Capitan trustees nix water pump

Neighbors likely to see Bonito service shut off Sept. 30 five extraterritorial residents Tuesday night. A majority of the citizens present at the board's regular meeting vocally urged the trustees to approve providing water to the Bonito pipeline customers. Despite positive feedback from most of the packed house and a straw vote that showed a vast majority in favor of continuing to provide water to the Bonito customers, the board refused to second a motion made by Trustee Bobbi Shearer to purchase and install the needed pump. This action may close the issue of the Bonito pipeline permanently. In February, the City of Alamogordo announced that effective July 31 it would no longer supply water to Capitan. Mayor Steven Sederwall received a postponement until September and instructed village water supervisor Terry Cox to research the cost of purchasing a pump that would get treated well water

Officials want youth programs

■ Luna County could serve as a model after reducing juvenile crime.

BY DIANNE STALLINGS
 RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

Innovative programs could create a detour for young people headed for trouble, members of the Lincoln County Community Cooperative Task Force told the Ruidoso Village Council Tuesday.

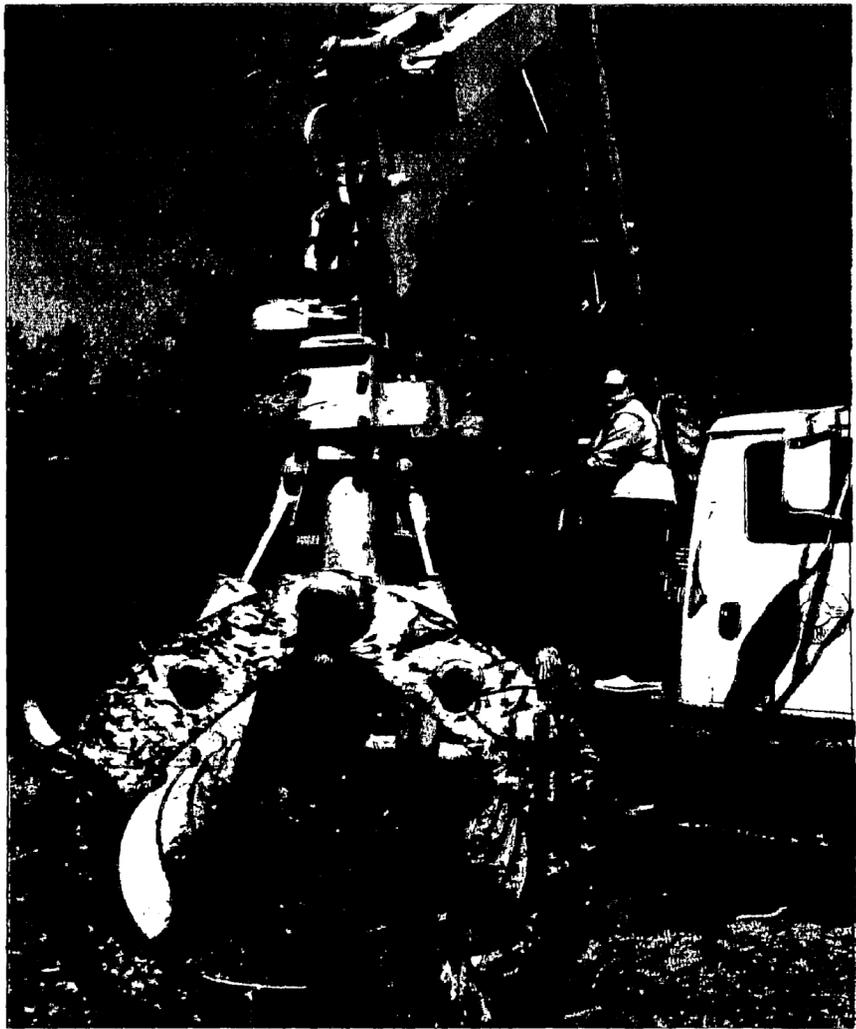

Sergio Castro, a juvenile probation officer with the Juvenile Justice Division of Children, Youth and Families, said the community group is trying to replicate the success of the city of Deming and Luna County. "In 1997, they realized they had a big problem," after three boys beat and robbed an elderly woman, stole her car, and then raped, beat and robbed a school nurse, he said. "They were high on drugs and drink," Castro said. "They burned the cars in the desert. The community was up in arms and the first thing the council thought was to build a detention center, but they realized they couldn't afford a 100-bed facility."

Luna County posts the highest unemployment rate in the state and the lowest per capita income, he said. Over the course of five years, community entities such as the school board, the county commission and the town came together to create partnership projects. A youth shelter was built to provide a safe place for juveniles at risk and a boot camp was formed for $350,000. Today, the delinquency rate has dropped and the camp is no longer used as other programs catch children before they need

Councilor suggests using GRT for parking space

BY DIANNE STALLINGS
 RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

Raising property taxes to buy land for parking and special events doesn't make sense when the village is facing more critical challenges in its water supply and forest health, says a long-time resident. Dick Goins, who frequently attends the meetings of the Ruidoso Village Council, spoke out against penalizing all land owners for a purchase of nearly five acres near the Comfort Inn that he contends primarily would benefit downtown merchants. But Councilor Deborah Marcum-Byars countered that unless the village can provide acreage to stage special events and parking for shoppers, many businesses and promoters will move to neighboring Ruidoso Downs. The village already lost the annual motorcycle rally and antique car show, she pointed out. But she agreed that money could be found through other sources, such as a gross receipts tax-fed airport reserve fund. "Many municipalities meet their infrastructure needs through property taxes, but ours would only pay for the fire department — not the police department, not the senior citizens center, not planning and zoning, not the judicial. Money for all the other basic services come from the gross receipts tax." She worries that Ruidoso will go the way of many towns and neglect its shopping area, causing businesses to move out. To stay that movement, the village could use a GRT tax designated for economic development, Byars said. "Ours is going toward the airport and to pay off the police building," she said. "In my opinion, it would be better for us to take some from the airport and put it back where the money is raised — the shopping area." Mayor Leon Eggleston explained that the water department is an enterprise fund and supports itself through user fees and a 1 percent GRT, which is used to buy water rights and for other improvements. Goins reminded the board that Councilor Ron Anderson drove downtown during the busy 4th of July holiday and found 50 empty parking spaces. "The downtown merchants are the direct beneficiaries (of more parking or special events nearby)," Goins said. "Let's tax them." Eggleston said the council isn't contemplating adding more tax at this point, simply redirecting the use of an existing GRT.

Goins also questioned how property owners living around the land proposed for purchase feel about more traffic, cars and special events in their area. Assistant village attorney Charles Rennick said three of the four sides facing the land that could be purchased are zoned commercial. "I keep looking down the road," Byars said. "If we keep going as we are, there's going to be more traffic and businesses will leave." Although revenue from lodgers tax is up, gross receipt taxes are down, she said, adding that village officials need to look at what's wrong with the current approach. Previously, a lodge owner told councilors that the lodgers tax may be higher, not because more people are in town, but because rooms cost more, especially with the opening of the Hawthorn Suites. Councilor Bob Sterchi said he too is looking ahead and is certain that the financial demand associated with forest health will be very high in two to five years. Goins said in his perspective of the future, if property taxes continue to increase, homeowners won't be able to afford to pay them. Councilors conducted a closed session on the proposed land purchase, but took no official action after reconvening in the open meeting.

Outdoor living expo receives OK from council despite village policy

BY DIANNE STALLINGS
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

A waiver of village policy cleared the way for the use of the Ruidoso Convention Center in August 2003 for a Mountain Living Hunting, Fishing and Outdoor Living Exposition.

Barbara Crane, sales director for the center off Mechem Drive, submitted the request for the waiver, explaining that village policy prohibits retail sales events during certain high tourist seasons and holidays. The dates run from Memorial Day weekend through Labor Day weekend, the weekend of Aspenfest, two weeks prior to the weekend of the Christmas Jubilee and Thanksgiving through the end of March.

Patricia Thompson, representing the expo proposed for Aug. 15-17, 2003, said the event will concentrate on education and information with seminars and demonstrations, but will include some retail sales, mostly by local merchants dealing in outdoor gear, recreational vehicle travel, log home builders and related items.

The Rocky Mountain Elk Foundation, which boasts a huge membership, has been invited to participate, Thompson said. She'd also like to include bow hunting and youth-oriented sports.

Councilor Ron Hardeman offered the motion to approve the waiver and Councilor Deborah Marcum-Byars seconded it, saying she wants to encourage eco-tourism.

"It's the fastest growing group of travelers with the highest portion of disposable income," she said. "Let them see what we have here so they will come back and boost the gross receipts taxes."

In other business, the council:
• Set a public hearing for Sept. 10 to consider adoption by reference of amendments to the state's uniform traffic code, including portions on littering, double fines in construction zones and electronic personal assisted devices on the roadway.

Chief Lanny Maddox explained that by adopting the code, police officers have a choice of citing people either under municipal law, which goes to municipal court, or state law, which goes to magistrate court.

• Noted that the meeting set for Aug. 27 is canceled because a quorum of councilors will not be able to attend.

• Approved paying for up to $10,000 of computer equipment already in place at the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce visitors center. The equipment was ordered with the understanding a grant would be received. The chamber paid, but the grant money hasn't come. Councilors agreed to query the state to see about getting special appropriation. If they can't, the money could be taken from a surplus in the lodgers tax fund.

• Approved under the consent agenda an agreement with RMKMc Architects for a development of concept plan and cost estimate for the main fire station relocation, approved the annual renewal agreement with Sharenet Corporation for computer consultation services, and approved the designation of Lorri McKnight, acting village manager, as a new signatory and official representative to the Regional Wastewater Treatment Plant modification project, replacing Alan Briley, former village manager.

• Approved under the consent agenda an annual renewal agreement for professional legal service with H. John Underwood Ltd. at a rate of $90,000 per year up to 900 hours (equating to 75 hours per month) with additional work each month charged at $120 per hour, plus expenses including copies, telephone, fax charges and mileage.

Solid waste department scrambling to respond to residents' requests for yard debris pickup

BY DIANNE STALLINGS
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

With the village facing a six-week to two-month backlog of pickup requests on yard debris, some Ruidoso residents are fed up with waiting.

One Camelot resident said lot owners in her neighborhood were told the area is the second most fire-prone in the village. They responded by raking, cutting and piling, but that was months ago and the piles continue to grow and blow, scattering needles along the street.

Her biggest fear is that by fall, the piles - by then much dryer - will still be in place when the rainy season stops. Then they become fire dangers, she contended.

Faced with an increase in monthly charges for yard debris collection to $5, many residents say it's time promised new grappling trucks and crews were on the road, eliminating piles of pine needles, tree limbs and pine cones stacked along village road-sides.

The village solid waste department was quickly overwhelmed by the response from property owners to pleas from officials with the village, the U.S. Forest Service and the state Forestry Division to reduce the number of trees on lots and clear away underbrush as fire prevention measures. Director Leonard Corona said he has two trucks on the road constantly collecting the debris.

James Mason, public information officer for the Ruidoso Fire Department and part of the Firewise effort, reported to village councilors Tuesday that the specifications for the trucks were finished by Corona that day, and he is hoping for delivery of one within 90 days. The expense will be covered by the additional yard debris fee. The second truck may have to wait until revenue begins to come in from vacant lots now being charged, Mason said.

Lorri McKnight, village finance officer and acting village manager, said a lease/purchase arrangement is anticipated for acquiring the trucks.

"We're trying to get them in as quickly as possible," she said last week. "A lot depends on the availability of the trucks. Our process requires bidding, waiting for submissions, opening the bids and then awarding a contract."

Specifications detail what features the solid waste director requires on the trucks. They're needed before advertisements for bids can be placed.

"But the critical factor is if a truck is available or they need lead time to create it," McKnight said. "Leonard seems to think there might be some available that won't require making them from scratch."

COMMUNITY BRIEFS

GOP meeting

The Lincoln County Republican Party is announcing its next Third Tuesday Meeting on Tuesday, Aug. 20, at Cree Meadows Country Club at 301 Country Club Road in Ruidoso. Socials will be at 5:30 p.m., with the dinner and meeting at 6. Guest speakers will be Dub Williams, State Representative and candidate for re-election, Maury St. John, candidate for County Commissioner and Beverly Callaway, candidate for County Treasurer. All are invited to attend.

Book discussion

A discussion and reading by Lisa Dale Norton, author of Hawk Flies Above and Anatomy of a Romance, will be from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. today at Books & Beans, 2501 Sudderth Drive in Midtown.

Kirkus Reviews compared her work to Terry Tempest Williams and Annie Dillard. Dale Norton brings her evocative, poetic and passionate narrative voice to New Mexico, where she will give an exclusive reading and discuss the relationships between landscape, creativity, personal experience and heart that resulted in her two books. Admission is a $5 donation.

Wood-cutting meeting

Ruidoso-area wood-cutting contractors and others using forest resources have been invited to a meeting on Thursday, Aug. 22, featuring a presentation by Rick DeIaco, Ruidoso urban forester.

DeIaco said he will spell out the rules governing tree-thinning in the village, and particularly those having to do with permitted cutting of large trees.

The meeting will begin at 6:30 p.m. in the council chambers of the village hall on Kansas City Road.

DeIaco said he hopes those engaged in any forest-based business - thinners, fire-wood cutters, bear carvers and such - will attend the meeting.

Chamber presentation

A presentation by the American Christmas Group and the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce is scheduled during a special meeting of the Ruidoso Village Council Aug. 23.

The meeting was called by Mayor Leon Eggleston for 10 a.m. at village hall on Cree Meadows Drive and Kansas City Street.

Hondo health fair

The Hondo Valley Community Health Fair will be held Aug. 22, 2002, 9 a.m. to 2 p.m., at the Hondo School Gymnasium. There will be activities for all ages. Free cholesterol screening and blood pressure checks will be given. United Blood Services will hold a blood drive. Plus, participants can partake in a bicycle safety event course. A child safety clinic (car seats), drug awareness courses and electrical safety courses will be given as well. More than 30 vendors will be there.

AspenFest parade

The Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce invites all to participate in the AspenFest parade, Oct. 5. The theme this year is "American Spirit." There is no entry fee.

Please contact the chamber at 257-7395 for a parade entry application or stop by the office at 720 Sudderth Drive. Join up to celebrate "American Spirit!"

YOUTH: More programs needed

the more para-military approach, he said.

"They came up with all of the programs without raising taxes," Castro said. "They found grants, involved foundations and shifted money. We're trying to replicate the approach before we have a tragedy like Deming. Substance abuse is the biggest problem faced by our youth locally. Just last Friday, there were 150 kids at a party in Ruidoso Downs."

The community also is at risk from possible fires that could be started by drug or drink-using teens, he said, recalling that the Cree Fire in May 2000 that burned about 6,500 acres of U.S. Forest service land. The fire was started by a small group of partying juveniles and one adult.

"We don't want to wait until the whole village burns down," he said.

Luna County eventually built a 20-bed juvenile facility, but found once the programs were in place, the beds weren't needed.

"They sold them to the federal system and they will generate $1 million this year, so it improved the county's financial position," Castro said.

A domestic violence shelter was created and public transportation system started, he said. One lobbyist represents all of the entities in Santa Fe, and has brought in "a lot of money from the state, the federal government and from foundations," Castro said.

Ted Allen, representing Americorp and the New Mexico Council for Community Volunteerism, said his program provides a way for young people to build self-esteem and to give back to their communities.

"I think they need more opportunities to do positive things," he said. He stressed the importance of a youth center and a shelter for children who have been hurt by a parent or guardian - a place to stay while figuring out the next step. They need someone to listen to and support them, he said.

"If there is no infrastructure for all of the young to develop their potential - not just the Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts - we're missing the boat," Allen said.

Incarcerating one juvenile for a year at the Springer detention center costs $40,000, Castro said. Last year, Lincoln County budgeted $180,000 for juvenile detention and the figure didn't include the transportation costs paid through the sheriff's office.

Lincoln County and its five incorporated communities would be wise to invest on the front end, instead of spending even more money combating crime and jailing offenders, Castro said.

"We need upfront planning, not necessarily money," he said. But money is a need, a representative of the county Health and Wellness Board said.

Funding for after-school programs and the Youth Asset Building program were cut, yet the hours between school dismissal and when parents come home from work are prime for juvenile crime and mischief, she said.

"We need one focus," she said, urging a cooperative effort of the county, cities, school districts and other entities such as Big Brothers/Big Sisters, and the state Children, Youth and Families Department.

While Lincoln County isn't experiencing the drive-by shootings and other violent crimes often associated with gangs, that could change if steps aren't taken now, Ruidoso Police Chief Lanny Maddox said. He's been involved from the start of the local effort, originally called Struggling to Survive, he said.

"This has to be a team concept, and that's not always easy in Lincoln County," he said, noting the success of Camp Sierra Blanca, which handles already adjudicated juveniles in a para-military atmosphere.

"I want to get kids before that," Maddox said. "We need to get them midstream and help them develop a sense of self-worth."

Castro invited councilors to visit a model program in Fort Worth, Texas, saying the JJAC will pay for the trip. While Councilors Ron Hardeman and L. Ray Nunley expressed interest, Councilor Deborah Marcum-Byars and Mayor Leon Eggleston said they will meet with Luna County Manager Scott Vinson while they're in the area on another issue later this month.

For more information about the task force, call (505) 258-4250 or 258-5803. The group meets at 11:30 a.m. Wednesdays at the Pizza Hut on Mechem Drive.

Political governance and private enterprise

Midtown open space could be a test case

Ruidoso for all its half-century-plus as an incorporated municipality has tended to be ungovernable.

Whether it's the tradition of free spirits seeking to do their own thing in a mountain paradise, or hidebound conservatives insisting on the right to do as they please with their lives and property, there's little question that in Ruidoso, private enterprise has come first.

Witness the effort of the prior administration to spend some millions of dollars for a recreation center, which was royally driven into the ground by the taxpayers.

Witness the current move to spend big for open space near Midtown, to provide parking space for shoppers and an open area for events appealing to locals and visitors.

Even as that effort cranked up, with considerable fanfare, a property owner comes forward with an already financed development proposal that would provide hundreds of parking spaces in a structure (suitably disguised) at Country Club and Sudderth.

