PORTALES – Clayton Alred, vice president for instruction at Odessa College, has been named president of the Ruidoso campus of Eastern New Mexico University, according to Steven Gamble, president of the ENMU system. He will begin his new position in late November or early December.

"We are fortunate to attract someone the caliber of Dr. Alred," Gamble said. "He has an excellent background in the mission of a community college, and has been very successful in moving Odessa College forward. While I regret that Dr. Michael Elrod is retiring as president of ENMU-Ruidoso, Dr. Alred is a worthy successor."

Previous to his present position, Alred served Odessa College, as interim president (2006-07), dean of institutional research and effectiveness (1996-2002), dean of humanities and communications (1995-96), dean of learning resources (1993-94), associate dean of learning resources (1990-93), and director of developmental studies and instructional television (1986-90).

"I am really excited about the opportunities for new programs at ENMU-Ruidoso, as well as the possibility of a new campus," said Alred. "During my visit I observed that they have a very cohesive staff, which is a genuine strength. The campus offers comprehensive programs to the citizens of the Ruidoso area, and the community is very responsive. I'm really enjoying this feeling of euphoria."

Alred has a Ph.D. in educational administration from the University of Texas at Austin, a master's in educational administration from Sul Ross State University, and a bachelor's in biology and chemistry from Angelo State University.

His many professional memberships and honors include the 2007 Phi Theta Kappa International Distinguished Administrator Award, 2006 El Animo Award-Hispanic Heritage of Odessa, National Council of Instructional Administrators, Society of College and University Planners, and president of the Texas Consortium for Educational Telecommunications. He has also published articles in academic journals, and earned several professional certificates in education.

A press conference will be held at 11 a.m. on Wednesday, Oct. 7, in the College Board Room on the ENMU-Ruidoso campus to introduce Alred to the campus and community. It is open to everyone.

Economic growth going to the home

DIANNE STALLINGS
dstallings@ruidosoneus.com

The time may be right to switch the emphasis of economic development from recruiting employers to targeting industries where people can work at home and want to trade big city living for a rural quality of life.

Mark Lautman with Community Economics Laboratory spoke to Lincoln County commissioners last week about the Solitary Worker Economic Development Strategy, a new approach for economic growth in rural areas. He appeared with Tammie Bean of community and economic development for Tularosa Basin Telephone and Otero County Electric, Richard Aguilar with the Ruidoso Valley Economic Development Corporation and Otero County Commission Chairman Ronny Rardin.

The timing fits perfectly and can be linked to the Home and Garden Network's annual Dream Home series, which will chronicle the site selection in New Mexico for construction of a dream house and ultimate give-away in March 2010, Lautman said.

"We were successful in getting the interest of the Ruidoso administration officials are searching for a new police chief.

Wolfgang Born, who was appointed chief in 2006 after serving as acting chief, captain, lieutenant and lead detective since joining the department in December 1989, has notified village officials he will retire at the end of this year.

Village Manager Debi Lee included the notice in her report to village councilors at their meeting last week.

Under mayoral presentations, Mary Blackman, representing the 2010 Census, encouraged village officials to join in urging people in Lincoln County to fill out and return their census questionnaire.

"In the last census, only 39 percent reported in this county," she said. "I hear from people that's because it's a resort town with a lot of second homes, but on April 1, 2010, whoever is residing here should be counted here.

"About $400 billion in federal money is allocated in all sorts of forms and the allocations depend on the numbers counted. Population data is used for market research and for more representation in Washington, D.C."

A Complete Count

Committee should be formed to help with the hard-to-count segment of the population, said Blackman, who is based out of the Denver Regional Census Center.

"Everything is confidential, so illegal aliens still are counted," she said. "It means more money for schools and to help the elderly."

She hopes with a better

Tom Ross, left, and Debbie Heineken unload food from Heineken's truck at the Lincoln County Food Bank in Ruidoso Downs Friday, Oct. 2. Heineken, manager of the Ruidoso Motor Vehicle Department Office won the food at the MVD manager's conference in Albuquerque the previous week. Each of the manager's attending the conference brought noon-perishable food and throughout the conference awarded each other cards for random acts of kindness. At the end of the conference, the manager with the most cards got to take the food home to donate to a local charity. Heineken had the most cards and brought the food to the Lincoln County Food Bank at First Baptist Church in Ruidoso Downs.

Flu shots

Annual free flu vaccinations clinics are scheduled Thursday, by the staff of the Public Health Department for outlying areas of Lincoln County and Friday in Ruidoso.

People who are covered by Medicare should bring their cards with them. An inactive or killed vaccine is used in the flu shot, which will be given by injection and does not include protection against the H1N1 influenza.

According to National Center for Disease Control, on average, 226,000 people are hospitalized every year because of the "regular" influenza and 36,000 die, mostly the elder. Flu shots are recommended for those suffering from chronic conditions, children six months through 18, anyone over 50 years of age, people with a weakened immune system, health care providers and those providing essential community services. Vaccination can prevent influenza.

Signs of an allergic reaction can include difficulty breathing, hoarseness or wheezing, hives, paleness, weakness, a fast heartbeat or dizziness. Call a doctor right away, if a suspected reaction occurs.

The scheduled clinic hours are:

- 9 a.m. to 10:30 a.m., Thursday, at the Carrizozo Senior Center
- 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m., Thursday, at the Capitan Senior Center
- 3 p.m. to 4 p.m., Thursday, at the Hondo Senior Center
- 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., Friday, at the Ruidoso Senior Center.

Tea Party workshop

If you are or want to be a member of the Lincoln County Tea Party (LCTP), there will be a workshop on Thursday, Oct. 8, at 5:30 p.m.

The workshop is at the Gateway Church of Christ, 415 Sudderth Dr. Use the East Parking Lot and the east door

The purpose of this meeting is:

- To get you involved.

- To define and refine the LCTP mission, vision and structure

- To brainstorm, create and implement structures within the LCTP to accomplish our mission

- To facilitate vehicles that encourage sustained personal involvement.

We hope to develop a draft of the Lincoln County Tea Party bylaws which, we hope, will be the foundation upon which you will use your talents, passions, expertise, etc., to build an effective movement. We will then break into smaller groups to begin building the machine that is to be the LCTP.

Just a few examples of talent needed:

- Have Web expertise? become part of a group that builds a powerful Web site;
- Know a way to efficiently manage a large group membership? help set up a membership database;
- Passionate about educating others? design a workshop;
- Love throwing parties? join the rally committee;
- Have skill raising funds? head the fundraising committee;
- Enjoy keeping up with Washington or a specific issue? Become a watchdog/reporter;
- What to bring:
  - Notebook, pens/pencils, laptop computer, sample documents, software or Web site info/addresses, open attitude;
  - Bring snacks to share - Drinks will be provided.

