Bonito Lake manager finds 39-inch average snow depth

BY DIANNE STALLINGS
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

A storm that dropped about 28 inches of snow last week changed conditions quickly in the Sacramento Mountains.

Instead of driving right up to the ridge when he measures the depth, density and moisture of the snow as he did on Feb. 1 in 1999 and 2000, Keith Kessler and 15-year-old son, Brandon, strapped on snowshoes.

They happily climbed nearly two miles to the 10,280-foot-high ridge that separates the drainage of the Rio Ruidoso and the Rio Bonito.

Once there, they measured in 10 designated spots, repeating a ritual begun in 1987 by Kessler, who manages the Bonito Lake Recreation Area and reservoir for the city of Alamogordo. The city owns the lake, although it lies within Lincoln County.

The same spots will be tested on the first days of March and April. The data helps forecast the flow of area rivers and recharge of springs.

"With the snow falling over the weekend and Monday on top of the previous 28 inches, it's really good," Kessler said Tuesday.

"I was worried. Bonito Lake is 8 1/2 feet below the spillway and we are drawing 1,200 gallons per minute for Fort Stanton and Alamogordo. The lake dropped 2.5 feet in January with minimal flows coming into it."

The snow over the weekend was wet, and that's good, he said. It will seal the snow underneath.

"The ground wasn't frozen at any of the measurement points," he said. "It was more toward being dry than damp, so when the snow starts melting, it will wick off quickly" into the ground.

Kessler reported an average snow depth on the course of 39 inches, with the lowest 32 inches and the deepest 46.5 inches. That compares favorably to the average depth Feb. 1 last year of 33.3 inches and a 14-year average of 32.4 inches.

Since Kessler started measuring, the deepest average reading of 46 inches occurred in 1991, according to the Natural Resources Conservation Service's Snow Survey and Water Supply Forecasting office in Albuquerque. In 2000, the average snow depth for the 10 points was 7.55 inches.

This year, the average water content — the amount of water contained in the snow if it was melted — was 8.65 inches with the highest reading at 11.5 inches and the lowest at 7 inches. The average last year was 8.9 inches, which matched the previous 13-year average.

The average density was 22 percent. Ski Apache Resort reported 8 inches of snow from Saturday through Monday and an additional inch overnight to Tuesday.

The midway depth on the ski mountain was 36 inches of snow with 24 trails groomed and all lifts and runs open.

"With the snow falling over the weekend and Monday on top of the previous 28 inches, it's really good."

When Ruidoso schools are canceled because of snow, it's Roger Sowder

Making the call

BY SANDY SUGGITT
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

A two-hour delay Monday for Ruidoso students was downgraded to a cancellation due to a forecast of heavy snow for the southern part of the state, said Roger Sowder, principal at Nob Hill Early Childhood Center.

Sowder has the responsibility of making the call when road conditions due to winter weather put students at risk.

He gets up at 4 a.m. and drives around from Alto to Airport Road, Rancho Ruidoso and loops around, then makes contact with Matt Bryant, the bus fleet contractor, who also drives around — through Mescalero housing areas and past the Inn of the Mountain Gods.

They cover the areas where snow-covered roads can cause the most trouble, including Upper Canyon and Carrizo Trails.

"I have to make my call by 6 a.m. because buses go out then," Sowder said. On Monday, the call to delay school for two hours gave him time to see how the weather would shape up. At 8 a.m. he made the call for full cancellation of school, since the Sacramento Mountains were expected to receive heavy snowfall.

"I try to err on the side of safety," he said. "It's a dice roll."

On Jan. 31, Sowder got downtown and thought the buses could handle the road conditions, but when he called Bryant, he was told that in Mescalero the snow was "frozen, packed and treacherous, and the valley as well." Sowder called a two-hour delay and he and Bryant altered the bus routes for Rancho Ruidoso and Eagle Creek, announcing over the radio that students from these and certain other areas needed to meet the buses in more accessible places.

"It's a dice roll."

Roger Sowder
Nob Hill principal

"Most people look out their door and say, 'This is OK.' We gather a lot of information," Sowder said. "We'd rather err on the side of safety rather than have a bus slipping off the road. I'd be sweating. We live on the edge in this mountain country."

The district budgets three snow days per school year, and Monday was the third. If it's necessary to call any more, the schools will have to make up the time before the year is over.

Planning commission approves 38-lot subdivision

■ The lots would range in size from .40 of an acre to 1.2 acres.

BY DIANNE STALLINGS
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

Continuing the development of the White Mountain area, preliminary plans for a 38-lot subdivision were approved Tuesday by the Ruidoso Planning and Zoning Commission.

William G. McCarty of White Mountain Development Co. Inc. submitted a sketch plan — a type of first review — noting that the 95-acre property is zoned for single family residential and multifamily residential. The acreage is surrounded mostly by undeveloped land except along Sunny Slope Drive, which has single-family homes.

Represented by surveyor Tim Collins, McCarty asked for the land to be broken up into 38 lots called White Mountain Meadows Unit 4, and one tract. The lots would range from .40 of an acre to 1.20 acres.

The tract would cover about 56 acres and will be sold later to allow one large home site or to be divided into lots by a future developer, according to submitted documents.

William H. Schwettmann, a Lincoln County commissioner, is listed as the engineer on the project.

Three issues were raised by board members. Because the road that runs through the new unit ends in a cul-de-sac, they wanted Collins to provide turn-around space every 600 feet, which he said is being done.

They also wanted a fire escape route from the large tract and that special care be taken with the design of a drainage retention pond to ensure no negative impacts to nearby property owners.

They also insisted a system be designed to prevent children from entering the pond area.

Planning Director Mike Runnels said with the concept approved by the planning board, he will work with the developer to smooth out wrinkles before the next meeting on the proposal.

The subdivision is between two other developments in White Mountain. The area has more than 150 platted lots in addition to multi-family clusters.

Collins said he also will need a variance for the road frontage requirement on seven lots because they are situated around cul-de-sacs and can't meet the 70-foot rule.

Access to the area off Gavilan Canyon Road would be from Topside and McClellan Drives, which are existing streets in White Mountain Meadows Unit 2.

Women host speaker

Jan Lincoln will be the guest speaker at the Ruidoso Federated Woman's Club meeting at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 14 at 116 S. Evergreen St.

Mr. and Mrs. David Lincoln lived in Ras Tanura, Arabia, for 20 years, where he was employed by Saudi Aramco as a process control engineer at the NGL Plant and Refinery for Saudi Aramco.

Lincoln trained locals for entry-level employment. When not working, the Lincolns camped in the desert and traveled. She directed plays for the Little Theater group.

Ras Tanura was a company town, and Dhahran was a city about an hour from the base camp.

Byways group meets

The regular meeting of the Scenic Byways Committee is set for 2 p.m., Feb. 14, in the Ruidoso Village Council chambers at city hall on Cree Meadows Drive.

Discussion and possible action are on the agenda for a Sam Tobias plaque, a grant writing proposal by Carolyn Moore, Engineers Inc. and a Lincoln Interpretive Plan proposal.

A report of the visitors center in Ruidoso Downs will be given, as well as briefings on other projects and financing information.

