LIKE A DUCK TO WATER

COURTESY

Jane Keating of Ruidoso hugs her ducky for good reason. She won first place in the 3rd Annual Rubber Ducky Derby Saturday and went home with a flat screen television donated by Wal-Mart. The derby raised $3,500 for Big Brothers Big Sisters of Lincoln County. Ducks were dropped off at the bridge at Two Rivers Park and picked up behind the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce building.

Village changes JUB representation

DIANNE STALLINGS
dstallings@ruidosonews.com

In a change of the usual representation of Ruidoso on the Joint Use Board that governs the Regional Wastewater Treatment Plant, two councilors will serve instead of the mayor and village manager.

In a memorandum for the village council meeting earlier this month, Mayor L. Ray Nunley asked to be replaced by Mayor Pro Tempore Greg Cory and for Councilor James Stoddard to step into the seat usually occupied by the village manager.

Under the new arrangement, two elected officials will serve on the board, instead of one of the representatives being staff.

"Wait a minute," Stoddard said, when councilor Michele Rebstock offered the motion. "At the last meeting, we talked about including representatives with at least two more years of (term on the council). I think that's something we need to consider for some continuity."

Stoddard and Cory's four-year terms end in March 2010.

"I share that concern," Councilor Ron Hardeman said.

Councilor Don Williams said the appointments could be changed again later. "In the meantime, (Stoddard and Cory) are acceptable."

"If that's the case, it will be someone else's turn in the barrel soon," Stoddard said.

Hardeman said toward the end of the calendar year, the mayor should appoint those on the board who have more time left in their terms to begin to serve in January 2010.

Village Attorney Dan Bryant said the mayor or mayor pro tempore, and a second person appointed by the council as members is consistent with the JUB agreement.

The appointments were approved, with the understanding new names would be discussed later in the year.

Village Clerk Irma Devine said the new mayor elected in March usually submits new appointments toward the end of that month.

The city of Ruidoso Downs uses its mayor and city clerk as JUB representatives and the Lincoln County Commission sends one commissioner as the county official on the board.

The $36 million reconstruction of the treatment plant is underway and the first phase is mandated by court settlement, state and federal environmental agencies to be completed by Dec. 31, 2010.

The plant is considered the major project facing the two communities.

Council to study River Rendezvous traffic congestion

Signals, pedestrian crossings or even relocation could be considered

dstallings@ruidosonews.com

Some short-term fixes to improve public safety in the parking crush along Sud-derth Drive near School-house Park will be presented to the Ruidoso Village Council by staff.

Councilor Ron Hardeman placed the issue on the agenda of a council meeting earlier this month for discussion only. He noted that members of the village Planning & Zoning Commission are worried about possible pedestrian injuries or fatalities with people darting into traffic from between parked cars on busy weekends when special events are underway at River Rendezvous.

"I think anyone who's driven down Sudderth on a busy weekend couldn't help but notice the congestion and pedestrian traffic," he said. "There are some real concerns if it is not addressed, we will have a tragedy."

Councilor Don Williams said he saw people pushing strollers that could be hit by a car as they are positioned out in front of parents.

Hardeman said that on a busy weekend, a driver might take 15 minutes to go through Midtown or by the entrance/exit to Ruidoso Downs Race Track. "Now add this area without any traffic lights," he said.

The state Department of Transportation has jurisdiction on Sudderth, which is a state highway, he said.

Village Attorney Dan Bryant said state traffic engineers need to look at the design and possibly establish cross walks and a traffic light at the entrance

GRT revenues drop as fiscal year begins

dstallings@ruidosonews.com

The news wasn't good for Ruidoso's gross receipt tax check the first month of the fiscal year, but if the trend continues, village officials have plenty of time to adjust the budget.

Received in July, but reflecting sales and services in May, the total distribution of $709,931 was down $159,822 from the amount for the same month in 2008.

Gross receipts tax, revenue represents 56 percent of this year's general fund's annual revenue. Property taxes collected by the village represent 21 percent, according to Village Finance Director Mike Steininger.

In the 2008-2009 Fiscal Year, the village collected $9,675,724 in GRT, up about $50,000 from the previous year. The amount of increase was down from the two prior annual jumps of $400,000 and $300,000.

Steininger said the revenue projection budget for GRT was based on a rolling year, essentially what actual was collected over the last 12 months of receipts at the time of budget preparation, which was through March.

"From my perspective, I have no reaction about the drop," he said Tuesday. "I can't speak for the administration. I am looking at a check for something that happened two months ago.

"It's not like a major falloff in May when you can't do anything about it. I don't view this as a detriment," says Village Finance Director Mike Steininger.

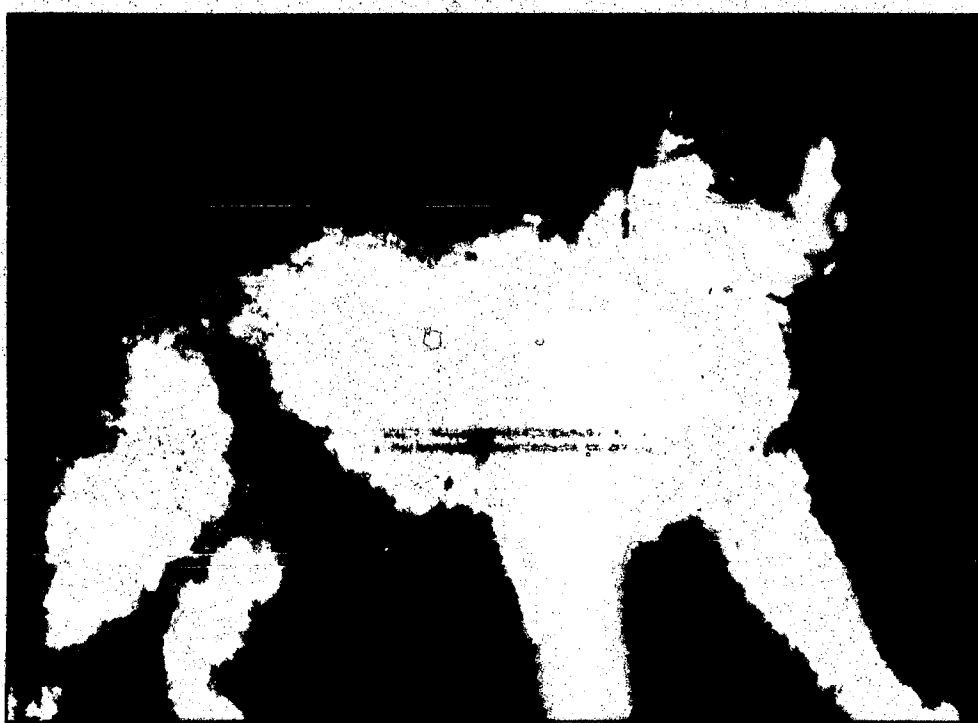

There are so many variables.

"I tend to look for long-term trends. Although it was down 18 percent from same month the previous year, it still is higher than the five year average. We still are within the norm for this time of year. It has to be closely monitored."

The village saw some monthly declines last fiscal year, but until this check, no significant fall-off like other areas in the state, he said.

"Hopefully, this is a one time anomaly and the next check will be better," Steininger said. "It's good that we are at the beginning of the fiscal year and if (the drop) continues, we have more than enough time to do a (budget) adjustment at mid-year. It's not like a major falloff in May when you can't do anything about it. I don't view this as a detriment for what we plan to do for the year."

Cat found

When a car was delivered to Scott and Amy McNally's home Friday for a test drive, an extra passenger was aboard.

"We kept the vehicle and Friday afternoon a white, gray-tipped Persian cat crawled out from underneath the car," Amy McNally said Monday. "She had a long ride from Ruidoso and was, to say the least, traumatized. She is so sweet and has beautiful blue eyes.

"We are taking excellent, loving care of her, but would like to find her owner in Ruidoso. You can tell she has been loved and cared for by someone."

The McNallys would be willing to drive the cat home if the rightful owner can provide proof.

The owner can call 575-622-5867.

Parks & Rec

Members of the Ruidoso Parks & Recreation Commission will meet at 5:30 p.m., Wednesday, in the Village of Ruidoso Administrative Center, 313 Cree Meadows Dr.

The agenda includes a review of the parks and recreation portion of the village comprehensive plan; creation of a Bike Lane Report; discussion about a jogging ordinance and discussion about potential budget expenditures.

Grant workshop

The New Mexico Humanities Council is sponsoring a workshop Thursday aimed at showing participants how to access free grant money.

The workshop will run from 2 to 4 p.m., at the Hubbard Museum of the American West on U.S. 70 in Ruidoso Downs.

Plan to planners

Ruidoso village councilors will meet with members of the village Planning & Zoning Commission from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m., Aug. 4, to discuss the Comprehensive Plan Update Task Force report.

The session is set for council chambers in the Village of Ruidoso Administrative Center, 313 Cree Meadows Dr. The public is invited to attend, but cannot participate in the discussion.

Comment extended

Bureau of Land Management officials extended the public comment period on the proposed SunZia Southwest Transmission Line Project through Aug. 28.

The initial public scoping comment period was scheduled to end July 13, but because of numerous requests from groups, organizations and concerned citizens, the BLM state director decided to grant an extension to the formal comment period.

"The extended scoping comment period will give the public more time and an additional opportunity to share comments and concerns and identify issues and alternatives to be considered during the Environmental Impact Statement (EIS) process," said Linda Rundell, BLM New Mexico State Director.

The BLM is the lead federal agency for a proposal by SunZia Transmission LLC to construct, operate, and maintain a high-voltage 500 kilovolt (kV) power transmission line, or two parallel lines, across southern New Mexico and Arizona. SunZia's proposed transmission line would route would be about 460 miles in length and originate at a new substation site in either the counties of Socorro or Lincoln. It would terminate in Pinal County, Ariz.

The proposed line would be located on federal, state and private lands. The purpose of the project would be to transport electricity, generated primarily from renewable resources, to western power markets and centers.

The BLM is the lead federal agency and staff will oversee the preparation of the EIS that will identify environmental impacts and evaluate alternatives for the project.

The final agency decision for the proposed route, which would involve decisions on federal right of way designations, will only affect public lands administered by the BLM.

Cooperating agencies will be invited to participate, including the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, Bureau of Reclamation, U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, the New Mexico State Land Office and the Arizona State Land Department.

Other state agencies and local governments will be invited to participate and consultation will occur with tribal governments.

Comments can be submitted to the BLM on the BLM Project Web site at http://www.blm.gov/nm/st/en/prog/more/lands_reality.html; or through the project e-mail address at NMSunZiaProject@blm.gov; or in writing to the Bureau of Land Management, SunZia Transmission Line Project, P.O. Box 27115, Santa Fe, NM 87502-0115.

Deliveries also will be accepted via courier/hand delivery to the Bureau.

County did right in denying variance

Rules are meant to be enforced

Frankly, we're a little surprised that the Lincoln County Board of Commissioners denied a variance request for road grades in the proposed Elk Haven subdivision.

The request was denied, 3-2, with Chairman Tom Battin, who has shown a pro-developer resume, voting in the majority, along with Commissioners Jackie Powell and Eileen Sedillo.

At issue were requests for road grading at 6 percent and 16 percent in places where the county's subdivision ordinance stipulates a maximum of only 5 percent and 12 percent, respectively.

Lincoln County's rugged, rolling topography does present challenges for developers — and for winter drivers. The county, entrusted with the safety and welfare of residents, must, in that regard, sometimes pick nits. It must set standards that favor caution and aspire to those standards in a fair, reasoned and consistent manner.

