Arbitrator reinstates Hedin

Embattled teacher wins appeal case

BY MARTY RACINE
FOR THE RUIDOSO NEWS

The Ruidoso High School teacher fired in the "hot tub incident" has been reinstated.

The dramatic decision handed down by an arbitrator late Tuesday is a victory for teacher, track coach and trainer Eddie Hedin.

Hedin, reached within minutes after learning of the decision, said he felt "vindicated."

The 11-year school employee had been discharged for alleged misconduct and insubordination stemming from a March 5 incident in which he was discovered alone and partially clothed in the school's training room therapy pool with a female student, a minor. He was placed on administrative leave the following day and fired by the school board in May upon the recommendation of then-superintendent Mike Gladden.

His appeal of that firing led to a lengthy and contentious arbitration hearing that concluded Aug. 8. Arbitrator Rozier E. Sanchez, a retired Albuquerque judge, had until Sept. 6 to render his decision whether to uphold or overturn the firing. The suddenness of his action might have been due to this week's start of the school year, Hedin's attorney, Calvin Hyer, suggested Tuesday.

Fire restrictions dropped

Weekend rains prompt reduction of fire danger rating

BY DIANNE STALLINGS
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

The amount of rain falling Friday and over the weekend varied widely based on location from slightly more than an inch to 4 inches, homeowners and village officials reported Monday.

The heaviest downpour hit on Friday, but rain continued to fall off and on all weekend.

Coinciding with the most recent precipitation, the state Forestry Division of the New Mexico Energy, Minerals and Natural Resources Department rescinded restrictions on open fires imposed June 27 for non-federal, non-municipal lands throughout the state.

The village of Ruidoso also adjusted its fire danger rating from Extreme to High, which eliminates fire restrictions that were in effect. James Mason, Ruidoso Fire Department fire prevention officer, asked people to exercise caution when using any potential ignition sources.

Arthur Blazer, state forester, and Joanna Prukop, department secretary, emphasized that the state fire restrictions could be reinstated if climatic conditions, drought, fire danger or other factors present a threat to forests, range lands, watersheds, personal property or public safety.

They urged the public to use fire cautiously and safely.

One lightning-caused fire was reported Friday at the head of Pippin Canyon on East Mountain.

Jay Esperance, fire management officer for the Smokey Bear Ranger District of the Lincoln National Forest, said less than one acre burned.

The fire was reported about 11 a.m. Friday. Two Forest Service engines and crews fought the blaze, calling it contained by 12:30 p.m. Saturday.

"It was a rare event for East Mountain in that it was one of the few times they could drive to the fire and use their hoses," he said. Knowing that the special fire fighting plane on standby at Sierra Blanca Regional Airport was released by the state Forestry Division and the village of Ruidoso last week, that was a relief, he said.

"As they left the mountain, they said it was being dumped on with rain," Esperance said.

County makes no move on clinics

BY DIANNE STALLINGS
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

Facing a room full of supporters of Presbyterian Health Services and the staff of the county health clinic in Carrizozo, Lincoln County commissioners delayed action on a recommendation to award a rural health clinic management contract to another company.

County manager Tom Stewart reported Tuesday that a five-person evaluation team ranked Presbyterian Medical Services the highest with 402 points and he recommended that negotiations begin with that firm to operate three clinics.

Two of the three, Carrizozo and Corona, are managed by PHS, which also runs the county-owned hospital in Ruidoso, the Lincoln County Medical Center. La Casa Family Health Center operates the county clinic in Hondo and ranked at 366 points. PHS was third with 342 point. PMS has proposed more flexible services to meet the needs of the clinics, according to Stewart's memorandum to commissioners.

Commissioner Earl Hobbs offered a motion to approve the manager's recommendation, but it failed 3-2 with Commissioners Leo Martinez voting with Hobbs. Commissioners Rick Simpson and Maury St. John, and Chairman Rex Wilson voted against the motion.

Wilson then suggested tabling the issue until next month's meeting to give commissioners time to review the proposals and to ask questions on a one-on-one basis. That passed 4-1 with Martinez voting nay.

Wilson said that during the public meeting anything that is negotiable, including money fig-

Insurance company to residents: Thin lots or risk losing coverage

BY DIANNE STALLINGS
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

Homeowners in Ruidoso are receiving letters from at least one insurance company warning them that they must show efforts to reduce the fire danger on their lots or coverage may not be renewed next year.

Village Forestry Department director Rick DeIaco told village councilors last week that letters went out from Met Life Insurance Company.

"Between Monday and Tuesday, I had 50 phone calls or e-mails," he said. "The letter says folks in town and outside areas must comply with minimum requirements of the state Forestry Division" or send a photograph showing tree thinning efforts on lots.

"I think this is the tip of the iceberg," DeIaco said. "State Farm in Colorado already notified their customers they must create defensible space to maintain their insurance."

Although the letter is not sanctioned by the village, it seems to be helping move people toward action, he said. Unlike many other areas at risk of wildfire, Ruidoso last year enacted regulations requiring he reduction of "fuel" on empty land and lots with homes, as well as establishing building code requiring fire resistant materials.

Met Life wants more than a copy of a certificate of compliance; company officials want home owners to go a step further and follow recommendations by the state forestry beyond the minimum, DeIaco said.

"That's why we are receiving a flood of calls," he said. "Folks have more impetus to get things done, but it's a burden on the state forestry and we are trying to help."

Rick DeIaco village forester upcoming renewals, but DeIaco said although he hears some panic on the telephone, the company is not threatening to drop anyone until the next renewal cycle.

"That may be six months to a year," he said. "People are asking us to do a lot of (land) assessments."

He can handle the village, but the state forestry was smashed by the influx of calls for outlying areas such as Alto.

"It would have been more helpful if we were involved in the process," he said of the insurance letters.

An option to the certificate is to show work completed on a lot in a photograph, but land assessments are helpful in letting people know what need to be accomplished, he said.

CLINICS: County asked to consider loyalty, history

ures, could not be discussed. But next month, after advertising the agenda, commissioners could talk about the proposals during their closed-to-the-public executive session.

A representative from PMS said by commission direction everything in her company's proposal is negotiable.

"We stand on our proposal and reputation," she said, explaining that in 1964, PMS and PHS split from the Presbyterian church to establish separate operations. PHS focused on hospitals and PMS on community physical and mental health services.

Her company's programs are termed exemplary by the state, she said. One of PMS's main goals would be a smooth transition without loss of services. The current staff would be retained, she said.

Gary Mitchell, chairman of the LCMC board, said he realizes the unique situation commissioners face and that years earlier, hospital officials had recommended PMS staff come into the area and manage the clinics because that's their expertise.

But he reflected on the long history of PHS working with the commission to create and expand the clinics in Carrizozo and Corona. The hospital responded when commissioners asked it to take over and manage the two clinics, Mitchell said. The primary concern now is to ensure the future of the staff of the clinics who live and work in the communities, he said.

"Rest assured, the hospital will help in whatever way it can, no matter what happened with the clinics," Mitchell said. "Corona and Hobdo would like more days (of service). If someone can figure out a better way to provide that than in the past, more power to them."

Wilson said in the past, rebidding was to be required every four years and didn't provide stability. Now the state contracts can run eight years.

Representatives from the staff of the Carrizozo Health Clinic said they unanimously support the selection of PHS, based on 16 years of experience and accomplishments with that management firm.

Martinez said he's looking at the best medical care that can be given. Staff retention was one of the primary considerations in the county's requirements for proposals, he said. On the other hand, no guarantees of job security exist in the private sector, he said.

Susan Hightower, chairman of the Carrizozo clinic's advisory committee, asked commissioners to consider the loyalty of PHS over the years and that the company became involved when no one else wanted to manage the clinics.

Jean Means, who used to serve on the Carrizozo advisory board, said she was disturbed that no one from that town was asked to serve on the evaluation committee. Ernie Gonzales, an award-winning physician's assistant at the clinic, said employees are concerned about loss of vacation and longevity time if a change occurs.

Martinez said he doesn't want a decision based on pressure.

"We had an evaluation process and then the 'loser' (PHS) comes in and loads up the place to change commissioners' minds," he said. "I'm trying to make this as impartial as I can."

Wilson said public opinion still must be considered.

"How do you document loyalty and balance that with good credentials and a presence in other communities?" he asked.

LCMC administrator James Gibson clarified that the group of auxiliary members attended the meeting because of another issue, not to pressure a decision on the clinics. He said PHS may have been ranked lower because it didn't need a transition plan and may "have taken liberties" on that section of the proposal.

Task force members question relevancy

■ Bill Schwettmann, a member, says more funding is necessary.

BY DIANNE STALLINGS
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

Without specific powers and duties, and subordinated to another Lincoln County advisory committee, a new water research task force may be irrelevant, committee members say.

Former county commissioner Bill Schwettmann told current commission members Tuesday that if the Water Research and Conservation Committee is not allowed to function properly — which includes some money to gather data and attend water-related regional and state meetings — members might as well go home "to keep on doing the professional work they're not doing."

As committee chairman, he questioned whether the group was formed simply to create an appearance of participation in state efforts to solve New Mexico's water problems.

"The committee as now constituted is not working and won't work in our judgment," he said. Yet water is the focus of the entire Southwest.

"Do we have it? Will it run out? Is it still wet?" people are asking, he said. "We need direction from the commission and management. Is there a time line or are there goals?"

He also asked why the commission "subjugated the reporting of our research and conclusions to the Land Use and Rural Affairs Advisory Committee? Isn't water research and conservation important enough for direct communication with commissioners and the county manager?"

He noted that out of 29 state meetings on water, none were conducted in Lincoln County, "but that's to be expected," he added.

The committee was formed without providing mileage reimbursement or per diem to allow attendance at seminars and other sessions, and to compile information, he said. Without that capability, committee members may as well sit in a library and read, he said.

He invited commissioners to attend the Sept. 5 committee meeting to discuss the situation.

Bill Midkiff, a committee member and engineer like Schwettmann, said the committee sees its goal as providing a vision for the public welfare by using existing laws to "protect, maintain and restore a sustainable water supply" in the county.

Two documentaries to feature local historian

Ruidoso News columnist and Hubbard Museum of the American West historian Drew Gomer will be appearing on the History Channel this month. Gomer, an authority on the American West and outlaws and lawmen in particular, was interviewed by the History Channel on two separate occasions, in May and June.

The May interview, filmed near Lincoln, was applied to a show called "Gunfighter Technology," which aired Tuesday and will re-air periodically. The show focuses primarily on the firearms — and how they were used — of men such as Wild Bill Hickok and John Wesley Hardin, two men considered to be among the deadliest gunfighters who ever lived.

The June interview, for which Gomer was flown to Hollywood by the History Channel, is called "Outlaw Technology." It will air on Tuesday, Aug. 26. This show will focus on the uses to which the desperadoes of the American West put the invention of things such as dynamite. It, too, will be aired periodically after the premier.

Actor Keith Carradine will host both shows. Consult your local listings for air times.

West Nile-afflicted horse dies after nine-day battle

Vet fears mosquitoes aren't the only carriers

BY MARTY RACINE
FOR THE RUIDOSO NEWS

Mareekho, the 11-year-old Arabian gelding that had contacted the West Nile virus, has died.

As reported Friday, the Capitan horse was among a growing number of West Nile equine cases in New Mexico. The virus, which is carried by birds and transmitted to horses by mosquitoes, has proliferated to record proportions in the state. Other cases in Lincoln County have been reported in Lincoln, Alto and Corona.

After causing an initial fever, the disease attacks the neurological system, causing weakness and tremors and a clenched jaw that prohibits food and water intake. Muscles in the hindquarters are usually affected first. There is no cure other than trying to ease the symptoms, which, if the horse lives, take weeks to subside.

Because arid New Mexico does not support a large mosquito population, veterinarians surmise there may be additional carriers of West Nile. "It's very scary," Capitan veterinarian Becky Washburn says. "I am still suspicious that there's something else that transmits it, because this is the first week we've had rain. I've even wondered about mucous transmission."

Though the vaccine and the annual booster are not 100 percent effective, Washburn advises horse owners to get their animals vaccinated. "It truly does help their chances," she said.

Owners must make a judgment call this time of year. The initial two-shot vaccine requires eight weeks to provide immunity, effectively delaying protection until October's mosquito-eliminating frost.

Mareekho, who had not been vaccinated, had been recumbent but did not appear to suffer before taking his last breath and thrashing his hind legs at 8:15 a.m. Saturday, Day 9 of his ordeal. Lying in the middle of his pen under a rain tarp, he timed his death to spare his caregivers the effort of dragging and slinging him into an upright position. Washburn, who had treated him with steroids, anti-inflammatory drugs, pain medication and intravenous fluids, arrived with the sling just minutes after the horse stopped breathing.

A day earlier the owners, who Veterinarian Becky Washburn treats Mareekho, an Arabian gelding that came down with West Nile Virus last week. The horse died Saturday.

night feeding him water, rubbing aloe on his scrapes and rolling him over every two hours.

Washburn had feared the worst when she arrived after sunrise. "It concerned me that he could not pick his head up and he couldn't move his front legs," she said. "It is very, very hard for a horse to be down for long. If he could have rolled upright it would have been easier on his digestive system and his lungs."

"I also worried about the rain and him getting wet. You're talking about a 40-degree change in temperature from day to night, and that's very hard on a horse that's debilitated."

After a hard rain, Mareekho was buried in the pasture.

Village, Downs officials want to show EPA river progress, delay deadline

BY DIANNE STALLINGS
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

Village officials want to meet with the division director of water management for the Environmental Protection Agency in Dallas to attempt to move back the deadline for compliance with strict phosphorous standards tied to the regional wastewater treatment plant.

Otherwise Ruidoso and Ruidoso Downs, which share the plant, could pay a fine for every day the operation fails to meet the standards that take effect Jan. 1.

During a session of the Joint Board for the Regional Wastewater Treatment Plant Thursday, Ruidoso village manager Lorri McKnight reported on a meeting last month in Santa Fe involving officials from the two municipalities and representatives of the state Environment Department and the EPA.

"We brought the EPA people (including Taylor Sharpe of the compliance division) up to speed on where we are, what we are doing, and gave him a copy of our proposal," she said.

To avoid part of a possible $8 million impact to change the plant to remove more phosphorous, the village proposes to conduct tests to try to pinpoint sources of contamination. Those tests have started, along with a separate testing program by the ED.

"Algae is growing throughout the river (above and below the plant), in places we never realized," said John Waters, Ruidoso Downs city administrator. "Something else may be causing the algae to bloom," rather than insufficient treatment of waste water at the plant. Requiring $8 million in changes to the plant is a very expensive way to learn if that's true, he said.

He pointed to a recent storm surge that sent an ash flow into the river from areas burned in past forest fires.

