Sunday's White Fire destroyed five homes, but a wind shift helped halt the spread of flames

Trees erupt in flames on the ridge north of Ruidoso Downs Racetrack and Casino Sunday afternoon. The White fire has burned 10,089 acres, five homes and Cowboy's Riding Stables. The area of Ruidoso Downs north of the Rio Ruidoso was evacuated.

Hundreds battle fire; cause under investigation

More than 400 fire fighters continue to work to contain and extinguish the White Fire that burned through 10,089 acres of Lincoln National Forest in east Ruidoso and north Ruidoso Downs.

"In the area along Highway 70 where there were lots of flames last night there are only a few tonight," Bureau Chief of the Department of Homeland Security and Emergency Management Don Scott said at the Monday 9 p.m. briefing.

The fire started about 1 p.m. Sunday in the National Forest behind the White property in the 400 block of Gavilan Canyon Road and, propelled by winds that gusted up to 61 miles an hour, spread quickly over Gavilan Ridge and raced along the area bordering Ruidoso Downs and Ruidoso Downs Racetrack.

The cause of the fire is under investigation by the U.S. Forest Service. It is listed as human-caused.

Officials ordered the evacuation of the casino at Ruidoso Downs Racetrack at about 2:30 p.m. Sunday and then evacuated everyone north of the Rio Ruidoso in the area known as Spaghetti Flats.

There was also a voluntary evacuation of homes along Gavilan Canyon Road. Those residents were allowed to return to their homes Sunday night.

The fire continued to spread east, burning three homes in Ruidoso Downs and destroying the office of Cowboys Riding Stables and forcing an evacuation of residents on the north side of Highway 70 within 10 miles to the east of Ruidoso Downs Racetrack.

The fire jumped Highway 70 just west of River Ranch RV Park and destroyed two homes in that area.

Officials confirmed Monday that the fire did not cross Forest Road 120 to the east.

With lighter winds on Monday, aircraft flew sorties to drop water and slurry on the fire.

The aircraft were also able to accurately map the fire, and the acreage burned increased to 10,089 acres from the 6,900 acres estimated earlier.

'Strange survivors'

■ Many four-legged friends were evacuated and saved when the fire broke out

DIANNE STALLINGS

Barbara Green watched her home and part of her Cowboys Stables business go up in flames during The White Fire Sunday, but picking through the charred rubble of her house Monday, she was upbeat and optimistic.

"I'm up here now and finding all kinds of strange things that survived," she said of the four-bedroom doublewide structure. "I got out with my three dogs and I hope my cat survived. I don't know yet, but my son's house and my brother's houses made it, while my house and the man on top of the hill didn't."

"I'll rebuild just as soon as I can get it scraped down. I love where I live and I'm not leaving. There's nothing to burn now, it's very clear. I can see back into the forest for the first time."

Sixteen of the 17 horses she owned with the trail riding business also survived through the efforts of family, friends and the owners of Grindstone Stables.

When the fire first posed a danger, her daughter-in-law and business employee moved the horses to Highlands Street, one street away near the Sports Theater.

As the fire moved closer, eventually burning two barns at the Ruidoso Downs Race Track and Casino, "all kinds of people with trucks and hay and trailers came and hauled them over to Grindstone," Green said. "Kevin (Kennedy of Grindstone Stables) told us we can leave them there as long as we wanted. I can't move back to the stalls yet, because I have no water."

An office with an apartment and a tack room burned, but stalls on the other side of the structure weren't touched, she said.

Green and her husband bought the business in 2001. They lived across from the stables for 15 years and for the last seven she lived in her hilltop home that burned.

She had the business up for sale, because as she put it, her husband was the "horse person," and he died three years ago.

Stephanie Kennedy from Grindstone said she heard about the fire from a friend in Alto, who was worried her stables might be affected. Shortly after that, a friend who lives on Gavilan

Sonic booms

Officials with the 49th Wing have announced the flying schedule for the week of April 4-10.

Sonic booms could occur today, April 6, from 7:30 a.m. to 10:30 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. to 3:30 p.m.; Thursday, from 7:30 a.m. to 10:30 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. to 3:30 p.m.; and Friday, from 7 a.m. to 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. to 3 p.m.

At this time no flights are scheduled for Saturday, April 9 or Sunday, April 10.

Schedules can change based on a variety of reasons and scheduled times do not always mean sonic booms will occur.

For additional information, please visit the Holloman Web site at www.holloman.af.mil.

"We believe in prayer and in the medical skills of the doctors and he is healing awesome," she said. The accident occurred March 25.

A garage sale is scheduled April 15-16 at Club Gas, and friends established a benefit account at First National Bank of Ruidoso in his name. Donations would help offset the family's transportation and lodging costs.

Collection center

The newest solid waste collection center in Lincoln County has opened.

The Espeula Arena - Hondo collection location, at the site of the Hondo Senior Citizen Center, has a compactor for disposal of household trash.

The Greentree Solid Waste Authority said the center replaced the solid waste dumpsters that had been nearby, along the side of U.S. Highway 380. The dumpsters had been the site of illegal dumping in the past. The former dumpsters location been frequently named the solid waste authority's "Dirty Dozen," which listed the 12 worst illegal dumping sites in Lincoln County. The New Mexico Department of Transportation had also pressed for removal of the dumpsters along the highway.

The compactor, only for garbage from inside a home, is available seven days a week. The disposal of miscellaneous waste and metal will be available on the first Friday and first Saturday of each month

Teen needs help

Tristin Bloomquist was riding Delta when the filly apparently was spooked by a gust of wind and threw the 14-year-old, then kicked him in the face.

The Ruidoso High School freshman was taken to the Lincoln County Medical Center and transferred to an Albuquerque hospital, where they determined his nose was broken in six places, his eye socket in two places, he suffered fractures and cuts on the left side of his face and will need extensive dental work.

Tristin and his mother Heather, who works at Club Gas, were on their way Monday to a specialist to determine the extent of damage to his eye.

COURTESY

Hondo Valley residents with questions about the new location can call the solid waste authority at 575-378-4697 or 877-548-8772.

Republicans meet

State Representatives Zach Cook, Dennis Kintigh, and Rod Adair our NM Senator will be the featured speakers at the regular monthly meeting of the Republican Party of Lincoln County on Monday, April 11, according to Jack Shuster, 1st Vice Chair of the Republican Party of Lincoln County. Dinner is set for 6 p.m. and the meeting will begin at 6:30 p.m. at Cree Meadows Country Club in Ruidoso.

Representatives Cook and Kintigh will discuss the recent 2011 60-day legislative session and will be available to answer questions from the floor.

In addition, Party Chairman John Billingsley will brief members on what is happening in New Mexico's United States Senate race and upcoming events with the Republican Party of Lincoln County, the Republican Party of New Mexico and nationally. "We pledge to make government more transparent in its actions, careful in its stewardship, and honest in its dealings," Billingsley said, pointing out that the mission of the Republican Party is to effectively communicate conservative principles to the people of New Mexico.

The Republican Party of Lincoln County works hard to represent the interests of Lincoln County Republicans and money raised through memberships helps to make sure that the best candidates make it to the ballot and get the support needed to win. Memberships in the Republican Party of Lincoln County will be available at the meeting.

To help with a head count for the optional $14-per-person dinner, contact Barbara Dickinson at 336-7822 by 6 p.m. on Saturday, April 9.

The Republican Party of Lincoln County seeks to inform the electorate on issues of the day as well as political party activities and invites the concerned community to become involved.

For information call 258-2570 or email office@rplcnm.org, or stop in at Room 313 in the Lincoln Tower at 1096 Mechem Dr. in Ruidoso.

A house fire Monday destroyed a residence in the Rancho Ruidoso Valley Estates subdivision. The blaze was reported about 4:20 p.m. in the 1400 block of Little Creek Road.

Bonito Volunteer Fire Department Chief Carl Bartley said the cause of the fire was electrical though an investigation is continuing.

Lincoln County Emergency Services Director Travis Atwell said an insurance adjuster would also be brought in.

In addition to firefighters from the Bonito Volunteer Fire Department, an engine from the Ruidoso Fire Department, an engine from the Capitan Volunteer Fire Department and a truck from the U.S. Forest Service responded.

A total of 15 fire personnel were at the structure fire. No one was injured in the incident.

The home was owned by George and Bertha Polaco, said Atwell. Bertha Polaco is Ruidoso's deputy village clerk.

The subdivision is serviced by a community water supply equipped with fire hydrants.

Village responds to lawsuit by former fire chief

dstallings@ruidosonews.com

Village officials were not surprised when former fire chief Tom Gavin filed a lawsuit against them claiming whistleblower retaliation, violation of his constitutional right to free speech, wrongful termination and violation of the state law on inspection of public records.

Deny allegations

But in a statement issued Tuesday, they denied the allegations in Gavin's suit. The statement was not prepared in time to be included in a story on the lawsuit that appeared Friday in the Ruidoso News.

"Because of the nature of his separation from the village, we frankly expected the lawsuit no matter what the outcome of his post disciplinary proceeding is," Village Attorney Dan Bryant wrote in the prepared statement. "The Village denies the material allegations of Mr. Gavin's complaint. We assert that our decision to end his employment with the Village was appropriate and was necessary to serve the best interest of the citizens of Ruidoso.

Suit turned over

"Decisions to terminate any employees that work with the Village are always difficult and that kind of decision is only made after careful thought, deliberation and consideration of all possible alternatives. That is precisely the kind of thought and consideration that was put into the decision to end Mr. Gavin's employment with the Village. The lawsuit has been turned over to the

New Mexico Self Insurer's Fund."

The village is being represented in the lawsuit by Rich Olson of the Hinkle Firm in Roswell.

Gavin contends in the suit filed against the Village Council and Village Manager Debi Lee that he was targeted, because he refused to compromise on the handling of fire violations at a local restaurant and at the village's convention center, and as a private citizen worried about safety, reported the situations to the State Fire Marshal.

OUR OPINION

The day the ridges burned

We've been lucky and good – so far

Those who know the lay of the land and talk to the weather gods have had a bad feeling about this year's fire season. Call it a hunch. Even Ruidoso News headlines portended a situation.

"Fire season talk of the town," read the March 23 edition. "Fire worries heat up," was the April 1 lead story.

Two days later, the White Fire, which is under investigation, torched the forest in an area that raised alarm from Gavilan Canyon to the race-track and beyond.

We suffer for those who lost their homes and animals. We also consider ourselves lucky and good – lucky that a cold front Sunday night tamped down winds; good, because that's what we are as a community, with a lot of heart and plenty of experience dealing with such events.

We know calamities elicit the best in human nature, and we saw it here, from doctors and pastors making themselves available, to lodgers opening their rooms. We saw it in the wise and hardened faces of responders and willing volunteers, our heroes, who've seen this movie before.

Beware the cruelest month. The April forecast is windy. Call it a hunch.

Mining the state's treasure

The state's roughly 240 "active registered" mines, 83 percent of them producing aggregate and stone, employed 5,156 people in 2009, paid them $287 million, and produced minerals worth about $1.8 billion – good for a ranking of 20th nationally without counting oil and gas.

The big value numbers come from coal ($736 million in 2009), potash ($491 million), and copper ($290 million and hiring again).

Except for potash and salt mines around Carlsbad, the mines are located in the southwest quadrant and in a broad and mostly rural northern arc that starts at Raton, swings south to include Belen and Albuquerque, edges north and west to Grants and then goes to the Arizona.

Finding information about mining in New Mexico in one place, coherently presented, isn't easy. The good stuff here comes from a PowerPoint presentation (yes, a useful PowerPoint!) titled "Mining Issues Facing New Mexico" and summarizing the state's wealth of mineral resources.

Virginia T. "Ginger" McLemore put the presentation together a few months ago for the Leadership New Mexico civic training group. McLemore is a kid from blue collar Baltimore who fell in love with earth science in the fifth grade and grew up to be senior economic geologist and minerals outreach liaison for the Bureau of Geology and Mineral Resources in Socorro.

An economic geologist, McLemore explains, is one who considers a mineral deposit within the framework of whether enough ore exists to make a mine. Is the deposit "economic"? That's the question.