Thus, we have ordinances that govern aspects of development. What good is such a document if it is easily riddled with variances due to any number of "extenuating" circumstances?

Rules are rules. The county heeded its imperative.

Moving beyond the 'wise Latina' comment

In the last legislative session, one controversial bill would have wiped the slate clean for someone convicted of a single misdemeanor. Proponents argued that people who chose the straight path shouldn't have an old conviction hanging over their heads.

But what if they weren't rehabilitated? Such a law would hamper people with a need to know about someone's past.

Wouldn't it be nice if life came with a big eraser for every bonehead move we made? Or for comments made in a fit of anger, foggy understanding or misplaced enthusiasm?

Honk if you've ever made a remark and now wish you could delete it.

This must have gone through Sonia Sotomayor's mind a time or two in the last couple of weeks. Is there anybody left who hasn't heard the "wise Latina" remark?

More than a few pundits have fussed that every Republican on the Senate Judiciary Committee brought it up. The Supreme Court nominee answered each time, plus a few dozen more in the media.

You'd think they expected a bona fide review of her record instead of the political theater these hearings have become. Clearly, the Republican members — mindful that they didn't have the votes to derail the nomination and that they will be courting the Hispanic vote in two short years — stuck to the script. The "wise Latina" comment was safe territory.

But it raises the question: Is one remark a revealing look into the workings of Judge Sotomayor's mind or is it, after all, just one remark?

Sen. Jeff Sessions of Alabama, the committee's ranking Republican, once answered that question: "I am loathe with my tongue on occasion."

He was addressing the same committee he now serves. A Reagan pick in 1986 to serve as a U.S. District judge in Alabama, Sessions was under fire for his own comments. "I may have said something about the NAACP being un-American or communist but I mean no harm by it," he told the committee. He also declared, "I am not a racist."

The committee wasn't convinced. His nomination failed on a 10-to-8 vote, with two Republicans joining the Democrats.

Can we conclude that Sessions is not the same guy in 2009 that he was in the 1980s, when he called a black U.S. Assistant Attorney "boy" and disparaged the NAACP? If the answer is yes, then I guess we can move past the "wise Latina" comment.

I tuned into the hearings just to see and hear the lady for myself — on PBS, which offered the exchanges at length.

Captured on the small screen was a very smart, focused and knowledgeable individual. Her questioners only threw her off her game once, and that was when Sen. Lindsay Graham probed her about lawyer evaluations of judges published in the Almanac of the Federal Judiciary. Some called her "nasty," "overly aggressive," "a bit of a bully." Graham questioned her temperament.

She faltered a moment and then responded that she asks tough questions, an answer consistent with other comments in the evaluation. The American Bar Association gave her its highest rating.

By the last day, Jefferson Beauregard Sessions III was still grumbling that her testimony was muddled and confusing. Graham, however, admitted that while some of Sotomayor's comments "bug the hell out of me," most of her opinions were mainstream. She is not an activist, he concluded.

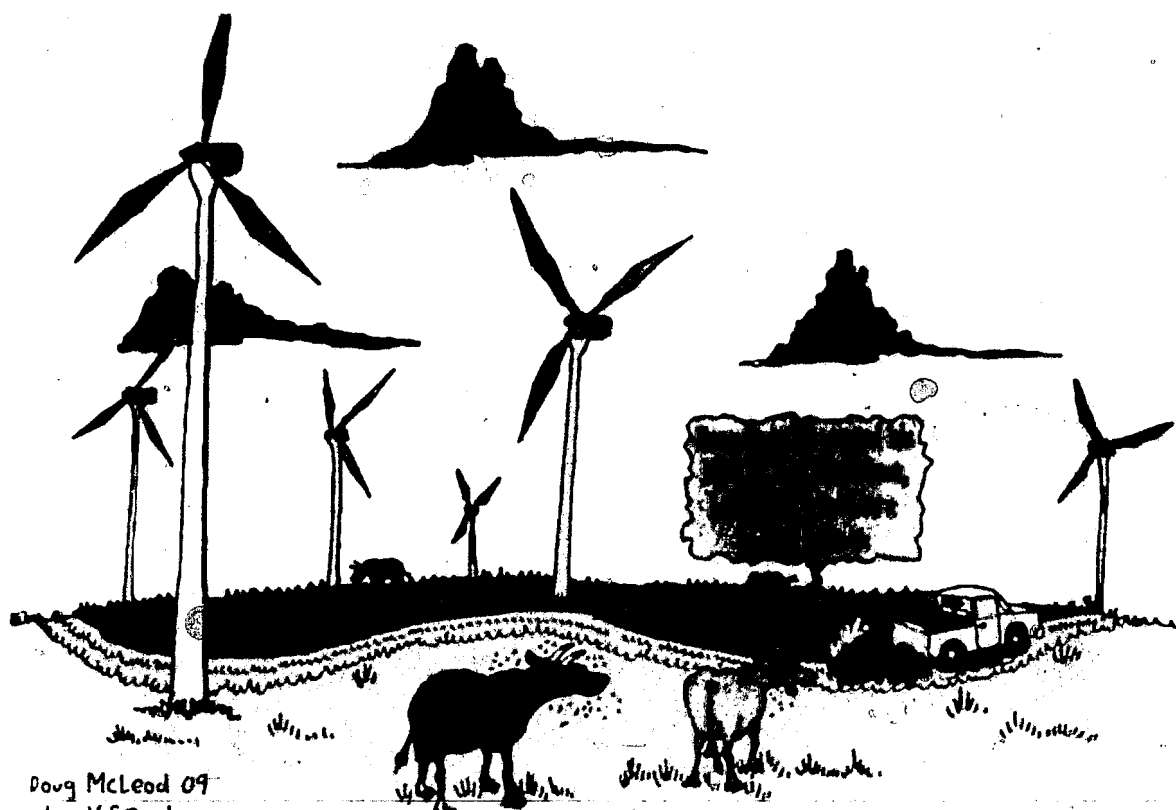

The White House has described Sotomayor as a moderate who "often forges consensus" and has agreed with her more conservative fellow jurists more often than she disagreed.

Sotomayor will likely prove to be not as scary as conservatives imagined but, like Obama himself, not as liberal as progressives had hoped.

Cut tax rates, not number of racing days

To the editor:

INSTEAD OF THE racetracks cutting race days, the State of New Mexico should cut the tax on racetracks.

The racinos operate at a big disadvantage, when you consider they pay the state a higher tax rate than a Indian casino. If Ruidoso Downs racetrack cuts fourteen days of racing in 2010, it will have a negative effect on business in Ruidoso and will hurt every person that depends on horse racing for their livelihood. If the tracks cut fourteen days, that will be a cut of 126 races or more a season.

Horses that move from Sunland Park to Ruidoso Downs will be off 52 days unless they make the long haul back and forth to Farmington.

If the racing commission approves the cuts, we will lose more than 300 races a year in New Mexico. Trainers and owners must run their horses to make ends meet. That's the name of the game.

Teague sends ringer

To the editor:

RECENTLY, CONGRESSMAN Harry Teague held a "Harry In Your Hometown" meeting in Roswell with no intention of meeting with his constituents face-to-face. This debacle was written about in many newspapers and blogs around New Mexico.

It seems that Harry has not gotten the point yet that he must face the voters that sent him to Washington to represent them.

This time he is bringing the House Resources Committee Chairman, Nick Rahall, to New Mexico to grandstand for him, but unbelievably, not in his Second Congressional District.

but in Albuquerque

Not only is Teague not bringing Rahall to his district, he is having another "canned" meeting like he tried to have in Roswell by only allowing 16 people to attend.

Perhaps Harry is avoiding his voters with Rahall because he knows Rahall is going to introduce a bill in August that, if passed, will severely hurt the oil, gas, and mining industry which are part of the backbone industries of Teague's District.

Once again Harry Teague has proved that he has no concern for the voters in the Second Congressional District. He has let Nancy Pelosi lead him around by the nose since he hit Washington, proving that he is more concerned about being a "good boy" for her rather than representing the interests of the people that elected him.

Prepare for more budget cuts

Dog days of summer. Days are hot most places and warm in the mountains — 90 degrees in Taos and triple digits in the southeast. The sun is bright. The pace slows. Jobs disappear.

For legislators, time to get back to work. Interim committees started meeting in June. There are 22 committees this year. To track the interim committees, go to www.nmlegis.gov/lcs.

The Legislative Finance Committee might be called "la madre de todos los comités interinos."

That's partly because the LFC isn't interim. Rather, it is year-round, has a talented professional staff that prepares a full state budget and, for the last year or so, has been the principal institution saying that New Mexico is in financial trouble.

LFC leadership alternates between the House and Senate. Santa Fe Rep. Luciano "Lucky" Varela is again the chairman, with Deming Sen. John Arthur Smith in the vice chairman slot.

Like nearly all interim committees, the LFC hits the road during the summer. The Aug. 12-14 meeting will be in Angel Fire. The LFC has already been to Clovis and Gallup this summer.

The mantra about the travel is that it is easier for people to get to meetings that are not in Santa Fe. This enough. The travel also allows the elected officials to work in a more relaxed setting and get closer to local issues that will come before the Legislature.

The other 21 committees cover the waterfront of topics. Some, while certainly near and dear to the committee chair and possibly involving real money, just can't be considered a big deal on the scale of things. These committees with modest scope remain worth attention. Meeting length may help define committee importance. The agenda for the July 29 meeting, in Santa Fe, of the Tobacco Settlement Revenue Oversight Committee called for starting at 10 a.m. and wrapping by mid-afternoon. Meetings are also only one day for the Military and Veteran's Affairs Committee.

Committee meetings stretch into a third day for some. The Legislative Health and Human Services Committee is one of the three-day meeting groups. So is the Legislative Education Study Committee. The Education Study Committee also is the only other committee with a separate staff and year-round existence.

An educator, Sen. Cynthia Nava, superintendent of schools in Gadsden, chairs the education committee, suggesting certain tax and chicken issues.

While the atmosphere for interim committee meetings is relaxed, a cloud has positioned over the legislators' work this year: the rotten state of the New Mexico economy.

From June 2008 to June 2009, New Mexico lost 26,400 jobs, a drop of 3.1 percent, the Department of Workforce Solutions said July 23 in its release of the latest job numbers. Albuquerque is down 13,000 jobs, or 3.3 percent. Santa Fe has lost 2,800 wage jobs, a 4.2 percent decline. In Las Cruces, the decline is 2.9 percent or 2,000 jobs. Farmington lost "only" 800 jobs, a 1.5 percent drop.

Formerly booming Lea County is up to 7.7 percent unemployment. The state rate is 7.3 percent.

The cloud will rain on legislators and the rest of us with likely further erosion of revenues, in turn provoking more thought about things to not do. Hard choice time here.

The conventional wisdom presumes a special session of the Legislature some time in the fall, maybe September, maybe October. Gov. Bill Richardson has made no decision about calling a session, Gilbert Gallegos, Richardson's chief spokesman told me. The variables are the new revenue forecast, set for unveiling Aug. 14 before the LFC in Angel Fire, and the effects of national stimulus spending.

Assume a special session, I suggest. Check out the interim committees. Better to be ready for more cuts than to be surprised.

County commissioner promotes senior water rights

dstallings@ruidosonews.com

A Lincoln County commissioner was fuming last week about the treatment of owners of senior water rights in the county.