With limited time, we must limit the scope of this meeting to make it manageable.

Please remember that the purpose of this meeting is not to discuss bailouts, czars, socialism, cap/trade, gripes and complaints, or other hot topics. This is the time to initiate a cohesive structure to effectively work against those topics.

For more information, contact Glynis Racine, Sally Moore or Terry Franklin at ruidosoteaparty@windstream.net.

Month of mammograms

Altrusa President Judy Griffin, Lincoln County Medical Center's lead radiographer Jayne Gardner and X-Ray Mammography Technician Carrie Avalos-Melendrez ready the hospital's state of the art mammography equipment for the month ahead. For the 21st consecutive year Altrusa Club of Ruidoso will partner with LCMC to offer low cost mammograms to residents of Lincoln County. The program is available Monday through Friday, through Oct. 30 at a cost of $55. To take advantage of this program, a person must be between 30 and 64 years of age, and be a Lincoln County resident, or have a doctor in Lincoln County. The program offers routine mammograms only, and cannot serve patients with implants or augmentation. Call Terri Trotter in Ruidoso at 258-4615 to schedule an appointment from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. On Thursdays only, Shirley Neuhaus will be available at the same telephone number to assist Spanish speaking patients to set up an appointment. The American Cancer Society recommends women begin yearly mammograms at age 40 if they're at average risk of developing breast cancer. Women at high risk may want to start screening before 40. Risk factors include lifestyle factors such as diet and exercise, and genetic and environmental factors such as a family history of cancer. Altrusa Club of Ruidoso is part of an international community service organization. For more information about Altrusa, call Membership Chair Deb Sturtevant at 336-1486.

Held for over 30 years, the parade is the cornerstone of the weekend fall celebration. To honor the decades of tradition and to emphasize "The Art of Autumn" theme, the Grand Marshall was town clown, Pat Healy. Mr. Pat has been in the parade for 30 years with this being his last. Mr. Pat, dressed as Father Forest, exemplifies that art comes in many different forms.

Parade entries were judged on adherence to the theme, "The Art of Autumn," originality and workmanship. First place was Relay for Life, second was The Ruidoso Physical Therapy Clinic and third goes to Ruidoso Gymnastics. Sierra Blanca Christian Academy and the Capitan PTA gained an Honorable Mention. Winners will receive a hand-painted picture plaque, monetary awards and tickets to various Spencer Theater performances. The Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce appreciates all of the entries.

The American Cancer Society entered the parade to promote awareness of cancer efforts, especially through Relay For Life. Their float "Hope Floats" not only depicts the fall, but shows that everyone from adults to kids to scarecrows can make a difference. The Ruidoso Physical Therapy Clinic brought in their bear to show how you should not just grin and bear the pain, but to let the clinic ease your ailments. The efforts in this float show how committed the therapists are to their community.

Ruidoso Gymnastics promotes activity in children throughout Lincoln County and how successful they are with boys and girls flipping and twirling all the way down Sudderth. Sierra Blanca Christian Academy exemplified the mission of their school, and the Capitan PTA had students paint hands all over their float showing how the entire school supports each other.

The Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce would also like to thank their contributors: Spencer Theater, MTD Radio, KEDU Radio, Cree Meadows Golf Club, Thriftway, The Chamber Board of Directors, Asst. Fire Chief Vincent and the Ruidoso Fire Department, and Sgt. Proctor and the Ruidoso Police Department.

Alto Lakes

The Alto Lakes Special Zoning District Commission will conduct a regular meeting at 9 a.m., Oct. 15, in the Stag Room at the Alto Lakes Golf and Country Club, 1 Mulligan Drive, Alto.

The final agenda for the meeting will be published at least 24 hours before the meeting and will be posted on the bulletin board of the Alto Lakes Golf and Country Club.

Humane Society

Two noteworthy events are coming this month - the Grand Opening of the Village of Ruidoso Dog Park, Saturday, Oct. 24, 10 a.m.; and the Halloween Pet Costume Contest in mid-town on Oct. 30. You and your dog are encouraged to attend both events.

The Dog Park is located across from the soccer fields at White Mountain Sports Complex, off of Hull Road, a quarter mile south of Hull and White Mountain Drive, turn on Ovella Estes Drive. The Park is ready for you to enjoy now, but will be fully complete for our Grand Opening sponsored jointly by the Humane Society and the Village of Ruidoso Parks and Recreation Department.

In addition, the Humane Society is pleased to announce the election of officers and directors for the Board of Directors 2009-10. Newly elected officers are as follows: Kai Brown, President; Wendy Foist, Vice President; Lucia Bryant, Secretary; Cindy Lynch, Treasurer; and Directors: Tim Coughlin, Annie Houghton, and Dick Sundt.

Library Clues

All fans of the game of Clue are invited to the Ruidoso Public Library Thursday, Oct. 8th, from 4:00 to 5:30p.m.. We will be playing LIVE Clue in the library. The action will be in six different rooms, with six different weapons and six different characters. The theme is medie-val, so the names, rooms, and weapons should be interesting. Prizes will be given per game, one to the dead character and one to the person who solves the murder.

Open to grades 6 through adult, this game will be great family entertainment, but no children younger than 6th grade will be permitted to play. If the turnout is good, Clue will become a monthly event with the theme changed each month. This month in the Children's Library, the School Field Trip Theme is "Inspector Clue-so". The world of mysteries will be the focus of the field trips for school age children. Also explored will be fingerprinting and other forensic techniques used in solving mysteries. Small prizes awarded for solving a mystery. Teachers have been signing up their classes for the field trips.

Council shows long-range thinking

Artists and bicyclists – and Ruidoso – to benefit

We know money is tight, but two votes last week by Ruidoso Village Council hopefully will reap long-term economic benefits for Lincoln County.

One was an approval to budget $40,000 to the Ruidoso Regional Council for the Arts for fiscal 2009-10. The other was a commitment of $25,000 in lodgers tax revenue to help fund a mountain biking trail design by the International Mountain Biking Association covering 20,000 acres of the Smokey Bear Ranger District in Lincoln National Forest.

We applaud the council's support of the arts and recreation – two of the cleanest and most appealing, attractive industries with which Ruidoso can be associated.

Some other Rocky Mountain communities have a jump on us in this regard; public support is seen as critical, not just for the cash but for the sentiment.

Kudos also to Councilor Angel Shaw's caveat to the arts group to ensure viable fiscal reporting and accountability; and to RRCA board member Bruce DeFoor, for his candid admission as to the need for continued council support.

