Capitan levy passes

School board winners: Gladden and Salas in Ruidoso; Vinson in Capitan

TODD FUQUA
toddf@ruidosonews.com

Officials in the Capitan school district can breathe a bit easier, as voters by a wide margin passed a mill levy which provides a good deal of funding for the district.

The mill levy, which Superintendent Shirley Crawford said is projected to provide $500,000, is not related to bond issues which were defeated by Capitan district voters in 2007 and 2008.

Also winning in the Capitan elections were school board Vice-President Ed Vinson, who defeated Brian Newell for Position 2, with 237 votes to Newell's 124. James Fields, running unopposed for Position 1, retained his seat with 321 votes.

In Ruidoso elections, Rafael Salas defeated John Sims for his Position 4 seat on the Ruidoso School Board, 350-99, while Kerry Gladden defeated Paul Vordermann, 307-143, for the Position 5 seat.

ENMU: Phillips defeats Reed

On the Eastern New Mexico University-Ruidoso college board, Susan Phillips narrowly defeated Andrea Reed, 237-205, while James Paxton retained his seat with 364 votes.

In other unopposed elections, Denise Hill and Wallace Ferguson each retained their seats on the Carrizozo School Board, while Dennis Nosker and James Cooper were elected to board positions in Hondo. Hondo also overwhelmingly passed a bond question.

In Corona, James Smith retained his seat, and voters passed their mill levy question.

All election results are unofficial until canvassing by the Magistrate Court on Friday.

GRAND SLAM OF A PROMOTION

DIANNE STALLINGS/RUIDOSO NEWS

Denny's restaurants, including the local outlet in Ruidoso Downs, were jammed Tuesday with patrons hungry to take advantage of the restaurant chain's Grand Slam breakfast giveaway. Denny's announced in a commercial Sunday during the Super Bowl that it would give away its signature breakfast from 6 a.m. until 2 p.m. local time Tuesday at all its restaurants in the U.S., Canada and Puerto Rico. A waitress, identified only as Yvette from Las Cruces, above, helped out at the local restaurant because the Las Cruces restaurant is undergoing remodeling.

LCDC guard booked

JULIE CARTER
jcarter@ruidosonews.com

A guard at the Lincoln County Detention Center was arrested, Jan. 27, after officers from the Lincoln County Drug Task Force confirmed she was bringing cocaine into the jail.

Suzanne A. Anderson, 53, of Ruidoso Downs, has been charged with six criminal counts that include possession of a controlled substance (cocaine) with the intent to distribute, bringing the drug into a prison, attempting to furnish the drug to a prisoner(s), conspiracy to commit a crime and possessing smoking contraband (tobacco and lighting devices) within the confines of the prison.

According to the criminal complaint filed in Ruidoso Magistrate Court, drug task force officers were operating on a tip that Anderson would be bringing the narcotics into the detention center during her evening shift at the facility.

Task force officers met Anderson in the lobby of LCDC and requested that she surrender the contraband.

A package seized in the arrest contained cigarette tobacco, two lighters, two packages of cigarette rolling papers and a bag containing 3 grams of white powder, which field tested positive for cocaine.

Anderson was booked and transported to the Otero County Detention Center. Charges for her alleged crimes are first, second and fourth degree felonies along with a misdemeanor for the smoking contraband.

Court documents show a number of traffic violations for Anderson. In December 2007 she pleaded guilty to driving under the influence of liquor or drugs, first offense.

The case was tried in a T or C Magistrate Court where, in June 2008, she was fined, ordered to serve community service, use an ignition interlock and attend DWI school.

A certificate for completion of the DWI school was filed in court October 2008.

A court date on the LCDC charges is pending.

Ruidoso's fleet aging

DIANNE STALLINGS
dstallings@ruidosonews.com

Ruidoso owns a fleet of aging vehicles, many with substantially high mileage, and if a replacement rotation isn't implemented, the danger of a fleet failure exists.

"We're approaching fleet failure," said Village Public Works Director Randall Camp. "Over half are more than five years old. We have to look seriously at replacing with greater frequency."

Many municipalities and counties replace vehicles in five-year cycles or a 75,000-mile cap, Camp told village councilors Tuesday.

"We'd have to replace 33 vehicles each year just to break even at the end of five years," he said. "Our record is from one to five a year." In 1996, the council authorized the biggest replacement of 10 new vehicles.

Camp was reporting in response to a request from Councilor James Stoddard, who attended the council session by conference call.

"I did an inventory 10 months ago and updated it with a mileage comparison," Camp said. "The village owns 163 vehicles. The average mileage is 81,000 and 122 are more than five years old, 75 are more than 10 years and 32 are more than 15 years. Our street department has dump trucks older than the drivers. It's a serious situation a lot of municipalities find themselves in."

Because the village enterprise departments, which are self-supporting, and the police department hand down older units to other departments, their value

County works on fire protection ordinance

■ It might not be as restrictive as Ruidoso's

DIANNE STALLINGS
dstallings@ruidosonews.com

A draft of a possible wildland/urban interface ordinance will be sent to two Lincoln County advisory boards for suggestions as the county attorney, planning director and emergency services coordinator work on a version to present to county commissioners.

Commissioner Dave Parks proposed adoption of an ordinance not as restrictive and multifaceted as the set of five approved in the Village of Ruidoso, but aimed at fire hazard reduction.

During a public hearing in January, Commission Chairman Tom Battin said if the basic motivation is to minimize fire danger, he wasn't interested in anything too restrictive on development because of the costs. He doesn't want to interfere with people's private property and their options for land use, he said.

Parks said the ordinance would not cover the whole county, just a defined area of urban/wildland interface laid out in a Community Wildland Protection Plan already adopted by the county.

County Attorney Alan Morel said he needs direction on how far commissioners want to go, including staff levels, provisions for removal of slash and how enforcement and billing would be handled. He warned that the ordinance could balloon into a "monster," and force the county to hire a code enforcement officer.

Battin asked if any revenue could be generated to cover staff and supply costs.

Workshop slated

Ruidoso Village councilors will meet at 4:30 p.m., Feb. 17, for a workshop on village goals. The session will be conducted in council chambers at Village Hall, 313 Cree Meadows Drive.

A second workshop is set for 4:30 p.m., Feb. 26, to discuss the village's financial, procurement, personnel and information technology policies and procedures.

Tax help

Free tax preparation will be offered to all middle- to low-income individuals and families of all ages. The help comes from volunteer tax councilors and auxiliary personnel under the auspices of AARP in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service. Help has been offered nationwide for the 41 years and in the Ruidoso area for the past 19 years.

The help begins Thursday at the Ruidoso Senior Center and runs through Feb. 11. Come to the center on Thursdays and Fridays from 1 - 4 p.m. and Saturdays from 9 a.m. - noon.

'Guns and Roses'

The Hubbard Museum of the American West will present a special program by author and historian Lynda Sanchez and local historian Tad Vanderhye, titled, "Guns and Roses: The Many Facets of Fort Stanton."

The program is set for 2 p.m., Feb. 7, in the Johnny and Marty Cope Learning Center at the museum. The regular admission fee to the museum is the only fee for the program. Museum members are admitted without charge.

Sanchez and Vanderhye invested years of their lives researching and talking about the fort, and they will share their experiences, information and stories. Vanderhye also amassed an impressive collection of guns and sabers.

The program coincides with a special exhibit that runs through March 8 about the history of Fort Stanton, established in 1855. The exhibit, "Fort Stanton: An American Journey," features original artifacts and photographs of the fort from its inception to the present day.

The Hubbard Museum of the American West is located at 841 Highway U.S. 70 West in Ruidoso Downs, and is open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., seven days a week. Admission to the Museum is $6 for adults, and reduced admission for senior citizens and youth.

Sanchez also is scheduled for a presentation in Las Cruces. A DVD on the fort will be shown at both programs along with specific artifacts.

Health care talk

Tom Lindsey, a general surgeon at Lincoln County Medical Center, shared his insights about the country's medical care with attendees at the January meeting of the Federated Republican Women of Lincoln County at K-Bob's.

He emphasized the complexity of medical systems that include 40 percent private insurance, primarily employer-based, 40 percent government programs such as Medicare and Medicaid, and 20 percent uninsured.

In discussing universal health care such as in Canada, England and Sweden, he explained that the reality of those systems, "which nobody talks about," requires rationing services and denying those over age 65 dialysis and cancer treatments.

"People are not used to that in this country, but it just isn't economically possible to give everyone everything they want (under universal healthcare)," Lindsey said.

TOM LINDSEY/COURTESY GENEVIEVE J. DUNCAN

He also discussed the problem of attracting and keeping doctors in rural areas; New Mexico has half the national average of doctors per capita.

It's not possible to predict what the government will do, but Lindsey said, "change is inevitable because we can't afford to continue" in the current direction. The speaker mentioned that a federal marketplace for insurance products would lower premiums. He said insurance companies are monitored by state government agencies, so free-market competition is limited.

The doctor listed five questions voters must ask themselves:

- Are we guaranteed the right to health care?
- Who should pay for health care – employers, individuals or government?
- Should there be one system?
- How do we justify subsidies and loss of tax exemptions at the same time?
- Can we control administration of the health care system?

Dr. Lindsey, whose father and grandfather were physicians, quoted his grandfather from a remark offered before he passed away at age 98: "Health care will be good when people pay for it themselves again."

The next FRWLC meeting is set for noon, Feb. 23, at K-Bob's.

Red Cross drive

Representatives of the American Red Cross are conducting a new volunteer orientation Feb. 14, at the Angus Church in Alto.

The aim is to re-establish a local Red Cross presence in Lincoln County. The session will run from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m., with registration at 8:45 a.m. at 103 Bonito Parks Rd.

The session will cover the history, structure, services, programs and volunteer opportunities of the American Red Cross. After that, those interested in volunteering as disaster services workers can attend an Introductory Disaster Services course called "Fulfilling Our Mission," ending at 2:30 p.m.

Sign up in advance through Tuesday by calling 505-262-6172 or by e-mail: wilsonjan@usa.redcross.org.

Capitan cell tower a monument of sorts

Did anyone learn anything during process?

In posting a council agenda, no mayor or representative is obligated to inform their constituents that such-and-such item is "really important; so you might consider attending this meeting."

Thus, when a community, for whatever reason, slips out of the habit of staying informed and holding its public officials accountable, stuff happens.

So it did a year ago, when the Village of Capitan and Plateau Telecommunications entered into an agreement to place a cell tower in a residential neighborhood.

When word got around to angry residents, it was too late. Sure, one trustee accepted the blame for not considering the wishes of the citizens, and the mayor said he'd attempt to negotiate an exit strategy.

But, again, it was too late. Facing $60,000 in order to back out of the lease, Capitan rightly went with the tower.

To everyone's credit, the needle is 40 feet shorter than first proposed. And it's colored a dull, non-reflective gray.

And no one can argue the village doesn't need a boost in communications.

In the end, maybe the Tower of Babble will be a standing monument to the need for a little civic involvement.

Brackish water deserves study – and oversight

The Legislature should give the State Engineer a handle on brackish water.

Land agencies are seeing a rising tide of applications, a new kind of land rush, to grab water that was considered worthless until need and technology put a price on it.

SHERRY ROBINSON

The immediate need is on Albuquerque's West Mesa and in the Rio Puerco Valley of Sandoval County, where drillers have identified new reservoirs. But consider that New Mexico has an estimated 15 billion acre-feet of brackish water, and we use about 4 million acre-feet a year.

It's too big a resource to leave to chance.

In 2003, people packed a conference held in Hobbs on desalination, organized by experts from Sandia National Laboratories. Speakers talked about opportunities, costs and issues. One of those issues was jurisdictional conflict: A variety of state and federal agencies have their hands in oversight of brackish water and water produced by the oil and gas industry.

Notably, the State Engineer does not have jurisdiction over non-potable water deeper than 2,500 feet. In the eyes of anyone with a use for water, this becomes "new water." It's not exactly new; brackish water is the last remnant of ancient oceans, trapped deep underground.

Brackish water is (more) complicated water. It's not entirely clear who owns it. It may be the landowner, the owner of mineral rights, or the first person to find it.

And before you consider putting a spoon into this broth, there is the matter of geologic reality. These reservoirs are finite; they don't recharge from rain or from surface water. Use them up and they're gone.

Sandoval County and its partner developers expect to support a population of 300,000 for 100 years. Civil engineer Bruce Thomson asks, "What happens then? Do proponents of this development think that the demand for water elsewhere in the state will have decreased so that other water sources will be available? That the cities of Albuquerque, Santa Fe and Rio Rancho won't have also grown? That irrigated agriculture will no longer need river water for crops?"

Thomson, who is director of UNM's Water Resources Program, argues that we need to think further out than 100 years for residential development, which will need water indefinitely.

Peter Sanchez is CEO of Atrisco Oil & Gas, which found brackish water west of Albuquerque while looking for natural gas. He says that his company is well aware of those limitations. Local governments already weigh available resources in approving new subdivisions. "It is unrealistic to think that discoveries of brackish water are going to automatically result in an acceleration of home development," he writes.

Sanchez supports regulation – sensible, balanced regulation – of deep-water discoveries, because it protects the company's investment and could even stimulate new discoveries.

So what, then, is the promise of brackish water? It's still valuable, Thomson and Sanchez agree. Thomson suggests using the reservoirs during periods of drought. They could function like a bank, in which we withdraw water during dry spells and replenish them during wet periods.

We haven't entirely figured out what happens to the stuff removed in treatment. Salt and minerals might have a value that could offset the cost of desalination, but there will also be waste. Obviously, more study is in order.

This is one of those bills that should pass because it makes sense, but in the combustion of a session focused on the budget, it's one of those bills that can get lost. It shouldn't. The State Engineer should be the last word on this water.