That ash contains high amount of phosphorous and nitrogen, Waters said.

Cleatus Richards, Ruidoso deputy director for operations, said for the first time Steve Baumgarn with the state ED acknowledged that the new standards may not accomplish the desired end effect.

During the Santa Fe meeting, Sharpe suggested information be sent to Miguel Flores, EPA division director of water management.

"His ears perked up when we discussed the regional nature of the problem and the watershed issues, and that we had identified other stakeholders including the state in unincorporated areas of the county and the (Mescalero Apache) Tribe," McKnight said.

"We emphasized the concept with the EPA that it is a bigger issue than just Ruidoso and Ruidoso Downs. We put together a draft letter trying to give an overview, and included a copy of the proposal and a request for a meeting in Dallas."

Attorneys for the two municipalities will review the letter drafted by Charles Rennieck, Ruidoso planning director.

Waters said Sharpe made it clear that the board would have to meet with EPA to ask for the plant permit to be modified by moving back the compliance date.

"The EPA says we have to enforce (the standards) or pay a fine" starting in January, he said. The door was shut for any leniency on the standards by the EPA, Waters said. The two municipalities will have to pay a portion of the fines, if a date change isn't approved, he said.

"Even if it's only $1,000 a day, you're talking two years and that's a chunk of money," Richards said. "They can go up to $26,000 a day."

Ruidoso Councilor Deborah Marcum-Byars, who attended the Santa Fe meeting, said a portion of the fine money can be used toward a solution.

McKnight said she pointed out that the village doesn't have enough money to do the project and adding fines won't help. Byars said she told federal officials they may as well take the keys to the village if they add fines.

McKnight said Sharpe seemed to like the report and indicated he would send material to Flores, which could pave the way for a meeting.

Dan Bryant, attorney for Ruidoso Downs, said that for first time he thought Baumgarn supported village efforts and plans.

"He told Sharpe even if we started the day the new permit for the plant was issued, we couldn't have met the three-year deadline to redesign and construct the system to remove more phosphorous," the attorney said. "It was not doable" from the first day."

Ruidoso Mayor Leon Eggleston, a member of the joint board, suggested the towns pay the cost of sending Baumgarn to the meeting in Dallas.

RULING: Hedin ready to start over

school board's decision discharging Hedin is "reversed."

Hyer said it is his understanding that Hedin will regain all of his duties at the school but that he could not confirm that. Andres Becerra of the National Education Association of New Mexico, who was following the case in support of the teacher, was traveling Tuesday and unavailable for comment.

Hedin hadn't yet spoken with school officials but he expected to return to his old duties. "As far as I know everything is supposed to go back to prior to getting dismissed. I want everything back."

Ruidoso Public School

District officials were unavailable for comment.

"It's been real hard on me and my family," Hedin said of the process. "I'm flat broke, man. It cost me a lot of money to [fight] this. But our family is real close, real tight, and we stick together. It was worth it."

Hedin's wife Kathy and son Nathanael, a Baylor student, were en route to Waco, Texas, when he reached them with the news by cell phone.

"They were going through Tatum," Hedin said. "They pulled over and had a dance on the highway."

He sounded anxious to return to school.

"Football season and volleyball have started; I need to be out there with the kids (as a trainer). Kids are coming to my house and they have aches and pains and there's nobody to take care of them. All I could do was suggest to them what they needed to do. Now that I'm there and I can go out and take care of the kids like they need."

Hedin, 49, had received support during the ordeal from many students, including the female student in question.

He downplayed any lingering bitterness with individuals who had sided against him. "I'm here for kids. I'm not here for my ego. ... If people have hard feelings it's only going to be on their part, not mine. I've forgiven everybody in my own mind who's ever done anything to me."

OUR OPINION

The dog-eat-dog world of medical care

Lincoln County's people must have a voice, too

We must tread carefully as we venture into a scary and largely unknown jungle — the ferocious world of medical care.

Ferocious? What else stirs such passion as is found in hospital emergency rooms, intensive care units, operating rooms? What else is more critical to parents seeking to bring new life into the world, more necessary to the injured and infirm?

Medical care is with us, and the way it is delivered is of paramount importance, but we must not forget — as a debate is renewed in Lincoln County — that medical care is a business. Whatever the label — “for-profit” or “not-for-profit” or “non-profit” — medical care in the 21st century does not come cheap.

The owners of Roswell's major hospital, the for-profit Eastern New Mexico Medical Center, would like to take over our own not-for-profit Lincoln County Medical Center. If they don't get it, they propose to build their own, maybe just over the line on the Mescalero Apache reservation.

As of now, LCMC is owned by us, the people of Lincoln County, and we must have a voice in what happens to it.

So how will all this play out in a world of dog-eat-dog business competition?

It seems to us that the answer depends on who's got the most determination — and the deepest pockets.

Eleven Texas senators resist —with room service

Texas lawmakers are in New Mexico for an extended stay. These guys, like true American patriots before them, have grit. They have guts. They have determination. They have first-class room service.

LOOKING ASKANCE
NED CANTWELL

They have found, like most Texans, New Mexico is a fun place to spend the summer.

The 11 Texas Democratic Senators are camped out in Albuquerque to boycott Texas Senate Republicans. The Republicans want to redistrict the state in a way that would give Democrats as much chance for control as the queer eyes for the straight guy have of controlling their flamboyant impulses.

Why did they flee? Word is, should they have stayed in Texas the authorities could have forced them back to the legislative session in handcuffs. Never happen, you say. Right. But remember, this is Texas we are talking about.

So bizarre is this story that the CNN correspondent Candy Crowley, usually a “just the facts, mam” type of reporter, gazed into the camera after relaying this news and said, “We don't make this stuff up.”

It is clear the 11 Texas Democrats portray themselves as modern-day rebels fighting a noble and just battle against the tyrannical forces of the Texas Senate.

Note the nature of this statement from Sen. Royce West of Dallas: “To quote John Paul Jones, ‘We've only begun to fight.’ We're strong, we're determined and we've been reinvigorated by the overwhelming support that we have received from the public in telling us we are doing the right thing for all of Texas.”

It may be fitting Mr. West chose the John Paul Jones quotation. History has not quite made up its mind whether John Paul was a hero or villain. One biographical reviewer noted the jury was still out on whether he should be emulated or despised.

That same thing may be true for the Texas 11. As one who is not a student of Texas politics, I don't know for sure whether these renegade Democrats should be emulated or despised. I am told the Republican redistricting scheme is the brainchild of the smarmy Congressman Tom DeLay.

That's all I need to know. I don't trust Tom DeLay. Were he to pass me on the street and murmur “nice day,” I would immediately check the weather forecast.

Good guys or bad guys, the 11 Texas holdouts? Whatever, they are pampered guys. There is something squishy about taking on the mantle of American rebel and then taking refuge at the Albuquerque Pyramid Marriott.

I mean, these are Democrats, for heaven's sake. Do they no longer represent the common man? It is just a little difficult to feel patriotic empathy for a bunch of guys who have to hurry through their photo sessions to make their spa appointments.

If we are going to be quoting John Paul Jones, shouldn't we also be looking to the examples set by such as James Franklin, Ben's brother? When James took on the authorities in Massachusetts, he spent three weeks in jail for his heresy. Now there was a man of cause.

We could respect the Texas 11 much more had they, too, stayed in Texas, refused to go to the Senate session, and landed in jail. Failing that, the Budget Inn would have been nice.

YOUR OPINION

Village 'unresponsive to needs' of people

To the editor:

During the past few months I have had conversations with numerous citizens of Ruidoso about the performance and attitudes of our city officials and city employees. The ... consensus is that our city government is going in the wrong direction. Many of us feel like we are living in Nazi Germany, Saddam Hussein's Iraq, or the old Soviet Union.

The mayor and council are unresponsive to the needs and concerns of our citizens. They are interested in imposing restrictive and oppressive regulations, taxes and fees on the populace. They are arrogant, egotistic and self-serving. They have grandiose plans for the edifices the city does not need and cannot afford to erect and/or maintain. The prevailing attitude is, “Cut this tree or we will do it and place a lien on your property. You must hook up to the city sewer system and, even though it will cost you $6,000 to do so, we are going to charge you another fee of $2,000 for complying with our demands. And by the way, we are not concerned that you are barely surviving on Social Security income. If you peasants wish to express your concerns, you must come genuflect before the mayor, council and city manager.”

I wouldn't be at all surprised if any day now our mayor and council announce their plans to annex Red China. It is time for the citizens of Ruidoso to observe what is happening with Gov. Gray Davis in the state of California and follow suit.

In short, we need to throw the bums out, all of them! The priorities of this village should be to maintain good streets, a good water system, to keep the village clean and attractive, to provide police and fire protection and to be as un-intrusive as possible in our lives.

This doesn't sound exciting, but this is their job, and if they would restrict themselves to just taking care of the necessities, this would be a happier and more peaceful community in which to live.

I am thoroughly disgusted with under-qualified and over-paid government officials and employees who do not understand that they are there at the pleasure of the people. They are to be servants to the people, not their masters.

No matter who they are, or who they think they are, they can and will be replaced if they don't clean up their act.

What kind of 'unfair advantage'?

To the editor:

In response to the article on Brewer:

I have been hearing about the unfair advantages given to American Indians, and level playing fields.

I wonder where the “level playing field” was for us during the 1960s when we were struggling to overcome poverty. It must have missed us, since businesses were not pounding on our doors wanting us to share in the American dream. I don't remember the playing fields being leveled for us.

As far as “Brewer's taxes” are concerned, I am thankful that the federal government at times, whether intentionally or not (most probably an oversight on their part), levels the playing field for American Indians. This is a very small concession after hundreds of years of mismanagement of Indian affairs. What about the tax breaks for big businesses, which I am sure was done when Congress was conscious.

Yes, the playing field was not and is not level, and no one mentioned it when it was not leveled for American Indians. In spite of that, we got on the field and made our mark there. The results are the Inn of the Mountain Gods and Ski Apache, and other tribal enterprises of which I am very proud.

Mescalero gives back to Otero and Lincoln counties by being one of the biggest employers in the area. We do business with our neighbors; we pay state taxes every time we buy anything; we collect state income taxes for New Mexico, among other things. So please, do not say we don't pay our taxes. Being an American Indian does not exempt you from paying taxes.

A fantastic encounter

To the editor:

Last week, while enjoying the festivities with the rest of the folks during the celebration of “Old Lincoln Days,” I chanced upon a strange looking little man dressed in the garb of a Spanish Conquistador. He carried a lance and was mounted on a donkey whom he referred to as his “charger.”

At first I thought he was just part of the act, but he assured me this was far from the case. He explained that since he could find no windmills to tilt, his mission in town was to reach the unreachable dream and to right the unrightable wrong, by doing what he could to stop the pageant glorifying that infamous outlaw, “Billy the Kid.”

Suddenly, he disappeared into the crowd of happy spectators and I never saw him again. Perhaps it was all just my imagination, but then again maybe Don Quixote really does exist and lives somewhere in Lincoln County.

Downs council looking to expand

Two new positions and possible districting were tossed around by councilors Thursday.

BY MARTY RAGINE FOR THE RUIDOSO NEWS

The City of Ruidoso Downs wants new blood — on its city council.

A discussion to increase the size of its governing body, currently numbering four members, highlighted Thursday's regular council meeting. State law allows municipalities to establish anywhere from four to 10 seats. Most have an even number so as to preserve mayoral leverage in case of a tie vote.

Sentiment here appears to be building for a six-person council. "I think it gives more opportunity to the people who live in the city to participate and I think that the more people that participate, the better the city's going to be," councilor Susan Garrett announced informally.

"We've grown," she added. "We could use the help."

The Downs once had seven councilors but reduced that figure to four due to a lack of candidate interest.

"I feel there's more and more (potential candidates) interested and I feel that it gives more people a chance to be part of the government and maybe get some new blood in here," councilor Judy Miller said.

New Mexico statutes provide either of two methods of proposing such a change to the voters, city attorney Dan Bryant explained. One requires passage of an ordinance and public hearings. The other is by citizen petition signed by five percent of registered voters within the municipality.

Either leads to a public vote. However, if the ballot were tied to the scheduled March 2 city election, the public would be denied the opportunity to elect the additional members to their first term, Bryant pointed out.

"They would have to be appointed by whoever the mayor is following that election. The first part of their terms in office would be as appointees."

For the additional members to be first elected, a prior special election on the expansion proposal would become necessary. Such an election held on Nov. 6, city treasurer Carol Virden said, would be the most cost-effective.

The issue of staggered terms — state statute requires half the council seats to be decided in a given election — would force more decisions.

"We would have to spell that whole process out," Bryant said. "I recommend that we draw lots on each council position and we pick which three which would go (for re-election) in the first two-year cycle (2006) and which three would go in the second cycle (2008)."

That means one councilor elected in the March election would have his or her term cut from four years to two and would have to run again in 2006. "The fair way to do that would be to draw lots," Bryant said.

With expansion comes an opportunity to create representative districts, or wards to replace the current at-large system. That is a council decision. Six councilors would require a minimum of three wards but the council could also implement a combination system of at-large and district seats.

"You don't have to have all positions run from wards," Bryant said. "Political wisdom is that while it's proper to represent certain constituents it's also good to consider the good of the whole community as a balancing. We can design that if everybody wants to do that."

Districting invites a host of federal rules and regulations into the municipality via the voting rights act. The population of each ward must be relatively equal to within three percentage points and preferably less. Neighborhoods cannot be "irrationally" divided so as to dilute the voting strength of any minority group or enhance the strength of another group.

"We'd have to get out the calculator and maps," Bryant said.

And the sooner the better, he added, if for no other reason than that districting can't be OK'd until voters approve expansion.

A proposal to expand the council may reach the agenda of the next council meeting on Aug. 25.

In other council developments:

• On a unanimous vote, Robert Denny was approved as a police officer. Denny has a bachelor's degree in criminology and a master's in forensic science and has 10 years experience as a police officer.

• On a unanimous vote, Ann Ella Hatter was approved as a communication detention officer, a position she held with the city from 1996-2001.

• On a unanimous vote, mayor Bob Miller was selected as a voting delegate and councilor Garrett was chosen alternate delegate to the 2003 annual Conference Business Meeting in Farmington.

• Public works director Ken Mosley's water conservation update was mixed. "There's lots of usage going on," he reported. "From June 1 to July 1 the citizens have used about 200,000 more gallons of water than they typically do." He added, however, that the water conservation ordinance, enacted last year, is helping. "You can tell it's done quite a bit of good. Water conservation is working."

• Treasurer Virden announced a budget of $9,500 for a PA system to be installed in council chambers. "Last year we budgeted $5,500, but all quotes came in higher," she said.

