Ruidoso Downs owner R.D. Hubbard, three former members of the New Mexico Racing Commission have fired off their own complaints.

Former Commission Chairman Greg Drake and Commissioners Russ Moore and Michael Harbour have written letters detailing their opinion of Gov. Gary Johnson's decision to remove the three from the Commission on the eve of their meeting on Nov. 19 to decide the fate of Hubbard's application to operate a race track and casino near Hobbs.

"This episode is an example of New Mexico politics at its worst," Moore said in a telephone interview Tuesday. "We've had hearings on the Hobbs application, had studies on our own and were getting ready to vote so the people in Hobbs and the applicants would know where they stand."

Moore stated he and other commissioners were wanting to make the decision before January, when the terms of Harbour and Harley Segotta were due to end. Susan Vescova is the other member still on the Commission.

Commission Director Julian Luna said that because the commission does not have a quorum at this time, no meetings are scheduled for now or any time in the near future. He said no intimations have been given by Johnson as to whether he would appoint new members before January.

For his part, Johnson has stated a fifth race track and casino in the state would violate a revenue-sharing agreement between the state and Indian gambling casinos, such as Casino Apache near Ruidoso.

Harbour claimed Johnson's concerns over the possible effects on the agreement was suspect.

"I think they are somewhat disingenuous," Harbour said. "We had an opinion from Attorney General Patricia Madrid that stated this would not violate those compacts, and there isn't any tribal gaming in Hobbs."

Gaming concerns

Also at issue is an opinion held by the New Mexico Gaming Control Board staff regarding Hubbard's state gaming license. At their regular meeting Nov. 6, control board attorney Peggy Hardwick recommended Hubbard's license not be renewed in light of his problems with the

The Festival runs from Nov. 27 through Dec. 21, although Timson said, "The luminous beauty of a zillion lights will sparkle through-

Tourism official questions group's focus, direction

BY DIANNE STALLINGS

RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

■ The Lincoln County Hospitality and Tourism Association is made up mostly of lodging operators, which was not the original intent.

For the past two years, a lodgers group moved toward becoming more inclusive of different businesses that benefit from visitors to the county.

But that course may be misdirected, said Jules Videau, president of the Lincoln County Hospitality and Tourism Association.

The organization started a few years ago as the Ruidoso Lodgers Association, then was changed to the Lincoln County Lodgers Association to bring in surrounding areas.

Another expansion was approved earlier this year to bring in other businesses, especially in Mid-Town, because they are impacted by tourism. A previous organization called the Mid-Town Business Alliance is now defunct and those merchants lack a consolidated voice, one store owner said.

The theory was that the hospitality and tourism group would acquire a bigger voice and have more input.

But a show of hands at a quarterly meeting last week illustrated that most of those attending were owners or operators of hotels, motels, bed and breakfasts, inns and lodges.

"I have mixed feelings," said Videau, owner of the Ponderosa Cabins. "Not that many business people joined and some of the lodgers have said we've gotten out of our niche, especially in Upper Canyon, which has had its own organization for a long time."

He said the quarterly meeting was promoted with flyers and individual reminders. About 25 people showed up.

"They seem to be the core. Do we try to bring in other businesses or go back to the lodgers association only?" he asked. "The bottom line is we can't make people join."

In checking with the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce, Videau said he determined that only 50 percent of the area's 1,200 businesses are members of that organization.

Sandra Davis, of Apple Tree Bed and Breakfast said, "You need to be representative of who you are."

Videau said another option would be to create non-voting associate memberships for other industries. The issue will be hashed out during the annual meeting in June, he said.

Downs ETZ using nearby examples in creating zoning rules

BY P. BLAKE MARTIN

FOR THE RUIDOSO NEWS

The Ruidoso Downs Extraterritorial Zoning Board met Monday night to continue hammering out its ETZ ordinance.

After their initial meeting in February 2002 and the appointment of a seventh member by the committee, members began writing the ordinance on June 10. Using the Roswell-Chaves County Extraterritorial Zoning Ordinance as their guide, the board embarked on a line-by-line adaptation based on the needs of Ruidoso Downs.

Also in hand were ordinances from Lincoln County and the Village of Ruidoso concerning public lands and rural affairs; regulating refuse, solid waste; and litter; animal control; and subdivision platting rules.

Members sliced down components of the Chaves County ordinance toward reaching beneficial solutions for the city's growth.

Area rancher Leonard

McCutcheon is closely monitoring the meetings with concerns for his land, its uses, and its future value to his children.

In the minutes from the special meeting of Nov. 18, some reasons for the need of the ordinance were brought to light.

"I have read through this and the county basically controls me (and tells me) what I can do," McCutcheon said.

Mike Jones of the ETZ board assured McCutcheon saying, "The ETZ would be beneficial if someone moves next to your ranch and puts something on his property that wasn't going to help your property value."

Dan Bryant, also present at the meeting said, "They are not trying to build a bunch of rules and plans that say you don't get to do what you want to do."

"You are going to want your neighbor to be zoned to be compatible with what you want. That is what this board is about, to do long-range planning and looking forward (to avoid) problems in the future."

Snowstorm postpones YMCA public meeting

BY SANDY SUGGITT

RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

Tuesday's snow canceled the public meeting to discuss the results of YMCA surveys that went out to area residents.

The meeting will be rescheduled in December or January, with the date and time to be announced after the organizing committee and the YMCA of the U.S.A. consultant have a chance to meet, said Rick Lurix, a member of the committee.

"We want as many people there as we can possibly have because we are going to be looking for input from them at the meeting," Lurix said. He said he doesn't know if the meeting will be in December or in January, but it will be announced through the media.

"At the meeting, there are going to be a couple different proposals laid out to the people that attend, and we don't know what direction it will go in. It depends on what they tell us," Lurix said.

Surveys went out to about 8,000 area residents Oct. 21 through utility bills, banks, schools, churches and senior centers, asking what activities and programs they participate in and what activities and programs they would like to participate in.

A consultant from YMCA of the U.S.A. conducted "key leader" surveys with people in the know about the financial community to ascertain whether the local financial community can afford a YMCA with estimated operating expenses of $85,000 to $125,000 the first year with rented facilities.

The committee also mailed surveys to locally active citizens asking them to prioritize local needs.

The results of all these surveys will be discussed at the public meeting.

County power bills twice budgeted amount

BY DIANNE STALLINGS
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

Swallowing hard, Lincoln County Manager Tom Stewart said power bills for the substation in Ruidoso doubled since last year.

During a county commission meeting earlier this month, Commissioner William Schwettmann questioned why electric charges were racing so far ahead of budget. They should have been at 33 percent expended on the monthly budget tracking, but instead hit 67 percent expended.

He wanted to know if rates went up or if the substation is using more power. He jokingly added that Ruidoso village hall may have tied into the county's electricity lines.

Jim Bassett, a spokesman for the electric company, said last week that new rates went into effect at the fuel of the year and the fuel pass-through charge also has increased.

"I can see I didn't budget enough to cover the year."

Tom Stewart
county manager

Stewart said he received a response Monday from his query to the company.

"He provided gobs of information, but when I compare all of the bills, it looks like with similar usage as last year, the production charge went up 79.2 percent, the transmission charge by 33 percent and the distribution charge by 21.3 percent.

"Looking at those, I can see I didn't budget enough to cover the year," he said.

about midnight.

"This is a wonderful send-off for the Thanksgiving weekend opening of the resort, considering that last year we didn't open until Dec. 7," he said. "Between this and nightly snowmaking, we have plenty for a good base this year. I hope it continues."

Forecaster Chuck Jones, with the National Weather Service in Albuquerque, said snow flurries were expected to continue through Tuesday, clearing

"There may be some more snow in the high country like Ski Apache and Cloudcroft, maybe a little in town, and the roads should ice up over night, but after that, the chances of snow diminish as the week progresses," he said.

A major storm now stalled over southern California and northern Baja may move into north-west New Mexico by the weekend, covering about a third of the state, he said. But it could miss Ruidoso entirely.

RACING: Commissioners think governor acted improperly

In that decision, Hubbard was fined $740,000 and lost his license in that state following incidents in June 2001 — when Hubbard was Chairman of the Board for Pinnacle Entertainment — following allegations that Pinnacle had flown in prostitutes for guests at the Hubbard Golf Classic that summer.

The control board voted to hold off on a decision in the matter until December — after the Racing Commission's scheduled meeting to decide Hubbard's application for the Hobbs track, which he would have named Zia Park.

In his letter, Drake took exception to allegations the Racing Commission had deliberately scheduled its hearing before a final decision could be made on Hubbard's gaming license.

"We intentionally decided on Oct. 30 to schedule the Zia Park hearing on Nov. 19... after the Nov. 4... Gaming Control Board meeting," Drake wrote. "It was our understanding that action was to have been taken on Mr. Hubbard's Ruidoso gaming license at that Nov. 4 meeting. "How was the commission to have known when we originally scheduled Zia Park's hearing in late October that the Gaming Control Board would put off action on that decision until December?"

Both Moore and Harbour claimed they had made no decision either way prior to the scheduled Nov. 19 meeting, and would only come to that decision after an executive session.

"I hadn't made up my mind about Hubbard in Hobbs," Harbour said. "Of the two applications we received, Hubbard's was by far superior to the other. But in terms of how I would vote, I still didn't know yet."

"As far as I sit, I made no commitment to vote one way or another on a new track, and he (Johnson) is inaccurate when he says we did," Moore said. "But I do think a new track would be in the best interest of New Mexico racing."

Richardson supports Hobbs

Gov.-elect Bill Richardson, who visited Ruidoso Downs July 5 during trials for the Rainbow Futurity, has publicly stated he'll support a new track in Hobbs, making Johnson's decision to fundamentally change the Racing Commission short-lived.

Richardson takes office Jan. 1 and could then replace the three commissioners to reinstate a quorum.

"The political reality is there will be a track in Hobbs, Richardson has promised them that," Moore said. "It makes sense to me to award the licenses to the people whose track would be most affected."

Because a majority of the customers and horsemen at Ruidoso Downs come from the West Texas area, Moore and Harbour both stated any decision on a new track in Hobbs would have to take this into consideration.

"If it went to someone else (besides Hubbard), it could really hurt Ruidoso Downs," Moore said. "If Hubbard owned it, they could combine the casino drops for the purses, and both tracks would benefit."

"This really is a catastrophe, and I'm sympathetic for Richardson," Harbour said. "He had this dumped in his lap and it's going to take all of his diplomatic skills to work through it."

OUR OPINION

For all these many things, be thankful

Our holiday, economy and future all are looking good

Count your Thanksgiving blessings, people of Ruidoso...you have many, many reasons to be thankful.

If you're a skier, Ski Apache will open on Thursday morning with at least three feet of snow on the lower slopes.

The Sacramentos didn't have the early snows of the Sangre de Cristos to the north, but night have been icy and Denny Grover, the mountain's "snow farmer," has had a productive harvest, says marketing manager Riker Davis.

And Tuesday's snow made it look like El Niño weather ahead.

