A Model Judge.

The editor of the Mountaineer was in Carrizozo two days last week just preceding the adjournment of district court and saw for the first time Judge Edwin Mechem presiding on the bench. Judge Mechem is not only fulfilling the expectation of his friends and all who supported him in his race for the Judgeship, but is making friends of all the people with whom he comes in contact. This is not done by any display of authority often seen in Judges when on the bench, but it is through his good judgment, his noble impulses and his splendid poise of character. It is very noticeable that the lawyers, litigants and all who come into his court respect and admire his manner as a judge. When on the bench he places himself on a level with the mass of the people and meets them with the hearty fellowship due from a gentleman to those whom he is serving, however, humble the station some of them occupy. Such a judge the people will honor and feel proud their wisdom placed him in the position he holds.

Judge Mechem has retained both the official stenographer and interpreter who served his predecessor. Mr. J. B. Newell, of Los Cruces, the official stenographer, is one of the swiftest and most accurate reporters in the state, besides having a thorough knowledge of court work; for these reasons he was retained, which certainly meets the approval of all who have any connection with the court.

Mr. C. S. Pedregon, the official interpreter, also, of Los Cruces, is a man of fine accomplishments, and is well known throughout the state. He speaks the Spanish language with perfection, and no other man could fill the important position of court interpreter with better satisfaction. He has filled important stations in the state government, and is an interesting and attractive man and has hosts of friends everywhere that he is known.

Close of Capitan High School.

The graduating exercises of the class of 1919, took place on Friday night May 16th. In every way the exercises were highly entertaining and in every way satisfactory to patrons, management and friends of the school, and not a break was made from the beginning to the close. There were three who completed their four year High School course: Ruby Bryan, Eunice Skinner and Warney West.

The Address by Assistant State Superintendent John V. Conway, of Santa Fe, was a very masterful. In the course of his talk, Mr. Conway emphasized the necessity of harmonious co-operation of school trustees, superintendents and teachers. Mr. Conway not only an acquaintance, but a special friend of Supt. Brughman and paid him a very high compliment as a teacher capable in every particular of managing a school of this character as his previous work in some of the best schools in the state has been fully shown.

Prof. F. D. Smith, President of the Albuquerque Business College, was the next speaker. He made the address presenting the diplomas to the 8th grade graduates, which was a fine talk. He referred to the fact that he is well acquainted with Prof. Brughman and complimented him as an educator, and a man of fine executive ability. His address was a scholarly effort and has been complimented very highly by those who heard it.

The Junior Class received their diplomas at the hands of County School Superintendent Mrs. Maud L. Blaney. Her address was a most appropriate talk, full of encouragement and inspiration to the students, and was greatly appreciated by all who heard it.

The stage was beautifully decorated; a motto was hung across and above the stage on invisible wire, trimmed with in gold leaf, which added much beauty to the occasion.

In this paper will be found the report of Miss Ula L. Edmiston, chairman of the Liberty Loan work in this county. It is a fine showing and does much to the patriotic men and women of Lincoln county. We are especially proud of what the people of Capitan and Encinoso did, and Miss Mildred Peters deserves much credit for her successful efforts in soliciting subscriptions. The result of the work done in the county shows Miss Edmiston made splendid selections of solicitors.

Mr. E. W. Hulbert is up from his place below Lincoln, spending a few days with his daughter, Mrs. R. B. Province. Mr. Hulbert says the hail some two weeks ago injured his fruit crop to a considerable extent, but will make more than a half crop of fruit if no further accidents happen it.

BURIALS AT CROSS ROADS

Events That Led to the Interment of the Suicide With the Executed Criminal.

In pre-Christian days, suicides were terribly frequent, and it was generally agreed that a man might escape the burden of life in this manner, without discrediting his memory. Christianity with its higher code of morals, taught the wickedness and cowardice of self-murder, in the strongest terms. When consecrated churchyards were set apart as the resting place of the Christian dead it was felt that those who died in deadly sin, in flagrant rebellion against their Maker, had cut themselves off from the faith, and had no right to await the resurrection with faithful Christians. They were believed to have put themselves outside of society, and to have forfeited their right to share its burial privileges. In those early days, before churches could be built, it was the rule to preach and conduct divine services at the crossroads. Wreaths and afterwards stone crosses were erected to mark the situation where services would be held. Some of these have been preserved to this day, being memorials erected to the dead, or dedications of thanksgiving. Since suicides might not be buried in the churchyard or other consecrated ground, pity suggested that the next most holy spot was the ground near the old cross, where service had once been held, or was then held. They buried the poor suicides there, because they were unwilling to relinquish hope for them. Afterward, for the sake of greater publicity, the gibbet and the gallows were set up at the crossroads, and criminals were buried beneath them after their execution. The law decreed that suicides should lie with these criminals, in order to mark the detestation in which the crime of self-murder was held. And so what was once a signal of Christian hope and charity, became a legal indignity imposed upon the dead bodies to mark an immensely serious breach of the law of the country.