RC&D to meet

A joint meeting of the South Central Mountain Resource Conservation and Development Council and the Tularosa Basin Water Planning Committee is set for Thursday.

The session will start at 9:30 a.m. in the second-floor community room of the Alamogordo Federal Savings and Loan Building on Tenth Street in Alamogordo.

The main agenda items include a presentation by Stan Bulsterbaum, Interstate Streams Commission regional water planning chairman, information from Tom Springer on the Ecological Dynamics Simulation watershed model and an update on the status of the council's water plan.

Keith Kessler, former chairman of the council, recently was elected president of the Western Association of RC&D Councils.

Candidate to speak

The Federated Republican Women of Lincoln County will meet at 11:30 a.m. Feb. 26 at Alto Lakes Country Club.

Guest speaker will be John Sanchez, a candidate for governor. The public is invited.

Sheriff says he'll finish current term

Lincoln County Sheriff Tom Sullivan Tuesday put to rest rumors that he plans to retire before the end of his current four-year term.

Sullivan, who was re-elected two years ago for a new four-year term, said he plans to stay until the end.

Term limits for county offices prevent him from running again in 2004.

"I'm not even eligible to retire until July 31, 2004 and my term ends Nov. 31 of that year," he said.

"I fully intend to complete my term. That's what the people elected me for," Sullivan said.

Sullivan also previously served as sheriff from 1984-88.

Engineer deal gets penalty clause

The penalty for unmet deadline previously was missing from the contract.

A penalty clause for unmet deadlines was added to a contract with Molzen-Corbin and Associates approved last week by the Ruidoso Village Council. The clause was left out of the original agreement. The engineering firm with offices in Albuquerque and Las Cruces was hired to design and guide improvements at the regional wastewater treatment plant jointly owned with the village of Ruidoso Downs.

While expanding the plant's capacity was the original focus, stricter federal rules for water quality discharge into the Rio Ruidoso because it was declared a fresh water fishery, may redirect work.

Village officials are asking for a two-year extension for compliance with the new rules to give time to determine the source of phosphorus material in the discharge and either to reduce the level of the substance or design an alternate routing of the affected water instead of putting it back into the stream.

Another option is to remove the fishery designation below the wastewater plant, village councilors said.

Agency slashes fine for sewage spill

The levy against the two villages was reduced by $14,500.

BY DIANNE STALLINGS
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

A fine levied in March 2001 by the federal Environmental Protection Agency against the villages of Ruidoso and Ruidoso Downs was cut by $14,500 under a recently approved agreement.

"The entire issue involved two things," said David A. Bary, with the EPA's regional Dallas office.

"The villages failed to renew their discharge permit (for a jointly owned wastewater treatment plant) in a timely manner. "In addition, an unpermitted discharge of sewage occurred at the wastewater treatment plant in July 2000. The discharge was caused by a sewage hauler."

The spill into the Rio Ruidoso was estimated at 200,000 gallons.

Because of those two violations, the EPA initiated an enforcement action, he said.

An administrative complaint was filed Feb. 15, 2001.

Permits set standards for discharging treated wastewater into the river.

At the time of the complaint,

Village Manager Alan Briley contended that the two village were just two among many that were late on filing new applications because they didn't receive notification from the EPA.

"We initially proposed $27,500," Bary said. "As a result of discussions with officials from the two villages, we agreed to $13,000 and that's where we settled. The consent agreement and final order were issued just two weeks ago."

In the agreement, village officials "neither admit nor deny" the EPA allegations.

The final order gave the villages 60 days to pay the fine.

POLICE BRIEFS

Driver arrested

Ruidoso Downs police arrested Penny Stack, 39, of Ruidoso Downs, on North Central Drive Feb. 2, charging her with speeding and driving while under the influence of alcohol.

Police arrest teens

Ruidoso police arrested Eric Flores, 19, of Ruidoso, charging him with contributing to the delinquency of a minor, possession of marijuana and possession of drug paraphernalia.

They also arrested Cason Andrew Word, 18, of Ruidoso, charging him with the above charges as well as for driving with a suspended license.

A traffic stop had been made after officers noticed the license plate had expired on the vehicle the suspects were in at Wingfield and Chase Drives Feb. 3. A juvenile male and female were also in the car, the report states.

Pair booked

Glendon Sanchez, 28, of Mescalero, and James Kunestais, 32, Mescalero, were arrested Feb. 2 at Wingfield Drive and Center Street.

Kunestais was arrested on a warrant for contempt of court and failure to pay fines, and Sanchez for disorderly conduct and public intoxication.

Money missing

About $265 was taken from a cash drawer at Grizzly's Bears, 2804 Sudderth Drive between 6 a.m. and 7 a.m. Feb. 3, according to police reports. A window was broken to gain entry and the rest of the business was untouched.

Graffiti reported

Police reported graffiti on Jan. 26 at Ruidoso Baptist Church, 141 Mescalero Trail, a dumpster at 139 Mescalero Trail and on the old Wal-Mart building, 207 Highway 70.

Village supports Gavilan Canyon Road work

Ruidoso councilors favor a joint project with the county to resurface the road.

Ruidoso village councilors voiced strong support for joining the Lincoln County Commission on a project to resurface Gavilan Canyon Road.

Village Manager Alan Briley said the village's share of the work will cost $108,000 and the money was not budgeted in capital outlay. But because the project is high priority, he reviewed the street department budget with administrator J. R. Baumann. Briley said he took $50,000 from bridge maintenance and the rest from $90,000 budgeted for improvements to the jogging track around the public golf course, but assured councilors those areas won't suffer.

About 40 percent of the road falls within the village and the rest in unincorporated parts of the county.

"They tell me it will be done by the end of April or earlier," Briley said.

The project being used is new to the county, but was used by the state on U.S. 70 through the Mescalero Apache Reservation.

Instead of totally removing the old road, the surface is reworked.

Ruidoso Village councilors renewed for one year an agreement with Gannett Fleming West to provide engineering services at the village airport.

Terms remain the same as the contract signed last year after requests for professional services proposals were sought and the firm was selected.

A contract also was renewed for one year with Wilson & Company to handle engineering on water and wastewater-

Art Loop funded

The annual Lincoln County Art loop received $500 from Ruidoso Lodgers Tax for this year's event.

Acting on a recommendation from the village lodgers tax board, village councilors approved the request for the July 13-14 event. Village Clerk Tammie Maddox noted that while the event will fall into the next fiscal year, expenses to promote the art tour will occur this fiscal year.

OUR OPINION

The twisting road to Santa Fe

No matter how many reps we have, keep them in line.

Maybe something positive for Lincoln County will come out of the decennial redistricting of the Legislature after all. Or maybe not.

That state judge-ordered plan for the House of Representatives actually would give Lincoln County a piece of three legislators, two of them sharing Ruidoso. We've gotten along with just one — most recently Dub Williams — for the last 10 years, and County Clerk Martha Procter thinks we're fortunate that we've had only one representative and one senator to worry about for all that time.

That multi-representative package might be helpful for countywide issues in the Legislature, if we could keep them all in line.

But let's not get too excited right now; the state GOP already has appealed this plan to federal court, alleging that it's little more than the Democrat-drawn scheme the governor vetoed earlier, designed to keep the Dems firmly in control, or increasing their margin.