Some might wonder about the idea of a minerals outreach liaison. For McLemore, the need is obvious. "People need to know where their world comes from in order to have an understanding," she says.

Mining issues start with the geology being in control. The big picture issue is that minerals "are needed to maintain our standard of living, every for green technologies, like solar, wind," the presentation says. But "legacy issues of past mining activities form negative public perceptions of mining." These perceptions of the past are partly balanced by mining being done differently today than 20 years ago.

With just two copper mines, Chino and Tyrone near Silver City, New Mexico was the nation's number three producer in 2009. The mines are beautiful, large-scale earth sculptures. The state has seven other potential copper deposits, including the Copper Flat property, mined briefly about 25 years ago.

Gold and silver production has been tracked since 1804. Three of the seven gold and silver deposits are in Santa Fe County.

Potash output from around Carlsbad made New Mexico the nation's leader in 2009. A principal use of potash is in fertilizers.

All sorts of industrial minerals come from New Mexico. We are first in zeolites, fifth in pumice, first in perlite, 13th in gypsum and 11th in salt.

A clever slide in the presentation shows a Prius and points to the minerals needed in the battery, glass, the LCD screen, the component sensors and the like. Another slide points out that New Mexico has minerals needed in green technologies such as solar panels, wind turbines and batteries.

The 17 "rare earth" elements are found across the state. The elements are used in products such as batteries, superconductors and lasers. China produces 97 percent of the rare earth elements.

Uranium is New Mexico's biggest present potential.

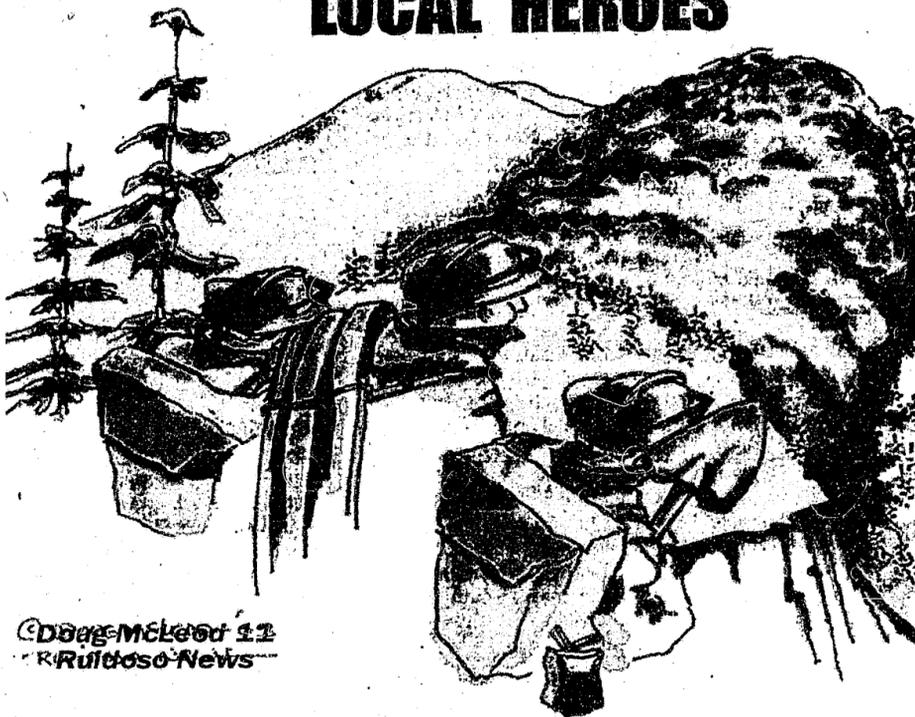

To find the PowerPoint, go to http://geoinfo.nmt.edu/staff/hom_e.cfm and scroll until you find McLemore's listing. On her "current projects" list, hit "Mining in New Mexico." There you will see "Presentation given at Leadership New Mexico." Click on "presentation" and sit back. The 49 MB file takes a while to download. The quality of the information is worthy of the size of the file.

Village's stance on JUB arrogant

To the editor:

RECENT STATEMENTS by Ruidoso officials concerning the viability of the Joint Use Board and its function have been inflammatory and callous.

An example: "I think we need to dissolve that baby as quick as we possibly can and get on with the business of the Village," shows the Village's arrogance and unwillingness to discuss or compromise on issues they disagree with.

The JUB was developed to be an oversight board involving issues of planning, construction and regional control of wastewater treatment facilities.

With the completion and start-up of the new plant, the JUB's importance continues to be significant.

Numerous articles in the Ruidoso News have been written about the inability of the City of Ruidoso Downs and the Village of Ruidoso to select a county representative.

The city originally voted against the county's first selectee then approved Commissioner Powell at the Jan. 24 meeting by a 4-0 vote. Under the JUB agreement, the Ruidoso Downs Council's approval now awaits the Village's. The political aspect that now exists concerning the county's representative needs to be put aside and obligations fulfilled.

There are two constants involving the JUB. Ruidoso Downs is a partner with the village with equal representation of members on the board, and the county has a position as a member. Until the original agreement is modified or replaced with an updated version, the municipalities' governing bodies must adhere to what has been agreed upon and vote in the county's selection as the fifth member of the board.

Winners, losers in economic development

In legislative post mortems, we're hearing that the economy wasn't much of a priority this year for either party.

Not necessarily so. Economic development bills may have been overshadowed by bigger dramas, but some good bills made it to the governor's desk; others were impaled on ideology and ignorance.

The most obvious winner this year was the locomotive fuel tax credit to help Union Pacific Railroad create its $400 million rail hub in Santa Teressa, a project mothballed since 2007 by the economy. A slam dunk, you might think, but no.

Sen. Cynthia Nava, one of the state's most able lawmakers, was steering the bill through a floor session, when two of her fellow Democrats tried to "improve" the bill by adding encumbrances. Sen. Stephen Fischmann, overly concerned about any benefits to Texans, argued against Nava, his fellow Las Cruces, even though he well knew what the project means for southern New Mexico.

In a committee hearing, Sen. John Arthur Smith, of Deming, dismissed such arguments: "For those of us who live down there, El Paso has taken care of our charity cases for years. We can't ignore what Texas had done in accepting our patients. We're extremely dependent on El Paso, and they're somewhat dependent on us."

Nava dodged the amendments and the bill passed. Sen. Tim Keller got three eco-development bills through to tighten state contract preferences in favor of New Mexico contractors, order a study state incentives, and require state government to buy a minimum amount of food from New Mexico producers and processors.

Keller's streak ran out on the Red Tape Reduction Act. In New Mexico, the only state without a uniform Administrative Procedures Act, each agency has its own way of making rules. This bill, by Keller, an Albuquerque Democrat, and Rep. Tom Taylor, a Farmington Republican, would have standardized state rule making.

On the Senate floor, Sen. Rod Adair, Roswell Republican, successfully amended their bill to eliminate the state cap-and-trade program, and Keller killed the bill rather than upset a painstaking compromise between industry and environmentalists, to the consternation of the governor and lawmakers. Adair won the battle but lost the war.

In general, regulatory streamlining fared poorly, despite being a priority for both the governor and the interim Economic and Rural Development Committee. Dead committee bills would have required agencies to respond to permit applications within certain time limits, allowed a majority vote of both houses to nullify administrative rules or regulations, and mandated impact statements for new rules.

Two novel economic development bills survived. One by Sen. Carroll Leavell, a Jalisco Republican, makes algae eligible for the alternative energy product tax credit.

Another creates a specialty license plate for golfers, with $25 of the $35 cost used to promote golf tourism. Sen. Mary Jane Garcia questioned the need. The Las Cruces Democrat apparently doesn't know any golf nuts or realize that the tourism industry brags, justifiably, on our golf courses. She also complained about the amount of water they use, but most are either Arizona-style, desert courses or use municipal gray water.

The Economic Development Department had two wins and one loss. Small businesses have another two years to claim the research and development tax credit. The same bill failed last year, and Economic Development Secretary-designate Jon Barela asked the sponsor to try again. The second sustains the popular New Mexico 9000 program, which will, for a fee, provide training in quality standards. Another Barela-backed bill, to extend the Angel Investment Tax Credit to 2015, died. How foolish! This credit for individuals who invest in startups has been hugely successful.

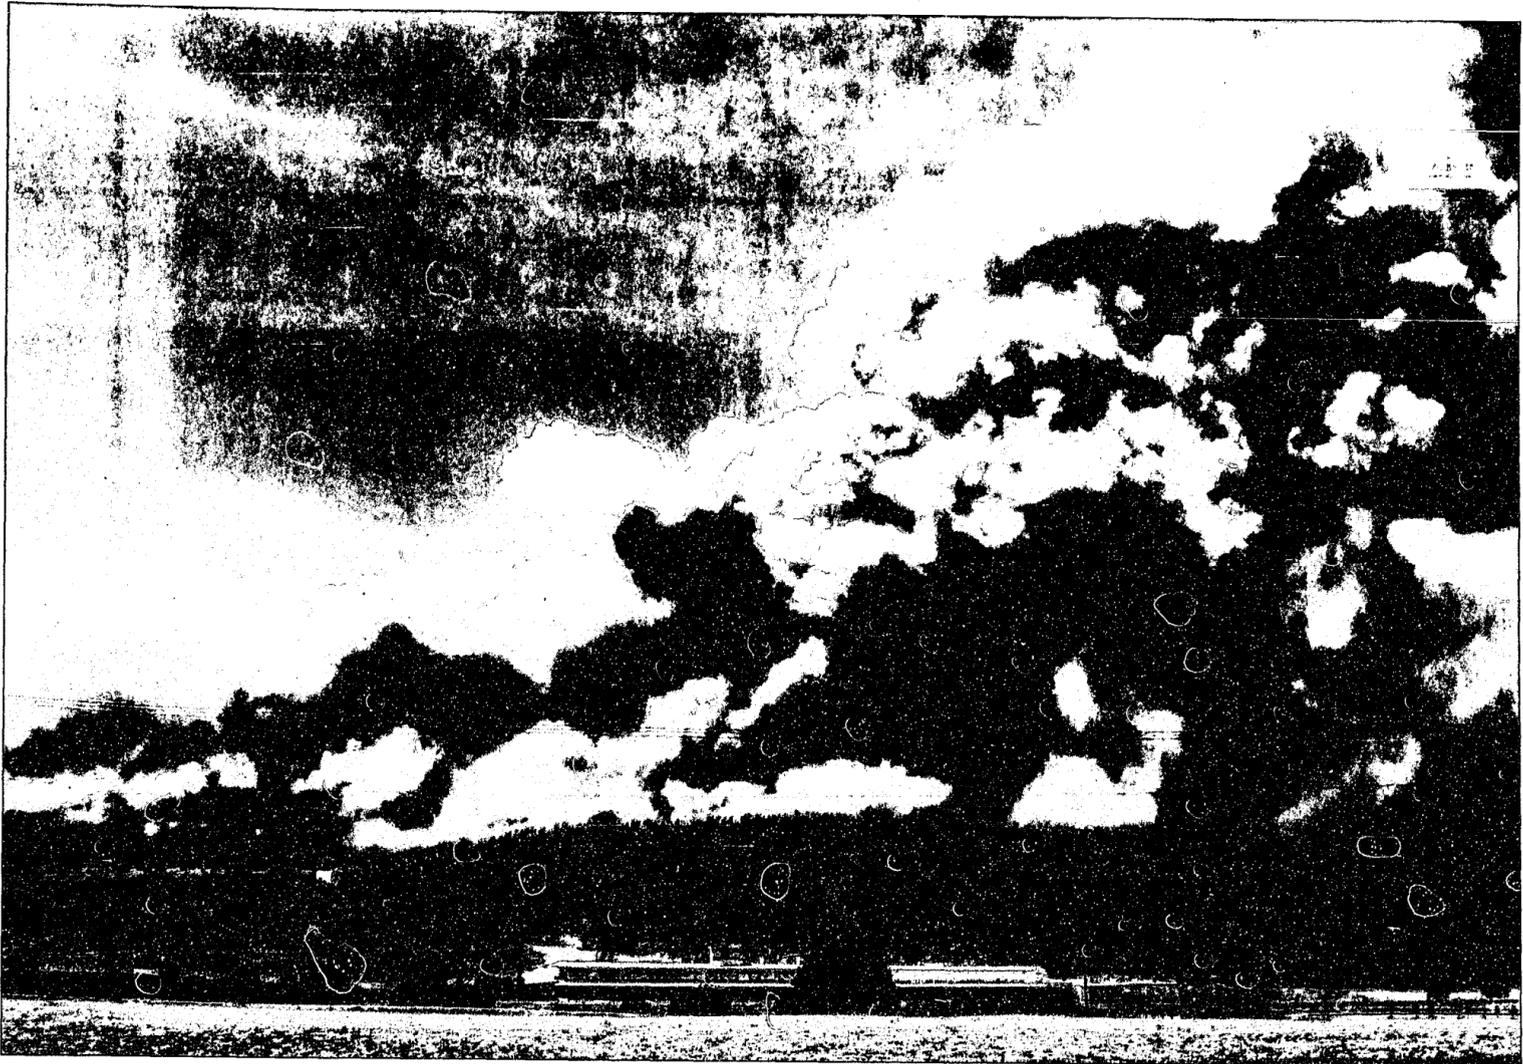

Another disappointment: The Senate inexplicably failed to confirm the well respected Barela. Because the governor has no experience in economic development, much rests on Barela's shoulders. Let's hope for something new. Something bold, even.

