Village budget talks get testy

DIANNE STALLINGS
dstallings@ruidosonews.com

Aggressive questioning about Ruidoso's proposed Fiscal Year 2008-2009 budget during a workshop Monday spilled over into what's being described as a shouting match after the session.

Although several people thought the tense exchanges between Village Councilor Angel Shaw, Village Manager Dan O. Higgins and Acting Finance Director Barbara Fleming prompted Fleming to resign from that particular post late Monday, Higgins said Tuesday she still is on board.

Fleming was hired as Human Resources Director, but assumed financial duties when former finance director Elaine Beltran resigned. She also serves as deputy village manager, overseeing the operations of several departments.

She is credited with proposing innovative expense accounting approaches that more accurately reflect the true operation of village departments.

Shaw led the aggressive questioning during the budget workshop Monday, especially in the category of department director salaries and proposed cost-of-living and longevity increases. The councilor said heated exchanges continued with Higgins after the meeting about the limit of council involvement in the budget.

"It is the council's job by statute to approve the positions and salaries," she said Tuesday. "It is the responsibility that every councilor sitting on that board takes to heart. The trust the community puts in us warrants that we take a closer look."

Shaw said later she also was concerned that Fleming was being overloaded with duties.

Sitting in on the budget workshop was Martin Ortega with the state Department of Finance and Administration. Mayor L. Ray Nunley said Higgins relayed that Ortega's comments were "very complimentary about the budget process and the budget itself."

Under the general fund, Higgins and Fleming showed $13,144,605 in expenditures and $12,559,849 in revenue, with a $584,756 cash carryover, leaving a balance of $169,412. The summary indicated that the state-required 1/12th of the budget reserve was not set aside, but Higgins said, "We will meet or exceed that."

Joining Shaw in asking for more support documentation on the budget in each department and for each contract were Councilors Michele Rebstock and Greg Cory.

But the major issue seemed to be department head salaries and how councilors find it difficult to determine exactly what increases will be received in addition to any cost-of-living increase adjustment budgeted annually. Shaw pointed out that longevity increases can skew the final figures and councilors don't want the salaries to fall outside the matrix proposed by a consultant last year.

Higgins said a 3 percent COLA was included for all positions. Longevity increases are figured for the one-year and five-year increments.

"You're proposing the COLA up front," Cory noted. "We usually do that last. I applaud you. But I think we should look at the longevity issue for any new employees. We would honor (the

Ruidoso gets serious about smoking outside

Dry conditions make lighting up in the great outdoors a very risky business

dstallings@ruidosonews.com

Five individuals were cited over the weekend for smoking outside in violation of Ruidoso's emergency fire restrictions.

Six people previously were ticketed for the same charge.

Police Chief Wolfgang Born said he instructed his officers that with high winds and tinder-dry conditions, they should show zero tolerance for anyone violating the ban on outdoor smoking or any of the other fire restrictions.

A spokesman for Municipal Judge Mike Line's court said those cited are scheduled to appear in court Monday morning. The potential fine for the violation of municipal ordinance is $511, she said.

The charge that will be reflected on amended citations is lighting flammable material or setting a fire during a fire danger emergency, the chief said.

The citations occurred in some incidences while the violators were within feet of a "smoking bus" provided for them as customers of Win, Place and Show.

A bus parked outside of Win, Place and Show invites patrons of two bars owned by Eddie Fowler to smoke indoors without smoking up the bar. Bar patrons wanting to light up have found themselves between a state law prohibiting smoking in a bar or eating establishment and the current fire restrictions in Lincoln County.

Show or The Quarters bars on Sudderth Drive.

Owner Eddie Fowler said Tuesday that he understood the predicament of patrons who, under state and local law, cannot smoke in public buildings. He talked to police officials about his options, which were limited to telling patrons to smoke at home or in a vehicle.

Fowler parked a small school bus outside Win, Place and Show with signs plastered on its doors that patrons can go inside and smoke legally. He put several containers with sand along the aisle to stub out cigarettes and there is plenty of seating.

"We clean it every morning," he said. To lower the fire danger in the area, Fowler said he also moved wood that usually is stacked outside the bar.

While Fowler said during the day, he doesn't mind anyone ducking inside the bus for a few

Ruidoso Downs City Council City reorganization finalized

TODD FUQUA
todd@ruidosonews.com

It took two split votes, with mayor Tom Armstrong casting the deciding vote, but the restructuring of the Ruidoso Downs city staff was finally decided at Monday's City Council meeting.

The two final hurdles were salary increases and changes of job descriptions for City Clerk Carol Virden and the city's procurement manager, Terri Mosley.

Virden had the title and duties of City Administrator added to her job description, along with a $10,000 increase in her salary, while Mosley - in addition to being the procurement, asset and control manager - will now be the city's finance director. Mosley's salary will be increased by more than $13,000.

City councilor Gary Williams - who has opposed the restructuring in the last three meetings, citing concerns over the increases and whether they're needed in light of the fact that the City Manager's position was still open - again raised the question of whether these salary increases were coming at the right time.

"I've been working on the city budget committee, working on salary increases for all city employees," Williams said. "How can we justify this extra increase compared to the increase other city employees are supposed to get?"

Armstrong stated that because Virden

Court no-shows fined

DIANNE STALLINGS
dstallings@ruidosonews.com

Bringing home the point that it can be costly to ignore a subpoena, Ruidoso Magistrate Judge William Butts handed down a fine last week to a no-show witness.

Rodney Russell, 51, of Roswell, pleaded no contest May 8, in Lincoln County Magistrate Court in Ruidoso to contempt of court charges after he failed to abide by a subpoena mandating his court appearance.

Butts ordered Russell to pay a $200 fine.

"If witnesses choose to disobey subpoenas or any other court orders, they will be required to come in front of the court and explain their actions and if there is no valid excuse, they may be subjected to 364 days in jail and/or a $1,000 fine," Butts said.

Ruidoso Police Chief Wolfgang Born complained in a letter May 2, to Jason Ely, assistant district attorney in the 12th Judicial District that

Bird club trip

Members of the Lincoln County Bird Club plan a field trip to the Valley of Fire area near Carrizozo Thursday. Anyone interested can enjoy the event by meeting at 7 a.m. at the parking lot on Ski Run Road behind the Shell station. Bring snacks and drinks. For information call 937-5416.

JUB meet

A meeting of the Joint Use Board of the Regional Wastewater Treatment Plant and of the governing boards of the city of Ruidoso Downs and the Village of Ruidoso is set for 3 p.m., Monday.

The closed session will be conducted in a meeting room at the Hubbard Museum of the American West on U.S. 70 in Ruidoso Downs.

The purpose of the special meeting is:

- to discuss, subject to the attorney-client privilege, threatened or pending litigation in which the RWWTPJUB is or may become a participant.

- for village of Ruidoso staff to report on the direction of water reuse in conjunction with the construction and design of the treatment plant.

- to discuss the purchase, acquisition, and/or disposal of real property and/or water rights by the JUB.

- for a discussion by village staff comparing impacts of water reuse strategies on water rights acquisition.

Any action taken as a result of the closed session will be brought back into open session.

The regular meeting of the JUB today was canceled.

Phone book recycling

Spurred on by the seemingly never-ending distribution of new phone books in Lincoln and Otero Counties, the Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority (LCSWA) has again resumed phone book recycling.

Members of Girl Scout Troop 80 brought gifts, May 2, to the pets at the shelter on Gavilan Canyon, operated by the Humane Society of Lincoln County. The girls voted to use some of the money raised through their cookie sales to buy supplies on the shelter's wish list. They received a tour of the shelter and visited with the adoptable animals.

QWEST/DEX began distribution of its 2008 phone book in the region within the past week. Labeled vinyl plastic recycling containers or cardboard boxes will be available for the next several weeks in the Alto, Corona, Carrizozo, Capitan and Ruidoso Downs Post Office lobbies for postal patrons to drop-off unwanted new or used phone books rather than dispose of them in the trash.

Local residents or businesses can also drop old or unused phone books off in any blue or beige cardboard recycling container in either Lincoln or in Otero County, at the La Luz recycling site.

For more information about phone book recycling, call 378-4697, toll free at 1-877-548-8772 or via email at lcswa@valornet.com. The most current recycling and solid waste disposal brochure for Lincoln and Otero counties is also available at the solid waste website, www.lcswa.org.

ICHS field trip
A field trip to old settlements of Jicarilla and Reventon is planned by members of the Lincoln County Historical Society for May 24. Anyone interested should meet at 9 a.m. at the No Scum Allowed Saloon in White Oaks. The turnout to White Oaks is about five miles north of Carrizozo, on U.S. 54. For more information, call 257-0697 or 648-5586.

Fire study

Researchers at Michigan State University and other local and federal collaborators are studying homeowners' perceptions of living in or near fire-prone areas. Homeowners in Ruidoso, along with some in California, Colorado and Michigan, were selected for a national study of residents' perceptions of wild-fire management and home and yard design and maintenance. The research is funded by the Joint Fire Science Program and the U.S. Forest Service, Northern Research Station, according to Christine Vogt, Associate Professor of Community, Agriculture, Recreation and Resource Studies and Principal Investigator on Research for the Forest Service at Michigan State University in East Lansing.

Homeowners received mail from Michigan State University last month and in May, she said. The study is designed to learn more about full-time and seasonal residents who live in areas where wildfire and fuel management, including private homeowners' efforts, play a central role for local fire departments and state and federal natural resource managers.

A random sample of residents was selected to receive a questionnaire that takes about 15 minutes to complete, Vogt said. Participation is voluntary but encouraged, for the data to accurately represent the opinions of the full range of residents.

Sales in Dallas would figure heavily into proposed development

dstallings@ruidosonews.com

Developers of the proposed 96-unit Sierra Blanca Mountain Resort will set up a sales center in downtown Dallas, if Ruidoso village councilors approve the development next month.

During a hearing last week, Bryan Mantsch, a principal in Artista Resorts Inc., the development company that picked the site of the existing Swiss Chalet motel for a massive fractional-ownership luxury resort, gave members of the village Planning and Zoning Commission a brief overview of how the development would be sold.

Commissioners recommended the 8.23-acre project for approval to the council in a 4-2 vote.

Mantsch said someone could buy a whole condominium, but "most often they purchase four weeks or 1/12th interest. They either come there or stay at one of the other 2,200 resorts internationally."

An onsite management company will oversee the operation of the $80 million resort, he said.

"Twenty percent of the 28 units proposed to be built in the first phase of the project must be sold by the end of summer to go vertical in September," Mantsch said. If a higher percent is pre-sold, the entire steel and concrete project could be built in one phase, he said. If not, the project would be broken into two phases, he said, adding, "It's purely crystal ball."

Phase one would cover 28 residential units in a five-story building, each consisting of 1/12th interests for a total of 330 to sell, he explained. To meet the goal, 66 of the 1/12th interests must be pre-sold this summer.

All of the 80,000 square feet of common space would be constructed in the first phase to draw in buyers and the public to the "profit centers" such as the water park, spa, arcade and restaurants. Although most of the Swiss Chalet structure would be demolished, the restaurant would remain open until the two fourth floor restaurants at the resort were operational, he said.

"Seventy percent of the market here in Ruidoso comes from Texas," Mantsch said. "That's why we chose Dallas and we will show plenty of photographs of the views."

Mexican nationals and Arizona residents with annual minimum incomes of $150,000 also would be targeted, he said.

"Half will pay in cash," he predicted.

After listening to complaints from neighbors about the high density of the project and the noise, trash and traffic it may generate, Planning Commissioner Ray Alborn asked Mantsch if he would consider reducing the number of units. Without a second's pause, Mantsch barked "no," and repeated it when Alborn rephrased his question.

Village Planning Director Bob Decker said he anticipates the project will be charged about $42,490 in village water and sewer impact fees because Swiss Chalet already operated 82 units. Impact fees would be charged against the additional 14 condominiums, he said.

Commissioner Bill Hirschfeld questioned if the impact is the same for a motel room versus three-bedroom condominium units.

When a performance bond was mentioned to guarantee proper completion of the project, if and as it is approved, attorney H. John Underwood, representing Artista, said usually such a bond only covers infrastructure, not an entire project. He reasoned that if a project failed, the village wouldn't want to be responsible for collecting the bond and finishing the work.

"I will make everyone comfortable with the numbers, as long as they can be confidential," Mantsch said.

But some of the commissioners said after a prior experience with a large development that stalled, they would like some other type of assurance.

Pinnacle Realtor Scott Miller, who said he is the broker on the deal, said while meeting with various village department heads to discuss details, Mantsch asked what the major issues are in the area. He was told "water, water and water," Miller said.

Because of the incorporation of many water conservation devices, including low-flow fixtures, the average daily consumption per person of the project is estimated at 40 gallons. Representatives of the developer cited 56 gallons per day per person for a typical single-family dwelling in Albuquerque.

The online figure for Albuquerque is higher at 175 gallons pppd, but Decker said that figure might relate to required capacity in water pipes, which is higher than actual consumption.

Recalling figures during his tenure in planning in Arizona, Decker said the gallons being treated at the wastewater plant in his area dropped from 100 gallons to 60 gallons per person per day, and a nearby community hit 45 gallons as fixtures, appliances and technology improved.

Miller said when he served on a local economic development commission, members were trying to find ways to sell Ruidoso and attract soft industry.

"This is exactly what the commission was trying to attract," he said.

"Ruidoso is growing because of more amenities," Miller said. "This facility caters to families. The $110,000 cost for one month stay in comparables would buy an old cabin or a mobile home, or a small condo that someone may use for 30 to 45 days a year, if they are lucky."

The comparison pales to a Five Star luxury resort that pays attention to items such as linen thread count and puts a flat screen television in every unit. "Everything has to be perfect," he said.

"He (Mantsch) offered to be the first to sign a developer's agreement," Miller said. "He offered to send people to Wisconsin to check out his other resort." Artista previously developed two resorts on Lake Delton in Wisconsin and Winstan Palms in Englewood, Fla.

Domenici cleared of rules violation

A two-month ethics investigation resulted in some criticism, but a favorable outcome for U.S. Sen. Pete Domenici.

Citizens for Responsibility and Ethics in Washington (CREW) asked the Senate Select Committee on Ethics to investigate whether the Republican from New Mexico violated Senate Rules by contacting David C. Iglesias, then the U.S. Attorney in Albuquerque, about an ongoing corruption probe. The allegations surfaced when Iglesias was one of eight U.S. Attorneys fired by the Bush Administration, exercising the presidential prerogative.

The action sparked Democratic accusations that they were fired for political reasons.

Senate Ethics Committee members Thursday concluded Domenici created an appearance of impropriety when he called a federal prosecutor in New Mexico to ask about the timing of corruption indictments. But while they criticized Domenici in a letter to the senator, they recommended no punishment.

Can Ruidoso Downs move forward with consensus?

While the cartoon to the right highlights the recent goings-on in the Ruidoso Downs City Hall, as of Monday, the question has been answered, at least when it comes to who will be in charge of many of the former City Manager's duties.

Those tasks will fall – in some part – to current city clerk Carol Virden and procurement/asset/control director Terri Mosley, who will see their salaries increase along with their duties after action taken by the city council at its regular meeting.

It's good to get this reorganization behind us and move on to more pressing issues. The city's preliminary budget is due to the Department of Finance Authority within the next few weeks, and it's kind of hard to put together a budget when you're not even sure who's supposed to be putting it together.

The one note of discord we saw was the split decision on the votes – Rene Olivo and Dean Holman on one side, Tommy Hood and Gary Williams on the other – with Mayor Tom Armstrong casting the deciding vote each time.

First of all, this is a great deal of power thrust into the hands of one man because the council can't come to a consensus.

Second, the split votes show there are still questions about whether the city is headed in the right direction.

Now that the restructuring is finished, we hope that all those involved can put this behind them and get on with the city's business, keeping in mind the good of the people, regardless of perceived political alliances.

Bill's latest idea on schools original, at least

MOM FRIES EGG ON SIDEWALK!

It was the standard summer headline in the local paper of my Southern California youth. Purpose was to let us know it was pretty danged hot, something we pretty much knew without reading the paper.

There was no passenger seat in the souped-up Model A borrowed from my brother for my very first driver's license road test. A simple bucket served that purpose. The sweaty, overweight motor vehicle clerk was not happy about that. He was even less happy when we chugged to an out-of-gas stop a half mile from his office and he had to trudge back through the sweltering heat.

Governor Bill Richardson would have argued if I was too dumb to check the gas gauge. I was too dumb to get a license. Big Bill just might have been right.

That's not quite the basis of his latest effort to improve education in New Mexico, but it is close. His groundbreaking idea – give Bill credit for originality if nothing else – is to tie driver's license acquisition to school progress.

To get her first license, Susie must achieve a near-proficient score or higher on the state's math and reading tests in eighth grade. Susie must also maintain a 90 percent attendance rate in ninth grade to qualify for that all-important wallet document that sets teens free to roam.

This sets off all types of reactions, depending on one's political hot wiring.

The conservative says, about time, and maybe we should advance the driving age to 18 and make the kids present a diploma before being issued a license. No "Support the Troops" bumper sticker? No license.

The liberal says, poor baby, it is a violation of his civil rights to make this child go to school 90 percent of the time.

Automatic no-testing license for any teen driving a hybrid.

The governor announced his plan to an Albuquerque freshman class who no doubt gazed upon him in open-mouthed wonder. They must have secretly wished Big Bill would have stayed on the presidential campaign trail so he would not have so much time on his hands.

Some of the other initiatives Richardson unveiled are worthy of discussion, but it is the driver's license bombshell that will get the attention.

If nothing else, it is positive that some of that attention is diverted to the underlying issue, the sad state of education. There are just too many kids leaving our schools without being able to read a simple paragraph, write an intelligible sentence, or figure out how many apples you have left if you start with 134 and take away 87.

Taking a look at the year 2005, about 29 percent of Hispanic, 35 percent of Native American, 31 percent of African American and 13 percent of Anglo eighth graders flubbed the math proficiency test.

