County: It's our money

DIANNE STALLINGS
dstallings@ruidosonews.com

Usually very even-tempered, Lincoln County Treasurer Beverly Calaway was steaming Tuesday, and her anger was directed toward the state treasurer, who is holding county money hostage.

He changed the rules on how a loss in the state Growth Investment Pool will be handled and is holding onto about $150,000 of Lincoln County's dollars. Calaway withdrew the rest of the principal, about $2,052,000.

Calaway informed county commissioners several months ago

An angry Treasurer Calaway claims the state is holding county money hostage in the wake of investment pool losses that the state investment pool suffered a loss Sept. 15 when The Reserve, a New York-based firm's money market fund used by the pool, was hit from the collapse of Lehman Brothers Holdings Inc. The firm's largest fund, the Reserve Primary Fund, held $785 million in debt issued by Lehman brothers when the New York-based investment bank filed for bankruptcy protection.

State pool officials visited commissioners and assured them the county's $15,000 pro-rata share of the loss would be parceled out over 10 months by deducting payments from future interest earned from the fund.

But Feb. 27, Calaway received an email that the plan changed. The state treasurer created an isolated, non-interest-bearing reserve fund of $3.5 billion to cover settlements, repayment, contingencies and litigation costs, County Attorney Alan Morel said. That frees the pool of the lurking liability.

Calaway told commissioners it could be years before the county sees the retained money, if ever. "I think it's a manipulation to protect the (Triple A Standard & Poor's) rating for the New Mexico Local Government Investment Pool from being lowered," she said.

"It doesn't make sense why

BUILDING A FUTURE

Larry Hill retires as building official

dstallings@ruidosonews.com

When Larry Hill retires at the end of the month as Ruidoso village building official, no one who knows him doubts the man's future hours will be filled with fun from fishing to motorcycling and exploring niches of New Mexico in his recreational vehicle.

Although his job history shows a steady and reliable side, his smile and laugh expose a fun-loving spirit that soon will have free reign.

Hill was 22 when he moved with his family from Oklahoma in 1981 to Ruidoso to help manage a family mini-empire of restaurants in the village. Up to then, after high school, he worked as a carpenter and in oil fields while his father headed a Firestone Tire operation.

When they arrived, different family members took over management for the Hill's Dixie Cream Donut Shop where Michelena's is located today, the Hill Country Restaurant where Cafe Rio sits in midtown and Hill's Pancake House across Sudderth Drive from the former Ruidoso State Bank. They also built Hill's Waffle House, which now is The Log Cabin on Mechem Drive.

Hill's assignment was the donut shop and it didn't take long for the son to realize the schedule of early morning baking would be rough on his nightlife. After a couple of years in 1984, he was hired by the village as a carpenter to work on construction projects under the maintenance department. The village was in the middle of several construction efforts. In a couple of years, he was promoted to maintenance supervisor.

In 1991, he took over as building inspector, first stepping in part-time as a trainee. Shortly after, his boss fell ill and resigned.

"He gave me the ball and I ran with it," Hill said. "I was the first ICBO (International Conference of Building Officials) certified inspector Ruidoso ever had (in 1992). I became building official about three years later and that's when I hired Fred Knapp, one of Land needed, hospital says

■ LCMC consultant says lack of existing land interferes with expansion plans

DIANNE STALLINGS
dstallings@ruidosonews.com

Land, lots of land, is the key to the growth of the Lincoln County Medical Center, says a consultant assigned to come up with a county hospital master plan.

Steve Hartke with Tchoukaleff Kelly Hartke of St. Louis, Mo., told county commissioners Tuesday that while the hospital in Ruidoso is ideally placed for visibility and access, it has no more land to expand. The structure is too old to build more floors without some major expense, he added.

The county is paying $43,750 for the plan being developed by TKH and Peter Strauss of Health Planning Solutions. The due date is about six months.

An initial look indicates an increase in the 65-year-and-older category of residents in the county from 19.7 percent to 21.4 percent by 2020, and from 14 percent to 15 percent in neighboring Otero County, driving an increase in health care demand, he said.

One of the problems in growing is that LCMC is surrounded by out buildings, making future expansion of the 52,000 square foot hospital costly and difficult. "We need to enlarge the current footprint. The buildings are 45 years to 60 years old and over time, portions will need to be replaced. Given the restrictions on the site, I feel you should consider property acquisition to gain the abil-

Superintendent in fender-bender

toddfuqua@ruidosonews.com

In the end, the story surrounding a traffic accident involving Ruidoso School's Superintendent Bea Etta Harris is somewhat anticlimatic.

Harris' vehicle was struck, March 5, at the intersection of Sudderth Drive and Horton Circle as she was making a left turn onto Horton on her way to the Ruidoso School's central office.

According to Harris, she continued into the office's parking lot and waited "10 minutes" for the other driver to show.

"The other driver is the one who left, and I wasn't going to just stop in the middle of the intersection. We would have had another accident," Harris said. "I waited outside for 10 minutes after I parked, but then had to go inside for a meeting."

According to the official accident report, the other driver showed up nine hours later with the police to report the accident.

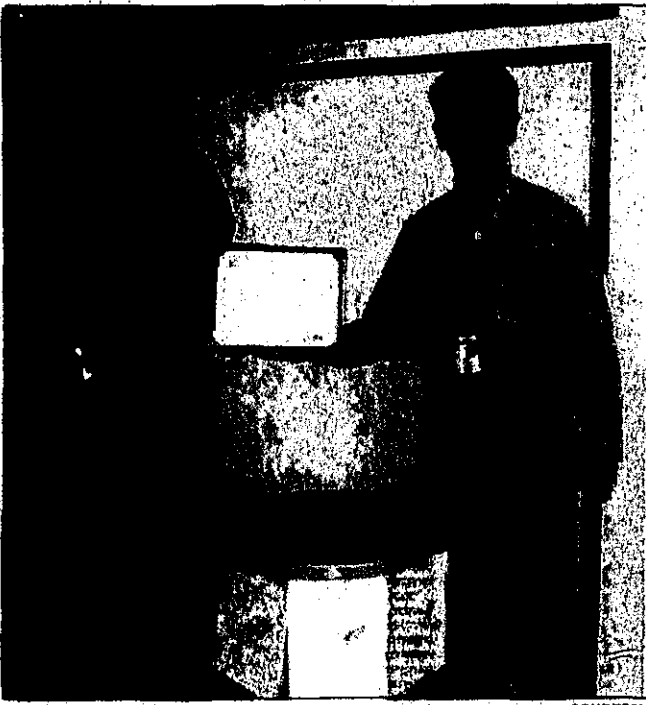

"She claimed she came

right back to find me, but I didn't see her, and it's not like I was trying to hide my car," Harris said. "The police said I should have called them, but I'd never heard of that before. I usually just call my insurance company."

Harris did go before Judge Mike Line in Municipal Court, who threw out the immediate notice of accident charge, as confirmed by a call to the court. Harris acknowledges her responsibility for the accident, itself, and is willing to pay for damages.

Hubbard grants

Officials with the R.D. & Joan Dale Hubbard Foundation of Ruidoso announced the "Southeast New Mexico Grant Program" for 2009.

Since the program was created in 2000, more than $1,380,000 was awarded to a total of 256 organizations in Chaves, Curry, Eddy, Lea, Lincoln, Otero and Roosevelt Counties.

Beginning May 11, grant proposals will be accepted from counties, municipalities, public schools and all 501(c)(3) non-profit organizations in any of the seven counties. The deadline for submission is Aug. 1.

Proposals should explain how each project can improve the quality of life in a specific area. Successful grants will be awarded in November 2009, said foundation Executive Director Robert P. Donaldson. Grant amounts may vary from $1,000 to $20,000. Requests for general operation, personnel costs or requests from individuals for personal grants do not qualify, he said.

In 2008, $266,000 was awarded to such groups as the Clovis-Carver Public Library, The Boys & Girls Club of Roswell and Hagerman, Carlsbad Community Kitchen and Habitat for Humanity, the Lovington MainStreet Program, the Junior Service League of Hobbs, the Ruidoso Regional Council for the Arts "Wall of Courage," Ski Apache Disable Skiers, the Tularosa Elementary School, a summer recreation program in Portales, as well as Angel Ministries.

Founded in 1986, the Hubbard Foundation has given $27,144,373 in grants nationwide. The Hubbards' business interests in New Mexico include Ruidoso Downs Race Track and Billy the Kid Casino, The Links at Sierra Blanca and horse breeding operations in New Mexico, as well as real estate development.

Organizations that qualify may contact the Hubbard Foundation for an application or information at P.O. Box 2498, Ruidoso, New Mexico 88355, or by phoning 575-258-5919 or e-mail at info@hubbardfoundation.com.

Analog recycling

Discarded analog televisions will highlight the annual Spring electronic waste recycling event for Lincoln County and Mesquero residents and businesses to be held Saturday, April 4, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. in the IGA parking lot at Ruidoso's Sierra Mall.

Although Congress moved the mandatory digital broadcast switchover date from Feb. 17 to June 12, many Lincoln County residents have already changed televisions or type of broadcast service. Residents who no longer want older televisions may dispose of them at the E-Waste event.

All other types of electronics may also be disposed of at the event. There is no charge for drop-off participation.

The April 4 event is sponsored by Keep Ruidoso Beautiful, the Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority, the Village of Ruidoso Solid Waste Department, the Albuquerque Recycling Company, Lawrence Brothers/IGA, and the Lincoln County Recycling Committee.

For more information, contact the Solid Waste Authority office at 378-4697 or toll free at 1-877-548-8772 or via email at lcswa@valornet.com. Keep Ruidoso Beautiful at 257-5030. General solid waste disposal and recycling information is available at www.lcswa.org.

A lifetime of memories

Lois Aldrich turns 100

JULIE CARTER
jcarter@ruidosonews.com

With a sharp, clear mind and direct delivery, Lois Opal Wilkinson Aldrich stood and addressed a crowd gathered at the Capitan Library on Saturday beginning with, "I want to straighten out a few things about my years of teaching and the grades I taught."

A friendly chuckle went through the crowd that had come to honor Aldrich in the marking of her 100th birthday amongst friends, family and former students in Capitan.

Aldrich began her New Mexico teaching career in 1934 in the Capitan Schools after receiving her teaching degree in Las Vegas, N.M., that same year. She taught third and fourth grades in Capitan Schools until her retirement in 1971.