In fact, the House hasn't acted on a Senate scheme, but it seems likely that whatever the House does also will be appealed to the feds.

But regardless of the eventual split, an old rule remains: To keep your legislators in line, yell at 'em loud and often.

Legislators must live with the consequences

Has the New Mexico State Legislature gone nuts? Have our representatives gone totally bonkers? Are they stirring that white stuff into their coffee or sniffing it up their noses?

LOOKING ASKANCE
NED CANTWELL

Those folks at the Roundhouse have come up with some whoppers over the years, but this idea of requiring a minute of silence in public schools...well, if that don't beat all.

What are they thinking? Have they never heard of the separation of church and state? Look, liberal knotheads not only think it is wrong for kids to pray during school hours, they don't want them thinking about God during school hours. Here's what will happen to your typical class of ninth-grade boys during the required moment of silence:

Most of them will think about how cool it would be to get sent to an isolated island with the cheerleaders. Some of them will think about next Friday's basketball game. Others will think about how they can possibly complete the English paper assigned three months ago in the two days left before deadline.

All that is fine. But here's the rub: a few of those kids are actually going to pray. That is the real issue here. Do you realize what can happen if kids start praying? It's not a pretty picture.

Kids who pray are probably going to start treating their fellow students better, and that can get out of hand. Before you know it, there may be less cruelty in the student body.

Kids who pray may see an improvement in their home lives, setting an example for Mom and Dad who just might return to Sunday services as a family.

Kids who pray will no doubt become happier as they discover elusive self-esteem is not found through acceptance by their peers but through acceptance by God.

Kids who pray may be less susceptible to the temptations of drugs and alcohol, thus sidestepping situations that could ruin their lives forever.

If we are not careful, kids who pray are liable to lead solid, productive lives, therefore causing unemployment among social workers, detention facility staffers, abortionists and treatment center staffs.

Listen, Mr. and Mrs. Legislator: This idea of a minute of silence is nothing new. The Las Cruces school district tried it 20 years ago. Fortunately, a federal court ruled silence unconstitutional. Just in the nick of time, too.

In the two decades since that wise ruling, Las Cruces has been able to maintain its normal high percentages of teen pregnancy, school dropouts and violent crime among youth. Who knows what could have happened if those kids had been given the opportunity to pray?

So, it is up you, members of the New Mexico Legislature. Go ahead and pass a law requiring a moment of silence and be prepared to live with the consequences. All we ask is that you vote your conscience.

YOUR OPINION

$10 cordwood is a village project, not federal

To the editor:

I would like to respond to Mr. J.A. "Al" Junge's criticism of the village $10 cordwood program that appeared in the Jan. 30 issue of the Ruidoso News.

He asked three questions. Why is the Village charging its citizens for cordwood that "costs nothing" and was paid for by the federal government?

Why not let the citizens pick up the wood anytime at their convenience?

Why is it necessary to inspect chain saws prior to use on village property?

Indeed the fuels reduction (contracting) in the Grindstone Lake area was a collaborative project with USDA Forest Service, which means the Feds paid for most but not all of the associated costs.

This contracting resulted in acres being thinned and trunk and branch material being cut into 2-foot to 4-foot lengths.

The village cordwood program is independent of any federal funding. It is administered with village tax dollars by the urban forester in addition to his regular (Monday through Friday) duties.

The locations for gathering downed wood are accessed by passing through village water department gates and other restricted areas.

Normally, these roads are closed to the general public. On Saturdays from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., weather permitting, the gates will be opened and monitored with the help of the village fire department.

The issue of the chain saw inspection is simply compliance with existing village ordinance (Forest management sec. 54-133 (D) (1)).

The village cordwood program was recommended based on its ability to increase forest health, reduce the hazards of wildfire, pay for its own implementation, and comply with village ordinances.

Providing service or product to the community is never "cost free." Fiscal prudence requires new programs to pay for themselves.

Rick Delson

The sins of today

To the editor:

Since 1995, our nation has had alcohol rehabilitative and educational programs.

Although there have been numerous individual successes, the above programs have largely been failures. After Prohibition, U. S. alcohol consumption almost doubled. Today, alcoholism costs the U. S. economy at least $100 billion a year.

Some of the drug liberalization proponents have admitted an alcohol-related deaths run rampant throughout our country. In 2000, there were more than 52,000 drug-related deaths and 601,776 drug abusers were admitted to our nation's hospital emergency rooms. Medical care is expensive.

Our state has a serious drug-abuse problem, especially in the DWI area. Those who are convicted of DWI usually

An open mind

To the editor:

I was watching C-Span a while back (1996). It was Newt Gingrich (Newt who?) He was talking to some of his fellow Republicans and the banner behind him said "Visualize No Liberals."

Now can you imagine such a world? We most certainly wouldn't have sliced bread, and we would probably still be reading our newspapers by candlelight, that is if we even had newspapers. After all, aren't journalists just a bunch of arch-liberals?

Well, duh! A journalist needs an open mind. Not standard equipment on your basic conservative, whether he calls himself Democrat or Republican.

It's hide-and-seek for genetics researchers

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. — While it is generally acknowledged that the progress of science depends on the free exchange of resources and knowledge, a new study finds that data, materials and information are often kept secret in academic genetics.

"The ability to reproduce science is important," says Eric G. Campbell, Ph.D., of the Institute for Health Policy at Massachusetts General Hospital (MGH) and Harvard Medical School. "When people don't share published resources, it may slow the rate of scientific advance." Campbell is first author of the report in the Jan. 23 Journal of the American Medical Association.

Campbell and his colleagues surveyed geneticists and other life scientists in the 100 U.S. universities that received the most funding from the National Institutes of Health in 1998. Data was received from a total of 1,240 geneticists and 600 non-geneticists.

The survey showed that 47 percent of geneticists who asked other faculty for additional information, data, or materials relating to published scientific findings had been denied at least once in the past three years.

Overall, 10 percent of all post-publication requests for additional information in genetics were denied; 28 percent of geneticists said they had been unable to replicate published research results because of a lack of access, and a quarter had to delay their own publications because of data withholding by their peers.

Despite some speculation in earlier reports that data withholding was more common in genetics, the geneticists were no more likely to report denial of their requests than were the non-geneticists.

Among the geneticists responding to the survey, 12 percent said they had denied requests from other researchers for their own information or materials. They cited many reasons for their withholding, including a lack of such resources as money and time and the need to protect their own and their colleagues' ability to publish future research findings.

"The competitive forces in academic science, the potential for commercial application of research, and resource limitations all work against the ideal of open sharing in science," say David Blumenthal, MD, MPP, director of the MGH Institute for Health Policy and senior author of the JAMA article.

Like the causes of secrecy, the solutions to the problem are also complex. The study authors note that additional resources for researchers and new policies and procedures supporting data sharing could help address this issue.

"The ultimate goal is to ensure that the progress in fighting human disease via research proceeds at the fastest rate possible," Campbell explains.

EDUCATION

EDUCATION BRIEFS

New GED test emphasis shifts

Feb. 21 is the first GED test with the new exam, said Sandy Kashmar, director of Adult Basic Education.