Residents evacuated from the Spaghetti Flats area of North Ruidoso Downs and residents of the River Ranch RV Park were allowed to return to their homes at 3 p.m., Monday.

"We now have 401 fire fighters on this fire," Type II Incident commander John Pierson said Monday evening. "That is three times as many fire fighters as you had on the fire yesterday."

Pierson said the crews continue to work to put a containment line around the fire. On Monday they were able to get 20 percent of the fire area contained. A Tuesday update came after press time.

"We also have crews working on the south side of Highway 70 walking that area to make sure that the fire is completely out," Pierson said.

Winds increased Tuesday, but that had been expected. Pierson said they were concentrating on smoldering spots near the affected subdivisions and along Highway 70.

Pierson said the higher winds would make smoke more visible from Ruidoso and surrounding areas.

An unrelated house fire occurred in Rio Rancho sub-division north of Ruidoso Monday afternoon.

"The home was a total loss but we were able to keep the fire from getting into the forest," Ruidoso Assistant Fire Chief Harlan Vincent said.

Scott said they are looking at the possibility that intermittent power losses in the area may have caused that fire.

Scott added that the problems of power and water are now being addressed.

Ruidoso Schools had cancelled classes on Monday because of the evacuations and to keep buses from being on the roads with the fire fighting equipment.

"We have gone over the bus routes and worked out how those big busses and our big trucks are going to be able to pass each other on narrow roads and I don't think we are going to have a problem," Scott said.

Pierson said that he was hoping for less traffic on Highway 70.

"I realize people have to get to work and school and things like that, but the traffic makes it really difficult for us to move our equipment from one area to another," he said. "I just ask that everyone drive defensively. That is what I am telling my drivers to do."

There are five Type 1 crews, seven Type 2 crews, two helicopters, 16 engines and five dozers working on the White fire.

Incident Information Specialist Lynnette Grijalva-Disekt said that the fire information line at 575-257-3473 would continue to be manned to provide information to anyone who needs it.

"We won't be reaching full containment for a few days," Pierson said. "Please keep in mind that these people are out there working hard and doing the best they can."

"I said, 'Of course,' and then thought that I ought to call Barb and see about her situation," Kennedy said. "Not many places are set up to take that many horses. Moses (who works at Cowboys) said they needed help and we took over trailers and trucks."

One older horse under stress from the fire and bustle apparently suffered a heart attack and didn't make it, but the other 16 are stabled at Grindstone, she said.

"I wish there was more we could do," Kennedy said. "I would hope someone would do the same for us."

The dogs and cats at the Humane Society of Lincoln County were evacuated at about 2:30 p.m. Sunday, but were back in their kennels by 8 a.m. Monday.

Shelter Manager Emily Parker said that, fortunately, her husband works for the Bonito Volunteer Fire Department and as soon as he received a page to respond to the 400 block on Gavilan Canyon, he called his wife. The shelter is located at 430 Gavilan Canyon.

Emily Parker said she arrived at 1:14 p.m., and called the assistant manager to tell her they might have to evacuate,

The steps that used to lead to the office at Cowboys Riding Stables in Ruidoso Downs now lead to ashes and twisted metal. The facility was destroyed by the White Fire Sunday. The fire also destroyed Cowboys' owner Barbara Green's home and four other homes as it burned 10,000 acres.

"A couple other volunteers showed up and then my husband called at 2 p.m. and said, 'You need to go.' We loaded up by 2:30 p.m. and were on our way. People came out of the woodwork to help us," she said. "We evacuated 70 animals. We went to church camp on Angus Hill (Church of the Nazarene and Bonito Camp and Conference Center). Stan Yocom, (camp director) was amazing, extremely hospitable.

"We made ourselves at home. He opened up a building and the animals were inside overnight. We had water for them. He brought bottled water for us and snacks.

"He went above and beyond to help us."

A man who volunteered Sunday was back at the camp at 6 a.m. Monday to let them know Gavilan was reopened, Parker said. They took the dogs for their walks, loaded the animals, and were back at the shelter by 8 a.m. with everyone in kennels.

"Now everybody is sound asleep," she said.

State goes after bullying

MILAN SIMONICH
Santa Fe Bureau

School bullies have a new adversary – the state government.

Gov. Susana Martinez Monday signed a bill requiring every public school in New Mexico to implement a bullying prevention program by August 2011. Mary Jane Garcia, of Santa Ana, sponsored the bill. Garcia says bullying is a widespread problem, but that schools are doing little about it.

Martinez, a Republican, signed many legislators in her own party by signing anti-bullying bills into law.

The proposal cleared the House of Representatives 30-9 and the Senate 30-9. Nearly all the opponents were Republicans, who said the measure was "feel-good" legislation that would achieve nothing.

Sen. Vernon Ashbill, a Democrat, said school superintendents from Carlsbad.

He said schools already have the bullies in swift fashion and they need no further mandates from the state.

But the governor disagreed, deciding that more can be done. "By preventing bullying in schools, we can create a better setting that allows children to learn without fear of violence or harassment," Martinez said.

Garcia, 74, tried to but failed in other sessions to get an anti-bullying bill through the Legislature. She said many underestimate how much bullying goes on in schools and how destructive it is.

"The worst cases can lead to suicide, and I hate to see a young person lose his life," Garcia said.

The state Public Education Department already has extensive policy guidelines to stop bullying. They were created in 2006.

But in 2008 a horrific bullying case rocked Las Vegas, N.M., and Robertson High School.

Six upperclassmen used broomsticks to sodomize younger boys during Robertson's preseason football camp, held off campus.

The case cost the coach his job, led to criminal convictions against the six attackers and spawned civil lawsuits.

Garcia said the Robertson tragedy inspired her to keep trying to get anti-bullying legislation approved.

RMS Bullying

Schoolyard bullying is something the Ruidoso Municipal School District has taken by the horns.

Last month teachers were provided with the book Bullying at School, written by an international pioneer on school bullying.

A Challenge Day is planned for seventh and eighth grade students at Ruidoso Middle School.

And a program called Positive Behavioral Interventions and Supports will also be used to create what Superintendent Bea Etta Harris said would compliment Challenge Day.

She had told the education board in January that the district was being proactive in establishing a systemic K-12 program to work on the issue.

Teams from each school were set up to train on the three components. The teams will then go back and train staff in the fall of 2011.

By special arrangement with the theatrical licensing firm Samuel French, "Peter Pan" will be presented four times during April in the Ruidoso Schools Performing Arts Complex. "We are busy rehearsing Peter Pan, the fourth production this year and the eleventh in three years," said Georgene Inks, Ruidoso High School theatre director/instructor. Just around 60 students and their teachers are busy rigging fly gear, creating and painting sets and scenery, fencing, learning lines, getting costumers together, etc. Shows will be performed Friday and Saturday evenings, April 8, 9, 15 and 16. Curtain time will be 7 p.m. Tickets at the door are $12, or in advance for $10. Advance tickets can be purchased at The Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce and High Country Lodge. Advance purchase tickets are now available. Preview the dress and technical rehearsals for $5 on Thursdays, April 7 and 14, starting at 7 p.m.

TEEN SPOTLITE

Teen Spotlite features area teens that have made a difference in their community. Billy Candelaria is the next teen in the Spotlite.

Billy is currently in the eighth grade at Hondo Valley Public School. He is the son of Philbert Candelaria and Rosey Brady.

Billy enjoys being involved at school and enjoys many activities in his school. He is a dedicated student on the honor roll and participates in football and basketball.

Candelaria is helpful and enjoys assisting those in need. In addition to his school activities, he enjoys riding his horse and his 4-wheeler.

Candelaria's social studies teacher speaks highly of him saying, "It is with pride and enthusiasm that I recognize the achievements of Billy. He is a dedicated student who thinks 'out of the box'. Further, he is timely with assignments and follows instructions, thereby proving he strives toward excellence."

When asked about positive influences in his life, Candelaria replies that his family influences him with their encouragement, their positive outlook on life, their accomplishments, and their faith. His future plans include graduating high school, then attending college where he hopes to play basketball. Candelaria is definitely an asset to his community.

Community responds with open hearts

JIM KALVELAGE
jkalvelage@ruidosonews.com

The Ruidoso - Ruidoso Downs community came together to help those impacted by the White Fire and to show appreciation for the army of firefighters and support personnel brought in.

Hotels provided rooms for evacuees of the White Fire. Restaurants, businesses, churches and individuals pitched in too.

"All of the motels here in Ruidoso Downs opened up," said Mayor Tom Armstrong. "They came to me right away and said we will have places for anybody."

While some fire evacuees went to the homes of friends or family, others took up the offers from lodgers and other relief locations.

Pat Sunderland was one of the nine evacuees that spent Sunday night in the gym at First Baptist Church of Ruidoso.

"People should keep a kit and be prepared because it could happen to you," Sunderland said. "Hope for the best but prepare for the worst."

Sunderland said she was watching Turner Classic Movie channel on television and knew nothing of the fire until a neighbor came and told her about it.

Sunderland said she was evacuated to Walmart by the Ruidoso Downs Police Department, then moved to Gateway Church of Christ for a couple of hours before going to First Baptist Church for the evening.

"Doctor (Walter) Sidell came by and checked on me at Gateway Church," Sunderland said. She is on oxygen. "Thank God for Dr. Sidell."

Sunderland said Jennifer Chadwick from Ruidoso Home Care and Hospice also found her at Gateway Church and helped her.

Sunderland said that she gets her oxygen from Lincare, but Linco was there to get her the oxygen she needed for the night.

"They worked together to get me my oxygen," Sunderland said.

Further to the west, lodgers were putting displaced people up for the night.

"We hosted 45 families Sunday night free of charge," said Steve Tally, manager of The Lodge at Sierra Blanc. "And I know other hotels did too."

Alice Cameron spent the night in a Ruidoso motel, returning to her Parker Road home Monday about 3:30 p.m.

"Look at that," she said pointing to the burned hillside about 75 yards west of her home. "Isn't that close? I'm glad I wasn't here."

"I was watching the flag at Walmart to see which way the wind was blowing," Cameron said. "I'm 78 and never had my home burn. I

Armstrong:
"All the motels opened up. They came to me right away and said we will have places for anybody."

guess this is close."

The Ruidoso Downs Senior Center provided meals for firefighters.

"They were feeding all of the firefighters that were here working on Highway 70 because the firefighters were needed where the fire was and we just had to get food and water to them," Armstrong said. "They have a list of all the people that donated or took food or whatever during that first time of the fire. We had enough to feed about half the world."

The mayor said there were a lot of volunteers who helped supply firefighters during the first 24 hours of the White Fire. Later other resources and provisions were brought in.

"We had a lot of people that wanted to help but the fire was so intense Sunday afternoon that it wasn't safe to send a lot of people in front of it."

