Brewer explains gas cost

Competition pushes prices, distributor says

BY DIANNE STALLINGS
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

The price of gasoline in a community basically depends on the competition, says one of the distributors who serves multiple municipalities in New Mexico.

Don Brewer of Brewer Oil, distributor for many Shell stations in Lincoln County, frankly discussed some of the considerations that go into the price per gallon posted on stations around Ruidoso.

Three entities set the bar statewide or nationally: Mirastar at Wal-Mart, Phillips 66 at Allsups and Indian tribes across the state.

Heavy rain hits village

BY DIANNE STALLINGS
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

A West Coast storm moving into New Mexico dumped hail and rain on the Ruidoso area most of the afternoon Tuesday and looked like it would continue into the night.

The Ruidoso Police Department reported 1.07 inches of rain by 4:30 p.m., helping to make up the deficit of precipitation in September. Despite the downpour, the department had received no reports of accidents or of flooding.

A spokesman for the Lincoln County Sheriff's Office said steady rain blanketed Carrizozo earlier in the day but tapered off by late afternoon.

Madrid: Tribal gaming revenue sharing an issue for courts

■ Mescalero officials feel that any tax or fee on their gaming proceeds is illegal.

BY DIANNE STALLINGS
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

Any decision about the legality of requiring Indian gaming groups to share a percentage of their profits with the state isn't an issue for arbitration, says New Mexico Attorney General Patricia Madrid.

She was reacting to arguments in U.S. District Court in Albuquerque last week by attorneys for the Mescalero Apache Tribe that the scope of arbitration could encompass the legality of revenue-sharing, as well as the amount of those payments.

Madrid said Thursday that, "Arbitration is appropriate to resolve primarily factual issues, but the strictly legal issue of revenue sharing is not such a dispute.

"In our judgment, this arbitration panel does not have the legal authority to decide the validity of revenue sharing."

Indian gaming is of considerable public interest and the compacts reached with most of the tribes provide millions of dollars to the state annually, she said.

"To relegate the important legal decision about revenue sharing, which has vital significance to the public, to being decided by arbitrators behind closed doors with no accountability or explanation of the decisions, would not be in the public interest," Madrid said. "Such weighty decisions are and should remain the province of our judiciary."

Ed Moreno, spokesman for the Mescalero, said Monday the case goes back to the original 1997 compacts with Indian tribes in New Mexico, which allow signers to resolve issues by either arbitration or litigation.

"The Mescalero always raised the issue of whether the (requirement for a percentage payment to the state) was legal," Moreno said. "(The late Wendell Chino, Mescalero president) took the position that it was not, and never paid. So the tribe asked for arbitration and the Federal Mediation Service was called in. Talks had started but then (Madrid) went to the state Supreme Court to stop it. She argued that the compacts allowed arbitration of the terms, but not of whether the compacts were legal."

Tribal officials countered that Mescalero never had a choice and the state dictated the terms.

"It had no choice but to challenge in whatever venue was possible," Moreno said. "I think Mescalero officials are

Vandals damage 11 school buses by pouring sand into engines

BY SANDY SUGGITT
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

Over the weekend, vandals poured sand into the engine crankcases of 11 school buses used to transport Ruidoso students.

School bus drivers arrived Monday morning to warm up the engines before beginning their routes and found problems with oil pressure and starting the engines, said Matt Bryant, of Lincoln Transportation, which provides transportation for the Ruidoso schools.

"We found one gallon of sand in each of them," Bryant said. "Some wouldn't start because electronic controls shut them off; most didn't even start."

School was not canceled, despite the fact that each bus transports about 60 students, he said. Capitan loaned two buses, Carrizozo loaned one bus, the district loaned four large activity buses, and Lincoln Transportation has five spare buses. Announcements were made on radio and television asking parents to take their children to school because there would be limited bus runs Monday morning.

"They shut us down this morning, but we're running OK now," Bryant said on Monday. "I think it's important to see that school wasn't canceled. It was a district decision."

The three Bryants and two hired mechanics have been working on the 11 buses since discovering the sand in the oil tanks, and as of Tuesday afternoon had five buses running again. But, Bryant said, they had to ship one engine that ran for 15-20 seconds to a Caterpillar shop in El Paso, Texas, to be completely disassembled. If it can't be salvaged, the engine will cost $14,000 to replace.

Meanwhile, the mechanics are able to replace oil pumps and clean out about three engines a day — at a cost of between $1,200 and $1,300

Awards for Saturday's Aspenfest Parade were handed out to floats following this year's theme, Ruidoso Way Off Broadway. First National Bank's float, titled "Grease," won first place while the Mescalero Apache School float took second place and the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce's float, titled "There's no business like snow business," took third place. Recipients of the awards will receive checks in the amount of $100, $50 and $25 respectively.

GAS: Competition drives prices, Brewer says

The other distributors pretty much react.

"It's hard to explain to the public," Brewer said Monday. "The American public is paranoid about gasoline prices. They want to shop around and they get upset when all the stations are the same prices, but they also think something is wrong when the prices are different.

"We're competing against the world's largest retailer. In every community, we compete against the (other stations) there. The same price doesn't apply from community to community. The competition dictates the levels. We drive around and look at prices just like the public. This is just like any other business."

Indian tribes enjoy the advantage of not facing state taxes on fuel, or on cigarettes and alcohol, he said. That can affect the overall profit of a station.

"The competition is hard out there," Brewer said. "To stay in business, we have to be competitive. People go where they can find the best prices."

The bottom-line prices are dictated by the oil companies and what they charge the distributors, Brewer said.

"But sometimes, even when the price goes up to us, we can't raise our prices on the street because the competition doesn't want to go up," he said.

Admittedly, as in most businesses, distributors try to gain as much advantage financially as they can when the opportunity presents itself.

"When the price goes up (from oil companies), we raise ours as fast as we can and when the price goes down, we drag our feet (changing)," he said.

BUSES: No arrest yet

each. Capitan buses and activity buses are still being used to transport students.

Bryant said insurance will pay for some of the repair costs, but the deductible is per bus, which is $8,000 to $10,000 before the insurance will kick in.

Sheriff Tom Sullivan said Monday that the Sheriff's Office has a suspect, is talking to a lot of people and hopes to make an arrest within the next couple of days. On Tuesday afternoon he said his deputies were still questioning people and have not made an arrest yet.

"We're going to change our security procedures — dogs, big teeth, foaming at the mouth," Bryant said.

TRIBE: Revenue sharing ruling is in judge's hands

somewhat confident. This issue is debated nationwide. But the Mescalero contend that the Indian Gaming Rights Act specifically prohibits any tax or fee."

Moreno said going together to U.S. District Court to ask the judge to decide was a positive move.

"His ruling will answer a lot," Moreno said.

Judge Bruce D. Black postponed a decision last week and asked to be briefed on what arbitration has covered and accomplished to date.

Sam Thompson, public information officer for the attorney general's office, explained that Madrid filed against all of the gaming tribes in 2000 when they stopped submitting 16 percent revenue sharing payments approved in the 1997 compacts under Gov. Gary Johnson.

All but the Mescalero entered motions to dismiss the suit. The Mescalero instead filed to compel arbitration. The motion of the tribe, whose reservation abuts Ruidoso, sat while the court considered the argument for dismissal, she said.

Black eventually decided he had jurisdiction and should move ahead with the case against the Indian groups, and that decision was affirmed by a higher court.

Meanwhile, the state settled with 10 of the tribes for a cap of 8 percent, leaving Pojoaque Pueblo waiting to go to trial while the Mescalero motion to compel arbitration is determined by the federal court, Thompson said.

The 10 Indian groups agreed to pay $90 million in back payments. Pojoaque and Mescalero rejected the 2001 deal, did not approve the new compacts and have not paid the state a percentage.

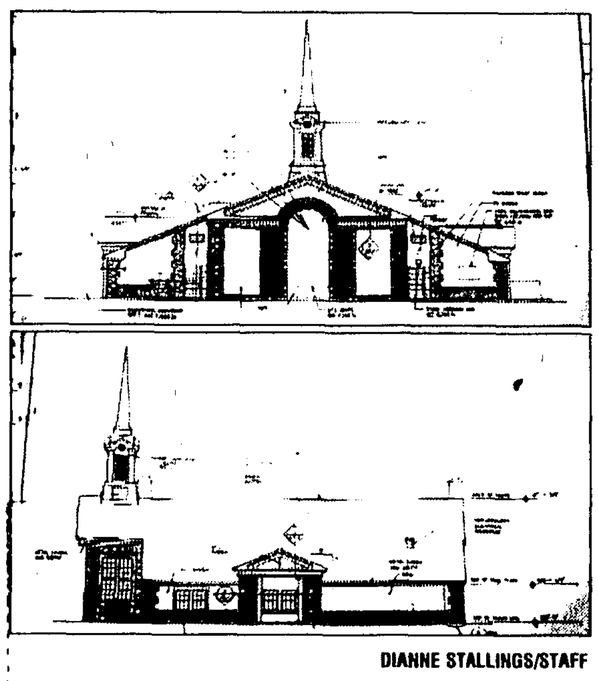
New Mormon church planned off Mechem Drive



DIANNE STALLINGS/STAFF

Sketches of the proposed LDS church.

BY DIANNE STALLINGS
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

A $1.7 million Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints is planned for a four-acre tract south of Pioneer Savings Bank on Mechem Drive.

"We think it will be quite a handsome addition to the area," said Bruce Thacker of Thacker Design Inc. in El Paso. "It will replace the Capitan church because it is a more central and convenient location for members and visitors."

Thacker, the architect steering the project, said he submitted plans two months ago and is waiting for the village planners to schedule a meeting on the site plan review.

"Once that's complete and we have our building permit, we'll start construction," he said Tuesday. The church should be completed within 12 months, he said.

A spokesman for the village Planning Department said the project currently is under infrastructure review with department heads and may be scheduled for the second meeting this month of the Planning and Zoning Commission.

Plans call for a stucco and stone exterior on the 6,368-square-foot structure. The church could be expanded later up to 12,000 square feet, Thacker said.

The Mormon church will be based on a 250-member congregation, although the structure as designed could accommodate 491 people "if every space was filled," he said.

The parking area will be asphalted with handicapped parking and a wheelchair ramp leading to the entrance. A chainlink fence will surround the property on three sides, plans filed with the department show. The church sits about 14 feet off the road, Thacker said.

A prefabricated steeple is part of the design.

Landscaping was modified after church designers became aware of the water restrictions imposed by village rules.

"We don't want to do something that no one else is allowed to do, so we eliminated the grass sod," Thacker said. Juniper ground cover will be used and all plants will be of the low-water demand type suitable for a mountain environment, he said. Aspen and oak trees are envisioned, as well as other indigenous plants and mountain grasses, he said.

The structure will center on a main worship area and mutli-purpose room with seven rooms to one side that include an office for the bishop and church clerk, and a kitchen. On the other side are three more rooms, a baptismal font and restrooms.

The church falls under the Ruidoso Ward of the Alamogordo New Mexico District.

Local contractors pass on health office bidding; project finally awarded

BY DIANNE STALLINGS
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

Despite the personal efforts of one Lincoln County commissioner to drum up bidders, no local contractors submitted proposals for construction of a new public health office in Ruidoso.

The project was awarded to Longhorn Construction of Albuquerque at $186 per square foot for a base bid of $875,508, about $1,000 higher than the price submitted by another company two months ago.

Although he expressed reservations about the high cost per square foot, Commissioner Earl Hobbs offered the motion to award the bid, adding that county manager Tom Stewart be directed to "economize as he can."

The vote was unanimous with Commissioner Leo Martinez, who pushed for the third bid try, out of town attending the christening of his grandchild.

Unlike two other projects that commissioners sent back for a second time and ended up coming in with prices $86,000 lower than the first time around, commissioners didn't save money on the new building going up next to the county's existing substation on Kansas City Street.

The structure, being built for the state health agency, will include seven examination rooms, three offices, a laboratory, reception area, public conference/education room, four bathrooms, two consultation rooms, a children's waiting area and a central medical records room.

The structure consists of 4,183 square feet upstairs and 500-square feet of engineering equipment downstairs.

In July, the low bid was $855,977 from Williamson Construction, Stewart said. In August, the same company upped the price to $874,636. Two companies bid this time and Longhorn was low.

The county spent $65,757 in fees on the project and has budgeted another $744,007 in 2003-2004, Stewart said. The following year's budget will include $431,959 from $491,880 in federal funding, a $250,000 Community Development Block Grant, the $20,000 county match for that grant and $40,000 from the state Legislature, he said.

He estimated another $14,518 in architectural fees and earthwork on top of the base bid.

"We will need to add $146,018 (from the) general fund to complete the project," Stewart said. "That will leave the capital facility fund with a balance of $605,276, instead $751,000 calculated in the final budget calculation." That fund covers capital outlay requests such as patrol cars for the sheriff's office and is not surplus money, Stewart emphasized.

"As a final note, the county had asked for $190,000 in additional funds during the (January) state legislative session but only received $40,000," he said. "We had asked for the appropriate amount from the Legislature."

He said he'd like to see the project completed after 2 1/2 years of preparation. "It's the right thing to do," Stewart said.

He acknowledged that the commission is taking a risk by hoping to convince legislators to fund the remaining $146,000 next year.

"I think we kind of got a reputation the last few months for taking risks," said Commissioner Rick Simpson. "Let's just take another one."

Albert Esparsen, district director for the Department of Health, said he's been knocking on "lots of doors" to help generate support for more legislative funding next year.

Officials with the state Administrative Services office also said they would notify him of any unspent funding for 2003 that the county might access for the project.