"There's more emphasis on real-world type documents, e-mails, business documents, things that require prior knowledge," Kashmar said. "In the past, you could look at a passage and answer questions from the passage. Because state standards are increasing all over the U.S., there have been changes across the country."

The test is more rigorous, she said; the writing portion is harder and students will be required to use a scientific calculator to calculate sines and cosines.

For information about the test, contact Kashmar at 630-8181.

Students on dean's lists

William Morris of Capitan was named to the dean's list at Lubbock Christian University for the fall semester of 2001. Students must take a minimum of 12 semester hours and achieve a 3.5 grade-point average or better for the entire semester to make the dean's list.

Six Eastern New Mexico University students from Ruidoso High School are among the 491 students on the 2001 fall semester dean's honor roll: Gerald Gomez, elementary education; Brook P. Lewicki, elementary education; John A. McCasland, computer science; Shirley M. Tapia, family and consumer sciences; Diana Carol Thompson; early childhood education; and Rachel Beth Warren, general studies.

To be eligible for the roll, students must complete a minimum of 15 hours and a 3.25 grade-point average for the semester.

Host families needed

Host international teens to host international teens from more than 30 countries for the 2002-2003 fall semester or academic year. They are in need of caring families to provide a home and share with them this unique experience.

The host family will provide a bed, meals, friendship, understanding and a genuine desire to share the American way of life with a youngster from overseas.

The students speak English, are covered by medical insurance, have spending money for their personal expenses and hope to arrive in August for enrollment in their new high school. All students are between the ages of 15 and 18 and will attend the high school closest to their host family's home or a private high school. Families are able to review students applications and select.

For more information, contact Yvette Coffman, Southwest regional administrator at (972) 727-7866 or (800) 941-3738.

Domenici internships

U.S. Sen. Pete Domenici, R-N.M., encourages New Mexico college students interested in a summer internship in his Washington, D.C., office to apply for a position by the March 1 deadline.

His 2002 summer program consists of two sessions, mid-May through June, and the July through mid-August. A $1,500 stipend is provided for Washington summer interns who are residents of New Mexico or attending a two- or four-year school in the state.

"This is a wonderful opportunity for New Mexico college students to experience the workings of our nation's capital first hand. Interns will have the chance to learn more about public service and the workings of the federal government. In turn, my staff and I are able to connect with young up-and-comers from New Mexico," Domenici said.

Applicants must have completed at least one year of study at an institution of higher education and be enrolled for the following semester.

New Mexico residents and/or students will receive priority in the selection process. Students participating in the program in past years have come from a variety of schools, including universities, community colleges and vocational schools inside and outside New Mexico.

To apply, candidates must complete an application form and submit a cover letter, resume and two letters of recommendation.

This should be mailed to U.S. Sen. Pete Domenici, Attention: Intern Coordinator, 328 Hart Senate Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20510-3101. Applications must be postmarked by March 1.

Interviews and selections will take place during the month of March and notifications made by April 1.

Consult the Domenici Web page at www.domenici.senate.gov for an application, or call Lynden Armstrong at (202) 224-6621 for a form or more information on the program and intern responsibilities.

The "on-the-job shadow day" last Friday involved many 8th graders from Ruidoso Middle School, and many business firms.

BY SHANE HOFFMAN FOR THE RUIDOSO NEWS

Three young people worked hard for three hours to bring all the morning news to the listeners. On Friday, these middle school students - Starnes Reveley, Sashay Mills and Brett Nichols - all learned what it takes to run a morning radio broadcast.

Neil Jones, the host for the "Wake Up Club" on KIDX-FM, described the experience as, "lots of fun," and suggested that more "On-the-Job" students would be welcome next year. He pointed out that to be a good radio host, you have to act like you're talking to one person instead of an entire crowd of listeners.

During the interview, the students agreed that it was a lot harder than you'd think. Starnes exclaimed, "We had to be there by 6 a.m. and we were on the air within 10 minutes." Sashay said, "The headphones and playbacks made you hear your voice differently." Brett concluded that, "We had sheets of paper that had our lines, and even though we were afraid we were going to mess up, we did a pretty good job." Neil agreed.

Overall, a big part of being a talk show host is how much drama you put into your speaking, Jones said. They each did a sports story, ski report, and trivia question. They said they all had a good time and that it was something they would all like to do in the future.

Many other 8th grade students participated in on the job day. For example, Mallory Thomson, Eric Sandoval, and Braxton Forbes had jobs of their own.

Thompson and Sandoval were busy at Lincoln County Medical Center. Sandoval delivered materials at the hospital. Marilyn McCoy, the materials manager, and his supervisor, exclaimed that he was a fun kid and that it was her sixth kid for on-the-job day and the third year running.

Thomson, however, got to go into the patients' rooms and observe a few procedures.

These included observing a colonoscopy and a few broken wrists. Enaria Lathan, Mallory's supervisor, said, "The procedures were interesting. Eric's favorite part was delivering materials, while Mallory's was working on the broken wrists."

Forbes' job was managing computers and starting up a business; he learned something about that at the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce. He got a later start due to earlier meetings, so he hadn't really gotten going.

He did, however, explain that he was going to pursue an education at UCLA and was having a great time so far.

His supervisor, Patric Pearson, chamber executive director, described Braxton as "a good kid" and was deeply impressed that Braxton was on time.

His job shadowers at the Ruidoso News consider it an experience not to be forgotten. The people we worked with and the day at the newspaper provided an experience we will remember.

From yoga to crime, OJ Day had its moments

BY CAITLIN DENNEHY AND ZIA MINER FOR THE RUIDOSO NEWS

Tori Johnson doesn't consider herself flexible, but she chose yoga for her On-the-Job Shadowing Day. She says of this experience, "It's extremely hard, but it was fun."

Her mentor, Myra Romero, started yoga 7 years ago. "Yoga became a big part of my life and I like to share my passion with other people," she stated.

On-the-Job Shadowing Day, last Friday, was a time when all 8th graders got the chance to go and shadow a person at the job of their choice.

Many students chose the Police Department, like Sara Coca, who called police work, "interesting," and also stated, "Things aren't always as they seem."

Jim Biggs, a detective and former journalist, has worked the longest in his department and was Sara Coca's mentor for the day.

Anthony McTeigue and Seth Hornedeagle shadowed some firefighters at Station No. 2 on White Mountain Drive and helped do a yearly ladder check.

Jim Mauritsen, in his Carrizo Canyon studio, taught Braxton McFadden how to sculpt and carve wood and stone. Mauritsen believes he has carved 70 stone figures and more than 100 wood figures over the course of three years.

At Village Hall, Mike Ballard helped Kalamia Davis in the Code Enforcement department. Ballard wanted to learn what a Code Enforcement officer does and how it affects people. Kalamia said his title explains his job, and said, "I like working with people the most."

These are some of the many jobs that 8th graders choose for OJ Day.

The Ruidoso School system sponsors OJ Day and Mrs. Diorly Stierwalt coordinates this wonderful program for the eighth graders.

ENGAGEMENTS WEDDINGS

DiMotta-French

Dr. and Mrs. Frank J. DiMotta of Ruidoso announce the marriage of their daughter, Christina Newell, to Frederick Paul French, son of Dr. and Mrs. Frederick B. French of Roswell.