The whole scheme ultimately might include a landscaped park and even an amphitheater overlooking the Rio Ruidoso.

This project probably won't change village council members' ambition to do something for Midtown and bring back some departed events, but it should at least sharpen their focus so that they aren't doing with tax money what can be done by private enterprise.

She's going for 12 years in office

If you happen to be in the newspaper business, there's little question that you're going to meet people running for public office —

MOUNTAIN ASIDES

otherwise known as politicians — whether they be male, female, Green, Libertarian or your garden variety Democrat or Republican.

And, if they get elected, you're sure to see them again — about four years later, when they're running for re-election.

Because of New Mexico's political registration (mostly Demo), you — predictably — tend to get better acquainted with the Democrats, who inevitably occupy the lesser executive offices in state office buildings in and around Santa Fe.

That's because, except for governors and people we send to Washington, inevitably those runners for lesser statewide elective offices are Democrats.

Such a one is the current occupant of the office of Secretary of State, a native Taoseña (i.e., one born and raised in Taos) named Rebecca Vigil-Giron. She dropped in this week as an adjunct to attending a confab of all 33 county clerks (eight of them Republicans) at the Carrizo Lodge.

And, since we'd visited with her Republican opponent — a dynamic Navajo woman named Sharon Clahchischillige — in the office a while back, it wouldn't have been politically correct to decline a conversation.

Besides, Vigil-Giron is one of those sparkling, personable, political professionals with a knack for easy conversation and a memory for names and faces that would do a Bruce King proud.

She's also a rare state official going for a third term; she had served in the office from 1987 through 1990, stepped aside eight years for her deputy, Stephanie Gonzales, then came back in via the ballot box in 1998.

Yes, you can legally succeed yourself in office one time, and that's what she wants to do.

She's also, according to her campaign literature, the highest ranking Hispanic woman state official in the United States. Should something happen to both Gary Johnson and Walter Bradley before the end of the year, she'd become governor.

Why run again? "I have the experience, and there's so much work to do in election reform — something I've been working on all this term. The Legislature gave $2 million to do an interactive computer registration system that should get lots of deceased voters off the rolls. We want it operational before the next Presidential election."

Vigil-Giron has testified before Congress on election reform. "On a national level, we cannot relent in our resolve to restore the confidence of the American people in our electoral systems," she says.

If she's thereby hinting at the last Presidential election outcome and what happened in Florida — well, she hints further that if every state's election system was as good as New Mexico's, there'd be no problem.

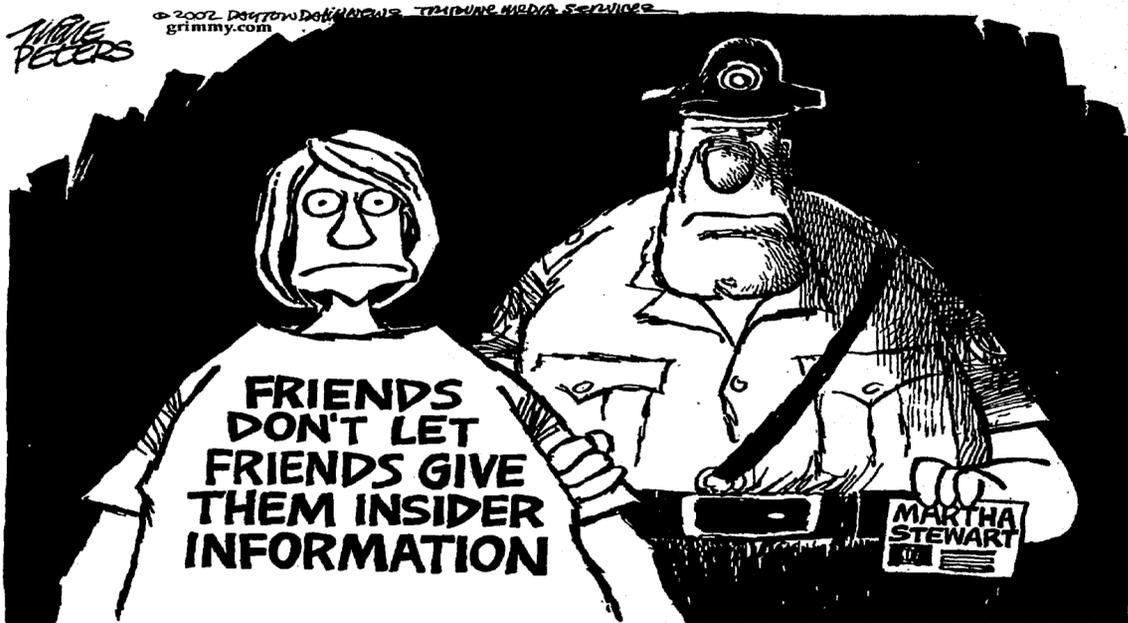

And, of course, she acknowledges she is one partisan Democrat.

LETTERS POLICY

The Ruidoso News encourages letters to the editor, especially about local topics and issues. Each letter must be signed and must include the writer's daytime telephone number and mail address. The phone number and mailing address will not be printed; the hometown will be. The telephone number will be used to verify authorship. No letter will be printed without the writer's name.

Letters should be no more than 300 words in length, of public interest, and free of libel; editing will be for length, grammar or spelling. Shorter letters are preferred and generally receive greater readership. The Ruidoso News reserves the right to reject any letter. YOUR OPINION

Ham radio people speak out

To the editor:

The negative comments regarding amateur radio antennas made during a recent P&Z meeting disturb me. Radio amateurs (licensed by the Federal Communication Commission) volunteer communication support whenever and wherever it is needed.

In this community they assist both White Mountain Search and Rescue and support of the Red Cross (especially during forest fire fighting activities) on a continuing basis. Other community activities are supported with communication such as the AERC Endurance Ride. Cell phones and commercial radios fail to cover the county nearly as well as the coverage provided by radio amateurs.

Nationally, amateur radio has repeatedly demonstrated its value during major disasters. During such disasters cell phones and wired phones usually fail and one of the few remaining modes of communication is via amateur radio. Communication to the "outside world" during a disaster is made via the antennas, which were complained about during the recent P&Z hearing. To further degrade the amateur antennas because they are owned by private citizens and are not owned by a commercial firm (such as a cell phone company, which charges for the services provided) is unwarranted and counter to encouraging volunteer support in our community.

Amateurs always want to be good neighbors and will work to remove interference, if any, caused by their equipment. Interference is very, very rare but people often believe, without any supporting evidence, a problem with their phone, TV or stereo is due to an antenna in their neighborhood.

Amateurs, if contacted, will assist in finding the real cause of the problem and assist in correction.

Amateur radio operators are an asset to our community, and they are not the blight indicated in the recent P&Z meeting.

Bill Cook

No high towers

To the editor:

When our neighbors were first told we are planning "radio transmitting towers," I'm sure everyone pictured red and white commercial towers with blinking lights, right between them and their incredible views of the mountains. We would oppose that, too! But nothing could be further from the truth. These antennas are roughly as tall as the tree line on our lot.

Bruce Chapman's development is south of our lot. Our antennas, to his north, will be many feet below the crest of a hill behind them, not in front of a view.

Ruidoso appraiser Rod Adamson has appraised our home and those on both sides of it within the past year. He tells me the antennas had absolutely no effect on the values, and seemed surprised anyone would make such a claim.

The Planning and Zoning Commission made it clear each requested permit is judged on its own merits. An approval for us would set no precedent.

Mr. Bremner misunderstood our filing. We never intended to install the antennas before the home. When we bought the lot, we were unaware of any applicable ordinances. We filed now to be certain — before investing more money — that we can secure a permit when the time comes.

The Juniper Hills Architectural Committee (Mr. R. F. Madera) — after giving us written permission, upon which we based the purchase of our lot — was given false information ... I quote from the letter, to him, placed on the record with P&Z by the writer. "Mr.

Juge personally informed me that he plans to erect several 42 ft.-45 ft. rotating directional antennas on his lot." Whether by misunderstanding or malice, this is absolutely and categorically untrue. Our exact plans are a matter of public record in our P&Z application. We believe that most of the opposition was contrived using just this kind of misinformation as scare tactics.

No home or lot in Juniper Hills, or elsewhere, will see these antennas between them and either a mountain or valley view.

Can they see them at all? The Holloways, the only ones who have us between them and ANY kind of desirable view, were kind enough to allow us onto their deck, to look at a 53-foot tall pole we placed at the approximate antenna location. For each antenna, it appears they will see 6 or 8 feet of 7/16-inch diameter tubing, approximately 75 feet away, which I have offered to paint to match the trees. From their decks, the tops of both antennas will be directly in front of and below the tree line on Bruce Chapman's property, 100 yards away. Our property is not in between anyone else and either the mountains or the valley view.

... I truly believe this is no longer about views or aesthetics. Unfortunately, it has morphed into a purely emotional issue for many of those involved.

Radio amateurs communicate using about the same wattage as an average light bulb in your home. You use the equivalent of our maximum permitted power when you iron a shirt or blouse. We pose no threat to anyone. Local amateurs have been recognized nationally for providing necessary emergency communications in every forest fire, power outage, other emergency and many public events in or around the Ruidoso area in recent years. Amateur operations are strongly supported by organizations like the Department of Defense, Red Cross, Civil Air Patrol, Search and Rescue and others. I like to think we're good neighbors and pretty good citizens who perform a useful, no-cost service to our communities without causing harm to anyone.

Make a factual decision

To the editor:

Having read your story "Turn on the Radio" and also having attended the meeting of the P&Z Commission where Mr. Juge's sketch plan was reviewed, I can only hope that clear objective minds on the commission and (village) council reach a correct decision based on factual information as well as federal and state law regarding amateur radio antennas. The services rendered by all local amateur radio operators should not be constrained by fear mongering and less than perfect knowledge that was so evident at the commission meeting.

CAPITAN: No pump

from Capitan to the Bonito pipeline so that these five customers could continue to receive water.

Sederwall stated that he felt the land owners affected by Alamogordo's decision to cut off the water to Capitan had in fact "saved Capitan in 1957 by permitting easements across their property." Mr. Cox found a pump for $6,000 plus the cost of bringing and paying for three-phase electricity to the pump site.

Four of the five extra-territorial water customers on the Bonito line have been receiving it since 1957. The other customer on the line received his tap at a later date in an exchange for an easement on his property. Capitan purchased this water from Alamogordo.

Armed with this information, Mayor Sederwall placed this matter on the agenda of a regular meeting of the Capitan Board of Trustees. But three out of four refused to consider it for a variety of reasons, expressing concern over who would pay for the pump and a village resolution that denies the granting extraterritorial water taps.

Shearer and Sederwall pointed out that this cost would be amortized over a period of time due to the fact that the village was charging higher rates to extraterritorial customers than to village customers.

The question of the Bonito pipeline appeared on the agendas of at least the last six village regular and special meetings without any agreement being reached among the trustees. Sederwall negotiated with Alamogordo for a time extension on the pipeline shut-off and was given a final date of Sept. 30. This meant that the pump, if it was to be bought, must be ordered no later than Aug. 28 in order for it to be installed by the deadline.

The village has already been put on notice by Gary Mitchell, attorney for four of the plaintiffs, that if the water is shut off to his clients, he will sue for actual damages, punitive damages and attorney's fees. In addition to this, he will ask the 12th Judicial District Court for injunctive relief for his clients.

The fifth person has been asked to provide an easement for a $360,000 Community Development Block Grant project, concerning necessary improvements to the storm drainage on 4th Street, that the Village of Capitan sought for two years before it was approved.

The action to not supply water to the customers on the Bonito pipeline may put the granting of this easement in doubt. Because of the grant's tenuous status, a resident on 4th Street, who gets most of the flooding when it occurs, has put the village on notice that he intends to sue the next time his house and property are flooded.

Also of concern to the village is seven miles of asbestos concrete pipeline that, according to Dr. Bernhardt Reimann, the village environmental advisor, will have to be removed and treated as toxic waste if it is allowed to become dry. Even if this is not the case, the landowners in question can force the village to remove this pipe as part of an abandoned easement at which time it would become toxic waste.

Hemphill says he 'regrets statement' made at recent school board retreat

Superintendent says new high school theater getting closer to done at Tuesday's board meeting

BY SANDY SUGGITT
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

At the regular meeting of the Ruidoso School Board Aug. 13, 12-year school board member Ronnie Hemphill read a statement about his comment referring to improved test scores resulting from losing Mescalero students to the new school:

"I made a statement at our board retreat last week, which was quoted and printed in the Ruidoso News (Aug. 7). It is unfortunate that the invited reporter chose to include this statement in her article.

"Our staff, administration and this board have dedicated many hours to the education of the Native American students, and all should be commended, not criticized for our unending efforts in this endeavor.

"I regret making the statement, I regret the perceptions derived by the Mescalero Apache tribe in regards to the statement, and mostly, I regret any harm done to the Ruidoso Municipal Schools as the result of my statement."

There was no discussion of this statement, and an item on the draft agenda to discuss the annual school board retreat was removed "to make the meeting shorter," said School Board President Susan Lutterman.

After the meeting, a Mescalero parent said her children attended Ruidoso schools last year, and the younger ones will attend the new Mescalero school this year, but her high school-age daughter wanted to return to Ruidoso High School.

"Are my children going to be treated differently because they live in Mescalero?" Manisha Shaffer asked. "Now we don't know. He (Hemphill) doesn't say why he stated it or what he did mean by it. I think he owes not only Ruidoso but all the students that have been attending from Mescalero an apology, because the way we took it, our kids are slowing down Ruidoso on test scores."

Another parent, Candace Valcarcel, said, "I think he owes the community an apology because that was totally out of line ... It was an embarrassment to me to have a school board member say a thing like that."

In other business, the school board approved the board goals for the 2002-2003 school year, and approved a bid from Lincoln Transportation for activity transportation services for the school district. The rate approved was $1.60 per mile plus tax, $75 per day for additional drivers and a $35 cleaning fee when excess trash is left in the bus. Last year's rate was $1.57 per mile plus tax.

Superintendent of Schools Mike Gladden said the fine arts auditorium is moving closer to completion, and the old part of the fine arts building is ready for band, choir, art and drama classes. The architect and landscape engineer met with Gladden Tuesday and will make a recommendation on dealing with the Gavilan Canyon Road side of the auditorium building, where earth and rock are piled and at risk of eroding.

The new auditorium will seat 347, and chairs with arms have been ordered, Gladden said.

The next meeting of the school board was changed from the usual second Tuesday of the month to Sept. 17, at 7 p.m. in the Central Administration Building. The public is welcome to attend.

IF YOU WAIT TO SEEK TREATMENT AFTER THE
FIRST SIGN OF A HEART ATTACK, YOU COULD LOSE
MORE THAN A DAY.

At the first symptom of a heart attack, every minute that passes reduces your chances of survival by 10%. That's why, even if you experience mild symptoms like nausea, dizziness or unexplained fatigue, you should go to the ER as fast as possible. If it's treated soon enough, a heart problem can usually be kept from doing irreparable damage to your body. At ENMMC, we offer a wide range of services for the prevention, diagnosis and rehab of cardiac problems. Our sophisticated technology helps pinpoint cardiac problems, leading to the most appropriate treatment, and our four cardiologists are top-notch: Michael McGuire, M.D., Fundador Adajar, M.D., Hamid Feroze, M.D., and Zoltan Toth, M.D. Choose ENMMC for your cardiac health. BUSINESS

BUSINESS BRIEFS

High Country Outlet open

High Country Outlet is planning a ribbon-cutting ceremony with the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce for 3 p.m. Aug. 30 with food and beverages and drawings for prizes.

The home decor and furnishings store relocated from Vision Drive to the former Ruidoso post office building at 2927 Sudderth Drive in March.

"We were hoping that we would be more accessible and easy to find," said Lissa Kinder, who co-owns the business with her father, Bob Pace, and manages it with her brother, David.

The family refurbished the building, but is displaying the 1961 dedication sign where it was originally placed and incorporating old mail boxes into the design of the store.

The store also is selling post office boxes. Customers have used them for jewelry boxes, piggy banks and storage for wine bottles, silverware and documents.

"It's just kind of fun," Kinder said.

Business dropped after

Sept. 11, 2001, she said, but picked up again last month with the cooler weather and with new customers finding the store.

The new location has about 5,400 square feet of space. It offers imported rugs and furniture and custom ordering of bed-linens in 350 different fabrics and leather.

Fruit market moves

Tom and Suzanne Freeman relocated their Country Fruit Market to one-half mile north of Airport Road on U.S. 48. The husband-and-wife team has operated a fruit stand in Ruidoso for seven years, last on Carrizo Canyon Road.

They sought a permanent location to sell their wares — locally grown fruits and vegetables, and roasted corn and chile. Currently they offer peaches, plums, pears, black-eye peas, cucumbers, green beans, cider, caramel apples, jams and jellies, and will soon have apples and figs.

The store is open May through mid-October, every day from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

The Economy and the Markets

Consumers and the Fed

BY MICHAEL SWANSON
WELLS FARGO & COMPANY

During the current down cycle, the Federal Reserve has pushed monetary policy to be as stimulative as is reasonably possible.

An extremely tight relationship exists between the Fed Funds Target Rate (FFTR) and personal interest expenditures for consumers. Each percentage point cut in the FFTR saves consumers $7.7 billion on an annual basis. Factoring in the timing and the size of the cuts to date, the Fed has freed up $42 billion for additional consumer spending since January of 2001.

Aggressive rate cutting has also benefited another big spender. Government interest payments have fallen significantly, thanks to the lower short-term rates.

The federal government has swapped a significant part of its short-term debt for lower rates during the last 20 months. In fact, the government has saved $45 billion in interest payments thanks to the cheaper cost of borrowing.

And without a doubt, the U.S. Treasury will try to position its portfolio's duration to continue to take advantage of this situation. Businesses have also been quick to position themselves to reduce their cost of borrowing.

Unfortunately, government statistics regarding comprehensive business interest payments and receipts are only published on an annual basis making it difficult to peg the exact amount of benefit derived from the lower rates.

However, there are some hidden costs that give the Fed reason to limit further cuts of the FFTR. There is no such thing as a free lunch in economics, and the Federal Reserve's low interest rate policy has been creating an important, negative economic feedback.