YOUR

Clary column was not 'Clary'

To the editor:

I WAS VERY SURPRISED to read the blatant editorial printed on the Religion page by Charles Clary.

I count Mr. Clary as a friend. I have enjoyed many discussions with him in person and have liked reading his column the past few years. But, last Friday was clearly not Clary.

The teaching of Jesus is not one of exclusion. The belief of Christianity is not one of "weapons." Those are the words of Mr. Clary in his editorial opinion last Friday.

I posted an opinion online. I left a message on Charles' telephone that this is not a piece of legislation that promotes homosexuality. Even if it was, does Jesus teach us to hate homosexuals? Does Jesus teach us to preclude those who love each other?

We have laws that allow decisions to be made by a spouse, but what if there is no "license of marriage." If there is an "anti-homosexual" or push to make same-sex marriage against the laws of this land, maybe we should eliminate the laws that give special consideration to married couples.

The teaching of Jesus is not sexual. It is all people, all races, all beliefs. What this country has done is preclude those who live together without the license of matrimony. Homosexual or not, those couples love each other. Our political belief has clouded our Biblical belief. We should believe in the true justice of love. In that, what are the rights of those who suffer? Can the true love of a couple be hindered by the laws? They are now.

Charles Clary's articles have given a wonderful comment on how we can include Jesus' teaching in our lives, until now. You have given him an editorial forum in which he directs readers to the most one-sided, most intolerant "Christian" in the media, James Dobson. Furthermore, he uses the words: "Prayer is our most powerful weapon." Sounds like an editorial of intolerance to me.

In Clary's own words, as we can help others for today, there is hope for tomorrow. Don't exclude them for their belief, orientation or marital status.

Already a problem

To the editor:

HELLO, GREG DUNCAN (letters 1-29-09), we are in trouble in case you haven't noticed, and not because of any alleged FDR/-Obama policies.

Are you suggesting "The magic of the marketplace," as Ronald Reagan used to call it, will bail us out? Didn't we have that in spades for the last eight years? How did that work out?

Perhaps if we had not an illegal war costing trillions, a corrupt Wall Street, laissez faire marketplace and the fact we gave the wealthy more tax cuts, we may not be in this situation.

I also seem to recall Mr. Bush inherited a surplus when he took office.

At least Mr. Obama is trying to do something and even asking input from Republicans, unlike the last administration.

We are awaiting your suggestions and solutions, Mr. Duncan.

Debt rising

To the editor:

NO ONE COULD CALL me a financial expert, nor can I claim any formal training in economics. So, while I have no problem seeing the causes of the current economic downturn/financial crisis, when it comes to providing a solution to it, I feel woefully unqualified. So I resort to the next best thing: I listen to, and read, the experts. As it turns out, they are of little help.

First, there are the panel debates on the various network channels. There is a host – himself usually a recognized expert – who presides over a panel of varying size that is made up of pundits of the world of finance and economics. There are stock brokers, financial consultants, bankers, ex-FED presidents, Wall Street Journal contributors and more; all recognized shining lights of their profession and academic background. The trouble is, they can never agree. The debates quickly degenerate into shouting matches that, with little oversight from the host, become unintelligible because everyone talks at once. In fact, rather than play referee, the host happily participates in the free-for-all.

So I sit there and ask myself, why do I even watch this, and where is good old Major Roberts and his Rules of Order, when we need him?

The written sources, of course, lack the entertainment aspect of the networks but you can sample the wisdom of the writers without all the confusion of the panel shows. But again, there are these widely differing and conflicting views, mostly, but not always diverging along political lines. And once more, the writers are all experts in their field, learned men and women with MBAs, PhDs and, presumably, commensurately wealthy. And here I am, worrying about the tanking of my retirement funds and finding no solace.

What's more ominous yet is that our leaders in Washington have similar disagreements as to what to do about the financial and economic crisis that the country is in. Consensus only exists in the opinion that any solution will cost a lot of money – billions, in fact; maybe trillions. And politicians being what they are, their overarching concern is not necessarily the good of the country but the debt they owe to their campaign contributors and how to position themselves for the next election. And the incredible sums of money they so freely spent ultimately come out the pockets of the taxpayer.

As of today – Jan. 31 – the national debt stands at $10.6 trillions in round numbers, and is increasing at a rate of $ 3.1 billion a day. As stated above, I am no financial wizard, but a long business career has taught me that being in debt can be a serious problem.

Yet the debate about fixing our current economic problems is mostly about how to drastically increase the national debt. Sure, money is going to provide some relief to Americans, but is the cost to the nation worth it? With the lack of consensus amongst the experts and in Washington on how to spend the money, and the reckless rush to action of the last few months, we have plenty to worry about.

Inauguration a blast

To the editor:

THE DEMOCRATIC Party of Lincoln County hosted an Obama Inaugural Celebration at the Hotel Ruidoso the evening of Jan. 20. It was a blast!

We had lots to eat and drink, and gave out 30 door prizes which were donated by the following local companies and people: Casa Feliz; Shrimpy's Shrimp & Wing Shack; Good-To.Go; Coffee Pronto; Allen Theatres; The Wild Herb Market; Chuy's Speed Shop & Kwik Lube; Sierra Blanca Motor Company; Cornerstone Bakery Cafe; Evergreen Cleaners; Candy Bouquet; Copper Bear Gallery; Brunell's Mountain Clothing & Ruidoso Outdoors; Mountain Arts Gallery & Framing; Kara's Kritters; B.J. Welch; The Bay Window Boutique; Lucy & Ethel's; The Tangled Mane; and Landlocked Restaurant.

Thanks to all the volunteers who worked for weeks to make the arrangements for the party. To all the Democrats, and especially the Republicans, who gave these gifts and gift certificates for prizes, we greatly appreciate this very generous level of community support in these tough economic times.

Assessor weighs in on nightly rentals

DIANNE STALLINGS
dstallings@ruidosonews.com

While the debate in Ruidoso rages over whether nightly rentals are a residential or commercial use, the county assessor said the rules are clear.

Lincoln County Assessor Paul Baca told county commissioners last week he met with members of the Board of Realtors to discuss classification of nightly rental property.

"They have rental property in Ruidoso that we have classified as residential and is rented out by the night or the week," he said. Such use requires the property be reclassified as nonresidential, he said.

"So we sent out letters asking rental property managers to (help identify the property), so we could change the classification," Baca said. "We thought they were being rented for the full year, which they are not. State statutes say to be residential, property must be permanently residential, not for transient use."

However, a classification of nonresidential isn't the same as commercial, he said.

"It's not commercial, it's nonresidential. They were upset because nonresidential is assessed at a higher tax rate," Baca said. "I asked for an opinion from Alan (Morel, county attorney) and a multiple use property should be assessed based on its predominant use. Some of these are not even rented a full six months."

Ruidoso village officials are working on an ordinance that may change some of the property uses and definitions, he said.

"I think some still are kind of upset, because they think the property taxes will go way up," Baca said. "They will go up, but not that much."

Residential tax rates are $25.60 per thousand dollars of property value, while nonresidential is $31 per thousand dollars.

Commissioner Jackie Powell asked if the nightly rentals paid lodger's tax and Commissioner Don Wil-liams, who also is a Ruidoso village councilor, said those under a property manager pay, but many flying under the radar and handled by the owners do not collect or report the tax.

"We are trying to find all who do rent out nightly or weekly, because many don't go through managers," he said. "They rent through the Internet and we don't know who they are."

Morel said the issue will rest on the definition of "predominant use."

"I don't know if case law exists on the issue, so will be interesting," he said, adding that he's checking for cases outside of New Mexico for guidance.

He explained that renting to the same person for more than 30 consecutive nights does not fall under lodgers tax. "If less, it can be," he said. "It may be a matter of proper licensing to gather lodgers tax. We don't issue business licenses in the county, so it's even harder than in Ruidoso."

The State Taxation and Revenue Department may not help with enforcement, the attorney said.

Commission Chairman Tom Battin said the issue is of "great concern" to Realtors.

"I imagine all of us had calls about it," the chairman said. "I know some people can't afford to own (a house in Ruidoso), if they can't rent it out. They may have to adjust rental rates to accommodate the additional (property tax and lodgers tax) cost."

Commissioner Eileen Lovelace Sedillo said a certain number of people with a business always will avoid reporting.

In another county assessment issue, Baca said his appraisers have walked the property along the Ruidoso River damaged by a July 27 flood.

"We've been in Ruidoso for a week," he said. "We probably will have a loss in value. A couple of houses have to be removed from the tax rolls, but we increased the value over the last year, so I think we will be OK"

Commissioner Dave Parks said one Upper Canyon owner called him thrilled that someone from the tax assessor's office offered to reduce his taxes.

> "I think some still are kind of upset, because they think the property taxes will go way up. They will go up, but not that much."
> –Paul Baca

Commissioners rejected adoption of an ordinance providing a low–income tax rebate as a county option. Other taxpayers have to make up any loss in taxes.

Only one county out of 33 adopted the ordinance and that was Los Alamos, County Manager Tom Stewart said, adding, "I think there are few low–income people in Los Alamos.

"Sandoval County tried it for a year and dropped it when the effects dramatically cut into the income of the county."

Capitan resident Duane Williams said if commissioners adopted the subsidy, they should include a note in each tax bill indicating the opportunity exists to request a subsidy and the taxpayer can include money above his tax bill to cover the charity for the people who want the help.

Baca said in a change of rules this year, people making $32,000 or less, are 65 or older or disabled, can apply for a freeze on their property valuation for as long as they stay there.

"We've had about 25 applications," he said. In previous years, the income level was less and most applications were denied, "but I don't think we will be able to this year."

Palmer: school bus accident preventable

DIANNE STALLINGS
dstallings@ruidosonews.com

The president of the Mescalero Apache Tribe contends an accident involving a 6-year-old child at a school bus stop could have been avoided Monday, if the bus route ran through reservation subdivisions.

President Carleton Naiche-Palmer said under his predecessor Mark Chino, school buses from Ruidoso were not allowed to enter the reservation as a way of encouraging enrollment in the Mescalero School system.

Policy rescinded

"When I was elected, I rescinded that policy and opened it up again," Palmer said. "Kenny Blazer from the Tularosa (School District bus operation) picks up the children at their homes in the subdivisions, but not Ruidoso. I want the Carrizo people to understand it is not the tribal administration causing the bus not to go into the residences."

Instead, parents drop off their children at a central pickup point on White Mountain Road and Palmer Loop.

"It's also a road with fast traffic," Palmer said. "People are leaving for work at the same time the children go to the bus stop. When the parents drive up, they try to find a place to park. A lot of kids are running around playing tag."

About 180 children, from pre-school age to high school, are served by three buses that pick them up at designated stops and transport them to Ruidoso.

"The Ruidoso bus service refuses to go into the subdivision as was the former arrangement," Palmer contended, adding that if the service was not allocated enough money for that type of pickup, the state should make up the difference.

But Matt Bryant, owner of Lincoln Transportation Inc., said the safety of children always trumps cost and the arrangement was based on how other children attending Ruidoso schools are picked up by school buses.

"Ninety-eight percent of the routes are just like this," he said Thursday.

All school bus stops are evaluated for safety and efficiency, he said. "We're mandated to run efficiently." When the buses were allowed back into the reservation, Bryant said to meet the mandate, he handled the route like most of the Ruidoso district.

Number–one concern

"But it always comes down to the safety of students," Bryant said. "That's our number–one concern, ahead of dollars. I'm happy the student is recovering and not seriously injured."

Patty White, associate superintendent for the Ruidoso School District, said she met Wednesday with members of the Mescalero Education Committee.

"We talked about it and looked at all the bus stops, including those in Ruidoso, and we follow the state guidelines," White said Thursday. "The children in Ponderosa Heights all come down to Mechem Dr. partly because the roads are narrow, steep and winding; even Alpine Village is picked up (at the bottom of the road).

"We always want to be safe. One of things we talked about was having the police patrol, because cars should stop when a bus is picking up and unloading kids."

An emphasis on enforcement of state laws with some warnings and fines initially and then sporadic checking might help alleviate the problem, she said.

"I just want to stress we always are concerned about safety, whether buses or anything," White said. "We were very concerned about the accident Monday and thankful the little boy is all right."

NMSU posts strong enrollment increase

New Mexico State University posted a total of 30,009 students at all campuses for the spring 2009 semester. That is a 7 percent increase from the spring 2008 numbers and follows NMSU's record enrollment for the fall 2008 semester. Student credit hours, an important statistic kept by the state's higher education department, are also up more than 5 percent.

"This is healthy growth," said Bob Moulton, NMSU's interim executive vice president and provost. "This is an indicator that more people are pursuing higher education, which bodes well for the state's future economy. It indicates that this institution continues to meet its land-grant mission."

As a land-grant institution, NMSU is tasked with making a high-quality education available to people across New Mexico as well as providing outreach through the cooperative extension service and conducting research to benefit the state.

Moulton expects the figures to increase further during the spring semester because of mid-semester courses that will count toward the total numbers. Additionally, new student applications are already at 87 percent of last year's total, with seven months still to go until the fall 2009 semester.

"There continues to be a tremendous amount of energy at all levels to continue to promote recruitment, enrollment and retention of students at NMSU," said Bernadette Montoya, assistant vice president for enrollment management.

She said one of the largest increases for the spring is in the transfer student population, from both in and out-of-state. The university has strengthened its relationship with El Paso Community College and increased its participation in college fairs in California, Colorado and Arizona.

Montoya credits student retention efforts as having a positive effect on total enrollment as well.