If you're a Midtown merchant, be advised that the word is out: Reservations for the first ski week of the season seem to be in the overflow mode; even Hawthorne Suites is booked 100 percent for the weekend.

If you're one of those full-time residents, take comfort in the fact that the village's coffers are not emptying faster than taxes are coming in, unlike many other cities, and states, across the nation. Even the Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority has a solid budget.

And we're thankful for the Ruidoso Downs Race Track and Casino, Ruidoso's No. 1 visitor attraction. Let's all do our part to make sure it retains that designation.

Happy Thanksgiving, all.

Of new racetracks and evil cockfights

No one asked me, but... Governor Gary Johnson probably got it right when he fired the Racing Commission members. They seemed intent on approving a horse track and casino at Hobbs and guarding the franchise to R.D. Hubbard.

Problem with that... well, there are a lot of problems with that. One of the problems is Mr. Hubbard is in hot water and may not get his license renewed for the Ruidoso horse track.

I've not been a big fan of Gary Johnson, but you have to wonder about the sanity of awarding someone a license at one track while you are considering the possibility that same person is not fit to hold the license at another.

In the "liar, liar, pants on fire" department: The gov swears the Racing Commission members promised him before appointment they would oppose expansion of racetracks and off-reservation gambling. But Billy McKibben, a Hobbs guy who was once a state senator, said the commission members told him there were no promises to Johnson.

Billy said someone is lying: ... either they lied then or he (Johnson) is lying now. Another possibility is that Billy didn't quite get the story straight.

This political intrigue is fascinating but largely moot. Governor Johnson's days are numbered and the coming state boss Bill Richardson has already gone on record about the new racetrack: if Hobbs wants it, Bill says, that's fine with him.

Campaign contribution scoreboard: Hubbard gave candidate Richardson $10,000 or more, and the Ruidoso racetrack kicked in another $22,000. The Hubbards (Mr. and Mrs.) also gave Johnson at least $10,000 when he was running in 1998.

While I'm on the soapbox... it did not take long for the cockfighting critics to take aim at the supposedly legal New Mexico sport after neighboring Oklahoma outlawed it in that state.

Our beloved state and Louisiana are the only two left which permit this barbaric activity. Doesn't anyone realize how backward this makes us look? Many of our fellow states outlawed this moronic stuff back in the 1800s.

Thirteen of 33 New Mexico counties and 27 individual cities have banned cockfighting. Also, last year a poll conducted on behalf of Animal Protection of New Mexico showed 81 percent of New Mexico residents oppose cockfighting.

Despite the overwhelming evidence of where their constituents stand on this issue, New Mexico legislators session after session cave in to the cockfighting lobby. They should be ashamed of themselves. Furthermore, voters should not take any more of this nonsense.

Ronnie Barron, an Artesia resident who is president of the New Mexico Game Fowl Breeders Association, admitted his cockfighting advocates are in for a real fight this time around. "If they think we are going to back up and take it lying down, they are badly mistaken."

New Mexicans who opposed this insanity should have the same resolve. Call your state rep and senator. Tell them that if they return to town in March and cockfighting is still legal, don't bother to come around next time asking for your vote.

Cockfighting is a stupid diversion and it is not doing any good for New Mexico's reputation. Do we want to be the LAST state that outlaws it?

GUEST COMMENTARY

A Thanksgiving Day with a new unity

BY JULIAN WELLS
RUIDOSO RESIDENT

Thanksgiving means remembering with gratitude and love for all the many gifts and blessings God has given us on this special holiday.

This year, as we gather around the table with our friends, let us pause for a moment of prayer as we reflect upon the national disaster brought upon our nation on Sept. 11 of last year, voicing our prayers for the thousands who lost their lives and their loved ones from this tragedy.

Help us to remember through our faith in God to know that those who were taken from us are not only in a better world, but would say to us to go on living and enjoying the wonderful life we have now and the life ahead. I know this would be the best act of Thanksgiving we could express on their behalf.

Thanksgiving normally centers on things to give thanks for, and especially so this year. As someone has said, "The grateful mind is not just a response to the condition of things in life. It is a celebration of an ever-present spiritual reality." This attitude of gratitude opens the door to the recognition of all the things we have to be thankful for.

"(Thanksgiving) is being thankful that every sunrise is a gift from God, wrapped with scarlet ribbons and tied with bows of love."

Julian Wells
Marking Thanksgiving

The greatest tool that brings marvelous insight into Thanksgiving is love. Some people do great things, others have good health, others, rich possessions. But, when we get the view of Thanksgiving from a spiritual point of view, all sense of separation or comparison disappears in the unity of the whole. We can celebrate the all-good of God that is manifested so lavishly and creatively, no matter in whose life it may be appearing.

Knowing, "all that the Father has in mind," we can celebrate the order, beauty, intelligence, life and affluence everywhere in our great nation.

Thanksgiving is being thankful that we live in America and have the freedom that we have. It is:

• Being thankful for all the wonderful people who serve us: our emergency ambulance teams, our hospital and medical staff, our police department, and so many others who for us are forever on the go...be it in rain, sleet or snow, 24 hours a day.

• It is being thankful that every sunrise is a gift from God, wrapped with scarlet ribbons and tied with bows of love.

• It is being thankful for all our blessings in life, whether they seem simple or complex; each one, let us remember, is a powerful reminder of God's love for us.

• Thanksgiving is adding to our prayer of Thanksgiving, acts of Thanksgiving by doing for others. To "love our neighbors as we love ourselves."

God help us to make every day a day of thanksgiving, and every day of giving and forgiving.

Happy Thanksgiving.

Julian Wells for many years has marked the major holidays of the year with thoughts expressed on this page.

Honoring those who serve honorably and heroically

To the editor:

I wish to thank you for your coverage of Veterans' Day activities on Nov. 11. It is certainly most appropriate that we continue to honor our military veterans who have so honorably and heroically served in all the armed forces during war and peacetime.

We must never forget the sacrifices those brave men and women make in order that we enjoy the freedoms that we enjoy today. Some have returned wounded and maimed, some with loss of limbs, eyesight or other maladies. Almost all of them suffer quietly and do not recount their terrible, unimaginable and - in quite a few cases - horrible experiences, such as having been taken prisoner of war.

And then there are those who have paid the ultimate sacrifice and were returned to be laid to rest.

We of the American Legion, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the Disabled American Veterans and the many other veterans' organizations honor our comrades every day, and especially during our monthly meetings. Locally, the American Legion meets at 7 p.m. the third Wednesday of the month at the American Legion Hall at the corner of Spring Street and Highway 70 in Ruidoso Downs.

All area veterans are welcome and encouraged to join and attend meetings of the veterans' organizations as we keep abreast of benefits and ... activities.

Paradise on the Rio Bonito

To the editor:

In the spring of 1997, we began looking at moving to the Southwest. We became very involved in reviewing magazines and literature on the Southwest, particularly New Mexico, and calling various chambers of commerce and Realtors in New Mexico and other states.

In the summer of 1997, we did a 1,300-mile trek of the Southwest. On this journey, we went to various sites in New Mexico, stopping first in Ruidoso - a town we had never even heard of.

A Sonterra real estate agent we met through an ad showed us Sonterra, and we ultimately looked at a lovely lot on the Rio Bonito. We were so taken by the natural beauty of the surroundings, the sunrises, sunsets, animal life and mild temperature that we put down a deposit on a lot. We were given seven days to rescind the offer.

The following seven days were action packed. We looked at Santa Fe, Albuquerque and Silver City, Prescott, Ariz., and St. George, Utah, etc...

To our amazement, none were as appealing to us as Sonterra.

Now, almost five years later, we have a beautiful pueblo-style adobe home on the Rio Bonito. We have been blessed with nature's abundance, including a well which delivers 200 gallons of water a minute, clean, unpolluted air, wildlife in abundance (turkeys, deer, elk, coyotes, mountain lions, and to the east the Capitan Mountains and to the west, Sierra Blanca. In fact, we liked it so much, we added a lot adjacent to us, giving us 10-plus acres.

Our Sonterra neighbors are among the finest we have ever had the pleasure of meeting. Recently Susan had major surgery, and the support she received from the Sonterrans while recuperating was heart-warming. Sonterra is truly a paradise.

If such commitments were made, I wonder why the governor did not fire or admonish commissioners in 1999, when his appointees expanded race-tracks by giving a license to Sun Ray Park to operate a racetrack/casino in 1999? If adding a racetrack violated the tribal revenue-sharing agreements that were signed in 1997, the licensure of Sun Ray should have violated that agreement as well, but no one raised the issue...not the governor

Scholarships out there

U.S. Senator Pete Domenici has encouraged Hispanic college students from New Mexico to apply for internships, fellowships and scholarships offered by the Congressional Hispanic Caucus Institute Inc. in Washington, D.C.

The CHCI is now accepting applications for its student programs, including summer internships and fellowship placements in Washington, and 2003 scholarship programs.

"The institute has built a good reputation for offering Hispanic college students opportunities to live, learn and work in the nation's capital. I would like to see more New Mexicans apply and be selected for these programs," said Domenici, who is a member of the Senate Republican Hispanic Task Force.

"These programs provide one avenue for our youth to broaden their horizons as they prepare to enter the work world," he said.

CHCI, established in 1978, is a nonprofit, nonpartisan educational organization. It is now accepting applications for the following programs:

- 2003-2004 CHCI Fellowship Program (Aug. 2003-May 2004): Offered to 20 recent college graduates or currently enrolled graduate students, selected CHCI fellows are offered placement in Washington based on their interests. Placements range from assignments, federal agencies, Washington-based media outlets, corporate federal affairs offices, national advocacy organizations and government-related institutions. The program includes a community service component. CHCI fellows are provided with transportation to Washington, a monthly stipend and health insurance. Applications must be postmarked by Feb. 28, 2003.

- 2003 CHCI Summer Internship Program (June 7-Aug. 1, 2003): Offered to 30 undergraduates, this two-month internship provides college students with an opportunity to work in a congressional House office. This program includes a community service component. CHCI summer interns are provided with transportation to Washington, a monthly stipend and housing in a university dormitory. Applications must be postmarked by Jan. 31, 2003.

- CHCI Scholarship Awards: These scholarships are offered to Hispanic students "who have demonstrated history of leadership in their community." The scholarships are not based on GPA, and are awarded to full-time community college, undergraduate and graduate students of all majors. The CHCI awards $1,500 scholarships to selected community college applicants, and $5,000 scholarships to chosen applicants attending a four-year university or graduate/professional program. Applications must be postmarked by April 15, 2003.

Applications and more information about these programs can be accessed by visiting the CHCI Web site at www.chci.org, calling the programs staff at (800) EXCEL-DC or (202) 543-1771.

SEA CHANGE

BY SANDY SUGGITT
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

It might seem sort of fishy to have a marine biology class in a high-desert high school in the mountains, but Ruidoso High School has two such classes, both full — and the students and their teacher think it's either "really cool" or appropriate anywhere.

"Marine biology is probably one of the most important classes because the environment of earth is more than 70 percent ocean, and everything we do to the ocean has an effect on life on earth," said science teacher Joe Avalos, who created a Power Point presentation, writes his own curriculum and uses six different textbooks for the new class.