"Forty percent of Lincoln County comes through that health office during the course of a year," he said. More people could be served with more space and staff, he said. A nurse practitioner may be able to expand from one day a week to being on staff the full week.

Hobbs said while it's obvious the employees of the public health office desperately need more space, he has "some real reservations about (the cost)."

The per square foot expense should have been about $125, he said. The county may need to look for some financial support on the project from municipalities whose residents use the public health clinic, he said. Just because some the money comes from a grant and the federal government, it's still taxpayers' dollars, Hobbs said.

He complained that Ruidoso's regulations also may financially impact the project. An additional impact is that if state money is used, state wages must be paid, adding 10 percent to 15 percent to the cost, Stewart said.

Simpson said the commission received pressure for local contractors to bid the project to keep the money in the county, but they had the same chance as the Albuquerque firms and didn't submit bids.

Stewart said one of the problems for contractors is that subcontractors wait until the last minute to submit their prices because material costs go up from day to day.

"It's interesting, frustrating and comical at times," he said.

"Why am I not laughing?," Simpson replied.

Carrizozo man dies in car wreck

BY DIANNE STALLINGS
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

A Carrizozo resident died in a head-on collision Friday when the car he was driving crossed the yellow line on U.S. 54.

Joe Otero, 35, was killed in the accident that occurred about 7:15 p.m. at mile marker 113, according to a report filed by investigation Officer Leonardo Ornelas of the New Mexico State Police.

Otero was heading north in his 1981 Chevrolet Citation when he hit a 1992 Mercury driven by Robert Gutierrez, 34, of Roswell, the officer reported. Gutierrez suffered chest injuries and was taken to a hospital in El Paso. His passenger, Joseph Montoya, 20, of Tularosa experienced chest, neck and head pain. He was treated and released from Gerald Champion Hospital in Alamogordo.

Two other cars were unable to stop in time and were damaged, but no one was injured, the officer reported. He wrote that it was unknown if alcohol was involved in the accident.

Volunteers sought for DWI council

BY DIANNE STALLINGS
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

Mayor Leon Eggleston is looking for more than a few good men and women to serve on the DWI Program Planning Council Committee.

He needs 15 volunteers.

They must represent different aspects of the problem dealing with drivers who get behind the wheel while under the influence of alcohol or drugs.

"I need recommendations for appointments," the mayor said during a village council meeting last week.

Two each must be representatives from the schools, of law enforcement, of the hospital, and of the medical community. Three must come from the judiciary and one each must represent the young people in the community, emergency management, alcohol counseling and public health organizations.

In other mayoral appointments:

- Karen Coffin was appointed to fill a vacancy on the village parks commission because of the resignation of Sue Kluthe.
- Valerie Chavez will serve on the village lodgers tax committee, replacing Sandra Davis, who resigned.
- Bobbie Weiss and Sandy Schiffman were selected to serve on the Community Center Committee with village manager Lorri McKnight and Councilor Ron Hardeman. Although listed in the memorandum on appointments, Peggy Jordan already is on the committee.

After a closed executive session, councilors voted unanimously to authorize the village staff to negotiate the acquisition of property "as discussed in executive session."

No other details were offered, but items under discussion for acquisition include water rights and property for a village special events and park area in mid-town.

Controlled burn planned today

More burning of previously cut piles of forest material is scheduled in Sawmill Canyon off Carrizo Canyon Road today.

Jay Esperance, fire management officer for the Smokey Bear Ranger District of the Lincoln National Forest, said the controlled burn is part of the wildland/urban interface fuel reduction program and the area behind Rainbow Lake RV Park will be closely monitored when the burn is completed.

Smoke may be visible, he said. The prescribed burn will be conducted only if weather conditions are favorable, he said.

OUR OPINION

Tinkering with taxes is a legislative job

The governor has municipalities in a tax tizzy

New Mexico municipalities over the years have become addicted to the gross receipts tax — that percentage added to almost every sales transaction from groceries to doctor bills.

Tourist towns like Ruidoso especially love those taxes; they add significantly to village coffers when the visitors arrive in droves, and the revenue can be used for the municipal budget long after the visitors have gone.

So the very thought of tinkering with those taxes (except for maybe raising them) sends cold chills up the spine of mayors and town managers and such.

That's why the governor's Blue Ribbon Tax Committee has cities, towns and villages across the state in a tizzy. There's talk about cutting the GRT on medical care and food, but for the first time adding them to charitable and non-profit it organizations (who really can't pass them along to buyers.)

Mayor Leon Eggleston reminded those Blue Ribbons last week that many towns have bonds secured with gross receipts taxes. Good point, and one that might change some minds.

For Ruidoso it's at least a $464,000 question — the estimated annual amount lost if groceries weren't taxed.

On the other hand, Gov. Bill Richardson seems determined to do something for the rank and file by leaving a bit extra in their wallets.

Nothing's final, of course. Happily, legislators, not Blue Ribbons, will have the final say.

Really homeless now that it's Paradise Lost

There is something on my mind this morning, and I am not looking for a chorus of "it's about time."

I get to thinking about the little, green Ford Ranger truck in my driveway. It's from the 1990s but does everything I need it to do. It gets me to the post office, to the newspaper rack each morning, occasionally takes a load of stuff from here to there.

LOOKING ASKANCE
NED CANTWELL

So why do I think about how I would really like one of those monster trucks on the Ford lot, one of those with plush seats, fancy sound systems, one of those shiny models that wouldn't fit in my garage? Why do I sometimes think of how I would like a newer, bigger house, more money to travel?

It's because I am not homeless. Homeless. Those people who sometimes don't smell so good. Those people you pass on the city street but avert your eyes in embarrassment. The guy who holds out a cup, and you put in a buck and somehow feel a little smug.

Why, these are people who could achieve the American dream if they would just pull themselves up by the bootstraps. It's not our fault they were born disabled or mentally disturbed. Not a solitary useful thought in their heads, poor souls.

Toby Smith changed my thinking a bit. Toby is a reporter for the Albuquerque Journal. When fire wiped out much of the bosque this summer, threatening the homes of the affluent, it also destroyed the dwellings of the homeless, as Toby writes... "huts made of branches, long lean-tos, shower curtain shelters and tarpaulin tents tucked deep into thickets."

Smith's touching story, "Paradise Lost," did not concentrate on the reactions of the well to do with their Lexus and their BMWs and their Mercedes. He talked with the "river rats" who had lost their homes.

What meaningful observations could such people possibly offer? Maybe more than their materialistic neighbors.

Meet Reed Nolan. Nolan is 41. His Bosque dwelling was his castle. "I like to sit on the edge of the river and read my Bible. I had a three-man tent I bought at Target, an Eddie Bauer. It was really nice. It had two doors, for better ventilation."

Writer Smith introduces us to one of Nolan's neighbors, Val Manuel, 44. He would bunk in the brush on the east side of the Rio Grande. "If you like the outdoors, it's a great life," Manuel told Smith. "I watched beavers gnaw down a big ol' cottonwood. I seen bats skimming the top of the river at dusk. I seen pheasants, quail, bullsnakes, muskrats, wild turkeys. I used to catch catfish, but I wouldn't eat one now."

"You could always tell the bosque people. We'd be walking into the city from the west," Manuel said. 'River rats,' people called us."

Sometimes, when I think about wanting more, more of this, more of that, more stuff, I once again read Toby Smith's "Paradise Lost." And I look out the window of my comfortable home at the little, green Ford Ranger in the driveway. It looks pretty nice.

Why can't Leo Martinez even get a second?

To the editor:

Our president and the president of Russia meet to communicate and agree on questions concerning both countries.

By contrast, Lincoln County's commission meets and refuses to communicate or discuss a motion made by a Ruidoso commissioner. This action was the refusal to second a motion made by Leo Martinez. This was unfortunate – bordering on stupidity.

Where is the leadership? (Both in the county and in Ruidoso.)

For those of us with business experience, we know that to second a motion is routine, simply because it is a way to learn the details of a motion being made. It is common sense to second a motion, to listen to comments, and then to vote. So, what is Martinez's problem? Simply put, he happens to be on the county's "hit list." His motion would fail a second if it included a visit to the bathroom. The county chairman could have handled the situation merely by asking that a second be made to Martinez's motion, which was to have a quarterly meeting in Ruidoso.

The motion is based on logical facts: Ruidoso, with about half the county's population and taxes, is entitled to the meeting.

It would reduce the large number of items which appear at the Carrizozo meeting and would save Ruidosans from driving over 70 miles to attend a meeting. Commissioner Hobbs and St. John, representing areas in and around Ruidoso, should align with Martinez in his efforts to open up lines of communication between Ruidoso and Lincoln County. This should happen or voters should look elsewhere at election time.

Communication and understanding between Lincoln County and Ruidoso would have a positive effect in solving a number of mutual problems which, at present, are receiving only lip service. Consider:

1. A county-wide plan concerning the availability of water.

2. A county plan of handling our jail population – a study of our jail dispatching.

3. A study of solid waste handling to reduce costs and improve service.

4. Build a community center to serve all of the citizens of Lincoln County. Cooperation between Lincoln County on these items saves money, provides good service and shortens discussions.

We should remember the time when Wilton Howell was a county commissioner and we had monthly meetings of the county in Ruidoso. All went well, and we lost a great man when we lost Wilton.

Meetings in Ruidoso will be a great start to establishing a line of communication between Ruidoso and Lincoln County. It can be done. All we have to do is get off the seat of our pants and do it. A motion made deserves a second — to do otherwise is self-defeating and not in the taxpayer's interest.

Those gasoline prices...

To the editor:

The letter to the editor in the Oct. 1 edition by Don Ludwig, Alto, regarding gasoline prices in the Ruidoso area is absolutely correct. We in this area appear to be getting gouged... I drive frequently to the Albuquerque airport, and noticed the big difference in gasoline prices between that area and Ruidoso/Alto. During the last trip, a week ago, the price difference was 18 cents per gallon for premium. I for one would like to hear the merchants' side of the story and the justification for the large difference. It certainly does not cost 18 to 24 cents per gallon to drive a tank truck from Albuquerque to Ruidoso. I would think other merchants' costs would be less in this area than in a larger city.

What's to happen in Hondo?

To the editor:

As a regular user of the Hondo La Casa de Buena Salud clinic, I regret our (county) commissioners' actions that took place behind the back of Commissioner Leo Martinez.

I would also like to add my distaste for them all. La Casa Buena Salud had made the same bid as PHS! It is a mystery why you would want everyone to go through so many unwanted changes.

The doctors ... in Ruidoso are not willing to see low-income patients. So I went to Hondo because Carrizozo was not open to any more new patients at the time.

I now have to change my plans for future visits and drive the extra miles to Roswell to see my doctor.

How are we even to know that this new arrangement will work for us? What is to become of the staff at the Hondo clinic? What makes their livelihood so different from those in the Carrizozo clinic?

Yes, I understand that we all have choices, but mine has been taken away from me.

Any takers on this one?

To the editor:

We now read that Phase 3 water restrictions have been extended, the Eagle Creek wells are now down to to less than 1,000 gallons per minute when they are not sucking air, Eagle Creek and Alto Reservoir have been dry for several, or more, years, Grindstone Reservoir is 19 feet below the spillway, and the village has used more than 209 water rights that should have been conserved to this point.

Our politicians are now wanting the residents to use their gray water and collect rainwater from our roofs. In spite of all this, would you want to bet that our politicians would deny the 100-plus condominium complex now under consideration?

We cannot let our water situation impede unbridled growth.

Waste water board to discuss EPA meeting as deadline nears

By Dianne Stallings
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

The results of a meeting with officials from the federal Environmental Protection Agency's district office in Dallas and representatives of Ruidoso and Ruidoso Downs will be the focus the regular meeting of the Regional Waste Water Treatment Plant Joint Use Board, set for 10 a.m. Thursday.

A special executive session was declared on Tuesday because the number of board members traveling together to Dallas constituted a quorum and they planned on discussing related business during the session with EPA officials.

The closed meeting on threatened or pending litigation regarding the plant's operating permit will be the first item of business at the regular meeting. The village of Ruidoso and the city of Ruidoso Downs are partners in the plant situated north of U.S. 70.

The EPA set a January 2004 deadline for the two entities to comply with new and stricter phosphorus level standards – a deadline that can't be met and could result in the entities being fined for each day of non-compliance.

Millions of dollars of changes are needed at the plant to treat at a higher level, and officials with the two municipalities submitted an alternate plan that would extend the deadline and allow them to test points along the Ruidoso River to identify pollution points. That testing already has started.

The waste water partners contend it would be less costly and more effective to work on reductions in sources of pollution than to concentrate on removal of phosphorus at the plant. For the health of the river, it's also important to identify any sources of pollution that may occur below the plant, they say.

Other items on the agenda include review of a time line for compliance with new phosphorus standards set by EPA based on state Environment Department guidelines, and discussion and possible action on a request for a variance from the ED on the permit and on stream standard from the Water Quality Control Board.

TECHNOLOGY TRAINING

SANDY SUGGITT/STAFF

Two representatives of App'e Computers led 32 Ruidoso school teachers through the uses of their new mobile wireless labs — one for the middle school and one for the intermediate school, with 25 laptops in each. The labs were funded by a $65,000 State Department of Education, Enhancing Education Through Technology grant, and the workshop meets requirements for professional development.

Man cited after hitting two pedestrians during Aspenfest parade

By Sandy Suggitt
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

The driver of a Harley Davidson motorcycle hit two teenage pedestrians during the Aspenfest Parade Oct. 4.