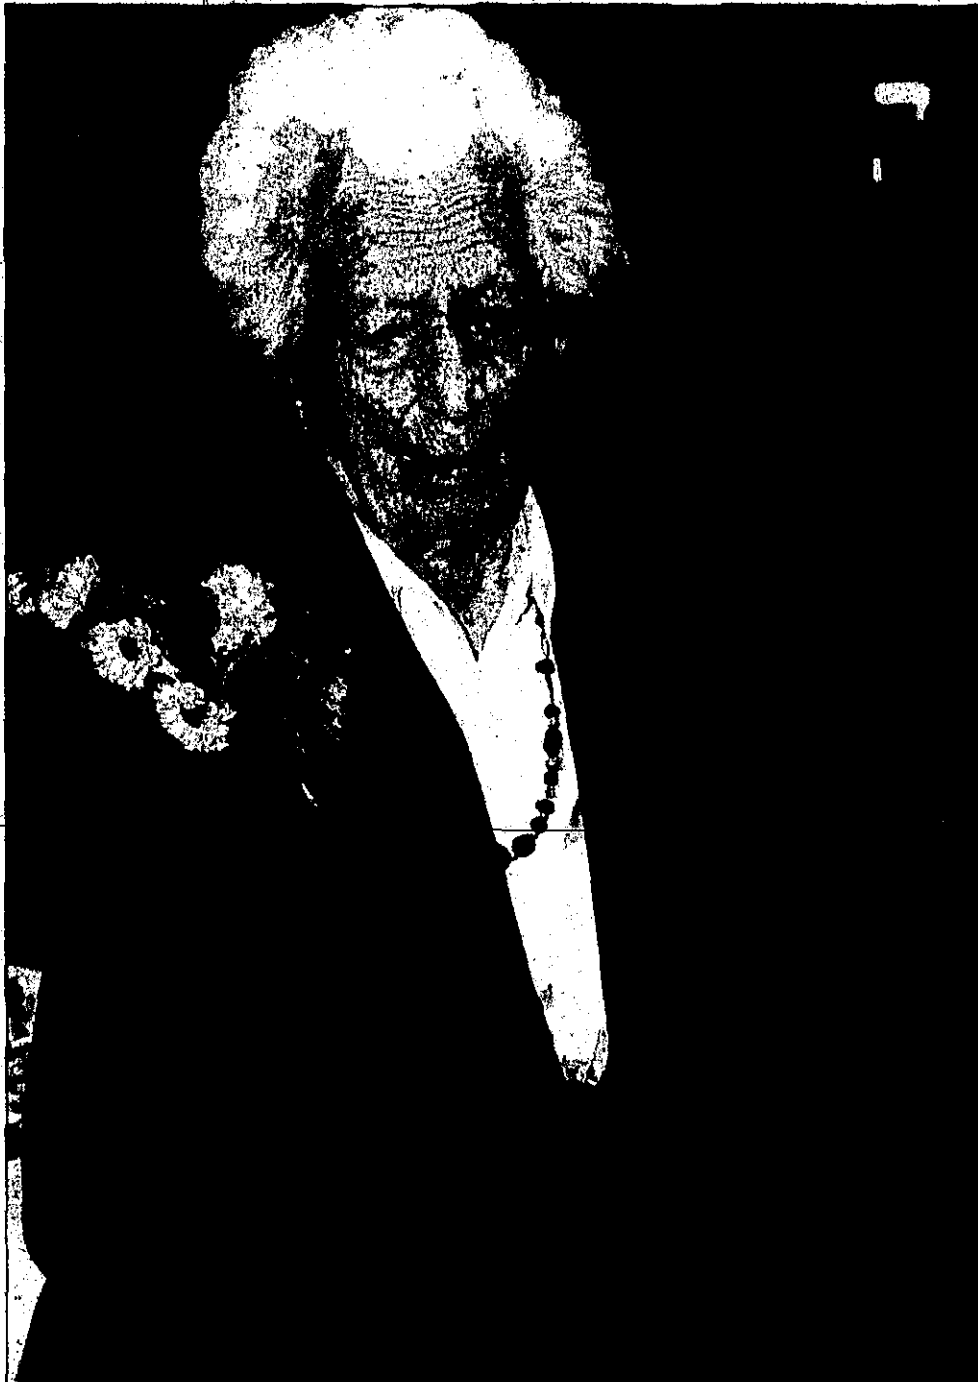

Present at her birthday gathering on Saturday were former students, including Herman and Toni Otero who were students in Aldrich's class her first year of teaching. "We've known her a very long time," said Toni Otero.

Capitan Trustee and retired teacher Diane Riska cut the birthday cake for guests. Riska's grandmother had rented rooms to Aldrich and some other teachers when they came to Capitan.

Magistrate Judge Martha Proctor was also a student in Aldrich's third grade class and has kept in close contact with her over the years. Judge Proctor was largely responsible in organizing the homecoming party to celebrate Aldrich's turning 100 on March 4.

Besides the Lincoln County Commission Proclamation issued in February to honor Aldrich, Senator Rod Adair was able to get a Senate Memorial passed for her, proclaiming March 4, 2009, Lois Opal Wilkinson Aldrich Day at the Senate.

Aldrich was born ninth of 10 children and lived in Oklahoma until she was 9, when her family moved to the Panhandle of Texas in 1918. She always lived on ranches that her father owned and when he sold the Texas ranch and bought a ranch at Gladstone between Springer and Clayton, the family migrated to New Mexico.

Her schooling consisted of grade school first in Oklahoma and then completed in Texas. Her high school years were completed while living in town with husband and wife teachers and then she attended her first year in college in Alva, Okla. She taught her first year in Booker, Texas, and then spent two years teaching in one-room schoolhouses in Texas.

Eleven years after coming to Capitan, she married Jack Aldrich in May 1945 in the Methodist Church in Roswell. They never had any children. Jack Aldrich got a job running a ranch for Jimmy Johns northwest of Capitan. He had his first heart attack while working on the ranch and the couple moved back to Capitan.

Sick and unable to work physically hard, the Village of Capitan hired him to sell automobile licenses while Lois Aldrich went back to teaching.

Later, the couple owned a variety store that they subsequently sold. They lived in various places around town and in Lincoln for a time. Jack Aldrich went to work for Fletcher Hall in his drug store and later for Don Murphy in Murphy's grocery, as a meat cutter.

After retiring from teaching, Lois Aldrich remained very active in her community as a member of the Federated Republican Women of Lincoln County, volunteering at the Capitan Senior Center, the Capitan Library, serving on the Cemetery Board and an assortment of other activities.

Aldrich lived in Lincoln County until 2006 when she moved to the Good Samaritan Care Center in Socorro where she resides today.

The common thread of memories among those that gathered Saturday was in recalling what a dedicated educator Aldrich was, demanding her students possess good manners, respect for others as well as themselves, and to learn to the fullest capacity.

Aldrich tolerated no nonsense from her students and still today, is a leader wherever she is and whatever she is doing. Her direct, correcting address to the crowd at her 100th party was indicative of the "Mrs. Aldrich" they had come to honor.

Council tackles a complex issue

One-year review important for rental ordinance

It's been said that one definition of a good compromise is a decision in which all sides come away equally dissatisfied.

That might be overstating the case of Ruidoso's new nightly rental ordinance, passed last week, but suffice it to say that the issue is so emotionally and economically complex as to ensure that few will be wholly supportive of the new measure.

That the council vote to approve was 4-2 is indicative of that complexity.

Peeling back the layers of debate, at heart is this question: Is Ruidoso a tourist town or residential/retirement community?

The answer, of course, is both. The "solution" to the problems facing the short-term rental industry, therefore, is not going to please all parties.

This ordinance, however, does set in motion needed regulations and requirements to help codify an industry that had expanded under the radar to an estimated 900 properties, some of them "renewables."

Whether the "overlay" approach is a good one will be among items reviewed by the Nightly Rental Task Force in one year. That review should help reassure all sides.

Sorting through the ruins of the financial disaster

In the aftermath of natural disasters, communities like Ruidoso and Los Alamos had the sometimes wrenching, sometimes invigorating experience of deciding how to rebuild.

One home is destroyed, another is untouched. A third looks alright, but is the foundation sound? If you lost your home, do you build another just like it or the home you always wanted?

Ask the residents of either community about the pace of rebuilding, and they'll say, "Too slow!"

So it goes with sizing up the economy, post-disaster. Experts poke at the foundations and propose stress tests of the big banks. Elected officials try to figure out what should be demolished and replaced and what's still working.

And it's all done as the political winds blow noisily, which keeps us confused about the extent of the disaster and the adequacy of the fix.

That's why I keep searching for calm voices, wise heads. This week's cool head is Arnie Baker, an economist at Sandia National Laboratories. In a recent talk before New Mexico Press Women, "Obama-nomics 101: Digging Out of the Great Recession," Baker noted that he wasn't speaking on behalf of the lab.

"My personal view is, it appears (Obama's) philosophy is to have a larger federal presence in the economy and have greater complexity in the economy." The down side: "The greater the government involvement in the economy, the slower the growth."

Baker liked the president's integrated budget, which sets everything on the table and departs from the previous administration's smoke-and-mirrors, "supplementary budgets" to pay for the war.

"Personally, I still don't know where Obama is relative to the Democratic Congress. Liberal? Centrist? I'm hoping he's more centrist," he said.

Pundits lately are saying centrist. That became obvious as voices of the Left and the Right howled over his appointments.

Baker described himself as "a fiscal conservative and a social liberal," which, he thinks, averages out as middle-of-the-road. (A liberal columnist at the meeting insisted it made him a conservative. My take: If he says he's in the middle, he's in the middle. My kinda guy.)

The bottom line, Baker says: "Confidence in U.S. policy and policy makers will be critical to getting out of the recession."

The stock market is one measure of confidence, and it hasn't been too confident. "What's driving the stock market is everyone is looking for some good news."

However, Baker says he's optimistic. "Things will turn around unless government really gets in the way," he says. "At the end of the day we have to take into account market forces. There are inequities in the system that we need to correct, but we need to do it in a way that recognizes market forces."

I had a similar conversation with one of the state's smarter captains (retired) of industry.

"There's still a lot of wisdom in the market," he said. "And the stock market isn't the market."

What's the market? It's you and me and the spending decisions we make every day. We have far greater impact than we think. The captain also noted that in trying to reform the financial system, policy makers could make things more difficult for the people coming behind to clean things up.

The new administration intends to slog into the disaster area, raze buildings and build anew for the future. There's support for this. Many can agree, too, that education, energy and health care simply can't wait until economic reconstruction is tidied up. It requires tuning out political noise and letting the repairmen work.

But let's not be too hasty in condemning every structure in the neighborhood. Some are still sound.

Choices:

1. Ignore it.

So far, so good! (sort of)

2. Throw big money at it.

How about that $70,000's!

Think out side the box.

YOUR OPINION

A caring for self and others

To the editor:

ON THE EVENING of March 16 the Spencer Theater hosted an unusual event in that its primary function was not to entertain but to honor. The 28th annual Academic Awards celebration continued Ruidoso High School's heritage of applauding its students' academic achievements.

The teachers, students, parents, administrators, and community members who enabled such an evening are to be thanked profusely for demonstrating the level of commitment to education that has produced a community that lives the ideals of caring for self and others. The multi-generational representation of many families in attendance stood as proof-positive of the community's adherence to a standard of excellence that has enabled many of our young people to return to Ruidoso with various degrees of post-high school education that continually permits our community to function and thrive.

Our students often return to correct our plumbing maladies, repair our vehicles, modify our homes, keep us healthy, provide communication services, put out our fires, govern with understanding, or protect us from ourselves. The school's prime directive (unique in education) of caring for self and others is demonstrated as we circulate through our daily routines and experience first-hand the positiveness of our developing youth.

The evening was punctuated by the brilliance of the student speakers and their teacher presenters; they were witty, intellectual, and honest. As the evening progressed, I became awestruck by the academic bar that continues to be raised by the recipients of the evening's awards. For example, there were more than a dozen freshmen who earned a 4.1 GPA or higher to earn the Principal's List award and one student presenter admitted to earning an 103 percent on a history test in his speech. It appears that mediocrity is unacceptable by these young scholars as they progress beyond perfection.

Many speakers spoke of the hard work that resulted in their invitations to this ceremony and everyone seemed to have done their homework: the student food preparers, the choir, the class representatives, the honorees culminating with the "Distinguished Warrior" recipients, as well as the school personnel who coached the event into being.

The event may not have been the usual Spencer Theater entertainment diversion but it was certainly a community event of the highest standard that demonstrated it not only takes a village to raise a child, but that the village is a confluence of the ideals it fosters within its children. Ruidoso will be a better place in which to thrive because of this ideal. Thank you, students, for reaffirming our faith in our village's future.

The right tool for the wrong job

Women need to assemble an understanding about a man's relationship with his tools.

While you may think that men, in general, have no feelings, it's not true. Guys love their tools, second only to, maybe, their dog.

A good chain saw is for life, while a marriage might not last that long.

There's nothing worse for a guy than misplacing a favorite tool. For days, even weeks, a guy will wonder around, going through pockets, retracing his do-list steps trying to find that don't-make-them-anymore pair of nippers that were in his father's tool box.

Naturally, a guy suspects that his wife has taken them and forgotten to put them back where they belong, but you just can't come out and say, "Damn-it, where'd you leave my nippers?" No, it's more like, "Say, hon, have you seen my nippers?"

The only thing worse than misplacing a favorite tool is misplacing your keys. Most guys don't know how to start a car with a flathead screwdriver, and most colleges don't offer really useful night continuing education classes like, "Starting Your Car With A Flathead Screwdriver," or, "How To Get The Car Keys Your Wife Locked In Her Trunk."

Part of the non-existent text for that non-existent class would include some of these Web-anonymous tool descriptions.

SKIL SAW: A portable cutting tool used to make studs too short.

ELECTRIC HAND DRILL: Normally used for spinning pop rivets in their holes until you die of old age.