"What I mainly want to instill in kids is that we don't live on the land as a discrete entity," he said. "We are tied to the oceans and eventually what we throw into the ocean is going to catch up to us."

The classes teach oceanography, shoreline ecology and marine biology, and two field trips are part of the course. The first was a four-day trip to Port Aransas near Corpus Christi, Texas, at the end of September, when 37 students visited the Marine Science Institute ship. Staff and students dragged the bottom with nets and "learned how to collect samples with the nets and helped do that," said Kelli Blank. Her favorite part of the trip, though, was holding a stingray.

Lee Ann Henson said they put out netting and caught different types of fish — including stingrays, whose stinging part in the spinal cord was removed — and squid and shrimp and various kinds of plankton. Afterward, students looked at the samples under a microscope. Michael McLeskey said students learned about the different habitats and animals living in the same region.

The big lesson for Ben Mullins was "Don't go swimming with jelly fish. I was covered and it hurt for an hour." He said if he doesn't go into acting, he may choose something to do with the ocean for a career.

The best thing for Candice Gutierrez was seeing a baby dolphin and its mother pulling the fish out of the nets and eating them. She said she wants to major in marine biology in college.

Gutierrez and McLeskey lauded Avalos's class: "You have fun learning it, so you can't tell you're learning it," Gutierrez said.

Avalos scouted out the Port Aransas field trip during the summer and got a great deal for students: The cost of the trip was $100 each, and most of that went for the three-day bus ride, he said. He fronted the money and the students pay him — and they do fundraisers so that anyone who wants to can go.

The only downside to the trip was the multitude of mosquitoes, but even that was an object lesson. Avalos said Teeatta Layher was the only person who didn't get bitten at all — and that's because she ate a lot of garlic tablets.

Students will take another field trip in the spring, to the Catalina Island Marine Institute, off the coast of California, where they'll go snorkeling, look at ocean ecology and do dissections. This trip will cost $477 per student — most of it for the air fare — and Avalos said the class will do a fundraiser so everyone who wants to (and who's passing the course) can go.

In addition, a certified instructor from Las Cruces and Cree Meadows Country Club are donating the fees for use of the pool for instruction to teach students scuba diving sometime next semester.

"If they get certified, local businessman Denton Colvin will co-sponsor a trip to Balmorhea State Park to do their first open-water dive," Avalos said.

This week the marine biology classes will study shoreline ecology, important because the shoreline feeds us, the teacher said.

"There's a lot of interest in the class because it doesn't really matter where you live; what happens in the ocean affects us. El Niño is an ocean event that directly affects our snowfall and temperature in Ruidoso. These are some of the things we need to learn."

The Literacy Council has received a shipment of children's books from First Book National Book Bank in recognition of Make a Difference Day 2002.

The Literacy Council and Altrusa members delivered the first of three books to Mescalero Nov. 12 and to Ruidoso Nov. 13.

Make a Difference Day is a national effort to highlight community literacy projects. It is sponsored by USA Weekend Magazine and the Points of Light Foundation.

First Book National Book Bank is a national nonprofit organization with a single mission: to give children from low-income families the opportunity to read and own their first new books.

First Book distributes millions of free books each year to children in communities all over the country. The only cost is 25 cents per book for shipping.

This year, the Literacy Council received 864 books — enough to give three books to each child in the Lincoln County and Mescalero Head Start programs. Once again, the Altrusa Club of Ruidoso sponsored the books by paying for the shipping and going with the literacy coordinator to read to the children and hand out the books.

Books also will be handed out in February for National Read to Your Child Day, as well as at the end of the school year. Altrusa's international focus is literacy.

Bowling for knowledge

Area schools' brightest shine

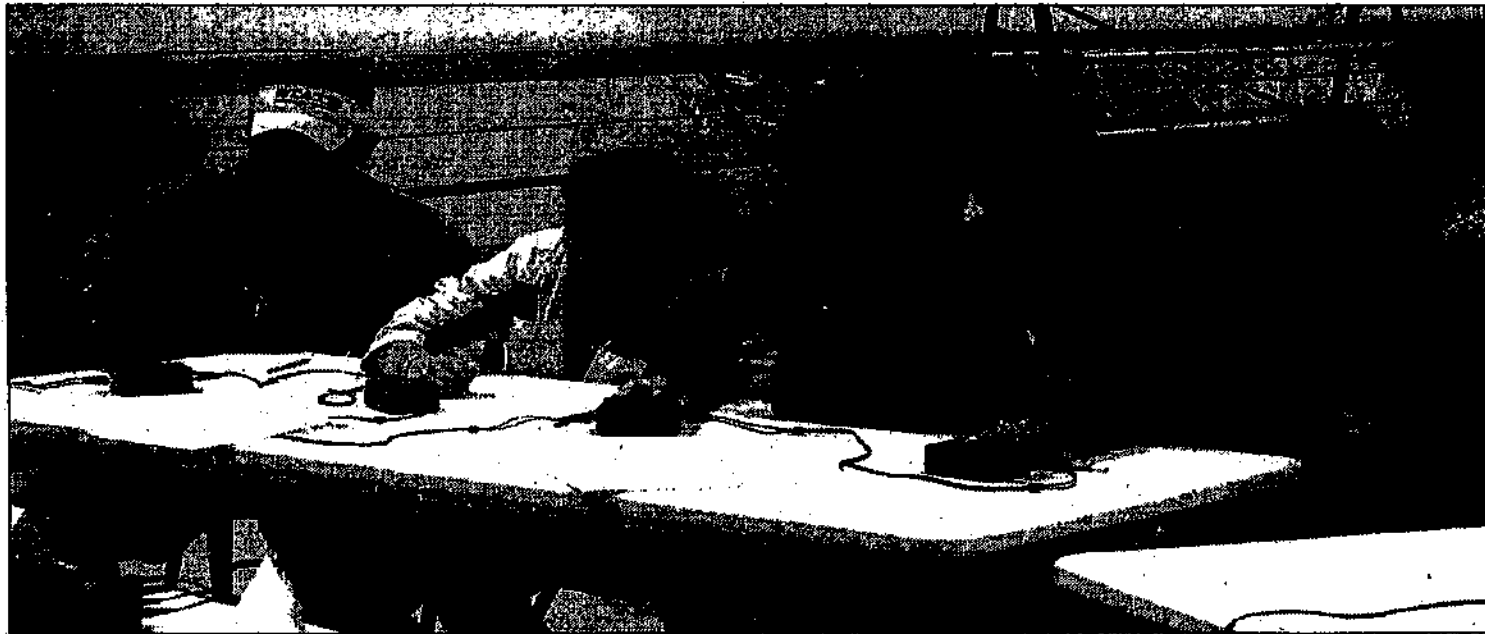

BY JULIE CARTER
FOR THE RUIDOSO NEWS

In the third of seven scheduled meets, Cloudercroft High School earned first place in the Knowledge Bowl varsity competition held at Carrizozo High School on Nov. 20.

The home team came in third, while Ruidoso finished second. Ruidoso also was first in the JV, while Tularosa was second and Capitan third.

Region IX Education Cooperative oversees the academic competitions within the region with a set format and rules of play. The organization's intent with the competitions is to establish interscholastic academic competitions within the Region IX Cooperative that will be governed and played much as athletic games. Schools within Region IX field teams of students at the middle school level, as well as participating high schools providing varsity and junior varsity teams.

The competitions utilize questions that reinforce academic concepts contained in the New Mexico Standards for Excellence, as well as general knowledge questions from all curriculum areas. The questions are age and grade appropriate and, for the most part, require higher-level thinking skills. Questions are multiple choice, calculations, open ended and fill-in-the-blank.

A team consists of four players or alternates if desired. Contestants have a limit of 12 questions for middle school and 15 questions for the high school levels. Points are awarded for each correct answer given within the time limit and a point penalty is levied if the wrong answer is given. The best record in a round-robin tournament will determine the contest winners.

Region IX schools currently participating in scheduled Knowledge Bowl meets are Cloudercroft, Ruidoso, Tularosa, Capitan, Hondo and Carrizozo. The host school changes with each meet and the season culminates in a tournament held in May at the Ruidoso Convention Center.

Hondo Schools will host the next meets with a middle school meet on Dec. 4 and high school meet on Jan. 29.

Corona girl wins essay competition

BY JULIE CARTER
FOR THE RUIDOSO NEWS

Twelve high school students from across New Mexico have won cash prizes from WERC for their essays concerning an aspect of recycling.

Marciela Noriega, 15, a freshman at Corona High School, wrote her way to first place in the novice division. The daughter of Eulalia and Manuel Noriega, Marciela was slightly in shock over her win. Her science instructor, Tom Mulkey, gave his students the opportunity to enter the contest.

Noriega was the only entry from Corona, but it paid off in a $200 prize for her. Jokingly, prior to the contest, Mulkey had told her if she won she had to buy him dinner.

Titled "Can it be Recycled?" the essay covered the controversial subject of hazardous waste storage, a critical subject in New Mexico with the WIPP (Waste Isolation Pilot Plant) located near Carlsbad.

Noriega's essay, along with the other winning essays, can be seen on the WERC website at www.werc.net.

The contest was separated into two categories, novice - grades nine and 10 - and master - grades 11 and 12. A total of 53 entries were received from 10 high schools under the novice classification while 111 entries were received from eight schools under the master classification.

In the closing paragraph of the essay, Noriega stated, "In this world there are many things you have to do to receive something back. When you recycle you get not just some money for it but a thanks from Mother Nature."

Freeze leftover turkey for holiday taste treats

Yes, it's almost that time of year again to figure out what to do with those leftovers! Using leftover turkey is a great way to whip up some quick and fabulous meals.

The easiest idea for leftover turkey is to make "instant meals". Use divided storage containers or microwavable plates to arrange combinations of turkey, dressing, and leftover dishes for quick warm-ups later on. That way, no one gets tired of more of turkey on the menu.

Recommended storage limit for leftovers in freezer:

Turkey (plain) - four months
Turkey in broth or gravy - six months

Stuffing and gravy - one month

Label your containers and mark the date that you froze your food and rotate foods in freezer. (New in the back, older foods to the front of freezer.)

Here are some quick and easy new leftover turkey recipes ideas for your cooking pleasure:

Turkey Quesadillas

1 onion, sliced
1 red pepper, sliced
1 cup mushrooms, sliced
6 Tbsp. Olive oil
salt & pepper to taste
2 flour tortillas
1 cup white turkey, cooked, sliced
1 cup of cheese, grated
1/4 cup salsa

1/4 cup light sour cream
Sauté onion and pepper in 2 Tbsp. Oil 4 minutes. Remove. Sauté mushrooms in 2 Tbsp. Oil, seasoning with salt and pepper to taste.

Place one tortilla in the pan, covered with half the cheese, vegetables, and turkey, top with another tortilla. Cook for one or two minutes and flip entire quesadilla over, cooking on the other side for two minutes.

Place on plate, cut into wedges, top with sour cream and salsa.