A simple comparison of personal income and spending shows that households receive approximately $1.1 trillion annually in interest income while only spending $0.2 trillion in interest payments. Each percentage point cut in the FFTR decreases personal interest income by $26 billion annually while reducing expenses by $7.7 billion annually.

This means that consumer interest income falls much faster than consumer interest expenses. The net effect is a drop in cash flow of $18.3 billion annually for each percentage point drop in the FFTR.

However, this gap between lost income and increased savings is even more complicated than it appears. Just as advertisers covet certain age demographics due to their ability to spend discretionary income, the gap between lost income and savings affects two very different groups.

Statistically, older consumers typically have little debt and higher accumulated savings. This group has suffered most of the income loss and enjoyed little of the cost savings. Typically, younger consumers are the exact opposite with little or no savings and heavy debt loads.

These consumers have benefited the most from the Fed's policy. However, given the different spending patterns, the Fed's hope is that young consumers have taken these savings and immediately returned to buy even more.

This complicated relationship between debt holders and debt payers shows that the Fed's stimulative policy has important limits.

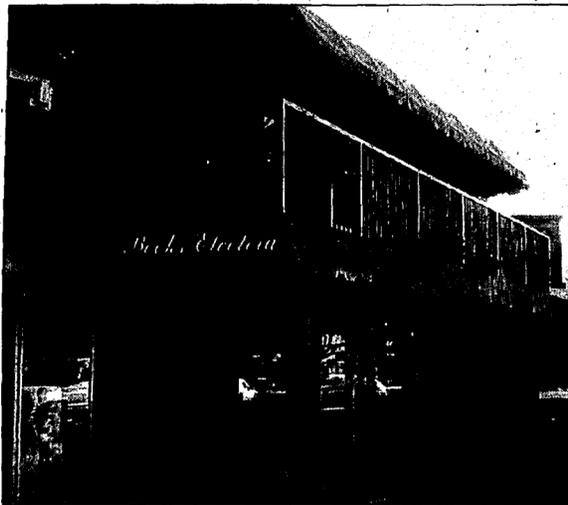

Low interest rates basically favor today's consumption over tomorrow's investment, which is a legitimate policy goal in a recession cycle.

Politically speaking, however, older debt holders (typically enthusiastic voters) will begin to exert more pressure since it is their income that continues to suffer as the Fed attempts to prime the economic pump.

These are not investment recommendations. Consult your financial advisers.

Area construction surge continues

Ruidoso Downs Hampton Inn work starts; permit for Best Western issued in Ruidoso

BY MELANIE SATTLER
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

Both Ruidoso and Ruidoso Downs are experiencing upswings in development — including two new motels and an apartment complex.

Ruidoso in July granted a commercial permit to contractor Carl Tucker of Bowie, Texas, for a Best Western hostelry on Camelot Drive with a total construction value of $2.19 million. Larry Strain of Port Lavaca, Texas, owns the 39,703-square-foot motel, which will include a 1,500-square-foot carport parking area.

Building permits issued through July by Ruidoso's planning office show an overall increase of 24.4 percent for 2002, and an increase of 34.57 percent compared to July of last year, including the hefty commercial permit.

The value of permits issued so far this year totals $29.7 million, and the total permit fees collected in July, $32,454, tops this month last year by 95.73 percent.

Ruidoso issued 109 building permits last month, 28 more than in July 2001.

Of the total permits, 15 were for single-family residences, 50 percent more than those issued a year ago. Manufactured homes accounted for two, and seven were for commercial alterations and additions. The bulk, 79, were for residential alterations and additions.

Ruidoso Downs issued $2 million in building permits in July, including one for a new hotel on U.S. 70 at a cost of $1.8 million. TNJ Construction is building the three-story Hampton Inn next to Denny's restaurant. The hotel will comprise 61 units. Owner Sharma Surendra also owns the Economy Inn in Ruidoso Downs.

Building permits issued this July total $1.97 million more than July last year. And the $8,370 in total fees collected by the city for July 2002 tops this month last year by $7,687, though the city issued just three more permits this year.

Nine permits were for alterations and additions and another was for the $15,000 construction of a radio tower by Key Communications of Ruidoso Downs and Roswell.

The tower will be used for a paging system and 800-megahertz system for telephone and radio to enhance radio communication between Ruidoso Downs and Buck Mountain, said Travis Atwell, technician with Key Communications.

The business provides two-way radio and telephone service to businesses and emergency response entities. Atwell expects that in the future the new tower will "give better coverage for the valley," improving Lincoln County emergency management systems.

The city granted Doug Siddens a permit for construction of a $166,780 residence on Agua Fria Road.

Earlier this year, Anasazi Builders Corp. of Pojoaque began constructing Ladera Apartment Homes on DiPaolo Hill in Ruidoso Downs at a cost of $2.3 million. The 60-unit complex owned by Steve Crozier is going in across from the racetrack entrance on U.S. 70.

Focus on Agriculture

Young farmers, women stepping up

BY STEWART TRUELSEN
AMERICAN FARM BUREAU

The average age of farm operators is almost 55 years, easily qualifying them for membership in AARP, but there is a generation of young farmers and ranchers ready to face the challenges ahead. Women too are playing an important role in America's farming future, particularly in promoting agriculture and educating the non-farm public.

Utah dairy farmer Kerry Gibson is 30-years-old and chairman of the American Farm Bureau Federation Young Farmers and Ranchers Committee. He's already getting plenty of experience on the family farm near Ogden in dealing with the recurrent tough times in agriculture. Milk prices in Utah are among the lowest in the nation, the western drought is worsening and insect problems are bad this year.

Yet, Gibson is optimistic. "Our young farmers and ranchers are more enthusiastic than ever and feel as though there is a bright future. And that's why they do their best to use technology and move forward as they try to find a niche market or something that will help keep them in business for a long time," says Gibson.

This attitude, which is confirmed by an American Farm Bureau poll of young farmers, should be a relief for consumers. They will increasingly rely on these young farmers as baby boomer farmers end their careers. Some of these older farmers no doubt will retire early rather than deal with all the headaches of farming.

But young farmers already are prepared for the headaches. They know they face a tougher regulatory climate than their fathers did when they started out, and they know public perceptions of farming and public buy-in to solve the complex problems of agriculture are important.

Near Danville, Ky., AFB Women's Chair Terry Gilbert also sees great potential on the farm and in farm organizations for women. "I think one of the skills that women bring to Farm Bureau is the ability to communicate and their willingness to sit down and talk about issues with the public." Gilbert believes agricultural education and consumer awareness provide excellent opportunities for women. "I think women can be very active in promoting agriculture itself and what agriculture does for everybody, how we need agriculture every day to live and how it touches everyone's lives."

Through Farm Bureau, many women are involved in contacting legislators about public policy issues. These efforts helped most recently in passing a new farm bill. "With commodity prices as low as they are right now, a farm bill is essential to help some farms survive so they can continue farming for the next 5 or 10 years," she says.

Gilbert also notes a trend of more women working off the farm to supplement their family income or obtain medical insurance. On the farm, they often handle the bookkeeping or work alongside their husbands. While her husband was taking cattle to market, Gilbert was checking on other cattle in a pasture.

Farming has always been a family affair. That's not new. What is new is that the leadership abilities of young farmers and women are becoming more important to the future success of this industry.

Downs mulls matching county's solid waste rules

City council also talks new sewer rate plan for mobile home parks, approves lease with emergency medical service provider

BY MELANIE SATTLER
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

At Ruidoso Downs' city council meeting Tuesday, Attorney Don Dutton presented a proposal for an ordinance that would provide for efficient and sanitary collection of solid waste, mandatory disposal, and penalties for violation of the ordinance.

The Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority is asking each of its member entities to adopt a similar ordinance in order to make regulations uniform between Lincoln County, Ruidoso Downs, Carrizozo, Corona and Capitan. The solid waste authority is also seeking the ability to set rates from time to time as provided by the joint-powers agreement.

The new ordinance, already adopted by the county, would reaffirm that joint resolution signed by the county and municipalities in 1991. Carrizozo and Capitan officials dispute LCSWA's authority to set rates.

Councilors discussed a section of the new water and sewer ordinance adopted July 29 regarding sewer connections servicing multiple units. The provision allows the city to charge a minimum monthly fee for sewer service multiplied by the number of units being serviced by the sewer connection.

When the new sewer rates passed, citizens brought to light the section providing for a per-unit fee for mobile home park residents. The city had been charging parks a single rate. Councilors will look at revising the charges from a $32 per unit cost for commercial to $14.65 for residents.

"We wanted to make it fair," said John Waters, city administrator.

"We wanted to make (the sewer rate) fair."

John Waters
city administrator

In 1992, a line was removed from the ordinance that exempted tourist lodging facilities. Councilors will consider adding that language again at a future regular meeting.

The council talked about the possibility of adopting an ordinance for an increase in its infrastructure gross receipts tax as part of the new water rate structure. If the council decides to adopt a hike of one-eighth or one-sixteenth, the citizens must vote to approve it; tentative election dates are Dec. 10 or 17.

Councilor Margie Morales said an increase in gross receipts tax would alleviate the cost of raising water rates to the citizens by spreading some of the burden to visitors.

The council approved an agreement with Presbyterian Healthcare Services to manage emergency medical service and to lease emergency medical equipment to the city for $20,000 annually, which required a budget increase of $5,000.

Jim Stover, PHS representative, lamented the recent decrease in federal funding which necessitated the higher fee. Rural emergency service providers have the same fixed costs as others, but receive fewer calls and thus less income, he said.

The council filled two board vacancies at the mayor's recommendation. Resident and business owner Barbara Green will serve on the planning and zoning board, and resident and retired teacher Dean Holman on the extraterritorial zoning board.

The council selected Mayor Bob A. Miller and Waters as voting delegates for the business meeting of the New Mexico Municipal League Annual Conference on Aug. 29 in Deming, at which the league will elect officers and adopt a municipal policy statement.

Councilors met in an executive session to consider purchase of real property and water rights. After coming back into regular session, they agreed to buy water rights when negotiations on a 9.68-acre deal are finalized. The city has funds already budgeted.

The City of Ruidoso Downs' next regular council meeting takes place Monday, Aug. 26, at 5:30 p.m. in the Hubbard Room of the municipal building on Downs Drive.

Outdoors volunteer group plans three trips through September

BY DIANNE STALLINGS
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

The New Mexico Volunteers for the Outdoors is offering some real deals for people who enjoy nature, hard work and camaraderie.

Three projects this month and next month will take participants to Sugarite State Park near Raton, Bandelier National Monument near Santa Fe and Diamond Creek to work on the Continental Divide.

The group is looking for members, but trying the work on for size as a non-member the first time is a good way to decide if these hands-on projects fit.

Project leader Barbara Hoehne says those joining the Sugarite gathering may see a mountain lion or other wildlife at the popular park. Work on a trail begun two years ago will continue with tread maintenance, reduction of cross slopes pruning, step and waterbar construction and cairn construction.

Participants will camp at the group shelter in Soda Pocket Campground, elevation 7,500 feet, in a large meadow for tents and space for campers. A covered shelter, tables and pit toilets are available. Hot showers can be found at the visitors center and drinking water at nearby Lake Alice Campground.

The deadline to sign up is Aug. 23. Hoehne advises volunteers to bring camping gear, work clothes with long sleeves and pant legs, work boots, gloves, a day pack, water bottles, insect repellent, sunscreen, sunglasses, a hat, rain gear, campfire chair and food for all meals, except the Saturday night dinner provided by VFO.

"The park is a treat to visit with wildlife, trails, beautiful vistas, coal camp ruins, and lakes for fishing or no-wake boating," she said. The campground gate is locked at 10 p.m.

To sign up, contact Hoehne at (505) 262-9059 or e-mail at BarbHoehne@aol.com.

Heading the Bandelier project, Sept. 7-8, is Ruth Hartwick. Participants will camp on the mesa top in the Juniper Campground near the entrance station. It has tables, fire rings, flush toilets and water taps, but no hook-ups. Drive-through spaces are available.

The crew will work on the two-mile Frey Trail that connects the campground with the valley floor. All levels of work are needed from pruning vegetation to rock moving.

Bandelier is dedicated to the preservation of ancient cliff dwelling near a deep gorge cut by Frijoles Creek. The park's visitors center shows films and exhibits about the historic area.

Saturday breakfast and dinner and Sunday breakfast will be provided, but bring lunch to eat on the trail Saturday. The visitors center has a snack bar for those who want to hike down and back.

Contact Hartwick by Sept. 3 by calling (505) 294-3551 or e-mail lharts@unm.edu.

Ray Peale, heading the Diamond Creek Fall Backpack Classic, said the project will connect two sections of the Continental Divide Trail, worked on by NMVFO for the last two years.

The work consists of new state-of-the-art trail construction and rerouting of the CDT along the Aldo Leopold Wilderness's Black Range overseen by Tim Pohlman, instructor at the VFO's May Trail Building Workshop.

The project puts trail building theory into practice, Peale says. After completion, about 20 miles of rerouted trail will be opened to the public, he said.

The scheduling is Friday to Friday, Sept. 20-27, instead of just one weekend. Weekend-only volunteers also are encouraged to attend.

Camping will be below the Continental Divide above Diamond Creek, requiring a three-mile backpack taking two to three hours. Group meals begin with dinner on Friday, Sept. 20 and extend through breakfast on Friday, Sept. 27.

The deadline to sign up is Sept. 13. Questions about the project can be directed to Peale at (505) 473-9670 or e-mail at tpeale@rt66.com.

General membership meetings of the organization are conducted at 7 p.m. on the first Wednesday of each month at the Clubhouse for the Home Office Plaza, 2403 San Mateo NE in Albuquerque. That's two blocks north of I-40. The meeting next month will be Sept. 4.

RUIDOSO POLICE

Furniture taken

Ruidoso police are investigating the theft of a mattress and coffee table taken from a residence in the 200 block of Carrizo Canyon Road Aug. 8. An officer wrote in his report that suspects arrived at the same time he did, and he pursued them but lost them.

Money missing

Police report that $500 was taken from the office and reception area of High Sierra Condominiums, 504 Excaliber Drive, between 9 p.m. Aug. 11 and 8 a.m. Aug. 12. The clean-up person said the back door was not locked when she came in, the report states.

Incorrigible child

Police arrested a 16-year-old boy reported as a runaway Aug.

12 in the 200 block of Sunnyslope Drive. The boy was arrested at the skating park on White Mountain Drive, charged with being an incorrigible child, referred to the Juvenile Probation Office and released to a parent.

Jacket stolen

Someone reportedly entered a home in the 400 block of Mechem Drive between noon Aug. 8 and noon Aug. 9, removing a "very heavy biker jacket" valued at $500.

Window broken

The rear window of a vehicle was shattered when the driver was leaving the Pizza Hut parking lot at 725 Sudderth Dr. about 10:30 p.m. Aug. 13.

Motel theft

A laptop computer belonging to PMC Construction, valued at $1,000, a camera valued at $200, clothes valued at $300 and binoculars valued at $80 were reported missing from a room at 29 Pines Motel, 1802 Sudderth Drive between 8 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Aug. 13.

Abuse arrest

Police arrested Alejandro E. Ruiz, 38, of Ruidoso, Aug. 14, charging him with abuse of a child, interference with communications and criminal damage of property.

Key tossed

Police arrested Rebecca L. Simpson, 26, of Ruidoso, Aug. 11, charging her with burglary of a motor vehicle for alleging taking and tossing the ignition key of another person's vehicle. Simpson led the police to the ignition key, the report states.

'Zozo chamber backs breakfast, animal festival

BY JULIE CARTER
FOR THE RUIDOSO NEWS

The August Carrizozo Chamber of Commerce meeting saw the nomination and election of a new vice president.

Cynthia Culbertson will be replacing Janet Lynn, who tendered her letter of resignation in July, citing illness-induced family time conflicts.

The Chamber will be hosting a Pancake Breakfast Sept. 2 to coincide with the Carrizozo Street Fair. Breakfast serving hours will be 7:30 to 9:30 a.m. at the Recreation Center. It will include all-you-can-eat pancakes for $5 a person.

Proceeds will go toward the purchase of new town Christmas decorations. Tickets are now on sale. For advance purchases, call Pat Voss at 649-2205.

Carrizozo chamber businesses are adopting a logo to use in advertising and business promotion. The logo,

"Destination Carrizozo," is aimed at promoting Carrizozo as a stopping place, not just a pass-through town.

In a detailed presentation, Cynthia Culbertson outlined the proposal for the CarriZOOZOO Animal Festival, planned for Oct. 19.

The concept is to provide a fun-filled day for all ages as well as promote Carrizozo, local business and local venues. The emphasis of the day will be on appreciation, education, understanding and responsible care for all animals.

Planned activities include a traditional "Blessing of the Animals" followed by a pet parade, animal-themed storytelling, Search and Rescue Dog Demo, Roswell Zoo reptile exhibit, Smokey Bear, and the Glee Club singing animal songs.

The festival will include a trivia contest to highlight merchants and businesses, an art exhibit and animal art classes for kids at the ZoZo Galleries, Bosque del Apache exhibit, a First Annual Animal Humanitarian award, exotic breeds display, and veterinarian lectures on pet care. Proceeds from the day will purchase spay/neuter certificates for disbursement according to need and a percentage donated to the Lincoln County Humane Society.

The Uptown Cafe in the Recreation Center is again open for lunch business under the new management of Fran Mack. The chamber was invited to have the September meeting at the cafe.

Former LCSWA manager named recycler of the year

BY DIANNE STALLINGS
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

Joe Lewandowski, former manager of the Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority, recently was selected as the 2002 Recycler of the Year by the New Mexico Recycling Conference Coalition at its annual conference.

The Grant County Solid Waste Authority, which Lewandowski manages, received the 2002 Municipal Government Recycler Award. Lewandowski, owner of Operational Consultants, has amassed 23 years of experience in administration and operation of solid waste and recycling businesses. He served in Lincoln County from 1993 to 1995.

He's been involved in planning, evaluating and guiding 13 local governments in establishing successful operations. Over his career, he was instrumental in the operation of recycling programs for the Grant County SWA, the Lincoln County SWA, the Torrance County SWA, the villages of Ruidoso and Ruidoso Downs, the Tri-City Landfill Commission and the Alamogordo Public Schools.