PLIERS: Used to round off bolt heads. Sometimes used in the creation of blood-blister; most-often tool used by women.

BELT SANDER: An electric sanding tool commonly used to convert minor touch-up jobs into major refinishing jobs.

HACKSAW: One of a family of cutting tools built on the Ouija board principle. It transforms human energy into a crooked, unpredictable motion, and the more you attempt to influence its course, the more dismal your future becomes.

TABLE SAW: A large stationary power tool commonly used to launch wood projectiles for testing wall integrity, or shortening fingers and buying an orthopedic surgeon a boat.

LASER LEVEL: A bright red spot on the floor and walls that the dog will chase for hours.

RADIAL ARM SAW: A large stationary power saw primarily used by most shops to scare neophytes into choosing another line of work.

VICE-GRIPS: Generally used after pliers to completely round off bolt heads. If nothing else is available, they can also be used to transfer intense welding heat to the palm of your hand.

CRAFTSMAN 1/2 x 24-INCH

SCREWDRIVER: A very large pry bar that inexplicably has an accurately machined screwdriver tip on the end opposite the handle.

PHILLIPS SCREWDRIVER: Normally used to stab the vacuum seals under lids and for opening old-style paper-and-tin oil cans and splashing oil on your shirt; but can also be used, as the name implies, to strip out Phillips screw heads. Women excel at using this tool.

STRAIGHT SCREWDRIVER: A tool for opening paint cans. Sometimes used to convert common slotted screws into non-removable screws.

PRY BAR: A tool used to crumple the metal surrounding that clip or bracket you needed to remove in order to replace a 50-cent part.

HAMMER: Used as a kind of divining rod to locate the most expensive parts adjacent the object we are trying to hit. Women primarily use it to make gaping holes in walls when hanging pictures. Guys often buy their wife her own hammer and put her name on it with a big black Magic Marker.

BOX CUTTER KNIFE: Used to open and slice through the contents of cardboard cartons delivered to your front door; works particularly well on contents such as seats, vinyl records, liquids in plastic bottles, collector magazines, refund checks and rubber or plastic parts. Especially useful for trimming nearby fingernails.

NIPPER: It'd be a lot easier on you if you just admit that you "borrowed" it and that you don't remember where you left it.

FUNDS

owned money should be frozen to protect its rating," said Commission Chairman Tom Battin, a retired banker.

"The only paperwork I have is a handwritten estimate as a notation," she said. "The state treasurer has not responded to my request to release all of the county's money. The New Mexico Association of Counties challenged his statutory authority and he replied he'd have to get back to him on that.

"I believe we should demand he release the money and give a full accounting of the funds lost."

Many counties, municipalities, hospitals and other entities are affected by the decision, some in the millions of dollars, Cal-way said.

County Attorney Alan Morel said a formal request for public records should be filed and he will contact the NMAC attorney to see if he wants to take the lead. Morel said he's received no response to a letter he mailed to the state treasurer on the issue.

"Already 23 states have filed lawsuits involving investments in the (Reserve Primary) fund," he said. "They were sold that these were safe investments, but The Reserve Fund was not safe. I understand the (types of investments) violated New York's constitution on how money could be invested and it's probably the same in New Mexico."

Calaway said the LGIP was developed in the 1980s and has a long history of success. Morel said he can't locate in county records the agreement with the LGIP, which probably was lost over the years. "It's been an incredibly safe fund, but Lehman Brothers paper caused its decent. It's probably safe again now, but I think the county treasurer was correct to withdraw our principal."

Calaway explained that 23 percent of the LGIP assets were in the Reserve Primary Fund, which was invested in part in Lehman. "Some large investors in the fund withdrew their money just before Lehman's collapse. "About $42 billion of $62 billion left in two days," she said. "How did those investors know to pull their money out? The (Security and Exchange Commission) may take action against some brokers."

"I do not believe the state treasurer has the authority to hold out money and I'm not going to sit by and watch funds be held without full accountability. I'm angry."

Hospital consultant Steve Hartke says LCMC will study several options for land acquisition.

ity to expand or replace appropriately to provide a level of care."

Options include buying property around the existing hospital or moving to a new site. Commissioner Dave Parks, who formerly served on the Ruidoso School Board, said although the idea stalled with the New Mexico Department of Finance and Administration, he hasn't given up on the idea of swapping some property owned by Presbyterian Healthcare Services, which managed and leases LCMC, on Gavilan Canyon Road for the Nob Hill school property adjacent to and above the hospital.

The land holding the old middle school off Sudderth Drive that is being replaced with a structure on Warrior Drive, also is a possibility. Parks said school officials are thinking about tearing down everything but two gymnasiums and the district superintendent's office complex.

Or a new hospital could be built on the 77-acre site owned by PHS, hospital Administrator James Gibson offered as another approach. At one time, Presbyterian officials were willing to donate the acreage with the condition the county negotiate with the school district for a trade for the Nob Hill land. "Everything came to halt with the mill levy election (when it failed and then was reduced by voters to support the hospital) and then with the economy crashing, I think everyone reeled back in," he said. "But Pres wants to be a partner. We may have to look broader."

Commission Chairman Tom Battin asked if Hartke anticipated increasing the number of hospital beds, which were reduced from 38 to 25 a few years ago, in line with a change in hospital category to "critical care" for a higher rate of state and federal reimbursement.

"I won't know until I get the average daily census," Hartke said. "I understand most of the time about nine or 10 of the 25 beds are in use and there are only (up to 40 times) a year, a private room might not be available."

Intensive Care is one area where more private rooms probably would be appropriate, he said. Currently, one room is private and the other beds are in bays. The standard of care today is private rooms for ICU, he said.

One of the most difficult aspects of the plan will be calculating seasonal fluctuations, which critically influence the hospital's operation, he said. Recruitment of new physicians must be tied to the aging demographic, he said in response to Battin's question about medical specialties that should be pursued.

Hill was referring to his long-time cohort Fred Knapp, who retired Dec. 31. The two oversaw building construction in the village and a one-mile extra-territorial zone around it. State Construction Industries Division inspectors handle plumbing/mechanical and electrical inspections, although that may change if village councilors are successful finding a multiple discipline inspector in the future.

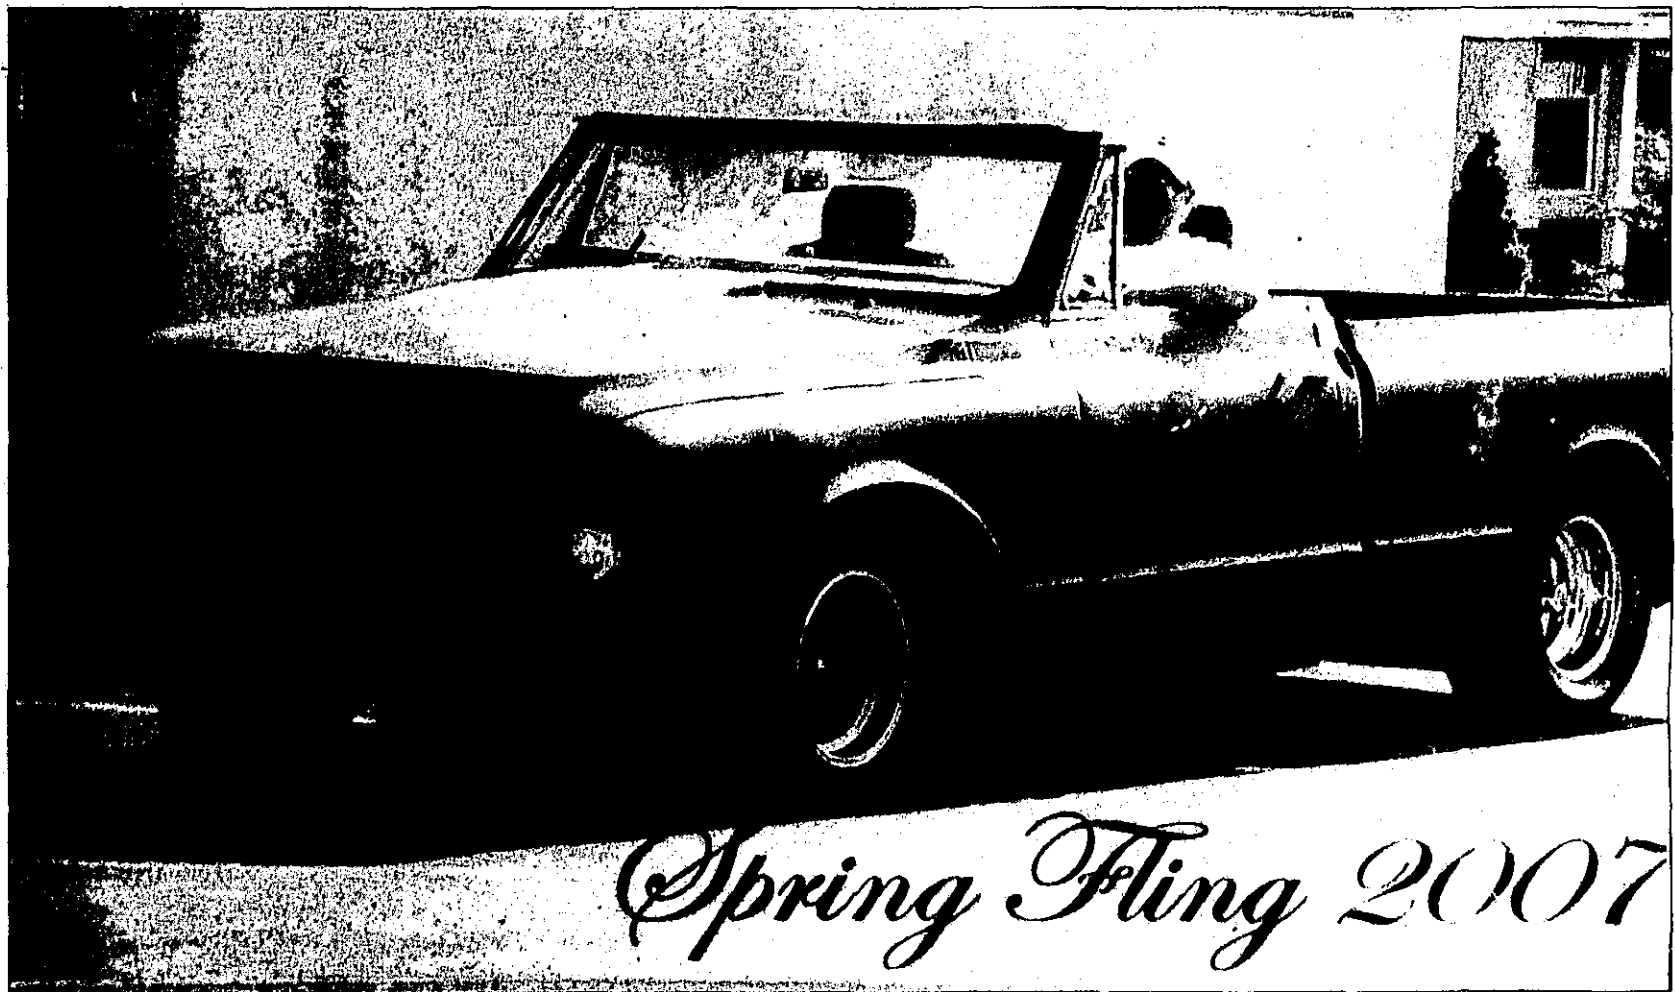

"Since I hired on, we've gone through more than 12,000 permits. My first was 4,500 and we're on 17,000 now," Hill said. He's handled inspections for a huge segment of the village and the surrounding area's development, including The Spencer Theater for the Performing Arts on Sierra Blanca Airport Road.

"We've definitely moved into a more modern-looking mountain community in 20 years," Hill said. "There's triple the number of contractors since the 1980s."

Building in Ruidoso presents some special challenges dealing with steep lots, excessive drainage and foundation issues. When the code changed from the Uniform to the International Building code, local builders were required to use 2-by-6-inch boards, ending the familiar 2-by-4-inch approach favored by many early residents. They also had to comply with a new energy code and upgraded insulation, as well as mandates outlined in the Americans with Disabilities Act.