(2 servings)

Honey-Lime Turkey Salad

2/3 cup plain low fat yogurt
2 Tbsp. Honey
2 Tbsp. Lime juice
1 tsp. Grated lime peel
1/4 tsp. Salt
1/4 tsp. Pepper
3 cups cubed, cooked white turkey
1 large mango, cubed
1 cup seedless red or green grapes, halved
1/4 cup chopped pecans
1 Tbsp. Finely chopped green onion

In a large bowl, combine yogurt, honey, lime juice, lime peel, salt and pepper. Mix well. Stir in remaining ingredients, tossing to coat. Cover and refrigerate overnight or up to 24 hours.

Capitan FFA excels at leadership training

BY COLT FREEMOLE
CAPITAN FFA REPORTER

A total of 10 area schools, including four from Lincoln County, made an appearance at the FFA's Chapter Officer Leadership Training (COLT) held last week at the Lincoln County Fairgrounds in Capitan.

Host school Capitan, as well as Hondo, Corona and Carrizozo, represented the county at the conference.

The conference's purpose was to teach basic duties and goals to chapter officers and leadership activities to members. These offices included president, vice president, secretary, treasurer, sentinel, and reporter. The New Mexico state officers were in charge of teaching the workshops, which made up half the conference.

The other half consisted of the Creed and Quiz contest. Reciting the FFA Creed while using good public speaking skills was the requirement of the creed contest. The quiz contest consisted of answering questions about the creed.

Capitan finished second in the team standings, behind Magdalena.

Alamogordo's Sean Hoosier won the creed contest, while Capitan's Staci Stambrough and Taber Midgley finished third and fourth, respectively. Tysa Davidson of Corona was 10th.

In the quiz contest, Carri Pierson of Magdalena topped the field, while Capitan's Midgley was fourth.

Forest thinning approved in Sacramento District

Pointing to the continuing threat of wildfire and the need to revitalize the watershed, District Ranger Frank Martinez has decided to approve thinning trees less than nine inches in diameter in portions of the Sacramento District of the Lincoln National Forest.

"I decided to implement the precommercial thinning treatment (which will) initiate vegetation treatments on approximately 23,602 acres of National Forest lands within the Rio Peñasco analysis area," said Martinez, who is with the U.S. Forest Service in Cloudercroft.

"One of the objectives of this action is to reduce fuels (for wildfire), create defensible space to the wildland/urban interface, to improve wildlife habitat and to move the watershed toward the historic range of variability."

To receive a copy of the decision notice and the "Finding of No Significant Impact," contact the Sacramento Ranger District at (505) 682-2551.

The decision is subject to administrative review. The legal notice for the decision was scheduled to be published last week and any appeal must be filed in writing within 45 days of the notice in the legal section of the Alamogordo Daily News.

YCC asks organizations to apply for funded projects

BY DIANNE STALLINGS
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

Two Youth Conservation Corps projects in Lincoln County are among 34 set to be funded by $2.678 million in grant money.

Although the announcement was issued last week, the deadline for a second set of grant awards is Dec. 18. Officials with the YCC urge communities, government entities and non-profit groups to apply.

Secretary Beatriz Rivera said the natural resource conservation projects throughout the state will employ 521 New Mexico young residents during fiscal year 2003.

The projects in Lincoln County will be centered at the Lincoln State Monument in that historic settlement and in the Capitan District of the state Forestry Division of the Department of Energy, Minerals and Natural Resources.

Wendy Kent, executive director of the New Mexico YCC, said the program was designed after the Civilian Conservation Corps of the 1930s and 1940s, "because we felt the experience was so positive."

In 1992, Vicente Jimenez joined members of the Roadrunner CCC alumni to

"They might work on parks, plant grass, install drip irrigation systems. ... In Roswell they built zoo exhibits."

approach the state Legislature for the passage of legislation creating the state's YCC.

Since its approval, about 5,000 people have been employed doing many of the typical projects tackled by the CCC during the Great Depression. They include parks improvements, construction of rock walks and forest trails, improvement in the Lincoln National Forest, and at Smokey Bear Historical ing crew with the state forestry in Capitan," Kent said. "Eddie Tudor (of the historical park) wrote the grant."

The program covers New Mexico residents between the ages of 14 and 25, who are unemployed, both men and women. They can be in or out of school, but the program encourages them to continue their education by graduating, obtaining a GED equivalency diploma, or going to vocational school, Kent said.

Under the program, they receive training by doing projects designed for natural resource management, construction, erosion control and community improvements.

"They might work on parks, plant grass, install drip irrigation systems," Kent said. "Or they could remodel a community center. They built a library. Often older retirees mentor the younger YCC members and teach them skills. In Roswell, they built zoo exhibits. They've planted trees and improved highway medians. It's a statewide program.

"We're also always looking for new partnerships. Half the programs are scheduled in the summer. Participants can do up to six months at a time."

The money for the grants comes from the governmental gross receipts tax. The Youth Conservation Corps Commission selects the projects each year.

From 1992 through the first funding cycle of 2002, the commission awarded about $17.76 million in grants to sponsors of 380 projects.

Main fire station site approved

The Planning and Zoning Commission approved a section of School House Park for the station.

BY DIANNE STALLINGS
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

A section of School House Park will be used as the site for Ruidoso's new main fire station.

The village Planning and Zoning Commission approved a sketch plan submitted last week by the village, represented by agent Cleatus Richards, as preliminary step.

The 3.14-acre parcel is zoned single-family residential, has parking and an existing driveway.

Village officials want to build a two-story station, which is a conditional use in that type of zoning district. The proposal met standards for site development. Screening could be required and a landscaping plan must be submitted. The metal building must be disguised with a non-metal facade and the roof must be enameled.

In other petitions, the commission:

- Tabled four petitions: a variance in Indian Hill Subdivision requested by Todd Beckman, a preliminary and final plat for the Strain Tract by Larry D. Strain, a conditional use for Ken Payne in Palmer Gateway subdivision, and annexation of land requested by The Texas Land Developers Tract.

- Approved a zone map amendment requested by Bart Byars in Palmer Gateway Subdivision. Two lots at 105 Reese were zoned for two-family residential, but were changed to neighborhood commercial, in line with the village's comprehensive plan. The property contains 1.90 acres with a house on the first lot.

- Granted a variance on Lot 8, Block 29 of Ponderosa Heights, Unit 4 requested by George Vasquez. The property is zoned for low density mobile home and contains .15 of an acre. He wants to build a carport and needed a variance from setback requirements of 68 percent.

- Approved preliminary and final plats for Lot 23A, Block 1 in White Mountain Meadows, Unit 2 requested by Darrell Witt. The 1.18 acre lot is zoned single-family residential and he asked to split it into two lots of about a half-acre each.

- Approved a conditional use and commercial site development plan for Lots 1-6, Block 8 of Palmer Gateway Subdivision in the Gateway Shopping Center by Harry B. Topley. The land is zoned community commercial and contains 2,100 square feet and a 700-square-foot building he wants to use for the manufacture of jewelry.

Water group presents concerns to Richardson

BY DIANNE STALLINGS
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

Members of a new water watchdog group sent a letter to Gov.-elect Bill Richardson to alert him to the formation of the Water Network and its goals.

"The letter was in response to a newspaper announcement that the current New Mexico State Engineer was to be replaced by Richardson's administration," said Bill Midkiff, an engineer and one of the group's organizers.

"The purpose of the letter was to introduce the Water Network to the new governor, inform him of the group's objectives and present areas of concern relating to New Mexico water law and the State Engineer's Office."

In the letter, Midkiff wrote that one of the goals is to encourage policy makers to include all affected parties in the implementation of regional water management plans.

"We strive to share science-based reports, studies and information," he wrote.

To that end, Midkiff announced at the most recent meeting of the network that the Ruidoso branch of Eastern New Mexico University agreed to be the repository for scientific data, water reports and other reference material gathered by the group.

At the same meeting, the second organizational session on Nov. 9, Ron Hannan of the U.S. Forest Service discussed the Lincoln National Forest Watershed Restoration Plan and Forest Service policy on in-stream rights.

He stressed the importance of forest agencies and surrounding communities working together. Recognizing the difficulty in satisfying the varied interests vying for New Mexico water, the federal representative said at best, the road ahead will "be a wild ride," Midkiff said.

"The Water Network hopes to smooth out that ride by encouraging the incoming state government to use the highest standards in developing its water policies," he said. "We recognize that the position of State Engineer may be the most important position in the state next to the governor. The State Engineer must be responsible for administering water law in accordance with the law for the good of the people of the state."

The next Network meeting is set for Jan. 11. Contact Midkiff for more information at (505) 336-2095.

Christmas tree permits for sale through Dec. 10

The one-time permits are good in several Lincoln National Forest areas.

DIANNE STALLINGS
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

Area residents can enjoy the special aroma of a real Christmas tree and help out the local forest-thinning effort by buying a cutting permit this year, say officials with the Smokey Bear Ranger District of the Lincoln National Forest. Permits are on sale for $5 at all district offices or by mail. Cutting is allowed in the local district, as well as the Sacramento District around Mudcroft and the Guadalupe District in the Carlsbad area. "The trees are thinned by people going out and gathering them with their families," said district Forester Jerry Hawkes. "This actually helps the forest by opening it up and allowing forage plants to grow and protect the soil. People can get good by helping conservation while enjoying a trip out in the forest."

Permit applicants will be given a map, although cutting is allowed everywhere on the Smokey Bear District except White Mountain Wilderness. All types of trees may be cut as long as they do not exceed 10 feet in height.

Each household is limited to one tree and no commercial cutting is allowed. The deadline to obtain a permit is Dec. 10. About 1,500 permits are available. Cutting will be allowed through Dec. 24.

Churches, schools and clubs may apply for more than one permit, if the intended use is consistent with the personal use program.

Permits are available by mail, or stop at a district office in Ruidoso, Cloudcroft or Alamogordo.

To order by mail, send a check or money order payable to the USDA Forest Service to Christmas Tree, c/o Lincoln National Forest, 1101 New York Avenue, Alamogordo, NM 88310. The telephone number is (505) 434-7200.

The Smokey Bear District number is (505) 257-4095 and the office is at the intersection of Mechem Drive and Cedar Creek Road.

Roswell man arrested for forging checks here

BY SANNY SUGITT
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

Roswell police arrested a man who allegedly wrote bad checks in Ruidoso, Roswell and other places on a bank that closed about 18 years ago.

Billy Brewster, 32, of Roswell, was arrested four times between Sept. 27 and Oct. 16 and charged with four counts of forgery and one count of attempting to commit forgery for checks cashed in the Roswell area. Charges for checks forged and cashed in the Ruidoso area are pending approval by the district attorney in Carrizozo.

Checks to the closed account of Rhyme Co-Op at the closed Roswell State Bank were stolen from storage and used to make purchases at businesses in Roswell, Ruidoso, Artesia and Albuquerque, according to Roswell police reports. Almost $1,200 in bad checks were written on the defunct bank account in the Ruidoso area, according to police reports.

Ruidoso police sergeant Randy Spear investigated checks forged and cashed at Subway, Season's Nursery, Wal-Mart, Schlotsky's and Toy Store in Ruidoso, and got positive photo identifications of the suspect from four of five of the victims. Spear said Brewster confessed to two of the forgeries in Ruidoso.