Deaf Mutes Not Good Flyers.

Contrary to a report which has been widely scattered, deaf mutes do not make good airmen, as has been shown by recent tests made by the war department, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. This branch of the government is endeavoring to ascertain the source of the false report, which has led many young men to seek enlistment as flyers. In examining a number of deaf mutes it has been found that they are lacking in an adequate sense of equilibrium.

Cadillacs on White Line.

Beginning Thursday May 1, the White Line Stage Co. placed two new Cadillac lights on the passenger line between Roswell and Carlizozo. In placing these fine easy riding Cadillac cars on this line the White Line offers the public the best and most comfortable equipment money can buy at an advance in fare of only one cent a mile. The fare on the mail car will be eight cents a mile as it formerly was. The same former schedule will be maintained, both the passenger and the mail car making connection with the Rock Island at Carrizozo.

NATION DEPENDS UPON HOME

Great Truth Revealed by the War Is Not Likely to Be Forgotten When It Ends.

"If the health of the people had been looked after properly, Britain would have a billion more fighting men at the front. You cannot have an A-1 nation with a C-3 population," declared Premier Lloyd George in a recent speech at Manchester. He is in America the same thought was forced upon us by the disclosures of physical unfitness in the relative draft, and the comment was made that the military loss thus represented was just as much a loss to the nation industrially and economically.

The British statesman proposes to do more than talk about it. He says the abolition of the evil social conditions of pre-war days will be the greatest problem after the coming of peace. He uses a simile that will appeal to Pittsburgh: "With our machinery we take the greatest care. The way we look after it if the steel is defective through badly-ventilated or ill-constructed furnaces or insufficient fuel! The quality of the steel in the national fabric depends upon the home. If it is unhealthy, ill-equipped, ill-managed, the quality becomes defective and it cannot bear the strain."

To enable the nation to bear the gigantic burden of debt the war will impose on it and the still greater burden of recuperation and reconstruction, Lloyd George warns the national resources must be developed to the full. First among these is the human factor. Just as today everyone of us was expected to do his or her part toward the winning of the war, when the sense of common peril brought to each and all the sense of interdependence, Lloyd George insists that in the years to come we must carry the same spirit into the everyday life of the nation. We must concern ourselves with the care of our fellow citizens, the steel in the national machine upon which we all depend. We cannot after the war withdraw ourselves into our pre-war selfish isolation. We must constantly keep before us and act upon the same enlightened spirit of comradeship we exact today from every fellow citizen. If we want to remain an A-1 nation, we must see that we have the fewest possible C-3 men, women and children.

United States Life Insurance.

The people of the United States carry more than $60,000,000,000 of life insurance, the largest record of any country in the world. Of this $30,000,000,000 is government insurance for soldiers and sailors.—Leslie's.

Perseverance Wins... "It's the allies' perseverance that is going to win the war," said Senator Lewis.

"The allies suffered defeat after defeat, but from each defeat they learned something."

"It's like the advice the editor of the Cannonball Semitar gave to an unlucky weaver who had been released by seven girls in turn. The editor wrote:

"Unlucky Weaver: Go ahead. Don't be discouraged. Never say die. You must have learned a lot by what you have gone through. Strive as you must hold something like a record. Well, stick all your experience together and make love to the next girl who comes around and takes your fancy. If she doesn't reciprocate try another. Remember, you only want one girl to say 'Yes,' and she'll probably last your life!"

Army Nurses in Peace Times.

There is a corps of regular army nurses maintained in peace times as well as in war times. When nurses volunteer under the Red Cross organization and enter the army service they assume the same status as that of the regular corps of nurses. A nurse and receives no pay for her services. Transportation and maintenance however, are supplied. Nurses and nurse aids, sworn into the government service through Red Cross channels, and all nurses employed by the army and navy are under the order of the army and navy medical departments. If a nurse or nurse's aid is incapacitated through service, either in the country or abroad and thereafter, because of disability suffered while in the service, is unable to provide for herself, there is not known under the law any means whereby the care and the benefits of a pension.

English-Grown Belladonna.

Belladonna, which before the war came almost exclusively from Germany is now being cultivated at Dunlop on a scale that will prevent any possibility of dearth in the future, and doctors, who partially discontinued its use, may now prescribe it as freely as they did before the war, says the London Times. The first of the Dorsing plantations was started immediately after the war broke out, but the difficulty of obtaining the seed and more especially the slow growth of the plant, in the initial stages, prevented the drug being produced in large quantities until this year. Next year a still larger quantity will be placed on the market. Practically the whole of the plantations are on waste ground that could not possibly produce food. If the seed is sown in the open, it takes four years before sufficient herb can be cut to make a paying crop.