This is exciting. Let's get to work and make it happen.

Food safety regs punish good processors, stifle small farmers

During the peanut butter scare early this year, when millions of brown baggers were deprived of a favorite staple, my family kept eating peanut butter. No worries. That's because our preferred brand is Sunland Inc.

Portales-based Sunland not only makes good peanut butter, it's a New Mexico success story. Sunland, which operates the state's only peanut butter plant, is also the nation's largest producer of organic peanut butter.

I've been in the plant (one of the benefits of previous jobs covering business in New Mexico), and know Sunland runs a tight ship.

But even Sunland had to contend with fallout from the salmonella outbreak traced to Peanut Corp. of America. Initially inundated with consumer calls, Sunland employees, along with the National Peanut Board, did their best to reassure people.

"We've never had a batch of peanuts test positive for salmonella in the 20 years we've been in operation," Sunland CEO Jimmie Shearer told a farm publication. His company pays for testing above and beyond government requirements.

As the air cleared and the culprits were identified, demand for peanut butter returned but not before costing the industry $1 billion in lost sales and production.

Now, after similar scares over salmonella and other pathogens in spinach, tomatoes, peppers, pistachios, beef and cookie dough, there are lingering fears about food safety. Consumer groups, pointing out the high rate of food-borne illness and thousands of fatalities every year, are demanding greater accountability and tougher regulation.

The problem with demands that Congress do something is that the result is often new regulation that only punishes companies like Sunland that were operating responsibly all along.

The proposed Food Safety Enhancement Act has become the center of a smallish firestorm. It would give the Food and Drug Administration new muscle to recall food instead of relying on voluntary recalls, increase inspections, examine records, quarantine suspect food, and sock food processors with civil and criminal penalties.

Small farmers, organic growers, and food processors here and across the nation say the increased fees and paperwork would wipe out small operators.

The bill passed the House in July; all three of New Mexico's representatives voted against it. Why would our congressmen defy the Democratic majority supporting the bill?

Because food processors are all around us. Think of the foods that say New Mexico and you get the idea – chile, pecans, pistachios, and peanuts. Also, apples and onions. Plus commercial operations. Some processors are the size of Bueno Foods and Border Foods, but most are small to medium-sized. Add to that the hundreds of mini-processors selling salsa or barbecue sauce from Mom's secret recipe or the ladies selling jam at your local Farmer's Market.

Now imagine these folks having to pay a $500 registration fee and write and implement a food safety plan for each food product they sell.

Small growers and processors argue that they're not the problem. Mass-produced food is almost entirely to blame for food-borne illnesses.

Food safety has taken a back seat to health-care reform, but the Senate will soon take up its own bill. The New Mexico Farm and Livestock Bureau has argued that the laws we have are sufficient. What's needed are well-trained regulators with resources to conduct a proper inspection.

After eight years of relaxed federal regulation across many fronts, from flood control (Heckuva job, Browniel) to mining, our existing regulators just need preparation and organizational will to do their jobs.

Mescalero Election 2009: Chino vs. Chino

YOUR OPINION

Open letter to the citizens of New Mexico

To the editor:

DEAR FELLOW New Mexicans: As New Mexico's economy continues to worsen, every New Mexican needs to prepare for the tough economic times ahead. It is unfortunate, but New Mexico's fiscal situation is getting worse and I think we need to be prepared.

Everyone needs to understand and take note that we all must make wise economic choices individually, as a family, and in government, for which the legislature is primarily responsible.

There is no easy way out of the state's fiscal crisis in the short run. We must open our eyes and move forward to deal with this situation in an expeditious manner.

Putting our heads in the sand will not work. Making piecemeal decisions in government spending will ultimately visit us again and again, causing more pain in the future. We are short huge amounts of recurring dollars and so we must make huge recurring expenditure cuts.

We need to return to the core budget and deal with the problem there, not cover a recurring problem with non-recurring dollars. Glossing over the facts or wishing it away will not work.

Recent revelation that the executive still does not have a clear understanding of what New Mexico's prior fiscal year tax collections are, leads me to believe that the legislature is not receiving accurate information from the executive.

There appears to be a need for greater shared responsibility for developing revenue projections and the proper disclosure of these estimates in a timely manner.

One possible solution would be to expand the legislature's oversight powers of the executive branch by establishing an independent accounting office to insure that the best information is available as we make the hard decisions with which we are faced.

Recently, the Department of Finance and Administration revealed that New Mexico's fiscal crisis has worsened since the last revenue projections were released just two months ago. New Mexico's short fall in the prior fiscal year (FY09) has probably increased by an additional $107 million to a staggering $400 to $450 million.

It appears now that the FY '10 budget is at least $550 million short of recurring revenue and possibly could grow to $700 million or more below the current year budget.

In addition, the executive will need legislative authority to draw down reserves by an additional $107 million just to close the prior year fiscal year (FY09). This is in addition to their August estimate of $117 million for a total of $224 million. We cannot ignore this crisis, and must deal with it in a caring but prudent manner.

This drastic decline in revenue means that we all must be prepared for substantial budget cuts to all of state government, including public schools and higher education.

These are tough economic times and we must pull together to solve this problem with the least amount of harm to all New Mexicans.

Don't give up on the human race

To the editor:

RECENTLY I WAS visiting Ruidoso and went shopping at the mall on the main street there. I was waiting for the party I was with, and sat down on a bench out in front. We got up to leave, and I walked off and left my purse. We went on to another store in another area of town and I still had not noticed that my purse was missing. My sister-in-law received a call from my cell phone, and the girl at of the first store on the right as you enter the mall was calling her. It seems that a biker had found the purse on the bench and left it with her. Isn't this remarkable in this time of so much dishonesty and greed.

Let's not give up on the human race yet, as there are still some trustworthy people around. Everything was in my purse including about $200. I did not get to talk to the biker but want him to know that I now view all bikers with a different perspective. I did get to thank the clerk and appreciate both of them for being so honest. Thanks again to both of you.

To the editor:

I WOULD LIKE to express my disappointment in the recent Aspenfest Parade. It is not my intention to cast blame on any one person or group, but I would just like to ask: Where were the marching bands, the Honor Guard and where was the American Flag?

Granted, there were American flags on the two political party floats and a few small one on vehicles. I have been attending this parade for 40-plus years and have never been so disappointed and embarrassed. What do we need to do to make this a special event again?

TO MY DEMOCRATIC friends: It was the eighth year after the 911 debacle in New York, when something happened at one Memorial.

The number of victims of the disaster was mentioned a number of times. Each one of them, in my mind, is one too much. The get-together was mentioned and friends of mine invited me to come. As I like all such activities outside my home, I went.