Some restaurants posted signs providing free meals for fire crews in recent days.

Two others, who endlessly pitched in, responded immediately. Arthur Hoopes and Annie Sarrett, with the Sierra Blanca Disaster Relief Team, provided bottled water, sports drinks and snacks to firefighters from the more than dozen departments and agencies that responded on Sunday. Law enforcement officers and staff at road blocks were also visited by the team providing the provisions. More than 150 responders received the supplies.

Armstrong said out of a devastating fire came proof that the area always rolls up its sleeves.

"All of the firefighters, from the county, Ruidoso, Ruidoso Downs, everywhere, there were just so many people that wanted to help. It was just unreal."

Fire-related water, electric problems easing

jkalvelage@ruidosonews.com

The White Fire presented problems for electric service in the Alto area. And that impacted the Alto Lakes Water and Sanitation District, which declared "extreme" water conditions because of well problems due to power outages or reduced voltages.

Customers of Otero County Electric Cooperative in the Alto area and locations east of Ruidoso Downs lost power late Sunday afternoon after a number utility poles burned Sunday in the blaze.

"We found those this morning," Clint Gardner, manager of member services for the coop said Monday. "This morning was the first time we could get up in there and take a look at it since the fire. We have crews working on it right now."

Many electric customers in the Alto area had power restored in a few hours on Sunday, though Gardner said some were out for as much as six hours. Power was also out in areas east of Ruidoso Downs. The Alto electricity resumed after the area was tied into a substation that supplies power to Carrizozo and Capitan Sunday night, Gardner said.

Residents of Alto, Capitan and Carrizozo were asked, however, to reduce their electric use until repairs were made to allow an Alto reconnection with the Biscuit Hill substation.

The affected feeder line poles burned east of Gavilan Canyon Road and east of Ruidoso Downs. The Alto feeder routes electricity from a substation at Biscuit Hill, east of Ruidoso Downs, to the Alto region.

For times on Sunday and Monday, voltage at some locations was reduced because of the additional load on the Capitan substation. And electricity was cut for a couple of hours on Monday afternoon and night.

The power issues halted production wells at Alto Lakes.

"Sunday night we had to shut down everything and just kind of live off water in the tanks," said David Edington, manager of the Alto Lakes Water and Sanitation District. "Come Monday morning we still had an imbalance of power that we could run wells off of. We brought in generators for nice, clean power to a couple of my big wells and we started producing water and keeping our tanks full that way."

Edington said for a while Monday the water system's 450,000-gallon storage capacity had fallen to about half that level.

The Alto Lakes Water and Sanitation District declared an extreme water condition which barred outside watering on Monday. The utility also asked customers to conserve inside water.

"We wanted to limit people just to household use so I wouldn't drain my tanks in case a fire got this we'd have water to fight it," Edington said.

The extreme water conditions were lifted on Tuesday, after storage improved. The generators were disconnected about 8 a.m. Tuesday when electricity was deemed stable.

"Everything is back and running at 100 percent," Gardner said Tuesday of power in the Alto area. "So people can go back to their normal routine. We'd just like to say thank you to everybody for your patience and understanding during the fire."

Some power-interrupted coop members along U.S. Highway 70 near Fox Cave were expected to have electricity later Tuesday.

Lawn & garden values

'Cinque Terre' Iris

At the top of Italy's boot, along the Mediterranean Sea, is a strip of rocky coastline called the Cinque Terre. Five tiny villages, in shades of ochre, gold, russet, and terra cotta, cling to the cliff above the water. The tall bearded 'Cinque Terre' iris, new for 2011 from Schreiner's Iris Gardens, transports these bewitching hues to your garden in each of its exquisite blooms. Tall, sturdy stalks carry up to 10 buds each. At Gardening How-To, we were so bowled over by this flower's gorgeous colors that we chose it as one of the best new varieties of 2011.

Common name: 'Cinque Terre' iris
Botanical name: Iris 'Cinque Terre'
Plant type: Perennial
Zones: 3 to 9
Height: 3 to 4 feet
Family: Iridaceae
Growing conditions
• Sun: Full to part sun

- Soil: Average, well-drained, slightly acidic
- Moisture: Medium
- Care
- Mulch: Mulch to preserve moisture in the soil.
- Pruning: None needed.
- Fertilizer: A light application of bone meal in the spring and about a month after bloom can be helpful.

Propagation

- By division

Pests and diseases

- Vulnerable to crown rot and other rots, leaf spot, rust, and viruses.
- Common pests include aphids, iris borers, whiteflies, and snails and slugs.

Garden notes

- 'Cinque Terre' blooms late for an iris—in late May or early June. Like most irises, it does not rebloom.
- Give your iris a site with at least a half-day of sun. Full sun is best. 'Cinque Terre' is said to be sun-fast, meaning that the color won't fade even in direct sun.

• 'Cinque Terre' will spread slowly to form clumps. These should be divided every third or fourth year. If irises are overcrowded, they will not bloom as vigorously and they will be more vulnerable to disease. Thin clumps by removing the older growth at the center of each clump or by digging up the entire clump and dividing it.

All in the family

- There are more than 300 species in the Iris genus.
- Also in the Iridaceae family are the genera Crocus, Gladiolus, and Sisyrinchium.

'Filler' Up To Save More

By Jill Cataldo

CTW Features

This week, a new coupon shopper asks about a trick of the trade that Super-Couponers often use to achieve bigger savings: the "filler" item.

Question: "I was shopping in the store the other day and saw two ladies putting together some coupon deals. They were sorting their carts and one said to the other that she needed a 'filler' to finish her order and grabbed a small bottle of lotion. She joked to her friend that she didn't even want that lotion, but it was going to help her save money. I was lost. What is a 'filler'?"

Answer: With this question, we move into a slightly more advanced coupon technique that coupon pros often use to reduce out-of-pocket spending during an instant-savings or Catalina deal. Simply put, a filler is the least expensive item that you can use to minimize your out-of-pocket spending for a deal you're putting together.

If you're a little confused, stay with me. I'll walk you through a sale in which I used a filler item to enjoy great savings. My store was having a "Spend $30, Get $10" sale. Shoppers who purchased $30 worth of anything featured in the sales flyer would generate a $10 Catalina coupon for their next shopping trip. Essentially, this deal would reduce my out-of-pocket to $20 for $30 worth of items.

During this sale, I wanted to stock up on dog food. Four-pound bags of a

Super-Couponing Tips

with Jill Cataldo

name brand of dog food were on sale for $4.99 each. Buying six bags put me at $29.94, just six cents shy of the $30 mark that I needed to reach to obtain the $10 Catalina coupon.

What's a coupon shopper to do? In a situation like this, smart shoppers will look for the least expensive item - a filler - to get their total just over the threshold. And, honestly, it really doesn't matter what it is. I was aiming to bring the price of that dog food down, so I added something very inexpensive to get over the $30 mark.

During this sale, store-brand boxes of facial tissue were on sale for $1.49, and they were also part of the "Spend $30, Get $10" Catalina sale. With the addition of a box of tissue, my total was now $31.43, and I qualified for the $10 Catalina at the register.

This, of course, was before coupons! I had six $3 coupons for the dog food. The store's flyer also had a $1 coupon for any store-brand product, which I applied to the tissue. After all coupons, my total for the six bags of dog food was $11.94, and the box of tissue just 49 cents. I paid $12.43 and received a $10 Catalina at the register - effectively paying just $2.43 for 24 pounds of dog food and a box of tissue! The tissue was the filler. It was not something I necessarily wanted or needed, but it was essential to bringing my total at the register up to that necessary $30 dollar amount.

I shopped this sale numerous times throughout the week. Each time, I'd get as close to the $30 mark as I could, then use a box of facial tissue as the last item to bring the total over $30 so that I could receive another $10 coupon. By the time the sale ended, I was well stocked on lots of groceries and I had a small tower of store-brand tissue boxes in my stockpile! As an aside, it was fun to run into other seasoned coupon shoppers in the store during this sale - anyone with a brightly colored box of the store's tissue in their cart was likely buying them for the same reason! (I wonder if the store knew why their house brand of tissues was suddenly in demand.)

Again, it truly doesn't matter what your filler item is, as long as it is an item that is both inexpensive and included in the store's featured deal.

The cruelest month: April forecast offers little relief

jkalvelage@ruidosonews.com

The fire warnings that became a reality on Sunday are likely to continue.

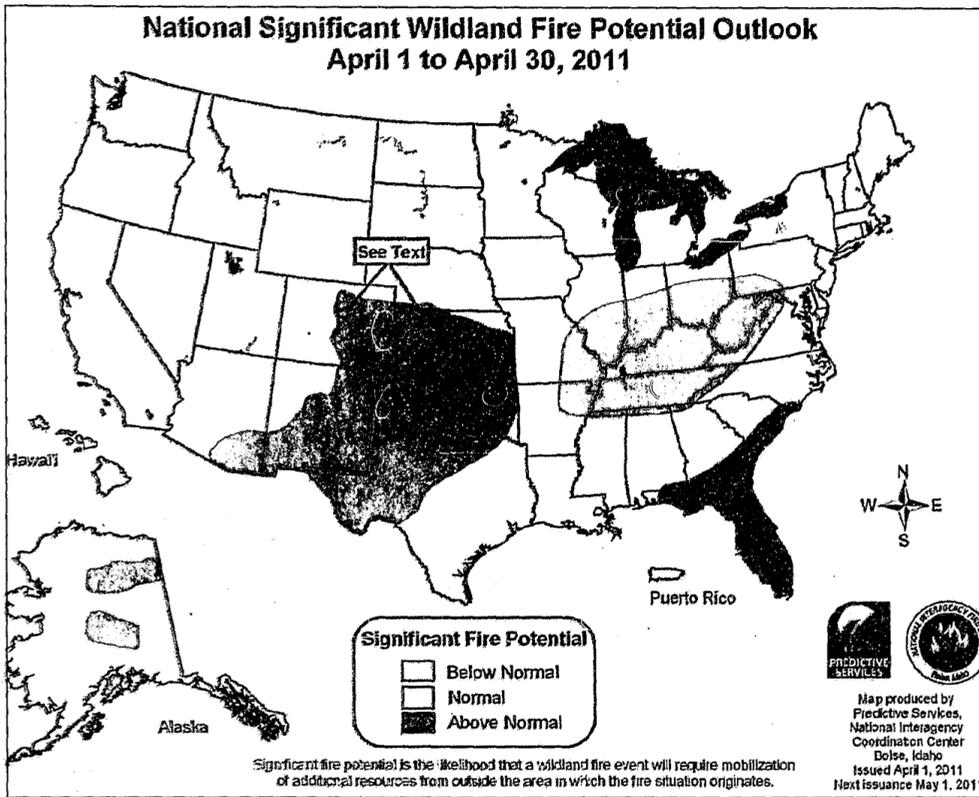

The National Weather Service in New Mexico Monday cautioned that critical fire weather will probably be in place for much of the rest of this week and severe drought conditions will likely persist for months.

Sunday, while the White Fire spread rapidly, peak wind gusts at Sierra Blanca Regional Airport reached as high as 61 miles per hour. Humidity had fallen to under 12 percent during part of the afternoon.

"It was sort of an equal opportunity offender in terms of whether you were on top of a mountain peak or down in some of our valley locations," Kerry Jones, warning coordination meteorologist with the weather service, said of the winds. "Our high wind criteria is 58 miles per hour."

A Pacific system was expected to move in the direction of New Mexico on Wednesday bringing possible precipitation.

"It's got a lot of moisture

Significant fire potential is the likelihood that a wildland fire event will require mobilization of additional resources from outside the area in which the fire situation originates.

to work with and we certainly haven't seen anything like that this year," said forecaster Todd Shoemaker. "It may just actually be some measurable precipitation out in the western parts of the state."

In the Ruidoso area however there is just a very slight chance for rain Wednesday night.

The system was predicted to deliver breezy conditions on Wednesday and Thursday. By Friday and Saturday the breezy descriptor was heightened to windy as another system moved closer.

"Still pretty dry through that time frame," Shoemaker said. "We have to watch for some fire weather concerns again. Saturday would be our best chances for a widespread wind event given the current outlook that the forecast models are showing us. And again, precipitation is being favored generally in the western parts of the state."