Enrollment increases were seen systemwide, with NMSU-Alamogordo up 15.7 percent, NMSU-Carlsbad up 16.8 percent, NMSU's Dona Ana Community College up 5.5 percent, NMSU-Grants up 37.2 percent and NMSU-Las Cruces up 3.6 percent.

"We remain optimistic about the fall 2009 semester, however with the economic downturn and budget cuts affecting our recruitment efforts, it is much too early to predict," Montoya said.

Teen Spotlite

Sponsored by Lincoln County DWI Prevention

Teen Spotlite features area teens that have made a difference in their community, and the next featured teen is Trevor Cole Fowler.

Trevor is the son of Dean and Krista Fowler and is an eighth grader at Ruidoso Middle School. He is a strong student who works hard to maintain a 4.0 grade point average. His studious nature has helped him achieve success in several areas related to school. He earned a second place award while at the 2007-08 State MESA Innoventure.

MESA (Mathematics Engineering Science Achievement) Innoventure is a competition that asks students to create a technology business plan to market an idea. In addition to MESA, school activities include membership on the Knowledge Bowl Team, being a school tutor and participating in sports.

Other activities Fowler enjoys are playing baseball and basketball. He takes time to volunteer at the food bank and is involved in the family business. Fowler also served as a People to People Student Ambassador.

Fowler says his future plans include, "making a lasting impression on society." He plans to obtain a college degree, and then go on to medical school. Fowler lists many influences in his life. Topping that list are God, his family, Ghandi, Michael Widener, Steve Jobs and music. It appears he is well on his way to making that lasting impression.

ALTRUSA DONATIONS

AS PART OF its campaign to increase literacy, the Altrusa Club of Ruidoso recently donated funds to augment libraries and resources and area schools.

The Capitan Elementary Library benefitted from Altrusa's generosity, buyiing three sets of classroom books for the school. Each set contains 24 books.

The Mescalero Apache School received $300 from Altrusa to purchase prizes for students who meet set standards.

Altrusa Club of Ruidoso also participates in many other activities. They also support Project Graduation, and provide college scholarships to adults in transition. In partnership with Lincoln County Medical Center, they offer a month-long, low-cost mammogram program every October.

Hubbard Foundation scholarships for Lincoln County

The R.D. and Joan Dale Hubbard Foundation is pleased to announce that they will again offer three scholarships to graduating seniors in Lincoln County.

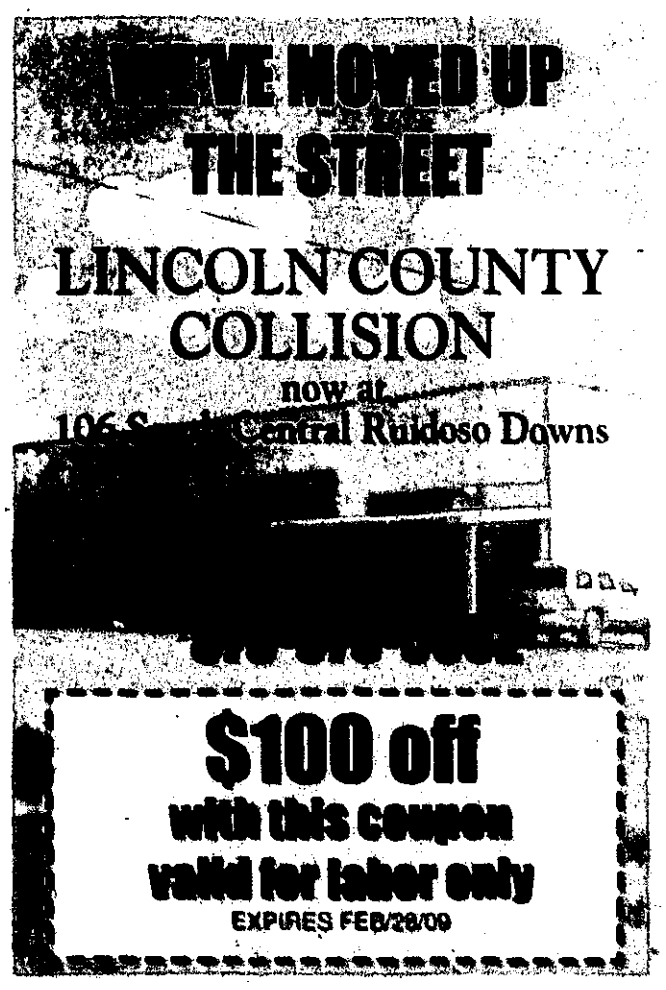
Graduating seniors from any high school in Lincoln County are encouraged to see their respective guidance counselors for the proper application form. Application deadline is April 1.

Each scholarship is designed for a period of four years at $2,000 per year. The recipients will be announced at graduation.

Last year, scholarships were awarded to Lance Dettmer and Ericka Olvera of Ruidoso High School and Markie Jo Sherwood of Corona High School.

The Hubbard Foundation has been awarding scholarships in Lincoln County beginning in 1990. Since that time 50 students have been awarded over $200,000 to assist them in graduating from such schools as M.I.T., Stanford University, University of Texas, Georgia Tech, New Mexico State University, Texas Tech and New Mexico Tech.

In 2008 the foundation provided scholarships to numerous individuals nationwide in the amount of $59,753.



Manager to undergo evaluation

Dianne Stallings
dstallings@ruidosonews.com

Although an annual performance evaluation can be performed, Ruidoso Village Manager Dan O. Higgins' contract doesn't run out until April 2011.

Higgins reminded village councilors of the date during their meeting last week and that his contract is not annually renewable. Councilor Angel Shaw asked to place the evaluation process on the council agenda as part of the "negotiations/renegotiations" of his contract.

Higgins' annual salary, set April 1, 2008, is $95,340.44, up from $86,000 the previous year.

"The contract says no less than three months (ahead of the anniversary date) we should do an evaluation," Shaw pointed out. "Last year, we started under the gun. For once, I would like to be ahead of the curve. Last time, we were into April."

Councilor Greg Cory said the evaluation and salary negotiations occurred in a closed session, not open to the public. "Last year's process was fine," Councilor Michele Rebstock said.

Mayor L. Ray Nunley asked Councilor Don Williams to help him begin the process with a target day of the last regular council meeting this month, Feb. 24.

"We'd start with a closed session going over the individual councilor's evaluations (of the manager)," Shaw said. "Barbara (Fleming, village human resources director) compiled the tool we used last year.

"I still have a blank draft and I can email it to Don (Williams)."

"It probably would be good for everyone to look at the draft to see if they want changes before they do the evaluation," Williams suggested.

Shaw said after they see the blank form, they could contact Village Attorney Dan Bryant for any changes they would like. Bryant said that would be fine, but councilors should not confer on the actual evaluation until the official session.

Coincidentally, Bryant's contract also is coming up for renewal. Cory said he and Williams met with the village attorney to outline some issues and changes councilors would like to see in the second renewal of the contract with the Bryant Schneider-Cook Law Firm.

"There were about a dozen issues and it was a congenial meeting," Williams said. "I think Dan was receptive. I believe he needed time to evaluate, because some mean significant changes to the contract."

Williams proposed a one-month extension of the first renewal, a motion that passed 5-1 with Rebstock voting against it.

Cory, Shaw and Nunley said the revised contract also must undergo a third-party legal review, a requirement instituted by the council after audit criticism of a previous legal services agreement with another attorney.

Transparency bill passes committee

Rep. Joseph Cervantes (D-Las Cruces) once again championed legislation that would open conference committees to the public.

House Bill 393 for Open Conference Committees passed the House Judiciary Committee with a unanimous vote.

Currently conference committee meetings are closed sessions. The committees convene when the House or the Senate refuses to accept the amendments made to a bill in the opposite house, and the amending house refuses to recede from their amendments.

Typically, the House and the Senate each appoint three members to the committee to work out their differences with the proposed legislation. Under Cervantes' bill, conference committee meetings would be open to the public and the committees would be required to provide a reasonable notice of their meetings.

"Effectively representing our constituents requires an opportunity for legislators to participate in all committee meetings," he said.

"Increasing transparency for the public and press will improve the dialogue and assure accountability."

The bill now heads to the House Appropriations and Finance Committee.

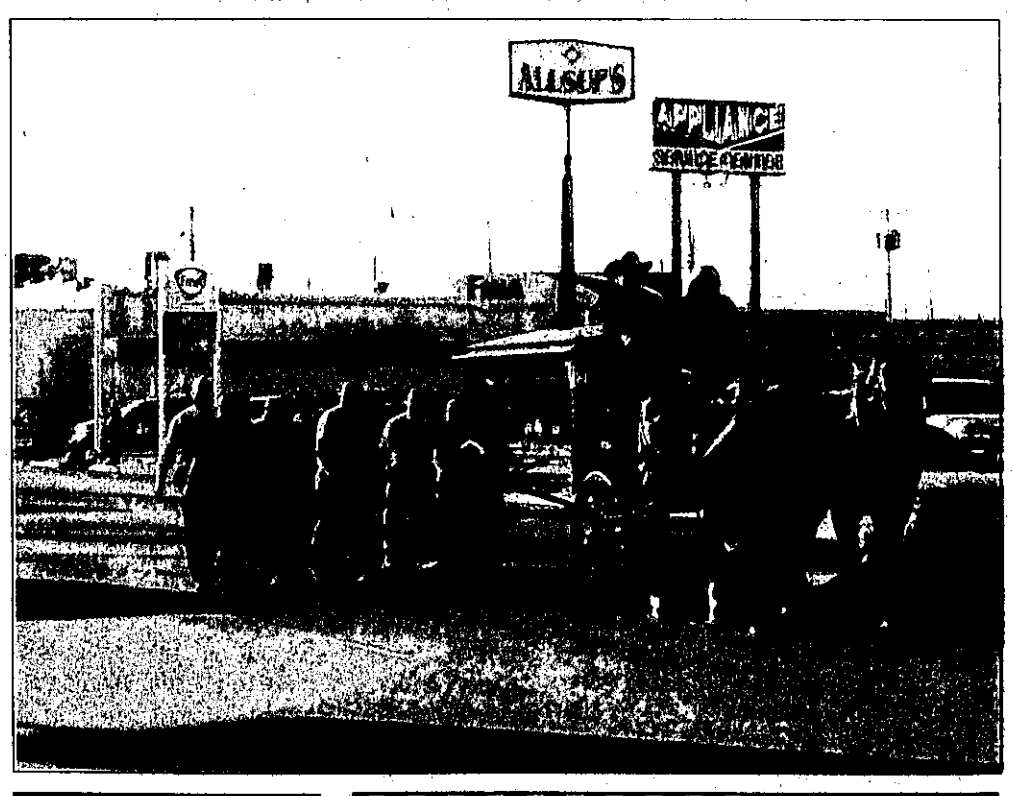
PROCESSION FOR 'BIG BIRD'



A horse-drawn hearse bears the body of Robert "Big Bird" Bird down Mermod Street in Carlsbad Thursday. Several hundred mourners filled Hillcrest Baptist Church for the funeral service before making their way to Carlsbad Cemetery accompanied by an escort of law enforcement agencies from around southeast New Mexico. Bird, a former police chief of Capitan, was a native of Carlsbad. He died Jan. 23 due to complications from an infection.

for auction is reduced or nonexistent, he said. Employees also are reluctant to relinquish a vehicle because they have no assurance it will be replaced, he said. With so many vehicles traded among departments, it was difficult to track all of them for the inventory, he said.

Seeking bids from dealers directly in today's market often yields better prices that state purchasing lists, Camp said.

Jeff Kaplan, who heads the village Solid Waste Department, said equipment can be purchased with a combination of programs, such as a "buy-back" after five years.

"You may pay more up front, but get a better price to roll over" into the next cycle, he said. Lease-purchase is another route.

Money should be set aside each year for vehicle replacement, Councilor Ron Hardeman said

Councilor Angel Shaw noted that a 2003 truck showed 140,000 miles. Camp explained it is a garbage truck and that some dump trucks in the street department have 300,000 miles.

"The first week I was here, I drove a car with no paint on the hood and I could see the street through the floor board," he said.

Village Manager Dan O. Higgins said one employee pulled into the parking lot and when he opened the door of the old vehicle to get out, it fell off.

Councilor Michele Rebstock asked why so many vehicles are stationed at the municipal airport. Camp explained many are emergency vehicles.

Hardeman asked Camp to bring a cost estimate to the council's budget sessions with details on each vehicle. Camp said replacement costs would be tough to swallow. "We're starting from zero, but I would love to get to that place in the future."

"The good news is this is a good time to buy vehicles," Hardeman said. "The bad news is we probably don't have the money."

Councilors subsequently approved a request from Kaplan to buy one or more 2008 used 4-door, 4-wheel-drive vehicles from Sierra Blanca Motors in Ruidoso for $16,501 each.

Kaplan said the former solid waste director drove a flatbed truck with a diesel engine and stick shift that Kaplan thought could be used better in the field. He feels the same way about the Ford he drives now. Kaplan said he needs a vehicle that he and others can use instead of a flatbed to bring back drivers of equipment taken to El Paso or Lubbock for repairs. The model he's buying also has a tow attachment strong enough to move dumpsters in the village.

"If I look at the state equipment list for a 2009 comparable, the price would be 20 percent to 30 percent more without a full extended warranty," he said. The market is glutted with SUVs, many with low mileage. "I'm trying to jump on these opportunities," Kaplan said.

DRAFT

to the county, if an ordinance is adopted.

County Manager Tom Stewart said under a Title III program, Lincoln County will receive about $53,000 annually designated for fire protection initiatives. The program is scheduled to be phased out in 2014.

Commissioner Jackie Powell said, "I'm having major trauma. Lincoln County Solid Waste already is having trouble keeping up with what they do now in regular trash collection. Then I hear it could take $150,000 to set up the operation and there would be continuing wage costs. I wonder if it could be cheaper limited only to communities where it is needed the most."