• Assistant fire chief Jim Badjar reported that the Turkey Canyon fire of Aug. 13 was restricted to an acre and a half due to favorable winds. "The only thing that saved us was that it stayed mainly on the ground, and when it hit the ridge top the wind was up there and it was pushing it back on top of itself. It really could have gotten out of hand pretty quick." Lightning was ruled out as the cause of the blaze. Because slurry bombers have been dispatched to Idaho and Montana, no air support was available.

• Ruidoso High School principal Paul Wirth addressed the council to pitch a countywide "intergenerational" community center on behalf of a grassroots advocacy group. "We looked into the possibility of going privately and looking at the possibility of a YMCA for Lincoln County," he said. "It just wouldn't work in this area. Our next strategy is to see if we can work with all governmental agencies...within Lincoln County."

A presentation and public forum involving government officials is planned for 5:30 p.m. Sept. 8 at the Convention Center. Wirth hopes to have a task force appointed that day to study funding strategies.

Hoffman asks Pearce for help with area fort

BY DIANNE STALLINGS RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

Not missing a chance to promote historic Fort Stanton, Tony Hoffman pitched the advantages of having a strong tourist attraction in Lincoln County to U.S. Rep. Steve Pearce on a recent visit to Ruidoso.

Hoffman

Hoffman, president of Fort Stanton Inc., used a time slot at a town hall meeting in Ruidoso to ask for support from the Republican who represents southeastern New Mexico.

A celebration last weekend called Fort Stanton Live was staged "to give people a chance to see what a wonderful, historical site it is," Hoffman said. "We'd like your help to establish a federal, state and county partnership."

The 1855 fort was home for Kit Carson in 1862, and then to Lt. "Black Jack" Pershing from 1887 to 1891. Buffalo Soldiers were stationed there from 1869 to 1889, the facility served as a Merchant Marine Sanatorium from 1899 to 1952 and as a German internment camp from 1939 to 1945. Run as a state hospital until 1995, it was closed because of high overhead. The state Corrections Department used some of the buildings for a woman's minimum security prison and now for a drug and alcohol rehabilitation center for offenders on probation and parole.

Staff representatives for Pearce said the congressman could help in an effort to declare the fort a National Historic Landmark.

Hoffman said the group has tried for a designation as part of a National Historic Area encompassing Mescalero, White Oaks and San Patricio. They also tried for State Monument status based on the cemetery, he said.

"It was the first federal tuberculosis hospital in the United States and is the only inland Merchant Marine Cemetery in the country," Hoffman said. "Eight countries are represented in the cemetery."

ETZ Authority members balk at lack of preparation time before meeting

BY DIANNE STALLINGS RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

Two Lincoln County commissioners newly appointed to the board that oversees development in a three-mile zone around Ruidoso want more time to review issues they are asked to approve or reject.

At their first meeting last week as members of the Lincoln County-Ruidoso Extraterritorial Zoning Authority, Commissioners Maury St. John, who was selected as the new chairman, and Earl Hobbs asked Ruidoso village planning office manager Tim Vega if the time schedule could be stepped up for meeting packets. St. John also wanted more information on guidelines in the ET zone.

Hobbs pointed out that the issue on the agenda has been advertised for four weeks, but a meeting packet was not available until late Thursday. He wasn't able to pick up the packet until Friday, which left little time to research the application when he was unable to find the site, Hobbs said. Especially when issues are complex, he needs more time before being asked to decide if an application should be approved, Hobbs said. He also criticized the written presentation, saying it was "barely understandable."

Vega explained that he prepares packets for several different boards and the schedule is essentially the same. Members of the Village Council receive their packets on the Thursday before the Tuesday meeting twice a month, he said. "We've tried to get them out earlier, but it's just not possible," Vega said.

When Hobbs also questioned how the meeting date was picked, village planning director Charles Rennick explained that the regular meeting schedule was established by resolution adopted by previous authority members at the first of the year. The meeting last week was a special session called to coordinate with a county planning commission meeting the next day.

He said he and the staff will brief authority members on each application and the applicable rules.

"I'm the director and the criticism should be directed toward me, not (Vega)," Rennick said. He pointed out that no one at the village was notified about the appointment of St. John and Hobbs. Vega called to find out if members had changed.

The village appointed Councilor Ron Hardeman as its representative on the three-member board. He was selected as vice chairman.

DOWNSTOWN POLICE

DWI charged

Ruidoso Downs police arrested Stefano Sobrero Aug. 12 on Highway 70, charging him with driving under the influence of alcohol. A vehicle had passed a patrol unit at "an excessive rate of speed," the report states. Sobrero refused to submit to a blood alcohol test. A search warrant was obtained and blood was drawn.

Wanted man found

An officer saw a vehicle in the Wal-Mart parking lot about 11:45 p.m. Aug. 13 and checked the occupants "to make sure everything was all right," the report states. Aaron Gomez, 21, of Glencoe, had two warrants for his arrest, one for child abuse and one for battery against a household member. He was arrested and incarcerated.

Driver arrested

Police arrested Betty Herrera, 41, of Ruidoso Downs Aug. 12, charging her with driving under the influence of alcohol. A resident had gone to the police station saying she was being followed and harassed by an unknown female driver. When officers walked outside the building, they saw the suspect driving by.

DWI arrest

Police arrested Marilyn

Gallup, 45, of Ruidoso Downs, Aug. 10, charging her with driving under the influence of alcohol.

Illegal roadblock?

Police arrested Ronnie Vaughn, 36, of Roswell, charging him with driving under the influence of alcohol. According to the police report, Vaughn was found passed out in his vehicle, blocking an eastbound lane of Highway 70.

Arrest, deportation

Officers responding to a call about a disturbance at the race track found that there had been a fight and "the winner of the altercation had used a metal rebar to insure his victory," the report states.

Marco Hernandez, 28, of Mexico, was arrested for aggravated battery and deported when it was discovered he was in this country illegally.

Complaint filed

A criminal complaint was filed against Leanne Rae Snow, 46, of Hondo, for the alleged theft from the Hampton Inn cash register of $209 Aug. 10, according to police reports.

Windshield shot

A windshield was reported shot out of a vehicle in the 100 block of Sierra Lane some time before 12:21 p.m. Aug. 11.

For home school information and support, the first meeting of the Ruidoso Christian Family Educators is noon Sept. 4 in Cedar Creek picnic area. Bring food and drinks for your family. For more information, call 258-1878.

HS geometry added

Eastern New Mexico University-Ruidoso will offer a two-semester high school geometry course for secondary and home school students in the fall semester, beginning Monday, Aug. 25.

The two-semester course, MATH 102 Geometry I and MATH 103 Geometry II, will be offered from 6:30 p.m. to 9 p.m. Wednesdays by veteran college math instructor Ray Fleischmann. Cost of the three-credit course is $26 per credit in-district and $30 per credit out-of-district, plus a textbook. The course begins Wednesday, Aug. 27.

"These two courses present an excellent opportunity for secondary-school students to earn their sophomore year geometry credit from an experienced geometry instructor," said center director Jim Miller. Completion of both semesters will earn a full high school/home school credit of geometry and six college credits in developmental mathematics.

Course registration continues this week with late registration beginning Aug. 25. For more information, call the ENMU office at 257-2120 in the Ruidoso/Ruidoso Downs/Capitan area, or outside the local calling area toll free at (800) 537-5376.

BA, MA degrees offered

Registration for the fall semester is in full swing at Eastern New Mexico-Ruidoso. University officials want to remind Lincoln County/Mescalero residents that they can earn bachelor and masters degrees on the ENMU-Ruidoso campus without ever leaving Ruidoso.

More than 60 upper division and graduate level courses are offered at ENMU-Ruidoso each semester through ENMU-Portales' instructional television (ITV) system or online. Lower division courses needed to earn bachelor or masters degrees can also be taken from ENMU-Ruidoso. The fall semester begins Aug. 25.

From ENMU, Lincoln County residents can obtain eight bachelor degrees and three master degrees at ENMU-Ruidoso.

For more information, call ENMU's Extended Learning office at (800) 537-5376 or the Ruidoso Center office at 257-2120 or toll free (800) 934-3668.

Complete bachelor or master of social work degree programs can also be taken at ENMU-Roswell through New Mexico Highlands University. For more information, call Viola McHaney at 624-7458.

Roswell classes open

Open registration for the fall 2003 session at Eastern New Mexico University-Roswell will be Thursday. Students can enroll for classes on a first-come, first-served basis from 8:30 a.m. to 7 p.m. in the Student Services Center lobby on campus. Saturday fall classes begin Aug. 23. The fall semester begins Monday, Aug. 25 and ends on Saturday, Dec. 13, according to the class schedule.

Advisors will be on hand to assist students with admission applications and course selections. Students can also log onto the ENMU-Roswell Web site at www.roswell.enmu.edu to register online for classes through Aug. 29. An application for admission can also be completed through the Web site.

For registration information, students may call (800) 243-6687. Students with special needs or hearing impaired students may call 624-7286 or 624-7300 for the TTY/TDD machine.

Arts programs funded

Ruidoso and Capitan schools are among 24 districts to share nearly $4 million in funding focused on arts education activities in 2003-04.

Each district will receive $49.42 per participating student through the State Equalization Guarantee appropriation. Ruidoso will receive $61,775 for 1,250 students, and Capitan will receive $13,343 for 270 students.

In 2003, the Legislature passed and Gov. Bill Richardson signed HB 12, the Fine Arts Education Act, sponsored by Rep. Max Coll of Santa Fe, creating a new section of the Public School Code that provides, through its methodology, opportunities for 80,000 of New Mexico's 171,000 elementary students to participate in approved fine arts programs in FY 2004.

Ratings revised

The New Mexico State Department of Education announced Aug. 12 revised ratings for six high schools due to miscodes by school districts.

"Once the misclassified students were removed for all 145 high schools from across New Mexico, some schools received a better rating," said Melville Morgan, the SDE's assistant superintendent for accountability and school improvement services.

In southeastern New Mexico, Cloudcroft High School's rating was revised from "meets standards" to "exceeds standards."

Supporting schools

"Ruidoso Schools thank business sponsors and the public for school supplies donated for children in need," said Patty White, director of instructional support for the district. Businesses participating are Wells Fargo Bank, Kentucky Fried Chicken and KOAT.

In Ruidoso, school supplies can be dropped off at the Kentucky Fried Chicken until Aug. 29.

Supplies needed are pens, pencils, erasers, crayons, colored pencils, three-ring notebook paper, spiral notebooks, pencil boxes, pencil sharpeners, glue, watercolor paints, children's scissors, rulers, compasses, protractors, highlighters and pocket folders.

A Ruidoso High teacher studies

ART

with some masters at a famous institute in Chicago

BY SANDY SUGGITT
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

Ruidoso High School art teacher Barry Lucy went to school this summer — the School of the Art Institute of Chicago, considered the most influential art school by art critics across the country.

Lucy was lucky: He was one of 100 high school art teachers accepted for the Teacher Institute in Contemporary Art, where he studied with leading artists and lecturers in the visual arts.

"I loved it," he said. "It was wonderful — probably one of the best studio experiences that I've been involved with. They really treat you like you are somebody. They say, 'We are here to honor you and what you do.'"

The summer program is divided into four sessions throughout the summer: two in drawing and painting, one in art and technology and one in cultural studies in arts.

Lucy attended June 15-20, choosing the drawing and painting session — partly because he thought he'd have a better chance of getting accepted and partly because he already felt proficient in two-dimensional and three-dimensional design but, if anything, lacked formal training in drawing and painting.

To participate in the program, applicants must have taught art at the high school level for at least 10 years. Other factors included school size, location, demographics of the student body, description of the art department and classes taught, size of the faculty and a statement of interest in the institute with how it might help develop the art department, said Brian Flood, director of public affairs for The School of the Art Institute of Chicago.

"We're looking for national representation," Flood said. "It's important that each session include participation from all over the country. We want diverse backgrounds, areas and schools, from urban to rural, smaller to larger schools. We try to ensure that participation is representative of a cross section of cultural and ethnic groups."

The purpose is to bring experienced teachers to their student days as participating artists, Flood said.

The week is free to teachers, funded by a National Endowment for the Arts grant of $60,000 and a three-year $150,000 AXA Foundation grant.

Lucy said all the participants in his session were practicing artists, and at the end of the week, showed slides of their work and did art swaps.

A typical day began with breakfast at The School of the Art Institute of Chicago and a slide presentation by one or two participating instructors. This was followed by three hours of live figure drawing or painting.

At lunch, a visiting artist from the East or West coast gave a presentation, followed by another three-hour stint of live figure drawing or painting. During this session, visiting artists and graduate students at the institute would come around and talk to the participating teacher-students about their work — "rejuvenating those productive juices that might have gone stale, which is the thrust of the institute, to recharge the art batteries," Lucy said.

With dinner came another guest lecturer or visiting artist, and art education and museum education workshops and seminars were available in the evening. Participants had access to the school and the Art Institute of Chicago museum until 11 p.m. throughout their stay.

Lucy already has applied to be a mentor for next year's summer program, he said. Mentors work with participants who opt for the second week (unlike the first week, it isn't free).

"I think it's given me a little more insight into oil painting and the courage to teach someone else what I know because my background was so lacking in oil painting," Lucy said, summing up his impression of the program. "I now feel more confident about getting out oil paints and having students work with them as a medium, and that I'll be able to help them when they have problems."

LINCOLN COUNTY

Young Montes nets big results at annual county fair

BY JULIE CARTER
FOR THE RUIDOSO NEWS

Haley Montes, the youngest of three children of Thomas and Renee Montes, isn't very big, but she made big waves in the show ring of the county fair this year.

This 11-year-old with a dimpled smile demonstrated that she is the product of years of livestock skills gathered by her family.

Haley says she loves the fair. She said she was the most nervous about the swine show on Friday night because she had so many to show. Yet results prove the nerves didn't hamper her ability or the product of her projects.

The 5-foot, 90-pound girl, in her third year of 4-H, showed two meat goats, three steers and six pigs this year at the fair. And she didn't just show up to look cute. Haley took fourth and sixth with her goats, placed with five of her six pigs, with three of those wearing champion and reserve champion ribbons. She also placed second with all three steers in three different divisions.

Her success evolved over the years and the footsteps she followed in behind her sister, Codi, 22, and brother, Chase, 20. They helped lead her to the same accolades the older two shared, she said. On the sidelines during this year's county fair, Chase and Codi coached and encouraged with love and a pride in seeing Haley walk triumphantly where they had walked.

"Codi has really helped me," Haley said. "She directs me and helps with all the parts of 4-H. I really look up to her a lot. Chase and I are buddies. He's pretty ornery but we are still pals."