The couple married Aug. 25, 2001 in a civil ceremony, and the Celebration and Blessing of the Marriage was held at the Lincoln County Episcopal Church of the Holy Mount on Dec. 29 with the Rev. Robert L. Williams from St. Andrew's Episcopal Church in Roswell officiating.

The maid of honor was Emily Anne French, sister of the groom, and the bridesmaids were Dominique Atencio and Caitlin Shaw DiMotta, sisters of the bride.

The best man was Theodore Stewart French and the groomsmen were Michael Alexander French, brothers of the groom. A reception was held at Alto Lakes Country Club after the ceremony.

Christina is a personal banker at Wells Fargo Bank in Albuquerque, and Flip is a second-year medical student at the University of New Mexico School of Medicine.

After a honeymoon trip to Maui, the couple will be at home in Albuquerque.

Arbor Day group offering free trees

New members get blue spruces

Ten free Colorado blue spruce trees will be given to each person who joins the National Arbor Day Foundation during February.

Colorado blue spruce have silver blue-green color and a compact conical shape. They can be used as individual ornaments, as energy-saving windbreaks, as a privacy screen, or as living Christmas trees.

They will be shipped post-paid at the right time for planting between March 1 and May 31, with planting instructions.

To become a member of the foundation and receive the free trees, by Feb. 28 send a $10 contribution to Ten Free Colorado Blue Spruce Trees, National Arbor Day Foundation, 100 Arbor Avenue, Nebraska City, NE. 68410.

Chief explains traffic ticket program

Police officers participating in the Selective Traffic Enforcement Program are working on their own time, Ruidoso Police Chief Lanny Maddox explained to village councilors last week.

"It's not a speed trap," he said, adding that drivers are warned about limits and a machine is used that shows drivers their speeds as they approach the area.

"If they still don't adhere, they will be stopped and cited," he said.

"It's likely that if someone ignores the two warnings, they may be impaired. New Mexico has one of the worst DWI and traffic fatality rates in the nation."

Money is allocated through the National Traffic Safety Board, he said.

"We select different areas of the village based on needs we've seen, such as accidents and speeding complaints," Maddox said.

Four or five patrol cars may be involved and radar is used, he said.

"Our commitment is to the citizens of Ruidoso to prevent accidents and injuries," the chief said.

Officers are paid with grant money and the program allows them to earn a little extra over their regular paychecks, he said.

Final Environmental Impact Statement for Proposed Improvements to US Highway 70: Ruidoso Downs to Riverside Lincoln County, New Mexico -- Project # AC-MIP-070-4(35), CN 3393

The New Mexico State Highway and Transportation Department (NMSHTD), in cooperation with the Federal Highway Administration (FHWA), has completed a final environmental impact statement (EIS) for the proposed reconstruction of US 70 from just east of Ruidoso Downs to east of Riverside, Lincoln County, New Mexico (milepost 264.5 to milepost 302). The reconstruction of this highway is proposed to improve safety and to facilitate the adopted economic development goals of the State. The final EIS includes the following information:

- 1) a summary of the project purpose and need, description of alternatives considered, and summary of environmental, economic, cultural, and community effects of each alternative;
- 2) a discussion of changes since distribution of the draft EISs with regard to the proposed action, project setting, project impacts, and proposed mitigation measures;
- 3) the selection of Alternative 3 (the 4-lane alternative) as the preferred alternative and the basis for its selection; and,
- 4) substantive agency and public comments received on the draft EIS and supplemental draft EIS and responses to these comments.

Beginning February 6, 2002, the final EIS will be available for review at the following locations:

NMSHTD District 2 4505 West Second Street Roswell, NM 88202 (505) 624-3301	Village of Ruidoso 313 Cree Meadows Ruidoso, NM 88345 (505) 258-4343	Village of Ruidoso Downs 122 Downs Drive Ruidoso Downs, NM 88346 (505) 378-4422

A copy of the final EIS can be viewed and downloaded on-line at www.us70hondovalley.com. A copy of the EIS can be requested by calling or writing Parsons Brinckerhoff, Suite 200, 5801 Osuna Road, NE, Albuquerque, New Mexico 87109, (505) 881-5357.

After considering agency and public comments on the final EIS, FHWA will prepare a Record of Decision (ROD) that identifies the selected alternative and the mitigation measures that will be implemented as part of the selected alternative to avoid and/or minimize adverse impacts. The ROD will not be prepared before March 11, 2002. Comments on the final EIS should be sent to Parsons Brinckerhoff, at the above address; or Greg Rawlings, FHWA, 604 W. FUNERALS DEATHS

Katherine Kenoi

Funeral services for Katherine Kenoi, 92, of Mescalero, were Monday at the Mescalero Reformed Church...

Mrs. Kenoi died Wednesday, Jan. 30, 2002, in Alamogordo. She was born Nov. 1, 1909, at Ft. Sill, Okla.

She moved to Mescalero from Ft. Sill in 1914. She was a member of the Reformed Church.

Survivors include sons Martin Enjady and Robert Enjady; daughters Constance Enjady, Mona Lopez and Anita Sanchez; a brother, Sammy Kenoi; 21 grandchildren; 57 great-grandchildren; and 23 great-great-grandchildren.

She is preceded in death by a daughter, Annice Enjady.

Mary Waldrop Powell

Graveside services for Mary Waldrop Powell, 94, will be at 11 a.m. today at Greenwood Cemetery, Ft. Worth, Texas.

Mrs. Powell died Saturday, Feb. 2, 2002, in Alamogordo.

She was born Oct. 14, 1907, to Alice and John Allen Waldrop in Ft. Worth, Texas, a sister to three brothers, Nate, Bill and John.

She graduated from Central High School in Ft. Worth and attended Texas Christian University. She remained a staunch fan of the Horned Frog team.

She married Harold Powell May 29, 1929, and lovingly followed him in his oil field career for almost 60 years until he died in 1989.

She was an active member of Chapter AP PEO until she moved to a retirement community in Alamogordo. She was an artist with a needle, from creating hand-smocked dresses to masterpieces in needlepoint.

Survivors include a daughter, Alice Payne and her husband, Tom, of Ruidoso; a son, Davis Powell and his wife, Dana, of Houston, Texas; grandchildren Richard Payne and his wife, Tracy, Carol Evans, H.D. Powell III, Robin Powell; five great-grandchildren; and a great-great-grandchild.

The family suggests donations to a favorite charity in lieu of flowers.

Arrangements were under the direction of LaGrone Funeral Chapel of Ruidoso.

H.A. Hull

Services for H.A. Hull, 80, of Hobbs, will be at 10 a.m. Thursday at Prairie Haven Veterans Site, with Elio Barrios officiating. Visitation will be from noon to 8 p.m. today and from 8-9 a.m. Thursday at Griffin Funeral Home, 401 Dalmont, in Hobbs.

He died Monday, Feb. 4, 2002, at Hobbs Health Care.

Mr. Hull was born July 23, 1921, in Cisco, Texas.

He married Ernestine Alderman Blalock Dec. 5, 1995, and the couple moved to Ruidoso for two years, where he had lived in the early 1990s. He was a Mason and a World War II veteran. He received the Soldiers Medal for bravery beyond the call of duty. He lived in Hobbs for the last seven years.