The outlook for next week predicts continued below average precipitation, Jones said.

The dire drought conditions were hammered home by hydrologic meteorologist Ed Polasko.

"The early onset of our warm, windy, spring days has pretty much taken the snow out of the equation for (mountain stream) runoff. And in the southern part of the state there was very little snow to start with."

Polasko said most of the mountains in New Mexico are four to six weeks ahead of losing snowpacks.

A map from the Southwest Coordination Center indicates the region, along with all of the southeastern part of New Mexico, remains ripe through April for significant fires. Long term, the situation could continue into July, reported the National Interagency Coordination Center.

Lincoln National Forest enacts Stage 2 fire restrictions beginning Thursday

Alamogordo, NM - Due to increased fire danger on public lands in Southeastern New Mexico, the decision has been made to enact Stage 2 Fire Restrictions on the Lincoln National Forest.

The Stage 2 Fire Restrictions for the Lincoln National Forest begin on Thursday, April 7, at 8 a.m.

The 2011 fire season is coming into focus as temperatures increase and winds continue to dry out the vegetation.

"Our concerns and priorities are for public and firefighter safety during elevated fire danger," said Chad Stewart, Lincoln National Forest Fire Staff Officer.

"With Stage 2 fire restrictions in place, along with everyone's help, we can reduce the threat of fire here in southern New Mexico."

Stage 2 Fire Restrictions include prohibition of:

- Building, maintaining, attending or using a fire, campfire or stove fire, including charcoal fires, unless within a Forest Service developed recreational site where fire rings and grills are provided. This use is limited to campgrounds that are open to the public with a campground host present. Please contact the local unit in order to determine campground scheduling.
- Smoking is limited to an enclosed vehicle or a smoking approved building.

- Possessing, discharging or using any kind of firework or other pyrotechnic device.
- Welding, or operating acetylene or other torch with open flame.
- Operating or using any internal or external combustion engine without a spark arresting device properly installed, maintained, and in effective working order meeting either the Department of Agriculture, Forest Service Standard 5100-1a; or Appropriate Society of Automotive Engineers (SAE recommended practice J335 (b) and J350 (a); 36 C.R.R. § 261.52(j).
- Chainsaw use will not be allowed between the hours of 10 a.m. through midnight.

People are allowed to use pressurized liquid or gas stoves, lanterns or space-heating devices provided such devices meet the Underwriters Laboratory (UL) specifications for safety.

As always, fireworks are prohibited on all National Forest System lands.

For specific information on a particular area, please contact your local Lincoln National Forest or any National Forest office. Know before you go.

For current fire restriction information on public lands in the Southwest, call 1-877-864-6985.

For additional information on Lincoln National Forest restrictions, contact the Smokey Bear Ranger District Office at 575-257-4095; the Sacramento Ranger District Office at 575-682-2551, and the Guadalupe Ranger District Office at 575-885-4181, Monday through Friday, 7:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

To contact New Mexico State Forestry, call 505-476-3336, open Monday through Friday, 7:30 a.m.

to 4:30 p.m. To report a fire, call 575-434-2286 or toll free 1-877-695-1663.

RHS tennis forges ahead

With eight years of tennis coaching experience, Ruidoso head coach Dennis Johnson takes each year as it comes.

His philosophy is, "You can win without winning the match. Building character means a lot."

This year's boys and girls tennis teams are young and therefore an abundance of experience is not the strong suit of this year's teams. There is only one senior on each of the two team's rosters.

"Because of that, some of our young players must consistently step it up and play up to their potential."

Thursday's matches with NMMI is a case in point.

"The NMMI boys could be the best in our district (D3-1A-3A, Ruidoso, NMMI, Portales and Lovington) and could very well be the best in state."

Ruidoso's No. 1 player, freshman Daniel Marshall played well but lost to NMMI's No. 2 athlete, Freddy Sanchez, 6-0, 6-0.

On the feminine side, things fared better.

Senior Carolina Espinoza won in three sets, 6-2, 4-6, 6-3. Sophomore Ariana Montelongo won by default.

"Espinoza's match was a good one," Johnson said.

The doubles team of Espinoza and Tanner Wapaha narrowly missed winning, 2-6, 7-5, 6-3.

Though they lost the NMMI match Espinoza and Wapaha redeemed themselves Saturday at the Artesia matches when they won their doubles play.

"The matches in Artesia were well played and very competitive," Johnson said.

The Ruidoso boys and girls tennis teams will play in the Bill Whalman Tournament Friday in Portales at 3 p.m. District-rival Portales will play in Ruidoso Tuesday at 3 p.m.

Warriors split district doubleheader

Hometown nine nudge Portales 16-15 in tense district opener; drop second contest 15-8

MIKE CURRAN
mccurran@ruidosonews.com

The Ruidoso Warriors narrowly averted disaster in Saturday's first game of a double-dip after leading for four innings, 9-2, behind the strong pitching of senior right-hander, Brendan Flack with Ryan Yaksich behind the dish.

The visitors took a 1-0 lead in the top of the first but the Warrior team came right back with three of their own in the bottom of that inning.

Portales put a lone run across the dish in the second and going into the bottom of the third the Warriors led by one. It was then RHS exploded for five runs to go up by six runs. Flack got a little wobbly in the fifth with some walks and lefthander Julian Lopez was brought in to relieve Flack with one out.

By the time the Rams' fifth was over they had brought nine runs over the plate and had taken a 11-9 advantage.

Undaunted, the Warriors lit the scoreboard up

Casino reopens, track ready for opening after fire

Ruidoso Downs Track Publicist

The Billy The Kid Casino has reopened and Ruidoso Downs is ready for horses to move into the stable area on April 25 after the 10,000-acre White Fire burned adjacent to the track property on Sunday.

The corner of one barn was burned and work has already begun to repair the damage, primarily to a tack room.

"We are very fortunate," said Ruidoso Downs general manager Jean Stoddard. "We are very thankful for the courageous work of firefighters, the police and all of the responders. They're amazing.

"Our hearts and prayers are with the fellow members of our community who have been impacted by the fire."

The White Fire started about 1:30 p.m. on Sunday and the cause is unknown. The blaze was whipped by high winds in dry conditions.

The winds subsided overnight, yet the fire is not contained. It continues to burn east of Ruidoso Downs and is currently no threat to Ruidoso Downs and the Billy The Kid Casino.

Five homes have been destroyed and firefighters' top priority is protecting homes and structures.

There have been no reports of deaths or serious injury.

Firefighting teams are using bulldozers, and planes are dropping slurry on the blaze during the reduced wind.

The summer racing season at Ruidoso Downs will start on May 27 with the trials to the Grade 1, $500,000 Ruidoso Futurity. Racing runs on a Friday through Monday schedule.

with six Ruidoso runs in the bottom of the inning. With the bases loaded, Jacob Vazquez smacked a two-run single to left-center to knot the game at 11.

With two on, fleet-footed Jesse Scarafioti walloped an inside-the-park homer to put Ruidoso up 14-11. Yaksich then singled and a Lopez triple brought Yaksich in for the final run of the inning.

No one told the visitors they were beaten and they tied the contest at 15 in the top of the seventh with four runs of their own.

With the pressure on, David Kacena got aboard in the seventh, made it to third and scored on a ground out by Forrest Sanchez to win the game by one.

"It's like I keep telling the boys, hits don't win games, RBIs do," Ruidoso head coach Gilbert Alvarado said.

"A comeback win is always good. When you leave out the fifth inning, the team played pretty well, both offensively and defensively."

Ruidoso collected 16 runs on 12 hits and four walks.

Kayle Frierson RHS on the mound for RHS in the second contest with Yaksich again behind the plate.

Things looked bright for Ruidoso when the Warriors jumped out to a 3-0 lead at the end of the first inning. Portales scored one in the second which was unanswered by the hometown crew.

Frierson had a rough go of it in the third, not all of it his own making, as the Rams brought six runners home to take a 7-3 lead. The Warriors answered the call this time and scored three of their own to pull to within one.

In the top of the fourth, with J.B. Lewis on the rubber in relief of Frierson and Kacena behind the plate, the visitors brought another runner home to go up by two.

Ruidoso came back with two in the bottom of that inning to knot the score at eight.

The Rams scored four in the fifth and three in the sixth to take a 15-lead.

In the top of the seventh, Kacena relieved Lewis and Yaksich returned behind the plate. Neither team scored in the last inning and Portales took the game by seven runs.

"We started out on top, but then lost our mental focus," Alvarado said. "Errors hurt us, as they normally do. Portales got three runs in the fifth on an error - and believe me when I tell you, this team works hard on defense.

The 5-8, 1-1, Warriors will have traveled to Tularosa for a double-header Tuesday and will get back to district matters when they journey to Lovington Saturday for 1 p.m. and 3 p.m. battles.

LINCOLN COUNTY

Carrizozo council denies film-tax credit resolution

JULIE CARTER
jcarter@ruidosonews.com

Carrizozo trustees unanimously voted against the approval of Resolution 2011-5 that backed maintaining the existing film tax credit incentive until an impact study could be done. Because the monthly meeting had been postponed a week from its normal setting, the Carrizozo vote came a week after the legislature had changed the tax credit during the most recent legislative session.

"They've already voted on it at Santa Fe," said trustee Dennis Vega. "It's kind of already a done deal."

"If we took that $50 million (allocated by the state as a cap on the film tax credit) and gave it to 50 communities just think what they could do with it," trustee Dusty Voss said. "I may get in trouble for saying this, but even with the movie that was here, I see no roads paved, no water lines put in because of it. The money might have gone to the state, but it isn't here. That's just my take on it."

Linda Rodriguez, standing in for Bonnie Soley as Carrizozo's film liaison to Lincoln County said, "I understand your thoughts on this. But my only thought is, after the work that has gone into this, I just hate to see Carrizozo as the only one in Lincoln County who didn't support this. I think they wanted this to be a Lincoln County consensus."

Voss said he felt like the money that was made in Carrizozo by individuals was, for the most part, spent out of town.

Gary Joe Lovelace, Carrizozo Ready Mix, noted that he and several other contractors and businessmen did well when The Book of Eli was filmed in Carrizozo.

"Our dollars stayed here in Carrizozo," he said.

Others audience members reminded trustees how much the film industry embraced Carrizozo for their hospitality and friendliness.

"I know we are talking money," said Barbara Culler said, "but it also brought a lot of pride to Carrizozo."

With some pause for thought, Voss made the motion to not approve the resolution. A unanimous vote by a full house of trustees ended the action item.

It was announced that Ray Dean is the new president of Carrizozo Works with Linda Rodriguez as vice president and acting secretary. Lucy Rickman remains the treasurer.

Rodriguez reported to the trustees that to date, 21 people have signed up for Project Warm Winter. Ads were going to be placed for supervisors and technicians. In home assessments will begin soon and material purchases will follow.

Planning and Zoning chairman J'Lane Zamora was part of the process to create a new procedure for Livestock Permits.

"It's a more detailed application," she said. "The one we have currently is just an address and name. It doesn't detail the animals, lot size or those kinds of things. We've also now made it possible for 4-H and FFA children to permit their animals themselves."

Trustee Voss said the new permit explains the zoning ordinances and makes it clearer for residents to know what they can and can't do. "And it'll make it easier for us to know what's going on," he said. "The old way, we just handed them out."

Livestock permits filed on or before March 15 each year costs a $25 fee. A separate permit application must be completed for each location where animals are housed.

February activity for the Carrizozo Police Department was a total of 25 calls answered, and three cases logged. No citations were issued.

Reflecting the lack of activity with only one part-time officer for the month, the Carrizozo Municipal Court, for the first time in memory, reported no activity and no income for February.

In other business the council approved:

- a $25,000 planning grant resolution for a 40-year water study;
- a P&Z variance for Mike Lagg;
- the most recent list of new and renewed business registrations and livestock permits;

The next meeting of the Town of Carrizozo board of trustees will be April 12.

Happy first birthday Carrizozo Market

Marking a 1-year anniversary, the Carrizozo Market is excited to celebrate with the community the serve. To celebrate they are offering a storewide 10 percent discount on 8 a.m. to 8 p.m., Saturday, April 9.