Hill remains close to his two step-daughters, Brandy Patton Hill and Lindsey Patton Hill, and son Brackston Hill, who all are grown and live in Albuquerque. He carefully scheduled his retirement to coincide with his children beginning their own independent lives and a time with no pets, so he could just "walk away," he said.

Over the years, Hill

Building hot rods has long been a Larry Hill passion.

stayed busy in his off hours building and riding Harley Davidson motorcycles, and is waiting to buy an RV toy hauler for his trips camping and to visit family after retirement.

"I've used the job long enough as an excuse not to go," he joked. "I plan to camp out at Elephant Butte Lake and spend the summer RVing, then maybe go back to work this winter."

That may include work as a contract-inspector for the village, "I really don't know," he said. "I left options wide open for now. I'll visit with the Village again at the end of the summer."

State Law requires a 90-day period between a municipal, county or state employee retiring and being brought back under contract. The approach often is a good financial alternative for government entities, because benefits are not required.

With all the traveling, Hill still plans to stay in Lincoln County, possibly building a home on five acres he owns behind the Spencer Theater for the Performing Arts. He's already designed the 1,500-square foot house and 2,000-square foot shop. He plans to use a foam from ICF construction, which has impressed him with its insulation factor and quality of structure. "Termites don't eat concrete," he said.

The workshop needs to be larger than the house to allow him space to build Harley motorcycles, hot rods and trucks, another fascination.

Hill said he's enjoyed his job and thanks the community for the support he's received over the years from individuals and builders.

"I am one of the founding members of the Southern New Mexico Building Officials Association and served on the first education committee, bringing education for the building trades to the Ruidoso area," he said. "I had the pleasure of being part of many projects such as the Spencer Theater, the village convention center, the First Baptist Church and four hotels."

I was Employee of the Year finalist in 1995 and 2004. I served two terms on the village safety committee and have survived the change of seven mayors, 16 council elections, 10 village managers and seven planning directors. That's a lot of personalities."

"This definitely has been a great job," he said. "I've enjoyed working with the home builders and the public and appreciate the opportunity to serve all these years."

School board has homework on the brain

todd@ruidosonews.com

A long discussion about homework and its worth in an educational system occupied the Ruidoso School Board at its regular meeting last Tuesday.

At issue is the district's official homework policy, which some teachers and principals stated needs some refinement.

Superintendent Bea Etta Harris stated the current policy seemed vague as to the true intent of homework in the development of a student.

"I'd like to know what the board's feeling is," Harris said. "Maybe we could look at other districts and see how they do it."

Board member Rhonda Vincent said the policy does need to be firm.

"It has to be purposeful, but not overwhelming," she said. "As a parent of a student, I know it's possible to go too far with homework."

An informal poll of school principals present at the meeting reiterated that statement.

"Homework has a purpose, but it also has to have value to learning," said Stan Lyons, principal at Ruidoso High School. "If you pile it on and a student is doing hours of homework, that can be ridiculous. Homework for the sake of homework which isn't tied to a grade is feckless."

Ruidoso Middle School principal George Heaton agreed.

"Homework is unguided practice, and only guided practice is effective," Heaton said. "Homework has to be tied to actual progress in the classroom."

The general consensus of all at the meeting is that the district should put together a policy that better explains what purpose homework is to serve.

The board also reviewed a budget calendar for the 2009-10 budget year. A final budget must be approved and sent to the state by May 26, with a public meeting scheduled for the board's regular meeting on May 5.

Action items included the approval of a 2007-08 audit report from Miller and associates and the approval of the school and board calendars for 2009-11.

The board also recognized the Ruidoso Educational Association, a part of the National Educational Association in New Mexico.

According to association president Kevin Clawson, the local chapter had secured support from 64 percent of school district employees for its revival as the entity which will represent them in collective bargaining for salaries.

Collective bargaining for all state employees was allowed to sunset in 1999. Following the board's recognition - which was voted against by member Rafael Salas - REA members attended a scheduling conference in Albuquerque at the offices of the Public Employee Labor Relations Board.

Teen Spotlight

Sponsored by Lincoln County DWI Prevention

Teen Spotlight features area teens that have made a difference in their community. Marshal Wilson is the next teen in the Spotlight.

Marshal is the son of Rex and Carol Wilson and is currently in his sophomore year at Carrizozo High School. Wilson is involved in a variety of activities at his school and in his community.

At Carrizozo High School, Wilson plays football. In addition to playing sports, Wilson finds time to be active in student government by serving as vice-president of the sophomore class and parliamentarian of the student council. Wilson is also active in Future Farmers of America and serves as the vice-president of the Carrizozo FFA Chapter and the vice-president of District 6 FFA. It is obvious Wilson is busy with extracurricular activities at school, yet he still has time to maintain high grades. He is a member of the National Honor Society and participates in Knowledge Bowl.

Involvement in the community is important to Wilson. He participates in 4-H and is the president of the Mal Pais Colts 4-H Chapter, as well as serving as vice-president for the state of New Mexico. He is also active in the New Mexico Junior Cattle Growers, the Lincoln County Fair and the Nogal Mesa Ranchman's Camp Meeting. Wilson attends the Angus Church of the Nazarene and has participated in the Christmas production of Walk Through Bethlehem.

A strong support system exists for Wilson, and he lists his parents, grandmother and Dr. Rick Rigsby as influences in his life. Wilson is also busy planning for the future. His plans include attending college at New Mexico State University in Las Cruces and majoring in Agriculture Economics. After obtaining his degree, Wilson would like to become a foreign agriculture ambassador or a loan specialist. Lincoln County is proud to have Wilson as part of the community.

New Mexico students to benefit from grant

WASHINGTON, D.C. - U.S. Senator Jeff Bingaman reported that the New Mexico Public Education Department has been awarded $98,800 in federal funds to help students pay for Advanced Placement (AP) tests.

Funding was awarded through the U.S. Department of Education and will make it possible for the state to help low-income students pay for all or portions of the fees for AP or International Baccalaureate (IB) tests. The $98,800 will make it possible to help pay for 3,800 AP tests in the state. Bingaman is the author of legislation that created the AP Test Fee program.

Ruidoso High School students were honored for their academic achievements at the Spencer Theater on Monday. Above, recently retired state Representative Dub Williams, R-Glencoe, who formerly taught eighth-grade science at Ruidoso Middle School for 29 years, and his wife Kathryn, a former Ruidoso High School home economics teacher for 32 years, were present for the annual Ruidoso High School Academic Achievement Banquet.

This was the first time the event was held at the Spencer. Among the 350 parents, teachers, administrators and students in attendance was one of the Williams' five grandchildren, Haley.

"The Advanced Placement program helps high school students get a jump on their college education. But test fees can be a major barrier for students. This funding will help ensure that cost will not stand in the way of students benefitting from AP programs," Bingaman said.

The AP program, administered by the College Board, is an internationally recognized set of approximately 30 rigorous courses in subjects ranging from history to chemistry. The classes are taught to high-school students at their schools by specially trained teachers. Students can obtain college credit for an AP course by passing a standardized exam.

Bingaman is a strong supporter of the AP program and has been at the forefront of efforts to expand the program to more disadvantaged students — by helping states lower exam fees and train more teachers — and he fought to make sure that the AP program was an essential component of No Child Left Behind.

Sweethearts for 50 Years

December 13, 1957 - December 14, 2007

Della and David Russell began 50 years of togetherness and love on the plains and the deserts out west of the great divide. They traveled the country together, as the sun sets in the West. They were old, young, got him on a rise and left the wind in their hair. A few sand miles from all the city lights, got at a good and quiet. And now they want to follow their heads near the sleeping herd while the moon shines down from above. And maybe strum a guitar and a melody a dear her. And definitely live the life they love.

'Green' drive launched

FROM REPORTS

New Mexico Clean & Beautiful, a program of the New Mexico Tourism Department, encourages a different type of green for this St. Patrick's Day.

At a news conference in Rio Rancho, tourism officials encouraged everyone to get involved with this year's Great American Cleanup, the nation's largest annual community improvement program, by going green — picking up trash, planting a tree, or removing graffiti.

"New Mexicans have always taken pride in the beauty of our state, and New Mexico Clean & Beautiful has been taking the lead with its annual Great American Clean Up Event," said Michael Cerletti, secretary of the New Mexico Tourism Department.

"Support your local programs as they improve the quality of life in your area of the state. The Great American Cleanup makes a lasting impact by creating a cleaner, safer and more beautiful environment. I hope everyone will do their part to keep New Mexico clean and beautiful."

Keep America Beautiful is a national support program for New Mexico Clean and Beautiful. Its primary purpose is to provide leadership and guidance for litter control and beautification efforts. The Great American Cleanup runs March through May in every community in the state. Last year, more than 21,000 volunteers picked more than four million pounds of trash statewide.

"Litter alongside our highways and byways and in our communities is a huge problem, and we hope that everyone will pitch in to keep New Mexico the Land of Enchantment," said Rio Rancho Mayor Tom Swisstack, who kicked off the Great American Clean Up with a tree planting in Rio Rancho.

Keep America Beautiful Inc. is a non-profit organization whose network of more than 500 local, statewide and international affiliate programs educates individuals about litter prevention, and ways to reduce, reuse, recycle and properly manage waste materials.

New Mexico Clean & Beautiful was created by the Litter Control and Beautification Act of 1985 and is charged with coordinating statewide litter control and beautification efforts.

National sponsors providing local Keep America Beautiful affiliates with support include American Honda Motor Corporation; GLAD ForceFlex Trash Bags for cleanups; and the University of Phoenix (volunteers for local community improvement efforts).

National sponsors include Waste Management, Inc., Pepsi-Cola Company, The Scotts Miracle-Gro Company, Troy-Bilt, the Wm. Wrigley Jr. Company, Arm & Hammer, Solo Cup, Colgate-Palmolive Company and Dow Chemical.

The Great American Cleanup supports people, organizations, non-profits and schools in cleaning up and/or beautifying their neighborhoods.

To get involved, contact your local Keep America Beautiful program, visit tossnemas.com or call 1-800-867-7666.

NMSU rodeo team wins double-header weekend

The New Mexico State University rodeo team started the spring semester strongly at National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association (NIRA) rodeos at Cochise College, in Fort Huachuca, Ariz., March 6-7 and the University of Arizona, in Tucson, Ariz., March 8.

The men's and the women's teams placed first at both rodeos, each time leading the competition by more than 100 points.

"There were stellar performances in all the events. I was totally confident in the team to regain our top spot in the region after sitting out one competition. And that is exactly what they did. After this weekend, the NMSU rodeo men's and women's teams are first in the region," said Jim Dewey Brown, NMSU rodeo coach.

At the Cochise College rodeo, Megan Wilkerson, of Sonoita, Ariz., won first place in the breakaway roping event. Brittany Striegel and Kelsi Elkins, both of Aztec, N.M., received second and third, respectively.

Jordan Bassett, of Dewey, Ariz., won first in the barrel racing.

Striegel won first on the goat tying, with Elkins finishing second.

For the men's team, Clay Geronimo, of Mescalero, received third in the bareback riding event. Teammate Dean Daly, of Belen, N.M., placed second in the saddle-bronc riding.

Rylan Edgmon, of Black Canyon City, Ariz., placed first in the tie-down roping. Johnny Salvo, of Horse Springs, N.M., placed second.

Gilbert, Ariz., native Wyatt Althoff received third in the steer-wrestling event.

Header Bryce Runyan, of Silver City, N.M., and heeler Aaron Shelley, of Cliff, N.M., won first in the team roping. The team of Tony Steele, of Alamo, Nev., and Casey Felton, of Fallon, Nev., placed second. Donny DeForest, of Yuma, Ariz., and Tyler Findley, from New Mexico Highlands University, finished third in the event.

Salvo was named the men's all-around for the rodeo, while Stiegel and Elkins tied for the honor of women's all-around.

During the University of Arizona rodeo, Striegel won first in the breakaway roping, with Elkins placing third.

Staci Stanbrough, of Capitan, placed second in the goat tying.

Geronimo won first in the bareback riding, and Daly tied for second in the saddle-bronc event.

Salvo and Edgmon received first and third, respectively, in the tie-down roping.

Salvo received the men's all-around honor again, with Striegel winning the women's all-around.