Bill's big bet is that withholding driver's licenses from these kids will give them initiative to buckle down and hit the books. Maybe so. I would give Bill's program an A for creative thinking and a C- for practicality. When the report card on this program is delivered in a few years, a passing grade is doubtful.

It would seem to me the underlying causes of poor school performance are complex issues having to do with the breakdown of the social fabric, and, if so, will not be remedied by the offering of a simple incentive.

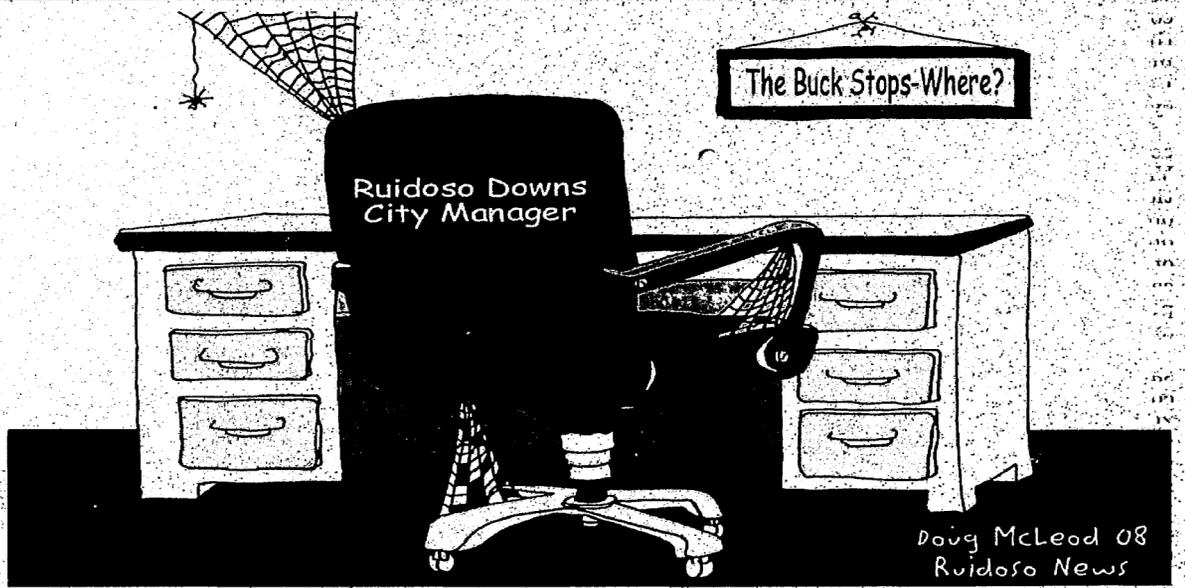

But what do I know? I flunked my test.

Lincoln County Transit thanks the Village and Downs

Dear Editor:

WE OF THE Lincoln County Transit would like to thank the City of Ruidoso Downs for stepping forward and being the fiscal agent for the new Lincoln County Transit. We would also like to thank them for their foresight and commitment not only to the residents of Ruidoso Downs but also for the commitment to all the citizens of Lincoln County.

Thank you to the Village of Ruidoso for matching funds, thus bringing Ruidoso and Lincoln County into the future. There are many things that have huge impacts on the citizens of Ruidoso and Lincoln County and public transportation will be an important part in our area for years to come. Some of the ways the impact will be seen are:

- (1) Providing employees to fill the jobs and making it possible for them to get to work everyday in this climate of rising fuel prices;
- (2) Providing our growing senior population the means to get around and giving them the ability to not be isolated and alone;
- (3) Allowing all citizens easier access to health care, shopping and the fun things of life that public transportation can provide;
- (4) Providing the disabled the opportunity to work, make a difference for themselves and be a contributing member of the community;

(5) Giving employers of the area more parking and a larger, more reliable workforce; and

(6) Allowing the visitors options of transportation to various events and businesses in the community.

This is a project that will benefit the area for years to come in ways and areas not even dreamed of today.

We would like to encourage the Commissioners of Lincoln County to join the Village and the Downs in starting this beneficial project. Public transportation on a county-wide basis is the goal and will soon be a reality for the whole county. We must step out and get the system started. This project is like a small tree. You must water and nurture a young tree before you can enjoy the full shade that it will produce. Public transportation in Lincoln County is somewhat like that tree; we must give it funds and an opportunity to grow and spread its benefits to the whole county. As soon as we get our base up and running we will be reaching out to the entire county as funds and equipment will allow. But the only way for there to be public transportation from Corona to Hondo and everywhere in-between, however, is to start the project and give it an opportunity to grow. Soon that dream of a county-wide and hopefully a region-wide public transportation system will be a reality.

With the support of Ruidoso Downs, Village of Ruidoso and soon Lincoln County, public transportation could be a reality in Lincoln County by late fall of 2008. There are many things to accomplish between now and then, but we of the Lincoln County Transit Committee, with your help, are working to make, this a reality.

Two heroes stop a fire

To the editor:

IT WAS A windy Friday around 4 p.m., quitting time for the week. Two heroes were driving their trucks along D003 and Little Creek Rd. in Rancho Ruidoso. They spotted a grass fire next to the road. They called 911 and then jumped out and stomped out that fire.

Our response was quick, but by the time our fire trucks arrived, the fire was out. We only had to drown the black ashes.

Those heroes are Nick Millar and Gary Wells. We don't know who the idiot was who threw the cigarette out the window that started the fire. And, we don't know how big that fire would have grown without the quick action of our heroes. Thanks Nick and Gary! And, please, everyone, don't throw cigarettes out the windows!

Clarifying the rental debate

Editor's note: The following is in response to a letter written by John Duncan, which was inadvertently attributed to Chuck Duncan.

To the editor:

I WOULD LIKE to offer two small corrections to Mr. Chuck Duncan's letter of May 9. First, the number of homes in the rental pool stated by Mr. Duncan to be 1,200 and called "Mason's own number" is not mine. It was attributed to rental insider Cindi Davis of Condotel in the Sept. 21, 2007, issue of Ruidoso News.

Second, Duncan errs in believing that I am trying to eradicate tourism. Actually, I am proposing that through intelligent regulation and capping of a swollen nightly bedroom rental market, we can protect our economy by retaining residents and traditional second-home owners. There need not be any foreclosures or involuntary reduction of the rental pool if we use the Santa Fe ordinance as a model. We can offer a short-term rental permit to anyone who can demonstrate by tax payments that he was a short-term renter before Jan. 1, 2008. By canceling permits for any property that changes ownership, we would gradually decrease the number and increase the value of permits by attrition.

Stiff regulation and neighborhood monitoring can restore decorum, eliminate overcapacity rentals, and open new rental opportunities. When a party of 12 is sternly denied occupancy, it just might turn into two parties of six and rent two cabins.

Finally, if I have been in any way responsible for Mr. Duncan's hyperventilation problem, I offer my apology.

Givers or takers?

Dear Editor:

I HAVE LIVED in this town since 1989. I have given money, time and paintings for Hospice Home Health Care, Humane Society, Disabled Skiers and concerts at RHS to enable the drama students club to go to New York City and see Broadway shows.

Now, after a 10-year absence of a Miss Ruidoso for the Miss American scholarship program, I volunteered to get the program going again. I am now in the unenviable position of having to beg for help for two very deserving girls.

This town should be so proud of two young women, both with a GPA of 4.0, and one on the Dean's list at UNM. I paid for their crowns, for 300 letters to go out to all the Chamber of Commerce members, have devoted myself for five months to help these girls and have organized dinner shows at Mountain Annie's to publicize how Ruidoso Proud we should be.

We are now down to the wire. The state pageant for Miss New Mexico/Miss America begins June 1. I have donated a painting that is on my Internet Web site, valued at $18,000. The "Grand Canyon," when auctioned, will go to the highest bidder, with all proceeds going to Shelby Rist and Aleah Topper on April 25, at Mountain Annie's.

Now I come to you, and others. I am pleading for help to see how really supportive Ruidoso is of their youth. This is the bottom line, the nitty gritty. Where are we in the book of life? We need a bang-up "thank you appreciation" ad for two girls who represent all of us. Are we going to sit on our hands or are we going to help them by being there for them, in person and monetarily. I am going to ask all of you to go put some money in the Miss Ruidoso Scholarship Fund at First National Bank and help these girls.

Are you a giver or a taker? You decide.

County Commission unwilling to commit funds for transit system

DIANNE STALLINGS
dstallings@ruidosonews.com

Lincoln County commissioners decided in a 3-2 vote they are unwilling to commit $25,000, as one-third of the matching money needed to initiate a Lincoln County Transit system.

That puts a $25,000 commitment from the Village of Ruidoso in question, because it was for only one year, contingent on the county and the city of Ruidoso Downs, the fiscal agent for the system, pledging the same amounts.

But transit advocates say they will be back on the commission agenda May 20 in the hope they can answer any lingering questions and convince commissioners that the system will benefit all their constituents who need transportation.

Voting for the motion to budget the $25,000 were Commissioners Dave Parks and Don Williams. Voting against were Jackie Powell, Eileen Lovelace and Chairman Tom Battin.

Lovelace said she couldn't see supporting the system for two years before her constituents in Carrizozo and Corona may benefit. Powell said she doubted the system would ever be used by her constituency in the valley east of Ruidoso Downs.

Battin said he needed more time to study the business plan prepared for the Lincoln County Transit group at the commission's request by Gene Simmons of the Small Business Development Center and Jim Miller.

While Parks said he thought bringing Capitan workers and college students into Ruidoso was one of the core reasons for the transit system and he was disappointed a route was not included for the first year, he was willing to back the plan for future benefit of his area. Williams is elected from Ruidoso, the destination point for most of the workers and many of those seeking medical attention, shopping or attending functions at senior centers.

Maury St. John, a former county commissioner and transit proponent, said Thursday representatives of the group should have stayed at the budget review last week to answer questions that popped up later.

"But Tom Battin was on the prevailing side and was able to put the item back on the regular commission agenda for May 20 under the discussion of the budget," she said.

The transit group also was able to obtain a slight extension from state Department of Transportation officials to allow a second go at commissioners.

"We have a chance for them to vote again on it and hopefully, we will be able to answer the questions they have," St. John said. "In the survey we did all over the county, of the 642 people who responded, the survey showed that 8 percent were from the valley and said they wanted to ride it."

She pointed out that the first "year" of the operation really is only seven months and Capitan would be covered the second year, with outlying areas following the third year. But with all three financial commitments in hand, they could take a hard look at scheduling and possibly come up with some arrangement to serve those areas earlier, she said.

"But it would be ridiculous for us with the small amount of vans at the outset to promise," she said.

Raising fares from $1 for each one-way ride won't help financially, because the money comes off the top before reimbursements from the state. The trip fees are estimated to generate about $15,000 the first year at $1 per one-way trip, Miller said.

Transit systems legally are required to incorporate Native American groups in their areas. It's possible that in Mescalero and for other entities, service agreements can be worked out, which would benefit the transit system financially, she said.

During the presentation to the commission, Miller reminded the board that the push for a transit began in 2005, but faded until St. John and a new circle of supporters became involved.

Two grant applications, one catering to the Americans With Disabilities Act and one for general transportation, were filed last year with the city of Ruidoso Downs as fiscal agent. The city's population shows a greater need for transit support.

The advocacy group in October and November surveyed close to 700 county residents, with the results attached to the business plan, Miller said.

On March 27, the state DOT awarded $322,233 as the maximum amount that could be drawn on to operate a system beginning October 2008.

To receive the money, Ruidoso Downs needed $25,000 commitments from the county and Ruidoso, as well as kicking in the same amount.

The state grants would allow the system to begin with three vehicles, one donated by the vocational rehabilitation division in the city, and two to be purchased, Miller said.

Service is to be offered from the Bonito River at Angus to east of Ruidoso Downs in the first phase, extend to a loop in Lincoln and Honda in the second phase and a park and ride for Carrizozo and Capitan.

"I drafted a joint powers agreement for you to consider and eventually adopt to set up some kind of regional organization as this county did in 1991 for collection and disposal of solid waste," Miller said.

"There's one fitty number in the financials," Miller said. "This was done in late January and fuel costs have gone through the ceiling."

Although Oct. 1 is the target start-up date, routes may not be operating until November or December, he said.

Battin seemed surprised by the anticipated rate of growth. Miller said it would be even faster with more vehicles, but the state cut equipment across the board on all grants.

Powell pointed out that most of the senior citizen centers have vans to serve their patrons. They can take them shopping, to medical appointments and deliver meals, which accounted on the rider interest survey for a high percentage of the transports needed, Battin noted. Miller said the business plan listed everyone offering transit in county currently and no one is licensed to deliver the proposed kind of service.

"But they are limited as to who they can pick up and the kinds of things they can transport people to," Miller replied.

The grants are strictly a federal flow-through, cash reimbursement with billing monthly for each entity participating based on the number of one-way rides originating within their boundaries.

Williams emphasized the county would only be responsible for the number of trips that originate in unincorporated areas of the county.

Lovelace said people in Capitan could carpool to Angus to catch the transit system there into Ruidoso or Ruidoso Downs to work or attend college classes.

The exception would be the disabled, who would be able to schedule specific pickups at their homes with the ADA van, Miller said.

The vans carry 15 passengers. Lovelace said someone trying to catch a ride home might find themselves without a seat, but a transit representative said rides are to be prearranged 24 hours in advance to receive the discounted $1 rate. That should help, she said.

"I just don't see this area is ready for it," Powell said. "It's an incredible expense that someone will have to take over. What this could cost, I don't see we're ready for that yet. I don't see people walking and in need. I've always done for my parents and most of my constituents are the same."

"If Ruidoso and Ruidoso Downs want it, wonderful."

Pointing to the endorsement of the project by the Carrizozo mayor, Lovelace said, "It's not costing them anything now. I'd like to see it go, but not on our dime."

Parks pushed for a one-year commitment, saying, "We won't ever know (about the viability) if we don't try."

Stewart warned that rejecting the commitment could kill the project, and offered a lower dollar figure as a commitment, but the majority of commissioners favored zero commitment.

SMOKING

puffs, in the evening, the vehicle is there for patrons of the family's two bars, not for customers of other bars or restaurants.

"They have to figure out what to do for their customers," he said.

Fowler said by providing the bus, he hopes not only to reduce the fire danger, but also to provide his patrons with a safe and legal place to smoke. He was astounded to hear that a few still insisted on smoking outside.

The danger from cigarettes is real, as fire fighters discovered in a 50 acre blaze south of Corona Monday, when they found the cigarette butt that sparked the fire, most likely tossed from a car window.

Steven F. Makowski Jr.,
of Capitan, died on May 12, 2008 from lung cancer. He is survived by his wife, Ginny; his daughters, Candice and Cicelee, and siblings Cindy, Bob, Jerry and Patrick Makowski. He is preceded in death by his parents Steven and Lillian Ryan Makowski.

Steve spent over thirty years with the U.S. Forest Service, most of them in New Mexico. After retiring, he continued contracting as a dispatcher to keep fighting fire. Towards the end of his career and into retirement, Steve enjoyed the hobby of hot air ballooning with his favorite pilot, Ginny.

In recent years Steve returned to the land that he loved and built his dream home with the help of friends. Steve's gentle strength, love and kindness will be missed by all. He truly was a good person.

Per his request, a simple and casual memorial gathering of family and friends will be held Saturday, May 17th at 2:00 pm at the Sam Tobias picnic area in Cedar Creek, located behind the Forest Service Ranger Station at 901 Mechem Dr. in Ruidoso.

In lieu of flowers, contributions may be made to CaringBridge.org, which was a vessel of communication in this difficult time or Ruidoso Home Health and Hospice.

WME students create their own instruments

Each year, fourth grade students at White Mountain Elementary are encouraged to participate in the Annual A+ Music Instrument Project. After exploring many different types of instruments, students are given the opportunity to create their own instrument and are limited only by their imagination. Students may work independently, with friends or with adults. This year, out of 74 entries, Jared Pollock won Grand Prize for "Jared's Tubular Band." He actually created 3 different instruments: two wind instruments and a percussion instrument.

EDUCATION BRIEFS

Essay winners

Eighth grade students at Ruidoso Middle School recently competed in an essay contest, sponsored by the Rotary Club of Ruidoso, with students attempting to share the Rotary 4-way test with family and friends.

Adopted in 1943, the Rotary 4-way test places four conditions on all things members say and do:

1. Is it the truth? 2. Is it fair to all concerned? 3. Will it build goodwill and better friendships? 4. Will it be beneficial to all concerned?

Essays were judged by a committee of local Rotarians.

Winner of the first place award was Cheyenne Mathison, who received a $100 cash award. Megan Bartle took the $50 second-place award, while Erin Snowden was the third-place winner of $25.

All winners, their parents and grandparents were guests at a recent Rotary luncheon meeting, where Mathison read her winning essay.

Steven Makowski, Jr.

Steven F. Makowski, Jr., died on May 12, 2008 from lung cancer.

He is survived by his wife, Ginny; his daughters, Candice and Citelee, and siblings Cindy, Bob, Jerry and Patrick Makowski. He is preceded in death by his parents Steven and Lillian

Makowski

Ryan Makowski

Steve spent more than 30 years with the U.S. Forest Service, most of them in New Mexico.

After retiring, he continued contracting as a dispatcher to keep fighting fire.

Towards the end of his career and into retirement, Steve enjoyed the hobby of hot air ballooning with his favorite pilot, Ginny.

In recent years, Steve returned to the land that he loved and built his dream home with the help of friends.

Steve's gentle strength, love and kindness will be missed by all. He truly was a good person.

Per his request, a simple and casual memorial gathering of family and friends will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday, May 17, at the Sam Tobias picnic area in Cedar Creek, located behind the Forest Service Ranger Station at 901 Mechem Dr. in Ruidoso.

In lieu of flowers, contributions may be made to CaringBridge.org, which was a vessel of communication in this difficult time, or to the Ruidoso Home Health and Hospice.