To top all those event ribbons off, Haley also won novice champion showman in both the swine and the beef divisions. Those titles validated the hard work that went into all the projects

Haley spent her summer working on. Last year Haley won the novice showmanship in the beef division and had a Reserve Champion gelding in the halter horse division.

Haley also entered the fair in five divisions of baking and home economics won two firsts and three seconds with her indoor projects. Her next task is to learn to rope well enough to start break-away roping in youth and 4-H rodeos.

The soon-to-be sixth-grader at Capitan rides the bus 45 minutes each way to school. She said she likes the challenge of math, but prefers to spend her spare time with her horses.

Haley plans to take her favorite steer to the State Fair to compete. He's the biggest of her steers and the gentlest, she said. His name is Panama and she calls all 1,280 pounds of him "cute and cuddly." He kisses her back when she kisses on him and that makes her beam.

This hard-working, busy youngster wears a sweet nature and can-do attitude that does the institution of 4-H proud.

Livestock auction a success for sellers

BY JULIE CARTER
FOR THE RUIDOSO NEWS

The numbers are in and totaled. The 2003 Lincoln County Junior Livestock Sale was a great success for the 61 items that made the sale. Total sales for the 2003 auction were $71,624, not including the add-ons and booster jackpot.

The top-selling market steer was sold by Keith Shafer of Corona FFA for $2.60/lb. The 1,228-lb., first-place medium-short was purchased by Farmers Country Market and Lincoln County Mercantile of Capitan.

The Grand Champion dairy heifer shown by Robbie Burchett of Capitan FFA sold for $3,000, also to Farmers Country Market and Lincoln County Mercantile.

Robbie Burchett and Colt Freemole of Capitan FFA tied for top sellers in the pen of three broilers. Both pens went for $300 each, with Burchett's Grand Champion pen sold to Roswell Livestock and Supply. Freemole's Reserve Champion pen went to Rio Ruidoso Realtors.

The top selling cabrito, the second place medium light, was sold by Erin Hightower of Carrizozo 4-H. She sold one of the two top selling cabritos in last year's auction, but topped that sale this year with a $15/lb bid from Wells Fargo, Carrizozo.

Grady Teke Eldridge was smiling big when his third place light Hampshire topped the market swine sales with a $9.75 bid. The hog was sold to Herd Construction of Capitan.

Emily Rush and her Reserve Champion pen of meat rabbits topped the auction when the bid hit and held at $600 from Wells Fargo Bank, Ruidoso. Tying that top-selling bid was State National Bank for the pen of meat rabbits belonging to Marriah Ventura. Both girls are C-Mountain 4-H members.

The top-selling market lamb was the sixth place Heavy Blackface belonging to J.R. Shafer of Corona FFA. The lamb sold to Bob and Jane Shafer and Wells Fargo Ruidoso for a top bid of $14/lb.

The total amount donated for the add-ons was a generous $11,427 and the booster jackpot added another $700 for this year's exhibitors.

Included in the sale tally are the sales of the Grand Champion pie and cake. The winning cake, baked by K.C. Hendricks, Carrizozo 4-H, sold for $550 to Wells Fargo Investments. Repeat pie buyers Wayne Shockey and Thomas Montes of Montes Horseshoeing topped the bids for the Grand Champion pie with a $500 nod. The pie was baked by Kendal Wilson of Carrizozo 4-H.

Saturday's downpour in Capitan brought a flood of water into the arroyo behind the fair grounds during the Lincoln County Ranch Rodeo. Rodeo events were shut down for about 45 minutes until the storm abated.

Carrizozo cafe shares two of its favorite recipes

If you live, work, or visit Carrizozo you have probably eaten at the Up Town Café. The café is located in the Carrizozo Recreation Center and is owned by Jim Mack, who is also the chef. Jim and Fran, Jim's Mom, cook up delicious daily specials, wonderful desserts, and have created their own house salad dressing that is one of the guests' favorites.

The café serves lunch Monday through Friday from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m., and breakfast is served starting at 7 on Tuesday and Thursday mornings. Fran has moved into the catering and special order dessert business. To have her whip something up for you, call 648-4220. Fran and Jim have shared the following recipes with you:

Up Town Café Spicy Tomato Bisque

This is an original Uptown Café recipe and is our most often requested soup.

- 2 Tbsp. olive oil or butter
- 3 medium onions chopped
- 3 cloves garlic chopped
- 1 tsp. Basil
- 1 tsp. Allspice
- 1 tsp. Thyme
- 2 cans tomatoes (28 oz. each) diced or crushed

- 1 can (10 oz.) rotel diced tomatoes & chili peppers - extra hot
- 2 quarts chicken broth
- 3 Tbsp. honey
- 4 Tbsp. Parsley leaves chopped
- One-third cup heavy cream

Sauté onions and garlic in oil or butter about 7 minutes, add thyme and basil stir about 1 minute. Add tomatoes, broth, honey, allspice, salt and pepper to taste. Reduce to boil over high heat, bring to boil and simmer until reduced and thickened. In a blender puree about three fourth of the soup, return to pot and simmer until ready to serve. Before serving add cream, heat and serve.

Lemon Cheesecake

Crust:
2 one-fourth cups graham cracker crumbs (about 25 single crackers crushed)
One-fourth cup sugar
6 Tbsp. Melted butter

Filling:
3-8 oz. packages cream cheese softened for 8 hours
3 eggs
1 one-third cup sugar
3 Tbsp. Lemon juice
1 tsp vanilla
1 tsp grated lemon rind
1 pint sour cream
3 Tbsp. Sugar

1 tsp. Vanilla
Glaze:
Half-cup sugar
1 Tbsp. Plus 1 tsp cornstarch
Half-cup water
2 Tbsp lemon juice

Combine cracker crumbs, sugar and butter. Press into sides of an 11 to 12 inch spring form pan. Bake 350 degrees for 5 minutes. Cool before adding filling.

Beat cream cheese with electric mixer at high speed until completely smooth. Add eggs, one at a time, beating until smooth after each addition. Continue to beat gradually adding 1 1/3 cups sugar, then lemon juice and vanilla. Stir in lemon rind. Pour into cooled crust and bake at 350 degrees for 35 minutes. Blend sour cream with remaining vanilla and sugar. Set in a warm place. Remove cake from oven gently spread sour cream over top of cake. Return to oven and bake about 12 minutes. Cool on rack for 30 minutes. Refrigerate until topping is cool but not completely chilled. Make glaze by combining sugar and cornstarch, blending in water and lemon juice until smooth. Bring to a boil, stirring constantly, until thickened. Cook 3 minutes. Chill until cool but not set. Spread top of cheesecake with lemon glaze. Chill several hours or overnight. Can also be frozen.

Rewards, punishment acceptable for children

QUESTION: Isn't a mother manipulating her child by using rewards and punishment to get him to do what she wants?

DR. DOBSON: No more than a factory supervisor manipulates his employees by docking their pay if they arrive late. No more than a police officer manipulates a speeding driver by giving him a traffic ticket. No more than an insurance company manipulates that same driver by increasing his premium. No more than the IRS manipulates a taxpayer who files his return one day late by charging a penalty for his tardiness. The word "manipulation" implies a sinister or selfish motive of the one in charge. I don't agree.

QUESTION: When would you not recommend the use of rewards?

DR. DOBSON: Rewards should never be used as a "payoff" to a child for not disobeying. That becomes a bribe - a substitute for authority. For example, Mom is having trouble controlling her 3-year-old in a supermarket. "Come here, Pamela," she says, but the youngster screams "No!" and runs the other way. Then in exasperation, Mom offers Pam a lollipop if she'll come quickly. Rather than rewarding obedience, Mom has actually reinforced the child's defiance.

Another misuse of rewards is to pay a child for doing the routine jobs that are his responsibility as a member of the family. Taking out the trash and making his bed might be included in those regular duties. But when he is asked to spend half his Saturday cleaning the garage or weeding the garden, it seems very appropriate to make it worth his time.

QUESTION: I worry about putting undue emphasis on materialism with my kids. Do rewards have to be in the form of money or toys?

DR. DOBSON: Certainly not. A word of praise is a great enticement to some children. An interesting snack can also get their attention, although that has its downside. When my daughter was 3 years old, I began to teach her some early-reading skills, including the alphabet. By planning the training sessions to occur after dinner each evening, bits of chocolate candy provided the chief source of motivation. (I was less concerned about the effects of excess sugar consumption in those days than I am now.)

Late one afternoon, I was sitting on the floor quizzing her on several new letters when a tremendous crash shook the neighborhood. The whole family rushed outside to see what had happened. A teenager had overturned his car on our quiet residential street. He was not badly hurt, but his automobile was a mess. We sprayed the smoldering car with water and called the police. It was not until the excitement passed that we realized our daughter had not followed us out of the house. I returned to the den where I found her elbow-deep in the large bag of candy I had left behind. She must have put a half-pound of chocolate in her mouth, and most of the remainder was distributed around her chin, nose and forehead. When she saw me coming, she managed to jam another handful into her chipmunk cheeks. From this experience, I learned one of the limitations of using material, or at least edible, rewards.

Anything the child wants can be used as reinforcement, from praise to pizza to playtime.

QUESTION: What would you do if you had an elementary school child in a chaotic classroom with a disorganized teacher?

DR. DOBSON: I would do everything I could to get my child reassigned to a different classroom. Some very bad habits and attitudes can develop in 10 months with an incompetent teacher. Home schooling or private education might also be considered, if resources permit.

Rain, faith provide us with hope

"Praise God from whom all blessings flow," is a statement from the Doxology, a praise chorus sung in many churches and by many believers. And all of us should be giving thanks for the wonderful rains that we have had in the last week.

I have registered about four inches at my house; some have had more and others, less. But the unusual summer heat is broken and the drought has been set back, and, I hope, ended.

Last Tuesday, I had gone down to the Rio Ruidoso to clear a place in the river so I could baptize a youth who had accepted Jesus as his Savior and Lord. Our church, the Fellowship of Help and Hope, a cowboy church, meets underneath The Vine Christian Bookstore on Tuesday evenings. So, I thought it appropriate that the lad be baptized in the nearby river. I cleared away some trash and moved some rocks around. I had a place about twelve inches deep, and that would be sufficient to immerse him.

I didn't realize that late that afternoon we would get the blessing of rain. When we went down to the river to baptize him, there was about 24 inches of fast moving, cold river water. The Lord had provided. Well, the baptism was a little unorthodox when compared to the quiet, heated water of a baptistry in a church. The rushing river tried to carry him down stream, so I placed my hand on his chest and shoved him under the water.

It didn't take him long to come up out of the cold water to the sound of the cheers and applause of the onlookers. He was quickly wrapped in large bath towels and hurried up to change out of his wet clothes.

Craig Eberhart had been working for H.T. Fillingim and they had been talking about Jesus. Craig wanted to accept Jesus as his Savior and H.T. told him what to do. And he did. He prayed and asked God to forgive his sins and committed his life in faith to be saved. H.T. looked on with joy as his young friend was baptized. And, I believe the Heavenly Father looked on with joy as well, as the rain blessed us from above.

It made me wonder how long it had been since someone was baptized in the Rio Ruidoso. Well, the afternoon and evening sure gave me help for today and hope for tomorrow. Just remember, Jesus is our help for today and hope for tomorrow.

'Out-of-body' experiences not all trustworthy

QUESTION: Do you believe any similar phenomena.

some people can have so-called "out-of-body" experiences, in which their spirit leaves their body for a time and then returns to it? A friend of mine has gotten real interested in this but it sounds kind of scary to me. - J.N.N.

ANSWER: You're right to be concerned about your friend's interest, and I strongly urge you not to become involved with this or no control over it. I find no direct mention of this in the Bible. But other people, including your friend, deliberately try to induce something like this - and this is spiritually dangerous. The reason is because they are trying to draw power from occult forces, even if they don't realize it - and all occult powers are hostile to God. The Bible repeatedly warns us to avoid them. It says, "For our struggle is... against the spiritual forces of evil in the heavenly realms" (Ephesians 6:12).

Occasionally I hear reports of people who were at the point of death and had an experience similar to what you mention. Such experiences, if they do occur, are rare and involuntary - that is, the person had

He loves you, and only He can protect you from evil and death. Furthermore, He wants you to live with Him in Heaven forever. By faith turn to Christ and put your life in His hands without delay.

Village sued by manager applicant

BY DIANNE STALLINGS
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

An applicant for the position of village manager, who suffers from cerebral palsy, sued the village in U.S. District Court claiming age discrimination and failure to abide by the Americans with Disabilities Act.

The lawsuit was filed by George Wilkinson Aug. 8 against the village, Mayor Leon Eggleston and members of the village council. Wilkinson is represented by attorney J. Robert Beauvais.

Wilkinson, 59, was diagnosed with the chronic medical condition at birth, according to the suit. But the condition did not preclude Wilkinson from obtaining an undergraduate college degree and several advanced college degrees, including a master's degree in public administration.

When the village advertised to fill the position of village manager in July 2002, Wilkinson hand carried his application for the job and delivered it to then acting village manager Lorri McKnight, who was later chosen for the job.

Sixty-two people applied and a selection committee was appointed by the mayor that included Eggleston and two of the councilors.

"At all times, Wilkinson was qualified by education and experience to perform the essential functions" of village manager "with reasonable accommodation," the suit contends.

Eggleston knew Wilkinson and perceived him to be a person with a handicap under ADA, the suit states.

The failure of village officials to interview Wilkinson was "a direct and proximate result" of an agreement between Eggleston and Councilors Ron Hardeman and Ron Anderson to give him low scores during the subjective rating process "so that he would not be considered for the position and constituted discrimination by defendants against Wilkinson as a result of his handicap," the suit claims.

Representatives of the village's insurer, which will handle the case, could not be reached for comment.

Some of the people interviewed for the job were rated lower than Wilkinson in violation of the procedures established by the council; the suit contends.

The suit asks for damages to cover lost potential wages and benefits, and punitive damages for "willful and callous indifference" to Wilkinson's federally protected rights.

The suit also claims violation of the Age Discrimination in Employment Act and the New Mexico Human Rights Act.

Water is chief concern for Downs grant goals

BY MARTY RACINE
FOR THE RUIDOSO NEWS

Water issues top the list of concerns in Ruidoso Downs, according to its most vocal residents.

That, unsurprisingly, became clear following a series of hearings designed to weigh public opinion before the city submits its 2004 Community Block Development Grant application.

The hearings were fairly well attended except for Thursday's fifth and final installment, held in the Hubbard Room at City Hall. The meeting was so uneventful that city councilor Susan Garrett, sitting in the audience, felt obliged to address the near-empty chambers.

"I think the most important thing that we need to look at is our water and the sources where it comes from, and we need some tanks to store it," she said. "And we need to work on the lines. That's the most important thing for the city ... at this time."