Parks said that's the intent, to confine the ordinance to a set geographic area and select priority places within that zone. Morel concurred, saying it could take years just to move through the priority areas, as Ruidoso discovered. The village focused tree and vegetation reduction efforts in the southwest corner of town in line with the wind direction that would spread a fire from the Lincoln National Forest or Mescalero Apache reservation.

County Emergency Services Coordinator Travis Atwell said, "The biggest issue we're looking at is if a fire starts on someone's property, can we prevent it from racing off and burning down a neighbor's house. We try to slow the process.

"If a fire comes off a forest, it's an act of God. We're not looking for ordinances like Ruidoso. We want a defensible space around a house and thinned out trees around the property line. We're not going beyond fire protection. We want to slow down a fire to buy us time."

The ordinance wouldn't require clear cutting, just better spacing of trees, Parks said. With the money available, a person could be hired to dog the ordinance and ensure the debris slash, which could be a fire hazard itself, is removed, Stewart said.

Powell said she wouldn't want to be blamed if lightning hit grass on her land and a fire spread to neighbors. Parks said the idea is not to blame, just to reduce risk.

Ruidoso Forester Rick DeJaco, who guided the adoption of ordinances in the village and advises other communities across the nation, also would add his expertise in the process, Morel said. The county could avoid a lot of mistakes with his background. The village's ordinances cover many more issues than the county would, such as watershed health, wet zones, and requirements for subdivision vegetation management plans.

Morel said with 5,000 square miles in the county, nothing could be passed and implemented countywide. The ordinance could be limited to certain types of vegetation or tract sizes, to wind direction or proximity to federal land. Unlike Ruidoso, the county deals with 140-acre tracts and even larger parcels.

Parks said the commission is sensitive to the expense the measure might add for individual landowners.

When Commissioner Eileen Lovelace asked about excluding parts of the county where vegetation or housing isn't an issue, Morel said an exclusion, can't be "capricious," but as long as the county can show a basis for limiting the ordinance to specific areas, it would be legal. Parks interjected, "Urban is the operable word. We have a lot of wildland, but only a small portion of the county is heavily populated."

Stewart pointed out that state grants provide as much as 70 percent of the cost for a tree-thinning or trimming project, with an owner picking up 30 percent.

Several people in the audience advocated pubic education on what should be done to protect property, instead of an ordinance requiring action by land owners.

Battin said he wants to see firefighters and others involved in the issue attend when the next public hearing is scheduled.

Ordinance said to be critical for insurance

After the Kokopelli Fire burned 29 houses in 2002, Lincoln County Commissioner Dave Parks said he tried to convince insurance companies to continue to write policies in Lincoln County.

That's one of the major reasons he hopes to see a Wildland Urban Interface Fire Protection ordinance approved by the county to require basic fire risk reduction actions in populated areas of the already defined interface.

The former insurance agent and volunteer fireman said that after the 2000 Cree Fire, he asked the county commission and Ruidoso village council to initiate fire hazard reductions.

"My main concern was not reducing the insurance rate," he said. "A frame house in the desert and if Ruidoso were charged the same, because the fire protection was identical, so there was nothing to take off. But in 2004-2005, we were on the ragged edge" of companies either withdrawing completely or not writing new coverage after Kokopelli, he said.

"This is a real and serious problem," Parks said. "We had two companies completely pull out, one in Lincoln County and the other in New Mexico, so it was a significant economic problem. At one time, Ruidoso had the highest danger rating in the state and second-highest in the nation."

Without insurance, banks would not carry mortgages and that could have ground the real estate and construction businesses to a standstill.

"Just 1 percent of the entire volume (of insurance policies) in the United States comes out of New Mexico," Parks said. "So they can pull out without putting a significant dent in their overall balance sheet. It was a true problem."

The Ski Apache Disabled Skiers Program (SADSP) is one of the area's important, worthwhile and noteworthy projects in the Ruidoso district.

It presents opportunities to the physically and mentally im-paired who might not otherwise ever get the chance to enjoy outdoor activities such as the ski slopes of Ski Apache. And with it, a sense of accomplishment and expanded self-worth. SADSP has been in existence since 1976 and now averages 150 disabled clients who receive 300 ski lessons a year. More than 30 volunteers and 10 paid professionals make this program work and see to it that all who wish to take part in SADSP have an enjoyable experience and are able to derive a heightened sense of self-esteem.

As with all programs, today's economic problems have also affected SADSP.

"Recently, we didn't know how much longer we would be able to continue," the program's Director Marty Davenport said. "But then, one of our clients, blind skier George Toone, donated $10,000

The Ruidoso hardwood crew (8-12, 2-1) defeated their rival, district foes Lovington (8-11, 2-2), at home Friday, 66-46.

It was a fast paced contest which saw both teams knotted at the end of the first quarter, 14-14.

The RHS boys picked up steam as the game progressed, outscoring the visitors 17 to 14 and took a 31-28 lead into the locker rooms at halftime.

Capitan Hi Power Shooting Club hosts Regulators

JACK SHUSTER
For the Ruidoso News

The Capitan Hi Power Shooting Club, at their annual meeting on Saturday, Jan. 24, at the Lincoln County Fairgrounds, agreed to host the Lincoln County Regulators at their range in Capitan on the chance that the Ruidoso Gun Club range, on Forest Service land, would be closed in the event of fire danger.

Jack Shuster, Special Constable of the Lincoln County Regulators, spoke to the members in attendance and explained that the original Lincoln County Regulators was a legally constituted posse, with affidavits and warrants issued by Justice of the Peace John Wilson, led by Special Constable Dick Brewer, John Tunstall's ranch foreman.

The group's primary aim was to hunt for Tunstall's killer, William Morton. This was in 1878.

Over 130 years later today's Lincoln County Regulators is the Cowboy Action Shooting arm of the Ruidoso Gun Club and an affiliate of the Single Action Shooting Society.

Capitan Hi Power Shooting Club Inc. is a non-profit organization affiliated with the National Rifle Association and dedicated to the protection of the Second Amendment, the promotion of safe shooting and the support of wildlife conservation. Capitan Hi Power Shooting Club maintains a facility dedicated to the sport of NRA High Power Rifle and Long Range shooting.

which kept us going until we were able to hold our yearly silent auction (last Saturday evening) at the Inn of the Mountain Gods."

Toone will be on hand, the weekend after next, at Ski Apache. His sense of humor, drive and curiosity have led him down many trails others would be hesitant to try – impaired or not.

The annual silent auction, which has taken place for the past 22 years, is crucial to SADSP's funding and existence.

"From this auction, we do our annual budget for the year," Davenport explained.

"And fortunately, in spite of the economy, the 2009 silent auction was the best one we've ever had.

"We estimate over 700 people attended, and although we're still counting, so far, we've raised $35,000 – all of which will go to SADSP.

A large crowd looks over the many items up for auction, Saturday.

"I can't thank everyone enough."

Among some of the items donated and auctioned off were a 1999 Subaru, luxury house rentals, a mountain bike setup (donated by Boneshakers) and hundreds of other items.

Generous cash donations were also given by some of the attendees.

"Our skiers look forward to the recreational opportunities we try to provide," Davenport said.

"And we're trying to expand so that we might be able to increase our client base and offer even more favorable experiences to those in need."

This was the second year the disabled skiers auction was held at the Inn of the Mountain Gods.

"We had quite a few visitors to the auction who were from out of town and we believe this was attributable to some of the guests who were staying at the Inn," Davenport said.

"We have a close connection with the Mescalero tribe through the Inn and Ski Apache.

"Without them, we wouldn't exist."

HOOPS

Jerrid Marquez and Keith Brower led the charge in the first 16 minutes of play with 8 points each.

If the Lovington fans expected the Warriors to let up in the last two periods of play they were soon disappointed. The RHS boys increased their intensity, and out-pointed their rivals 15 to 6 in the third, and 20 to 12 in the fourth to take a 20-point victory at the final buzzer.

Brower kept up his torrid scoring pace, dumping in 12 in the second half to giving him 20 for the night. Marquez and Mario Varela each contributed 12 points for the night, followed by Ralph Miranda with 11. All told, six RHS players got into the scoring column.

"We started out a little slow but our defense soon picked up and we were then able to move the ball inside on Lovington," head coach Billy Page said. "We kept feeding the ball to Brower, who had a good night. Our transition game was good and fun to watch. We're excited to be in the position we're in right now."

The Warriors will have played NMMI (9-11, 0-3) Tuesday at home and then host non-district foe Roswell, Saturday. At this time, Portales leads the D4-3A division with a 3-0 record, while RHS is in second as of this report.

been in existence at Capitan since after World War II and in 1962 the range was built to its present configuration.

Through its shooting programs and clinics, Capitan Hi Power Shooting Club promotes safety, good sportsmanship and the pursuit of excellence.

Cowboy Action Shooting with the Lincoln County Regulators is a multi-faceted shooting sport in which contestants compete with firearms typical of those used in the taming of the Old West: single action revolvers, pistol caliber lever action rifles and old-time shotguns.

The shooting competition is staged in a unique, characterized, "Old West" style. Each participant adopts a shooting alias appropriate to a character or profession of the late 19th century, a Hollywood Western star or an appropriate character from fiction.

His or her costume is then developed accordingly.

The Lincoln County Regulators hold a monthly competitive shooting match at the CAS Range and Western Town they are building at the Ruidoso Gun Club Range in Ruidoso Downs.

It is a timed sport in which shooters compete for prestige on a course of different shooting stages. Each scenario, as they are called, features an array of situations, many based on famous incidents or movie scenes, in which the shooters must test their mettle against steel targets.

Many event participants gain more enjoyment from the costuming aspect of our sport than from the shooting competition itself.

Regardless of a member's individual area of interest, Lincoln County Regulators events provide regular opportunities for fellowship and fun with like-minded folks and families.

LINCOLN TRAILS
ROSALIE DUNLAP

This may be my last news column for a few months. Due to Ralph's health problems we are going to try living in Las Cruces where the altitude is lower.

We have been there for the past three weeks and he seems to be doing some better.

It is going to be a big change in our lives after living in Lincoln County since Thanksgiving 1952.

I have been writing my column for the most part since 1954.

A lot of life's history, friends and many activities have gone by since then.

It has been a rewarding time and also frustrating at times. So keep us in your prayers and come by and see us in Las Cruces.

We were kept busy buying items for the apartment, visiting friends and family, dinner and luncheon dates and of course, attending the Aggie basketball games.

PVT (Penasco Valley Telephone) is upgrading their services tonight, so I am trying to beat the clock to 3 a.m.

Carolyn and Gene Chrisman will be greeting you at the shop along with Bruno, their dog. Stop by and tell them "hello" sometime.

Our sympathies to the family of Eva Chaves and the Robert Bird families. Also, a belated condolences to Carol Hurd Rogers.

92 AND COUNTING

Juan Mijares celebrated his 92nd birthday on Jan. 26, at the Capitan Senior Center. His daughter, Yolanda Espinoza brought him a cake to share with other seniors after lunch. Juan is originally from California but moved to El Paso about 5 years ago and then to Capitan 2 1/2 years ago. He said he likes the community very much but wasn't quite used to the cold yet. "I'm really looking forward to summer." Juan enjoys woodcarving and says his projects are better done outdoors. Juan joins the seniors almost every day for lunch at the Capitan Senior Center and has made some friends to visit with there.

A GOOD TIME HAD BY ALL

POLLY CHAVEZ/FOR THE RUIDOSO NEWS

The Carrizozo Chamber of Commerce and Carrizozo Works hosted a potluck "Welcome to Carrizozo" evening for the construction crew working on the movie set of The Book of Eli on Monday night at the Carrizozo County Club. More than 180 people attended including members of the crew and people from Carrizozo and surrounding areas. Early reports declared the event a huge success. Tables burgeoned with food brought by individuals and owners of local restaurants. Long lists of door prizes were donated by businesses as well. The crew said they had never been so welcomed to a town before. Above, the husband and wife dance team, Coco Cabrel and Jan (John) Shane entertained with flamenco dancing. Shane is a member of the construction crew and both he and his wife are retired professional dancers currently living in Santa Fe.

Coming up roses in Corona

jcarter@ruidosonews.com

Hearts, valentines and roses are all part of the upcoming Feb. 14 event and the Corona FFA and senior class are launching their annual rose sale to accommodate the holiday.

One thousand roses will be delivered to the Corona Schools Feb. 10, and the work will begin that day, creating bouquets and filling orders.

The roses are all long-stemmed fancy roses in red, hot pink, fire and ice, bright yellow, white, lavender, Sundance (yellow tipped with red), pink and white variegated, medium pink, peach and salmon.

Orders will be filled with the roses in professional arranged in a vase, boxed or wrapped with greenery and appropriate filler flowers.

The Valentine Rose Sale is a major fundraiser for the FFA and seniors and helps pay for trips to state and national events.

Edie Porter is a retired professional florist having owned several large flower shops in Houston for a number of years. She volunteers her time every year to help the kids create and sell a professional product not available in the Corona area. The roses always sell out so places orders soon.

Prices are:

1 dozen in a vase – $50
1 dozen boxed – $45
1/2 dozen in vase – $35
1/2 dozen boxed – $30
3 roses in vase – $15
3 roses wrapped – $12
Single rose in vase – $6
Single wrapped – $5

To place orders, call the Corona Schools at 849-1911 or 849-1711.

JULIE CARTER/RUIDOSO NEWS

Edie Porter professionally arranges 1,000 roses in bouquets for the Corona Schools' FFA and senior class Valentine's Day rose project. Roses go on sale now for delivery or pickup Feb. 10-14.