The team competed at Central Arizona College March 14-15 in Florence, Ariz.

Ruidoso boys third at Goddard Invite

TODD FUQUA
todd@ruidosonews.com

The Ruidoso boys tennis team returned from the Goddard Invitational in Roswell with plenty to crow about.

Competing mostly against 4A schools, the Warriors finished third at the tournament, behind Class 3A powerhouses St. Michael's and Robertson.

Individually, Jacob Ordorica also finished third in the singles competition.

Ruidoso coach Dennis Johnston said the matches against Robertson were quite close.

Had more of them gone the Warriors' way, Ruidoso might have been second overall.

"We competed well against them," Johnston said of his team's match against the Cardinals. "We weren't blown away. We lost all of those close calls, which wasn't good, but we were right there."

The teams travel to Gadsden, Thursday for a dual rematch. Both the boys and girls defeated Gadsden in Ruidoso earlier in the year.

"The team has come along real well, and I'm very excited with what I see," Johnston said.

Ruidoso tracksters show solid improvement

TODD FUQUA
todd@ruidosonews.com

Ruidoso track coach Ronny Maskew knows he can't expect too much from his team this early in the season.

They've only had three meets thus far - including the Carlsbad Invitational last weekend - and he knows they have a lot of work left.

But they have already qualified and requalified a number of athletes to events in the Class 3A State track meet in May, so he can't complain too much.

"We were the only 3A school at the Carlsbad meet, besides Lovington, so we were up against some pretty tough competition," Maskew said.

The Ruidoso girls are the defending state champions, and Maskew expects to at least challenge for another title this year.

"I think we should be in the thick of it at state," Maskew said. "The girls that are back from last year score a lot of points, and we've got some younger athletes that are coming on."

The team will be at the Hobbs Invitational on Thursday.

8TH GRADE BRAVES

NMSU AD pleased with Aggie basketball progress

LAS CRUCES — The New Mexico State men's basketball team failed to reach the postseason for the second consecutive season, falling in the Western Athletic Conference Tournament semifinals.

NMSU Athletics Director McKinley Boston isn't demanding a return to postseason play next year, but expectations will be high for Marvin Menzies' third year as head coach.

"I don't think they need to but am I expecting to be competitive and compete for a league championship? The answer is, yes," Boston said. "There are too many variables that can impact winning and losing and some are not of your own making."

The Aggies finished the season 17-15 and lost by one to Utah State in the WAC Tournament after leading by 13 at halftime. On the women's side, the Aggies were 9-22 and one-and-done in the tournament after reaching the tournament final the previous three seasons.

"I was disappointed,"

Boston said in regard to the women's team. "It was a similar season with the women as the men. I knew they were young and in hindsight, scheduling did not help us, but we will have some home games next year."

For the men's team, the season and the final game was indicative of an up-and-down season on and off the court.

"The high point to me was that all of the kids stayed focused academically and we didn't have any academic casualties and we only had a couple of hiccups in terms of social misconduct," Boston said.

One hiccup came when freshman point guard Terrance Joyner was arrested for marijuana possession in February.

Joyner didn't play in the WAC Tournament and his future will be left up to Menzies, who developed a behavioral contract for Joyner following the arrest.

"He signed the contract and they either respond positively to it or they don't," Boston said. "It's up to the coach."

Boston said he doesn't anticipate additional player movement in the offseason.

On the court, Boston looks at the Aggies' 79-71 home overtime loss to Nevada on Jan. 8 as one of those games that got away.

"Our quality of play was fairly consistent and I wish we could have that Nevada win back, but even if we could, we would have probably still have been in the four or five spot," Boston said. "At the end of the day, we won the games we should have."

Menzies has two years left on his contract, as he received an additional year on his original deal with the Aggies' appearance in the WAC Tournament championship game last season.

When asked if there were plans to extend Menzies' contract, Boston said, "Those things come up when we sit down and do a full evaluation."

That meeting has yet to take place, but Boston could certainly see Menzies' imprint on the program after his second year.

"I'm pleased with the development of players as the season went on and I think we got better," Boston said. "Across the board, I can't think of any area where we didn't continually improve and that's reflective of good coaching."

Menzies has admitted that the Aggies need to improve defensively, but the team proved it could score, leading the WAC with 76.3 points per game.

"I think as a coach or administrator, you can beat yourself up pretty good playing Monday morning quarterback," Boston said. "It was a young team and a new coach who had to decide how much do you think freshmen can handle."

Two local race directors were recognized by the magazine Runner Triathlete News for their creative promotional materials.

Frederic Moras, race director for the Ski Run Road Challenge, won first prize for the use of carved bears for top prizes. "Everyone who runs has a lot of medals, which are nice, but I wanted to award something that also promoted Ruidoso," Moras said. "The bears, carved by Bears 'R' Us, have been a big hit."

George Tippin, race director for the Smokey Bear Fun Run, won first prize in the T-shirt division.

Time change

When I was young, a lost hour here and there was nothing that caused any notice.

I could lose several hours without it making me tired and now one measly hour that I lost while asleep can mess up whatever little time clock I have.

Now that I am not young, the constant time change is bothersome. At my age, twice a year is constant.

Twice a year, I pull off the side of the road and read the owner's manual on how to change the clock in my vehicle.

Twice a year, I wander through the house trying to remember which clocks I changed and which still need changing.

Twice a year, I am reminded this is a perfectly good time to change the batteries in the smoke detectors.

By the time I remember to buy some 9-volts "when I go to town," I've forgotten why I bought them, put them up only to find the stash I bought the last time I had this idea.

At least twice a year, I am awakened in the middle of the night by a smoke detector screaming because I forgot to change batteries.

My burning question is, if smoke detectors are so important, and they are, and if the batteries must be changed bi-annually, then why are they put right up next to the ceiling?

I don't know about you, but I don't keep a 6-foot ladder in the house for these occasions.

At 2 a.m., it seems easier to just shoot the hammer than change batteries. I've never actually shot one but I did beat one to death one time. It is still attractively displayed in our living room hanging by the wires.

I like watches but seldom notice them, as can be attested by all my acquaintances. But for weeks, I don't know if I've changed the time or not.

Computers seem to be tied into the belly button of the universe so that time changes automatically.

My problem is my satellite is out of somewhere but not here. So the time is still wrong.

My father will "keep time" for about four months. He'll say things like, "I'll meet you at 6 - which is 5 regular time."

So you are never sure if you are meeting at 5 or 6. Which doesn't matter since he never wears a watch and never changed the time in his vehicle either. Hey, it's correct six months out of the year, right?

I went from trying to stay awake long enough for the news to not being prepared for mayhem and murder.

I am not hungry at the right time and I am either not sleepy or awake at the right time.

In theory, I am the boss and can go to lunch whenever I please, however it does not promote good will to walk into an office of hungry women sucking on a toothpick.

COURTESY

Carrizozo first graders enjoyed hearing Green Eggs and Ham read to them by Carrizozo Principal Jerret Perry (in the hat). The students are studying Dr. Seuss for the month of March in honor of his March 2 birthday. Carrizozo Schools Librarian Rosemary Shaler is giving prizes all month to any student who reads a Dr. Seuss book on his or her level and scores an 80 percent or better on the AR test. Each student gets a choice of a pencil, balloon or bracelet, and then they also get a Dr. Seuss sticker, book-mark and activity sheet or door sign.

'Zozo gets A+ audit, approves replat for Valle del Sol green zone

jcarter@ruidosonews.com

The Town of Carrizozo mayor and trustees were informed by letter from the town auditor that the 2007-08 audit was completed with a "no findings."

DeAun Willoughby, certified public accountant under contract to Carrizozo, stated in a letter to the state auditor that her audit conducted in compliance with the auditing standards found Carrizozo found no deficiencies in internal control over financial reporting.

Her report included a listing of findings from the prior year and listed them all as "resolved."

The trustees "happily" approved the audit.

Upon approval of written quotes for the position, Willoughby was approved by the council to serve as the town auditor for another three years.

The eastern lots in Phase III of the Valle del Sol subdivision will be modified to increase lot size and create a natural "green zone" zone along Highway 380.

A number of the one-acre lots will become three-to 10-acre lots with building to be directed away from the highway.

New Mexico Land and Ranches (Valle del Sol) developer Dan Dattola submitted a petition to establish a Special Improvement District in the subdivision.

The petition represents the first step in forming the special district required by statute. A resolution will be adopted that will form an intent to approve the district and validate the ownership of 66 2/3 percent by NMLR.

The council gave approval of the lease with Valle del Sol Golf Course and Club House. The lease was originally approved and sent to the state Department of Finance in January 2008. After a lengthy time, it was determined the lease did not need approval from DFA but the original lease could not be located. A new lease was presented to the council for approval.

Estimates for the upgrades to the Carrizozo Animal Shelter came in over $20,000, making it necessary for the town to go out for bid on the project.

Mayor Bob Hemphill said he would move on that quickly as he wanted the money spent before the end of the budget year, June 30.

Approval was given to P&Z recommendations for an addition to Casa Manaña Apartments and for placement of another antenna on the existing Alltel tower.

An amendment to the Animal Control Ordinance was approved. The resolution made the licensing deadline Jan. 1 of each year to coincide with all other licensing.

The Carrizozo Police Department monthly activity report showed 65 calls responded to and nine citations issued. One arrest was made with five cases logged.

The Carrizozo Airport report showed 204.5 gallons of fuel sold for $866.

Carrizozo Municipal Court reported seven trials and disbursements of $1,571 to the Town of Carrizozo.

Mayor Bob Hemphill

In other business:

- accepted a letter of resignation from the retiring Jim Payne;

- approved business licenses and livestock permits;

- approved the low quote for the work room addition to the Heritage Museum;

Work release program

Mayor Hemphill informed the trustees and council that he is pursuing the reinstatement of the "work release" program in Carrizozo.

Working with the Lincoln County Detention Center, Hemphill hopes to create a program where the inmates from LCDC can work on town cleanup and maintenance projects.

Trustee Dennis Dunnum agreed to work as the liaison between the town and Warden Don Franklin at LCDC to work out the plan.

Hemphill also informed everyone that advertisement for another police officer was under way.

The next regular meeting of the Town of Carrizozo will be April 14, at 6 p.m.

Capitan School Board reorganizes

FROM REPORTS

The Capitan School Board held its regular meeting on Thursday, March 12.

Jerrett Perry, the new Capitan High School Principal for the 2009-10 school year, was introduced to the board and those present.

Following financial reports, the board reorganized officer positions. Taking over as president is Ed Vinson while Robin Parks assumes the vice-presidential duties. Nate Dunn was selected to serve as secretary.

Other business items included a presentation regarding the possible use of a contract food service for the next school year, the adoption of the calendar for the 2009-10 school year and approval of the CHS Course Description book.

The board also revised questions for the Quality of Ed Survey that becomes available next month.

The board approved a bid from Old School

Painting in Alamogordo to paint the interior of Cummins Gym.

They also voted to extend the contract of Superintendent Shirley Crawford an additional year to June 2011.

The board received information on the budget process and a brief update of the status of legislation affecting school budgets, calendars and daily operations.

The next regular meeting of the Capitan Board of Education will be April 9.

Lincoln Forest among projects under recovery and reinvestment act

ALBUQUERQUE — "We are pleased to be part of the effort to restore forests and grasslands, reduce wildlife risks, develop wood to energy technology and improve our infrastructure by providing private sector jobs under provisions of the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act," said Regional Forester Corbin Newman.

The Southwestern Region of the Forest Service includes the national forests in Arizona and New Mexico and grasslands in Oklahoma and Texas.

The first projects identified for immediate implementation are in construction and maintenance of facilities, roads and trails, abandoned mine mitigation and hazardous fuels reduction.

For the Southwestern Region, four projects have been selected to date and more are expected.

One project is the Hoyer Campground on the Apache-Sitgreaves National Forest in Apache County, Ariz.

The project provides the additional economic benefit of sustaining tourism in one of the highest unemployment counties in Arizona.

This project replaces 30-year-old, non-accessible flush toilets with accessible vault toilets and associated site work necessary for accessibility. It also provides reconstruction of a road system for the campground.

Hoyer Campground is located 20 minutes from the recreation and tourism-dependent towns of Eagar and Springerville, Ariz., and 5 minutes from Greer, Ariz.