I was greeted by a number of members of the Republican Party who I had known for years. We were the two Democrats.

Who had been the organizer of the event? The various police organizations? The Republicans? Were Democrats invited to help? If not, we are in serious trouble. Because that means the Republican party is an arm of the police, the so-called law enforcement? And if we Democrats were not invited, why not? Were the victims on the two towers all Republicans? Or, were we invited but many of us did not come. Wasn't the disaster equally Democratic and Republican?

The proceedings started. Entrance of the colors. I did not know that our police were a military organization. Where I was born, for many years policemen were considered public servant.

It is an old saying the power corrupts. And I know that when we give a little power to an average person, that person becomes a superior being. I have always disliked power. The proceedings went on. There were speakers and and of course, a religious invocation. Most of the speakers emphasized the physical hardships they had encountered after having been involved in rescue operations in the toxic-air pollution they encountered in their work. Pulmonary problems, cardio-vascular problems, neurological problems and not the least immune related that had cost some of them their jobs, their living standards, their marriages.

Yes, friends I believed them. But, you see, if we had a general healthcare system and a corresponding social system that prevents people literally to lose everything, we would remember the date 9/11 in a different way.

Mescalero grieves teen death

dstallings@ruidosonews.com

A 14-year-old Mescalero girl apparently committed suicide Sunday, the fourth suicide on the reservation in the past two months.

Two previous deaths of a 19-year-old man and a 16-year-old girl occurred in separate unrelated incidents in September. Another man also died from suicide in August.

The victim Sunday was a freshman at Ruidoso High School. Doris Dettmer with the high school said Tuesday that staff and students were "devastated" by the news. Grief counselors, suicide prevention specialists and others are available for students who want to talk to someone, she said.

"We have several people in the building helping as Native American liaisons and specialists with the Department of Health, Youth and Suicide Prevention," she said. "There is grief counseling in the library and an extra room for the kids who need to be alone. All municipal school and Mescalero counselors are available for adults or students.

"We've made it a priority and we will keep this in place as long as we feel the kids need the services, or comforting or just a hug."

As one mother who lives on the Mescalero Apache Reservation that abuts Ruidoso and whose daughter knew the girl, commented Monday, "They are too young to realize you can't come back from such a decision. I think, perhaps, they want to punish someone. Maybe they just feel hopeless, but suicide certainly is not an answer."

Home and Garden network, which has 95 million viewers, the highest of any cable channel," he said. "They run the dream house sweepstakes every year. They buy a lot and build a $1.5 million house in best places. They put a $600,000 cash price tag with it so the winner can pay the taxes. They film the site work, the construction and furnishing, and run a reality television show and at end, they give the house away. There's a Web site where people can enter everyday."

The 2010 dream home will be in San Pedro Overlook, a luxury real estate development located in a 625-acre protected nature reserve on the Turquoise Trail between Albuquerque and Santa Fe, Lautman said.

"We approached the network and told them New Mexico is looking at changing from chasing employers to focusing on the at-home class worker," he said. "We convinced them to overdesign the office of the future in the home and feature this new effort, because we are the first state to do this. We picked six communities we thought had healthy developers and physical resemblance to San Pedro Overlook. They are Taos, Santa Fe, Los Lunas, Mountainair, Cloudcroft and Ruidoso.

"At this point, we have a scoping document on how to market New Mexico as this HGTV program goes on."

People viewing the show may have one of two reactions, they would like to visit, which is good for tourism, or they might like to move to New Mexico, he said. "We'll have other (links) on the Web sites so they can look at other properties by major developers," he said. "The idea is this might be able to speed recovery."

The big rush is because the shows airs Jan. 1, and the home is given away on March 15.

"This sets up a window to launch recruiting of solitary workers," he said. "Otherwise that would be done last. So we are looking at how do you convert and recruit. We need to find out how many (solitary home workers) currently are in your community and the opportunities for recruiting. We've already started with HGTV and need to get the survey started. We don't know if it is 1,000, 3,000 or 500, or what the ambitions of the program should be. We need to find and tee them up, determine how much cost is involved and how much support might be received from the state. That's what we do next. This is to get a handle on what's out there."

Lautman was looking for a $4,000 commitment from Lincoln County, which he received in a 3-1 vote. Commissioner Jackie Powell voted against the motion by Commissioner Dave Parks. Commissioner Eileen Lovelace was absent. Rardin said he planned to present the proposal today to his Otero County Commission and thought the service agreement would be approved there too, allowing a more unified approach with two adjoining counties for the Lab group.

"To me, there already is an avenue for this through Workforce Solutions and the (Eastern New Mexico University-Ruidoso community) college and this is what they should be doing," Powell said, complaining of duplication of effort.

"Colleges and Workforce Solutions do not have it in their mission to get you to start a business," Lautman said.

Commission Chairman Tom Battin said he met the previous day with Mike

Elrod of the RVEDC and outgoing president of ENMU-Ruidoso, and, "He is 100 percent behind this and would support it with the facilities of the university. I think this is a marvelous opportunity with great potential. I think some will be surprised with the number of people who are doing (work at home) to different degrees, and the number who would jump on this opportunity."

His son is able to split his year six months in Switzerland and six months in New Jersey, because he can live anywhere and do his work from home, Battin said.

Commissioner Don Williams said the concept interests him because it amounts to economic development with little impact on infrastructure. "They're already there and working in their homes," he said.

In introducing himself, Lautman said, "I've been economic developer in New Mexico for 28 years, three years in Grants when the uranium industry collapsed, 12 years in Rio Rancho, eight years in Santa Teresa and 4 1/2 years with the Mesa del Sol project in Albuquerque."

"Recently a group of colleagues from around the country in response to the continued decline in the economic development business as a whole, set up a private non-profit business called Community Economics Laboratory, to understand better what's happening to the fundamentals of managing economics at the local level."

The basic theory of economic development it to grow the economy a little faster than the population so that everyone has a little more money than year before, he said. The reverse is true if the economy doesn't grow and there are more people to serve with less revenue.

Ruidoso Homecoming

PHOTOS BY HAROLD OAKES/RUIDOSO NEWS

TEEN SPOTLITE

Sponsored by Lincoln County DWI Prevention

Teen Spotlite features area teens that have made a difference in their community. Evelyn Aldavaz is the next teen in the Spotlite. Evelyn Aldavaz is currently in her senior year at Ruidoso High School. Evelyn is the daughter of Liz and Todd Blue. School activities include being a Ruidoso Warrior Cheerleader and taking college classes at Eastern New Mexico University through the dual-credit program.