Deal too good to be true

New Mexico consumers have alerted the New Mexico Attorney General's Office of possible fraudulent activity on Craig's List involving ads for home lease/rentals as well as vehicle and television sales.

One suspicious ad reported involved a renter looking for potential tenants for a two bedroom, two bath Northeast Heights Albuquerque home. The renter had "just transferred to West Africa, we are looking to rent this home to a reliable trustworthy tenant." The address could not be confirmed that it actually exists although photographs of the home were on Craig's List.

A consumer from Taos has informed the AGO that he was issued a "Check Payment of $5,500" by a Craig's List potential renter for a property for which he was only requiring a $1,500 payment. The party interested in renting the home stated, through email, that he or she had just been "apprised by my Sponsor" of the overpayment "situation" and instructed the property owner to transfer the overage of $3,500 to a furniture company supposedly involved in the party's "move." The transfer was to take place via Western Union.

Vehicles for sale ads, meant to pull on the heart strings of Americans make claims like, "I am located in London, United Kingdom and I was sent here to improve military relationships between the U.S.A. and U.K. One month ago, my wife moved here with me and brought the car with her, but now we have to sell it back in the United States because we can't register it here." A New Mexico consumer who inquired into various cars on Craig's List received the same type of response with each vehicle he looked into.

Another example of a possibly fraudulent listing was a 2004 Lexus LS 430 for sale, in perfect condition, for $4,230. The price included shipping costs. Global Payments Inc. was listed as the 3rd party for the transaction. This type of car was listed on Kelley Blue Book's web site for $34,225.

Remember, when a any deal looks too good to be true, it probably is. If a sale requires the transferring of funds due to an excess of any kind, it is likely to be a scam. Keep all personal and private information confidential.

policy) for existing employees."

Shaw said Higgins was told to follow the recommendation of the consultant shortly after he was hired in March 2007 and eliminate merit and longevity increases, instead tying increases to training and certifications.

"It's not all his fault, but it went by the wayside," Shaw said. "The salary issue was my baby and I should have scheduled a workshop."

Higgins told Cory that he planned to review all employee salaries in June. Under the existing policy, after one year, employees receive a 4 percent longevity increase and then every five years, an additional 5 percent automatically, on top of any COLA.

"It's only a manager's policy," Shaw said. "It's not in our personnel ordinance."

Higgins reviewed each general fund department, but observed generally that vehicle repair now is being tracked and expenses assigned to the appropriate departments and enterprise funds. He said earned interest is up by $35,000, as the village weans itself from low certificate of deposit interest rates into other investments.

Higgins said an extra $39,000 bonus resulted when the village received a rebate, because its excellent workman's compensation record, one of the top in the state.

For the next budget workshop session at 4:30 p.m., Thursday, to cover village self-supporting enterprise funds, Cory said he would like to have a report on the status of an additional reserve councilors established a few years ago.

"I'm curious about the proposed balance in that," he said.

Councilor Ron Hardeman said he'd like a breakdown on how money to be reimbursed to the general fund was and will be spent at Wingfield Park.

Rebstock suggested that money budgeted for the Ruidoso Regional Council for the Arts be listed under contractual services, because the group works under contract with the village to stage events and promote the arts. Higgins said he reduced the $40,000 approved for the current fiscal year to $30,000, acting on instructions from the council last year to wean the arts council off village support. The group also received $20,000 from lodgers tax, he pointed out.

Higgins said while administrative costs for handling different entities, funds and departments used to vary, a set 7 percent fee is being charged to "level the playing field."

The manager told councilors that insurance also is being allocated to individual departments, when it previously was all paid from the general fund. Some older vehicle insurance policies also were reduced from full coverage, he said.

Police Chief Wolfgang

Born said several warrant roundups were initiated for municipal court after the department beefed up staff, but when three officers left, the roundups were put on hold.

"We increased starting salaries, which was supposed to solve that," Rebstock said, referring to recruiting and holding on to officers.

Born said it did for a few months, but then one employee failed the training academy and two officers moved to further the careers of their spouses.

Higgins said the position of corporal was deleted in the department, which allowed Born to increase the entry level salary by $2 an hour to be more competitive.

Overtime in the fire and police departments continues to be a budget issue, because of the required shift work, Higgins said. Budgeted overtime under police increased from $140,000 to $165,000.

Hardeman asked how much impact on overtime comes from the two annual motorcycle rallies. The estimate was three to five hours of overtime per officer. Every officer works a 12-hour shift and no one is allowed time off during those rallies. But Born said overall the rally impact is fractional. The biggest hit comes in dispatch, because two people are needed for each shift, and when someone takes a vacation or is ill, it's hard to cover.

Cory also asked for an update on the new municipal cemetery and a project list from the Street Department on what is on the list to be accomplished next fiscal year with the limited budget.

"Constituents call and it would be nice to tell them where their tax money is going," he said.

covers the counties of Otero and Lincoln, about the time and cost to the department when witnesses subpoenaed to testify do not show up for a court date.

"Although this has been an ongoing problem for years, recently it has taken on a new urgency and is causing more and more problems," he wrote. "All too often our officers devote their time and efforts to bring a defendant before the court system to answer for his or her crimes, only to have valuable witnesses fail to show up. Consequently, the cases are dismissed and our officers have wasted their time and the taxpayer's money in a futile effort to bring about justice."

"And in some cases, the victims themselves waste our time by wanting help when something is happening, but being unwilling to follow through once it is clear that they will have to testify."

Officers spend hours interviewing, gathering evidence at a crime scene, handling the paperwork and traveling to court, only to see a case fail because someone doesn't show up, Born wrote.

"Perhaps it's time to enforce the punishment section of a subpoena which states that if you fail to appear and testify, you may be held in contempt of court and punished by fine or imprisonment," he suggested.

People should want to appear to do the right thing, he observed. But sometimes, the added impetus of a possible fine or jail term would help.

In a release from the district attorney's office after Butts' ruling, Ely stated that while he is willing to work with witnesses to arrange transportation and/or accommodation, "When a witness takes it upon him or herself to disobey a subpoena for court and fails to show up, there are going to be consequences, if they don't communicate with our office."

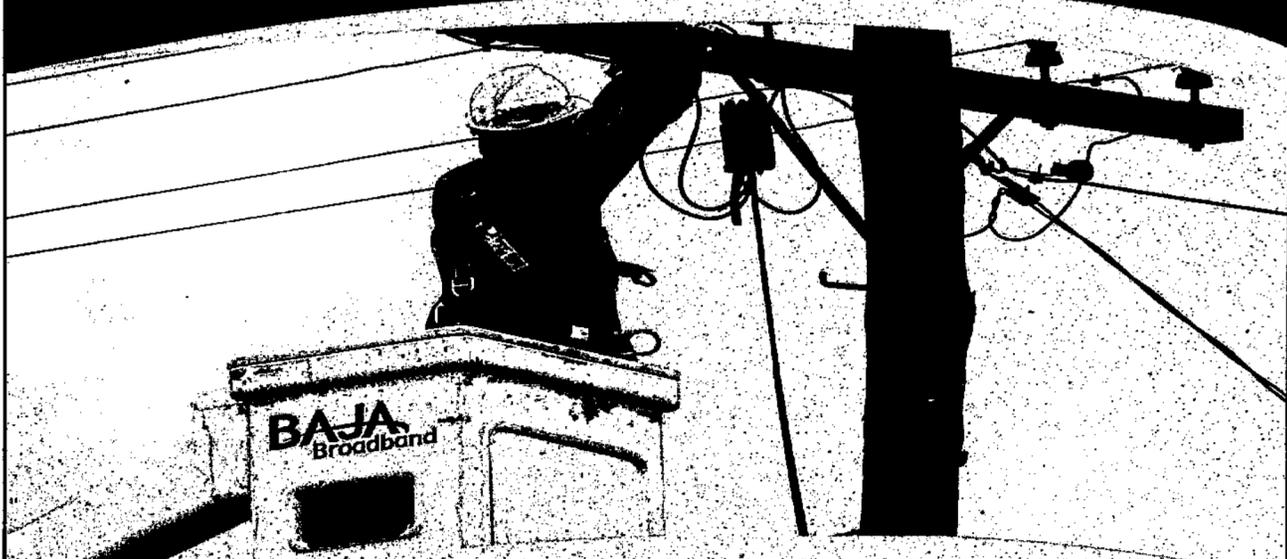

Witnesses who don't show up for criminal proceedings create problems for the court system, he said. The law requiring compliance with a subpoena will be enforced, he said.

and Mosley would be taking on extra duties, the extra pay is justified.

When Armstrong asked what those extra duties are, Armstrong became direct.

"We've had several discussions on this for the past few weeks," Armstrong said. "I just want a yes or no answer now."

Williams and councilor Tommy Hood continued to raise questions over the vote, and when Williams asked Dean Holman - who had made the original motion on the city clerk job - to retract that motion and table the issue, again, Armstrong called for a vote.

Holman and Rene Olivo voted for the change, Williams and Hood were against, leaving Armstrong with the tie-breaking vote, Armstrong voted in favor of his proposed restructuring.

The same discussion occurred over Mosley's position, although Williams - sensing the way things were going - asked Armstrong for reassurances the requirements for the procurement director would include more than a high school diploma.

"Ms. Mosley has done a wonderful job for us, but when she's gone, I want to make sure we have somebody that can meet some higher standards," Williams said.

He also hinted that - as a member of the city's finance committee - he might have to look at cutting back on some items in the upcoming budget due to the pay increases.

The vote on Mosley's position fell along the same lines as before, with Armstrong casting the deciding vote.

With that decided, Armstrong removed agenda items which would have named Virden as the City Administrator and adding the finance director title to Mosley's position. With the salary increases and job descriptions having been approved, those two agenda items were rendered moot.

During the public comment, resident Wayne Williams praised Armstrong and the current council, saying they've done a lot of good work in the short amount of time they've been in office.

"I would hope the personalities don't clash too much," Williams said. "I supported Tom Armstrong in his bid for office. But I would remind you that I also supported Gary Williams. I even helped run his campaign."

"Good government is about getting the citizens' work done, and any disagreements should only be for the community's good," he added.

In other business, the council:

- Set May 21 as the date for a budget workshop meeting in council chambers, beginning at 3 p.m.

- Approved a $1,840 budget adjustment to pay for a part-time municipal court clerk.

- Accepted recommendations from the lodger's tax committee for funding in the 2008-09 budgetary year. Olivo raised the question why the Ruidoso Downs Auxiliary was not recommended to receive any funding. Wayne Williams - a tax committee member - explained the events put on by the Auxiliary are usually held during busy weekends when people are already in town for other events - making the Auxiliary's event impact on lodgers negligible. The total amount recommended by the committee for various events was $24,000.

- Tabled an agreement between the city and Resource Enterprises concerning the Escondido Hills subdivision;

- Approved a waiver allowing overnight parking at All American Park for an open air market hosted by the Ruidoso Downs Auxiliary during the Labor Day weekend. Councilor Williams asked that the waiver be approved with the understanding that questions of open flames for food preparation, security and presence of pets be answered before the event takes place; and,

- Passed a resolution authorizing Armstrong, Holman, Virden and Mosley as representatives authorized to sign documents pertaining to the city's wastewater system improvement.

Fort Stanton renovations to begin

Projects to stabilize and renovate several historic buildings at Fort Stanton State Monument will get under way this spring, Gov. Bill Richardson announced Monday.

"I commend Secretary Arturo Jaramillo and his staff at the General Services Department for their work in implementing these projects," Richardson said. "Work on historically significant buildings presents particular difficulties in design and implementation to ensure that the historical integrity is maintained."

The GSD staff worked in close coordination with historic preservation experts from the Department of Cultural Affairs in finalizing the design-development documents for the projects.

They will be implemented with $1.76 million in funding secured from the state Legislature and from foundation grants.

Pending projects, slated to go to bid are:

- Renovation of the administration building on the Fort Stanton Quadrangle for museum and office space. The legislature appropriated $1 million for this project at Richardson's request in the 2007 session. The project may be bid in May.

- Stabilization of the old Pershing Quarters, the commandant's quarters and the old officers' quarters next to the hospital on the main fort quadrangle. Gen. John "Black Jack" Pershing, commander of the expeditionary force that pursued Pancho Villa into Mexico following the raid on Columbus, N.M., in 1916, and later the commander of U.S. forces in World War I in Europe, was quartered in the building now identified as the old Pershing Quarters during his tour of duty at Fort Stanton. This project is projected to go to bid in mid-April.

- Continuation of the stabilization and renovation of the stone stables at Fort Stanton.

"These projects are only the first stage in implementing my goal of making Fort Stanton a major piece in the living history of the town of Lincoln and the state," Richardson said. "Lincoln and Fort Stanton were where the events of the Lincoln County War of the 1880s, in which the world-renowned outlaw Billy the Kid played a prominent role, took place."

Fort Stanton was established in 1855, and served as a military outpost, an internment camp for German sailors, and as the nation's first federal tuberculosis hospital.

Historic sites to gain additional federal funding

American historic sites would gain needed federal resources under legislation approved by the Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee, says U.S. Sen. Pete Domenici.

The Preserve America and Save America's Treasures Act (S.2262) authored by Domenici was among the bills approved Tuesday by the Senate committee, of which Domenici is the ranking member. The legislation that now can be considered by the full Senate, would formally codify the Preserve America and Save America's Treasures programs, initiated through presidential executive orders.

"This legislation creates the authorization needed to establish both programs on a long-term basis. Committee approval is a big step toward our goal of achieving final enactment," Domenici said. "I will continue my work to ensure both of these programs, which benefit several New Mexico historic sites, continue well beyond my time in the Senate.

"This bill will help preserve our nation's significant heritage areas and historic properties, and I am pleased to join Senator Domenici in supporting it," U.S. Sen. Jeff Bingaman (D-N.M.) said.

The Domenici bill's primary cosponsor is U.S. Sen. Hillary Clinton (D-N.Y.). First Lady Laura Bush last fall joined both senators in a ceremony to unveil the bill at Capitol Hill's historic Sewall-Belmont House and Museum. Bingaman is also a cosponsor of the legislation.

Both programs are currently administered by the Department of the Interior with the cooperation of other federal agencies, but have operated without congressional authorization since their inception.

The legislation would ensure their long-term viability.

In New Mexico, Las Vegas and Silver City are designated Preserve America communities, and 15 Save America's Treasures grants worth nearly $5 million were issued for historic preservation work throughout the state.

Preserve America grants complement the Save America's Treasures grant program, which funds "bricks and mortar" improvements to historic structures and assets, by providing competitive grants to encourage sustainable historic resource management through heritage tourism. Both programs build on preservation goals set in the National Historic Preservation Act of 1966.

Feds to offer help in water planning

President George W. Bush recently signed a law that includes legislation authored by U.S. Sen. Pete Domenici to give New Mexico added federal water planning assistance to more accurately assess its water resources.

New Mexico Water Planning Assistance Act (S.255) submitted by the Republican from New Mexico was included in S.2739, an amalgamation of 62 individual bills cleared by the Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee.

The New Mexico water legislation sponsored by U.S. Sen. Jeff Bingaman, authorizes the Bureau of Reclamation and U.S. Geological Survey to provide specific technical assistance to the New Mexico Office of the State Engineer to assess water resources in the state and their future use.

Bingaman, Senate Energy Committee chairman, said, "This new law will help New Mexico water managers plan for and meet the water needs of residents throughout the state."

The new law authorizes BOR and USGS to provide technical assistance to the state of New Mexico, and authorizes an annual $3.0 million for five years to the OSE to perform hydrologic models of New Mexico's most important water systems, basins and tributaries.

The technical and financial assistance will help the OSE acquire hydrologic data, assess existing water resources, coordinate efforts with federal water management initiatives, and assist with numerical analysis and modeling to provide an integrated understanding of water management options.

Domenici is ranking Republican on the Energy Committee, as well as the Senate appropriations subcommittee that funds federal water agencies. He authored similar legislation in the 109th Congress, and it cleared both the Senate and House, but neither measure was sent to the White House to become law.

Still pending before the Senate is a separate committee-passed Domenici bill, the New Mexico Aquifer Assessment Act (S.324).

The Act also cosponsored by Bingaman, would authorize the USGS to assess groundwater aquifer resources in the Estancia Basin, Salt Basin, Tularosa Basin, Hueco Basin, and Middle Rio Grande Basin in New Mexico.

Ruidoso doctor supply high per capita

DIANNE STALLINGS
dstallings@ruidosonews.com

In 2006, Lincoln County could boast of more physicians per capita than the state of New Mexico.

The county's profile was included in one of two studies completed by the New Mexico Health Policy Commission on the physician workforce in the state. The reports present an overview of the supply and distribution of physicians practicing in New Mexico as well as the demographics of the physician population.

They were designed to help planners, policy makers and the public make informed decisions about the adequacy of the physician workforce in their communities, regions, and the state, according to the researchers.

In 2006, Lincoln County was listed with 33 physicians, nine in primary care, two in obstetrics and gynecology, two in specialties, four surgeons, two in surgery specialties, two facility based, two psychiatrists and 11 others from allergies to dermatology to rehabilitation and pediatrics subspecialties.

The first study completed in conjunction with the Center for Health Workforce Studies of The State University of New York, was a follow-up to the 2002 physician survey completed by the center and the Health Policy Commission. The 2006 study looked at the demographics and distribution of New Mexico's physicians as well as issues of importance to New Mexico physicians.

Extensive data on physicians practicing in New Mexico by county is presented in the report ranging from aggregate counts of physicians and full-time equivalent physicians and practitioner-per-population ratios to descriptive statistics on the demographic and practice characteristics of New Mexico's physicians.

The second report completed by the commission looks at the results of the report and analyzes the data with respect to the current and future physician's workforce needs.

In the analysis summary, the 2006 physician survey indicated that there has been an improvement overall in many of the metrics of concern in 2001. The number of physicians per 1,000 population improved. The reports showed one physician per every 147.8 residents compared to the state, which had one for every 191.9 residents.