Brewster was sent to Chaves County Detention Center, Detective Kim Crockett of the Roswell Police Department, said.

Once an arrest warrant with bond is issued, Brewster will be brought to Lincoln County to stand before the judge for a first arraignment and a preliminary hearing.

Youths to push sex education

BY SANDY SUGGITT
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

Seven area teens attended the New Mexico Youth Power Conference in Albuquerque Nov. 10-12 and came back with new perspectives and plans.

The young people belong to a group called UNITE (Understanding National Issues Teens Endure) that meets weekly and conducts media literacy presentations to younger kids in Lincoln County and tobacco and alcohol merchant education for employees.

Formerly called the Lincoln County Community Youth Asset Building Team, the group attended the conference with Ruidoso Police Chief Lanny Maddox, who will be meeting with them next week to discuss their hope of introducing sex education into the curriculum in area schools.

"I didn't know we didn't have sex education (in the schools)," said Chris Mendoza, a ninth grade student at Ruidoso High School. He said there was sex education one day a year in grades six through eight.

Layla Reyes, a junior and president of UNITE, said she had talked with a school nurse who told her that one in three Ruidoso High School students suffered from a sexually-transmitted disease.

"We as youth feel it's important it be prevented and/or solved," Reyes said. "There is a big need to confront it if high school students think their only option is to go out and be promiscuous ... We want to promote abstinence as well as make them aware of the consequences and services and options."

Reyes said the purpose of the conference in Albuquerque was for all youth in New Mexico to make their communities better places.

The conference had workshops on teen parenting and pregnancy prevention, college and career awareness, youth and health, suicide prevention, violence prevention, substance abuse and healthy relationships.

Eighth-grader Jacob Chadwick attended the suicide prevention workshop and learned the warning signs of people considering suicide.

"We can help people see the signs and help them out," he said.

Chris Miles took the college/career awareness workshop and was surprised to learn he needed to plan for it.

"I hadn't thought about college," he said. "I didn't know life was going to be so expensive. (In the workshop) you picked out a car and then divided it by how much you needed to earn an hour and a year. Then you figure out how much you have to earn to have a house."

The keynote address was given by Peter DeBenedictis of Media Literacy for Prevention, Critical Thinking and Self-Esteem, who has given presentations to students and school staff in several Lincoln County school districts as well as around the country. UNITE members received media literacy training in past Youth Power Conferences and have given presentations to students in younger grades.

Last year the group gave presentations to the RASCALS, the after-school program, and several church groups, said Genevieve Phelan, a preventionist with The Counseling Center who acts as facilitator for the group.

"All had the opportunity to meet teens from all over the state, to begin thinking of themselves as leaders, to feel part of a positively oriented group and part of a larger picture," Phelan said.

UNITE members will participate in a tobacco-use prevention program through The Counseling Center and a Department of Health statewide grant, she said.

"Because engaging the youth in the process decreases the likelihood of their using tobacco and other drugs, the grant requires we incorporate (youth) into these prevention activities," Phelan said.

out the New Year's holiday."

A residential and business lighting contest starts today, with judging scheduled for early December in three categories: most whimsical, luminous and traditional.

"We expect this juried lighting competition will bring out the creativity of Ruidoso citizens and business owners, and will provide Ruidoso visitors with a wonderful opportunity to enjoy our decorative spirit," he said.

Winners will be announced on Dec. 19.

"More lighting fun for the whole community continues with Ruidoso's traditional Christmas in the Park tree lighting on Dec. 5. This annual event includes holiday music, caroling, food and beverages and a visit from Santa, Timson said.

"This year, the cast of 'Scrooge the Musical' will perform at the tree-lighting, sponsored by the Spencer Theater," he said. Both residents and visitors are invited to participate in the gathering in the early evening hours at School House Park.

At 8 p.m., Friday, Dec. 6, and at 7 p.m., Saturday, Dec.

7, "Scrooge the Musical" will be performed at the Spencer Theater.

"This will be the first opportunity to see the extravagant holiday decorations displayed throughout the Spencer's crystal lobby," Timson said.

Also on Dec. 7, at 6 p.m., the Village of Ruidoso is sponsoring the Parade of Lights with floats by individuals, businesses and communities packed with festive folks and seasonal decorations, Timson said. Twenty-five to 30 entries are anticipated on a parade route that includes portions of Sudderth and Mechem drives, he said.

At 8 p.m., Dec. 11, the "Flying J Christmas" is set for the Spencer, with the Flying J

Wranglers performing.

A Festival of Music in Midtown Ruidoso, with most shops participating, is scheduled for 4 p.m. to 7 p.m., Friday, Dec. 13, and from 3 p.m. to 7 p.m., Dec. 14.

Produced by the Ruidoso Arts Commission, more than 26 musical, dance and theater groups will be performing at 10 different sites throughout the village, inside and outside, Timson said. Santa Claus and carriage rides will be part of the mix. A laser light show at Eagle Drive and Sudderth, set to music, is scheduled for 5:30 p.m. and 7 p.m., he said.

"The skies above the village will flash and sparkle," he said. "That display will be followed by pianist John McDaniels show, 'Home Town Christmas,' at the Spencer."

This year, sponsors will receive special recognition with their own party on Dec. 19, Timson told association members. A $50 sponsor will receive two tickets and a $200 sponsor will get four for a dinner at Mountain Annie's, he said. Several restaurants in town will contribute their specialties.

"If we can grow this so business stays healthy in November to Christmas, we all will benefit, even in years without snow," Timson said.

Call the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce at (505) 257-7395 for more information about the Festival of Light.

LODGERS: Association wishes to have a say

Rentals, suggested an e-mail poll on issues coming before the council that would allow Videau to tell councilors a certain percentage favored or opposed an increase. In a hand vote of the 25 people present, the majority opposed a hike.

One owner said visitors to Ruidoso who want to stay overnight are being penalized and a broader tax affecting more people and types of businesses should be imposed.

Al Junge, former owner of Story Book Cabins and a previous member of the village council and lodgers tax committee, said when he was in village government, the tax generated about $290,000 a year. In 1995-96, the amount went up to $370,000 and today it's more than $700,000.

"In two more years, it will be $1 million," he said. "I think it's a darn shame they can't cut it. It's too high. The council could find money for the things they want to fund elsewhere."

He favors a 1 percent reduction, Junge said. While he served on the lodgers tax committee, "we had fights all the time (with the council) on how the money should be spent," he said. "I think the lodger tax committee should have more control (over the use of the money). The council seems to go back to that tax any time they need money for something."

Sandra Davis, owner of Apple Tree Bed and Breakfast, said a reserve is maintained in the lodgers tax fund as a contingency for advertising to offset negative publicity connected to seasonal fires and other potential disasters such as lack of snow.

Eddie Parker said he thought the lodgers tax was to be used for advertising and promotion, but the latest quarter percent approved was to focus on the arts commission and related uses.

Charles Craig, owner of Shadow Mountain Lodge, said the council took action without input from the lodgers tax committee or the lodgers association, although one member spoke in favor of the increase as an individual.

"It seems two of the new councilors look to lodgers tax for everything," he said.

McAlister said the arts commission has the potential of bringing more people to town.

"If we all see results, I don't see the disadvantage," she said. Costs go up every few years in any industry and in government, "whether the economy goes up or not," she said. "If we're seeing results, whether the fund is $500,000 or $5 million, I don't understand the disadvantage."

Videau explained that the lodgers tax is based on a percentage of business, "so if revenues go up, in theory, so is business."

Bruce Timson of the Hawthorn Suites, said the lodgers tax system "is working. More visitors are coming and spending more. I've only been here two years and I can see it."

"That may be true, but we're reaching the point of no return," Junge replied.

Cindi Clayton-Davis of Condotel Property Management, said she dropped out of a previous lodgers association because it became too political and she didn't think it represented her point of view.

"There are 25 here today and you're assuming they all are against (an increase)," she said. "I'm one who agrees with going to the full 5 percent. I'm not going to rejoin the lodgers, because I want my opinion represented."

Members decided not to take a stance on future increases in the letter to the council. The request will be limited to prior notice and for input, they agreed.

LUCKY

Livingston, a Collie/Australian shepherd mix, possibly with some Hotwaller, is a sweetheart who's neutered and well trained on a leash. He's been at the shelter too long and needs a good, loving home.

Lucky, a 4-year-old black Labrador mix is small in size and would be a great family dog. He loves children, isn't fond of cats and should be the only dog in the house because he likes to be the center of attention.

ADOPTERS MUST MEET ELIGIBILITY REQUIREMENTS

Judith L. Christopher

Week of November 27 - December 3

SAGITTARIUS:

(Nov 22 - Dec 21)

Don't run away, from what you need the most. Give and receive freely. Love doesn't hurt! Don't expect anything out of anyone. Just love.

CAPRICORN:

(Dec 22 - Jan 19)

A really good time for you to do what you have been wanting to do for some time. Thinking about it won't make it happen. Have Faith in you.

AQUARIUS:

(Jan 20 - Feb 18)

Your money situation can improve, once you tell everyone to quit asking for money and your time. Time is Money! Take care of yourself first.

PISCES:

(Feb 19 - Mar 20)

You may find yourself at a crossroads of life. This could be fun! Why just take one of the roads when you can Fly, and take them all? Take it all.

ARIES:

Your heart will feel a little left out in the cold. You're going to have to make changes when it comes to people, places and things. Get out & have fun.

TAURUS:

You're going to go through some separation feelings. You may feel like you're being pulled into two different ways, at once. Tell the truth about your feelings.

GEMINI:

(May 21 - Jun 20)

Slow down and see what comes to you, instead of you trying to make it come to you. Use your natural gift, and have faith that things are Good.

CANCER:

(Jun 21 - Jul 22)

People could drive you crazy! It's best to smile, and walk out the door with your temper intact. They don't mean to act that way, they are that way!

LEO:

(Jul 23 - Aug 22)

Your words are Healing, when you put your Heart into it. Some people think they are helping you, when it's you really helping them! Give hugs.

VIRGO:

(Aug 23 - Sep 22)

Don't bury your head in the sand, you might get to liking it! Get out and see family and friends. Keep good people around you. Don't drive Love away.

LIBRA:

(Sept 23 - Oct 22)

This is the time, when you really need a shoulder to lean on, yet it seems, that everyone needs your shoulder as much. Find a strong shoulder to hold you.

SCORPIO:

It might not look like it now, but things are going to get better, when you least expect it. Wish upon a star, and believe with all your heart it will come true.

The never-ending game

Slow start, stalwart defense contribute to fairy-tale finish

BY TODD FUQUA

RUIDOSO NEWS SPORTS EDITOR

SANTA FE — It's almost as if the football gods want Ruidoso to win.

The Warriors, playing in their first state playoff game in three years, overcame a three-touchdown deficit in the second half, narrowly missed a win in regulation, then celebrated a victory Saturday on a Josh Adams touchdown in the fourth overtime to move on with a 62-56, four overtime win in the Class 3A playoffs.