State requirements to meter wells and irrigation ditches while subdivision developers are allowed to create new settlements with domestic wells is unfair, she said, "for those of us in the valley with senior water rights since 1860 and using the water historically the same way all those years in that sustainable way of watering we do with acequias and irrigation wells drilled in the 1960s, because of drought then, and used to supplement water we don't get in creek."

One of her constituents received a letter three weeks ago from the State Engineer's Office notifying him he had to redrill a well. The casing collapsed in a July 2008 flood, and he was told he had to meter his irrigation ditch and the well, Powell said during a break in the commission meeting.

"I have a serious complaint for any unfunded mandate of people who have been there forever, when developers get domestic wells in the last 15 to 20 years that are not metered at all and no one monitors what they do," she said. "And the wells are 100 percent junior to my constituents."

State law mandates the OSE to issue domestic well permits. The same office reviews water supply data for new subdivisions.

The big picture

At some point, the OSE must stop looking at one development at a time and take in the whole picture of the county and the amount of water and water rights available, Powell said.

"We have to get a handle on the big picture of this area and how overdrawn

JACKIE POWELL

can we get and who do you take it from," Powell said. "This is the first time we've had to consider meters on our ditches. It's absolutely ridiculous. I'm beyond mad with two deep wells issued permits at 2,500 feet deep and at 500 acre feet of water annually each." An acre foot equates to about 325,800 gallons of water.

Those using a small amount of water in a sustainable manner are paying the price, she said, "and it's wrong."

That's why she always pushes for stricter rules, she said. New subdivisions should be required to bring in their own water, Powell said, adding that conditions "are getting worse."

"Where is it going to end? How do we maintain the safety and welfare of the people already here without ruining sustainable ways. The more you pump, the less surface water you have," she said.

Powell said the Ruidoso River is "bone dry" from mile marker 274 to The Hurd Gallery in San Patricio and 39 ditches are supposed to have at least 300 gallons of water per minute.

"There's about enough for one ditch at the (Ruidoso Valley) chamber of commerce," she said, referring to a site much higher on the river in Ruidoso.

"It's getting worse and worse and everyone keeps putting their little wells in. This is a very small stream. What's sustainable and how do we protect the people?"

Commissioner Eileen Sedillo said. "It's very discouraging as we keep passing subdivisions. I know we have no choice when they meet all the rules."

"I think we need to be stricter in our rules," Powell said. "They should have to bring in water from somewhere else."

Robert Moeller of Nogal suggested a program under the U.S. Geological Survey that identifies aquifer recharge points in a county. It could be used by the commission to create recharge zone overlays and could be applied almost immediately, he contended. That could help identify where subdivisions could be located or should be prohibited.

In a related issue, County Manager Tom Stewart said the commission's protest of a proposed 44 billion gallons per year deep well project in the Tularosa Basin was sent to the governor and state agencies. The water could be sold out of basin and even out of the country, he noted.

'Very strong season' predicted for New Mexico chile crop

FROM THE ALAMOGORDO
DAILY NEWS

ALBUQUERQUE - Harvest time for New Mexico's beloved green chile crop is just weeks away and experts predict it's going to be a strong and plentiful harvest this year, to the delight of chile growers and chile-eating junkies.

The chile fields look good, plants are loaded with peppers and the harvest should be plentiful, said Stephanie Walker, extension vegetable specialist and chile breeding program researcher at New Mexico State University.

"It's going to be a very strong season. We didn't have disease pressure or fungal and insect issues as in years past. As long as Mother Nature cooperates for the rest of season, we will have an excellent crop," Walker said.

The hotbed for chile production lies along the southern Rio Grande corridor in areas such as Hatch and the Mesilla and Las Uvas valleys.

That's where Ken DeWees gets his stock of fresh green chile to roast and sell starting this weekend at his Chile Traditions business in Albuquerque.

"There are a few farmers that are ready to harvest. I've had about 200 phone calls in the last three days and I've got about 17-18 pre-orders waiting for me to ship out of state," said DeWees, who feels confident in this year's harvest.

The state's signature crop has had some rough breaks the last few years due to disease and insect problems.

In Luna County, the state's top chile producing area, 25 percent of the crop was affected by disease and parasites during the 2008 harvest. But the state still managed to produce around 60 tons of chile last year worth $42 million.

Luna County extension agent Jack Blandford said this season the county's chile fields "look phenomenal" with some growers already preparing to harvest.

"We have all been having a hot, dry environment and that's allowing us to have productive chile. That also means that growers are not having to manage as hard as last year," Blandford said.

DeWees said chile prices have gone up slightly this year. He's charging $29.95 for a 38-pound sack of roasted fresh green chile, as opposed to last year's price of $28.95.

"Farming has just been a little higher this year. Seed prices and the overall price of equipment is more and they have to pay more to the employees to pick the chile," he said.

Hatch Valley chile farmer Jimmy Lytle said his crop is about two weeks ahead of schedule and he hasn't had "any problems whatsoever." Despite the bright outlook, the 65-year-old farmer knows you can never be absolutely sure things will go as planned until the peppers are plucked off the plant.

"You can still have hail storms, excessive rain, bird problems, a little bit of everything," Lytle said.

Alamogordo mayor, Brockett, resigns

FROM THE ALAMOGORDO
DAILY NEWS

ALAMOGORDO - Alamogordo Mayor Steve Brockett submitted his letter of resignation to the city commission on Tuesday, effective immediately.

Brockett also submitted a copy of the letter to the Alamogordo Daily News, in which he says he also is resigning his District 4 city commission seat.

"Due to recent circumstances, I find it to be in the best interest of the city that I not continue in this office," Brockett wrote. "It simply is not possible for me to put in the effort that each and every citizen should expect from their elected representative and that I, personally, require of myself."

Brockett cited the recent passing of his mother,

BROCKETT

Betty, as well as family and business responsibilities as reasons for his resignation.

Brockett has served as Alamogordo's mayor for the past 16 months.

Mescalero student attends health care program

MESCALERO - A Mescalero High School student was one of 60 teenagers nationwide to participate in the 12th Annual Patty Iron Cloud National Native American Youth Initiative (NNAYI) program. Seventeen-year-old Elaina Via, a student at Mescalero High School, attended the nine-day program held in Washington, D.C., this summer. The Association of American Indian Physicians (AAIP) sponsors the program to educate and encourage more Native American students into health professions.

"We expose the students to a variety of health careers," explains Lucinda Myers, Health Careers Student Programs Director. "The summer program allows them to visit national health organizations and academic institutions."

The students were taken on field trips that included tours of the National Institutes of Health, Office of Minority Health, and George Washington University School of Medicine.

Students attended a series of lectures and interactive workshops that featured guest speakers, a combination of physicians, researchers, and educators in the field of medicine.

"It's important for the students to hear from these health care professionals. They are successful Native Americans who serve as role models and mentors. They inspire our students to continue their education and set high goals," says Myers.

NNAYI was created in 1998 to increase the number of American Indian Alaska Native students entering health professions and biomedical research. The curriculum is designed to prepare students for admission to college and professional schools. Students also receive information regarding financial aid, counseling, and other college-related assistance.

Elaina is the child of Gina Cochise Via. She is a member of the Mescalero Apache Tribe.

Over the past decade, more than 600 students have received scholarships to attend the NNAYI program.

To be selected for the NNAYI summer program, students must be age 16-18 and express interest in healthcare or biomedical

Enrollment of Native Americans in UNM School of Medicine increases

ALBUQUERQUE - Twice as many Native Americans were accepted into University of New Mexico's UNM School of Medicine in 2009 than in any previous class.

"We have nine Native American students prepared to matriculate into the School of Medicine this summer," David Bear, Ph.D., School of Medicine assistant dean for admissions said. "That's more than double the number for any other year, and exceeds all UNM School of Medicine Native American enrollment in the previous four years."

Although most are from the Southwest, including the Navajo Nation and Santa Domingo Pueblo, there also are students who are Lakota Sioux and Choctaw. Five of the nine accepted students graduated from New Mexico high schools; three attended UNM as undergraduates; and two have accepted full School of Medicine tuition scholarships. More than half of the new SOM students had received offers from other medical schools.

Over the past four years, the School of Medicine has aggressively developed programs to attract minority students from medically underserved areas of New Mexico. Students in rural areas are more likely to return and practice medicine in their communities, thus creating new points of health care access where most needed in the state. Special UNM scholarships for students in underserved areas, programs to prepare for and elevate Medical Career Aptitude Test scores, and overall support for academic success were cited as reasons for this year's increase in Native American enrollment.

"Our recruiting of underserved-area minority students through culturally sensitive outreach and strong academic support appears to be succeeding," Bear said. "Under (SOM) Dean Dr. Paul Roth's vision, and the vital work of Dr. Valerie Romero-Leggott, vice president for Diversity, and Dr. Gayle Dine' Chacon, vice president for Native American Health, we are better able to recruit and develop students who historically might not have had access to advanced mathematics or sophisticated academic laboratories in their student careers."

Sierra Vista Primary Orientation

In an effort to help parents make multiple school schedules and not interfere with their work day, Sierra Vista Primary will be using the following dates and times for parent/student orientations for Sierra Vista Primary School. The parents will not need to bring supplies to the orientations. They will need to bring any completed paperwork and be ready to pay the $15 activity fee. Parents can attend any one of the four time slots. Each time will be for both grades and the parents will go directly to the classrooms. Tables for bus and other information will be set up in the lobby.

Aug. 13: 5:53-6 p.m.

Aug. 14: 7:30-8 and 8-8:30 a.m.

The staff and administration of SVP look forward to seeing all the parents and students during the orientations.

Free immunization clinics scheduled

Two free immunization clinics for compliance with school health care requirements are scheduled in August through the state Public Health Office in Ruidoso.

The first is set for 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., Aug. 14, in a Blue Cross, Blue Shield van that will be stationed at the Kidz Konnection playground, at the White Mountain Sports Complex.

A parent must accompany children to the clinic and bring the child's immunization records.

The second clinic is scheduled from 8:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m., and from 1:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m., Aug. 20, at the public health office on Kansas City Street, next to the Ruidoso Public Library and Ruidoso Village Hall off Cree Meadows Drive.

A parent must come to the clinic with the child and bring the child's immunization records.

Weekend health classes scheduled at ENMU-Ruidoso

As more and more approaches to medicine and medical care emerge, the term "alternative medicine" is now more prevalent than ever.

The National Center for Complementary and Alternative Medicine, a division of the National Institutes of Health, makes the distinction between alternative medicine (anything used instead of conventional medicine) and complimentary medicine (that which is used in conjunction with conventional medicine). This week, ENMU-Ruidoso Community Education is presenting two complementary medicine classes for the general public: Aromatherapy and a Healing Touch weekend workshop.

Aromatherapy probably existed before recorded history, when the ancients discovered that the scents of certain plants had soothing attributes. Perfumed oils were prevalent more than 6,000 years ago in Egypt and, throughout time, the use of herbs, poultices and oils were used to aid in psychological and physical healing.

Studies show that the pure essences of certain plants promote healing when used in correct dosage and application. Many companies market products today as "made with essential oils," and they sell fragrance oils with "aromatherapeutic properties." Unfortunately, the fragrance and perfume oils in candles, soaps, air fresheners and other products smell nice, but they do not carry the benefits of aromatherapy. Conversely, too much of an essential oil, applied improperly or undiluted can be detrimental, even toxic.

The difference between perceiving the smell of plants, understanding the restorative properties of the aromas of those plants and how they affect each individual is the basis of The Nose Knows: Aromatherapy 101.