Fewer physicians were considering leaving the state, according to the summary. The percentage of physicians practicing in New Mexico in 2006, which attended medical school or had their residency in state, was improving. Practice capacity and recruitment of other physicians and health care providers was easier compared to 2001. More minority physicians were in practice in 2006, compared to 2001.

The study showed more female physicians were in practice compared to 2001. However, referral difficulties were greater in 2006 for most specialties.

Concerns about professional liability insurance, uncompensated care and Medicare reimbursement threaten the supply of physicians in the future, researchers concluded.

The distribution of physicians still was a major issue, with half of the New Mexico's physicians located in Bernalillo County. Many other counties fell short of an adequate number of physicians.

The aging of the physician population was a significant concern, because of the average age and the medical demand of a growing and an aging New Mexico population.

The state had a continuing dependence on other states to provide physician supply, with three quarters of the physicians being trained out of state. Given an impending national shortage now and for a considerable period into the future, New Mexico will face increased competition in the future for those out-of-state physicians who are relied upon.

Even with the planned growth in medical school slots nationally and in New Mexico, the need continues for expansion of the post medical school residency positions.

"The 1997 federal Balance Budget Amendment effectively capped the growth of the number of residency positions funded by Medicare to the level in place at that time. With residency training output now level, the expansion era of physician supply that began in the early 1960s has come to an end and the source for previous answers to a large part of New Mexico's physician supply problems will be diminished in the future as well," the report stated.

"The current physician survey as compiled in this report does support the generally held assumption that the majority of New Mexico, especially rural New Mexico, still is experiencing the effects of a physician supply shortage."

The report does not attempt to define approaches for rectifying the problem or to identify who should be responsible for correcting it.

"Without active intervention, however, the citizens of New Mexico will continue to be passively reliant on self-correction of a shortage status quo," the researchers wrote. "In order for New Mexico to have a sufficient supply of physicians in the future, ongoing monitoring of the status of the physician workforce is essential."

"However, there is also a need to assess the supply of other healthcare workers in the state since health care is provided by a team of professionals including nurses, pharmacists, dentists, and others. Shortages in any of these areas will affect the quality of health care for New Mexico's citizens. The development of incentives and policies to provide an adequate supply of physician services requires an accurate assessment of the current status of the workforce and anticipated changes over time."

Dr. Dan Dirksen, of the University of New Mexico School of Medicine and currently serving a fellowship with U.S. Sen. Jeff Bingaman's office, assisted in the preparation of the analysis report.

Copies of the reports can be obtained through the commission's Web site at www.hpc.state.nm.us/, or by calling 505-827-6201.

River Trail funding sought from DOT

U.S. Sen. Jeff Bingaman urged officials with the U.S. Department of Transportation to fund several scenic byway projects in New Mexico, including the River Trail in Ruidoso part of the Billy the Kid National Scenic Byway.

Proposals will be announced this summer. Funding proposals seeking include:

Billy the Kid National Scenic Byway, $202,100. Funding is requested for Phase I of a new pedestrian and bicycle path along New Mexico Highway 48 (Sodderth Drive) in the village of Ruidoso. The trail will wind two miles along the Rio Ruidoso.

Phase I includes a mile of trail, parking, a footbridge, bench seating, bathrooms and a river outlook.

Billy the Kid National Scenic Byway, $34,424. The byway committee will use the money to update the current corridor management plan for preparation of brochures, newsletters, maps and a Web site.

Trail of the Mountain Spirits National Scenic Byway, $162,400. The byway committee will use funds to improve signs and other interpretation of the West Fork Ruins in the Gila Cliff Dwellings National Monument and other locations along the byway.

La Frontera del Llano Scenic Byway, $77,000. The Village of Mosquero will use funds for new restrooms and an information kiosk.

State Wide Scenic Byways, $45,200. The New Mexico Department of Tourism will use funds to prepare a new guidebook of all 26 of New Mexico's scenic byways.

Santa Fe Trail National Scenic Byway, Las Vegas, $152,499.

The Citizens Committee for Historic Preservation in Las Vegas will use funds for seven new kiosks between Clayton and Santa Fe, 16 wayside exhibits, signs and a brochure.

Heartswideopen fit and ready

Champion racer has last work before Derby Trials

TY WYANT
For the Ruidoso News

Champion and All American Futurity winner Heartswideopen turned in her final serious preparation for her 2008 debut in the trials to the Grade 1, $300,000 (est.) Ruidoso Derby on May 24 when she worked 220 yards in :11.21 on Friday morning at Ruidoso Downs.

"She rolled like a big black train. She was laughing and smiling," said trainer Carl Draper.

Javier and Manny Rodriguez's Heartswideopen has not started since winning the All American Futurity on Labor Day.

She then had knee surgery in Weatherford, Texas, and recorded several works at Sunland Park before moving to Ruidoso Downs on April 23.

"I always want my horses to get a feel for the track they'll be racing over by working on it," said Draper.

She will have 15 days between the bullet work and the 400-yard Ruidoso Derby trials.

Heartswideopen overwhelmingly won the 2007 champion two-year-old and champion two-year-old filly titles by 22-2 margins.

Before her Grade 1, $1.9 million All American Futurity win, she won the Grade 1, $500,000 Ruidoso Futurity in stakes-record time and raced to the fastest 440 yards ever by a female when she won her 440-yard All American Futurity trial in :20.92.

She has won six of her seven career starts and earned $1,282,690.

Amanda Willingham, a 15-year-old Capitan resident, recently grabbed the first place spot in her age group as the All-Around State Champion at the New Mexico State Gymnastics Meet in mid-April in Albuquerque.

Sometimes talent comes in small packages, and this 5-foot-tall athlete proved that to be true.

Willingham competed with 10 others in Level 8 competition and as the result of her top finish, earned the right to participate in the regional meet in Plano, Texas, on April 26.

Six states met in Plano for the shootout and Willingham had to face-off

Ruidoso Ski Team wraps up season

LAURA DOTH
For the Ruidoso News

Mother Nature didn't seem to care that the calendar read April 12 and 13. Just to make things interesting, she unleashed blizzard conditions in central Colorado for the 48th running of the Loveland Derby.

Two feet of fresh snow blanketed the ski area as more than 600 racers from around the country prepared for two days of slalom racing.

Four Ruidoso area racers joined the competitors at Loveland Valley Ski Area.

With blowing snow, bitter cold temperatures, and ever-changing snow conditions, the first day of the competition was anything but pleasant.

Racers braved the elements and took to the courses anyway. Because of the sheer number of racers at the Loveland Derby, athletes competed in more than four different courses throughout the day.

"It's like a three-ring circus," said Ruidoso Ski Team coach, Mark Doth. "You've got all of your racers on different courses, all with different start times. The kids really have to step up to the plate and do this one on their own, because chances are the coach won't be there to help them inspect or start."

On the "red" course, J4 racer Mitchell Perry raced against 123 seasoned athletes. He finished the morning race in a respectable time of 55.73.

His second race of the day was completed in a time of 56.69, giving him a combined time of 1:52.42. He finished 69th for the day.

Ruidoso Triathlon 'meets' with success

MIKE CURRAN
mcurran@ruidosonews.com

The weather was agreeable and the many participants were more than equal to the task at hand Saturday as a fit throng of athletes gathered to compete.

The willing took up the call at 8 a.m., first for a little 500-yard swim, a mad dash to grab their bikes for a 10-mile ride and, finally, a 3-mile run to the finish line.

This year's Ruidoso Triathlon has to be judged highly successful - the event had twice the entrants of the previous year, including a substantial increase in family and youth teams.

The teams showed up with names like the Evil Cupcakes, Three Chicks and a Guy, Earth, Wind and Spitfire and Team Turtle.

The names may have had a frivolous air to them, but all were serious about their efforts.

According to Sarah

Crewe, "There were a lot of families in participation, including five children and adult combination teams."

Reportedly, most of the entrants were from out of town.

Athletes showed up from El Paso, Santa Fe, Albuquerque, Rio Rancho, Las Cruces and Demming, to name but a few.

Three of the entrants, Patrick Connor, Gary Bass and Crewe pulled their children behind them on a coupled bike - an additional 75-plus pounds or so.

The Grindstone Cowboys won first place (1:01.16) for the all-male team, 14-year-old Kaleb Cordova took the individual boys top spot (1:22.08) in the 19-and-under division, and the A+ Team grabbed a first (1:14:59 in the Co-Ed (81-90 total age) class.

Natalie Alonso, of El Paso, breezed in No.1 (1:29.75) in the girls 19-and-under classification, while Melinda Napier, of Rio Rancho, earned top honors (1:17.31) in the female, 30-39 age group.

The team of Ship-Tata came in first with a 1:44.33 for the all-female team class.

Other top honors went to Lynette Napier (1:43.49), of Socorro (60-99 age group), Tyler Haughness (20-29) with a 56:59, Gilbert Gil (50-59) with a 1:09.59, Hennie Fitzpatrick (womens, 50-59) with a 1:33.11, George Ferland (Clyde class), of Artesia, came in at 1:05.05 and Felicia Frizzell (Athena class), clocked a 1:49.53.

Additional first places went to Eric Saloman (1:15:29), of El Paso, in the 30-39 age group, Kurt Schwalm (1:09.31), of Albuquerque, 40-49 age class, Earth, Wind and Spitfire (1:03.13) scored a No.1 on the Co-Ed class, the G.I.T. 'er Dun team (1:11.21) in the Co-Ed 101-110 total age group, Karen Zoller (1:10.56) in the 40-49 age group and Team Zoller (1:05.56) in the 61-70 group.

against 55 other rivals in her age group. She kept up her winning ways by placing in four events — vault, bars, beam and floor exercises — thereby placing third place in the star-studded competition.

This Capitan gymnast has aspirations. She would like to compete at the college level when the time comes and, by all accounts, this is a strong possibility.

"In my time coaching gymnastics, this is the highest one of my pupils has finished at regionals," Ruidoso Gymnastics Trainer Amy Eggleston said.

"Amanda has the drive, discipline and commitment to take her talent to the next level."

"Her performance this past month could help her towards that goal."

Winners in almost every sport don't just suddenly appear on the horizon of competition and excel.

They start young, work hard and spend "a thousand hours" learning their chosen sport. And Willingham is no different.

She began her quest for gymnastics excellence 11 years ago at Eggleston's gym in Ruidoso Downs.

"She's come a long way," Eggleston said. "Amanda pushes herself very hard to improve."

Eggleston started as a gymnastics trainer in Ruidoso in 1994. Now her gym averages 125 students a year.

"I'm very fortunate," she said. "But when you have talented kids like Amanda and others it makes my job very rewarding."

Ruidoso Gymnastics trains budding gymnasts from the age of 18 months through high school and stands ready to train any and all who are prepared to make the commitment.

"Mitchell did very well in his first Loveland Derby," said Coach Doth. "This was his first time to really face a large group of Colorado racers and he finished in the middle of the pack. I'm pleased with his overall effort."

Over on the girls' "yellow" course, Lexie Doth was preparing to race.

The weather was miserable, with snow beginning to drift on course.

Lexie's first run was solid, but not aggressive.

Her time of 57.41 put her in the middle of her competitive group. As the snow continued to accumulate, course conditions worsened.

By the time Lexie started, the ruts were "monstrous," and she had to take a wide line to navigate the course.

She ended up with a time of 1:04.02 for a combined time of 2:01.43. "Lexie was disappointed in her racing today," said Coach Doth, "but she knew what went wrong and what she needed to do to improve her time."

Casey Cultreri started on the men's "green" course.

Because there are so many Ability class boys at the Loveland Derby, the field of boys is split up and competes on two different courses.

Cultreri raced against 105 athletes for his runs. Casey posted a morning time of 47.06 and an afternoon time of 53.03 for a combined time of 1:40.99. He finished in 63rd place for the day.

On the men's "blue" course, Ruidoso's Peter Zagone prepared to compete. Now attending college in Colorado, Zagone joins his Ruidoso teammates whenever possible.

Always hitting the course hard, Peter blew by a gate in his first run and was disqualified.

Because of the disqualification, he didn't get an afternoon run, and instead prepared for Sunday's races.

As nasty as the weather was on Saturday, racers were delighted to welcome absolutely gorgeous weather on Sunday.

The skies cleared and the sun came out. Race bystanders stripped off their coats as shirt-sleeve weather replaced the bitter cold.

Back on the "red" course, Mitchell Perry prepared for another day of competition. Near the end of his first run, he hit a rut and skied out.

He twisted an ankle and was unable to finish the run. Done for the day, his first Colorado race came to an end.

Disappointed in her first day of racing, Lexie Doth was prepared to ramp up her efforts for Sunday's races.

She handled the course well on her first run, despite almost having to hike.

She posted a time of 59.33. She really started to shine in her second run.

"Lexie nailed the upper part of the course on her second run. She was picking up speed through the middle."

"I was really pleased with her technique. It was all working for her," said Coach Doth.

The race was going really well when just before the finish, Lexie hit a rut and nearly fell and had to hike to make the gate.

That mistake cost her valuable time, and she posted a time of 1:04.14. Her combined time of 2:03.47 put her in 98th place for the day. "Lexie's times didn't tell the whole story today."

"She raced really well, and I was very proud of her technique today," commented Doth.

Despite the incredibly beautiful weather, it was a trouble-filled day for the Ruidoso team.

Casey Cultreri raced on the "blue" course on Sunday. He laid down a solid first run, but did not finish his second run.

Putting his woes behind him, Peter Zagone was the shining star for Ruidoso on Sunday.

Racing over the "green" course, Zagone covered the first run in the rapid time of 39.80. He let his skis run on the second run and flew down the course in a time of 46.00.

His combined time of 1:25.80 put him in 13th place for the day, just shy of a top ten finish. "That felt really great," grinned Zagone.

"I put two good runs together. It was a great way to end the season."

The Loveland Derby was the final race of the 2007/2008 ski-racing season.

"I'm really proud of all of the kids," said Coach Doth. "They really improved their skills and stretched themselves."

Corona Research Ranch will expand with million-dollar allocation

JULIE CARTER
jcarter@ruidosonews.com

A concept to enhance the educational capabilities of NMSU-Corona Range and Livestock Research Center is becoming a reality with the approval of $1 million in capital outlay funding from the 2008 legislature.

The Southwest Center for Rangeland Sustainability project, a new high-tech educational complex, moved a million dollars closer to reality when 2008 Senate Bill 471, New Mexico Higher Education Investment, added to the project fund.

The 2007 legislature granted NMSU $525,000 to start the ball rolling, which included the Board of Regents approving it a university priority.

Currently, the funding meter measures half of the $3 million estimated total cost of the project. However, it is enough to give the nod to the architect Kells + Craig, Inc., of Albuquerque, to proceed with the planning process and get enough of the project built to begin functioning.

The potential impact for the Southwest Center for Rangeland Sustainability was recognized after a Research Field Day held at the Corona RLRC/Ranch in 2005. More than 200 participants took part in orientations covering the CRLRC's work with rangeland, wildlife and livestock production.

The basics of the day allowed for ranchers and scientists to talk to one another.

The extreme success of the event not only prompted another Triennial Research Field Day scheduled for July 18, it birthed the concept of offering year-round, stay-over, high-tech education in the field and connected to other facilities for distance education.

Management and coordination of the ranch is strengthened by the CRLRC's Advisory Committee. The committee consists of regional ranchers, land managers, program coordinators, financial lenders, media and local governmental leaders who meet twice a year to assist scientists and center staff to stay focused by promoting applied problem solving.

It was this committee that recognized the potential for having an expanded research center that would allow for NMSU to have a centrally located educational programs site for the cooperative extension service and other agencies in the state that need a natural resources field-oriented classroom setting.

"After the center is built, we will have the capability to have a classroom setting to facilitate the use of electronic media to assist in communication of the educational material," said NMSU professor and range animal nutritionist Mark Petersen.

"I think the committee plans to go back one more time and try to get one last piece of funding to build a needed detached laboratory to support the educational center. This will help us acquire futuristic electronic remote sensors that will measure hydrology changes in relation to juniper removal, plant growth dynamics, and habitat use by beef cattle, sheep, Mule deer and pronghorn while assessing the maintenance requirements and activities," Petersen said. "These research support materials will greatly enhance the quality of our research and the experiences our students have while conducting scientific studies."

Petersen said another exciting option will be the efforts of the NMSU Water Institute and the Institute for Energy and the Environment that will start a new demonstration initiative producing domestic high quality water from well water at the center and energy for alternative sources (wind and solar). "We will be integrating land, water and energy all at one site."

Leading the charge through the Round House in both Legislative sessions were Advisory Committee members and Lincoln County ranchers Scott Shafer and Stirling Spencer. "Without them, this wouldn't have happened," said Petersen.

While plans are not yet finalized for construction, the proposed facility with current funding will include a 4-5,000-square-foot main building with a meeting room/educational hall with satellite and Internet capabilities, video conferencing and multiple screens.

It will house a galley-style kitchen and dining area, as well as a library, restrooms and small offices.

Separate pod building(s) will supply dormitory accommodations for overnight guests, students or faculty. With the ranch remotely located away from motel accommodations, the facilities for staying over are a critical enhancement to the facility.

The Corona Range and Livestock Research Center is a 27,886-acre working ranch laboratory located just east of the village of Corona.

Land within the research center is at an elevation ranging from 5,720 to 6,700 feet. New Mexico State University's Animal and Range Sciences Department operate the research center. Research programs and graduate student studies are a major part of the research center's activities.

NMSU-Corona Research Center headquarters east of Corona will be near the site of the research center.

The Corona center develops research that New Mexico ranchers usually cannot find anywhere else.

"The CRLRC is located centrally to New Mexico with many common aspects to more than 80 percent of New Mexico and the Southwest," said Shad Cox, ranch manager. "Our working ranch concept drives us to maintain profitability while investigating new concepts for increasing productivity and profitability."