"You can't give enough credit to the offensive line for not allowing a sack on Josh today," said Ruidoso coach Ridge Bowden. "We're just happy to finish on top."

"I believed in my line, and they worked hard, I told them to never, never give up," Adams said. "This was an excellent win. The coach told us to believe, and we came out victorious."

Adams' final touchdown was his fifth of the day, as he ran up 113 yards on the ground to counter St. Michael's running back Jamal Brown's 124 yards on 26 carries.

The Warrior quarterback also threw for 142 yards and three touchdowns, accounting for all of the Ruidoso scoring.

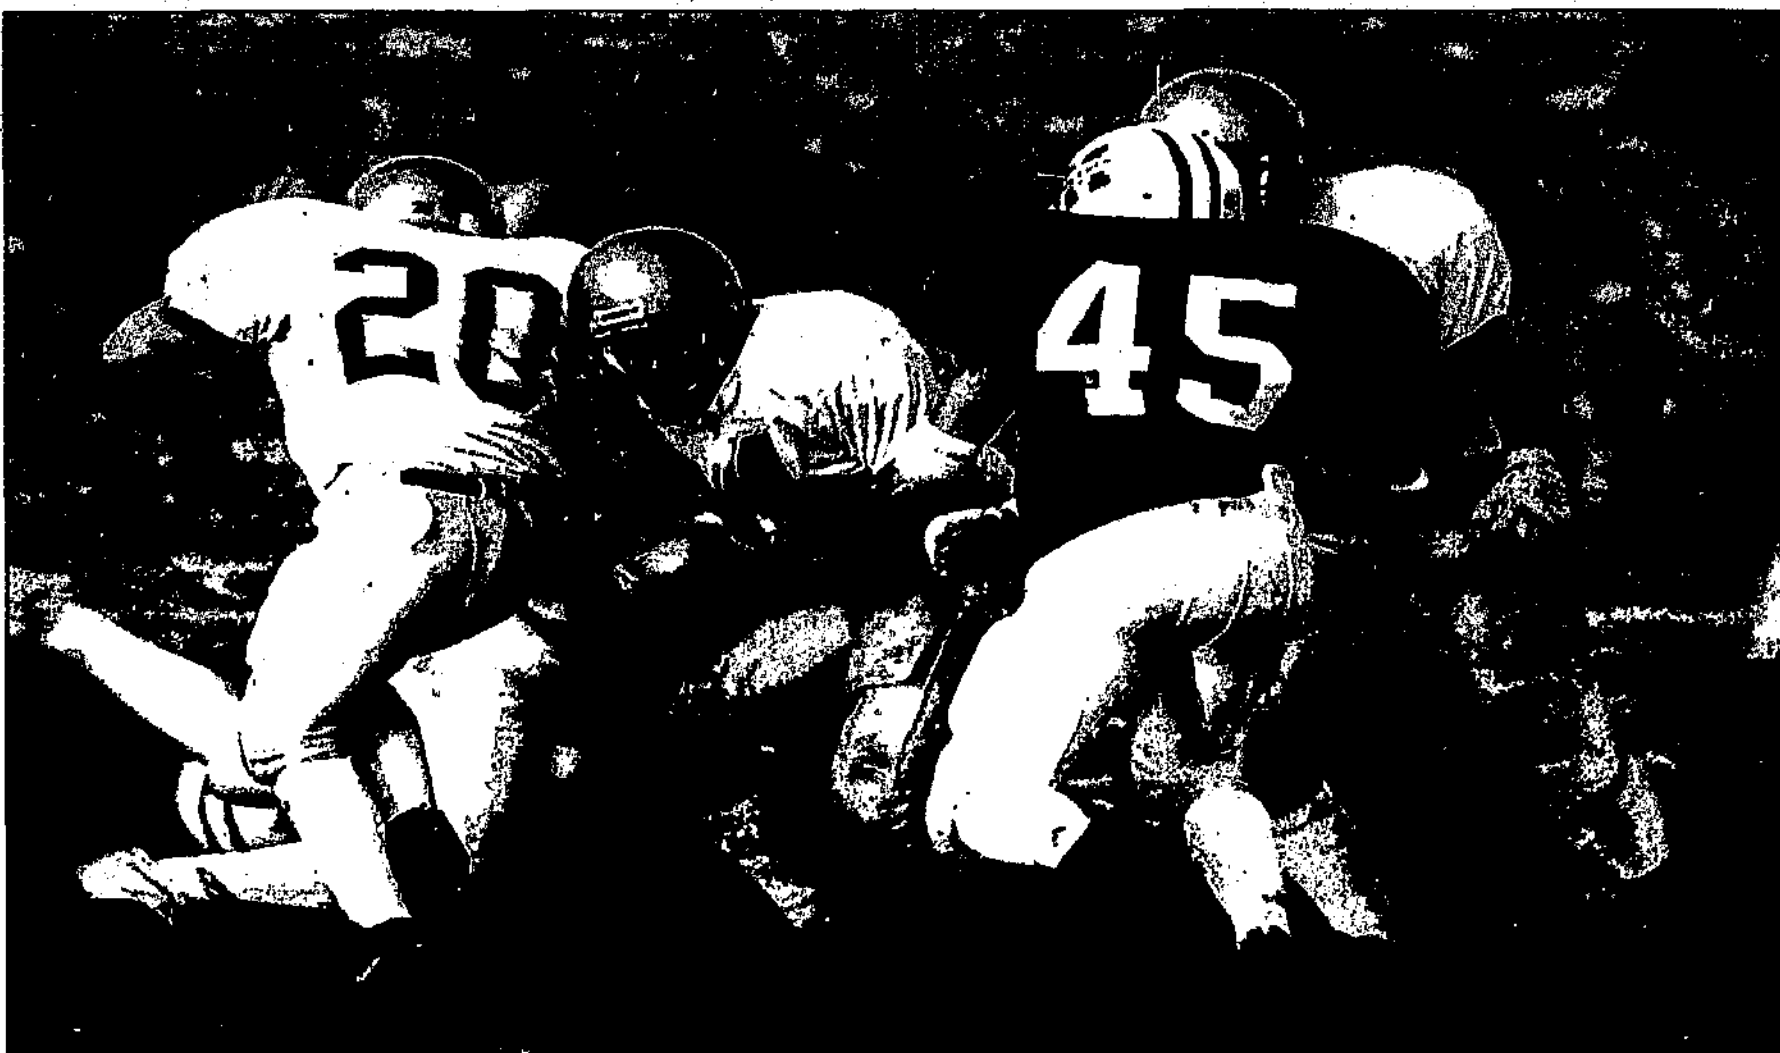

This contest had it all: Offensive explosions, defensive stops, a last-minute drive for the win, a missed crucial field goal and overtime drama — all in the waning daylight at the unlighted Brother Adon stadium.

These two teams had faced one another earlier in the year, with Ruidoso taking away a 42-14 thrashing of the Horsemen. But this time around, St. Michael's (7-4) had many players back, and they weren't about to let the Warriors (6-5) get another win that way.

In fact, for a while it looked as though the Horsemen would win by the exact same score, having taken a 35-14 lead into the locker room at halftime.

Ruidoso actually took the early lead, as Adams' first touchdown run from four yards out capped a 56-yard drive in the first quarter.

But the Horsemen tied it on only the second play from scrimmage following the ensuing kickoff. Ruidoso, obviously keying on Brown as the state's leading rusher, was burned when St. Michael's quarterback Thomas Romero found tight end David Carver for a Ruidoso quarterback Josh Adams, center, runs past a block by teammate Casey Mirau (20), while St. Michael's Jeff Gallerio (45), runs into another Warrior block during Ruidoso's 62-56, four overtime win in Santa Fe on Saturday.

60-yard lightning strike of a touchdown to tie it at 7-all.

Ruidoso missed a chance for another lead when, stopped at the Horsemen's 22-yard line, Warrior kicker Dusty Bolden's field goal attempt drifted wide right. It was the first of two field goals he would miss, although he made every extra point after touchdowns — something much more critical in retrospect.

After the teams traded touchdowns — St. Michael's on a short run by Romero and a 24-yard ramble by Adams for Ruidoso — the Horsemen took charge, looking to avenge their defeat back in October.

Brown began to run wild, starting with a 54-yard touchdown run to open the second quarter which saw him break numerous tackles, while Romero took the defensive pressure off the run with a few well-placed passes, including a 49-yard rush to Chris Whitney to set up Brown's second touchdown of the game.

Romero's five-yard rush with seven seconds left put the Horsemen up 35-14 at the half, and Ruidoso headed to the locker room with lots of work to be done in the second half.

"I told them the mistakes we were making were correctable," Bowden said. "We fumbled the ball a couple of times and gave up big plays, but that wasn't something we couldn't stop."

"In the second half, we eliminated the mistakes and we were on our way."

"When we went out in the second half, I could see we were tired, but I thought we could come out and get a couple of drives going," said St. Michael's coach Joey Fernandez. "But you could see it in Thomas and Dustin (Ballew) and Jamal, even, they were just fatigued. That played a big part in it."

There's no doubt Ruidoso needed to score some points to get back in the game, but it was more important that the defense step up to stop the Horsemen's attack. They began doing just that right away — forcing St. Michael's to punt on their first possession and later sacking Romero on a 4th-and-8 play at the Ruidoso 33-yard line.

"It was excellent defense," Adams said. "They held their ground on the line, and we couldn't have done it without them."

the third quarter and the offense just kept rolling, we weren't going away from our game plan, but we had to start making bigger plays," Bowden said. "We were fortunate to come down with them."

Ruidoso scored a touchdown on another run by Adams following St. Michael's first possession of the half, but seemed to squander their chances after the Romero sack. Two plays after getting the ball back, Adams tossed an interception to Doug Pitel, and the Horsemen looked to be back in business.

Not so fast — Brown fumbled on the very next play, and the Warriors made St. Michael's pay this time, scoring on a 17-yard pass from Adams to Steven Stroup to put them one touchdown back with 9:12 left in the fourth quarter.

After St. Michael's punted the ball back, the Warriors engineered a quick, 73-yard drive in which every gain was for at least 15 yards. Long runs by Adams and Tyler Line were complemented by and 18-yard completion to Casey Mirau and a 22-yard pass to Chance Hooper in the endzone to tie the game at 35-all with 4:24 left in the game.

Hooper, who had struggled along with the rest of the Warriors in the first half, said the Warriors had to start playing up to their potential in the second half.

"We all had pretty a bad start, but we picked it up at halftime," Hooper said. "I just gave it all I had."

With daylight waning, St. Michael's tried to chew up the clock and score the game-winning points, but were again forced to punt following good defense and untimely penalties, giving the Warriors the ball with one minute left and 62 yards to go for the win.

Hooper again came through, catching two passes — including a diving reception which put Ruidoso at the St. Michael's two-

Capitan hoops teams ready to roll into new season

Gowen hoping for 2nd title

BY TODD FUQUA
RUIDOSO NEWS SPORTS EDITOR

CAPITAN — The Capitan Lady Tigers have won a state volleyball championship, so what's next?

Why, a state basketball championship, of course.