The second project is the Nacimient Mine environmental cleanup project located on the Santa Fe National Forest in Sandoval County, N.M. The work will clean up and restore 25 million gallons of groundwater at Nacimient Mine near Cuba, N.M.

The cleanup supports increased economic opportunities and improved quality of life in rural America by treating the surface/ground water for human consumption and for the small farmer/rancher.

The third project is the 16 Springs Tribal Forest Protection Act (TFPA) Stewardship Project located on the Lincoln National Forest in Otero County.

This is a forest health improvement project that reduces hazardous fuels and fire risk to a large Wildland Urban Interface (WUI) community and tribal lands.

The removal of commercial timber will provide and maintain jobs for a specialized group of people, and result in a usable product for local, small sawmills.

The fourth project is the Rim Community WUI Treatment located on the Tonto National Forest in Gila County, Ariz. This project consists of six treatment areas within the WUI along the Mogollon Rim.

Implementing this hazardous fuels reduction project will reduce the risk of wildfire to 13 communities and support the restoration of fire-dependent ecosystems.

Regional Forester Corbin Newman said, "This is all about providing jobs in communities surrounding public lands. In addition, the Forest Service gets a backlog of much-needed work completed to get our forest ecosystems and facilities up to a better standard with projects in which we can contract to or partner with the private sector very quickly."

The ARRA authorizes the Forest Service to spend $500 million for wild fire management on National Forest and State and Private lands and $650 million for improvements and maintenance on National Forest lands. This includes projects that can help restore forest health, reduce fire danger, and restore facilities, roads and trails.

Funds can also be used to close roads or other facilities that are not needed and to clean up abandoned mines.

The funding will be directed to forests where employment is most needed and the environmental project pre-work is already done.

The Region expects more projects to be approved for funding over the next few months.

NMCGA scholarship deadline approaching USDA celebrates National Ag Day

The deadline for graduate students to apply for the 2009 New Mexico Cattle Growers' Association's (NMCGA) Young Cattlemen's Leadership Committee (YCLC) Graduate Scholarship is May 15, according to Alisa Ogden, NMCGA president, Lov- ing.

"We know that the costs of higher education, like everything else, are constantly increasing," Ogden said. "This scholarship is one way the association can help students with those costs, and we encourage everyone who qualifies to apply."

Applicants must be New Mexico residents, and come from a beef cattle production background, but not necessarily pursuing a degree in an agricultural field.

NMCGA membership is not a requirement, but members and their families will get preference.

"Our objective is to broaden production agriculture awareness in non-typical agricultural fields, to help spread knowledge of our industry," Ogden said. "We are working to change how few students with agricultural knowledge are coming out of our educational system."

Applications must be returned to the NMCGA office by May 15, and the $1,000 scholarship will be awarded during the Association's Mid-Year meeting in Ruidoso June 28-30. For more information, please contact the NMCGA office at 505-247-0584.

ALBUQUERQUE — American agriculture is responsible for providing the necessities of everyday life ... food, fiber and even fuel.

That's the message of National Ag Day, which is celebrated March 20.

According to Brenda Archuleta, acting state executive director of USDA's Farm Service Agency in New Mexico, producers, agricultural associations, corporations, universities, government agencies and countless others across America will gather to celebrate the abundance provided by agriculture on this first day of spring.

"The National Ag Day program is committed to increasing public awareness about American agriculture," said Archuleta.

"As the world population soars, there is even greater demand for the food, fiber and renewable resources that the United States produces."

The Agriculture Council of America, organizers of National Ag Day, says that every American should understand how food, fiber and renewable resource products are produced and should value the essential role of agriculture in maintaining a strong economy.

Consumers should appreciate the role agriculture plays in providing safe, abundant and affordable products.

National Ag Day will focus on educating Americans about the industry, so they may also acknowledge and consider career opportunities in the agriculture, food, fiber and renewable resource industry.

"Today's farmer feeds more than 130 people in the United States and abroad," said Archuleta. "In 1960, that number was 25. Today, more than 15 percent of the U.S. population is employed in farm or farm-related jobs."

Each year, the National Ag Day program gathers members of the agricultural industry in an effort to promote American agriculture.

Focused on sharing how agriculture provides almost everything we eat, use and wear on a daily basis, the National Ag Day program helps educate millions of consumers each year.

Join this effort to promote American agriculture to everyone during National Ag Week, March 15-21.

For more information, contact your local USDA Service Center or the Agriculture Council of America.

COUNTY BRIEFS

Corridor meeting

A meeting to discuss floral plantings and Christmas lights for the Lincoln Corridor will be held Saturday, March 21, at 12:30 p.m., at Emily's Southern Restaurant in Capitan.

Refreshments will be served.

Everyone is invited to attend, including village and city officials, women's clubs, chamber members, Girl and Boy Scouts and gardening clubs.

Greg Russell will discuss beautification of the Corridor, which includes Capitan, Carrizozo, Lincoln and Hondo.

This project includes flowers and plantings in the spring and Christmas lights for the holiday season.

Contact Oso Art or the Capitan Chamber for more information.

Fairboard meeting

The Lincoln County Fair Board will meet tonight at 7 p.m., in Fletcher Hall at the Lincoln County Fairgrounds in Capitan.

The meeting is open to the public and welcomes input from the community.

Discussions will include planning the Smokey Bear Stampede scheduled for July 2-5, and the Lincoln County Fair to be held Aug. 3-8.

The stampede will include a youth ranch rodeo on July 3 and regular adult ranch rodeos on July 4-5.

Nightly rodeos will feature bareback riding, saddle bronc riding, calf roping, team roping, barrel race and breakaway roping.

Sunday, July 5 will be Tough Enough to Wear Pink and $1 of each admission paid will go to support the fight against breast cancer. After the ranch rodeos a jackpot wild horse race will be held and cowboy church will be held on Sunday morning.

More information will be forthcoming.

Her ex is a loser, but 'Sophie' is a winner

By Jacqueline Cutler
© Zap2it

Anyone old enough to pay taxes should know that just when you think life can't get any worse, the fates scoff at you and boom! Life takes a sharp turn south.

So it goes for Sophie Parker (Natalie Brown, "I Me Wed") in the engaging premiere of "Sophie" on ABC Family Monday, March 23.

Her father recently died of a heart attack while with his lover, Estelle (Sara Botsford, "The Lot"), an actress who emotes all the time, darling Dad left Sophie his talent agency, and Sophie seems suited to it. She has a gay male best friend, Matt (Jeff Geddis), a physician. And at 30, she's eight months pregnant.

Unfortunately, the man she's been involved with for five years, Rick (Sebastian Spence, "The Obsession"), is a louse. Not only is he cheating on her, he's doing so with her closest girlfriend, Melissa (Amy Lalonde). Incidentally, Sophie had just secured a terrific contract for Melissa.

The cad leaves Sophie and her agency, where he had been working. Sophie's assistant even goes with Rick, and within a day he also poaches her top clients.

Life is not going well for Sophie, but it's not as if she hadn't been warned.

The opening scene has her visiting a psychic, who keeps exotic herbs in jars and a potion on the stove and proclaims the ability to communicate with the dead. Upon holding her hands, he gets such a strong vibe of dread he tells her, "You are about to have the most horrible year of your life, and just when you think you've hit rock bottom, your troubles will only be starting."

Not exactly comforting stuff.

"That first episode packs a big punch," Brown says. When telling friends about the plot, she says, they think she's describing the first season, and it's actually all in the premiere.

Brown describes her character as "impulsive, impetuous. What she is trying to do best is keep it all together. She is feisty, flirty, sometimes quite frazzled but a whole lot of fun."

Now that the Canadian show is moving to the States, Brown says the action could unfold in any North American city. The show has been well received in Canada (where it is produced and broadcast by CBC Television), and the cast just finished shooting the second season.

"The reaction to the first season was great, positive," says Spence. "It took us a while to find out what we were doing."

Well, it's pretty obvious what Rick is doing, and it marks him as a cad. By the end of the pilot, though, when Sophie delivers her baby, it's clear that not all of the blame for the failed relationship is his.

"That was the problem with the character -- no one has anything nice to say about him," Spence says. "You find out over the course of the series (that) he is just a little boy trapped in a man's body. He is like a 4-year-old. I have always felt bad. He thinks that baby is his, but nobody brings up that affair. And Sophie allowed him to believe that it was his. That is never mentioned."

Rick's story emerges, Spence says, "that he is one of those guys, a go-get-them kind of guy. There's not a lot of moral fortitude there, but deep down he's a sweet guy trying to figure out who he is. He's not an evil guy. He just makes bad choices, and once he makes a decision he sticks by it but takes no responsibility for his actions. He hasn't paid a parking ticket for five years because he doesn't think he's wrong."

Megan Mullally samples 'Motherhood' in Web-inspired sitcom

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2it

Just from her award-winning work as Karen on "Will & Grace," it's clear that Megan Mullally would not be the typical mom.

The lively actress-singer demonstrates that as one of the women fronting "In the Motherhood," an ABC comedy series premiering Thursday, March 26. The show has an atypical source for its stories: the general public, since script ideas are drawn from people's actual experiences submitted on the program's Web site (www.inthemothhood.com).

In fact, the sitcom has its roots in an online show that started two years ago, with Chelsea Handler, Jenny McCarthy and Leah Remini ("The King of Queens") as women at various stages of parenting. Now those roles go to Mullally, Cheryl Hines ("Curb Your Enthusiasm") and Jessica St. Clair ("Worst Week").

Mullally plays Rosemary, a serial-bride nonconformist whose behavior might not be deemed the best influence on her teenage son, Syd (Ryan Pinkston). To the great surprise of struggling fellow-mom sisters Jane and Emily (Hines, St. Clair), Syd appears better equipped to field life's daily challenges than his mother.

"I wouldn't have wanted to play another character similar to Karen Walker," two-time Emmy winner Mullally says of the high-pitched-in-all-ways part she's best known for, "but beyond that, I'm really not super-picky. I've seen a lot of actors who were on long-running shows kind of get paralyzed, afraid to make the next move and (worried) whether it's the right or wrong one, then you just never hear from them again.

"My approach is much less scientific: If something comes along that feels like it would be good to do, then I do it. The great thing about this is that we have great chemistry in the cast. That's something we had on 'Will & Grace,' too, and it's rare. You can't go into something expecting that, but right now, I think that's our ace in the hole."

Not a mom in real life, Mullally also appreciates "In the Motherhood" taking its creative direction from "anything anyone wants to submit - their stories about kooky, crazy family things. I watched the Web series, and I thought it was really cute."

Mullally adds that ABC wants its "Motherhood" to be "edgier" than the Web forerunner, "and it's still evolving, as is my character. She wears leather jackets and motorcycle boots; she's a tough mama, and she's 50 and she owns it. I like playing people who don't have the same self-censorship that others have. It's not that this woman says mean things to other people; she's just more adventurous and a risk taker, which I like."

"Saturday Night Live" alum Horatio Sanz and RonReaco Lee ("Madea Goes to Jail") also are in "In the Motherhood," which relies in part on improvisation, another big lure for Mullally.

"Basically," she explains, "we get a script, then we have a rehearsal, then we rehearse again and improvise off the script. Then the writers take some of our improvisations and incorporate them into the script, we'll shoot that as written, then we'll do takes where we improvise. It gives us a lot of room to experiment and have fun."

Getting back to steady television work means giving up the free-agent status Mullally has enjoyed lately. She did guest shots on NBC's "30 Rock" and CBS' "The New Adventures of Old Christine"; she starred on Broadway in the musical version of Mel Brooks' "Young Frankenstein"; and she recorded her third album ("Free Again!") with her group, Supreme Music Program.

Those followed Mullally's 2006-07 stint as the host of a syndicated weekday talk show, which she recalls as "a really good experience. I learned a lot about what I want to do and what I don't want to do. It was so much work, the kind of work that can really take a toll on you."

"The one thing I really didn't feel comfortable about was having my name all over the show. That's not my style, and it also wasn't the kind of creative environment I'm used to. The business-of-the-business aspect is fine, but it's not really me."

Megan Mullally stars in "In the Motherhood," premiering Thursday on ABC.