The ranch is unique compared to similar research centers in other states. It is dependant upon generating income from animal sales to maintain and support the center and research. The salaries of the manager and a range technician are paid by NMSU but all other ranch expenses are covered by ranch income, uniquely making a profit while conducting research.

"The research is diverse but it is all integrated through economics," explained Petersen. "There are researchers conducting studies investigating livestock production efficiency, grazing behavior to improve distribution, wildlife management strategies to improve the trophy game population, hydrology and, of course, economic studies.

"Seventeen scientists and their students are conducting research at one site. To my knowledge there is probably no other research center with the mix of research being conducted concurrently, as is being done at CRLRC."

Final plan approval by the Board of Regents is expected this summer with construction to begin soon after.

For more information on NMSU's Corona Range and Livestock Research Center, Cox can be reached at 849-1015 or shadcox@nmsu.edu.

Turners to meet

The Mountain Top Turners will hold their regular meeting on Saturday, May 17, at 10 a.m. at Steve and Madeleine Sabo's Workshop in Nogal.

Steve Sabo will discuss the topic of "Finish to Finish."

He will explain the techniques of finishing a wooden bowl, vase or vessel from sanding to the final application product.

The public is welcome and there is no charge for attending.

For information, call 354-0201.

4-H kids needed

Sharon Young is collecting a group of 4-Hers to walk in the Relay for Life in memory of Bob Hellman.

The walk will go on all night and will be survived by Young, but she needs walkers.

Friends and families of 4-Hers are welcome.

To volunteer, call her at 937-0570 or 336-4534.

The beauty of a long marriage

I have to admit I am the result of my parents staying married. I am probably scarred for life over this fact.

My son only has two sets of grandparents and not four like the rest of the kids.

I was never able to use one parent against the other because they were on the same side and that happened to be the side us kids were not on.

In addition to this sad fact, they didn't give a rip which parent I loved more at the time.

It wasn't that divorce was never mentioned in our household - in fact, it was mentioned often.

It was mentioned when my mother cleaned out my father's pickup and "lost everything." It came up again when she cleaned off his desk and "lost everything."

It was mentioned when she threw away his favorite shoes (incidentally, he left them in the bathroom). It was mentioned when he walked into the kitchen just before a party and started "cleaning out the fridge."

It was thought of when he drove off and left her at the truck weigh station in San Jon.

It was discussed loudly at every cow working they had for the (so far) 56 years of marriage.

It was mentioned every time there was no water at the house when company was expected.

I am sure it was thought of when my mother was trying to get three kids off to church, throw something in the oven to eat afterwards, only to have my father stand at the door and bellow, "Let's go, let's go" over and over.

It should have been discussed every time my father (who refuses to pack his own suitcase) never likes what has been packed for him, or the many times he either brought someone home for supper or planned a crew to work without informing her of his plans.

I listen to the reasons cited these days for divorce and compare them to the long marriage my parents have.

"We have nothing in common." The only thing in common my parents had was neither wanted to be left with us kids.

No matter our sins, we were acting like "your father" or "your mother's people."

When we were kids, my parents broke up the fight. Now we listen to their fights knowing if we agree they will turn on us like scalded cats and say, "Don't EVER talk about your mother/father that way!"

Recently my father called me and said he had proof my mother was trying to kill him. She had handed him some underwear that had a black widow in the fold.

I cheered for the old gal and said I thought she'd lost her gumption by now. He hung up on me.

'House' crashes to an end for the season

By Kate O'Hare
© Zap2it

Last week, fans of the Fox drama "House" saw the opener of a two-part season-four finale in which brilliant but cranky diagnostician Dr. Gregory House (Hugh Laurie) wound up confused and covered in blood after a bus crash.

He's convinced someone on the bus was showing signs of serious illness before the crash, but his head injury has impaired his memory.

But on Monday, May 19, says Laurie, "you will find out."

On this Wednesday (late April, "House" has left its usual home on the 20th Century Fox lot in Los Angeles to head south to Manhattan Beach, to a studio that houses such shows as "Boston Legal" and "CSI Miami." According to executive producer David Shore, the two-parter was originally planned to start after the Super Bowl, but the three-month Writers Guild of America strike upset the schedule.

"We thought it was dead," Shore says, speaking during production of Part 2. "It's a very expensive two-parter, and we thought we couldn't justify that amount of money. As a season finale, it works. We wanted to finish the story that we were doing this year, so it works out in all respects.

"There's a bus and a bus crash. Pieces of the bus have been shot all over the place. The inside of the bus was on a soundstage. The aftereffect of the bus crash is at Universal.

"And we're at Manhattan Beach shooting the bus now. We're spending a lot of money."

Shore also says that as soon as this episode is done, "House" rolls straight into shooting season five, propelled in part by fears of a possible Screen Actors Guild strike.

"This doesn't feel like the end of a season," Laurie says. "It feels like the beginning of a very, very long season. We're making 28, unbroken -- that's assuming that the actors don't go on strike, I say 'the actors,' but I am one, nominally. We don't know what's going to happen there."

Employment uncertainty has been a theme this year on "House," which started its season with dozens of candidates vying to be part of House's medical team.

In the end, it came down to three, including Dr. Lawrence Kutner, played by Kal Penn ("Harold & Kumar Escape From Guantanamo Bay").

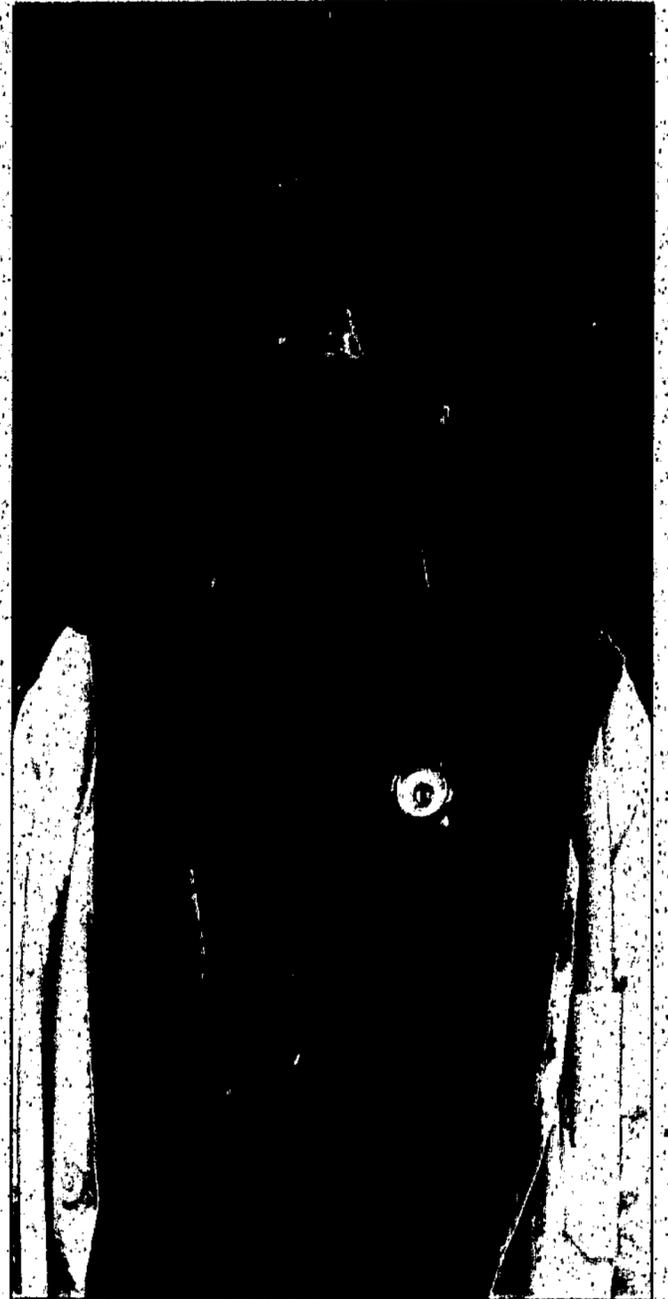

Relaxing in his trailer between shots, Penn (who spent his strike break campaigning for Sen. Barack Obama in Iowa) says, "We didn't know who's staying or who's going."

"It's true," Shore says, "because the writers didn't know."

Happy to be one of those left standing, Penn says, "This is probably the least Hollywood Hollywood set that you could visit."

Hearing that, Laurie, who had a 20-year career in Britain before "House," says, "Really? As it's the only Hollywood set I've ever been on, I have nothing to compare with. Well, then I'm going to change that. I'm going to look into this and see if I can get a lot more Hollywood. We'll have to do a bit of that."

"What's the point of being here if you can't live the dream?"

Kal Penn stars in "House" Monday on Fox.

Taylor Swift Burns Up Country Award Circuit

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2it

You're 18, you have a smash debut CD, and you've already won an armful of awards -- even while removing your high heels en route to the stage.

What's next?

If you're Taylor Swift, possibly more awards, plus a second CD and a concert tour that runs through much of the year. The young singer-songwriter-guitarist could earn three more honors -- including top female vocalist and top new female vocalist -- as CBS televises the 43rd Annual Academy of Country Music Awards on Sunday, May 18, from the MGM Grand in Las Vegas.

"I love award shows," the spirited Swift says. "I love seeing what everybody is wearing, and walking the red carpet, and getting to talk to all these people I dreamed about meeting someday. Two years ago, I never dreamed I would have conversations with Kenny Chesney or Tim (McGraw) and Faith (Hill), people I absolutely idolize. It just reminds me how crazy my life has been these past two years."

The craziness began with the success of tall, model-pretty Swift's tribute to one of those people, titled "Tim McGraw." It continued with the wistful teen-romance ode "Our Song," which she composed for a ninth-grade talent show; in April, the tune brought her two CMT Music Awards, including video of the year. "Picture to Burn" is her latest hit.

"I took 'Tim McGraw' to country radio when I was 16, and I don't think a situation could get weirder than that," Swift reflects. "The fact that radio embraced it was the steppingstone to all of this, and it was really cool to travel in the back of a rental car to all those stations for eight months. Then releasing an album and people going out and buying it, I can't believe that! All these things just blow me away."

And there were two more recently. A Rolling Stone magazine cover placed Swift alongside such music icons as Madonna, Bruce Springsteen and Bono. And Swift received the Superstar of Tomorrow honor at last month's Young Hollywood Awards.

Also up for album of the year (for "Taylor Swift," which was nearing triple-platinum sales at this writing) at the Academy of Country Music Awards, Swift will perform on the show. So will Carrie Underwood, Sugarland, Brooks & Dunn, Dolly Parton, recent "Celebrity Apprentice" runner-up Trace Adkins, Miranda Lambert, Montgomery Gentry and Rodney Atkins.

Kenny Chesney leads the ACM nominees with 12 bids. Reba McEntire hosts the event, in which fans can vote for entertainer of the year for the first time. (Votes still can be cast through May 18 at www.voteacm.com.)

"It's a different voting panel," Swift reasons of her chances to win in her ACM categories. "I place a lot of importance on 4 1/2 million fans voting (as they did in the CMT Music Awards), because they mean so much to me. The ACMs are amazing because people in the business are the ones deciding who gets the awards, but I'm not going in expecting to win."

"I just hope the performance is fun," adds Pennsylvania native Swift. "I'm really excited about that. I haven't performed on that many award shows, so every single time, I learn new things about doing it."

"The first time actually was at the ACM Awards last year, and I ended up performing completely acoustic, just me and my guitar. I walked off the stage and introduced myself to Tim McGraw, which was the most nerve-racking moment of my life."

The second-most could be the moment Swift first sees the line of fashion dolls bearing her likeness, slated for release this fall. Such a deal attests to her impact on young female fans, and she realizes it.

"It's unbelievable when a mom comes up to me and says, 'You are a great role model for my daughter. Thank you.' That's not just complimenting your music, but what you stand for -- your beliefs, your morals, your words and your actions. I consider that the greatest compliment anyone could give me."

Swift will have new words to share soon. In working on the follow-up to "Taylor Swift" while on tour with Rascal Flatts, she's staying true to her thoughts and emotions as she composes her next songs: "It's really cool that you can sing about those things and people can relate to them, and also that country music has an audience that is a lot younger than I think a lot of people thought."

"I make the music I'm inspired to make," Swift explains. "I'm inspired by high-school boys, and I'm inspired by my friends going through breakups, and I'm inspired by people I meet on a daily basis. Yes, I've spent the last two years on a tour bus, but that doesn't change the fact that I'm inspired by teenage drama."

"That's what I'm going through right now, so I'm not going to try to change my sound. I'm two years older, and the second record will be 10 times better than the first."

Brad who? 'Bachelorette' Pappas is taking another chance on love

By John Crook
© Zap2it

Living well may be the best revenge, but it never hurts to have Ellen DeGeneres in your corner.

Largely because of the Emmy-winning talk show host, DeAnna Pappas -- the brunette beauty dumped by Brad Womack in last November's season 11 finale of "The Bachelor" -- gets another shot at happiness as ABC's "The Bachelorette" returns for a fourth season on Monday, May 19.

As the focal point of the series, Pappas gets to go on dates with and choose from among 25 eligible bachelors in her quest for a love match. It's a pretty sweet gig, she says during a recent break in filming.

"I couldn't be a happier girl right now," Pappas says. "They've done a lot for me this season, because a lot of people want to see me be happy. We've done some really cool things, gone to some amazing spots in L.A., and we've had some really romantic dates so far."

In last November's finale, Texan Brad Womack said goodbye to co-finalist Jenni Croft, seeming to clear the way for a commitment to Pappas, a clear fan favorite. Instead, Womack shocked and angered viewers by dumping Pappas as well and walking away.

Pappas says she has made peace with Womack's decision in the months since then, but she admits that on-camera heartbreak left her stunned and shaken.

"When Brad told me that he had just sent Jenni home, you can tell by the look on my face that I thought it was me (he would pick)," Pappas explains. "The more that he talked, I started to really feel alone, for the first time in the whole process. I felt completely disconnected from the person that I trusted the most."

"It's a crazy, crazy experience to try to understand, but so much time has gone by and I have spoken to Brad, awhile back after the show ended, so it's become easy to put all that behind me. I believe that people come into your lives for a reason, to teach you new things, and it pretty much just set me up to meet the new man of my dreams."

Returning to her current hometown of Newnan, Ga., after filming the show, Pappas faced another dilemma: She couldn't talk to anyone, not even close friends or family, about what had happened on the show, which had not aired yet.

"Nobody knew the outcome of the show, so I had to walk around and listen to them saying, 'Oh, I know it's you, I know he chose you!'" Pappas recalls. "It was one of the hardest things I had to do, trying to cope with that breakup but trying to pretend that nothing had happened. I would just smile and say, 'Well, you'll just have to wait and see.'" DeGeneres was among the "Bachelor" fans who was upset by Womack's decision, so she had Pappas on her show shortly after the finale aired. During their conversation, the supportive DeGeneres impulsively floated the idea that Pappas should be the next Bachelorette, but Pappas says she thought it was just a sweet gesture by DeGeneres.

Steve McPherson, president of ABC Entertainment, thought DeGeneres' idea was inspired, however, and he greenlit the project after talking with Mike Fleiss, executive producer of both "The Bachelor" and "The Bachelorette."

"Ellen had such a real enthusiasm and felt such a connection to this girl that it was really persuasive," Fleiss explains. "When Steve felt the same way, I thought, 'Well, these are two people I really respect and two people who know their television.' Watching the reaction of Ellen's audience made me feel that was a groundswell there that I really didn't want to get in the way of."

Not that anyone needed to twist his arm, Fleiss adds. He and his team also had been depressed by how last fall's "Bachelor" turned out.

"We had a little bit of a heads-up -- less than 24 hours -- that it was coming, but everybody who knew was walking around the set that day like there had been a death in the family," he says. "Normally we always have a party afterwards and celebrate with the couple, but no one was even in the mood to have a beer after that."

"DeAnna really had become a special friend of the show. We had been all excited about what we thought was going to happen, and then it just all turned weird. We were blown away."

If making Pappas the new "Bachelorette" virtually guarantees a large audience, however, Fleiss knows the pressure is on to make sure it all doesn't "turn weird" again, since viewers clearly want to see Pappas find happiness this time around.

"I approved extra money for casting, because I knew it wouldn't be enough just to have a fun, sexy and exciting show," Fleiss says. "We needed to virtually guarantee that she would find love."

"The audience knows and loves her in a certain way, so we worked really, really hard to find good guys for DeAnna. ... We knew that the audience -- and DeAnna -- wouldn't be satisfied if she didn't find love."

And Pappas has nothing but praise for how production on "The Bachelorette" has been going.

"I am so thankful to the people who work on this show, because they genuinely want me to be happy," she says. "They really did find 25 amazing men. On the first night, after I got down to 15, I was thinking, 'How am I ever going to get down to one?' They all have qualities that I look for in a husband. So it has made the situation awesome but really tough for me."

"People have been so supportive of me, and I am forever grateful for all the advice and everything that people have done for me since this whole thing has happened."

DeAnna Pappas stars as "The Bachelorette," returning Monday on ABC.

As an anchor for ESPN's daily "SportsCenter," John Buccigross has gotten to cover the successes of many an athlete.

But the 42-year-old Pittsburgh native and 3-handicap golfer got to experience his own thrill of victory when he scored a hole-in-one last year in a tournament at Newport (R.I.) Country Club.

Buccigross has also seen great moments in a TV career that began in 1989 after his graduation from Ohio's Heidelberg College with a degree in communications/theater arts. His first job was at Cape 11 News on Massachusetts' Cape Cod, where he was a photographer and sports reporter.

After five-plus years there, Buccigross moved on to WPRI, a Fox affiliate in nearby Providence, where the pay was better and he got to be the sports anchor.

"That was a real TV job," he says. "I wore an earpiece. I didn't wear an earpiece in Cape Cod; we didn't have that technology. ... Those two years there were really good, as well, to kind of get ready, kind of this is big time and kind of use other muscles."

In the summer of 1996, Buccigross on a lark sent an audition tape to ESPN, thinking he didn't yet have the chops to work at the cable network he had been watching since he was a teenager.