At 10:43 a.m. near the intersection of Sudderth Drive and Wingfield Street, Timothy Bondurant, 48, of Ruidoso, reportedly revved his engine, accelerating, and hit first a male pedestrian, then a female pedestrian, and then the back of a truck.

Both pedestrians were transported to Lincoln County Medical Center, where they were treated for minor bruises and scrapes, the police report states. The motorcycle received slight damage to the gas tank and headlight cover.

Bondurant told police "he was accelerating when traffic in front of him was slowing or stopping."

He was cited for reckless driving and not having valid insurance.

Ruidoso Chief of Police Lanny Maddox said the motorcyclist had been warned by police officers not to rev his engine while locking his brakes, but he did it anyway.

Corporal Charlie Wolf stated in his report on the accident that when he arrived, the 15-year-old female was lying on the ground in front of the motorcycle and emergency personnel were preparing her for transport to the hospital. She was X-rayed at the hospital and she and the 17-year-old male were both released.

Wolf said later that Bondurant was not arrested because officers "still had to ensure everyone else's safety, and taking another officer off his post during the parade" could have endangered others.

Maddox said that "the officers were tied up keeping everybody else safe and the damage had already been done. He failed to heed prior instructions before the accident, and that's why he was written up for reckless driving, Maddox said.

"I have a real problem with the state's policy of allowing drivers without insurance to drive away in that uninsured vehicle, but there's a provision through a statute that allows them to do that and we are required to comply with that," Maddox said.

DOWNS POLICE

Child abuse arrest

Ruidoso Downs police arrested Armando Salazar, 37, of Ruidoso Downs, on Sept. 30, charging him with child abuse.

DWI charged

Police arrested Gerald Sandoval, 52, of Ruidoso Downs on Sept. 22, charging him with driving under the influence of intoxicating beverages.

Bicycle gone

A resident in the 200 block of Wright Lane reported on Oct. 2 that a girl's blue Roadmaster bicycle was stolen.

Domestic arrests made

After responding to a call about a domestic incident Sept. 30 on Turkey Canyon Road, police arrested Armando Salazar, 37, charging him with child abuse, and Juan Salas, 67, charging him with battery. Both are from Ruidoso Downs.

RUIDOSO POLICE

DWI, weapon arrest

Ruidoso police arrested Jacob L. Graham, 23, of Ruidoso Oct. 4 at Sudderth Drive and Junction Road, charging him with aggravated driving under the influence of intoxicating beverages, negligent use of a deadly weapon and failing to obey a traffic control device. The officer observed Graham's vehicle go through a red light, and after he stopped the vehicle he saw a loaded rifle in the front seat.

Public intoxication

Police arrested Lorenzo J. Aragon, 40, of Mescalero, Oct. 4 at 410 West Highway 70, charging him with disorderly conduct/public intoxication after finding him sleeping in the entranceway of the post office.

Disorderly conduct

Charles Robert Somerville, 37, of Roswell, was arrested Oct. 4 in Pine Tree Square and charged with possession of one ounce or less of marijuana, concealing his identification and disorderly conduct. The report stated that he was swaying side to side while walking, gave a false name and swore at the officers at the time of arrest and during booking.

Driving arrest

Police arrested Robert Edward Guzman, 38, of Mescalero, on Oct. 3 at Highway 70 and Mescalero Drive, charging him with presenting false evidence of registration, no light on the license plate, vehicle not registered, driving with a suspended or revoked license and having an open container in the vehicle. The license plate was assigned to a different vehicle and person and the registration sticker information appeared to be written by hand with a marker to read "expiration date 11/03" when the plate had expired December 2002.

Household battery

Marlon Dow Coffman, 45, of Lubbock, Texas, was arrested Oct. 5 in the parking lot of the Holiday Inn Express, 400 West Highway 70, and charged with battery against a household member.

Stolen car, hit and run

Russell W. Palmer, 34, of Capitan, was charged with unlawful taking of a motor vehicle and failure to give information and render aid after an accident.

At 12:36 a.m. on Oct. 1, while the vehicle's owner was paying for gas he'd pumped at Club Gas, 1137 Mechem Drive, he saw his truck driving south on Mechem Drive.

The police report states that Palmer allegedly ran into the back of a vehicle at Sudderth and Eagle drives at 1:05 a.m., and left the scene without giving proper notification to occupants of the other vehicle or to the police. One hour later, a Sheriff's Office deputy found the vehicle at the intersection of Highways 37 and 48. Both the stolen and the hit vehicle incurred minor damage to their bumpers, and no one was injured.

Un-comfort-able man

Police arrested Adrian Brent Maldonado, 38, of Ruidoso Downs, Oct. 3 at the Comfort Inn, 2709 Sudderth Drive, charging him with disorderly conduct. A caller stated that an intoxicated male was on a bench outside the building, the report states.

Girl beaten up

A 15-year-old female student was reported beaten up in the restroom at Ruidoso Middle School after band color guard practice Sept. 30, according to police reports. The victim suffered a contusion above the temple, bruises on the neck, shoulder, lower back and knee. As of Tuesday morning, no charges had been made.

House damaged

Criminal damage was reportedly done to a residence in the 100 block of Old Lincoln Road between noon Sept. 24 and 2 p.m. Oct. 1, when two windows were broken, a 3-foot by 5-foot window valued at $800 and a 3-foot by 2-foot window, value unknown. Nothing appeared to have been stolen from the residence, the report states.

Caught red-handed?

While investigating a report of vandalism and graffiti Oct. 5 in the Hawthorn Suites area, 107 Sierra Blanca Drive, officers found rusty, dangling wires from which a Rainbird sprinkler controller had been removed. On Oct. 3, police investigated the spray painting of a pickup truck, building and sign owned by the Hubbard Foundation. They found cans of paint that had been taken from a tool box.

"The suspects appeared to have painted their shoes in the driveway," the report states. The officer followed the painted shoe prints to one of the suspects' porch and found a 10-year-old suspect with paint on his hands and clothing, who subsequently led him to a 9-year-old suspect. Juvenile referrals were filed with the Juvenile Probation Office.

Dummy missing

Someone reportedly stole a mannequin from in front of a business at 1102 Sudderth drive between 5 p.m. Sept. 26 and 8 a.m. Sept. 29.

Cell phones roaming

A Motorola cell phone valued at $300 was taken from the dash board of a vehicle when the owner went into McDonald's, 144 Sudderth Drive, for five minutes.

Also, a waitress of Farley's Restaurant, 1200 Mechem Drive, reported that she left her cell phone on the bar at 11 a.m. Oct. 4, and at 6:45 p.m. it was gone.

Electronics taken

A house was broken into in the 100 block of Wilshire Road between Sept. 1 and Oct. 4, according to police reports. An attempt was made to pry between the door and the deadbolt, then the door was kicked. A VCR and stereo-CD-amp combo was stolen.

EDUCATION BRIEFS

A qualified teachers

By state and federal definition, Ruidoso Municipal Schools has all "highly qualified teachers," meaning that all classroom teachers are fully licensed by New Mexico standards.

"We consistently search for highly qualified employees in all positions and we are proud of the fact that our teaching staff has one of the highest ratings for training and experience in the state," said Superintendent Gail Wickstrom.

Annually the federal law – No Child Left Behind – requires that parents and community be notified about the qualifications of classroom teachers. Parents may request information from the Ruidoso schools about their children's teachers. They may ask whether the teacher has met state licensing criteria, whether the teacher is teaching under emergency or other provisional status, the degree major of the teacher, whether a child is provided services by instructional assistants, and if so, their qualifications.

Parents seeking this information may contact Ruidoso Schools at 257-4051.

Substitute teachers

Ruidoso schools are in need of substitute teachers for elementary and secondary classrooms when full-time teachers are absent. Substitute applications are accepted during working hours at 200 Horton Circle. For information call 257-4051. Retired teachers are welcomed.

Ruidoso Schools, like other New Mexico districts, licenses substitutes to work in the classroom during teachers' absences. To become a licensed elementary sub, one must be over 18 years of age and have graduated from high school as well as meet two of the criteria below:

- Must have observed classroom teaching for three or more hours.
- Must have completed a substitute teacher workshop.
- Must have performed at least three hours of substitute work for pay or as a volunteer.
- Must have completed at least 60 hours of college credit.
- Must be enrolled in an accredited college teacher preparation program.
- Must possess a current teaching license from a state other than New Mexico.

To be a licensed secondary sub, one must be over 21 years of age and meet the same requirements as above. Ruidoso Schools conducts the substitute teacher workshops approximately every month.

Substitutes are paid $50 daily or $57 daily with a BA degree.

Teacher workshop due

A special weekend workshop for public school educators will address the education of indigenous or native people Oct. 10-12 at Eastern New Mexico University-Ruidoso, 709 Mechem Drive.

The one-credit course is designed for teachers with large Native American student enrollments. Topics to be covered include school operations, leadership, community relations, cultural and language influences, school report cards and others, and parts of the Public Law 107-110, the No Child Left Behind Act of 2001.

Registration can be by phone, fax in-person or online. The course begins at 4 p.m. Friday, Oct. 10 and ends at 2 p.m. on Sunday, Oct. 12.

For more information or to register, call the ENMU offices at (505) 257-2120.

Mescalero gets grant

Mescalero Apache School was awarded $300,500 to support the school's programs intended to decrease dropout rates.

Provided through the U.S. Department of Education, the funds will be used to provide financial assistance for projects that develop, test and demonstrate the effectiveness of services and programs aimed to improve the educational opportunities and achievement of preschool, elementary and secondary students. The school will implement an educational program with the goal to decrease the drop out rate and increase the number of students who pursue a post-secondary education.

U.S. Sen. Jeff Bingaman, D-N.M., worked to enact a major education reform bill that includes a number of provisions he authored to set up a coordinated approach to deal with the issue. The No Child Left Behind Act signed into law January 2002 includes a Bingaman-authored provision that makes reducing the drop out rate a national priority by creating a national clearinghouse for the most effective drop out prevention practices.

Charter school extended

Sidney Gutierrez Middle School in Roswell became the state's first charter school to receive a five-year extension of its charter, commencing with the 2004-2005 school year. Roswell Independent Schools granted the extension in September. The school is among 11 charter schools that are seeking charter renewals from their local districts this year.

This exemplifies "the positive relationship that exists between the charter school and its authorizing district," said Michael A. Kaplan, director of the New Mexico State Department of Education's Alternative Education Unit.

The school, named for astronaut Sidney M. Gutierrez, the first native New Mexican to command a space shuttle, began operations in August 2001 for a three-year term. The school serves about 60 students in grades 6-8. Each grade has only one class, with a maximum of 20 students per grade.

The school provides a unique middle school environment that emphasizes technology-based tools, Core Knowledge curriculum aligned with New Mexico's academic content standards and benchmarks and community participation and involvement. Classes emphasize thematic, project-based and discovery learning methodologies. The school's students develop skills that support and enhance their academic achievements.

The charter school was rated as "exceeds standards" for the 2003-2004 school year.

The other charter schools seeking renewals include Amy Biehl Charter High School, East Mountain High School, 21st Century Charter School and South Valley Academy in Albuquerque; Amistad Charter School in Clayton; San Diego Riverside Charter School in the Jemez Valley; Academy for Technology and the Classics, Monte del Sol Charter School and Turquoise Trail Elementary School in Santa Fe; and Taos Municipal Charter School in Taos.

Consider the Alternative

BY SANDY SUGGITT
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

Ruidoso's alternative school is in its 10th year now, educating students ages 11 to 18 and providing counseling and self-paced, individualized learning.

Paul Wirth, now principal at the high school, was director of instructional support at the time Gavilan Canyon School started up. Patty White now oversees the program and staff of two teachers, a social worker and psychologist, office manager and tutors.

"It is considered a temporary placement. We try to work with specific behaviors or problems and get the students back to the regular classroom as soon as possible," White said. "Ideally they're not going to be there all four years, and they do accumulate credits that will transfer back to the high school."

Students are referred there, she said, because of behavior so disruptive that it interferes with their academic progress and that of other students. Some may be returning to school from treatment and need Gavilan Canyon School as a transition to make their return to school more successful. The school now has 13 students, but most years it maxes out at its capacity of 20 students before the school year is over.

Barry Nelson and Guillermo Maldonado are the lead teachers, Nelson teaching the high school-aged students and Maldonado the younger ones. They teach the students reading, writing and math, communication skills, personal management — setting personal and career goals, creative thinking and problem-solving skills, interpersonal and team skills and social and organizational skills.

Intensive therapy and counseling are provided for students and their families. Parental involvement is required for enrollment in the school.

Nelson said about 10 percent of a school population will need alternative educational services in some form or fashion, and that Gavilan Canyon School is classified as a day treatment center.

"We service lots of different levels of kids, from high school kids earning credits to special education students," Nelson said. "A lot of high school kids have been sick or got behind on their credits and can catch up here," because of self-paced, individualized study plans.

Upstairs, a large room is used for group teaching of English, social studies and science classes, for visiting lecturers and for viewing historical movies. The school has many audiovisual aids, books on tape and 10 computers with reading programs.

Maldonado acts as activities director and ensures that there are plenty of field trips for the students. They've gone rappelling, panning for gold and doing "the ropes" at Lone Tree Bible Camp to overcome fears and learn how to work together to overcome problems. They've taken CPR training, gone horseback riding, bowling and visited Carlsbad Caverns. On Oct. 17, they'll be visiting the cave at Fort Stanton, Maldonado said.

"We do a lot of different activities with the purpose of training them how to get along and work together," he said.

"We take them to lunch as a group for a social event to learn social skills," Nelson said. "A lot of this is about exposure. We try to expose them to as many new experiences as they can get. One year they went to Mexico and helped build some homes for families. We built and sold a shed and built a greenhouse."