Jimi Burrow, who resides on Colorado Lane, agreed water — how to get it, how to store it, how to distribute it — is the No. 1 priority. He also lobbied on behalf of aesthetic improvements.

"I'd like to see us put an all-out effort to beautify our city, not only on the highway but in our residential areas," he said. "Get rid of a bunch of this trash and junk, weeds growing up, and stuff like that."

Sewer and drainage issues also emerged over the course of the hearings.

The federal block grant program is designed to aid in the prevention of blight or to meet urgent community development needs where an existing condition poses a threat to the health and welfare of the community. Most municipalities and all counties in New Mexico are eligible to apply if they meet the requirement of 50 percent low- and moderate-income residents. The Downs, according to the 2000 census, is at 54.3 percent.

City officials have been aggressively pursuing grant money. Last year Ruidoso Downs received $1.025 million from the CBDG program, according to city administrator John Waters. Those funds have been allocated for drainage and water improvements and the sewer master plan.

City clerk and treasurer Carol Virden is compiling a list of the public's 2004 concerns and will submit them and staff recommendations for consideration at the next council meeting Monday, Aug. 25; the session has been rescheduled from its normal Thursday slot.

After councilors select the projects, the grant application will be prepared and submitted. No deadline date has been announced. Past deadlines were in November.

FUNERALS DEATHS

Claudia Lively

Graveside services for Claudia Lively, 60, of Capitan will be at 2 p.m. today in the Ruidoso Hondo Valley Cemetery at Ruidoso Downs, with the Rev. Dave Bergs officiating.

Mrs. Lively died Saturday, Aug. 16, 2003, at her home in Capitan.

She was born Oct. 30, 1942, at Sombrete, Zacatecas, Mexico.

She moved to Capitan in 1976 from Las Cruces. She was a homemaker and a member of Sacred Heart Catholic Church.

Survivors include daughters Dianna Lively of Las Cruces and Alma Lively of Phoenix, Ariz.; brothers Manuel and Francisco Botello; sisters Estella Botello, Martha Botello de Alvarez, Irma Botello de Gonzalez, Engracia Botello de Garcia and Angela Botello de Hernandez.

The family suggests memorials to the American Diabetes Association.

Arrangements are under the direction of LaGrone Funeral Chapel of Ruidoso.

Ruidoso, were Tuesday at St. Eleanor's Catholic Church. He will be buried in Dickinson, Texas, Aug. 23.

Mr. LeBlanc died Saturday, Aug. 16, 2003, at his home in Ruidoso.

Survivors include his wife, Martha; a daughter, Denise Hawthorne; and grandchildren Justin and Rachel Hawthorne of Ruidoso; four other children; grand- and great-grandchildren, all living in Texas.

Ben Parker

Ben LaRue Parker, 84, of Alto, will be buried with full military honors later this year.

Mr. Parker died in Ruidoso Thursday, Aug. 14, 2003.

He was born in San Diego, Calif., on March 30, 1919.

A retired colonel of the United States Air Force, he served his country for 26 years, beginning his service in 1940 flying biplanes with the Army Air Corps. He flew fighters in the Philippines and transports in the Aleutian Islands during World War II and in the Korean War.

For three years, he was an instructor at the Command and General Staff College at Fort Leavenworth, Kan. He was instrumental in the formation of the Air Command and Staff School for the Brazilian Air Force. His career culminated as the commander of the 42nd Space Surveillance Squadron at NORAD, Colorado Springs, Colo.

Following his retirement from the Air Force, he served in the Civil Service for 15 years in various capacities. He was currently retired and living in Alto.

Survivors include his wife, Ruth Parker; children Steven Parker of Virginia, Cathy and her husband, Richard Wagener, of California, and Terry and her husband, Dennis Swanson, of Michigan; grandchildren Erica Wagener, Jeff Wagener and Lindsey Parker; and a brother, Irving Parker, of Palm Springs, Calif.

In lieu of flowers, the family suggests participation in the Air Force Aid Society Inc., Suite 202, 1745 Jefferson Davis Highway, Arlington, VA 22202, or a contribution to a charity of your choice.

Clay Adams

Memorial services for Clay Adams, 80, of Ruidoso, will be at 4 p.m. Thursday at the First Christian Church, with the Rev. Jim Smith officiating.

Mrs. Adams died Monday, Aug. 18, 2003, at her home.

She was born Sept. 10, 1922, in Seymour, Texas.

She moved to Ruidoso in 1975 from Muleshoe, Texas.

She won second place in the Miss New Mexico Bathing Beauty Contest in 1940, was a former member of Kappa Tau Phi and former owner of Holiday Realty.

She married Alex Adams in 1955 at Canyon, Texas, and he preceded her in death on Sept. 19, 2000.

Survivors include granddaughters Lisa Beddoe of San Diego, Calif., Lori Zinecker of Austin, Texas, and Xan Pilgrim of Tupelo, Miss.; great-grandchildren Tobin, Mitchell, Marshall, Madeline, Ryan, Conner and Cole; a brother, Jim Hill, of Ransom Canyon, Texas.

She was preceded in death by a son, Harley Joe "Jody" Bussanmas.

The family suggests memorials to Ruidoso Hospice or First Christian Church.

Arrangements are under the direction of LaGrone Funeral Chapel of Ruidoso.

RUIDOSO POLICE

No angel?

Ruidoso police arrested a 13-year-old Ruidoso boy for burglary of a residence in Holiday House Motel, 310 Sudderth Drive on Aug. 12. The boy allegedly stole angel food cake with frosting and a bunch of bananas. He was under house arrest at the time, the report states. The Juvenile Probation Office was informed and the boy was transported to Las Cruces Juvenile Detention Center.

Holloman man charged

Police arrested Paul E. Conner, 21, of Holloman AFB Aug. 17, charging him with disorderly conduct and resisting, obstructing or refusing to obey an officer. Officers had been dispatched to Coyote Cantina about a fight in progress. The officer had told Conner to leave Midtown five times, and each time he returned, finally allegedly attempting to start a fight with another man.

DWI arrest

On Aug. 16, police arrested Ronnie L. Allsup, 51, of Ruidoso, charging him with driving in the wrong lane, fourth or subsequent DWI, aggravated fleeing a law officer, improper turning and driving with a suspended or revoked license. Police had been dispatched about a careless driver who had allegedly run another vehicle off the road, and officers located the vehicle and observed it cross over the dotted white line, cross into oncoming traffic, turn into the Allsup's parking lot, missing the entryway and striking the curb, the report said. During all this, the officer had attempted to get the driver's attention with the horn, siren and spotlight.

Bar fight broken up

Police arrested Julieann E. Campbell, 45, and Kristy S. Cobb, 53, both of Ruidoso, charging them with battery Aug. 13 at Win Place and Show, 2516 Sudderth Drive, where officers had been dispatched about two women causing problems.

Check fraud alleged Ronald K. Stephens, 32, of Ruidoso, was charged in a criminal complaint July 14 with eight counts of forgery and eight counts of fraud for writing unauthorized checks.

Public intoxication

Police arrested Sammy Geronimo, 32, of Mescalero, Aug. 16, in the 600 block of Sudderth Drive, charging him with public intoxication. An officer had seen him standing in the middle of the eastbound traffic lane. Geronimo told officers he had had a couple of beers, was counting change and didn't realize he was standing in the middle of the roadway. When asked to stand, he fell to the ground, the report states.

Furniture gone

All of the Southwestern style waiting room furniture between two doctors' offices was stolen at Sierra Professional Building between 9 p.m. Aug. 14 and 1:30 p.m. Aug. 15. The furniture included numerous wall hangings, two couches, six to eight chairs, a coffee table, two end tables and two small and one large rocking chair.

Bikes stolen

Two bicycles were stolen from the 700 block of White Mountain Drive between 11 a.m. and 6 p.m. Aug. 12. The bicycles, one blue and one green, were valued at $300 each, the report states.

Car keyed

A keymark was made from the right side passenger door to the driver's side door of a vehicle in the 100 block of Duffer Drive between 5 p.m. Aug. 11 and midnight Aug. 15.

The Red "Hat" Mamas of Lincoln County gathered together before a tea party in Cloudcroft in July. In order to wear the red hats and purple dresses, members must be 50 years of age. Younger ones, "in training," wear pink.

SANDY SUGGITT/STAFF

All those red hats represent something new

BY SANDY SUGGITT
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

It's the fastest growing women's movement of the new century. The first national convention in 2002 gathered 4,010 women. By the second convention in April this year, the numbers had exploded to more than 25,000 attendees.

New Mexico has 21 chapters, and only Albuquerque, with eight, has more chapters than Lincoln County, with three chapters.

Viewers of the Smokey Bear Parade on July 4 in Capitan may have seen one of the local chapters take second place: the Red "Hat" Mamas of Lincoln. The Red "Hat" Mamas of Lincoln County is their official name, registered with the national "disorganization," the Red Hat Society. The society was begun in 2001 by Sue Ellen Cooper of Fullerton, Calif., and was inspired by a popular poem, "Warning," by Jenny Joseph, which begins:

*When I am an old woman I shall wear purple
With a red hat which doesn't go and doesn't suit me.
And I shall spend my pension on brandy and summer gloves
And satin sandals, and say we've no money for butter.*

When Cooper and her red-hat, purple-dressed friends were featured in Romantic Homes magazine in July 2000, women from all over began inquiring about starting their own chapters. Now there are more than 10,000 chapters with at least 20 members in each, and chapters in the United Kingdom, Australia, New Zealand and Mexico (according to the Web site, www.red-hatsociety.com).

The only rule of the society is that red-hatters be at least 50 years of age, but chapters have formed of women under 50 in training (these wear pink dresses).

Lady Alice, Queen "Mutter," House of Clary (known to nonmembers as Alice Clary) started the Red "Hat" Mamas of Lincoln County after being a member of another chapter in the area — to spread the silliness and good will.

This chapter likes to use royal titles. Lady Alice's first lady-in-waiting, Lady Patricia, Duchess of Lincoln, House of Chateaufort (better known to nonmembers as Patricia Chatneuf), stole the wording for the chapter's naming ceremony from Queen Elizabeth's coronation ceremony, and the red-hatters used it for their tea party/installation ceremony in Cloudcroft in July.

The Queen "Mutter" said her group likes being royal. She has an ancestor who was the first king of Paris, protecting the inhabitants from invasion by the Normans, she said.

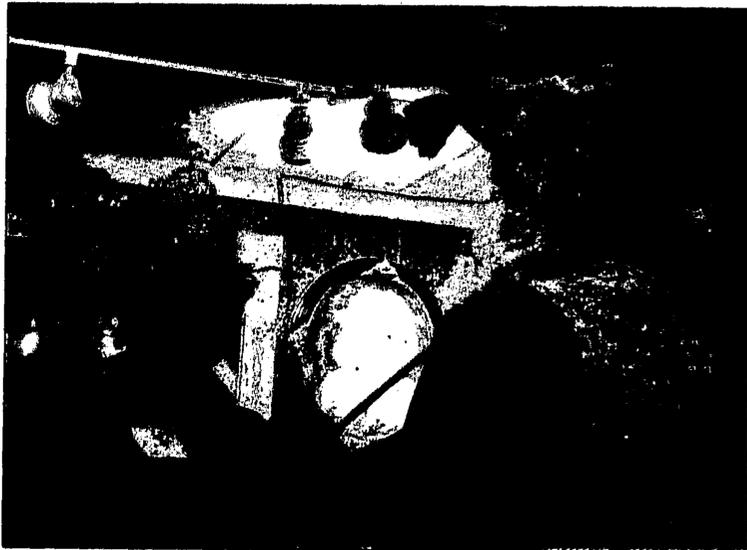

"Husbands are called 'Romeos,'" Lady Alice said. "That stands for 'Retired Old Men Eating Out' while their wives are attending tea parties."

Spontaneity and lack of organization are the point of the society, the Queen "Mutter" said.

"We like fantasy and fun and we get together at least once a month, with a gimmick for every meeting," she said.

The most recent chapter in Lincoln County, started in May this year, is Sierra Rojo. Queen Mother Gail Crites had recently turned 50 when she visited Bisbee, Ariz., staying in a bed and breakfast run by a red-hatter.

"She started talking about having turned 50, showed us her scrapbook, and we came home and started one," she said.

This group has dinner the third Wednesday of each month.

"Somebody volunteers to take the next month and they can plan whatever they want. In September we're doing a progressive dinner," Queen Mother Crites said.

"We've got an anti-parliamentarian because she said she wanted to be one. There's supposed to be no rules, and a queen mom does the paperwork (to register with the national organization for $35), and nobody else has volunteered to do anything.

"They are volunteering to do the meetings once a month and that's the only work they're doing. We are doing no good works. This is just for fun."

Expanded art competition in the offing for Lincoln County Fair

BY JULIE CARTER
FOR THE RUIDOSO NEWS

Sharon Burdick took over the open art show at the Lincoln County Fair for the first time last year.

Now, after two years of fair organizing, she's getting more ideas for a bigger and better art competition.

Next year, she says she will have more categories.

All the youth who enter will get a ribbon as they have before, but there will be only one first place in each division.

She is already on the hunt for more exhibitors in the teen and adult divisions.

This year she was grateful to all the businesses and people who donated to the show. She was able to give cash prizes and other awards to all the category winners.

Donors for the 2003 County Fair open art show included Flying J Ranch, Carol Wiberg/Financial Network, Ruidoso Roastery/Linda Stinnell, Kiwanis, State National Bank, Scott and Stacy Miller, Pizza Hut, Barnett Carpets and K-Bob's.

This year's winners included:

Meteoric just that in All American Derby trials

BY TODD FUQUA
RUIDOSO SPORTS EDITOR

There were four trials for this year's All American Derby on Saturday at Ruidoso Downs, but it took only one to determine which horse was the fastest.

Meteoric — a finalist in last year's All American Futurity — turned in a time of 21.189 in the first trial, a time which stood through four subsequent trials. That included a running by fellow All American Futurity finalists Special Red Warrior, Silvered Eyes, First Place Affair and AB What A Runner.

As fast as Meteoric was, he still needed a strong finish to just catch up to and beat out Andthebeatgoeson — who turned in the second-fastest time overall at 21.193 — at the wire to win the trial.

"I wasn't sure if we got there or not," said Meteoric trainer Lin Melton. "The inside of the track has been pretty dead all weekend, and it took a lot to run her down."

The track's deadness was a result of the rain which has finally blessed the area; a blessing to almost everyone who lives in the Ruidoso area, but a curse to horsemen who want fast times out of their charges.