"A couple of months later, they called saying they wanted to talk to me," he recalls. "And sure enough, I did that, I went in and had my little audition. You do a little 10-15 minute pretend "SportsCenter," and then you meet with a couple of executives and have a little lunch, and then that's it. And at the end of the day, I really thought I had the job. And I got the job."

THURSDAY

7 p.m. on KWBQ Smallville

In the season finale, Kara (Laura Vandervoort) informs Lex (Michael Rosenbaum) that he's the one destined to defeat the Traveler, and she'll take him to the Fortress to learn how. Clark (Tom Welling) can't believe she did that ... until he discovers it's not really Kara but Brainiac impersonating her. When he and Lex face off, Lex learns his secret.

7 p.m. on KOBR KTSM My Name Is Earl

It's called couples counseling. Earl. Try it sometime. In the hour-long season finale, Earl and Billie (Jason Lee, Alyssa Milano) are having trouble in their relationship, and Earl takes a page from his father's book, staying away from the house as much as he can. He decides to spend the time whittling down his list, but eventually Billie forces him to choose between the list and her. Stay tuned.

8 p.m. on KDBC KBIM CSI: Crime Scene Investigation

A famous Vegas gangster is murdered, and the prime suspect is none other than the CSI team's own Warrick Brown (Gary Dourdan). Of course he's innocent ... or is he? Warrick himself isn't entirely sure whether he committed the crime. Let's hope Grissom (William Petersen) and the gang can get to the bottom of this. Marg Helgenberger, George Eads and Eric Szmanda also star in the season finale, "For Gedda."

9:01 p.m. on KDBC KBIM Without a Trace

It's a five-for-one deal in the season finale, as Jack (Anthony LaPaglia) and his team investigate the abduction of five people from a coffee shop. It turns out they had an odd connection beyond just having all been in the wrong place at the wrong time. Sam (Poppy Montgomery) gets ready for her baby's arrival in "Satellites."

Jason Dohring stars in "Moonlight" on CBS.

FRIDAY

7 p.m. on KDBC KBIM Ghost Whisperer

In the season finale, Melinda (Jennifer Love Hewitt) finally learns the truth about her father, which her mother (Anne Archer) has kept from her for years. She also finds out why Mom did that, but this information could come at a high price: her own life. Martin Donovan returns as Melinda's father, Tom Gordon, in "Pater Familias."

7 p.m. on KFOX KASA Movie: Dodgeball: A True Underdog Story

This 2004 comedy is sweet genius from start to finish. Ben Stiller and his inspired co-stars — Vince Vaughn, Rip Torn, Alan Tudyk and Mrs. Stiller, Christine Taylor — gleefully skewer the whole "plucky champion" movie genre by setting it inside the lamest sport ever devised, then playing it as if their very souls depended on the outcome.

8 p.m. on KDBC KBIM Moonlight

Love bites are never a good idea when your lover is a vampire. In the season finale, Mick and Beth (Alex O'Loughlin, Sophia Myles) realize that getting involved could be fatal when a passionate encounter between another vampire and a human leaves the latter dead. Mick joins Josef (Jason Dohring) and the other vampires of Los Angeles to keep their identities secret in the face of a murder investigation in "Sonata."

9 p.m. on KDBC KBIM NUMB3RS

A case involving national security has Don and Charlie (Rob Morrow, David Krumholtz) at odds because of their different beliefs. Speaking of beliefs, Megan's (Diane Farr) cause her to question her choices ... and to resign from the team in the season finale, "When Worlds Collide."

SATURDAY

7 p.m. on KDBC KBIM Cold Case

The music of Nirvana is prominently featured in this episode, which finds Lilly (Kathryn Morris) recovered from her shooting and primed to reopen a 1994 triple murder. Two teens were convicted, but she strongly suspects they're innocent. Kirk Acevedo ("Oz") guest stars in "Thrill Kill."

7 p.m. on KOAT KVIA Movie: Hitch

Will Smith's charisma is set on high in this enjoyable 2005 comedy that casts him in the title role as an expert on romance who charges a fee for sharing his wisdom with those who have problems with their social lives. The main client (Kevin James) has an eye on a supermodel type, appropriately portrayed by Amber Valletta, but Hitch has his own love problem, furnished by a reporter (Eva Mendes) who sets him off his game.

8 p.m. on KDBC KBIM CSI: NY

Two dead men, one of whom was dressed as a knight and stabbed with a lance, turn out to have been killed by the same person, and that's not all they have in common. Mac (Gary Sinise) rushes to Peyton's (Claire Forlani) side after her coroner's van is hit and the body inside is stolen ... a body that turns out not to be dead after all. Robert Joy also stars in "What Schemes May Come."

8 p.m. on KFOX KASA America's Most Wanted: America Fights Back

Next time you find yourself thinking that good TV never lasts, consider "AMW." It's in its 21st season and celebrating a milestone with this new episode: the 1,000th capture credited to the series. But host John Walsh won't rest on his laurels; as long as there are fugitives to find and viewers to call in tips, those numbers will keep going up.

John Walsh hosts "America's Most Wanted: America Fights Back" on Fox.

Luanne stars in "King of the Hill" on Fox.

7 p.m. on KDBC KBIM The 43rd Annual Academy of Country Music Awards

Although Dolly Parton, Sugarland, Carrie Underwood and Taylor Swift are scheduled to perform, and Reba McEntire is the host, the nominee field at this year's edition of the awards is dominated by the guys. Kenny Chesney is in the lead with 12 nominations, including entertainer of the year, an all-male field whose winner will be chosen by fan votes. Behind him are Rodney Atkins with six nominations and Brad Paisley with four.

7:30 p.m. on KFOX KASA King of the Hill

Johnny Knoxville lends his voice to Hoyt, estranged father of Luanne and brother of Peggy. He's a felon with two strikes against him when he shows up in Arlen, which means if he commits another crime, he's going away for good. And guess what. To spare Luanne the loss of her father a second time, her husband, Lucky (voice of Tom Petty), takes the rap in the season finale, "Life: A Loser's Manual."

8 p.m. on KRWG KENW Masterpiece

The village is awash in problems in the third, concluding installment of "Cranford." A tragedy on the railway caps a series of misfortunes including major financial woes for Maity (Judi Dench) and Lady Ludlow (Francesca Annis). And a misunderstanding leaves Dr. Harrison (Simon Woods) with three fiancées.

9 p.m. on DISC Expedition: Guyana

Sorry, lumberjacks; it's not OK. That's the position of the scientists, filmmakers and explorers at the heart of this new special. To stop a plan to open one million acres of Guyana to logging, they spent six weeks in the South American nation documenting its unique, diverse flora and fauna in a plea for preservation.

7 p.m. on KWBQ Gossip Girl

In the season finale, Blair (Leighton Meester) is on the warpath, ready to take down Georgina (Michelle Trachtenberg) and protect Serena (Blake Lively) from further harm. Lily's (Kelly Rutherford) mind is on Rufus (Matthew Settle) as she prepares for her wedding. Serena tells Dan (Penn Badgley) the truth about her past in "Much 'I Do' About Nothing."

8 p.m. on KDBC KBIM Two and a Half Men

It took a while for Charlie (Charlie Sheen) to start paying attention to women his own age, and the season finale takes things to the next level, as he develops an attraction to a self-help author who's considerably older. It doesn't hurt that she's played by the 50-something and still fabulous Susan Blakely. A school assignment has Jake (Angus T. Jones) at odds with his dad (Jon Cryer).

8 p.m. on KFOX KASA House

It's not the first time House and Wilson's (Hugh Laurie, Robert Sean Leonard) friendship has been put to the test; you try being best buds with a misanthropic pain patient with a drug problem. But it's put to the ultimate test in "Wilson's Heart," the conclusion of the two-part season finale. House struggles to regain the memory he lost in the bus crash in order to save a patient's life. What's locked in his head could change their friendship forever.

8:02 p.m. on KOAT KVIA The Bachelorette

She's calling the shots now, guys. The fourth season's bachelorette is one of Brad Womack's prospects from last fall's edition of "The Bachelor." She was in the final two, but Brad turned them both down. Now DeAnna Pappas, a Georgia real estate agent, is on the other side of the table, selecting a new gentleman friend from a field of 25 hopefuls. Chris Harrison returns as host.

DeAnna Pappas is "The Bachelorette," on ABC

TUESDAY

7 p.m. on KDBC KBIM NCIS
Someone on the NCIS team is not going to survive the season finale. But the surviving members aren't going to let the killer get away, even if it means putting their own lives in jeopardy — and, of course, it does — in the two-hour episode "Judgment Day, Part 1 and Part 2."

7 p.m. on KFOX KASA American Idol
It's anyone's guess how this year's winner — to be announced tonight after the final two perform tonight and the fans vote — will fare post-"Idol." One thing's for sure, though: Getting here is always fun.

8 p.m. on KOAT KVIA Dancing With the Stars
Whose footwork is fanciest? Whose moves are smoothest? That is up to the viewers and the judges to decide, and their chosen couple is crowned on tonight's results show. Expect some eye-popping dance maneuvers as the result of all that training pays off for the winners in the season finale. Whether you're excited or not will depend upon whether your favorite is still in the running.

9 p.m. on KDBC KBIM Shark
If it's the season finale, it must be time for Wayne Callison (Billy Campbell) to make a return appearance. At the end of last season, Stark (James Woods) had another chance to put Callison, a serial killer whom he'd earlier failed to convict, away for good. Now Wayne's escaped from prison with revenge on his mind and Stark's daughter, Julie (Danielle Panabaker), in his sights. Uh-oh.

7 p.m. on KRWG; 8 p.m. on KENW Depression: Out of the Shadows
This new documentary sheds light on the much-misunderstood disorder known as depression in its many forms, reiterating that it's a real illness, not a sign of weakness or a character flaw. People with the disorder tell their stories, and scientists discuss present and future treatments.

8 p.m. on KDBC KBIM Criminal Minds
It takes a real pro to track down a murderer whose killings are random and whose victims apparently have nothing in common. But never fear: This team is all pros. Joe Mantegna and Thomas Gibson star in the drama-heavy season finale.

9 p.m. on KDBC KBIM CSI: NY
In the season finale, Mac (Gary Sinise) is in the thick of things when a bank manager is shot dead during a robbery. One of the thieves takes the bank's occupants hostage at gunpoint but insists he didn't kill the manager, and he wants a crime scene investigator to come in and prove it. Mellina Kanakaredes and Carmine Giovinazzo also star in "Hostage."

9 p.m. on KOAT KVIA Boston Legal
Concord, Mass., cradle of the American Revolution, wants to secede from the U.S.? Denny (William Shatner) is appalled — and even more so when he finds out Alan (James Spader) is representing the secessionists. He signs on with the other side, and the two friends face off in court — which puts a damper on their celebration of their acceptance into the Auxiliary Coast Guard in the season finale, "Patriot Acts."

Thomas Gibson stars in "Criminal Minds" on CBS.

THURSDAY

7:30 a.m. on KRWG; 10 a.m. on KENW It's a Big Big World
Bob befriends a bee, Stripey, who must move on with her migrating swarm. Winslow challenges Burdette to a flying competition, and considering she is feathered and a showoff, this seems odd. Still, he discovers that flying like a monkey can be fun.

FRIDAY

3 p.m. on KRWG KENW WordGirl
Granny May (voice of Cree Summer) tries to get something for nothing by using her coupon-printing press. And he of the strange intelligence, Dr. Two-Brains (voice of Tom Kenny), escapes again. His latest invention is to turn gold into cheese, and he bungles even that. Alas, he turns gold into potato salad, which is not fetching anywhere near as much as cheese can on the international market.

SATURDAY

8 a.m. on TOON Ben 10: Alien Force
Ben's older cousin, Ken, brother of his crime-fighting partner, Gwen, disappears. Gwen talks Ben (please tell us they have cousins Len and Sven) into helping to find Ken. Ben succeeds and also finds someone else who has been missing. And, they all learn a shocking secret about the aliens. Yuri Lowenthal and Ashley Johnson provide voices for Ben and Gwen.

SUNDAY

8 p.m. on FAM Movie: The Incredibles
A retired superhero and family man finds life truly dull in the burbs. Mom is stretched beyond recognition, the teenage daughter hides behind her hair and snottiness, and the little brother lives to annoy people. They just happen to be superheroes, and when called to save the world, they leave the suburbs behind.

MONDAY

8 p.m. on KRWG KENW American Experience
Outside of government buildings where portraits of the president are standard issue, how often do you go anywhere where the president's likeness hangs? Yet Franklin Delano Roosevelt was so beloved, his picture hung in many homes and stores, and his wife was America's most admired woman. This in-depth profile shows how he dealt with the Great Depression and World War II.

Family Viewing

TUESDAY

9 p.m. on DISN Movie: Read It and Weep
It's every diarist's nightmare: Jamie's journal is found and accidentally published. She shoots to fame, but then has real trouble differentiating between her fantasy life and reality. Sisters Kay and Danielle Panabaker are delightful as Jamie and her alter-ego, Is.

WEDNESDAY

9 a.m. on KRWG Super Why!
Princess Pea wants to hold a tea party, but Pig and his brothers want her to play pirates. The Super Readers take to the "Sleeping Beauty" story and read about how that princess loved to sleep as much as this one loves tea parties. The Super Readers use their literary powers to wake the snoozing princess and show her there's more to life than napping.

Q I've been a lifelong Frank Sinatra fan. How many movies did he make?

—Jake Nichols, Sioux Falls, S.D.

"Ol' Blue Eyes" was one hard-working star. In addition to his prolific recording and performing career, he appeared in 58 theatrical films and received three Academy Awards for his acting. In honor of the 10th anniversary of his death, 22 classic Sinatra movies will be rereleased May 13 on DVD in lavish new collections including The Golden Years, The Younger Years, The Rat Pack Ultimate Collection and The Frank Sinatra and Gene Kelly Collection. And the U.S. Postal Service is putting his image on a new stamp.

Q What's the name of the movie about Dr. Kellogg, of the cereal company, who advocated colonics? He was played by Lloyd Bridges or one of his sons.

Hugh McPhail, Murrietta, Calif.

You're likely thinking of The Road to Wellville, a 1994 comedy with Matthew Broderick, Bridget Fonda, John Cusack, Dana Carvey, and Anthony Hopkins (not Lloyd Bridges) as Dr. John Harvey Kellogg. Dr. K believed that the body could be purged of unhealthy toxins and impulses by a regimen of diet, exercise and enemas—and cereal made from grains, which became the cornerstone of the Kellogg empire in the early 1900s.

Q Many years ago on *M*A*S*H*, there was a very attractive young blond woman named Blythe Danner making a guest appearance as Hawkeye's love interest. Is she still acting?

—Bill Wood, Apple Valley, Calif.

Danner, who began her career in theater, remains very active on television. Most recently, she starred on Huff, a Showtime series now available on DVD, for which she received two Emmy Awards. She had a recurring role on the series Will & Grace, playing Will's mother. Danner, 65, who was widowed in 2002, is the mother of director Jake Paltrow and actress Gwyneth Paltrow, who has given her two grandkids.

Leon Rippy (left) plays an earthy angel on TV's Saving Grace.

Q My husband and I disagree about who plays the angel Earl on Saving Grace. I'm certain I know exactly who it is, but my husband says I'm wrong.

—Cappie Stone, Ashland, Ohio

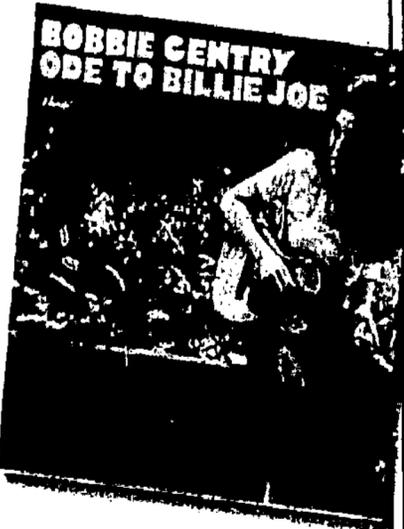

If you're certain that it's Leon Rippy, you're absolutely right! The North Carolina-born veteran actor, who plays the tobacco-chewing angel Earl on the hit TNT series, has portrayed more than 50 other roles since the early 1980s. You may remember him from the HBO series Deadwood, his guest spots on TV's Six Feet Under, Diagnosis Murder and Walker, Texas Ranger, or in movies The Alamo, Eight Legged Freaks and Midnight in the Garden of Good and Evil. Rippy brings a wealth of real-life experience to any part he plays; he's worked as a salesman, traveled with a circus and once had a job inseminating cattle.

Q Please tell about Bobbie Gentry and what she's doing. I loved her singing.

—Bill Woelkers, Scranton, Pa.

Raised in Mississippi poverty, sultry-voiced Bobbie Gentry became a sensation with her hit single "Ode to Billie Joe" in 1967. She went on to win three Grammy Awards, host her own network television series and marry—and divorce—three times. (Her ex-husbands include Las Vegas hotel magnate Bill Harrah and singer-songwriter Jim Stafford.) Born Roberta Lee Streeter, she changed her name to Bobbie Gentry after seeing the 1952 movie Ruby Gentry, about a sexpot who stirs up a small-town scandal. Now 63 and retired from performing for almost 30 years, she lives out of the spotlight in Los Angeles.

Nature's Wonders

Clyde Butcher turned personal tragedy into a nationwide mission to preserve America's beauty.

"I live in an IMAX theater."

N.P. Butcher

Dangling orchids frame an animated panorama as photographer Clyde Butcher watches from his front window on a bright morning in Ochopee, Fla. (pop. 128). "Look—there's a wood stork and a great blue heron, and a stream of baby alligators heading toward the pond," Butcher, 65, says excitedly. "I live in an IMAX theater."