Healing Touch is a relatively recent modality that incorporates shamanic healing traditions with modern technologies. Like aromatherapy, the origins of Healing Touch date back centuries to the ancients who believed in flow and energy that governed the equilibrium of health. Illness and malaise were due to energy imbalances, and most maladies could be alleviated by correcting these imbalances. Over time, the scientific method replaced the individual with concentration on repeatable, predictable results.

Today, Healing Touch, which focuses on the individual, is used to complement scientific, medical treat-

In at least one research study, Healing Touch helped to decrease pain, agitation, depression, anxiety and stress. It has been documented to increase mobility after surgery, post-operative recovery and relief after chemotherapy, to improve mood and quality of life.

A two-day workshop exploring Healing Touch will be held Aug. 1 and Aug. 2, at ENMU-Ruidoso.

County praises remodeled Carrizozo animal shelter

dstallings@ruidosonews.com

A remodeled animal shelter in the town of Carrizozo accomplished with municipal and county money received high marks from Lincoln County commissioners last week.

Carrizozo Mayor Bob Hemphill told commissioners his town put in $6,000 to augment the county's $30,000 to create a humane shelter for canines brought there because they are lost or abandoned. A shelter in Ruidoso run by the Humane Society of Lincoln County handles dogs from many of the other areas of the county.

"We have completed this phase of the animal shelter upgrade with your gracious assistance," Hemphill said. Five pens offer inside-outside access with doors that can be raised and controlled from inside to lock out dogs when employees are cleaning. A safety ring was created around the outside and each gate is locked, he said. Two of the seven inside pens do not have an outside area, because the space was needed for access.

"The welded wire at the end is made so eventually we could continue from the east side of the building to the west side," Hemphill said. "We'd like to do same number of outdoor pens, seven, on the west side."

A galvanized material was used on the pens to extend the useful life and to reduce fights by ensuring the dogs can't see each other or touch noses, he said.

"We got a lot of use out of the money," the mayor said. The galvanized material was especially expensive, he said.

The floor is sealed concrete and a drainage grate was installed to allow pens to be cleaned and the water to be washed down into the municipal sewage system, he said.

"How do you feel about

Five pens in the new shelter offer inside-outside access your ability to meet the growth of the canine population in need of shelter?" Commission Chairman Tom Battin asked.

"We should be stable for a while," Hemphill said.

But some more improvements are needed.

"The temperature is a problem in the building. It does get hot. The next project will be a big exhaust fan so we can suck the air through, and some swamp coolers. We knew we couldn't do electrical now, because of the cost."

"It's nice to see the results of our participation," Battin told the mayor.

"It took us longer than we thought it would," Hemphill said, adding one last pitch before leaving for any extra money to buy the exhaust fan.

to the municipal pool in the Schoolhouse area, and designate parking spaces on the sides of the street to improve visibility.

If engineering standards were imposed, the number of spaces would be reduced, he said, adding, "Congestion is causing the problem. There are no controls in place."

The council and staff can examine possible solutions to create a safe environment, he said.

One possibility is to move Rendezvous events to Wingfield Park on Central Street one block off Sudderth in Midtown. Plenty of parking is available and the street was widened and straightened.

Village Planning Director Bob Decker said Rendezvous events are growing to the point the numbers are overtaking the area's ability to accommodate the vehicles.

"We'll be looking at all of those potential solutions," Bryant said. "We have drawings of the area. We just have to look at it from a safety issue."

Deputy Village Manager Bill Morris said DOT employees were laying down strips to measure traffic flow as part of an area traffic study underway.

Councilor Greg Cory

said he felt a sense of urgency with Labor Day approaching, one of the major tourist influxes of the year.

"I don't feel right waiting for the traffic study," Hardeman said. "We could find a temporary fix and go from there."

While DOT transportation commission members and District 2 staff were in town, councilors could use the opportunity to discuss the situation, he said. Transportation commissioners were meeting in Ruidoso that week.

"I saw it as a positive thing, Councilor Michele Rebstock said of the crowd at Schoolhouse and Rendezvous. "It was wonderful to see vibrant activity. I hope we can resolve this without cutting down on the action."

Hardeman replied, "It's not the activity, it's the safety issue."

Mrs. Carolyn Dodson
66, passed July 24, 2009 at her home in Ruidoso, NM.

Mrs. Dodson is survived by her husband Charles H. Dodson, of Ruidoso, NM; a son, Marc C. Dodson of Glendale, AZ; a daughter, Pepper K. DuBois, of Phoenix, AZ; a grand-daughter, Katherine Elyse DuBois, of Phoenix, AZ; and two nieces, Rachel Ely of Point, TX and Michelle McMullen of Emory TX. She was preceded in death by her father, Marcus Jackson Etter; her mother Johnne Doris Etter, and one sister, Kay Lynn McMullen.

Mrs. Dodson was born Carolyn Joyce Etter on July 26, 1942 in Los Angeles, CA and moved during her early youth to Slaton, TX. She is a graduate of Slaton High School and also attended West Texas State University. She married Charles H. Dodson on June 7, 1963 in Slaton, Texas.

After living in Texas for the majority of her life, Mrs. Dodson and her family moved to Scottsdale, AZ and she and her husband later retired to Ruidoso, NM.

Beginning in high school, Mrs. Dodson began a lifelong passion of playing bridge and in 1966 became a Life Master. She played bridge professionally during the 1960s and 1970s. She was a member of the Ruidoso Jockey Club and the Ruidoso Jockey Club.

She was a member of Women's Eastern Star, the American Contract Bridge League, the Ruidoso Jockey Club and the Ruidoso Jockey Club.

Indigent claims up in new fiscal year

dstallings@ruidosonews.com

The first month of the new fiscal year saw a heavy number of claims through Lincoln County's Indigent Healthcare Fund, but a near average dollar amount paid.

County Manager Tom Stewart told county commissioners Tuesday that 72 claims were submitted, but only 55 were recommended for approval. The total recommended payment for the month was $38,541.54.

"At this rate, the projection is to spend $462,499 for the fiscal year," he said. "Last year, the average IHCF monthly payment was $35,136.44 for a total of $421,637.22 for the year. This year's budget is $474,014.

"As we execute the year, we may need to supplement this budget since the fund also is paying for care of prisoners (in the county jail in Carrizozo)."

Under the Sole Community Provider Payment, which reimburses the county-owned hospital in Ruidoso managed by Presbyterian Healthcare Services for uncompensated care, 54 claims were processed and 46 were recommended for approval. The total was $79,832.12.

In other business, commissioners:

- heard that on July 2, the installation and training for an updated audio/video monitoring system was completed under a state contract with Computer Assets of Española. The action completes of the commission goals for the detention center at a cost of $86,674.25.

- were told the first visit of auditors from Accounting and Consulting Group was July 6 through July 8 on the Fiscal Year 2008-2009 audit. The report is due to the State auditor by Nov. 15.

- heard on July 6, the county submitted for reimbursement of $65,867 for the Ye-Ha project. Contractor Sherry Barrow Strategies treated a total of 142.8 acres abutting the village of Ruidoso, up 40.4 acres since the last report.

- learned that work continues on abating sewage odors in the county courthouse in Carrizozo. Stewart said on April 1, he reported the odor in the district court area and has been working on the problem ever since. During June, the county's heating and cooling contractor searched the duct work and ventilation areas and found several leaking sewer lines under the courtroom and offices.

On the afternoon of July 14, Stewart closed the courthouse because of the overwhelming odor and reopened the next day after a late evening of work by maintenance staff and the contractor.

"Our plumbing contractor has sealed off a ventilation tunnel coming from the old detention center and this resolved the problem in the court area," Stewart said. "We are now proceeding with the removal of old and unused sewer lines under the former detention center and will seal the remaining lines to further reduce odors.

Stewart: "We may need to supplement this budget, since the fund also is paying for care of prisoners."

"We also will remove an old air handler to provide more work space and further seal off the problem," he said.

The manager said $10,000 of the work will be covered by a legislative appropriation for renovations he planned at the old jail.

The remainder of the project, along with the removal of the cells, must come from the general fund and he planned for that in the budget, he said.

Get ready for Round 3 Saturday as King of the Cage (KOTC) returns for the third time this year to the Inn of the Mountain Gods for the popular, crowd-pleasing cage fights billed as "Gate Keeper."

The May 30 fights, billed as "Retribution II," saw an animated, packed house hoot and holler wildly to the rap strains of "Let Your Body Take the Blow," billowing plumes of fake smoke, strobe lights and boisterous approval or condemnation to the particular gladiators in the ring.

In the last event, KOTC staged a slick, professional well-staged "happening" from the beginning to the end of the 3 1/2-hour, 14-bout card.

Saturday's action will also be 14 bouts and six Ruidoso area fighters will enter the 21-foot, 6-foot-high octagon to take part in the brawl at IMG.

Levi Price

Ruidoso star, Levi Price, will fight in the 155-pound class and is expected to do well against an opponent from Las Cruces who is making his debut.

In his May 30 bout, Price made a difficult sport look like a day at the beach when he vanquished his opponent at the 2:21 mark of the first round with an arm-bar tap-out.

This 29-year-old Mixed Martial Arts (MMA) cage fighter is skilled and his gaze betrays no look of apprehension whatsoever.

"I would like to tell my fans in Ruidoso and everywhere that I am truly appreciative and thankful for their great support," Price said.

"And I would like to tell them - if things go well Saturday - I plan to turn pro for my next fight at the Inn of the Mountain Gods in November."

Javier Rubio

Talented 22-year-old Javier Rubio will do battle in the 185-pound class. With nine wins and two losses he could do well if he's up for it.

Jess A Chicks surged in the final strides to win the Grade 1, $321,451 Zia Futurity and remain undefeated from three career starts at Ruidoso Downs on Sunday afternoon.

Zia Futurity

The Zia Futurity for quarter horses was the richest race on the daylong Zia Festival program celebrating New Mexico-bred racing.

The J.R. McClintic Mooring and Mike Abraham-owned Jess A

Chicks, the strongly backed 2-1 second choice in the wagering, raced the 400 yards in :19.728 with Mark Anthony Villa aboard.

"He's possible for the All American Futurity trials," said breeder and co-owner Abraham. "We'll see. We'd have to supplement him; he's not eligible." That supplemental fee would be $50,000 to enter the trials to the Grade 1, $2 million All American Futurity trials on August 20.

First Corona Call was second by one-half length and Lucky Ladyaces finished third, another one length back.

Jess A Chicks started his career with a daylight win in a Ruidoso Downs maiden race on June 13 and then stepped up to win his Zia Futurity trial by one length as the 11-10 favorite.

Richard Shearer's First Corona Call, trained by Blane Wood, was second behind Jess A Chicks in their Zia Futurity trial. He was ridden by Freddie Martinez.

The Emmitt Burel-smith-owned and -trained Lucky Ladyaces won her first two starts coming into the Zia Futurity. She was ridden by G.R. Carter, Jr.

The Rocks fight club in Ruidoso Downs is gaining respect and making a name for itself. Two of its boxers, David Ordorica, Jr. (19), and Daniel Sainz (16) acquitted themselves well July 17, at a boxing tournament in El Paso, at the Fighter Physique Gym. Both amateur fighters used 10-ounce gloves.

Ordorica, in the 125-pound class, won his bout on a TKO at the beginning of the second round with a series of right jabs, straight rights and hooks.

"It was my first fight and I was very nervous," Ordorica said.