It was a dream that took five years to come true, but when Peter and Suzi Wolfe opened the doors to the Carrizozo Market last year, the entire town of Carrizozo was as happy as they were.

Carrizozo has been without a grocery store since the closing of the Sturges Market in September 2005. Residents were forced to travel to Capitan, Ruidoso and Alamogordo for simple basics.

Local Allsups and Valero gas stations beefed up their mini-marts to help supply milk, eggs, tortillas and other items for day-to-day grocery needs.

"With all the original employees from opening day still here," Peter Wolfe said, "we have a very professional and dedicated crew. We have all shared the load and learned together."

Inventory continues to diversify as shoppers put in requests for items they'd like to see on the shelves. "We cannot please everybody but we try very hard," said Suzi Wolfe.

Full-time butcher Joe Witt customizes meat cuts upon request and keeps the meat counter full of USDA Choice/Select meats at competitive prices.

JULIE CARTER/RUIDOSO NEWS

The Carrizozo Market is celebrating its first year in business with a discount shopping day on Saturday.

The produce department has evolved into a cornucopia of fresh produce and innovative individual platters and vegetable creations thanks to Sharon Vigil. Meat, veggie and fruit trays are available upon request.

Community outreach

Very little goes to waste at Carrizozo Market and generosity is an up front attitude.

The store donated more than $3,000 worth of dairy and grocery goods to the Assembly of God Church last year for its weekly food distribution program for needy families.

Free turkeys were available during the holidays with a $100 grocery purchase and any extra produce waste feeds local chickens and pigs.

The Carrizozo Market has made contributions to school events, FFA and other school related activities during its first year.

Up next? The Market hopes to revive the 4th of July Deep Pit Barbecue Dinner in conjunction with the fireworks display done by the Carrizozo Volunteer Fire Department.

Proceeds from the Barbecue will benefit Carrizozo's 2011 Christmas Luminaria project.

"Thanks to everyone who has helped us live our dream," said Suzi Wolfe. "Come help us celebrate our first anniversary on Saturday."

COUNTY BRIEFS

Blood drive

Carrizozo Schools is hosting a United Blood Services Blood Drive, Tuesday, April 12, 1:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m., in the Multipurpose Room.

Drop by and give a drop or two. Give the gift of life. To make an appointment, call 648-2347.

Library amnesty

April is Amnesty Month at Capitan Public Library.

This means that borrowers can return those overdue items that you may have been embarrassed to return because your kids checked them out last summer.

We will take them this month - no questions asked and no overdue fees.

The Library has limited funding to purchase items for the collection so we will be happy to have these "lost" books, DVDs, books on tape, etc. returned.

Please look around your home. The library items have a bar code on the front cover and a spine label.

Thank for participating in the amnesty month.

Wanting WIC

Currently, EBT cards are accepted at Carrizozo

Market and efforts are continuing to get state approval for the WIC program.

WIC clients are asked to provide letters to the Carrizozo Market explaining how WIC at the local market would lessen the hardship of driving out of town to use their cards.

These will be submitted with another request to WIC in attempt for approval.

Local art

The High Mesa Art Tour featuring 14 artists showcasing their creations at eight locations along State Highway 37 is Saturday, April 9, and Sunday, April 10, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Carrizozo potter Scott Goewey and photographer Sheryl Savas will show their works in her home at 1037 Hwy 37.

Support your local artists.

Tried but True

The Carrizozo Woman's Club Tried but True Sale is April 15-16. Sale hours are Friday, noon to 6 p.m. and Saturday, 9 a.m. -3 p.m.

Drop by the Woman's Club or visit with the 'locals' having rummage sales at their own homes as shown on maps by Rick Geary.

For more information, contact Sharon Hefker at 648-2941, Deborah Geary 648-2191 or Bonnie Soley 648-2687.

Modern art exhibit

The Joan Malkerson "Portraits" exhibit will run through Saturday, April 16, at the Malkerson Modern Art Gallery, 415 12th St., in Carrizozo.

Renaissance Fair

The Carrizozo Renaissance Fair on 12th Street is April 12, with food and fun and possibly a jousting event. Don't miss it!

Energy conference

The Lincoln County Renewable Energy Conference is Friday, April 22, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., at the Ruidoso Convention Center. Learn about renewables, energy efficiency, green building and job training in Lincoln County.

This free conference will be an unmatched opportunity for learning, business development, and networking.

Call 575-257-3012 or 1-800-934-3668 or go to www.lcnm-re.org.

Oh what a weekend

What a weekend! I do believe the wind was the worst I have ever seen. The White Fire in Ruidoso, Ruidoso Downs and the Ruidoso Valley was so devastating.

The numerous photos that were on the internet were both beautiful and so heart-wrenching at the same time.

Our hearts and prayers went out to those who lost their homes and those who had to evacuate, not knowing what they would find when they returned home.

Thanks to all the firefighters and others who fought the fire and still are. Thanks to all the volunteers who brought their trailers to help rescue the horses and other livestock. It also had to be tragic on the loss of the wildlife.

Also huge thanks to Julie Carter and Linda Gibson for keeping us updated on the fire and the beautiful photos.

Leota Pfingsten's memorial will be this Saturday at the Capitan School gym. It will be at 11 a.m., Leota was the beloved second-grade teacher at the Capitan school for many years. In her early years, she had taught at the Hondo School.

Leota and her husband, Peg, had a ranch on Loma Grande for many years. It has been developed into subdivisions after the ranch was sold.

After her retirement, Leota and Peg built a beautiful home four miles west of Lincoln. She will be greatly missed.

Dee Dee Freeman also died about the same time as Leota. Dee Dee and her husband, Gaylord, had the G Bar F ranch up Salazar Canyon. She was such a lovely lady and was loved by all who knew her.

She loved coming to the ranch, having friends visit and give her wonderful parties and other events.

We had breakfast and a wonderful visit with Paul and Elisa Pacheco Monday.

Paul had celebrated his 90th birthday recently. It didn't seem possible that it had been so long since they had sold their ranch near Arabella in 1984.

After selling their ranch, they moved to Arizona, near Phoenix for 10 years, then moved to Las Cruces. We got caught up with all the family and remembering the good times we had.

The Carrizozo Renaissance will be had April 16. Come and have a good time.

Creative Memories is having their retreat this weekend. Hopefully we will have nice weather and no wind.

I had internet problems so have not had any news. Computers are great when they work but not so good when they don't.

CARRIZO MAGISTRATE COURT CASES

Concurrent

Larry Turner, 26, of Ruidoso, appeared in court, waived the right to an attorney and pleaded no contest to a charge of driving without a license under a plea and disposition agreement reached with Assistant District Attorney John Bernitz.

Under the agreement, the State amended the charge from driving on a suspended license and dismissed a charge of no registration.

Judge Martha Proctor sentenced Turner to 30 days in jail, concurrent with the sentences Turner is currently serving for charges of trafficking in a controlled substance in Aug. 2007 and Nov. 2009.

Turner pleaded no contest to charges in both these cases and was jailed following a Nov. 2010 probation violation.

Proctor ordered Turner to pay $81 in court costs and a $100 bench warrant fee and credited him for payment with four days served at $58 a day.

New Mexico State Police officer Samuel Huston cited Turner July 23, 2010 after stopping him on Highway 70 for an expired registration. Huston reportedly found that Turner's driver's license was suspended for failure to comply with a citation from another jurisdiction.

License revoked

Christopher Ruiz, 25, of Little Elm, Texas, appeared in court, waived the right to an attorney and pleaded no contest to charges of driving on a revoked license and no registration.

Judge Martha Proctor sentenced Ruiz to 30 days in jail, time served, 424 days of unsupervised probation and ordered him to pay $142 in court costs and a $100 bench warrant fee.

Lincoln County Deputy Sheriff Neal Cox arrested Ruiz Nov. 20, 2010 after a traffic stop on Carrizo Canyon Drive in Ruidoso for an expired registration. Cox reported that Ruiz's Texas driver's license was revoked.

Trespassing

Walter Johnson, 59, of Roswell, appeared in court March 25 and pleaded no contest to a charge of criminal trespass under a plea and disposition agreement reached by defense attorney Kenneth Wilson and Assistant District Attorney Reed Thompson.

Under the agreement, the State dismissed a charge of hunting deer in the wrong unit.

Judge Martha Proctor sentenced Johnson to pay a $200 fine, suspended $800 of the $1,000 fine, $73 in court costs and 364 days of unsupervised probation.

New Mexico Department of Game and Fish Conservation officer Curtis Coburn cited Johnson for hunting on private land, without permission, in game management unit (GMU) 37 while licensed for GMU 36 on Nov. 7, 2010.

Same deal

Richard Martineau, 56, of Portales, appeared in court March 25 and pleaded no contest to a charge of criminal trespass under a plea and disposition agreement reached by defense attorney Kenneth Wilson and Assistant District Attorney Reed Thompson.

Under the agreement, the State dismissed a charge of hunting deer in the wrong unit.

Judge Martha Proctor sentenced Martineau to pay a $200 fine, suspended $800 of the $1,000 fine, $73 in court costs and 364 days of unsupervised probation.

New Mexico Department of Game and Fish Conservation officer Curtis Coburn cited Martineau for hunting on private land, without permission, in game management unit (GMU) 37 while licensed for GMU 36 on Nov. 7, 2010.

Same deal again

Brendt Baker, 38, of Roswell, appeared in court March 25 and pleaded no contest to a charge of criminal trespass under a plea and disposition agreement reached by defense attorney Kenneth Wilson and Assistant District Attorney Reed Thompson.

Under the agreement, the State dismissed a charge of hunting deer in the wrong unit.

Judge Martha Proctor sentenced Baker to pay a $200 fine, suspended $800 of the $1,000 fine, $73 in court costs and 364 days of unsupervised probation.

New Mexico Department of Game and Fish Conservation officer Curtis Coburn cited Baker for hunting on private land, without permission, in game management unit (GMU) 37 while licensed for GMU 36 on Nov. 7, 2010.

And another deal

Michael Johnson, 34, of Roswell, appeared in court March 25 and pleaded no contest to a charge of criminal trespass under a plea and disposition agreement reached by defense attorney Kenneth Wilson and Assistant District Attorney Reed Thompson.

Under the agreement, the State dismissed a charge of hunting deer in the wrong unit.

Judge Martha Proctor sentenced Johnson to pay a $200 fine, suspended $800 of the $1,000 fine, $73 in court costs and 364 days of unsupervised probation.

New Mexico Department of Game and Fish Conservation officer Curtis Coburn cited Johnson for hunting on private land, without permission, in game management unit (GMU) 37 while licensed for GMU 36 on Nov. 7, 2010.

ADA collapses, dies in courtroom

Alamogordo Daily News Staff

Twelfth Judicial District senior trial prosecutor Wayne A. Jordon collapsed and died around 9:40 a.m. Tuesday in Judge Jerry H. Ritter Jr.'s courtroom.

It happened during a motion to determine a counsel hearing for defendant Joseph Neal.

The Daily News attempted to contact 12th Judicial District Attorney Diana Martwick, but she declined comment at this time out of respect for Jordon's family and their sudden loss.

March building activity bars; upswing predicted

dstallings@ruidosonews.com

March building activity in Ruidoso is like a lion. Building permits issued in the first week of the month surpassed the previous month of February, Planning Official Shawn Decker said. But the end of the month, he knew the building was solid.

The total value of the proposed construction work hit $7,494 and permit fees hit $26,887.45. The number of permits issued in February was 26, beating January at 24, but more than three times the 40 issued in January.

Construction values last month posted a meager $192,333, bringing in $7.29 in permit fees.

February always is one of the slowest months of the year, Decker said. But March is off with several new permits and substantial additions and renovations.

The first single-family permit was granted in March, valued at $493 on Caprock Court for a fee of $1,901.96. At the end of the month, other homes were added, as well as 11 hefty addition/renovations. Building permits accounted for 64 of those issued, along with one demolition permit, 39 electrical permits and 22 plumbing.