Some students may be shuttled to the middle school or high school for a class or two, White said, either because Gavilan Canyon School doesn't offer it or to help students move back into regular classes.

"We use those facilities to transition them slowly instead of just bringing them out of one school and into another," Nelson said. "We might give them one or two classes, and then work up to three and then go for a full transition."

Becky Beeler, the school psychologist, said she tries to make her counseling unobtrusive, and teaches the students as well.

"It's an integral part of the whole program," she said. "We're all counselors, teachers, parents, cooks, janitors and trailblazers."

Culler, Huston display works at Carrizozo Schools

Barbara Culler is talented when it comes to quilling as well.

BY JULIE CARTER
FOR THE RUIDOSO NEWS

The Carrizozo Schools administration building board room has seen a change in the art work featured. The art rotations are part of a project to feature local artists using different mediums.

For the month of October the water color renderings of Carrizozo's Barbara Culler will adorn the walls. Culler is often known for her delicate quilling work she features at shows and in shops. But Barbara was first and is still a very talented artist with a paint brush.

Also featured this month is the bronze sculpture art of Sam Huston. Most often recognized as a locally stationed State Policeman, Sam is also a talented self-taught bronze artist. His work leans to the hunting and cowboy side of life with several sculptures featuring his children. Sam's work will be featured in an upcoming Vàmonos. Watch for it there.

The art will be open to viewing during school hours. This display of art work will be available to see until Nov. 1.

This is one of Barbara Culler's paintings currently hanging in the Carrizozo Schools Administration Building. Her work, as well as the sculptures of area artist Sam Huston, will be on display through the month of October and can be viewed during school hours.

The hidden fifth of 4-H clubs

BY VELMA WARD
SPECIAL TO THE RUIDOSO NEWS

This is the first of two columns celebrating Oct. 5-11 as National 4-H Week.

In the late 1890s and the early 1900s, agriculture in the United States was experiencing a period of depression. Families that had been in the agricultural industry for generations were losing their youth to the work forces of the cities and metropolitan areas.

The Department of Agriculture was experiencing an all-time high in technological advances in the agriculture field. The problem with this paradox was the farmers and livestock growers. The generation in charge had the idea that they could not learn anything because they already knew it all.

In order to put the new technology into practice, the Department of Agriculture targeted the rural youth. In collaboration with the land grant universities established in each state, the Department of Agriculture invested a lot of time and money to bring agricultural improvements and technology to rural areas. The railroad was their tool. Trains crisscrossed the nation, bringing knowledge of livestock, crop production and food preservation techniques. Boys and Girls Clubs were established with parents as volunteer leaders and educators providing appropriate educational materials. These were the forerunners of today's 4-H clubs. The original clubs included pig, corn, tomato and canning clubs.

The 4-H pledge

I pledge my HEAD to clearer thinking,
My HEART to greater loyalty,
My HANDS to larger service,
And my HEALTH to better living,
for my club, my community, my country and my world.

The train arrived in New Mexico in 1912. The train carried livestock and farm exhibits, and specialists of the New Mexico Agricultural College gave educational talks. Demonstrations and special sessions were held and where there was active interest, clubs were organized. In 1913, there were 33 organized clubs. In 1918, under the stress of the emerging war, enrollment reached 4,181 members. Since that time, the 4-H program has barreled into the nation's largest youth organization with New Mexico enrollment in 2002 coming to 54,398 members and 4,010 adult leaders.

Even as early as the 1900s, the 4-H program was based on the theory of "Learning By Doing" which was later established as the 4-H slogan. In 1907 or 1908 the first emblem used nationwide was a three-leaf clover standing for head, heart and hands. In 1911 it was changed to the four-leaf clover and it was suggested that the fourth H stand for "hustle." That was later changed to health as we know it today. The 4-H emblem is protected under 18 U.S.C. 707.

The 4-H colors have special significance. Green is nature's most common color and is symbolic of springtime, life and youth. White symbolizes purity and high ideals. The mission of 4-H is to help young people become self-directing, productive and contributing members of society. Adult volunteers in the 4-H program also find themselves growing, learning and becoming more productive as a result of being involved with the youth.

The 4-H emblem has not added a fifth leaf to the clover, but in my mind's eye, there is a fifth H that symbolizes the HOPE that these youth bring to our club, our communities, our country and our world. For more information on becoming a 4-H member or volunteering, call County Extension at (505) 648-2311 or Velma Ward at (505) 354-3217.

Evangelist coming to Mountainair

BY JULIE CARTER
FOR THE RUIDOSO NEWS

The Christian Center in Mountainair will be hosting special services with Reverend Glen Shinn of Fort Worth, Texas.

This Friday, Saturday and Sunday Shinn will be holding revival services. Shinn is an active crusader in organizations and churches all over American. He is also a popular speaker on radio and television.

As an evangelist, Shinn has traveled throughout the U.S., Europe, Asia and many parts of the world for over twenty-five years. He presents a message of joy, one of peace and victory through the person of the Lord Jesus Christ. Shinn delivers his message with humor and an easy going style enjoyed by every denomination.

The services will be at 7 p.m. on Friday and Saturday nights and 10 a.m. on Sunday. The church is located on U.S. 60 in the center of town. For more information call 847-2773.

Radio station nets grant

■ KEDU is raring to go, but still needs some volunteers, officials say.

BY DIANNE STALLINGS
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

Community radio KEDU received a major financial boost for the efforts of supporters to put the station on the air.

Lynn Ditto, field representative for U.S. Sen. Jeff Bingaman, D-N.M., notified station officials that $42,796 was awarded through the Public Telecommunications Facilities Program and an acceptance package should be on its way to station manager Harvey Twite and project director Dick Weber. The station is under the wing of Fort Stanton Inc., headed by Tony Hoffman.

"This is a matching grant," Twite said Thursday. "For every dollar we put in they put in the same."

The money will be used strictly to pay for equipment, he said.

Volunteers of all sorts are needed by the Community Radio Group in preparation for the opening day of the new publicly-owned radio station.

"If you have always been fascinated with radio and have an interest in being part of this new grass-roots media effort, the station is looking for volunteers willing to donate a few hours of time on a daily or weekly basis," Twite said.

Expertise or a willingness to learn is needed in grant writing, reception, bookkeeping, copy writing, public relations activities, membership assistance, even promotion, on-air voicing, show talent, housekeeping, electronic repair and to handle errands, he said.

For more information, contact Twite at (505) 630-5000.

Well, well, well, you think your well water is well? You'd do well to test it

BY DIANNE STALLINGS
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

Residents who want their well water tested can bring samples to a demonstration by the New Mexico Environment Department, set for Oct. 20 at Two Rivers Park in Ruidoso.

From 1 p.m. to 4 p.m., staff from the state Ground Water Quality Bureau will perform free testing of well water to detect contaminants.

The samples must be at least one quart in volume, freshly taken from a cold water faucet and be brought in a covered, clean glass or plastic container.

Representatives from the Surface Water Quality Bureau of the NMED will demonstrate surface water sampling from 2 p.m. to 3 p.m.

They will review various types of water quality monitoring techniques, including chemical, which looks at water chemistry; biological, which examines fish and aquatic insects; and physical, which looks at how the river functions. They will discuss the purpose of studying water quality and the quality concerns identified in the watershed.

Participants are asked to bring plenty of water, lunch and sun protection. The park is located at the corner of Sudderth Drive and Robyn Street.

For more information or to arrange a field demonstration or free private well water testing in other areas, contact Julie Arvidson in the surface water quality bureau at P.O. Box 26110, Santa Fe, NM 87502, or call (505) 476-3069, or by e-mail at julie_arvidson @nmenv.state.nm.us.

The Surface Water Quality Bureau Web site is http://www.nmenv.state.nm.us /swqb/swqb.html.

FUNERALS DEATHS

Joe Otero

A prayer service for Joe Otero, 35, of Carrizozo will be at 7 p.m. today at Santa Rita's Catholic Church, where the funeral Mass will be at 10 a.m. on Thursday, with burial to follow at Our Lady of Guadalupe Catholic Cemetery.

Mr. Otero died Friday, Oct. 3, 2003, between Carrizozo and Tularosa.

He had lived there all of his life.

He was a member of Santa Rita's Catholic Church.

Survivors include his mother and stepfather Virginia and Manuel Carabajal of Carrizozo; his father, Jake Chaves, of Capitan; a brother, Larry Marlin, of Carrizozo; and a sister, Denise "Nene" Swift, of Carrizozo.

Arrangements are under the direction of LaGrone Funeral Chapel of Ruidoso.

Celia Montoya

A funeral Mass for Celia Sanchez Montoya, 74, of Tularosa will be at St. Jude's Catholic Church in San Patricio at 10 a.m. today, with burial to follow at St. Jude's Catholic Church.

Celia Montoya

Mrs. Montoya died Sunday, Oct. 5, 2003, at her home in Tularosa.

She was born July 19, 1929, in San Patricio, and lived all of her life in Lincoln and Otero counties.

She was a retired nurse from the Fort Stanton Hospital. She was a member of St. Francis de Paul in Tularosa.

Survivors include sons Jerry Montoya of Mountainair, Jimmy Montoya of Las Cruces, Manuel Montoya Jr. and his wife, Nancy, of Albuquerque, Rueben Montoya, Carlos Montoya, Michael Montoya of Tularosa, Henry Montoya of Belen and Larry Montoya of Tularosa; a daughter, Virginia Maes, and her husband, Juan, of Tularosa; sisters Erminia Gallegos of Alamogordo, Eva Kimbrell of Ruidoso Downs, Magdelena Montano of San Patricio, and Precilla Sanchez of Weatherford, Texas; brothers Pat Sanchez of Ruidoso, and Danny Sanchez and Melvin Sanchez of San Patricio; 21 grandchildren; and 36 great-grandchildren.

She was preceded in death by a daughter, Mary Helen Montoya.

Arrangements are under the direction of LaGrone Funeral Chapel of Ruidoso.

Finis F. Westbrook

A graveside service for Finis F. Westbrook, 82, a lifetime resident of the Concho Valley and prominent rancher in Sterling county, was held at 2 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 1, in Foster Cemetery in Sterling City, Texas, officiated by Kary Rawlings.

Mr. Westbrook died Monday, Sept. 29, 2003, at his home.

Finis Westbrook

Mr. Westbrook, age 81, was born on Oct. 9, 1921, the son of Finis and Hazel Westbrook of Brady, Texas.

He graduated from Sterling City High School and attended San Angelo College.

He married his love, Mary Lou Foster, Aug. 6, 1943. Together, they raised their two children on the Sterling Creek Ranch.

Mr. Westbrook was a veteran of World War II, a life member of the National Rifle Association, and an avid supporter of the Sterling County Livestock Show. He was a 50-year member of the Masonic Lodge, served on the Sterling County School Board, the Sterling County Hospital Board, and was a member of the Sheep and Goat Raisers and Texas and Southwestern Cattleraisers Associations.

His family and friends will remember him as a courageous man with a kind heart and giving spirit.

Survivors include his wife, Mary Lou; a daughter, Janet, and her husband, Michael Underwood, of Elizabeth, Colo.; a son, Robert, and his wife, Carrie Westbrook, of San Angelo, Texas; grandchildren Phillip Windle and his wife, Karie, Misty Robinson, Sam Underwood and Emily Westbrook; great-grandchildren Hailey, Zachery and Max; and special friends Pennye Zentner and Sue Curtis.

The family suggests memorials to the West Texas Boys Ranch or a special charity of choice.

The family would like to extend a special thank-you to Dr. Johnny French.

Mimi Nell

Visitation for Mimi Nell, 54, of Ruidoso, was Monday at Franklin-Bartley Funeral in Lubbock, Texas, with a graveside service on Tuesday at the City of Lubbock Cemetery and a memorial service at St. Luke's United Methodist Church, with the Rev. Lyndall Fletcher officiating and a reception following.

Mrs. Nell died Saturday, Oct. 4, at her home after a long battle with cancer.

She was born July 12, 1949, in Lubbock.

Graduating with honors from Texas Tech University, she taught HECE and CVAE at Dunbar High School. For the past several years, she taught HECE at Monterey High School. After 26 years of teaching in the LISD System, she and her husband, G.Q., retired and moved to Ruidoso.

Throughout her career, she sponsored leadership organizations and under her supervision students received many awards and honors at the regional, state and national levels. She was especially proud of a group that won a national award in parliamentary procedure. She served as state president of The Association of Trade and Industrial Teachers of Texas. She was a member of The Junior League of Lubbock where she chaired several committees.

Survivors include her beloved husband and soul mate, G.Q., who she married Dec. 22, 1995, in Lubbock; and family members Brian, Jessica and Braxton Teal of Dallas, Brandon Teal of Lubbock, Christi Dibrell of San Antonio, Texas, Mike and Monica Hutchison of McKinney, Texas, and Craig, Tiffany, Austin, Lauren and Cooper Nell of Lubbock.

The family suggests that memorials be made to the Ruidoso Home Care and Hospice, P.O. Box 2019, Ruidoso, NM 88355.

Cut defiance by demanding respect

QUESTION: My 6-year-old has suddenly become sassy and disrespectful in her manner at home. She told me to "buzz off" when I asked her to take out the trash, and she calls me names when she gets angry. I feel it is important to permit this emotional outlet, so I haven't tried to suppress it. Do you agree?

Dr. James Dobson
Focus on the Family
Universal Press Syndicate

DR. DOBSON: I'm afraid I don't. Your daughter is aware of her sudden defiance, and she's waiting to see how far you will let her go. If you don't discourage disrespectful behavior now, you can expect some wild experiences during her adolescent years.