"But I soon snapped back and regained my focus."

"I fought a local El Paso fighter and he was bleeding pretty bad in the first round."

"I looked for good shots in that round. I thought they might stop the match then. It's just as well they stopped it when they did because I was running out of air."

"And I learned a lesson from that bout. I plan to train harder on my running and breathing in the future."

"Hopefully, I can fight again in three or four weeks in Farmington if we get sponsorship."

Sainz, also fought in the 125-pound division but lost a close, three round split-decision to an experienced adversary, in this, his first fight.

Elvira Who, making her second career start, had the lead, but drifted out slightly entering the stretch. That provided an opportunity for jockey Jorge Martin Bourdieu to push Glory Me Mine through the opening and win by 1 1/4 lengths.

I Am Lesters Girl was 6 lengths behind Elvira Who for third in the field of eight freshman fillies.

The Todd Fincher-trained Glory Be Mine finished second in her first two appearances, including the $160,000 Ruidoso Thoroughbred Horse Sale Futurity.

She then scored her first career victory when she dominated her Señorita Futurity trial by nearly 7 lengths.

The Joel Marr-trained Elvira Who made her first career start in the Señorita Futurity trials and won by eight lengths.

I Am Lesters Girl won her Señorita Futurity trial by more than 6 lengths in her second start.

Señor Futurity

Freda McSwane and Joe Walters' Train Rider Blues, under a hustling ride from veteran Carlos Rivas, rallied along the rail to dramatically win the $109,026 Rio Grande Señor Futurity for 2-year-old males.

Train Rider Blues was timed in 1:04.91 for the 5 1/2 furlongs.

The colt was well off the pace before beginning his rally on the turn. Entering the stretch, Rivas boldly gunned the Desert God colt through an opening on the rail. They then had pace-setter Fourteen Kt. Gold in their sights and they blew by that rival with another inside move to win by a dominating three lengths.

"He showed how much of a horse he's going to be," said McSwane. He could make his next start in the $140,000 New Mexico Classic Cup Juvenile Colts and Geldings Stakes during the New Mexico Cup program at Zia Park on Nov. 8.

Fourteen Kt. Gold was second and Dinker's finished third.

Local co-owner of Train Rider Blues, Freda McSwane, watches her horse in the paddock minutes before it won the Señor Futurity in stakes races. His only other career victory was a neck win in the Ruidoso Thoroughbred Horse Sale Futurity for trainer Terry Walker.

Land Of Enchantment Stakes

Joe Allen and Michael Stinson's Fullofenergy drew away from Gulchrussweet to take the $50,000 Land Of Enchantment Stakes, the only race around two turns on the Zia Festival card.

It was the third-straight win in the Land Of Enchantment for Fullofenergy. He won the 2007 running by more than 5 lengths and took last year's renewal by 2 1/4 lengths.

The 6-year-old gelding raced the 7 1/2 furlongs in 1:31.58 to win by an easy 5 1/2 lengths under jockey Carlos Madeira.

Gulchrussweet was second and Spelling Bee Jones was another 2 1/2 lengths back for third in the field of older horses.

Fullofenergy is trained by Joel Marr, who also won the Lincoln Handicap with One Bad Ghost and the Road Runner Handicap with Lefty Who.

Zia Handicap

R.D. and Shaun Hubbard's PB And Crackers got up in the final yard of 400 yards to win the Grade 2, $50,000 Zia Handicap for Quarter Horses.

Making his first career start against state-bred competition and older horses, the 3-year-old PB And Crackers won by a scant nose over Pilgrim Wayne, Me Chickie was just another nose back for third in the very tight finish.

Cody Jensen rode PB And Crackers for the first time for trainer Paul Jones.

A gelded son of The Down Side, PB And Crackers made its second 2009 start after winning the 2008 Ruidoso Juvenile and finished second in the Grade 1, $625,000 Rainbow Futurity.

In his 2009 debut, he was sixth in his Ruidoso Derby trial after a very tardy start.

PB And Crackers will probably make his next start in the 440-yard trials to the Grade 1 All American Derby on August 21 at Ruidoso Downs.

Road Runner Handicap

Jockey Carlos Madeira skillfully guided Sam Stevens' homebred Lefty Who through a cooling summer shower to win the $50,000 Road Runner Handicap for 3-year-old males over 5 1/2 furlongs.

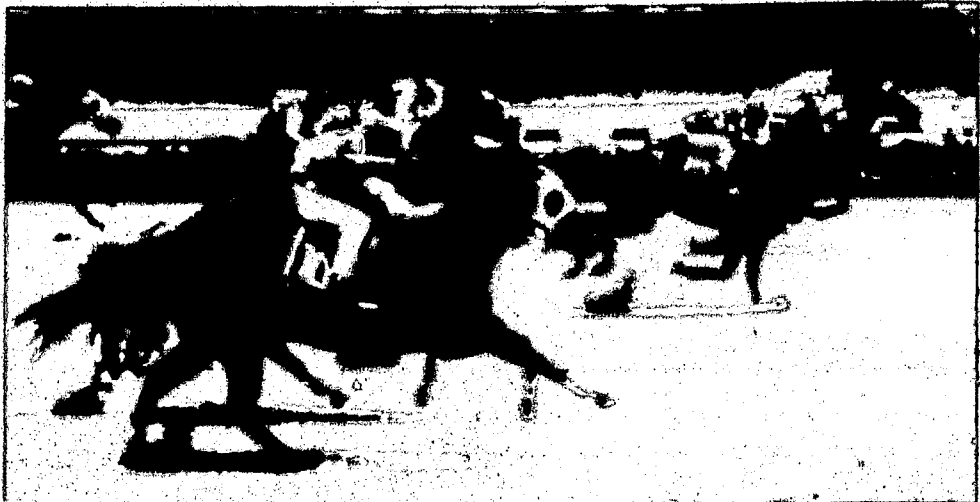

The Joel Marr-trained gelding raced the distance in 1:03.27 for his seventh win from nine starts.

He was second in his other two outs. It was the sixth stakes win for Lefty Who, winner of last year's Rio Grande Señor Futurity by nearly 6 lengths.

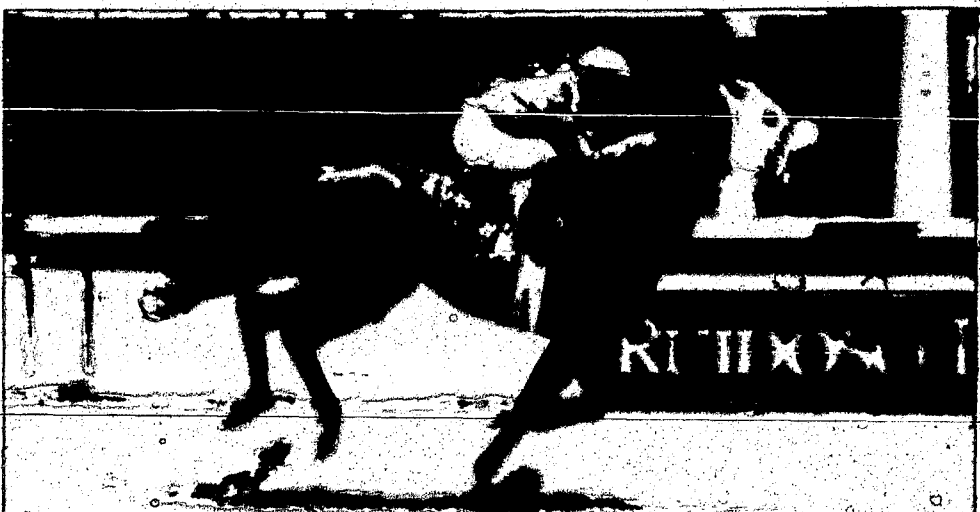

Lefty Who broke in the second flight of horses from the inside post position. Madeira patiently kept him on the rail, waiting for a hole to open.

He maintained the inside path until the top of the stretch. He then swung wide and got up to get the nose win over Lesters Secret.

It was 2 lengths back to a non-threatening Bonndaddy's in third.

Sierra Starlet Handicap

Wild Alaska, a 25-1 long-shot, flew down the middle of the track to pull off the big upset in the $50,000 Sierra Starlet Handicap for three-year-old fillies.

Favored Blue Eyed Bella was in a duel with Winter Mist and they appeared to be racing for the victory at the 1/16th pole.

But, jockey Carlos Madeira had Wild Alaska rolling and they rallied from out of contention for the win in 1:04.46 for the 5 1/2 furlongs. They won by an expanding 1 3/4 lengths.

Blue Eyed Bella won the battle for the runner-up position by 3/4 of a length over Winter Mist.

Helene Guteman's Wild Alaska has an affection for the Ruidoso Downs surface. She captured her only other career victory when she took a maiden race at the mountain track last summer.

Lincoln Handicap

The Ken Tohill-ridden One Bad Ghost wore down rival Askmetodance to prevail in the $50,000 Lincoln Handicap for older fillies and mares.

One Bad Ghost raced

the 6 furlongs in 1:10.16 to win by one quarter of a length over Askmetodance while Birdie's Ghost was another 1 1/4 lengths back in third.

Trained by Joel Marr, One Bad Ghost came into the Lincoln Handicap off a fourth-place run in an allowance race at Ruidoso Downs on June 10. The lightly raced four-old filly only made one start last year, a second in the $125,000 La Señora Handicap at Sunland Park.

One Bad Ghost showed promise as a juvenile when she was third in the $123,000 Rio Grande La Señora Futurity during the Zia Festival program at Ruidoso Downs.

Zia Derby

Victor Diaz's Salt On The Side surprised at 18-1 odds to score his second-straight victory in the Grade 2, $107,173 Zia Derby for quarter horses.

Ricky Ramirez guided Salt On The Side to the head win while stopping the timer in :19.52 for the 400 yards.

Trained by Hermenegildo Aldavaz, Salt On The Side raced to his first career win in his sixth lifetime start when he won his Zia Derby trial by 1/2 length. The gelding was a $25,000 purchase at the Ruidoso Select Quarter Horse Yearling Sale and earned $53,594 in the Zia Derby.

The Wes Giles-trained One Diamond Kitty finished second by 1/2 length over favored Dustys Cabin.

One Diamond Kitty was the third-place finisher in the $150,000 All American Juvenile and was second in his Zia Derby trial.

870 Championship

The Thoroughbred Key's Band raced like a quarter horse for a pace-setting win in the $50,000 Zia 870 Championship.

The quarter horse Dash Of Deanie burst to the lead with Key's Band quickly pulling alongside. Key's Band took command on the turn and crossed under the wire in :45.21 with Jorge Martin Bourdieu in the saddle.

On Star Cowboy rallied for second, finishing 2 1/4 lengths back, and Dash Of Deanie held on for third.

Key's Band was the 3-2 favorite after winning the 4 1/2-furlong Mount Cristo Handicap and finishing second in the 5 1/2-furlong Sierra Blanca Handicap in his two previous starts.

Gomber speaker at CAS event

Historian and author Drew Gomber will be the keynote speaker at City Bank New Mexico's "Billy the Kid's Breakout," the major annual Cowboy Action Shooting match of the Lincoln County Regulators.

Held on the weekend of Aug. 7-9, "Billy the Kid's Breakout" will be the biggest shootout in southern New Mexico, attracting Cowboy Action Shooters from all over the west and beyond. Spectators are invited at no charge.

Drew Gomber will speak at the Old West Banquet on Saturday, Aug. 8, at Cree Meadows Country Club in Ruidoso.