The Grant County SWA converted the program at Silver City to a diversion-driven, pay-as-you-throw system. Lewandowski said the operation has grown from nine to 23 employees during his tenure.

The Grant County SWA will be changing its name to Southwest Waste Authority, along with a board expansion to include the governments of both Grant and Hidalgo counties and all of the other municipalities in the area.

Unlike many areas that are cutting back or eliminating recycling, the Silver City operation tops the state and about 3,000 blue recycling bins will be added, according to Lewandowski.

WEDDINGS ENGAGEMENTS

Cannella-Johns

Michelle Anne Cannella, daughter of Frank and Marge Cannella of Alto, and Andy Mark Johns, son of Wendell and Jessie Johns of Carlsbad, were married Saturday, Aug. 10, at the First Christian Church in Ruidoso.

A reception followed the ceremony at Alto Lakes Golf and Country Club.

Michelle is currently attending New Mexico State University as a senior in hotel, restaurant and tourism management.

Andy graduated from NMSU in 2001 with a bachelor of science degree in mechanical engineering and will return in the fall to begin work toward his master's degree.

P&Z Commission wants lower densities for annexed land

BY DIANNE STALLINGS
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

Lower densities and less intensive commercial use were recommended last week for several areas annexed earlier this year into the village of Ruidoso.

The Planning and Zoning Commission's recommendations will be forwarded to the village council Aug. 27 to set public hearings.

About 42 undeveloped acres in Upper Canyon designated as planned commercial and multi-family while they were part of the unincorporated extraterritorial zone around the village, were proposed for lower density now that the property falls within the village.

In line with current discussions about the need to lower densities in the village because of long-term impacts on the area's water supplies among other things, the board decided to recommend that all of the land be zoned as single-family residential (R1) with no neighborhood commercial or higher densities.

Another 35.11 acres, undeveloped and also in Upper Canyon, were called single family residential in the ETZ, and were recommended to stay that way.

On 13.53 acres along Gavilan Canyon Road that were general commercial (C1) in the ETZ, the commission wants community commercial (C2) because of the type of businesses already in the area. The comprehensive plan for the village shows the land as industrial.

On 36.61 acres along Carrizo Canyon Road, which were R1 in the ETZ, the board recommended all parcels stay within that classification, without any neighborhood commercial. A section shown in the comprehensive plan as reserved for hillside preservation was designated R1 because the village has no preservation zoning.

Another 51.51 acres in that area were recommended to stay about the same as they were designated in the ETZ with R1 along Grindstone Canyon Road and C1, commercial general, starting at the south end of Tomahawk Trail. A neighborhood commercial, C2, designation that allows a wider range of commercial uses had been requested.

"I recommended the more restrictive zoning," said Mike Runnels, director of village planning and zoning. "Businesses already there are grandfathered in (permitted) as non-conforming uses that can expand up to 25 percent."

"The new zoning will protect property owners from heavy commercial use because Carrizo has a fairly narrow right of way and it's the major road to (Casino Apache)."

He pointed out that C1 allows art galleries, small convenience stores and office buildings, while C2 permits "full blown" retail activities such as multiple bay service stations, storage units and hotels of 50 or more units.

"It's a matter of scale," Runnels said.

About 29 acres in the Lookout Estates area were proposed for R1, except for the Lookout Mountain condominium development phase, which was recommended for R4, high density residential.

About 4.46 acres along U.S. 70 called C1 in the ETZ would be C2 in line with most of the development along the highway in that area, if the village council follows the suggestion of the commission. The village's comprehensive plan called for high density residential. The site is a junkyard, which is a non-conforming use in either C2 or R4. The site is surrounded by high density residential, condominiums, a mobile home park and a KOA Campground.

In other action, the board:

- Approved a variance on Lots 12 and 13, Block 10 in Ponderosa Heights, requested by Phyllis Gent. She asked for a 480-square-foot carport to be built 4 feet from the front lot line, which is 16 feet less than required. The quarter acre lot has a mobile home and deck and the carport can't be built anywhere else.

- Denied a variance requested by Cesar A. Fierro for Lot 1, Block 7 of Camelot Subdivision, about one-third of an acre - to allow a deeper cut into the hillside. Commission members noted that Fierro exceeded the amount of cut previously approved and had been ordered to restore the hillside to the designated contour. Runnels explained that a site plan is very important, especially when manufactured housing is involved.

"In the past, people accommodated the ground when they built instead of the ground accommodating them," he said. "Not every piece of land lends itself to manufactured housing. We are to enforce development standards" such as slopes and hillside cuts. The decision can be appealed to the village council.

- A variance on Lot 6, Block 1 in Pinescape Subdivision requested by Ron Bergeron was tabled for more information. The single-family zoned lot of .33 of an acre is improved with a home, attached deck and underground attached garage.

The applicant wants a variance to allow the existing roof overhang of the garage to remain as it, 5 feet, 6 inches from the front lot line, which is 14 feet, 6 inches less than required.

Capitan school superintendent details light problems to board of trustees

BY LIONEL W. LIPPMANN
FOR THE RUIDOSO NEWS

Faced with a daunting 18 item agenda, plus a public hearing, the Capitan Board of Trustees showed an unusual amount of unanimity in deciding most of the items requiring their approval.

Gary Tregembo, president of the Capitan School Board, accompanied by Larry Miller, superintendent of Capitan Schools, gave a lengthy presentation concerning the vast amounts of red tape and planning that has to accompany the installation of two flashing lights on Highway 380. This project has been "hanging fire" because of the State Highway Department for 14 years, and was finally acted upon only after Mayor Steven Sederwall threw his weight into the fray.

The highway department says that the flashing lights are not necessary because no child has been killed crossing Highway 380 to go to school. Sederwall responded to this by pointing out the callous and inhumane nature of this attitude. The department has since approved the lights, but continues to refuse to pay for them.

The village has received a $4,000 donation towards purchasing and installing the lights from Cone Construction, the company that has installed the $1.2 million upgrade to the Village's water distribution infrastructure.

The cost of the entire project, which must meet the rigid specifications set by the Highway Department, is estimated to be less than $10,000. Not only must the Village, in conjunction with the school, purchase and install these lights, they are also responsible for all maintenance to them.

In regard to this, a resident in the audience asked rhetorically who paid for the flashing lights on the east and west sides of the unincorporated Village of Lincoln, and who pays for maintenance of them.

In other action, the bid for supply of gravel to be used to maintain the 37 miles of unpaved roads within the Village was awarded to Huey Construction even though this was not the lowest bid. Village Road Foreman Jonathan La May testified that the gravel Huey supplies is superior to that of the lowest bidder. Huey's gravel, which comes from the Bonnell gravel pit, contains more caliche than other gravel, and as such it compacts better and is less likely washed down hill during heavy rain. It also stands up better than other gravel given the volume of traffic on the subdivision roads, he said.

Other action taken by the Board of Trustees included:

- The granting of a five year franchise to Valor Telecommunications and action on an encroachment on the Village's right of way. An agreement on this encroachment was settled amicably.

- The purchase of a Dodge Durango for the Police Department that will be financed at no interest by the New Mexico Finance Authority. The loan on this vehicle will be paid back in three years.

- Allowing employees to choose between PERA (the State retirement program) and the existing retirement plan. It was noted that should employees choose PERA, the Village would have to contribute 10 percent of their wages to the fund whereas the Village only contributes 6 percent to the current retirement plan.

It was further noted that employees cannot roll their savings from the existing plan to PERA, and for this reason, the adoption of PERA would only be of interest to new employees and those recently employed.

- A public meeting for the purpose of amending Capitan's ordinance on trash rates.

- A four day work week of 10 hours per day for Village employees effective Sept. 1. Water and emergency crews will be available 24 hours a day.

- The appointment of Alex Trujillo and Peter Renich were to serve on the Village Planning Commission.

Village hall illness cause found, fixed

■ Mold and an installation mistake made several village workers sick.

BY LIONEL W. LIPPMANN
FOR THE RUIDOSO NEWS

At Tuesday's regularly scheduled meeting of the Village of Capitan Board of Trustees, Mayor Steve Sederwall announced, while wearing a gas mask, that the environmental issues that had caused the entire staff of Village Hall to become ill with identical symptoms had been repaired.

After the laughter subsided, Sederwall explained that the problems with the interior environment of Village Hall stemmed from three things. The duct that mixes fresh air with recirculated air in the new air conditioning and ventilation system was inadvertently left closed when the system was installed during the building of the new Village Hall. Thus no fresh air could enter the building.

Additionally, there were inadequate return air vents in the system, causing one office to be frigid, another was too hot.

As the result of the almost total lack of fresh air circulation in the building, mold resulting from a flood that occurred in the old part of the building some years ago was continually circulated to the offices in the new building.

This, when coupled with the hazards of constantly recirculated air, apparently was the cause of the illness suffered by the employees.

Thanks to the complete and prompt service by the original contractor, Ron LeClair, inspector for the State Construction Industries Division and Rhodes Environmental, the problems were promptly diagnosed and remediated.

RECORD BREAKER

Fast filly AB What A Runner, with jockey Jay Conklin aboard, is led to the winner's circle following the 10th All American Futurity trial Thursday at Ruidoso Downs. AB What A Runner stopped the clock at 20.99, a new record for 440 yards at the track.

AB What A Runner sets new mark during All American trials

BY TODD FUQUA
RUIDOSO NEWS SPORTS EDITOR

Rainbow Futurity winner First To Flash didn't disappoint his many connections on Thursday during the All American Futurity trials at Ruidoso Downs, he just didn't run the fastest.

First To Flash won his trial heat with ease, outdistancing the field by at least a length and posting what was, at the time, the fastest time of the day, crossing the finish line at 21.13.

But two trials later, the track was scorched by AB What A Runner.

The gray filly, ridden by jockey Jay Conklin and trained by Bret Vickery, not only set what was the fastest mark as of press time, she also set a new track record for 440 yards at Ruidoso Downs by covering the distance in 20.99 seconds.

That bests the previous record of 21.02, held by Truckle Feature, who set the mark way back in August of 1973.

It was a day that wasn't marked by too much wind in any direction, so no one could say AB What A Runner had much of an advantage as far as a tailwind. They could just say that the horse ran really fast.

There were still two trials left to run as of press time, but no horse had come close to besting AB What A Runner's mark.

First To Flash was likely to qualify for this year's All American, and trainer John Bassett was likely to have more than one horse in the finals. He and jockey Joe Badilla weren't as dominating as they had been during the Rainbow Futurity trials, but they did have their share of top three finishes.

It was also a good day for trainers Dwayne Gilbreath and John Stinebaugh, who started the day spending a lot of time in the winner's circle, as well.

Full results from the trials, as well as a full list of All American qualifiers, will be printed in a future edition of the Ruidoso News.

'Zozo coach welcomes another chance at winning

BY MELODY HAYES
FOR THE RUIDOSO NEWS

Pat Ventura began his fifth coaching season at Carrizozo in a flurry of activity — wrapping the ankle of Trevor Douglas, one of Ventura's returning key players, talking with a seventh grader who wanted to join the team and welcoming the boys to a new season of football. When things settled down a bit, 25 young men took to the field on a hot and steamy afternoon to begin another workout in preparation for the upcoming season. And they have a lot of work to do.

The Carrizozo Grizzlies haven't won a state championship since 1976. That was back when coach Ventura and his assistant coach, Jimmy Samora, played together on the team. Now, having joined forces for a second time, they are searching for a way to capture that former glory for the school again. Samora volunteers his time so they can coach more kids. With the extra help, even seventh graders can now be groomed as future team members.

Last year was not a good season for the Grizzlies. The six-man team had a dismal record of 2-6. They did not make it to the post-season, winning only one district game. They did, however, win their homecoming game.

When the workouts began, it was easy to tell who had been faithfully keeping in shape for the summer. Ventura wasted no time in telling the young competitors they would be working very hard, and it was not going to be easy. It is apparent that the coach expects 110 percent from his players, and the boys look like they are very willing and capable of doing just what he asks.

Ventura is tackling specific offensive and defensive goals by breaking them down into smaller, more manageable chunks. "See what you want to do," he said, "then break the big goal down into little things, and then try to accomplish all the little things and if you can do that, of course, you can accomplish your big goal."

And his vision seems to work. "When I was coach here back in 1981," he said, "we were state runner-up." This year he has set his goals even higher. "We want to be more versatile than last year, because we have more talent."

"I graduated my top rusher, Lane Dixon, last year," Ventura added. "I have some returning seniors that were here when they were freshman, Sam and Jack Green, and Trevor Douglas, who moved away, and moved back, and they will be the key to whatever we do."

He sees the team as having a lot more speed and depth this year.

Ventura has more skilled people in positions that require experience, like the running back and quarterback positions.

"This extra talent will allow us to do more things offensively. We could only do certain things because we had a young quarterback last year and he didn't have the speed we needed," Ventura said. "Now I have a QB with more speed, which will help quite a bit."

Two of his last year's leading passers are back, Jesse Samora and Brent Dixon, and they will

Things to look for in a first-time starting horse

Dale Wood
"The Ole Radio Man"

Ruidoso Downs Race Track runs three of the top futurity races in the world — the Ruidoso Quarter Horse Futurity, the Rainbow and the All-American. Each requires timed trials and draws many first-time starters.

When selecting possible contenders in races for non-starters, here are some things to consider.

Breeding

With quarter horses, there are usually two or three sires, or get of those sires, that dominate the winning percentages. With Thoroughbreds, this is less of a dominating factor.

The main reason for this is that breeding by a Thoroughbred sire is limited each year to about 40 to 60 mares and only natural breeding is allowed. With quarter horse sires, there is little — if any — limit and many top sires will breed (natural, embryo or artificial) to as many as 200 to 300 mares in one breeding season. First Down Dash and get have dominated the winners and earners for several years. Be it quarter horse or Thoroughbred, the percentages of winners is about 25 percent.

Some states require non-starters to run in training races. Many of these horses ship to Ruidoso Downs for the trials of our triple crown races. Look for them.

Published Works

If a horse is a non-starter, he should have at least three good works and it's best if one of them is a bullet work — fastest work that day at that distance. I prefer works out of the gate and, if possible, in company.

Fastest qualifiers from trial races

They will win a high percentage of the races they qualify for, but at odds that do not justify a straight wager.

Off-track training tracks

Don't overlook training tracks or training centers. Two common to this are are Squaw Creek Downs, Texas and the Lazy E in Oklahoma. You will see several winners that show training track races. Look for them.

See you each race day at our seminar. Don't miss our prediction show "The Winners Circle" at 9:18 a.m. race days and results at 6:18 and 8:18 p.m. on KWES FM 93.5 — and The Winners Circle predictions at 8 a.m. and 10 a.m. and results at 8 p.m. on KRUI 1490 AM and W105 FM, your racing information stations.

Teen — 13-18 yrs. (good everyday of the season) $375
Child — 12 yrs. and under (good everyday of the season) $250
Senior — 62 yrs. and older (good everyday of the season) $150
Individual — any age (good on all weekdays except six peak weekdays) $200
Peak weekdays this season will be Dec. 26, 27, 30, 31, 2002 and March 11-12, 2003. Season passes to Ski Apache for the 2002-2003 season may be purchased at any time. Book on-line at www.skiapache.com or call 505-336-4356.

Lady Grizzly coach is home, teams are ready for action

BY MELODY HAYES
FOR THE RUIDOSO NEWS

Last year, when the Carrizozo High School needed a volleyball coach, they called on one of their own, a man who grew up in Carrizozo and played football as a Grizzly when he attended Carrizozo High School. Now, Bill McVeigh is home, right back where he started from 28 years ago, except now he's the man in charge.

McVeigh began his career in 1972, learning the art of coaching from his mentor, Flo Valdez, in Roswell. He coached in Carrizozo for four years, and moved on to Capitan where he had "14 very good years." Then it was on to Hondo for a two-year stint, but he just couldn't resist the call of the wild.

Bill McVeigh is now proud to be a Grizzly again, and he is proud of his girls, too: 16 very enthusiastic, dynamic young women who will comprise the varsity and junior varsity teams. His varsity team will include Lacey Burd, whose position is hitter/blocker; and Ashlie Samora, a setter. Five juniors will also play on the varsity team: Justine Beltran, Ariel Burr, Monique Jiron, Ariel Vallejos, and Adrienne Zamora, as well as sophomores, Stephanie Brewer and Sonja Vega (a setter), and freshman Whitney Whittaker.

McVeigh is delighted with the addition of the Rossi twins, Francesca and Victoria, to the junior varsity team. There's a twinkle in his eye when he speaks of their transfer from Corona to Carrizozo, "Corona's loss is definitely our gain." Apparently these are two girls to watch this season.

He's also very satisfied with the addition of high school senior Amanda Corley to the JV team. "She's a good blocker who moved to Carrizozo from Pine Hill," Coach McVeigh related. Sophomores Tierney Burd and Sarah White, freshman Mary Beth Shivers, and two eighth graders, Kaitlyn Vega, and Sofia Ramirez will also play on JV.

Last season, the Grizzly record was 12-15, putting them firmly in second place in the district. Advancing to the regional competition in Albuquerque brought them face-to-face with their archrival, Temple Baptist, a 4-1A school. Acknowledging their loss to Temple Baptist, McVeigh said, "We could have played a little better," adding that this year his "goal is to win district, then move on to the regionals. He admitted that "Everyone is excited this year, and we all hope to have a good season."

The new playing districts set up by the New Mexico Activities Association are causing McVeigh's teams to play further away from home more often.

"I'd rather play closer to home. This new district gives us two teams we have to play in Albuquerque: Temple Baptist and Bosque Prep," McVeigh lamented. "That means we will have to travel to Albuquerque twice this year as compared to only once last year."

He says the girls are working hard on their performance and their energy levels are up. During a recent practice session, the girls were going through plenty of tough setting, passing, and hitting drills.

McVeigh uses a special piece of equipment called a "Spike It," a tall pole that holds the volleyball in position, so the girls can practice the "two steps, jump up, and whack it" technique for the spiking maneuver.

He is also ecstatic over a new piece of equipment the teams will be getting next week to better practice their drills. Known as an "Air Cat," this machine, McVeigh says, "uses air to shoot balls wherever it's directed, acting as an automatic setter, server, or passer. It can shoot up to 1,100 balls per hour. And, it's only one of three in the entire state. Capitan got theirs last year, and Santa Fe has one too."