With regard to your concern about emotional ventilation, you are right in believing that your daughter needs to express her anger. She should be free to say anything to you, provided it is said in a respectful manner. It is acceptable to say, "I think you love my brother more than me," or "You weren't fair with me, Mommy." There is a thin line between what is acceptable and unacceptable behavior at this point.

The child's expression of strong frustration, even resentment and anger, should be encouraged if it exists. You certainly don't want her to bottle it inside. On the other hand, you should not permit your daughter to resort to name-calling and open rebellion. "Mom, you hurt my feelings in front of my friends" is an acceptable statement. "You stupid idiot, why didn't you shut up when my friends were here?!" is obviously unacceptable.

If your daughter approaches you rationally, as described in the first statement, it would be wise for you to sit down and try to understand her viewpoint. You should be big enough to apologize to her if you were wrong. If you feel that you were right, however, you should calmly explain why you reacted as you did and tell your daughter how you both can avoid a collision next time. It is possible to ventilate feelings without sacrificing parental respect, and your child should be taught how to do it. This communicative tool will be very useful later in life, especially in marriage.

QUESTION: My wife and I are keenly aware of how difficult it is to be good parents, and at times we feel very inadequate to do the job. How does a mom or dad know what's best for a child from day to day?

DR. DOBSON: The most dedicated parents go through times when they fear they aren't responding properly to their children. They wonder if they're overreacting or underreacting, being too strict or too lenient. They suspect that they're making major mistakes that will haunt them later on. Fortunately, parents don't have to do everything right. We all make thousands of little mistakes – and a few big ones – that we wish we could reverse. But somehow, most kids roll with these blunders and come out just fine anyway.

Let me give you what I consider to be the key to good parenting. It is to learn how to get behind the eyes of your child, seeing what he sees and feeling what he feels. When you know his frame of mind, your response becomes obvious. For example, when he's lonely, he needs your company. When he's defiant, he needs your help in controlling impulses. When he's afraid, he needs the security of your embrace. When he's happy, he needs to share his laughter and joy with those he loves. Raising healthy children is not so much a science as it is a highly developed art, and most of us have the natural intuitive faculties to learn it.

Take the time to observe those kids who live in your house. If you tune in closely to what they say and do, the feelings behind those behaviors will soon become apparent. Then your reaction to what you've seen will lead to more confident parenthood.

Walking the walk important to faith

Some months ago, I wrote a column that perplexed some folks at this newspaper. Of course, I won't name names or even refer to the specific column. But, the issue was...should the column be on the op-ed page or on the religion page? I certainly understand the dilemma for the newspaper folk. But, I also must help people to understand that, for Christians, the relationship between the believer and his Lord affects every aspect of life. True faith in God can't be put in the closet six days a week and just brought out on Sunday.

Clary-fications
By Charles Clary
Ruidoso Pastor

In the Sermon on the Mount, Jesus gave instruction for the relationship to God that affects every moment of the believer's life, and for his relationship to others. For people who try to separate the practice of the Christian faith from the living of their day-to-day lives, the end result is hypocrisy. It's like that old country western song, "Live like hell on Saturday night, and go to church on Sunday." The Christian life, rightly lived, is not "either-or;" it is "both-and."

I have no problem with the concept of separation of church and state, but I have a big problem with the separation of Christian faith from Christian practice. It is Christians who give Christianity a bad name. Mohandas Gandhi, the great Indian leader, said, "If it weren't for Christians, I would be a follower of Jesus." He might have been taking a cop-out, but it is the difference between the lip and the life of Christians that desecrate Christ and the church.

For Christians who read this column, do not try to separate your business life, social life, family life, and so on, from your Christian life. The result is hypocrisy. For non-Christians, semi-Christians, and undecided folk, I want to help you understand those of us who follow Jesus. Our faith permeates every aspect of our lives, resulting in genuine love, honesty, compassion, peace, patience, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, gentleness, and self-control. Are we perfect? No! Are we hypocritical? Yes! At times, we are. But we know and will tell the world that Jesus is our help for today and our hope for tomorrow.

True love demands commitment of both

QUESTION: Why would it be wrong for my boyfriend and me to live together? We've both been married before and we're afraid we might be making a mistake if we got married now. We think living together for a few months might be the best way to find out if our relationship will really last. – D.W.

Billy Graham
My Answer
Tribune Media Services

ANSWER: I'm thankful you both realize marriage is a serious step, and that you don't want to repeat whatever mistakes you made in the past. But because marriage is so serious, I sincerely hope you won't start your marriage in the wrong way by first living together.

Let me explain why I say this. One reason is because the Bible is very clear: Any sexual relationship outside of marriage is wrong. The Bible says, "Marriage should be honored by all, and the marriage bed kept pure, for God will judge the adulterer and all the sexually immoral" (Hebrews 13:4). Don't take God's standards lightly!

But why does God say this? The reason is because He loves us, and He wants what is best for us. And God knows that when we confuse sex with love, we are only harming ourselves. Sex is an expression of love, but it isn't the same thing as love. In fact, living together could actually deceive you into thinking you were in love – when in reality you were only sexually infatuated.

Love – true love – involves a commitment to each other, and that commitment can only be fulfilled within the vows of marriage. Take the time and effort to get to know each other. Most of all, open your life to Christ, and seek His will for your future.

FULL-TIME MOM, PART-TIME VET

BY JULIE CARTER
FOR THE RUIDOSO NEWS

"I'd much rather be a part-time vet and full-time mom than the other way around."

Mary Jane Cooper, DVM
...and mother of two young daughters

Making some financial sacrifices to be a full-time stay-at-home Mom was not a hard decision for Mary Jane Cooper. It was the only decision for her. Stay-at-home Mom has a little different meaning for this full-time wife and mom and part-time veterinarian.

Dr. Cooper is a testimony to her Lincoln County roots. Mary Jane Ferguson Cooper is a 1984 Carrizozo Schools graduate, a 1989 New Mexico State University graduate with a degree in animal science, and a 1995 Colorado State University graduate in veterinary medicine.

In vet school, about 65 percent of the 125 students in her class were women. Mary Jane was a ranch-raised country girl, so not much about vet school surprised her. "It was very academic. When you needed to know something, or ask something, there was always someone there to answer your questions," she said.

Out in the real world it's a little different. "It's hard work physically and it's time consuming. There is no emergency backup and you are on call 24/7, whereas in school there were so many that someone was always available."

After graduation, Mary Jane came back to Lincoln County and went to work for Dr. Lynn Willard in Ruidoso. One of those real-world moments came when she answered an emergency call to doctor a cow. The owner was in his 90s. "It was just Fred and me at 9 at night out in this pasture trying to get this cow taken care of. The cow was not cooperating and I thought then, 'They didn't teach this in vet school.'"

Filling a need in the county, Mary Jane is one of the county's few "food animal" veterinarians. The high demand for vets to treat livestock is a nationwide situation that has vet schools now offering incentives to pursue the career. As do the other area large animal vets, she does her time treating small animals as well.

Cooper owns the Carrizozo Animal Clinic and is there one day a week to treat an assortment of shorter furry clientele.

In 1997 Mary Jane married a Lincoln County rancher, Jim Cooper, and they settled at the Cooper Ranch near Tinnie. After putting in more than four years of full-time veterinarian work, Mary Jane cut back to four days a week at Willard's clinic for the next 2 or 3 years. In the meantime, she and Jim were starting a family.

Joyce Ann Cooper was born in 2000. Mary Jane worked at the clinic four days a week until Joyce Ann was born then cut back to be home with her. When the baby was old enough to spend more time with Jim, they traded off keeping her with them and Mary Jane continued to practice on a limited basis.

"Emergency work is difficult and I knew I could not start a family and do this full time." In August 2001 Dr. Cooper purchased the Carrizozo Animal Clinic from Dr. Willard and made that her one day a week "in the office." She brought Joyce Ann with her to work, and now brings little "baby Kate." Kate was born in June of this year and has joined the family veterinary practice wherever Mom is working.

"I wanted to nurse my babies and I knew that meant they had to be with me." And that is what the Coopers do. When Mary Jane goes to a ranch to palpate cows, TB test, Bangs vaccinate or any of the assorted things that take place her kind of business, the girls go with her.

When there is a lot of work and a long day ahead, Jim will go with her and help not only with her work, but with the girls. When it's time to feed the baby, work stops for a "break" and Mary Jane and Kate spend some Mom and baby time in the pickup. Joyce Ann finds painting with Mom's cattle paint sticks a great pastime.

She's had all kinds of support from her family and it makes it work. When she was pregnant with Kate, her brother Matt Ferguson assisted her when she had patients that needed his physical strength. Her mom and dad, Anne and Wally Ferguson, help with the girls regularly.

"It's an unorthodox kind of vet job," she explains. "But I'd much rather be a part-time vet and full-time Mom than the other way around. Because of the remoteness of where we live, day- care hours and logistics would be a nightmare to fit around veterinary hours."

Of course the fact she has a one day a week job at the clinic doesn't mean she's not a busy vet. Being the family veterinarian keeps her on call more than not. "There is always one of my relatives or Jim's with a cow, sheep or a horse that needs attention. It's just part of it."

Early in their marriage Mary Jane and Jim made a decision to put their family first. Mary Jane feels like she has the best of both worlds. "I had the choice and am very lucky for that."

With a baby on her hip and a smile on her face, Dr. Cooper sets a high standard.

It seems everyone is going into different directions.

Jean and Don Redditt have been going to all the Episcopal chapels with the Ruidoso Boy Scouts selling popcorn.

The money raised goes to the summer camp so no boy is left out. They will be selling popcorn at other activities also.

Others are busy taking tests via the Internet, visiting family members, or having company.

The Mcarthur's and Pam's cousins went to the Lodge in Cloudcroft for their first visit.

They had a thoroughly good day and said the buffet was plentiful and delicious. The chef wanted to be sure they tried everything.

Freeman shows his mettle during Capitan win

BY MARTY RACINE
FOR THE RUIDOSO NEWS

And a freshman shall lead them.

The Alamogordo Tiger sophomores were supposed to be the young squad, but the youngest Tiger of them all took over the game when it most counted.

Capitan freshman Tillman Freeman, subbing for starting quarterback Stephen Silva, kept his poise and did just enough down the stretch to preserve a hard-fought 35-21 victory Saturday. The win improved Capitan's record to 2-3.

Silva was having his usual dominating game in the first half with 100 yards rushing, a scintillating punt return and a couple of touchdown passes before he went out with a twisted knee. When the Alamo running game got untracked in the second half, the visitors whittled a 28-7 halftime deficit to 28-21 early in the fourth quarter. By then the bigger, workmanlike 5A club controlled the line of scrimmage and its stable of running backs began to shake loose.

That's when Freeman sealed the deal. Following a Capitan fumble recovery at the Alamo 34, the youngster coolly found Weston Richardson for a 19-yard scoring strike to put the local Tigers up 35-21 and finish the scoring.

"Tillman came in and did a super job," Capitan coach Ed

Capitan opens district with losses

BY MARTY RACINE
FOR THE RUIDOSO NEWS

It didn't figure to begin like this.

Capitan's Lady Tiger volleyball team struggled to reach .500 in this year's early season schedule. When district play commenced, the reasoning went, the experienced and battle-tested defending state champs would rise to the occasion.

After their first two matches they are still grounded.

On Thursday the Lady Tigers lost the district opener at Tularosa 3-1 (25-22, 27-29, 25-17, 25-18). Two days later they recorded a stunning 3-1 home loss to Hatch (16-25, 25-14, 25-20, 25-14).

The nature of the Hatch loss was particularly unexpected. After cruising to an easy win in Game 1, Capitan dropped three straight to the Lady Bears.

Hatch showed remarkable poise in not only coming back from the opening game loss but in taking the boisterous crowd — which included an ad hoc cheerleading team of just-victorious Capitan football players — out of the match.

Capitan (6-7) appears to be working hard and coming on aggressively at the net, where their height and athleticism give them an advantage over most teams. Now it might be coming down to a matter of strategy, and head coach Sherry Gowen is pointing the finger at herself.

"There's some stuff I've been missing," she said. "I just need to do a better job of coaching, is what it boils down to."

That might seem a little harsh from a coach who has guided one of the more successful programs in the state, but X's and O's rather than effort or talent do seem to be making the difference.

"These girls are working their butts off for me, and there's some (situations) I'm missing," Gowen said. "This (past) weekend I looked at some basic stuff that we shouldn't have been doing on our blocks and on our passing and on our defense.

"I just need to coach."

Against Hatch, the Lady Tigers showed moments of brilliance, but the Lady Bears wore them down with a continuous display of superb saves and tenacious blocking.

Lady Warriors swept by Portales

BY CHARLI KRAUSE
FOR THE RUIDOSO NEWS

It could have been smooth sailing through district for the Lady Warrior netters, but they won the game that didn't count. Last week they crushed Santa Teresa in three games, and on Saturday lost their first District 4-3A match to Portales in three games.

The scores from the Santa Teresa game were 25-19, 25-12, and 27-25.

"They weren't as strong as they were last year, and we're a stronger team this year," said Lady Warrior coach Maria Bennett.

Santa Teresa was no match for the Lady Warrior defense, especially the strong net play from Jessica Gibson and Katie Coronado. Gibson also showed strength from the back row, sending some kills over. Surprise dumps from Christine Brown threw Santa Teresa off track. In the third game, Santa Teresa started to find some holes in Ruidoso's defense, and took the lead. The Lady Warriors promptly took the game back with a tip from Gibson and excellent serves from Ervina Herrera.