The Lady Tiger cagers — made up of virtually the same girls that got the blue trophy at the Class 2A volleyball tournament last week — begin their quest for a basketball title starting Dec. 3 at home against Carrizozo at 4 p.m.

They're even led by the same coach, as Sherry Gowen takes over the helm after being an assistant last year.

"We didn't even lose a senior from last year for this team," Gowen said. "The motivation is there, but everyone else will be gunning for us just because of volleyball."

The only girl on the basketball team who didn't play volleyball is senior Ginger Cupit, and she'll be running with last year's hardwood leaders like Jessica Tully-Mitchell, Jessica and Melissa Becker, and Stephanie Kelsey.

Other major players include sophomore post Jennifer Bartley, junior Falon Sparks and junior Catherine Wood.

Gowen will be looking to lead the Lady Tigers to back-to-back titles in volleyball and basketball, something Capitan wasn't even able to do in 1988-89, when Gowen was a senior on the team. They defeated Floyd in the Class 1A volleyball championship, then fell to Floyd 59-48 in the state basketball tourney a few months later.

Gowen has already said she finds winning as a coach more rewarding than as a player, for the simple reason that she can see a possible winning season even when a team is struggling at the beginning.

Capitan proved they could overcome early adversity this year, and because it's primarily the same team on the hardwood, Gowen's job is that much easier.

"The best thing for them is they now know it's not where you start, it's where you finish, they learned that from the volleyball season," Gowen said. "If we can keep improving each game and cut down on errors, it will all fall into place."

The Lady Tigers could very well have some rough spots in the beginning, as most every other team they'll face has at least two weeks of practice on them. Gowen isn't too worried, just as long as they can turn last year's close losses into big wins this season.

Most of Capitan's losses were by single digits, including a 51-48 loss to Lordsburg in the first round of the District 5-2A tournament. Gowen thinks she's figured out a way to overcome that, though.

"We're speeding it up, I call it Texas ball," Gowen said. "These girls play like boys, and that's what will make this game more exciting to watch. The more shots we take the more chances the ball will go in the basket."

"We may have more turnovers, but with the point spread, we won't have those close finishes at the end," she added.

Gowen isn't as familiar with the district's basketball talent, but regards it likely most other schools' volleyball players will have made the transition this season, and that could be a good gauge of which program will be the toughest test.

"I know that 90 percent of the girls that were middle blockers in volleyball are going to be the post players in basketball," Gowen said. "We started a rivalry with Hatch, and that ought to be the big games of the year. I like Hatch's style of play, because they do run and gun."

Running is something the Capitan coach is ready to do, with anybody they see on the court.

"The offense we'll be running is more their style," Gowen said. "They're impatient as all get out. They won't be able to pass the ball 20 times. If we can use our personnel and make the offense match them, we'll be where we want to be."

Tigers inspired by volleyball

CAPITAN — When it comes to motivation, Capitan boys basketball coach Royce Brown isn't too picky about where he'll get it.

"We'll use the state championship in volleyball as motivation," Brown said. "You've got to take any little bit you can to keep that motivation. That's somewhere we'd like to go."

True, the members of this team were only in the stands at this year's state volleyball tournament, but they saw the dedication and sacrifice it took the Lady Tigers to get to that point, and Brown said he's ready to see his charges on the same stage at this season's state basketball championship.

The season begins Tuesday, when they host Carrizozo in a 6 p.m. game, immediately following the girls' game.

To get to the state tournament, Capitan will need to first get past the District 5-2A competition, something they were unable to do last season. They forced Lordsburg into overtime in the district tournament back in February, but fell finally 58-56 and had to watch the state tournament from the sidelines.

"We can use that as a motivational thing," Brown said. "We talked about that loss over the summer and in the camps we've gone through. That's what we'll look forward to and try to turn into a positive situation."

Brown admits Lordsburg is probably the team to beat this year in district, followed closely by perennial Class 2A power Tularosa. Even after those two, Hatch and Cloudcroft still pose unique problems.

But Brown is confident his team will be in every game they play.

"I think we can play with anybody if we'll just step up and do it," Brown said. "If we can stay healthy and compete hard in practice, we'll be competitive."

"We won't blow out anybody, but in the same sense, I don't think we should get blown out by anybody," he continued. "I would think every game would be within 10 points, one way or another."

The Tigers lost five seniors, all of them starters, from last year's team. They still have five seniors this year, but are already missing some players to injuries.

Other players Brown will rely on this year include senior Bo Sparks, who has started every year since he was a freshman, seniors J.D. Mitchell, Rusty Martin, Josh Osborn, Kurtis Lee and junior Sheldon Moor.

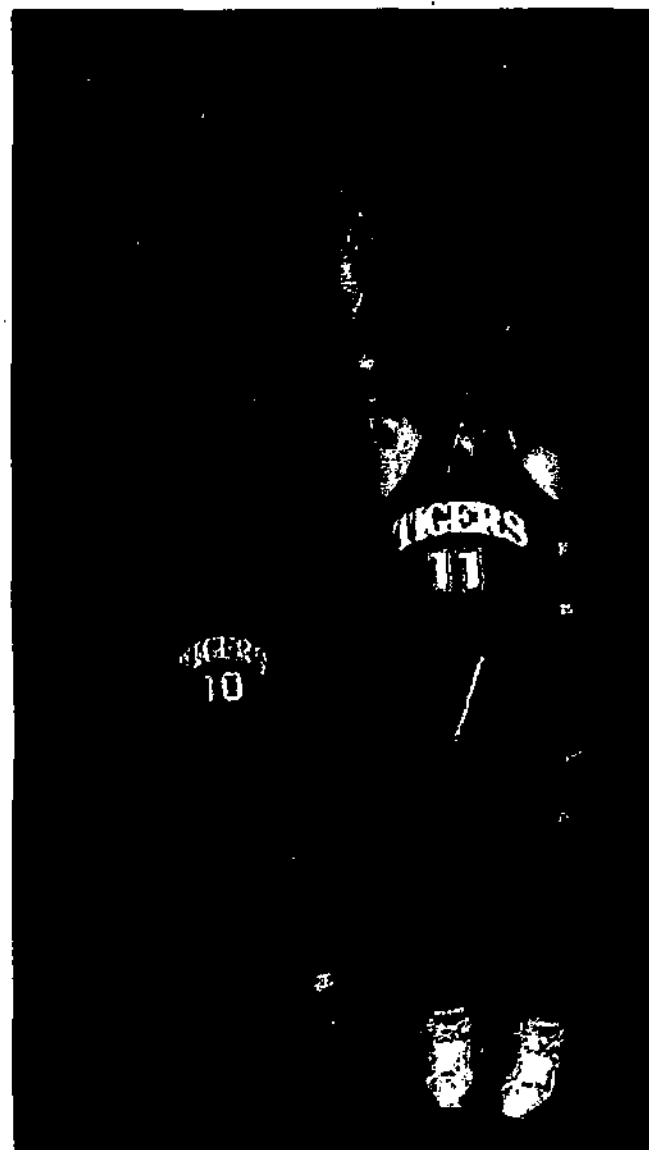

Whoever Capitan puts on the floor, they'll have to run.

"We'll push the ball as much as we can and get easy baskets wherever we can," Brown said. "We're not the quickest, but anybody can cover 94 feet if they just push themselves."

"Defensively, we'll play man, try to get after you and pressure the ball," he added. "Hopefully, we'll get in the passing lanes, get some steals there and head the other way."

Will this plan — and this experience — pay off for the Tigers? Brown and the rest of the Capitan fans will find out come next March, but the coach is optimistic.

"We're happy with what we've got," Brown said. "It will take a long way to get there (state), but we'd like to get there."

Corona cowboy ropes himself a new pickup

BY JULIE CARTER
FOR THE RUIDOSO NEWS

CORONA — Just a few weeks short of turning 17, Victor Perez used his skill with a rope to get himself about the best birthday presents he could have imagined. The Corona High School junior drove away from a Booger Barter Production team roping in Phoenix as the proud owner of a 2003 Chevy Duramax.

On Nov. 9-10, Victor took honors in several different ropings as a header during the production. A first, fourth, and seventh in the average of three different three heat competitions tallied enough points for him to qualify for a new Tex Tan saddle, $2,000, and the new pickup. The Chevy is a 2500HD, 6-speed, 4-door, and fully loaded. It was a huge step up from the 1970 model pickup Perez owned and drove prior to the roping.

Perez says he's been roping since he can remember, but competing since he was about 10 years old. In addition to team roping, he is a talented calf roper and works both events as a high school rodeo competitor. An athlete in the rodeo arena, Perez also excels on the basketball floor. As a sophomore last year he was second highest scorer in the state for Class 1A schools.

Two things Perez wanted to talk about were his parents and his horse. "I want to say thank you to my mom and dad for all the patience in teaching me, all the mentoring my dad has done, and the miles they have driven to let me compete."

Cathy Perez, the son of Leo and Mary is the son of the horse he is so pleased with — named

"Gray" — is an 8-year-old gelding with Leo, Three Bars, and Hollywood Gold breeding on the top side and out of Truly Truckle mare. Lots of speed and a natural "cow", the horse has been a breeze to compete on.

Leo Muniz says he's got five more brothers and half brothers of this horse in various stages of age and training, so the horse supply for this young athlete won't be a problem.

With college looming a couple years off, Perez plans to attend a college in Stephenville, Texas, at a school with a reputation for its rodeo team. Perez has academic goals in the agriculture field, but right now his sights are set on more roping accolades.

Cardinal boys split, girls open hardwood season with two losses

BY TODD RIQUA
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF EDITOR

After the first week of the basketball season, Corona boys and girls coach Tommy Mulkey is starting to see things shape up pretty much the way he expected.

Thus far, they've played two games — against Evangel Temple and New Mexico School for the Deaf — and come away with one win out of four games.

"They have other things going on," Mulkey said of his team, referring to their fractured play. "Basketball isn't their priority, but after Christmas, it will be."

The Corona boys fell to Evangel Temple 47-34 in their season opener in Albuquerque on Nov. 15, later turning in a 48-36 win over NMSD at home Nov. 21.

The Lady Cardinals lost both games, falling 45-29 to Evangel Temple and dropping a 27-25 squeaker to NMSD.

Mulkey is hampered on the girls side by the fact he has only six players out for basketball, having lost most of his girls for various reasons during the summer. Left in their wake is a very young team.

"They're still 8th graders," Mulkey said. "But I've got some basketball talent among the six girls; they'll be really good in about three years."

Anna Ramos and Stacey Merritt each had eight points to lead the Lady Cardinals against Evangel Temple, while Ramos had 10 points to lead her team against NMSD.

Against the Lady Roadrunners, Corona had a 17-13 lead heading into the fourth quarter, but their inexperience eventually caught up to them.

"We played really well against them, and should have beat them," Mulkey said. "They were shooting when they shouldn't have shot."

Mulkey has a bit more talent to play with on the boys side, as the Cardinals have 11 boys out for the sport. While they didn't do as well in their season opener against Evangel Temple, Mulkey said it's not a harbinger of things to come.

"Most of the guys weren't in that great of shape," Mulkey said. "We'll see this team again, and we should be able to beat them. It was more important to work on some stuff and get the kids on the floor."