A professional photographer who turned personal tragedy into a nationwide mission, the bearish man with a Santa Claus beard lives in a home that overlooks the splendor of Big Cypress National Preserve, bordering Everglades National Park. A yawning prairie of cypress, limestone outcrops and grass-like sedge, the habitat for snakes, bobcats and the occasional panther, holds some of America's last undisturbed wilderness. A person could easily get lost in the knee-deep swamp water filled with muck and weeds.

Or he could find himself, as Butcher did.

California transplants, Butcher and wife Niki, along with young children Jackie and Ted, arrived in Florida in 1980. Four years later, traversing the state to sell his scenic photographs at art and craft shows, Butcher discovered the great expanses of primeval Everglades swampland off the beaten, tourist track.

But in 1986, life was turned upside down when son Ted, then 17, was killed by a drunken driver in a traffic incident. The grief was crushing, and Butcher turned to the solitude of the Everglades for solace, making frequent trips to soak in the silence and peacefulness.

"It was to the wilderness I fled in hopes of regaining my serenity and equilibrium," he says. "The experience of being close to nature helped restore my soul."

Returning home transformed from one of his excursions, Butcher vowed to document the wonders of the Everglades that had so pro-

STRENGTHEN YOUR BONES

Occupational therapist Cathy Barnett, 52, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., folds her petite frame into yoga poses several times a week to improve her flexibility and strengthen her bones. She hopes the exercise routine reduces her risk of developing the bone-weakening disease osteoporosis.

"A few years ago my family practitioner told me that I had to start exercising to preserve my bone strength," she recalls. "Now I walk on the treadmill a few times each week and do yoga at least three times a week."

Barnett feels better and has more energy since she began exercising. "My doctor also said my bone-density scan looks better," she says, referring to a simple test that doctors use to detect bone loss.

Barnett clearly is doing right by her bones, and millions of Americans could benefit by following her example. "Bones become stronger and denser the more we place demands on them with regular exercise," says Dr. Felicia Cosman, an osteoporosis specialist at Helen Hayes Hospital in West Haverstraw, N.Y. (pop. 10,295), and clinical director of the National Osteoporosis Foundation.

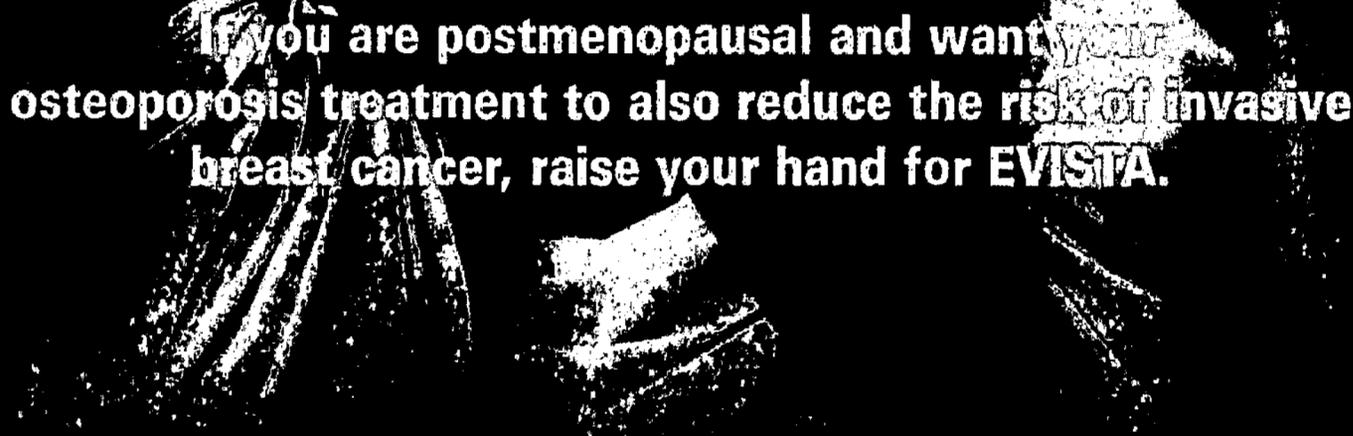

About 10 million Americans—mainly women and men over age 50—have osteoporosis. Another 34 million are believed to have low bone mass, which puts them at higher risk for the disease and potentially debilitating fractures that can occur when bones are weak.

Women account for 80 percent of osteoporosis cases; they can lose up to 20 percent of their bone mass in the first five to seven years after menopause.

Prescription for strong bones

About 85 to 90 percent of adult bone mass is acquired by age 18 in women and by age 20 in men. "Exercising during our youth will help enhance the peak

If you are postmenopausal and want your osteoporosis treatment to also reduce the risk of invasive breast cancer, raise your hand for EVISTA.

Why consider a medicine that does both? You know about treating your osteoporosis, but you may not be aware of the risk factors for invasive breast cancer. That's why it's so important to talk to your doctor, who can explain all your individual risk factors for invasive breast cancer, which include advancing age, family history and personal history.

But today you can address two major health concerns with one medicine—EVISTA (raloxifene HCl). EVISTA has been prescribed by doctors for 10 years; it's the only medicine for postmenopausal women with osteoporosis that has also been proven to reduce the risk of invasive breast cancer.

Here are a few things you should know about EVISTA Prescription EVISTA is for women to treat osteoporosis only. Talk to your doctor about all your medical conditions. EVISTA increases the risk of blood clots and should not be used by women who have or have had blood clots in the legs, lungs or eyes. EVISTA may increase the risk of dying from stroke in women at high risk for heart disease or stroke. Seek care immediately if you have leg pain or warmth, swelling of the legs, hands or feet, chest pain, shortness of breath or a sudden vision change. Do not use EVISTA if you are pregnant, nursing or may become pregnant, as it may cause fetal harm. Women with liver or kidney disease should use EVISTA with caution. EVISTA should not be taken with estrogens. Side effects may include hot flashes, leg cramps and swelling. Results may vary. You are encouraged to report negative side effects of prescription drugs to the FDA. Visit www.fda.gov/medwatch or call 1-800-FDA-1088.

If you're already treating osteoporosis and want to know more about EVISTA, call 1-888-77-EVISTA or visit evista.com. Ask your doctor about EVISTA and medicine that does both.

EVISTA does not treat breast cancer, prevent it from returning or reduce the risk of all forms of breast cancer.

EVISTA
raloxifene HCl

One medicine that does both.

EVISTA (raloxifene HCl) is a prescription medicine used to treat osteoporosis in postmenopausal women. It may also reduce the risk of invasive breast cancer. It is not known if EVISTA will affect you if you are pregnant or breastfeeding. Tell your doctor if you are pregnant or breastfeeding, or if you plan to get pregnant or are breastfeeding. Tell your doctor if you are taking or plan to take any other medicines, including over-the-counter medicines, vitamins, and herbal products. Tell your doctor if you are taking or plan to take any medicine that may increase the risk of blood clots, such as aspirin, ibuprofen, or warfarin. ## Information for Patients About

(raloxifene hydrochloride) Tablets for Oral Use

Please read the information carefully that comes with EVISTA before you start taking it and each time you refill your prescription. The information may have changed. This information does not take the place of talking with your doctor about your medical condition or treatment. Talk with your doctor about EVISTA when you start taking it and at regular checkups.

What is the most important information I should know about EVISTA?

Serious and life-threatening side effects can occur while taking EVISTA. These include blood clots and dying from stroke.

- Increased risk of blood clots in the legs (deep vein thrombosis) and lungs (pulmonary embolism) have been reported with EVISTA. Women who have or have had blood clots in the legs, lungs, or eyes should not take EVISTA.
- Women who have had a heart attack or are at risk for a heart attack may have an increased risk of dying from stroke when taking EVISTA.

1. Before starting EVISTA, tell your doctor if you have had blood clots in your legs, lungs, or eyes, a stroke, mini-stroke (transient ischemic attack), or have an irregular heartbeat.

2. Stop taking EVISTA and call your doctor if you have:

- leg pain or a feeling of warmth in the lower leg (calf).
- swelling of the legs, hands, or feet.
- sudden chest pain, shortness of breath, or coughing up blood.
- sudden change in your vision, such as loss of vision or blurred vision.

3. Being still for a long time (such as sitting still during a long car or airplane trip or being in bed after surgery) can increase your risk of blood clots. (See "What should I avoid if I am taking EVISTA?")

What is EVISTA?

EVISTA is a type of prescription medicine called a Selective Estrogen Receptor Modulator (SERM). EVISTA is for women after menopause, and has more than one use:

- Osteoporosis: EVISTA treats and prevents osteoporosis by helping make your bones stronger and less likely to break.
- Invasive Breast Cancer: If you have osteoporosis or are at high risk for breast cancer, EVISTA can be used to lower your chance of getting invasive breast cancer. EVISTA will not totally get rid of your chance of getting breast cancer. Your doctor can estimate your risk of breast cancer by asking you about risk factors, including:
  - your age (getting older)
  - family history of breast cancer in your mother, sister, or daughter.
  - a history of any breast biopsy, especially an abnormal biopsy.

You and your doctor should talk about whether the possible benefit of EVISTA in lowering your chance of getting invasive breast cancer is greater than its possible risks.

EVISTA is not for use in premenopausal women (women who have not passed menopause)

Who should not take EVISTA?

Do not take EVISTA if you

- have or have had blood clots in your legs, lungs, or eyes. Taking EVISTA may increase the risk of getting blood clots.
- are pregnant or could become pregnant. EVISTA could harm your unborn child.
- are nursing a baby. It is not known if EVISTA passes into breast milk or what effect it might have on the baby.

What should I tell my doctor before taking EVISTA?

EVISTA may not be right for you. Before taking EVISTA, tell your doctor about all your medical conditions, including if you

EVISTA® (raloxifene hydrochloride)

PV 3124 AMP

- have had blood clots in your legs, lungs, or eyes, a stroke, mini-stroke (TIA/transient ischemic attack), or a type of irregular heartbeat (atrial fibrillation).
- have had breast cancer. EVISTA has not been fully studied in women who have a history of breast cancer.
- have liver or kidney problems.
- have taken estrogen in the past and had a high increase of triglycerides (a kind of fat in the blood).
- are pregnant, planning to become pregnant, or breast-feeding (see "Who should not take EVISTA?").

Tell your doctor about all medicines you take, including prescription and non-prescription medicines, vitamins, and herbal supplements. Know the medicines you take. Keep a list of them and show it to your doctor and pharmacist each time you get a new medicine. Especially tell your doctor if you take*:

- warfarin (Coumadin®, Jantoven®)

If you are taking warfarin or other coumarin blood thinners, your doctor may need to do a blood test when you first start or if you need to stop taking EVISTA. Names for this test include "prothrombin time," "pro-time," or "INR." Your doctor may need to adjust the dose of your warfarin or other coumarin blood thinner.

- cholestyramine
- estrogens

EVISTA should not be taken with cholestyramine or estrogens.

How should I take EVISTA?

- Take EVISTA exactly how your doctor tells you to.
- Keep taking EVISTA for as long as your doctor prescribes it for you. It is not known how long you should keep taking EVISTA to lower your chance of getting invasive breast cancers.
- It is important to get your refills on time so you do not run out of the medicine.
- Take one EVISTA tablet each day.
- Take EVISTA at any time of the day, with or without food.
- To help you remember to take EVISTA, it may be best to take it at about the same time each day.
- Calcium and vitamin D may be taken at the same time as EVISTA. It is important to take calcium and vitamin D, as directed by your physician, to prevent or treat osteoporosis.
- If you miss a dose, take it as soon as you remember. However, if it is almost time for your next dose, skip the missed dose and take only your next regularly scheduled dose. Do not take two doses at the same time.

What should I avoid while taking EVISTA?

- Being still for a long time (such as during long trips or being in bed after surgery) can increase the risk of blood clots. EVISTA may add to this risk. If you will need to be still for a long time, talk with your doctor about ways to reduce the risk of blood clots. On long trips, move around periodically. Stop taking EVISTA at least 3 days before a planned surgery or before you plan on being still for a long time. You should start taking EVISTA again when you return to your normal activities.
- Some medicines should not be taken with EVISTA (see "What should I tell my doctor before taking EVISTA?").

What are the possible side effects of EVISTA?

Serious and life-threatening side effects can occur while taking EVISTA. These include blood clots and dying from stroke:

- Increased risk of blood clots in the legs (deep vein thrombosis) and lungs (pulmonary embolism) have been reported with EVISTA. Women who have or have had blood clots in the legs, lungs, or eyes should not take EVISTA.
- Women who have had a heart attack or are at risk for a heart attack may have an increased risk of dying from stroke when taking EVISTA.

See "What is the most important information I should know about EVISTA?"

EVISTA® (raloxifene hydrochloride)

PV 3124 AMP

The most common side effects of EVISTA are hot flashes, leg cramps, swelling of the feet, ankles, and legs, flu syndrome, joint pain, and sweating. Hot flashes are more common during the first 6 months after starting treatment.

These are not all the side effects of EVISTA. Tell your doctor about any side effect that bothers you or that does not go away. If you have any problems or questions that concern you while taking EVISTA, ask your doctor or pharmacist for more information.

- You are encouraged to report negative side effects of prescription drugs to the FDA. Visit www.fda.gov/medwatch, or call 1-800-FDA-1088.

What else should I know about EVISTA?

- Do not use EVISTA to prevent heart disease, heart attack, or strokes.
- To get the calcium and vitamin D you need, your doctor may advise you to change your diet and/or take supplemental calcium and vitamin D. Your doctor may suggest other ways to help treat or prevent osteoporosis, in addition to taking EVISTA and getting the calcium and vitamin D you need. These may include regular exercise, stopping smoking, and drinking less alcohol.
- Women who have hot flashes can take EVISTA. EVISTA does not treat hot flashes, and it may cause hot flashes in some women. (See "What are the possible side effects of EVISTA?")
- EVISTA has not been found to cause breast tenderness or enlargement. If you notice any changes in your breasts, call your doctor to find out the cause. Before starting and while taking EVISTA you should have breast exams and mammograms, as directed by your doctor. Because EVISTA does not eliminate the chance of developing breast cancers, you need these examinations to find any breast cancers as early as possible.
- EVISTA should not cause spotting or menstrual-type bleeding. If you have any vaginal bleeding, call your doctor to find out the cause. EVISTA has not been found to increase the risk for cancer of the lining of the uterus.
- Women in clinical trials have taken EVISTA for up to eight years.

How should I store EVISTA?

- Store EVISTA at 68°F to 77°F (20°C-25°C).
- Keep EVISTA and all medicines out of the reach of children.

General information about the safe and effective use of EVISTA

Medicines are sometimes prescribed for purposes other than the ones listed. Do not use EVISTA for a condition for which it was not prescribed. Do not give your EVISTA to other people, even if they have the same symptoms you have. It may harm them.

This is a summary of the most important information about EVISTA. If you would like more information about EVISTA, talk with your doctor. You can ask your doctor or pharmacist for information about EVISTA that is written for health professionals. amount of bone mass, but after that we are exercising to keep our bone mass stable," Cosman explains.

Bones constantly are being broken down and rebuilt. With osteoporosis, bone deteriorates faster than it is rebuilt, and bones become porous and more prone to breaking.

Weight-bearing and strength-training exercises are needed to help maintain bone strength, Cosman says. Weight-bearing exercises include walking, cross-country skiing, jogging, dancing and racquet sports.

"Aim for about 30 minutes of weight-bearing exercise a day, three times a week," Cosman says. "It's also a good idea to vary your choices and keep it relatively interesting," she adds. "If you use a treadmill two times a week, do something else for your third day."

Strength training involves the use of resistance to build muscle mass. Examples are weight-lifting exercises with free weights or weight machines, and yoga and pilates, which use the body's own weight as resistance.

"Try to engage in strength-training exercises at least twice a week," Cosman says. This can be done on the same day as weight-bearing exercise or on a different day of the week.

Recommendations about exercise are different for people who are frail or who have already sustained a fracture due to brittle bones. "Talk to your doctor before starting an exercise program," says Dr. Nancy E. Lane, director of the University of California Davis Center for Healthy Aging in Sacramento. "If you are at risk of falling, we don't suggest doing any upright exercising. Instead, try yoga or sitting down and doing leg lifts."

Nutrition matters

In addition to exercise, consuming enough calcium through diet and/or supplements also is important to maintain bone health. "Some studies have shown that there is a synergy between nutrition and exercise and that you will get even more benefit if you do both," Cosman says.

The National Osteoporosis Foundation recommends that adults age 50 and older get 1,200 milligrams of calcium and 800 to 1,000 units of vitamin D<sub>3</sub> daily. Vitamin D helps the body absorb calcium.