Survivors include his wife, Ernestine Hull of the home; sons Ronald L. Hull of LaVernia, Texas, and Stanley E. Hull of Americus, Ga.; stepdaughters Barbara Kennedy of Phoenix, Ariz., Jeanne Burcham of Hobbs and Kaye Pierce of Canyon, Texas; a sister, Thesa Swafford of Hobbs; three grandchildren; nine step-grandchildren; and four great-grandchildren.

He was preceded in death by a sister; a brother; his parents; and two previous wives.

The family suggests memorial contributions to Vista Care Family Hospice, 1515 Calle Sur, Hobbs, NM 88240.

Kenneth Dick Miller

Visitation for Kenneth Dick Miller, 76, of Ruidoso and El Paso, Texas, will be from 10 a.m. to noon on Thursday at Sunset Funeral Home West, 480 N. Reeler, El Paso, with a graveside service following at 1:30 p.m. at Fort Bliss National Cemetery with military honors.

Mr. Miller died Sunday, Feb. 3, 2002.

He was born in Detroit, Mich., and graduated from Bowling Green University. He was a World War II veteran and served in the United States Navy. He was a long-time employee of the KHEY radio group. He was a member of Cree Meadows Country Club.

Survivors include a son, Mark Miller; daughters Julie Mullaney and Caroline Bradbury; three grandchildren; and a brother, Glenn Miller Jr.

The family suggests donation to The Leukemia and Lymphoma Society, 12850 Spurling Drive, Ste. 220, Dallas, TX 75230.

Services are under the direction of Sunset Funeral Home-West.

Early Ruidosoan Buckner dies

Late businessman had served as village mayor during the early 1950s

Raymond Claibourne Buckner, an early Ruidoso mover-and-shaker, died Wednesday, Jan. 29, at his home in Rio Rancho.

He was born in Hope in 1912, the year New Mexico became a state, to William and Lila Buckner. The family bought the "Old Buckner Homestead" near Weed.

He left home at age 17, working in Hope and Alamogordo and attending school part time until he had his high school diploma. Later, he managed a general merchandise store in Hope, worked the oil fields in Hobbs and ran a dry cleaning route from Roswell to Carrizozo. In 1937, he bought a store in High Rolls and converted it to a self-serve gas station and icehouse.

He met Ruby, a young school teacher from Carlsbad, in 1941 when she stopped at his store, and married her while on leave from the U.S. Navy.

The Buckners and their son, Mike, moved to Ruidoso after his discharge from the Navy, and he became an electrical contractor and influential in developing the town.

Three-time mayor Dan Swearingen said Buckner was a good electrician and the couple put in a retail store selling hardware, gifts and appliances in the old Post Office block on Sudderth Drive.

Raymond Buckner developed the Buckner Subdivision, said Frank Potter, a friend of Mike's, and "had a knack for making money."

"I knew Raymond when I was a kid and it seemed like Raymond Buckner was way ahead of his time," Potter said. "Back in the old days of Ruidoso... there was a very small group of people that was pretty close knit. I remember as a kid growing up they were all our mentors. We had people in town here that seemed like knowing them you learned a lot from them."

Buckner was mayor from 1950-52, and Swearingen remembers that he had run for mayor against a person Buckner supported, who was subsequently elected, and then Buckner became mayor pro-tem to replace him.

According to his family, Buckner helped organize the first Ruidoso Chamber of Commerce and became the first depositor and director of the Ruidoso State Bank. The Buckners invested in land and homes in the area, buying and remodeling houses that Ruby Buckner decorated.

"Boy, those houses would sell for a lot more money than they paid for them," Swearingen said. "They did really well at that game."

The Buckners were members of the Sacramento Mountains Historical Society, The Native Plants Society and the La Luz Gallery. Both were accomplished artists, Buckner for his wooden crosses made of desert woods.

Swearingen said the cold weather bothered Ruby Buckner, so the couple moved to an adobe house in Tularosa in 1977, after using it as a winter home since 1966. In 2000, they had a new home built in Rio Rancho.

Ruby Buckner died Nov. 6. "Raymond told me all he wanted to do was keep living and take care of Ruby," Swearingen said when he learned of his death. "He was a real honest fellow; not highly personable, but when he told you something he was sincere and honest about it, and I have respect for that."

Survivors include a son, Michael, and his wife, Judy Lou, of the family home; a grandson, Ryan and his wife, Jennifer, of Albuquerque; a daughter-in-law, Linda Kennedy of Farmington; a brother, John, of La Luz; a brother-in-law, Lester Sharp of Ruidoso; a sister-in-law, Jessie Lou Beason, of Albuquerque, and her children Lester, Sandra, Beverly and Kay.

He was preceded in death by his wife, Ruby; a son, Jeffrey Lee, in 1949; a brother, Aleck; and sisters Olive and Dorothy.

A memorial service was held at the family home.

Local blood drive set for Feb. 14-15

A two-day blood drive is set for the middle of the month at Gateway Church of Christ on Sudderth Drive in Ruidoso.

Donations will be accepted from 1 p.m. to 7 p.m. Feb. 14 and from 8 a.m. to 1 p.m. Feb. 15. Those who donate will receive a special "Life Sustaining Member" T-shirt.

Residents of the Ruidoso community showed their true colors by donating more than 280 pints of blood last year," said a spokesman for United Blood Services of Roswell.

"What a way to start off the new year," Lorrinda Brooks said, referring to blood donations, "since healthy bone marrow makes a constant supply of new red blood cells, eligible donors can give blood every eight weeks."

Blood donations declined after Sept. 11 when many flocked to hospitals and blood drives to give after terrorist attacks in New York and Washington D.C.

"Since blood has a shelf life of only 42 days, that blood already has been used," she said.

To be eligible to donate, a person must be 17 with parental consent, or older, weigh at least 110 pounds and be healthy and feeling well.

Bring identification and a list of any medications taken in the last 30 days.

As your newspaper looks to the future and toward continuing to provide the essential information that local citizens need in a timely fashion, it is appropriate to review the concept of Public Notice in newspapers. This concept is based on two fundamental principles: 1. First, in a Democracy, the Public has an absolute right to know the actions of its government. 2. Second, a Democracy is a system of checks and balances in which it is inappropriate to rely on the government to be the exclusive printer, repository and gatekeeper of information.

Warriors tops at home meet

Ruidoso takes care of business at Sierra Blanca

BY TODD BUTTS
FOR THE RUIDOSO NEWS

The Ruidoso Warriors wrestling team hit the mats Saturday and fought in the true spirit of a Warrior as they played host to the Sierra Blanca Invitational.

The battle-tested Warriors added a first-place trophy to their standout season.

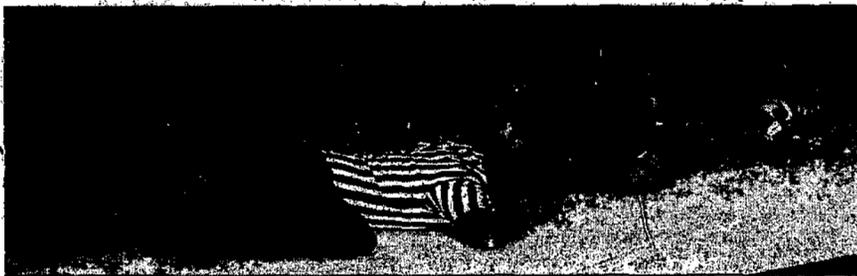

The Warrior wrestlers pose with their first-place trophy after the Sierra Blanca Invitational held at RHS Saturday.