Portales wasn't a new adventure for the ladies. The rivals had faced each other in the Clovis Tournament, and the Lady Warriors had lost. Though they went into Saturday's game prepared, they came out with a 25-18, 26-24, 22-25 loss.

"The second game was a close one. We missed a serve and then

High drama has followed the Ruidoso soccer team of late.

A week after winning their first District 4-3A/1A game against Hatch in double overtime, the Warriors traveled to Clovis and played the Class 5A Wildcats to another double-overtime deadlock, only this time the game went to penalty kicks.

Ruidoso took the initial lead, but eventually succumbed and dropped a 5-4 decision.

"It was extremely dramatic," said Ruidoso assistant coach Dave Ingels. "I wasn't disappointed with their effort, but I was with the outcome."

The Warriors (3-7-3) had a habit of slow starts this season, but came roaring out of the gate on Saturday with a pair of goals — a penalty kick by Adrian Olvera and a header by Ruben Moreno — in the first half to take a 2-0 lead at the break.

After that, Ruidoso let down a little bit, and the Wildcats were able to score two quick goals in the first 20 minutes of the second half. It was after that second goal that the Warriors buckled down on defense.

After two overtime periods and no score, the shootout was set up.

Warrior goal keeper Aaron Goeller stopped the first two Clovis penalty kicks, while Edgar Magaña scored on his to give Ruidoso a 3-2 lead.

The two teams traded goals — including a shot by Matt Johnston — but Goeller was unable to stop the final Wildcat goal and Clovis came away with

RHS boys take second

BY TODD FUQUA
RUIDOSO NEWS SPORTS EDITOR

The Ruidoso High School cross country team had had a rough season of late, competing as they were against some of the state's top teams.

But all those hard knocks paid off on Thursday, when the Ruidoso boys traveled to Artesia and brought back a second-place trophy.

"I thought I'd have a heart-attack," said Ruidoso coach Nick Nanz. "The northern meets were tough, but they helped us with these meets. Somebody realized we went up there with a purpose."

Willie Comanche again led Ruidoso with a time of 17.59, good enough for the individual top finish in the meet. Fellow Warriors Jhovanny Ruiz and Samuel Klinkole also finished in the top 10.

Still, Ruidoso finished second to District 4-3A rival New Mexico Military Institute — by just seven points.

"That's a heart-throbber," Nanz said. "Our fourth and fifth guys really have to step up. But now we know what NMMI's like and what we need to do to get better."

Nanz was also happy with the progress of his girls, even though they haven't had enough girls to earn a team score for a few weeks.

Sarah Breecher and Estree Valenzuela continued to run hard in Artesia, and will soon be joined by basketball player Elisa Vigil, who runs with the team in practice every Wednesday.

"She was beating some of my cross country girls in the 3-mile run," Nanz said. "She'll be a big help to us."

The Warriors head to Las Cruces Saturday for the Oñate Invite — another meet that promises to be a challenge. Joining Ruidoso in the run will be Oñate, Las Cruces, Mayfield, Gadsden, Cobre, Silver, Deming, Canutillo, Cloudcroft and El Paso schools Austin, Riverside, Burgess, Irvin, Del Valle and El Paso High School.

Sanders wins tie down roping buckle at Portales

BY JULIE CARTER
FOR THE RUIDOSO NEWS

Capitan senior and high school rodeo cowboy Trevor Sanders shows up at the pay window in his events on a fairly regular basis. At the Portales High School rodeo Sept. 27-28 he roped his way to a tie down roping average and new belt buckle.

Sanders is the son of Shorty and Jackie Sanders. He said he'd been roping since he was 11. He competes in the New Mexico High School rodeos in both the team roping and the tie down roping. This is his last year of eligibility for the high school circuit so he plans to "hit them all."

Sanders was riding his back-up horse at Portales and felt it made a considerable difference. The back-up horse may just well become his main ride after this rodeo.

The tie down roping event seemed to be the Lincoln County cowboy specialty that weekend.

COURTESY PHOTO

Trevor Sanders competes in the tie down roping competition Sept. 28 in Portales. Sanders, a senior at Capitan High School, won the overall average in the event during the weekend.

Along with Sanders winning the average, Corona cowboys Taos Muncy and Victor Perez picked up third and fourth-place checks respectively on Sunday.

Corona's Jordon Muncy again made her way to the pay window in the barrel racing. The high school rodeo rookie is running against some tough New Mexico competition. Datil's Fallon Riley and Bloomfield's Alicia Sandoval seem to dominate the event so when Muncy slipped in there for two checks at Portales, it was a real feather in her hat.

Muncy placed third and fourth in the two-day event. Sandoval — who ended up third in the average at the recent National High School Rodeo finals — won the average at Portales.

Not to be left out of any rodeo results, Casey Sisk of Corona picked up three checks in three events. When discussing Portales, he didn't feel like he had a very good rodeo but the tally sheets show a better than average all-around consistency.

Sisk won the go round in the saddle bronc riding the second day and won the bull riding the first day with a 75 point ride. He and his team roping partner, Teresa Brevik place a fourth in that event the first day.

High school rodeo competitors will be competing in Artesia this weekend.

Other event average winners at Portales:
Breakaway roping: Fallon Riley, Datil
Pole Bending: Tyler Rose Walton, Raton
Goat tying: Leanna Powell, Bosque Farms
Steer Wrestling: Bryce Segotta, Raton
Bareback Riding: Jared Green, Socorro
Saddle Bronc riding: Nelson Tsosie, Farmington
Bull Riding: Nelson Tsosie, Farmington
Team Roping: Keyle Roberts, Durango, Colo. and Matt Garza, Mesquite

Valenzuela's defense the key in Hondo comeback win

HONDO — It wasn't the way Brandon Devine wanted to see the game start, but he couldn't argue with the way it ended.

"The boys finally saw that if we play straight up football, we can do well," Devine said.

The Eagles fought back from a 25-6 halftime deficit in their homecoming game Saturday and scored 32 points in the second half to pull off a 46-39 victory over House.

Hondo (2-4) benefited from a pair of interceptions by Eddie Valenzuela, who returned both of them almost the entire length of the field for touchdowns.

His first return — a 70-yarder with 3:29 left in the third quarter — were part of a 28-point run the Eagles made to take a three-point lead into the final period.

The Cowboys (1-3) were tough — having only seven players total — but eventually ran out of steam in the end — particularly when quarterback Jordan Jennings went down with an injury in the fourth quarter and was hobbled the rest of the way.

"I saw them getting tired, but I was worried we wouldn't be conditioned," Devine said. "But I'm not sure it had that much play in the ball game in the end."

Whether or not House was tired, Hondo picked up steam — led by Valenzuela's four touchdowns and Steven Chavez' 171 yards rushing.

Chavez got Hondo's first touchdown of the game, a four-yard pass from Saul Acosta near the end of the second quarter. He later scored on a five-yard run with 4:35 left in the third quarter and kicked the two-point try to start the Eagles' comeback.

Once Hondo got the lead, Devine was able to put his younger players in the game to get them some experience — players like Leo Salcido and Joseph Brady.

"We brought our backups in to get them some experience and make the defense feel confused," Devine said. "When the team sees Eddie in there, they figure it's going to him. When they see Leo, they don't know who he is.

"When he's a senior, they'll know who he is."

The strategy paid off, as House keyed on either Chavez or Valenzuela, allowing Salcido to pick up some quick yards and senior Derek McTiegue a score of his own at the very end of the third quarter.

But for all their heroics, Hondo was still sweating it out in the end, as House had the ball back with 42 seconds left in the game following an 8-yard Valenzuela touchdown run.

Jennings connected with Nathan Foust — the duo combined for three touchdown catches in the game — for a 29-yard gain and got the ball to Hondo's 30-yard line with 12 seconds left. Jennings set up for a long bomb and the winning score, but Valenzuela interrupted with his second interception.

He evaded tackles long enough to run 65-yards for the touchdown with five seconds left.

Even then, the game wasn't over. It was feasible House could pull off a miracle touchdown in those five seconds, then kick a two-point conversion for the win.

But Foust was downed immediately on the kickoff and Jennings' final pass of the day fell incomplete, giving the Eagles the victory the victory.

Hondo's schedule gets a whole lot tougher this Friday when they travel to Tatum to take on the top-ranked and undefeated Coyotes at 7 p.m. to open their District 4 schedule.

The fact that this was a 5A team — and the fact that Ruidoso was without Aaron Romero, Fabian Olvera or Homero Romero for a variety of reasons — made Ingels proud the Warriors did as well as they did.

"The biggest thing is getting them to play to their potential," Ingels said. "If they play the way they can, they have as good of a chance as anybody."

Ruidoso will need to play their best today in Roswell when they take on district-leading New Mexico Military Institute at 4 p.m. They later play at Socorro Oct. 14 and return home for a match with Hatch Oct. 18 at 11 a.m.

Lady Warriors fall

It was a tough loss for the Ruidoso girls as well on Saturday, as the Lady Warriors dropped a 2-0 decision to the Clovis junior varsity.

Ruidoso (4-8) is still smarting from the loss of two defensive players, and coach Sigurd Schmitz was still moving girls around, trying to find where they best fit in.

"They'll come around, but I've had to move some girls back on defense and our attack isn't as strong now," Schmitz said. "Still, they didn't play bad.

One problem the Ruidoso girls had was their habit of attacking the ball on defense rather than trying to contain the player.

"They just got anxious and tried to tackle the ball away," Schmitz said. "When you do that, you're off to the side and it's easy to just run fight by. Our defense made that mistake a lot this week."

VOLLEYBALL: Stumble against Portales

shanked a serve receive. Just some crucial mistakes there at the end. A few breaks here and there and it could have been a different story," Bennett said.

The ladies attacked the ball 96 times, but only 15 of those hits made it to the floor.

"We need a more aggressive attitude and we need to find the floor a little more," Bennett said.

One weakness Ruidoso (8-7, 0-1 in district) showed was serve receiving. During the three games, they shanked 16 serves.

"We've improved with serving though. That was a strong point of the game," Bennett said. "Portales isn't as strong as they were last year, but they ran some combos and quick hits that we weren't ready for. They're pretty deceptive with their setting. We couldn't tell which hitter it was going to."

The ladies will play Robertson in Ruidoso Thursday at 6 p.m., followed by Lovington in Lovington this Saturday.

"We've played Lovington at a tournament, and I don't believe they hit at all from the right side. We'll do OK with them," said Bennett.

The Lady Warriors' loss to Portales (7-10, 1-0) has made the road to the district championship a little rocky. The next meeting with the Rams is Oct. 18 at RHS at 2 p.m.

"We're going to be working harder and practicing some quick hits and combos ourselves to help prepare our blockers. Hopefully we can beat them in three and not allow them to score more points than we did," Bennett said. "It should be a different story."

CAPITAN: Rough district start

"Hatch had one girl running up and down the net blocking," Gowen said. "If we can't handle that — I should have handled that situation better. In volleyball if you've got one blocker running up and down the net trying to block all three (Capitan) girls, you should be able to take advantage of that. We weren't able to, and it was because of some of the things I was having the girls do.

"These kids work hard and do what I ask them to do, so I'm taking the blame."

TIGERS: Capitan rebounds from injury to starting quarterback

Davis said.

Not that Davis wants to give him too much playing time just yet. "We're hoping Stephen's knee injury is not that severe," he said after the game. "We put him on ice and rest and hopefully we get him back this week."

Silva was a one-man gang early, throwing a 9-yard touchdown pass to Sheldon Moor and returning a punt 60 yards for another score. When he connected with Moor again in the second quarter, the Tigers were suddenly up 21-0.

Alamogordo's plodding three-yards-and-a-cloud-of-dust offense went nowhere until Billy Dollar went over the top to Terrence Lowe, who rambled 66 yards to get Alamo on the board.

The visiting Tigers made a game of it when they recovered their second-half kickoff and Ryan Eaton ran up the middle from the 14. A Capitan fumble on the Alamo 5 seconds before the end of the third quarter gave the visitors more life, and minutes later a Dollar keeper from the 1 made it 28-21.

"We started real slow and got our wheels going a bit better as the game went on," Alamogordo JV coach Sam Fambrough said. "Sometimes it takes a while to get it going. We had a few nice pass plays that helped stretch the defense out. I'm proud of our team. We played a good game. The kids fought hard."

Indeed, with the lead dwindling, Capitan seemed to be on its heels, a development that didn't sit well with Davis.

"Defensively we should be able to stop people better than we're stopping them," he said. "We know our offense is explosive, so we kind of relax on defense."

The turning point came midway through the fourth quarter. After Moor, in punt formation on fourth down, threw an incomplete pass, Alamogordo had possession with a chance to tie. Two plays later Capitan recovered a fumble and capitalized with the insurance TD.

'Zozo netters top Lady Cardinals

BY TODD FUQUA
RUIDOSO NEWS SPORTS EDITOR

Two Lincoln County volleyball teams heading in opposite directions met in Corona Thursday for a District 7-1A tilt, and the match did little to change either teams' course.

Carrizozo defeated Corona in three games, 25-6, 25-13, 25-13, but Lady Cardinal coach Brahaim Hindi was still pleased with the way his team played.

"It was probably the best match my girls had played all year," Hindi said. "We actually started passing the ball and we blocked them quite a few times. We did a few things I hadn't seen them do all year."

Neither team is very tall, and most of the Lady Grizzlies' points came on hard serves.

Adrianne Zamora set the tone in game one for Carrizozo, tallying 11 straight service points to bury the Lady Cardinals (3-7, 0-3 in district).

Games two and three were closer affairs, simply because Corona began matching up with the Lady Grizzlies at the net.