Junior High Coach Mandy Baca is also readying her team to play for the season. She is also a huge help to McVeigh. They work hard together on getting the girls ready, pacing them through drills and working on technique. Baca gets the girls really pumped up with her high energy level and zeal.

"This will be a much improved season. The girls have more skills and more confidence in their abilities to use them," McVeigh said. "They're hitting better, and the passing team is really good... these girls are quick." He attributes this to the fact that JV/V girls playing this season are the same girls who won state track last season.

The Grizzly teams will host the first scrimmage games in Carrizozo Aug. 24. Five other teams will attend the event — Estancia, Hondo, Magdalena, Mountainair and Tularosa. There will be round-robin eliminations using both of Carrizozo's gyms for play, one for varsity, the other for JV. The time has not yet been announced.

double on defense with the returning Anthony Beltran.

All of their receivers graduated last year, so they have none returning. But Trevor Douglas and Jesse Samora look good to be the top two receivers. One of the Green brothers will also play as receiver, but Ventura was not sure yet which one. "Sam Green, Jack Green, Trevor Douglas and Brent Dixon. Those four could really make a difference," he said.

When asked about how the redistricting affects their team, Ventura replied, "The only team we have new to play is Hondo. They took Mescalero's place. We won't have to play Mescalero any longer because they are playing 11-man now."

They're still in the same district, though, as Gateway Christian, out of Roswell, and Lake Arthur.

That pair will be their most formidable adversaries. Lake Arthur was state runner-up to Ramah last season, and Gateway went to the playoffs and was defeated. Ventura realizes that "those two teams are probably the toughest on schedule that I know of right now, from looking at last year."

Overall, Ventura feels confident that the Grizzlies will do much better this year. His greatest hurdle, he has admitted, will be to get out of district. If that happens, then he feels they will do OK.

Although the coach's biggest goal from a football standpoint is winning district, he admits that the most important thing is teaching these young men to "learn to work together, to be disciplined and tough, and if they can be disciplined, that's going to help them further in life than just winning district."

Job Fair and Invitation for Qualified Laborers, Craftspeople and Skilled Workers

Rehabilitation and Stabilization of Historic Resources in Lincoln New Mexico

Zook and Zinn Architects in cooperation with the Historic Lincoln Museum is pleased to announce that rehabilitation projects will be accomplished on selected historic structures in Lincoln. The work will be accomplished through a grant from the National Park Service, Save America's Treasures Fund and the Hubbard Museum of the American West.

It is the sincere desire of the Architects and the Museum to find persons, especially those who live in the vicinity of Lincoln, who can contribute their skills and abilities to the rehabilitation work. Projects will be accomplished through several construction approaches, including employment of individuals, skilled workers in carpentry, plastering, and painting, and employment through pre-qualified general and subcontractors who will bid on the projects.

A job fair is being planned to provide an opportunity for local workers and craftspeople to visit with the Architects and Museum staff, learn more about the proposed projects and to identify special skills, including just plain hard work that can be utilized by the Museum Administration or by the contractor. Construction companies are to be selected from firms based on their record of outstanding work on Historic Buildings.

The job fair will be held on two days starting on Wednesday the 14th August from 2:00 pm until 6:00 pm. Another opportunity will be held at the Lincoln County Head Start School bus contractors must submit proof of the following with proposals:

1. Ability to provide CDL Examiner Certification - to drivers.
2. Ability to provide National Safety Council Defensive Driving and First Aid instruction.
3. Ability to provide all vehicle maintenance and storage.
4. Ability to provide appropriately licensed and trained drivers and substitute drivers when necessary.
5. Ability to provide substitute vehicle use when necessary.

CONTRACTOR RESPONSIBILITIES: Provide appropriately licensed and trained drivers for school buses, provide compensation and benefits associated with drivers; provide on-going training for drivers; provide qualified substitute drivers when necessary; provide all operating, maintenance, and fuel costs associated with use of the vehicles in transporting Head Start students; and provide substitute vehicles when necessary.

LINCOLN COUNTY HEAD START RESPONSIBILITIES: Provide regulation school buses for transportation of Head Start students to Nob Hill Early Childhood Center and Hondo Valley School site; provide vehicle insurance including liability; provide children's names and addresses of students who are owned by Lincoln County Head Start School bus contractors.

ROUTE SPECIFICATIONS: Current round-trip route specifications are as follows:

Undetermined - Provide bid information on School Bus Transportation Vehicle Production worksheet - per mile bid (4 diesel vehicles and 2 gasoline vehicles).

CONTRACTOR RESPONSIBILITIES: Provide appropriately licensed and trained drivers for school buses, provide compensation and benefits associated with drivers; provide on-going training for drivers; provide qualified substitute drivers when necessary; provide all operating, maintenance, and fuel costs associated with use of the vehicles in transporting Head Start students; and provide substitute vehicles when necessary.

Local sculptor Dave McGary exhibits three of his latest pieces Saturday

BY SANDY SUGGITT
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

Sculptor Dave McGary opens his doors from 6 to 8 p.m. Saturday for his annual artist's reception/show to exhibit three new pieces: "Eye of the Raven," "Memories of Honor" and "The Rainmaker." "Eye of the Raven" is the first of a new series of sculptures of northwest coastal Indians. "Memories of Honor" is the third in a series depicting the Hunkpapa Sioux Chief Crow King. In the first, "A Matter of Honor," he is a young warrior on his horse at the end of the battle; in "Trophies of Honor," he's a mature warrior.

He's an older man in "Memories of Honor," but the sculpture portrays his strength and honor, and he wears a chief's bonnet with a trailer of spiked eagle feathers.

This piece will be installed in the Buffalo Bill Historical Center in Cody, Wyo., and McGary will be doing a 30-foot monument of "Battle of Two Hearts" for that museum.

"The Rainmaker," commissioned by the Rainmaker Community, will stand 20 feet

Texas artist bares the West in painting series at Studio W

BY SANDY SUGGITT
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

L.B. Porter, the 73-year-old pioneer of nudes in Western paintings will be at Studio W for the opening of his work in the front gallery this weekend.

Porter pioneered the concept of using nudes in 1964, and his series, "Nudes in Western Paintings," won him the award of excellence from the El Paso Museum of Art in 1971.

"I've been doing nudes since 1958," Porter said. "At that time I was using my wife as a model and lived in Clint, Texas ... I lived next to a railroad track in a two-story house and we didn't have window coverings so I took some of my nude paintings and put them in the window. Train engineers would come by and whistle."

"I lived next to a railroad track ... Train engineers would come by and whistle."

artist

Porter is a prolific painter, even at 73: Since the middle of last year, he's painted 53 pieces for the upcoming invitational exhibition at the International Museum of Art (Oct. 3-Nov. 3), some for Weems Gallery in Albuquerque, and a couple of commissions on top of that.

The El Paso Hall of Fame artist doesn't just slap paint on broadly either: Working with a brush the size of a pencil, he "cross-hatches" — "kind of like sketching with pigment like you do with a pencil," he said. "Even the small ones take 16 hours, and when you're 73 years old, you can't paint like you used to."

Porter paints standing in front of a vertical easel — changing from his "executive trifocals" to "close-up" glasses.

Hondo Valley's art historian John Meigs said that Porter "combines grass roots feelings for the land of the Southwest and an intimate association with its multiracial people to produce his strong statements. A product of the Southwest, his innate feel for nature and the ingredients that give it character have, through long experience combined with an exceptional technical skill, produced an artist of sensitivity and imagination."

The El Paso native received a master of fine arts degree from New Mexico State University, as well as a bachelor's degree in fine arts, and one in science, See PORTER, page 2C

Laundry continues to baffle top guy minds

Dave Barry
DAVE'S WORLD
TRIBUNE MEDIA SERVICES

Today we present: Laundry Tips for Guys.

Many guys have trouble with laundry, because of the technical complexity involved. Even a very "high-tech" guy, a guy who can build a working nuclear submarine using only staples, is reluctant to attempt to do laundry, because there are so many variables: You have your lights and your darks, of course, but you also have your stripes, some of which could be delicates, or even hand-washables, not to mention your bleach and your fabric softener, and of course all your washer/dryer options: Do you want warm wash and cold rinse? Hot wash and warm rinse? Wet rinse and dry wash? And what about "static cling"?

This is why laundry has baffled top guy minds for decades. Albert Einstein was working on this problem right up until his death. His last words were: "OK, say a shirt is yellow, which is a LIGHT color, but it's a DARK yellow, does that mean ... ack? (thud)."

It is this technical complexity — not laziness — that keeps guys from doing the household laundry. We worry that if we get just one variable wrong, we will find ourselves facing a wrathful spouse, who is holding up a garment that was once a valued brassiere of normal dimensions, but is now suitable only as a sun hat for a small, two-headed squirrel.

This is why guys everywhere will be grateful for an excellent laundry tip sent in by Bob Rundquist, of Northampton, Mass. Bob's tip can be summarized in three words: "Buy more underpants."

As Bob explains in his letter: "My wife and I share housework on a random basis. For instance, sometimes she does laundry, sometimes I do. I figured out that laundry gets done when one of us is out of underwear. So I bought six new pairs of underpants. Now my stack never runs out before my wife does the laundry."

Somewhere in Physicist Heaven, Albert Einstein is smacking himself in the forehead.

Bob's only concern is that his wife will find out, which could result in "a nuclear war of underpants purchases." But that is a risk we guys are willing to take, because we know, in our hearts, that "Nuclear Underpants" would be an excellent name for a rock band.

This leads us to a related laundry tip for guys, sent in by a Wisconsin woman who asks that we identify her only as Alice. Alice states that her husband, Bob, came home one day complaining that he lost his office keys and had been looking for them all day.

"While standing in the kitchen telling me his problem," Alice relates, "he started scratching his posterior — and finally noticed something was in there. Now bear in mind he had been sitting at his desk all afternoon and drove an hour to get home and is first noticing this now."

So, reports Alice, Bob felt around inside his underpants, and guess what he found? Correct: A small, two-headed squirrel.

No, he found his office keys. "He's a government employee," observes Alice.

So our second Household Hint for Guys is: Before you put your underpants into the laundry for somebody else to launder, it's a good idea to check them, as well as your general buttular region, for any items you may have misplaced. Especially you government employees! This could be what has happened to all those millions of missing taxpayer dollars that have somehow fallen between the cracks!

Our third laundry-related Household Hint for Guys is based on a news story from the Milwaukee Journal Sentinel, sent in by many alert readers, concerning an incident several years ago in Chippewa Falls, Wis. What happened was, a man became angry at his washing machine, which wasn't working right. So, following the recommended procedure in the Guy Book of Troubleshooting, he pushed it down a flight of stairs. Incredibly, this did not solve the problem. So the man (we are not making this up) shot the washer five times with a .25-caliber revolver.

We know what you're thinking. You're thinking: "What a MORON! Bullets that small are only going to annoy a major appliance, possibly causing it to go berserk and threaten innocent people!" Good point. We ourselves have seen a washing machine, with no provocation, shake its way violently halfway across a room.

Fortunately, the Chippewa Falls washer did not attack. The man was arrested and wound up on probation after pleading guilty to shooting a gun within 100 yards of a building. So our third laundry tip for guys is: Before shooting your washer, always check around for buildings!

There you have it, guys! Good luck, and good laundering!

NOTE TO GOVERNMENT EMPLOYEES: You can keep those dollars.

in height near the Spencer Theater — but those who visit the open house this weekend will see the 12th century Jornada Mogollon shaman, pouring water with a sacred red macaw on his shoulder.

The area surrounding Sierra Blanca was part of the Jornada Branch of the Mogollon, who lived in southern New Mexico and who ceased to exist by the mid-1500s.

McGary's production studio and gallery are at 2002 Sudderth Drive, and he has a home in Nogal, as well as a home and gallery in Scottsdale, and galleries in Aspen and Vail. He splits his time between Scottsdale and Ruidoso.

Since the construction of Free Spirits at Noisy Water at the Museum of the Horse, McGary has been honored with the New Mexican of the Year Award and an Honorary Lifetime Alumni Award from Eastern New Mexico University for his contribution to the arts in New Mexico.

The Republican Party bought his sculpture "Chief Washakie" to give to Vice President Dick Cheney, and McGary met with the president, vice president and their wives in Washington, D.C. eight months ago, he said.

Keeping the youngsters entertained during a summer visit to Carrizozo

"OUCH! This goes here...YOW! That goes there...OW! This looks good here..."

During their summer visit in Carrizozo, without their parents, I showed two grandchildren how to create pom-pom make-believe bugs.

I used the glue gun, explaining, unsuccessfully, the proper and safe way of using a glue gun. They painted on rocks, made a fake fur snake and other crafts. Their grandpa showed them how to make a walking stick, teaching them to use sand paper and brush on varnish.

They had plenty of cultural experiences, besides eating jalapeno salsa and playing Spanish Bingo. When we worked on "inside stuff" we listened to Vicente Fernandez belting out a three-tissue rendition of "Ya me voy para siempre" (I am going away forever). We listened to Wolfgang Amadeus as he tickled the ivories; Cowboy Symposium singer R.W. Hampton's gospel album; rock 'n' roller Chuck Berry and to a Randy Travis two-tissue country heart breaker.

"What can we do now, Grandma?" they wanted to know. The grandsons, ages 6 and 8, visited during the Lincoln County monsoon season, so we had plenty of indoor bonding time.

After a brainstorm session of two seconds, I said, "It has stopped raining. I have a fun, outside game for you guys. It's as easy as pulling carrots from a garden." We headed outside, each boy holding a plastic bag. I explained how the rain had softened the dirt. I showed that with a gentle twist and turn technique they could pull out a green weed. The winner would be the one with the most weeds in the bag.

I headed indoors to the comfort of my recliner and a good book. I had barely read one page when one wise grandson was at my side. "We're bored," he says, "What can we do now, Grandma?"

The following describes some of the other activities that the grandsons participated in while they were visitors in Carrizozo.

At West by Southwest they observed David Spencer drawing on the Pony Express mailbag. At a friend's place they saw a camel, Arabian horses, donkeys, petted a barn cat and an indoor Egyptian cat. They petted "Skotty," my neighbor's pet skunk, they checked out books from the N.M. State Library bookmobile, and visited the train caboose that serves as the Carrizozo Visitors Center. During Art in the Street festivities they met and got autographs from Miss Erin Griggs; and heard barber shop quartet singing by Roy Dow, Scott Shafer, Jim Miller and Doug Jarrad. Sheriff's Posse member Rosemary LaRue showed them Pony Express posters.

Last but not least, they baked chocolate chip cookies, looked through binoculars to spot a cottontail rabbit, lizards and birds. They ate watermelon, killed flies with flyswatters (outside) and sat on the steps of the town's fire engine. They fed the geese at the lake, shot the B-B gun on the outskirts of town, and visited Smokey Bear Historical Park at neighboring Capitan.

Don't Lose Track

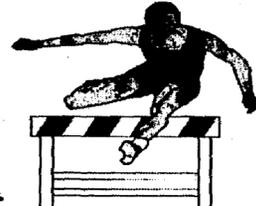

"How many times do I have to tell you not to toss your sneakers around? If you don't keep track of them, they'll be lost. Make a little more effort, take a few more steps, and put them in their proper place."

Sound familiar? Probably. It just seems easier to toss things aside when we are tired or in a hurry or preoccupied. In the long run we may be causing ourselves an inconvenience.

The same can be said of our spiritual side. We need it constantly to support us as we jump the hurdles in life. What do we do with our spiritual side when we return from weekly worship? Do we toss it aside and lose track of it or do we devote the few extra minutes a day to care for it through daily prayer and devotions...to put it in the proper place in our lives so it is readily available at a moments notice?

This week, carry your spiritual side a few steps further. Keep it in its proper place in your life. Don't lose track.

A complicated life and death: John Ringo, part 3

Johnny Ringo's travels had taken him through the Hoodoo War in Texas, had given him a year or so in jail, and now, in Arizona Territory, he was known as one of the leading lights of the "Cowboy" faction, as the outlaws were known, in the Tombstone area.

Provisionally, Ringo had taken what he probably thought of as a vacation in the summer of 1881. Despite the fact that he landed in jail in Austin, Texas, on his way to Missouri, where his family had once lived, Ringo was not present in Arizona, as he probably would have been, on the evening of Aug. 12.

Drew Gumber
HISTORIAN,
THE HUBBARD MUSEUM
OF THE AMERICAN WEST

Back around the end of July, a group of Mexican traders, going about their business, were ambushed by a group of men (who were probably Ringo's partners in crime - Brocius, the Clantons, McLaurys and the rest), in a canyon and robbed of all their goods and cash. Not only that, but many of them were murdered in the attack. It was an outrage to both the Mexican and United States governments.

There are many theories as to what happened on the night of Aug. 12, 1881, and there are still many questions. The word "retaliation" comes readily to mind. All that is really known is that a group of the Tombstone Cowboys were ambushed at a place alternately identified as Guadalupe Canyon or Skeleton Canyon and wiped out almost to the last man. The only survivor was Cowboy Billy Byars, who displayed admirable courage and presence of mind. Realizing that he was the only man left alive and that the killers were even then stripping the bodies, Byars stripped himself and feigned death. His desperate gamble was a success. He survived.

No one really knows who perpetrated this deed. Author Glenn Boyer lays the blame squarely on the Earps, and others have claimed that it was Mexican soldiers avenging their countrymen. Still others claim that it was both - the Earps and the Mexican soldiers, in a combined effort to eradicate the "bad guys." Perhaps time will tell, but for our purposes, the main thing is that John Ringo was not present.

The feud

Ringo returned shortly after the killings and we can only imagine his outrage.

In September of 1881, Johnny Behan's deputy, Frank Stilwell, was arrested for stage robbery, which embarrassed Behan to no end. It was also around this time that Ike Clanton began running his big mouth, also to no end. Wyatt Earp put it best when, at one point, he told Clanton, "Ike, you talk too much for a fighting man." Which was exactly right. If not for Ike's big mouth, the most famous gunfight to come out of the Old West might never have happened. (Does this mean we should thank him?)

But there was more to it than just that... In all my studies of the Old West, there are few people that I have come across who seem to have no redeemable traits at all. Ike, however, is one of them. A cowardly braggart, he was also a traitor to his friends.