That deadness contributed to some rather surprising results for some of the favorites on Friday — not the least of which was AB What A Runner's. She won her trial but turned in a time of

TODD FUQUA/STAFF

Meteoric, far right, is ridden by G.R. Carter to a victory in the first trial for the All American Derby Friday at Ruidoso Downs. Meteoric lived up to his name with a time of 21.189 in the 440-yard race, good enough to ensure him the fastest time of the trials.

21.591, just 100th of a second short of qualifying for the derby final. That's not all that great for the track record holder at 440 yards and a world record holder at 350.

The current 440-yard record holder — and Rainbow Derby winner — is Silvered Eyes, but he had even worse luck. He was bumped early out of the gate and jockey Jacky Martin did his best to get the gray gelding into the money.

He did finish third, but cut off a few horses in doing so. After a review of the replay, the stewards disqualified him to sixth place.

While trainer Jack Brooks didn't get Silvered Eyes into the final, he and Martin did lead Special Red Warrior there with a time of 21.522. Rainbow Derby winner Southern Cartel is also in the final with a time of 21.404, as is Talk About Me Oh My, owned by R.D. Hubbard, John Jones and Toby Keith and trained by Paul Jones.

Andthebeatgoeson was one of four horses trained by Sleepy Gilbreath to qualify for the derby final, joined by Snow Big Deal, Snow Me and Storybook Lover with the times of 21.307, 21.346, and 21.493 respectively.

One Famous Lady, trained by Blane wood and owned by Johnny Trotter, turned in a time of 21.310, while Snow Skier had a time of 21.590 for trainer Robert Cappellucci and owner George Dennison.

KICKING OFF... RHS soccer teams preparing for new school season.

RHS boys learning from each other

BY TODD FUQUA
RUIDOSO SPORTS EDITOR

Ruidoso High School boys soccer coach Wally Murillo knows the road to the Class 3A/1A playoffs will be a difficult one, but he's heartened by one thing.

His team is actually looking like one.

"We're still a young team, but they're aging together to where they're getting used to each other," Murillo said. "There's more communication and more trust. You can depend on another teammate now, and that helps."

When the team's season gets underway Aug. 31 in the Alamogordo Tournament, Murillo might have fewer players than he'd like. In fact, he won't even be there, as he'll be working at Ruidoso Downs during the big Labor Days weekend.

In his stead will be assistant coach Dave Ingels, a former referee and youth soccer coach who has led most of the Warrior players since they were wee little lads.

"He brings new drills and new ideas to the team and also helps a lot when I'm not around," a grateful Murillo stated of Ingels.

Ruidoso is coming off a 2-15 (1-5 in District 4-3A/1A) season, and Murillo wants to improve on that win total this year. To do it, he knows he can't take any team for granted.

That's what happened to the Warriors last year. After defeating Hatch at home, they went on the road against the same team later with a great deal of confidence, only to drop a 10-0 decision to the Bears.

The very fact that they play

Hatch in the district brings up another point. While the Warriors are similar to the Ruidoso girls in that they are young, the Lady Warriors have but one district foe in Socorro.

The Ruidoso boys add Hatch and New Mexico Military Institute out of Roswell to that mix.

NMMI went to state last year and are definitely the cream of the district this season as well. Murillo knows it will be a difficult struggle to get to the regional playoffs.

To prepare for district, Murillo has his team playing against larger schools like Alamogordo, Moriarty and Carlsbad.

"If we can compete with them, we should be able to do well in district," Murillo said. "We lack speed, but that's where teamwork comes in. You can't rely on one individual to take over. You have to have support from others."

Lady Warrior booters young, but experienced

BY TODD FUQUA
RUIDOSO SPORTS EDITOR

Youth is king, unless you're the Ruidoso High School Lady Warrior soccer team.

In their case, youth could actually be a detriment. However, coach Sigurd Schmitz is optimistic about his team's chances this season.

You see, the Lady Warriors may be young, but they've actually got some experience.

"There's not as many back as I'd like, but they do have a good attitude," Schmitz said. "I just want to get these new kids some experience; I've already got some leadership among the returners."

If Ruidoso is young this year, they were even younger last year. Those that are back from last season took their lumps and are ready to show they're better than that this season.

The oldest players on the team are a trio of juniors named Courtney Yeager, Kara Sparks and Sarah Rattaman, joined by sophomores Sarah Stevens and Jamie Wirth and freshman Allison Rigsby from last year's squad.

That nucleus may be young in age, but they're a bit wiser in experience. Schmitz is hoping that experience makes the difference in this year's team.

"Any one of them can be leaders if they put their mind to it," Schmitz said. "My job is to make them more positive with each other. We'll be working on communication a lot this year."

Schmitz won't be going at it alone this season. He'll be get-

Turkey Track Ranch takes the county ranch rodeo 'triple crown'

BY JULIE CARTER
FOR THE RUIDOSO NEWS

There have been three ranch rodeos this summer in Lincoln County. Saturday's event, sponsored by the Lincoln County Ranch Rodeo Association, was the third jewel in the crown for Turkey Track Ranch.

Almost legendary in New Mexico ranch rodeo history, Turkey Track won the Old West Ranch Rodeo held during the Smokey Bear Stampede. They easily claimed another first place title at the Corona FFA-sponsored ranch rodeo just three weeks ago. Saturday they again proved their skill and prowess in the arena by being the only team to qualify in all five events.

There were times it looked like cowboy mud wrestling. The mud and goo and slop and splash were just part of the events. With eight teams competing, the rodeo was destined to run off in record time. But about 10 minutes into the Remuda Race, the thunder rolled and the rain fell. Cowboys ran for cover, grabbing slickers, loading horses in trailers to keep saddles and ropes dry.

With the drought governing the lives of ranching, there wasn't a ranch rodeo hand that grumbled over the rain. Comments were truthful ones like "I had to drive to Capitan to see a rain." Kids ran through puddles like they'd never seen them before. Horses ducked and dodged the water, showing that they probably hadn't seen water like that in recent memory.

When the rain subsided and the sun peeked out again, the rodeo resumed, with a definite difference in the ground conditions in the arena. It didn't seem treacherous but certainly was sloppy. Running horses and cattle made big splashes on themselves and anyone standing near the arena fence.

It was a fun community kind of event with families competing against families on many of the teams. Lifelong Tinnie rancher John Cooper watched with delight as more than half the teams had one version or another of his kin-folk competing. "Nobody gets a bigger kick out of than I do," he said, not ever admitting which team he was rooting for the most.

Event Winners:

Remuda Race: Black Hills Ranch, Carrizozo: Matt Ferguson, Robble Hooten, Jim Cooper, and Sam Gutierrez

Team Penning: Turkey Track Ranch, Artesia: Wayland Newberry, Phil Ozborn, Jimmy Herring, Eddle Davis, Buck Blackwell

Team Branding: Turkey Track Ranch
Wild Cow Milking: Hippo Ranch, Corona: Joseph Erramouspe, Dan Bell, Shad Cox, Travis Lightfoot

Final Average winners:

1. Turkey Track Ranch, Artesia
2. Los Viejos Ranch, Lincoln County: Billy Bob Shafer, Joe Gutierrez, Bill Hightower, Scott Daniel
3. Black Water Ranch, Lincoln County: Wade Gutierrez, Keith Shafer, J.R. Shafer and Patrick Hightower

Outdoor expo a big success Organizers plan for even larger show next year

BY TODD FUQUA
RUIDOSO NEWS SPORTS EDITOR

Not that anyone was counting that closely, but the best estimates placed 3,000 paying customers at the Mountain Living Hunting, Fishing and Outdoor Sports Expo held over the weekend at the Ruidoso Convention Center.

That's 3,000 people who came to spend their time and money on all sorts of items and activities — from food to hunting weapons to recreational vehicles.

"This will grow considerably," said Scott Thompson, who with his wife Trish organized the entire affair. "Before we left on Sunday, there were vendors coming by to ask us about more space, and those who weren't vendors already wanted some room."

There were already plenty of vendors there this year, despite the relatively short notice, and visitors from across the state were treated to a wide variety of displays.

Given that this is the first year such an event has been held in Ruidoso, the Thompsons were admittedly playing the entire event by ear, without any real goals when it came to the number of vendors or visitors.

But Trish said the event was a success by any measure, and will only get bigger in the future.

"A number of people who were planning to come in didn't have it in their schedule a year ago," Thompson said. "They'll definitely be here next year."

As it was, the main hall was packed with exhibits, and Thompson said she fully expects to use all of the building — including the conference rooms and space outside — to accommodate all the new vendors that want to come to next year's event.

Thompson said she also hopes to make the overall theme of the event more educational in nature, emphasizing conservation and forest safety.

"Enjoying our environment responsibly is a part of it," Thompson said. "Those educational ideas would be a lot better in the small, intimate spaces of the conference rooms. One half of this show should be educational in nature."

No local teams in finals of Mountain Double

The rain which has mercifully fallen on the Ruidoso area recently was both a good and bad thing for co-ed softball teams in town for the Mountain Double Up this past weekend at Eagle Creek softball complex.

With moisture already having fallen, the tournament got underway on Saturday with no dust to contend with. But rains that evening cancelled further play, and all games were moved to Sunday with a one pitch, 30-minute time limit.

By the time it was all done, none of the four local teams had made it to the championship game in either the competitive or recreational brackets.

Guns & Roses of Mescalero made the most noise of any area team, falling 21-13 in their opening game of the recreational bracket, then defeating fellow Mescalero team Hornies in the loser's bracket.

Guns & Roses later defeated Touch Of Class 17-1 to move on to face Wicketsticks of Lovington. That's where the rules governing the recreational bracket caught up to the Mescalero players.

By rule, any home runs hit during recreational play constitute an out. Any further homers after that mean an ejection for the player that hits it. If that team is unable to field a full team after the ejection, then they forfeit the game.

That is exactly what happened to Guns & Roses in the first inning, forcing them to bow out of the tournament.

Emdors didn't do much better, losing 21-6 to No Limit in their first game, then dropping a 21-1 decision to the Giants.

In the competitive bracket, the Co-Nads actually won their first game, an 18-8 decision over Babes N Bums of Las Cruces, but then a 21-19 loss to Team Sike of El Paso had them fighting for their tourney lives.

That tournament life came to a quick end on Sunday morning with a 21-13 loss to Sting of Hobbs.

Tournament champions were Who Cares of Deming in the recreational bracket, while the El Paso Unknowns survived the losers bracket to win the title in the competitive league.

The Prudencios were trailed by 25 family members to Albuquerque for the state games, and the family was treated to a show. The 65-year-old Ramon finished second in the long jump and kickball, while also taking fourth place in the 800 and 200-meter runs. He also finished fifth in the 400-meter run. Cornelia, 62, was fourth in the 100-meter run, and took fifth in the 200 and 400-meter runs.

SOCCKER: Ruidoso girls aiming for a state berth

He helped out the Lady Warriors on a volunteer basis near the end of last year, and made the decision to stay with the team full-time this season.

Making the regional playoffs in Class 1A/3A won't be an issue again this year, as Socorro provides the only competition in the district. Like last year, Ruidoso is assured a playoff berth simply because they're one of only two teams in District 4-1A/3A.

But don't think Schmitz is satisfied with that. He wants to win that regional game and qualify for the state tournament.

"Our goal is not to get 10-goals by Socorro," said Schmitz, whose team was skunked both times against their district foes and has yet to finish a full game with them. "They were the best team we faced last year by far. We'll do well against anyone we play in regionals if we do well against Socorro."

Last season came to an end with a 6-0 loss to St. Michael's. That was a 6-0 game that was only 1-0 at halftime. The Lady Warriors just ran out of gas in the end.

To better prepare his team this season, Schmitz has scheduled a number of games against junior varsity teams across southern New Mexico from schools like Carlsbad, Las Cruces, Mayfield and Onate.

They start their season Aug. 24 at noon against the Las Cruces Oñate JV.

Since Ruidoso is young, they'll actually be facing girls their age, and hopefully building up some confidence in themselves before they face off against Socorro.

"The girls just need to grow a bit more," Schmitz said. "I don't mind playing Socorro, but they're the only 3A team in the south. We just need more games than that."

If the Lady Warriors can meet their coaches' expectations, maybe they'll be playing a few more games in the post-season.

Thoroughbred yearling is led to the Ruidoso Sale Barn arena Saturday during the Ruidoso New Mexico-Bred Thoroughbred and Quarter Horse Yearling Sale.

Draper's $60,000 purchase tops Ruidoso NM-bred sale

BY KRISTAIN LOVELACE FOR THE RUIDOSO NEWS

Fredda Draper and her husband Carl apparently learn lessons quickly. Last year, they purchased a New Mexico bred quarter horse yearling named Blackgold Chips for $1,800 at the Ruidoso Mixed Sale and went on to win the $306,000 Zia Futurity this year.

The sale topper was less than last year's New Mexico-bred quarter horse sale topper of $77,000 but it was the only thing about the sale that was below last year. In fact, the average of $8,399 for the 249 horses that went through the ring was 7.7 percent above last year's figure for the quarter horse portion of the sale.

"The best news was the median price," Ruidoso Horse Sales manager Lowell Neumeyer said. "Last year, the median price was $3,500 and this year it was $5,500. That means the middle was much, much stronger than a year ago."

"That is another positive sign of the horse racing industry in New Mexico."

"Another sign of the improving horse market in New Mexico was the repurchase rate. Only 21 percent of the horses were repurchased compared with last year's 35 percent.

Miracle Can Tango, consigned to the sale by Diamond P Ranch, is a son of Champion Dean Miracle and out of the Easy Toro mare Toros Tango. He is a full brother to Dean Can Tango, winner of the New Mexican Spring Futurity and an earner of more than $137,000.

Frontera Farms, owned by Mike Levi of Alto, purchased the second highest seller Blazin Blazin Blazin for $40,000. Consigned by Double L Farms, the colt is a son of Chicks Blazin out of an unraced daughter of the stakes-placed and stakes producing mare Elaina Rae.

All of the New Mexico Bred quarter horse yearlings are eligible for the new Ruidoso New Mexico Bred Sale Futurity, scheduled for its inaugural running in 2004 pending New Mexico Racing Commission approval.

Heza Wicked Man wins big in 550 Championship

BY KRISTAIN LOVELACE FOR THE RUIDOSO NEWS

A bad break and a slow start is what Heza Wicked Man had to overcome before he could win the 550 Championship Sunday.

The Heza Fast Man gelding won the race by a length for trainer Jose Dominguez and owner Sandra Erwin. However, Heza Fast Man did not have the most perfect trip after the slow break; rider Jimmy Coates had to swing the gelding to the outside before being able to let go and win.

"Jose told me that he did not break good in his last out and he did it again today. When he finally broke and started to run my hole was closing," Coates said. "So I swung him to the outside for a cleaner trip and just sat there and looked pretty while he won the race."