In addition to concentrating on her education, Aldavaz is a proponent of giving back to the community. Involved in a variety of volunteer activities, she has participated in the Run for the B.E.A.C.H. and the Ruidoso River Clean-up events. Aldavaz is active in O.A.T.H. (Organization Against Trafficking Humans), a C.O.P.E. Therapy Center Volunteer, and serves as an intern for the Big Brothers Big Sisters Organization. With all of her activities, she still finds time to have a part-time job at The Texas Club.

Her parents, her younger brother Alex and her grandmothers are the people Alvaraz credits with influencing her life. Her future plans include attending college to pursue a doctorate degree in clinical psychology with the goal of working as a criminologist. Alvaraz is a definite asset to her community. Clara Farah commented, "Evelyn is an extraordinary student. She is full of life, caring, and committed to her school. Evelyn is sensitive and knowledgeable about her cultural background. She is a pleasure to teach and a gift to our community." That says it all.

"The demographics of the country switched in 2008, when there were not enough babies to replace the baby boomers," he said. "The reality is most communities will face, especially rural, a shortage of qualified workers, but the population won't shrink, because we live longer."

"The country won't get back to full employment until 2012 or 2014, he said. "How can you grow companies when we reach full employment and we're out of labor," Lautman said. "There always were four to 12 kids in a family until the boomers when it dropped to 1.7. It takes 2.1 for replacement. But that's a long-term problem. Short-term, in three years, we likely will see very little economic development, because all of the enterprises normally available to grow have contracted dramatically and will have to grow back through the excess (labor) capacity. They also are starved for debt capital. None is available since September 2008."

The past emphasis focused on finding employers to add jobs. "That whole idea is being challenged by the recession," Lautman said. "The question is how to do economic development in such a market. One of things we came up with instead of focusing on employers, we looked at what we might be able to do to grow economic based jobs one at a time at home."

"We started realizing because of the Internet and telecommunication exporting, a lot of services can be provided from home."

"Those sole proprietors with LLC, or a consultant like a radiologist reading X-rays from home, sole proprietary consultants whose work is able to be done anywhere, they are location neutral," he said. "A lot of single solitary enterprises are being set up in third bedroom. The fastest part of the economic base in almost any community is customer service from home."

He referred to about 20 workers in Silver City and 45 in Deming, "who sit at home with a headset and speak Spanish and help at a drive-up window in Kansas. A whole spectrum of companies found out how to get this work done from home."

Other varieties are contractors who work a couple of months on a project and telecommunicators who are tethered to a company, but do most of their work from home.

While big companies can't be recruited to Ruidoso, many solitary workers would like to live there for the quality of life, he said. They don't want to be in downtown Los Angeles.

People with their offices at home might invest more in their house and make their property more valuable, he added. The community also could tap into people with advanced training who must stay at home to care for an elderly parent or young children.

"There are lots of talented people willing to work right now," he said.

The first step is to determine by a survey the number already out there capable and who want to do the work to determine the scale, and to help them grow their billing. Recruitment and training could follow.

The community of Taos selected medical transcription, one of 50 different fields that can be performed at home, Lautman said.

"That work all went to India six or seven years ago to three communities," he said. "Two years ago, one of the contractors in India told (a company) if it didn't give them $20 million, really an extortion, it would put all of their clients' medical records on the Internet, so (Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act) made the medical industry bring all of that back and they can't export medical records business, so there is a demand right now for 30,000 medical transmission specialists."

The position requires 18 months of training after high school, another six to 18 months in a controlled environment, he said. "They make anywhere from $9 an hour to $60,000 a year, depending on how good and their specialties."

The training is where a community college becomes valuable and can produce a steady stream of graduates who want to stay in the area, he said. Others who have left, may be brought back home, if jobs were available.

For one third of the resources and no tax incentives, an area should be able to double the results from a traditional economic development recruitment effort, he contended. All results should be measurable.

Bigger cities will grab the bigger companies, Lautman said. "It will be a challenging time for rural small companies and we think this is one of the things that will work and will create jobs right now," he said. "You don't have to spend 20 months marketing and you don't have to build an industrial park and still compete with three or four other communities."

count and the expansion of the campus of Eastern New Mexico University, more services will become available for the handicapped residents of the county, Blackman said.

Statewide, the percentage returning their questionnaires a decade ago was 89 percent. "We were the lowest in the state," she said of Lincoln County. By 2010, experts estimate the population of the United States will be 310 million.

Mayor L. Ray Nunley said reminders about the census will be included in the monthly utility bills mailed to customers, who account for most of the heads of households and many second-home owners.

Blackman said the 10 questions on the census form require about 10 minutes to fill out. They ask for name, gender, age, race, ethnicity, relationship and whether the person owns or rents their home.

"Questions about how we live as a nation, our diversity, education, housing, jobs and more, are now covered in the American Community Survey, which is conducted every year throughout the decade and replaces the Census 2000 long-form questionnaire," she said. "Responses to the 2010 Census questionnaire are required by law and are used for statistical purposes only."

In other action, councilors:

- approved a MOU between the Police Department and the New Mexico Municipal League by which the agency will be assisted toward the goal of accredited status through compliance with adopted standards.
- approved the first renewal agreement with Mesa Verde Enterprises Inc., FNF New Mexico LLC, and Bonnell Sand & Gravel Inc., to supply the village Street Department with aggregate.
- approved a grant

agreement with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency for completion of Phase 1A construction for the regional wastewater treatment plant, requesting a time extension for six months to Feb. 28, 2010.

- approved a $25,000

agreement with the Ruidoso Valley Economic Development Corporation for professional services.

- approved a new restaurant beer and wine-only liquor license for Elena's Place at 2800 Sudderth Drive, formerly the location of Le Bistro.

Eagles soar over House

Hondo recovers and takes down district foe Cowboys to go 5-1

mcurran@ruidosonews.com

After a brief hiccup in Roy (Sept. 25) the Hondo Eagles returned to their lofty, high-flying ways with a 66-33 win over the House Cowboys. Both same-district squads came into Friday's contest with 4-1 records.

Hondo set the pace early-on with a TD, following that up with two more scores and led the first quarter 18-0.

By halftime, the Eagles led the visiting Cowboys 32-14.

House came back in the third quarter with 19 but the Eagles scored 12 to carry a 44-33 into the last period of play.

"Their receiver, No. 2, Bobby Lee, was good and it took us a little while to figure out how to defense him," Hondo head coach Brandon Devine said.

"Plus, the Cowboys had a good running back in No. 5, Jarod Allen, who was grabbing 5-yard gainers consistently.

"But once we resolved those two problems defensively, our boys were able to blank them in the last quarter."