FUNERALS DEATHS

Martha C. Brown

Visitation for Martha Ann Colligan Brown, 94, of Alto, will be Thursday, Feb. 5, at LaGrone Funeral Chapel in Ruidoso from 10 a.m. until noon followed by the funeral mass at 2 p.m., at St. Eleanor's Catholic Church in Ruidoso.

Graveside services will be Friday, Feb. 6, at 11 a.m., at the Portales Cemetery in Portales, N.M.

Mrs. Brown passed away Jan. 31, 2009, in Mescalero.

She was born March 13, 1914, in Portales, to Myrtle and Dave Colligan who preceded her in death.

She graduated as Valedictorian from Portales High School in 1932; she was a member of the Junior Women's Club, a Girl Scout Leader, a bookkeeper for several businesses in Portales and worked at the movie theatre.

It was at this movie theater where she met Charlie Brown and married him in July 1933, at Farwell, Texas.

He preceded her in death in 1997.

She spent most of her life in Portales and moved to Ruidoso in 1998, where she had owned a cabin since 1959 with her husband.

She attended St. Eleanor's Catholic Church.

She is survived by four daughters, Angela Madge Martin and her husband Alan of Conway, S.C., Jeanne Sue Weems and her husband Dewey of Greenville, Tenn., Kathleen Ann Weems and her husband Donnie of Alto, and Rosemary Elizabeth Brown and her husband Robert Furlong of Portales; a son, Terry Dave Brown and his wife Judy, of Roswell, and a daughter in law, Sheree Brown of Ruidoso; 14 grandchildren, 23 great-grandchildren and three great-great-grandchildren.

She was preceded in death by a son, Charlie Samuel Brown, a grandson, Martin Wayne Conaway and a sister, Sue Booth. The family has requested memorials to the Christian Childrens Home in Portales or the Mescalero Care Center.

Condolences may be sent to the family at www.lagroneruidoso.com

Jean Radcliffe

Funeral services for Jean Radcliffe, 88 of Ruidoso will be Thursday, Feb. 5, at 10 a.m., at the Episcopal Church of the Holy Mount in Ruidoso. Mrs. Radcliffe passed away Wednesday, Jan. 28, 2009, in Ruidoso.

She was born Dec. 13, 1920, in Dayton, Iowa, to Myrtle and Carl Newholm who both precede her in death.

Mrs. Radcliffe was a member of the Daughters of the King, attended the Episcopal Church of the Holy Mount and was a retired registered nurse.

She married James M. Radcliffe, Sr., on Jan. 8, 1943, in Kansas City, Mo.

She is survived by her husband James, of Ruidoso; four sons, James M. Radcliffe, Jr., of Berkeley, Calif., Robert F. Radcliffe of El Paso, Texas, Thomas P. Radcliffe of Victoria, British Columbia, Canada, and William G. Radcliffe of El Paso, Texas; three brothers, Rueben Newholm of Wisconsin, Wayne Newholm of Iowa and Donald Newholm of California; two sisters, Ione Duft of Colorado and Rose Fast of California; eight grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Condolences my be sent to the family at www.lagroneruidoso.com.

Gerald Magoosh, Sr.

Gerald Magoosh Sr., 74, passed away with his loved ones by his side on Thursday, Jan. 29, 2009.

He was born July 28, 1934, in Mescalero and comes from a long line of descendents of the Mescalero Apache Tribe.

His great great grandfather was "Chief Magoosh," and with a delegation of four apache chiefs, were granted an audience by United States President William Howard Taft to ask that captive Tribes be allowed to return to their former homelands who were prisoners of war and detained in Florida for 27 years and were eventually released and returned to their homelands.

We celebrated his eternal life with a funeral mass in St. Joseph's Mission at Mescalero on Monday, Feb. 2, at 10 a.m., with interment to follow at the Mescalero Cemetery.

Visitation was Sunday, Feb. 1, at LaGrone Funeral Chapel in Ruidoso.

As he traveled on, Mr. Magoosh left behind his children, Gerald Magoosh, Jr., Lionel Ray Magoosh, Beverdine Tortilla, Debra Lynn Morgan, Gerlinda Coonie and numerous grandchildren.

He also left behind a brother, William Magoosh; two sisters, Elaine Valdez and Ceda A. Shanta and numerous nephews and nieces.

In your 74 years of remembrance we all love you. "Sweet dreams."