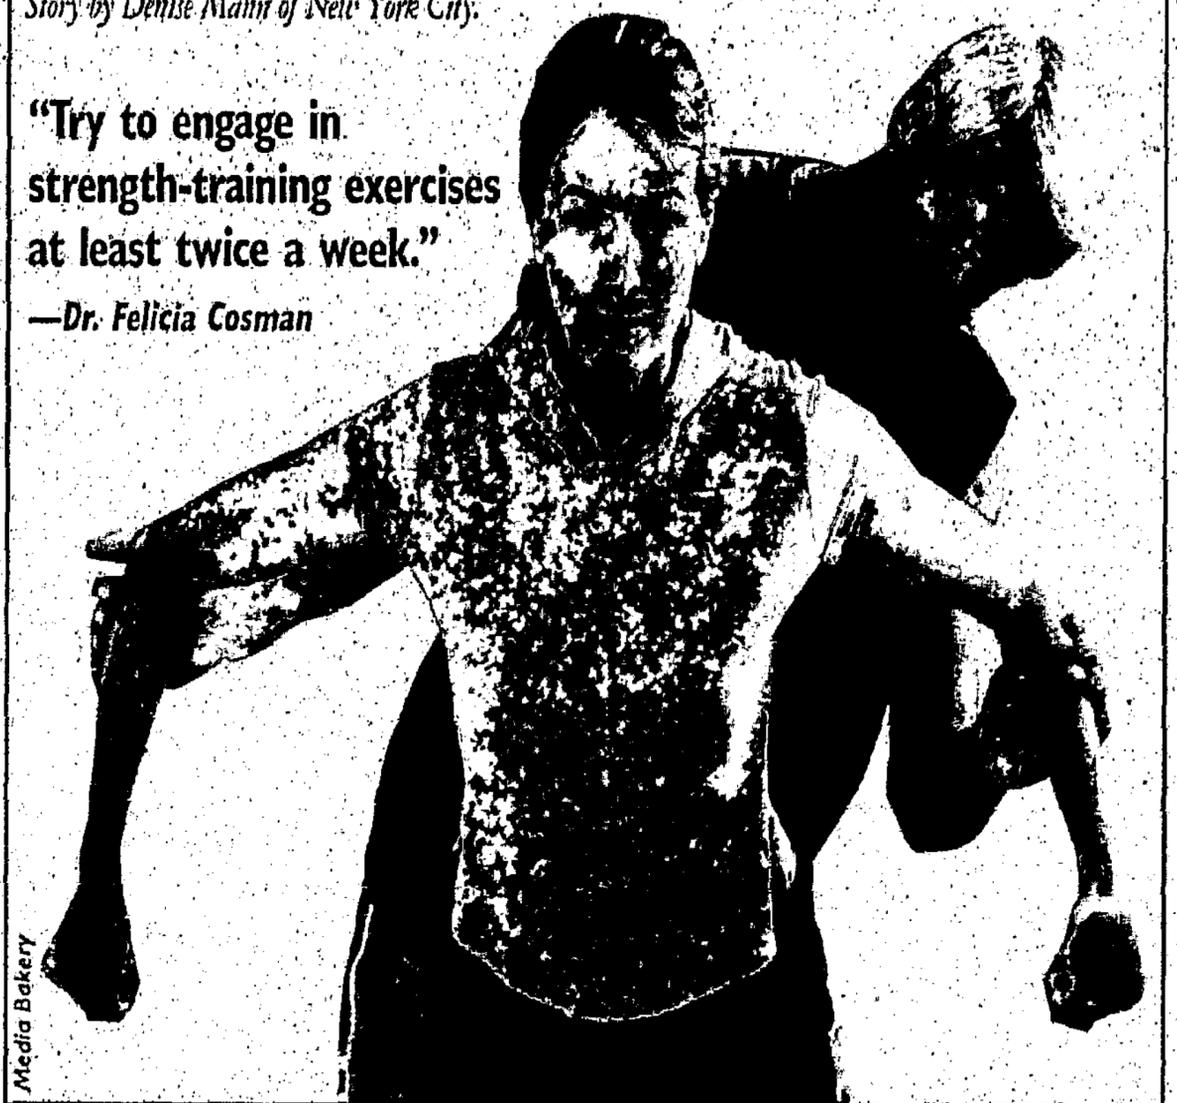

"Not smoking and avoiding excess alcohol also helps keep bones strong," Cosman says. "I take calcium and vitamin D supplements every day and really try to make healthy choices about what I eat and drink."

Osteoporosis isn't an inevitable part of aging. Engaging in regular exercise and making other healthy lifestyle choices can help keep your bones healthy and strong. ★

BREAK OUT THE BOARD GAMES

Classic board games offer something that all generations can enjoy: a chance to interact with family members while having a good time.

"We're connected today with cell phones and the Internet, but we miss that face-to-face interaction," says Tim Walsh, inventor of the game TriBond and author of the book Timeless Toys. Many of the traditional games that baby boomers grew up with can provide that interaction, and some longtime favorites have received updates that make them even more appealing to younger generations.

Here are some favorite board games that you might want to buy or break out of the closet for a family gathering:

Monopoly. Older kids and adults love this game of buying and selling real estate, which debuted in 1935. The traditional version still is a blast, but numerous other Monopoly games have been introduced over the years, including editions based on Disney stories and characters, and Monopoly Junior, suitable for ages 5 through 8. Younger (or math-challenged) players also might enjoy the Electronic Banking Edition, which features toy debit cards instead of cash.

Scrabble. Part crossword puzzle, part game of chance, Scrabble has spelled fun for families for decades. Players score points by forming words with lettered tiles. Strategy is involved, as players earn extra points if they can place a word on the game board's colored squares. Special editions include the Junior game for younger players and another for New York Yankees fans, with a playing board shaped like a baseball diamond.

Hi Ho! Cherry-O. In this counting game for preschoolers, players try to be the first to pick 10 cherries from a tree. Participants spin a wheel to determine how many cherries to pick, but those whose spinner lands on a bird, a dog or a spilled bucket have to return cherries to the tree. The game is a fun introduction to board games, as well as to basic addition and subtraction.

The Game of Life. Life has changed a lot since 1960, and so has The Game of Life, which first appeared that year. Players still can go to college, get married and end up at Millionaire Acres, but the latest version of the game—appropriately called "Twists and Turns"—allows players to make a variety of lifestyle choices. The giant wheel of fate has been replaced by an electronic "Lifepod" that keeps track of players' moves and manages their financial matters, using toy VISA cards instead of play cash.

Checkers. Players have been moving their pieces toward kings row on the checkerboard for centuries. A version of this two-person game was played in ancient Egypt as early as 1400 B.C. The object of the game is to capture and block your opponent's game pieces and become the last player with checkers remaining on the board. Checkers is simple enough for children to master, but also intrigues experts who compete in international championships and in online matches.

Clue. Kids of all ages like to play detective, and Clue still is the best game of deduction around. Other versions of this murder mystery game include Clue Jr., for the elementary school-age set, and an interactive DVD edition. Fans of The Simpsons may enjoy Simpsons Clue, which features characters, locations and weapons based on the popular animated TV show.

While many classic board games have been updated, older generations will find them just as much fun as the original versions. So gather around the table—or the DVD player—and let the games begin! ★

TACKLING SPRING CLEANING

The mere mention of spring evokes pleasant images of planting flowers, flying kites, taking picnics and watching baseball. Springtime house cleaning, on the other hand, is a ritual that many people would rather skip, because they can't imagine devoting an entire day or weekend to tackle the task.

If you're convinced you don't have time to fit spring cleaning into your busy schedule, don't despair. You can take advantage of a few free minutes here and there to spruce up your home.

Try these ideas for tackling household chores when you have a few minutes to spare, and you'll make steady progress toward your goal of a spick and span abode.

IF YOU HAVE FIVE MINUTES

- Clean kitchen countertops.
- Clean the backsplash.
- Wipe out refrigerator crisper drawers. Line drawers with paper towels so next time you can just toss the dirty paper towel and replace with a clean one.
- Clean out one or two shelves in your refrigerator or freezer.
- Disinfect the trash can.
- Clean the microwave. Spritz the inside with water then turn on high for a few seconds. Allow it to sit for a minute, then wipe with a clean cloth.
- Wipe woodwork in your kitchen.
- Wipe a few drawer and cabinet handles.
- Sort through and pare down a junk drawer.

COLORADO

Mesa Verde Country Indian Arts & Culture Festival—Cortez, Dolores, Mancos and Towaoc, May 23-June 1. Celebrate the region's heritage during this event featuring a juried American Indian art market, archaeological tours, dances and an Indian rug auction. (800) 530-2998.

Boats, Blues & Barbecue Cook-off—Pueblo, June 6-7. Cheer on teams participating in this Kansas City Barbecue Society-sanctioned contest, plus enjoy live music and boat excursions at the Historic Arkansas Riverwalk of Pueblo. (719) 595-0242.

MONTANA

Heritage Museum Anniversary—Libby, May 31. Celebrate the museum's 30th anniversary during this event featuring entertainment, mining and lumbering equipment demonstrations, and an exhibit of explorer David Thompson. (406) 293-7521.

Loon & Fish Festival—Seeley Lake, May 24-25. Guided nature walks exploring loon and other animal habitats, arts & crafts and demonstrations by local artisans, and children's activities highlight this event at Community Hall. (406) 793-5706.

NEW MEXICO

Borealis String Quartet Concert—Albuquerque, June 6 & 8. Experience the musical interpretations of this string ensemble during a performance at the Simms Center for Performing Arts. For tickets, call (505) 268-1990.

Georgia O'Keeffe and Ansel Adams: Natural Affinities—Santa Fe, May 23-Sept. 7. View 97 works by the two artists, which capture their visions of the natural world, at the Georgia O'Keeffe Museum. (505) 946-1000.

OKLAHOMA

The Science of SuperCroc, Featuring Nigersaurus—Norman, May 31-Aug. 24. View a 40-foot-long crocodile and a 30-foot-long reconstructed dinosaur during this exhibit at the Sam Noble Oklahoma Museum of Natural History. (405) 325-4712.

A Small Town Weekend—El Reno, June 6-8. A concert, children's games and activities, a cruise for cars 1982 and older, an open car show, hot wheel races and food highlight this event in the downtown area and at Adams Park. (405) 262-3876.

TEXAS

Crawfish Festival—Fredericksburg, May 23-24. Savor boiled crawfish, gumbo, red beans and rice, and other food, plus enjoy the music of six bands, including T-Broussard & the Zydeco Steppers, at Marktplatz. (866) 839-3378.

Old Fiddlers 77th Reunion & Contest—Athens, May 30. Tap your toes to fiddle music and two-step to country & western tunes during an evening street dance on the Henderson County Courthouse lawn. (888) 294-2847.

WYOMING

Little Snake River Valley Walk 4 Life—Dixon to Baggs, May 31. Join in a fund-raising walk or bike, 4-wheeler or horse ride, beginning at the Dixon Senior Center and ending in Baggs with a barbecue. Proceeds go to area residents battling cancer. (307) 383-6453.

Buffalo Stampede—near Wright, June 1. Lace up your shoes for a 5K/10K walk/run, and enjoy buffalo breakfast burritos during this seventh annual event at Durham Buffalo Ranch. (307) 464-0198. ★

- Clean out a couple of shelves in your medicine cabinet.
- Sort children's clothing one drawer or shelf at a time.
- Purge a basket of magazines and catalogs.
- Remove clutter from one surface area.
- Wipe fingerprints off a few doorjams and light switches.
- Put DVDs or CDs back in their cases.

IF YOU HAVE 10 MINUTES

- Vacuum a room and hallway.
  - Wipe off canisters and small appliances.
  - Clean glass, mirrors, TVs, computer screens and tabletops.
  - Remove dust from the pleats in lampshades with a soft-bristled paintbrush.
  - Polish one or two pieces of wood furniture.
  - Dust-mop wood floors in a room or two.
  - Put damp socks on your hands and wipe dust from broadleaf plants.
  - Dust tabletops, shelves, pictures or mantle.
  - Spot-clean sofa cushions and throw pillows.
- Use a masking-tape lint roller to quickly pick up pet hair.
- Straighten a shelf or two in the linen closet.
  - Remove the books from one shelf on a bookcase, dust the books and shelf, and replace books.
  - Clean the track of a sliding glass door by using a screwdriver wrapped in a thin towel to pry stubborn dirt.

IF YOU HAVE 20 TO 30 MINUTES

- Vacuum refrigerator coils and front grill. Empty the drip pan.
- Use a handheld vacuum to clean stairs; start at the top and work down.
- Quick-clean blinds, wearing a pair of cotton work gloves. Dip gloved hands into a solution of all-purpose household cleaner and water, and use your fingers to wash the slats.
- Clean your stovetop and replace aluminum drip pans under burners.
- Remove ashes from fireplace and clean hearth.
- Clean bathroom vent fan. Dirt and lint buildup inside the fan can impair efficiency, encourage mildew growth, and shorten the life of the unit, so don't skip this task. To clean, remove the vent cover and wipe the inside with a rag. Use an old toothbrush to clean fan blades. As with any electric fixture, don't use water to clean.

And remember, everyone who enjoys the benefits of home should participate in its upkeep. So make spring cleaning a family affair. If they help clean the house, they'll be more likely to help keep it clean! ★

ROAD TRIP SNACK

Vacations with kids are full of ups and downs. Watching them discover the fun of hiking in a national park or delighting in their sandcastles on the beach—these are the ups. The downs, no doubt, include the choruses of “I’m hungry” coming from the back seat of the car.

With a little planning, there’s no need to stop at a fast food restaurant for a bite to eat. Instead, you can create tasty, portable snacks for a roadside picnic. This week, American Profile offers a recipe perfect to take on a road trip.

Betty Bagley’s recipe for World’s Best Pimiento Cheese travels well in a cooler. It’s great in sandwiches and works equally well stuffed in celery stalks or served on crackers. “This is always requested as my contribution to our family picnics,” the Athens, Tenn., resident says.

As always, American Profile looks forward to receiving your recipes and sharing them with our readers. To submit a recipe of your own, send it, along with the story behind it and a color photograph of yourself, to: Hometown Recipes, American Profile, 341 Cool Springs Blvd., Suite 400, Franklin, TN 37067. ### WORLD’S BEST PIMIENTO CHEESE

- |  |   |
|--|---|
| 1/4 cup mayonnaise                         | 6 to 8 drops Tabasco sauce                  |
| 1 (3-ounce) package cream cheese, softened | 1 (2-ounce) jar pimientos, undrained        |
| 3 garlic cloves, minced                    | 3 cups finely shredded sharp Cheddar cheese |
| 1/4 cup chopped flat-leaf parsley          | 1 cup pecan chips                           |

1. Combine mayonnaise, cream cheese, garlic, parsley and Tabasco in a food processor or blender; process until smooth. Spoon into a medium bowl. Add undrained pimientos, Cheddar and pecans; mix well.

2. Cover with plastic wrap and refrigerate at least 4 hours to overnight to allow the flavors to blend. Serves 16.

Tips from Our Test Kitchen: If pecan chips are not available, place whole pecans in a food processor or blender and pulse to a coarse texture.

Butcher's photos show the detail of uninhabited natural landscapes.

grandeur from Washington state to Maine—Butcher's photographs spotlight the beauty of our country and underline the need to preserve it.

"They evoke a pride in the natural landscape of America, a pride so strong that we should want to keep it, as safe and as best as possible," says Aaron De Groft, director of the Muscarelle Museum at the College of William and Mary in Williamsburg, Va., where America the Beautiful began a nationwide tour last September.

Butcher's photos have "won over many people to protect natural land and water, even though they have no direct experience" in conservation, says Robert Bendick of The Nature Conservancy, whose mission is to protect America's endangered species and ecosystems.

Butcher's work today is a family affair, with Niki writing and designing for Butcher's various projects, and daughter Jackie, 40, involved in finances. Though he has received numerous accolades for both his photography and his advocacy for the environment, including the Sierra Club's Ansel Adams Conservation Award and Florida's Heartland Community Service Award, recognition is not what drives him.

"I consider myself a teacher more than a photographer or artist," Butcher says. "My hope is that by sharing nature's beauty, it is kept in a natural condition for future generations." ★

Have you noticed lately?

Meat products at other stores have nutritional labels. That's because they package their meat off-site and ship it to their stores. As a result, they have to add certain solutions that increase the sodium levels in the meat.

★ Lawrence Brothers Guarantee ★
Your money back or the product replaced!

At Lawrence Brothers, all of our meat is cut right in our stores and is 100% fresh. You won't see a nutritional label on our beef, because that is all it is... QUALITY BEEF at a good price and without additives, 100% guaranteed.

We Can Help You Avoid a Stroke

1. Stroke Screening/Carotid Artery

Plaque buildup (also known as atherosclerosis) is an abnormal collection of calcium and cholesterol on the artery walls. As you can see in the image at left, plaque builds up along the walls of a diseased artery. This buildup can restrict blood flow to the brain or break off and become lodged in a blood vessel - causing a stroke.

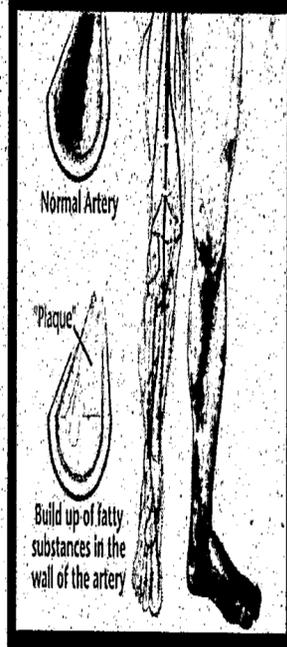

Through ultrasound technology, Life Line Screening can visualize the inside of your carotid arteries. Early detection allows your personal physician to advise you on an appropriate course of action that could be life saving.

2. Abdominal Aortic Aneurysm (AAA) Screening

An Abdominal Aortic Aneurysm (AAA) is a "ballooning" of the wall in the abdominal aorta. Like strokes, AAAs are most often caused by atherosclerosis (plaque buildup). The majority of people with AAAs have no symptoms. If an AAA ruptures, the mortality rate is as high as 80 percent, with many not surviving long enough to reach a hospital.

More than 15,000 U.S. residents per year die of AAAs. The good news is that AAAs can be identified in minutes via a painless, non-invasive ultrasound screening.

3. Peripheral Arterial Disease (PAD) Screening

Ultrasound technology is also used to screen for Peripheral Arterial Disease (plaque buildup in the arms/legs). Eight to twelve million Americans suffer from PAD.

4. Osteoporosis Screening

Ultrasound screen for abnormal bone mass density in men and women. Osteoporosis is painless and silent in its early stages.

Life Line Screening is America's leading provider of quality health screenings. These tests quickly detect arterial abnormalities which can cause disrupted blood flow. Our screenings are fast, accurate and available at an affordable rate.

We provide these non-invasive, completely painless screenings using Doppler ultrasound technology.

Stroke Screening/ Carotid Artery

This screens the carotid arteries in the neck for plaque buildup. The #1 cause of stroke is linked to carotid artery blockage.

Abdominal Aortic Aneurysm Screening

This screens for the existence of an aneurysm in the abdominal aorta. The vast majority of people who have an aneurysm have no symptoms.

Peripheral Arterial Disease Screening

This screens for peripheral arterial disease (plaque buildup) in the lower extremities which is linked to coronary artery disease.