Talkin Cash Only came in second over Ah Mister. Talkin Cash Only also had a slow start and was able to make up ground for trainer Carl Draper and owners Fredda Draper and Lola Willis.

Ah Mister drifted in during the race but was able to maintain a third place finish. Ah Mister is trained by Lin Melton for owner Merritt Pride.

Sunday's earnings of $15,960 bring Heza Wicked Man's lifetime earnings to $156,744. Heza Wicked Man paid $6,740, Heza Wicked Man $156,744, Heza Wicked Man $156,744, Heza Wicked Man $156,744. Heza Wicked Man exacta paid $30.40, the quinella $19 and the trifecta paid $23.60.

Career win 2,000 for Christopher Zamora

BY KRISTAIN LOVELACE FOR THE RUIDOSO NEWS

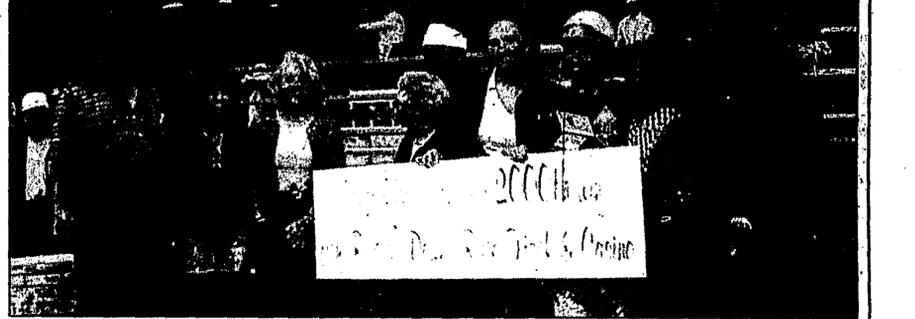

Jockey Christopher Zamora hit a career high Thursday when he won his 2,000th career win. Zamora won the 14th division of the All American Futurity trials aboard The A List, Ruidoso Futurity winner, to seal his 2,000th win.

The A List who is trained by Zamora's wife, Jamie, was supplemented in to the All American Futurity trials by owner BLM Racing.

Zamora, who has had 15,000-plus mounts in his lifetime and more than 7,000 quarter horse mounts, brought his quarter horse win total to 1,040. However, he is as qualified a rider at long distances as he is at short, having ridden more than 8,000 thoroughbred mounts with 960 wins.

Zamora has recorded an impressive number of 63 stakes wins. Zamora's biggest win was when he won the 1994 All American Futurity aboard Noblese Six.

ALL AMERICAN: Jones has a big day

Jones, survived challenges by Rainbow Futurity winner Planet Holland and Ruidoso Futurity winner The A List to retain the top spot.

Speaking of The A List, the colt owned by Bobby Maes wasn't fast enough to get into the final, as his time of 21.451 placed him 14th overall. He will run in the All American Juvenile, but won't be able to pay back Maes' supplements.

Maes was paid a total supplemental fee of $100,000 to get both The A List and Mokasso into the trials on Thursday, but neither was able to make his gamble pay off. Like Maes said before the races: "If you've got the money and believe in your horses, you might as well spend it."

One horse which did qualify after being supplemented was Dashin Kirk, owned by Porfirio Zuniga and trained by Ramon Ronquillo, who qualified with a time of 21.354 for jockey Noe Garcia.

Other horses qualifying for the All American Futurity include Rubys JP, still another horse trained by Jones and owned by James Burgess.

By By JJ, a New Mexico bred horse trained by Juan Gonzales and owned by Rosella Anrin Prieto, turned in a time of 21.287 for jockey James Gonzales. Gonzales also qualified Sixes Royal for trainer/owner Frankie Martinez with a time of 21.401.

Rounding out the final ten was Fast Movin Snow, trained by Jack Brooks and owned by Oil and Hay Partners, I Aint Jo Chick for trainer Patrick Swan and owner Jo Ann Adams, and Anacho for trainer John Boegner and owner Louis Howard.

The final for the All American Derby will be run Sept. 2, while the All American Futurity and Juvenile races will take place Sept. 3 to cap off the traditional Labor Day schedule at the track.

PSYCHIC PREDICTIONS

Judith L. Christopher

Week of August 20 - 26

- LEO: (Jul 23 - Aug 22) Because of Mars, tempers could rise without cause. Keep a cool head, and watch what you say. Let things slide until this is over. Enjoy the company of others.
SAGITTARIUS: (Nov 22 - Dec 21) Count your blessings, and not what you're not receiving. Don't waste good energy on anything that is not productive at this time in your life.
ARIES: (Mar 21 - Apr 19) Fighting with so called loved ones, is not cutting it. Go to your corners and rethink what you have been blessed with. Don't assume it will stay forever.
VIRGO: (Aug 23 - Sep 22) Now is a great time for you to remember why you are doing what you're doing, and not just doing it because you can. Bring the best of you to the table.
CAPRICORN: (Dec 22 - Jan 19) You're about to embark on something that is a long time coming. Be sure you're ready for the trip of your life. New beginnings can start now.
TAURUS: (Apr 20 - May 20) You might have to do what you don't want to for now. Your turn is next. This will give you time to think where you want to end up for life.
LIBRA: (Sept 23 - Oct 22) You will see others come to your view. A great time to get what you want, by just smiling and not fighting with anyone. If it doesn't come easy, let it go.
AQUARIUS: (Jan 20 - Feb 18) If you are wondering what to do next, then you're not ready to do it right. Know what you have to know, to do the best job possible. Plan ahead.
GEMINI: (May 21 - Jun 20) Don't count on things that you can't see. Words are cheap and others might have their heart in the right place, but can't bring forth what you need.
SCORPIO: (Oct 23 - Nov 21) You know what you have to do. It's not easy being you. Others have the right to their say, but that doesn't mean you have to do what they say.
PISCES: (Feb 19 - Mar 20) Great news. You are going to get away from the hurt you have had so long. You're going to make up your mind not to take second place again.
CANCER: (Jun 21 - Jul 22) Yes. That's the answer. Yes you can do it. Are you sure this what you really want? You can have what you need, before you get what you want.

BRIAN URLACHER SAYS MAKE THE RIGHT MOVE:

JOIN THE SCOUTING TEAM TODAY!

Before he wore number 54 in the National Football League, he wore number 89-Pack 89 that is, as a Cub Scout in Lovington, New Mexico. Brian is the most celebrated (and if your are on offense, most feared) linebacker in football. As honorary chairman for the Conquistador Council's "2003 Scout Blitz" membership drive, Brian says "make the right move-join Scouting!"

On the football field, Brian is the best and holds many records. Off the field he exemplifies the ideals of Scouting. He believes in community service as demonstrated by his generosity in both time and money. He has donated a state of the art weight room to his high school and he is a key supporter of the New Mexico Special Olympics. He sponsors an annual football camp, teaching youngsters from throughout New Mexico football skills.

This fall every new Cub Scout and Boy Scout will receive a commemorative Brian Urlacher patch. In addition, every cub scout registered by September 30 receives a Pinewood Derby Car.

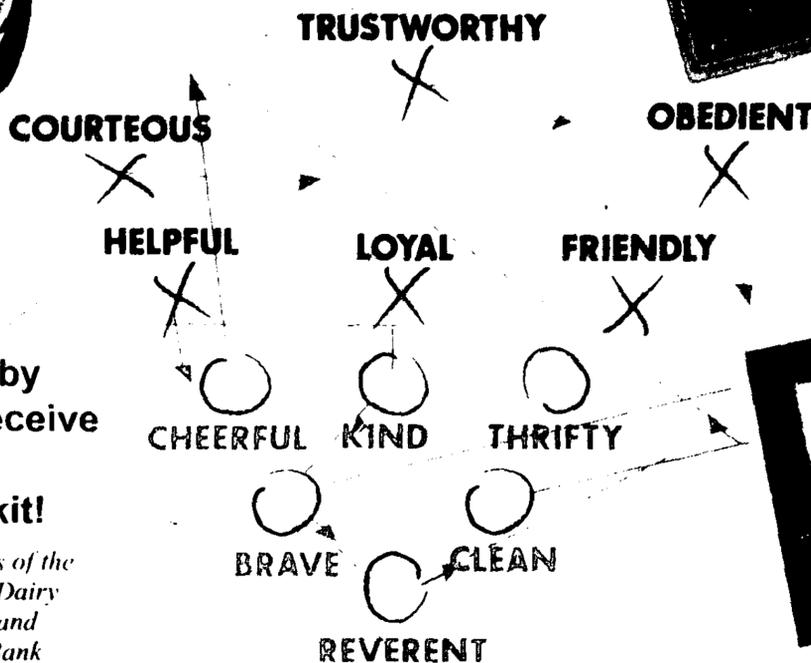

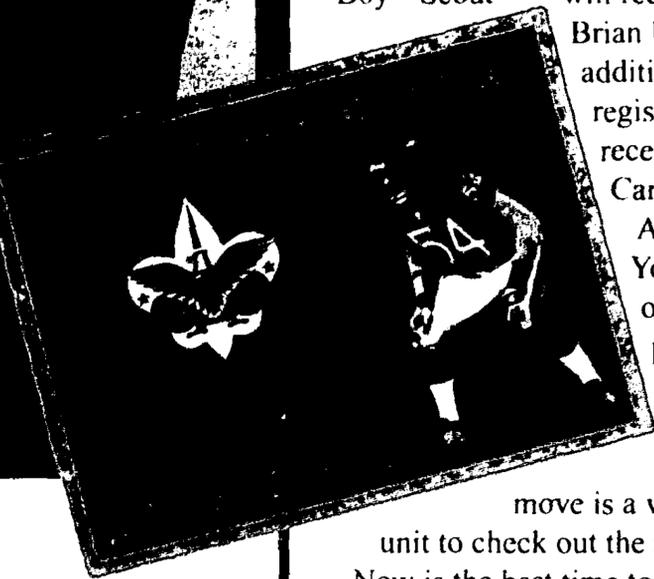

According to the Roper Youth Report, 48 percent of 8-12 year olds and 58 percent of 13-17 year old youth do not belong to any non-school related groups. The right move is a visit to your local Scout unit to check out the action.

Now is the best time to join Scouts. Cub Scout Packs and Boy Scout Troops across southeast New Mexico are gearing up for an action packed program. Watch for school flyers inviting your family to a Scout "round-up" (or call 505-622-3461, www.conquistador-bsa.org) or visit the Scout Service Center to learn more about Scouting in your neighborhood. You'll be glad you did!

Listen to Brian Urlacher, make the right move and join Scouts today!

HOW VOLUNTEERING CAN BENEFIT YOU

Volunteers gain internal rewards; community receives external benefits.

The Boy Scouts of America in conjunction with Harris Interactive has released a national study on volunteerism. The Volunteer Outcomes Study highlights the benefits that individuals receive from volunteering their time to America's youth.

Today, more than 1000 adult volunteers provide leadership and mentoring to Cub Scout packs, Boy Scout troops, and Venturing crews in the Conquistador Council. Their time, resources and dedication has enabled the Boy Scouts of America to remain the foremost program for character development and values-based leadership training in the country.

"While the positive impact of the Scouting program on our youth members is widely known," said Frank Reigelman, "our volunteers are the heart of Scouting; their commitment makes it possible for us to deliver outdoor adventure and service-oriented programs to over 2300 members throughout southeast New Mexico."