Condolences may be sent to the family at www.lagroneruidoso.com

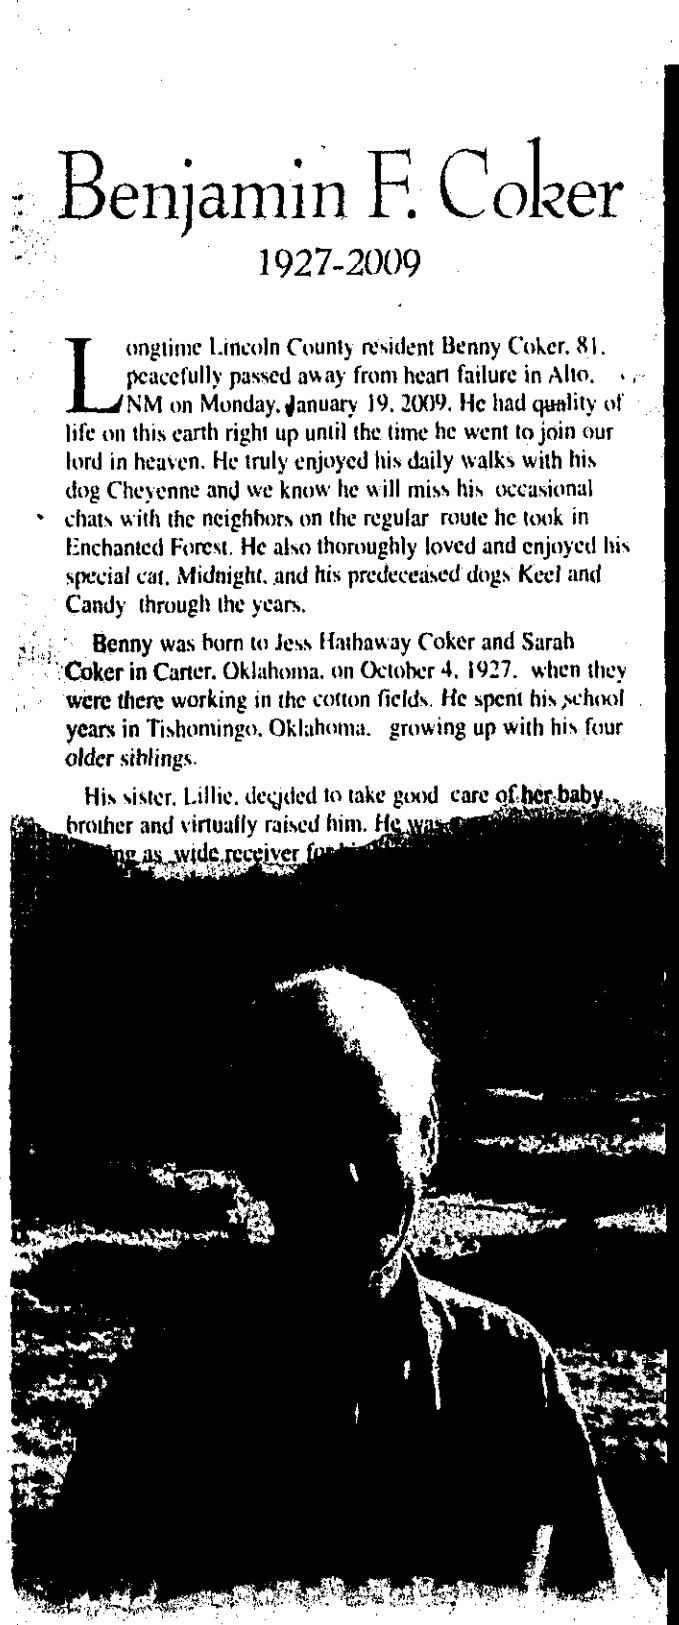
Benjamin F. Coker

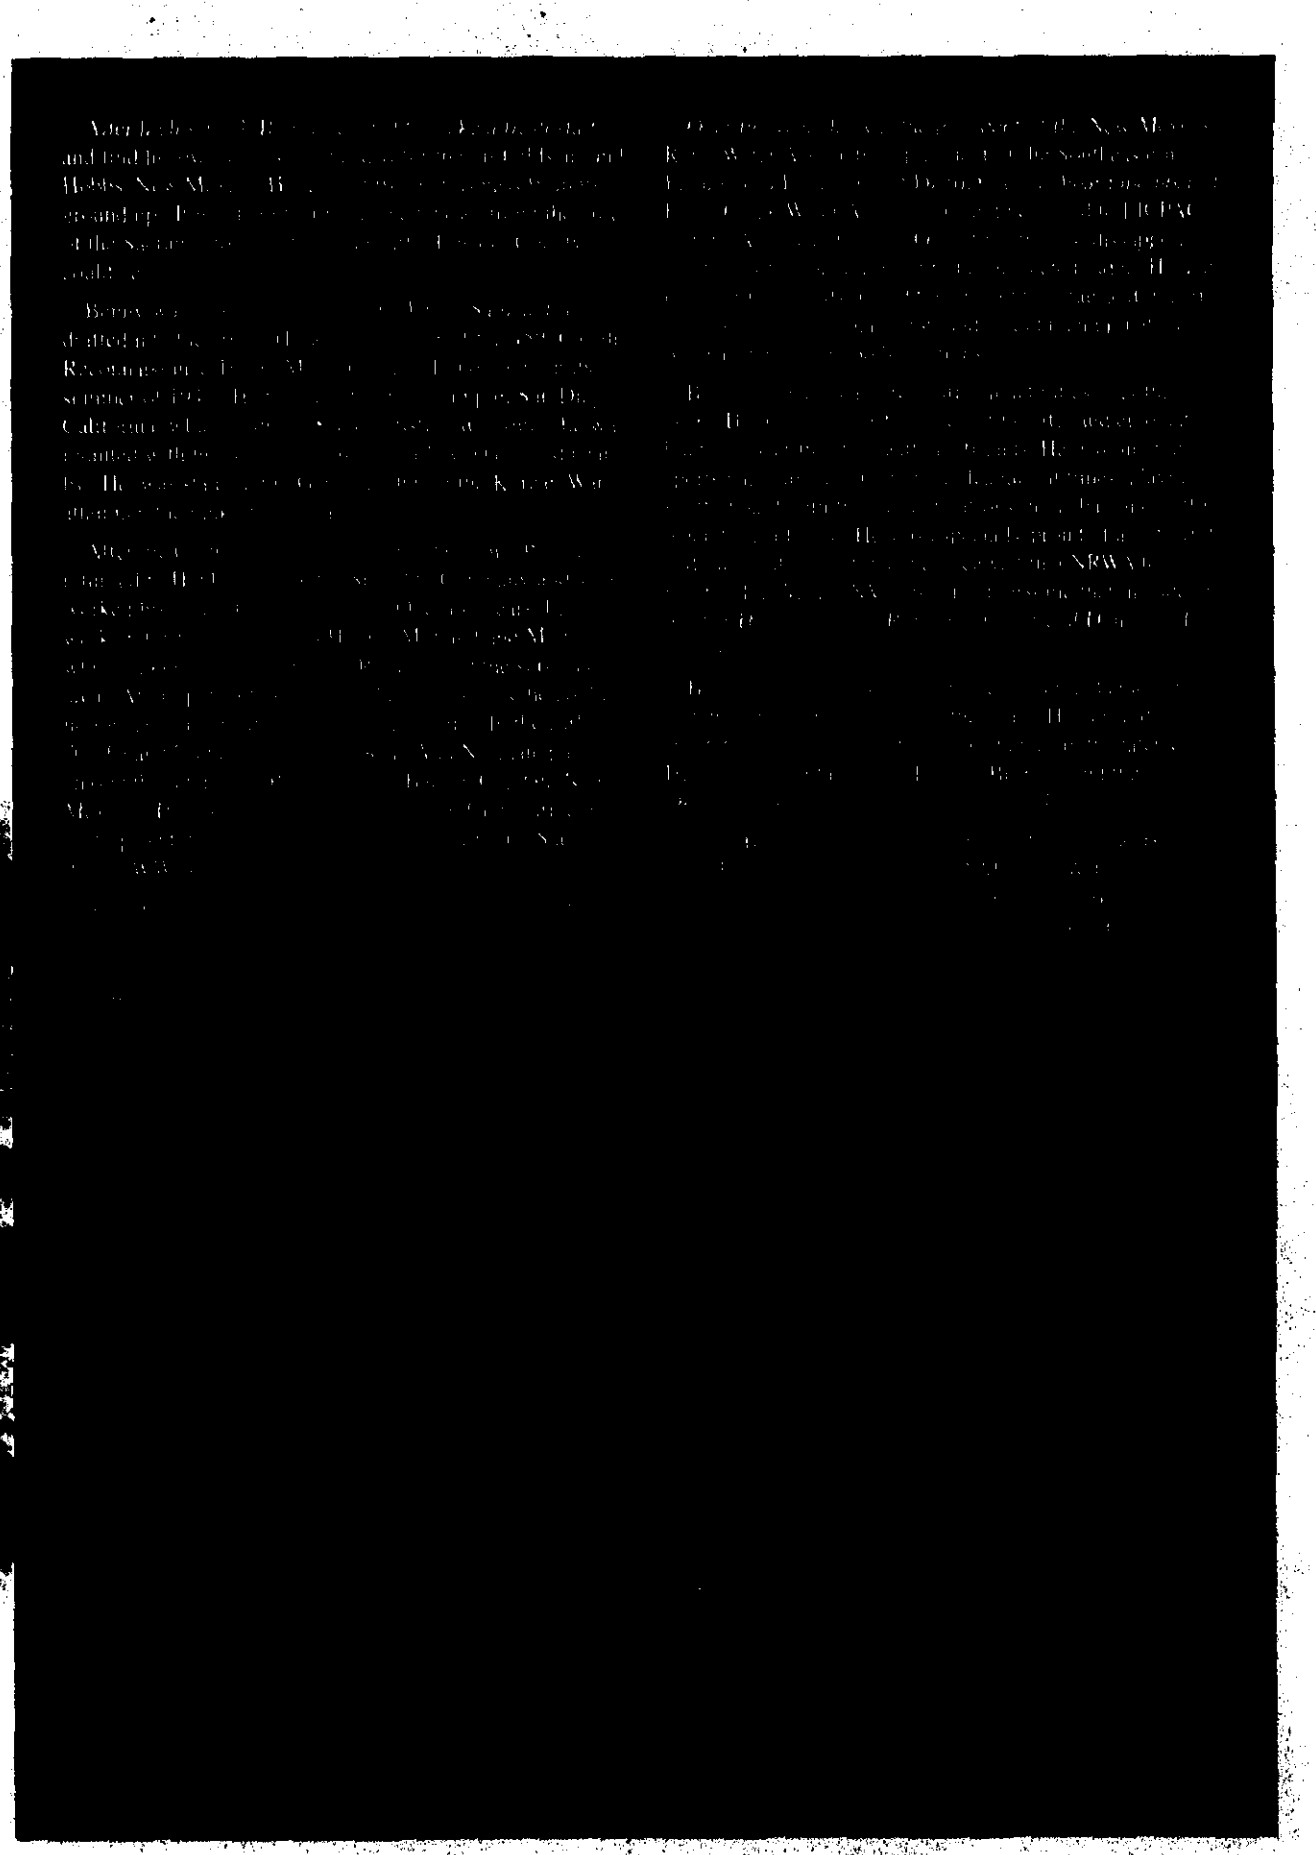
1927-2009

Longtime Lincoln County resident Benny Coker, 81, peacefully passed away from heart failure in Alto, NM on Monday, January 19, 2009. He had quality of life on this earth right up until the time he went to join our lord in heaven. He truly enjoyed his daily walks with his dog Cheyenne and we know he will miss his occasional chats with the neighbors on the regular route he took in Enchanted Forest. He also thoroughly loved and enjoyed his special cat, Midnight, and his predeceased dogs Keel and Candy through the years.

Benny was born to Jess Hathaway Coker and Sarah Coker in Carter, Oklahoma, on October 4, 1927, when they were there working in the cotton fields. He spent his school years in Tishomingo, Oklahoma, growing up with his four older siblings.

His sister, Lillie, decided to take good care of her baby brother and virtually raised him. He was [illegible] ing as wide receiver for [illegible]





Lincoln county has lost one of it's leaders.

Benny will be dearly missed.

Life is like music.....some high notes, some low notes, but a wonderful song just the same. Ditto!

ALTO LAKES WATER & SANITATION DISTRICT NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING TO CONSIDER ADOPTING AN ORDINANCE

The Alto Lakes Water & Sanitation District Board will hold a public hearing during a Regular meeting to discuss and adopt an Ordinance 2009-01. This public hearing will be held on Thursday, February 26, 2009, beginning at 8:00 a.m. at the District offices, at 214 Lake Shore Drive, in Alto, New Mexico 88312. All interested persons are invited to attend and participate in the public hearing portion of the meeting.

The District Board of the ALWSD has previously adopted Ordinance(s) amending the original Ordinance and intends that this Ordinance 2009-01 shall amend the Ordinance as previously and cumulatively amended and affects all properties located within the District boundaries and all properties which lie within service areas outside of the District.

The amended Ordinance includes regulations requiring a Stop Waste Valve revisions to the Leak Credit Policy, a provision providing credits for Flushing of Promises Lines, a provision providing for irrigation of common areas in R-2 zones, a provision establishing Delinquency procedures and establishing a fee for temporary water meter turn off and turn on.

Following the public hearing the District Board may choose to adopt or table the proposed Ordinance. If the Board does table the proposed Ordinance it may do so indefinitely in which case if it is brought back in the future the Board will republish or the Board may table to a specific future date, time and place and if so the Board may again consider the Ordinance for adoption without such republication. A copy of the proposed Ordinance may be inspected at the District offices at 214 Lake Shore Drive, Alto NM 88312 or online at www.WaterAltoLakes.net

Gates seeks man behind the icon in 'Looking for Lincoln'

By John Crook
©Zap2it

Among American presidents, Abraham Lincoln holds unrivaled status as an icon: his likeness sculpted in colossal scale on Mount Rushmore and in miniature on the penny; he remains, however, one of our most enigmatic and controversial leaders, a man who still provokes strong, often contradictory, responses from scholars, civil rights leaders and descendants of the Confederacy, among others.

Now, on the eve of Lincoln's 200th birthday, Harvard professor Henry Louis Gates Jr. searches for the great, yet flawed, human being behind the legend in "Looking for Lincoln," an absorbing two-hour special premiering Wednesday, Feb. 11 on PBS (check local listings).

"Lincoln is so ubiquitous a myth in the American imagination that each generation reinvents him in their own image," Gates explains. "We remake Lincoln to remake ourselves, and there are so many Lincolns. If we made a partial list, there would be Lincoln the warrior, Lincoln the peacemaker, Lincoln the statesman, Lincoln the opportunist, Lincoln the melancholy, Lincoln the humorist, Lincoln the Republican, Lincoln the communist – because even Fidel Castro likes Abraham Lincoln.

"And then there were Lincoln the war criminal and Lincoln the redeemer. A guy ever wrote a book about Lincoln being gay, and there was another book about Lincoln the romantic lover in love with Ann Rutledge rather than Mary Todd. There is a Lincoln for every season."

Gates, who grew up with black "Lincoln Republican" parents, says his own fascination began in childhood, when Lincoln was one of only two white men (along with Jesus, whose picture hung in the home of Gates' grandmother. As he grew older, Gates says, he began to realize the Lincoln legend concealed a reality that was far more complicated, but he didn't really delve into it until this project.

"It was determined that I was going to explore these different representations of Lincoln, warts and all, and see how I actually felt," Gates says. "I enlisted my good friend and the great Lincoln scholar Doris Kearns Goodwin as my Yoda figure, returning to her as I worked my way through it. I also decided to interview everyone from Ebony editor Lerone Bennett, who thinks Lincoln is a big fat racist, to the Sons of the Confederate Veterans, who think he's a big fat tyrant, and work my way through this whole phenomenon."

What emerges is an often startling portrait of "the Great Emancipator" who was steadfastly opposed to slavery yet clung to the widely held 19th-century white viewpoint that black people were inherently inferior. After Lincoln became friends with fiery abolitionist leader Frederick Douglass, however, he began to revise his views on race, and it's a mistake to judge Lincoln out of the context of his own time, Gates says.

"It's very easy to be anachronistic and say that up against Lyndon Johnson's 'We shall overcome' speech or Martin Luther King or Bill Clinton, Lincoln comes up lacking, but he was a pioneer," Gates says. "The biggest irony is that in his last speech on April 11, 1865, he gets up in the balcony of the White House and says that at last he has become convinced that certain black men should have the right to vote – the 200,000 black soldiers who fought for the Union and the very intelligent Negroes. That's not exactly universal suffrage for black men, but it was more than any other president had advocated.

"And guess who was in the audience? John Wilkes Booth, and he turned to the man next to him and said, 'That's it. I'm going to kill him.' And three days later, he assassinated him. So ironically, even with what many of us would consider a modest endorsement of the right of blacks to vote, Lincoln signed his own death sentence. It's an amazing story."

Fox breaks into the 'Dollhouse'

By Kate O'Hare
© Zap2it

Like a house with only so many doors, there are only so many ways to enter a story.

You can start at the beginning, meet the heroes and/or heroines, and watch the team members assemble and set out on their adventures.

Or you can enter a story at the middle, with the heroes and/or heroines at the height of their powers.

Or you can come in at the end, most particularly right at the moment when the whole shebang starts to fall apart.

Fox's "Dollhouse," premiering Friday, Feb. 13, very possibly lies behind door No. 3.

The one-hour fantasy/drama is the creation of Joss Whedon, beloved by fans and critics for his previous TV series "Buffy the Vampire Slayer," "Angel" and "Firefly."

Eliza Dushku -- who played rogue vampire slayer Faith on both "Buffy" and "Angel" -- stars as Echo, a young woman who works for an illegal organization that has wiped clean her memories and personality. She is an "Active," and for those who can pay, the organization imprints completely new identities on the Actives to suit the needs of a particular situation or crisis.

Then, when the need no longer exists, the Actives are returned to their slightly blank, mind-wiped selves, living together in a Zen-themed domicile nicknamed the "Dollhouse."

Unfortunately for the organization, Echo's memories are starting to leak through.

At the same time, in the outside world, FBI agent Paul Ballard (Tahmoh Penikett) is determined to piece together the truth about the Dollhouse with the help of Russian informant Lubov (Enver Gjokaj).

Harry Lennix ("The Matrix" sequels) plays Echo's handler, Boyd Langton; Dichen Lachman plays Active Sierra; Fran Kranz plays Topher Brink, the Dollhouse's tech genius; and Olivia Williams plays Adelle DeWitt, one of the Dollhouse's leaders.

Also making an appearance is "Angel" veteran Amy Acker as a Dollhouse doctor whose scars hide secrets.

As to why a rich person would want a "Doll" instead of just hiring a regular expert, Whedon says, "The point of the show is that an 'Active' or a doll is just the very best at anything that they do, because they've been conditioned their whole lives to be exactly whatever it is that they need to be, and they have no other agenda."

So, for example, while superspy Sydney Bristow (Jennifer Garner) on ABC's "Alias" took on a variety of disguises and fake identities, Echo takes it 100 percent further.

"We are these people," Dushku says. "We're completely unaware that we're in these different situations and environments. We're not playing someone else. We're just in it.

"So that's the major thing. It's super-challenging. I'm not going to lie. Sometimes when a script comes down the pike, I'm like, 'Really, Joss? I'm a cult religious fanatic and blind, and you're sending me into a cult compound as a blind person who believes that she's here in the garden of God?' "

This story line reflects another aspect of the Actives, that their brain function can be altered to induce physical shortcomings or disabilities, from nearsightedness to asthma to total blindness.

But as anyone familiar with Whedon's work knows, the fantasy and gee-whiz elements of the story hold only part of his interest. He likes to tell an entertaining tale, but he also likes to take on larger subjects, in this case, identity, power and the effect of the second on the first.

"What interests me is the human condition," Whedon says, "the idea of this woman who is stripped of her personality and has to rebuild herself from scratch. Not only her character, but every character, is on some level dealing with their identity."

In the case of the Actives, someone has paid quite a lot for that identity.

"There are a lot of different things people need," Whedon says, "and you'll see from the start that romantic engagements or sexual engagements are part of what goes on, but not actually that huge of a part, certainly not at the beginning.

"It is a given that that is part of what is going on, but it is more about the things people need -- the exact person they need at that point in the life."

Eliza Dushku stars in "Dollhouse," premiering Friday on Fox.

If you're thinking all this sounds a bit sinister and more than a little like slavery, then you see the Dollhouse from Paul Ballard's perspective.

"There's a point in the show," Penikett says, "I won't give you the line verbatim, but he's having a debate with somebody about it, and he's like, 'This is wrong. These people, they're walking around without even knowing that they've been robbed of their life and personality.'

"It's a dangerous technology. It's almost the same as being murdered. I think the audience will mostly agree. It's a dangerous technology, but it's also fascinating.

"Who's to say if you wouldn't use it if you had the money and the means and the power?"

Music's best croons Grammy's tune at 51st annual ceremony

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2It

Some have been there before, while for others, it will be the first time.

Whatever the individual's situation, there's always excitement at the Grammy Awards, especially for those nominated.

Faces familiar and fresh will be in Los Angeles' Staples Center as CBS televises the 51st annual edition of the music industry's top ceremony Sunday, Feb. 8. The list of nominees spans the spectrum from veteran talents -- including Paul McCartney and Neil Young -- to relative newcomers such as the Jonas Brothers and Duffy, who are up for best new artist.

So is Lady Antebellum, the "Lookin' for a Good Time" country band also Grammy-nominated for best country performance by a duo or group with vocals (for the single "Love Don't Live Here"). Also in that category is the popular Sugarland for "Stay," in the running for best country song as well; Sugarland's third Grammy bid this year is for covering "Life in a Northern Town," a collaboration with Little Big Town and Jake Owen.

"It feels great," says Sugarland's female lead singer Jennifer Nettles about being a Grammy nominee again. "It's validating and affirming, and exciting to boot. Not only do you feel like you're accepted in the industry and celebrated for what you're doing, you get to go and be part of something that celebrates music in general for the whole year."

Nettles' counterpart in Lady Antebellum, Hillary Scott, is pinching herself over her group's maiden run at Grammys. "Family and friends have called to congratulate us," she says, "and there really aren't any words to try and explain (the feeling). I've been thinking so much about how to express how excited and shocked we are, all those mixed emotions.

"The Grammys are the top of the top," Scott notes. "You're noticed worldwide for your craft, and for us to be included in those categories, the best way to describe it is humbling."

Being named best new artist at the Grammys would make it a hat trick for Lady Antebellum, which scored similar honors last year at the Academy of Country Music Awards (best new vocal group) and the Country Music Association Awards (new artist of the year).