Tysa Davidson and Anna Ramos combined for blocks and tips at the net against the Lady Grizzly front line, giving Hindi some hope about his team's chances the rest of the district season.

"If we'd played like that against Bosque Prep and Temple Baptist, we would have had good games," Hindi said of two more district opponents. "Hopefully, now that they know what they can do, we'll get better from here. But in volleyball, you never know."

The only district team Corona hasn't faced is Mountainair — although Carrizozo took on the Lady Mustangs on Saturday and came away with a three-game, 25-14, 25-20, 26-24 victory.

"Our serving game is improving and it needed to," said Carrizozo coach Pam Allen. "Mountainair has some nice-sized kids, and they hit the ball pretty well against us."

Service points were pretty well distributed among Carrizozo's corps, although Ariel Burr had 17 points in the first two games to pace her team.

Mountainair actually had a lead in the third game until the Lady Grizzlies (9-4, 3-0) were able to tie it at 24-all and get a pair of good serves for the win.

"On any given night in this district, you'd better be ready to play," Allen said.

Both Corona and Carrizozo took a break from 7-1A action Tuesday. The Lady Cardinals hosted the New Mexico School for the Deaf, while the Lady Grizzlies traveled to Roswell to play Gateway Christian.

Carrizozo hosts Temple Baptist Saturday in a 4 p.m. match, while Corona will be at home against Mountainair Thursday at 6 p.m. and Bosque Prep Saturday at 5 p.m.

Bears roar as Grizzlies hibernate

BY KEI
FOR THE RUIDOSO NEWS

CLOUDCROFT — Carrizozo's first-year 11-man football team went into hostile territory to face the Cloudcroft Saturday and the Grizzlies were never in the match from the start, coming up on the losing end of a 42-6 thrashing.

"Finally, finally playing a game and a team that is in our class, that we can play with," said Bear coach Terry Welch.

"They came ready to play and we didn't," said Carrizozo coach Mel Holland. "There was some character building in this. As a team, we'll have to look back on it and learn from our mistakes."

After weeks of being on the losing end of the game, Cloudcroft (1-5) scored early and often.

In the first quarter, Bear quarterback Josh Ham scored on a five-yard run, with the extra point being good for the Bears to go up 7-0.

Then, midway through the first quarter, Ham hooked up with Drew Swope for a 71-yard pass and a touchdown.

With just under two minutes left in the first quarter, a Bear fumble which went into the end zone and was recovered by Carrizozo's Joseph Samora resulted in the first and only Grizzly score. The extra point was missed, making it 14-6 Bears.

On the ensuing kick off, Ryan Scott took the ball for a 90-yard touchdown that was called back for blocking in the back. Two plays later, Jesse Samora intercepted a pass to end the first quarter.

In the second quarter, with just over six minutes left, Ham scored again on a keeper and the extra point was good, making it 21-6 Bears.

With a good return and the Grizzlies (3-2) marching down the field, on third and five Bear guard/tackle David Dalton, who had a huge game defensively, rushed and had a sack then John Ryan Saulietis recovered the fumble. Two plays later, running back T.J. Blette scored, making it a 28-6 game at half time.

"We got into the red zone a few times, but we made just too many mistakes down there," Holland said.

In the second half, Ham scored on a quarterback sneak, sending the Bears up 35-6.

On the kickoff, Samora returned the ball to the Bear 10 yard line, but the Grizzlies failed to score.

Early in the fourth quarter, the Bears scored again on a 58-yard run by quarterback Clay Scott.

The Bears scored every extra point they tried, all off the foot of Blette.

The score could have been ever higher, but several plays, including a kickoff return for a touchdown, were called back due to numerous penalties on blocking in the back called on the Bears.

"I thought we executed very, very well on offense, which we had not been doing," Welch said. "I was a little disappointed with the penalties we had. We had a lot of blocking in the back and I was a little disappointed in that, but like I told the players, I don't know of a team more deserving than them. I mean they have given their heart and soul for the last five weeks, for nothing basically. And they deserve this. I was very happy with the offense and the defense, although the defense has been there pretty much all year, playing well week after week."

"We didn't come ready to play, and we let them (Cloudcroft) gain momentum," Holland said. "Once they got rolling, we couldn't stop them. We play Capitan next and the big schools, so we better suck it up and get ready to play."

Besides the loss, Carrizozo also got some bad news when Johnny Beltran was tackled and taken off the field in an ambulance.

Welch was excited to finally get to put a checkmark in the win column.

"The (earlier) scores have been high but it is because the offense has staggered," he said. "Our defense has played well the last three weeks. (Saturday) our offense looks really good, and I like it. My hat's off to every one of them, I am proud of them."

Wings drop defensive struggle to Roy

BY TODD FUQUA
RUIDOSO NEWS SPORTS EDITOR

Corona/Vaughn Wings assistant coach Tommy Mulkey had always found his 6-man football team's games frustrating.

The Wings were winning with big offensive plays, but would always let the other team back with big plays of their own.

Mulkey — the defensive coordinator for the team — finally saw some good defense Friday in Vaughn against Roy, but it was all for a losing effort, as the Wings fell 12-6.

"We finally decided to play some defense this week, but they played even better defense," Mulkey said. "It was a tough loss, but we tackled people better than we had all year."

A number of things were working against the Wings (3-2), including rainy, wet weather, the madness of Vaughn's homecoming week, and the absence of freshman J.R. Shafer.

"With him in the game, we would have won," Mulkey said of Shafer. "Also, our running backs were worried about slipping. Nobody could cut."

Roy (3-3) was able to score their touchdowns with a carefully controlled ground game, hammering the ball up the middle until they punched the ball across the goal line.

Conversely, the Wings got their score on a 50-yard pass from Chris Matson to Eddi Guerrero. The Longhorns were keying on Matson and Josh Diaz to run, allowing Guerrero to get wide open behind the Roy defense for the scoring strike.

That made the score 6-6 at halftime — an unusual total at the break of a 6-man contest.

"We were both turning the ball over a lot," Mulkey said. "It was just a slick night, with a wet and sloppy field."

After Roy scored it's second touchdown, the Wings buckled down and wouldn't let the Longhorns get any more.

Corona/Vaughn's tenacity eventually paid off with a golden scoring opportunity with just a minute left, but the Wings were unable to take advantage.

"The guys have nothing to feel bad about. They played a hell of a football game."

Tommy Mulkey
Corona/Vaughn coach

"We just couldn't stuff it in the end zone," Mulkey said. "Three plays in a row and we couldn't find the open man.

"If we had scored, we would have won," he added. "The way we were playing defense, they (Roy) couldn't have scored inside of a minute."

But Roy's defense held first, and the Wings had to endure a tough-luck loss.

"The guys have nothing to feel bad about," Mulkey said. "They played a hell of a football game, they just didn't do enough to win."

Corona/Vaughn opens their District 3 season Thursday against Floyd at 7 p.m. in Vaughn. The Bronchos come into the game with a 4-2 record and a No. 3 state ranking by SixManNation.com.

Chiefs get first football win

NAVAJO — The Mescalero football team finally has something to smile about.

After losing some tough games early in the season, the Chiefs (1-4) got their first win of the season Saturday, topping Navajo Pine 42-32.

And coach Rodney Wright said the game wasn't even that close.

Leading 32-8 early in the fourth quarter, Mescalero gave its bench a chance to see action, and the Warriors tallied two touchdowns against the younger players.

"We got a chance to get a number of our younger kids some playing time," Wright said. "We gave up a couple of scores right there toward the end of the game. But we played the best football we've played all year long."

And that despite seven turnovers — five fumbles and two interceptions — committed by the Chiefs.

"Turnovers are still a huge factor for us," Wright said "But there's a silver lining to it in the fact that even with our turnovers, we kept playing tough. We'd move forward. We didn't dwell on the mistakes we made. We got after it."

Mescalero got the scoring started early in the first quarter on a 1-yard quarterback sneak by Christian Aldava. Aldava then ran in the conversion, putting the Chiefs up 8-0.

The Warriors then got their only touchdown against the Mescalero starting lineup, and the quarter ended 8-6 Chiefs.

In the second quarter, Darron Valdez scored on a 2-yard run and Aldava on a 65-yard interception return.

Mescalero went into the locker room up 20-6.

In the third quarter, Aldava passed to Randy Fulsom, who ran 60 yards for the touchdown, then Navajo Pine sacked Aldava in the end zone, giving them a safety and making the score 26-8 heading into the final stanza.

After a final Chief score — a 60 yard pass from Aldava to Justin Enjady, the Mescalero reserves came in, and the Warriors scored on a 50-yard touchdown pass and, with 27 seconds left in the game, a 26 yard pass.

Both two-point conversions were good, adding some extra points to the Warrior total.

Wright said the turnaround that led to Saturday's win actually began last week in a homecoming loss to Dexter.

"We played great football vs. Dexter," he said. "We had some mistakes and stuff, so really the turnaround started last week. We gained our confidence. We really showed ourselves that we've got a good football team. That we can play. And really we carried it over into practice. Had a great week of practice and got up here today and just carried the momentum."

He credited Aldava with a great game, and was also pleased with both the offensive and defensive lines.

"They're really getting after it," Wright said. "Our defense as a whole, they're playing tough football, and that's what we want. That what we came into this season wanting. Was a defense that was going to be tough. And we're doing that."

And Wright said the team is starting to come together at the right time.

"We really did a great job. I'm real pleased with our effort," he said. "Getting things going. Which is what we need to do, because we've got a big game coming next Friday down in Tularosa. The kids got after it. We're really starting to click at a time of year when we need to be clicking. Yes, we're still making some mistakes and everything, but the thing is, the mistakes we're making, we're getting better at it. We didn't make very many execution mistakes. The turnovers and stuff was the biggest thing that really kind of led to problems for us. But we overcame the turnovers and really played good ball. I'm real pleased with the kids' effort. It's a good momentum builder for our team as far as our confidence and believing that we can get things done. The next four weeks are going to be big."

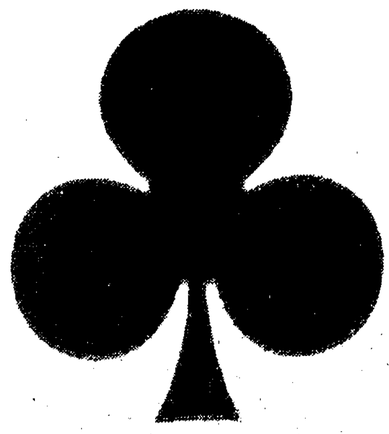
news

The quality of life we enjoy in Ruidoso is due in large part to the many community service clubs and organizations whose members contribute their time, effort and energies to countless local charities and worthy causes.

Beginning in November, the Ruidoso News will provide these clubs with a regular page on which to feature special events, volunteer work projects, guest speakers and other news, along with photographs.

Along with this expanded regular coverage of area service organizations will be a community calendar, listing not only special events and entertainment for the coming week, but a comprehensive listing of upcoming meetings of clubs and organizations. So, attention publicity chairs and other club leaders: be sure your organization is included in the community calendar each Wednesday. Send your meeting time, day and location to Wes Schwengels at the Ruidoso News. Mail to PO Box 128, Ruidoso, 88355 or fax to 257-7053 or e-mail to wess@ruidosonews.com.



We hope to have every meeting in Lincoln County included in our calendar, from AARP to 4-H. Whether you attend meetings of a substance abuse prevention support group or a gardening club, we want you to find your organization listed in the calendar.

For more details, call Wes or Dave at 257-4001.

POOP SCOOP

BY DIANNE STALLINGS
RUIDOSO NEWS STAFF WRITER

When I lived on the west coast of Florida, big development was gobbling up prime wildlife habitat on both sides of U.S. 19, then the major north-south route.

Tucked in the plans of one developer who hoped to encompass a huge swatch of coastal land was a suggestion for bear and deer corridors to take the animals from one isolated patch of undisturbed land to another.

I found the suggestion ridiculous – as if those animals and the other foxes, raccoons, bobcats and even alligators were going to abandon ancient migration paths to bend to the directions laid out by man.

Eventually, state officials woke up to the immense impact such a coastal development would have on what remained of the area wildlife. The state bought the land and took it out of the private sector to ensure a future habitat for the dwindling numbers of mammals and reptiles that inhabited the swamps and forest.

I hope it helped. The year I left The St. Petersburg Times North Suncoast operation, a dozen bears were killed trying to cross U.S. 19, most of them young males desperately looking to establish their own territories as the available land along the coast disappeared.

With that background in mind, my initial reaction wasn't too enthusiastic about plans by the New Mexico Department of Game and Fish to establish highway crossing places for wildlife.

But as I read more about the proposal, the information seemed well worth passing along.

A statewide planning document called "New Mexico Highlands Wildlands Network," was produced by the non-profit Wildlands Project that should help implement House Joint Memorial 3. The memorial urged the Game and Fish Department and the Transportation Department to work together to reduce wildlife-vehicle highway collisions.

The effort is aimed at reducing wildlife mortality, human injury and property damage, and at increasing habitat conductivity, said Mary Watson, game department habitat specialist.

Wildlife crossings may be built as overpasses, underpasses or modified culverts and their locations on the highway ideally should be where wildlife travel along existing migration pathways, she said. The crossings also may need some habitat aspects integrated into their design to provide safe passages.

More next week.

PSYCHIC PREDICTIONS

Judith L. Christopher

Week of Oct. 8 - 14

LIBRA: (Sept 23 - Oct 22)
Get all your little ducks in a row. It's time to talk some turkey. Don't fowl this up. Your dreams could be be on a wing and a prayer. Don't let it fly by.