Mullally isn't the only person in her household with a new series; her husband, actor Nick Offerman, stars with "Saturday Night Live" veteran Amy Poehler in NBC's upcoming show "Parks & Recreation." Also in Mullally's future is a role in this fall's movie remake of the musical drama "Fame," but for the moment, it's mainly "Motherhood" for her.

"I feel lucky," Mullally reflects, "because I have a few different things I enjoy doing, a few options. That absolutely opens up other avenues for me. You're always accruing experience and that helps, but with every job you do, it's like starting from square one. I feel I've done so many things, but every new job is a new world."

A Closer Look

For Kids' Choice nominees, it's the slime of their lives

By Jacqueline Cutler
© Zap2it

The Oscars boast the most glamour, the Grammys the best music, the Tonys an amazing show, but the Kids' Choice Awards has the corner on fun and slime.

Really, how many times can even the most die-hard movie buff watch the Academy Awards? Sure, we respect what sound editors do, but watching them thank their wives is not scintillating TV.

On the other hand, kids can watch their favorite stars getting slimed and laugh through it repeatedly, beginning Saturday, March 28, with Nickelodeon's 22nd Annual Kids' Choice Awards.

Dwayne Johnson hosts the live event at UCLA's Pauley Pavilion, where the following celebrities could find themselves looking out through a green haze of goo: Jennifer Aniston, Beyoncé, Anne Hathaway, the Jonas Brothers, Alicia Keys, Michael Phelps and Reese Witherspoon.

Forget about secret ballots and sober accountants making a fuss about tallying the count. Kids, in what could be seen as a tribute to old-time Chicago politics, vote early and often for a variety of awards.

Among them is favorite voice from an animated movie. The nominees are Jack Black as Po in "Kung Fu Panda," Jim Carrey as Horton in "Horton Hears a Who," Miley Cyrus as Penny in "Bolt" and

Ben Stiller as Alex in "Madagascar: Escape 2 Africa."

What parent would not allow his or her children to watch a show honoring books? In the favorite book category, kids choose from "Diary of a Wimpy Kid," "Diary of a Wimpy Kid Do-It-Yourself Book," the "Harry Potter" series and the "Twilight" series.

Reflecting on his first-time hosting duties, Johnson says, "I'm not nervous, just uber excited. This is the first time I ever hosted and the first time I ever used the word 'uber' in a sentence."

"Sure, I have been to the show, and nominated a couple of times," Johnson continues. "The opportunity to host was great."

"I have never been slimed," he says. "So if, in fact, I am called upon for that wonderful honor, I will do it with much pride."

The former wrestler once known as The Rock, now an actor in films such as "Get Smart" and "Race to Witch Mountain," is not alone. Serena Williams, the world's top-ranked women's tennis player, longs to be slimed.

"I have always wanted to be slimed," Williams says, then laughs. "Mary-Kate and Ashley, the Olsen twins, got slimed. I'm OK with getting slimed. Please, slime me!"

As she so often is, Williams is pitted against sister Venus for favorite female athlete. Race-car driver Danica Patrick and basketball star Candace Parker round out the category.

With the exception of the Oscars and the Emmys, Williams says she has been to "pretty much every other award. They are so intense. With the Kids' Choice Awards, you can go in your jeans and just be yourself and not worry too much about what designer to wear. It's just about being you and being normal. That's my favorite thing about the Kids' Choice Awards."

Miranda Cosgrove, the 15-year-old star of the cable's hit "iCarly," also adores this show. This is her seventh time there and her first as a nominee for favorite television actress. She's up against Miley Cyrus for "Hannah Montana," America Ferrera for "Ugly Betty" and Selena Gomez for "Wizards of Waverly Place."

Cosgrove has one over Williams and Johnson — she's been slimed!

"One year I went with friends, and the seats we had weren't supposed to be slimed," Cosgrove says. "But we got slime all over our dresses. I consider myself a slime expert now. It's just gooeey and slippery and green."

It's touted as edible, but Cosgrove did not taste it. Though Nickelodeon won't divulge the slime's secret ingredients, a network representative says that homemade slime can be concocted from applesauce, vanilla pudding, oatmeal and green food dye.

"It left a little bit of a green tint," on her skin, Cosgrove says. "It came out of the dress. Whatever it is, it's not too serious."

Cosgrove is singing at the preshow, a far cry from her first year, when she was star-struck upon seeing Raven. Cosgrove, like most teenage girls, says if she could meet anyone at the Kids' Choice, it would be Rob Pattinson of "Twilight."

That's a long shot considering he is not nominated for favorite movie actor. The nominees here are Jim Carrey for "Yes Man," George Lopez for "Beverly Hills Chihuahua," Adam Sandler for "Bedtime Stories" and Will Smith for "Hancock."

Host Johnson says, "I can't wait to meet Clint Eastwood." No word on whether Eastwood will attend, but Johnson is bringing his daughter and her pals, who are already excited.

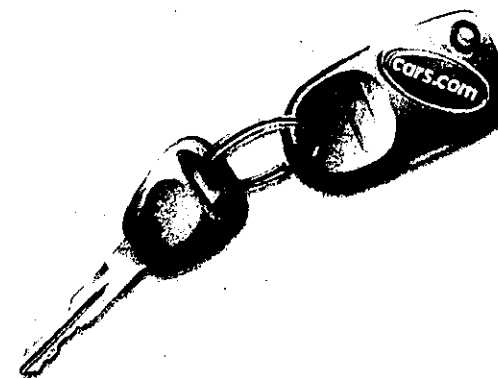

"The great thing about the show is not only the endless enthusiasm that the kids have for it," Johnson says. "It seems like the goal for an hour and a half is for kids to scream as loud as they can."

And Johnson's goal? "I would love to see — aside from the great performances we are going to get — I would love to see the maximum number of kids getting slimed. And kids as in our audience, and not necessarily the celebrities."

Johnson has but one condition for the show. "I don't want to not have fun," he says. "Let's all perform without inhibition. Let it all hang out for the kids."

The Jonas Brothers are slated to appear at the 22nd Annual Kids' Choice Awards Saturday on Nickelodeon.

An Inside Look

McKellen trades wizard's staff for the scepter of 'King Lear' on PBS

By John Crook
© Zap2it

He may be best known to millions for his Oscar-nominated work as the wizard Gandalf in Peter Jackson's "Lord of the Rings" movie trilogy, but Ian McKellen returns this week to his classical roots in a Royal Shakespeare Company production of "King Lear," a "Great Performances" presentation premiering Wednesday, March 25, on PBS (check local listings).

Directed by Tony Award winner Trevor Nunn, the production features a shattering performance by McKellen as the elderly king who sets off a string of calamities when he divides his kingdom between fawning but devious daughters Goneril and Regan (Frances Barber, Monica Dolan), while blindly rejecting his most loyal child, Cordelia (Romola Garai).

Like Hamlet, the role of Lear is considered a supreme challenge for male actors, but McKellen, who had played other roles in "King Lear" earlier in his career, freely admits that the title role was not one he felt compelled to do until this production, which toured England and the States, came his way.

"I think I knew, from having seen other people play it up close, that it takes an awful lot out of you," McKellen explains. "Unless you're certain that the production is going to be helpful and you can help it, then you're probably wasting your time as well as the audience's."

Then there's the matter of sheer stamina. At the end of a long evening of intense emoting, the king has to enter carrying the corpse of the dead Cordelia in his arms, which can really tax an actor who isn't as remarkably fit as McKellen is, even though he turns 70 in May. But Shakespeare gives the actor playing Lear a longish break (45 minutes or so) around the intermission between the two acts, McKellen adds.

"And it was an oversuccessful rest I got one night in the Brooklyn Academy of Music when I went back to my dressing room," McKellen recalls. "So I couldn't hear the (intercom) playback of the performance, I had covered myself up entirely with a blanket, so I fell fast asleep. I didn't hear the warnings that it was nearly time for me to go back. They were looking for me, running up and down the stairs and putting their heads in the dressing room, but they didn't see this bundle of old clothes. I got down there just as the stage manager was telling the audience that the play would have to be stopped."

With both Greg's parents out of town, Rochelle (Tichina Arnold) skips the family vacation to care for him, leaving Julius (Terry Crews) to entertain Drew and Tonya (Tequan Richmond, Imani Hakim) when their beach getaway turns rainy in "Everybody Hates Spring Break."

7 p.m. on KFOX KASA Terminator: The Sarah Connor Chronicles

Jesse's (guest star Stephanie Jacobsen) submarine mission in the future takes a fatal turn with unforeseen consequences in the present for John, Sarah and Derek (Thomas Dekker, Lena Headey, Brian Austin Green). Cameron (Summer Glau) has become a liability, and Sarah must deal with her. John makes a life-or-death decision in the new episode "Last Voyage of the Jimmy Carter, Part 2."

7:30 p.m. on KWBQ The Game

Tasha (Wendy Raquel Robinson) finds out that Rick (Rick Fox) might lose his job. Malik (Hosea Chanchez) wants to learn everything there is to know about his father (guest star Michael Boatman, "Spin City"). Melanie (Tia Mowry) thinks Derwin (Pooch Hall) is trying to teach her a lesson. Brittany Daniel and Coby Bell also star in "Take a Bow."

8:01 p.m. on KFOX KASA Dollhouse

Agent Ballard (Tahmoh Penikett) comes face to face — and fist to fist — with Echo (Eliza Dushku) in action for the first time, taking his investigation on a surprising turn. Harry Lennix, Olivia Williams and Fran Kranz star in the new episode "Man on the Street."

SATURDAY

12:30 p.m. on KOAT KVIA NASCAR Racing

Kasey Kahne thought he had the best car in last year's Nationwide race at Tennessee's Bristol Motor Speedway, but he didn't want to force the issue with Clint Bowyer too early. And that was to his detriment, as rain halted the race at lap 171 with Bowyer in the lead, thus giving the race to the 28-year-old Kansas. Bowyer will be back to defend his title at the half-mile oval in what is now the Scotts Turf Builder 300.

7 p.m. on KOAT KVIA Movie: Flightplan

Jodie Foster stars in this generally effective 2005 suspense tale, playing the recently widowed designer of an ultramodern aircraft that carries her late husband's body, as well as her and her daughter (Marlene Lawston). When the child vanishes during the flight, the panicked mom confronts the pilot (Sean Bean), an air marshal (Peter Sarsgaard) and everyone else who questions whether the girl was ever on board.

7 p.m. on HALL Movie: Plainsong

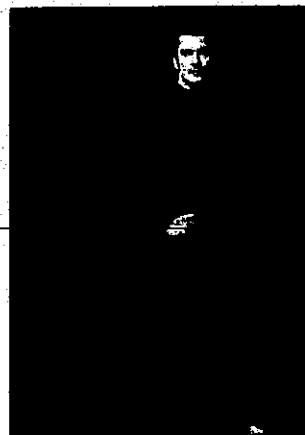

This 2004 Hallmark Hall of Fame version of Kent Haruf's novel stars Aidan Quinn ("Legends of the Fall") as a Colorado teacher who raises his two sons alone after his wife leaves him. He's drawn to a fellow teacher (Rachel Griffiths, "Brothers & Sisters") who places a pregnant student (America Ferrera, "Ugly Betty") with two elderly bachelors (Geoffrey Lewis, William Andrews). Marian Seldes co-stars.

7 p.m. on LIFE Movie: Nora Roberts' Northern Lights

Determined to start a new life and forget the recent, traumatic death of his work partner, former Baltimore cop Nate (Eddie Cibrian) takes a job as chief of police in remote (and aptly named) Lunacy, Alaska, where he soon finds himself investigating the murder of the long-missing man whose daughter, feisty bush pilot Meg Galligan (LeAnn Rimes), is his love interest. Rosanna Arquette also stars.

LeAnn Rimes stars in "Nora Roberts' Northern Lights" Saturday on Lifetime.

Balthazar Getty stars in "Brothers & Sisters" Sunday on ABC.

SUNDAY

7 p.m. on KOBR KTSM Kings

King Silas and General Abner (Ian McShane, Wes Studi) plot against David (Chris Egan), while Queen Rose (Susanna Thomson) prepares the mansion for the arrival of the Gath military. William (Dylan Baker) plans to weaken the king's power by asserting his power over the treasury. Outraged over his parents' dismissiveness, Jack (Sebastian Stan) decides to go on a shopping spree.