Both Lady Antebellum and Sugarland are proud to reflect styles beyond country. "It's great that the Grammys recognize that music is so broad-based," Nettles says, "and that the borders and boundaries and lines are a bit looser. Good music is good music, regardless of whether we're doing our own show or singing with Beyonce (as Sugarland did at the 2007 American Music Awards). As long as it speaks to people for fun or to change their lives, it's all good."

The ballad "Stay," from Sugarland's sophomore CD "Enjoy the Ride," certainly has been good for the duo.

"I am so proud of it," Nettles says. "That song has been a gift from the beginning, really. It's one of those that really wrote itself very quickly, as some of them do. Who'd have thought the story of a redeemed mistress would speak so deeply to people? I think it's a wonderful country song and also a wonderful message, in the sense that it tells the story of someone whose story is sometimes untold."

The daughter of musician-producer Lang Scott and country singer Linda Davis, Scott recognizes the Grammys' best new artist competition encompasses all genres. "I'll speak for myself, but also Charles and Dave (Kelley and Haywood, Scott's colleagues in Lady Antebellum), in saying that we're just fans of music in general. We listen to things from before we were born, as well as the most current stuff."

Nettles has a 2007 Grammy for her collaboration with rock's Bon Jovi on "Who Says You Can't Go Home," but she looks forward to winning one for her Sugarland efforts with guitarist-vocalist Kristian Bush.

"That is a big, big hope of mine," she admits, "for as much and as hard as Kristian and I work together."

That said, Nettles remains open to teaming with other artists. "When something can happen artistically in that way -- when people can come together for the right reasons -- I'm all for it," she says.

Having parents who also know the music business from the inside has been invaluable to Scott as Lady Antebellum's star keeps rising.

"I'm so thankful," she says, "to be able to call from the road, when I'm just exhausted and not sure if I can make it through the day because we've just been running ourselves ragged, and to know they understand completely what I'm saying. It's special."

Special for Scott, too, was the chance to duet with Reba McEntire at an Illinois concert last year on "Does He Love You," which Scott's mother recorded with McEntire in 1993.

Heading soon into Sugarland's first European tour, then a round of U.S. concerts with Kenny Chesney, Nettles maintains she never tires of award shows.

"As we move forward in our careers," she says, "I think they become that much more special ... especially where the Grammys are concerned. To me, that's the Holy Grail of music. You're in a roomful of your peers and contemporaries, and it's just an exciting time."

An Inside Look

Turner Classic Movies offers an Oscar-season education

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2It

Lessons in Oscar are now in session, and Turner Classic Movies is the classroom.

The channel tries a new approach each year with its "31 Days of Oscar" festival, a gathering of films that either won or were nominated for Academy Awards -- timed to coincide with the movie industry's big event, which is scheduled for Feb. 22 this time.

As it enters its second week with TCM hosts Robert Osborne (prime time) and Ben Mankiewicz (daytime) presiding, the 24/7 movie marathon continues its 2009 form of a university curriculum.

For instance, "Moonstruck" and "Marty" represent Urban Ethnic Cultures in TCM's Anthropology Department, while "Never Cry Wolf" and "Lassie Come Home" are "courses" in the Principles of Animal Behavior section of the Zoology Department.

"It's a fun way to do it," the evergenial Osborne says. "The main thing I'm trying to emphasize in my introductions is that having gone to college, I didn't think of it as a very fun time. This is a 'college' where nobody has to take a test, you don't have to study, and all you have to do is sit there and have a great time watching these movies."

"31 Days of Oscar" also is a prime occasion for TCM to fold fresh titles into its vast library, "and not just the important movies that come along, like 'My Left Foot' and 'Bugsy,' " Osborne notes.

"There's a wonderful Rosalind Russell comedy called 'Take a Letter, Darling,' and the interesting Dick Powell movie 'It Happened Tomorrow,' about a newspaperman who gets tips on what will happen the next day."

Osborne knows viewers will expect some of the most famous Oscar-winning movies as well, but even then, TCM is making some changes.

"This year," Osborne explains, "we're not doing 'Gone With the Wind' in prime time but in the afternoon. This way, people who stay home during the day will have a chance to see it, and I think that works out well. Some people say, 'You show "Casablanca" every year at Oscar time,' but you have to remember that new people come along each year who hadn't found the channel or haven't been introduced to these films."

Jensen Ackles stars in "Supernatural" Thursday on The CW.

THURSDAY

7 p.m. on LIFE Movie: The Queen

Long live the Mirren! Helen Mirren won an Oscar for her portrayal of Queen Elizabeth II in this 2006 drama, which was also nominated for best picture. The period of time the film focuses on is right after Princess Diana's death, when her silence was interpreted by the public and media as uncaring. James Cromwell, Alex Jennings and Sylvia Syms co-star.

8 p.m. on KDBC KBIM CSI: Crime Scene Investigation

During the course of an investigation, the CSIs discover that their victim, a young woman who was murdered and found with several different blood types in her system, is the daughter of a wanted criminal in "Let It Bleed." Nicholas Turturro ("I Now Pronounce You Chuck and Larry") and Jason Lewis ("Sex and the City") guest star.

8 p.m. on KWBQ Supernatural

Someone hand her — it? — a copy of "How to Be Your Own Best Friend," and maybe throw in "He's Just Not That Into You." In this new episode, Sam and Dean (Jared Padalecki, Jensen Ackles) trace a series of fatal wife beatings to the Siren, a shape-shifting creature desperate for love that compels people to destroy themselves to prove it. And now the Siren's spell is forcing the brothers to fight each other to the death in "Sex & Violence."

8:31 p.m. on KOBR KTSM 30 Rock

The course of love never runs smooth, and that goes for infatuation, too. Liz (Tina Fey) wants to get to know her handsome new neighbor (Jon Hamm, "Mad Men"), but that proves easier said than done. Elisa's (Salma Hayek) grandmother doesn't approve of her relationship with Jack (Alec Baldwin) because he looks just like the villain in one of her soaps. Partying with the interns takes a toll on Tracy (Tracy Morgan) in the new episode "Generalissimo."

Jennifer Love Hewitt stars in "Ghost Whisperer" Friday on CBS.

FRIDAY

7 p.m. on KDBC KBIM Ghost Whisperer

Crossing over is best done without excess baggage. In this new episode, Melinda (Jennifer Love Hewitt) meets the ghost of an overbearing mother with a big secret. Of course, she needs to let go of that secret before she can complete the journey to the other side. Camryn Manheim also stars in "Slow Burn."

7 p.m. on KWBQ Everybody Hates Chris

8 p.m. on KDBC KBIM Flashpoint

Hold on tight for this new episode, which finds the SRU trying to stop a sniper who's taking people out all over the city. This time it's personal in more ways than one, as Ed (Hugh Dillon) realizes that the sniper is the son of a man he killed. And a member of the team struggles for life after being caught in the gunman's fire. Enrico Colantoni and Amy Jo Johnson also star in "Between Heartbeats."

8 p.m. on KOBR KTSM Friday Night Lights

The title of this new episode is "Hello Goodbye," and boy, does it fit. On the hello side, we have the return of Saracen's (Zach Gilford) mom (Kim Dickens), who's been away for years and wants them to pick up where they left off. As for goodbyes, Smash (Gaius Charles) leaves Dillon for the first time, while Tyra (Adrianne Palicki) dumps Landry (Jesse Plemons) for rodeo rider and bad boy Cash (Zach Roerig). Kyle Chandler and Connie Britton also star.

SATURDAY

7:15 a.m. on MAX Movie: Disturbia

Cleverly updating Alfred Hitchcock's "Rear Window," this 2007 suspense drama casts Shia LaBeouf as a youth whose anger problems get him placed under house arrest. Deprived of his usual distractions, he starts spying on neighbors — who include an attractive newcomer (Sarah Roemer) as well as a possible serial killer (David Morse). Carrie-Anne Moss plays LaBeouf's mother, who could end up in peril because of his sleuthing.

6 p.m. on KFOX KASA NASCAR Racing

Before getting down to the serious business of Daytona 500 preparation and points collecting, NASCAR's top drivers compete in the Budweiser Shootout, an all-star race featuring 2008's pole winners and past Shootout champs. Among those seeking a cut of the $1 million-plus purse are Cup defending champion Jimmie Johnson, Jeff Gordon, Denny Hamlin, Kyle Busch and Carl Edwards. The 75-lap exhibition covers 187.5 miles at Daytona International Speedway.

6 p.m. on TNT Movie: Gifted Hands: The Ben Carson Story

Show him the scalpel! Cuba Gooding Jr. has the title role in this inspiring new biodrama. Ben is a poor kid from inner-city Detroit whose mom instills in him a love of reading. That takes him through high school, college and medical school to his current position as director of pediatric neurosurgery at the esteemed Johns Hopkins University Hospital.

7 p.m. on HALL Movie: The Good Witch's Garden

If you liked last year's "The Good Witch," starring Catherine Bell ("JAG," "Army Wives") as a newcomer to a small town who may or may not be a witch, here she is again in a sequel. Her character, Cassie Nightingale, is finally starting to feel at home in her new town when another newcomer shows up, claiming to be the rightful owner of her family homestead. Chris Potter ("Heartland") and Jordy Benattar ("The Spide

Catherine Bell stars in "The Good Witch's Garden" Saturday on Hallmark Channel.

Stephen Dorff stars in "XIII" Sunday on NBC.

SUNDAY

2:30 p.m. on KOBR KTSM NFL Football

The long NFL season comes to an end — albeit an anticlimactic one — with the Pro Bowl, held for the 30th consecutive year in Honolulu. All the bumps, bruises and last-second losses don't sting as much for the players, who get to enjoy a fun-filled afternoon in Hawaii's sun-drenched capital. Next year's game moves to Miami, the host city for Super Bowl XLIV, and will be played the weekend before the NFL championship.

7 p.m. on KRWG KENW Nature

You thought your commute was tough? The new episode "Drakensberg: Barrier of Spears" follows the creatures of southern Africa's Drakensberg Mountains on their daunting springtime migration. When rainfall destroys the grasslands below, the animals must make their way up sheer cliffs and through snowstorms to get to the grassy plateau. The eland, a variety of antelope that doesn't look built for climbing, has an especially tough time of it.

7 p.m. on KDBC KBIM The 51st Annual Grammy Awards

It could be a big night for Lil Wayne. The rapper is up for eight trophies at this year's edition of the music industry's top awards. Coldplay is right behind him with seven nominations, followed by Kanye West, Jay-Z and Ne-Yo with six each. Katy Perry is scheduled to perform her nominated song, "I Kissed a Girl," accompanied by selected videos of fans singing along.

7 p.m. on KTSM Movie: XIII

If you aren't getting your adrenaline-rush quota from "24," check out this little number, which also has a female president of the United States — but not for long. She's assassinated while giving a speech, and the only suspect is a man found wounded in the woods three months later. He has amnesia, and the only clue to his identity is the "XIII" tattooed on his neck. Val Kilmer and Stephen Dorff lead the cast of this new two-part thriller.

MONDAY

6 p.m. on USA Westminster Kennel Club Dog Show

Arf! The granddoggy of pooch pageants returns with two nights of prime-time coverage. Twenty-five hundred dogs are entered, but only one will walk out with the coveted title of best in show. Last year, that was a beagle called Uno. The Dogue de Bordeaux, also known as the French mastiff or Bordeaux bulldog, makes its Westminster debut this year.

7 p.m. on A&E Intervention

When Angelina was 8, her family grew apart over an argument over money, and her mother turned to prescription drugs and cocaine. After graduating from high school, Angelina became her younger brother's legal guardian, but she turned to drugs after becoming overwhelmed with the job of taking care of her addicted mother and her brother. She spent her $350,000 trust fund on OxyContin, then turned to cheaper drugs.

8 p.m. on KRWG KENW American Experience

The new episode "The Assassination of Abraham Lincoln" remembers the 16th president of the United States — born 200 years ago this week — by focusing on the two months following his death, when a nation mourned and authorities sought his killer. Actor Will Patton ("A Mighty Heart") reads the words of assassin John Wilkes Booth.

8 p.m. on KOBR KTSM Heroes

Superpowers continue to not be the best things to wish for when, after a series of events, the Heroes are on the run from their latest adversary and one of their own, Nathan Petrelli (Adrian Pasdar). When Matt (Greg Grunberg) paints a series of prophetic images, the tragic fate of someone close to him is revealed. Elsewhere, Sylar (Zachary Quinto) continues to search for his father and encounters a young outcast (guest star Dan Byrd) with information.

Adrian Pasdar stars in "Heroes" Monday on NBC.

Mark Harmon stars in "NCIS" Tuesday on CBS.

TUESDAY

7 p.m. on KDBC KBIM NCIS

If we've said it once, we've said it a million times: Don't get yourself wrapped up in an inner-city gang war when you're investigating the death of a Marine. But that's just what the members of the NCIS team do. Why? Because they don't listen to us. Making matters worse, Gibbs (Mark Harmon) must face down demons from his past when he finds a cryptic message waiting for him at the crime scene. Muse Watson guest stars.

7 p.m. on KOBR KTSM The Biggest Loser

It's the 100th episode of the show that makes "fat" a four-letter word, and this week, a balancing competition — you know, where you have to literally keep your balance — will bring the winner a coveted prize: a 24-hour visit from a loved one. Then the teams all take part in a tough challenge that really tests their endurance. And later, one player gets sent home from the team that falls below the yellow line.

8 p.m. on KDBC KBIM The Mentalist

All you need is a little mood lighting, soft music and a heaping glass of Courvoisier, right? With Patrick Jane's (Simon Baker) help, Cho (Tim Kang) goes under cover as a sweet-talking ladies man with all the right moves in order to catch a killer who has his own set of pseudomentalist techniques in "Crimson Cananova." Robin Tunney and Owain Yeoman also star.