"There were four great teams who came and we will take the win, but what is going to make this team a State Championship team is (that) they are not satisfied. We went 3-0. We take home the trophy and the Warriors aren't happy," said Warrior coach Jerrett Perry. "That feels pretty good. That is the type of mentality we need to be champs. We've got a lot of work to do, though. We are not where we need to be."

The Warriors, a bit battered and bruised, will have momentum on their side as they head to the District 4AAA tournament this weekend in Roswell. The New Mexico Military Institute Colts, as well as two of the state's top contenders, Cobre and West Las Vegas, traveled to Ruidoso to see who would be king of the mountain.

The Colts were the first to fall victim to the Warriors. Ruidoso soundly defeated the Colts in the first round of the competition.

Ruidoso Warrior David McNally gets a hold on his Cobre opponent during the Sierra Blanca Invitational Saturday. McNally helped propel Ruidoso to victory despite suffering an injury.

"We had a couple of kids who lost who had beat the Ruidoso kids before. That's not a good sign, just because of the stakes," said NMMI coach Alan Kross. "So we are looking to go hard for a week and try to do better at district."

The Warriors achieved another high mark this season by defeating Cobre for the first time in the history of the RHS wrestling program. Trailing Cobre by one point going into the last match, it was Warrior Patrick Hodges clinching the victory for the Warriors, 39-34. Hodges pinned his opponent less than a minute into the first round.

"I was real happy with our kids' performance. They did really well. All of these matches were tight and could have went either way," said Cobre coach Louis Alvarez. "We are going to get back in the wrestling room and keep on working. Hopefully we can change things by the time State rolls around."

The Warriors defeated Las Vegas in the last matches of the day. Ruidoso earned the first place trophy even though it had to give up two matches to injury defaults. Warriors David McNally reinjured his pectoral muscle in his match and Josh Fior lost his match to the same injury.

"Overall, I am satisfied. My main focus is district, which is next week," said West Las Vegas coach Steve Sanchez.

The Warriors will travel to Roswell Saturday for the District 4AAA tournament to be held at the NMMI. The times are yet to be announced.

Ruidoso hoopsters fall to Desert Warriors again

The absence of senior guard Christie LaPaz has left the Warriors without their leader.

BY WES SCHWENGLS
RUIDOSO NEWS SPORTS EDITOR

A desperate rally by the Ruidoso Warriors boys basketball team came up short Friday, as Santa Teresa downed Ruidoso, 59-51.

The Warriors dug themselves a big hole on the road with cold shooting. Down 16 with 1:36 left in the game, Ruidoso finally got hot, hitting a couple of big threes and cutting the gap to seven.

But it was too little, too late, as Santa Teresa hit enough free throws to hold Ruidoso off.

The loss dropped the Warriors to 0-5 in district and 1-18 overall. Unless Ruidoso wins its final three regular season games, it will have to enter the district tournament as the fifth seed.

From there, the Warriors would have to win three straight road games to get back in the regional playoffs.

But perhaps the biggest loss of the year came on Jan. 24, when senior guard Christie LaPaz, Ruidoso's leader on the court, had an appendectomy, likely keeping him out for the rest of the season.

The Warriors lost to Lovington the following night, 70-51.

"He's our leader, he makes us go," Ruidoso coach Billy Page said. "... He's a leader, not just on the court, but off the court as well."

Page added that it will take more than one player to take his spot in the team's mindset.

"It's a team effort. They're all trying. It's just a matter of them coming together on the floor."

The Warriors could have used LaPaz's shooting touch, as they struggled at times to make open shots. Nick Fajardo, who usually drains one or two three-pointers per game was 0-for-6 from long range Friday.

The inside combination of Cody Small, Chance Hooper and Kendal Bishop put together a solid game, as did junior Josh Adams, who had 10 points and eight rebounds.

But Santa Teresa got out to too big of a lead for Ruidoso to overcome.

"We played well, we just didn't win," Page said.

The coach said that his team still has a shot to put a late run together - and that a late run is better than an early run.

"We've got to get a couple of wins. ... We want to try to get a home game for the playoffs. The big thing is to get at the right time. Even the last-place team has a shot to upset some people."

Ruidoso is showing some positive signs. The Warriors outrebounded Santa Teresa 36-28 and had decent ball control, turning it over 15 times.

Page said this has been a learning year for the young team, which is now down to one senior (Bishop).

"Our philosophy is, if you give it everything you have, you've got nothing to be ashamed of. ... I'm proud of the way the kids are working hard despite their record. They're not playing like a 1-18 team."

"He's a leader, not just on the court, but off the court as well."

Capitan swept in Lordsburg Slow starts doom Tiger hoops teams

BY WES SCHWENGLS
RUIDOSO NEWS SPORTS EDITOR

If the Capitan boys basketball team never have to play the Lordsburg Mavericks again, there probably wouldn't be a lot of complaints.

Since losing their district opener to Lordsburg at home Jan. 19, the Tigers had won three in a row, including one over much-hyped Tularosa.

But the Mavericks put an end to that, posting a decisive 63-34 victory over Capitan Saturday.

Tiger coach Royce Brown said his team was ice cold from the field.

"Their defense had something to do with it, but we had some open looks. ... We couldn't put the ball through the hoop."

The Tigers shot just 11 percent from the field, including less than 10 percent from three-point range.

The loss dropped Capitan to 3-2 in District 5AA, 9-10 overall, and put it one game behind first-place Tularosa. The two teams squared off in Capitan Tuesday, but results were not available at press time.

Had the Tigers been able to hit some shots against the Mavericks, they very well could have won the game.

Capitan pulled down 52 rebounds, including 20 on the boards. The team had 18 turnovers, but also forced 14 in a fast-paced contest.

But the offense really sputtered in the first half, as they posted just eight points in two quarters. Capitan trailed 18-4 at the end of the first.

Thomas Pruitt scored 10 points in the limited attack and J.R. Mitchell, who had posted 30 Thursday in 71-67 win over Cloudcroft, was held to nine.

Brown said he told his players to get over the loss and focus on the three remaining district games.

"They were down and disappointed. But (Monday) we had a team meeting and practice went well. They were ready to put it behind them," he said.

"It would be very important to win these last three. It would give us a chance for a tie for first place and give us big confidence going into the district tournament."

Capitan girls

A strong early season performance has not translated to District 5AA wins for the Capitan Tiger girls (8-11, 1-4). See TIGERS, page 9A.

Corona boys have a good time in strange contest at Vaughn, fall 106-82 in district play

BY WES SCHWENGLS
RUIDOSO NEWS SPORTS EDITOR

It's been a pretty wild season for the Corona High School boys basketball team this year, but perhaps never more so than in Saturday's 106-82 loss at Vaughn.

With only six healthy players on the roster, the Cardinals are always short-handed. But when two of them failed to make the bus Saturday, head coach Ronnie Dunsworth knew his team could be in trouble.