Ike proved this beyond a shadow of a doubt when he made a deal with Wyatt Earp. In this context, to Ike's friends, it may as well have been a deal with the Devil. Wyatt was interested in running for sheriff in the upcoming election against Johnny Behan and he made a deal with Ike wherein Ike would "rat out" some of his associates who had recently perpetrated a stage robbery.

Ike made the deal, perhaps letting Frank McLaury in on it, and then began having second thoughts. He knew exactly what would happen if his outlaw cronies found out about his treachery. When Ike drunkenly got the idea in his head that Wyatt had let the secret out of the bag, he began babbling about it all over town, effectively letting the secret out himself. And it has been theorized that this may have had something to do with the fact that, on Oct. 26, 1881, when Ike, his brother Billy, the McLaurys, Billy Claiborne and possibly Wes Fuller faced the Earps and Doc Holliday in an alley about 90 feet from the OK Corral, none of the Cowboy "Big Guns" were present. Where was Brocius, Billy Grounds, Pony Diehl and, for that matter, Ringo? Is it possible that they simply decided to let the Earps and Holliday do their house cleaning for them? Things that make you go hmmm....

It is not my purpose to re-examine the misnamed "Gunfight at the OK Corral" in the confines of this column - at least today. Suffice to say that after Claiborne, Fuller, and most significantly, Ike Clanton, had fled the scene, Billy Clanton and the McLaury brothers were gunned down in what is probably, thanks to Hollywood, the Old West's most famous shootout.

Aftermath

Whether or not they were letting the Earps deal with their dirty laundry, Ringo and the others were not about to let the deaths of three Cowboys go un-avenged.

During that legendary gunfight, Wyatt Earp was the only one who was not touched by a bullet. Doc Holliday received a crease across his back, Morgan Earp was hit in the shoulder and Virgil Earp took a round in the calf. By Dec. 29 of that year, Virgil had recovered enough to resume his duties as Tombstone's chief of police, and on that night, as he crossed the street between the Oriental Saloon and the Eagle Brewery (known today as the Crystal Palace), he was struck by no less than five shotgun blasts. Luckily for Virgil, the would-be assassins were all the way across wide Allen Street, and because of the range, his life was spared. But not one of his arms. His left elbow was so badly mangled that he never regained the use of his arm.

The following month, on Jan. 17, Ringo had a famous confrontation with the Earps and Holliday. Drunkenly spying them on the street in Tombstone, Ringo decided that he would challenge Wyatt Earp to a gunfight. Wyatt refused - "There's no money in it" - was his comment and attitude, but Doc Holliday was ready. "I'll be your huckleberry," he told Ringo. However, according to eyewitness George Parsons, a most interesting contest of arms was averted when "Police vigilant for once and both disarmed."

Morgan's turn came three months after Virgil, on March 18, 1882. (No, they didn't happen the same night as both films "Wyatt Earp" and "Tombstone" told us). Morgan was playing billiards in Hatch's Billiard Parlor and Saloon as his brother Wyatt looked on from a raised "kibitzer's" chair up against the wall. Two shots rang out in the alley behind the place. One of the bullets splintered the wood over Wyatt's head and the other one splintered Morgan's spine. It took about a half hour for Morgan to die, during which time the rest of the Earps were sent for - even his little dog was present - and, in an emotional scene shortly before midnight, the man, described as the most "affable" of the Earp brothers passed into history. Big brother Wyatt looked down at his brother, the one who intimates insisted was his favorite, and went quietly and temporarily insane.

July 14, 2002: the author seated in the exact location where John Ringo's body was discovered July 14, 1882.

Vendetta

Two nights later, Wyatt found the man he considered to be the triggerman in Morgan's death - Frank Stilwell - in the railroad yard in Tucson. Wyatt and his posse shot Stilwell so many times that there was a running joke in Tucson for the next week or so to the effect that they didn't know whether to bury Stilwell or sell him for scrap metal, there were so many bullets in his body.

Earp's legendary vendetta went on and on all around the Tombstone area, leaving corpses, most of whom were probably deserving, all over the countryside. Wyatt claimed to have killed Curly Bill at a place called Iron Springs, but the Cowboys disputed this fact, claiming the gunfight never happened. The fact is, no one ever saw Curly Bill again...

And, with the death of Curly Bill, at least as far as outlaw leaders were concerned, only John Ringo was left.

The end

By June, his associates had taken note of the fact that Ringo's bouts with depression were on the rise and in late June or early July he was reported to be in Tombstone on an "extended jamboree," which is to say, a binge. On July 2, he told a reporter that "he was as certain of being killed as he was of being living then." On July 8, Ringo left Tombstone, his ultimate destination being the outlaw hangout Galeville. On the 13th, on the road, Ringo met his pal, Sheriff's Deputy Billy Breakenridge, who said later that Ringo was so drunk he was "reeling in the saddle." There were several others either seen in the area or who later claimed to have been in the fateful area that day: Bartender and gunman "Buckskin" Frank Leslie, gambler Johnny-behind-the-deuce O'Rourke were both seen in the area. Wyatt Earp later claimed to have been there.

On July 14, a teamster named John Yoast was traveling down the trail in Turkey Creek Canyon in the Chiricahuas when he spied a man sitting in the place where a clump of oaks converged. He took to the man to be sleeping, but when he passed by later, he found that the man had not moved. Upon further inspection, Yoast found that the man was Ringo and that he was dead - and, in fact, had been for at least a day.

side, toward the top - the exact trajectory that a suicidal bullet would have followed. That, coupled with Ringo's own threats of suicide, seemed to close the case. But there were discrepancies...

It was said at the time that there were no powder burns on Ringo's head, but the fact is, considering that Ringo had been dead in the Arizona sun for at least a day, who would have checked? However, and more significantly, the hammer of his revolver was caught in his watch chain. OK, that could have happened if Ringo had decided - very quickly - to end it all and in his haste, the hammer caught on the chain. But even more significantly, Ringo's gunbelt was on upside down. Now, that is peculiar: Also, his feet were wrapped in rags (his boots were later found looped across his saddle). Why?

Of the many theories about Ringo's death, suicide really does seem to be the most logical. But wait. Consider this for a moment: Remember how it was claimed that Wyatt Earp had not killed Curly Bill as he always insisted he did? Well, isn't it odd that Ringo's body was found seated next to a road where it was bound to be found? What if Wyatt, wanting to avoid the same controversy that he had experienced with Curly Bill, had left Ringo's body where he knew there would be no doubt that it would be found? Wyatt did, many years later, say that he killed Ringo. On the other hand, he also said that he didn't kill Ringo.

And that is what drives me crazy about Johnny Ringo. When people who believe that he committed suicide present their case to me, I can see that they have a great case for their theory and are undoubtedly correct. Unfortunately, when those who say he was murdered present their case, I can see that they have a great case for their theory and are undoubtedly correct. Pretty much of a no-win situation.

Civilians Welcome

Area kids take stage at Spencer

Fifty-five area children star in the song and dance original "Red Riding Hood" at the Spencer Theater tonight at 7.

The young stars, ages 6 to 17, have been rehearsing the snappy, hour-long musical with Missoula Children's Theatre directors all week and are ready to share their stage talents with the community at large.

Excellent seats are available for $5 (children 12 and under) and $10 for the one-night-only performance. Call the Spencer Theater at 336-4800 for information.

Sponsored in part by Ruidoso News and Ruidoso Lincoln Ford Mercury, "Red Riding Hood" is an original Missoula Children's Theatre adaptation of the classic "Little Red Riding Hood." In this heart-warming tale, Red Riding Hood and her pre-teen pals try to stay on the straight and narrow as they go over the river and through the woods to grandmother's house.

Missoula Children's Theatre directors Dylan Wright and Sage Wright cast "Red Riding Hood" following auditions Monday morning. Seventy-seven area children tried out for the 55 parts.

The cast includes: Shelli Jensen as "Red," Correy Cruz as "Woodsmen," Cody Jones as "Locksmith," Aleah Topper, Amber Gardner and Amber Long as "Girlfriends," Zach Doth as "Brother," Hannah Kashmar as "Sister" and Jacqueline Sicard as "Baby."

Cole Heinann plays "Robin Hood," Cameron Rist as "Boy Who Cried Wolf," Juliette Sicard, Maddie Paton and Haley Williams as "Three Little Pigs," Billy Kinder as "Little Lovable Wolf" and Joshua Jarrell, Justin Johnson, Ryan Williams, Lexie Doth, Bailey Huffmon, Erin Drane, Bethany Sweat, Breanna Hernandez, Ella

Tate and Asia Cosgray as "Wolf Gang."

Kristina Islas, Meghan Davis, Heather Hixon, Morgan McMakin, Angela Gardner, Ashleigh Serna, Callie Black, Adelina Garcia, Stacie Cadena, Rebecca Heimann, Courtney Lawson and Mirrissa Balderrama play the "Forest Shadows" and James Tate, Taryn McAlister, Madeleine Bonniot, Kiley Hutt, Tanya Scott, Cody Dawson, Logan Mobley, Taylor McAlister, Rebekah Bolin, Makala Hopkins, Samantha Bailey, Kathryn Kinder, Issac Lopez, Forrest Sweat and Ruby Green as "Raccoons."

Two additional area youths, Sarah DiPaolo and Nicole Doth, serve as assistant directors.

Many of the players in "Red Riding Hood" are appearing on stage for the very first time tonight. Please come out to the Spencer for this special performance and help the young actors feel like the stars they truly are.

'Forever Plaid' returns for performance put off by March fire

When "Forever Plaid" was first to appear at the Spencer Theater this past spring, a devastating wildfire swept through the Alto area, forcing the cancellation of the sold-out musical comedy.

Now, five months later, the hit Broadway musical comedy about four pop harmony singers who finally get to do the gig they never played, actually get to do the gig they never got to play at the Spencer.

"Forever Plaid" takes center stage on Aug. 24 at 2 p.m. and 8 p.m. Excellent seats for $30 & $33 are available for the 2 p.m. matinee. Call the Spencer Theater Box Office at 336-4800.

"Forever Plaid" is a trip through the era of tight-harmony vocal hits like: Three Coins in the Fountain, Heart and Soul, Magic Moments, Dream Along With Me, Day-O, Lady of Spain, Cry, Catch A Falling Star, Papa Loves Mambo and Perfidia, plus hilarious show-stopping renderings of Shangri-La, Sixteen Tons and Chain Gang.

In "Forever Plaid," Sparky, Smudge, Jinx and Frankie comprise an up-and-coming vocal group called The Plaids who sing in the style of their idols — The Four Aces, The Four Freshmen, The Crew Cuts and The Hi-Los.

On the way to their first big gig, The Plaids are killed in a tragic car accident by a group of teens on their way to see the Beatles' 1964 debut on the Ed Sullivan Show. Now, 40 years later, The Plaids miraculously return to earth to perform the big show they never got to do in life.

"The Plaids" starring at the Spencer include performers from the original Broadway version, as well as veterans of the Los Angeles, Las Vegas and San Diego productions. All four of the actors have also appeared in a number of feature films, television shows and commercials and various other national tours of Broadway productions.

Written, directed and choreographed by Stuart Ross with musical continuity and arrangements by James Raitt, "Forever Plaid" opened in New York on May 20, 1990. Since then, the show has gone on to success in productions in across the world.

Silent auction Aug. 24

BY SANDY SUGGITT
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

A silent auction fundraiser for prominent Roswell artist Ted Robertson, who was recently diagnosed with cancer, will be from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 24 at Eastern New Mexico University-Ruidoso, in Sierra Mall, 709 Mechem Drive.

For those who wish to preview the art ahead of time, visit the campus from 3 to 5 p.m. on Friday, Aug. 23.

Robertson's paintings and prints will also be for sale, said Patsy Blasdel, one of the organizers of the fundraiser, along with Jerry Rice of Ruidoso and Billie Hunter of Roswell.

After serving in the 101st Airborne Division at Fort Campbell, Ky., as the division's illustrator, Robertson studied art at Hergman Art School, Colorado State University in Denver, Colo. He worked for a time as a commercial artist and gradually moved into his own impressionist paintings in pastels, oils and watercolors.

He's been teaching workshops since the 1970s and has accrued many awards and honors. An elected full member of the Pastel Society of America in New York City, the American Portrait Society in Los Angeles, Calif., and a member of the Pastel Society of the Southwest in Dallas, Texas, he is also listed in Who's Who in the West, Who's Who in the World and in the 20th edition of Who's Who in American Art, and other biographical publications.

In April, his work was displayed at the Roswell Museum and Art Center in a retrospective exhibition. Well known for his yearly Christmas angels, Robertson's latest angel, "Angel of Justice," was painted in remembrance of the 9/11 tragedy.

Art work still may be donated for the silent auction by calling Blasdel at 258-9151, Rice at 257-2579 or Hunter at (505) 623-3955.

CHIROPRACTIC OUTLOOK
by Dr. Jack V. Waters
Chiropractic Physician
WHIPLASH SPECIALISTS
For many years, Doctors of Chiropractic have successfully cared for people with whiplash. After an automobile accident, the chiropractor finds the subluxations or misalignments that are specifically causing the most harm to the nervous system. He/she creates tension around the offending joint and applies pressure to return it to its proper position. Then the chiropractor adjusts the vertebral segment or area as specifically as possible.

How do you know if you are suffering from whiplash? Most patients complain of neck pain that typically starts a few hours to a couple of days after the accident. A large number of whiplash victims also get severe headaches and shoulder pain. Patients describe muscle tears as a burning pain, prickling or tingling. More severe disc damage may cause sharp pains in the affected area that spread into the arms, hand and fingers.

For example, in a rear-end collision, the victim's car is first pushed forward. The body moves forward along with the automobile, but the head remains momentarily behind and abnormally jerks back and forth. This action can bulge, tear or rupture the discs, force the vertebrae from their normal position and irritate the spinal cord and nerve roots. Even if you do not have symptoms after an accident you should be thoroughly examined by your chiropractor. Too often, problems occur days and even months after the incident and cause secondary issues such as premature disc degeneration.

Flea Market in Capitan: Antiques, new, gently used, crafts and plenty of other items will line Smokey Bear Blvd. west of the Brewer Shell Station inside and out from 8 a.m.-5 p.m. today and Saturday. This is the final flea market for the year. For information, call Phyllis, 354-4321 or 354-4270, or Deenie at 354-6507 or 354-2331.

Cheap tunes

Local songwriter, singer, guitarist and recording artist P. Blake Martin will perform at 2 p.m. Saturday at Mountain Java and Dreams, downstairs in the Four Seasons Mall, with hand drum percussion and bass accompaniment. His recent recordings are reminiscent of Kris Kristofferson, Jerry Jeff Walker and Townes Van Zandt.

Cheap stars

Starry Nite III in Lincoln will be at 8 p.m. behind the Wortley Hotel. Sponsored by Rural Economic Development Through Tourism, the event features a slide presentation about the constellations by Jason Peterson and Carla Adams from the New Mexico State University Astronomy Department. They will hand out star charts showing the star clusters and how to find them and explain the phenomenon of meteorite showers and how the earth's rotation affects the stars' positions. Cost is $1 donation for adults, children 12 and under are free. Bring your own lawn chair and telescope and dress warmly.

After the slide show, everyone will have a chance to view the moon and the Spiral Arm of the Andromeda Galaxy through the powerful telescopes that will be available.

The Lincoln State Monument and the Hubbard Museum properties will remain open until 6 p.m. Afterward, visit the Ellis Store and Country Inn at mile marker 92 on Highway 380 for a lamburger (no, that's not a typo).

Antique Chinese pieces at the Zozo

Five other artists will also display works at the Carrizozo gallery Aug. 24.

BY SANDY SUGGITT
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

The Zozo Gallery in Carrizozo will take a trip to the past — way beyond the time zone of the Lincoln County War to centuries-old artifacts of the Wu Tai Shan pilgrimage site in China, one of the four sacred Buddhist Mountain sites. The opening is from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 24. Refreshments will be served.

La Luz photographer Jim Stresen-Reuter — whose photographs will be on exhibit at the gallery from Saturday on — has brought his collection of sculptures representing the beliefs of Confucianism, Taoism and Buddhism in China created by local or itinerant artists, in the "Min Yao," or people's style.

According to Stresen-Reuter, these sculptures have never been exhibited before, and were rescued during the Cultural Revolution in China (1968-69) and stored in China for 28 years.

"In my opinion, this group of sculptures transcends their cultures and their religions," he said. "Whether you have any familiarity with Asian religions or not, they seem to project an ancient and familiar longing for humanity's spiritual dimensions."

Gallery owner Gary Eklund has about 20 pieces from this collection displayed in the upstairs gallery. The majority of them range in price from $1,000 to $10,000, with a few as much as $25,000.

"I'm overwhelmed as I see the actual pieces," Eklund said. "It's just extraordinarily beautiful and humbling. The more you look at it, the more you start thinking and feeling more in terms of its original purpose and wondering about the people that created it."

"The level of skill of some of it and the amount of detail is just staggering. The expressions on the faces of the characters are haunting. They're religious artifacts and they move you on that level."

Also opening Aug. 24 is the work of five artists:

- "Money Lures" by internationally known artist Richard Mock of Brooklyn, N.Y., three-dimensional originals made out of money. Mock's work is now touring with Andy Warhol's in the "Show Me the Money: The Dollar as Art" exhibition by the Federal Reserve System and the Trust for Museum Exhibitions, Washington, D.C., which includes the work of 40 artists living and dead. This exhibit runs through April 20, 2003, and will travel to the Naples Museum of Art in Naples, Fla., the Palm Springs Desert Museum in California, and the Fresno Metropolitan Museum in California.

- "Extraordinary Beauty in Ordinary Places," photography by Jim Stresen-Reuter, color and black-and-white photographs.

- "Paintings That Engage the Eye and Relax the Soul" by Tamiris Duke of Tularosa: watercolor and acrylic meditative art.

- Tables and fine painted porcelain by Carrizozo's own Bill Kerr.

- "Unique Sculpture II" by Michael Musselwhite of Colorado.