Taos Muncy led Corona with 13 points, followed by Keith Shafer with 10, while Shafer had 15 points against NMSD and Muncy 14.

The Cardinals had a much better time against NMSD, taking a 20-7 lead in the first quarter and pretty much cruising from there.

"We pressed and worked on a half-court trap," Mulkey said. "After we stole the first three balls in the second half, I pulled it off. I took the starters out at the end, and that's why the score was closer than it had been."

The Corona teams were to face Vaughn at home Tuesday, and next play Dec. 7 at Lake Arthur, beginning at 2 p.m.

Now facing what was no more than an extra point — in fact, it was a yard closer than that — Bolden came back on the field to try for the win in regulation.

But this kick also sailed wide right, forcing the contest into overtime.

As in college, each team was given a chance to score starting from the same point on the field in each overtime period. Unlike in college — where the ball is placed on the 25-yard line — St. Michael's got their first try from the 10-yard line.

Brown scored to start the rollercoaster, and Adams answered with a touchdown on his own: 42-0 after one overtime.

Romero found Julio Gomez for a 12-yard pass for St. Michael's, Adams again ran the ball in for a touchdown to answer: 49-0 after two overtimes.

Ruidoso got the ball first in the next overtime, and things didn't look good after three plays. The Warriors found themselves at the nine-yard line on fourth down, and went out to try what looked to be another field goal.

But the fake was on, and Adams again found Hooper in the endzone for the touchdown.

The Horsemen answered with a play even more amazing. Facing their own fourth down situation at the three yard line, Brown got the ball and was promptly stuffed at the line of scrimmage.

But before he could be brought down, he pitched the ball back to Romero, who ran to the other end of the field, broke a tackle at the two-yard line and scrambled in for the 56-all tie.

With things now getting really dark, Ruidoso finally came up with the defensive stop they needed in the fourth overtime. Helped by a 10-yard penalty and sack which forced the Horsemen back to the 26-yard line, the Warriors forced Romero to pass for two incompletions and no score.

At this point, the sun — which had been in and out of the clouds all day — finally peeked back through just above the mountainous horizon; just enough light for Ruidoso to try one more play.

One play was all they needed, as Adams took it in from 10 yards out to give them the win.

"Unfortunately, we had three players that couldn't play full-time today, and that's something our team can learn from, too," Bowden said. "It took us a half to get there, and you can't say enough about the way our defense came through in the second half, with big play after big play."

"We're going to rely on them the rest of the way, too."

Notes: The game was about as even as you can get in every category. The teams combined for 774 yards in offense — 383 for Ruidoso, 391 for St. Michael's. They also combined for an amazing 280 yards in penalties, as the flag was thrown 32 times in the game. Besides running for all those yards, Brown was also a solid kicker for the Horsemen. He was also perfect in extra points, forcing Bolden to be just as accurate on his PATs to keep the Warriors in the game following each St. Michael's score. Ruidoso will face Hot Springs next Saturday at 1 p.m. in Truth Or Consequences. The Tigers beat Bloomfield 14-7 in their quarterfinal game.

Douglas' red-hot free-throw shooting gives Lobos the win

ALBUQUERQUE — Following a rough home opener against California, the University of New Mexico basketball team rebounded at the Pit Monday with a close 60-56 win over Northwestern State.

A lack of three-point shooting almost sunk the Lobos (1-1), but a perfect 14-14 shooting from the free throw line in the second half preserved the victory.

Senior guard Ruben Douglas led all scorers with 25 points, and all 14 free throws in the second half were his. Douglas' two shots from the charity stripe with 3:44 left in the game gave UNM its first lead after trailing Northwestern (0-1) almost all night long.

Following the Thanksgiving holiday, the Lobos travel to Las Cruces for a 7 p.m. matchup against New Mexico State on Nov. 25.

California 76, New Mexico 68

The basketball season started out rough for New Mexico Saturday, as they dropped a decision to California after leading by as much as 13 points in the second half.

Amit Tamir had 20 points to lead the Golden Bears (1-0) to the victory, while Douglas had 26 points for New Mexico.

The Lobos began the game in fine fashion, taking an early 19-9 lead following three straight 3-pointers by Senque Carey, Jamaal Williams and Douglas. They continued to pull away and led 34-28 at halftime.

UNM continued its dominance in the second half, eventually building the lead to 50-37 with 14:34 left, but then the Golden Bears began their comeback.

Aided by a scoring drought which saw the Lobos go without a basket for more than four minutes, California chipped away at the lead, eventually taking over at 61-60 and pulling away from there.

Tulsa 71, NMSU 61

SOUTH PADRE ISLAND, Texas — It took a while for Tulsa to get going in its first game of the season, but rallied to beat New Mexico State behind Dante Swanson's 23 points in the South Padre Island Roundball Invitational Saturday.

The Golden Hurricane (1-0) used a 12-0 run in the second half to take the lead for good.

Brandon Mason had 17 points for NMSU (1-1), while James Felder and Jason Crooks added 12 points each.

The Aggies' loss came after a 62-59 victory on Friday over Texas Pan American. Will Morris had 16 points to lead NMSU, followed Crooks with 10.

NMSU is to host Colorado today at 7 p.m. at the Pan American Center.

ENMU 97, Highlands 68

PORTALES — Senior Kevin Iverson and junior Garland Coleman scored 15 points each to lead Eastern New Mexico University to a thrashing of New Mexico Highlands Friday night at Greyhound Arena. ENMU (1-0) had five players in double figures on the night, with 10 teammates all adding to the scoring.

The game didn't start out well for Highlands (0-1) as they were called for a technical on the tipoff, cited for starting a player who was not listed as a starter.

Eastern's Jon Belt hit both free throws for the 2-0 lead, and the rout was on. The Hounds scored in spurts to take a 19-5 lead with 11:05 left in the first half, eventually increasing that lead to 47-22 at the break.

Eastern was to face Panhandle State University Tuesday, and will not play against until Dec. 30 against Lubbock Christian University.

Horse breeders program draws newcomers to New Mexico

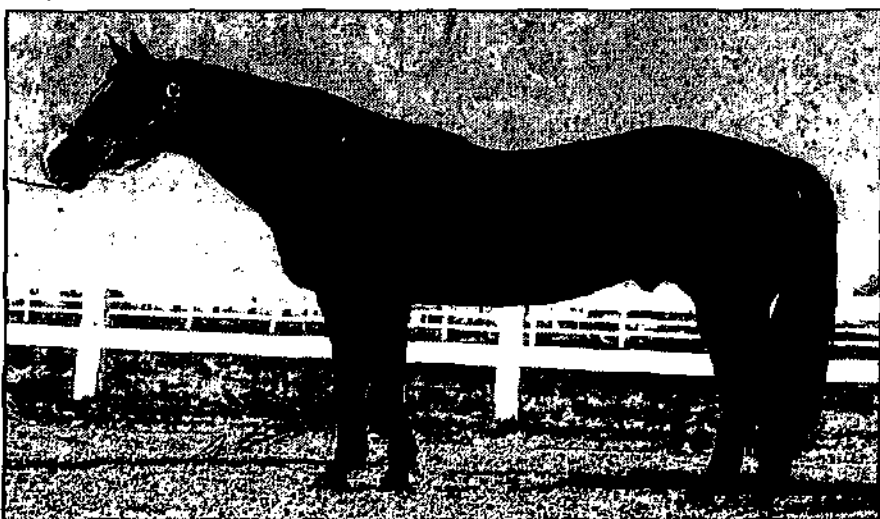

HOBBS — Without much fanfare, the "sport of kings" has become a powerhouse in the Land of Enchantment. The popularity of not only wagering on horses, but of owning and breeding them is growing rapidly throughout the state.

One reason for this phenomenon is the Breeder's Awards program offered by the New Mexico Horse Breeders Association that has lured enthusiasts from all over the country.

Two of these newcomers are Mary Cap and Greg Creager. After breeding and training horses in Ogden, Utah, for more than twelve years, they relocated their business in November and moved 1,000 miles south to Hobbs. There, on 110 acres situated seven miles northwest of Hobbs, they opened Mountain States Equine, offering training, breeding, veterinary services, yearling sales preparation and year-round board.

Creager brings with him an extensive background in horse training, being an assistant trainer for Russell Harris for 10 years, followed by his owning a training operation in the Intermountain Area for 11 years.

There, Creager had five RG1 victories in the Diamond Classic Futurity. Cap has been a practicing equine veterinarian for 13 years, and together Vital Sign is one of four stallions that will stand at Mountain States Equine near Hobbs in 2003.

she and Creager bring a welcome addition of expertise in training, veterinary services, breeding and yearling sales preparation to the area.

Cap now considers the move an easy decision to make.

"The New Mexico Breeding program has so much incentive for a horse owner," Cap said. "In Utah, we were constantly fighting for race dates and purse money. We also had to deal with those big changes in Utah weather."

"We have very few of those problems in New Mexico," she added. "Programs for the horse racing and breeding industry eliminate most of the logistical problems, and the weather is unbeatable."

To introduce their stallion line-up and the new facility, Mountain States Equine will host an open house in January.

In 2003, Mountain States Equine will stand four stallions including SC Chiseled In Stone, property of SMS Racing; Rare King, property of Bob Moore Farms; Vital Sign, property of Mountain States Equine and Golden Ranson TB, property of R. Legacy Racing.

The additional prize money that gaming has brought to the area, combined with the New Mexico Horse Breeders Association Awards program, has started a big trend in the influx of horse enthusiasts and business people like Creager and Cap to the area — a winning trend for this New Mexico industry.

Lobos shot at upset falls short

PORT COLLINS, Colo. — The New Mexico Lobos made a strong bid at an upset over Mountain West-leading Colorado State Saturday, but their stiff defense and running offense wasn't enough to overcome the Rams as they fell 22-14.

CSU (10-2, 6-0 in MWC) clinched its third conference title with the win. The Lobos (6-6, 4-2) must win against Wyoming this coming Saturday in Albuquerque to secure a bowl berth.

DonTrell Moore again led UNM with 181 yards rushing and scored his team's second and final touchdown in the second half.

While the Lobos outscored CSU 14-3 after halftime, it wasn't enough to overcome mistakes and turnovers in the first half. The Rams headed into the locker room with a 19-0 lead, more than enough to withstand UNM's comeback attempt.

CSU quarterback Bradlee Van Pelt rushed for 106 yards and one touchdown to lead the Rams.

NMSU 35, Idaho 31

MOSCOW, Idaho — New Mexico State quarterback Paul Dombrowski threw for 185 yards and ran for another 109 to lead his team to a victory over Idaho Saturday.

Dombrowski had three touchdowns for the Aggies (7-5, 5-1 Sun Belt Conference), who secured their first seven-win season since 1967. Dombrowski split time with sophomore Buck Pierce, who was 10-of-17 passing with 158 yards.

The Vandals (2-10, 1-5) had time to retake the lead after getting the ball back with more than three minutes remaining, but an interception by NMSU defensive back Siddeeq Shabazz at the Aggie 19 sealed the victory.