Dunsworth was forced to dress out injured sophomore Keith Shafer to have five available players. Otherwise the Cardinals would have been forced to forfeit. Shafer was supposed to be out for the year with a torn ACL, which will require surgery. He did not actually play, but stayed near the sideline basically as a spectator.

Vaughn also kept one player on the sideline, allowing the two teams to play four-on-four for most of the first half.

But halfway through the second quarter, Cardinal Kyle Davis, playing in just his second game, threw a punch after exchanging words with some Vaughn players. Davis was ejected, reducing Corona's able bodies to three.

Vaughn took another player out, and the teams played three-on-three the rest of the game.

"(They) really showed a lot of class," Dunsworth said of the Vaughn coaching staff. "It would have been a shame to drive all the way there and forfeit."

Instead, the Cardinals kept the game fairly close, considering the Eagles were able to substitute often, while the same three from Corona played all 32 minutes.

"When it happens like that, you've just got to have a good time," Dunsworth said. "People should be proud of the boys and the way they played."

Victor Perez and Tom Muncy had season highs in points with 36 and 26, respectively. Dal Frost added 19.

"They went out and played with their hearts and gave all they had," Dunsworth said of his team. "Maybe this will kind of serve as a springboard for the last couple games."

The Cardinals wrap up the district regular season against Carrizozo Thursday, a game which Davis will be forced to sit out under NMAA rules. He will be available for the team's final home game of the year against La Mesa Saturday.

Corona Cardinal Victor Perez brings the ball upcourt in a game against Carrizozo earlier this year. Perez scored 36 in a 106-82 loss to Vaughn Saturday. Because of Corona's lack of depth, the two schools ended up playing three-on-three midway through the second quarter.

Lobos, Aggies see mixed results

The NMSU men stayed hot at home Saturday, as did the Lobo women in conference play.

Senior Eric Channing continued his hot play by tying a school record with nine three-point field goals made and scoring 31 points in New Mexico State's 78-74 win at South Alabama Saturday.

The win improved the Aggies' overall record to 15-8 and 8-3 in the Sun Belt Conference. New Mexico State has now won a season-high four in a row and 10 of its last 13.

For his efforts, Channing was named the Sun Belt Conference's Player of the Week Monday.

It was the first road conference sweep of the season for the Aggies, who won at New Orleans Thursday.

Channing hit 11 of 16 shots from the floor overall and nine of 13 three-point attempts.

Three other Aggies scored in double figures - Brandon Mason with 13 and James Moore and Jason Fontenet with 12.

New Mexico State shot nearly 54 percent from the floor in the first half and raced out to a 42-25 halftime lead.

The Aggies were hot from the start, grabbing a 16-4 lead just five and a half minutes into the game. The lead was 25-17 with 6:17 left in the half when New Mexico State put together a 15-3 run to increase the lead to 40-20.

South Alabama countered in the second half by hitting 63 percent of its shots and slowly crept back into the game.

The Aggies' 17-point half-time lead was down to 12, 72-60, with 4:34 left in the contest. That lead shrank to five, 72-67, with 1:58 remaining.

"Leads don't mean a lot," said Aggie head coach Lou Henson. "They can dissipate in a hurry. We know we had to keep fighting. We didn't give up and we did a pretty good job. This is a good club in South Alabama. They have five guys that can shoot the three and you have to really pay attention to all of them."

Channing's nine three-point field goals tied the school record of Terry Bennett set against Morgan State back on Dec. 29, 1990 at the Pan American Center. Channing's nine three-pointers were the most ever scored by an Aggie on the road.

SDSU 78, New Mexico 65

The University of New Mexico men's basketball team dropped its second Mountain West Conference home game Saturday, falling to the San Diego State Aztecs (13-8, 2-4), 78-65. The Lobos (13-7, 3-3) were outscored 22-9 in the final seven minutes of the game. UNM drops into a three-way tie for third place in the MWC with BYU and UNLV.

The Lobos played a solid first half, shooting 52 percent from the floor. Freshman Jamaal Williams scored 10 first-half points and played excellent defense on the MWC's leading scorer Randy Holcomb (18.1 ppg). Williams and sophomore Patrick Dennehy held Holcomb to just six first-half points, allowing the Lobos to take a 34-32 lead into the locker room.

Trailing by three with 6:28 left in the game, senior Tim Lightfoot buried a deep three-pointer from the corner to tie the game at 59 to break a Lobos' scoring drought. But two quick baskets by the Aztecs gave San Diego State a four-point lead, and San Diego State finished on a 12-4 run.

UNM 56, Wyoming 41

For the second straight game, the University of New Mexico women's basketball team held its opponent to their lowest point total and lowest field goal percentage of the season. The Lobos (17-5, 6-2 MWC) held Wyoming (10-9, 3-4 MWC) to 20 percent shooting from the field and just 18 first-half points in their 56-41 win in The Pit Saturday.

New Mexico tied an all-time high by blocking 13 of the Cowgirls' 35 field goal attempts. The last time UNM rejected that many shots in a game was against Texas Tech on Jan. 13, 1978. Sophomore Melissa Forest, junior Daja Adams, and junior Jordan Adams all had three each. Jordan Adams now has 238 career blocks, one behind the career mark of former Lobo men's player Kenny Thomas.

On the offensive end, Jordan Adams got out of a mini-slump by scoring a game-high 17 points, her first double figure output in four games. Chelsea Grear was one rebound away from a double-double, adding 11 points. Forest continued her strong play by grabbing a career high nine rebounds and scoring eight points for the Lobos.

S. Alabama 71, NMSU 47

The New Mexico State women's basketball team shot just 30 percent from the field in a 71-47 blowout loss at home to South Alabama Saturday.

The Aggies never led in the first half and trailed by nine, 11-2, just two and a half minutes into the game.

New Mexico State rallied to close the gap to one, 13-12, but the rest of the half belonged to the Jaguars as South Alabama responded with a 17-2 run over the next nine minutes to grab a 30-14 lead.

The second half was no better as New Mexico State shot just 32 percent from the floor and turned the ball over 11 times.

Princess Moore led the Aggies with 14 points while Ivana Stajkovic had 12.

New Mexico State falls to 10-12 overall and 5-6 in the Sun Belt Conference, while South Alabama improves to 16-5 overall and 6-3 in the league.

TIGERS: Lordsburg provides setback for Capitan boys, girls in district). But head coach Rusty Wilcox said he thinks that could change in a hurry.

Lordsburg handed Capitan its most lopsided loss of the district season Saturday, a 73-52 blowout that was largely the result of a slow Tiger start.

Capitan trailed 38-18 at halftime, but kept pace with the Mavericks in the second half.

The Tigers also fell to Cloudcroft Thursday, 55-47, despite trailing by just one point heading into the fourth quarter. Brown said the difference there was free throws, as the Bears hit 14 of 20 in the fourth, compared to Capitan's 4 of 15.

Jessica Becker led the Tigers with 24 points in that game, and again with 17 versus Lordsburg. Catherine Wood added 16 against the Mavericks.

Brown said there is no reason his team can't finish strong in district.

"With the exception of the last game against Lordsburg, every single game in district ... have come right down to the end," Wilcox said.

Results from Tuesday's game against Tularosa were not available.