Take a trip into ancient beauty, culture in Cancun

There's more to Cancun than beautiful beaches and first-class resorts, including a variety of Mayan archeological sites, each an easy day trip from Cancun. Visitors can enjoy intercultural experiences with the indigenous Mayan people in their environment and learn of their way of life. All this is even more interesting against the setting of the ancient Mayan civilization. It was this Cancun we'd come to visit.

resort. The 198-acre park creates not only ecological consciousness in its visitors, but offers a serious environmental education program designed specifically for the schools of the region. An average of 24,000 children is welcomed free of cost to the park every school term.

Either of the park's two river experiences are a great way to start the day. Ours began with a swim down the underground river. Clear and cool, the river flows through caverns illuminated by natural skylights, and, even at mid-morning, the river provides a pleasant escape from the area's tropical heat and humidity.

The Maya River passes through the Maya Village, an authentic reproduction of a local community. During the Late Post-Classic Period (A.D. 1400-1517), Xcaret was called Polé, and was an important Mayan city. Today, the park has 10 archaeological groupings of ruins in its almost 200 acres.

Xcaret has enough entertaining options, educational activities and relaxation areas to easily fill an entire day. No less than 25 attractions are included in your entrance ticket to the park.

When we return again, we plan to spend more than one day. For beach lovers, there are several fine beaches with cozy thatched-roofed palapas to relax beneath.

Nearby, visitors can swim with dolphins in spacious areas where Xcaret has one of the most successful dolphin reproduction and encounter programs in the world. There are also reproduction programs for other species in danger of extinction and protection programs for red macaws, flamingoes, sea turtles, butterflies, orchids, reefs and trees. Its jaguar and puma islands, monkey island, bat cave, deer cove and manatee lagoon introduce you to the regional mammals.

The spectacular night show is well worth staying for and is an experience for all your senses, a pageantry of sight and sound. It features a colorful fair and the drama of two ballgames: the Pre-Hispanic Ballgame and the Ball of Fire (like a field hockey game but with a ball of fire — very striking at night) in the impressive Tlachco ball court. These games were followed by a vibrant performance of Mexico's regional music and dance and the Papantla Flyers, Mayan Voladores. These four flyers start at the top of a very high pole, twirling around it on ropes attached to their ankles, slowly unfurling outwards more and more, until reaching ground level.

At the end of a full day, as we rode back to Cancun, we reflected on the day. We were impressed with the warm sense of hospitality and conviviality, the respect for the environment and the pride in the local culture we had found at Xcaret.

To be continued next week...

Cancun offers a blend of modern resorts and ancient Mayan culture.

We had looked forward to visiting the well-known Mayan ruins at Tulum and Cobá, and indeed, they lived up to our expectations. But, unexpectedly, Xcaret, (eesh-caw-ret, "little inlet" in Mayan), an eco-sensitive tourist attraction, inspired just as much interest.

Xcaret's developers had a deep respect for the environment and its ecosystems, history and culture, and for the aspirations of the local community and its more than 800,000 annual visitors.

Xcaret, located 47 miles south of Cancun in the heart of the Mayan Riviera, is a mixture of nature preserve, archeological park and beach

DaVinci-inspired quilt on display in town

A monumental quilt, "The Supper," modeled on Leonardo daVinci's famous work "The Last Supper," will be on display at the First Baptist Church, 420 Mechem Drive, at 6:30 p.m. Sunday. The artist, Don Locke, a retired dentist from Waxahachie, Texas, will give a presentation there after the worship service. Locke first created a computer-generated image of the original, enlarged to show the pixels. Then he selected, cut and sorted by color the 350 different fabrics used, including some of his own hand-dyed fabric. Other hand-dyed fabrics are from Joy Press of Godley, Texas.

The pieces were arranged on a design wall and sewn together in strips with a Singer Featherweight sewing machine. After about 1,200 hours of work, the emerging design became apparent in the 15.3-foot by 5.5-foot piece.

Machine quilting was problematic because of the size of the work and because the image was not apparent to anyone working close to the fabric.

DIANNE STALLINGS/STAFF

visitors to the Cleveland Lloyd Dinosaur Quarry.

Changes in her personal life pushed her to relocate. She began calling some of her favorite places to see if there were openings. Ruidoso, a vacation spot, as well as racing stop, was a natural choice.

"I had been here a lot over the years while I was in school," she said. "I was interested in the area and decided to make some phone calls."

Allen said she and her sisters grew up around horses, but probably spent more time braiding their manes and tails than riding. But in 1997, she linked up with a group of nine other women and bought a race horse in California.

Old Habits took second place in the All American Futurity for two-year-old horses in 1998 and won the All American Derby for three-year-olds in 1999.

"I have two horses now that I own and race in the intermountain area of Utah, Wyoming and Idaho," Allen said. Those horses are handled by a trainer, who makes most of the decisions "and then sends me the bills," she joked.

During racing season, Allen spends her time off at Ruidoso Downs Race Track or riding two geldings she keeps on 10 acres she owns around her home in the Loma Grande area.

"I needed acreage because I knew I wanted to keep some horses and you can only find one or two acres around Ruidoso," she said.

Allen said she finds emergency medicine attractive as a career for several reasons.

"It's shift work and when you're off, you have more free time than a family practice or internal medicine," Allen said. "No one is calling you in the middle of the night, although you may have to work nights and on holidays when most other people are off."

She also enjoys the variety of situations and conditions, "although that can be more stressful, because they can be more acute things," Allen said. "But it's just more interesting to me."

Hired in January, she was brought on in time to see the frequent fractures from skiing accidents, common in most ski resort areas.

Although this is the first time she's been in charge of an emergency room full time - she was temporary director during the illness of a colleague at another hospital - her approach is simple. "I mainly just want to see it run as efficiently as it can with enough staff to handle the demand, so they don't burn out and work too many shifts a month."

Working as the only physician on staff in an emergency room was new for Allen.

"Most ERs of any size are staffed strictly with MDs," she said. "But once I worked with these guys, I got to see how they managed things and they do a great job. Many were medics and were on paramedic flight teams, so they had a lot of experience, especially working with emergencies and trauma."

Traffic light soon!

Ruidoso may hopefully lose its unwanted distinction of being the only city, of equal size and vehicular traffic, in New Mexico without a traffic light.

Kenneth Towle, Hobbs, vice chairman of the New Mexico State Highway Commission, in a telephone conversation with Ruidoso Village Manager James L. Hine, reportedly told Hine that the state highway department would install a traffic control light at the intersection of Suddearth and Mechem drives.

The Silver Lining

BY DANIEL AGNEW STORM

A while back, Paul Jones, in talking over the phone, said: "When you come up this way, stop by and look at my Mark Storm Room."

The Mark Storm Room turned out to be his whole large front room, and overflowed into his sun-lit dining room.

All around the rooms were prints of Mark's paintings... There is an original, small painting that has been on the wall for 40 years or so - a painting of a favorite sorrel horse of Paul's. The pride of the household is an original by Mark of Paul, at age 18 or so, mounted on his cow pony, lariat in hand.

Regents praise Miller

Jim Miller's shoulders must have been sore after Monday's meeting of the Eastern New Mexico University board of regents.

The verbal pats on the back were effusive about the success of the university-sponsored off-campus instruction center in Ruidoso. Miller has guided the first year of the operation.

The doctor is off duty, so...

■ Breaking new ground at LCMC, Glori Allen, M.D., is the first woman in the hospital's history to run the emergency room. But that's all right: With semi-regular hours, she can find time for her other great interest - the one that brought her to Ruidoso - horses, and a chance to ride and race them.

BY DIANNE STALLINGS
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

She hardly fits the image of someone who deals with medical emergencies on a daily basis, managing a staff of physician's assistants, registered nurses and other medical personnel.

But people quickly sense an iron will lies behind the blue eyes and petite build of the new emergency room director at the Lincoln County Medical Center.

Dr. Glori Allen, the first woman to run the emergency room for the county-owned hospital, seems to be a perfect fit for Ruidoso and Lincoln County. She loves to ski, she owns race horses and she was born in Texas.

She's also spent a major portion of her medical career working in small rural hospitals, staffing and managing emergency rooms.

Allen grew up in Corpus Christi, Texas, with two sisters. Her father was a school principal and her mother, an elementary level teacher.

She attended undergraduate school at Abilene Christian University, graduating cum laude with a degree in speech pathology in 1978, followed by a master's degree from the University of Tennessee in 1979.

"My best friend in college was studying speech pathology and I thought it was interesting," she said.

But a few years later while working as a speech therapist with a facial surgeon at a rehabilitation center, she became intrigued with medicine and decided she needed more of a challenge. She went back to school in 1983, picking up the necessary science courses, attended medical school in 1985 and graduated in 1989 from Texas Tech in Lubbock.

She spent her three-year residency at a Texas Tech hospital in Amarillo, specializing in internal medicine.

"So I'm actually an internist," she said.

She married in 1993 and then spent 10 years in Utah, part of the time in the emergency room in the small town of Price. The town of 8,712 residents lies at the convergence of U.S. 6 and U.S. 191, about 68 miles southeast of Provo. Home of a museum of prehistoric artifacts and fossils, it's the stop-over point for

Annual photo 'Scavenger Hunt' coming back to the Byway

The Hubbard Museum of the American West is sponsoring the photographic "Scavenger Hunt" again this year. A roll of 36 exposure 35 mm film will be furnished to all those who enter. The subject is the Billy the Kid Scenic Byway, and will include the loop created by U.S. 380 and 70, and SR 48 and 220 - Ruidoso, Hondo, Lincoln, Capitan and back to Ruidoso. The entry fee will be $20.

The dates are Aug. 24 and the morning of Aug. 25.

Applications are available at the Hubbard Museum in Ruidoso Downs. Applications can also be found at the Hubbard Museum for the photography contest in October.

A correction: The family members of Betty McCreight at the retirement party were her husband, Ray, her daughter, Patti and husband, Mark and son Alex Webster of Columbus, Ohio.

Rachel Rominger's family were her husband, Chuck, daughters Rene and Jonette, grandson Michael, granddaughter Jessica of Albuquerque and five grandchildren of Albuquerque.

Cille Dickinson and Sandy Smith were hostesses to a barbecue recently. Sandy was celebrating her first year of residence in Lincoln. She will be building a new home soon in Lincoln. Sandy is a professional photographer and does restoration of old photos. She also is part-time employee at our post office.

The Lincoln County Photography Club held its monthly meeting at Texas-New Mexico Power in Ruidoso last week.

The club members had been busy judging at the Lincoln County Fair. Dave Travis, Leland de Ford, and Herb Brunell judged the open class and put up the display of the club's photography. I judged the 4-H photography and the classes were a tough job this year. We really have some great upcoming photographers with our young people. Congratulations.

Anne Marie Harvey was one excited member. She had won a first on her photo and the grand champion designation on her pastel painting. The group is planning a photographic excursion to Glenwood, north of Silver City, during the motorcycle rally in September. Dave Travis gave a slide show on the redwoods of California. Door prizes were won by Judith Gouch and Rosalie Dunlap.

Alena Borowski was awarded the State American Legion Scholarship of $1,000. Congratulations to this young lady. She was sponsored by the Capitan American Legion.

Visitors in Lincoln over the weekend were Mary Ellen Franklin, Lana Shults, and two friends.

Weather! I forgot to mention that it rained off and on all day Saturday of the pageant. But it was nice during the performance. This Saturday it was cool again but warmed up Sunday.

The three Episcopal Chapels of Lincoln County helped celebrate ordination anniversaries the Rev. Jani Davey (20 years) and the Rev. Ann Gaddy (16 years).

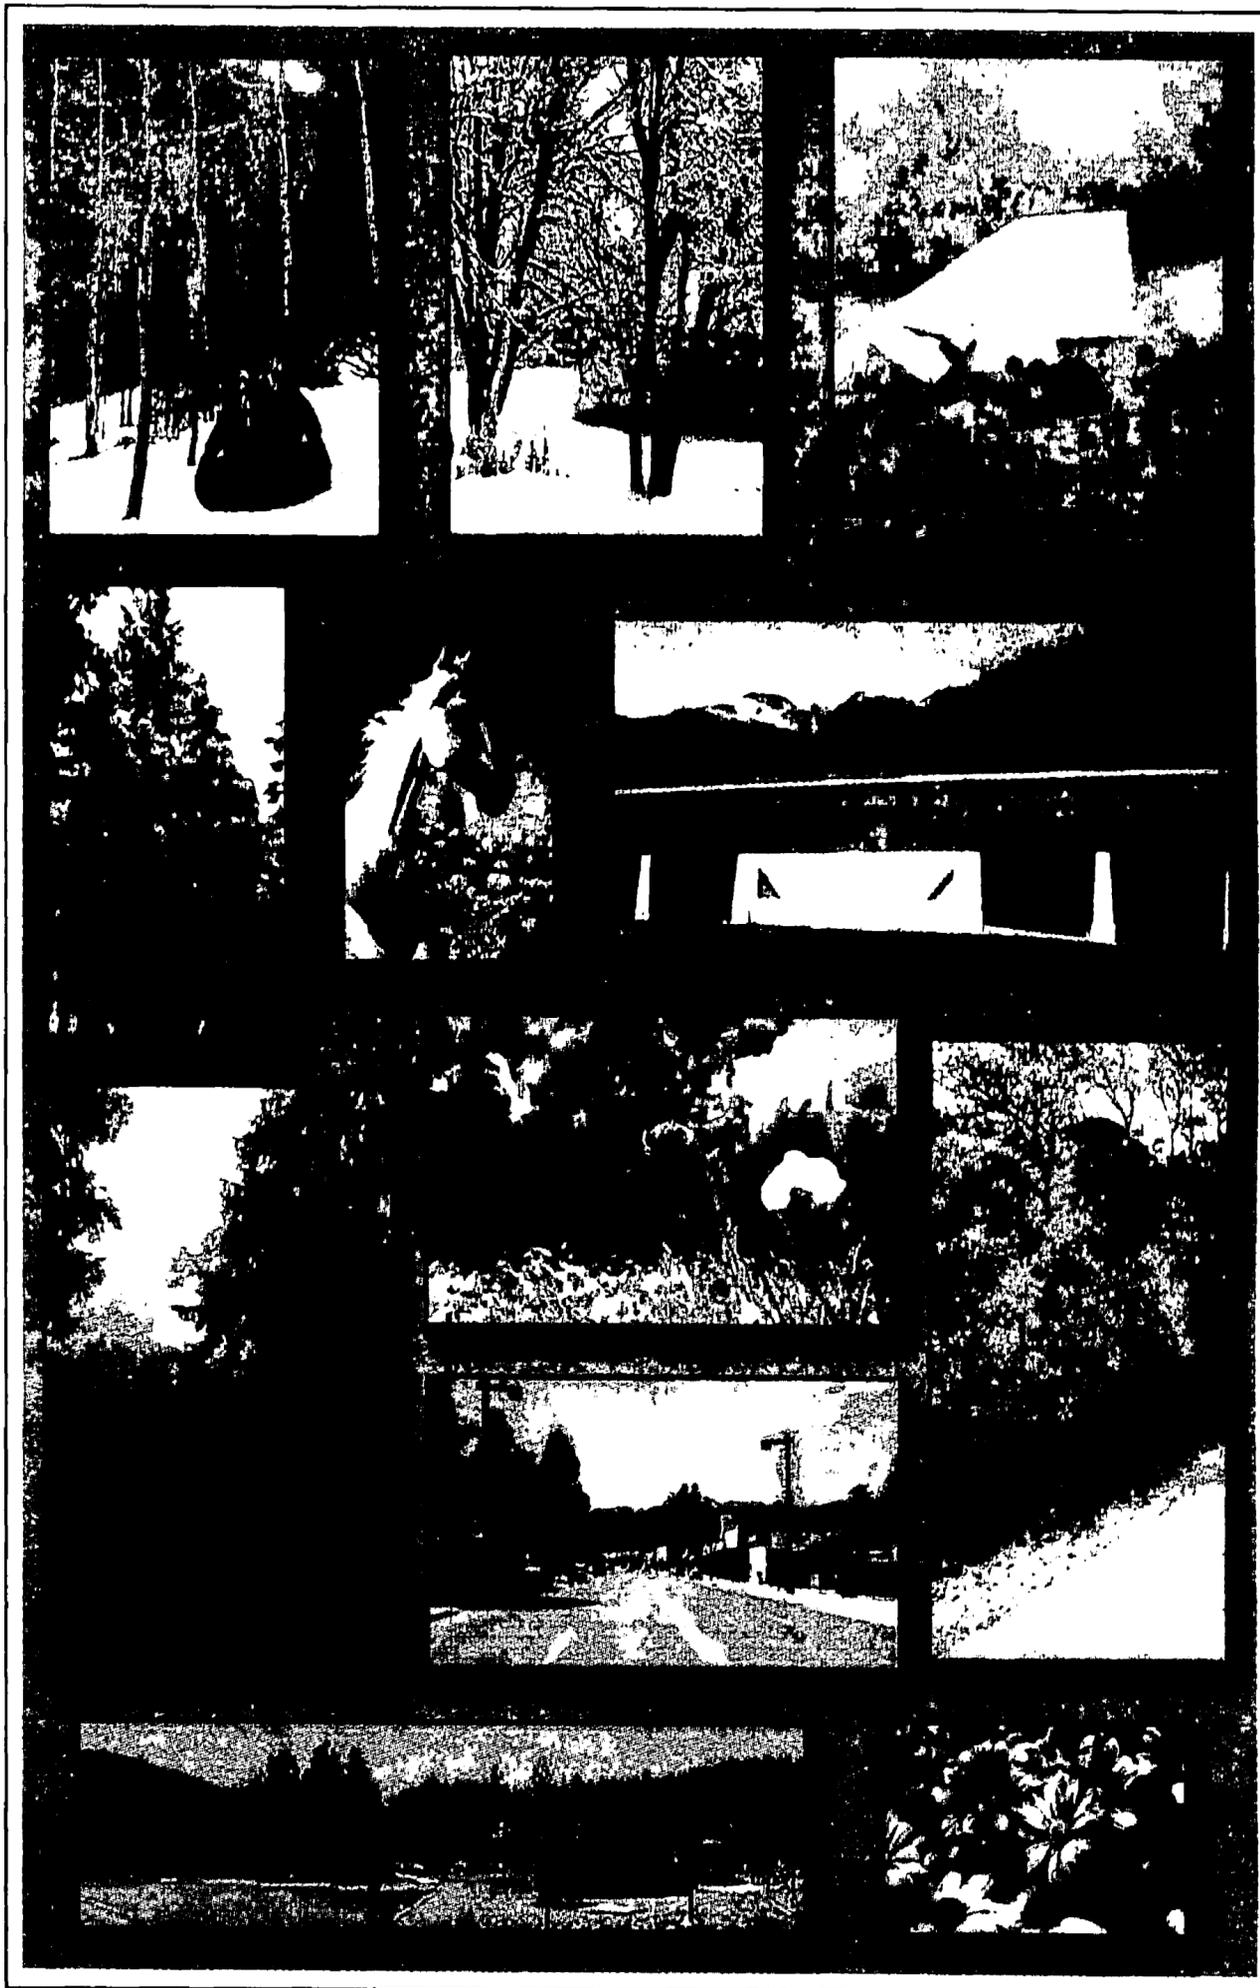

A memorial service was held for Matt Borowski last week. There was only standing room outside of San Juan Batista Church. Homilys were given by his brother, Michael and two best friends, Lee Abbott and Roger Cooper. Matt was a workaholic, secretary to the Lincoln Water Board, and enjoyed model airplane flying and golf. He will be missed.