The Eagles added 24 big points in the last quarter to come away with a 33-point win, go to 5-1 overall, and are undefeated (1-0) in district action.

"We came out and showed improvement from the Roy game," Devine said. "Both sides of the ball set a fast pace all evening for Hondo."

Devine went with a full roster of players, including

Capitan annihilates Son Blazers

MIKE CURRAN
mcurran@ruidosonews.com

The Capitan Tigers showed their true face Friday as they bludgeoned visiting Mesilla Valley, 77-14.

The Son Blazers came into Tigerland with a very respectable 3-1 record and had the top rated quarterback passer in senior Cody Correa.

Coming into the contest Correa had 1,549 yards in the air and had scored 17 touchdowns.

"We were ready for them," Capitan head coach Jason Hightower said. "They were a highly rated passing team and we defended them accordingly."

At the end of the first quarter the Tigers took command of the contest with a 47-0 lead.

At the end of the first 12 minutes of play quarterback Rudy Chavez had scored on a 75-yard keeper. Christian Quiroz ran in four TDs of 38, 45, 10 and 51-yards respectively.

Chavez also scored on a 51-yard punt return and connected with Logan Eshom for a 5-yard pass for six points.

And that was just the first quarter of play.

By halftime, the Tigers took a 67-8 lead into the locker rooms on a 65-yard run by Eshom and two TDs on runs of 35 and 12-yards by Colton Hufford.

Hufford scored another TD on a 14-yard run to give Capitan a 74-14 advantage going in to the last quarter.

In the last 12 minutes of action, eighth-grader, Reuben Mendoza, kicked a 24-yard field goal to give the Tigers a big 63 point victory.

"We were able to play all of our athletes, including freshmen and eighth-graders," Hightower said. "It was a great opportunity for them to compete against a future district opponent and be successful."

The Tigers will have an open date this weekend which will give them two weeks to prepare for a tough, upcoming district contest when they host Tularosa, Oct. 16.

The Tigers should be mindful of what happened to Hondo and Ruidoso recently when both of those teams played after an open date.

The open weekend might be a blessing in disguise for the Tigers.

As of Tuesday, 12 of 25 players were out sick.

"Hopefully, we can use the time to recover," Hightower said. "And when we get a full compliment back together we'll work on the mental toughness aspect of our game to prepare for Tularosa."

In the meantime, it looks as though Capitan's conditioning program is beginning to pay dividends.

"At least 16 of our 25 players take part in that class and it's proving to be a very positive aspect of our football program."

Turnovers blunt Ruidoso Warriors offense

mcurran@ruidosonews.com

For 47 minutes and 20 seconds, the Ruidoso Warriors led Friday's homecoming game against visiting Robertson but lost in the final 35 ticks on the clock, 14-7.

Five turnovers, including three lost fumbles and two interceptions, and two consecutive penalties (one, for a suspicious horse collar, and the second for holding) near the end of the game sealed the fate of the Warriors.

The penalties came at a crucial point in the contest and gave the Cardinals great field position in the closing moments and ultimately allowed Robertson to score the go-ahead TD with 35 seconds left in the game.

Ruidoso drew first blood with 1:40 left on the clock in the first quarter when running back Brendan Flack scored on a 20-yard run through the Cardinal line.

Jesse Scarafiotti tacked on a successful PAT and the Warriors led 7-0. Towards the end of the second quarter quarterback Darrell Carr hurt his right hand as he fumbled and was replaced by Flack.

The Warrior defense denied the visitors any score in the first half of play due mainly to a great goal line stand with under a minute to play.

The Cardinals had the ball on Ruidoso's three-yard line and looked poised to score.

For two downs the Warriors held firm and forced a fumble on the next offensive play which they recovered.

Robertson scored their first touchdown with 20 seconds left on the clock in the third quarter but the PAT was denied and RHS retained a 7-6 lead.

With less than three minutes left in the contest Robertson had the ball

NMSU women's soccer 2-0 in WAC after comeback win

JASON GROVES
For the Ruidoso News

LAS CRUCES — Four shots. Three goals.

Not a bad percentage for the New Mexico State women's soccer team on Sunday in a come-from-behind 3-2 victory over Idaho on Sunday at Aggie Memorial Stadium.

The end result — 2-0 in the Western Athletic Conference.

"We are in first place," Aggies goalkeeper Katie Graul said. "After the first week of conference, we are the leaders, which I bet nobody would expect."

Graul made some clutch saves to preserve the Aggies second win of the weekend to open Western Athletic Conference play and Alamogordo product Yolanda McMillion scored the game winner in the 63rd minute to complete a dramatic comeback effort after the Aggies trailed 2-0 at halftime.

"It's a little surprising but now we are growing together and playing as a team," McMillion said. "Now we are considered one of the teams to beat."

McMillion capped what was a wild second half with an unassisted goal of the 64th minute. McMillion ran onto a loose ball outside the Vandals' penalty box. Idaho goalkeeper Liz Boyden, untested in the first half, came off her line and attempted a slide tackle. Boyden couldn't secure the ball and McMillion jumped to her feet and knocked it in from 15 yards out.

The Aggies were outshot 7-1 in the first half despite creating four corner kicks.

Idaho outshot NMSU 11-4, but the only statistic that matters to Aggies coach Michael Needham is the six points that the Aggies picked up over the weekend with wins over Boise State and Idaho.

"If you looked at the conference layout, you would be happy with two ties or a win and a tie or a loss and a tie, but six points and it puts you halfway to the conference tournament," Needham said.

They finally converted on a corner seven minutes into the second half to cut a 2-0 halftime deficit in half. NMSU pulled level in the 60th minute on a Lauren Cope goal.

NMSU midfielder Jazmin Cardoso scored her team-best fourth goal of the season in the 52nd minute off a Baili Foutz' corner.

Cardoso had position in front of Idaho goalkeeper Liz Boyden and knocked it in with her right foot.

It was Foutz's third assist of the season and it created the Aggies' first shot of the game.

Cope tapped a Crystal Burns cross from the right sideline at the far post into an open net. Boyden mis-played the cross and Cope beat an Idaho defender to the ball at the far post.

Idaho scored two goals within four minutes to take a 2-0 halftime lead and force the Aggies to push forward.

Idaho forward Chelsea Small scored off an Aggies turnover in the penalty box and beat NMSU goalkeeper Katie Graul from six yards out in the 14th minute.

Two minutes later, Vandals forward Jennifer Hull beat Graul from 10 yards out. Hull was able to turn and shoot with her right foot after Jill Flockhart flicked on a throw-in from Lauren Layton.

"We just had to pressure them more and stay focused," McMillion said. "Once we had one goal, we knew we would get another."