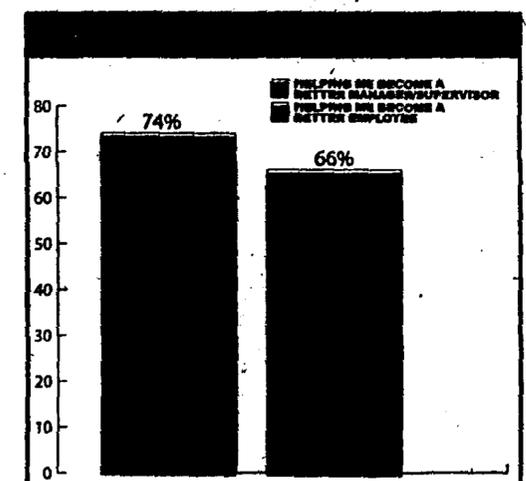

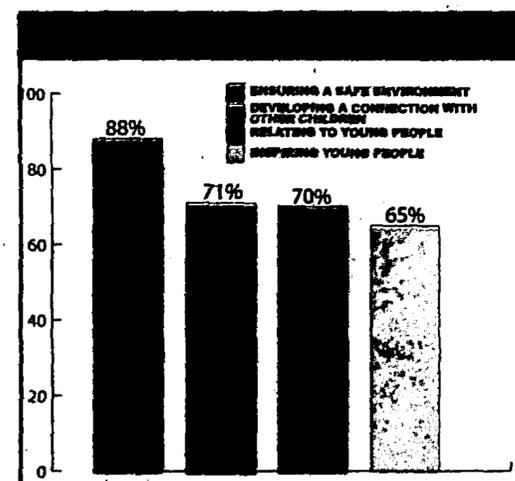

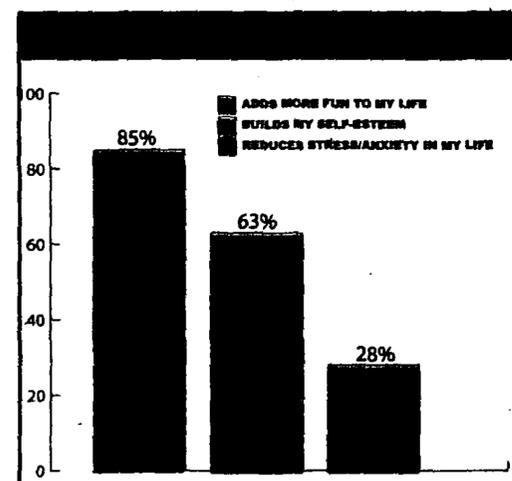

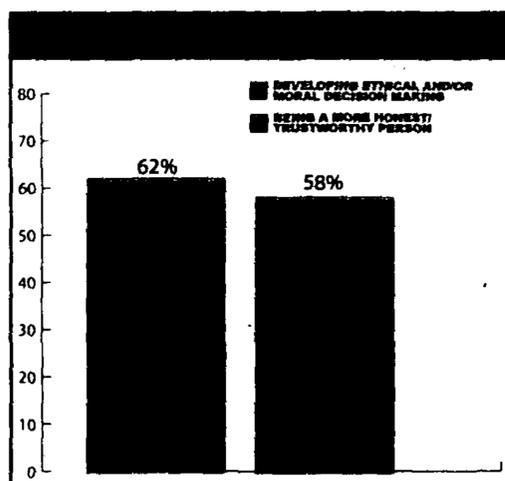

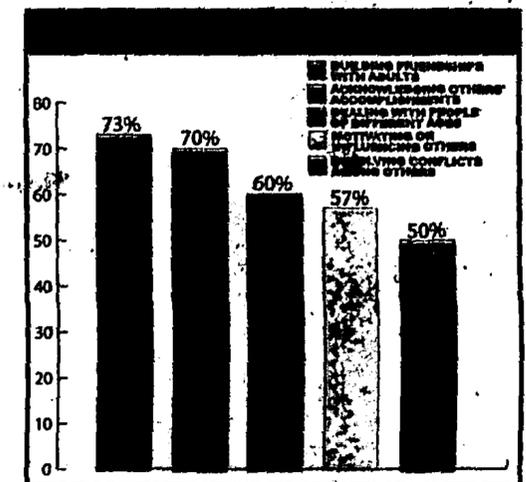

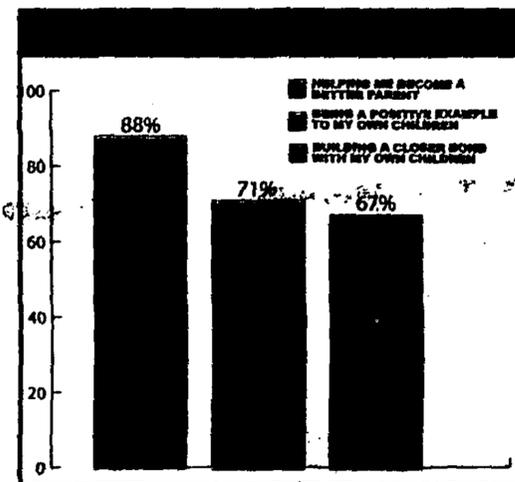

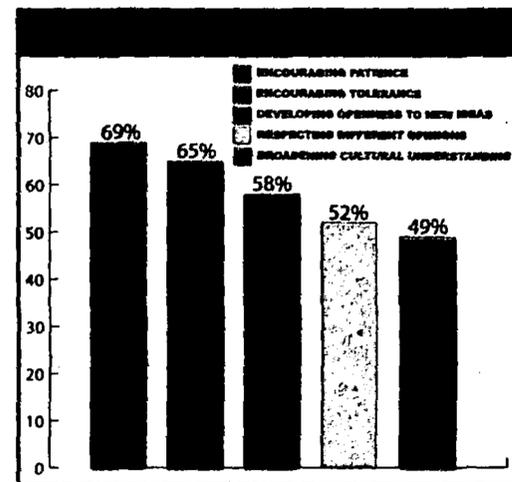

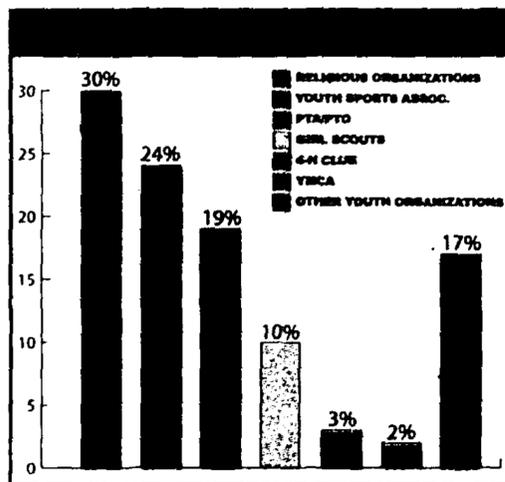

"The time and effort I have dedicated to Scouting has come back to me in numerous ways," said Executive Board member and past council president, Phelps Anderson. "My Scouting experience has helped everyday in my family and business. Scouting values are timeless and well serves every Scout throughout his life."

In 2002, Scouting volunteers nationally gave more than 280 million hours of service to the youth of America. Using average projected values of volunteer time from Independent Sector, a nationally recognized nonprofit research organization, the approximate value of those service hours completed by Scouting volunteers is $4.6 billion. In the Conquistador Council alone, Scouting volunteers donated thousands of hours in order to make the Scouting program come alive for local youth.

The Scouting movement is composed of more than 1.2 million volunteers working together for the sole purpose of helping its 5 million youth members succeed in life. If you are interested in learning about volunteer opportunities available through the Conquistador Council, call 505-622-3461 or log on to www.conquistador-bsa.org. The Boy Scouts of America's 93-year history is a testament to the enduring values of the Scouting program.

UNITED WAY AND BSA: PARTNERS FOR BETTER COMMUNITIES

Did you know the Boy Scouts of America was one of the founding United Way agencies? In southeast New Mexico, seven United Way chapters support the Conquistador Council, providing approximately 14 percent of the funds required to deliver the Scouting program. Scouting works closely with the United Way to ensure effective use of allocated funds and that community needs are addressed. BSA volunteers and staff assist in all aspects of United Way campaigns throughout the area.

The Conquistador Council is a proud partner with the following local United Way chapters:

- Carlsbad and South Eddy County United Way
- North Eddy County United Way
- United Way of Lea County
- Southeastern New Mexico Combined Federal Campaign
- Chaves County United Way
- Curry County United Way
- Roosevelt County United Way

GOT GEAR?

The Scout Shop carries a full line of supplies for Scouts, leaders and the public. Any outdoor enthusiast or hobbyist will enjoy the accessories carried at the Scout Shop. Camping supplies, knives, flashlights, books and hobby kits are some of the items carried and special orders are always welcome. New for 2003, the Scout Shop has sleeping bags and backpacks by Kelty—a legend in the out of doors.

The Scout Shop is open Monday-Friday 8:30 a.m. until 5:00 p.m. and on the first Saturday of every month between 9:00 a.m. and 1:00 p.m.

EAGLE SCOUT PATIO DEDICATED

The Conquistador Council dedicated the Eagle Scout Patio on April 11, 2003. Honoring Eagle Scouts, past, present and future, the patio features the names of 1366 men who have earned their Eagle Scout Award in southeast New Mexico. Beginning with Fred Rowell of Roswell in 1920 through the class of 2002, it is a fitting tribute to the Scouts who followed the trail to Eagle. Each year, the newest class of Eagles will be added to the patio.

The patio is open to the public and is located on the north side of the S. P. Yates Scout Service Center in Roswell.

BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA PROGRAMS

MOUNTAIN TOP ADVENTURES

Dain Johnson is a member of Troop 393, chartered by the Lovington New Mexico Fire Department. Scouting has opened the door to numerous adventures that have taken Dain across the nation and around the world! Here are several of the highlights:

- Attended the 2001 National Jamboree at Ft. A. P. Hill with 40,000 of his fellow Scouts.
- Visited Switzerland with Troop 393 in 2002
- Served as a member of the summer camp staff at Camp Wehinahpay
- Achieved the rank of Eagle Scout in 2003

Most recently, Dain served as the youth "crew leader" for a 10-day backpacking adventure at Philmont Scout Ranch near Cimarron, New Mexico. He led a crew of eight other Scouts and two adult leaders on a 60 plus mile trek and was responsible for all aspects of the trek, from cooking assignments to complicated navigational decisions. The trip was a great success, with all members returning safe, healthy and ready for more hiking!

POPCORN SALE HELPS SCOUTS PAY THEIR WAY

Each fall, the Conquistador Council conducts its annual "Trails End Gourmet Popcorn Sale". With seven different products, from microwave to a 3-way tin with two flavors of cheese and caramel popcorn to good old fashion popping corn, there is something for everyone's taste and budget.

Scouts are encouraged to set a goal, such as camp fees or camping equipment and then practice their salesmanship skills, going door to door to sell popcorn. Scouting receives over 70% of the proceeds, which are divided between the Scout for his program and the Conquistador Council to support the total Scouting program in Southeast New Mexico.

Scouts will take orders September 22 thru October 31, 2003 and deliver the popcorn beginning November 12, 2003.

SCOUTING BROTHERS

Travis & Tristan Mitchell

If you're looking for the Mitchell brothers - Travis and Tristan - during the month of July, chances are you'll find them at Dowling Aquatic Base in Carlsbad. The Mitchell's are mainstays of the aquatic camp staff. Travis, 21, has instructed campers for the past three years. Tristan, 16, just finished his second year as a staff member. The pair has helped hundreds of Boy Scouts from Troops in New Mexico, Arizona and Texas complete a range of aquatic merit badges including sailing, canoeing, oceanography, rowing, swimming and lifesaving.

Travis and Tristan are Carlsbad natives. As young boys, they lived in other locations as their father's career in the Army and with the New Mexico State Police Department demanded. However, by 1989 they were back in Carlsbad. Travis tried out Tiger Cubs, but didn't stay in the program. He didn't rejoin Scouting until years later after Tristan had joined Troop 86. And Tristan wouldn't have become a Scout if Travis hadn't become wheelchair-bound following an accident that resulted in two broken legs.

"My parents were looking for something for me to do while Travis was in the wheelchair," recalls Tristan. "I wanted to join the Thunderbird Dancers Venture Crew, but I wasn't old enough (Venturers must be at least 14 years old), so I joined Troop 86."

It was an action that changed his life. Tristan says he loves the sense of accomplishment and adventure he found through Scouting. In less than three years, he achieved Eagle rank. Because he was five years older, Travis didn't have time to attain Eagle status. Instead, he became a member of the Thunderbird Venture Crew and an assistant leader for Troop 86.

Both boys remained active in Scouting despite other pursuits. Travis played football, wrestled and participated in track during high school. He is an altar server for St. Edwards Catholic Church and has advanced from a squire to a first-degree knight in the Knights of Columbus. He attends the University of Mary Hardin-Baylor and plays on the university's Division 3 conference-champion football team. Tristan played football when he attended Victory Christian Academy and is a member of Order of the Arrow and a Knights of Columbus squire. He has been accepted at New Mexico Military School in Roswell.

Why do Travis and Tristan continue to spend Julys at Dowling Aquatic Camp?

"I really enjoy teaching kids," says Tristan.

"I guess in a way I'm filling a void I feel because I didn't accomplish as much in Scouting as Tristan did," explains Travis. "I'm giving something back by doing this, and I'm getting more of the Boy Scout experience."

Travis adds that his goal is to make sure campers complete all the requirements for the merit badges they pursue at camp. Partial completions just aren't his idea of success stories.

CONQUISTADOR COUNCIL CAMPING

Conquistador Council Camping is a unique opportunity for Scouts and leaders to enjoy the outdoors in the heart of New Mexico. The camp is located near the Pecos River and is surrounded by beautiful scenery. It is one of the oldest Boy Scout camps in the region and has a rich history of providing outdoor experiences for Scouts and leaders.

Established in 1927, it is one of the oldest Boy Scout camps in the region. The camp is located on a mountain peak 9,000 feet high and is surrounded by beautiful scenery. It is a popular activity for Scouts and leaders and is a great place to enjoy the outdoors. Many troops also camp at Wehinahpay in the off-seasons.

Dowling Aquatic Base is located on the Pecos River in the heart of Carlsbad and is perhaps our best kept secret! The property features a dormitory, dining hall and a swimming pool. It is a great place to enjoy the outdoors and is a great place to enjoy the outdoors. It is a great place to enjoy the outdoors and is a great place to enjoy the outdoors.

Just west of Hobbs, New Mexico, is an excellent airport. This facility is used for Cub Scout Day Camp, training and weekend overnights. A year-round training center provides a wide variety of activities and a communications center is available.

In addition to these programs, the S.P. Yulea Scout Service Center in Roswell provides overall administration for Scouting. The facility offers a "Scout Shop" for official BSA supplies, training rooms, maintains membership records, camping reservations and other resources for Scouts and volunteer leaders.

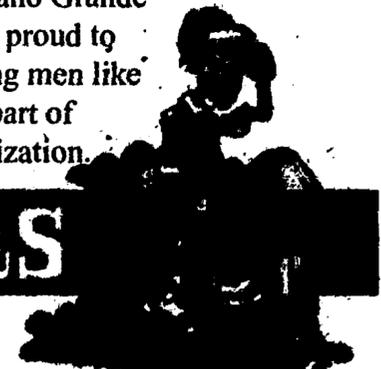

SERVICE TO OTHERS

Jacob Eilenstine, a member of Troop 832, sponsored by the 27th Component Maintenance Squadron at Cannon Air Force Base, recently completed his Eagle Scout project at the Hillcrest Park Zoo in Clovis. He and a group of 15 other Scouts from Troop 832 and Troop 226 replaced an old wooden fence with a new chain link fence near the Giraffe cage. Many hours were put in planning this project and coordinating with the Hillcrest Park Zoo personnel. According to the Zoo Director, Jacob's project and those of other Eagle Scouts, have really helped them out by replacing deteriorating structures and fences in the zoo and always love to have Scouts participate in these types of projects.

In addition to his project, Jacob serves as the Order of the Arrow Lodge Chief. He recently returned from being part of the Camp Wehinahpay Summer Staff and not only did he do a great job at Camp, he also coordinated all the Call-Out ceremonies and participated in the Ordeal Ceremony. Jacob took the lead and took his responsibilities very seriously and did a fantastic job. The El Llano Grande District is proud to have young men like Jacob as part of our organization.

SCOUTING BUDDIES

One of the simplest yet most important concepts in Scouting is the "buddy" system. Used primarily in aquatics to pair Scouts of similar swimming ability for safety, it is a practice that also applies to hiking, camping or nearly any other activity.

The buddy system took on yet another meaning at the Rio Hondo Day Camp last June. Scout Grant Hunter, Troop 17, Christ's Church and Cub Scout Zachary Flores, Pack 7, Del Norte PTO were buddies for the entire week. In the spring it looked like Zach would not be able to attend Day Camp due to medical reasons. Camp leadership began to look for ways to accommodate Zach's needs and arrived at a unique solution. Incorporating the "Wagons West" theme, Scout volunteer, Neil DeFranco constructed a mini Conestoga wagon to transport Zach between activities and keep him out of the sun. Enter Grant Hunter, who provided the "horsepower" pulling Zach's wagon for the week. Not stopping to rest, Grant also helped in each of the program areas. Grant and Zach, Scouting buddies.

YOUTH PROTECTION TRAINING AVAILABLE

The Boy Scouts of America is a recognized leader in training adult volunteers and youth members in Youth Protection skills. Recently, the award winning Youth Protection Training course for adult leaders has been adapted for the internet. Volunteers can log on to www.conquistador-bsa.org, select the "training" button then select "Youth Protection Training" to take a comprehensive training course. Upon completion, registered leaders will receive a certificate and reporting requirements for New Mexico.

The site is not just for Scout leaders. Anyone working with youth (little league, Sunday school teacher or other youth agencies) are encouraged to complete the training. If you would like more information, contact the Scout Service Center, 622-3461, for assistance.