8 p.m. on KWBQ Privileged

Megan (JoAnna Garcia) is thrilled to hear that Will's (Brian Hallisay) father (Steven Culp) is starting a new magazine based on her and Will's idea, but she soon discovers that the magazine's new editor-in-chief, David Besser (Robert Buckley), is not easy to please.

WEDNESDAY

7 a.m. on HBO Movie: Juno

Diablo Cody's Oscar-winning screenplay for this superb comedy-drama gave director Jason Reitman and title star Ellen Page the means for their own Academy Award nominations. Juno is a bright teen whose hookup with her best friend (Michael Cera) leads to her pregnancy — and her search for a couple to raise the child. Jennifer Garner and Jason Bateman are excellent as prospective adoptive parents.

7 p.m. on KRWG KENW Looking for Lincoln

Like many great historical figures, Abraham Lincoln's story has become the stuff of legend. But how much of that legend is true? In this new special, scholar Henry Louis Gates Jr. seeks the real Lincoln by studying the writings of those who knew him and interviewing those who have studied his life. Former Ebony magazine editor Lerone Bennett discusses Lincoln's stand on race, and writer Joshua Shenk weighs in on his depression.

8 p.m. on KDBC KBIM Criminal Minds

Serial killers are all sick tickets, but the one sought by the BAU in this new episode is sicker than most. He has a bit of mortuary science training, and he doesn't just kill his victims; he embalms them so he can keep them around for a while. Ew. Cybill Shepherd guest stars as a suspect's mother in "Cold Comfort."

8 p.m. on KOAT KVIA Lost

We need Dramamine just to keep us from passing out with all these twists. Locke (Terry O'Quinn) takes on the burden of trying to stop the island's increasingly violent shifts through time. Meanwhile, Ben (Michael Emerson) hits a roadblock in his attempt to reunite the Oceanic 6 and bring them back to the island in "This Place Is Death." Naveen Andrews, Matthew Fox, Jorge Garcia and Evangeline Lilly also star.

Terry O'Quinn stars in "Lost" Wednesday on ABC.

FRIDAY

7 p.m. on LIFE Movie: The Rosa Parks Story

It's a story that every student of 20th-century U.S. history knows. One day in 1955, a black woman, Rosa Parks, refused to give up her seat on an Alabama bus to a white man, firing the civil rights movement's equivalent of the "shot heard 'round the world." Her courageous act sparked a boycott of the bus system by her city's black residents and lit a fire that spread to African-Americans all over the South. Her story is told in this drama starring Angela Bassett.

SATURDAY

10 a.m. on SHOW Movie: Happily N'Ever After

A wonderful cast lends its voices to this animated spin on the Cinderella tale. The Wizard (George Carlin) is responsible for fairy tales, but when he goes on vacation he leaves two others (Andy Dick, Wallace Shawn) in charge. Even the most innocent of children know that's a mistake. Ella (Sarah Michelle Geller) is in love with Prince Charming (Patrick Warburton) but has to deal with her evil stepmother (Sigourney Weaver).

6 p.m. on APL Dog Show

The Westminster Kennel Club Dog Show is coming up, but if you want a doggy fix ahead of time, check out the AKC Agility National Championship. These canines don't just parade around the ring looking pretty; this competition is all about showing their smarts and their speed as they navigate a complicated series of obstacles. And it's as much fun for the spectators as it is for the dogs ... almost.

SUNDAY

4 p.m. on TNT Movie: Richie Rich

Macaulay Culkin stars in the title role of this 1994 comedy about the richest boy in the world. Complications arise for the boy who has everything money can buy when he uncovers a villainous executive's scheme to cash in on the family fortune. Directed by Donald Petrie, the movie also stars John Larroquette, Edward Herrmann and Christine Ebersole.

6 p.m. on TCM Movie: A Tree Grows in Brooklyn

Based on the novel by Betty Smith and directed by Elia Kazan, the beautifully made, sensitive 1945 film follows the efforts of a bright girl to rise above the hardships of tenement life in circa-1900 New York. James Dunn won an Academy Award as best supporting actor for the role of the father; young star Peggy Ann Garner won a special Academy Award for her performance. Dorothy McGuire also stars.

Macaulay Culkin stars in "Richie Rich" Sunday on TNT.

TUESDAY

8 a.m. on HBO The Music in Me: Children's Recitals From Classical to Latin, Jazz to Zydeco

Anyone who's ever gotten weary of nagging a child to practice the piano or violin will be inspired by this documentary profiling six youngsters who are passionate about their music. They include an 11-year old cellist who speaks eloquently about "feeling" the music and a 7-year-old zydeco accordionist who gets lessons from Grandpa in his dreams. Who knows; your reluctant kid might develop a renewed interest in picking up that instrument.

Horoscopes

ARIES - Mar 21/Apr 20
Don't put all of your eggs in one basket this week, Aries. Otherwise you'll end up with a lot of broken shells. It's a bumpy ride ahead, so be prepared.

TAURUS - Apr 21/May 21
Romantic interests flourish this week, Taurus. You may rekindle some much-needed passion with a current flame, or find a new companion in the days to come.

GEMINI - May 22/Jun 21
Feeling like a workaholic lately, Gemini? It could be time to scale back at work a bit. However, in this economy, you may want to phrase your request with some finesse.

CANCER - Jun 22/Jul 22
Cancer, you can change what seems like a no-win situation into a win-win situation with just an adjustment in your way of thinking. When Pisces offers advice, take it.

LEO - Jul 23/Aug 23
It won't be an easy ride this week, Leo, but it will be a fulfilling one. You'll be the center of attention for more than one reason, which suits you just fine.

VIRGO - Aug 24/Sept 22
Virgo, think with your head and not with your heart when making financial decisions this week. Unfortunately emotion can cloud better judgement.

LIBRA - Sept 23/Oct 23
Make the most of time spent with a loved one this week because it won't last forever. Libra, he or she needs to head home and it could be some time before you connect once more.

SCORPIO - Oct 24/Nov 22
Scorpio, the finish line of a specific goal is within sight. Now you just need to have the patience to make it the last few laps. Don't worry -- it will take less time than you think.

SAGITTARIUS - Nov 23/Dec 21
Sagittarius, some financial difficulties are on the horizon. But with some advice from an unexpected source, you'll get back on an even keel. Aquarius is your go-to person this week.

CAPRICORN - Dec 22/Jan 20
Capricorn, just when you thought you had everything worked out, something pops up to put a wrench in your plans. A level head will help you find a work-around.

AQUARIUS - Jan 21/Feb 18
It is the time to take that financial plunge you've been nervous about, Aquarius. Once you dive in with both feet you'll find it's really not as nervewracking as you thought.

PISCES - Feb 19/Mar 20
Pisces, health concerns leave you looking for more answers. With a strong spi it you can overcome anything.

Celebrate your love on a budget

In today's economy, it's prudent for couples to conserve funds and celebrate Valentine's Day on a budget. The way to that special someone's heart just may be a fatter bank account rather than an ueber-expensive gift. Here are some ways to celebrate in a fiscally responsible way.

1. When purchasing a gift for your sweetheart, think about something that will truly touch his or her heart, without necessarily paying attention to price tag. For example, if he is a sports buff, maybe tickets to a favorite game could be on the expensive side. But why not offer to host a party for him and his friends, complete with snacks and time spent in front of the big-screen TV watching a key game?

2. Jewelry is commonly thought of on Valentine's Day. If diamonds aren't possible, choose her birthstone or even a stone that reminds you of her favorite color or the day you met. Also, a small pair of earrings will offer the same sentiments as a more expensive necklace or bracelet.

3. It may be customary to dine out on Valentine's Day, and many people choose to do so. Some restaurants offer a more expensive or extravagant menu on this special night, which may not fit in with your financial plans. Think about treating your sweetheart to a brunch or Valentine's Day lunch instead. Or celebrate Valentine's Day on February 15th for even more affordability -- and a greater chance of getting a reservation at your favorite restaurant.
4. Flowers, much like chocolates and romantic dinners, are customary Valentine's Day traditions. Work with a florist to put together a bouquet of blooms that are in season or locally grown, so you're not paying premiums on exotic flowers. Potted plants will last longer than cut flowers, so consider purchasing your sweetheart a houseplant that will grow over the years, and tuck a single rose into the foliage as a romantic gesture. Warehouse stores, supermarkets and even lawn and garden centers may have deals on romantic bouquets. So shop around for affordability.

There are many ways to celebrate Valentine's Day in a budget-friendly way, without skimping on the sentiments and traditions that make the day so special.

Save money and protect the planet

Thanks to the up and down nature of the economy, with record lows on the stock market followed by equally eye-opening rebounds, more and more people sought ways to protect their financial interests. One positive side effect has been the environmental impact, as protecting one's finances has also led many to -- intentional or otherwise -- protect the environment. For those looking to save money while also making a positive impact on the environment, the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) offers the following tips.* Consider new appliances: The EPA suggests replacing them with Energy Star appliances. Energy Star appliances do not sacrifice quality and they can save homeowners in the neighborhood of 30 percent of their annual energy costs. Depending on the size of your home, such savings can be considerable.

* Turn off appliances when you're not home: One of the biggest, and arguably the most silent, culprits responsible for higher energy costs are appliances that are kept plugged in when they're not being used. For example, video game consoles often use up lots of energy even when not in use.

* Repair any systems that need it: Air conditioning or refrigerating systems that leak are highly inefficient and could be costing you substantial amounts of money. An old water heater often results in higher costs as well. Have air conditioning systems checked each spring before the summer season arrives. If you notice items in your refrigerator or freezer aren't as cold, you might have a leak or another problem that's costing you money.

* Make sure your home is properly insulated: A poorly insulated home costs a lot more to heat.

* Conserve water: One of the easiest ways to save money on your monthly utility bills is to begin using water more responsibly. This can include taking short showers instead of baths, turning the faucet off while brushing your teeth or shaving, only doing full loads of laundry and repairing all leaks. For a more extensive list of ways to conserve water around the home, visit the EPA Web site at www.epa.gov.

5 ways baking is beneficial for families

If you've ever watched one of those commercials where a parent or grandparent is baking with a child you can understand the warm and fuzzy feeling they impart. Although on screen you're viewing actors getting paid to sell an appearance of closeness, the picture they're projecting is one you can easily recreate in your own home. Baking or cooking together as a family has a number of benefits. Consider these advantages to heading into the kitchen and reading the supplies.

1. Time spent together: How many families today are super-busy, as Mom heads in one direction, Dad in another and the kids balance school work and extracurricular activities? Preparing a meal or treat together offers a no-pressure opportunity to open up about what's been going on in each other's lives.

2. Cost savings: Rather than spend several dollars on a store-prepared cake, save money by easily making one at home with inexpensive ingredients that are probably already in the pantry.

3. Teach and reinforce simple math skills: Baking, more so than regular meal preparation, requires careful measurement of ingredients. Counting, sorting, measuring and timing baking supports lessons younger children may be experiencing in school work -- but in a more enjoyable way. It's much easier for children to visualize concepts such as addition and subtraction or fractions when they have tangible objects to work with. They can also see how these lessons relate to everyday life.
4. Learn to work together: There's the old adage that too many cooks in the kitchen can ruin the soup. However, baking together -- and assigning individual tasks to all involved -- fosters lessons of patience, cooperation and joint effort.
5. Reward for hard work: The nice thing about cooking together is that the reward for all of the effort is a delicious treat when the preparation and cook times are done. Families can come up with ways to enjoy the fruits of their labor, such as game night or inviting friends and relatives over to enjoy coffee and cake.

Put your best kiss forward

The Perfect Kiss- In a society where so many things are fast-paced, a good kiss should not be -- especially if you want it to be remembered in the Kisses Hall of Fame. Gauge the moment, lean in slowly and rest your head against your partner's. Use a finger under the chin to lift his or her face toward yours. In a fluid motion, touch your lips gently together and begin to build kissing momentum. Kiss as though you have all the time in the world, and there's no one else but the two of you on earth. Deepen the kiss as seems fit, and don't let it extend beyond its natural life.
Kissing Dos and Don'ts - Do embrace and share other methods of touch while kissing to heighten the romantic moment.; Don't smother the person so he or she can't come up for air.

Do take your partner's feelings into consideration and kiss only when he or she is ready.; Don't let bad breath ruin your kiss. Avoid pungent foods if you anticipate kissing, and keep breath constantly fresh with Binaca FastBlast or Binaca Breath Freshener Aerosol Spray. These compact, portable spritzes are fast and discreet.
Do change kissing positions and vary who gets to take charge to add spice and variety.; Don't smoke, or consider giving up the habit to be a better kisser. Few people want to feel like they're kissing an ash tray.
Do kiss in private if this is your first kiss together or you prefer not to have a public display of affection, and so you can enjoy the kiss as long as you like.
Binaca Fast Blast and Binaca Breath Freshener Aerosol Spray are available at most major food, drug and mass market retailers nationwide. To learn more, visit www.drfresh.com.

EVEN MORE OF A VERY GOOD THING.

• The strong steel frame, fat, aggressive tires; oiled-type air filters; beefy shocks front and rear and off-road style brush deflectors make this scooter at home on unpaved roads while delivering all the attitude you could want for the street • All-new 125cc 4-stroke engine with 4 valves and electronic fuel injection gives this new-generation Zuma a new level of performance • Fully automatic C.V. Transmission and pushbutton electric starting along with center and side stands and a locking cover on the ignition switch, make it convenient • There's room for two atop its seat, and lots of locking storage beneath it. • The Zuma 125 achieves fuel economy up to an estimated 89 mpg* with a fuel tank that holds 1.6 gallons of gas.