"I don't know how much more I could have taken," Graul said.

eight-graders, and everybody played.

"The only Hondo player to get a sack was eighth-grader, James Chavez," Devine said. "Needless to say, he was excited."

Devine takes the 72-64 loss to non-district Roy in stride.

"If we have to lose, better that week to Roy than to district foe House," he said.

"House is tough, but, lucky for us, the Cowboys got off to a late start and they dropped some passes."

Senior Rico Lopez stood out for the Eagles offensively.

He gained 269 yards on 13 carries, had two kickoff returns for 138 yards and scored seven touchdowns.

Next up for the Eagles is a 2 1/2 hour trek to non-district Dora Friday, at 4 p.m.

"This week in practice, we will concentrate on fixing our mistakes," Devine said.

"We tend to focus on the here and now which is Dora. Yes, we won the championship (6-man) last year. But that was then. It's time to put that away, forget about it and see to the matters at hand.

"We're always trying new things. For instance, we like to try fresh wrinkles on our breaks (as the players come out on the field).

This season the Coyotes switched from 8-man football to 6-man and it will be the first time these two squads will have played each other.

"We'll have to watch out," Devine said. "They could be tough."

near midfield.

It was at that point two successive, long penalties against RHS gave the visitors excellent field position near Ruidoso's 20-yard line.

The Warriors held for three downs but on a fourth and eight, the Cardinal quarterback threaded the needle and completed a pass to the one-yard line.

On their second try the Cardinal's runner plunged across the goal line to take the lead.

A successful two-point conversion put Robertson up by seven and handed the Warriors a bitter defeat.

According to RHS head coach Kief Johnson, 24 of his players were sick during the week and the team missed two days of valuable practice.

By Wednesday, the squad was back to workouts and things were looking up.

During Friday's contest, the Warriors marched down to Robertson's 30-yard line twice and came away with zero points.

"When our offense gets into the 'scoring zone' we have to learn to hang on to the ball and punch it across," Johnson said. "Most of the time we went three and out. We never got it going."

"Turnovers and penalties killed us. As a result, our defense was on the field far too long.

Johnson, his staff and the team had some positions on defense.

Rusty Johns made some big sticks and Ralph Miranda hit one Cardinal player so hard he knocked him out.

Miranda may only weigh 150, but pound-for-pound, he's tough.

"Flack and Kayle Frierson came up with a lot of tackles (eight and five, respectively) but that's not always a good sign when your safeties have to make that many."

Next up, the 0-3 Cobre Indians will visit RHS Friday at 7 p.m.

Last year, the Indians defeated Ruidoso by one point.

Montes crowned Eastern New Mexico State Fair Queen

JULIE CARTER
jcarter@ruidosonews.com

The 2008-09 Lincoln County Fair Queen Haley Montes, of Hondo, earned the right to wear a new crown.

Haley Montes, 17, was crowned Sunday, as the Eastern New Mexican State Fair Queen.

Montes was a week ago competing for the New Mexico State Fair Queen when she decided to try for the Eastern title.

"The clothes were ready, the horse was ready and I was ready," she said. "So we decided to go for it."

Montes was one of seven girls competing for the title in Roswell. The contestants were Alyssa Packer, Roswell; Tracy Young, Roswell; Kristy Rogers, Artesia; Erin Arko, Eagle's Nest; Stephanie Miller, Dexter; Kassi Shelko, Clovis; and Haley Montes, Lincoln County.

Montes was named Miss Congeniality (as voted by the contestants), Miss Photogenic, as well as winning the Personal Interview, Speech and Impromptu Question contests. Shelko won the Modeling contest and Miller won the Horsemanship.

First runner up for the crown was Shelko and with Arko named second runner up.

Haley Montes was crowned the 2009-10 Eastern New Mexico State Fair Queen after the contest Sunday in Roswell.

"I had a very blessed day," said Montes. "I was so shocked when they called my name as the winner."

Montes said the hardest part of the contest was when they had to give a "30-second commercial" about the ENMSF.

"Fortunately, my speech was about the fair and all the things here to see and do, so I was able to pull from that," she said.

Montes won a list of prizes as well as a saddle, buckle, crown and a $1,000 scholarship.

Montes is a senior at Capitan High school and the daughter of Thomas and Renee Montes.

Her duties as the new ENMSF queen will be to promote the fair and be present at fair events.

"I was at the pig show as a contestant Sunday night, in the parade on Monday and at the goat show Monday night, but I have to get back to school. I've been gone a lot the last two weeks. I'll be back for the livestock sale and the PBR this weekend."

The new queen was unavailable for an interview immediately following the contest because she had to leave to go wash her pigs for the show that night.

Not just another pretty face under that crown. She's a dedicated livestock showman as well.

Fall cleanups in scheduled for county

Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority and area municipalities have scheduled annual spring cleanups for local residents.

The Authority will provide a crew, roll off containers and equipment between 8 a.m. and noon in the county locations.

Bulk items such as old kitchen appliances, hot water heaters, construction waste and old furniture are among the items that will be accepted.

Yard waste will not be accepted at these pickups.

County locations and scheduled dates include:

Oct. 10: Sweet Water Hill area;

Oct. 17: Historic Lincoln Waste Disposal Site;

Oct. 24: Nogal Fire Station;

Oct. 31: Loma Grande and Magado Creek, Highway 37;

Nov. 7: Rancho Ruidoso Valley Estates;

Nov. 14: Hwy. 48 at Smokey Bear rest stop;

Nov. 21: Biscuit Hill.

Senior citizens residing in the above areas who need free assistance in transporting discarded bulk items to the pickup site may call the Solid Waste Office at 1-877-548-8772 ahead of the scheduled event.

For more information on cleanups, contact the Solid Waste Authority office at 378-4697, or toll free at 1-877-548-8772. The clean up schedule is available on the Authority Web site at www.lcswa.org.

COUNTY BRIEFS

Capitan Chamber

The Capitan Chamber of Commerce regular business meeting for October will be held at the Capitan Public Library at 6:30 p.m., Monday, Oct. 12.

Everyone is invited to attend including members and the public.

Elections will be held at this meeting for officers and the board of directors.

Please plan on attending. Members must be present to run for office and to vote.

The Capitan Chamber of Commerce and Visitor's Center is now located at 104-A Lincoln, in the Oso Art complex.

Fall hours of operation will be Tuesday through Saturday, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., based on the availability of our volunteers.

Special events and holiday hours will be announced. For more information, please call 354-2273.

Public hearing

The Village of Capitan, New Mexico will hold a public hearing in conjunction with the regularly scheduled meeting on Tuesday, Oct. 13, beginning at 6:30 p.m., at the Village Hall meeting room. The public hearing is concerning the following:

1. An Ordinance amending Title 1 Administration, Chapter 7, Personnel Policies and Procedures, Section 3.16, Employee Permanent Record.