Gomber calls historic Lincoln his home and Western history is his true passion. He is the author of Past Tense, Part 1 and Heroes and Villains of the Lincoln County War, both of which are collections of his weekly newspaper column in the Ruidoso News.

Drew Gomber has also authored A Primer to the Lincoln County War, a small volume designed to help the novice understand the complexities of the characters, the politics and the timeline of the Lincoln County War and the story of its most famous participant, Billy the Kid.

Gomber has appeared regularly on the "History Channel," most notably the most successful series in that channel's own history, "Wild West Tech," as well as numerous other shows. He has worked for "A&E, Biography," the "BBC" and "The Discovery Channel."

The Old West Banquet is open to the public and will start with a no-host bar at 5 p.m. and dinner, featuring Chateaubriand, begins at 6 p.m. The cost is just $40 per person.

Friday will feature side matches, open to spectators, and a Friday evening get-acquainted cocktail reception at The Lodge at Sierra Blanca.

Saturday's Billy the Kid's Breakout CAS Match stages will be followed by the Old West Banquet.

On Sunday, competitors and guests will have the opportunity to tour of the historic town of Lincoln, attend Cowboy Church at the Pageant Arena, participate in the Old Lincoln Days Grand Parade and attend the annual pageant, "The Last Escape of Billy the Kid."

The original Lincoln County Regulators was a legally constituted posse, with affidavits and warrants issued by Justice of the Peace John Wilson, led by Special Constable Dick Brewer, John Tunstall's Ranch Foreman.

The group's primary aim was to hunt for Tunstall's killers. This was in 1878. Over 130 years later, today's Lincoln County Regulators is the Cowboy Action Shooting™ arm of the Ruidoso Gun Club and an affiliate of the Single Action Shooting Society, known as SASS.

SASS is an international organization created to promote and preserve the sport of Cowboy Action Shooting™.

SASS promulgates rules and procedures to ensure safety and consistency in Cowboy Action Shooting matches, and seeks to protect its members' 2nd Amendment rights. SASS members, especially members of the Lincoln County Regulators, share a common interest in preserving the history of the Old West and competitive shooting.

Cowboy Action Shooting with the Lincoln County Regulators is a multifaceted shooting sport in which contestants compete with firearms typical of those used in the taming of the Old West: single action revolvers, pistol caliber lever action rifles, and old time shotguns.

The shooting competition is staged in a unique, characterized, "Old West" style.

Each participant adopts a shooting alias appropriate to a character or profession of the late 19th century, a Hollywood western star, or an appropriate character from fiction.

His or her costume is then developed accordingly. The Lincoln County Regulators hold a monthly competitive shooting match at the CAS Range and Western Town at the Ruidoso Gun Club Range in Ruidoso Downs. It is a timed sport in which shooters compete for prestige on a course of different shooting stages. Each scenario, as they are called, features an array of situations, many based on famous incidents or movie scenes, in which the shooters must test their mettle against steel targets. Many event participants gain more enjoyment from the costuming aspect of our sport than from the shooting competition itself. Regardless of a member's individual area of interest, Lincoln County Regulators events provide regular opportunities for fellowship and fun with like-minded folks and families.

This major Cowboy Action Shooting event is a great opportunity for visitors to get a real taste of the history of Lincoln County and Ruidoso Valley attractions. The Regulators are hoping to make this an annual major visitors' event for Ruidoso and Lincoln County. Any cowboy or cowgirl who wants to volunteer, sponsor or just participate is welcome.

For $40 banquet reservations and to volunteer, contact Jack Shuster at ShootingAction@aol.com, 575-257-0871 or write to Lincoln County Regulators at 2814 Sudderth Drive, Suite 515, Ruidoso, NM 88345.

We appreciate our many wonderful members and volunteers for all their time and effort.

Keeping Ol' George off the streets

HAROLD OAKES

hoakes@ruidosonews.com

What started as a Boy Scout project now keeps George, Ol' George Two Feathers Tippin, off the streets.

"In Capitan they make sure the rowdies are off the street at dusk," Tippin said as he constructed a small basket from pine needles at the Ruidoso Federated Woman's Club Craft Sale Saturday.

"This gives me something to do in the evenings."

Learning this craft that predates pottery came from a scouting experience in Nebraska.

"They put me at an outpost camp about a mile from the main camp," Tippin said.

"They would have let me in the main camp if I had used deodorant."

Tippin was a counselor, teaching the scouts basket weaving.

"We made the baskets from a kit," he said. "But, we had one young man who had no money to buy the kit, so we went out and gathered blue stem, which there was plenty of, wrapped it into a coil and he made his basket out of that."

This divergence from the plan did not make the other counselors happy.

"They said the basket had to be made from the kit, but I managed to convince them that we could make it out of whatever we could find," Tippin said.

When he moved to New Mexico Tippin switched to weaving with local material.

"We don't have blue stem here but there are plenty of pine needles," he said. "It is making something from nothing. They are just thrown away."

Or swept away.

"You know what these are?" Tippin said pointing to miniature brooms made with pine needles. "They are transportation for little witches."

RUIDOSO POLICE BRIEFS

Apparent overdose

Brandon Crabtree, 29, of Roswell was found dead of an apparent overdose at a house in the 100 block of Cree Meadows at 4:30 a.m., July 25. An autopsy is pending.

Goldilocks

Officer Mike Weaver was called to Rio Street July 27, for a report of someone having entered a house while the owner was away. Reportedly the intruder left a pair of shoes, a shirt and a military style sleeping bag. There were reportedly candy wrappers strewn around the house and a towel and soap in a previously unused bathroom. An air mattress was was all the owner reported missing.

Mouthing off

Officer Aaron Frost was dispatched to Lincoln County Medical Center July 26, for a report of a victim with a broken jaw. The victim reportedly told Frost he had loaned his car to his sister, who then loaned it to a friend. When the victim found the car, he allegedly began yelling and cussing at the driver, who struck him in the jaw. Todd Kizer, 33, located Frost and allegedly admitted hitting the victim. Frost cited him for aggravated battery.

Chilling crime

Officer Art Nelson took a report on July 26, that someone had stolen an evaporative cooler from a window in the 200 block of Grove sometime between April and July.

Just the purse

Officers were dispatched to the parking lot on Center Street July 23, for a male looking into cars. A witness reportedly confronted him and he fled. He reportedly matched the description of a suspect in an auto burglary in a midtown hotel parking lot earlier in the day. Detective Bob Layher, driving an unmarked car, reportedly spotted the suspect on Mechem Drive. Officers Chris Bryan and Eric Ament apprehended him at Brady Canyon and Mechem. A witness from the hotel identified him as the man she saw taking a purse from a car in the parking lot. The victim said there was $700 missing from her purse. The suspect reportedly admitted taking the purse, but denied taking the $700. Tyler Hancock, 17, of the 100 block of Virginia Canyon, reportedly told police he put the purse back when he was confronted. Hancock did not have the money on him and police were unable to locate it anywhere along the path Hancock is believed to have taken. Police charged Hancock with auto burglary and larceny.

You hate excavators?

Officer Eric Ament reported that a rock had apparently been used to break the front and side windows of an excavator on Paradise Canyon July 23.

It's an Apple!

An Apple computer was reported stolen from a house in the 100 block of Evans Drive, July 23.

Busted, busters

Investigating a break in and theft of liquor from a restaurant on Sudderth that morning, Detective Bob Layher reports that he had lunch at the restaurant and picked up sloppy of the surveillance video July 22.

On the way back to the station Layher reports hearing a dispatch about two young men matching the men on the video attempting to break in cars behind a business on Sudderth Drive. Sergeant Jonas Proctor stopped the two men and Layher joined him, along with officer Josh Snodgrass. Layher reportedly looked at the shoes worn by Shawn Forté, 17, of the 100 block of Magoosh, Mescalero, and found that it matched a footprint left on the bar of the restaurant. Reportedly Forté admitted breaking the glass front door and entering the restaurant to steal liquor. Forté reportedly told Layher, he and someone named Laramy were the ones that broke in and stole the liquor. They allegedly took it to an abandoned building on Butler Street and drank it. Layher cited Forté into Juvenile Probation and Parole for criminal damage to property and burglary. According to Layher's report Laramy Baca's mother called the police department and said that he was involved in the crime with Forté. The man with Forté when Proctor stopped them was identified as Randy Manning, 18, of the 100 block of Upper Terrace. Police arrested Manning on two outstanding warrants.

Meter made

A meter reader reportedly found a breaking and entering in the 200 block of 5th Street July 20. Officers were unable to contact the owner.

Correction

The ages listed for Antonio Trujillo and David Trujillo in the July 22, Ruidoso Police Briefs should have been listed as 26 and 27, respectively.

Fans and fins meet in another 'Shark Week'

By Jacqueline Curtler
© Zap2it

Watching Discovery Channel's annual "Shark Week" specials makes one wonder if the station is in cahoots with a swimming pool company.

The 22nd annual festival of dorsal-finned predators could keep the hardest surfer on land. Stunning photography makes viewers feel as if they're there, which is terrifying, especially because this year's films are especially bloody. Yet for those who can't get enough of sharks, it's the place to be.

The week launches with an excellent docudrama, "Blood in the Water," Sunday, Aug. 2, which carries a viewer discretion warning. The first known shark attacks in the United States occurred off New Jersey during a heat wave and polio epidemic in the summer of 1916. Swimming in the ocean was still a relatively novel concept, and no one knew of sharks attacking humans.

It's against this backdrop that the film — hewing closely to period fashion, settings and language — unfolds. As the film repeats throughout, these attacks inspired the story of "Jaws." In 12 days, five people were attacked, four killed.

As a lifeguard watches, a man flails in the waters off Beach Haven. A lifeguard rescues him, and the victim is brought into a hotel, where his physician father couldn't save him. Most doctors were not yet trained in administering transfusions, and the 25-year-old man bled to death.

Soon others would be attacked. The film weaves facts into the narrative. For instance, an extremely strong swimmer can cover 5 miles per hour.

"Even Michael Phelps cannot outswim a shark," Andy Dehart, a shark specialist with the National Aquarium in Washington, D.C., says in an interview.

Dehart says questions linger over what type of sharks attacked in the summer of 1916.

After the young man bled to death, an athlete was the next victim. The lifeguard who pulled him from the water says, "I remember thinking he was very light for a big man, then I saw his lower legs were completely gone."

Another young man was soon killed, as was the Samaritan who dove into the Matawan Creek to save him. Yes, a creek! The last attack was on a boy who survived, though for a few horrid minutes he was the object of a tug of war between a shark and his brother.

Dehart, fascinated by sharks since he first saw one at 5, offers the following advice should anyone find himself close to a shark.

"In most places in the world, if you are out swimming or snorkeling, you are extremely safe, in most cases," Dehart says. "If you are in the Keys or off the coast, they are most likely small, extremely nonaggressive species that have rarely been implicated in any attacks. If you are in water where you can see 30 feet away, these are great circumstances. You are pretty safe. My personal advice is observe sharks' behavior and consider yourself lucky and enjoy the experience just as you would viewing a mountain lion from a distance."

However, he and survivalist Les Stroud, who is in the Monday, Aug. 3, special "Deadly Waters," advise if a shark is circling, it's considering you as food. Maintain eye contact and head to shore, but not erratically.

Stroud took to the Bahamas, South Africa, South Australia, Fiji and Miami to discover why sharks attack most often in those locales. The common factor, he says, is "people in the water."