During a Ruidoso Planning and Zoning Commission meeting last month, commissioner and builder John Cornelius told Fort to expect a huge upswing in May and June, when seasonal home owners return and find their water was turned off during the long freeze in early February that damaged many pipes and caused leaks in more than 500 homes across the village.

"Plumbers still are working 24/7 from the freeze," said Commissioner Larry Wimbrow. "May and June will be wild."

Village Engineer Bob Decker, former planning administrator, said the staff person on call over weekends told him calls come in asking for water to be turned on, but when that occurs, new leaks are exposed and water service has to be turned off again for plumbers to come in and fix them. He has to approve the service being restored after the repair.

The village wants all homeowners who do not have turn-off valves on their private property side to install them, but are giving the owners 90 days after service is restored to complete that installation, Decker said.

Meter readers will watch and flag when notification reminders should be sent, he said.

Some valves are located inside homes to eliminate the need for people to "stumble around in the snow," trying to find their shut-offs, he said.

But Cornelius said the most effective approach is to have the shut off near the meter.

Decker also noted that the main line serving Upper Canyon froze during the event, which would have prevented service to homes and businesses there, even if the village had not temporarily turned off the water to try to locate major areas where water was being lost.

At one point, the reserve in the tanks that supply about 60 percent of the village's water was down to a two to three hour supply.

Two people who walked away after their airplane made a forced landing in rough terrain shy of a runway at Sierra Blanca Regional Airport talk with EMS personnel Sunday afternoon.

No injuries in local plane crash

JIM KALVELAGE
jkalvelage@ruidosonews.com

A pilot and a passenger of a small plane that reportedly had crashed Sunday at Sierra Blanca Regional Airport walked away from the scene.

The twin-engine aircraft went down after taking off from the airport, coming to rest on the edge of a plateau about 1:10 p.m.

The Piper Twin Comanche made what was described as a "forced landing" in rough terrain, according to a preliminary data report from the Federal Aviation Administration.

The aircraft was considered to have substantial damage. An investigator with the FAA was at the airport Monday.

The two men on board the plane were the pilot, Dale McCombs, 62, and Opta Bruan, 77. They indicated they were from the Dallas-Fort Worth area. McCombs is listed as the aircraft's registered owner.

The pilot and passenger were transported from the location to the airport's terminal building area by a Ruidoso police vehicle. Lincoln County Medical Center EMS personnel briefly talked with the two who were then interviewed by a New Mexico State Police officer.

Bruan credited McCombs' flying abilities for averting injuries.

Airport officials said

there was no fire after the Piper went down.

At the time of the accident winds were out of the west at a sustained 35 miles per hour with gusts up to 50 miles per hour.

According to a state police report, McCombs said he was at about 150 feet of elevation while making a left bank when the left engine "powered down," causing the plane to land hard.

The landing gear was retracted after takeoff.

The aircraft set down southwest of the runway on Bureau of Land Management property about 200 feet beyond the airport perimeter. The left engine was torn away from the plane on impact.

County wraps up agenda items

dstallings@ruidosonews.com

Indigent health claims on the increase non-hospital program, Lincoln County's annual hit on its Indigent Health Care Fund may end at $100,000 higher than fiscal year.

County Manager Tom Decker reported to county commissioners at their meeting last month that the county paid $314,818 in claims for an average of $26,235 a month.

By the end of this year, the average monthly total of claims is $33,716, which amounts to $404,587 for the 12-month period. The amount budgeted from the county's approved gross receipts tax dedicated to health care is $517,088.

Claims have been on the rise for the past two years, one year when they were tied to people signing up for the state health insurance program while in limbo in the uncertain health care and economic environment.

Commissioners on the recommendation of Stewart HCF Administrator Annala approved a total of 75 claims submitted for a total payment of $24,400 for the month, bringing the year to date to $303,440.20.

They also approved 76 of 79 claims submitted under the Sole Community Provider program for a total of $87,069.15, bringing the year-to-date disbursement under the federal program that reimburses the county hospital for indigent care to $850,696.98.

Stewart explained to Commissioner Kathryn Minter that the claims under the two programs are not related to the cost to the county of providing health care, including mental health services, to inmates at the county detention center, another obligation on the rise for the county.

In other action, commissioners:

- appointed L. L. Smith of Roswell to the Lincoln Historic Preservation District. He has property in Lincoln and became a registered voter in the county last month.

A member of the committee said he appeared before that board and received approval for a cupola on his home, when it was determined the former courthouse in Lincoln also has one.

The member said he has attended several meetings and appears interested in maintaining the historical integrity of the district, while being fair-minded and reasonable.

- reappointed Duane Williams to the Road Review Advisory Committee, with the comment that he has been dedicated to his assignment and often was the only member to show up for onsite reviews.

- tabled appointments to the Lincoln County-Ruidoso Extraterritorial Commission.

Member Frank Higgins does not want to continue to serve, but Ralph Romero agreed to remain on the board, leaving one vacancy in District 4.

- tabled appointments to the Land and Natural Resources Advisory Committee, the Senior Citizens Olympic Committee and the County Lodgers Tax Committee.

- appointed Dennis Dunham and reappointed Jenny Dorgan to the County Planning Commission.

- came out of closed session and Commissioner Jackie Powell offered a motion to authorize the county attorney to file liens on the property of six residents for alarm ordinance violations.

Booze a maybe at Billy the Kid Chute Out

Alcoholic beverages may be available at a June 3-4 weekend event that will be held on property of the Ruidoso Downs Race Track. Ruidoso Downs City Councilors Monday approved a special dispenser permit for the Billy the Kid Chute Out.

Initially cautious Councilor Gary Williams said the Billy the Kid Chute Out was a first-time event like to have a little input on what this consists of before we have a dispenser permit.

Police Chief Doug Decker said he understood the event would involve bull riding.

"Where it's almost like a PRCA where they're going to have bull riding and a rodeo type of thing," Babcock said. Questioned if the location was where the horse sales barns are located, Babcock responded affirmatively and provided an address of 100 Joe Welch Drive.

"I think Ty Murray is the cowboy that's doing this," Councilor Dean Holman told Williams of what he has seen on TV. "They're having the same thing, I would assume, in Albuquerque right now. I would think it's tied to that event because the names seem to be the same."

Mayor Tom Armstrong agreed. "I believe they (Ruidoso Downs Race Track and Billy the Kid Casino) are going to be reaching for a lot of different events since the motorcycle rally may not be here sometime in the future," Armstrong said.

The two nights of bull riding events will bring more than 40 professional bull riders.

An estimated 4,000 people were expected to attend the event. The track will supply 15 security people at the function which is to run from 6 p.m. to 10 p.m. the two evenings, according to the special dispenser permit application.

A split-up couple and their friends seek 'Happy Endings'

By Jay Bobbin

© Zap2it

Ever since the end of "Friends," network television has been seeking another popular and successful group of ... well, friends.

The gang on CBS' "How I Met Your Mother," now renewed for two more seasons, perhaps has come the closest. At the other end of the scale are groups such as the one Alyssa Milano belonged to last year on ABC's short-lived "Romantically Challenged." Undaunted, ABC is trying again.

The sitcom "Happy Endings" premieres with back-to-back episodes Wednesday, April 13. More familiar for having been in frequent peril as Kim Bauer on Fox's "24" than for comedy work, Elisha Cuthbert arguably is the first among cast equals as Alex, half of a couple that splits up — leaving friends of her and her ex, Dave (Zachary Knighton), to determine whether they all can remain united.

The rest of the group is portrayed by Eliza Coupe, Adam Pally, Damon Wayans Jr. and "Saturday Night Live" alum Casey Wilson (who also wrote and co-starred in the 2009 movie "Bride Wars"). Though the once-and-not-future couple have resolved to stay friendly, the pals aren't sure they also can manage it without eventually taking one side or the other.

"We dealt ourselves a pretty hefty hand at the end of the pilot, which is this seismic issue that is going to affect this group of friends," says Jonathan Groff, a "Happy Endings" executive producer (who is not the same-named occasional "Glee" guest star). "We want to respect that and explore that as far as it's interesting.

"On the other hand, you do want to be able to have every episode stand alone. You want to make sure everything is not completely reliant on what came before it. Dave and Alex have a lot to deal with to really live up to the promise of the pilot, which is, 'We're going to try to not break up this group because of what happened to us.' We're going to dig in deeper and see how they actually manage to do that."

Co-star Cuthbert knows "Happy Endings" means a big change to her television image. "I wish I could say this is what I was looking for," she says. "If I was going to come back to TV, I really wanted to be a part of something that I felt passionate about, and that I was excited to go to work to do every day. This script came, and I read it, and I just felt like it would be different. I went, 'Wow. This actually might be the right next step.'"

The executive producers of "Happy Endings" also include former ABC programming chief Jamie Tarses and Anthony and Joe Russo, the filmmaking siblings who directed the pilot of Fox's much-lauded "Arrested Development" and a number of its other episodes.

Still, "Happy Endings" really springs from David

Caspe, its creator and co-executive producer. He explains, "(Given) all those romantic comedies that sort of end with that big run-in (by someone to) break up the wedding, I always thought it would be interesting to see what happens after that."

Sony Pictures Television, which is making the series in association with ABC Studios, clearly likes Caspe's process: It recently signed him to a two-year development deal.

"I really just wanted to make a show that's more representative of a group of friends now," Caspe adds, "and everyone's basically based on friends of mine. A lot of these groups are all white and straight on TV or in movies. I don't really know that anyone has a group of friends like that anymore."

PBS welcomes 'Upstairs' fans back to 165 Eaton Place an Marsh still remembers vividly the day she started filming the first new episode of "Upstairs Downstairs," a revival of the signature 1970s British series that premieres Sunday, April 10, on PBS' "Masterpiece Classic."

reprising her Emmy-winning role as Rose Buck, the actress, now 76, was landing in a re-creation of the stately London home set where she had worked for five seasons when she received some spectacularly unnecessary advice from her director.

He said to me, 'Now, when you walk into the hall, don't forget that this is the house where you were the happiest, so you must be moved,' Marsh recalls. "And I thought, 'My God, do you think I'm not moved? I'm moved as Rose, and I'm moved as Jean.' I walked into that replica of the hallway, and I could hear voices. It was just breathtaking. I said, 'You'd better not say that to me again, or you'll just have me crying all the time, and I think the audience should cry, not me.'"

If viewers do shed some tears, they will be happy ones. The original "Upstairs" has remained a fan favorite in the 40-year "Masterpiece" pantheon. Marsh, who co-created that original series with close friend Eileen Atkins ("Cranford"), says several interested parties have approached the two women since the first series ended its run more than three decades ago. Broadway composer Burton Lane ("On a Clear Day You Can See Forever") and lyricist Sheldon Harnick ("Fiddler on the Roof") even took a stab at turning it into a stage musical.

But it was only after "Cranford" screenwriter Heidi Thomas, who fell in love with "Upstairs" as a little girl, decided to tackle a re-boot of the series that things started to move forward.

As the new episodes open in 1936, 165 Eaton Place is about to get a new family in residence: Sir Hallam Holland (Ed Stoppard, son of playwright Tom), a diplomat returning from a stint in Washington, D.C., and his wife, Agnes (Keely Hawes, "Wives and Daughters"), soon joined by his recently widowed mother, Lady Maud (Atkins), and Agnes' headstrong younger sister, Lady Persie (Claire Foy, "Little Dorrit").

Originally hired by Agnes to assemble a household staff, Rose eventually is pressed into service as the housekeeper of the residence, joined by Mrs. Thackeray (Anne Reid, "Bleak House"), the cook, and Mr. Pritchard (Adrian Scarborough, "Cranford"), the butler.

"In Britain, 1936 was known as 'the year of three kings,' because George V died in January, Edward VIII came to the throne and then abdicated in December, giving way to George VI," Thomas explains of the new historical setting. "It was just a year of enormous change. It was a crucial point in European history, with the rise of fascism, and it also gave us a chance to look at what was happening in the working class, and the riot in Cable Street, when the ordinary British working man rose up against that specter of fascism."

Jean Marsh stars in "Upstairs Downstairs," which premieres on PBS' "Masterpiece Classic" Sunday.