SCORPIO: (Oct 23 - Nov 21)
Once and for all, take the bull by the horns and say what you want to say. Make a plan to talk this over, before it gets out of hand. Think with heart.

SAGITTARIUS: (Nov 22 - Dec 21)
This next month can make you, or break you! Plan each day out carefully. Don't waste one minute, or spend extra money. Your life is changing now.

CAPRICORN: (Dec 22 - Jan 19)
You're on your way. You are in total control, so don't expect to get a handout from anyone, this counts for money, love anything. You're number one.

AQUARIUS: (Jan 20 - Feb 18)
You can gain more time and money once you leave behind the people and places that are costing you. Sit down, with paper and pen, plan ahead.

PISCES: (Feb 19 - Mar 20)
Even tho you're used to meeting new people and going different places, watch out, because you could end up where you don't want to be. Don't assume.

ARIES: (Mar 21 - Apr 19)
You may be feeling alone, because all you worry about is money! Give this to a higher power, and give thanks for what you have now, you'll get more.

TAURUS: (Apr 20 - May 20)
Great time to do what you have been putting off. This is the time to start what you have always wanted to do. Look in the mirror for a new friend.

GEMINI: (May 21 - Jun 20)
Lots of things are over with. You now can relax and know you have done a good job. Make plans with a loved one, start a new life, with love.

CANCER: (Jun 21 - Jul 22)
Someone is asking you do something you might not want to do. If you really don't want to it, then don't. People treat you the way you let them treat you.

LEO: (Jul 23 - Aug 22)
Your money might be tight, because you'll have to buy things that are necessary. Don't fret, it will all work out. Use your good energy to love someone.

VIRGO: (Aug 23 - Sep 22)
You may find yourself alone. This could be good, if not call a friend who truly loves you, just for you, no strings attached. Keep the fires burning bright.

Vandals break into win column in big way over New Mexico State

BY FELIX CHAVEZ
FOR THE RUIDOSO NEWS

LAS CRUCES — Down 28-0 in the second half and facing a 0-6 on the season, it would be easy to assume that the Idaho Vandals might figure they wouldn't win a college football game Saturday night.

Maybe the fight was gone, maybe the belief in themselves wasn't there.

But if you assumed that you'd be wrong.

The Vandals finally broke through in a big way, scoring 35 second-half points, including 28 straight to stun the New Mexico State Aggies 35-31 at Aggie Memorial Stadium in the Sun Belt opener for both teams.

"This was a great win for us and for the program," said senior quarterback Brian Lindgren, who threw for 408 yards and five scores, including the game-winner with 14.9 seconds left. "We've worked hard to get over the top. We've got a good group here and hopefully things will turn for us now."

Lindgren was 19 of 22 in the second half for 284 yards, including a final drive where he was 4 for 4 for 94 yards, including the final one of 10 yards to Jeff Stowe that put Idaho up 34-31.

"In the first half we had some chances, but I threw some bad passes and hurt us, but we felt we could move the ball and pass the ball effectively," he said. "We got into a groove in the second half and we got great production from our receivers and our offensive line gave me a lot of time."

Stowe said the return of Lindgren to the offense has made a great different. Lindgren started playing extensively last week against Montana after Michael Harrington had started the first four games.

"He brings a calmness to our offense and he brings stability," Stowe said. "Tonight he hung in there and he showed a lot of leadership."

For Idaho coach Tom Cable, the win had to be bittersweet in many ways. His teams have been close the past three years, but have suffered several close losses. His Idaho team had been just 3-25 in its last 28 games heading into Saturday.

"At halftime, we told our kids nobody believes in you more than the coaches and we left the room after that," Cable said. "Our kids came out and gave everything they had. That shows what kind of leaders we have on our team. I think we have the talent and depth to win. There are seven pieces to this (winning the Sun Belt) and this is the first piece.

"I was proud of our effort in every way. We played well offensively and our defense gave us some chances."

The Vandals had struggled offensively in their first five games, although the team showed signs of life last week against Montana.

And in the first half Saturday, the team moved the ball despite no points. Three turnovers did them in.

A big key for Idaho Saturday was the play of its receiving core. The group struggled early in the season, but made big plays on Saturday.

Tight end Mike McCoy hauled in five passes on the night, but it was two on the final drive that were huge. He caught one for 22 and one for 47. Wendell Octave, Stowe and Jimmy Labita also made huge contributions on the night.

"We didn't play well early in the season and we were disappointed," Stowe said. "But we've been working hard and trying to make progress. Tonight I thought we showed improvement."

Cable has talked over the last few weeks about making big plays at critical times and about consistent play.

The Vandals, who have handled much adversity the past three years, finally caught a break on Saturday.

Lindgren and Stowe talked about how they have lost tough ones to New Mexico State the last two years.

Saturday turned out to be redemption for a team that hasn't quit all and might just turn its season into one that might be remembered.

If you recall two years ago, North Texas started 0-5 and rebounded to win the league.

So Idaho has hope and Saturday was a start.

"Well, we've talked a lot about how you win, and we are obviously a team," Cable said. "We've had so many failures that we really had to learn how to win and we took a step toward that tonight."

The Vandals earned Saturday's win with the team effort they had been looking forward to.

Lindgren was poised and confident, the running game gave him chances to be successful and the offensive line had little trouble in the second half.

And Idaho's defense has to be credited as well. After a tough first half, the Vandals dug in and didn't allow NMSU many big plays in the second half.

In the Sun Belt, where the teams are comparable in talent, Idaho has as good a chance as any and if it can play like it did in the second half on a consistent level, watch out for the Vandals.

UNM toasts Utags at home

ALBUQUERQUE — New Mexico won their second straight game on Saturday with a 34-7 win over Utah State.

DonTrell Moore had two touchdowns and 132 yards to lead the Lobos (3-3), while quarterback Casey Kelly rang up 230 yards passing.

Kelly started off slow, but eventually went 13-of-22, including a 39-yard pass to Dwight Counter at 8:53 in the second quarter.

Kelly's scoring pass and Moore's second touchdown gave the Lobos the jump start they needed to distance themselves from Utah State (1-4), which was only down 10-7 in the second quarter.

The Aggies' only touchdown of the game came on a 79-yard pass from Travis Cox to Barry Tolli, almost immediately after Moore scored his first touchdown.

The Lobo defense held Utah State to just 221 yards in the game, as Cox went 13-of-27 with 162 yards in the air.

UNM got insurance goals in the form of a pair of field goals by Wes Zunker and a six-yard touchdown by D.D. Cox.

Greyhounds fall to Abilene Christian, again

ABILENE, Texas — It was a familiar story for Eastern New Mexico University on Saturday.

Entering their game against Abeline Christian undefeated and ranked 19th in a pair of NCAA Division II polls, the Greyhounds fell behind early, then saw a comeback attempt fall short in a 24-14 loss to the Wildcats.

ACU running back Richard Whittaker had 153 yards and two touchdowns for the Wildcats (2-2, 1-0 Lone Star Conference South), and was part of a team that recorded its fifth-straight win over Eastern (4-1, 0-1).

The Wildcats took an initial 14-0 lead by scoring two touchdowns in less than four minutes in the second quarter, then held Eastern when the Hounds had a good chance to take the lead in the second half.

Whitaker scored the first touchdown on a three-yard run with 9:49 left in the second quarter, then later got the ball back on their own 19-yard line and immediately scored on an 81-yard pass from Colby Freeman to Lawrence Hardeman.

ENMU was able to pull to within seven points on a 27-yard ramble by junior Jason Tezeno, who had 147 yards on 14 carries for the Greyhounds.

Sophomore running back Dwayne Davis eventually scored with 7:49 left in the third quarter to bring Eastern even, then got a big break with Kendrick Walker fumbled the ensuing kickoff to the Wildcats and the Hounds recovered at the ACU 13.

But the Wildcats came up big defensively, forcing Eastern to attempt a 25-yard field goal which was wide right.

It was all Abeline after that, as the Wildcats scored two more touchdowns to wrap up the game.

Mescalero harriers run well against top teams

SANTA CLARA PUEBLO — Mescalero's cross country team had some good performances against some of the top runners at the state Saturday.

The Chiefs traveled to Santa Clara Pueblo for the Santa Fe Indian School Invitational, where they competed against 18 other schools, including such powerhouses as Santa Fe Indian School, Taos, Santa Fe Prep, Del Norte and the Los Alamos junior varsity.

"There were a lot of good schools up here," said Chief coach Doug Byers. "These are the top dogs in the state."

Running against 52 of those top dogs in the girls varsity, Samantha Bigmouth showed she has what it takes, finishing sixth in 21:57, her best time this season.

Junior varsity runner Nadine Bigmouth, Samantha's sister, did even better, finishing third of 39 just behind a pair of Peñasco runners, while Lyneava Garcia was 23rd.

"Actually, she should have had first place," Byers said. "I think mentally, she kind of psyched herself out. But she was six seconds behind first and four seconds behind second. So she finished real strong."

She was also nearly a minute ahead of the top junior varsity Los Alamos runner and that was despite running on a course Byers described as "totally torn up."

The JV girls opened the meet on a course that was rain-soaked, muddy and cold, and although it hadn't snowed at the pueblo, snow was already on the peaks surrounding the course.

Byers said the sun came out midway through the JV run, which cleared up the course for the remaining races, but the boys varsity had another problem: 106 runners.

"It was like 30 feet of pueblo and 50 feet of runners trying to get into that first turn," Byers said. "It was like 10 pounds of stuff in a five-pound sack."

Despite that crowd, the Chief boys managed to do well, finishing 14th as a team with Gifford Valdez leading Mescalero in 59th.

Freeman Cochise was 71st, then the remaining three runners — Alan Scott, Delano Ortega and Jeremy Enjady — packed together in the 80s.

District foes Menaul and Alamo Navajo both ran, with Menaul ninth (host Santa Fe Indian School won the meet) and Alamo Navajo without a team.

But only one Cougar runner finished ahead of the Chiefs, so Byers said his squad would have topped Alamo Navajo if they had run a team.

And beating the district teams is what it's all about.

"We did real well, but I think the team kind of got an idea that we've been working hard, but we've got to work even a little harder to step it up," Byers said. "Because the competition is going to be there. We kind of got a taste of it and although we're right in the middle between our district teams, if we don't pick it up a little bit more, somebody may sneak up on us."

Despite the course being a little longer than usual, Byers said all the times were really good

And although he was concerned about moving his younger runners up to varsity, he knew it had to be done.

"I kind of didn't want to move the two younger guys up because they're only eighth graders, but that's how they're going to get to state," Byers said. "There's no JV at district. They have to finish as a team, and if they can place top three as a team they'll go to state. That's kind of our goal. We want to finish strong in district so everybody gets an opportunity to go to state."

The Chief runners head to Roswell this Saturday for the New Mexico Military Institute Invitational.

Mescalero results from the Santa Fe Indian School Invitational.
Girls varsity, individual — 6, Samantha Bigmouth, 21:57
Girls junior varsity, individual — 3, Nadine Bigmouth, 23:52; 23, Lyneava Garcia, 27:50

Lady Chiefs lose tough set to Hondo

BY KAREN BOEHLER AND KEI
FOR THE RUIDOSO NEWS

MESCALERO — The Hondo Lady Eagles came into Mescalero for a District 8-1A game Thursday and won a tough five game set over the Lady Chiefs, 22-25, 25-8, 25-22, 25-16, 15-12.

"A tough, tough loss," said Chief coach Ardena Orosco. "Lots of improvement. We are playing much, much better, we made some good volleys, we are starting to come along. You can tell by the way we played Thursday night, we played good solid volleyball. We have not done that in a while."

In game one, Mescalero (2-10, 1-3 in District) fell behind early 8-3 before Augusta Lang started the ball rolling with five straight serving points and forced Hondo to take a time out with the score tied 8-8.

Mescalero, behind some great blocks by Lang and some great team defense, led most of the game. With the score 22-20 in favor of the Chiefs, Hondo freshman Angelie Garcia came in to serve and rattled off two quick points to tie before Mescalero called time out. When play resumed, Garcia and the Eagles rallied to score three more, giving the Eagles game one.

In game two, the Chiefs used some great serving to make short work of Hondo (7-4, 2-1).

Mescalero had a little help from the Eagles as teammates had some disagreements amongst themselves out on the floor.

Lang had four service points followed by Hilary Sago who served up points seven through eleven, Tori Torres rallied for serving points 12 through 17, with Sheriene Davis serving up points 18 through 24.

"We kind of fell apart as a team," said Hondo coach Julie Montoya about the disagreement. "We had a little bit of bickering. I am sure that did not help. It will get squashed in practice."

Game three was almost identical to game one with the Eagles edging out the Chiefs 25-22.

Game four was another repeat of game two, with everyone on Mescalero contributing at least four straight points while serving.

"I wasn't real happy with the way we played, we just weren't playing our game," Montoya said. "We got the win and that's what's important, but so far as their overall play I was not happy with it at all."

Game five was a seesaw battle back and fourth, before Hondo Valley senior Harmony Haun took over and served the last seven points giving the Eagles a 15-12 victory.

"That is one of the things we need to work on is that fighting back, not just rolling over and saying, 'OK, here, have the game.'" Orosco said. "I think lately we have been doing that, having a real desire to win, and fighting back."

Mescalero falls to Tatum

Mescalero wrapped up the first half of the district volleyball season with a 9-25, 11-25, 14-25 loss to Tatum Saturday.

"I believe we played kind of dry," Orosco said. "We didn't play very well. I think the next time we play them on Oct. 25 we'll be a lot better."

Mescalero has just four district games left this season.