7:30 p.m. on KFOX KASA King of the Hill

Dale (voice of Johnny Hardwick) gets out of hand after sampling his newfound independence when wife Nancy (voice of Ashley Gardner) leaves the small-town news arena in Arlen for the bright lights of field reporting in Dallas, prompting an increasingly alarmed Hank and Peggy (voices of Mike Judge and Kathy Najimy) to beg her to return home in the new episode "Nancy Does Dallas."

8 p.m. on KDBC KBIM Cold Case

One of the most striking trademarks of this hit procedural series is how it weaves vintage musical numbers into its flashback scenes, but this week's episode is unique in featuring only songs by John Lennon to accompany a story in which Rush (Kathryn Morris) and her team investigate whether a homeless paranoid schizophrenic (Billy Lush, "The Black Donnellys") killed his psychiatrist (Jacqueline Obradors, "NYPD Blue") when he was a college student.

9:01 p.m. on KOAT KVIA Brothers & Sisters

Trying to help before Tommy's (Balthazar Getty) legal troubles get any worse, a desperate Nora (Sally Field) seeks help from the person Tommy hurt the most. Ryan (guest star Luke Grimes) gets a little too close to Rebecca (Emily VanCamp) for Justin's (Dave Annable) comfort, causing Justin to doubt the motives of his recently found half brother. Rachel Griffiths, Calista Flockhart and Matthew Rhys also star in the new episode "Missing."

7 p.m. on KWBQ Gossip Girl

Devastated by recent events, Blair (Leighton Meester) explores her dark side, to the concern of Serena and Chuck (Blake Lively, Ed Westwick). Lily and Rufus (Kelly Rutherford, Matthew Settle) decide to be completely honest with each other and share lists of their past lovers. Vanessa (Jessica Szohr) urges Nate (Chace Crawford) to forgive the Vanderbilts. Penn Badgley and Taylor Momsen also star in the new episode "The Grandfather."

7 p.m. on KFOX KASA House

A man (guest star Mos Def) awakens in a New York hospital after a bicycle accident, unable to move or communicate. House (Hugh Laurie), assigned to an adjacent bed following a motorcycle mishap, diagnoses the patient as having "locked-in syndrome" and gets him transferred to Princeton-Plainsboro, where the team tries to "unlock" him. Wilson (Robert Sean Leonard) is more suspicious of why House refuses to divulge why he was in New York.

8 p.m. on KOBR KTSM Heroes

H.R.G. (Jack Coleman) persuades Emile Danko (guest star Zeljko Ivanek) to release Tracy (Ali Larter) from Building 26 in hopes that she will lead them to "Rebel." Angela (Cristine Rose) turns to an old friend (guest star Swoosie Kurtz) for help. Ando and Hiro (James Kyson Lee, Masi Oka) try to protect the newest hero. Greg Grunberg and Milo Ventimiglia also star in the new episode "Cold Snap."

9 p.m. on KOBR KTSM Medium

Allison (Emmy winner Patricia Arquette) grows suspicious when the ghost of Agent Cooper (guest star Kurtwood Smith) visits her again with tips to help her catch the right criminal, leading her to question whether he has a hidden agenda. Against his better judgment, Joe (Jake Weber) hires a man whose credentials are less than impressive. Miguel Sandoval and David Cubitt also star in "A Necessary Evil."

Patricia Arquette stars in "Medium" Monday on NBC.

Vanessa Marcil and Eric Close star in "Without a Trace" Tuesday on CBS.

TUESDAY
7 p.m. on KWBQ Reaper
There's a reason they call it sibling rivalry, not "revelry," as Sam (Bret Harrison) discovers when he meets the Devil's (Ray Wise) other son, Morgan (guest star Armie Hammer), a true golden boy with serious daddy issues. Ben (Rick Gonzalez) thinks Nina (Jenny Wade) is disgusted by his human form, Sock (Tyler Labine) uses Ted (Donovan Stinson) in his latest scheme.

7 p.m. on KOBR KTSN The Biggest Loser
In a special two-hour episode, the contestants meet NASCAR driver Clint Bowyer as part of a challenge requiring each contestant to pull a car for almost a quarter of a mile. As the competition shifts to single rivalry, the contestants are given their original colored shirts to wear for the remainder of the season. At a weigh-in, one contestant shatters "Biggest Loser" records, and other players also hit big milestones. Alison Sweeney is host.

8 p.m. on KENW Frontline
Interviews with leading fiscal experts and insiders in government finance illuminate this film, which investigates the causes, possible outcomes and potential solutions to America's staggering $10 trillion debt, a daunting, nearly inconceivable sum that will both constrain and challenge the administration of President Barack Obama.

9:01 p.m. on KDBC KBIM Without a Trace
Malone (Anthony LaPaglia) and the team search for a missing psychologist whose brother was imprisoned for serial rape, which leads the investigators to wonder whether the brother may have been involved with the disappearance. Martin's (Eric Close) relationship with Kim (Vanessa Marcil, reprising her guest role) heats up.

WEDNESDAY
7 p.m. on KRWG KENW Great Performances
Ian McKellen trades in his "Lord of the Rings" wizard's staff for some good old-fashioned stage magic as he returns to the Royal Shakespeare Company for a TV adaptation of "King Lear," directed by Trevor Nunn and Chris Hunt following a critically acclaimed tour. Fans of NBC's "Crusoe" (yes, both of you) should look for that show's star, Philip Winchester, in the ensemble as the scheming Edmund, who sets much of the tragedy in motion.

7 p.m. on KWBQ America's Next Top Model
Cycle three contestant and model Toccara Jones stops by to host a slumber party and offer valuable tips about having a successful career in the modeling business. The contestants compete in a posing challenge under the scrutiny of Benny Ninja and travel to Ellis Island for a challenge that involves striking poses inspired by images of immigrants from the early 20th century.

7 p.m. on KFOX KASA Lie to Me
While investigating a building collapse in a small town outside Washington, Lightman (Tim Roth) discovers a massive cover-up. A dot-com billionaire (guest star Pej Vahdat) asks the team to determine if his girlfriend (guest star Virginia Williams) loves him for the right reasons. Kelli Williams also stars in the new episode "Life Is Priceless."

8 p.m. on KDBC KBIM Criminal Minds
Rossi (Joe Mantegna), Hotchner (Thomas Gibson) and the BAU team hunt for a serial arsonist who targets community meeting places in a small town, resulting in the deaths of several residents.

Tim Roth stars in "Lie to Me" Wednesday on Fox.

Family Viewing

FRIDAY
2 p.m. on HBO Movie: The Brady Bunch Movie
It's a sunshine day in the world of the overly perky Brady family until an unscrupulous developer attempts to seize their property. The Bradys must work together to save their home before it's too late. Shelley Long and Gary Cole head the cast as the parents. Michael McKean, Jean Smart and Christine Taylor also star.

SATURDAY
10:30 a.m. on DISC Time Warp
James Williams, a Samurai sword master, explains some of the mysteries of these ancient weapons to hosts Jeff Lieberman and Matt Kearney. Their intricate crafting is crucial to their precision, but the swordsman is just as important. Some amazing high-speed shots detail true skill. Williams claims that he can transmit his powerful kinetic energy through the weapon and he uses Jeff as his test subject to prove his point.

SUNDAY
6 p.m. on APL Yellowstone: Tales From the Wild
Shot over the course of a year in the exquisite Yellowstone National Park, this special chronicles how native animals survive the harsh landscape of grasslands, rivers and mountains. We see the grey wolf, the grizzly bear and herds of buffalo and antelope that still roam this magnificent wilderness.

7 p.m. on KRWG KENW Nature
As global warming continues to take its toll, the penguins of Antarctica suffer. They have always made their home in a harsh landscape, where by huddling together they can barely survive. As the warming changes weather patterns, makes the seas too tepid for some animals and melts ice, the penguins' habitats and food supplies are threatened.

TUESDAY
7 p.m. on KRWG KENW Nova
The melting ice caps are a constant topic at school and in the news, and this installment documents how the ice in Greenland and Antarctica is melting at an even faster rate than previously thought.

Mike Rowe hosts "Dirty Jobs" Tuesday on Discovery Channel.

Photojournalist James Balog and a team of scientists placed cameras in the Arctic, Alaska and the Alps to record melting glaciers. This documents the blizzards, fickle technology and icy climbs up craggy precipices where winds blow at speeds up to 170 mph.

7 p.m. on DISC Dirty Jobs
Host Mike Rowe heads to Oxnard, Calif., home of the Dirty Potatoe Chips company, the state's only independent chip manufacturer. Much of the slicing and cooking is done by hand, so it's no shocker that Mike finds ways to participate. Though he's quite proficient at taste-testing, he's rather a dip at mixing ingredients. Mike tries to pour the spices and powders into a machine and instead coats one of his long-suffering cameramen with the concoction.

Tax-Filing Deadline

Don't forget that the deadline for filing your 2008 taxes is midnight on April 15, 2009, unless you've applied for an extension. That means you still have some time to get your paperwork in order and file by mail or over the Internet. Although the Internal Revenue Service does not track postmarks of submitted taxes, it estimates that about one of every four Americans files during the two weeks leading to the deadline. In 2007 more than 36 million taxpayers filed in April.

MARCH 22, 2009

The appearance of a plus sign, two lines, or whatever pregnancy test indicator informs a woman that she is expecting can signal a time of change and excitement. If this is a first pregnancy, you may be unaware of what to expect. While no one wants to think of complications arising early on in the pregnancy, it's important to be aware of certain warning signs and consult with your doctor if you experience any odd conditions. A situation that may occur in the first trimester of pregnancy of which many women are unaware is a subchorionic hemorrhage. Also known as a subchorionic hematoma, subchorionic bleed or clot, a subchorionic hemorrhage (SCH) is the most common sonographic abnormality in the presence of a live embryo. It is estimated that 25 to 40 percent of all women will experience some sort of bleeding during the first trimester of pregnancy. An SCH is often the cause. An SCH is a collection of fluid and blood that forms between the uterine wall and the chorionic membrane. While there is no concrete cause, source of the leak, and advanced sealing chemistry to repair common leaks in automotive engines, transmissions, radiators and power steering systems. After adding the UV dye chemical to system, simply start the engine and drive the car or let it idle for fifteen minutes to allow the "Find-a-Leak" dye to circulate. Stop the engine, then inspect. See the UV dye? That's where your leak is (for best results, use a UV light with goggles). Then, use an engine degreaser or other cleaning product to remove any lingering dye. Now that you've found the source of the leak, the next step is to fix it. Add the entire contents of the appropriate Super Seal(R) "Fix-a-Leak" Sealer. After driving for the first tankful, do another leak check for the UV dye. No leaks? No signs of UV dye? Then you're good to go. Larger size leaks may require a second application or professional repair. Super Seal(R) comes in four applications: 12-ounce Super Seal(R) Power Steering Stop Leak, 12-ounce Super Seal(R) Transmission Stop Leak, 12-ounce Super Seal(R) Engine Oil Stop Leak, and 12-ounce Super Seal(R) Radiator Stop Leak. These products are available at many automotive retailers and hardware stores. For more information, visit www.efproducts.com shower. Register for at least two times as many gifts as givers. Be sure to refresh your list regularly as gifts get purchased. Register now, because you won't buy it later: You may think you will... but you won't. Now is the time to let others get you the stuff you'd never buy yourself. Remember the rule of three: When it comes to setting your table, if you choose bold patterns for your china and flatware, pick a more simple style of glassware. Prefer intricate stemware? Pair it with simpler patterns of china and flatware. So, it's bold/bold/simple or simple/simple/bold. Three sheets is a win: Register for at least three sets of sheets – one for the bed, one for the linen closet and one for the hamper. Once you've set up your bridal registry, take advantage of Bed Bath & Beyond's Bridal Toolkit(R), the complimentary wedding planning tools available at bedbathandbeyond.com, including your own personal wedding Web site, budgeter, task manager, guest list manager, gift tracker and even a seating arranger. This way, all of your information can be stored in one convenient place.

Congratulations and best wishes on your engagement. Now get registering and let the gift-giving begin.