Some sharks, Stroud says, are accidental predators. "Even though they generally live on another form of prey, they are big and opportunists and have sharp teeth. If they are not sure about it, they do a taste test," he says. "Problem is, when a big shark does that, you lose an arm. When we are in those areas and a couple of the top sharks that are opportunistic like the great white and tigers, then we are in the line of fire same as when we encroach on polar-bear territory or tigers and black bears."

After much swimming with sharks, Stroud says he's learned "it still hurts when you get bit. Every year I seem to get a new scar. This year I took a bite on my right hand, and the shark had my whole hand in its mouth. I have been bitten three times by sharks. Being bitten by Caribbean reef sharks is like being bitten by a Rottweiler. They bite you, but it's not going to kill you. They're gentle unless you do what I did — feed them fish for a while, then jump in the middle."

Monday also has "Day of the Shark 2," in which a great white breaks through a shark cage, trapping the divers. Tuesday, Aug. 4, brings the gory "Shark-bite Summer," a clip show of ugly incidents from the summer of 2001 that chronicles accounts of people being bitten. News footage and interviews with survivors and victims' families fill out the show.

"Shark Week" kicks off Sunday on Discovery Channel.

The Wednesday, Aug. 5, "Great White Appetite" features the shark everyone fears. Thursday, Aug. 6, "Shark After Dark" focuses on what sharks do at night, which is pretty much what they do during the day.

"It's so darn true we know so little about them," Stroud says. "They live in a place we can't. They go to a place we can't. We will die in an hour and 10 minutes; we get in and get out. They're beautiful and benign and ferocious and terrifying. What's not to be fascinated about sharks?"

A Closer Look

Sugarland makes a summer night sweet on ABC

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2it

All Sugarland wants to do is guarantee its listeners a good time.

The award-winning country music duo of Jennifer Nettles and Kristian Bush aims for that on a bigger scale as the special "Sugarland: Live on the Inside" airs Monday, Aug. 3, on ABC. Filmed at Rupp Arena in Lexington, Ky., the hour has a healthy dose of hits including "All I Want to Do" and "Stay." The two stars also put a unique twist on the tradition of concert audiences passing beach balls around.

One of today's most distinctive voices in music, Nettles says she and guitarist Bush "didn't want [the special] to be different from what our live show is. We wanted to capture what that is, entertaining people in their homes and show them to see it if they aren't able to get out to it. Maybe they'll want to come to one of our shows if they like what they see."

For those who already are fans, it's something nice to watch on a summer night," Nettles continues. "I remember watching concerts on television when I was a kid, and some of them really turn into iconic memories ... not just for the fans, but for the artists as well."

Bush isn't worried about offering for free some of what Sugarland devotees pay to see in arenas and stadiums.

"I think we're moving from a culture of acquisition of things to a culture of acquisition of meaning," he reflects. "It's like, 'Can we go do something that means something?' In being entertained by us, you're hopefully bringing a little bit more of you to be entertained. We're talking about humanity and the celebration of life, and that has meaning when you do it en masse."

With Nettles and Bush among its executive producers, "Sugarland: Live on the Inside" was filmed before the ABC deal was made. It first was intended for a live performance CD/DVD package that goes on sale the day after the telecast. Bush explains, "We approached a director who's done a lot of our music videos, a guy named Shaun Silva. We paid for this, created it and edited it all by ourselves."

"I wasn't very well-versed in how network television works, but much like the music industry turned a corner about 25 years ago, television is turning now. It's this pay-to-play experience where you have to be your own promoter, your own sales rep, so you're bringing your own content and hopefully bringing sponsors with you. When we finished this and looked at it, we decided it would make a good TV special. It was a real bungee jump, one show and 25 cameras; either you're good or you're not."

With Grammys and awards from the Academy of Country Music and the Country Music Association among their accolades, Sugarland has managed something few groups do: to survive — and, indeed, thrive — after losing a frontline member. Nettles and Bush originally found wide fame in a trio that also included Kristen Hall, who departed the act in 2006. The remaining partners then went on to score huge successes with the CDs "Enjoy the Ride" and "Love on the Inside."

As Sugarland's lead singer, Nettles always makes evident her pleasure in performing. "I do love it, I have to say. To have a moment where a group of people are all there sharing music, that's really what we want to do as songwriters. The hope is that we write every person's story, or at least a moment they connect to. I get joy in that communion, that sharing."

If there's anything Sugarland enjoys more than making its own music, it's teaming with other talents, especially when different styles merge. Arguably the best-known example is with rock's Bon Jovi on "Who Says You Can't Go Home," but Beyonce, Little Big Town and Jake Owen also have been Sugarland partners — as have the B-52s, who helped refresh their "Love Shack" recently at Country Music Television's CMT Awards.

"We are musicians, performers and songwriters who love music," Nettles reasons. "We happen to be played on country radio because that's where they said, 'OK, we'll play you here.' We've been influenced by all kinds of music and musical traditions, and that shows not only in our writing but also in the way we want to pay tribute to those who have inspired us." (The DVD version of "Live on the Inside" includes Sugarland's cover of the R.E.M. song "The One I Love.")

"I think this is a culture of all kinds of music," Bush adds, "and you can't figure out who a Sugarland fan is, normally. It's not like a Grateful Dead fan, who you can identify at 10 paces. If you look around at our shows, you'll see a Metallica shirt, a Beyonce shirt and so on. We're kind of like the kid in high school who everyone agrees on."

Also showcased recently on PBS' "Soundstage," Sugarland is having what Nettles terms a "mishmash" year of touring, not only headlining its own show (which it took to Europe in March) but sharing bills with Keith Urban and Kenny Chesney in other engagements. Along the way, Nettles and Bush are trying out material with a mind toward the next Sugarland album.

"We've been lucky," Nettles says. "From the start, there's been a trust in us from the artistic standpoint. Obviously, [Sugarland's] label, Mercury Nashville has deadlines and numbers and all those things, but I think they're also aware that if serving the art and the music doesn't get the first and most respect, the deadlines won't make any difference. We've had support from the beginning in doing this in our own way and on our own timeline."

"Sugarland: Live on the Inside" airs Monday on ABC.

An Inside Look

USA Network still wants to 'Psych' you out

By Kate O'Hare
© Zap2it

"I just left the mixing stage," says "Psych" creator Steve Franks. "We mixed our season premiere, which is very exciting."

On Friday, Aug. 7, USA Network's faux-psycho comedy-mystery series returns for a fourth season. It's still set in San Barbara, Calif., but the season premiere episode is set where the series has always been filmed — the Canadian province of British Columbia.

Says Franks, "(Producer) Andy Berman and I came up with it while I was directing the sea lion episode last year. We were in the van every day, going to all our sets, and we kept saying, 'OK, We're going to do the British Columbia episode.'"

Guest starring Cary Elwes ("The Princess Bride") as an elusive art thief, "Extradition: British Columbia" also allows series stars James Roday, who plays fake psychic and private eye Shawn Spencer, and Dule Hill, who plays his childhood pal and partner Burton "Gus" Guster, to show off their best snow-bunny looks.

As to what the overall plan is for the year, Franks says, "We're just trying to take what we did last year and build on it. We went a little darker here and there; we got a little more emotional."

"My constant plan, my marching order every year, is to expand the things that we can get away with, on the silly side and on the intense side."

"So, this year we're going to do a Bollywood episode. Oh, yeah."

"Bollywood" refers to the prolific film industry based in Mumbai, India, known for elaborate musical productions. The episode itself is called "Bollywood Homicide."

According to Franks, Jay Chandrasekhar is directing, and he's called on a family member to flesh out the cast.

"We got the guy from 'Heroes,'" says Franks, referring to Sendhil Ramamurthy, who plays Mohinder Suresh on the NBC sci-fi drama.

"He is disturbingly good-looking," Franks says. "But he was great. He's actually one of Jay's cousins. He was the dream guy to get for it, so it worked out very well."

Best Bets this Week

Laurence Fishburne stars in "CSI: Crime Scene Investigation" Thursday on CBS.

THURSDAY

7 p.m. on KOBK KTSN 30
Rock

When a sneaky West Coast executive (guest star Will Arnett) threatens his job, Jack (Alec Baldwin) enlists the startled but loyal Kenneth (Jack McBrayer) to help thwart any plot — whatever it takes. Tracy (Tracy Jordan) is served with paternity papers. Pete and Liz (Scott Adsit, Tina Fey) adjust to life as roommates. Jane Krakowski also stars in "Fireworks."

7 p.m. on ESPN X Games
Grab a seat — or maybe some air, depending on your inclination — for four days of skateboarding, stunt biking and motocrossing splendor when ESPN, ESPN2 and ABC air X Games 15 from Los Angeles. This year two events have been added: Skateboard Big Air Rail Jam and Skateboard Park Legends. The field of 200 action sports athletes is expected to include favorites Travis Pastrana, Bob Burnquist, James Stewart, Rune Glifberg and Brian Deegan, among others.

8 p.m. on KDBC KBIM CSI: Crime Scene Investigation

Langston and Riley (Laurence Fishburne, Lauren Lee Smith) are taken hostage in the chaos following a shootout in a normally quiet Las Vegas community. Marg Helgenberger, George Eads, Paul Guilfoyle, Eric Szmanda and Robert David Hall also star in "No Way Out"; Denzel Whitaker and Geoffrey Rivas guest star

8 p.m. on KOBK KTSN
The Office

After striking up an unlikely friendship, Dwight and Andy (Rainn Wilson, Ed Helms) plan a hunting trip. Charles (guest star Idris Elba) asks Jim (John Krasinski) for a "rundown," leaving a baffled Jim to figure out what that is. Michael (Steve Carell) hosts a Paper & Pancakes luncheon. Jenna Fischer and B.J. Novak also star in "Michael Scott Paper Company."

Ben McKenzie stars in "Southland" Friday on NBC.

FRIDAY

7 p.m. on KDBC KBIM
Ghost Whisperer

Crossing over is best done without excess baggage. In this episode, Melinda (Jennifer Love Hewitt) meets the ghost of an overbearing mother with a big secret. Of course, she needs to let go of that secret before she can complete the journey to the other side. Camryn Manheim also stars in "Slow Burn."

7 p.m. on KWBO Smallville

Tori Spelling reprises her guest role as ruthless reporter Linda Lake, who returns to Metropolis and threatens to expose Clark's (Tom Welling) secret unless he gives her an exclusive on the red-blue blur to boost her career. Clark, refusing to be blackmailed, tells Lois (Erica Durance) his secret and asks her to write his story for The Daily Planet in "Infamous."

7 p.m. on KOBK KTSN
Southland

Rookie cop Ben Sherman (Ben McKenzie, "The O.C.") wonders if he is cut out for the job, especially after he is assigned to John Cooper (Michael Cudlitz), a no-nonsense training officer who likes to cut to the chase. Detectives Lydia Adams and Russell Clarke (Regina King, Tom Everett Scott) investigate the kidnapping of a girl from her front yard in "Pilot."

SATURDAY

7 p.m. on BRAVO Movie: Coming to America

Eight years before "The Nutty Professor," Eddie Murphy flexed his multitasking muscles in this 1988 romantic comedy. He and co-star Arsenio Hall have three roles each in addition to their main ones: an African prince and his pal visiting New York to find a suitable bride for His Highness Shari Headley plays the lady he favors, whom he meets in — where else? — Queens. Don't miss the brief shout out to another Murphy hit, "Trading Places."