FRIDAY

7 p.m. on KWBQ Smallville

Here's a blast from the past: a rebroadcast of this long-running, soon-to-end series' pilot, which introduces Tom Welling as the teenage Clark Kent and John Schneider and Annette O'Toole — who played Lana Lang in the movie "Superman III" — as his Earth parents, with Kristin Kreuk as Clark's beloved Lana and Michael Rosenbaum as the young Lex Luthor.

7 p.m. on KOAT KVIA
Shark Tank

Jeff Foxworthy makes his debut as a Shark in this new episode, which also features the first business pitch from a celebrity: Vincent Pastore of "The Sopranos." But he's not a mobster — he only played one on TV — so this proposal is legit. The Sharks also hear pitches for a portable child seat and a new kind of sweat band and check back in with the creator of Ava the Elephant, a children's medicine dispenser that proved to be a wise investment.

7 p.m. on KOBR KTSM Who Do You Think You Are?

She's the daughter and sister of a beloved country music duo, but Naomi and Wynonna aren't the only colorful characters on actress Ashley Judd's family tree. In the season finale, Judd learns about her tall-tale-spinning maternal great-grandmother, an ancestor who fought for the Union in the Civil War and a connection to the country's first settlers.

7 p.m. on KFOX KASA
Kitchen Nightmares

Colleen and Naomi might have been terrific waitresses, but their management experience leaves something to be desired. They bought the restaurant where they used to work, Classic American in West Babylon, N.Y., but it's suffering from their lack of business experience. Chef Ramsay soon deduces that the establishment's biggest problem is a lack of leadership and communication in the kitchen, although modernizing the menu probably couldn't hurt either.

8 p.m. on KDBC KBIM CSI: NY

After a close call for Hawkes (Hill Harper), who was on the scene with his girlfriend (guest star Lesley-Ann Brandt), Mac (Gary Sinise) and the team investigate the explosion of a gourmet food truck at a SoHo festival. NASCAR's Sprint Cup Series stars will try to prove their worth in this prime-time race at the 1.5-mile Texas Motor Speedway in Fort Worth — the Samsung Mobile 500. Jimmie Johnson, Denny Hamlin, Kevin Harvick, Carl Edwards, Matt Kenseth, Greg Biffle, Tony Stewart and other top drivers hope for the chance to play cowboy in victory lane. Hamlin led only 12 laps in last year's race, but they were the only ones that mattered as he held off Johnson for the win.

6 p.m. on APL It's Me or the Dog

John and Connie are a New Jersey couple whose four unruly dogs have destroyed their social lives and is threatening their marriage. Connie, who's been injured multiple times while walking the animals, cries herself to sleep every night, and John is ready to walk out. Can this marriage be saved? If anyone can do it, it's dog trainer Victoria Stilwell in the new episode "The Woof Pack."

7 p.m. on KOAT KVIA
Movie: War of the Worlds

The H.G. Wells classic about an alien invasion of Earth gets an overhaul in this genuinely chilling update, directed by Steven Spielberg and starring Tom Cruise as a less-than-reliable dad. His parenting skills improve radically as he tries to save his children (Dakota Fanning, Justin Chatwin) and himself from lethal intruders that emerge from beneath the earth to wreak havoc. Tim Robbins does notable supporting work.

8 p.m. on KOBR KTSM
Law & Order: Los Angeles

A former surf champion (guest star Yves Bright) is murdered in what appears at first to be a robbery gone awry, and possibly an inside job to boot. Morales (Alfred Molina), however, suspects that someone who is related to one of the suspects is withholding some important information in "Harbor City."

Tom Cruise stars in "War of the Worlds" Saturday on ABC.

SUNDAY

5 p.m. on APL Wild Kingdom

The new episode "Dolphins of Shark Bay" follows marine biologist Janet Mann and Puck, the dolphin she's been tracking for two decades. Puck's eighth calf is born at the height of tiger shark season, and she'll need the support of other dolphins to keep him safe — proving that the adage "It takes a village to raise a child" applies to the children of marine mammals, too.

6 p.m. on DISC Human Planet

Humans are the only animals that have managed to adapt to life in every habitat on Earth. From oceans to jungles, the poles to the deserts, this new series explores man's ability to survive in the most extreme environments. The first episode explores the extraordinary adaptability and ingenuity that enables humans to survive in the marine environment, combined with the profound effect living by the sea has had on our cultures.

6 p.m. on FAM

Movie: My Future Boyfriend

Barry Watson ("7th Heaven") stars in this new romantic comedy as an archaeologist from a future in which love no longer exists. When he unearths a romance novel from the 21st century, he travels back in time to find the author (Sara Rue), in hopes she can explain the concept to him. Fred Willard and Valerie Harper also star.

6:30 p.m. on KFOX KASA
American Dad

Roger attempts to get Steve into the cool kids crowd, making a bet with Klaus on how long this project will take. Nothing works until Steve becomes the popular kids' designated driver. Stan and Francine have a prank war in the new episode "License to Till."

7 p.m. on KOAT KVIA
Secret Millionaire

All Brown has become wealthy by helping other women to become entrepreneurs. In the season finale of this reality series, she offers a different kind of help. Brown spends time with the homeless population of Venice Beach, Calif., in search of people and organizations whose efforts to improve their community could benefit from some of her money.

7 p.m. on HBO Mildred Pierce

The series wraps up with "Part Four & Part Five," in which Mildred's (Kate Winslet) eagerness to expand her business is tempered by a rift with Veda (Evan Rachel Wood) over the girl's relationship with a society slacker (Nick Westrate). A reunion with Monty (Guy Pearce) leads to a reconciliation with Veda, but a business setback sets the wheels of tragedy in motion. Hope Davis and Brian F. O'Byrne also star.

"Jamie Oliver's Food Revolution" returns Tuesday on ABC.

TUESDAY

7 p.m. on KOAT KVIA Jamie Oliver's Food Revolution

Los Angeles? Isn't everybody there tanned, toned and fit? Apparently not, as celebrity chef and healthy-eating crusader Oliver chooses the City of Angels as his revolution's battleground in this series' second season. He faces opposition almost immediately when he tries to overhaul the Los Angeles United School District's lunch program and is shut out, but he persists.

7 p.m. on KOBR KTSM
The Biggest Loser

The good news: They get to go to New Zealand, see the awesome views at Sky Harbor and go sky jumping. The bad news: There's a lot of stair climbing involved. More spectacular scenery awaits the winners of a 5K challenge, and the contestants get some lessons in eating healthy while on vacation. One player with a special connection to New Zealand gets a special gift in this new episode.

7 p.m. on WE
Braxton Family Values

The first of two new WE series premiering tonight and featuring celebrities and their families, this new offering spotlights singer Toni Braxton as she attempts to come back from the health and financial problems that derailed her career, helped and occasionally hindered by her four sisters and their mom, who have dreams and demons of their own.

When it comes to football, high school is the new college. The new report "Football High" examines how the stakes are rising in this sport at the high-school level, as teams and coaches reach higher than simply a victory over their crosstown rivals or a state championship. It focuses on one small but ambitious team in Arkansas as it raises questions about the impact of pro-style practice schedules and smash-mouth play on teen players' health and safety.

WEDNESDAY

11 a.m. on BET
Movie: Mr. 3000

The plot is predictable and the "hero" is a jerk, but this 2004 baseball comedy is a smart and entertaining experience for fans and nonfans alike. Bernie Mac plays an obnoxious ex-ballplayer who discovers he's a little short of the 3,000 hits he reputedly got during his career. So, at 47, he suits up again in a quest for the magic number. Angela Bassett plays a sports reporter with whom he rekindles an old romance.

7 p.m. on KWBQ
America's Next Top Model

The models can refrain from trash talking one another in this new episode; after all, a picture is worth a thousand words, and they're being photographed this week in a landfill, wearing eco-friendly fashions by Michael Cinco. The girls also get some lessons in the importance of a portfolio in preparation for a round of go-sees in Los Angeles. Handbag and accessories designer Lana Marks is the guest judge.

7 p.m. on KOBR KTSM
Minute to Win It

Insert "losing one's marbles" joke here. The little spheres play a role in the challenges given to both teams in the new episode "Kids Try This at Home." First, a New Yorker and a Californian begin their quest for the $1 million prize by shooting marbles through a pool noodle to knock over markers. Then another duo tries to get marbles to stick to double-sided tape. Guy Fieri hosts.

Better With You

An excited Maddie (Jennifer Finnigan) tells everyone as soon as she learns she's made partner at work, but her luck quickly turns, and she gets laid off. Unable to tell her family the truth, she claims she quit for a better offer. Mia and Casey (JoAnna Garcia Swisher, Jake Lacy) wonder if there's a hidden message in the children's book Vicky (Debra Jo Rupp) gave them, which is something of a family heirloom, in the new episode "Better Without a Job."

8 p.m. on KRWG KENW Nova

"The Bible's Buried Secrets" could do for the Old Testament what "The Da Vinci Code" did for the Gospels — but this is no work of fiction. Decades of literary and archaeological study yield some fascinating information about the early Israelites and the evolution of their belief in one God. Among other things, scholars believe that many of them worshipped pagan deities and believed in a married God.

SATURDAY

7:30 a.m. on FAM
Movie: Can't Buy Me Love

Look, it's McDreamy playing McNerdy! Patrick Dempsey ("Grey's Anatomy") had one of his first stag turns in this 1987 comedy, a hybrid of "Pretty Woman" and "The Nutty Professor" with teenagers. He plays a geeky high-schooler who offers his cheerleader crush (Amanda Peterson) $1,000 to be his girlfriend, conferring instant coolness upon him. Complications arise when she falls for him as his popularity starts going to his head.

Feeling rejected by Jasper, the boy she likes, Topaz tries to change so that he'll notice her. When that doesn't work, she tries using magic to change him instead, but what he turns into definitely isn't her type. And if she doesn't get him to the Amber Cavez by sundown to undo the spell, he'll stay that way forever in "The Dating Game."

1 p.m. on KOAT KVIA Jamie Oliver's Food Revolution

Chef Jamie Oliver has made it his mission in life to help people eat more healthfully, but he may have bitten off more than he can chew in this fascinating reality series in which he tries to teach better dining and cooking habits to the residents of Huntington, W.Va. — which has the distinction of being "the unhealthiest city in America." At a local school, Jamie tries to persuade the lunchroom staff to prepare fresh meals but is met with open disdain.

6 p.m. on TBS Movie: My Big Fat Greek Wedding

A defining movie of 2002, this hugely successful and entertaining comedy transfers writer and star Nia Vardalos' stage show to film, thanks to producers Tom Hanks and Rita Wilson. Vardalos plays a Greek woman who risks her tradition-bound family's wrath when she falls for, then plans to wed, a decidedly non-Greek educator (John Corbett, "Sex and the City"). Michael Constantine, Lainie Kazan and Joey Fatone co-star.

SUNDAY

7 p.m. on KRWG KENW
Nature

"Cuba: The Accidental Eden" explores how this "forbidden island" ironically has had its lavish, wild natural splendor preserved by half a century of economic stagnation and political isolationism. As the prospect of large-scale tourism in the 21st century looms, however, the island nation's delicate ecosystem may be compromised.

TUESDAY

2 p.m. on HBO
Movie: Aliens in the Attic

The title certainly tells you where the extraterrestrials are in this 2009 comedy-fantasy. Several siblings anticipate a dull summer vacation until they encounter the title visitors, and it's up to the kids to thwart the invasion. Ashley Tisdale ("High School Musical") is the best known of the young actors, but veteran talent Doris Roberts ("Everybody Loves Raymond") steals the show as a grandma whose martial arts skills come in handy. Seriously.

WEDNESDAY

10:45 a.m. on TCM
Movie: The Little Princess

Shirley Temple gives her acting chops a real workout in this 1939 drama. Her character is the pampered pet student at a Victorian boarding school, but when her father is reported killed in the Boer War and found to be penniless, it's off to the servants' quarters. A mysterious benefactor and her own persistence lead to a happy ending. Anita Louise also stars, with Cesar Romero, known to later generations as the Joker to TV's Batman, as an Indian manservant.

"Aliens In the Attic" airs Tuesday on HBO.