Fall Academic Calendar	Back

Welcome to Eastern New Mexico University's Ruidoso Instruction Center! As your local University Off-Campus Center, we serve more than 1500 credit and non-credit students through a wide variety of academic programs. Our instructors and staff are talented, experienced professionals in their respective academic fields, friendly and ready to help you. That's why we have designed this schedule to make enrolling and registering at the Ruidoso Center as convenient as possible. Inside, you will find a list of afternoon and evening classes scheduled for the Fall Session. You will also find information on how to enroll and how to register for class, and what student services are available. But, if you still have questions, call us at 257-2120 or 1-800-934-3668.

BIENVENIDOS!

Bienvenidos a la Universidad del Este de Nuevo Mexico en Ruidoso, como Universidad local, servimos a mas de 1300 estudiantes acreditados y no acreditados con una extensa variedad de programas academicos. Nuestros maestros y personal administrativo son amistosos y estan listos para ayudarle. Por eso es que hemos disenado este programa, para hacer el ingreso en ENMU-Ruidoso tan conveniente como sea posible. Encontraran una lista de clases por las tardes o en la noche. Tambien encontraran informacion en como ingresar y que servicios estan disponibles para los estudiantes. Si tiene alguna duda o pregunta, puede llamar al telefono 257-2120 o 1-800-934-3668.

ADMISSIONS

The Ruidoso Center has an "open" admissions policy which means anyone with a high school diploma or GED Certificate may attend. Applications are available at the Center office.

ATTENDANCE

Attendance is required at all sessions for each course for which the student is enrolled. When circumstances make attendance impossible, such absences should be reported to the instructor. Possibilities for makeup work should be discussed with the instructor on an individual basis. No extensions of vacation periods are given to a student. Nonattendance of classes due to late registration is considered the same as absences incurred after registration.

CANCELLED-LIMITED SIZE CLASSES

The Ruidoso Center reserves the right to cancel any classes which do not attain the minimum enrollment requirement. The Center also reserves the right to close enrollment in those classes where the maximum capacity is reached.

EDUCATIONAL PROMISSORY LOANS

Educational Promissory Loan contracts are available to students who are taking a minimum of six (6) credit hours. A $10.00 contract fee plus 30% of the total amount of tuition and books is due at the time of registration. Students who have a balance due on a Educational Promissory Loan Contract from previous semesters will be required to make financial arrangements with Office Coordinator Pat Counts prior to registering. Failure to make these arrangements may result in voiding of your registration.

FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE

The Ruidoso Center has financial aid counseling available on an appointment or walk-in basis to assist you in making the correct financial decisions to support the accomplishment of your educational and career goals. Many grants, loans and scholarships are available through the assistance of our Student Affairs Office. Make your appointment as soon as possible with either Cheri LaCounte or Sue Kluthe; call 257-2120 or toll free 1-800-934-3668.

Teacher Education Programs @ ENMU Portales - Roswell - Ruidoso

Application to the ENMU Teacher Education Program

Eastern New Mexico University continues to increase the availability of education courses for prospective educators throughout southcentral New Mexico. ENMU is pleased to offer the Bachelor of Early Childhood Education, the Bachelor of Occupational Education (BOE), and the Bachelor of Applied Arts and Sciences (BAAS) to the southcentral mountain region, in addition to other upper division education courses and programs. The Alternative Licensure program at the Elementary and Secondary levels are also now available through ENMU-Ruidoso. The first two years of preparation for the traditional degree and licensure program may be taken at ENMU-Ruidoso and/or ENMU-Roswell.

The following requirements must be completed to enter the ENMU professional education program at the Junior level :

- * completion of 40 credit hours of general academic background specified in the ENMU or NMSU - Alamogordo catalog
- * enrollment in and successful completion of EDF 222 Structured Observations - Thursdays 6:30 ~ 9:00 pm at ENMU - Ruidoso (offered Fall and Spring at ENMU-Ruidoso or ENMU-Roswell)
- * earning a GPA of 2.8 or better
- * passage of the Basic Skills portion of the New Mexico Teachers Assessment (offered at Clovis or Las Cruces) (bulletins are available at the ENMU-Roswell, ENMU-Ruidoso or NMSU-Alamogordo offices)
- * make application to and be accepted in the Teacher Education Program (TEP)
- * make an appointment to visit with the Student Affairs advisors at the ENMU-Ruidoso Center; also make an appointment to meet with the College of Education advisor as soon as possible by calling the ENMU office in Ruidoso at (505) 257-2120 or toll free outside of the Ruidoso calling area at 1-800-934-3668 .

COMMUNITY EDUCATION PROGRAM

The Ruidoso Center Community Education Program is designed for people who are not interested in formal credit programs of study. The program strives to fulfill that part of Ruidoso Center mission which is "to make inexpensive, high quality educational services available at convenient times for the residents of the Ruidoso School District and the surrounding area of Lincoln and northern Otero Counties." Programs are also designed to be of interest to visitors to the Ruidoso and Lincoln County. The program is oriented toward lifelong learning and the fulfillment of the individual.

DON'T KEEP IT TO YOURSELF. SHARE YOUR KNOWLEDGE!!

Our instructors are a diverse and talented group of people, each with something very special to share. If you would like to propose a class, workshop, or tour for ENMU consideration, just give us a call. Whether you would like to teach in our program or just recommend an activity, we'd love to hear from you!

COURSE FEES

The Ruidoso Center Community Education program is a self-sustaining program with course fees covering all program-related expenses. Fees are based on an estimated minimum number of students. Unlike credit programs of study at the Ruidoso Center, the Community Services Program does not depend on state and local taxes for support. Honored Americans (ages 62+) will pay half fees unless otherwise specified.

CLASS CHANGES AND CANCELLATIONS

The Ruidoso Center reserves the right to cancel any course with insufficient enrollment. Locations, dates and times of classes and instructors are also subject to change. A class will be closed when it reaches maximum enrollment, so you are encouraged to register early. Classes with insufficient enrollment will be cancelled, and you will be notified by phone. To make contacting you easier, please give day and evening phone numbers with your registration. Refunds will be automatically processed on courses which the Ruidoso Center cancels.

REGISTER EARLY - MOST CLASSES BEGIN AFTER September 3!!!

Register as soon as possible to assure a space in the class or classes you want. Mail-in, walk-in or FAXED registrations will also be accepted until the start of class. Registration is also now available via the Internet by visiting www.ruidoso.enmu.edu

SIX EASY WAYS TO ENROLL FOR YOUR COURSE!

BY PHONE (the easiest way)

You can enroll over the phone. Call the Ruidoso Center office at (505) 257-2120. If you live outside of the Ruidoso area, call 1-800-934-3668. Please have your course name, and a Credit Card number ready when you call. When registering by phone, you may use a Discover Card, MasterCard, VISA Card. Save time and travel!

REGISTER BY MAIL (the postal way)

Complete a noncredit registration form and mail it with a check or money order to: ENMU-Ruidoso, ATTN: Community Education, 709 Mechem Drive, Ruidoso, New Mexico 88345. Our mail is delivered in the early afternoon. We will process your registration by 5 p.m. A receipt is available at our office to confirm your place in class and you will need to show this receipt to the instructor at the first class meeting.

REGISTRATION IN PERSON

(the most personal way)

Come by our office and get to know us! The Ruidoso Center Office is now located at 709 Mechem Drive, Ruidoso, New Mexico. You may register in person as follows:

1. Regular office hours: M-F 8 ~5 PM
2. Special Registration:
Saturday, August 24,
8:30 am~ 12 Noon.

REGISTER BY FAX (the high tech way)

You may register by FAX 24 hours a day, 7 days a week! Fill out a Registration form and fax it day or night to (505) 257-9409. When FAXing your registration, you may chose to use a MasterCard, Visa, or Discover card.

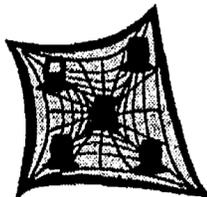

REGISTER BY PURCHASE ORDER (the businesslike way)

Organizations enrolling staff for training purposes will be invoiced if a purchase order number is quoted.

REGISTER On-Line (the New Millenium Way)

Go to www.ruidoso.enmu.edu, complete the registration form, and return it to the College office.

HOW TO FIND YOUR CLASS

If your class location is not designated in this schedule, please call the Ruidoso Center office on or before the day class is scheduled to obtain the class location. The Community Education program holds classes in a variety of Ruidoso locations. The course instructor will meet you at the class location.

REFUND POLICY FOR COMMUNITY EDUCATION COURSES

We want you to be 100 percent satisfied with your Community Education class. If for any reason your class isn't exactly what you wanted, simply come by the office, and we will be happy to assist you. If you prefer, we will refund your money under the following conditions:

1. Registration fees are refunded in full only when:
 - the class or workshop for which an enrollment was submitted is already full; OR
 - the activity is cancelled; OR
 - the Ruidoso Center rejects the enrollment application.
2. If after the first class meeting, you find the class isn't exactly what you wanted, 50% of the registration fee will be refunded. It is your responsibility to notify the Center Office prior to the second class of your intention to withdraw if you want a refund.
3. There will be no refund for withdrawals after the second class meeting. If you haven't withdrawn even though you are not attending class, you still have a financial obligation to complete payment for that class.

 Location: Sierra Dove Center for Healing,
 1729 Fort Stanton Road

Week 1 - Wednesday, September 4 Color Your World

Instructor Patsy Blasdel, artist, will explore the energetics of color and personal design. Discuss the color wheel and energy centers of the human body while you investigate and interpret the reasons why they make certain color choices. You will create personal drawings, called Mandalas, using shapes and pigments for self-expression.

Week 2 - Wednesday, September 11 Journaling: Listening to Your Inner Voice

Instructor Bob Yehling, writer and editor, will show you how journaling takes on many forms and definitions. When we use it as a way to listen to our inner selves, it becomes a great stress management tool. We'll open up contact with our physical, mental, emotional, spiritual and dream selves through creative techniques such as power words, clustering, dialoguing and storytelling. It will be revealing, invigorating, healing - and lots of fun!

Week 3 - Wednesday, September 18

The Artist's Way

Instructor Julia Price, artist and writing teacher, will explore ways to tap into your full creative potential through free-writing, drawing and other life enhancing activities. We will experience exercises and techniques specifically designed to help you access your right brain and set your imagination free. Find a place within yourself where it is possible to detach from all the distractions of daily life.

Week 4 - Wednesday, September 25

Lotions, Potions and Teas

Instructor Rosemary Cascio, C.H., owner and director of the Herb Shop, will offer ways to relieve stress and lead a more peaceful, balanced life using nature's gifts. We will provide a concise and knowledgeable of herbs, homeopathics, oils and Bach Flower Essences that can be used as tools for stress management. Many of the herbs immediately available from kitchen spices, house gardens and wild plants in our area.

Week 5 - Wednesday, October 2

Form Drawing: The Art of the Moving Line

Instructor Lee Sturgeon - Day, counselor and writer, calms, harmonizes and energizes our life forces, connecting us inwardly and with the surrounding world. The simple act of drawing these lines is a meditation in itself. 10 minutes daily can restore balance to the system and relieve stress. All doodlers are welcome to join in this relaxing and strengthening activity.

Week 6 - Wednesday, October 9

The Sound of Touch and the Touch of Sound

Instructor Gerald Sinclair, Ph.D. is a counselor, flute player/maker, reflexologist and sound healer. Sound is a wave of vibrations felt at the cellular level. Once understood, we can create a support environment for health and well-being through the use of music, white sound, humming and instruments like the flute. Simple, effective techniques are designed to reduce fatigue effects and encourage growth and relaxation. Wear loose clothes for this hands-on class!

Introduction to Complimentary/ Alternative Healing Practices

Have you been curious about some of the natural healing practices? Have you ever wondered who some of our practitioners are and what they do? What are some of the benefits of these practices? How do you go about choosing the appropriate practice and practitioner for yourself. These are just a few of the questions that will be addressed in this series of classes that will assist you in creating and maintaining your health and wholeness. Topics to be taught by various instructors include acupuncture, healing touch, herbal pharmacy, hypnotherapy, naturopathy, nutrition and oriental medicine. A professional health care practitioner with expertise in a particular modality will monitor the series

The Art of Meditation

Meditation means learning to "slow down and focus attention on one thing at a time." This discipline allows us to use our time more wisely in all areas of life. Through meditation, we become calmer, and more centered and experience other physical benefits, such as normalizing blood pressure; feeling rested, recovering more of our potential for love, zest, and enthusiasm in our lives. Learn some of the most effective methods of meditation, ranging from visualization to sound techniques and using the breath.

NEW!

Instructor: Various Instructors
Fee: $40 for all classes
Time/Dates: 7:00 ~ 8:30 pm, Wednesdays,
October 23 to November 13

1729 Fort Stanton Road, Alto

Week 1 - Meditation/Relaxation, October 23

Instructor Diane Thrasher, Energy Facilitator, will teach you an easy way to calm your mind and relax your body through a simple approach to meditation. The techniques that you will learn are designed to release the stress of daily living. Bring a balance into your life through focus and peace with these simple and easy approaches to meditation.

Week 2 - Meditation through Sound, October 30

Instructors Bob Yehling, Gerald Sinclair, and Helen Proctor are health professionals who have experimented with sound, and found that sound vibrations can induce a deep state of tranquility. Vibrations can even improve the quality of a person's health! In this class, the instructors share the value of the voice and of musical instruments such as the flute and singing bowls, as effective entry points to meditation.

Week 3 - Meditation through Yoga and Breath, November 6

Instructor Bob Yehling. In Hindu culture, breath is considered the vehicle of our lives. Yoga is an inward and physical way in which to attune with the Divine. We bring breath and yoga together through gentle, invigorating postures, deep breathing exercises, and affirmations which attune us to both the wonders of our lives and bodies, and the inner wonders of the spirit.

Week 4 - Music/Kirtan - November 13

Instructors Bob Yehling, Gerald Sinclair, and Helen Proctor. Join us for a celebration of deeply inspirational, healing music through the practice known as "Kirtan" - devotional music. We will combine flute, harmonium, singing bowls and other instruments for an evening of music and storytelling from the Hindu, Native American, Celtic and Tibetan traditions.

Your Spirit - Your Life

A program by women, for women, designed to enhance your life, remember your spirit, and reclaim your power through time-tested practices and philosophies. The series will consist of 6 weekly 2 1/2 hour sessions led by professional women in the community with expertise in a variety of fields. Topics will include: meditation, yoga, nutrition, astrology, feng shui, alternative health, tai chi, and more! Each session will include lecture, discussion and hands-on activities. You will gain practical knowledge that you can apply immediately in your everyday life. Please join us for all 6 sessions to get the full benefit of the program.

Building Trades Program for Senior High School and Out-of-School Adult Students

As another step in locally offering high quality, marketable occupational-technical training, ENMU-Ruidoso and the Lincoln County Home Builders Association are offering a yearlong occupational - technical training experience for up to ten (10) students interested in a career in residential or commercial construction. Learn building trade skills to earn money for a lifetime while earning college credit!

Four hour classes meet five mornings each week for 18 weeks in the fall and 18 weeks in the spring. Classes are designed to teach students the work habits and skills necessary to build a house from start to finish. Cost of the program is the cost of 21 hours tuition plus a $45 lab fee per semester to cover the cost of student liability insurance. ENMU provides an experienced, licensed contractor as the course instructor, hand and power tools, a construction site and the administrative support necessary to underwrite and supply a complete residential construction project. The finished house is sold on the residential market in order to support the following year's building trades program.

Who is Eligible to Enroll in these Courses? High School Juniors and Seniors; out-of-school youth, and interested adults are eligible. You must have a reasonable degree of physical fitness, the funds necessary to cover the costs of the course(s) and the time to regularly attend each day, Monday through Friday, 8:00 am to 12 Noon for 36 weeks.

Fall Term Courses

IET 001 - Construction Math

Learn the mathematical concepts used in the construction industry to measure lengths, area and volume.

IET 002 - Basics and Background

Learn the safe use of hand and power tools and how to read and understand blueprints.

IET 003 - Structural Foundations

See demonstrations of building techniques and take field trips to houses already under construction. Construction will start on a residential building site. Pour structural footings and build a block stem wall.

IET 004 - Framing the Structure

Build and install the floor, wall framing and roof trusses.

Spring Term Courses

IET - 001 The 'Dry-in' Process

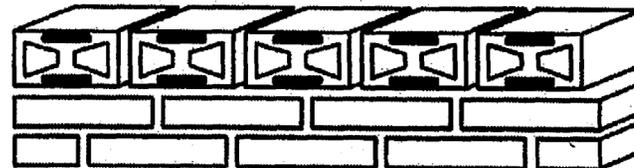

Complete the roof and exterior sheathing. Windows and exterior doors.

IET - 002 Begin to Finish

Install and paint exterior siding and trim. Install, float and texture sheetrock. Install interior window trim, baseboard and interior doors.

IET - 003 Finish the House

Paint interior walls, doors and trim. Install kitchen and bath cabinets, countertops and appliances. Complete remaining exterior and interior work required before listing.