7 p.m. on HALL Movie: Mrs. Washington Goes to Smith

Cybill Shepherd stars as Alice Washington, a middle-aged divorcee who enrolls at Smith College to finish working on the degree she abandoned many years earlier. Adjusting to her new life on campus, Alice befriends her troubled young roommate (Corn English), lands a spot on the basketball team and also ends up in an unexpected — and off-limits — romance with a hot poetry professor (Jeffrey Nordling, "24").

8 p.m. on KOBK KTSN
Face the Ace

Actor Steve Schirripa ("The Sopranos") hosts this new seven-episode game show, in which amateurs take on world-class poker players in hope of winning $1 million. The amateur selects one of four doors, behind each of which is a seasoned poker pro such as Phil Ivey, Erick Lindgren or Chns Ferguson. If the player beats the pro, he can take his winnings and leave or face another pro for a chance at higher winnings.

9 p.m. on KOAT
Dirty Sexy Money

After backing out of plans to have an abortion, Karen (Natalie Zea) tells Nick (Peter Krause) that she is carrying Simon's (Blair Underwood) baby. Simon and Tripp (Donald Sutherland) plan to celebrate their new partnership. Simon asks Jeremy (Seth Gabel) to pull off his fake murder. Andrea (Sheryl Lee) throws Brian (Glenn Fitzgerald) out of the house. William Baldwin also stars in "The Unexpected Arrival."

Blair Underwood stars in "Dirty Sexy Money" Saturday on ABC.

SUNDAY

7 p.m. on KOAT KVIA Ty's Great British Adventure

Not to be confused with that excellent adventure Bill and Ted took, this special takes TV personality Ty Pennington to Portreath, a sleepy English seaside village that was once a thriving mining hub yet recently has been hurt by economic downturns. His goal is to help revamp the historic town park.

7 p.m. on KOBK KTSN Merlin

A mysterious black knight (Rick English) crashes Arthur's (Bradley James) coming-of-age ceremony and challenges the knights of Camelot to single combat. While the matches proceed, Merlin (Colin Morgan) and the court are horrified to discover that this mysterious figure appears to be immortal, as secrets are revealed that Uther (Anthony Head) would rather keep hidden.

7 p.m. on KOAT KVIA Sugarland: Live on the Inside

Sugarland, the Grammy-winning country music duo made up of Jennifer Nettles and Kristian Brooks, takes fans behind the scenes of one of its concerts in a special that airs the day before the duo's new CD and DVD hits music stores. Filmed with 20 cameras at Rupp Arena in Lexington, Ky., the show features previously unseen footage of Sugarland performing.

7 p.m. on KOBK KTSN Great American Road Trip

Leaving Arizona's Meteor Crater, the families weave their way across the desert to the Grand Canyon, stopping along the way to enjoy Slide Rock State Park and the red rocks of Sedona.

Mark Harmon stars in "NCIS" Tuesday on CBS.

TUESDAY

7 p.m. on KDBC KBIM NCIS

A military family comes under suspicion when a boy finds a murder weapon, prompting Gibbs (Mark Harmon) and the team to track ownership of the gun. Michael Weatherly, David McCallum and Pauley Perrette also star in "Hide and Seek"; Markus Flanagan, Rebecca Creskoff and Braeden Lemasters guest star.

8 p.m. on A&E The Cleaner

A hospital administrator seeks William's (Benjamin Bratt) help after receiving an anonymous letter accusing a doctor and some nurses of using drugs. After one nurse passes out during surgery, William brings her in for treatment while Melissa (Amy Price-Francis) baby-sits her son. Charles Esten, Rebecca Gayheart and Jonathan Adams guest star in the new episode "An Ordinary Man."

WEDNESDAY

4 p.m. on MAX Movie: Live Free or Die Hard

More than a decade after he'd last played the part, Bruce Willis returned as never-say-die hero John McClane in this well-paced third sequel. The New York cop is escorting a computer geek (Justin Long, who's also played one in popular commercials) when a master villain (Timothy Olyphant, "Deadwood") targets the U.S. for a power and technology blackout on the Fourth of July. Mary Elizabeth Winstead ("Final Destination 3") plays McClane's daughter.

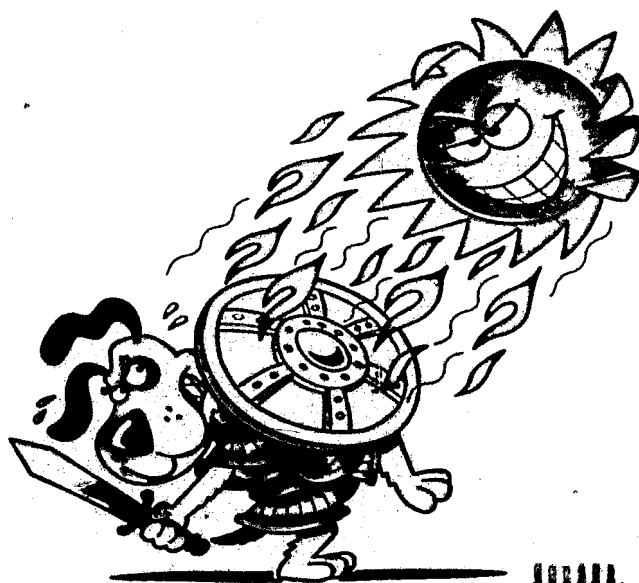

8 p.m. on BRAVO Top Chef Masters

The five remaining chefs have to work their buns off as they engage in a battle of burgers and strive to create an American classic. In the elimination challenge, the culinary masters attempt to prepare the perfect meal for actress and singer Zooey Deschanel ("Elf") at a celebrity lunch she is throwing.

THURSDAY

7 p.m. on APL Wild Russia

The Caucasus, dividing Europe and Asia, tower more than 16,000 feet into the sky. Squeezed between the Black Sea and the Caspian Sea, the range is perched atop a continental divide, and extends more than 600 miles from west to east. Vast swaths of the mountains are inaccessible and remain pristine. The mountains vary dramatically, with rainfall hitting one side of a side of a slope, where vegetation is lush, while on the other side an arid wilderness dominates.

SATURDAY

2:30 p.m. on TBS

Movie: ALT: Bad News Bears

The 1976 original was better, but this 2005 remake of the kiddie baseball classic is harmless enough — although with slightly saltier language. Billy Bob Thornton has the Walter Matthau role: the cantankerous coach of a misfit Little League team whose approach to mentoring kids is a bit ... unconventional. Marcia Gay Harden and Greg Kinnear also star.

6 p.m. on TNT

Movie: Men in Black

If aliens are frightened by dark sunglasses, the planet is definitely safe. Marvel Comics characters Agent J and Agent K (Will Smith, Tommy Lee Jones) are ebony-clad government operatives fighting insectlike extraterrestrial terrorists. This 1997 adventure-comedy also stars Rip Torn and Linda Fiorentino.

SUNDAY

12 p.m. on KOBR KTSM Triathlon

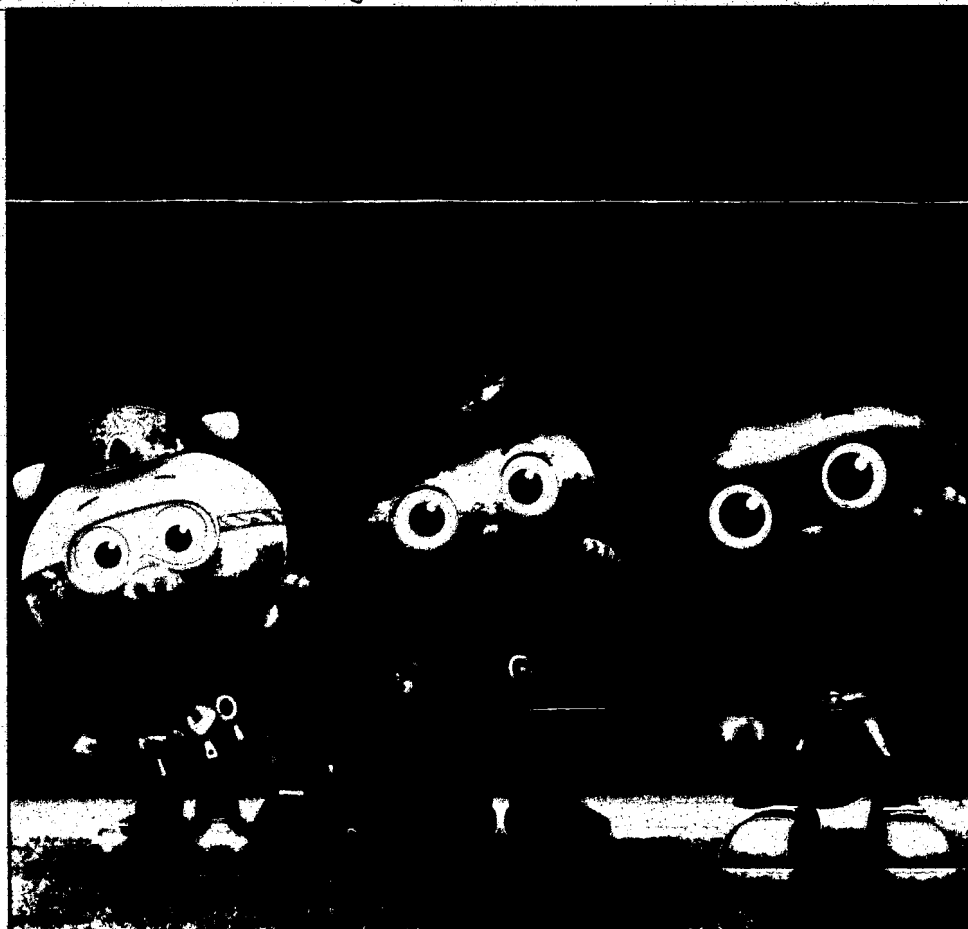

Nearly 1,000 women between the ages of 16 and 68 participated in the Iron Girl Triathlon at the Lake Lanier Island Resort near Atlanta. This one-hour special covers the 1/3-mile swim, an 18-mile bike race and a three-mile run. The winner (we won't be a spoiler and divulge her name) took the race in 1 hour, 13 minutes and 55 seconds.

2 p.m. on FAM

Movie: Legally Blonde

Reese Witherspoon graduated into the league of top screen actresses with this 2001 comedy, which succeeds largely on her performance as a law-school novice. She plays sorority girl Elle Woods, who is dumped by her blue-blooded beau (Matthew Davis), then follows him to Harvard, intent on winning him back. Instead, she finds a new cause while surprising her professors. Luke Wilson, Selma Blair and Victor Garber ("Alias") co-star.

Family Viewing

"Super Why!" airs Monday on PBS.

9 a.m. on KRWG Super Why!

In the new episode "The Three Little Pigs: The Return of the Wolf," Pig and his brothers are making a picnic table for their backyard. Everything goes wrong, so the Super Readers visit the story of "The Three Little Pigs," and learn about building. Will they learn how to build a sturdy table? Or will they build a flimsy one that the Big Bad Wolf can huff and puff and blow down?

LIBRA - Sept 23/Oct 23
Dive headfirst into your next project and prove to disbelievers that you have the skills and talent to get the job done, Libra. You have to believe in yourself before others will.

SCORPIO - Oct 24/Nov 22
You cannot run away from problems, Scorpio — they'll wait around for your return. Build up the strength to face each difficulty head-on and you'll feel more satisfied.

SAGITTARIUS - Nov 23/Dec 21
Sagittarius, someone close to you is not ready to receive a helping hand despite your willingness to offer one. It's best if you focus your attention on someone else for the time being.