The public is invited to attend the Public Hearing.

Comments or inquiries should be directed to Village Hall, PO Box 246, Capitan, NM, 88316; 575-354-2247 between the hours of 7 a.m. and 5:30 p.m., Monday through Thursday.

'Zozo Woman's Club

The Carrizozo Woman's Club will hold its regular monthly meeting on Thursday, Oct. 8, at 6 p.m., at the clubhouse at 11th and D Avenue in Carrizozo.

A home-cooked dinner of shrimp jambalaya will be served and then the members will finalize plans for the Greater Federation of Women's Clubs District 4 Convention which will be hosted by the Carrizozo Woman's Club on Oct. 16-17.

Woman's Club members from Silver City, T. or C. Alamogordo, Las Cruces, Ruidoso and Carrizozo will be attending. There will be speakers, workshops, an Arts Contest, a Wine and Cheese Reception and a Friday and Saturday night banquet.

The Carrizozo Woman's Club is a service organization that was founded in 1920, and is still a vibrant and active force for the betterment of the community.

The club welcomes new members and anyone who is interested in joining should call President Tona Macken at 354-0760 for more information.

Recycle E-waste

Carrizozo is hosting a recycling day for e-waste on Oct. 31, 9 a.m. to noon, at the town hall. "Celebrate Halloween by tossing out those old electronics" the poster reads.

Drop off obsolete, outdated and replaced electronic items.

Volunteers will take the items collected in Carrizozo to Ruidoso for their e-waste recycling day, Nov. 7.

For more information, to volunteer to help or to schedule a pickup if you are unable to make a drop off, call Ray Dean at 648-4697 or Judy Fitz at 648-2514.

Annual inspection

HAROLD OAKES/RUIDOSO NEWS

Lieutenant Duane Goar and Chief Wolfgang Born inspect a Ruidoso Police Department patrol car at the Ruidoso Police Department Saturday, before the Aspen Fest parade. The annual inspection includes the vehicles maintenance and cleanliness, officer's certification and driver's licenses and emergency equipment. Each year Born awards the David Pino Award to the officers with the cleanest new and older model police vehicles. This year Sergeant Joel Martin won the David Pino Award for new vehicles and Officer Larry Smith won the award for an older model. Pino, a Ruidoso Police Lieutenant, died from liver cancer in February 2006, just about a year after he captured Justin Smith, a fugitive featured on America's Most Wanted, in Ruidoso. Pino was meticulous about keeping his police unit clean.

MOTORCYCLE RALLY BRIEFS

James Wayne Jones
James Wayne Jones passed away at the age of 58 at the Providence hospital in El Paso Texas on October 4th 2009. Wayne was born on August 11, 1951, in El Paso, and helped his father run Jones Western Store for many years. Wayne has been a long time Ruidoso resident and local merchant. Wayne is survived by his three sons - Eric, Cody, Justin, daughter-in-law Tamara and grandsons Anthony, Grayson, Buffy and Ozzie. Other surviving relatives are mother Mary Dell Jones, sister Bonnie Schulenburg and step brother Wesley Smith. There will be a memorial service at the J-J Country Church on Sunday October 11, 2009 at 3:00pm. Funeral will be held at Rest Lawn in El Paso on Thursday October 8th 2009. Memorial and Funeral contributions can be sent to P.O. Box 1087 Ruidoso NM 88355 Care of Justin or Eric Jones.

Albert A. Stubbs
Memorial remembrance services for Albert A. Stubbs, 85 will be conducted at 3:00 pm Saturday October 10, 2009 at Trinity United Methodist Church in Roswell. Stubbs was a long time newspaperman in New Mexico who passed away October 4, 2009 with his family by his side.
A native of Roswell, Al leaves his wife of 65 years Florence Caryl (Sterrett) Stubbs whom he married three days before he left to serve his country in 1944. He also is survived by three children Bruce Stubbs and wife Judy of Roswell, Charles Stubbs and wife Judy of Tijeras and Caryl Avery of La Luz. Seven grandchildren and 4 great-grandchildren also survive him as do his sisters Jean Stubbs Schwert and Shirley Stubbs Spencer.
Stubbs was associated with the Roswell Daily Record for 25 years, 19 of which he served as editor when he retired in 1974. He also enjoyed being editor for other papers including the Lincoln County News, Alamogordo Daily News, and the Ruidoso News. After retiring from the Record, Al served as Development Officer for Eastern New Mexico University-Roswell and was a realtor with KC Realty in Ruidoso.
After serving with the Army Air Corps 410th Bomb Group in Europe during World War II, Stubbs graduated from the University of Kentucky in 1948. Of his interest in journalism Al said "The spark was lit, when as a High School student, I dropped into the Record newsroom on December 7, 1941 and watched the story come in over the AP wire."
Al also honored his commitment to his community by serving as elder, deacon and trustee at various times in the First Presbyterian Church, Board member of the Eastern New Mexico State Fair and as President of Roswell Rotary Club. In 1966, Stubbs was elected President of the New Mexico Press Association, and in 1987, he was selected to be in the New Mexico Press Association Hall of Fame. Stubbs' editorial writing earned him the distinction of being the only New Mexican to win the Associated Press editorial writing award three years in a row from 1960 to 1962. At one time while editor in Roswell he served as Civil Defense Director for Roswell. On July 30, 1974, the newspaper held "Al Stubbs Day" and co-workers and friends recognized his accomplishments and presented him with a special Al Stubbs issue of the paper.
But perhaps Al is best known for his editorial column, which became the gauge for community issues. Some of those local issues included getting Eastern New Mexico Medical Center built. His editing also helped the Daily Record earn top general excellence awards in 1965, 1967 and 1974. Al Stubbs said of his days in the reporting business "He would like to be remembered as a person who carried fairness and objectivity as a personal philosophy." In lieu of flowers the family requests donations be made to the ENMU-R Foundation, PO Box 6000 Roswell, NM 88202.
Arrangements have been entrusted to Ballard Funeral Home and Crematory. An online registry can be accessed at www.ballardfuneralhome.com

Meet Dangerfield...a cool cat with a cool attitude. He is about 5 months old and has beautiful, symmetrical tuxedo markings. Dangerfield came to the shelter several months ago after he was injured from being struck by a car. He has healed completely and is anxious to be adopted. Dangerfield is very athletic and loves to play with other cats. As much as he loves other cats, he also loves to be held and cuddle. Dangerfield is an amazing cat who really needs to find a permanent home.
